AIDING KIDDIES ACROSS STREET IS THEIR DUTY

Boys Clothed With Full Police Power by Department

HODGINS DRILLS THEM

Youthful Patrolmen Will Be On Duty at Various City Schools

Wichita Falls youths, 25 of them, were formally enlisted in the cause of better traffic conditions in Wichita Falls Wednesday afternoon when the oath of office of the traffic "cop" was administered them by desk sergeant C. B. McConnell at the city hall. The boys, all members of the Boy Scout organization will be initiated into their duties today by the principals of the schools which they attend.

The boys will all be provided with stop signs which the police have ordered must be obeyed by Wichita Falls motorists. It will be their province, it is stated, to see that school children and others are assisted in crossing dangerous corners and otherwise aiding in the solution of traffic problems around schools of the city.

The oath of office for the "junior traffic squad" was administered the boys by Desk Sergeant McConnell in the presence of Scoutmaster Frank B. Creighton, Lester Jones, chairman of the Civic Service committee, and Leon Horn, representative of the Safety Council.

A meeting at the First Christian church at which their duties were outlined by Police Chief George Hodgins and others preceded the formal taking of the oath. Schools represented by the 23 youngsters are San Jacinto, Fannin, Alamo and Sam Houston.

Capital Punishment Justified Only as Example

AUSTIN, April 7.—(AP)—Capital punishment is only justified in the example, Shelby Cox of Dallas, district attorney, said here today. Cox has sent more men to the electric chair than all other district attorneys in Texas.

Cox said that electrocution was ineffective as an example, and that capital punishment could be justified only when the guilty person is hanged at high noon in the community in which he committed the crime.

$3,600,000,000 REPUTED SPENT WITH 'LEGGERS

N. Y. District Attorney Startles Probers With Figures

IS ILLEGAL ALCOHOL

Withdrawals, 'Cut,' Furnish Enormous Supply Of Contraband

WASHINGTON, April 7—(AP)—Diversion of industrial alcohol alone furnishes an announced illicit liquor traffic in this country totaling $3,600,000,000 in sales, Emory R. Buckner, United States district attorney at New York City estimated today before the senate committee inquiring into conditions under statutory prohibition.

This estimate startled the committee and brought a gasp from the crowd which packed the hearing room on the third day of the inquiry arranged to give modificationists an opportunity to develop their case this week with drys alloted next week to present their arguments.

But Mr. Buckner did not stop there, adding $15,000,000 to the total as the value of the "cut" whiskey which "bootleg druggists" in New York City alone put on the market.

The district attorney arrived at this estimate by figuring a total diversion of indusrital alcohol to the bootleg trade at 60,000,000 gallons a year. Bootleggers "cut" this three ways, he explained, producing a total of 720,000,000 quarts of illicit liquor.

Jim Reed Knows.

"Placing the price at $5 a quart—that is conservative—this makes a total of $3,600,000,000," he said.

"We pay $10 a quart out in my country," remarked Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, the one avowed wet on the committee of five.

"You ought to know," interjected

Steaks, Like Gin, Soon To Be Made Synthetically, Chemist Tells Convention

Beef at Five Cents Per Pound Not an Idle Dream, New York Expert Declares

TULSA, Okla., April 7.—(AP)—Relations of chemistry in cooking were discussed at symposiums of the American Chemical society in annual convention here today.

Dr. David Wesson of New York, chemical director of the Southwest Cotton Oil company, presiding over one group of the society, read fourteen papers on the possibilities of cotton and its products.

Synthetic beef steaks and hash produced at a nominal cost from cotton seed meal were visualized by Dr. Wessen. Although neglected during the years of development which have brought cotton seed oil and its products to their present high state of perfection, Dr. Wesson believes the time is near when the meal will become as valuable a food product as the oil.

"Analysis of cotton seed indicates the presence of considerable protein, so that it is possible after removing the oil and other products to obtain a substance containing about 55 per cent protein," Dr. Wesson declared. "This would make a good meat substitution and with cotton seed meal costing $50 a ton and carry 50 per cent of protein we can get 1,000 pounds of protein for $50 or at a cost of five cents per pound."

Speaking before another group of the society, E. F. Kohman, of Washington, D. C., chemist for the national canners, discounted the generally accepted belief that cooking destroys vitamins in foods.

Experiments have shown that vitamins in fats are destroyed by oxidation when they are directly exposed to air in shallow layers while being heated, Kohman said, but it was his belief that the vitamin content of food is not impaired by ordinary handling.

50 SURFACE RESERVOIRS THREATENED

Flames Consume More Than 3,750,000 Barrels Of Oil

FIGHT INEFFECTUAL

Workmen Strive to Protect Pump House And Reserve Supply

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif, April 7.—(AP)—A force of 400 men, a steam shovel and a corps of trucks and other equipment battled in a torrid heat tonight against the flames which fed on four and possibly five huge oil reservoirs of the Union Oil tank farm near here.

The fire is described as the worst in the histor yof the petroeum industry.

Between 3,500,000 and 4,250,000 barrels of refining oil are ignited, the officers of the Union Oil company reporting four reservoirs had been reached by the blaze.

The loss is estimated in excess of $10,000,000.

Others Threatened.

The first reservoir number five, with a capacity of 750,000 barrels was struck by lightning at 7:30 this morning. The flames spread in turn to reservoirs numbers six, three and seven, with combined capacity of almost 3,000,000 barrels. The fifth reservoir, said b ythe sheriff's office to be fired, has a capacity of 750,000 barrels. A sixth reservoir is in the group but has not yet been reached by the fire. There are also 50 surface tanks in the field and the fight is centered on keeping these from being ignited.

A feverish attempt is being made to build up a high dike of steel and earth to protect the pump house in order that a part of the oil may be salvaged by pumping it to tank steamers. The first of these which have been ordered a Standard Oil company ship, is now off shore but unable to come in because of high winds. The second tanker will reach here tomorrow morning, according to company officials.

Crisis to Come.

The fight against the flames is being conducted under the handicap of the tremendous heat, men being unable to come within 500 feet of the fire. At this distance they are throwing up a circle of earth as a huge dyke.

The crisis in the fire fight will come when the flames eat down to the water carried in the crude oil. Steam then generated will cause the tanks to boil over and the effectiveness of the dyke will be given its test. This may occur at any time, according to men in charge of the battle against the blaze.

Town is Deserted

The flames from the burning oil shot up in blasts 200 and 300 feet while the clouds of smoke were carried for miles by the wind.

A dead line for spectators was formed at the highway a quarter of a mile from the tank farm. Here hundreds of automobiles were parked. A steady stream of sightseers were on the highway from distant towns attracted by the sight of the blazing oil.

The tank farm is located a mile and a half south of here and the city was rocked as the explosion which marked the firing of the first tank this morning. Windows in several houses were broken by the shock.

The village of Edna, near the tank farm, was abandoned tonight, serving only as a base for the first fighting crews. Those fighting the disastrous fire said that if oil should boil over the improvised dykes the community would be wiped out.

ITALY'S CHIEF ESCAPES DEATH

Mussolini Shot by Woman, But Wounds Not Serious

ROME, April 7.—(AP)—Benito Mussolini strong man of Italy, was near to death today. He had just emerged from the congress of surgeons and had raised his arm in salute to the plaudits of the multitude, when a woman pressed a revolver into his face and fired.

At that very moment, Mussolini, as is his habit, threw back his head; the bullet passed through his nostrils and with a quick step backward, the fascist premier put his hand to his face and drew it away covered with blood.

His assailant, believed to be an Irish woman, the Honorable Violet Albina Gibson, the fifty-year-old sister of Baron Ashborne, a resident of Compiegne, France, was seized by a carabineer and dragged to a place of safety, for in an instant the thousands who had gathered to acclaim the premier were in a frenzy of excitement and rage.

With Mussolini at the time were Professor Roberto Alessandri, and the noted surgeon, Raffaele Bastianelli, and they hastened to his aid.

It was Bastianelli who dressed the wound and later he issued a statement saying:

"The premier was wounded by a firearm. The bullet perforating both nostrils, but without grave results."

Nothwithstanding his injury, Mussolini desired to enter his automobile but he was induced to return to the capitol. He was perfectly tranquil, seemingly not thinking of himself.

Slayer Is Sought In San Antonio

A "floater" who was arrested for investigation early Wednesday morning confessed to having deserted from the army once, then to enlisting again under a false name after he had been dishonorably discharged in order to gain favor and secure a lighter sentence, he told officers he could lead them to the man, who, he claims, shot two Kansas policemen and is now a fugitive from justice.

BONDS OF TEXAS SAFE, NOW SAY

Head of Lodge Declares Organization Has no Fear For Securities

SAN ANTONIO, April 7.—(AP)—No fears are felt for the more than $1,000,000 invested by the Woodmen of the World in Texas road district bonds, recently declared invalid by a decision of the United States supreme court, W. A. Frazer, supreme commander of the order, declared today on his arrival here from Mexico city.

