The SDN COLUMN

I just received a piece of intelligence from Tommy Ivison, for a long time a Snyder boy but now residing in Sweetwater for the convenience of Texas Electric Service Co.

Tommy has not been a resident of Sweetwater very long, but he has acquired status there and now is searching for some pretty girls. He is co-chairman of the Sweetwater Rattlesnake Pageant, which crowns the Rattlesnake Queen there each year (they don't really call her "Miss Reptile").

Anyway, they are anxious for pretty girls over 16 but under 22 to enter and entries don't have to live in Sweetwater. The deadline for entries is Feb. 15, and you can contact Ivison by writing him at Box 480 at Sweetwater.

Announcement that the new telephone books are out reminds that the time is at hand when telephone subscribers in Snyder and Hermleigh will be able to dial each other without bothering an operator and without a toll charge.

For many years some people, especially newcomers, were puzzled over the fact that Snyder telephone users could dial people in Fluvanna and at Lake J. B. Thomas, both 20 or more miles away, yet a "long distance" call was necessary to talk to someone at Hermleigh, a distance of about 11 miles.

Beginning this Sunday, Jan. 21, Snyder and Hermleigh telephones will be involved in what the telephone company calls "extended area service," which means that they still are on separate exchanges but each can dial the other directly.

If you think traffic is heavier than ever on streets and highways, you're right. The Texas Highway Department estimates that approximately 7 million vehicles will be registered in Texas this year, the largest number in history. And the license tag season is just around the corner, beginning on Feb. 1, the day after the deadline for voter registration. — WACIL McNAIR

President To Review State Of Union

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson gives the nation tonight his formula for balancing the financial demands of the Vietnam war against the need to curb crime in the streets and to rehabilitate riot-breeding city slums.

The President is expected to reiterate in his nationally televised State of the Union message to a joint session of Congress that he is exploring every avenue that might lead to peace.

But advance indications were that North Vietnam's latest stated conditions for opening peace talks—a halt in U.S. bombing of the North and "other acts of aggression"—still was under exhaustive examination.

To an election-year Congress already breathing fire about any increase in spending, the President is expected to disclose that expenditures will be $11 billion higher—possibly a little more—for administrative purposes than in the current fiscal year ending June 30.

Republicans are prepared to respond at once to Johnson's proposals. GOP congressional leaders have slated a news conference for one-half hour after Johnson concludes his speech, and eight Republican governors will jointly discuss the message with newsmen Thursday morning.

A new "unified" budget, taking into account for the first time income and outgo from huge government trust funds, was said to be geared to a "significant drop" below the $18 billion or $19 billion deficit for this year.

Sources reported Tuesday the total spending program definitely will be below $190 billion for the fiscal year beginning July 1. Administrative spending—the basis most commonly used before the advent of the unified budget—was said to run between $145 billion and $150 billion, compared with the current fiscal year total of between $136 billion and $137 billion.

The expected deficit would include receipts from a proposed 10 per cent income surtax which Congress shelved last year and which key members predicted won't be enacted this session unless there's an equalized reduction in spending.

With Vietnam war costs expected to rise another $4 billion, Johnson obviously is faced with a need to alter the capitol hill atmosphere if he hopes for acceptance of social welfare programs calling for expensive outlays.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield predicted a safe-streets bill will be high on the list of presidential recommendations.

Mansfield said that when the Senate can untagle itself from a prospective Southern filibuster against a pending civil-rights bill, a housing measure is likely to be the next order of business.

TOP TWO US OFFICERS SLAIN

'State Of Alarm' In Guatemala Shooting By Pro-Castros

GUATEMALA (AP) — A pro-Castro revolutionary organization said today that it was responsible for the machine gun slaying of the top two U.S. military officers in Guatemala.

A typewritten communique signed Rebel Armed Forces—FAR—said the U. S. military mission had "ordered the Guatemalan army to create groups of assassins" against guerrillas and the FAR "decided to mete out justice."

Firing from a speeding car into the Americans' car near the Guatemalan Air Force's headquarters Tuesday, machine-gunners killed U.S. Army Col. John D. Webber Jr., 47, and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Ernest A. Munro, 40, and wounded Army Sgt. Maj. John R. Forster, 42, and Marine Sgt. Harry L. Greene, 41.

Greene was reported in critical condition, but Forster was discharged from the hospital after treatment of an arm wound.

The Guatemalan Cabinet proclaimed a "state of alarm"—modified martial law—in an attempt to check a mounting wave of terrorism by both extrem rightists and extreme leftists as well as gangsters taking advantage of the political turmoil.

A burst of machine gun fire earlier Tuesday killed former Guatemalan congressman Alejandro Silva Falla, 40, and his 20-year-old bodyguard was killed in an exchange of fire with the gunmen. Silva's name had appeared on a list circulated in June by rightists saying that all who served communism would be executed.

In a third attack Tuesday, gunmen missed Manuel Villacorta Vielman, former vice presidential candidate from the strongly anti-Communist National Liberation Movement, but wounded his 20-year-old son.

The government says 26 persons have been killed this month by terrorists. The state of alarm proclaimed by the government permits arresis without charges, imposes censorship, prohibits the carrying of firearms except by authorized persons, and bans assemblies of more than four persons.

Webber, a native of Buffalo, N.Y., who listed Houston, Tex., as his home, had been head of the U.S. military advisory group in Guatemala since 1966. Munro, a native of Lake Worth, Fla., with a home in Rockland, Maine, was head of the U.S. naval section. Greene, the group's communications adviser, was from Omaha, Neb. The families of all three men were with them in Guatemala.

Forster, a native of Seattle, is stationed in the Panama Canal Zone with a supply unit, and his wife and three sons are there.

The four men were the first U.S. victims of terrorism in Guatemala although more than 1,000 persons—perhaps as many as 4,000—have died in the last year and a half.

Leftists Vow To Prevent Ship's Visit

By KENNETH ISHII
Associated Press Writer

SASEBO, Japan (AP) — Radical leftists vowed today to drive the American nuclear-powered aircraft carrier Enterprise from Japan's shores by the same riot tactics that kept President Eisenhower away in 1960.

In a warmup for the 75,000-ton carrier's arrival at the Sasebo naval base later this week, about 800 leftist students tried to invade the base today. Riot police drove them off in a three-hour battle with heavy casualties on both sides.

Sasebo City Hospital said it treated about 500 students and onlookers for bruises and the effects of tear gas.

Police said 60 students and 10 policemen were treated for cuts and other injuries and that 14 of the students and one policeman were seriously injured. Officials said 27 students were arrested.

Fighting started on a 20-foot-wide bridge leading to the main entrance of the Sasebo base where the Enterprise is expected Friday or Saturday on her way to duty in Vietnam. She and her escort, the frigate Truxton, will be the first nuclear-powered surface warships to visit Japan.

The students wielded sticks and threw rocks. The police, protected by shields and armored trucks, forced them back with tear gas and icy streams from fire hoses. Then about 1,000 officers moved in with clubs and dispersed the mob.

A spokesman for Sampa, one of the militant factions of the Zengakuren student organization, said the students were determined to "create a riot and force the Enterprise away in the same way that Zengakuren riots forced President Eisenhower to cancel his visit."

The Chamber banquet is scheduled for the night of Jan. 26 in the Scurry County Coliseum. The banquet tickets are priced at $4 each.

Record Cold In Northeast

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Record cold numbed the Northeast and spread farther into the Deep South today as temperatures dropped below freezing in all 49 continental states for the second consecutive day.

The mercury plunged to -26 degrees in St. Johnsbury, Vt., and Montpelier, Vt., and the -19 recorded at Burlington, Vt., was a record low for the date.

Freezing weather spread as far south as central Florida. The 45 recorded in Miami was the coldest reading of the new year.

Citrus crops escaped damage from the Florida cold snap but a few growers in isolated cold spots put out smudge pots. Growers said their crops would be safe unless there is a sustained freeze with temperatures in the 20s.

