

SNOOTER KNOWS

LITTLE ABOUT

EVERY THING

AND

NOT MUCH ABOUT ANYTHING

THE campaign is rapidly reaching its final stage. Another week remains for the candidates to "do their d—mdest" and turn the business over to the voters to decide whether or not he is to fill the office to which he aspires or he himself back into the "land from which he came." Some candidates may be disrobed of their present official ermine and the raiment placed on new shoulders. The old saying, "no one can foretell what horse is going to win in the race" or "how a jury is going to decide a case," is applicable to the sort of a decision the voters will reach in the selection of a candidate. The prime decision will come when the votes have been counted and the totals announced.

One thing can be said of the Martin county candidates—none have resorted to any mudslinging, (possibly due to the fact there has not been rain enough to mold Mother Earth into mud balls for slinging purposes), but a highly elevated, above-criticism policy has been maintained by the office-seekers in their campaign for votes. Has been waged. Oh, of course, there might be some instances that a little "pull the wool over the eyes" tactics has been employed to catch the unwary voter. But not many voters are going to be caught "asleep at the switch" in reaching a conclusion how they are going to vote.

The candidate who stoops to underhanded tactics with the idea it will win himself a victory will find that it only serves to "foul his own nest," and certain defeat of his aspirations is inevitable. That day of resorting to the use of misguided information and untruths by a candidate to defeat his opponent, has passed. The voter tentative and interesting listener to at one time, may have been an at-tach methods used by the candidate and allow such information to so prejudice his reasoning powers as to go to the polls and vote for the carrion dispenser, but he has learned through valuable experience in that his vote helped to place in office a candidate who became a traitor to his constituency.

The voter is no longer to be fooled. He's going to investigate the qualifications, the past record, and get first hand such other information as will make him certain he knows what he is doing when he casts his vote. He is weary of having his conscience smart under the that he, was one, responsible for ushering into office a candidate who proved himself wholly incompetent to discharge its duties and discourteous in his manner to a constituent when information is sought. The voter has come to realize that such incompetency in office is a costly error thrust upon the operations of his county government, a cost that must be borne by the taxpayers of the county.

SHOWER HONORING MISS SCOTT

On Thursday afternoon of last week Misses Pauline Cathey and Doris Thornton, gave a shower at the home of Miss Cathey complimenting Miss Scott, who was to become the bride of Clark Hamilton on Saturday.

The rooms were decorated with spring flowers and the large punch bowl was in a bank of sunflowers from which each guest was served delicious punch upon arrival.

As Miss Scott entered the living room, Majorie Orr played the chorus from Lohengrin wedding march. Miss Doris Thornton gave a toast to the bride, Miss Emma Jean Bassett, a toast to the groom and Miss Maxine Hall, a toast to the boys and girls left behind.

After a violin solo, "Minute in G" by Majorie Orr, little Dorothy King, dressed as a bride, in white satin with trailing veil of illusion, came in drawing a large silver shoe filled with gifts which she presented to Katherine with a transposed version of the "Old Woman Who Lived in a Shoe."

Miss Scott was the recipient of a large number of lovely gifts attesting to the love of her friends and the popularity of Clark.

TEN ABSENTEE VOTES
Up to Thursday morning there had been ten absentee votes filed with the county clerk.

Texas, Oklahoma Ford Dealers See World's Fair

More than 100 Ford dealers, executives, salesmen and guests from the Dallas Branch of the Ford Motor Company are shown above in front of the Ford Exhibition Building on the grounds of A Century of Progress in Chicago, where they spent two days as guests of the Ford Company. The Ford dealers, arriving in Chicago by special train, heard an address by W. C. Cowling, general sales manager of the Ford Company, and inspected the mammoth Ford Exposition and other exhibits of the 1934 World's Fair.

