Roy Grundy, real estate man, surrendered to officers after the shooting, and a charge of murder was filed against him by District Attorney Sam Spence.

The bullets were fired at point blank range.

The slain man is survived by his widow. Grundy was divorced last year.

Mrs. Grundy, in a statement to the district attorney, declared her separation from Grundy was due in part to unjustified jealousy toward her.

NINE-YEAR-OLD EARL WILLIAMSON TELLS OF KILLING

(By Associated Press)

HOUSTON, Oct. 17.—A nine-year-old boy has confessed to the crime with which his father was charged—assault with intent to murder.

His confession brought a dramatic close to the trial of M. F. Williamson in justice court here on a charge of attempting to murder Mrs. Mary Montalbano.

State's Story Told

The state's story had been told—how Williamson and another man had fought, how a weapon had been drawn, and how Mrs. Montalbano was shot when she started to assist Williamson's opponent.

Then the defense called nine-year-old Earl Williamson to the stand. He remembered the night. His father had been drinking a little. Then the fight started. Earl hesitated in his story.

The defense attorney prompted him. "Who shot Mrs. Montalbano?"

"I shot her to protect my daddy."

The justice referred the case to the grand jury without bond.

(By Associated Press)

VAN, Oct. 17.—Workmen rushed batteries of storage tanks to completion and made locations for other batteries here today, drillers prepared to move their rigs into the newly discovered oil territory east of here and the population of the town, already swelled from 20 to 1,500 in four days, continued to grow.

NOTE BELIEVED TO BE THAT OF LOST ENGLISH FLIER FLOATS ONTO SHORE

(By Associated Press)

KINKAWLAGE, Donegal, Irish Free State, Oct. 17 — A penciled note reading "going down in mid-Atlantic, engine trouble," found off the Donegal coast in a rusty tin yesterday, is believed here to be that Lieutenant Commander H. C. MacDonald, lost, in an unsuccessful attempt to fly from Harbor Grace to London just a year ago.

Lieutenant Commander MacDonald left Harbor Grace in a tiny Moth plane October 17, 1928. He was last seen about 700 miles out at sea after his take-off, apparently all well.

The note found yesterday was written on the leaf of a diary from which the date had been obliterated. It was signed by what appeared to be "McDonnell."

New York police had turned over to them late in last October a note found near Staten Island which read "down off coast of Ireland. Captain MacDonald." They considered that message a hoax.

MILLION-DOLLAR RUM SMUGGLING SYNDICATE BROKEN UP BY FEDERAL AGENTS IN SERIES OF RAIDS ON EAST COAST

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—A fortified arsenal, equipped with emplacements for its battery of machine guns and used as headquarters for a $1,000,000 rum smuggling syndicate, was in the hands of federal agents today after a surprise attack on the syndicate extending along the Atlantic coast from here to Atlantic City, N. J.

A mile from the armed base of operations at Highlands, N. J., the raiders captured a hidden radio station over which orders in code were sent to a fleet of liquor ships and speed boats operated by the syndicate.

Make 32 Raids

A force of 130 special treasury agents, deputy U. S. marshals and a New Jersey state police going into action simultaneously made 32 raids, arrested 32 men and seized quantities of imported liquor.

CARTER-HOUSTON STORE TO OPEN FORMALLY FRIDAY NIGHT

STAGE IS SET FOR GALA AND INTERESTING TIME AS CITY'S NEWEST BUSINESS MAKES BOW

FORMER RIX BUILDING TO HOUSE SUNSET STORE HERE

For the past two weeks more than 50 people have been busy long hours of each day, some of the working day and night, engaged in the necessary rush to get the former home of the Rix Furniture company, corner of Avenue J and Thirteenth street, in readiness for the formal opening of the Carter-Houston department store tomorrow night, October 18.

A style show with music, flowers and a Hawaiian vaudeville troupe, will feature the formal opening, beginning Friday night a 8:30 o'clock. The style show, which will hold sway from 8 until 10 o'clock, will be followed by inspection of the store from 10 to 10:30, when souvenirs will be given visitors. The store will open for business on Saturday morning, E. C. Carter, Plainview, Sunset stores executive, has announced.

Those who have been working both night and day include painters carpenters, decorators and so on. Sales people have been working for the past week in arranging fixtures and carloads of new merchandise that have been received for the store's mammoth stocks.

Large Space Secured

By the remodeling of the building, a downstairs floor space measuring 75 by 125 feet and an upstairs space of 50 by 70 feet has been evolved, with 125 running feet of show windor space made possible.

A portion of the downstairs measuring 90 to 40 feet in the rear of the building is to be occupied by the ready to wear department. This division is, with exception of the entrance to the remainder of the store, entirely fenced with wall fixtures on the east and the back wall on the west.

On the north side of the building the dry goods department will be housed. There are two bays of show cases of the new futuristic design here.

Broad Aisles Arranged

In front of the ready-to-wear is the shoe section, broad aisles accentuating the welcome for an eager public to view attractiveness of merchandise. Plenty of table space for the display of goods is here.

The first bay south of the dry goods department contains asortments of patterns, threads, notions, laces, handkerchiefs, linens and art goods. On the right side of the entrance another bay of show cases displays costume jewelry, gift articles and similar things, while to the left another is showing men's furnishings, hats, caps, etc.

To the left of the building's south entrance will be found men's clothing, nearby being show cases of hosiery, toilet articles, gloves, men's shirts, underwear, and work clothing.

To Have Book Shop

The upstairs will contain a modern book shop, lounging space, a beauty parlor, rest room, displays of trunks, luggage, quilts, blankets and the drapery department.

Three carloads of fixtures, modern and of shining walnut material, were necessary to fill the needs of this mammoth store. The Grand Rapids Store Equipment company built these especially for this store. Modern window fixtures come from the Standard Fixture company, Dallas, also designed for this particular store.

The show windows are in a new Spanish design, created by a representative of the Standard Fixture company, a blocked tile pattern having been followed throughout. Doors and windows are decorated with special design to carry out the Spanish motif. Light fixtures are similar, wrought iron grills being used to accentuate the unique pattern of the entire store.

SALES PEOPLE EXPERIENCED

An experienced group of sales people has been engaged by the Carter - Houston Department store, a number of them having been employed by numerous stores affiliated with the Sunset chain at various towns in West Texas. Following is a list of department heads and others in their divisions:

ENTERTAINMENT TO BE FEATURE OF CARTER-HOUSTON OPENING; TRIO AND STYLE SHOW ARE ON FRIDAY PROGRAM

An interesting program of entertainment, including many offerings of vocal and instrumental numbers of Spanish music, in keeping with the prevailing tone of decorations and designs, has been prepared for the formal opening of the Carter-Houston Department store here Friday evening. The opening will be held from 7:30 until 10 o'clock.

The style show, scheduled to begin at 8 o'clock will last until 9 o'clock, and will reveal fashion's latest creations in new winter dresses, coats, evening dresses, wraps, etc. The showing of styles will be interspersed with musical numbers. A feature of this program is to be the Texas Technological college's Saxaphone Band, under direction of Bandmaster Harry LeMaire.

Motif Is Spanish

Artistically decorated throughout in Spanish motif, this newest addition to Lubbock's metropolitan mercantile establishments promises a revelation in colorful beauty. Enhancing embellishments of decorations will be scores of baskets of flowers expected from innumerable manufacturers and contemporary firms.

New winter creations are to be modeled by a coterie of West Texas beauties from Lubbock, Plainview, Midland, Roswell, Vernon and Abilene. The bevy of models represent all types, titan, blond and brunette.

All attending the opening will be presented with souvenirs purchased in Mexico especially for this occasion.

Entertainment Planned

Special entertainment features will be furnished by the Brazilian trio of Abilene, three charming girls from Brazil who play and sing in native costume and language. These girls are well known in West Texas since they have entertained at several conventions. Another entertainer is Miss Paula Bunkley, who will sing Spanish songs, dressed in China Poblana costumes, the glittering, colorful native Mexican costumes.

Hostesses for the occasion will be Mrs. C. E. Carter, of Plainview; Mrs. E. H. Robertson and Mrs. J. E. Grissom, of Abilene; Mrs. Addison Wadley, of Midland; Mrs. A. H. Pruitt and Mrs. R. J. Keller, of Roswell, N. M.

RUM SMUGGLING

sages information was gleaned which led to the raids.

When the federal agents entered the station at 4:30 p. m. yesterday, the zero hour for the raids, they found malcolm McMasters, the operator, at his key. He was arrested for operation of an unlicensed station. A federal operator familiar with the smuggler's code then began sending messages by which the raiders hoped to lure a rum ship off Montauk Point into a trap where a coast guard patrol boat lay in wait.

Arsenal in Mansion

The arsenal was located in a mansion formerly owned by Oscar Hammerstein, jr. Its 20 rooms were fitted like a club. In the basement, the raiders found tunnels leading to underground vaults in which liquor was stored and where a number of machine guns and a quantity of small arms were hidden.

The cupola on top of the mansion was equipped with telescopes and was apparently used as a lookout tower from where the smugglers could watch for their craft.

One of the raids was made on what the agents said was the New York headquarters of the syndicate in West 43rd street. Here, the federal men said, members of the organization met regularly to divide the profits of the business and discuss plans. The other raids were on landing stations, storage houses and distribution points.

Patrick Connors, clerk at the Ambassador hotel in Atlantic City, was arrested as a contact man for the syndicate.

William J. Calhoun, prohibition administrator for New Jersey, in charge of the raids in his state, said the syndicate was a "million dollar outfit" which operated a fleet of six ships between St. Pierre and Bermuda and an auxiliary fleet of ten speed boats.

The ships passing close inshore along the New Jersey coast were met by the speed boats, which took off cargoes of liquor and ran them ashore. Unofficial estimates placed the amount of liquor brought in at 10,000 cases a week.

Alleged members of the gang were arrested by federal agents in several New Jersey towns and taken to Trenton for arraignment.

The raids extended over a 200 mile front.

No More "Iron Maidens"!

AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

Never again need scientific research grope in darkened cellars behind doors bolted against torture. AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE has swept before it the ignorant barrier which stupidly impeded men of genius and science marches proudly on.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's toasted"

No Throat Irritation—No Cough.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

Interest Created In Cooking School

Much interest is being evidenced on the part of Lubbock housewives in the appearance next week of Mrs. Myra Oliver Dougan, famed home economist and domestic science expert, who is to conduct the Avalanche-Journal cooking school at the Uptown Dance Palace.