Tallahassee residents shivered in 24-degree cold, chillier even than at Denver, high in the Colorado Rockies, where it was 28.

There were no storms in the nation's weather picture and precipitation was scarce.

A little snow fell at times from the eastern Great Lakes to the Appalachians.

British Rehone Economy Ax

LONDON (AP) — The British government readied another swing of the economy ax today with a new squeeze on the average Briton's pocketbook. Curbs on installment buying and higher taxes on buying for home use were expected.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Roy Jenkins was to outline the latest dose of bad news as he opened a two-day debate in the House of Commons on the Labor government's post-devaluation program. The debate will end with a vote on a Conservative motion of no confidence which Labor's big majority in Commons is certain to defeat.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson told Commons and the nation Tuesday that his government was accelerating the abandonment of Britain's historic role as a military power east of Suez and shrinking the dimensions of the welfare state because the nation could not pay the bill.

Britons were warned in a television address that stiffer taxes were coming to keep wages and profits down and cut home buying so there would be more to export.

The government's aim is to shift manpower, investment capital and materials to export industries so increased sales abroad will put the balance of payments back into the black. Now that devaluation provides a price advantage in the export market, the problem is to make the resources available for production and reduce the supply of consumer goods for British buyers.

The economy program represents a basic shift in policy, at home as well as abroad. The military cuts end Britain's already diminished role as policeman of the Far East and the Persian Gulf. The cuts at home in housing, education, free medicine and social security ushered in a new kind of welfare state in which benefits may be paid according to need.

The Labor party's doctrinaire socialists, for whom the welfare state and government domination of industry are articles of faith, appeared to have been mollified initially by the huge military cuts appealing to their principles.

Angus Sale Here Friday

More than four score animals are due to be offered here Friday at the annual auction sale of the Colorado River Angus Association.

Rex Robinson, sales chairman for the association, said that 21 bulls and 61 females had been consigned to the auction, with animals coming from some of the leading Angus cattle breeders in the state.

The auction will begin at 6:30 p.m. Friday in the county barn in Towle Memorial Park.

James Cave of Roby is president of the Colorado River Angus Association.

John Hill To Announce

AUSTIN (AP) — Secretary of State John L. Hill said today he will announce his candidacy for governor in a news conference at 10 a.m. Monday.

Hill said he would formally pay his filing fee at Democratic state headquarters after the news conference.

"As you know, I announced my intentions to be a candidate for governor in November," Hill said in a statement he personally distributed to capitol newsmen. "My decision was made after Gov. John Connally announced he would not seek re-election.

"Since November I have said I wanted to complete three major and overriding responsibilities before making a formal announcement. These duties, a decision on electronic voting machines, the voter registration drive, and the election seminar, will be accomplished by Jan. 22."

Hill has said previously he would resign as secretary of state when he makes his formal announcement.

SCD Award At Banquet

One of the highlights of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce banquet here Jan. 26 will be the formal presentation of a conservation award to Dewey Everett.

This award is presented each year by the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District to the outstanding rancher in the district from the standpoint of soil and water conservation. The SCD embraces Scurry and Borden Counties.

The soil and water conservation award is one of several which will be presented during the banquet program.

Tickets to the banquet have gone on sale at $4 each. The banquet will be held in the Scurry County coliseum, and James J. Rowley, head of the U. S. Secret Service, will be the principal speaker.

AS BRITISH PULL OUT

Must US Fill The Vacuum?

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield expresses concern the United States will be faced with trying to fill the military vacuum created when British forces leave the vast area from the Middle East to Singapore.

A State Department spokesmen said Monday, in the wake of the British announcement of its plans to pull out troops from the area in a budget-cutting move: "We have no plans to move in where the British forces pull out."

But Mansfield said in an interview: "I am sorry the British felt they were forced to take this step because I am certain we will be asked to fill the vacuum east of Suez. I don't know how we are going to do it because I don't think we have the men or resources for it."

It was clear from private conversations that many civilian and military officials shared Mansfield's belief and concern.

They contended as one of them put it, "We are not prepared to extend our commitments" in view of the strains of the Vietnam war and existing worldwide American commitments.

Bitter reactions to the British plan were voiced behind the scenes, coupled in some instances with complaints Britain has failed to support the United States in Vietnam.

Officially the U.S. government expressed regret that economically hard-pressed Britain found it necessary to cancel a billion-dollar purchase of F111 supersonic fighter planes and to evacuate all British troops, ships and aircraft from East of Suez in three years.

The new withdrawal plan will take effect at least two years earlier than anticipated and apparently exceeds the scope expected by U.S. planners.

"We hoped they would keep small garrisons at least in the Persian Gulf area and their pullback is going to be much more rapid than we thought it would be," one source said.

What concerns U.S. military strategists is that the British withdrawal—and possible new burdens for this country—come as the Soviets are establishing a widening foothold in the Red Sea-Indian Ocean area.

Aggies To Graduate

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — A record 617 students are scheduled for mid-term graduation Saturday at Texas A&M University.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: None of us can hit a home run every time we go to bat. While I agree with you most of the time, I think you should reconsider your advice to the boy whose friends were stealing bikes. "I do not agree with friends informing on one another," you wrote, "but a real 'friend' would do all in his power to set his companions straight."

If we follow your thinking it is only a short step to keeping quiet while a fellow citizen is slowly murdered in a countyard in sight of dozens of people. They didn't want to "inform" or "get involved" either.

In our present world we are too willing to condone wrongdoing and to expect someone else to punish wrongdoers. Personally, if my child were involved in stealing of any nature I would certainly appreciate someone having the courage to tell me.

JRM, MEMPHIS

DEAR JRM: You've made a good point. In the case of the bike thieves, I had in mind some effort to stop this criminal conduct, or to try, before giving the erring kids a police record. After that, the parents should certainly be tipped off. But among youngsters, the persistent "tattletale" on childish pranks becomes a social outcast early in life.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Some friends of ours with a little girl not yet five years old have been allowing an unmarried couple to spend week-ends together in their home. (This unmarried couple couldn't be any closer if they were married. I'm sure you get the picture.)

The mother says the child is too young to know the difference. I personally think the child is old enough to know that something about the arrangement is wrong. I would like your opinion.

CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: It's the same as yours.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: On a recent visit to the home of my husband's sister (we live in different towns) she turned to my nine - year - old daughter and said, "I want you to know that you ruined our Christmas this year because you told Cindy (their eight-year-old) there wasn't any Santa Claus."

Our daugher had no answer other than, "Cindy asked me if I believed in Santa Claus and I said, 'No, not since I was in first grade.'"

My sister-in-law pursued the subject with a vengeance saying it was a terrible thing for my daughter to have done, etc.

We have always had a good relationship with this family, and now I feel a definite rift, altho I said nothing and didn't enter into it.

I have never encountered a problem such as this. Just how long should a child be encouraged to go along with the Santa Claus bit? Isn't eight a little too old? How great a sin did my child commit? I would appreciate your opinion.

INJURED FEELINGS

DEAR INJURED: Shame on your sister-in-law. Your child committed no "crime". Her youngest cousin must have suspected that there was no Santa Claus, otherwise why would she have asked? To deliberately destroy a child's beliefs in fairy tales and Santa Claus is unkind, but when a child suspects that something is only "make believe," it's time to draw the curtain and let in the light of truth. Your sister-in-law needs to grow up.

Pressure Is On Winners

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—Baseball's great Joe DiMaggio concedes the pressure was almost unbearable when he hit safely in 56 straight games for the New York Yankees in 1941.

A later Yankee star, Roger Maris, was under the same pressure in his drive to break Babe Ruth's home run record with 61 in 1961.

Athletes of all description admit that uninterrupted successes build up a heavy mental strain.

But here's a fellow who has called more than 13,000 consecutive horse races at Santa Anita—every one since the track opened.

The name, Joe Hernandez, is a familiar one to racing fans from coast to coast.