"We have every confidence in Texas, despite the ruling and feel sure that developments to come will cause a reversal of the legal invalidation of the bonds," Frazer said. "This seems to have started from political manipulations in Jasper county, in which case we believe the ruling to be just, but can not agree as to other counties in the state."

Frazer said this order has approximately $190,000 invested in Jasper county bonds, and that other bonds from that county had been bought since the decision.

The Woodmen have $18,550,000 invested in Texas bonds, including road, court house, school, city hall and other similar bonds, Frazer said, indicating that the major portion of the investments of the order are in Texas.

CURB DRY OFFICERS.

Actual Purchase Must Be Made Before Warrant Can Be Issued.

SAN ANTONIO, April 7.—(AP)—Evidence seized by federal officers under the internal revenue act cannot be used to prosecute a defendant under the national prohibition act, Federal District Judge Duval West ruled today. N. A. Baker, local enforcement officer, described the decision as one of the most significant made since enactment of the eighteenth amendment.

To get a search warrant under the internal revenue act, it is only necessary for the officer to allege a suspicion that seems to warrant the belief liquor is being made or dispensed in a private home. The Volstead act requires that an actual purchase be made by the complaining officer.

Maskat Chanters Show Wichitans What It Is That Makes Them Great

Maskat Temple's Shrine chanters, musicians par excellence, sang themselves deeper into the hearts of Wichita Falls music lovers Wednesday night when at the Junior college auditorium they presented one of the most pleasing concerts heard here in years. It was a sample of the work that has made them known throughout the land, and it amply demonstrated to a big crowd the fact that the chanters, who returned not so long ago from making several records in the Brunswick company's New York studios, have attained the polish and bearing of a male quartet of the first rank.

A feature of last night's concert was the auctioning off of the first two sets of Chanters' records to be released to the public. W. D. Cline bought the first set, paying $100, while Mayor R. E. Shepherd, also potentate of of Maskat Temple, got the second set at a price of $25. Mr. Cline, incidentally, made a brief address to the crowd, explaining the purpose of the record making and telling how proceeds from the record sale will go to Masonic institutions maintained for the relief of sickness and suffering. Mr. Cline also, speaking in behalf of Paul Von Allman, baritone and director of the quartet, presented the other members with a belt as token of their director's appreciation for their work.

As for the music, R. Vaughn Ray, Ivan Murchison, Grover Bullington and Mr. Von Allman never sang better. Nor did J. S. Pittman ever play with more effect. It was a joy and a delight with melody and harmony in unquestioned degree predominating. "Let the Rest of the World End Tomorrow," Earnest R. Ball's latest work which has not yet been released but which promises to be one of the big hits of the year, was an instant favorite. It was sung as a tenor solo by Mr. Ray with the quartet giving an obligato accompaniment that can be described only as beautiful. All their numbers were for that matter, though.

Between times, records made by the quartet were played on a Brunswick Panatrope furnished by the Phonograph Shop. The audience thus enjoyed the rare privilege of listening to a phonograph record and then hearing the artists who made it sing the same thing in person.

Miss Adelle Ray, assisted by the quartet, gave one of the evening's hits when she sang "No Man's Mamma."

Things to Know Before Baby Comes

THE expectant mother's comfort and well being is very important. And one of the most important things for her to do is to use Mother's Friend to keep the skin and muscles soft and pliable—thus aiding the tissues and muscles to relax and adjust themselves to the changes during motherhood. Mother's Friend is the formula of an eminent physician and has been used by expectant mothers for over three generations. No woman awaiting the joy of motherhood should allow the days to pass without using Mother's Friend.

Mrs. Laura Hendrix, Grassmont, Okla., writes: "I used Mother's Friend with all my babies and I think it is the grandest help that has ever been discovered for expectant mothers. I can't say too much for it."

Mother's Friend is safe for you to use because it contains no harmful drugs and is applied externally.

Mother! Insist on Mother's Friend—the same as used by our mothers and grandmothers—don't wait—start using tonight—and meanwhile write Bradfield Regulator Co., Dept. 31, Atlanta, Ga., for free valuable booklet "Motherhood and the Coming Baby" (sent in plain envelope). It tells how Mother's Friend can help you during expectancy and at childbirth. This booklet also tells you many other things you want to know. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all druggists—everywhere.

PLANES DUE ON GOOD WILL TOUR

Three to Arrive Today As Emissaries From Laredo

Three airplanes, representing the city of Laredo's newest trade trip venture, with a goal of ten states and 75 American cities ahead of them during the next four months, will arrive in Wichita Falls late today for a stay of three or four days to a week, it was announced Wednesday night. E. J. Burns, owner of the ships, arrived in Wichita Falls Wednesday night from Taylor where the three had been forced to alight because of a strong north wind. It was believed, however, that they would be able to continue today, and would reach here some time this afternoon.

The three planes represent a venture new and, so far as is known, unique in the trade trip idea. They left Laredo on April 1, following an elaborate ceremony participated in by prominent Laredo and Mexican officials, stopping first at Austin, and going from there to Taylor. They carry with them considerable literature advertising Laredo and the Rio Grande valley.

The three planes are rather extensively decorated with maps, pictures, etc., illustrative of the valley. They will remain in Wichita Falls several days, during that time carrying passengers over the city at a "dollar a ride" rate.

Mr. Burns was in the city several months ago with three similar planes, at that time taking by actual count some 900 Wichitans for their first ride over the city.

BOOTLEGGERS

Chairman Means as the crowd roared.

"I do," shot back Senator Reed and another shout went up.

Called as a witness by the wets, who continued the presentation of their case at both morning and night sessions, Mr. Buckner pictured an improvement in enforcement conditions. He paid tribute to Assistant Secretary Andrews, of the treasury, who had charge of prohibition enforcement declaring:

"General Andrews is the best thing that ever happened for prohibition."

Alcohol diversion has decreased, he said, since Andrews "took that situation by the threat," last September. Taking the alcohol distilleries around New York alone he estimated that General Andrews "alcohol squad had reduced diversions to the point where the bootleg traffic had been lessened in the sum total of $216,000,000 in potential sales.

Some To Canada.

The district attorney disclosed that bootleg alcohol from this country finds its way into Canada.

"The dry United States is exporting bootleg industrial alcohol into Canada," he said, "to help the Canadian bootleggers beat the Canadian government out of taxes."

Getting back to his own district, Mr. Buckner told of improvement there since he took office 13 months ago. He declared that at that time he found the federal building "a seething mass" of "fixers," bootleggers, waiters and others arrested on charges of law violations.

Federal judges told him, he added, that the "very atmosphere of the building breathed of collusion" and he also had information that jury fixing went on within the federal building itself.

Arrests for petty offenses against the prohibition law totaled about 50,000 a year, he said adding that the New York City police commissioner had told him that he received 180,000 complaints a year, directed mostly against "speak easies" and that of course he had to act upon them.

Withdrawals Heavy.

District Attorney Buckner disclosed that an investigation of the drug stores in New York showed that they drew out of bonded warehouses twice as much liquor as the physicians of New York could prescribe on the legitimate prescription blanks issued to them at the rate of 100 every three months.

Assuming that the druggists sold the pure stuff, he estimated total possible legal sales on prescriptions at 240,000 gallons a year and said the records showed withdrawals of 480,000 gallons by the 1,500 drug stores in Greater New York licensed to dispense whiskey.

"Best of The Year" Means Really That On Stage At Majestic This Week

A bill that runs the whole gamut of vaudeville—music, dancing, comedy, color and all the rest is on the Majestic stage this week as one of the best offerings of the year. The sterotyped phrase, "best of the year" is used advisedly, for notwithstanding the excellent attractions the Majestic has offered in the past, the present number probably exceeds them all in balance and uniform quality.

Take, for example, the opener. The Gaudsmith Brothers with their two tearfully clipped clown dogs came closer to sheer buffoonery than any other one of the five numbers, but their's was a new and unusual kind of comedy. Comic acrobatics, some well-arranged chatter and in the end a torrid battle with a big blue toy balloon gave them a wildly hilarious 15 minutes before the footlights.

Lookit The Wops.

Then came Freda and Palace, two musically inclined wops with a choice array of Romanesque lingo expressive arms and hands and two unusually fine voices. The smaller of the two twinkled a big mandolin with excellent effect, while this as an accompaniment to the baritone and tenor duets they sang kept the crowd on edge.

Florrie Lavere is about the best dancer the Majestic has brought in many moons. With it, she has a personality and a fairly capable vaudeville voice that make her, perhaps, the prime favorite of the evening. Assisted by Lou Hardeman at the piano and an unnamed but petite and able dancing partner she gave a skit "Celebrities" in which great and near great of the stage and screen were mimmicked to perfection. Her's was a merry malange of music, dance and color in which gorgeous costumes were shown to advantage against equally gorgeous scenery.

He Got His.

When they made India rubber voices, Emmet Guilfoyle got his. And when they made lyric soprano voices, Elsie Lang got hers. The former is a vaudevillian from the soles of his shoes to the top of his head, and his indefatiguable tenor vocal chords roared out an amazing volume of sound at the theatre last night. If he wanted to he could sing, but for the most part he carried on an unending chatter of foolishness, while his partner, a regal beauty in royal array carried on some really excellent music.

