'Deal' To Ransom Kidnaped Envoy

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — The Brazilian government agreed Saturday to release 40 political prisoners and publicize a leftist document urging "rural guerrilla war" as ransom for West German Ambassador Ehrenfried von Holleben, kidnaped by terrorists Thursday.

The government said it followed the kidnappers' wishes by having the inflammatory proclamation calling for the guerrilla warfare and the overthrow of the present military regime published in Saturday's newspapers.

'FIGHT TO DEATH'
The kidnappers' manifesto pledged a "fight to the death" to topple the government.

The government announcement came after messages from the kidnappers were found in the poor box at a Roman Catholic church in a Rio suburb and fulfilled its pledge to do all in its power to insure the safety of the envoy.

The government said in a note that the identity of the prisoners would be given by the kidnappers later.

'In an effort to save the life' of West German Ambassador Ehrenfried von Holleben, the government has agreed to release the 40 political prisoners," the note said.

The statement marked the first time the government admitted it held "political" prisoners.

Previous statements contended there were no such prisoners in Brazil and that the men being held were "common criminals" who had committed crimes against the national security.

'DOING FINE'

The government note, signed by the ministers of justice and foreign affairs and broadcast by a Rio radio station, concluded that because the government had met the kidnappers' conditions, the responsibility for the safety of the ambassador was in their hands.

The Germany Embassy said the government had turned over to von Holleben's wife a note written by him which said he was "doing fine" and was in good health.

The ambassador was kidnaped from an auto near his home Thursday night by nine young men and a woman armed with machine guns. The kidnappers killed a Brazilian security guard and wounded two others.

Leaflets found at the scene identified the kidnappers as members of the Popular Revolutionary Vanguard—PRV—one of several underground leftist groups.

After an anonymous phone tip to the government radio station Friday officials found messages stuffed in the alms box at St. Monica Roman Catholic Church in the suburb of Leblon.

Red Pressure On Vital Road Link To Sea

SAIGON (AP) — The Communist command in Cambodia was reported building up pressure Saturday on Kompong Speu, threatening to cut off Phnom Penh's last remaining road link to its major seaport and vital oil supplies from abroad.

The Cambodian capital depends on oil to generate its electricity and it has but 15 days' supplies on hand, officials said.

A military spokesman in Phnom Penh said about 1,000 Communist command troops were believed massing for fresh attacks on Kompong Speu, the key town on Route 4 about 30 miles southeast of the capital.

The roadway runs to Kompong Som, formerly Sihanoukville, Cambodia's major seaport, and site of Cambodia's only oil refinery.

BULLETS MISS COPS, EX-CAPTAIN CAPTURED

BURLINGTON, Conn. (AP) — A former Army captain held state police at bay for six hours with a fusillade of bullets Saturday before being wounded and captured when he emerged from his home.

Robert Gaudette, 39, came out of the house in a rural section of town as police were readying an armored vehicle in an effort to close in on him.

Police said Gaudette had a rifle slung over one shoulder and a pistol in one hand and threatened to shoot himself in the head. But they brought him down with a bullet in the thigh, and he was taken to Bristol Hospital.

Police said Gaudette was upset because his wife had not come home Friday night and he called them at about 3:30 a.m., but before they could send a trooper to investigate he called back several times, finally threatening to kill any police who showed up.

When the first police to arrive were fired at, reinforcements were called in, surrounding the house at dawn.

Gaudette refused pleas by his wife that he give himself up, but he did allow his three children to leave the house.

Police said Gaudette used both shotguns and rifles during the siege and fired several hundred rounds.

Boyhood Home Of LBJ Is Dedicated

STONEWALL, Tex. (AP) — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson, speaking at the dedication of his boyhood home and reconstructed birthplace as a national historical site Saturday, declared that "America is still the land of promise, as it always was."

Johnson, sweltering in a black suit in 90 degree heat, was joined by several federal officials and congressmen in dedicating the site.

About 5,000 persons, according to a National Park Service estimate, attended the ceremony on the grounds of the birthplace, a few hundred yards from the main house of the LBJ Ranch.

'DEAR LYNDON'

Gov. Preston Smith of Texas presented the deeds to the two houses and the land around them to Secretary of Interior Walter J. Hickel.

Those sitting with the former president and Mrs. Johnson on an unshaded platform as the sun beat down, included Sen. Alan Bible, D-Nev., a member of the Senate Interior and Insular Affairs Committee; Rep. Wayne Aspinall, D-Colo., chairman of the House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee; Rep. Julia Butler Hansen, D-Wash., chairman of the House Appropriations subcommittee on interior and related agencies; Rep. John Saylor, R-Pa., ranking Republican on the committee; former Treasury Secretary Henry Fowler and Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, Houston, former secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

They also agreed to build a joint oil refinery at the pipeline's terminal in the Syrian port of Tartus, a joint communique said.

Syria, Iraq Ink Pipeline Pact

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Syria and Iraq agreed today to build an 800-mile pipeline linking oil fields in southern Iraq with a Mediterranean terminal in northern Syria.

They also agreed to build a joint oil refinery at the pipeline's terminal in the Syrian port of Tartus, a joint communique said.

HHH Ends Silence On Political Plans

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey announced Saturday his candidacy for the U.S. Senate from Minnesota and said he has "no intention of seeking the presidency" in 1972.

But Humphrey said he would not "turn away from the nomination" for the presidency if it were offered.

Humphrey, 59, thus confirmed his long-rumored re-entry into Minnesota politics where he has been a major figure for 25 years.

He will seek the seat now held by Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., a fellow Minnesotan who opposed Humphrey for the Democratic nomination for president in 1968. McCarthy has said he will not seek re-election.

In an announcement statement, Humphrey said he was responding to "a call for leadership of firmness and strength."

He was particularly critical of President Nixon on economic issues.

"A cruel and continuing inflation has damaged our economy and hurt our people," Humphrey said. "Those who can least afford it are suffering the most—the elderly individuals living on fixed incomes from pensions and Social Security."

Tracer bullets lit the sky over the outskirts of Amman Saturday night and Arab guerrillas reported Jordanian forces loyal to the ousted army commander were moving on the Jordanian capital.

Guerrilla sources said the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine had alerted its Marxist partisans to prepare for another round of fighting.

Officials of Al Fatah, the largest Arab guerrilla organization, also expressed fears of a new outbreak of trouble and claimed King Hussein had no control over some army elements.

The 34-year-old monarch dismissed his uncle, Sheriff Nasser ben Jamil, as commander of the army Thursday night in a move to end fighting between Jordanian troops and Palestinian guerrillas.

The International Red Cross estimated 200 people were killed and between 500 and 700 were wounded in the five days of civil war.

The guerrillas had demanded the dismissals of Nasser ben Jamil and Zeid ben Shaker, Hussein's cousin who commanded Jordan's Third Armored Division. They claimed the two men were trying to destroy the Palestinian liberation movement.

The king disputed the allegations.

Hussein No Longer Undisputed Master

Tracer bullets lit the sky over the outskirts of Amman Saturday night and Arab guerrillas reported Jordanian forces loyal to the ousted army commander were moving on the Jordanian capital.

Guerrilla sources said the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine had alerted its Marxist partisans to prepare for another round of fighting.

Officials of Al Fatah, the largest Arab guerrilla organization, also expressed fears of a new outbreak of trouble and claimed King Hussein had no control over some army elements.

The guerrillas had demanded the dismissals of Nasser ben Jamil and Zeid ben Shaker, Hussein's cousin who commanded Jordan's Third Armored Division. They claimed the two men were trying to destroy the Palestinian liberation movement.

The king disputed the allegations.

Officials said about 500 persons left on the flights.

Amman Radio appealed to employees of all public services, especially waterworks and utility workers, to return to their jobs at once. It also appealed to bakeries, shops, gas stations and taxis to resume normal services.

The Voice of Palestine Radio reported in Damascus that Al Fatah guerrillas shot down an Israeli reconnaissance plane over south Lebanon Saturday. The broadcast said the plane fell in Israeli-held territory. The Israelis denied the report.

Big Spring Man Victim Of Accident

An automobile - pickup collision 1.4 miles west of Big Spring on SH 176 Friday night resulted in Howard County's second traffic fatality in less than a week as Lee Roy Talkington, 63, 1001 Johnson, died of injuries sustained in that accident at 7:55 p.m. Saturday in a local hospital.

Noel L. Harvell, 17, of Sand Springs, was killed Wednesday morning in a one-car accident five miles east of the city on the Eleventh Place extension. The county traffic toll for the year now stands at four.

Highway Patrolman D. O. Bates investigated the accident and said Talkington was apparently headed east around 9:30 p.m. Friday when his 1957 pickup was involved in a collision with a 1969 car, also headed east and driven by Millard Alton Williams of Oil Center, N.M.

The force of impact spun the truck around and caused it to overturn, throwing its driver across a ditch and fence bordering the road.

Attendees at the VA hospital said Talkington suffered shoulder and hip injuries.

Two women passengers, unidentified at press time, in the Williams car were treated for minor injuries and released from Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital following the accident. Mr. Talkington was alone at the time of the accident.

Services for Mr. Talkington are pending at Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

He was born Nov. 19, 1906 in Bebee, Ark. and moved to Big Spring in 1935. For the past six years, he has been a food service employee at Big Spring State Hospital and before that operated a trucking business and drive-in restaurant.

He married Velma White here July 2, 1960 and was a member of the First Baptist Church.

Survivors include his wife, of the home; a son, Sammy Talkington, Denton; a daughter, Mrs. Billy Ruth Bice, Austin; a brother, Hughes Talkington, Searcy, Ark.; two sisters, Mrs. Ruth Hollis and Mrs. Ina Watson, both of Bebee, Ark.; and three grandchildren.

C-CITY DECLINE Population Dip Posted In Coahoma

Coahoma lost population, too, in the past decade, according to preliminary figures released by the U. S. Census Bureau in Dallas for communities under 10,000.

The bureau pegged the official count of Coahoma at 1,145, as compared with 1,329 in 1960. This is a 7.6 per cent decline, which closely parallels the county's population decline. There were no figures on Sand Springs, the sprawling community along IS 20 between Big Spring and Coahoma. Nor were there reported figures on Forsan or Ackerly.

Figures also showed Colorado City with 4,915 as compared with 6,457 in 1960, or 23.8 per cent. Loraine with 990 showed a gain from the 837 in 1960 and Westbrook had four more in reaching 218.

Earlier reports had pegged the Big Spring population at 28,165, down from 31,230 in 1960.

Reviewing the . . .

Big Spring Week

. . . with Joe Pickle

March and June got together all of a sudden last week, inflicting an odd assortment of weather. Temperature readings suddenly mounted into the mid to upper nineties, and the wind began to whip out of the southwest and west—a typical early spring pattern. The result was a miserable dust storm on Thursday. It may have given newcomers a sample of what this can be like, but didn't help crop prospects any.

An early-morning mishap on the old Coahoma highway five miles east of here Wednesday claimed the life of Noel Leon Harvell, 17, in an one-car accident. The week was a particularly bad one in taking young lives, for Diane Billingsley, 18, Ackerly, lost her brave fight against a kidney failure, and Elaine Jansa, 15, St. Lawrence, also was taken by illness.

Policemen will go on a 40-hour week, at least until the conclusion of the current fiscal year. Commissioners will take another look at it then, and there was some indication they may examine the situation of other city workers who may be putting in longer work weeks.

Dee John Davis, candidate for state representative, A. G. Mitchell for county judge, and Bill Bennett and Jack Buchanan as candidates for county commissioner, emerged as the Democrat nominees following the runoff primary. Of the (See THE WEEK, Page 2-A, Col. 1)

Pilot Spots Boy, 9, Lost In Sand Dunes

Ricky Acuff, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Acuff, 105 E. 15th St., was found face down in a gully, caked with sand and burned by the sun, but in good condition around 7:30 p.m. Saturday after wandering lost among the dunes in and around Sand Hill State Park, near Monahans for some 10 hours.

A Webb AFB helicopter piloted by Lt. Col. Roland Speckman dispatched to aid in the search found the youngster about four miles from the park after he apparently became separated from a Grace Baptist Church Sunday School outing about 9:30 a.m.

The boy was taken to a Monahans hospital, but required no emergency treatment after the ordeal.

Other members of the helicopter crew responsible for finding the child were Capt. Dennis Olson, and Sgt. Ozell Conner. Big Spring Police Sgt. John Scott was a passenger in the craft.

John Stanley and Wayne Bartlett, both of Big Spring, piloted a private plane to search the area and seven members of the 5-Walters Radio Club also participated.

Monahans Police and members of the church party began looking for the boy as soon as he was discovered missing and Mr. and Mrs. Acuff joined as soon as they were notified.

U.S. Trying To Protect Temples In Cambodia

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has been active in efforts to spare Cambodia's famed temples from the destruction of war, State Department officials said Saturday.

They said U.S. forces sent into eastern Cambodia have been told the location of historic places in that area so they can avoid combat damage to them as much as possible.

Cambodia's most renowned temples are at Angkor, seat of the ancient Khmer civilization. They are well west of the U.S. ground operations launched April 30 against North Vietnamese-Viet Cong bases near the South Vietnam border.

Officials said U.S. air strikes have not been made and are not planned around Angkor.

On the diplomatic front, officials said U.S. interest in avoiding damage to Cambodia's cultural and religious landmarks has been discussed with the South Vietnamese, the Cambodians and with U.N. Secretary General U Thant.

Cambodia, which has declared Angkor Wat an "open city" to keep it out of the path of the spreading fighting, is expected to make an international appeal in Paris at a U.N. educational, scientific organization (UNESCO) meeting Wednesday, they said.

The extent to which the North Vietnamese choose to make use of Angkor for military operations will bear on the pressure on the commanders opposing them to engage in combat there, with resulting danger to the historic temples.

The Cambodians themselves are regarded here as highly reluctant to engage in operations which would harm the Angkor ruins. Officials noted the words of one Cambodian operations officer, for instance, who said:

"We will not destroy the temples of our ancient kings, but the gods will destroy the enemy who profane our sacred monuments."

Lakeview Y Beautification Is Producing Dividends

The Lakeview YMCA beautification project is yielding good dividends, Sam Dawson, director, said Saturday.

Proud of the redecorated facility, more young people are registering for activities there. Moreover, the spruced-up building and grounds have brightened the area, he noted.

