AREA FIREMEN battled the clock Thursday afternoon in pumper and hose races held in connection with their semi-annual convention. Here, a Colorado City crew goes a frantic pace.

CHORALETTES STAR

CHS Group Performs Spring Music Concert

The award-winning Choralettes of Colorado High School will be the featured attraction Tuesday when the vocal music department presents its 17th annual spring concert.

The Choralettes have won four superior ratings in sight reading and concert in the past two years of University Interscholastic League competition. Girls Choir of Colorado Junior High will assist in Tuesday's program.

Concert time is 8 p.m. in the CHS auditorium under direction of Curtis Baker.

Proceeds from the concert go to send the CHS group to the Buccaneer Festival in Corpus Christi April 29-30.

This year's program varies in musical taste ranging from deeply religious hymns to the ultimate in "corn."

The performance of four hymns of the Church of the Latter Day Saints, following the style of the Mormon Tabernacle Choir, is to be one of the features.

In addition, the Choralettes sing "Adoramus Te" by Las so and a "Gloria" by Mozart.

Contemporary tunes slated for performance by the CHS group include "No Man Is An Island," "Bye Bye Blues," "Ferdinand, the Bull," "You and I," a calypso tune "Man Smart, Woman Smarter" and a medley of tunes from "The Fantasticks."

The Junior High Girls Choir is to sing such tunes as "Christus Factus Est" — performed in Latin, and spirituals like "When Jesus Wept," "Roll Jordan, Roll" and "Poof Man Lazarus."

Additional numbers will be "Three Round Frolics," "In the Good Old Summertime," "In the Shade of the Old Apple Tree" and "Good, Good, Good."

Activities for the spring meeting included election of officers and pumper and hose races.

New president of the organization is Leonard Keller of Snyder. He succeeds Charles Wood of Rotan.

Remainder of the new slate includes John Grothe, Albany, first vice president; G. W. Autry, Snyder, second vice president; Tom Watson, Haskell, secretary-treasurer; and Rev. Truman Bennett, Snyder, chaplain.

Haskell and Snyder teams walked away with top honors in the pumper and hose races.

Mitchell County commissioners voted Monday to hire an adult probation officer to work in the county.

The officer will be shared with Fisher and Nolan Counties and each is to pay a pro rata share of his salary.

County Judge Elmer Martin said the county's portion would be about $30 per month.

In other action the court approved the canvass of votes in the Westbrook school trustee election.

Treasurer's and auditor's reports for March were approved.

Discussion was made regarding possible county participation in financing a lighting system on the Interstate 29 bypass around Colorado City.

TO CELEBRATE

Friends Of Library Plan Coffee Times

By RUTH COFFEY

Women's Editor

Mitchell County Library patrons and all citizens of the county are invited to attend morning coffee hours in the library Monday through Saturday.

Coffee will be served between the hours of 9:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. each morning by courtesy of the Friends of the Library organization.

Mrs. Homer H. Paine is chairman of the coffee "break" feature of this county's celebration of National Library Week, April 17-23.

Hostess for Monday morning will be Mrs. Warren C. Tinsley. Tuesday coffee hour hostess will be Mrs. Frank W. Wilson. Mrs. O. L. Simpson will be in charge Wednesday morning.

As the library is closed every Thursday morning, there will be no open house on that day. Friday morning will have as hostess Mrs. Curtis Lattimer. Mrs. L. B. Gibson will serve the coffee, Saturday morning.

Mitchell County's official government, became solely responsible for the library last August. Until that time, the public library here had been operated as a split project with city government.

Friends of the Library, headed by Gwen Strange, have expressed the hope that all citizens interested in the library will stop by Mitchell County Library, corner of First St. and Elm St., visit, browse and have coffee on the lounge.

New building with 15 added features, added space and added services will be occupied sometime this summer.

Meantime more than 18,000 books are ready for a reader to choose in the library. Library patrons of all ages are welcome to come to the library party. Friends of the Library said.