To wind up, the bill offers the three Meyakos, a trio of Japanese whose "From Cherryland to Broadway" was an unusual offering of music and dance. Two girls and a boy comprise this capable company which can give violin, mandolin and steel guitar ensembles; violin or ukelele solos; or do the Charleston with equal facility. It is a colorful presentation that Wednesday night accomplished what few closing acts can do—keep the crowd glued to its seat until the final curtain.

ONE YEAR AGO TODAY
April 8, 1925

Mrs. W. P. Davis dies.

Mrs. W. F. Mullens, defense witness in the trial of Frank Collier indicted for perjury.

THE BATTLE'S ON

THE principal cat in the wet-and-dry hippodrome of 1926 has begun. The anti-Volstead forces are making their grand wet gesture. The joint debate concerning prohibition—which has been raging in these United States for a generation—will center in Washington for the next two weeks.

For nearly two years the enemies of prohibition have sought a hearing. This will start today. For six days the wets will attack the law and for six days more the drys will defend it.

This hearing is a culmination of a long campaign made in and out of Congress. This has included demands for state and national referendums, the introduction of numerous bills to weaken or repeal the prohibition laws and steady oratorical drumfire against the whole policy of enforcement. Not more than a half dozen states are pushing this fight against prohibition. They have been powerful enough, however, to persuade the Senate to open the doors to this debate.

A subcommittee of the Senate judiciary committee is conducing the hearing. It is composed of four senators: Means, of Colorado; Harreld, of Oklahoma; Goff, of West Virginia, and Walsh, of Montana—all listed as dry or "bone-dry." It includes one avowed wet—Senator Reed, of Missiouri. The full committee for which these five will act is made up of thirteen drys and three wets.

This make-up of the committee indicates that it will do nothing other than take testimony. Regardless of the two weeks' debate, it will hardly support any of the repeal or modification measures now before it. If it refuses to do so, the committee may feel certain that a dry Senate will not take these measures away from it and bring them out upon the floor.

The subcommittee is overwhelmingly dry, the judiciary committee is as dry as its subcommittee, and the Senate itself and the House likewise also are dry. There is not one chance in ten that the joint wet-and-dry debate now starting will influence the Sixty-ninth Congress toward weakening or crippling the present enforcement laws.

There is a possibility that the hearing will clarify public opinion, but this is rather remote. It is more likely to resolve itself into a bitter debate, in which each side will devote itself to blackening the face of the other.

The slogan of the wets is, "Prohibition has failed." That of the drys is, "Prohibition is an economic and moral blessing." One will talk of "personal liberty." The other will talk of "liberty under the law."

Tempers will be lost. Reckless statements will be made. Cross-examiners will cross-examine. The testimony will be arguments rather than evidence. So long as the hearings last, and for weeks thereafter, partisans of both sides will pour forth streams of propaganda.

Whether or not the inquiry will serve any useful purpose is doubtful. Prohibition is in the Constitution. The only way to get it out is strike out the Eighteenth Amendment. This cannot be done by a vote in Congress or by a referendum. It was put there by the vote of two-thirds of the states, and that is the only way it can be taken out.

The Senate hearing is an empty gesture. As a platform for propaganda, it has its uses for the wets, but it is not expected to get anywhere in Congress. The attacks made by the wets will be determined and they may be reckless, but that is all.

NOTHING NEW

FULL many an investigation has been made of the Philippines. Joint congressional committees, official commissions and official one-man commissions have crossed the Pacific on sundry occasions. Certainly the joint congressional committee to go to the islands and study conditions there which Senator Pat Harrison proposes would be no new thing for the Philippines. Not so very long ago a congressional junket wended its way to Manila and wandered up and down and around through the archipelago. Before Senator Harrison gets his joint junket for 1926 some genuine reason for this sightseeing tour should be offered. The President is sending Carmi Thompson, of Ohio, out to the islands to make a survey. Does Senator Harrison expect to put a joint congressional committee on the trail of every emissary from the White House who may go forth to gather information for the President? Or does he merely hope to make a little trouble?

A SHOWDOWN ABOUT DUE

DEVELOPMENTS seem to be shaping to bring the Philippines to the center of the American stage in the near future. The agitation of the Filipino politicos for independence seems recently to have passed beyond the stage of mere bluff. The Washington administration has been forced to consider the necessity of reducing the power of the native government and strengthening the hand of the American governor general. Economics and business enter the picture as the prospects of rubber cultivation are studied. The situation appears to be approaching some sort of showdown.

Now President Coolidge has decided to send to the islands Carmi A. Thompson to make a survey of economic and other internal conditions there. The rumor in Washington is that Governor General Wood is desirous of resigning and that Mr. Thompson is slated to succeed him. However this may be, the increased interest and concern of Washington in Philippine affairs are clearly indicated.

The course of American policy seems plain. The Filipinos are not prepared for independence. Giving them more political power, with a corresponding limitation on that of the governor general, has proved abortive and injurious. A change of method is necessary.

But even a suggestion of such a change has solidified anti-American sentiment among the natives and strengthened the move for independence. This is an element of importance which must be faced by Washington. Soon or late, the situation will come to a head. As events have fallen out, it will probably be soon.

TO CHANGE AGAIN

THE capital of China is about to change hands as a culmination of the most recent civil war in those parts. Thereupon there will come a change in government. Battles have been fought, property destroyed, the lives of foreigners endangered, international relations complicated, to effect the triumph of one party over another, a thing accomplished in most civilized countries by a more or less peaceful election. This is China's way. It seems as though it would be impossible to carry on relations with such a nation; and the difficulties are, of course, enormous. But the fact remains that, in the midst of all this disorder and disturbance, an international conference has been in session. It has worked since last October on the tariff-revision question and is about to bring its labors to a close. The United States has been principally responsible for keeping the conference together and forcing effective action. When the time comes for weighing what has been done by this conference, the part played by America will undoubtedly be placed among diplomatic achievements of the first order.

ANOTHER ONE

Also you can be suspicious of the erudition who thinks that Mr. Browning's Pippa was a football player.

REVERSAL

It used to be said that some whiskey was better than other whiskey. Now worse is the word.

GOOD BEGINNING

A Texas school teacher saved 300 children from a tornado. Now if she will just save them from going to school for the rest of the term she will have their undying gratitude.

HONOR WHERE HONOR IS DUE

THEY have honored Dr. Crawford Long, discoverer of the anesthetic use of either, by unveiling a marble statue in the Hall of Fame at the Capitol in Washington. This medical graduate of the University of Pennsylvania deserves to rank with the foremost benefactors. Before he made history by extracting a tumor painlessly in 1842 there was incalculable suffering in peace-time, as in warfare, for all wounded or invalid members of the race alike, since no exalted rank and no state of affluence could procure immunity. Nowadays the humblest citizen has at his command a means of alleviating pain for which a sovereign would have offered his kingdom vainly. The World war seemed to bring upon the world the extremity of human suffering; but it would have been an affliction still more grievous without the boon conferred by Dr. Long upon his kind.

DULL FELLOWS

One indication that the ancient Mayas couldn't have been so bright is that they didn't have the sense to immigrate to Florida.

EXTORTION

A thousand dollars seems a terrific price for lifting a lady's face considering that it can't weigh more than a pound or two.

WHO'S WHO

THOMAS F. BAYARD

A record which no other member of congress has ever held is the possession of Thomas F. Bayard, democratic senator from Delaware. His father, grandfather, great-grandfather and great-great-grandfather were all U. S. senators from Delaware before him.

THOMAS BAYARD

Senator Bayard was born in Wilmington, Del. June 4, 1868. After receiving his degree from Yale university in 1890 he became a student in the law department there for a year. Then he entered his father's law office. He was admitted to the bar in 1893.

Moving to New York City in 1897 he was appointed assistant corporation counsel. In 1900, after his return to Wilmington, Bayard was made chairman of the democratic state committee. He occupied this position until just before he became city solicitor of Wilmington in 1917.

In 1922 he was appointed to the senate to fill an unexpired term ending March 4, 1923. Then in an election he won the seat for term ending March 4, 1929, the fifth of his family to sit in the U. S. senate.

His present home is in Wilmington.

GRANT COUNTY MOTION.

AUSTIN, April 7.—(AP)—The supreme court today granted motion of Tom Green county to file petition for mandamus against Attorney General Dan Moody to compel him to approve a $500,000 road bond issue. Motion to advance was granted. This is expected to be a test as a result of the recent decision of the U. S. supreme court in the Archer county bond case.

DINNER STORIES

It was married men's night at the revival meeting.

"Let all you husbands who have trouble on your minds stand up!" shouted the emotional preacher at the height of his spasm.

Instantly every man in the church rose to his feet except one.

"Ah!" exclaimed the preacher, peering out at this lone sitter, who occupied a chair near the door, apart from the others, "you are one in a million."

"It ain't that," piped back this one helplessly, as the rest of the congregation turned to gaze suspiciously at him. "I can't get up—I'm paralyzed."