Co-operating with the Avalanche-Journal in presenting this famous series of lectures and demonstrations o fthe very highest forms and greatest discoveries of the culinary art are food manufacturers of national importance, who are viewing with intense interest the remarkable results obtained by Mrs. Dougan in every city in which she appears.

With all intimacy and informality of a close friend revealing her favorite secrets in her own kitchen, Mrs. Dougan strips the perplexities and worries of cooking from the most ancient of arts, and in a clear, graphic manner discusses entertainingly with her listeners the development of balenced menus based on intimate knowledge of the scientific calculation of food values in various items, recipes of the world's most famous chefs, the essential virtues of tried ann tested nationally advertised food products; and above all, extends a personal, intimate interest in every house-wife's problems by inviting their questions, either from the floor or at the end of the class, when she will endeavor to work out for each individual woman desiring to counsel with her, the little items that transform what otherwise could be drudgery, into one of the most fascinating and exact of the arts.

There is every indication that Mrs. Dougan's forthcoming appearance will inaugurate a new era of higher cooking standards and greater home happiness for the housewife and the general health of the family circle. The Avalanche-Journal wishes to extend to every housewife in Lubbock and vicinity an invitation, devoid of strings or qualifications, to attend all of the illuminating discourses. Subjects fascinating to the feminine heart make up each of her interesting daily presentations, and while there is a unity running through all five, each day's subject is entirely different from that of the previous day.

BORGER CASE

ers.

A justice of the peace and two constables remain to be appointed for borger. Those appointments can be made after martial law is lifted, General Wolters said.

Officers All Right

The new officers, the statement declared, "are the kind of men and citizens Houston, Fort Worth, Dallas, San Antonio or any other city would like to have on its city commission."

Ranger Captain Tom Hickman is to remain in Borger with his force until the sheriff's and police chief's departments are in operation, and two rangers are to be detailed for "indefinite" duty in the oil town.

Twelve men held under general order six, which specified that all members of the entrenched criminal ring could be held until obedience to law had been restored, will not be fred when troops leave Borger. It was believed they would be held until they can be tried.

The twelve under general order six are: Cal Baird, former deputy sheriff; J. D. Lee, D. T. Blassingame, former policeman; Sam Jones, ousted deputy constable; John Harkness, John Ware, G. Louis Crim, Leroy Dempsey, Don McCombs, H. O. Taylor, F. C. Cleveland and T. A. Board.

BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL WOMEN COOPERATE

"The business woman must have an interest outside her office or else go stale on the job," says Marion H. McClench, above, new president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women.

By JULIA BLANSHARD
NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 17—Co-operation among all women workers is the next step in progress for women careerists, in the opinion of Marion H. McClench, Ann Arbor, Mich., insurance woman, now president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women.

Miss Clench heads an organization that numbers 50,000 members, in 47 states, with other members in Alaska, Hawaii, Italy, Spain and Engalnd.

"Women are learning to work together pleasantly in their offices as well as their clubs," Miss McClench said. "This winter our organization intends to foster several schemes for encouraging business and professional women to co-operate even more closely than ever before.

Form "Success Clinic"

"First, our organization is supporting a 'Success Clinic,' which really is a clearing house to make contacts for beginners in this or that profession or business with others more successful than herself.

"Second, in our local clubs we have a social reciprocity scheme. This is a plan to get all club women in a given city acquainted. It is a round-robin plan, whereby our organization entertains in a body several other women's clubs in the course of a year.

"Third, we have pledged ourselves to co-operate with the League of Women Voters to help get out the vote all over the country.

"Fourth, our winter's plans include starting a drive for a national club house at Washington, D. C. At the convention this summer, one club member gave $500 for the first brick. Such enthusiasm resulted that $26,000 were pledged. With that as a start, we feel it will not take many years to see the house a dream come true.

"Last, we plan to co-operate in every possible way with the organizations working for international peace. In 1050 clubs we have committees on International Relations. These will foster study programs on such subjects as the world court and the ratification of the Kellogg peace treaty.

"In connection with this, we are planning other good-will tours for next summer, including Pacific tours this time. We believe that these tours form bonds of friendship that make for peace."

Miss McClench has no illusions that women can win peace, or run the world alone. She believes that the future will bring better business and professional co-operation between men and women as well as between women and their sister workers. She merely feels that women, learning the art of co-operation, will be better able to work with men.

But all life should not be given over to serious problems, in the opinion of Miss McClench. She has risen from the ranks in her own profession partly, she insists, because she has learned the art of forgetting work part of the time and enjoying leisure.

"To me leisure is, or should be, pure recreation," Miss McClench said. "The moment one is made to feel serious about it, it loses its charm. And certainly no business woman ought to take her leisure too seriously. Every woman should have both a vocation and an avocation. Only by a proper balance between the two can she live the fullest life. But the avocation should not have too solemn an aspect. Otherwise it provides no recreation at all.

"Within the last few weeks I have been interested in reading the first installment of a new novel by Faith Baldwin called "The Business Wife.' It deals with a woman of 40 who for a long period of years had been private secretary to a man of affairs. She had really made him her whole life, watching his every motion, responding to his every mood. Her own pleasure was her last consideration. And presently she suffered the inevitable nervous breakdown. The story illustrates perfectly, I think, the point that the business woman must have an interest outside her office or else go stale on the job. What that interest is, is up to the individual woman.

"I hear a great many people nowadays, urging that the business woman use her leisure time to fit herself for a position of greater responsibility. That is well enough if she has an abundance of free hours and can attend classes and get some recreation besides. But if she cannot do both, let her have at least one irresponsible avocation if it is bridge, a gymnasium class, embroidery, cooking—something that savors of the frivolous. Her work will be all the better for it.

MATADORS WORKING ON OFFENSE FOR McMURRY TILT

IN THE REALM OF SPORT

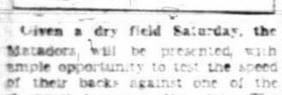

WITH ALLAN CARNEY
Journal Sports Editor

Since the weather man took a leading part in the downfall of the Tech eleven here last week with the Daniel Baker Hill Bilbes, the Matadors will be praying for a dry field when they journey to Abilene Friday for their battle Saturday with the McMurry College Indians. Stung by the humiliating defeat handed them by the T. I. A. A. eleven from Brownwood, the Scarlet clad gridsters will take the field Saturday, determined to prove that their much-advertised running attack was no false alarm.

On a slippery field that held no respect for speed the Tech and Billy backs were as helpless last week as a crew of confederate veterans. A steady drizzle made worse a rain-soaked field and every member of the Tech backfield played role of triple threat men—slip, stumble and fall.

Given a dry field Saturday, the Matadors will be presented with ample opportunity to test the speed of their backs against one of the strongest teams in the state. The Indians proved themselves one of the state's leading aggregations last week by holding the vaunted Howard Payne Yellow Jackets to a scoreless tie and outplaying the Texas conference eleven throughout most of the game. On more than one occasion the Redskins threatened the Yellow Jackets goal while the Brownwood crew never once came within scoring distance of the McMurry goal line.

Coach Ray Medley, usually classed with the conservative, has let it be known in no uncertain terms that the Matadors are "coming to Abilene for a defeat." The Indians are out to avenge the 3-0 defeat handed them by the Tech eleven last season and the locals are certain to encounter the McMurry team at its best. Preax Anderson the sage of sports row in Abilene has taken occasion to size up the football situation at Texas Tech giving special attention to Ransom Walker, Matador ball toter par excellance.

Walker, Anderson avers, is not what he used to be in his younger days and "ask one of his grandchildren." The Abilene sport scribe will likely hear of this again before the week is over, and in no uncertain terms. Walker is due to see action in the game Saturday and after the dust has cleared, the Morning News "expert" may have a far different observation to make.

Clarence Hodges is another lad who is certain to be heard from in Saturday's clash with the McMurry Tribe. Hodges spent his high school days toting the pigskin for Abilene High and this will be another case of the "home town boy that made good" at college. No member of the Tech squad has shown more improvement than this shifty back who mastered all the fine points of side-stepping. Hitting the line with words of drive and power, Hodges gets into the open and uses a wicked pair of hips to startling advantage.

A feud that originated back in 1897 will be resumed at Fort Worth Saturday when Coach Matty Bell and his Texas Aggies invade Frogland of Texas Christian University for the seventeenth gridiron battle between the two cubs. In the sixteen games that have been played in previous years A. and M. has been victorious in nine games, T. C. U. in four and three have been ties. The Purple Frogs have come to the front in recent years with such force that the superiority of the Farmers has dropped decidedly. Since T. C. U. was admitted to the conference things have changed. The two teams met as Southwest conference contenders in 1924 the Aggies winning 28 to 0. Not since then have the Cadets been able to win another, through two of the subsequent games have been ties.

One of the greatest crowds in the history of Fort Worth is expected to witness this year's battle in Fort Worth. Matty Bell will bring his Aggie warriors to battle his former pupils at T. C. U. and the result will have an important bearing on the outcome of the four cornered struggle for Southwestern conference supremacy.

Snyder Team Works For Roscoe Game

SNYDER, Oct. 17. (Special)—Snyder high Tigers are pointing for the crucial battle of the conference October 25, when they face the Roscoe Plowboys on their field. Both teams have won two games in the conference thus far, Roscoe defeating Loraine 24 to 6, and Colorado 15 to 0; while Snyder defeated Roscoe 20 to 0, and Loraine 37 to 0. Last year the local squad defeated Roscoe 20 to 0.

Local business men are declaring a half holiday the afternoon of the game and the entire squad with the pep squad and high school band will accompany the team to Roscoe. The Tigers with a heavy line and fast moving backfield are favored by football experts to win the contest.

STANFORD HAS STRONG TEAM FOR CONTEST

WESTERNERS TO GIVE BIG BATTLE FOR TILT TOMORROW

Twenty members of the Electra High school football squad will arrive in Lubbock this afternoon, accompanied by their head tutor Harvey Stanford.

The Class A Tigers will take a light workout on the college gridiron this afternoon prior to their conference engagement here tomorrow with the Lubbock Westerners.

Hitting Stride

A club which is rapidly finding its stride, the Bengal crew is out this year to avenge the defeat handed the Tigers by the Westerners in their own back yard last season and indications are that the Lubbock eleven will be given its first real test of conference competition.

Boasting a hard-driving running attack built around the fleet Hub White and the hard-hitting Bill Crass, the Tigers are by no means considered easy marks for the contending teams in the race for District One honors.