Thanks to efforts of several individuals, groups and businesses, the building has now been given a new ivory-colored paint cover, highlighted by green window and screen frames.

The paint was obtained by Mrs. Bert Bedford of the Central Labor Council through the Cosden Oil and Chemical Co., and the OEO, and Cabot Carbon Company furnished the painting machines.

Frank Goodman volunteered his services and did the painting. Then the Big Spring and Oasis Garden Clubs donated flowers and shrubs to be planted around the building.

Young people and adults in the Lakeview area also pitched in and helped with some of the plantings.

"We are grateful to all those who helped in our clean-up and fix-up campaign," said Dawson.

"One result has been a step up in use of the building, for we have an average daily attendance of 98 youngsters for the Citywide Recreation program. Every day we have a recreation swim for the youngsters from 11 a.m. to 12 noon, and we hope more children will take part in the program."

Clovis Hale, athletic director, is having a tough time in keeping a coaching staff intact. He took a step forward with the hiring of Novice Kniffen to succeed the departing Royce Cox, but then Jack Gray took the Menard head coaching spot and Darrell Froman decided to go with him.

Comes a note in the mail from Jake Douglass, who manages the Hampshire House Hotel in Denver, Colo., reporting that he had received his Old Monarch certificate as a member of the Denver downtown Lions Club. It was our privilege 30 years ago to have inducted Jake as a Lion in the Downtown Club here. He's held memberships in various clubs in Texas, Arizona and Colorado but always has continued active.

Randy Rister is working with a roofing contractor in Lubbock this summer to lay in some funds to go to college in the autumn. The valedictorian of the Forsan High School graduating class got some real help as well as honor when the Aggie Club announced him at the annual scholarship barbecue as winner of the 1970 award which is good for $1,000 over a four-year period.

Earl Dean, evaluator for the county-city schools, came up with a total valuation of $302,760 on mobile homes, which will be added to local tax rolls. Each agency will apply its own percentage of assessment to this figure.

The Community Action Agency gave its endorsement to a child day care center, in event funds are available for one. Previously, Keith Swim, who handles government programs for the schools, had indicated that there was a strong possibility this will be the case.

The Howard County Library may get to move into its new home, the former post office building, in August. Officials said that the remodeling of the building is on target for the July 29 completion date. Meantime, the commissioners court had another financial problem in connection with this — a need for $10,000 in equipment to put the library in top shape.

Texas Farmers Making Hay

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Texas farmers literally have made hay in good weather last week.

Haying was high on the list of activities, said Director John Hutchison of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, but there were spots in the state where rain intervened.

Showers varied from traces to downpours but generally were light, Hutchison said. The situation is good over much of the state but he noted that the lack of rain is delaying the last planting of dryland crops, restricting the growth of crops already up, and holding back forage growth on ranges. Livestock are in mostly good to excellent condition all through the state, he said.

SAND, HAIL HIT

Considerable replanting of cotton and sorghum is on in the South Plains (Lubbock) due to blowing sand, hail and heavy rains. Cool weather is delaying crop growth and causing some discoloring in sorghum seedlings. Warmer weather would be welcome. Thrips are damaging young cotton and dry seedlings hamper germination in some areas. Alfalfa is being harvested with good yields. Livestock generally are in good condition.

Moisture is adequate in most of the Rolling Plains (Vernon) and where fields are dry, the harvest is fast. Yields are good, from 25 to 30 bushels an acre. Planting of cotton, sorghum and guar is continuing. Alfalfa is being baled. Some cotton is being replanted. Livestock and range conditions were good.

RAIN NEEDED

Rain is needed in Far West Texas for dryland crops and range plants. Irrigated crops grew fairly well despite cool nights. Livestock conditions generally are good; sheep shearing is about complete; and fat lambs are being shipped. Labor is short.

Water Demand Stays High

Even with oil companies drawing on Lake J. B. Thomas cut back to half their normal requirements, deliveries by the Colorado River Municipal Water District are topping the 60 million gallon daily mark.

Friday, reported Paschal Odom, assistant general manager, deliveries exceeded 61,000,000. Earlier in the week, a shower in the Odessa area reduced demand, but the district pumped well over 50 million gallons per day all week. Odessa used over 20 million gallons Thursday and Friday; Midland about 15 million each of the two days; Big Spring around 9.7 million gallons; Snyder about three million.

During the past week a brisk shower in southern Mitchell County caused Big Silver Creek to run, emptying into the Colorado River just above Lake E. V. Spence. This flow of good quality water was caught by the detention pool, and thus pumped at the rate of 30,000,000 gallons a day to the Moss Creek reservoir.

Saturday, however, the inflow had been exhausted and the district cut back to operating one 17-million gallon pump into Big Spring.

Trash Explosion

NEW CASTLE, N.H. (AP) — The "trash explosion" in the United States is so great that one year's accumulation of litter would cover a four-lane highway from New York to San Francisco to a depth of one foot, Edward Mayop president of the Kennebunkport, Maine, Dump Association told a recent meeting of the New England Council.

Ruling Upholds Abilene Board

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — The Abilene school board did not act capriciously or arbitrarily in giving unexcused absences to some 250 to 300 Mexican-American pupils who last fall boycotted classes for 10 days, a federal court jury ruled Friday.

A class action suit had been filed against the Abilene school board and administration by six Mexican-American pupils who charged the board with discrimination in application of the unexcused absence rule.

Federal District Judge Leo Brewster ordered the six-man, six-woman jury to consider only whether there was an arbitrary or capricious application of the unexcused absences on the pupil's records.

The jury returned its findings only 20 minutes after beginning deliberations.

The pupils abandoned plans before reaching court, to seek $20,000 in damages, and injunctions barring punishment for the Oct. 21-31 class walkout, and from barring pupils from speaking Spanish on campus.

Defense lawyer Mark Smith said the boycott at Abilene High School and two junior high schools was a "Christian and orderly protest."

The pupils claimed they were protesting general discrimination by the school board and teachers when they staged their walkout.

New HCJC Budget Down By 2.3 Pct.

Trustees of Howard County Junior College approved a budget of $1,391,274 Friday, down 2.3 per cent from this year's proposed budget and 4.6 per cent down from the revised budget of this year.

They set the public hearing date for 5 p.m. Aug. 11 in the college administration building. About the only major increase in the budget was in payroll, which will total $774,695 in the tentative budget, up 4.5 per cent from last year's original budget and 6.2 per cent over the revised budget figures for this purpose. Most of the increase is in instructional salaries, and the bulk of it in the vocational-technical division where a new instructor is being added. A general raise had been ordered earlier, but holding and reducing the staff requirements more than offset this.

Virtually every category of expenditures was comparable to the actual (or revised) spending for this year, with the exception of $34,000 less for operation and maintenance. The reason for this is that several major repairs and overhauls were accomplished during the past year and are not anticipated this year.

In proposing the budget, Dr. W. A. Hunt, college president, pointed out that the carry-over had been reduced to about $20,000 in order that $30,000 might be applied to the vocational-technical building fund. This is necessary to approach the local share in event a grant is provided after July 1 for a new building.

The portion of the proposed budget which will involve tax funds in any way come to $1,193,351 as compared to $1,131,250 proposed for the current year and $1,178,529 in the revised budget of this year. Added to this will be the $197,923 proposed for the student housing system, which is wholly supported by the revenues it generates. For the current year the budget for student housing was $208,150 and the revised budget was $195,844.

Contracts for equipment were awarded by trustees of Howard County Junior College at their meeting Friday evening.

Office Outfitters of Midland got the contract for a 16 digit capacity electronic printing calculator as the lowest of six bids submitted.

International Business Machines got the bid for replacement of similar electric typewriters for a net proposal of $2,450. The base bid was $4,070, less trade-in of 11 machines in the amount of $1,620.

Pollard Chevrolet was awarded a contract for a half-ton pickup for $2,160, although the bid of Broughton Truck and Implement was $1,994. This proposal, trustees said, did not include all the items specified.

A long list of purchases for the vocational-technical department went to Broadhead-Garrett Company of Cleveland, Ohio, in the amount of $4,268. It was the only bidder on these items including a blue print printer, electronic teaching supplies, machine tools, etc. Midwest Welding of Big Spring was low for $929 for a wiring machine and $471 for a leveling machine for welding.

The board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Alicia Travis with regret and elected Mrs. Romona Harris, Big Spring, as her successor. Mrs. Travis has been instructor in the vocational nursing program and is moving to Levelland where her husband, D. E. Travis, has been employed as South Plains basketball coach.

Also approved was renovation of the auditorium in the approximate amount of $1,200, and an increase in the college operating engineer's housing allowance of $25 a month. Dr. W. A. Hunt, college president, reported on completion of repairs to the air conditioning system and to the central boilers. He also recommended a reconditioning of the tennis courts, but he estimated this will cost around $6,500.

Presbyterians Talk Merger

Synods representing the two branches of the Presbyterian faith met in San Antonio this week to discuss the merging of the branches in Texas.

They are the Presbyterian Church in the United States and the United Presbyterian Church, USA. United Presbyterian is a nation-wide branch, according to the Rev. Daniel Sebesta of St. Paul Presbyterian Church, Big Spring, while the PCUS is a regional branch with its membership located in the South. The two branches have been separated since the Civil War.

It was proposed in the San Antonio meeting that the two branches put out a joint newspaper and form a joint executive committee, but each branch would maintain its separate identity with its own governing body.

St. Paul Presbyterian Church and the First Presbyterian Church of Big Spring belong to the Texas synod of the PCUS. Although not directly involved in the discussions in San Antonio, the move for unity could affect the local churches in the future if the merger is successful, said Rev. Sebesta.

After the merger Rev. Sebesta said that the two groups would be "united in function but separate in name."

PAUL MAYO

Local Rodeo Lures Top $$$$$ Winners

Rodeo officials learned Saturday that Paul Mayo, a top money winner on the pro circuit, plans to enter the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion Rodeo.

Mayo, who hails from Fort Worth, went on a win spree and pocketed $2,300 in 10 days this season, rocketing him to fifth in the all-around cowboy and third in bareback bronc riding standings last week.

At the Elks Helldorado Rodeo May 24, Mayo tied for first in bareback bronc riding and took home $784. The Fort Worth ace is looking for his second bronc riding championship after taking that crown in 1966.

Another top cowboy, Randy Magers, also of Fort Worth, will be on hand for Big Spring action. He finished fifth in bull riding last year and is in the top 10 money-winners again this year.

Texans Gene Lyda, Somerset, and David Glover, Clarksville, are top contenders in bull riding this year after placing high last season. Glover finished 12th while Lyda was 13th.

Sanctioned by the Denver-based Rodeo Cowboys Association, the Big Spring purse totals $2,750 and will be added to the cowboys' entry fees for the total prize money.

Last year 135 contestants competed for nearly $7,000 in prize money. That was part of the $3.8 million won at 533 RCA rodeos last year.

Sailing Sparks Scout Outing

The Cub Scouts of Pack 29 went on a sailing excursion at Cosden Lake Friday afternoon under direction of Dr. E. C. Parker.

Seventeen scouts participated in the day's activities supervised by Packmaster W. R. Cregar and his assistant Bud Sumner.

After sailing, Don and Ron Robertson were presented awards for craftsmanship. Clifford Parker received scientist, artist and athlete badges and Martin Schattel was awarded scientist, scholar, artist and craftsmanship badges.

National Park Fee Suspended

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Park Service announced Saturday the suspension of entrance fees to its park areas normally entered by automobile.

An announcement said the park service has stopped collecting daily fees because of public complaints, while awaiting congressional action to restore the Golden Eagle Passport, a bargain price annual fee.

Under the Golden Eagle program, park-goers could purchase for $7 a pass providing unlimited entrance privileges for a carload of visitors at more than 3,000 recreation areas administered by the National Park Service and other federal agencies.

Its authorizing legislation, however, expired March 31 and the National Park Service began collecting daily entrance fees.

Congress is now considering legislation to revive the Golden Eagle at a price of $10 a year.

About 300 delegates from Texas chapters of the AFA are expected to attend the meeting which begins with a barbecue the 17th at Cosden Country Club.

Perot will speak at a luncheon July 18 in the Officers Club at Webb AFB following election of officers at a morning business session. The luncheon is to be called a "United We Stand" meeting in honor of Perot's organization to have POW's released.

Mental Health Services Taken To People At Home

By TERRY STARK

For the one of every eight Texans who will need mental health services sometime in his life, those services will eventually be extended to him in his own community due, in great part, to the Outreach Center program pioneered by Big Spring State Hospital.

Outreach Centers, staffed and financed through BSSH, now serve six counties in this area. The clinic in Snyder opened in February, 1968, to become the first of its kind anywhere in the state. Lamesa opened a center in October of the same year and Seminole, Pecos and Abilene followed the next. Post has set up a part-time operation only this year.

CONSULTANT

Each clinic is served by a consultant psychiatrist one day per week. A nurse, caseworker and a clerk are available full time and psychologists visit each of the centers on a regular basis, in most cases once each week.

The psychiatrists are all experienced men and are equipped with everything necessary to serve their patients. Each doctor has a private practice and is paid for his work at the centers on the basis of time spent.

Anyone in need of help can get it at an Outreach Center, regardless of his ability to pay. If the patient can pay, the cost of treatment is assessed on a sliding scale proportionate to his income. If he cannot pay, the hospital absorbs the expense of treatment.

REFERRALS

Many patients are referred to the centers by clergymen, family physicians, welfare workers, friends, family or officials of the law. Others, however, appear at the clinics of their own accord, because they feel they need help.

The problems encountered at the centers run the gamut of human experience and each is treated individually and thoroughly.

The centers were established at the request of individual county commissioners' courts. Each of the six counties furnishes clinic space for the centers. All other expenses are paid by BSSH.

The need for community treatment centers became apparent as admission rates at mental hospitals rose critically during the '60s. Dr. Preston Harrison, BSSH superintendent and his staff began to explore ways to reduce the patient load at the hospital without reducing the quality of treatment.

The community center program was started with the hope that more patients could be treated without actual admission to the hospital and, especially, that fewer hospital patients would have to be re-admitted after release.

OTHERS FOLLOW

No statistical support for the success of the program is available but other hospital administrators were sufficiently convinced of the practicality of the idea that they have followed suit. State hospitals in Austin, San Antonio and Vernon have established community clinics since the Outreach Centers here were instituted.

