

Ruling Clarified On Voting By Men in Service

Austin—Former members of the Armed Forces, the U. S. Maritime Service or the U. S. Merchant Marine who have seen active duty within the last 18 months are entitled to vote in the August 28 run-off primary without payment of the poll tax, according to a ruling by Attorney General John Ben Shepperd.

Shepperd said the waiver also applies to any person who is now on extended active duty as a member of any of the reserve components of the Armed Forces a selective service draftee, a member of the National Guard, the U. S. Maritime Service or the U. S. Merchant Marine.

The Texas Constitution prohibits members of the "regular" military establishments from voting.

Voters covered by Shepperd's ruling are not required to accompany their application for an absentee ballot by either a poll tax receipt or an exemption certificate, though the county clerk may require the voter to make a statement setting forth his military status.

Nearly 350 Exes Register For Fourth Annual Reunion August 7

Three hundred and thirty-nine exes, five teachers, and numerous other persons registered last Friday and Saturday, August 6 and 7, for the fourth annual Wellington Ex-Students reunion.

While the large number of exes to be at the reunion, renewed old acquaintances, voted to have a memorial service preceding the business meeting, and elected a board of directors, which were to choose from its membership, the officers and directors of the association.

Twelve directors were elected by the group. In a meeting of the directors Monday night, August 9, the group elected the officers for the association during the coming year. They are: Donald Curry, president; Denzil Bevers, vice-president; and Miss Bessie Rainer, secretary-treasurer. The directors drew for terms in office with one, two and three year terms given. Those drawing the one term tenure on the board were: Curry, Mack Saied, Jr., Mrs. Harold Watkins, and Miss Lennie Lou Coleman. Two year term holders are: Bevers, James Sullivan, John Holton. Miss Bessie Rainer Orval Couch, Mrs. Hubert Bowen, and Mrs. Rufus Sweat were selected at three-year members of the board of directors.

The group came out of the meeting with nothing conclusive as far as the next year's meeting is concerned. However, the group as a whole expressed a desire for more activity for the exes while they were here for the annual meeting.

Sandy Parsons, Jr., headed this year's association plans. He was assisted by Cliff Campbell, vice president, and Miss Rainer, who was secretary-treasurer for the Alumni.

The ex-students that attended were enthusiastic about the entire program and many are expected to return for next year's event.

More than a dozen states were represented in this annual gathering. Two exes—Mrs. Edward Tice of West Palm Beach, Florida, and Mrs. Othella Bledsoe of Napa, Calif., came 1800 miles to be with their respective classes, while others came from various sections of the nation.

The big-dorings began Friday night with the watermelon feast at Ellison Park with about 175 persons in attendance. They feasted on melons and visiting.

Saturday, the final day of the reunion, proved to be the biggest, both in registration and in visiting. Exes continued to come into the "House of Friendship." The morning hours were given over to visiting and looking at old pictures, annuals, and other material that was gathered for the display.

Five former teachers visited with their exes at the reunion. R. F. Curry, Wellington; Mrs. Olean Leggett, Clarendon; Misses Zeffie and Effie Childress, Muleshoe; and Mrs. John Thomas, Ralls. A short business meeting in the high school auditorium gave the group an opportunity to visit their school and to walk in its halls once again.

At 5:00 p.m., the exes dinner was served by the B&PW Club women in the Community Building. The classes of '14, '24, '34, '44, and '54 were honor guests and they were recognized. This plan of special recognition will be carried on as a yearly tradition.

on, a spokesman for the association said.

Class open house for the individual classes was held in various homes throughout town. A general open house for all ex-students was held at 8:00 p.m. in the Americal Legion hall.

The final event for the two-day meet was the alumni dance in the Community Building, which began at 9:00 p. m. Peck White, Rudy Burquist, and King Bowen furnished the music.

COLLINGSWORTH COUNTY CHECKERBOARD NEWS

BY CHARLES LITTLE JR.
Singley Mill & Elevator

Darrell and Foye Crooks of Quail are bragging about the production they are getting from their dairy cows.