(Guy Eiland of the Ford Motor Co., of Stanton, has just returned from attending the meeting of Ford dealers at the Century of Progress at Chicago, and in conversation with him all we could get out of the conference was "we had a big time and the Exposition was too big for me to give any detailed report about. But Guy didn't know The Reporter had a special correspondent on the ground to tell us all about it. The correspondent was instructed to leave Guy out of any mention unless he captured John Dillinger and jumped off the sky-ride into the lake. The official photographer took the above picture, and if Guy is not in there, he must have been somewhere else. Anyway, we are going to let the special correspondent say his say.—Editor.)

(Special to Reporter)

Chicago, July 19th—More than 100 Ford dealers, executives, salesmen, families, and the guests from the Dallas Branch section of the Ford Motor Company celebrated "Dallas Branch Day" on July 12 at Ford Exposition and A Century of Progress, Chicago, as guests of the company, spending two full days at the Fair.

The Dallas Branch territory includes all of Northern Texas and three counties in Oklahoma.

The "Southwesterners" arrived by special train on the afternoon of July 11th and were met by Ford Courtesy cars which whisked them to the Stevens Hotel, where special entertainment was provided.

On the morning of July 12, the delegates from the Dallas Branch met with representatives of the Ford Branches in Cincinnati, Kansas City and Houston—an aggregation totaling 600—at a special breakfast in the Stevens Hotel.

Following the meal, T. J. O'Neil, assistant manager of the Dallas Branch, addressed the meeting and presented his party to the meeting.

After this W. C. Cowling, general sales manager of the Ford Motor Co., spoke, praising the sales leadership of the men stating that Ford V-8 sales would continue to increase in justification of dealer faith in Henry Ford, "the greatest engineering genius the world has ever known," and "a man whose hopes, ambitions, dreams and courage are so secure that they never have wavered in the thirty years of the Ford Motor Company."

Mr. Cowling described the Ford Exposition as "a monument of education, housing the life work of Henry Ford." He paid tribute to the inspiration wives give their husbands to do their best work and promised the dealers a full twelve-month sales period.

After the downtown gathering, business took the Southwestern delegates to the Ford Exposition Building where they saw the motion picture, "Rhapsody in Steel," and were welcomed by the "Human Ford." Special guides, after the performance took the party through the exposition, the largest single exhibit on the grounds of the World's Fair, covering eleven acres in the very heart of the Fair grounds.

They saw Industrial Hall where raw materials are manufactured into finished automobile parts; the rotunda where sixty-five vehicles, from King Tut's chariot to the 1,000,000th Ford V-8 illustrate the evolution of transportation; the Court of the World where the world's largest globe on which Ford plants are spotted, revolves; the Century Room, containing a faithful reproduction of Henry Ford's brick workshop where the first Ford was built; the Industrial Barn which shows how the farmers can use machinery to process the raw materials they raise; the Symphony Gardens where the Detroit Symphony Orchestra entertains capacity audiences of 2000 twice daily in two-hour free concerts; and the Roads of the World, a 2000-foot oval made of twenty-one historic highways, reproduced in authentic detail.

(We double-dare Guy Eiland to say that he saw all that our special correspondent describes about the Ford in Chicago.—Editor.)

EAST TEXAS SHERIFF FINED $100 CONTEMPT OF COURT

(Special to Reporter)
Midland, July 19.—Sheriff George B. Hays of Rusk county was fined $100 for contempt of court by District Judge Charles L. Klapproth Monday when it was found that the East Texas official had failed to make returns on subpoenas of several material witnesses in the trial of John Ward for murder.

The case was passed to July 30, or two weeks from Monday, by Judge Klapproth and all witnesses and veniremen were instructed to appear in court at 10 o'clock on that morning.

Witnesses on which the sheriff at Henderson had failed to make returns all were defense witnesses. They included Will Pope, Joe Barton, Will Carbo, Mart Ashley and Mrs. M. L. Ward, all of Henderson. Another defense witness, Rosa Marti, was found after being called, to be in an asylum. Mrs. Lem Cook, defense witness, was found to be absent because she was unable to finance the trip here and instructions were given Sheriff Francis by the judge to make such provisions when the trial is called July 30.