His remarkable string as track announcer at Santa Anita began the day the big horse park opened on Christmas Day, 1934.

Senor Hernandez passed the 13,000 mark at the current meeting and is on his way to 14,000.

"Sure, I'm ready for the next 13,000," the good senor declared.

Longoria KO's Boone

HOUSTON (AP) — Two young boxers bidding to move up the ladder scored impressive victories Tuesday night.

Mark Tessman, 175, a University of Houston sophomore, scored a unanimous 10-round decision over veteran Von Clay, 181, of Philadelphia in the co-feature.

Man Pleads Guilty To Playing Dead

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A San Antonio man has pleaded guilty to writing himself off as dead and buried. Edward A. Williams Jr., 29, a funeral home manager, pleaded guilty to filing his own death certificate and was sentenced to a year in prison. Dist. Court Judge Archie Brown stayed the sentence pending a probation report and released Williams on a $2,500 bond.

Authorities said a loan company, after receiving a copy of the death certificate, had paid off a $1,500 insured note on Williams' car.

Designer's Women Look Like Women

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Women who want to sigh with joy over Norman Norell's spring collection will have to do a medley—"Anchors Away" and "I Enjoy Being a Girl."

The nautical influence—brass buttons, embroidered anchors and middy blouses—predominated in the collection Norell previewed here this week. But no matter what the influence, the effect was overwhelmingly feminine.

Tiny waists were emphasized by wide belts; full organdy skirts and puffed sleeves looked as delicate and delectable as cotton candy; and Swiss embroidery added a final dainty touch. All combined to make it plain that Norell likes women who look like women—even if they slick their hair back severely as his models did.

Variations on the nautical theme were evident at all lengths. Norell offered his black-tie audience a choice of floor-length, midcalf and just-above-the-knee skirts.

For daytime, Norell showed the costume. Short jackets stopped just far enough above the waist to show a wide belt which, in turn, gave way to a gathered skirt, fuller in front than in back. Underneath, the models displayed turtle neck jerseys or blouses with huge, perky bows.

Evening, Norell decreed, was the time to look definitely dainty.

Yards and yards of organdy were gathered into puffed sleeves and skirts so full that women may have trouble getting through doorways. Bows predominated—either at the neck or at the back of brightly colored sashes.

Color, to Norell, meant contrast. He offered a choice of the mariner's red, white and blue; the starkness' black and white or the shocking brightness of orange on white.

Man Injured In Shooting

Dennis Lee Sellars, 18, Old Post Road, remained in satisfactory condition at Cogdell Memorial Hospital this morning following treatment received for a wound sustained in an accidental shooting.

Police Detective Sergeant Bobby Goodwin said the young man was playing with a .25 caliber automatic pistol when the weapon discharged accidentally. A slug struck him in the left thumb.

He was taken to the hospital by a neighbor, Alfred Darwin. The shooting occurred in the house of Sellars' father-in-law, T. B. Green, 3001 Avenue C.

Officers said the accident occurred at 10:55 a.m. today in the living room. Sellars' wife and several friends were present.

NEARLY 1,000 MISSING

Quake Toll Climbs To 337

SICILY (AP)—The unofficial earthquake toll in western Sicily rose to 337 today, with nearly 1,000 still missing, and most were women, children and aged.

Most of the able-bodied men of the 10 towns hardest hit are among the thousands of Italian laborers who leave home to find work.

The death count was mounting as crews dug desperately through mounds of rubble, and communications were restored to villages that had been isolated by the big earthquake Monday.

Giuseppa Impastato, 103 years old and known as "Little Grandmother," was found seriously injured in the rubble of her home in Montevago. She died on the way to a hospital 16 miles away.

An estimated 20,000 Sicilians were homeless.

Premier Aldo Moro met with his Cabinet to discuss the worst catastrophe to hit Sicily since the Messina earthquake of 1908 took 75,000 lives.

Aftershocks continued through Tuesday night, spreading more panic and keeping thousands out of doors, huddled in frozen fields and vineyards. Palermo, the regional capital was all but emptied of its half million inhabitants during the night.

The Palermo waterfront section known as St. Peter's was evacuated. Many buildings there showed cracks after an aftershock recorded at 8.5 on the 12-point Mercalli scale hit the city at nightfall Tuesday. It was the strongest tremor since the 9-point quake that caused the bulk of the deaths and damage Monday.

The Mercalli scale evaluates earthquakes on the basis of their effects on the landscape, structures and people. Nine points means weak masonry destroyed and ordinary masonry heavily damaged.

Despite the influx of tons of food, medicines, clothing and tents, many Sicilians were without adequate shelter and food. Twenty persons with pneumonia from three successive nights outdoors were treated in the Trapani hospital.

The general threat to health increased. Rescue workers who could be spared from looking for survivors were ordered to clear out the decomposing carcasses of hundreds of horses, cows and other animals from the debris of barns.

Packs of hungry dogs roamed the countryside, bringing fears of a rabies epidemic.

The inmates of Palermo's Ucciardone Prison were allowed to spend the night in an interior courtyard far from any large structure. Frightened by tremors, the convicts banged their spoons on aluminum plates for hours and threatened to riot if they could not leave their cells. Outside the prison walls their relatives stood screaming. Authorities gave in.

Pott, Palmer Fire Birdies

NAPA, Calif. (AP) — Johnny Pott and Arnold Palmer, tuned up Tuesday for the $125,000 Kaiser International Open Golf Tournament with birdie barrages.

Pott, champion of the weekend's Bing Crosby Pro-Amateur Tournament, crowded his four birds into nine holes at Silverado Country Club here and walked off the course.

"I can't waste any more birdies," he remarked.

This first Kaiser Open is the first official PGA tournament of the year and the first at Silverado. It drew most of 1967s top money winners. However, the No. 1 banker among the pros, Jack Nicklaus, flew to Acapulco to fish. The Crosby is not an official event because amateurs play throughout the tournament.

Frank Sinatra Is Back In Acapulco

ACAPULCO, Mexico (AP) — Frank Sinatra is back in Acapulco for the first time since he was barred from Mexico for 16 months because of a film he made.

Sinatra, a frequent visitor at this seaside resort before the ban, declined to comment on the government action when he arrived Saturday in a private plane. The ban was lifted last Aug. 4.

The government barred Sinatra because it did not like the image of a Mexican border town in a Sinatra-made film, "Marriage on the Rocks."

Asks State To Buy No Foreign Goods

AUSTIN (AP) — Fort Worth Rep. Dave Finney wants the state and its political subdivisions to buy only American-made goods, and he said Tuesday he will ask Gov. John Connally to open this year's legislative session to consider a bill requiring that practice.

He said 14 states have "buy american laws," and added, "A bill of this type should have been enacted a long time ago. Maybe the balance of payments crisis will help give it the necessary support that it never had before."

Cold Puppy Problem

SOUTH PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — New England's cold wave presented Arnold G. Cain with a puppy problem—how to keep a newborn litter warm in a heatless apartment with the temperature around zero. When the intense cold cut off gas for heating his apartment, Cain put the pedigreed Dachshund pups on a heating pad and wrapped their mother in a blanket. The cold was still too much and Cain and the dogs had to move into a motel.

Mistrial For Haddaway

GILMER, Tex. (AP) — The state will try a second time to try Jerry Haddaway, 17, for the slaying of his parents and grandfather last spring.

A trial attempt was halted Tuesday when a juror told Dist. Judge Looney Lindsey that he was ill and could not continue. The judge declared a mistrial. Dist. Atty. Lowell Holt said the case probably would come up again in April.

Haddaway was being tried on the death of his mother, Mrs. Dorothy Haddaway, 34. Also slain were Vale Haddaway, 48, his oil field worker father, and the young man's grandfather, Ernest J. Haddaway, 71.

After they had been missing three days, the trio's bodies were found April 29 in a shallow grave. Young Haddaway was arrested the same day. Sheriff's deputies blamed the killings on a family argument.