They tell us that they are getting better than a five gallon average per cow from their 22 cows during this hot weather.

Darrell and Foye have been following the Purina Program for over 2 years and they tell us that they are really pleased with the results they are getting.

At the present time they are feeding one pound of Purina Milk Chow for every three pounds of milk.

should pay you back 3 or 4 times more than the cost of the feed. Try it on your next two cows and see.

Calves Grown Without Milk—Are Bigger, Better, Cheaper

Dairymen substituting Purina Nursing Chow for milk are enthusiastic about their results. During the first 30 days calves get Nursing Chow as a gruel and have Calf Startena free choice. After 30 more days no more Nursing Chow is fed, but Calf Startena is continued until D&F Chow at 4 months.

It costs only about half as much to raise calves on this plan as it does to raise 'em on milk. You get big, growthy calves, too.

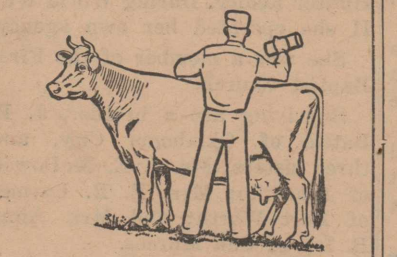

Athletes Build Up For A Big Contest

Ever hear of a top-notch boxer or runner who didn't build up for a big match with the right diet and exercise? Your cows that will calve in the spring need the right kind of diet, too.

First step is to dry them off two months before due to calve. This can be done by taking cows off silage and milking feed. Just feed hay for a few days. Stop milking and don't milk again for 7 days unless the udder shows painful swelling. A little pressure in the udder causes the system to "turn off the milk." At the end of seven days, milk out of bag (and your cow is dry).

Now put her back on good hay and a Purina dry cow feed. We have one to feed straight and one to mix with oats or barley. This special dry cow ration puts solid, milk-making flesh on the cow—builds her up so she can drop her calf easily and clean quickly—within a couple of hours usually. And this extra flesh will make more milk after freshening. The extra milk

HEALTH HINT

Dairy cows, beef cattle and hogs are likely to be bothered with lice this time of year. If you see 'em rubbing and scratching, look along the back and neck for these tiny blood-suckers. A can of Purina Insect Killer sprinkled and rubbed into the hair every few days for a couple of weeks should clear 'em up.

COME SEE OUR CHICKS. We just got 25 chicks and we're growing them under a heat lamp right in the store. And while there, tell us about any feeding or sanitation problems you may have. We've had a lot of training and experience in helping customers. Maybe we can be of service to you.

When we put fertility back in the land, when we add to the richness of the good soil that is our heritage, we are in very truth putting money in our own pockets. We are adding to the wealth of the community.
It is not easy to see the sum total of what is being done in the Salt Fork Soil Conservation District to rebuild our land, and the best way to get an overall picture is to go on the Soil Conservation tour. Then you can see how the soil saving measures of all our farmers add up.

Miss Kiker, Rev. Wyatt, Wed In Sunday Ceremony

Solemnity and dignity in keeping with the occasion marked the mid-summer wedding of Miss Veda Mae Kiker, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Kiker of Wellington, and the Rev. Kenneth Wyatt, the son of Mrs. V. H. Wyatt and the late Mr. Wyatt of Stephenville.

The ceremony was read Sunday afternoon, August 15, at three-thirty o'clock in the First Methodist Church. Officiating was the Rev. L. L. Hill of Canyon, a former pastor here.

A background of greenery extended across the chancel. Centering this was an archway, entwined with greenery and gladiola flowerlets, flanked by tall baskets of white gladiolus alternating with candelabra holding lighted cathedral tapers. The white satin kneeling bench was set before an open Bible. White satin bows marked the pews along the aisle by which the wedding party entered.