The state had announced ready after District Attorney Bob Hamilton witnesses. He has George W. Dunaway and John Littler aiding him in the had called the name of numerous case. The defense is represented by Joseph A. Seymour and C. W. Tate. Ward was indicted in the April term of court at Stanton for murder

COLORADO GOLFERS LOSE TO STANTON IN SUNDAY'S MELEE

LOCALS REVERSE THE SCORE SHOT AT COLORADO AND ANNEX THE GAME TO THE TUNE OF 24 TO 16.

T. F. HAYNIE

Playing good golf and taking advantage of the opposition's miscues, Stanton's Sand Belt team won over a strong team from Colorado.

Nix, number one man for Colorado was medalist for the day with a 71, while G. A. Glaser tied the 9 hole record with a 32 on his second round.

C. Burnam shot a 34 his second round, 2 under par.

Purser and the writer had an off day and lost their personal matches. Poe Woodard lost to Nix but Poe shot a good game—just couldn't tie the 71 shot by Nix.

When over at Colorado earlier in the year Purser, Woodard, the scribe were the only ones to win and back on the home links they were the only ones to lose, so that is this game of golf—good one game and bad the next.

The victory Sunday afternoon gives us a split with Colorado at 40 points each for the season. Our team now has 152 points. We were in third place, 30 points behind Big Spring be-

STANTON LOSES FAST GAME TO BIG SPRING TEAM

BIG SPRING TOOK AN EARLY LEAD BY CHALKING UP FIVE SCORES IN THE FIRST THREE INNINGS.

CASEY JONES

Piling up an early lead that mounted to 5-1 at the end of the third inning, the Cosden, Big Spring baseball team defeated Stanton 5-2 Sunday afternoon at Big Spring.

Bill "Windmill" Brown, of the pitching staff for the locals, lost his rabbit's foot and allowed several costly safe hits go to the Big Spring team, while West, all-around athlete of Big Spring, held the locals to few hits and contributed a homer to his cause in the third inning with one man on.

Cubby Heaton, who stepped on the mound to relieve the slim and lanky right-hander Brown at the beginning of the fourth inning, proved a complete puzzle to the Cosdenites. He pitched five innings allowing only one safe blow. Payne, an old Texas leaguer, who hurled the ball for Cosden was certainly a "pain" for our delegation of bat swingers for the first three or four innings.

Game Sunday

Stanton will play Colorado on the local field Sunday afternoon.

fore this game was played. We have hopes of crawling up on them some. We are trying to finish up in second place this year, as it will be a decided improvement over last year when we finished in last place after Odessa withdrew.

Our next game is July 29th with Midland here, but you won't hear me say that we will split even with them for the season.

OFFICERS UNABLE TO FIND MILLER'S FOLKS

Miller was killed by a train at Harrison, Ark Saturday morning, according to advices received from officers at that place. Miller's people are said to have moved away from the Tarzan community in June, and have not been heard from since. Efforts to locate the young man's parents are continuing, local officers said Monday.

RAYMOND LOUDER
CARETAKER OF STATE'S STALLION

MARTIN COUNTY RANKS AMONG LEADING COUNTIES IN TEXAS IN BREEDING ACCORDING TO NUMBER ANIMALS.

Hon. J. E. McDonald, Texas Commissioner of Agriculture states to Raymond C. Louder who is caretaker of the State stallion in Martin county, that the people of this section have taken advantage of the opportunity to breed to this high grade stallion, and that it shows an increased interest in better livestock for this section of Texas. He also says that Martin ranks among the leading counties of Texas in breeding, according to the number of Jacks or Stallions placed in these counties.

Mr. Louder was in the Reporter office Saturday, and says that he is equipped now to handle this stallion during another season, and will be in a position to serve the people of this county even better than he has this year. Mr. McDonald states that the stallion will remain in Martin county and that he hopes with the receipt of additional funds to place other Jacks and Stallions in this section.

From every portion of Martin and adjoining counties, farmers and stockmen have taken advantage of this opportunity offered them by the Department of Agriculture and within the course of a few years should Mr. McDonald be able to continue this program, Texas will be the leading livestock producing State in the nation, and farmers and stockmen will be receiving income from out of the State through the sale of horses and mules of a very high type.