The Westerners showed no let-up in training yesterday as the high school coaches polished off the attack that will be sent against the Bengals Friday. Bob Rich, regular wingman on the Westerner eleven, was still out Wednesday, and it remains a question whether or not the big end will be fit for service Friday. An automobile accident recently laid Rich up with injuries that may keep him out of the lineup for another week.

BIG TEN GRID RACE WARMER

ZUPPKE STARTS OUT ON INVASION SATURDAY; CHANGES MADE

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—Bob Zuppke and his larruping Illini packed their bags and prepared to hit the long trail which may bring them their third straight Big Ten football championship today.

Zuppke's squad, regarded as possessing more potential strength than any he has groomed in a decade, pointed toward the Hornet's nest of the conference—Iowa City, home of Burt Ingwersen's dangerous University of Iowa eleven.

Renews Rivalry

The game renews a 30-year-old gridiron rivalry and dedicates the new $500,000 Iowa stadium. It is the first conference start of the year for the Illini.

Outwardly Zuppke is greatly worried over the Hawkeye invasion. His team hasn't been able to stop Iowa plays satisfactorily this week in practice while one or two of his regulars are not in the best of condition.

Ill fortune has beset Northwestern, which is preparing for the invasion of Minnesota's haughty Gophers. Coach Dick Hanley was forced to bed yesterday by bronchitis and may not be able to direct his team Saturday. His brother, Pat Hanley, has picked up the coaching reins.

Kipke Seeking Punch

Still seeking more punch in the backfield, Coach Harry Kipke has shifted Captain Joe Truskowski from the line to halfback and may use him there in place of the injured Alvin Dahlem for the Iowa State battle Saturday. Coach Sam Willaman of Ohio State, in turn, has sent Allen Holman from halfback to quarter.

Demotions and promotions were flying so fast in Wisconsin's camp that only Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite had any idea of the Badger lineup for the Notre Dame struggle on Soldier field. Milo Lubratovich was shifted back to the line from fullback after a short tryout, but landed on the second team for the time being.

Condition of Knute Rockne, suffering from a bad leg, was discussed more than football at Notre Dame although his assistants had the Ramblers on edge for the Badger fight. Specialists examined the coach yesterday and recommended a rest cure. Rockne probably will direct his team Saturday from a wheel chair.

Coach Pat Page is reorganizing his varsity for the Colgate game and promising some drastic changes

Junior Gridsters Play In Brownfield

Lubbock Junior High gridsters are in Brownfield this afternoon to meet the reserve forces of Coach Marlin Hayhurst's Brownfield Cubs in the first game of the season for the youthful cohorts of "Mule" Davis.

Fifteen members of the junior squad left shortly after noon today for the scene of their first encounter. The "Little Westerners" have rounded into splendid playing condition and are certain to give the Brownfield second stringers a tough battle.

The deepest place in the ocean yet found is 145 miles southeast of Tokio, Japan—32,636 feet.

HE STARS WITH PISTOL OR PIGSKIN

BY JACK SORDS
Central Press Sports Cartoonist-Writer

John "Hertz" Murrel is a lot of things at West Point, but, most important of all to the cadets at this time of the year, he is a member of the football team—a 180-pound fullback with a charge of dynamite in every ounce.

For the past three years Murrel had run riot against opposing teams, and again this fall in the early games the Army flash has demonstrated that he is still the same old threat, with a little more added for a finishing touch. He scored the Army's first touchdown of the season in their initial game with Boston university and carried the ball for three of the West Pointers' five touchdowns against Gettysburg the following Saturday.

Murrel tips the scales at 180 pounds, is five feet nine inches in height and is unusually fast for his weight. Before coming to West Point he attended the University of Minnesota, where he played one year of football and was on the track team. At the Army he stepped right out in his plebe year and made the football, track and basketball teams.

In addition to his athletic prowess, Murrel, a cadet lieutenant is a pistol sharpshooter, rifle marksman and qualified machine gunner. He is also a member of the cadet choir and leader of the Boy Scouts.

SOUTHWEST CONFERENCE GRID NOTES

Bears Losing Out As Favorites For Conference Race And Longhorns, Frogs And Aggies Challenge

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

There was a scramble to get aboard the Baylor bandwagon a month ago. At that time a big majority of the scriveners within the borders of the Southwest conference broadcast a warning to watch the Green wave. Now, a casual perusal of the exchanges reveals, quite a few of them have undergone a rapid transition of mind. The Bears, a symposium indicates, are not quite the all-powerful outfit they were cracked up to be. Any one of three other teams, the Texas Longhorns, Texas Aggies and T. C. U. Horned Frogs, are accorded an excellent chance of grabbing the title. Most of the observers count Southern Methodist, Arkansas and Rice out of it.

Reasons for the wholesale desertion of the Bruin banner are several. First and foremost is the fact that the Longhorns, Frogs and Aggies are shaping up much more powerfully than a pre-season survey indicated. Secondly, the Baylor eleven was not particularly impressive against St. Edward's university last Saturday, even with a 19 to 0 victory. The crippled Saints fought their conference foe on almost even terms much of the way. They—the ones who saw it—said the brilliant Jake Wilson was not playing up to his 1928 form, and the Bears looked weak on the wings. Potter and Lucas, Baylor ends, were treated roughly by the Saints blockers.

All of which, if true, is portentious, but it probably would be an excellent idea to see what the Bears do to Arkansas Saturday before passing final judgment. They will open up their bag of tricks in the conference opener, something they have not done against four lesser opponents. Coach Jennings used no more than was necessary to stop the Saints last week. With a set of veteran, versatile backs at his command, the Bear mentor is certain to have developed a wide variety of plays to dazzle the Razorbacks. The prediction is the Bruins, on their own field, will trim Arkansas at least by as wide a margin as the Longhorns did last week.

Due to the fact that they have not played a single game against the same team, it is difficult to size up the Aggies and Frogs in advance of their prize tussle Saturday at Fort Worth. It looks, offhand, as if they are two as evenly matched elevens as could be brought together, two strongly balanced offensive machines; yet it is all a matter of conjecture. There is no way of telling whether Centenary, beaten by the Frogs 28 to 0 last week, is on a par with the Kansas Aggies, whom the Bellmen flogged, 19 to 0. It will have to be a stand-off until they clash at Clark Field. T. C. U. officials expect 15,000 to see the game.

On the strength of their crushing win over Arkansas, the Longhorns have been established slight favorites over the Oklahoma University Sooners in the intersectional affair at Dallas, despite the Sooners' victory over Creighton. The Southwest conference this year appears stronger than the Big Six, and the Longhorns are one of the four stoutest teams in the Southwest circuit. The basis for the theory that the Southwest has the Big Six shaded lies in Southern Methodist's scoreless tie with Nebraska and the Aggies' victory over Kansas State, both of which are considered Big Six title contenders.

Two of the most feared teams in the state high school race this season are Amarillo and Brownsville, so far apart that the average airplane has to refuel to fly between them. Both have been running up big scores, and it is not without the realm of possibility that they will meet in the finals. That would call for a neutral field, unless one of the teams could get a week or so off from school to travel.

ANOTHER BIG FIGHT LOOMS FOR FLORIDA

SCHMELING MAY MEET ONE OF FOUR MEN THIS WINTER

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Another battle of Miami Beach this winter may help the untangling of the heavyweight situation and provide Max Schmeling with a means of evading the suspension imposed upon him and his manager, Joe Jacobs, by the New York State Athletic Commission.

Jacobs has signed with G. R. K. Carter of Miami Beach for the German boxer to meet one of four possible opponents at the Miami Beach Kennel club next winter. The list is Young Stribling, Tuffy Griffiths, Victorio Campolo and Otto Von Porat.

The manager said he did not think the ban placed on him and Schmeling by the New York governing body would be effective in Florida. They were suspended for Schmeling's refusal to go through with a bout for which his German manager, Arthur Buelow, had signed. He was to meet Phil Scott at Ebbets field.

The scene of the proposed bout is to be the Miami Beach Kennel club, which Carter said could be made to accommodate 55,000 persons for the fight.

TEXAS-SOONER GAME TOSS-UP

BOTH TEAMS TO TAKE FIELD WITH FULL POWER SATURDAY

AUSTIN, Oct. 17.—What looked like a cinch for Oklahoma university early in the season, is just a toss up now.

That's what the sport experts are saying about the Texas-Oklahoma clash at the Dallas Fair Park stadium Saturday. While the Oklahomans have shown their expected strength throughout the early season, the Longhorns have developed power and punch which few dreamed of. At the outset of the football year, sport critics snarled at the Longhorns, saying they were little better than a fourth or fifth rate team. But times have changed. Both teams will take the field with their full power Saturday. Nick Chatoura will return to the Texas line which will materially strengthen it.

Just now, it looks like the starting lineups will be:

TEXAS	Pos.	OKLAHOMA
Rose		Taylor
Brown (c)	Left End	J. Lee
Gatoura	Left Tackle	Gentry
Burnett	Left Guard	Fields
	Center
Beaty	Right Guard	Stanley
Emerson	Right Tackle	Berry
Vining	Right End	Churchill
Rees	Quarterback	Mayhew
Shelley	Left Halfback	B. Mills
Beular	Right Halfback	Flint

HARD BATTLE IS EXPECTED ON SATURDAY

TECH COACHES SENDING SQUAD IN HEAVY WORKOUTS

Working for the first time behind closed gates, the Matadors of Texas Tech continued their assault against the freshman football forces Wednesday afternoon, taking the offensive to perfect the attack that will be thrown against the McMurry Indians Saturday at Abilene.

Anticipating one of the hardest battles of the entire season the Tech mentors opened up yesterday with a bag-full of new tricks which will be used in the clash with the men of Coach Ray Medley on the Redskins' battle ground.

Optimism Prevalent

An unmistakable spirit of optimism was prevalent in the Tech camp as the scarlet-clad warriors snapped into action with a vim that indicates that nothing short of an overwhelming victory is anticipated when the stronghold of the Redskins is visited Saturday.

The fact that the Methodists have never suffered defeat on their home field adds further weight to the seriousness of the task at hand for the Matadors, with their field dedicated to the memory of a fallen comrade, the Indians will be fighting to the last ditch to protect their goal line.

Squad Leaves Tomorrow

Coaches Higginbotham and Payne will leave here with the squad shortly after noon Friday for Abilene. With one exception, the Matadors are in the best of condition for their battle with the Tribe. Calvin Swift, center, has been out this week with an injured leg and is not likely to see action in Saturday's tussle. Another pivot man, Jones, is being groomed to step in Durham's shoes in case the starting center is forced to retire.