Jury Selected For Pearl Birch Trial

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A jury of 10 men and two women will try Pearl Choate Birch on two charges of assault with intent to commit murder.

Mrs. Birch, widow of Pasadena oil millionaire Albert Otis Birch, is accused of shooting a rifle at the relative of a tenant in an apartment she owns. The incident allegedly occurred during an argument last July 13.

Birch died last year at the age of 95. He was her seventh husband.

The jury trying the 60-year-old practical nurse was chosen Tuesday.

Art Of 5 Millenia Surveyed

ART AND CIVILIZATION. By Bernard Myers.

This formidable and sumptuous book surveys five millenia and more of global art, does it readably and authoritatively and leaves the reader with a good working concept of the creative side of man.

The scope is too large to allow Dr. Myers much chance for a close examination of individual works, artists, or even movements, and invariably what is gained in breadth is sacrificed in depth. Some chapters seem downright thin — for example, those on Chinese and Japanese art.

What Dr. Myers can and does do within his framework is to establish key relationships and connections in the historical context — from primitive art to Picasso, from the Egyptian manner of using space to Gaugin's, from paleolithic animal art to that of the steppe peoples.

This is a new, enlarged edition of a work published a decade ago. Numerous black and white illustrations and excellent color plates supplement the text.

Lemon Pudding Casserole

1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons cornstarch
⅛ teaspoon salt
2 eggs, separated
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
3 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted

Into a large bowl sift together ¾ cup sugar, cornstarch and salt. In a small bowl beat the egg yolks slightly; add milk and beat to combine; slowly stir into the dry ingredients keeping smooth. Add lemon rind, lemon juice and butter. Beat egg whites until foamy; gradually beat in the remaining ¼ cups sugar; continue beating, if necessary, until whites hold stiff straight peaks when beater is slowly withdrawn. Fold into lemon mixture. Turn into buttered 1½ quart glass round casserole (7-½ by 2½ inches) or similar baking dish. Set in apan of hot water that comes about halfway up casserole. Bake in a 350 - degree oven until top is firm and well browned about 50 minutes. There will be a cake-like top and a sauce underneath. Makes 6 servings. This dessert is quite sweet!

Diamonds may be a girl's best friend now, but the gems were strictly a male adornment until a few centuries ago. Prior to the 15th Century, only kings and exalted churchmen wore diamonds.

Associated Press Writer

HANDBOOK OF MIDDLE AMERICAN INDIANS, Volume 6, Social Anthropology (University of Texas Press, $15)

The handbooks of Middle American Indians are more than handbooks. The new one, on social anthropology, contains 597 large pages.

The No. 6 in the projected 12 volumes deals with Indians as they are today and goes into almost every detail of their lives in an almost statistical manner.

It may have less general interest than some of the first books about early Indians but to an anthropologist it must be extremely valuable.

The big problem was to define an Indian. A lot of ethnic changes have taken place since Columbus found these shores.

Middle America, as conceived for the volumes, is roughly from Panama north to the United States border.

The books are published by the University of Texas Press in cooperation with the Middle American Research Institute of Tulane University. Robert Wauchope is general editor, with the volume editor Manning Nash of the University of Chicago.—The AP.

THE BURNING PLAIN and Other Stories, By Juan Rulfo, translated by George D. Schade (University of Texas Press, $5)

There more often than not is an air of tragedy in the writings from south of the border. It seems a characteristic of the region.

Sometimes this tragedy has no compensation because it is simply bleak and without a touch of greatness.

This is not so of the fiction of Juan Rulfo of Mexico as shown by a collection of his stories, "The Burning Plain," recently published by the University of Texas Press.

He tells of stark tragedy but in such a manner that you are hypnotized by the writing. At times his sparse use of words is reminiscent of Hemingway and his description is of a special order.

The translation is by George D. Schade of the University of Texas.—The AP.

THE BEST OF LIFE, translated by Georgia Wilson Dingus (Naylor, $3.95)

Georgia Wilson Dingus has translated Cicero's dialogue on growing old.

The translator, who taught at Texas Tech for many years, says the views of Cicero in the presumably calm earlier days are as valid now in these days of speed and frustrations.

The translator suggests the little volume as a gift although the giving may take more tact than many possess.—The AP.

FOLK - SONGS OF THE SOUTHERN UNITED STATES, By Josiah H. Combs, Edited by D. K. Wilgus (The University of Texas Press, $6)

This is an edited translation of the work of the late expert.

It is mainly a dissection of the songs. No more folk songs are being produced for many reasons connected with modern living. The very definition—that they are not folk songs if the author is known—means few if any new ones can be discovered since the authorship of this type of verse and song generally is well known now.

The book contains a number of selections and an index to the extensive Combs collection largely in the Western Kentucky Folklore Archive of the University of California at Los Angeles—The AP.

This Must Necessarily Be Talkative Year For Johnson

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — This will probably be President Johnson's most talkative year—out of necessity—but he still hasn't learned the art of explaining. And this has done him damage.

He comes back into public view tonight when he delivers his State of the Union message to Congress after weeks at his Texas ranch working on the budget, his programs for the year and tonight's important message.

And he will get the reaction a president usually gets on a night like this, the opposition criticizing and his own people applauding. Since this is an election year the reaction should be more intense than usual.

The applause will hearten him, because he likes it, and the criticism will irritate. He's not likely to say much about it. He tries to ignore criticism, at least the Republican kind.

But the struggle begins with the delivery of the message and will last no less than six months with Congress as he tries to get through the programs he outlines tonight.

This will require a lot of talking and a lot of special messages with his various programs as he sends them to the Capitol. Then the talking will mushroom as the political campaign heats up in late summer.

Because of the nature of the problem, with Congress and in the campaign, he must do a lot of explaining, far more than usual for him. Yet it probably won't be enough. He should have done more the past four years.

Johnson seems to believe most of the time, and on most problems, that when he gives some kind of explanation, as on Vietnam, he has said all that needs to be said for quite a while on that subject.

For example: The long gaps between his explanations on Vietnam. But these gaps leave a vacuum in public thinking, which gives the critics time to multiply and fill the vacuum with their side of the story.

On a critical subject like Vietnam a president doesn't do a sufficient explanatory job by hitting a few high points in dignified English. Many problems and questions can't be answered by leaving anything to public imagination.

The explanation should be detailed and, on such a sore and controversial question as stopping the bombing, should be told in ABC language, if necessary, to outline advantages, disadvantages and the government's position.

To this writing Johnson's repeated failure to do this kind of thing pretty much explains why he and the American effort in Vietnam have been subject to so much abuse by emotional, ill-informed and unrealistic people.

Johnson, in short, has done little to put them on the defensive by carrying his story to all the people, thus putting the public in a better position to judge who's right.

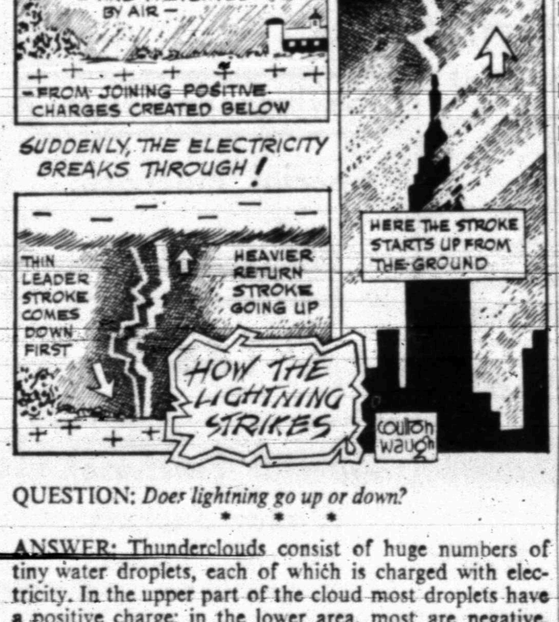

This is not meant as a criticism of the thoughtful, well-informed anti-Vietnam war critics who have arrived at their position of disagreeing with Johnson by logical processes. That kind of criticism is necessary in a society like this.