A city merchant who has a passion for reading out-of-town newspapers and also for answering many of the advertisements he finds in them tells this on himself:

The other day he answered an advertisement in one of the New York papers stating that for one dollar a method for saving gas bills would be sent. In two days he received a printed slip by mail which read: "Paste them in a scrapbook."

A clergyman taught an old man in his parish to read. After his lessons were finished he was unable to call on him for some time, and when at last he did, found only the wife at home.

"How is John?" said he. "And how does he progress with his reading?"

"O, nicely, sir."

"I suppose he can read his Bible quite comfortably now?"

"Bible, sir!" exclaimed the woman. "Lor' bless your soul, why John was out o' the Bible and into the newspapers long ago!"

POEMS THAT LIVE

COUNSEL TO GIRLS
By Robert Herrick.

Gather ye rosebuds while ye may
Old Time is still a-flying;
And this same flower that smiles today,
Tomorrow will be dying.

The glorious Lamp of Heaven, the Sun,
The higher he's a-getting
The sooner will his race be run,
And nearer he's to setting.

That age is best which is the first,
When youth and blood are warmer;
But being spent, the worse, and worst
Times, still succeed the former.

Then be not coy, but use your time;
And while ye may, go marry;
For having lost but once your prime,
You may for ever tarry.

Lyrics of Life

THE BEAUTY OF BALDNESS

The barber man who barbers me
(That is, when I can get a chair,
There's gener'ly a lady there),
He's getting bald as bald can be,
In spite of tonics for the hair
And all the liquids red and yellow
He recommends the other fellow.

He said to me the other day,
"You know, it's really sad about
The way my hair is coming out.
I'm just as young and jest as gay,
But people think I'm old, no doubt,
I'm only forty, feeling sifty,
Yet ev'rybody thinks I'm fifty.

"The ladies say, 'The nice old man!'
And have I any grandchildren yet?
And yet a co-ed I could pet
As well as any freshman can.
But all the ladies I have met
Don't seem to care, not in most cases
For heads with these wide open spaces.

"Now, I don't carry any cane,
Belong to any G. A. R.,
I'd likely buy a speedy car
If I could only find some jane—
I guess, to tell the truth, so far
This shiny head, so like a bubble,
Has kept me out of lots of trouble."

WILLIE WILLIS

"I wish Mamma could use her left-hand, too, so I wouldn't always get spanked on the same side."

What Do You Know About It?

DAILY SCIENCE SIX

1. What is the heaviest wood in the world?
2. What is the lightest wood in the world?
3. What is the toughest wood in the world?
4. What wood are cigar boxes made of?
5. What wood are pencils made of?
6. From what sort of a tree is cork obtained?

Answers to these questions in tomorrow's Record News.

VIOLETS ON TREES

The difference between wood and mere soft plant tissue is not so marked as might appear. A number of plants that are merely tender little herbs in the far north tend to have stiff and more or less permanent stems in the south, where a long growing season provides the necessary sun energy and time to produce woody tissue. Conversely, in Greenland and Iceland there is not a real tree. The most peculiar example of woody growth is that of the tree or more exactly shrub of Peru which produces violets.

Now what do you know about that?

Answers to yesterday's questions:

1. Darwin was not the first of the evolutionists, having been preceded in his own ideas by Rafinesque, and by other theorists such as Lamarck and even ancients like Aristole.
2. The theory of mutations is the most important evolutionary hypothesis since Darwin.
3. Darwin did not say that "men are descended from monkeys."
4. The composites or daisy family are considered by evolutionists to be the most highly developed of all plants.
5. Animal life did not arise from plant life but independently, according to the evolutionists.
6. Alfred Russell Wallace hit on Darwin's own theory of natural selection as the cause of evolution at the same time with and independently from Darwin.

IDENTIFY EVERS.

Body Found at Gainesville That of San Antonio Man.

SAN ANTONIO, April 7.—(AP)—The sheriff of Cooke county today telegraphed Sheriff Stevens here that the description of Chris Evers, missing San Antonio butcher, tallies exactly with that of a man found slain near Gainesville a few days ago.

Three men believed to be the killers are being sought by the Cook county officers.

Evers disappeared here a year ago last March.

A gold tooth in the right side of the mouth of the dead man may be the means of positive identification before relatives and officers leave for the North Texas city where the body will be exhumed.

THOMPSON TOO ILL.

Former Partner of Forbes Can Not Serve Prison Term.

CHICAGO, April 7.—(AP)—John W. Thompson, St. Louis contractor, sentenced to prison with Colonel Charles R. Forbes, former head of the United States veterans bureau, is in no condition to begin serving his sentence nor to come to Chicago for a hearing on his petition for probation, Dr. C. L. Epp of the veterans bureau of St. Louis reported to the district attorney's office here today.

PROMOTE OFFICER.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(AP)—Brigadier General Edgar Jadwin was nominated by President Coolidge today to be chief of army engineers with the rank of major general, succeeding General Harry Taylor, who retired in June.

IF I WERE KING
Some Day Dreaming About Sunny, My Princess Charming
By Hers-To-Command.

When you call me your Prince my sprits thrill!
It means that some sweet future day I will,
So far as you're concerned, become your King.
A King! If I were one, I'd gladly fling
Into your lap in sparkling, dazzling heap,
All the crown jewels and regard them cheap
Compared to you, my darling Jewel rare
With glist'ning crown of beautiful bobbed hair!
If I were King, although a man of might,
Your loveliness would always put to flight
My strength of will; toward you I'd be indeed,
Not as a rock, but pliant as a reed!
But ruthless, dominant, I'd never yield
To any other on the battle field;
Spurred on by thoughts of your dear love for me
I'd conquer on the land and on the sea
So Araby and even for Cathay
Rare, priceless tributes to My Queen should pay.
Would that my conquerings would always be
As easy as your conquest over me!
But though I thrilled to battle far and wide
No thrill could equal standing by your side
When I, returning from war's fierce alarms,
Laid down my arms to fold you in my arms!

Now You Chose Me!

DAD'S ADVICE TO HIS SON.
(Overheard By Henry Shepherd.)

"Above all, my son, when you draw three cards and the other fellow draws one, don't bet,"—(wife enters)—"don't bet, whatever you do, my boy. Gambling is a wicked and evil vice, that wrecks those who tarry within its snare! Beware of the pitfalls of the gaming table,"—(wife exits)—"and when you have a pair of kings and a pair of jacks, for instance, and the other fellow raises after drawing three cards, the chances are you can safely bet him a stack of chips,"—(Re-enter wife)—stack of chips—er—take Lincoln, now, the great rail-splitter. Toiling with his trusty axe from sunup to sundown, he left a big stack of chips after his day's work!" (Wife exits with approving smile).

"Now another thing. This marriage business is all appleasure! Don't do it, if you value your future happiness! Don't be a big fool like I was and—" (Door creaks)—"don't be a big fool like I was and postpone marriage. Pick out a good sensible girl and ask her to be your helpmate and wife! Matrimony is that divine bond that unites human hearts to perfect bliss and everlasting happiness through all eternity!" (Door shuts softly) "and Son, speaking of henpecked husbands—So Is Your Old Man!"

Questions From the World of Love Answered by a Noted Authority

How Can a Pretty Schoolteacher Attract Men? The Tired Mother Whose Neighbors Park their Children With Her—the Danger of an Intimate Friend Boarding With a Young Couple.

Dear Dorothy Dix—I have taught school for eight long years. Now I feel that I should like to marry and have a home of my own, but men are not attracted to me. This is incomprehensible to me, as I am very good looking. Perhaps I am too intelligent. Isn't it true that men prefer to tower mentally over the girls on whom they lavish their affection? Or, perhaps, I am too reserved. Petting parties make me shudder.

LONESOME NANNY.

Answer—I get thousands of letters from girls, and the consensus of opinion among them seems to be no petting parties, no beaux. They are a unit in declaring that the average young man expects to be paid for whatever courtesies he shows a girl by being permitted to kiss her and maul her.

So, perhaps you are right in attributing your lack of popularity to your reserve, but if such is the case, you should be glad of being lonesome instead of repining at it. For, believe me, dear Nanny, there are a lot of things for which you can pay too high a price, and the girl who sacrifices her modesty for the sake of being taken to a movie, makes a sorry bargain.

Don't sacrifice your ideals for a joyride, and be sure of this: If among all the men you meet, there is not one who can appreciate a girl who has kept herself spotless, who has refused to let herself be pawed over by every Tom, Dick and Harry, then you are lucky not to marry. Better far to be an old maid than to be married to a man who has no respect for womanhood and no reverence for the fine things of life.

As for your suggestion that the reason you are not popular is because you are too intellectual, that depends on how highbrowed you are. If you begin a conversation with every young man you meet by asking him his opinion of the Einstein theory of relativity, or if you try to discuss the modern realists with your jazz partners, I don't wonder that they flee you.

The fear of a blue stocking is as much an hereditary fear with men as the fear of snakes is with women. Why this is so, nobody knows, but even highly cultivated and intellectual men seldom care for learned ladies. Furthermore it is a curious fact in natural history that highly cultivated men very often pick out as wives henbrained women who never have an idea above the baby's bottle.