Yesterday's starting backfield of Green at quarter, Walker and Hodges at halves and Wooldridge at fullback looms as the most likely combination to open the fireworks Saturday.

Hodges will be playing before his home town fans and is expected to give a good account of himself.

A large number of local grid fans will accompany the Matadors to Abilene for Saturday's encounter. The majority of these are to leave early Saturday.

The squad of sixty-five Tech freshmen football candidates will be divided into two groups this afternoon as Coach Rhodes Ingerton holds his first regulation football games between squad members.

Beginning at 4:30 the Picadors will tangle up in the regulation encounter which was scheduled for last Saturday.

GINNINGS IN AREA BOOSTED

CENSUS AGENT REPORTS CROSBY AND LUBBOCK SHOWING GAINS

RALLS, Oct. 17—According to the report of Harry Clark, special agent for the national bureau of cotton census, both Crosby and Lubbock counties show a marked increase in cotton ginned in the two counties up to October 1.

Up to October 1 Crosby county had ginned 3,659 bales against 98 bales for the same time last year. Lubbock county had ginned 7,135 bales up to October 1, against 119 bales for the same period last year.

According to Mr. Clark, this great increase is due to the fact that cotton has matured much earlier this year than last.

HOAX FOUND

Salem Trade School Wins To Meet Waterloo

SALEM, Mass., Oct. 17 (AP)—For six years the "Salem Trade School" team has played and lost games to high school teams throughout New England. The team disbanded last night and with the action came the revelation of perhaps the greatest hoax ever penetrated in New England interscholastic sport.

A young man who had some decided ideas about the inner workings of the mind gathered some rusky friends six years ago and organized the "Salem Trade School" football team. The fact that Salem had no trade school made no difference. He booked games with high schools and collected good guarantees, which were divided among the players.

The fame of Salem trade as a losing team was well known. The sponsor who signed his name as "Ritchie Ray King, faculty manager, told the players to lose all the games knowing that in their joy of victory managers of opposing teams would never think of determining the status of the Salem Trade School.

Through some unfortunate happenings it defeated Taunton High 6 to 0. Several high school teams are now looking for opponents to fill the dates caused by the discovery of the hoax.

TEXAS TECH RIFLE TEAM WILL MEET TEXAS SCHOOL OF MINES IN MATCH

For the first time in the history of the institution, a Texas Tech rifle team will meet that of another college in a shoulder to shoulder match at El Paso, October 25. According to a message received this morning the team of Texas School of Mines, branch of Texas university, located at El Paso, has accepted the challenge of Tech and the shoot is to be fired during the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention.

The teams will be composed of five firing men each with one man on each side firing alternating shots at the same target. Each man will fire 40 rounds at a range of 200 yards slow fire.

Only Two Men Selected

A complete lineup has not been made by Tech, only two men having been definitely selected as members of the team. Capt. W. S. Galloway, will lead the locals. Galloway is an expert rifleman havig won exceptional honors at the national rifle shoot at Camp Perry during the past summer. The other selected member is Cadet Major Earl H. Cain.

Tryouts were started yesterday and the contestants will be on the range this afternoon, according to Lt. H. E. Killin, coach. Selections are expected to be made this week.

Made Good Record

An excellent record was scored by the Tech team last year in postal matches with five wins out of nine shoots. Harvard university, University of Southern California, Leland Stanford, University of Washington and Texas School of Mines all fell before the Matador cadets.

"With seven letter men of last year's team to pick from, together with a host of new material, prospects for a winning group this year are bright," said Lt. Killin. "We are planning some good matches and efforts will be made to get Harvard university to come to Lubbock for competition."

The team will leave this city the day before the match and return immediately following. Lubbock citizens attending the convention are urged to witness the match and anyone having room in cars for a firing member are asked to get in touch with Lt. Killin.

War

In the last few years the world has heard more eloquent pleas for peace than ever before in its history.

Gradually the minds of men seem to be accepting the fact that war is an institution that must be abolished. A good bit of machinery to accomplish this has been set up. Treaties have been signed, agreements have been made, to make a repetition of what happened in 1914 less easy.

The novelists too have done their share. Such books as "All Quiet on the Western Front" have stripped war of its glamour have revealed it for noncombatants in all of its filthy horror.

Yet the job is going to be a hard one. We can become thoroughly convinced that war is a dreadful thing—but our emotions are still such easy prey for the war-makers. In a national crisis we are ruled by our hearts instead of our heads, and as long as that remains true it will be comparatively easy for the nations to slip into war again and again.

The latest of the war novels provides striking proof of this.

"All Else Is Folly," by Peregrine Acland, tells the story of a line officer in a Canadian regiment sent overseas with the first Hundred thousand and serving in the trenches throughout the long years to the armistice.

This officer saw war in its most horrible guise. He saw his battalion riddled again and again, at Ypres, at Vimy Ridge and along the Somme. Finally he was dreadfully wounded and put out of action for good. For months he existed in a pain-racked stupor at a base hospital. He came back to Canada a mere wreck; crippled, half blind, utterly broken in body and spirit, everlastingly disillusioned about war. Then, a decade after the armistice, he revisited the armory of his former command in a Canadian city. A battalion of kilties was just returning from drill, bag-pipes skirling, drums beating, mailed feet crashing on the pavement. And this officer, watching them and hearing the martial music, felt his blood stir again just as it had in 1914.

He knew that war was vile, horrible, blind, yet, swept away by his emotions, he knew that he would enlist at once if another war came along—would enlist because the bagpipes and the drums and the bugles would overpower his reason and make him one of a cheering, war-bound mob of enthusiasts.

In that incident the author has put his finger on the great hope of Mars.

We can talk about the horrors of war all we please; we can satisfy our minds that war must be averted; we can tell ourselves, for years, that war is useless and futile—but all of us, to a greater or lesser extent, are helpless when the flags wave and the bands strike up.

For that reason it will be a long time before war dies.

Our emotions are stronger than our brains. And our emotions are still the willing slaves of war's bright, tragically alluring trappings.

Isn't Complete

Milton Bronner, London correspondent for this newspaper points out that there are two elements in the Anglo-American naval situation that are not generally understood, although naval men recognize them as of great importance.

These elements are merchant steamships and airplanes.

England has a tremendous preponderance of steamers, many of which, in time of war, could be quickly transformed into very effective cruisers or raiders. The United States, on the other hand, is vastly superior in naval airplanes—which might easily give her battle fleet an overwhelming advantage.

Thus, in two important items, the two nations are far from parity. No agreement between the two governments will be worth very much if it does not take these two points into consideration.

THE PLAINSMAN Says

That Girl on Broadway says her boy-friend is like an auto tire—one blow-out and he's busted flat.

When the directors of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce went on record as disapproving "whoopee" at the forthcoming West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention at El Paso, this column couldn't refrain from emitting a silent cheer. The Plainsman, for one—and there are a lot of others who believe the same way—has never felt it necessary for West Texas business men to wear funny hats, shout, sing and otherwise make themselves ludicrous in order to establish a successful annual meeting.

West Texas, as far as its regional Chamber of Commerce is concerned, is getting tired of "whoopee." For your information, the Lubbock directors are not original in their disapproving resolution. San Angelo's civic leaders passed a similar proposition some time ago and Slaton's C. of C. followed suit. How many others did the same thing. The Plainsman doesn't know but the chances are there were some. The time has come, the general feeling is, to cut out the monkey-business and really do something when the West Texas Chamber of Commerce gets into annual meeting.

And, since we're on the subject, no city offers the opportunity for a good time, without "whoopee", more than does El Paso. A cosmopolitan center, a historic settlement of the Old Southwest, with quaint old Juarez just 12 minutes and 12 blocks from the center of the business district, El Paso is admirably situated for an enjoyable instructive convention—sans all the foolishness which has in the past accompanied W. T. C. C. gatherings.

There are things to see in El Paso which can be seen nowhere else in all West Texas. There are instructive sights to be "taken in" at Juarez. Big entertainments are not new to El Paso and judging from promises made in the Border Capital, a royal good time awaits the throngs who will attend the convention on October 24, 25 and 26. It will be a relief to attend a W. T. C. C. convention sans "whoopee" and The Plainsman, who has attended five such meetings in the past will venture the thought that more work for a better West Texas will result if other cities will instruct their delegates similar to the instructions given in San Angelo, Slaton and Lubbock.

That Man on Avenue Q says if you're looking for something good, for nothing you'll likely get something good-for-nothing.

NO WONDER

A Lubbock business man was standing on the corner yesterday afternoon crying as if his heart would break. A friend came up, solicitously asking:

"Why Bill! What in the world is the matter? Have you hurt yourself?"

"It's my conscience, Dan", the answer came sobbingly. "Yesterday I refused a poor woman a small sum of money and I couldn't sleep all night. Through the long, dark hours I kept hearing her voice asking for it. It was awful!"

"What a tender conscience you have, Bill", his friend sympathized, "who was the poor woman?" And the answer came in halting tones:

"My wife".

There wasn't a great deal of hip-flip hoorah stuff about it, but when the Lubbock Rotary club stood host to Rotarians from all over this section last night the local organization accomplished a big deed for this city. The meeting, chock-full of good fellowship, helped to further cement Lubbock's neighbors to the Hub of the Plains—something which does us a lot of good.

"What the South Plains Makes Makes Lubbock" is an adage none of us should forget. Without the friendship, both business and social, of our neighbors over the territory Lubbock couldn't get very far in its march to the metropolitan stage. When the Rotary club—and other civic organizations—move to better the understanding between neighbors they should be commended for the act.

* * *

The Plainsman never worked in a bank but if it is as hard to work in a bank while remodeling is going on as it is to work on a newspaper under similar conditions, this column offers solicitations to the force of the Citizens National bank. As almost everybody knows, the Citizens bank is being remodeled from stem to stern, improved and enlarged and no doubt it is a tough job to figure balances while plaster is dropping down one's back. The Plainsman knows what this remodeling business is, for it hasn't been so long ago that the Journal offices were similarly repaired. However, to drop a word at the right time, this column promises the boys at the Citizens that all their troubles during remodeling time will be forgotten and will be worthwhile after the work has been completed.

Speaking of the remodeling of the Citizens' bank is a reminder that Lubbock is pretty well fixed for banks and banking fixtures. As soon as the work at the Citizens is finished this city will have three jam-up banking houses, pleasing to the eye and ultra-modern. Both the First National and the Lubbock National have remodeled in the past couple of years or so and it will likely be some time before any of the three institutions will need larger or more spacious quarters.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17—If it had not been for the active efforts of a veteran American newspaper man, Prime Minister MacDonald probably would not have made his important visit to the United States. Apparently the idea never ocurred to anyone else.