Miss Nancy Elliott, organist, included in her pre-nuptial concert "Clair de Lune," "Humoresque," "Indian Love Call," and "Because." She accompanied L. B. Bratten as he sang "Tell Me Why," "O Promise Me," and "The Wedding Prayer." The traditional wedding marches were used.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ice-green nylon tulle and chantilly lace. The moulded bodice was designed of tulle and lace, with motifs of applied iridescent sequins and pearls on the yoke and tiny lace collar. Bands of lace extended over the shoulders to form caplet sleeves. Tiers of pleated tulle over lace formed the full skirt, which extended into a chapel-length train.

Her fingertip veil of ice green bridal illusion fell from a coronet in-petal motif, fashioned of pearls and illusion. Her short white kid gloves were fastened with rhinestone buttons. She carried a Bride's Bible, covered with white lace over satin, edged in a ruffle of ice-green nylon tulle. From this fell white satin streamers, with pink rosebuds tied in the love knots. Also tied into the streamers was her mother's wedding ring, her traditional something old.

Miss Vinita Morrow of Lubbock, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor, while the bridesmaids were Miss Gaynell Clecker of Roscoe, Miss Betty Finley of Amarillo, Miss Ella Hill of Canyon, and Miss Ada Carole Thomas. Autumn colors were carried out in their dresses, with the honor attendant wearing beige nylon net and the others alternating in hunter green and toast nylon net. They were styled with broad tulle bands across the fitted taffeta bodice and bouffant waltz-length skirts. They wore matching mits, and head-dresses, and carried miniature umbrellas of matching nylon net edged in ruffles sprinkled with rhinestones. Sprays of yellow carnations decorated the umbrellas.

Two nieces of the bride, Glenda Ann Kiker and Cathy Mae Kiker, were the flower girls, wearing light green ruffled net dresses with full skirts, tiny peter pan collars and ruffled sleeves. They wore bands of flowers in their hair and carried white baskets tied with yellow bows, and scattered rosepetals.

Lighting the candles were John Duncan and Celia Ray Anderson who was dressed in a pale green nylon net dress and wore a bandeau of yellow carnations.

Gerald Wyatt of Temple was his brother's best man, while ushers were Melvin Kiker and James Glasscock of Wellington; Junior Crosby of Jonesboro; and Jeriel Watkins of Abilene, brother-in-law of the groom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Kiker chose a dress of oyster white raw silk, with touches of tangerine. This color was repeated in her accessories, and her corsage was of tangerine carnations. Mrs. Wyatt wore rose taffeta with blue accessories, and pink carnation corsage.

A reception in the church parlor followed the ceremony. Receiving the guests were Mrs. Kiker, the bride and groom, Mrs. Wyatt, and the bride's attendants.

Baskets of white gladiolus decorated the room. The bride's table was laid with a white linen cutwork cloth, and the umbrella's carried by the bride's maids, along with the Bride's Bible, formed the centerpiece.

After the couple had cut the first slice from the tiered wedding cake, Mrs. Deskins Wells served the guests. Mrs. Fred LeDerer presided at the crystal punch service.

Registering the guests was Miss Bette Elliott.

Assisting in the serving were Misses Sharon Bettis, Shirley Pritchard, Patsy Ann Patton, Helen Gardner, Gayle Young, Sandy Faulkner and Molly Denley.

As the couple left on their wedding trip to points in Colorado, the Mrs. Wyatt was wearing a suit of black cotton tweed, with black velvet trim and rhinestone touches. She complimented this with a black velvet hat, white kid gloves and other accessories of black.

Upon returning, the couple will establish their home at Bardwell, where the groom is pastor of the First Methodist Church, and the bride will be a member of the high school faculty.

The bride, who has spent her entire life here, graduated from Wellington high school in 1950 and received her bachelor of arts degree from McMurry College in June. One of its outstanding students, she was chosen Reservation Princess during her senior year, the highest honor the student body can give one of its members. She also was junior class favorite, president of Delta Beta Epsilon sorority, secretary of the Women's Social Club Council, and was Kiva Sweetheart. A speech major, she was active in college dramatics and received the award given the Federation of Women's Clubs to the outstanding speech student.