Those connected with the program have no doubts about its success. Dr. John T. Miller, consultant psychiatrist at the Snyder, Lamesa, Colorado City and Post clinics, sees little chance that hospital admission rates will decline in the future, because more people are now inclined to seek professional help for mental problems. But he does see that the centers can do what they were designed to do — keep the level of first admissions and re-admissions at a minimum — if the program is expanded in the future.

SEEK HELP

Mrs. Betty Duncan, supervisor of the Circuit Riders who do volunteer work both at the hospital and for the Outreach program, feels that the community approach will encourage people to seek help when they need it, without fear of leaving their homes and families to go to the hospital. She said indications are that the stigma of hospital admission is eliminated by the centers as well.

Mrs. Ruth Payne, coordinator of the six centers, says that response in the community has grown as local residents become aware of the centers' services. All new projects have problems at first, she says, but the Outreach Centers have proved their worth and earned acceptance in the communities they serve.

The centers have been financed entirely through the hospital's general operating funds in the past, but this year BSSH administrators will present a proposed budget for the Outreach program in hopes that the State Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation will find separate and sufficient funds to finance the project in the future.

Doctor Counsels With Many People

One was a reformed alcoholic. Another a middle-aged woman with marital problems. Another had developed a toxic reaction to medication. A 16-year old boy just needed to talk to somebody.

These troubled people and 14 others were scheduled to see Dr. John T. Miller Thursday afternoon on his weekly visit to the Snyder Outreach Center.

Dr. Miller is consultant psychiatrist to the Snyder unit Thursday afternoons; to the Post Center Thursday mornings; the Colorado City Center Thursday nights; and the Lamesa unit on Tuesday afternoons.

LIKES WORK

Once some time ago, he says he tried to take a day off each week from his private practice in Lubbock, "but I was bored. I didn't like golf or anything like that and there's nothing I like better than my work, so I began to come here once a week."

Five years after he established that weekly practice he became the first psychiatric consultant to the state's first Outreach Center, established in Snyder by Big Spring State Hospital in February of 1968.

Dr. Miller looks like a psychiatrist. A grey Prince Albert beard topped by dark thick-rimmed glasses lends a severe professorial air to his appearance, but he speaks informally and animatedly about his profession and his work at the center.

"In 30 years, psychiatry as I know it won't exist," he said. Discoveries in the field of psychotropic drugs and improved technique in their use, he predicts, will eventually limit the use of psychoanalysis to criminal behavior and other extreme cases.

15-25 PATIENTS

For the present, he continues to see from 15 to 25 patients weekly at each of the four centers and feels that his work in the community is cutting down on the number of patients who will have to be admitted to mental hospitals.

His duties at the clinics, he said, range from counseling mildly disturbed youngsters to the administration of electroconvulsive shock therapy for severely depressed patients.

At the Snyder unit, his patients vary in age from a five-year-old girl to an 80-year-old woman. He has 51 patients of all ages and backgrounds which are seen regularly at present. Of these, 18 are former Big Spring State Hospital patients who are on a continuing follow-up program.

Of all his patients, he estimates that 25 per cent are "chronically" ill and are unlikely to return successfully to society. The rest, he hopes, can be productive citizens and remain with family and friends without being admitted to a hospital.

BIG SPRINGERS ON ADVENTURE Pecos River Trip A Tough One

By LINDA CROSS
"Man, you've got to be crazy!" "You'll never do it." Such pessimism on the part of friends did not stop F. L. Ashley, his son, Sheldon Ashley, 20, and Terry Johnston, 19, of Big Spring from going down the Pecos by raft. The three started out as scheduled on May 16 for their water trek through the wild, beautiful Pecos River country. They planned to spend 12 days in the wilderness learning how the primitive peoples that once inhabited the caves along the river had lived. They suffered a setback early in the journey when Sheldon Ashley had an attack of asthma and discovered that his medicine had been left behind at the launching point at Pandale. It was either go back and get the medicine or scrub the trip. Young Sheldon and Johnston hitchhiked back to where the Ashleys' car was parked to get the medicine. The two got back to the elder Ashley's campsite after a 20-mile hike and were revived by the smell of a fish fry. It was the end of their second day out and they were only six miles down the river with 60 more to go. The next few days were relatively uneventful. There were only headwinds, scorpions, bait-stealing animals and rocks to add interest to a trip down the river. A windfall in the form of an abandoned boat came the fourth day out. The crew was able to store supplies in the boat and deflate the inner tubes they had been towing for the purpose. Mountains, rapids, and cedar thickets made up a large part of the scenery at this stage of the journey. Mountains with blooming cactus growing up their sides had already been passed. The younger Ashley was able to do some cave exploration at this point. Other caves had been sighted prior to this stage but had been by-passed, according to the younger Ashley, because they were too close to civilization and would no longer contain any primitive artifacts. Several arrowheads, axe-heads and a skull were among the artifacts brought back from the trip. Young Ashley said that many cave entrances are obliterated by landslides and their artifacts lost.

On the latter leg of the trip back, the food supply, which had been good all along the trip, began to run out. The fish also became somewhat choosier in their preference for bait, too. There were a few brushes with snakes, but this was largely due to carelessness, said Ashley. Finally, the highway bridge that marked their approach to civilization hove into sight. The weary adventurers were welcomed and fed by fishermen and vacationers in the area. During the trip, Sheldon Ashley, a graduate of Howard County Junior College and recently engaged, had found the time to wonder about his future. When he returned, Ashley found a letter which enabled him to "stop wondering what I'm going to be doing next." The letter in one of Uncle Sam's envelopes simply began: "Greetings!"

LETTER Takes Issue With Writer

To The Editor:
In reply to an article by Jo Bright recently printed in the Big Spring Herald stating that a bumper sticker saying "America — Love It or Leave It" bothered her, I would like to make the following comments. Personally, I think that the man with such a sticker if he read your article, is more bothered than she to think that we have people who feel like she does, working and receiving a salary from our local press. In other sections of this wonderful country (even though it isn't perfect), we know that we have people who do not love America. We have a fine and intelligent group of service men stationed in our neighborhood who love America and have been working diligently to get Big Spring called "Flag City, U.S.A." You seem to have time to criticize them or anyone else for implying Love America or Leave It. I have been in several foreign countries and I have failed to find any country that even remotely compares to the America that I love. There are no iron curtains, no bamboo curtains, no curtains of any type preventing people who do not love America to leave it. Anyone is free to take his or her life, personal belongings, money, etc. and go, which is more freedom than people from other countries enjoy. Most of them would just like to come to America with their lives, leaving their belongings where they now live. She wrote of a few hotheaded rebels who founded this country. I am sure that they loved this country very much. If I remember my history, Nathan Hale's only regret was that he had but one life to give for his country (America.) In any other country, you would be in trouble, but in America, this is one of our freedoms.

Children Can Still Join In Recreational Program

There is still time for parents to enroll their children in the Citywide Summer Recreation program.

Several did just that during the week as the number at Comanche Trail Park continued to grow. There are 125 children of elementary school age enrolled and average daily attendance has been running around 90, said Curtis Mullins, who coordinates the cooperative project.

Parents are asked to come with their children to the park at 9 a.m. Monday through Friday to introduce their children to the program of games, arts and crafts, exercises, nature hikes, swimming, etc. There is no charge for this program which continues through July.

At Lakeview 128 have reported for the program and average daily attendance has been 98, said Sam Dawson, who is directing the program in that neighborhood.

To Get Degree

A Big Spring area student is among over 275 seniors and graduates students who are candidates for degrees at Anderson (Ind.) College's 52nd annual commencement exercises June 15. Receiving the bachelor of arts degree from here is Mrs. Jennie Chappell Salisbury, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Chappell, 1809 Owens, music major.

Five Perish As Car Flips Near Laredo

LAREDO, Tex. (AP)—A car en route from Frisco to North Texas to this Texas-Mexico border city slammed into a culvert Saturday, killing five persons and injuring five others.

Officers said the car left Interstate 35 about six miles north of Laredo, flew 78 feet through the air and overturned once on a frontage road after striking the culvert.

Killed were Julia Riojas, Elvira Torres, Concepcion Gonzalez, I. Sara Garcia and Concepcion Gonzalez, 23.

Injured and taken to Mercy Hospital in Laredo were Rosendo Gonzalez, 18, of Frisco; Manuel Garza, 20, Angelita Riojas, 9 months old, Concepcion Torres, 2, and Vidal Torres-Trejo, 37, a resident of a San Luis Potosi, Mexico, suburb. Highway patrolman Alfred Gonzalez said Rosendo Gonzalez, driver of the vehicle, told him he apparently fell asleep.

AGRICULTURALISTS COMPARE NOTES — Dr. J. K. Verma (left) and Dr. Gurnel Singh (right) compare notes on soil and water conservation in an arid climate with D. W. (Bill) Fryrear, superintendent of the Big Spring Experiment Station. The two men spent Thursday and Friday in Big Spring as part of their 36-week tour of the United States.

Visitors From India Here For Arid Agriculture Study

By JEAN FANNIN

An old-fashioned, genuine West Texas windstorm greeted two visitors from India to Big Spring Thursday, and the two men proudly proclaimed the area "just like home."

Dr. J. K. Verma, a research officer, and Dr. Gurnel Singh, a soil conservation officer, were here to compare problems with the staff members of the Big Spring Experiment Station concerning the problems of agriculture in an arid climate.

"We have wind just like this at home," Dr. Singh said, "but it just comes in gusts, I don't think it is constant like yours."

STUDY RECORDS
Both men wore Westernized clothing although Dr. Singh retained his crimson turban causing most West Texans to cast a sideways glance at the two men being shown around the city by D. W. (Bill) Fryrear, superintendent of the Big Spring Experiment Station.

Completely at ease, the two men joked with Fryrear Thursday afternoon as they studied charts of water use in this area compiled by staff members. Dr. Paul Koshi explained the various research projects and explained the records kept by the station. Friday the visitors were to work with some of the equipment available at the station.

NO WALKERS
The Indians compared their country to the United States, saying that automobiles here are proportionate to bicycles in India.

"Do you know that I walked for about two hours, and didn't see anyone else walking," Dr. Singh said, mentioning another Texas town visited recently by the duo.

Extremely proud of the Republic of India, both men seemed anxious to learn what they could to help the farmers in their homeland.

"Farmers in India are extremely progressive," Dr. Verma said, explaining that many villages have agriculturalists who help the farmers raise their standards. The two men also explained that although the literacy rate is rising, a job problem exists. "But we will solve our problems," Dr. Verma said confidently.

FEW FOOD IMPORTS
India is 97 per cent self sufficient, Dr. Singh said, and only limited amounts of food are now imported. A government plan shows the country will be completely self sufficient by 1972.

India is one-third the size of the United States, but has a population about three times the U.S. Approximately three-fourths the population bases its income on agriculture. Dr. Singh said India is a network of tiny farms in all types of climates.

He listed rice, wheat, sorghum, corn, sugar cane, cotton, tea, coffee, tobacco, and just a few as major crops in India.

Known as "The land of canals," India has about 20 per cent of her crops under irrigation from canals which bring water from the mountains down to the desert, Dr. Singh said.

The complexity of India's agriculture is so great that no one problem is wide-spread. "Each area has its own problem," Dr. Verma said. "Of course, water management is always important," he added.

DR. CECIL MULLINS
Educational Psychologist

WHY READ FASTER?

BIG SPRING, TEX. — Dr. Cecil Mullins, renowned Educational Psychologist, states that the faster you read, the more you comprehend. "Fifteen years ago," he continued, "I became intrigued with the tremendous possibilities of the human mind. I found that by teaching students to read with greater speed and concentration, I was able to make them read books in as little as fifteen minutes with better comprehension than they would ever have been able to in 8 to 10 hours. It didn't matter whether the books were fictional, history, or of a technical nature. A doctor can devour medical books, a lawyer legal matter, etc., at unprecedented and often unbelievable speeds."

Dr. Mullins' methods were so successful that he created the OPTIMIZATION SPEED READING COURSE. Taught in 8-3 hour sessions, OPTIMIZATION GUARANTEES the student will read at least 1000 words a minute or a book in an hour or less with good comprehension. You are invited to attend one of a series of FREE INITIAL classes to be held.

Golf Tourney
Big Success

By TOMMY HART

The fourth annual Big Spring Partnership Golf tournament held last weekend at the Country Club was the best of the events staged thus far, for several reasons.

The field was good, if not stellar. The course was in fine shape because the layout had been doused by a series of rains. The weather was nearly perfect. And the shotgun start used by officials had everyone finishing on time.

Pro C. G. Griffin and members of the tournament committee can take a bow for the success of the two-day event. Leonard Morgan, a long-time player in local tournaments, set a course record when he fired eagles on successive holes during the tournament. The eagles followed two birdies and a par he had posted on preceding holes. One of the tournament entries was Jerry (Moose) Ryan, the former Big Spring grid great who will clock a lot of playing time at Texas Tech this fall. Moose recently took unto himself a bride.

Willie Mays tells confidants he doesn't particularly like to play ball in San Francisco because the nights are too cold. He's a Southern Negro and performs best in warm weather. He reveals he has to coat his skin with "hot stuff" to loosen up. For years, ball players believed the way to prolong their careers was to wind up in the old Pacific Coast League because of the cooler weather and less variance in temperature. Football buffs will be paying $1 for game programs in some NFL cities next fall. Not too many years ago, a buck could get you a fairly good seat in some parks. One of the alternate qualifiers for the National Open Golf tournament is Big Spring-born Jesse Whitten, who made his reputation in sports as a member of the Green Bay NFL football team. Midland Lee's Mike Holt, who has run a 21.3 220, has signed to attend UT-El Paso on a track scholarship. The Miners are determined to win the NCAA track title in a few years. Georgia Tech has laid the groundwork to seek re-admission to the Southeastern Conference. Charlie Metro, deposed recently as manager of the Kansas City Royals, was the type of man who even kept tabs on errors committed in pre-game practice. Metro explained that lackluster play in workouts usually results in poor fielding during a game.