Also, it is true that the rank and file of American men go to work very early. More girls than boys go through high school, and the boys are so busy with works and play that a few of them ever read anything beyond the daily paper.

This narrows their conversational range down to small talk about radios and automobiles and their jobs and the best places to dance, and the gossip of their little circle. Therefore, if a girl attempts to talk to them about books or art, they are awkward and ill at ease, and bored to tears.

But not all knowledge comes put up in books, and many of these men who have so little schooling have graduated from the University of Hard Knocks, and have more real wisdom than half a dozen colleges could teach them.

Some men like intelligent women, but they don't want a woman to thrust her education upon them, and show them how much more she knows than they do. They don't want her to make them feel small, and perhaps that is what you have been doing.

A clever woman, Nanny, is one who is smart enough never to let a man find out how much she knows.

DOROTHY DIX.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

ARIES

Today's planetary aspects are somewhat adverse during the early hours of the morning. They become favorable thereafter and continue so for the balance of the day. Nothing involving change or novelty should be essayed until afternoon and only duties of a routine nature should receive your attention. Later on however the signs augue ultimate success for any work involving constructive effort, and engineers and inventors will apparently be specifically favored more than others although the inspiring influences created by the good aspects will prove beneficient to one and all. It is an excellent opportunity for marriage and the astrological indications point to happiness and enduring love.

A girl born today will not display at birth any evidence of the pulchritude which she is destined to possess in later life but she will enjoy an uneventful infancy and will grow up without experiencing any physical setbacks. A boy on the other hand will be as a baby, weak and puling. He will, however, if given proper nutrition, attain physical normalcy in early youth. In disposition both boy and girl will display a striking similarity. They will be evasive, erratic and more selfish than considerate. A good, wholesome environment will possibly correct these unfortunate tendencies but some strict discipline will be needed to effect a complete cure.

If today is your birthday, the signs at your birth denote that you possess the qualities of leadership, although you will generally be associated with a forlorn hope. Your judgment is not as good as your masterfulness is compelling. There will be nothing disagreeable about your personality and, if your vision were a little clearer, you could "many wonders perform." Although not exceptionally intellectual, you, possessing a retentive memory, have digested, as a result of your experience, much general infromation, and can talk well and clearly on a variety of topics.

Unless mated with one born in June or November, your home life does not hold out much promise of success or contentment.

Successful people born this date are:

David Rittenhouse, astronomer.
George W. Greene, author.
Walter Harriman, solider and governor.
Howell E. Jackson, jurist.
Irving R. Wiles, artist.
Mary Pickford, actress.

SOCIETY

In the Glow Of The Camp Fire

Extension of the work of the Camp Fire Girls in the city was made with the organization of a new group of girls at the First Christian church, Miss Phyllis Creighton, member of the Wendat fire and a graduate of the guardian's training course recently held, will be the guardian.

William J. Spreen, educational director of the church, pledged his support to the Camp Fire work in the church.

Explanation of Camp Fire was made by Miss Mary McIlheran, executive, when she showed manuals, health charts, beaded headbands, ceremonial gown and other phases of the work. Plans were made for a group meeting to be held each Tuesday afternoon.

Pokkam Fire.

The Pokkam Camp Fire Girls met at home of Charles Mae Ebner, with Edith McClure, vice-president, opening the meeting with Camp Fire song. The secretary called the roll and the treasurer reported on money raised from candy sales. The group decided to give $5.00 of their money to the Day Nursery. They are preparing stories and planning for visits to Day Nursery in the summer when they have time for story hours for children.

Those attending were: Linnie Mae Baggett, Lucile Hibbs, Lena Smith, Myrle Kennedy, Nora McMillian, Lenorah Smith, Lois Brackett, Edith McClure, Charlie Mae Ebner and the guardian, Mrs. Anna Barnhill.

Enthusiasm was great over announcement of a joint gypsy trip for all Camp Fire Girls who secure their two subscriptions and turn them into headquarters so they can be mailed before the 15th of this month.

Guardians Meet.

The Camp Fire Guardians association held their regular meeting at Camp Fire headquarters Tuesday evening, Miss Alma Richardson, president, presiding, opened the meeting with Camp Fire song. Mrs. Anna Barnhill was made chairman of committee to prepare luncheon for the annual luncheon of the local council to be held in the basement of Grace Methodist church, Saturday noon.

Miss Alice Downing was appointed as chairman of committee to plan and decorate the float for the health parade to be sponsored by the Red Cross on May 1. Girls for the float will be chosen from those who have kept the Camp Fire Girls health chart 90 per cent for the greatest number of months. The committee will meet at headquarters Monday afternoon to make plans. Operations Save Flock Of Chickens

LAMONIA, Iowa, April 7.—(AP) Twenty-five valuable White Leghorn chickens belonging to W. W. Simpson were operated upon and from one to five shingle nails were removed from the craw and gizzard of each bird.

A postmortem examination of one of the first of his flock to die of a mysterious malady led Mr. Simpson to take quick action and as a result a large share of the chickens are on the road to recovery. The trouble originated when a keg of nails was left in the brooder house.

Craving For Fun Gets Judicial Standing In Court

A "well-night universal human craving for fun" was given judicial standing Wednesday when the Texas supreme court held that an employee is liable for the hazards of injury to his employees by reason of the pranks of co-employees.

An "unloaded pistol" used for stage purposes in the Majestic theatre at Wichita Falls was the cause of the ruling. The appeal was by L. P. Cassell vs the U. S. Fidelity and Guaranty company in which the workmen's compensation granted by the trial court was affirmed. Cassell was injured when another employee playfully snapped the stage pistol which was discharged.

CHILDREN'S NURSE RESUMES HER DUTIES

Praises Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for some time and I would not be without it in the house. As I am a children's nurse, I have to be on my feet a great deal and your medicine has helped me wonderfully. I was hardly able to do my housework when I began taking it, and now I am a strong and well woman, able to do all that and go out nursing besides. I have also used the Sanative Wash and found it beneficial."—Mrs. Gertrude L. Stewart, 103 Davis St., Greenfield, Mass.

Valuable for Weakness

"I have found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a valuable medicine for weakness."—Mrs. J. A Pietsch, Box 397, Lancaster, Pa.

Hundreds of letters like these are received by the Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., from grateful women who say that their health has improved since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Feels Years Younger

"FOR SOME time past, I was in a terribly nervous condition," says Mrs. W. A. Jefress, of El Dorado, Ark.

"I could not sleep at night. I was not only 'all to pieces' nervously, but I had several other things the matter and the real cause was womanly weakness.

"The least little exercise upset me. I could not walk far without having to lie down afterwards. This condition went on and on. I got so bad off I could not do my housework.

"On a friend's advice, I got a bottle of Cardui, and began to take it. In a very short time, I began to feel myself growing better. The first thing I noticed was that I could sleep so much better at night.

"My other troubles began to disappear and gradually I grew stronger. After several months, I felt myself a new woman and now I feel years younger than I did this time last summer."

JOHNNY HINES AT OLYMPIC

Five Acts of Vaudeville Carded on Same Program

Beginning today the Olympic will offer a special program of pictures and vaudeville which varies in every way from the regular program of this kind.

Johnny Hines, the First National comedy star, will be seen on the screen in his latest comedy drama feature, "Rainbow Riley."

"Rainbow Riley" has to do with Johnny's role as a cub reporter who is sent to the Kentucky mountains to report a feud. Instead of finding just a little bit of excitement, he runs plumb into a mess of trouble. His first move is to fall in love with the school teacher-sweetheart of Tilden McFields the killer of the mountains and the leader of the Ripper clan. That means trouble from the start, and Johnny never gets his neck out of the noose until he has to overcome the entire mountain community with the aid of government troops.

He does it to the Queen's taste, and in the accomplishment thereof he goes through a series of escapes that are fraught with danger, laughs, thrills and dynamic action.

The vaudeville program of five acts, consists of magic, music, harmony singing, dancing and athletic novelties.

Mulkey is one of the best comedy magicians we have had in a long time and has his audience laughing all the time he is on the stage. His comedy with some of the boys from the audience is different from the usual run and is good for many hearty chuckles. He is a clever palmist and all of his tricks are done in a comedy vein. He will endeavor to show you that the hand is much quicker than the eye.

A dainty offering of singing, dancing and music is presented by Le Gros and Anna. Here is an excellent combination of versatility. Le Gros is, without a doubt, the wizard of the guitar, and his masterful handling of this instrument will bring rounds of applause. His pretty partner Mme. Anna, is a chic little lady with pretty wardrobe and a most excellent dancer.

The Lyle Harmony Four will surely please all those who like real harmony, and those who want comedy mixed with their songs will also find this quartet very amusing as they have some real comedy moments in their act. The number is a smart comedy diversion in which singing and patter alternate in the most entertaining manner, using many of their own compositions. Much additional pleasure can be figured on.

Tiller Sisters are a splendid looking duo of entertainers with personality and pep that is bound to please the most fastidious. "Tommy" Tiller is one of the cleverest comediennes on the vaudeville stage and "Evelyn," her sister, makes a dandy foil for her.