The Rev. Mr. Wyatt is a graduate of Stephenville high school and attended John Tarleton College, and received his bachelor of arts degree from McMurry this year. He was college cheer leader three years, vice president of the senior class and a member of Kiva, men's social club.

He served two years in the Navy. In September, he will enter Perkins School of Theology of Southern Methodist University, Dallas.

Colors of pink, blue and yellow were carried out in the decorations.

The children played, and later stories were told by Mrs. Harris and pictures were made.

Each child was given a small birthday cake with one candle. The large drum-birthday cake, holding six candles was used as the centerpiece. Ice cream was also served the youngsters.

Attending were Lee Burks, David O'Brien, Donnie White, Gary Patrick, Gary Miller, Jon Miller, Lynn Derryberry, Keith Derryberry, and the honor guest. Rehearsal Dinner Saturday Night

Mrs. O. A. Kiker was hostess at the rehearsal dinner Saturday evening, August 14, for members of the wedding party of their daughter, Miss Veda Mae Kiker and the Rev. Kenneth Wyatt.

The dinner was given in the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Kiker.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Jones Observe 60th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Jones of Wellington have attained a milestone few couples ever reach, their sixtieth wedding anniversary, and to observe this, they were honored with an open house in the home of a granddaughter, Mrs. R. L. Templeton, Sunday, August 15.

Other granddaughters, Mesdames Bill Morris and Bert Simpson of Sunray; A. F. Wischkaemper Jr. of Dozier; Jim Montgomery of Shamrock; Mae Thomas and Bobo Castleberry of Wellington, and Miss Joyce Shields of Dozier joined in hostess duties.

Mrs. Templeton received the guests, who included long-time friends and close associates. The afternoon was spent visiting and recalling with the honor guests events of their lives through many past years.

The serving table was laid with a chartreuse cloth and centered with the three-tiered white wedding cake, topped by a miniature bride and groom, and decorated with rose buds. Punch was served with the cake. Alternating in serving the guests were Mrs. Wischkaemper, Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Castleberry.

Arrangements of zennias decorated the entertaining rooms. Mr. and Mrs. Jones have lived in Collingsworth County since 1908, making their home for many years in the Dozier community and later at Lillie. In 1948, they retired from active farming and moved to Wellington.

George W. Jones is a native Texan, born in Bosque County March 23, 1872. As a child the family moved to Wise County, and he recalls stirring memories of those days. The nearest neighbor was nine miles away, he said, and once Indians came through the country and killed a family. Gainesville, their post office, was 50 miles by the route they had to travel.

His first school was a log building and the seats were split logs. When he was grown he went to another newer frontier, the Indian Territory around Marlow. "It was a restless country," he recalls, but a fine stock country. It was from there that he brought his family to Collingsworth County.

EDITORIAL COMMENT — THE WELLINGTON LEADER

Real Living Is In Friendly Small Town

Small-town America is still with us—it is, in fact, a very large part of these United States—and don't sell it short. There may be a lot of talk about going to the Big City and making a fortune—and it can be done, even today.

But real living is in the friendliness of the small city; the fresh air; the green parks and surrounding fields of wheat or oats; in the quiet evenings when the mourning doves coo, and the whip-poor-will calls.

The houses may be small, but they are homes—usually owned by the residents therein. The towers and spires of the skyline of New York are fantastically beautiful in the light of an autumn dawn—but the stone-walled caves people live in are cold and you never know your next door neighbor.

New York was a fabulous Arabian Nights dream the first time it was seen glittering at dusk, but on a second visit, something else was found—the lonely people scurrying like beetles through the columned canyons were underneath their strain and tension—just folks from home.

Sauntering around, looking for odd books, talking casually with startled people anywhere, and it was found that New York's jig-saw puzzle fell into place—it was just an over-grown Small-Town America—and its denizens were a little lost.

That's why many city people commute—they like to live in small towns—places cut to size.

Small-Town America? Why, that's just home.

Simple, isn't it?

Civil Defense Aids Small Cities

It's later than we think.