Youth will be served but Texan Wilmer Allison didn't become No. 1 singles tennis player in the country until after he was 30. Cotton Fitzsimmons, newly named coach of the NBA's Phoenix Suns, fielded several teams against Howard County JC when he was mentor at Moberly, Mo., Junior College. Jim Wilson, who scouted Randy James Scarbery of Fresno, Calif., for the Houston Astros, says the 17-year-old thrower harder and looks better than Larry Dierker did in high school. Rumored for some time, the decision of Lubbock Estacado and Lubbock Dunbar to drop baseball recently became a fact. Enrollment at Dunbar has been falling for some time now. The baseball program in District 3-A has been so short-changed, a school like Snyder perhaps should be allowed to field a team in 5-A. Permian's JVs will play one varsity unit, Marfa, in football next football season. Marfa is one of the few high school teams in the state which still runs from the single wing. Highest golf course in the world is in Oruro, Bolivia, 12,149 feet above sea-level. Imagine hitting a golf ball in that rarefied air. The Muni golf course's busiest time this season occurred the last weekend in May, when more than 300 played the course over Saturday and Sunday. Six of the nine Texans chosen to play in the July 31 College All-Star football game in Chicago attended schools outside the Southwest Conference. It's entirely possible the Indianapolis 500 auto race can be seen on home TV within the next few years. Theatre owners who screened the last race on closed circuit TV were disenfranchised with both the picture they received and the commentary that went with it. If the American baseball league packed its tack in Cleveland (for Dallas?), the National League probably could move in there in two or three years and make it go in a big way. Baton Rouge, La., has already snapped up all 5,000 tickets available for LSU's Nov. 21 football game with Notre Dame in South Bend. Pro Charley Brantley is cementing plans for a Big Spring Muni partnership invitational golf tournament that would be wrapped around July 4. His entry fee would be no more than $10. Texan Bill Grabarkewitz of the Los Angeles Dodgers wants to become a sports writer when he's through baseball. To get even with all those scriveners who misspell his name?

LEONARD MORGAN

Hard-Hitting Foster
To Oppose Quarry

NEW YORK (AP)—Mac Foster, the latest phenom of the heavyweight ranks, risks his all-knockout streak of 24 straight wins Wednesday night against Jerry Quarry, a man who fought for the world title and lost.

Madison Square Garden officials expect a crowd of close to 15,000 and a gate of well over $100,000 for the 10-round match that will be beamed to some 65 cities (New York area blacked out) on a special television network.

Ring time for the main event is 10 p.m. EDT.

Quarry, the fighting Irishman from Bellflower, Calif., has had 43 pro fights but he actually is two years younger than Foster who, at 27, has six years in the Marines behind him.

The quality of Foster's opponents have not been the highest as he has piled up a streak of consecutive knockouts that surpasses the records Joe Louis and the late Rocky Marciano brought into the Garden for their New York debuts. Foster is a solidly built 6-foot-2 slugger who will weigh about 214 pounds for his first New York test. Both he and his manager, Pat DiDura hope to parlay a victory into a title shot with Joe Frazier within a year. Most of Foster's fights have been in California around his Fresno home and he never has fought east of the Mississippi. In his most recent outing he knocked out Jack O'Halloran in one round, April 9 in Los Angeles. He has stopped the veteran Cleveland Williams twice but still must prove himself against rated opponents.

Foster has been floored only once, twice in the first round during a 1966 fight in Las Vegas.

Steve Thornton fashioned the hill success, with help from Southworth. Together, they limited the Starfighters to two hits.

The Talons have now won four of their last five starts. The two teams are in a virtual tie for third place.

Southworth and Sargent each had two hits for the Talons. G. Jones and Medlin connected safely for the Starfighters.

ANGLERS' REPORT

Fish Are Taking
Bait At Lakes

The fish were biting in several spots at both Lake Colorado City and Lake Champion recently.

Strings up to 50 channel cat were caught near Cooper's Cove on Lake Colorado City. Two Andrews men, Boyce Talant and Jesse Williams, were the lucky parties there.

The bluegill were hitting the lines in great numbers at Lake Champion, one party from Miles and Crane reporting 77 fish on their lines while fishing off Green Acres.

Several Big Spring people have been fishing the Mitchell County lakes, among them T. P. Ashley, Frank Perry and Tom and Lou Orenbaum.

The reports included:

LAKE COLORADO CITY
Don Lewis, Midland, caught four yellow cat ranging from 24 lb., 12 lb., 8 lb. and 6 lb.; Floyd Turnage of the lake caught a 3 lb. yellow cat and four channel cat weighing 5 lb.; John Watney, Lubbock, caught a 3 lb. yellow cat and several pan size channel cat.

COOPER'S COVE
Chuck Standley of the lake caught a 3 lb. black bass; Mr. Allen and Mr. Dolan, Big Spring, caught 30 channel cat weighing 20 lbs., plus a 3 lb. and a 2 lb. channel cat; Boyce Talant and Jesse Williams, Andrews, caught 50 channel cat, some weighing up to 10 lbs.; Happy Barnes, Midland, caught a 2 lb. channel cat; Joe Simek, Odessa, caught a 10 lb. yellow cat and 150 against Jim Gilmore. But Foster got up and knocked out Gilmore in the third.

For Quarry this will be the last chance to make it big. He still hopes for another shot at Frazier who stopped him in seven rounds last June 23 although he was knocked out by George Chuvalo Dec. 12 when he claimed he missed the 10-count.

If he loses, Jerry claims he will quit and insists he means it this time. He is 25, stands six-foot and plans to come in unusually light at 195 pounds. His record for 43 starts is 35-4-4 with 21 knockouts. He has been stopped twice.

The World Boxing Association rated Quarry No. 4, Foster No. 7.

PITCHER JUNIOR MENDOZA

Cardinals Visit
Odessa For Two

The Big Spring Cardinals, 12-4 on the year, venture to Odessa today, seeking to avenge a doubleheader loss to the Odessa Stars.

The Stars invaded Big Spring several weeks ago and won, 4-1 and 4-3. The first of two contests today gets under way at 1:30 p.m.

Junior Mendoza, one of two Cardinal hurlers to pitch no-hitters this season, will hurl the opener for Big Spring.

Leon Hobbs, who also has a no-hitter to his credit, could start the second game. However, Jerry James and Jody Flores will also be available for mound work in that engagement.

Other starters for Big Spring in the opener include Al Mendoza, right field; Felix Martinez, shortstop; Pat Martinez Jr., first base; Tony Martinez, third base; Jesse Zapata, left field; Andy Gamboa, center field; Billy Pineda, second base; and Joe Martinez behind the plate.

Benny Marquez Jr., Pano Rodriguez, Abel Ramirez and Jesse Olague will be prepared to play in the second contest for Big Spring.

Tony Fierro and Ronnie Steen will also make the trip as relief pitchers.

The Cardinals will be at home next Sunday against the powerful Piedras Negras team from Old Mexico.

Both Mendoza and Hobbs threw their no-hitters against the Lubbock Plainsmen. Hobbs turned the trick May 31, winning, 5-0, in the first part of a doubleheader.

Mendoza also won the first half of a doubleheader, scalping Lubbock, 4-1, here June 7.

BS Hardware

Wins Fifth

Big Spring Hardware ran its Hi-Junior league record to 5-0 by drubbing the Optimists, 4-1, Friday night.

David Carter notched the pitching win, limiting the Optimists to six hits.

He was helped by Tommy Brewer's fourth home run of the season, a solo blast that arrived in the fourth inning.

Pat Ray of the Hardware team and Steve Stone of the Optimists clubbed doubles.

Brewer had three hits in all for the Tigers.

Ray and Tommy Tune each connected safely twice for the Hardware team.

The defeat left the Optimists with a 2-3 record. David Newman drove out three hits and Pete Shaffer two for the losers.

Joe Namath Finds Life
Different In Europe

ROME (AP) — The sweet little old lady sidles up to the earthy looking guy whose long black hair falls almost to the shoulders of his purple, green and red silk shirt, offers the bunch of roses in her hand and whispers in Italian:

"A rose for the lady in your life."

"Tell her," says the guy to his translator, "I'll buy the rose if she brings the lady."

Yes-life is different for Joe Namath, pro football star of the New York Jets and the twinkle in the eye of the U.S. mini-skirt set, in this Italian city where U.S. football stars are about as famous as carpenters or brick layers.

"Everything I've seen is better in the United States than here," Namath said as he ate lunch at an outdoor table just off the Via Veneto, watching the girls go by but rarely getting a glance from the young ladies who idolize soccer players.

"I like to walk down the streets sometimes," Namath explained, "and say 'hello' to people and have them say, 'hello' back."

But that, admitted Namath, has been almost the full extent of his social activities in Rome. Namath is in Rome to begin filming Monday on a western movie called "The Last Rebel."

His hair makes him look like one, but he needs the long locks for his part of Hilloise Burnside, a soldier mustered out of the Confederate Army at the end of the Civil War.

The movie is Namath's third. He had a small part in "Norwood" and just finished shooting "C.C. Ryder and Co." in which he starred with Ann Margaret and a motorcycle. He has been learning to ride a horse for his role in "The Last Rebel."

"For someone who never got on a horse before he does very well," a colleague said.

American Women Rally To Defeat Britishers

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Mrs. Billie Jean King piloted an injury-stricken U.S. women's tennis team to a come-from-behind 4-3 triumph over Britain in the Wightman Cup Saturday.

The former contract professional from Long Beach, Calif., staged her rescue operation after Britain had taken a 3-2 lead and Nancy Richey had been forced out of action because of a knee injury.

Mrs. King first downed Mrs. Ann Jones, the reigning Wimbledon champion, 6-4, 6-2, then she teamed with substitute Peaches Bartkowicz of Hamtramck, Mich., in an exciting 7-5, 3-6, 6-2 victory over Virginia Wade and Winnie Shaw in the final doubles.

Miss Bartkowicz substituted for Miss Richey, who twisted her left knee and pulled a rib muscle while losing to Miss Wade earlier.

Miss Richey planned to return home to San Angelo, Tex., and forego Wimbledon. Her father, professional coach George Richey, said: "She not fit, and there is no point in her staying. She was already playing under the handicap of a strained stomach muscle anyway."

There was a touch of bitter irony for the Americans as the British doubles pair took a 2-0 lead in the final set and threatened to win the cup — for taking photographs at the side of the court was Rosemary Casals.

Tigers Decision Ravens, 9 To 8

The Tigers edged the Ravens, 9-8, in an International Minor League game Thursday that was played in a dust storm.

Despite the adverse weather, both coaches agreed it was their best game of the season.

Chris Smith collected a double and a single for the Tigers while Steve Catoe managed two singles, as did Terry Fryar.

Robert Smith notched his fifth mound win in six starts for the Ravens. The Tigers are now 6-6 in the standings while the Ravens are 4-7.

Junior Golfers To Play Here Twice This Week

Junior golfers who are seeking to qualify for the annual Tournament of Champions will have two opportunities at local courses the coming week.

The Municipal course will host the young linksters Thursday. They move over to the Big Spring Country Club the following day.

The golfers will play 18 holes at each course. An entry who wins first place in any age group automatically qualifies for the Tournament of Champions, which will be held at the Odessa Country Club Aug. 12-13.

Competition is held in three categories: Ages 16-17, 14-15 and 12-13.

Big Spring has had at least three players in some of the meets already held and likely will have many more competing in the local tournaments.

Players pay $2 as an entry fee and tee-off time here will be 9 a.m.

All fees go into a general fund, which will help to provide scholarships for worthy youngsters.

Those qualifying for the Tournament of Champions will be treated to a free dinner Aug. 12 and a free breakfast Aug. 13.

LOCAL HOPE IN JUNIOR TOURNAMENT — When the junior golfers play local courses twice the coming week on the tour arranged by the West Texas Chapter of the PGA, Howard Stewart (shown stroking the ball) will be a local hope in the 16-17 age bracket. Watching Howard is his father, H. D. Stewart, who often plays with his two sons, Howard and Jimmy.

CECIL DAVIS

Camp Session Will Begin On July 12

KERRVILLE — The second session of the Big League Baseball Camp in nearby Center Point begins July 12 and extends for three weeks.

Enrollment is limited to the first 65 boys who register. Tuition is $225 per semester.

Head coach of the camp is Cecil Davis, who attended Baylor University on a baseball scholarship and who took both his bachelor's and master's degree from the Waco school.

Davis has had 13 years experience as a coach. He currently is athletic director of the San Marcos Baptist Academy.

Davis spent five years in professional baseball, during which time he was in the Minnesota, Cincinnati and Detroit organizations.

He also played three years of semi-pro ball for the Grand Junction, Colo., team and has appeared in the NBC tournament in Wichita, Kan., on several occasions.

The Center Point camp is under the direction of W. R. (Mike) McFerren, scout for the St. Louis Cardinals.

The camp is open to anyone between the ages of 12 through 16. The school features the 'how-to' aspect of training, as opposed to the competitive phases.

Salem Rips Berea, 5-2; St. Paul Lutheran Wins

In Church Softball league contests Friday night, Salem Baptist measured Berea Baptist, 5-2, and St. Paul Lutheran decisively First Church of God, 21-2.

Salem banded all five of its runs in the first inning in the opener, after Berea had gone in front by two runs.

Bob Neckler outpitched Vaughn Martin to achieve the mound win, although Salem managed only three hits. Banks of Berea and Anderson of Salem drove out doubles.

Frank Long coasted to an easy win in the second game, yielding only three hits. Two of those were by Thompson.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Remember the last time the Yankees and Giants played in a World Series? That would be 1962. You may recall how the series went down to the seventh and final game.

The Yankees won 1-0, scoring the only run on a bases loaded double play. And the San Francisco threat in the ninth was snuffed out with the tying run on third and the winning run on second when Bobby Richardson stuck his glove high over the grass and speared Willie McCovey's line drive.

That play made Ralph Terry, now a golf pro at Mendham, N.J., the World Series hero. Had the Giants won for Manager Alvin Dark, pitcher Jack Sanford, a 24-game winner that year, would have been the Series hero.

HAD 3-HITTER
Sanford had won the second game, 2-0, allowing three hits. The husky right hander from Wellesley, Mass., had only two days rest but struck out 10 while making only 106 pitches.

Sanford, like Terry, has turned to golf but unlike Terry, he retains his amateur standing. Jack doesn't play for money. He manages Lou Perini's Palm Beach Lakes Golf Center, one of the busiest 18-hole courses in Florida the year around.

"I've been down here four winters," Sanford was saying while hitting some iron shots behind the golf shop, "but this is my first time out of baseball and I'm ready to buy a home down here."