The Arrowsmiths come here highly recommended as an athletic novelty, having played all the leading vaudeville theatres in the east. In an act of this kind, the man usually does all the work, but not so in this case. The little lady does her full share of the work. She possesses what might be termed super-human strength and endurance. Her feats establish the fact that they present a performance distinctly different.

A Palace Star Next Week

Bessie Delmore, clever comedienne, is one of the many stars coming to Wichita Falls next Tuesday with "My China Doll," the big musical extravaganza which will appear at the Palace one night only.

Wichita County Representatives To Fight Bridge Move

W. F. Weeks, J. D. Parnell, J. M. Isbell and B. D. Sartin will represent Wichita county Friday morning before Judge George C. Calhoun of the 53rd district court in a hearing on the suit of Harris et al for an injunction restraining the granting of state aid in the construction of the free bridge across Red river. Weeks, Parnell and Isbell left Wednesday night for Austin. Judge B. D. Sartin left Wednesday afternoon.

While county officials would not commit themselves as to just what method they would employ in combatting the suit for an injunction it was their opinion that the injunction would not be granted and that work on the bridge would proceed without further material interruption.

Funeral Services Held For J. T. Carter

Funeral services were held at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon for John T. Carter, real estate man of the city, who died Tuesday morning following a short illness with pneumonia. Services were conducted at the family residence, 2014 Ninth street, by Rev. Charles Spurgeon McClung, pastor of the Floral Heights Baptist church.

A large number of friends and acquaintances of the family were present, among them being representatives of all departments of the Record News. Mrs. Carter, wife of the deceased, is society editor of the Record News and the offices of the paper were closed for one hour for the funeral.

Burial was made in Riverside cemetary.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 68

A Child's Laxative which Mothers Can Rely On

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated infants and children had to be kept "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he constantly advised mothers to give only a harmless laxative which they can depend upon whenever a child is constipated, bilious, feverish or sick from a cold, indigestion or sour stomach. All children love its pleasant taste.

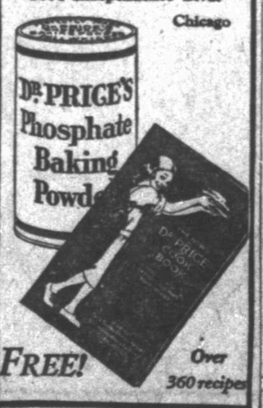

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine and just see for yourself how perfectly it cleanses and regulates the bowels of infants and children.

COUZENS GETS WHEELER'S GOAT

Anti-Saloon League Head "Peeved" at Remarks Of Senator

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(AP) While the wets and drys are contending in the prohibition hearing before the senate prohibition committee, Senator Couzens, republican, Michigan and Wayne B. Wheeler, of the Anti-Saloon league have developed a real side feud.

Senator Couzens referred to Mr. Wheeler today as a man who could not testify before a committee of which he was chairman and Mr. Wheeler retorted by saying the senator was a "five per cent beer advocate from a dry state."

The trouble began yesterday when Mr. Wheeler's testimony was asked by a member of the civil service committee, of which Mr. Couzens is head. The committee went into executive session and the Michigan senator put himself on record that the dry leader could not even "associate with" him.

Today Mr. Wheeler issued a formal statement declaring the remarks were not made within his hearing and that when made otherwise they furnished an example of the "childish bully of boyhood days." He also mentioned Mr. Couzens as an "apologist for the brewers" and remarked on a "new kind of senatorial coutresy" which would refuse a witness a hearing on law enforcement legislation.

The measure under consideration would place prohibition officers under the civil service.

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

BETTER THAN SODA

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

WELL FURNISHED HOME OPENED

Oriental Supplies Excellent Things for Talunar Residence

One of the most attractive and tastefully decorated homes in the city was formally opened for public inspection Wednesday afternoon when a new residence in Talunar place, 2401 Bullington Street, was furnished and the doors opened to the public. The residence was built by Talbert, Lundien and Arnhold, and was furnished complete by the Oriental Studios.

Entering the home, the visitor goes into a small entrance passage that is supplied with an attractive console by furniture studios. It is finished in Olive green.

Walnut Suite.

Passing into the living room, one finds a Chinese oriental rug, on which is placed an old English suite in walnut upholstered with Remy linen and damask. An imported needle point chair, several tapestries over the mantel and some hand decorated furniture studio scretaries add to the charm of the room.

In the dining room a Spanish suite has been placed with a Chinese oriental rug, a refrectory table and hand-decorated commodes. India brass table decorations and Carbone pottery work complete the furnishings for the room.

The small breakfast room opening off the dining room is supplied with a French worsted rug and a Stickley hand decorated suite of unique design.

Upstairs are three bedrooms, the first of which is finished in a Japanese crackled hand decorated suite in green. It is from the Herman-Miller factories. A Chinese oriental rug in harmonizing colors is on the floor.

Spanish Bed Room.

A Spanish bedroom suite, lacquer red mirror and other accessories to match are placed in one of the other two bedrooms, while in the third is a French walnut suite, a deep rose chintz rug, a chaise lounge in black glazed chintz and harmonizing draperies.

Proper drapery material has been supplied by the Oriental studios for all parts of the house, these to be cut and fitted, of course, at a purchaser's option.

The completed effect of the house and furnishings is one of the most pleasing to be found.

TOPEKA, Kan., April 7.—(AP)—The question whether a restaurant owner has the right to feed to his own dog the scraps of meat left on the table by his patrons was argued today before the supreme court.

Attorneys for the city of Wichita contended that the scraps become property of the person who orders the meal.

The question arose on the appeal of the city which had failed in its attempt to convict W. C. Landrum, a restauranteur, on charges of hauling garbage along the streets because he took meat scraps from his cafe to his dogs at home.

Breckenridge Legion Seeks New Members

BRECKENRIDGE, April 7.—The local post of the American Legion, the Bernice Coles—is making intensive preparations to increase its membership to the quota set by the executive board of the seventeenth district, a convention of which is due to meet here on April 17 and 18. The quota is 300, while the present membership barely exceeds 150, Post Commander Bailey W. Hardy declared.

The drive will be waged during what is to be known as Breckenridge booster week which takes place the week immediately preceding the convention.

The important object in view is that of making as favorable an impression as possible upon National Commander John R. State Commander Dunning will be here while other distinguished men, such as Mark McGee, former state commander of the legion and adjutant general of Texas, will also be present.

Sheiks Took Girl From Auto After She Retains Money

DALLAS, April 7.—(AP)—Struck over the head, robbed of $90 and hurled from an automobile by a man with whom she was riding last night, Miss Bettie Clayton, El Paso, was taken to the Emergency hospital early today.

She told hospital physicians that she was riding with an employe of a local hotel who demanded her money and tried to take her purse. He opened the car door and kicked her out when she resisted, she said.

Passing motorists picked the girl out of the street and called police to whom she described her assailant.

Sweet Onion Odor, How You Scent Us

LAREDO, April 7.—(AP)—Nature in the vicinity of Laredo had onions on her breath today.

With huge hail stones for teeth, the old dame chewed up and ruined more than 90 per cent of the 1,300-acre onion crop south of Laredo, late yesterday and the unmistakeable odor of the vegetable rode the atmosphere for hours afterward.

Hail that drifted to depths varying from 6 to 18 inches, slashed the onions to pieces with thousands of dollars damage. Roy Campbell, customs collector of this district, and one of the largest onion growers and shippers of the Laredo district, estimated today that only about five to ten per cent of the crop here abouts can be salvaged.

The storm was of unprecedented ferocity. Hail was accompanied by a driving wind and rain. Automobilists along the Zapata highway into Laredo were blinded by the hail.

"HER MAN"

--By Beatrice Burton--

READ THIS FIRST:

SYLVIA STARR has been engaged to RANDALL PHELPS for a year when he asks her to break their engagement. He explains with brutal frankness that he's fallen in love with her best friend, FAY SHIRLEY.

Heartbroken, Sylvia gives him up, gently to the satisfaction of her AUNT AGONY, the shrewd old maid who reared her. Aunt Agony calls Ranny a lazy good-for-nothing, and predicts that he'll never be true to any woman. She encourages Sylvia to marry PETER WILK, a sober bachelor who adores her.

But Sylvia cares only for Ranny. And when he and Fay suddenly break their engagement, Sylvia marries him after all! The two of them settle down in the tiny flat that Sylvia calls The Nest, and for a few weeks are happy. Then Ranny seems to fall under Fay's spell a second time, and on the nights when he's not playing poker, he's with her.

But when Sylvia tells him that they're going to have a baby, he turns over a new leaf and for months behaves like a model husband. Fay announces her engagement to one of her old beaus, EDDIE CARTER, and marries him.

During the period before the birth of the baby, Sylvia becomes great friends with MOTHER PHELPS and LOLLY, Ranny's sister, who has married the family chauffeur, THOMAS BOYLE. The two women, fond as they are of Ranny, make no secret of the fact that he has always been too fond of women, and that he isn't always truthful. But Sylvia defends him loyally.