Q. What is all this talk about a civil defense program for Glendale? Doesn't that new city council know that an enemy wouldn't waste an atomic bomb on us?

A. An A or H-bomb possibly will never fall on Glendale. Presumably such an attack would be aimed at the great metropolitan areas and their critical industrial targets.

It's assumed that Los Angeles would make a suitable target. Undoubtedly none of the direct results of bomb bursts there would effect the Valley of the Sun. But think a minute about the route of retreat for Coastal residents in case of an air or sea attack.

Survivors would rust to inland communities. Many of the injured would be moved eastward to safer areas. A glance at a map will readily show an appropriate rendezvous for the great migration.

Located on highways 60 70, and 89, Glendale lies on an almost direct line east from Los Angeles. If an atomic or hydrogen attack were aimed at Southern California, thousands of people travelling in swarms of vehicles would pass through Glendale seeking safety and shelter. The problem of providing adequate food would immediately arise. Proper treatment of casualties would be necessary.

Would you know what to do in such an agonizing emergency?

With those probabilities in mind no one can honestly ignore the need for a local civil defense program. It won't be a simple task for Chris Hidalgo, a qualified and determined CD director, to effectively organize civil defense here. His greatest obstacle is the unwillingness of the public to realize the necessity of local preparedness.

It is dangerous to believe the U. S. is safe from enemy attack. Calm preparedness now is a small price to pay against the staggering risks of devastation and panic.

The example set by leaders and organizations of the community will encourage others to offer their aid in civil defense. Every individual in the area must be educated about his part. We must be ready to fight back if a crisis comes.

We Owe Much to St. Matthew

The Gospel by St. Matthew, the first in our New Testament, is distinctive in that it offers much that is lacking in the other three Gospels, and in the consolidated and well-arranged way in which it presents the teaching of Jesus.

It is doubtful, for instance that the passage that we call "The Sermon on the Mount," in Matthew was all delivered at one sitting, though St. Matthew opens it with Jesus going up to the mountain, and it closes it with Him coming down.

The same teachings in Luke's Gospel are in a different setting and are not all in one passage.

As presented by Matthew, the collected sayings of Jesus become a charter of Christian faith and practice, the constitution of the Kingdom which Jesus proclaimed. It is here that Matthew's Gospel excels, as Luke's excels in the Christmas Story and in the wonderful recordings of the Parables of Jesus.

Another distinctive and important contribution of the Gospel by Matthew is the chapter of "Woes." How distinctive this is, and how much Matthew records, unmentioned by other writers, may be seen by comparing it with similar passages in Luke. This is important, for it emphasizes an aspect of Jesus and His ministry that is widely disregarded or neglected.

We think of Jesus as the gentle Christ, illustrating His truth concerning God's grace and the love of man to man with the simple, wonderful tales that we call the Parables.

It is a profound mistake to believe that Jesus was only a teacher, preacher and Saviour, with a Gospel only for individuals. His whole Gospel was social. It struck at the deepest motives in social conduct and social welfare.

Looking Ahead With George S. Benson

THE THREE GREAT FACTORS

The American way of life rests upon three fundamental factors, three aspects of spiritual, political and economic life that are distinctly our own. These three American fundamentals are responsible for our freedom, our economic well-being, and our peace of mind. Of all the blessings which these three factors give the American people, however, personal freedom is the most priceless. Freedom has been the ambition of mankind throughout human history. We have the greatest degree of freedom that any people enjoyed.

The three great pillars in our American way of life are: (1) faith in God; (2) constitutional government; and (3) a private enterprise economy. Let's take them one by one and briefly examine how they fit into the fabric and the strength of our nation and way of life.

Factor No. 1

1. Faith in God. During all my years of educational crusading on the basic American principles, I have been restating this fundamental as the basis on which freedom is built. I've had perhaps a half-dozen letters from atheists protesting that faith in God is not a fundamental in the structure of American freedom. I have always said, in reply: men cannot really be free unless they are controlled from within, and the Christian religion is the most effective means of controlling people from within.