But there is a big difference between that kind of criticism and the high-strung, loudmouthed, irresponsible kind that offers solutions while ignoring the consequences. This is particularly obvious on college campuses and in many demonstrations.

Johnson avoided speechmaking and explanations for most of his political life, preferring to seek solutions and support in head-to-head dealings with members of Congress.

But when he has to deal with the public, the head-to-head technique can't work. There are too many heads.

Junior Editors Quiz on LIGHTNING

QUESTION: Does lightning go up or down?

* * *

ANSWER: Thunderclouds consist of huge numbers of tiny water droplets, each of which is charged with electricity. In the upper part of the cloud most droplets have a positive charge; in the lower area, most are negative. As the thunder cloud is blown over the earth's surface, the charged droplets above create an opposite charge in the earth below. These opposite charges try to join each other; but the air between holds them apart. After the electricity reaches a certain point of intensity, however, it will suddenly burst through the air to reach its opposite, producing a gigantic spark. This is the lightning flash. Generally, these flashes start from the cloud, at first with a thin "leader" stroke. But the lightning instantly flashes back, this time from earth to ground, and this return stroke is heavier than the leader one. In the 1/10th of a second that a lightning flash may last, the electricity may have darted up and down many times. Not all flashes start from clouds, for electricity in the ground may move up tall objects and then suddenly leap upwards. Most lightning flashes, however, start from above.

Why Talk Ourselves Into Trouble?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Since this is the most dangerous of centuries, you'd think that as a safety measure every baby today would be born with a button on its lip.

This would help it to avoid that greatest of human perils—a big open flapping mouth.

Most woes don't just happen to people. They are made to happen. People talk themselves into trouble because they don't keep their traps shut. They insist on saying the wrong things at the wrong time—as if they had an inborn appetite for disaster.

For example, if you really wish to enjoy a carefree 1968, here are a few remarks to avoid that can lead only to trouble:

"Let me skate across the lake first and see if the ice is thick enough to hold us."

"It's only 10 miles more. I'm sure there's enough gas in the tank to get us that far."

"You don't scare me one little bit, Buster. My motto is, the bigger they are the harder they fall."

"All right, let's take it to court. If you don't like it, so sue me."

"If you burn your draft card, I'll burn mine. We can always tell the government we were just kidding."

"Well, Madge, this is Leap Year. Who have you picked out to be your victim?"

"If there's anything else you want done, boss, call on me first. If there's anything I hate, it's just sitting adound twiddling my thumbs."

"Let's put an announcement on the bulletin board telling our employes right now that if business continues this good we expect to declare an even bigger Christmas bonus at the end of the year."

"Even if this is a one-way street, we can probably go ahead a couple of blocks more before turning off. There isn't much traffic at this hour."

"Just because we're married, Mabel, that doesn't mean I should spend my whole time at a cocktail party talking to you alone. If you feel a bit left out of it, you can always get attention by going to the center of the room and standing on your head."

"I'll volunteer, Sarge. What's the mission?"

"I left my glasses at home, but you've got an honest face. Give me the contract and show me where you want me to sign my John Hancock."

"Yeah, it sounds like a worthy cause. Put me down for whatever you think is fair."

"You say all the kids are teen-agers? Why, yes, I don't mind agreeing to act as chaperone."

"There are two sides to everything."

"Why not? If others can get away with it, why can't I?"

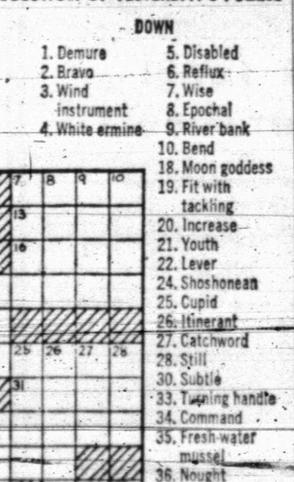

Burn Safe, Money

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — Police said burglars used a torch to burn into the back of a restaurant safe. They burned not only the safe but also about $100 in cash. The robbers got away with about $100 in coins, however, police said.

GETS TIP-OFF — Hermleigh's Billy Joe Odstrcil (white jersey, 30) gets tipoff in jump with Fluvanna's Johnny Dunnam during the thrilling District 70-B basketball contest in the Scurry County Coliseum last night. Others identifiable are Johnny Stansell (43) of the Buffs, Tom Chorn (34) of the Cardinals and Victor Contreras (right foreground, dark uniform). Hermleigh won 87-51. The referee is Tommy Echols of Snyder.

Cardinals Clip Buffs

Hermleigh's Cardinals clipped Fluvanna's Buffaloes twice here in the Scurry County Coliseum, winning both ends of a basketball doubleheader.

The girls won their District 70-B match by an 51-41 score while the boys emerged triumphant by an 87-51 count.

The Cardinal boys held a modest 10 - point lead at halftime after the Buffs duelled them almost on equal terms. Then, in the second half Coach W. C. Hodges' crew began getting to their foe with a quick break and outscored the Buffs 22-11 in the third quarter and 29-14 in the last stanza to win with ease.

Hermleigh shot at a 44 per cent clip from the field, sinking 42 of 95, and the Cards grabbed 42 rebounds, including 17 on offense.

No less than four Cardinals hit in double figures, led by Tom Chorn, who notched 31 points. Jim Averitt, who was runnerup with 23 points, grabbed rebound honors, taking 17 off the boards. Danny Peterson and Ted Winter collected 13 and 10 points respectively.

Larry Patterson posted 21 points — high for Fluvanna — and teammate Victor Contreras put in 15.

Hermleigh had an edge in height and on defense. It was the second district victory for the Cards.

The girls game was clearly under the control of Hermleigh, although the Buffaloes made a valiant rally in the second quarter after trailing 8-11 to go ahead 21-18 at halftime.

At this point, it was anybody's game, but the taller Hermleigh girls did a great job of stealing passes during the third period to outscore Fluvanna 21-6 and take a 39-27 advantage going into the final stanza.

Hermleigh hit only 27 per cent as a team, but, individually, Jane Wall, who scored 22 points for the victors, clicked at a much higher percentage than that. The Cards' big edge was in rebounds. They took 35 off the boards, including 11 offensive rebounds. Mary Hudgins led in this department with 11.

Susan Peterson and Sharon Pieper posted 11 and 10 points respectively for Hermleigh, and Sandra Stansell led Fluvanna girls with 17 points while Charlotte Toombs, her teammate, added 11.

Buff Juniors Take 2 Tilts

FLUVANNA — The Buffalo Junior High basketball teams thrashed Westbrook twice here Tuesday with the girls winning 17-14 and the boys copping a 49-31 decision.

Both tilts were close. The girls were able to win, although they only scored one point in the second half. Westbrook, despite its tremendous defensive effort, simply couldn't overcome Fluvanna's 26-12 halftime lead.

Fluvanna took a 12-7 lead in the first quarter of the boys game, then watched Westbrook cut into it during the next two quarters before going on a scoring spree in the last quarter to remove all doubt about the outcome.

Luis Contreras tallied 24 points for the victors, and Alex Ynguanzo sank 10 for the Buffs. For Westbrook, E. Reyes was high with 10 points.

WESTBROOK GIRLS (14) — Moore 0-3-3; Matlock 1-7-9; Rich 1-0-2; totals 2-10-14.

HIT CENTURY MARK AGAIN
Bengals Tame Ponies

SWEETWATER — The Snyder Tigers hit the century mark in scoring for the third time Tuesday night to whack the Sweetwater Mustangs, 100-70, and keep a share of the District 3-AAA lead.

The Bengals kept pace with defending state champion La Mesa, who walloped Brownfield, 69-45. Elsewhere in the district, Levelland surprised Dunbar, 81-68; and Littlefield edged Lamesa View, 62-56.

The Tigers surged to a 17-4 lead early in the game and held a 29-13 advantage at the end of the first quarter.