Although the fund for the purchase of these Jacks and Stallions has been limited Commissioner McDonald advises that he has placed animals in 103 counties of Texas, and in every instance has received the full cooperation of the caretakers, county agents, and the local paper in giving publicity to this movement, for all of which he is very grateful and assures you of his continued effort to serve the people of Texas in every way.

Mr. Louder stated to the Reporter that he would have the State stallion in Stanton Saturday on exhibition.

ACTS TO SAVE
WATER SUPPLY

INJUNCTION ASKED TO BAN USE BY OUTSIDERS IN MARTIN

(Special to Reporter)
Midland, July 18.—First rumblings of a shortage of drinking water in the drought-stricken areas of West Texas came to notice this week when the Martin county fresh water district asked that three farmers living outside the district be enjoined from using water supplied by the system.

Sixty farmers and cattlemen living in an area of 37 1/2 sections voted a bond issue of $60,000 in 1928 to pipe in water a nearby supply. The plaintiffs allege that persons living outside the district were taking water and thereby lowering the pressure to the "legitimate" consumers.

The area comprised in the 37 1/2 sections has little or no potable water.

For many years farmers and ranchmen had to haul in all domestic water. The district is north of Midland and Stanton.

CLYDE BRADFORD
FOR REPRESENTATIVE
88TH DISTRICT

Clyde Bradford of Ward county, Texas, candidate for Representative of the 88th District, was born on a farm and ranch and has spent practically all of his life in West Texas. Now serving as County Commissioner of Ward County; he has since being in office supported and worked for in Austin, Texas, before the Legislature the Pink Boll Worm Bill, giving relief to the cotton raisers in Ward and other counties in this district.

He has appeared before the Railroad Commission at Austin and Fort Worth, Texas, in behalf of the small independent oil producers in Ward county and assisted in getting larger allowable production for these operators who were being throttled by interests partial to letting East Texas and other oil fields produce all the oil in the State.

He has supported the schools of his District, believing that no school can be too good for the children of today and at the same time has fought to protect the farmer, ranchmen and independent oil operators in the matter of taxes, and has, since being Commissioner, been instrumental in lowering the taxes of the farmer and ranchmen of his county.

He is a director of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and member of the Livestock and Agricultural Committee of that body. He is for honesty and strict economy and equality in all branches of government. He is not under allegiance, political or otherwise to any faction or special interest. He is for good government in favor of the people whom he may represent. He has the unqualified support of the people whom he is now representing and serving, and if

STRONGER BUSINESS AND STRONGER BANKS

By F. M. LAW
President American Bankers Association

DURING the crisis when confidence was shattered, bankers were properly concerned in liquidity. Their main thought was to prepare to meet any demand for withdrawal of funds. They were more interested therefore in collecting loans than in making them. For this they cannot be justly blamed. It was a proper procedure. Now that confidence has been so largely restored, banks will naturally resume a more normal lending policy. This does not mean they will or should extend loose or unsound credit, but that in the utmost good faith bankers will perform their proper part in recovery by a sympathetic and constructive attitude in the making of sound loans. Nor should commercial banks make capital or long time loans, for the reason that their loans are made from funds derived from deposits payable for the most part on demand.

When the return of confidence is further on its way, business men will find need for credit in making their plans. Then good borrowers, who for the most part have been so conspicuously absent from the market, will return. They will be warmly welcomed by the banks.

Business Men's Fears
Business men have not yet laid all their fears. They worry about what Congress may or may not do. They concern themselves about a trend toward control of business by government. They fear taxes beyond their power to pay. These are real sources of worry and when they are reassured along these lines they will be more inclined to take a fresh look at the future and to make plans to go forward.

As a matter of fact there are tangible evidences of recovery. The Federal Reserve Board officially has stated that prices, wages, business activity, and production were back to the highest peak since early in 1931. Commercial failures in the United States are being cut almost in half as compared with the same period last year. It has been reported that the decline in export and import trade was definitely checked in the middle of 1933 and replaced during the last half of the year by a substantial recovery movement.