When our founding fathers came to America the desire for religious freedom was their great driving force. They were godly people. The first buildings erected as the Pilgrims worked their way gradually westward from Plymouth and Jamestown were crudely constructed church buildings. The people prayed to God for guidance and they placed their faith in God. Basic principles growing out of this great faith were written into every governmental document which went into the formation of our United States of America. The political structure gave people the right to be atheists, if they chose, but the structure itself was built on faith in God and upon Christian principles.

Factor No. 2

2. Constitutional government. This is the second great fundamental factor in the American way of life. Our founding fathers did not use one time the word "democracy" in either the Constitution or the Bill of Rights. They were building something far better, a Constitutional Republic. The Constitution guarantees certain rights for all people, minorities or majorities. They all have the same rights in America.

Under a democracy the majority decides each issue and the minorities may find themselves terribly neglected, ignored or steam-rollered. When the guillotine was taking heads off hundreds and hundreds of people in Europe, many innocent people were victims. Why? There was no constitutional safeguard, no Constitution giving a lone citizen the right to challenge his government. The majority was in control. When someone in the majority said, "Off with his head," off it came. In our country one man standing on his constitutional rights can challenge his government, even sue it. Minority protection is not a principle of "democracy" but of a constitutional Republic.

Factor No. 3

3. Private enterprise economy there are two distinct types of economic systems which people may have. One is a government-owned economy, and the other is an economy owned by private individuals. There might be a combination of the two for a short time but a combination could not last long. Ultimately the government must own the property, the factories, the farms, the businesses, and the homes; or he private citizens must own these things.

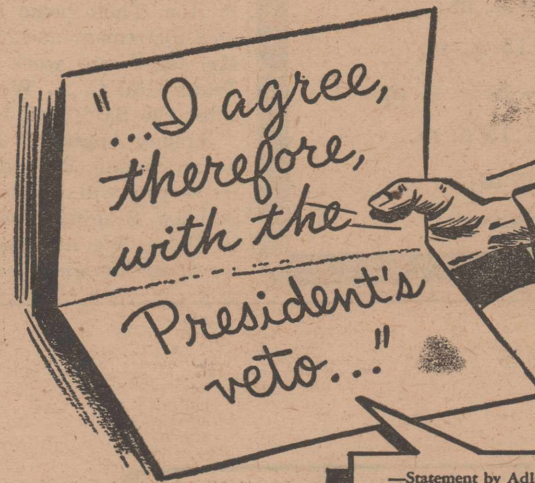

As a result of our private ownership in a free market, we have dreamers who invent and develop, we have producers who astonish the world; and we have the greatest outpouring of material wealth the world has ever seen—and most important, its distribution through the whole population is the most equitable yet attained in any country.

In a world of chaos, Americans must strengthen these three great factors in our way of life through understanding, dedication and hard work.

IF YOU WERE GOVERNOR OF TEXAS WHAT WOULD YOU HAVE DONE?

—Statement by Adlai Stevenson, (Aug. 19, 1952) upholding Truman's veto of the tidelands bill, handed to Governor Shivers at Springfield, Ill.

- IF ... You considered the future and welfare of TEXAS the most important part of your public career, and
- IF ... You knew that the future of TEXAS was vested in the education and training of TEXAS youth, and
- IF ... You knew that the loss of Texas tidelands would mean depriving TEXAS school children of $32,000,000 annually in educational funds, and
- IF ... The democratic convention in session at Amarillo in September, 1952, INSTRUCTED you to do all within your power to RETAIN THE TIDELANDS FOR TEXAS and protect this income for TEXAS SCHOOL CHILDREN, and

FINALLY ... IF ... WITH THIS IN MIND, YOU SAT FACE TO FACE WITH ONE OF THE PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES

AND ASKED HIM IF HE WOULD SUPPORT TEXAS IN ITS RIGHTFUL FIGHT TO RETAIN THE TIDELANDS FOR TEXAS — FOR THE SCHOOL CHILDREN — AND THE ANSWER WAS NO — VERIFIED BY LETTER!