Mr. Edward Price Bell, who was for 25 years correspondent in London for the Chicago Daily News, told the suggestion to MacDonald and was the first to advise President Hoover that MacDonald would like to come.

Bell is a man about 60 years old. Lord Northcliffe called him "the best journalist America ever sent to Europe." After studying and writing about international affairs for three decades, Bell came to the conclusion a year ago that Anglo-American relations were in an unusually bad way and that it was very much worth somebody's while to try to head off a possible war between the two countries which might in time develop if the situation were allowed to go from bad to worse.

He talked to Hoover about it and found that Hoover was thinking much the same thing. Later he was to find that most of the more prominent American and British statesmen agreed that the existing mutual misunderstanding and near distrust between the two countries was deplorable. Hoover thought it was largely up to the newspapers to change public opinion. Incidentally, former President Coolidge once expressed an identical idea to your correspondent.

Hoover told Bell that he was especially anxious to see naval expenditures reduced in both countries, feeling that increased armaments were both an unjustifiable economic burden and a menace to world peace. Bell went to Canada and discussed the situation with MacKenzie King, who felt the same way. Then Bell sailed for London, talking a great deal enroute with former Secretary of State Kellogg.

Bell was on a "journalistic mission of good will."

"I thought that if the heads of the two governments didn't have brains enough and power enough to keep us out of war, something was very wrong," he told your correspondent. "Until we could establish the principle that no war could occur between us we were in greater or lesser peril."

He found an impression in England that Hoover was unfriendly to the British and set out to correct it. He recruited many of his old friends on the British press, including the famous J. L. Garvin of the London Observer, to help in the effort to create a better understanding of American motives. Garvin credited Bell with sweeping away a general misconception and called him "the best unofficial ambassador the American people ever sent to our people." Other British newspapers heaped praises on him.

Bell first proposed the Washington trip to Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, who said that he would "love to see the president and go over everything of interest to our two peoples, laying all cards face up on the table." Baldwin regarded "a frank interchange of views of the greatest moment" and authorized Bell to report that to Hoover. Bell did. Sir Austen Chamberlain, minister of foreign affairs, was enthusiastic over the idea and so were other British statesmen with the exception of Lloyd George.

Baldwin was voted from office in the elections and Bell turned to the new premier, MacDonald, who told him to tell Hoover that he was eager to go to Washington. Bell promptly sailed for the United States and made a full report to Hoover. Unofficial messages were then exchanged between the two capitals and MacDonald's journey was arranged.

Bell was born in Parke county, Ill., was educated at Wabash college and began newspaper work in Terre Haute. He has covered wars, rebellions and race riots and has lectured widely in English public schools about the importance of Anglo-American friendship. He continues to hold a high position with the Chicago Daily News.

Still Good Friends

NEW YORK—Mrs. Gloria Gould Bishop and her former husband are still good friends, though he married another after their Reno divorce. "He's very sweet," she amplified on her return from abroad, though disappointed he did not meet her at the pier as she asked by radio.

Drives Fastest

LEXINGTON, Ky.—Mrs. John L. Dodge seems to have driven a trotter faster than woman ever did before in a race. She piloted Hollyrood Harrod a mile in 2:02 1-4. Mrs. E. Roland Harriman drove Highland Scott, a pacer, a mile in 1:59 1-4 at Goshen, N. Y., last month.

On Last Legs

NEW YORK—Jane Cowl thinks the theater is on its last legs. Talkies, radio and bad manners of audience are responsible. She gave her views in a speech to the women's graduate club of Columbia university.

A Duchess Now

BERLIN, Germany — Edda Charlotte von Stephanie, who once shone on the screen, is now a duchess. In a gown of gold brocade she became the wife of Duke Joachim Ernst von Anhalt with all the princes and princesses of the ducal houses of Anhalt and Schwartzburg present. She was formerly the wife of the Duke's attorney.

Organ Crazy?

NEW YORK—Col. Edward A. Deeds, banker, is to have an organ of 600 pipes on a 265 foot Diesel-engined yacht he is having built. Mrs. Deeds has a similar organ in her hotel apartment. The yacht is to carry an amphibian plane.

Jailed Anyway

NEWARK, N. J.—An inventor of ginless gin is going to a joyless jail. Prohibition agents testified they seized samples of "pink ladies" served in the road house of Frank Donato at Singag. Analysis revealed that not only did the ladies lack the gin they were supposed to have, but they had no alcohol at all. Frank was sent up for 90 days, however, for selling strong beer.

Letters to the Editor

THE EDITOR,
Avalanche-Journal Publications,
Lubbock, Texas.
Dear Sir:

The game last Friday between the Tigers and Westerners was a real bear fight, as I told you at the club last Wednesday it would be. I believe you will say it was worth the money.

I am writing this, however, to tell you that, because of your liberal aid in the way of advertising, we made enough out of the receipts of that game to pay our indebtedness. We did this after paying the expenses of the game and dividing the net receipts fifty-fifty with Slaton. We are feeling mighty good over this phase of the results and want you to know that we appreciate your splendid co-operation and that of the entire staff of the Avalanche-Journal. You did the thing in fine shape and showed yourself a real Westerner Tan. In fact, we are willing to admit that you are the "original" of that tribe. With such co-operation, we can make the Westerners the best fighting machine in Texas.

Don't forget that on November 2 all Westernet fans will board the Santa Fe for Amarillo to see another real bear fight between the Westerners and the Sandies. The rate of $2.50 for the round trip has already been announced and we are expecting to take with us to this game fifteen cars or about nine hundred people. The editor of the Avalanche-Journal has a cordial invitation to join us on that trip as the "Original Westerner Fan."

Yours very sincerely,
M. H. DUNCAN,
Supt. of Schools.

In New York With Swap

NEW YORK, Oct. 17. — New York's world famous mob scene can be found at its peak about 8:30 in the evening.

The surging surf of humans, which reaches a million or more individuals at flood tide, begins about an hour earlier. And it's all over by 9:30 or 10 o'clock. The mad hectic parade, lasts but a couple of hours.

It's the relatively small area into which this million pours itself that makes this particular panorama so spectacular. The horde is set loost on foot, in taxicab and private car so stampede a range not more than 16 blocks long.

As the subway mouths open wider and the lanes begin to jam with traffic at the zero hour in the Broadway belt, the vast stream grows sluggish with congestion. Some statistician has figured out that even with a well-organized distribution of the crowds — which, of course, there isn't — the average person would have but little more than five square feet to himself.

The fact is that, because some areas are more jammed than others, this space is greatly reduced and the mobs fairly carry themselves along.

Yet, except on rainy or blizzardy nights, this is a merry, carnivalian parade, with a minimum of bad feeling and an extraordinary lack of the bickering, one might expect. A general holiday good nature seems to pervade the scene. And with all the elbowing and shoving, with all the toe-stepping and ankle-kicking, there is a give-and-take about it which seems more than passingly remarkable. Particularly when one considers that many of the individuals ar really trying to get somewhere and many more are tired and touchy.

When storms come, the scene is not so pleasant. A predatory element begins to enter. The lay of every-man-for-himself begins to apply. Top hats and gorgeous gowns mean nothing. The lady with the $50,000 diamond necklace is just as likely as not to be shoved out from under a theater marquee into the rain or the sleet and the frantic shelter seekers are likely to behave like stampeding cattle or like danger-scenting wild animals. Some rather disagreeable things are likely to happen—and do.

Returning for a moment to statistics, by way of giving a slight impression of mid-Broadway confusion, statistics which have reached my desk from Commissioner Whalen's traffic tangle department show that at a single busy corner within a single busy hour, nearly 700 taxi cabs are clicked off by the stop watches. To keep the traffic moving, if possible, during this hour practically 200 policemen are needed in a very few blocks.

This is the hour, by the way, when the whining-voiced panhandlers come from every which way and work the sidewalks near the theater fronts. They figure that the cry "for a cup of—coffee, mister," will appeal to a crowd on pleasure bent and that, at worst, they'll be able to approach the greatest number of people.

Strangely enough, there are few thefts in this period of rush. Time was when pickpockets would have been abroad in the land in large numbers, using the congestion for a little fancy lifting. I am told by the police that pocket-picking is quite an old-fashion occupation and that few compiaints come in today.

GILBERT SWAN.

The investigation of the capital may not reveal that Washington is dry, but so long as they keep printing the Congressional Record there will be one very dry article there anyway.

Several senators are said to be vexed with President Hoover because he rejected their advice on debentures. That should be a good recommendation in case the president should resign and hunt up another job.

Diet and Health

WALKING SPLENDID EXERCISE

Walking to Reduce

"Dear Doctor: I know nothing of your reducing methods, but please let me cite my case briefly. I am a young woman of 25 and have always been inclined to stoutness. Eleven months ago I weighed 162 pounds. I started walking to my work, which is about two miles, and I walked to and from the office every day, whether it rained, snowed or was a nice, sunny day. In eleven months I lost 20 pounds, despite the fact that I never dieted at all. Really, I ate as much as I ever did. Surely, then, walking briskly must be very beneficial to those who are overweight. I just hope that all of your readers will try to walk more and I'm sure they will be greatly benefited.

"Will you please tell me what my correct weight should be? I am 5 feet 5 inches tall. X."

According to the rule of allowing 110 pounds for 5 feet in height (in stocking feet) and 5 1-2 pounds for each inch over, you should weigh around 137 pounds, without clothes, Miss X. You can vary 5 per cent above, or below, this figure, depending upon the heaviness of your bones, and still be normal.

You are certainly right about the walking. It is a splendid exercise, not only for reducing, but for general health. I recently wrote on its benefits and I'm glad to run your letter now, as a confirmation of my statements.

Theoretically, a person weighing 150 pounds (with clothes) uses up about 200 calories an hour while walking briskly, but I'm sure that it is instrumental in using up more than this, for it speeds up the metabolism (the body chemistry) long over the period of walking, so that the food is burned more effectively. And even if but 300 calories were used up, if that 300 had been taken daily in excess of what was needed, the daily brisk walk of an hour would prevent you from gaining 27 pounds in a year! Reckon it this way: 300 C. times 365, totals 109,500 calories. Divide by 4,000 (the number of calories in a pound of fat).