THINGS YOU MAY NOT KNOW ABOUT YOUR TELEPHONE

THE MEN who aided Alexander Graham Bell in the invention of the telephone are perpetuated today in many of the policies, and even in the form of organization, of your telephone service.

Bell himself, the young inventor... today his place is taken by Bell Telephone Laboratories, with its countless improvements to the telephone art.

Thomas A. Watson, making with his own hands the first telephones... today his place is filled by the great shops of Western Electric Co., which supplies at a saving the materials needed in the Bell System.

Gardiner G. Hubbard, first business adviser of the infant telephone industry... and today the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., parent organization of the Bell System... whose staff members develop more economical operating methods for the 24 Bell associated companies... whose financing facilities make available, at a saving, funds for necessary extensions to telephone lines and equipment.

In an undertaking planned like the telephone service for the long pull, what is best for the telephone user becomes in the end the course that should bring the surer, more enduring success. For more than 50 years, the savings from the specialized telephone organization these men created have gone to give good telephone service at fair cost to the user.

PUBLIC OPINION AND THE BANKS

By F. N. SHEPHERD
Executive Manager
American Bankers Association

WHILE banking today appears in a wholly distorted light in the eyes of some, the more reasoning elements in our population undoubtedly have a less jaundiced view than would appear from certain irresponsible orators, often posing as spokesmen for that indefinite quantity called "the mass" of our people.

Anti-social acts on the part of some bankers formerly have been the subject of spectacular exposures, but I can say without reservation that they were in no way typical of the acts and attitudes of the vast majority of their fellow bankers. The public mind was shocked into the belief that these untypical instances were far more representative than they really were, and this belief has been encouraged by political and demagogic elements.

The Bankers Today
The bankers who are in charge of our banks today represent men who withstood the temptations and avoided the economic pitfalls of the great boom. If they had not they would not be here, or their banks would not have been able to survive the rack and ruin of the economic hurricane, by which even many banks and bankers whose conduct was above reproach, have been destroyed. The other types of bankers, those that fell below the high standards of professional ethics and business prudence that characterized those that remain, have passed out of the picture. But they have left for those that remain a difficult heritage of suspicion and ill will.

How irrational this is, when we reflect that not more than three or four per cent of our entire population suffered personal loss because of what any banker did or neglected to do, whereas literally millions of bank depositors did not lose a single cent as a result of banking difficulties and really owe a vote of confidence and thanks to their own bankers who were true to the highest conceptions of their stewardship and brought their institutions and their customers safely through the greatest business disaster the world has ever seen. It has been a peculiar feature of the psychological distortion of the times that many who owe nothing but gratitude to their bankers joined in blaming the banker far out of proportion with any rational consideration of the facts.

EXAMINATIONS FOR TRUST INSTITUTIONS

New Move by Federal Banking Authorities Welcomed by Banks and Trust Companies, Says Bankers' Organization

FEDERAL examination of trust departments is the latest development in banking supervision and trust companies and banks operating trust departments are welcoming this development because it fills a long-felt want, it is stated by the Trust Division of the American Bankers Association.

Despite the growing importance of American trust business in recent years examining officials have never given to trust departments the attention paid to commercial banking departments, this authority points out. Now the Federal Reserve System, in conjunction with the Comptroller of the Currency, has undertaken to bring the examination of trust departments up to the level of commercial bank examinations, it says.

Experts in trust work are being employed by the various Federal Reserve Banks. These experts will head the special staffs of trust examiners in the twelve Federal Reserve Districts. Special staffs are already at work in some of the Reserve Districts, including Boston, Atlanta, Richmond and Chicago. The Federal Reserve will examine the trust departments of state chartered members of the Reserve System.

Uniform Supervision
Meanwhile, the Comptroller of the Currency has built up over the past two years a staff of special examiners for the trust departments of national banks. All national banks are members of the Federal Reserve System. Since nearly all state-chartered trust institutions are members of the Reserve System the new plan will bring about what amounts to Federal examination for the trust business.