Early in the second period, Coach Ned Underwood gave his starters a rest, going to his bench for a full new quintet. Everyone on the Tiger roster had seen action by half-time when the Bengals led, 59-32.

Mickey Almond's long range bombs gave the Tigers their early boost. Almond roped 30 points for his evening's work, 16 of them coming in the first period.

Three other Tigers scored in double figures, with Tommy Bullard accounting for 22, Jerry January 17 and Mitch Rambin 12.

The taller Mustangs out-rebounded the Tigers, 43-32, but most of the time it didn't make a difference since the Tiger pressing defense contributed to an awesome 40 Sweetwater turnovers. By comparison, the Snyder team gave up the ball 19 times on turnovers.

At one time, the Tigers led by as much as 46 points, but they reduced the pressure in the latter stages of the game, especially so after they reached the 100 mark in scoring.

The Snyder B team, plagued by a porous defense throughout and by foul trouble late in the game, dropped a 90-85 decision to Sweetwater B. Snyder B led by 56-42 at half time and had a 77-67 advantage at the end of the third period. At this point fouls began taking a heavy toll and by the end of the game only one Snyder B starter was left in the game. Wesley Bishop, the game's leading scorer with 33 points. Two other Snyder B players scored in double figures with Lee McNair getting 24 points and Randy Rushing 11.

The Tigers go to Lubbock for their next action, facing the potent Dunbar Panthers there Friday night. The activity will get underway at 6:15 p.m. with a B game, with the varsity clash to follow.

Aggies Edge Longhorns

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Texas Aggies edged the Texas Longhorns 88-87 Tuesday night to wind up Southwest Conference basketball competition until after final examinations.

An Aggie rally in the second half whittled down a 12-point deficit and with less than five minutes left they forged into a narrow lead which they held to the final buzzer. Billy Arnold paced Texas with 36 points while Johnny Underwood was high for A&M with 27.

The victory gives the Aggies a 2-3 mark in the conference race while the loss leaves Texas with a 3-2 mark and toppled the Longhorns out of a second place tie with Rice into fourth place.

Baylor, with a perfect 3-0 loop record, is in first place. Rice is 3-1, Texas Christian 2-1, Arkansas 2-2, Southern Methodist 1-3 and Texas Tech 0-4.

While Texas Tech, Southern Methodist, Texas Christian, Baylor, and Arkansas have games against outside foes during the end-of-the-semester break, conference play will not be resumed until Jan. 27 when Baylor engages TCU and Tech meets SMU.

Hawkins Nets 45, But Pipers Lose

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Pittsburgh Pipers blew an opportunity to take sole possession of first place in the American Basketball Association's Eastern Division Tueday night, but it wasn't Connie Hawkins' fault.

Hawkins scored a club high of 45 points in the Pipers' 107-100 defeat by Kentucky. Pittsburgh remains in a virtual tie with Minnesota—the Muskies are ahead on percentage points—which lost to Denver 111-94.

In the only other ABA game Dallas turned back Oakland 119-112.

In the National Basketball Association Tuesday, Cincinnati topped San Francisco 148-121, Seattle beat Baltimore 142-116 and Chicago took San Diego 123-110.

Hawkins put the Pipers ahead 106-105 with 19 seconds left but Jim Ligon's layup with four seconds left won the game for Kentucky. Darel Carrier led the Colonels with 37 points.

Larry Jones led Denver with 29 points as the Rockets easily outdistanced the Muskies, taking a 33-22 first-quarter lead and coasting home. Mel Daniels topped the Minnesota scorers with 25 points.

Dallas won its eighth game in nine starts while handing Oakland its fifth straight setback. Player-Coach Cliff Hagan of the Chaparrals hit on four baskets in the final three minutes after the game was tied 106-all.

Maurice McHartley topped the Chaps with 28 points and Hagan added 27. Jim Hadnot was high for the Oaks with 28.

Martinez won scoring honors for Hobbs with 20 points, and teammate Medrano notched 11 points.

Hobbs girls led 13-6 after one period and 20-14 at halftime, but Ira rallied in the third quarter to take command at 28-27. Their momentum carried over into the final stanza.

Ira outscored the Hobbs boys in every quarter to put down the Panthers. Johnny Ezell and Ricky Holladay tallied 24 and 12 points respectively. They were the big guns in the Ira attack. Lorin Pearce and Wendell Cave topped Hobbs' scorers with 12 and 8 points respectively.

SURVEYOR SCANS MOON

Next Year Men Will Follow

By RALPH DIGHTON
AP Science Writer

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A three-legged robot with a television eye, a mechanical claw and a chemistry kit landed gently on the moon last week for the final look-see of the unmanned phase of U. S. lunar exploration.

Next year, with luck, men may follow.

The robot, called Surveyor 7, was the last and most sophisticated in a $500 million, two-year series of lunar scouts which have scored these remarkable firsts:

—Surveyors carried the first man-made tools to plow extra-terrestrial soil.

—They were the first to analyze the chemistry of the lunar surface, establishing that our nearest celestial neighbor is much like earth, made up basically of basalt, a common rock.

—They were the first to prove —with their own weight—that at least some areas of the moon are strong enough to support astronaut landing craft.

—One, Surveyor 6, was the first vehicle to make a powered takeoff from the moon—a short hop to a new location.

—Three, Surveyors 1, 5 and 6—were the only spacecraft to survive the minus-250 degree, two-week lunar night and respond to commands in the following plus-250 degree lunar day.

Although much criticized at the start—a congressional subcommittee, after two years of delays, called Surveyor in 1965 "one of the least orderly and most poorly executed" U. S. space projects—the program has become one of the most successful.

Dr. William H. Pickering, whose Jet Propulsion Laboratory directed the Surveyor project and controlled the spacecrafts' flights, gives this evaluation of his space-age ugly duckling that turned into a scientific swan:

"In the perspective of history I believe the Surveyor project will prove to be one of this country's best.

"Its accomplishments have given us confidence in the soft-landing design planned for manned craft, and confidence that we can land in many types of terrain, from the plains to the highlands."

The Surveyor program, originally to start in 1963, finally got going in May of 1966. Pickering blamed problems in design and management.

Engineers at the laboratory and at Hughes Aircraft Co., which built the complicated vehicles, eventually came up with a plan to use the first four as test birds, figuring they would need that many to solve the difficulties of soft-landing on the moon.

The first craft, overcoming long odds, landed perfectly, using a new concept of retrorockets to brake descent where there was no air to billow a parachute.

Surveyor 1 televised more than 12,000 close-up pictures of a cratered, rock-littered equatorial plain in the dry Ocean of Storms.

The sweet taste of success was tinctured, however, by the fact that the Soviets, after three failures, soft-landed a small capsule called Luna 9—without saying how they did it—five months earlier. It returned photographs for three days.

Surveyor 3, first to carry instruments other than a camera, bounced twice on landing in the Ocean of Storms last April. It settled in a shallow crater and began scratching the rubbled surface with a small scoop on an extendable arm.

Surveyor 4 crashed on the moon last July after losing radio contact in the final minutes of descent. Its braking rocket may have exploded.

Surveyor 5 made a successful touch-down two months later in the dry Sea of Tranquility. Instead of a scoop it carried a device to analyze soil elements with radiation and made the first chemical tests of the lunar surface.

Surveyor 6, identically equipped, landed last November in the moon's Central Bay and set a new record for the number of photographs sent to earth: more than 30,000.

A week after its touch-down, three small descent rockets were fired again and the 600-pound craft rose eight feet, landing 10 feet away after a flight of six seconds. Pictures taken after the hop showed the much-feared lunar dust was not likely to obstruct vision of Apollo astronauts.

With Surveyor 6's success, the main mission of the program was completed. Four sites, all in a narrow zone along the equator, had been certified as safe for manned landings through soil analysis and studies of more than 66,000 photographs.

Surveyor 7 was given a purely scientific mission. With a chemistry kit and a surface scratcher, it was launched Jan. 7 at the roughest part of the moon yet explored, the highlands around the 15,000-foot Crater Tycho near the south-central edge of the lunar disk.