THEN, I ASK YOU ... WOULD'N'T YOU, HONESTLY, PUT TEXAS AND TEXAS SCHOOL CHILDREN FIRST?

OTHERS WHO PREFER THE TEXAS WAY OF LIFE? I HAD TEXAS IN MY HEART! SO ... THAT'S EXACTLY WHAT I DID !!!

WOULDN'T YOU HAVE REMAINED A TRUE TEXAS DEMOCRAT ALONG WITH MILLIONS OF

WON'T YOU HELP ME SAVE TEXAS FOR TEXANS?

PHILLIPS PETROLEUM COMPANY

Buick's biggest hit brings you a 3-way bonus

1. You get the car that's in step with tomorrow
2. You get the car that's a sure high resale value
3. You get a bigger allowance from our volume business

From stem to stern, Buick today is styled a year ahead—with long, low glamor lines, with the very look of tomorrow, and with that broad panoramic windshield that many other cars won't have till 1955. Equally important, you get in Buick advanced V8 power, big room, luxurious comfort, the famed Million Dollar Ride—and all for prices that start just a few dollars above those of the so-called "low-price three." Is it any wonder, then, that Buick today is outselling all other cars in America except two of these "low-price three"?

Buicks have always had a high trade-in value. But the 1954 Buick has an extra advantage in its year-ahead styling. That means your Buick will stay well up in the style parade for years to come—will stay fresh and new-looking well into the future. So you're bound to be way ahead in actual dollars when trade-in time comes.

Come see for yourself why—

Every month's sales figures this year have firmed this fact: Buick sales are soaring; Buick is outselling all other cars in the nation, regardless of price range, except two of the "low-price three." So with this tremendous volume, we can—and do—offer higher trade-in allowances. Come in, see and drive a new Buick—then check for yourself that our volume business really does mean a far bigger allowance for you.

Aims of School Set Forth

All Parents to Receive Letters from Goodloe

The parents of all children due to enroll in the Wellington schools this year are receiving a letter from Bennett Goodloe, who is beginning his first year as superintendent of the local system, asking their co-operation.

In order that those who do not have children in school may know the aims of the system for the coming year, Mr. Goodloe is making the contents of the letter public.

Patrons of The Wellington Independent School District, Wellington, Texas

Dear Patrons:

You are sending us your child for another period of his training for citizenship and life. We are happy to be associated with you in his training.

Your teachers, as always, will place emphasis on the so-called three R's—reading, writing, and arithmetic, but they will place equal emphasis on history, English, spelling, health habits, character building and all the other things calculated to make happy, useful, successful citizens.

Please feel free to visit your school and work with your teachers and principals. You are an indispensable part of the team.

May this be a happy, successful year for all of us—Children, Teachers, Parents, School Board, and Community—in the training of your child. Together we are building the future of our community and America.

Sincerely yours,
Bennett Goodloe,
Superintendent.

NOTICE TO OUR CUSTOMERS

Our custom in the past has been to leave our front doors unlocked for some time after our regular Closing hour for the convenience of those who come in late. This practice has always been objectionable to the banking departments. And, due to the increase of daylight holdups of banks in near by towns, we have concluded that it is to the best interest of everyone that we lock our doors at three o'clock P. M. as is the custom of other banks in this area. Your cooperation will be appreciated.

Machinery Is The Backbone Of The Big Business Of Farming!

That is why machinery dealers are anxious to join with individual farmers and the soil conservation districts in promoting soil conservation.

No longer is it land alone that counts, although it is still the most essential element of agriculture and of life itself.

To see the valuable contribution that farm machinery is making to soil conservation and to the production of our crops, this firm urges you to go on the Soil Conservation Tour Thursday, August 19.

It is a good way to see what is being done in Collingsworth.

Visit The Farm Machinery Show

Before you leave on the Soil Tour, visit the machinery show on the court house square. We urge you to pay special attention to the equipment we will have on display. You will then realize why so many farmers pick our implements when they get ready to invest.