State examining authorities probably will follow Federal supervisory policies to a considerable extent. Hence, coordination of the procedure of the national banking system and the Federal Reserve System is expected to result in a uniform system of examinations for trust departments in all banks. This in turn should produce considerable standardization in the operation of trust departments, the division declares.

J. E. McDONALD

Candidate For COMMISSIONER OF AGRICULTURE

A Native Texan Whose Entire Life Has Been Devoted to Farming And Farm Problems

Your vote and influence solicited upon the merits of my administration of this important office. I stand squarely upon the platform or service to those engaged in making their living from the soil.

My administration has been active and economical. It has enjoyed the confidence and cooperation of all of the agricultural institutions of the State and all State organizations whose program embrace agricultural problems, and with the National Department of Agriculture. I am grateful to these Institutions, Departments, and Organizations for their splendid cooperation in helping the Farmers of Texas to get a "New Deal."

To all, I pledge my best efforts to further the agricultural interests of Texas.

His administration has been progressive and economical. He has harmoniously cooperated with the Federal Department of Agriculture and with A. and M. College and its Extension Service, Texas Technological College, and all other State Institutions where courses in agriculture are given.

For years he has advocated cotton acreage reduction, and, more than anyone else, was responsible for federal appropriations to pay farmers for reducing cotton acreage. By reducing the carry-over surplus, the price of cotton was more than doubled, and millions of dollars were added to the income of Texas farmers.

At present, the crying need of Texas farmers is more work stock. He has met the urgent demand by stimulating live stock breeding. He has brot into the State more than 100 high grade jacks and stallions for breeding purposes, without one cent of cost to the taxpayers of the State. More of these animals will be bought and distributed as funds accumulate.

Federal appropriations were secured to help control the pink bollworm. A State appropriation of $500,000 was made at his suggestion to repay Texas farmers for their loss when quarantined against this destructive cotton pest. Machines were installed which materially reduced the cost of sterilizing the cotton seed now produced in these counties.

Commissioner McDonald is now actively cooperating with the Federal Department in perfecting plans for a permanent agricultural program. He realizes that the temporary plans now

Training for Bankers

The American Bankers Association has been active for many years training young men and women in order that they may be duly qualified for the business of banking. Standard courses are furnished with able and experienced teachers. This work is done under the direction of the American Institute of Banking Section of the association. Over two hundred chapters, or local banking schools, are in active operation throughout the country and thousands of the younger generation of bankers are being graduated each year. These students are taught not only banking practices and policies, but they are also well grounded in the highest ideals and standards of business ethics. A proposal is now under consideration to establish a central school, which will offer advanced or graduate work to a selective list taken from those who have completed the standard courses.—F. M. Law, President American Bankers Association.

Banks Repaying Loans From R. F. C.

Although banks and trust companies have been the largest borrowers from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, they have exceeded all other classes of borrowers in the rapidity of their repayments. Since the inception of the R. F. C. in February, 1932, loans have been authorized by it to 7,980 banking institutions in the amount of $1,995,000,000. Of this sum $442,000,000 was not taken by the borrowers, the actual advances being $1,553,000,000.

Repayments against these advances through April 30, 1934, aggregated $925,000,000, or about 60 per cent. The ratio of repayments for all classes of borrowers has been only about 37 per cent. These rapid repayments by the banks are taken by competent observers as a strong indication of returning normal financial and banking conditions.

CHILD RUN OVER BARELY INJURED

(Special to Reporter)

Midland, July 18.—Serious injury to the two-year-old daughter was narrowly averted this morning when S. A. Debnam drove over the child in the driveway of his 108 E. Louisiana home.

Fortunately, no bones were broken and there were no internal injuries—only bruises.

Dianne evidently climbed on the trunk of the car and fell under a rear wheel when the Midland-Martin county farm agent backed the machine out of his garage. Debnam did not see the baby, and believed she was in the house.

Office in Stanton For Emergency Feed Loans

There has been established at the court house in Stanton, an office where applications for Emergency Feed Loans will be received, Field Supervisor Ed. F. Jay, announced July 9th.