Given only a 43 per cent chance of success, Surveyor 7 made an almost flat landing with what officials called "divine guidance." It ran into trouble lowering its chemistry kit to the surface, but the claw started working without a hitch.

Surveyor 7 is the 22nd piece of man-made apparatus to land on the moon since the Russian Luna 2 impacted Sept. 12, 1959.

Whatever else it may achieve, Surveyor 7 is clinching evidence that the proverbial man in the moon must have the patience of Job. He has the scars to prove it.

Answers Emergency In Family Style

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Genevieve Murray, who answers emergency calls for help at the City Health Department, responded to an appeal for rare type A-B blood in family style. Nearby she sent her son-in-law to donate.

Mrs. Murray, unable to find the required type in various hospital blood banks, remembered that son-in-law Arthur Mader of Mount Vernont, N.Y., had it. Called on to help, Mader drove to Bird S. Coler Hospital and donated blood for Anthony Rinaldi, 20, who was bleeding internally.

Mitch Miller Now Fire Extinguisher

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Mitch Miller, the natty, bearded producer of a new musical, "Here's Where I Belong," became a distinguished extinguisher at the show's world premiere Monday night.

In the middle of a song by two performers, a small fire broke out in wiring in the balcony of the Shubert Theater and the orchestra-chorus leader dashed up with a fire extinguisher. As the audience applauded, Miller snuffed the blaze and the show went on.

Coast-to-Coast NEWSPAPERS SELL THE MOST!

BY DR. BARNARD'S TEAM

Next Transplant Planned

By DAVID J. PAINE
Associated Press Writer

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Dr. Christiaan Barnard said today the next candidate for a heart transplant at Groote Schuur Hospital is "materializing" but a definite decision has not been made.

The Cape Town surgeon also announced that his second heart transplant patient, Dr. Philip Blaiberg, is "out of the danger zone."

"He is over the period when he could suddenly get a massive infection," Barnard said of the retired dentist.

The surgeon told a news conference the third transplant at Groote Schuur will not be performed within the next six weeks, and not until he has returned from a trip beginning in late February to the United States, Puerto Rico and "somewhere in South America."

In Stanford, Calif., Mike Kasperak, 54, was reported better though still on the critical list because his body may yet try to reject his transplanted heart.

His doctors said Tuesday he was conscious and responding to instructions.

Stanford University Medical Center's bulletin said, "Blood pressure is normal with no signs of rejection" of the heart he received Jan. 6 from the body of a 43-year-old woman who had died of a stroke.

The new heart was functioning with normal rhythm, and Kasperak showed improvement in liver, lung and kidney functions, doctors said. They gave Kasperak his first food since intravenous feeding was started after the operation. A little sugar and water was passed down his throat via plastic tube.

"I know he is going to make it," his wife, Ferne—herself a heart patient—said at a news conference.

Dr. Barnard would give no details about the operation other than to say the prospective beneficiary is in the same age group as Blaiberg, 58, and the first heart transplant patient, Louis Washkansky, who was 58.

Barnard plans an earlier trip to Europe, returning to Cape Town about Feb. 5. If Blaiberg continues to make satisfactory progress, he could be sent home about mid-February, the doctor said.

"Dr. Blaiberg is getting stronger every day," he reported. "All the tests indicate that his heart action is good.

"As far as we know, there is no evidence of rejection. His lungs are absolutely clear and the herpes infection he had in his throat is also clear now."

Barnard said histological tests on tissues from the heart transplanted into Louis Washkansky, who lived for 18 days before dying of pneumonia, will be made in London. It is hoped the tests will determine whether changes in the heart were due to rejection or to anoxia—lack of oxygen—shortly before Washkansky died.

Cotton Import Pact Extended

By PEGGY SIMPSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — A textile import agreement with Egypt allowing importation into the United States of extra-long staple cotton has been extended for a second time, it was learned Tuesday.

After diplomatic relations between the United States and Egypt were discontinued, the 1963 agreement expired on Sept. 20, 1967.

Two senators, Clinton Anderson and Joseph Montoya, both Democrats of New Mexico, criticized the State Department in November for extending the agreement in November without the knowledge of Congress.

Word Tuesday, however, was that the agreement with Egypt had been extended a second time, stretching it until April.

Montoya said the United States was self-sufficient in the extra-long staple cotton and that Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser had "realized $3 million in American hard currency" from cotton exports alone.

The New Mexico senator continued: "He is hard pressed for real cash of any kind and we are helping him earn it. Further, he has recently purchased wheat from France, of all nations. There is a good possibility that he has used American money to do so."

Santa Came Through For Little Girls

By LOWELL MCKIRGAN
Associated Press Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — It was touch-and-go for a while, but Santa came through.

A photograph showing two little girls crying as they left a Christmas party empty handed has brought gifts from across the United States and Canada.

The photograph by St. Louis Post-Dispatch photographer Reynold Ferguson was taken minutes after 6-year-old Henrean Alexander, 5-year-old Algerine Norris and about 2,000 other children had been told Santa Claus had run out of toys.

The girls were among 4,500 youngsters invited to a Christmas party sponsored by management of the Pruitt-Igoe Housing Project Friday, Dec 22. More than 11,000 persons live in the project.

The photograph of the two crying youngsters was distributed in the United States and Canada by The Associated Press Wirephoto network. The response was almost immediate.

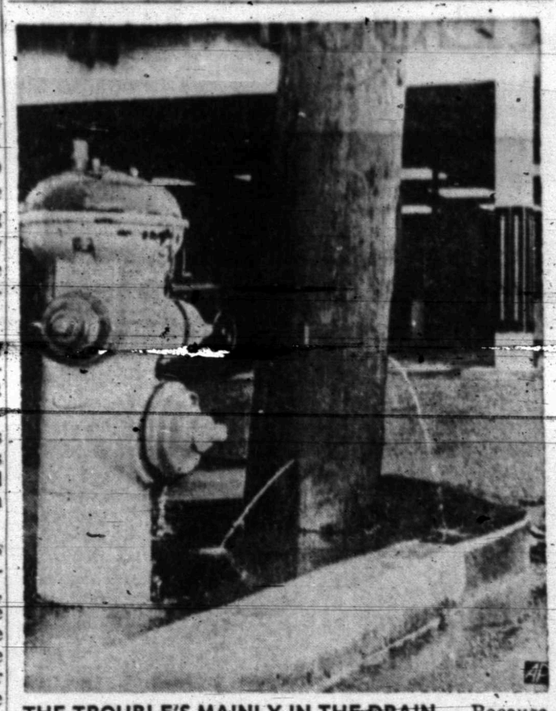

For example the Arkansas Gazette editorial staff helped. One Gazette editor called The Associated Press bureau in St. Louis and said, "We saw the picture of the two little girls and the guys around the desk decided to take a collection. Where shall I send it?"

The picture was distributed two days before Christmas and housing project Manager Philip Thigpen reported Christmas Eve that all children had received toys.

Checks and cash are still arriving daily, both at the Pruitt-Igoe offices and at the newspaper. Thigpen said two children sent toys from Canada.

The gifts are being placed in a special fund for use, as needed, in helping the children of the development.

The little girls in the picture are the products of broken homes. Algerine's mother is 27 years old and has two other children. Henrean's mother is 24 and has three other children. Neither father lives with his family.

THE TROUBLE'S MAINLY IN THE DRAIN — Because of recent heavy rains in Mount Vernon, Wash., drainage hasn't been too good. So when the water main serving the hydrant (left) cracked, the only way for the water to go was up. It's coming through worm holes in the utility pole under pressure. (AP Wirephoto)

Reminiscence Main Course At King Of Swing's Party

By MARY CAMPBELL
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Benny Goodman gave a dinner party Tuesday night in the roof garden of his apartment house and the main course was lively reminiscence.