"I could still be the pitching coach for Alvin and the Cleve-

Slate Second In Division

ODESSA — Mark Slate of Big Spring, finished second to Midland's John Adams in the 16-17 age bracket of the Odessa phase of the junior golf tournament at the Odessa Country Club Friday.

Slate preserved the finish in a playoff with Andy Rowe, Odessa, Hank Jones, Odessa, and Steve Cranford, Crane, after each had finished with a 78.

Adams' winning score was 73. Mark Peters, Big Spring, tied for sixth place with a 79 while Howard Stewart, Big Spring, was one stroke back of Peters.

In the 14-15 bracket, Robert McFaul, Big Spring, wound up with an 87. Winner of that division was Steve Cromwell, Midland, who had a 79.

Jimmy Stewart, Big Spring, posted an 89 in that division. Ross Worthan, Crane, won the 12-13 age group honor with a 79. It was his fourth win on the tour in five days.

The golfers move to Brownfield for play Monday, go to Andrews Tuesday and Denver City Wednesday before switching to Big Spring for two days.

land Indians. In fact, when I told them last fall I was leaving baseball, Sam McDowell, their great southpaw, offered me part of his 1970 raise if I changed my mind."

He pitched for Bill Rigney when he managed the Giants and also the California Angels. He pitched for Dark when Alvin managed the Giants and again when Dark had the Kansas City Athletics. When Charley Finley released Sanford because he was one of the oldest pitchers on the staff, Dark said:

"I'll have a different job in 1968 and I'll want you as my pitching coach."

When Dark was made Cleveland pilot one of the first persons he called was Jack Sanford.

Recently, we had the pleasure of asking Dark and McDowell, in separate conversations at Yankee Stadium, what they thought of Sanford.

NICE FELLOW

"Jack Sanford is one of my favorite people," Dark said. "We played on the Giants. He can come back anytime he wants even though I have a fine pitching coach in Cot Deal."

Sam McDowell, who has led the American League in strikeouts four of the last five years, then was sounded out.

"There never has been a man in my career who has helped me more and I worked with Jack only two years," said Sad Sam. "He had the unique quality of knowing me better than I knew myself."

"I had lost confidence after I hurt my arm in 1966. He pumped me up without me knowing it."

"This spring when we opened the season in Cleveland against Baltimore I slipped on the mound and couldn't finish the game. That night the first person who called me was Jack Sanford from West Palm Beach. He wanted to know if I was all right."

Sanford is 41 now (on May 18) and baseball's loss is golf's gain. Funny thing, if Alvin Dark, a fine golfer, plays in any baseball-golf tournaments next winter, Jack Sanford will be the man he has to beat.

Clothes (Help) Make "The Cowgirl"

BY JO BRIGHT

There's a new breed of "cowgirl" growing up in the West. She's a tall, tanned Texan and the only thing she has in common with cowboys is horses.

The new breed is beautiful, and bold in competition, but always feminine and able to handle social situations as deftly as they hold the reins in a barrel race. During the week they wear miniskirts, but on rodeo weekends, it's pants and boots—in eye-catching variety.

Nita Cox, queen of the Howard County Sheriff's Posse, speaks for her fellow rodeo competitors when she says, "You have to have a pretty good Western wardrobe for this sort of thing."

That wardrobe is likely to contain a variety of boots and hats, riding gloves, vests, blouses and shirts galore and a colorful array of pants or pant suits. The fabrics range from sturdy, cool cotton to bright lame that sparkles in the spotlight. Highly preferred are the stretch costumes, comfortable for riding, and the metallic blends can be kept clean with little more than a damp cloth. Knee socks help keep boots from rubbing, and gloves prevent rope burns on tender hands. Topping it all is a generous-sized Western hat, often banded with sequins or rhinestones.

Rodeo fans are in for a special treat this week. Watch for the barrel races—and these pretty "cowgirls" who will compete for the best time.

BEAUTY WILL BRIGHTEN the rodeo bowl this week as pretty "cowgirls" like Carol Lyster compete in barrel racing. Carol is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer O. Lyster, 1902 Alabama, and her fancy belt buckle proclaims that she was named "All Around Cowgirl, 1968." Modeling one of her typical working costumes, Carol wears a sparkling cowl-collared blouse with plaid pants striped in red, yellow and blue.

A SURE WINNER of Western hearts, or any others, is lovely Zane Neal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Neal Jr., 700 Avondale, shown modeling an all-pink Western outfit. With her are students enrolled in the roping school conducted by her

PRETTY AS A PRAIRIE SUNSET is Patricia Cherry, daughter of Deputy Sheriff Ed Cherry, 1613 Indian Hills, who wears a gypsy-sleeved gold blouse to top gold, black and white Western pants. Patricia, who has been riding in parades and rodeo events for several years, poses with two roping students, Larry Bishop of Woodward, Okla., and Sam Falks of Amarillo.

EVERY INCH THE QUEEN is Nita Cox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cox, Silver Heels, who is queen of the Howard County Sheriff's Posse. Nita's Western suit of shocking pink is worn with a matching hat and white boots and gloves. Like all other girls who love the life-style of the West, and the rodeo in particular, Nita has a variety of costumes which she wears for parades or barrel racing.

SUN AND SAND make a suitable background for Sonia Oliver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Oliver of Sand Springs, who gets admiring glances from cowboys in the shade of the chutes. The roping school students are, from left, George Chappell of Forney, Jeff Garrett of Louise and Bud Dudley, Salt Lake City, Utah. Sonia takes the spotlight with silver metallic stretch pants worn with shiny black blouse collared with silver sequins.

CAMPERS TURN OUT a tasty meal at the annual summer day camp for Girl Scouts and Brownies held Monday through Friday at the Seven Wells site in Silver Heels. During days filled with the many energetic activities dear to a camper's heart, appetites were whetted and novice cooks were anxious to take a turn at campfire cookery. Above, the youngsters observe correct procedures when cooking out-of-doors, and below, another group seeks the shade of mesquites and tenting to enjoy the nourishing meal.

Girl Scout Summer Day Camp Concludes With Tour For Parents

After a full week of outdoor activities, the annual summer day camp for Girl Scouts and Brownies came to an end Friday as "Camp Flintstone" was dismantled for another year. Attendance numbered 170 young people and 30 adults, the latter group mostly leaders who volunteered their time for the camp.

In a break-down of attendance groups, Mrs. Bill Fryrear, camp director said there were three Brownie units (second and third grades) with a total of 50; three Junior units (fourth, fifth and sixth grades) with a total of 75; one Cadette unit (seventh, eighth and ninth grade) with a total of 25; one boys unit (7 to 12 years) with a total of 10; and one "papoosie" unit (3 to 5 years) which included four children. The boys, sons of leaders assisting with the camp, were directed by four Boy Scouts, and the young children were looked after by a high school girl.

Mrs. Fryrear said the camp will be held every year during the second week in June and it is hoped that schedules can be arranged in the future so as not to conflict with other events.

Mrs. Tom Ivey was assistant director, and Mrs. Allen Brown served as nature chairman. The young people participated in all types of camp crafts and enjoyed the nature trails. The boys gathered animals (insects) for the camp zoo, and Bill Archibald visited the camp to explain interesting things about insects to the children. Each camper made a flintstone necklace from materials found at the site.

The groups held cookouts for the camp zoo, and Bill Thursday evening and hosted an "open house" for parents who toured the camp.

'ROUND TOWN

BY LUCILLE PICKLE

It's getting to be the time of summer for family reunions to be taking place and it always brings back memories of those in our group. I particularly remember one not too many years ago when the Deats clan gathered in McKenzie Park in Lubbock. We did a lot of thinking about having it indoors in the party house where we could be sure of being in out of the rain and also enjoy some air conditioning, not of nature's doing, but gave in in the interest to having room for us all, to having it out of doors . . . a real on the ground type of picnic gathering.

We really gathered a bunch of youngsters, some so new to the family that they had not as yet established their identity with their far-flung cousins. One of the older young men, as a friendly gesture, was helping herd the little ones but he had a lot of trouble with one little boy who was dead-set on not returning to the party with the others. When the "brave young man" finally hauled the kicking, fighting, indignant youngster back to our fold he found he didn't belong there.

MR. and MRS. BILL CLEMENTS have returned to Bloomington, Ind., where they will continue their studies at the University of Indiana. They have been visiting in the home of their parents, DR. and MRS. P. W. MALONE, and MR. and MRS. J. T. CLEMENTS. Bill is doing research in English folklore and will choose a topic soon for his dissertation. Mary Frances will practice teach in the fall toward a degree as a music major.

MR. and MRS. K. H. MCGIBBON and their little Werlein grandson from Houston have returned from Bloomington, Ind., where they visited DR. and MRS. CHARLES WEBB and their sons.

Speaking of family reunions, the family of D. A. JONES had theirs yesterday in Comanche Trail Park and they planned for 120. This is an annual affair for the second Saturday in June here. Here for the gathering were MR. and MRS. C. O. JONES, Boswell, Okla.; MR. and MRS. FRITZ JONES, Eastland; and MRS. BILL TENNEYSON now of Stephenville but formerly of Lamesa. Of course the meeting includes all the children that can get here and all the children of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Jones were there. They included MRS. R. L. HUGHEY and W. D. JONES of Anchorage, Alaska; MRS. JOYCE THOMPSON of Odessa, MR. and MRS. E. A. JONES of Austin, and MR. and MRS. WAYNE JONES of Sand Springs, now on a job in Austin. Mrs. Jack Cathey is the lone local member.

MR. and MRS. S. V. JORDAN are in Shreveport, La., to attend a reunion of members of their family which is to be held on Wednesday. They plan to be

MRS. DANIEL R. DUNN

The Rev. Herndon, pastor, performed the double ring ceremony before a chancel banked with Mexican palms and a seven-branch gold candle-labrum holding white tapers.

She was attired in a taffeta gown overlaid with silk organza and accented with Chantilly lace on the stand-up collar and fitted bodice. Lace appliques decorated the organza. Bishop sleeves which came to a deep pointed lace cuff.

Bridesmaids were Miss Paula Browning, Roswell, N.M., and Mrs. Wayne Moore, Levelland. They wore petal pink taffeta gowns overlaid with matching silk chiffon. The Empire bodice was designed with high neckline edged in satin and the bishop sleeves were long and full. Venice lace accented the bodice and a satin band marked the Empire waist. They carried French bouquets of pink roses and babies'-breath tied with streamers.

Dennis W. Dunn of Los Angeles, Calif., brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Lt. Alan B. Dunn, USN, Philadelphia, Pa.; Timothy M. Dunn, Big Spring, La.; Larry L. Browning, Jackson, Miss.; Everett Musick and Larry Musick.

FOCUS ON FAMILY LIVING

Give Roses Attention Now; You'll Be Rewarded In Fall

By CATHERINE CRAWFORD
(County HD Agent)

With the arrival of warm summer temperatures, interest in rose gardening often wanes because the flowers are small, of poor quality and the colors are faded. Proper care at this time will insure attractive foliage and an abundance of flowers throughout the fall and early winter. Strong, healthy plants also are better able to withstand rugged winter conditions than those weakened by poor cultural practices and neglect.

FEED ROSES

Roses are heavy users of nutrients and require regular applications of fertilizer for optimum growth. With new growth in the spring, apply fertilizer at the rate of 1 1/4 pounds of 8-8-8 or similar formulation per 100 square feet or as recommended for lawns and gardens in this area. The soil should be moist before applying fertilizer. Spread the fertilizer over the surface of the bed at the prescribed rate and work it into the surface of the mulch with light cultivation. Water the bed thoroughly after applying fertilizer. Repeat the fertilizer applications every 6 to 8 weeks.

In this area the last application should be made no later than late July. Late application of fertilizer may stimulate new growth and delay dormancy, making the plants more susceptible to winter injury.

Soil in the Howard County area is alkaline causing chlorosis to be a problem in many yards. Yellowing of the leaves around dark green veins indicates that chlorosis may be present. If you have this problem request a copy of L-435, "Iron Chlorosis" from the county Extension office for correction of this problem.

For optimum growth and flower production, avoid moisture deficiency or overwatering. Frequency of watering depends upon the soil type, climatic conditions, the growth stage and development. During periods of drought and high temperature, watering may be needed every 3 to 4 days in a sandy soil. Roses may be irrigated by flood or sprinkler irrigation. If the sprinkler system is used, schedule watering early in the morning to allow the foliage to dry before exposure to the hot sun. This method requires more frequent applications of fungicide to protect against blackspot and mildew diseases.

The most efficient use of irrigation water is obtained with the soaker hose, thoroughly wetting the soil to a depth of 8 to 10 inches at each application. This method does not wet the foliage, thus reducing spread of disease. Frequent light applications of water will result in shallow root system and greater susceptibility to drought damage.

Use a 2-inch layer of mulching material, such as cotton burrs, granulated peat moss or other loose organic material, is an excellent cultural practice. It conserves moisture, keeps soil insulated against heat and reduces weed growth.

ROSE DISEASE

The two major rose diseases, blackspot and mildew, should be prevented rather than attempted to control them after they occur. Two Extension publications give complete information on control of diseases and insects. MP-574, "Texas Guide for Controlling Disease on Ornamental Plants" and L-199, "Texas Guide for Controlling Insects on Ornamental Plants" are available at the county Extension office.

As the flowers fade and the petals fall, remove the spent flowers. Otherwise, food and energy will be expended on useless seed production rather than new growth and continued flower production. Use sharp shears for removing the old flowers, making the cut just above the second five-leafed leaf above the main cane or branch. Follow this same rule when cutting flowers for use in arrangements. Cuts made higher on the cane usually result in blind shoots or deformed flowers.

If long-stemmed exhibition blooms are desired, all lateral shoots developing below the terminal flower bud should be pinched out as soon as they are long enough to grasp firmly with the thumb and forefinger. Failure to remove the shoots results in smaller flowers and a candelabra-type growth.

Following recommended cultural practices will help produce vigorous, healthy plants.

Select The Church Of Your Choice And Be Faithful
In Your Attendance

LOOKING FOR GOD

Some say you find God just as well in a garden, in the woods, or on a golf course as in a church — that God is everywhere. But be honest about it.

Are you not more apt to think of weeds, or mosquitoes, or a poor shot than you are of God? And after all, you have made this outing to seek pleasure.