Applications for loans will be accepted from farmers and stockmen for the purchase of feed for farm and range livestock and to plant forage crops in Martin county, which has been designated as emergency drought area. R. P. Simpson is in charge of the local office and the county committee consists of Jim Tom, Chas. Ebbersol Jno. N. Poe and R. P. Simpson.

Loans will be advanced in monthly installments, with a supplemental application necessary for each month's requirements.

The lien securing the promissory note given will be subject to non-disturbance agreement to be executed by lien holders, if any, who must agree to take steps to enforce the payment or collection of any claim against the borrower nor dispossess him of any property until January 1, 1936.

Applications must be submitted to the Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Committee for Martin county in which the applicant's livestock is located or forage crops to be planted.

Manifold Ways in Which the Banks Are Serving the Nation

Handling Millions of Transactions Daily for Individuals, Corporations and State and National Governments—The Structure Strengthened and Deserving of Public Faith

By FRANCIS MARION LAW,
President American Bankers Association

THE banks of the nation provide the machinery through which pass daily many millions of checks and drafts, aggregating hundreds of millions of dollars.

F. M. LAW

The banks are largely financing the Federal Government in its Recovery Program, involving the greatest peace-time expenditures ever known. Likewise, the banks are largely financing the current credit needs of states, counties, cities, public schools and other political subdivisions, all of which have intimately to do with the daily affairs of all of the people.

Each day banks throughout the country are making hundreds of thousands of new loans and they are renewing and extending old loans for the accommodation of a vast number of borrowers, these borrowers being individuals, corporations and partnerships and their loans being incident to agricultural, industrial and trade in every community in the land.

The banks, through their trust departments, are conducting the work which they have faithfully carried on throughout the depression and are protecting trust funds placed in their care against the worst shrinkage of value ever known. Included in this activity is the service the banks are performing in connection with administering the affairs of widows and orphans.

The banks, through the medium of their savings and thrift deposit departments, are furnishing safety for the accumulations of many millions of people and on this class of deposits reasonable interest is paid.

Banks are providing a service for the safe-deposit and safe-keeping of the possessions, papers and securities of a very large number of people.

The officers of banks are unselfishly and unhesitatingly giving advice and counsel to the people of their communities, thereby to a considerable extent guiding their daily financial and fiscal affairs during this most difficult period of disturbance.

The Banking Structure Strengthened
The banking structure as it is today has been greatly strengthened and the process of strengthening still goes on. Banking is not a closed science. The banking system which we have had was not good enough, and I earnestly believe that an able and non-partisan commission should be set up to make a study of our numerous banking laws to the end that a properly correlated banking system might be worked out and submitted for consideration to the next Congress.

A good system would include rigid requirements as to management, intelligent and impartial supervision and, in due time, unification of supervision. Such a system, composed of banks adequately capitalized, capably managed and conscientiously supervised, would eliminate any possibility of a recurrence of what has happened in the past four years.

The temporary Federal deposit insurance plan under which deposits in banks up to $2,500 for each account are insured has been in effect for six months and has proven a potent factor in restoring confidence. Only two small banks out of over fourteen thousand holding membership in the fund have failed during this six months' period. The temporary plan has been extended very wisely for a year, and the amount of the insured deposit has been increased to $5,000, thus insuring in full over 98% in number of the depositors in the country's banks.

Hoarded money is returning to the banks and deposits are showing a very increase. Banks everywhere are up and liquid, meaning that they have an unusually heavy proportion of their deposits in cash. There are two kinds of unemployment in this country—unemployment of men and unemployment of dollars. These men and these dollars must be put to work. Banks in strong and highly liquid condition are prepared and determined to do their proper part in putting money to work.

Requirements for Grants of Bank Credit
That brings me to the all important question of the granting of credit by banks. Two things are necessary to increase bank credit:

- 1st. The banks must be liquid and confident in their own strength.
- 2nd. Business men must further lay their loans and retain confidence to the point where they will dare to think and plan ahead.