Many cannot understand why they have gained when they have apparently eaten no more than usual. The answer is either that they are mistaken and have eaten more than usual, or else they have lessened their physical activities. The only check-up on the energy value of the food is to count its calories. Only 100 calories daily more than is needed, will cause a gain of nine pounds a year! And one can easily take 100 C. without realizing that he is increasing his number. For instance, 100 C. and more, can be taken by having the same quantity of food a little richer than usual.

Thank you for writing, Miss X. I anticipate that your letter will stimulate many to begin to get benefits from walking.

(Those who need instructions on how to regulate their diet for gaining or losing weight may have our pamphlet on the subject by following column rules.)

"Will you tell me whether or not one can contract cancer by coming into contact with a person who has one? I'm upset because I've been told that one could. I have a woman friend who recently returned from the hospital after having an intestinal cancer removed, and I have been calling on her. Is it safe for me to do this? MRS. M."

No, cancers are not contagious. There is no danger whatsoever in visiting your friends, or even nursing them, Mrs. M.

If you would like to have some literature on the subject, I suggest you write to the American Society for the Control of Cancer, 25 West 43rd street, New York City.

Editor's Note: Dr. Peters cannot diagnose, nor give personal advice. If she considers your questions of general interest, they will be answered in the column, in turn. Requests for articles on hand must be accomanied by a fully self-addressed stamped envelope and 2 cents in coin for each for the pamphlets on "Reducing and Gaining," "The Kidney and Its Excretions" and the "Hygiene of Women" 10 cents in coin (for each) and fully self-addressed, stamped envelope, must be enclosed. (These charges are to cover the cost of printing and handling.) Address Dr. Peters, in care of this paper.

ECONOMIC REVIVAL TERMED VITAL TO PORTO RICO

BY THEODORE ROOSEVELT, Jr., Governor of Porto Rico

Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., was born at Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept. 13, 1887. He is a graduate of Harvard. He was formerly a director of the Sinclair Oil & Refining company and several other concerns. In 1919 he was elected to the New York state assembly, resigning all directorate. He was assistant secretary of the navy from 1921 to 1924. He resigned to become a candidate for the governor of New York. In 1925 he was with the James-Simpson-Roosevelt-Field Museum expedition. He was recently named governor of Porto Rico by President Hoover. During the World war he served in France and was wounded. He attained the rank of colonel. He was an organizer of the American Legion, and received numerous war decorations including the Distiguished Service Cross ad Distinguished Service Medal.)

Economic rehabilitation is the foremost problem confronting Porto Rico, for progress along any other line is primarily contingent on economic welfare.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT

There are certain policies which deserve immediate and careful attention. Relief must be pushed for those suffering from the effects of the hurricane which struck the island last autumn. Markets for Porto Rican goods must be fostered and extended, industries must be developed, aid must be given to Porto Ricans who may wish to take advantage of fields of employment in the United States, and work of improving agricultural methods must be kept up.

There are three prime requisites for a happy, progressive people—good education, good health and a sufficient prosperity to provide proper food, proper clothes and proper homes. All three are intimately connected. Each of the three is a necessary complement to the other two; good educational and health conditions are obviously dependent upon the material prosperity necessary for their support. In all three respects at present conditions among our people of Porto Rico are far below what we would have them.

All republican forms of government depend on the average of their citizens. It is on that that they stand or fall. A group of brilliant men, such as Porto Rico possesses, is very valuable to a nation, but her true strength depends not on them, but on the temper and worth of the rank and file. No amount of brilliancy among the leaders can raise the average without reasonable prosperity. Therefore, while we should attack all three of these problems—health, education and economics—it is upon the last that we must first center our efforts.

In so doing we must not be deceived by temporary palliatives. We must strive for permanent solutions. An artificial stimulant which gives momentary relief is often followed by a severe relapse.

The goal we must hold before our eyes is the creation of conditions whereby the average man can obtain for himself by his own labor, nor by gifts or charity, governmental or private, a comfortable living for himself and his family. When we approach this we can justifiably say to ourselves that the future of Porto Rico and her children is assured.

HERMIT'S KILLER GIVEN ACQUITTAL

HEMPSTEAD, Oct. 17 (AP)—Fred Burt will not be punished for slaying a recluse who laughed sourly at life and lived and died in defiance of its conventions.

On the state's own motion an instructed verdict returned in district court here Wednesday acquitted Burt of a murder charge brought because he killed Ed Finch Lee.

Lee was shot to death Oct. 6 at Waller on one of his rare trips to town. Burt fired twice as the victim ran, prosecution witnesses testified, but the defense story that the hermit made a "hip pocket more" caused the decision that Burt acted in self defense.

President Hoover has designated John McNab to recommend changes in the prohibition enforcement machinery. The last part of the appointee's name carries an ominous suggestion.

WEST TEXAS JUDGES FORM ASSOCIATION HERE

ROBERT BEAN IS CHOSEN HEAD OF OFFICIALS GROUP

The West Texas County Judges and Commissioners association was formed here late yesterday when 60 officials from 18 counties elected Robert H. Bean Lubbock county judge, as president of the new organization and selected Plainview for an adjourned meeting December 18.

Other officers of the association are Dixie Kilgore, Dawson county judge, vice president and William McGehee, Floyd county judge, secretary-treasurer.

Road Project Shown

Judge E. C. Abernathy of Hale county told the officials that they would be shown a one million dollar road project when they come to Plainview for the next meeting.

A resolution favoring the election of a highway body of five members instead of the present appointive metod, one opposing any law that may be enacted that would place a further burden on the general fund of the county and another favoring the employment of a contact man to represent this part of Texas before the highway department and in all other matters in which the association would be interested were adopted.

Ask Short Route.

Upon recommendation of Richard Dyess, former judge of Shackelford county the association passed a resolution asking the State highway department to build the shortest and most practical route for State Highway No. 1 between Weatherford and Mineral Wells in the relocation and rebuilding of the road. Mr. Dyess pointed out that the hard-surfaced route directly west from Weatherford would divert traffic which, in case of good roads, might come over roads from the South Plains.

A motion, from the floor, was passed by the officials that the association meet semi-annually, April and September being designated as gathering months.

Program Committee.

Another floor motion which was passed recommended that the president, secretary, together with the board of directors, constitute a program committee.

Upon a motion by Commissioner J. T. Pinkston, of Slaton, passed by the association, the president of the body was authorized to name five members to compose an advisory board. Those appointed by Judge Bean are Commissioner T. J. Yandell, Lynn county; George W. Whitfield, Hale county; E. W. Henderson, Floyd county; John C. Day, Scurry, and J. T. Pinkston, of Slaton.

The motion of Homer R. Winston, Terry county judge to recommend that legislature pass a law in which salaries for county judges who are ex-officio county superintendents might be paid out of the school fund instead of the general fund was passed.

HOUSTON, Oct. 17 (AP)—A. D. Banks, 25, Galveston, died today from injuries received Thursday when the car in which he was a passenger overturned here. Banks' death was due directly to lockjaw, physicians said.

Joe Reed, 37, of League City, driving the car, will be released from the hospital within a few days, it was stated.

NEW PENAL CODE IN MEXICO ALLOWS FATHER RIGHT TO KILL DAUGHTER

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 17. (AP)—A father has the right to kill his daughter and her seducer in cases where the girl sacrifices her honor, according to the terms of the new penal code drawn up by under extraordinary powers granted to President Portes Gil, by congress. The code is appearing in inttalments in the officials gazette.

The code also says that the husband who kills his wife's partner in a marital offense shall not be punished. The same holds true for the wife against the husband. The code stipulates, however, that the killer shall go without punishment only if it is the first time he has killed for that reason and only if the victims are caught in the act or are about to commit it.

Rule On Duels

Persons involved in differences which have led to a duel must appear before a tribunal of honor, which will try to bring about a reconciliation but will have no power to sanction the duel.

On the side of social welfare, the code provides that habitual drunkards be placed in sanitoriums for cure. The transfer of venereal disease is made punishable and treatment obligatory. Persons with such disease will not be permitted to marry.

AMERICA'S PROVISION FOR TRAINING IN OBSTERICS IS DEPLORED BY SWEDE

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Oct. 17—The opinion that the average woman in America takes twice as great a risk of her life in becoming a mother as a peasant woman in some remote Swedish village, was expressed today by Dr. James Heyman, Swedish radiologist, who was here to address the eleventh annual congress of the American College of Surgeons.

Dr. Heyman said the lower mortality rate in Swedeh was due to the fact that the Swedish government takes an active hand in the regulation of the medical profession, while in this country regulation is largely left to the profession itself.

"In every province," he said, "Sweden maintains physicians who draw most of their pay from the government, supplemented by what small fees the poor people can pay them. Because so many people of Sweden live in remote places, unable to consult specialists, every one of these men must be specially obstetrics. He spends four months of his training period in independent practice in lying-in hospitals.

"The obstetrical training of American medical students is sadly inadequate."

WICHITA FALLS, Oct. 17—A decision to organize a corporation with a working capital of $500,000 or $1,000,000 to drill deep oil tests in this locality was reached here Wednesday at a luncheon attended by 100 business and oil men from Wichita, Wilbarger, Clay, Archer and Young counties.

Frank Kell, host, presided.

Plans contemplated drilling, or participation in approximately 10 deep tests. Directors representing participating counties, the meeting decided, should determine the location of the tests and the manner in which they were to be drilled.

PLAINS ROTARIANS ARE FETED HERE LAST EVENING BY LOCAL CLUB IN INTER-CITY MEETING

Two hundred and twenty-five Rotarians and their guests from 18 clubs of the Panhandle-Plains area were guests here last evening of the Lubbock Rotary club at an inter-city meeting at Texas Technological college gymnasium.

Preceded by a barbecued chicken dinner, the varied program was participated in by clubmen from Amarillo to Post and from Brownfield to Spur.

Clements Presides

J. J. Clements, president of the local club, presided, while Spencer Wells, Lubock, was chairman of the program.

Charter members of the Lubbock club, oldest of the South Plains organizations, characterized the meeting as the broadest in scope and the most largely attended in the history of inter-city relations.

Many Professions Here

It was a distinguished gathering of educators and business men, representing every profession which is playing a role in development of the Panhandle South Plains.

Dr. J. A. Hill, Canyon, president of the West Texas State Teachers college, pronounced the benediction. President J. J. Clements welcomed the visitors immediately following the banquet and Dr. James M. Gordon, dean of the school of liberal arts at Texas Tech, led in club singing. Special numbers were sung by J. Edd McLaughlin, president of the Ralls club.

The Ralls club, with 24 of a total membership of 26 on hand for the occasion, rendered a song selection.