Soon after the birth of RANNY, JUNIOR, Ranny starts running around again—this time with young "PUSS" MARCH. He insists that he's entitled to friendships with other women, but when Sylvia finds Puss's picture in his watch, she knows that he's more than friendly with the girl. He gives Sylvia very little money to run the house on, and finally Sylvia starts giving music lessons in order to buy clothes for herself and the baby. Aunt Agony happens in one day and finds it out. She threatens to go to Ranny's father about it. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXIX.

With one of her quick jerky movements Aunt Agony set the baby down on the floor among his little toys and got up to go.

"That's a nice baby!" she said sourly, looking down at his small blond head, "but he looks entirely too much like his dad to suit me! As they say 'Like Father, like son.' So I suppose he'll grow up to let his wife support him the way Ranny lets you support him!"

With that hot shot she marched stiffly into the bedroom to put on her wraps.

Sylvia followed her. With eyes that smouldered blue black in her face, she watched her aunt set her pancake of a hat on the very top of her head and jab the hatpins through it. Aunt Agony was one of the few women left in the world who still wore hatpins and corsets.

"Look here, Aunt," Sylvia said to her, "Even you can't say things like that to me about Ranny and get away with it!"

Her voice was low and calm as the voice of any quiet person is when she is most excited. And Sylvia was not only excited now, but angry right down to the tips of her toes.

"It's nobody's business if I give music lessons," she went on, but Aunt Agony interrupted her with a snort.

"Oh, isn't it!" she cried, "Well, then I'll just make it my business, and we'll see what Randall's father has to say about his beautiful son not giving you enough money to live on! We'll see!"

She started out of the room, but Sylvia barred her path with her arms stretched across the doorway. She was shaking from head to foot, but her voice was no more than a silvery ripple. "No," she said, "I won't let you leave this house until you promise me that you won't let Ranny's father know that I'm giving music lessons!"

She had never talked this way to Aunt Agony before in all her life. She had obeyed her from her earliest childhood. But now she felt as if she were ready to defy her or anybody else on earth, to protect Ranny.

"It wouldn't do the least bit of good for you to go to Father Phelps, anyway, Aunt Agony," she went on firmly. "Suppose he did get angry with Ranny and put him out of the firm? What good would that do? I'd only have to work twice as hard as I do now until Ranny got another job."

She knew there was no answer to that argument.

And Aunt Agony knew it, too. She started suddenly on another track.

"Look at yourself!" she said, sweeping Sylvia up and down with her faded eyes. "Wearing the same clothes you had a year and a half ago—before you were married! A fine market you've brought your beauty and your brains to, haven't you?"

She looked scornfully around her at the tiny flat with its cheap, pretty furniture; then at the baby playing on the floor with a string of bright wooden beads.

"Here you are, stuck in a cheap flat, saddled with a baby and a good-for-nothing husband that can't even support you—"

"Oh, you can't stop me!" she went on as Sylvia raised a warning hand, "I'll say my say and then you can put me out if you want to! Do you know what your duck of a husband is doing while you're up here giving music lessons? He's riding around Buchanan park with some woman! I saw him, with my own eyes, not more than a half hour ago!"

She nodded with her best I-told-you-so air, and folded her arms like a female Napoleon.

Sylvia's white face went a shade whiter, but she didn't say a word.

A pang of jealousy shot through her like bodily pain.

"That's what I came to tell you today, and this is the thanks I get!" added Aunt Agony.

"But why tell me? Why hurt me? I'm just one big hurt and ache as it is," Sylvia moaned silently.

But with a superhuman effort she managed to smile and to say aloud in a careless way: "Oh, that's just little Puss March! She has a sort of hero-worshiping crush on Ranny and she follows him around. He can't stop her."

"This wasn't Puss March or anybody like her!" broke in Aunt Agony, so sharply that the words seemed to snap out of her mouth. "I know little Puss March, but I never saw this woman before. She looked fully thirty-five years old and she wore earrings—long ones pretty nearly down to her shoulders!"

Again that little forced laugh of Sylvia's rippled out like molten silver. "I'll have to look after Ranny better than I'm doing, won't I?" she asked lightly.

Aunt Agony grunted. "You know the old saying, 'He that needs looking after isn't worth looking after'," she quoted glibly. 'And that's true of Ranny! He isn't worth your bothering about. If I were you I'd put a spoke in his wheel, I'll tell you! I'd tell him that he'd give me enough money to live on or I'd leave him! You may as well leave him now, anyway. He'll never be anything but the bad egg he is now. People don't change. The fox may grow gray, but never good,' you know."

Sylvia shook her lovely head, with its waves of soft dark hair that shone like polished black satin above her sapphire eyes. And Aunt Agony, looking at her, thought suddenly how some old painter of Madonnas would have loved to put those clear, calm eyes on canvas.

"You're a fool, that's what you are!" she exploded, "to let yourself be buried here in this place! With a voice like yours! If you must give these piano lessons, why don't you spend the money on studying with Miss Sharp? She says that you have a concert voice—and you could earn more money singing at one concert than you could earn giving music lessons for a month!"

"Sunday Night Then, I Will Send Ranny For You," She Promised.

That very thought had occurred to Sylvia more than once.

She had been slowly making up her mind that as soon as she had bought some winter flannels for Ranny, Junior, and paid the grocery bill for last month, she would take some more singing lessons from her old teacher.

"I ought to do it—and I will do it!" she decided an hour later as she sat alone at the kitchen table eating some toast that she had made for her lonely supper. Ranny had telephoned that he was going to dine down town with "a business friend."

Sylvia couldn't help wondering if the "business friend" wore long earrings that hung down almost to her shoulders.

It turned out that she did wear them—this "business friend" of Ranny's.

Her name was Jane Brackett, and when he came home at ten that night he told Sylvia all about her, sitting at the side of the bed. She listened calmly, holding her magazine in her hand as if she wanted to go on reading it.

But, as a matter of fact, every nerve in her body was alive to the tale that Ranny was telling her. It struck her suddenly that he was telling it to her quite as a son might have told his mother about a new girl he had met.

"Dad got in a new saleswoman today," he began. "We're opening a tract of land out near Bedford, and he wanted some extra people. This girl came in—a very interesting type, Sylvia. I'm going to bring her out to dinner some night soon. I know you'll be great friends—she's just the kind of a girl you like."

Sylvia wanted dreadfully to remark that she loathed women who wore long earrings, but she managed to keep her tongue between her teeth.

"Her name is Mrs. Brackett—Jane Brackett," Ranny said, getting up to take off his tie and collar. "She looks a bit vampish, but she isn't."

"I thought you liked little fluffy girls like—oh, like Puss March, for instance," Sylvia answered, opening her eyes innocently. "What is this Mrs. Brackett—a grass widow or an honest-and-truly one?"

Ranny stuttered a little. "W-why, she divorced her husband about a year ago, I think she said," he admitted, "She's a very sensitive sort of woman, and from what she says, he must have been a great big bull-necked fellow with no thought of anything but making money. She says it was terrible trying to live with him. She was just crushed—"

"Poor sensitive plant!" cooed Sylvia. Ranny looked at her sharply to see if she was "spoofing" him, but her eyes were gentle as a child's.

"Let's have her over to supper on Sunday night," she suggested, after a moment of silence. "Sunday night suppers are so easy to get—I can just throw some salad together and make some sandwiches and cake."

Ranny beamed, looking more like a Greek god than usual, as he strode about the room in his white bathrobe, collecting his cigarets and his matches and the detective story he was reading.

When he was asleep Sylvia tiptoed across the room and took his watch from the pocket of his trousers. She carried it out into the living room and pried off the back of it with her thumb nail. The snapshot of Puss March was still in it!

"But I wonder how long it will stay there," Sylvia thought to herself, with the saddest little smile you ever saw, as she went back into the bedroom.

"Not very long, probably, now that he's met this Mrs. Brackett.

There had been a time when Ranny had carried her own picture in the back of his watch.

But that time seemed very long ago, now—long ago and far away.

There is sorrow that is too great for tears—and jealousy that eats far down into the soul.

Sylvia knew both that night—both the sorrow and the jealousy.

But it was something else that made her stare dry-eyed into the darkness and wish that she could shed the tears that would not come.

She was bitterly disappointed in Ranny. And it was disappointment in him that was breaking her heart. She had thought him so fine, so god-like, once upon a time. She had worshiped him—and now she only loved him.

"I could give him up to a real love affair!" she said to herself, clenching her hands so that the nails cut little half-moons in her palms, "but to watch him go on with these silly little crushes—these beastly little thrills—"

He turned in his sleep and murmured something that she couldn't make out. But the sound of his voice stirred her, as it always did.

She swung her feet over the side of her own bed and leaned low over his—leaned over him and kissed him softly, tenderly, almost as a mother might have kissed her sleeping child.

The morning sunlight ended Sylvia's feeling of unhappiness, as it so often did.

She was a naturally happy, gay thing, and the autumn brightness and the smell of burning leaves outside filled her with a heavenly glow of well-being.

She sang as she bathed the baby and put the coffee on to boil.

She whistled as she heard Ranny go down the stairs and watched his automobile disappear around the corner of Wing street.