The first requisite is accomplished. The second is in process. Bank credits will increase and money will go to work as soon as business men get over their disinclination to borrow and this will be when they begin to see profits within their reach.

In past depression the real movement of the expansion in bank credit has always come after general business recovery got under way and not before. The number of good credit risks is increasing daily. Not in my time have good borrowers been so warmly welcomed at banks as they are today. It is before has been so warmly welcomed at banks as they are today. It is before has been so warmly welcomed at banks as they are today.

interest rate ever been so low. Every sound business in the country today can get what money it needs.

A Return of Normal Lending
Banks are badly needing loans for revenue purposes, and now that confidence in banks has been largely restored they are naturally returning to a more normal lending policy. Before the bank holiday the confidence of the people was shattered. The thought uppermost in the minds of depositors was the safety of their funds. Withdrawals from banks became increasingly heavy and general. Under such circumstances the banker, mindful of his primary responsibility to his depositors, was more concerned in the collection of loans than in the making of new loans. The result was a severe contraction of credit. For this the banker should not be blamed. He simply performed his manifest duty.

Bankers at this time are very properly viewing the credit needs of business with serious and sympathetic consideration. Applicants for loans are not always familiar with the rules governing bank credit and constructive and interested help on the part of the banker will bring about the making of many additional loans, without doing violence to any principle of good banking.

Certainly no one would advocate the making of sound loans by banks. The creation of a large volume of unsound loans would not only weaken the banks—it would prolong the depression and wipe out some of the gains already made. It is to be earnestly hoped that no banker will yield under the pressure of his desire for earnings, or for any other reason, and make loans of the wrong sort. John Oxtley of Atlanta, in a recent address, said—"The plan of lending freely and hoping for the best has never proven wise."

There are many needs for credit of kinds which are not within the province of commercial banks to meet. Likewise there are many types of credit, but there are also many types of credit facilities available—enough, it would seem, to meet the requirements of all classes of worthy borrowers.

The Duty of Every Banker
It is clearly the duty of every banker in the country to perform certain services. The most important are:

1. To afford perfect safety for deposits.
2. To grant credit to those who deserve it.

In the matter of credits the public must in fairness remember that commercial banks are not lending their own money, but the money of their depositors, represented very largely by the earnings and savings of the people. The people who own these deposits have accumulated them through years of labor and sacrifice, and in many cases the deposit represents their all. Therefore, depositors have the right to call for their money at any time, or at most on short notice. Deposits constitute a sacred trust.

There are certain basic principles in sound banking that must be held onto even in this period of change, but the progressive banker must be responsive to changing conditions and he must be active in seeking proper opportunities to meet the sound needs of his customers.

In a recent message to Congress, the President said—"I am greatly hoping that repeated promises that private investment and private initiative to relieve the government in the immediate future of much of the burden which it has assumed will be fulfilled."

Repeated assurance has been given by the Administration that there is no desire on its part to continue government lending a moment longer than is necessary and that at the earliest possible time the government will gladly give way to the banks and other lending institutions. This, of course, is as it should be and we are all earnestly looking forward to the time when private initiative and enterprise shall have recovered the vitality sufficiently to throw government crutches away.

Numerous bank failures have created in the minds of many a grossly exaggerated idea as to the losses of depositors in closed banks. The record indicates that depositors in banks which closed in the past three years will realize on an average about 65c on the dollar. That would mean a loss of 35c. It has been estimated that during the depression the average value of investments in stocks lost about 50% and similarly declined approximately 50% and commodities 67%.

People in sound banks continued to be worth 100% throughout the depression and 99% of the bank deposits of the country were not affected.

Bankers Deserve Confidence
The country can have full confidence in the integrity and competence of the bankers of the country. Out of the lessons of the last few years has come experience that will be valuable to the banker and to his community. He can be counted on to show a proper appreciation of his responsibilities and obligations and to take his place among those who are making earnest and unselfish effort to promote recovery. He is not inflexible, but with every power that lies within him I believe he may be depended upon to fulfill his duty as a custodian of the people's money, as a God-fearing citizen imbued with a sense of duty to the common good.