Wright Is Praised

Neil H. Wright, for the past three years chairman of the Lubbock club's Inter-City Relations committee and "daddy" of almost a dozen younger clubs in the territory, made a few remarks, in which he stressed friendship and fellowship which emanate from Rotary organizations. Widely known among 41st District Rotarians and a former president of the Lubbock Club, Mr. Wright, at the conclusion of his remarks, was urged as the 1930 District Governor by George Link of Spur, in attendance at the session.

Praising the Lubbock club for its remarkable attendance record and its work in forming new clubs in this section, District Governor Bryant characterized the organization here as "not only an out-standing club of the 41st district but, for its size, one of the outstanding clubs of Rotary International, now represented in 53 nations over the globe." He also pointed out the Amarillo, Post, Ralls and Crosbyton clubs as outstanding and urged attendance at the annual conference of 41st District clubs, scheduled next spring at Temple. He stressed the Sixth Objective of Rotary International, dealing with world peace and international relations; closer cooperation between employers and employes; boys' work and cooperation between urban centers with their rural territories.

Chorus Is applauded

With Wallace W. Rix at the piano a mixed chorus composed of six ladies and four men, rendered two enthusiastically received musical selections. Included in the chorus were Mesdames Homer D. Grant, R. L. McKnight, G. N. Atkinson, Carl Scoggin, Harry Blocker and J. T. Shaver; Messrs. Edgar Inmon, Carroll J. Atchison, Edgar Shelton, and Harry Blocker. The renditions were praised by later speakers, and by George Link, former Spur club president, in particular, who described it as being "Heavenly."

The principal address of the evening was delivered by Dr. Paul W. Horn, Lubbock, president of Texas Technological college, whose writings in the magazine of Rotary International have brought world attention to himself and to the Lubbock club. Drawing a parallel between the recent World baseball series and the work of Rotary clubs in West Texas, Doctor Horn's remarks were particularly timely.

Praises Connie Mack

He turned to the game of last Saturday, when the Philadelphia American League club came from behind an eight run lead and scored ten markers in the seventh inning to defeat the Chicago Nationals. Doctor Horn took the stand that the spirit of the Philadelphians was identical with that of West Texans, who "refuse to quit even in the face of almost insurmountable odds." He characterized Connie Mack (Cornelius MacGillicuddy) Philadelphia manager, as 'a real Rotarian' because he 'gets the best from his players.' The noted educator also counselled his hearers to practice the Philadelphia team play in their inter-city relations and pointed out that 'there is no reason for jealousy among West Texas cities because where you live is the best town for you—where I live is the best town for me."

After generous applause had been accorded Doctor Horn's remarks, Chairman Wells called upon representatives of each club present to make a few remarks dealing with the work of their individual organizations. Speakers called upon, and their clubs, were as follows:

Speakers Are Listed

Guy Saunders, Amarillo; Dr. Joseph A. Hill, Canyon; George Link, Spur; Judge R. E. L. Kinder, Plainview; Edd McLaughlin, Ralls; Judge William Walker, Crosbyton; Joe McGowan, Brownfield; Robert Sone, Floydada; Artie Baker, Lockney; Judge Jake Mabe, Levelland; Jess Hilliard, Littlefield; Lloyd A. Wilson, Slaton, and Roy Holland, Post.

The Ralls club, with 22 of 24 members present, lead in attendance, followed by Plainview, with 20, Slaton with 18 and Littlefield with 15 out of a membership of 25. Others represented, with the numbers present, were:

Canyon, 10; Amarillo, 4; Brownfield, 9; Spur, 10; Floydada, 4; Lockney, 3; Levelland, 10; Crosbyton, 8; Post and Stamford, one each, and Lubbock, 84. Of the Rotary clubs in this area only Pampa, Sweetwater and Carlsbad, New Mexico, were not represented.

Close After Eleven

At the close of the remarks on the part of visitors Chairman Wells closed by stressing the value of the meeting and President Clements followed suit. The meeting closed shortly after 11 o'clock.

Particular credit for the success of the evening was given to Walter A. Myrick, jr., and members of his committee on arrangements. In addition to Rotarians aiding in the work, John Jarrott, local realtor, supervised the chicken barbecueing of the chicken. Others in active work were E. Y. Freeland, Fred B. Caylor, Sam Lightfoot, Lewis H. Price, R. F. Bayless, Dr. Hubert Ater, Dean William Miller, Marvin B. Hilburn, Bob Strickland, N. L. Peters, Donald L. Jones, Conner Cole, Riley F. Hule, Byron C. Dickinson, J. B. Rhoades, and W. L. Bradshaw.

Visiting delegates, including those from Amarillo, 141 miles to the north, and Spur, 80 miles to the east, returned home by motor last night but Governor Bryant remained in Lubbock to hold a conference with directors of the Lubbock club this morning.

WRITING A HIGH TYPE LETTER

NEA New York Bureau

It's a big type machine, no doubt. And "hammering the keyboard" is literally true of operating this immense typewriter, which is pictured here with a nine-by-fifteen foot sheet of stationery in its roller while Albert Tangora, world's champion typist, used a 56-pound mallet to poind out a letter inviting Governor General Willingdon of Canada to attend the 24th international typewriter contest at Toronto this month. The giant typewriter was exhibited at Atlantic City, N. J.

YWCA Expansion In Southwest Planned

DALLAS, Oct. 17 (AP).—The expansion work for the Young Women's Christian association in the southwest will be started in February, 1930, Mrs. John M. Hanna, national president visiting here said today. Workers will be sent to some southwestern point, probably Dallas, to take charge of the expansion program in Oklahoma, Texas and Arkansas, she said.

PASTORS MEET IN CONFERENCE HERE

You, too, may have a clear skin

Skin troubles—pimples, boils, eczema, and sallow complexion—are usually but symptoms of a deeper, more dangerous trouble—a lack of the normal count of red-cells in the blood.

THOUSANDS of people have weak, impure blood—to this may be attributed pimples, boils, eczema, "run-down" systems, rheumatism and even more serious ailments.

Without plenty of rich, red blood, there could be no strong, sturdy, powerful men, or beautiful, healthy women.

When you get the number of your red-blood-cells back to normal, that sluggish, let-down feeling, loss of appetite, those pains usually called rheumatism, boils, pimples and skin troubles disappear. You get hungry again and sleep soundly; firm flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby. You feel strong. Your nerves become steady. You are resistant to disease.

Throughout more than a hundred years S.S.S. has been a blessing to millions of people who have taken advantage of its wonderful medicinal properties. It is Nature's own blood tonic for improving the appetite, clearing the body of so-called skin troubles, and building strength and resistance to disease.

S.S.S. is made from fresh vegetable drugs and has a successful record of over 100 years back of it.

S.S.S. increases the count of red-cells in the blood. Weak, impure blood is injurious to the system, lowering resistance to disease. Rich, red blood builds and sustains the body. S.S.S. helps Nature build rich, red blood. Good blood improves the processes by which the body is nourished, promotes constructive metabolism (healthy body building) and works against infection and disease. Take S.S.S. daily at mealtime. To get full benefit you must take it regularly and over a sufficient period of time. At all Drug Stores. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

McBRIDE HAS HIS DOUBTS

NEW BILL MORE LIKELY TO HINDER WORK OF DRYS THAN HELP

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17—F. Scott McBride, national superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, in a statement today said it was an open question whether the Sheppard bill to make buyers of liquor equally guilty with sellers would help enforcement.

"Many drys are persuaded that it would be a hindrance rather than a help," he said. "Rarely is a sale of liquor made in the presence of a third party. The conviction of the seller must almost invariably depend upon the testimony of the buyer. To accomplish the conviction of the buyer it would be necessary to grant immunity to the seller."

Not Considered

He added the measure had not been considered formally by either the executive or administrative committees of the league, but it appeared to him the importance of the matter had been exaggerated.

"Its effect on the enforcement of prohibition would be very slight," he continued. "The real issue between the wets and the drys is prohibition and its enforcement. To back up the administration in its aggressive enforcement program should be the goal of the drys."

BIG SPRING WILL VOTE ON AIRPORT

BIG SPRING, Oct. 17 (Special)—Whether or not Big Spring will have a municipally owned airport will be decided in the bond election to be held here on November 12 when the citizens will vote on an issue calling for $65,000 to purchase the airport located two miles west of the city. The port is now privately owned by a corporation. At a meeting held here Monday night a publicity committee was appointed composed of C. T. Watson, T. S. Currie and Jas. T. Brooks. H. Clay Read was elected a member of the board and Fox Striplin was made secretary to succeed Frank R. King, deceased. The Big Spring airport is one of the best equipped landing fields between Dallas, Fort Worth and El Paso. It is being used as the division point for the Southern Air Transport company, Inc.

Frisco Head Denies Report On Service

FORT WORTH, Oct. 17 (AP)—In a telegram to the Star-Telegram today, J. M. Kurn, president of the Frisco railroad lines, denied that negotiations were under way for an exchange of rail facilities between the Frisco and Santa Fe in Texas.

The reported exchange would have given the Frisco another trunk line into Fort Worth and Dallas, and would have shortened its southern route from St. Louis by 32 miles, while the Santa Fe would have cut off 100 miles from its route through West Texas to San Angelo.

Water Consumption In Plainview High

PLAINVIEW, Oct. 17 (Special)—Plainview people used in September approximately thirty-one million gallons of water, according to Paul Bryan of the water department of the city. In June forty-seven million gallons were consumed and in July forty-eight million.

These figures indicate an average consumption of 140 gallons per person daily during September, Mr. Bryan says. The average daily pumping for the quarter was slightly over 1,400,000 gallons and at the peak ran to two million gallons.

SUDAN GETS BIG GROWTH

BUSINESS INCREASES IN SECTION; COTTON CROP GOOD

(Special to The Journal)

SUDAN, Oct. 17.—The growth of the little town of Sudan is increasing instead of being retarded with the present crop depression of the state.

The three gins of the town are running full capacity at present, having wrapped Saturday, October 14, 1616 bales of cotton, and having an estimate of over 6,500 bales for the season's totals.

No Residences Vavant

There is no vacant residence of any description whatever anywhere in the city limits. Many transient people are renting quarters in the tourist camps of the town, while there is a daily demand for tenant houses which do not exist.

The four new business houses of the town, two of which are the property of Higginbotham-Bartlett company, the other two being owned by W. O. McGlammery, are all occupied. Two dry goods companies occupy the houses of the former, while a barber shop, tailoring establishment, and beauty parlors occupy the houses of Mr. McGlammery.