But when you go to church, it is with the specific intention of worshipping. Here you engage in prayer, praise and thanksgiving. Here you mingle with people who are seeking God and have come to feel His presence. In the quiet beauty of a church you find few outside distractions, and you know that this place is dedicated to the service of God.

For peace and happiness which comes from really feeling God's presence, worship in the house of the Lord this Sunday — make it a regular practice.

MRS. JIMMIE FORD BILLINGS

Wedding Performed In Baptist Church

Miss Robbie Trantham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben A. Trantham, 911 W. 8th, and Jimmie Ford Billings, Ft. Hood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Billings, 1411 Johnson, were married at 8 p.m. Friday in Westside Baptist Church. The ceremony was conducted by the Rev. Frank Radcliff, Amarillo, former pastor of Westside Church.

The wedding party stood before an altar decorated with baskets of gladioli, fern trees and candelabra. Mrs. Don Stabenow, soloist, sang "Because" and "The Wedding Prayer" accompanied by the organist, Mrs. Warren Miers of Denison, sister of the bridegroom.

The bride was attired in a Victorian-style gown of soft organza. The Empire waist and chapel train were marked by satin bows, and the yoke and cuffs of the puff sleeves were of embroidered lace. Embroidered lace flowers and tiny pearls trimmed the skirt and a pearl heirloom pin accented the neckline of the gown. She wore a jeweled crown of pearls and crystals with a tiered veil of illusion and carried a cascade of gladioli.

ATTENDANTS
Miss Harriet McKinney was maid of honor. Miss Barbara Ballard and Miss Bekki Goodman were bridesmaids. They wore Victorian dresses of French blue satin, styled with Empire waist, A-line skirt and sleeves of transparent organza with satin cuffs. The high neckline was edged with pearls. They wore matching bow headpieces with tier veils and carried nosegays of blue carnations.

John A. Billings, Colorado City, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Groomsmen were Carroll Trantham, Lamesa, brother of the bride, and Warren Miers, Denison, brother-in-law of the bridegroom. Ushers were Elvis Caudill, Craig Caudill, Lindell Ray Gentry Jr. and Jack Curry. Flower girls were Kristie Billings, Colorado City, and Carrie-beth Atkins. They wore French blue dresses identical to the attendants' dresses.

RECEPTION
The reception was held in the fellowship hall. Refreshments were served by Miss Carolyn Newman and Miss Helen Johnson from a table covered with a pale blue floor-length chintz cloth overlaid with white rose embossed net. Blue and white flowers centered the table and crystal appointments were used. The tiered cake was decorated with blue roses and swan and topped with bridal figurines.

Miss Debbie Miers and Miss Donna Miers, both of Denison, were in charge of the guest register. Members of the house party were Mrs. Jack Cunningham, Mrs. Ray Gentry, Mrs. B. N. Boroughs, Mrs. Elvis Caudill, Mrs. J. C. Madry, Mrs. E. O. Sanderson and Mrs. Ralph Lalonde.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Lem Nations and family and Mr. and Mrs. K. H. Duncan, Abilene; Rev. and Mrs. Paris Barton, Wink; Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Andrews, Mrs. T. C. Keith, Miss Bernice Keith, Albert Keith and Miss Pat Keith, Monahans; C. A. Petty, the A. C. Pettys, the Bill Bryants and the Bill Pettys all of Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Langenegger, Hagerman, N.M.; Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Poer, Pecos; Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Trantham, Hico; Mrs. Betty Goolsby and family, Brownwood; Mrs. Frank Radcliff and family, Amarillo; the Milton Burks, Bessie, Burk, Luther Burk and Mrs. Wilton Burk and family, all of Roby; the J. E. Mitchells, Granberry; and the Bill Ashleys, Mrs. Grace Reeves and Robert Reeves, all of Dallas.

The rehearsal dinner was given Thursday in the home of the parents of the bridegroom. The wedding couple presented their attendants with gifts.

The bride wore a white knit dress with blue coat and scarf, white accessories and gladioli corsage for the wedding trip. The couple will reside in Killen.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School where she was a member of the band, and future homemakers of America. She attended Howard County Junior College and was employed by Big Spring Hardware.

Earns Degree At Amarillo College

Mrs. Roy P. Eastland has received a degree in Associate Applied Science and a certificate in Medical Record Technology from Amarillo College as a summer graduate. Mrs. Eastland has a daughter who has received an RN degree from Texas University, a son who is attending Texas Tech, a daughter in high school and a young son in grade school. She is the former Barbara Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Anderson of Luther.

Girl Scouts Must Register Soon For Sweetwater Camp

Over 281 girls are already registered for the summer's sessions at Camp Boothe Oaks, the Girl Scout established camp outside of Sweetwater.

"This is the largest registration we've had since 1966," said Mrs. Jewel Jennett, Camp director.

Three sessions are being offered. Session I (one week) is from June 21-June 27 and is for Junior Girl Scouts only.

Session II (two weeks) is from June 28-July 11. Cadettes and Seniors will be attending this session. An added extra is the special program and program-aid training offered to Seniors.

In order to fill the demand for the one week sessions and reduce the waiting lists, session

II has been partially split into II A and II B with two, one week sessions for 24 girls (each) during that time. This is available to Junior Scouts only.

The second session is still open. Thirteen girls may register for the two week session, and seven girls for II A and eleven girls for II B, Mrs. Jennett said.

Session III (one week) is from July 12-July 18. This session is full with 96 girls registered.

"We plan on having the camp completely full within the next few days with a total of 312 girls from the 16 county area of the West Texas Girl Scout Council being served," she stated.

Therefore, those parents still planning on sending their daughters to camp this summer should register for the Session

II right away in order to insure placement.

The fee is $26 (Girl Scouts) and $30 (non-Scouts) for the one week sessions and $42 (Girl Scouts) and $46 (non-Scouts) for the two-week sessions. A camp folder with all details may be picked up at the Girl Scout Service Center in Abilene or from local service unit chairmen.

Camp Boothe Oaks has four units with seven tents each. Each unit accommodates 24 girls (four girls to a tent) and a minimum of three staff (one leader and two assistants).

A new feature at camp this summer are two new screened cabins in the Sleepy Hollow unit. These offer a better and more permanent structure for camping.

"Eventually, we plan on having more of these cabins at camp," said Mrs. Jennett.

Mrs. Jennett is on the professional staff of the West Texas Girl Scout Council and the field director for Association III and part of Association V (Robert Lee, Sweetwater, Colorado City, Roby, Roscoe, Blackwell, and Snyder).

She is a qualified First-Aid Instructor for the American Red Cross, holds membership in the Association of Girl Scout Professional Workers and is Campcraft Instructor for the American Camping Association.

All 22 staff are hired and consist of administration, kitchen, maintenance, waterfront and unit personnel.

The campsite has been readied, cleaned and repaired for the summer. The swimming pool was cleaned and repainted by Abilene Senior Troop I.

Basic camp program includes campcraft skills, camp house keeping, conservation, crafts, and swimming, supplemented with activities in nature study, singing, campfire programs, dramatics, hiking, Indian lore, and archery.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SEC. D BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, JUNE 14, 1970 SEC. D

GET ALONG LITTLE DOGIES — This is not exactly the great roundup, but it is typical of the scene for rodeo fans between calf roping acts this week at the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo, starting Wednesday evening.

Yipee! Time To Dress Up, Head For 37th Annual Rodeo

That week has arrived, and Mayor Arnold Marshall urged Big Springers to don their cowboy boots, denim pants, and cowboy hats to help welcome the 37th annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo which starts here Wednesday evening.

This, said the mayor, is Western Week in Big Spring.

First of the rodeo stock arrived Saturday at the big horseshoe bowl in western Big Spring to put away the feed and rest up for a test with the cowboys.

There will be a round of gala events attending the four-day rodeo. These include a street square dance festival, a parade

Wednesday afternoon, followed by the traditional Kiwanis Club barbecue. For the pending performance, the San Angelo Riding Club will repeat its popular mounted drill for the opening night show.

Tickets for the rodeo and the Kiwanis barbecue are on sale and moving well.

General admission for the rodeo is $2 for adults and $1 for children, and tickets may be bought at the First National Bank, Creighton Tire Company, the Chamber of Commerce, Coker's Restaurant, Ward's Saddle and Western Wear and from any rodeo member. Barbecue tickets are $1.25.

Special Operations Chief To Speak To Class 70-07

Lt. Col. Howard K. Hartley (USAF, ret.), former director of academic training of the Special Operations School, Auxiliary Field No. 9, Eglin AFB, Fla., will be Class 70-07's dining-in speaker Friday, 7 p.m. at the Officer's Open Mess.

The class is the eighth and final to graduate in fiscal year 1970. Among the Crazy Eights are 43 Air Force, one Marine, three Air National Guardsmen and three foreign officers here under the auspices of the military assistance program.

Col. Hartley entered the Air Force as an aviation cadet in April of 1950, completing pilot training in June, 1951. He spent the next 12 years in the Strategic Air Command flying bomber and cargo aircraft.

In August of 1964, after a year at Kunsan AB, Korea, he was assigned to Hurlburt Field, Fla., where he flew cargo and trainer aircraft and was the executive officer for the C-123 Provider Squadron.

During the Dominican Republic crisis in May and June, 1965, Col. Hartley commanded the Joint United States Army Special Forces-USAF Special Air Warfare Center Aviation. From August to November, 1965, he was operations officer at Forbes AFB, Kan., where the first gunship and psychological operations squadrons were trained for the Special Air Warfare Center from 1965-66, and where he helped to implement the First Air Force aerospace research and development program.

Additionally, Col. Hartley has served as assistant wing director of operations, 4410th Combat Crew Training Wing and director of operations.

Following two temporary duty tours in Southeast Asia as an unconventional warfare operations officer, he was assigned to Eglin as director of academic training and special assistant to the commandant, Air Force Special Operations School. Col. Hartley retired in April of this year.

History Of 'Old Glory' Is One Of Variation, Change

"We take the stars from heaven, the red from our mother country, separating it by white stripes, thus showing that we have separated from her, and the white stripes shall go down to posterity representing liberty."

Thus General George Washington described the Star Spangled Banner when it was first flown by the Continental Army. Today marks the 194th anniversary of the adoption of the Stars and Stripes as the symbol of the United States of America by the Continental Congress on June 14, 1777.

At first, no arrangement of the stars on the blue field was specified. The first Army flag, popularly equated with Betsy Ross, had the stars representing the 13 states arranged in a circle because it was felt that no colony should take precedence.

One stripe as well as one star was added to the flag for each state when Kentucky and Vermont were admitted to the Union in 1794. Captain Samuel C. Reid, USN, realized that the flag would soon become too cumbersome if this continued and he proposed to the Continental Congress that the stripes be left at 13 to symbolize the original colonies and that one star be added to the blue field for each new state.

In 1818, Congress enacted a law stating that a star should be added for each new state on the first 4th of July after its admittance to the Union. This has been the practice through the years and it was in this manner that the stars representing Alaska and Hawaii were added.

Americans all across the country will be displaying Old Glory today and Big Spring citizens are urged to display their flags. Members of the Non-Commissioned Officers Association stationed at Webb AFB have been working the past several months to make Big Spring "Flag City, USA."

The Periman chapter of NCOA at Webb have been selling and installing flags as part of this effort. They have also contacted news people and governmental agencies around

Workmen To Seal Coat 43.6 Miles Of Roads

County road crews have sealed eight of the projected 43.6 miles of county road, according to Jay Nixon, road and bridges superintendent.

Cost of seal-coating all these roads is estimated at $25,800. Gravel already purchased for the job cost $13,947.18; and the necessary asphalt is purchased as needed.

Figures from last year's seal coating program show the actual cost per mile averages $600. The 1969 program included 52.1 miles and cost $31,286.67.

Nixon said that if good weather conditions prevail, a substantial amount of the work will be done this month.

A breakdown of the program for this year shows 1.2 miles on Ingram Road; 3.0, Shafer; 4.0, Ralph Proctor; 1.0, Hilltop; 2.6, Old Gail; 5.0, Coahoma; 5.6,

Moss Lake; 2.0, Lovers Lane; 3.0, Country Club; 3.0, Lomax; 6.0, Moore; 2.0 Leatherwood; 5.0, Twenty-fifth Street; 5.0, Twenty-fourth Street; 1.0 and .5 mile segments on the Forsan Road, and 7 Culp Street.

Included in the program are six miles in Precinct 3; eight miles in Precinct 1, 13.8 miles in Precinct 4; and 15.8 miles in Precinct 2. Roads which are seal coated are recommended to the County Commissioners Court by Nixon.

The county road and bridge department has been doing all the paving work for the past three years, and department figures show approximately $400 is saved per mile. The paving program formerly was contracted.

Nixon said approximately 14 men work on the paving crew and, under ideal conditions, can complete one mile's seal coating in approximately 30 minutes.

Dowdy Asks For Charge Dismissal

BALTIMORE (AP) — Asking dismissal of charges against him, Rep. John Dowdy, D-Tex., claimed in federal court Friday that he acted within the scope of his power when he inquired into the business of a Baltimore home repair firm operator.

Dowdy is charged with conspiracy, perjury and also of sending $25,000 in bribe money to Atlanta, Ga.

Judge Roszel C. Thomsen said he would rule on the dismissal motion at a later date.

The case is scheduled for trial Sept. 14.

Dowdy has built his defense around his alleged immunity from prosecution because of his position in congressional activities.

President Shouldn't Be Restricted

Action in the Senate the other day, when anti-administration forces defeated a key amendment on the handling of the Southeast Asia conflict, evidences a threat on the principle of administering foreign policy of this country.

The Senate action opened the way for adoption of an amendment, due this week, which will curb U.S. actions and aid in Cambodia after July 1.

This would mean, of course, a drastic restriction on what the President of the United States can do in the way of world policy, and more principally, it ties his hands as commander in chief of the armed forces.

Some senators argue that the latter will not happen, but any restriction on presidential action is bound to have its effect in the military field.

Regardless of the unpopularity of the Vietnam-Cambodian operation and regardless of the frustrations and tragedies that have occurred to date, it should be granted that this country has a deep commitment, both in the cause of international freedom, and more explicitly, to the men involved in operations in Southeast Asia.

It is impossible for an ordinary citizen to determine policy in this complicated episode, and it is questionable whether distinguished senators are in position to say you can send money through June 30, and then you stop on July 1.