In addition to the open house hours, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday, National Library Week will be observed here by special programs at the Lions Club, Kiwanis Club and the Jaycees.

Mrs. Don Guitler, Mrs. Rex T. McKenney and Mrs. Boyd Dozier, county librarian, will present brief reviews of their recent Governor's Conference on Libraries, which they attended in Austin.

BIBLICAL FLOWERS

Garden Club April Meet Features Easter Season

Colorado City Garden Club met Wednesday afternoon, April 13, in Community Center for their Easter season program with Mrs. Ruth Airhart as leader.

Mrs. A. H. Jackson discussed "Madonnas — How to Use in Design." In traditional flower arrangement, she told club members, "the focal point is the part of origin or convergence to which the eye is drawn. Generally, when a figure is used within the design it is placed at focus. Like a good container, a figure must be well designed. It must be an integral part of the arrangement in respect to color, scale, appropriateness and in-tangible feeling."

"Principles of design should be followed," Mrs. Jackson went on to say, "when a figure is used — balance, substance, form and color."

"In the home," she said, "a figure may be used with very little foliage or plant material. In a flower show, the schedule usually specifies which is to be featured, a figure or flowers."

Mrs. Jesse L. Jones had as subject for her lecture, "The Flowers of the Bible."

Mrs. Jones began her discussion with a description of the plants in ancient Egypt — the bullrushes, reeds, fruits, melons, grains, aloes, camphor trees, fig trees and the hyssop.

The speaker then introduced Mrs. John Brown who described "Canan, the Land of Promise, the Holy Land." Mrs. Brown gave short comments on balm, bitter herbs, spices, vine of Sodom, wormwood, the apple (doric) gall, "good ly fruit" (citron), lentils, mint, mustard, nettles, pistachio nuts, sweet corn (sugar cane) scarlet and grape.

Mrs. Ben Elliot continued the discussion with listing and describing the rose (narcissus) Rose of Sharon, fig, green hay tree, myrtle, oak, the olive, vines, millet, the clean det, the rose — water lily, crown of thorns, willow, cedar of Lebanon, cypress, fir and pine.

Mrs. Jones then resigned her lecture with "Hearts of Gold." Listing the land of origin for each named flower, she told club members, "the focal point is the part of origin or convergence to which the eye is drawn. Generally, when a figure is used within the design it is placed at focus. Like a good container, a figure must be well designed. It must be an integral part of the arrangement in respect to color, scale, appropriateness and in-tangible feeling."

CONVERSATION CORNER

SOMEbody is always trying to stir up something that will keep the long-alleged "battle between the sexes" going. This professor from Columbia University, a Dr. Eli Ginzberg, is quoted by Associated Press as saying "Most employers still prefer dumb men to smart women."

Well, who doesn't? Given a choice, I'll take a dumb man instead of a smart woman any old day and every time. This professor is recognized as a "man power expert."

He is all for doing away with what he prejudices against educated (smart) women so they can live a more balanced life.

Maybe the man ought to switch over to become a "Woman power expert."

IT SIMPLY is just not true that all us smart women want to live a more balanced life. Compete with dumb men. Or always be treated like a man.

Goodness gracious! There's nothing smart about that. A smart woman just wants to eat her cake and have it too. First thing she needs is some dumb man . . . in her life around the house . . . carrying out the trash . . . and bragging on her cooking.

Last thing a smart woman needs is some smart man trying to rearrange all her cozy little world.

What's the good of being a smart woman if you can't decide things for yourself? And also decide most things for some dumb man?

HE'S written a book, this Dr. Eli Ginzberg, called "Life Styles of Educated Women."

Now that's interesting. This book doesn't have anything to do with Styles as educated — or even illiterate — women usually think of them.

It's concerned with proving that married women working in a man's business world are not frustrated, not torn between the home and the job.

Heck. How does he know? Bet he's never gone home from work and cooked supper for company coming.