Among the 100 guests were 13 who performed with "Benny Goodman and His Swing Orchestra" exactly 30 years ago on the stage of Carnegie Hall.

Carnegie now is the scene of rock 'n' roll concerts and country-western song fests, but in those days the stately hall knew only classical music.

Cornetist Bobby Hackett, who did a guest solo with the band at that Jan. 16, 1938, concert, said, "We were all scared and nervous. I was just completely awed to step on a stage where all the greatest famous artists had been. And I was awed by Benny too. He was an idol of mine. He still is."

Goodman recalled, "It was a press agent's dream, going into Carnegie. I was rather reluctant to do it, even though Paul Whiteman had given a concert there."

He was interrupted by jazz historian John Hammond, "That was symphonic jazz. He had a bunch of strings."

Goodman went on, "I tried to get Bea Lillie to tell a couple of jokes, for variety. She declined. I get nervous now when I play a concert. But I don't think I was then."

Drummer Gene Krupa recalled, "It was our regular 14-piece band. In the second half we had some guests appear. I remember it as a pretty thrilling night. I thought that the band played exceptionally well, with a very eager sound."

Martha Tilton, who was Goodman's vocalist in 1938 and sang at Carnegie, greeted old friends. "I came in from Los Angeles especially for this party. I wouldn't have missed it for the world. Benny wrote me a letter, 'Would you believe it has been 30 years.'"

Asked what he remembered, vibraphonist Lionel Hampton said, "I'll tell you that even before that concert, Goodman was the first to have Negro and white musicians playing together. One time in Texas the police said Negro and white couldn't go on the same stage together. The band wouldn't go on until finally they let us all go on. After we played, the ovation must have lasted about an hour."

Women's Clothes Do Cost More

By NEIL GILBRIDE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department has made official what most husbands already know—it costs a lot more to keep women well dressed than men.

And, says a report in the Monthly Labor Review, the higher cost of clothing the ladies persists from ages 2 to 72.

The greatest spending differences are at the ages of 16 and 17, when the average girl's wardrobe costs 42 per cent more than a boy's.

The report by Ann Erickson of the department's Division of Living Conditions Studies added Tuesday that both sexes become more clothes conscious in their mid and late teens.

"Although 18 to 24-year-olds had the highest clothing bills, their average expenditures were only slightly higher than the 16 and 17-year-olds," said the report.

"Persons in both age groups tend to be fashion conscious, like to have special clothes for dates and school activities, and often have more money to spend on clothing than younger teenagers—they are more likely to have income from part-time or full-time jobs," it said.

The report, based on a survey of buying habits over several years, said the average family spends $170.73 a year on clothing for men between the ages of 18 and 64 and $219.25 on women of the same ages. But those figures should be upped 10 per cent or more because of price hikes the past few years, the report said.

Fathers with young children, the study indicated were lucky to squeeze an occasional new suit for themselves out of the family budget.

"For men, the lowest clothing purchases were reported for husbands whose children were all under 18," it said.

For youngsters from age 2 to 5, $73.98 a year was spent on girls and $67.49 on boys, the report said.

The higher rate of spending on women's clothes, after reaching the peak 42 per cent for 16 and 17-year-olds, gradually decreases to 26 per cent at age 25.

But the disparity, although narrowing, continues all the way into the 65-plus age group where clothing expenditures for both men and women decline but women still outspend men by an average $96.73 to $77.16 a year.

CAREER CORNER

INTERIOR DESIGNER

Q. — "I love beautiful things and I think I might like to become an interior designer. Do women make much money in this field?"

— J. H., Dallas, Texas.

A. — Yes and no. As in most glamorous vocations, many try but few make it to the top.

Many experienced designers and decorators (men and women) with average skill earn only moderate incomes — about $5,000 to $7,500 a year. A minority command more than $12,000, while national name designers may earn well over $25,000 annually. Beginners should expect to work for apprentice wages from approximately one to three years.

In short, with stellar exceptions, interior design is not a big money field, but the work is stimulating and provides a great opportunity for creative satisfaction.

Scope of work: The interior designer or decorator plans and furnishes the interiors of homes, offices, institutions, restaurants, hotels, theaters, stores, ships, aircraft and other buildings. Some design stage sets for movies, television and the theater.

Designers are more concerned than decorators with space planning and the over-all job to be done. The designer is part of a total environment team which includes the architect and the landscape architect. Such design teams often join talents to complete a major apartment complex, or a high-rise office building.

After the designer's plans and cost estimates are approved, the designer buys materials — drapery and upholstery fabrics, wall paper, furniture and other accessories. Then the designer sees the job through by supervising the work of craftsmen — painters, carpenters, carpetlayers, cabinetmakers, etc.

EMPLOYMENT: Designers - decorators are employed by department and furniture stores, hotel and restaurant chains, architectural firms, furniture and textile manufacturers, or by publications that feature articles on home furnishings. Some large industrial corporations employ staff designers. Other designers have their own firms and may sell the merchandise with which they work.

EDUCATION: College or design-school training has become important, and is requisite for membership in the field's two professional societies. Membership marks professional achievement and is an aid to career betterment.

OUTLOOK: A slow but steady increase is anticipated. Applicants who can plan and design space are in strong demand. However, in an economic downturn, job opportunities become fewer because interior design is often considered a luxury service.

HEADSTART: Courses in art and home economics; set designing for school plays; aptitude tests; part-time and summer jobs in design firms, or design departments of stores. General selling experience helps too.

OFFICIAL UN FUNCTIONS

Cocktail Party Politics Vital

By TOM HOGE
Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — When Ahmed Ben Bella gave his first U.N. party as president of Algeria, he took one look at the huge guest list and canceled the liquor.

Word got around that the party was dry, and Ben Bella had to keep dinner waiting for an hour while parched diplomats shuttled across town to stoke up at the Waldorf-Astoria where Saudi Arabia was throwing a champagne bash.

Most of the guests straggled back after unwinding, and more than 1,200 munched their way through a lavish assortment of curries, spiced meats and other Middle East delicacies. Even without liquor, the evening cost Ben Bella's economy-minded government about $12,000.

During the three-month run of the recently-completed U.N. General Assembly session, nearly all of the 122 member states put on from one to half a dozen social get-togethers, ranging from cozy luncheons for 20 to mammoth evening buffets for 800 or more.

Most home governments subscribe to the late Dag Hammarskjold's theory that the U.N. reception is a fruitful field for quiet diplomacy. As a result, ambassadors and their aides are kept on the run every working night and many weekends making the cocktail circuit.

A U.N. cocktail party played an important role in breaking the 1948 Berlin blockade. Former U. S. delegate Phillip C. Jessup was chatting with Soviet Ambassador Jacob Malik at one of these functions when the Russian envoy dropped a broad hint that the problem could be solved by private talks between the two superpowers. Jessup got the message, and both envoys soon were engaged in negotiations that ended the crisis.

U.N. Headquarters is the site of most receptions—the more elaborate ones are held at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel—and before the assembly is over, more than 80 are held either in the main delegates' dining room or the adjoining west terrace. Ben Bella's debut, which is still the largest in U.N. annals, spilled over into both chambers.

U.N. receptions fall into two general categories. For the economy-minded there is the canape party which runs from $4 to $5 a head, not including liquor, and the hot buffet which is a good deal more elaborate and averages from $7 to $10 per person.

Malta, for instance, gave a canape reception for 600 in October that ran about $5 a head. For this the United Nations laid out 600 cold shrimp, 500 fried shrimp, 400 scallops stuffed with crabmeat, 400 deviled oysters, 300 chicken livers rolled in bacon, 300 servings of the tangy cheese custard known as quiche lorraine, 240 cold canapes and a whopping 800 assorted sandwiches. They also threw in 12 pounds of mixed nuts and two gallons of olives.

The hot buffets are served at long tables laden with platters full of tongue-tingling curry, huge tureens of spiced beef afloat in rich gravy, mountains of creamed chicken and great roasts of turkey, beef and ham carved at each guest's pleasure.