This country, to be victorious and to stand up for its position as leader in world freedom, in the last analysis, stand with its chief executive. He cannot operate with effectiveness if restrictions (mainly political) are saddled upon him.

Marijuana Menace Continues

Publicity (a reflection of public action and interest) ebbs and flows in the matter of control of marijuana and other more dangerous drugs which have become so enticing to a young generation.

But public officials are concerned that the widespread use of marijuana continues, and that summer months when young people are freed from school interests may constitute a dangerous period.

A grand jury in recent months did a notable work in digging deeply into the use of marijuana, but as a practical matter no real legal substance came of it.

Investigating officers who uncover abuses and identify culprits are doing a good job, too. They feel, in some instances, that prosecution is not being carried forward to the extent it should be. On the other hand, it is fair to say that cases taken to court should be backed by full and complete evidence to justify trials.

Authorities in all areas, we feel, want to help curb the use of marijuana. Many of them have contributed much toward the educational process, which must be having some effect.

Parents and other interested citizens must continue to have the same concern. The leadership in the youthful element can be enlisted to work actively.

The fact that there are no newspaper headlines does not mean that a menace exists. The citizenry should not be lulled, neither should any public official. It is far better for the community to take preventive action than to have to apply drastic cures.

Subjugation Of The Baltic States

WASHINGTON — It isn't often that a nation fights on both sides of a major war and comes out with a big prize derived from each adversary.

The younger generation of today wasn't even born when it all happened. For on the 15th of this month, a tragic anniversary will be recorded. On that day in 1940 the Soviet Union — then an ally of Nazi Germany — annexed Lithuania, Estonia, and Latvia, which the Red army had invaded and occupied after the conquest of Poland. Later on, when Hitler turned on the Russians in June, 1941, America came to their aid, and, as a consequence of the victory of the Western allies, the Soviet Union was able to secure dominant control over the so-called independent governments in Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Rumania, Bulgaria and East Germany.

WITHOUT Hitler's help the Russians wouldn't have acquired the Baltic States. Without America's aid, they wouldn't have won control of the "captive nations" of Eastern Europe.

The seizure of the Baltic states — Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia — has for many years been the subject of discussion in the United States, and efforts have been made in the United Nations to persuade the Russians to liberate the three countries. The United States government has over the past 30 years maintained a policy of nonrecognition of the occupation of the Baltic states. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has again and again expressed disapproval of the Soviet course.

JUST FOUR YEARS ago, the House and Senate, each by unanimous vote, adopted a concurrent resolution urging the President of the United States "to direct the attention of world opinion at the United Nations and at other appropriate international forums and by such means as he deems appropriate, to the denial of the rights of self-determination for the peoples of Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania, and to bring the force of world opinion to bear on behalf of the restoration of these rights to the Baltic peoples." The resolution says:

"THE SUBJECTION of peoples to alien subjugation, domination, and exploitation constitutes a denial of fundamental human rights, is contrary to the charter of the United Nations, and is an impediment to the promotion of world peace and cooperation . . .

"All peoples have the right to self-determination; by virtue of that right they freely determine their political status and freely pursue their economic, social, cultural, and religious development . . .

"The Baltic peoples of Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania have been forcibly deprived of these rights by the government of the Soviet Union."

THE OCCUPATION of the Baltic States since 1940 has been called one of the most brutal of all times. The three countries have lost more than one fourth of their entire population. During the period between 1940 and 1952, some 30,000 Lithuanian freedom fighters were killed in an organized resistance movement against the invaders. Cessation in 1952 of armed guerrilla warfare didn't end the protest against Soviet domination, and passive resistance has continued, while efforts to present the case of the Baltic states have proceeded in different parts of the world.

AT A TIME when Western powers have been granting freedom and independence to many nations in Africa, Asia and other areas, Liberation of the peoples of Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia has not had the widespread support it deserves.

No Snobs Survey

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — An industrial tribunal briefly pondered whether a snob would ride Johannesburg's slow, late and generally inadequate municipal bus system. "Directors of companies are not inclined to sit in a bus," a Chamber of Commerce spokesman said, but some might if service was improved.

"How do you know that snobs will use it?" asked a member of the tribunal. No, it was conceded, no survey of snobs had been made.

Government Ready To Rescue Penn Central

NEW YORK (AP) — There was growing evidence this past week that the nation's largest railroad is enmeshed in a critical financial crisis.

Outside directors of the Penn Central Co. moved Monday to oversee day-to-day operations of the line after ousting Stuart T. Saunders as chairman of the board.

The next day, the Nixon administration revealed plans for the federal government to guarantee at least $200 million in bank loans for the Penn Central.

Administration sources said the unusual step reflected, in part, concern that collapse of such a large corporation at a time when the economy is in such difficulty could have serious psychological impact on the financial community and on business and consumers generally.

Paul A. Gorman, who succeeded Saunders, said Penn Central's economic health depends to a large degree on Interstate Commerce Commission approval of freight rate increases and discontinuance of 34 long-distance, East-West passenger trains.

DIRECTORS RESIGN
On Friday, three directors resigned.

Thomas L. Perkins, a New York attorney, and John T. Dorrance Jr., chairman of the Board of Campbell Soup Co., said they wanted to avoid any semblance of divided interest in the proposed $200 million government guaranteed loan. They both sit on boards of banks involved in the loan.

Louis W. Cabot, chairman of the Cabot Corp. of Boston, also resigned as a Penn Central director, but no reason was given.

On another front, President Nixon announced creation of a powerful new Office of Management and Budget to evaluate and coordinate federal programs, streamline executive organization.

For the job of running the new superagency, Nixon tapped George P. Shultz, his secretary of labor. The new post could make Shultz one of the three or four most influential figures in government.

PERSONNEL SHIFTS
Casper W. Weinberger, chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, was named as Shultz's deputy director with primary responsibility for the budget, while Robert P. Mayo, the present budget director, will join the White House staff as counselor to the President.

To succeed Shultz as head of the Labor Department, Nixon chose James D. Hodgson, a labor undersecretary who is a former business executive and is popular with labor leaders.

Shultz suggested that companies struggling in a cooling economy should be willing to take strong positions even if it means a strike.

"Union leaders cannot take the position but business must," he said.

Meanwhile, the Labor Department issued guidelines designed to implement a prohibition against sex discrimination in employment. The guidelines call for commitments to include women candidates in management training programs.

MARKET FALTERS
A member of the President's Council of Economic Advisers said Friday that the two-price system for copper, by which domestic copper prices lag behind world prices, would disappear within the next few years.

The stock market turned in a poor performance, giving up close to 11 points on the week as trading fell off sharply.

On Wall Street, the New York Stock Exchange disciplined Meyerson & Co. of San Francisco and two of its officers for alleged violations of securities regulations. Meyerson plans to resign from the exchange.

Agreement to merge on July 1 was announced Monday by Francis I. DuPont & Co., the country's third largest securities firm, and Hirsch & Co., a 60-year-old investment banking and brokerage firm with 26 branch offices.

And on the ecology scene, Olin Corp. announced it was going out of the DDT business on June 30. The company produces between 25 million and 30 million pounds of DDT annually, about 20 per cent of the total U.S. annual production.

Around The Rim

Oops, Your Infinitive Is Split

A reader who is precise about his sentence construction took me to task the other day. He said he noted several split infinitives in the news columns, and these offended his esthetic senses.

Trying to be jocular about it, I replied, "you mean to subtly tell me we violate the proper usages of grammar?"

He jumped on that one quickly. "You see, you just split an infinitive! One does not say 'to subtly tell me'; one says 'subtly to tell me' or 'to tell me subtly.' The 'to' and the 'tell' comprise the infinitive, and these words must go together. They are not to be split."

ADMITTEDLY he has scored a point, but let's face it: The speaking and the writing of the English language gets sloppier through the years. Most people are more concerned with four-letter words than they are with breaching an infinitive, dangling a participle, or even with the use of double negatives or ending sentences in prepositions.

Teachers used to make big things out of these violations, and perhaps they still do. But a swinging world takes on swinging ways of expression and hang the rules. This is horrifying to the purists, such as my friend who pointed out the infractions in the first place. Alas, the purists become less numerous and those who remain join up with the silent majority.

ONE OF THE better large newspapers in Texas has an instruction to reporters: "Write like you talk." Heaven forbid! If writing can't be a notch higher in quality than the standard run of conversation, communication finally may be lost. But a rule is a rule. I just hope to never split another infinitive, and to amicably live with critics of my writing.

by these authors.

SURE ENOUGH, the book said, along with numerous other rules, "no modifier should be inserted between 'to' and the infinitive. Example: 'I expect always to be poor.' NOT, I expect to always be poor."

The grammarians had a footnote: "Careless writers pay slight attention to this rule, and some good writers and speakers defy it, hoping to break it down. But it is unquestionably still in accord with the best usage."

I AM NOT by nature defiant of rules, but let's face it: The speaking and the writing of the English language gets sloppier through the years. Whatcha Gonna Use A Flag For?

WASHINGTON — There's much more to buying an American Flag these days than people think.

I discovered this the other day when I went into a store to purchase a Flag to fly on the 4th of July, which this year Bob Hope and the Nixon Administration have declared a Republican national holiday.

The salesman said he was hard put to keep Flags in stock. "I owe it all to television," he said. "Everytime one of the major news programs films one of the freaks burning the American Flag, we sell out. What can I do for you?"

"I'd like to buy an American Flag."

"GOOD FOR YOU, sir. Show those lousy people what you think of them."

"Well, I uh, uh . . ."

"Would you like it for light combat or heavy fighting?"

"I beg your pardon?"

"We have this model here which is very popular with the Hard Hats. The bottom part of the pole is tipped in metal so when you hit someone with it, it doesn't crack."

"I hadn't really thought of . . ."

"NOW THIS model over here, while slightly more expensive, is perfect for close, hand-to-hand combat. The eagle on the top of the pole has been especially sharp so when you lunge with it, you can really do damage to the groin."

"That's very nice, but . . ."

"Here's an all-metal pole. It's much harder than the wooden one, and you can really get someone in the shins with it."

"Look, I . . ."

"THIS IS our shorty. The pole is half the regular size, so it can be used as a club instead of a lance. Many of our customers like to get in the thick of it and swing wildly."

"It's a beauty," I said, "but I was hoping that you would have a . . ."

"This one here is heavier in weight and you can swing it like a baseball bat. Feel the grip on it. It will never fly out of your hands."

"I was looking for something less expensive."

"WE HAVE the 'mighty midget' over here. It's only two-feet long and while it looks fragile, you can really do damage with it."

"Very good, sir. Do you have any identification with you?"

"Identification?"

"Yes, sir. We always ask for identification. Do you have any proof you support President Nixon's policies in Cambodia?"

"WELL, I don't have it on me. I didn't know you needed proof of that to buy an American Flag."

"Of course you do. The American Flag is a very lethal weapon and we don't sell it to any stranger who just comes in off the street."

"I'm sorry. I should have brought some identification with me."

"Why did you want it in the first place?"

"Well, if you don't tell anyone," I said, "I was going to hang it out my window on the 4th of July."

Prisoners-Of-War Problem

WASHINGTON — In frustration and sheer despair no aspect of the Indochina war compares with the plight of the 1,400 or more Americans missing in action and their wives and families. Some wives have gone four — even five — years without knowing whether their husbands are dead or alive.

Efforts to exploit this grief for the larger objectives of America's dilemma in the war have from time to time seemed to put the families of these hapless men in a political role. There is no evidence that this has been by choice of the wives. They have wanted to get, by any means possible, at the very least word of the fate of their husbands.

SEN. ROBERT DOLE, R-Kan., introduced an amendment to the military appropriations bill that was the most open invitation thus far to tie a political issue to the plight of the prisoners. As a counter to the Cooper-Church amendment he proposed that any legislative restrictions on the President's right to order future military operations in Cambodia would be forbidden so long as American prisoners were held in Cambodia. The Dole amendment was defeated, 54 to 36, with 15 Republicans joining 39 Democrats to vote against it. One reason was the conviction that the amendment did make the captives pawns in a political play.

REPEATED ATTEMPTS by a variety of means to get information about the prisoners have brought only minimum results. A number of wives have gone to Paris and other European capitals to put their case to Communist representatives. While in most instances they have been received politely, they have been told nothing.

On the Meet the Press program Sweden's Prime Minister Olof Palme was pressed hard to say what he had been able to do through North Vietnamese representatives in Stockholm about the prisoners of war. Palme said that of 60 appeals put up to him he had received replies in 14 cases. Among the latter were the names of several men whose fate had already been made known.

THE PRIME MINISTER said that he wanted to avoid making the prisoners a political issue and keep it on the humanitarian plane. Hanoi is a signatory of the covenant of the International Red Cross covering the treatment of prisoners of war. But the North Vietnamese government holds that the men they have taken are war criminals and, therefore, not subject to the terms of the covenant. The fact that the United States has never formally declared war is at least a technical consideration in the status of these victims of the long conflict.

IT GOES, however, much deeper than that. Individual human life has nothing like the same value in Asia that it has in the West. And the ruthless drive of the doctrinaire Communist adds an extra dimension to this difference in values. Then, too, there is the deep bitterness generated by the suffering of the civilian population from long years of bombing in the two Vietnams. The last is part of the fearful heritage that peace is not likely soon to erase.

STATE DEPARTMENT officials who talked with Palme were impressed by his sincerity and by the realism of his efforts to get more information out of Hanoi. Under the prisoners-of-war convention Sweden could propose the internment until the end of the war of sick and wounded men. Given the adamant stand of Hanoi, that seems a remote possibility. The grim reality appears to be that these unfortunate men will not be released, granted they have survived the rigors of their captivity, until there is a negotiated peace.

Claims Campaign Is For Advertising

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Attorney William H. Maness is trying to convince the government that the $7,171 he spent in two unsuccessful political campaigns was simply a lawyer's way of advertising and the costs should be deductible.

The Internal Revenue Service contends Maness owes $2,246 tax on the money he spent in 1966 and 1967 campaigns for the state Senate.

Dear Abby

—ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My sister has two children, a boy nine and a girl 12. The girl likes to dress her little brother up to look like a girl. She puts make-up on his face, and puts curlers and ribbons in his hair. Then she gives him girl's clothes and heels to wear. He makes a very pretty-looking girl, but what worries me is the boy enjoys it. In fact he begs his sister to dress him up and call him "Susie."