ONE THING he suggests will be looked on with favor. He thinks income tax laws should be changed to allow deductions for household help for working women.

ONE THING he suggests will be looked on with favor. He thinks income tax laws should be changed to allow deductions for household help for working women.

With the deadline for filing income tax forms already come and gone, methinks allowing for deductions is the smartest thing the professor has to say. More deductions are what this country needs.

Course carried to its logical conclusion, that would mean a smart woman could deduct for all laundry sent out to be washed while she works . . . for a new vacuum cleaner . . . and having the draperies dry-cleaned so she can relax properly after office hours.

Smart women approve . . . but feel reasonably sure it will not come to pass . . . not in this lifetime, anyhow.

EASTER ECHOES: Here from Irving for the holidays was Irene Norman, youngest of Mrs. J. D. Norman's three daughters. Irene, a CHS and McMurry grad, teaches in Irving.

Mary Alice Coles, baby daughter of Rebecca and Bob Price of Lubbock visited her maternal grandparents, Roy and Alice Coles, Easter weekend while the Prices and their two sons visited in Austin.

Linda Bodine, daughter of Florence and Homer Bodine, spent a whole week at home while her college, Lamar Tech at Beaumont, combined Spring and Easter holidays.

Ruth Grantland had her "Four J's," her son Jim, his wife Janelle and their little girls Jana and Jill for the holiday weekend. The family lives in Dallas.

SEEN LATELYS were Kaye Jarman Wallis, wife of Joe, their younger son Brooks and their perfectly beautiful baby girl, Kathy, here from Sweetwater.

With Kaye was Bennie Rogers, wife of the Rev. Neil Rogers, and two of their three sons, also living in Sweetwater now. He's a former Calvary Baptist pastor.

Saw, the same day, Loyce Price Ewald (Mrs. Arnold) of San Angelo here for the day to see her mother Mrs. R. P. Price.

Ava and Howard Hardesty were sharing a table at lunch . . . Ditto Elizabeth and Howard Cox . . . Mable and Rip Wallace . . . Luke and Lucy Thomas.

Five Tables At Duplicate Day Series

Lester Mannering and Mrs. Clay Smith.

Winding up in fourth place were Mrs. Charles Mann and Mrs. J. C. Richardson.

Games begin each Thursday at the club at 1:30 p.m. and the weekly duplicate series is open to all players.

Tea Marks Birthday Of Mrs. J.M. Byrd

WESTBROOK — Mrs. J. M. Byrd of Westbrook was honored in her home, Sunday, April 10, from two to five p.m. with a birthday tea.

Mrs. Byrd was 78 years old on April 7. Her children were hosts for the celebration.

Mrs. Doug Barber, niece of Mrs. Byrd, received the guests and directed them to the registry table that was decorated with a bouquet of spring flowers sent by a granddaughter, Miss Betty Byrd, who teaches school in Florida. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Cecil Byrd of Pecosville, Tex. The guests were a bit of the honor's oldest granddaughter, Mrs. J. R. Hall of Grand Prairie.

After the honoree greeted the guests, her twin daughters, Mrs. Loreta Bailey of Grand Prairie and Mrs. Venetta Fuquay of Hobbs, N. M. directed them to the refreshment table.

The table was covered with a sheet white lace-trimmed cloth over a pink centerpiece was a bouquet of pink roses, white candles and a cake made to represent a white Bible with the words "Happy Birthday Mother." Presiding at the table were Jerry Ann Hall, a granddaughter, and Mrs. Murphy Byrd, of Lubbock, who served punch and pink cake coconut sticks.

Guests were relatives and friends from Abilene, Lubbock, Hobbs, New Mexico, Lamesa, Big Spring, Colorado City and neighbors and friends of Westbrook.

Her eldest daughter, Mrs. Ardath Smith of Lubbock and her youngest son, Dr. Cecil Byrd and family were unable to attend the celebration.

Sixty-two guests called and signed the guest registry.