Pickers Needed

There is a pressing demand for several hundred cotton pickers, while other harvest hands can find a plentiful supply of work.

The city water system has been completed, and water turned into the mains. City water supply is being hurried forward as rapidly as plumbers can complete this phase of the work. It is expected to have several hundred users of city water at an early date.

Oil Promoter Freed On Mail Fraud Count

FORT WORTH, Oct. 17 (AP)—W. A. Patterson, oil promoter, was found not guilty of fraudulent use of the mails by a federal court jury today.

Patterson was charged with fraud in his representations to investors in the "ten-well pool," an enterprise in which he proposed to drill ten wells to completion on acreages in Young, Wilbarger, Palo Pinto and Randall counties. Three of the wells had been completed, two for small production at the time the project was taken from his hands by the beginning of a government investigation.

On the Canadian side of the Niagara River there are three large hydro-electric developments at Niagara Falls.

The Weeones finally cried, "Hey, stop! We are so dizzy we will drop. This swinging is a heap of fun, but we have had enough. Kind Scouty meant to give us fun, but now just look what he has done. He's sent the swing away up high. We think that he's too rough."

"Well, goodness me," wee Scouty cried. "I think you've had a dandy ride. I didn't mean to tire you out. I'll stop the swing right now. When you are safely on your feet, I'll take my turn at this fine treat. You Weeones all can push me. You can find a way somehow."

The swing then died down to a stop. The Weeones shouted, "All right, hop right in it if you want to. We will push as best we can." So Scouty promptly hopped aboard and in the air he shortly soared. The swing swung high as all the little Weeones pushed and ran.

The other Tinies also had turns at swinging. They were glad when everyone had had enough. 'Twas getting rather late. "I think," said Coppy, "it is best if we all flop down for a rest. Near yonder stump there's nice soft grass. For sleeping 'twill be great."

The Weeones said, "You all can sleep and very close watch we will keep. We're not the least bit sleepy, so we'll all stay wide awake. We'll let you snooze the whole night long and promise nothing will go wrong. You'll hear us shout, 'Wake up there,' when the dawn begins to break."

The Tinies slept and all was still. Then suddenly there came a thrill. A funny looking, long-necked bird among the Weeones hopped. The lads were scared. They all kept still. The bird grabbed each one in his bill, and lifted them up high. Within a tree stump they were dropped.

MOSCOW, Oct. 17 (AP)—The walls of several houses were cracked this evening by a strong earthquake which shook the city of Tashkent, Russian Turkestan, for thirty seconds.

Migrating birds, according to their variety, average a speed of from 30 to 60 miles an hour.

CAMPUS WARFARE BREAKS OUT AMONG STUDENTS OF RIVAL KANSAS SCHOOLS

(By Associated Press)

MANHATTAN, Kas., Oct. 17.—Campus warfare between the University of Kansas and the Kansas State Agricultural college, stirred up as a prelude to the annual football game between the two institutions next Saturday, reached a high pitch today with hapless prisoners of war undergoing hazing in both camps.

In raids last night 18 University of Kansas students from Lawrence were captured and placed in the cage here of Touchdown II, wildcat mascot of the Aggie football team. The wildcat was removed from the cage recently following an attempt by student raiders from Lawrence to capture it.

Reports from the enemy camp were that two Aggie students were being held in Lawrence. They were captured after seven automobile loads of Aggie men invaded the university campus and carried away four prisoners after dousing paint on a campus statue.

Leland Chapin, an Aggie student, was taken prisoner here Monday night by students from the university. After shaving his head, the K. U. men sent him back to Manhattan on a passenger train, attired in a gingham dress and with K. U. painted on his back.

Terracing Proves Profitable Work

BIG SPRING, Oct. 17 (Special)—The Value of terracing has been thoroughly demonstrated this year in Howard county. County Agent J. V. Bush terraced 1,200 acres of farm land last fall that has yielded in some instances five times the amount of cotton and grain sorghums as did the unterraced lands, in or near the same place.

The moisture conservation value of terracing as demonstrated by Howard county's first terraces has caused considerable interest among the farmers of the Big Spring area and requests for 1,500 acres to be terraced this fall have been placed with the county agent.

A terracing school will be held on Saturday, Nov. 16, after which demonstrations will be conducted in five different communities in the county, according to County Agent Bush.

STOCKS DOWN AGAIN TODAY

TENDENCY IS SAME AS YESTERDAY; GAINS ARE FEW

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP).—The stock market, which broke sharply yesterday, opened irregular today but the main tendency appeared to be downward. Standard Gas and Electric dropped 3 1-4 points, Missouri Pacific common 2 1-4, and Consolidated Gas, Johns Manville, Columbia Graphophone and General Railway Signal yielded a point or two. Anchor Cap opened 4 1-2 points higher, Atchison, 2 1-2, American Water Works 1 3-4 and Erie common 1.

Resumption of bear selling in the public utility group was stimulated by a report of a special committee of the investment bankers' association urging careful discrimination in the purchase of those securities. American and Foreign Power and National Power and Light each dropped 3 points, American Water Works quickly converted a gain of 1 3-4 into a loss of 2 points and several others declined a point of more.

Others Drop Also

Colorado Fuel dropped 3 points and U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Atlas Powder, General Electric, Timken Roller Bearing and Missouri Pacific preferred extended their declines to 2 points or more.

St. Joseph Lead, May Department Stores, Columbia Gas and American Telephone showed moderate gains.

Foreign exchanges opened firm, with cables at a new 1929 high at 4.86 15-16.

"I Feel Just Fine In Morning Now"

Amarillo Railroad Man Says His Troubles Are All Disappearing After Taking Orgatone And He Is Gaining Daily

"I get up in the mornings now feeling like a 2-year-old, and I've gained in weight and strength since I started taking Orgatone," said L. D. Priest, when he was talking to the Orgatone representative. Mr. Priest, who lives at 2109 Roberts St., is in the railroad store department for the Santa Fe Railroad which position he has held for the past ten years.

"I suffered terribly for more than five years," he continued, "and got in an awfully run down condition. I got so I didn't want anything to eat and what little I did force down would cause me trouble from the gas that would form on my stomach. I would have smothering spells and a choking sensation in my chest, and I want to tell you this is real suffering. My kidneys bothered me a great deal which made me very restless at night and I would get up in the morning feeling so tired and worn out I actually hated the thought of going to work, and then when I did go out to the shops I would feel bad all day. I took everything I could find trying to get some relief, but I just got worse and worse and there's no telling what would have become of me if it hadn't been for Orgatone.

"I heard a lot about what this Orgatone was doing and read so much in the papers where people all over Amarillo were being helped by it that I decided it might do me some good, and I tell you it was the best day's work I've done in a long time when I started taking Orgatone, for I'm a well man now and my nerves are as steady as a steam engine. I can eat anything I want without a bit of suffering and I enjoy every mouthful. I noticed before I had finished the first bottle my appetite was improving and now after taking four bottles of it, it seems like I can't get enough to eat. It sure is a fine feeling to sit down to a good dinner, like I do now and know you can eat everything on the table and not have any trouble afterwards. And sleep, why I never wake up until time to get up and go to work and when I start out I feel as fine and full of life as a boy going hunting with a gun.

"Yes sir, this Orgatone has got me feeling like my old self again, and I know it's the right medicine for me. Everybody I know asked me what's making me look so much better and I don't lose any time telling 'em "Orgatone", and I'm glad to tell you about it, so you can publish it and let other suffering people know what Orgatone has done for me."

COTTON SHOWS IRREGULARITY

OPENING TODAY HAS TWO-POINT MARGIN ON BOTH MARTS

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 17 (AP).—Although Liverpool came in about as expected the cotton market here had an irregular opening, first trades showing 1 point gain to 1 point loss. The market became slightly steady on good trade buying, but soon eased off on favorable weather, fears of heavy ginnings and a break in the stock market.

December broke through the 18 cent line to 17.96, January traded at 18.06 and March at 18.33, or 7 points below the previous close. At the end of the first hour, the market approached nearer to steady and was at 2 to 3 points above the lows on a renewal of trade buying.

The market continued to ease despite good trade buying. The easier tone appeared to be due partly to Wall Street selling on account of the break in stocks but mainly owing to favorable weather. December traded down to 17.90, January broke to the 18 cent line, while March traded as low as 18.27, or 13 points under yesterday's close on all active months. At noon the market was somewhat steadier, but practically at the lows.

DEMAND TAPERS OFF ON NEW YORK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP).—The cotton market opened steady at a decline of 1 point to an advance of 1 point. Orders seemed to be well divided between southern hedging and trade buying, but demand tapered off while the selling continued and by the end of the first half hour, active months were 3 to 7 points net lower with December selling at 18.06 and March at 18.46.

Early declines were checked by trade buying, covering and buying here against sales in Liverpool, but after the close of the English market prices sagged under continued southern selling and liquidation.

December declined to 18.05 and March to 18.44 with the market at midday ruling about 5 to 10 points net lower.

Directors also adopted a resolution to petition the State highway commission to route or locate State highway No. 1-A from Weatherford to Mineral Wells on the shortest and most practical route from an engineering and construction standpoint. The resolution pointed out that the relocation of the highway, as contemplated, would divert traffic from what is known as the north loop of the Bankhead highway to the detriment of all towns north of Highway No. 1-A. Adoption of the resolution followed a discussion as to status of the highway plans by Richard Dyess, former county judge of Shackleford county.

OIL BOOM RUSH

could find.

Van already has developed civic consciousness. Large signboards promise a postoffice, electricity and other conveniences.

Tanks In Readiness

The discovery well made slightly over 1,600 barrels in heads yesterday and oil men expect it to settle down to a consistent production of 1,500 barrels daily. Ten steel storage tanks already are in place, and workmen are pushing a second battery of ten to completion. Each tank holds one thousand barrels, and four were full last night. Tanks with a capacity of 30,000 more barrels were in transit. Five big companies hold leases on approximately 17,000 acres about the discovery well, and land within a radius of two miles of the well was said to be leasing for between $200 and $2,000 per acre.

One of the omens which convinced oil men a real boom was due was the appearance on the scene of H. L. Tucker, of Fort Worth, who made the Goldfield, Nev., rush and established Tuckerville near Mexia in 1922, best in the eagan county field in 1926, and Bosset in Upton county in 1927.

Dance Pavilion Going Up

Tucker and his associates have leased surface rights for one mile on either side of the highway leading to the well and are establishing Tucker Town. Last night lumber for a 60 by 60 foot dance pacilion was on the property, and Tucker was reported to have sold 21 subleases.