I have hinted to my sister to discourage this kind of play, but she sees no harm in it, and is relieved that sister and brother play so "nicely" together. Am I wrong to be concerned? My sister is divorced, so there is no father influence in the home. CONCERNED DEAR CONCERNED: You could be "concerned" with good reason. Quit "hinting" and TELL your sister that environment plays an important role in gender identification. In other words, boys will be boys — unless they'd rather be girls — and hers is off to a girlish start.

Per my promise of last Sunday, my TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR WIVES:

1. Defile not thy body neither with excessive foods, tobacco nor alcohol, that thy days may be long in the house which thy husband provideth for thee.

2. Put thy husband before thy mother, thy father, thy daughter and thy son, for he is thy lifelong companion.

3. Thou shalt not nag.

4. Permit no one to tell thee that thou art having a hard time of it; neither thy mother, thy sister nor thy neighbor, for the Judge will not hold her guiltless who letteth another disparage her husband.

5. Thou shalt not withhold affection from my husband for every man loveth to be loved.

6. Forget not the virtue of cleanliness and modest attire.

7. Forgive with grace, for who among us does not need forgiveness?

8. Remember that the frank approval of thy husband is worth more to thee than the admiring glances of a hundred strangers.

9. Keep thy home in good order, for out of it cometh the joys of thy old age.

10. Honor the Lord thy God all the days of thy life, and thy children will rise up and call thee blessed.

DEAR ABBY: Tell "LITTLE ME" not to bother with an umbrella or a golf club to keep her brother-in-law in line. All she needs is a nice long HAT PIN! And keep it in plain view. A man is more afraid of a hat pin than a club.

TAKE CHILDREN TO THE DENTIST EARLY

It is a natural reaction of young and old alike to be afraid of the unknown. Once exposed to a situation this fear will most often diminish or disappear altogether.

At about three years of age, it is a good idea to take your child on a "visit" with you to the dentist. Try to make it when you are just scheduled for a checkup or cleaning rather than some work. Your dentist will let the child sit in the chair for a few moments. Then, when you take the child for his first examination he will have much less fear. Discuss this with your dentist beforehand.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.

Area Man Helps Economic Survey

LUBBOCK—Six Texas Tech economists and business administration specialists have fanned out over a big segment of West Texas looking for information helpful to private and public agencies, institutions, business and industry in planning a sound future.

Teams from eight other Texas colleges and universities have been assigned other segments of Texas looking for the same facts and figures from their areas—data which will be processed for use in providing a sound basis for future planning.

"The thrust at the moment is in services," said Prof. James E. Osborn of the Department of Agricultural Economics, director of the Tech portion of the survey. "About July 1, the interviewers will move into the areas of wholesale trade and retail trade. The interviews are conducted and information handled in such a manner that data cannot be traced back to the firm from which it came. Cooperating firms are completely protected from misuse of the information," Osborn said.

Texas Tech Agricultural Economics Prof. Herbert W. Grubb heads the statewide survey from offices in Austin. The work is conducted through a joint effort of the Governor's Office, the Planning Agencies Council for Texas, the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, and the nine Texas colleges and universities.

"One emphasis will be the interdependence among the sectors of the economy. Another will be the relations of the Texas economy to out-of-state markets, and raw materials supplies," said Grubb.

One of the interviewers is Richard Sterling of Agricultural Economist.

Little Leaguers Have Their Day

Last week was National Little League Week and the game for the small fry got plenty of attention in Big Spring. Parents of minor leaguers (top left photo) got out early, some of them carrying parasols to protect them from the late afternoon sun. Some of the mothers who work the concessions booth are pictured in the top right photo. From the left, they are Gina Mullins, Martha Loew, Chris Mullins and Dolores Hull. The Farris team charges out of its dugout to take the field in the photo at left center. A view of the crowd is shown at right center. The Herald photographer catches a close play at home in the lower left picture. Umpire Jack Griffin converses with team officials in the lower right picture. (Photo by Danny Valdes.)

"ANNE OF THE THOUSAND DAYS"
... Genevieve Bujold, Richard Burton

COLORFUL PAGEANTRY PLUS ROMANTIC DRAMA

'Anne' Stars Richard Burton

One of the greatest epic dramas, and most honored film in recent years, Hal Wallis' production for Universal "Anne of the Thousand Days," coming Wednesday to the R/70 Theatre, brings to the screen the colorful pageantry and romantic drama of Henry VIII's reign in England.

The film stars Richard Burton, Genevieve Bujold, and co-stars Irene Papas, Anthony Quayle and John Colicos. Among many plaudits given the production, it was nominated for 10 Academy Awards, more than any other picture in 1969.

In the historical drama based on Maxwell Anderson's Broadway play,

Burton portrays Henry VIII, who defies the Pope, challenges the Emperor of Spain and destroys a ruling caste in England for the love of Anne Boleyn. Once again Burton demonstrates the great versatility that has marked his memorable performances in such pictures as "My Cousin Rachel," "The Robe," "The Spy Who Came in From the Cold," "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" and "Becket," which also was the first of the cycle of serious historical films made by producer Wallis. Burton was nominated as Best Actor for his work in "Anne of the Thousand Days."

Wallis brings another exciting discovery to the screen in "Anne of the Thousand Days," Miss Bujold. A renowned discoverer and developer of talent, Wallis includes among his more famous finds Elvis Presley, Burt Lancaster, Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis, Kirk Douglas, Charlton Heston, Anna Magnani, Errol Flynn and Humphrey Bogart. One of the most influential producers in America, Wallis' achievements include more than 400 films, which have won a total of 32 Academy Awards and more than 133 Academy Award nominations.

In her American film debut, Miss Bujold portrays Anne Boleyn, a dark beautiful lady endowed with intellectual sexiness who keeps Henry waiting for six years.

Newman, Redford Ride Again At Jet

"Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid," starring Paul Newman, Robert Redford and Katharine Ross, starts Wednesday at the Jet Drive-In Theatre. The movie was filmed on location in Utah, Colorado and Mexico.

Contract Awarded For Long Pipeline

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — A contract for construction of 456 miles of Santa Fe Pipeline Co. line from West Texas to the Houston area has been awarded to Prairie Construction Co. of Lubbock. The line will cost in excess of $30 million.

The line consists of 520 miles of 12-inch mainline from Mont Belvieu and a 170-mile gathering system in the Permian Basin of West Texas and Southeast New Mexico.

The contract covers construction from Snyder east to Gatesville, 229 miles of 12-inch mainline; from Gatesville east to Mont Belvieu, 130 miles of 12-inch mainline; and from Snyder west to San Andres Junction, 97 miles of 12-inch mainline.

The original screenplay is based on the true story of fast draws and wild rides, battles with posers, train and bank robberies, a torrid love affair and a new lease on outlaw life in far away Bolivia.

It is also a character study of a remarkable friendship between Butch — possibly the most likeable outlaw in frontier history — and his closest associate, the fabled, ever dangerous, Sundance Kid. It is a story told with warmth and great humor.

Paul Newman stars as Butch Cassidy, Robert Redford as the Sundance Kid and Katharine Ross as Etta Place, the hot-blooded schoolteacher who becomes emotionally involved with both Newman and Redford as she joins in their exploits as highwaymen, gunmen and train robbers in both the Old West and South America.

It's not hard to see how each year, problem drinkers are involved in killing at least 25,000 of us on our highways. When people lose control drinking, they often lose control driving.

But what is hard to see is why we keep letting them. Many problem drinkers need to be helped. But first, they need to be taken off the road. Sooner or later, it has to happen. Make it sooner. ASTRONAUTS ARE "MAROONED"
... Gregory Peck, space program chief

Crews Learn About Space

One way to become an expert in a subject is to make an honest and truly realistic motion picture on that subject. It's the hard way, but the end result can be pretty satisfying not only to the movie-makers but to their audiences.

Such a film is "Marooned." Five years in the making, "Marooned" opens Wednesday at the Ritz Theatre.

Story of three astronauts stranded in space, due to a malfunction on their spacecraft, "Marooned" is also concerned with the desperate efforts of Mission Control to effect a rescue while the world watches.

A face familiar to many Big Springers will be that of Sgt. Dewey Magee, formerly stationed at Webb AFB, who won a bit part in "Marooned" while stationed in Florida. Magee, a former president of the Little Theater of Big Spring, is retired from the Air Force and now lives in Corpus Christi.

"Marooned" is based on the novel by Martin Caidin, one of America's most distinguished writers on aviation and aerospace. The authenticity of the film might almost be assured if the book itself had served as the script.

Associate producer Frank Capra Jr., spent the better part of two years working with engineers and scientists at Cape Kennedy. Production designer Lyle Wheeler, as part of his immense assignment to make sets look and represent certain space complexes, spent weeks at both Cape Kennedy and Houston.

Scriptwriter Mayo Simon spent hours listening to space program workers' dialogue, the idiomatic speech so peculiar to this group of people.

Producer M. J. Frankovich and director John Sturges, and their production team also spent many days in Florida and Texas getting the "feel" of the subject they were so intent on making into a dramatic film.

"Marooned" was filmed, not only in Hollywood, but at Cape Kennedy and Houston. Wherever possible, with the confines of what was practical, the "Marooned" team filmed at actual locations called for in the script.

Hollywood astronauts Crenna, Franciscus and Hackman were able to do what few, if any film makers had done before them — see and hear the real astronauts Frank Borman, William Anders and Jim Lovell as they went through their duties in space.

Self-Imposed Exile Is Profitable For Elia Kazan

In 1964, Elia Kazan, one of America's foremost motion picture directors of all time, went into a self-imposed three year retreat from movie-making. During that time, however, he wrote a novel called "The Arrangement," which became a record best-seller and established Kazan as a writer of importance.

Kazan recently returned to the film world to write, produce and direct the film version of "The Arrangement," opening tonight at the Jet Theatre.

His casting of the major roles is considered faultless. Kirk Douglas plays the disenchanted anti-hero; Faye Dunaway is his mistress; Deborah Kerr appears as his socially conscious wife; and Richard Boone plays the tyrannical father.

"The Arrangement" marks Kazan's seventh important film since "East of Eden" 14 years ago (much of the filming was done in and around New York City) and his first picture at the screen — Warren Beatty in "Splendor in the Grass," and Griffith and Lee Remick in "A Face in the Crowd," James Dean and Jo Van Fleet in "East of Eden," Carroll Baker in "Baby Doll" and Eva Marie Saint in "On the Waterfront." His new "star" in "The Arrangement" is 18-year-old Dianne Hull, playing Kirk Douglas' daughter.

A trail-blazer in presenting "forbidden" subject matter such as anti-semitism, civil rights and union racketeering to the screen, Kazan has directed two Academy Award films, "Gentlemen's Agreement" and "On the Waterfront." He was nominated as best director for "Streetcar Named Desire," (the film won Oscars for Vivien Leigh, Karl Malden and Kim Hunter) and "East of Eden." "The Arrangement" is the first picture Kazan has made at least in part in Hollywood since "East of Eden" 14 years ago (much of the filming was done in and around New York City) and his first picture at the screen — Warren Beatty in "Splendor in the Grass," and

Wants To Test Breath Testing

HOUSTON (AP) — Edward Norman, 27, of Houston filed suit in federal court Friday seeking to test the constitutionality of a Texas law which allows officers to give a breathalyzer test to determine intoxication.

Norman is facing driving while intoxicated charges.

The law gives the DPA the power to set qualifications for persons who give the test and Norman said the legislature itself should have set up standards.

Independence Day Event Expanded For This Year

Let Freedom Ring this year will try to retain the successes of past years while adding color and polish. The Cultural Affairs committee of the Chamber of Commerce has undertaken the planning of the pageant, a job performed last year by the American Business Club.

Mrs. R. E. Daniel said the committee is asking for cooperation from local merchants and businessmen in setting up window displays focusing on the American heritage. The three Big Spring banks have already offered their lobbies for the purpose of setting up displays.

Webb AFB people are contributing their time and talents to much of the advance work. The Permian Chapter of the NCO Association will be tying these efforts in with their project to make Big Spring "Flag City USA."

The first Let Freedom Ring pageant here was organized by Mrs. Mamie Lee Dodd in 1966. Inspired by then President Lyndon Johnson's nationwide bell ringing project the previous year. The program will be held in front of the County Courthouse on Independence Day at 8 p.m., beginning with the arrival of a procession of ladies and gentlemen in colorful costumes recapturing the Spirit of '76. Uniformed Continental soldiers, buckskinned frontiersmen and pioneer women will be represented with fife and drum music as the order of the day.

The 30-minute program includes a reading of the Declaration of Independence and closes with the ringing of the Big Spring church bells for four minutes. This year the pageant will also make use of original music provided by a youth choir.

Sheriff A. N. Standard is digging out his coonskin cap and brushing off his buckskins for his role as the horseback courier spreading the good news from Philadelphia that set the bells ringing 194 years ago.

The committee will also be working on a tableau of Betsy Ross showing George Washington her work on the 13-star flag, with the actors in authentic regalia.

Equalization Panel To Meet

COAHOMA—The board of equalization for the Coahoma Independent School District will meet Wednesday to hear owners of property other than oil and utilities.

Earlier, the Coahoma school board had announced that it was raising the percentage of assessment from 30 to 60 per cent of the actual base value in an effort to meet rising costs anticipated in the proposed 1970-71 budget. It is possible there may be some slight downward adjustment of the tax rate, which currently is $1.70 per $100 assessed valuation.

Members of the board are J. F. Gibson, H. C. Wallin, James Barr and Earl Hull. No base values have been altered, only the percentage but any taxpayer is welcome to attend the sessions at the City Hall from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Road Projects Are Approved

SNYDER—The Texas Highway Commission has approved two road improvement requests made recently by local representatives, but one of them may have to await funding.

The commission indicated that the proposal for a road to connect the Colorado City highway (SH208) with the Big Spring highway (SH350) could proceed via the new Western Texas College campus. Cost was estimated at $343,000.

White the request for a grade separation at the intersection of US 84 and Huffman Ave. was approved, the $748,000 job will have to wait until funds are available.

Intech Annexing Hearing Delayed

Due to an error in the legal description of property to be annexed, there will be no public hearing on the annexation of the Intech property at the regularly scheduled City Commission meeting of June 23.

There will be a public hearing to consider the annexation of the property at a subsequent meeting. Notice of the time and place of the hearing will appear in The Herald.