There was a joyful lilt in her voice as she telephoned Fay to ask her and her husband over to supper on Sunday night.

"I think I'll ask Peter, too," she decided. "There's no reason for Ranny's being jealous of him. I just will ask him!"

She did and Peter accepted. "I'll bring down some cider," he said. "I made some down at the farm."

Peter's farm was one that he had inherited from his maternal grandfather, and it was the only place that he and Sarah called "home."

Then, with real enjoyment, Sylvia telephoned Puss March and asked her to come to the Sunday night supper, too.

"I'll send Ranny for you, Puss," she said, and Puss couldn't keep her pleasure out of her voice when she thanked her.

"Ranny will have quite a time with all his old flames here—Fay and Puss, not to mention myself!" she told herself, with an inward chuckle, as she hung up the receiver. "This new Mrs. Brackett will have to watch her step if she wants to keep him vamped! Well, anyway, it will be interesting to watch the fur fly!"

She honestly looked forward to Sunday night, at first. Then she began to dread it.

How does Ranny act when he finds Sylvia entertains not only Mrs. Brackett, but Puss and Fay besides. What do these women think of each other?

Chasing Chickens Proves Costly To San Antonio Boys

SAN ANTONIO, April 7.—(AP)—After one of their number fired upon two city detectives this morning, three men, who looted chicken coops at various places in Texas surrendered when the officers made ready to return the fire.

Their surrender came as the end of a three blocks chase after the officers went to a produce house upon information that the three were there with stolen fowls. One of the men, who said the firing was accidental, shot at the pursuing officers, the bullet going through the windshield and between the heads of the officers.

The three confessed to having stolen chickens from Austin, San Marcos, Hondo and Seguin. Their bullet marked automobile gives evidence of gun battles in their forays.

One of three, all of whom are young, is from San Antonio and the others are from Fort Worth and Wortham.

UPHOLD JUDGMENT

Audience Comedian Proves Benefactor Of Vodville Artists

KANSAS CITY, April 7.—(AP)—The back of an envelope, on which had been written "I. O. U. $25," was found this week in the collection box passed at a local theatre for the benefit of the National Vaudeville Artists' association.

It was thought to be the work of a comedian on the wrong side of the foot lights, but the "I. O. U." today was redeemed when the theatre received a letter from Joseph A. Lehman with a check for the amount "to take up my I. O. U."

More Truth Than Poetry

THE GENTLEMAN FROM BRAZIL

We cannot recall—just at present—his name,
We only are sure that he dwells
In the country which owes a great deal of its fame
To the fact that its fruit grows in shells.
But we're bound to admit that the fellow has nerve
And his name will go down through the years,
While the writers of history pause to observe
How his wrench played the deuce with the gears.

When half of the statesmen of half of the world
Watched the wheels turn, well oiled and serene,
This person walked up and disdainfully hurled
His implement in the machine.
In spite of their protests, in spite of their pleas
And of the importance of them,
He tossed in his wrench with a workman-like ease
And the cogs ceased revolving—pro-tem.

Not for us to descant of the rights or the wrongs
Or the pros and the cons of the case;
Discussion of national ethics belongs
In a totally different place.
The League may be good, or the League may be bad—
It may be a whim or a bust—
We only contend that this personage had
A most unaccountable crust.

One man and alone—an obscure man at that,
In the midst of the wise and the great
Unheard, in his dim little corner he sat
Till the momentous minute of fate.
Then he rose with his wrench, as we've mentioned before,
Unafraid, unperturbed, unconcerned,
Did the cute little trick they had sent him there for,
And the League, for the time, stood adjourned!

Boxers Who Have Worked With Both Say Ewing Will Beat White

Titular Fight Billed Tonight In Mitt Arena

Monte Only Fighter Who Believes Tom Will Win Out

By BLONDY CROSS.

With "fair and warmer" the weatherman's prophesy for today and, let us hope, this evening also, American legion fistic promoters hope to stage that greatly ballyhood and equally long-awaited Tommy White-Wildcat Ewing championship mill down at the Twelfth and Ohio open air arena tonight.

Poor weather conditions twice have caused postponement of this battle which is to be for the welterweight championship of the southwest, title now held by White.

If the winter elements will only pipe down for a period and give old Sol a chance to warm up Wichita Falls' frigid atmosphere of the past 36 hours or so all will be well and merry with the opening bout of the card starting at 8:15 this evening.

The show's got to come off soon or matchmakers handling the Kiwanis club's day nursery benefit program billed April 16 will have a cat fit. White originally had been carded with Clyde Hull, the St. Paul phantom, for the feature bout of the nursery slate, but with the matching of Ewing against White prior to the 16th and ensuing announcement that Ewing expects to wallop the Texas City mittster the nursery promoters have been up a stump, more or less.

The general run of fight fandom in Wichita Falls, including the writer, are a bit dubious about Ewing's ability to tag it on White, although admitting Wildcat is an exceptionally clever and hard-hitting boy. Local boxers who have worked out with both White and Ewing the past two weeks in preparation for the bout declare with but one exception that Ewing will defeat White. The exception is Wildcat Monte who avers White will win. The writer is inclined to string with Monte.

But let that be as it may, weather permitting the argument will be settled over the ten-round route at the legion arena tonight.

No change has been made in the program originally announced. The rugged Johnny Sherrod, Fort Worth welter, tackles the tough Sammy Riley of Altus in an eight-round semi-final.

The two Wichita Falls heavyweights, Ace Cain and Bigboy Smith are on for a return six round engagement.

Leo Voss, the flashy little Wichita Falls flyweight, takes Soldier Burns of Frederick in a four-rounder.

There is to be a five-man negro battle royal.

Fort Worth finishes ahead of Beaumont! ! !

* * *

Another touch of the Arctic put a cold damper on all thoughts of a Spudder workout Wednesday morning, so the boys got in a little more practice at pinochle. Going to be good enough to beat the champions soon!

* * *

When the thermometer took a sudden decline along about noon instead of climbing Brainard just about decided it was too dangerous to stage the afternoon session, might get somebody hurt in the cold. However, Flem Hall, Fort Worth sports writer, tripped into the camp and changed the entire complexion of things.

* * *

"Certainly do hate to haul the boys out in this kind of weather. It's taking too much risk," remarked Brainard. "But since that sport writer from Fort Worth is here I guess it would be doing him a good turn just to let him look at a REAL ball team," whereupon the Skipper blew the call to arms.

* * *

THAT'LL HOLD YUH!!

Following a brisk infield and outfield session in which the gang performed, despite the cold, with the smoothness, speed, grace and efficiency of a well-rehearsed follies chorus doing its nightly chores before baldhead row, the Boss Spudder smiled and chirped, "Now I guess that guy has gone and lost all hopes of ever seeing Fort Worth win another pennant!"

* * *

And that's just how good they looked out there yesterday, brother. The infield combination of Brainard at third, Tony and George at short, Turge at second and Mule on first with Knox and Lapan alternating at the plate snapped through a rousing session that brought the few railbirds on hand to their feet, eyes glistening and voicing lusty acclaim.

* * *

Weather permitting it'll be two sessions today. Des Moines, the Western League champs, at the plant tomorrow in the first of a three-day stand, but the first of four straight games for the domestics. Omaha storms the citadel Monday. Brainard and brigade entrain for Shreveport Tuesday. The OPENER is carded WEDNESDAY.

* * *

And who will hurl that first game for the Spudders, do you ask? That's a question which has been speculated on, tossed here and there, and guessed at a thousand different ways by rabid fandom.

The answer:

All indications point to the veteran right-hander, Willard Carl Williams, the great cold weather beaver. Carl appears to be the only pitcher who has been able to stand the winter-hand laid down on this land all spring and still come up with his whip unharmed. He thrived on it.

* * *

And Carl right now looks like the only Spud flinger, if any, who can go the route. Rest of the corps is coming around nicely, but rather than run risk of injury to high-tensioned spinning arms, Brainard probably will find it necessary to use two pitchers for each game, barring that opener. And if Carl indicates that he's tiring any or there seems to be any strain on the whip another heaver will be shot in as relief, of course.

* * *

But Williams is the real cold weather flinger. He takes to the frigid temperature, albeit with the same number of gripes, like a fat man in mid-July to an electric fan.

* * *

Flem Hall thinks a lot of Huck Betts of screw-ball fame. And he avers Ralph Head is coming through this summer like a house afire. Betts is an old slab mate of Jess Winters The two were together three years in Philadelphia.

* * *

TWO FINISH MATCHES.

Matchmaker Ross had signed Yaqui Joe and Ernie Maddock for the Wichita Falls wrestling association feature match Monday night. Then Dutch Mantell suddenly reversed his decision and decided to meet Matsuda. Couldn't turn Joe and Ernie out, so now there'll be two finish matches, two main events on the same card.

DAVIS' HOMERS FAIL TO SAVE WACO CONTEST

Demons Beat Texas Loop Club, 11-5, Bees Tag It on Buffs

WACO, Texas, April 7.—(AP)—Two home runs by Stormy Davis, Waco's star left fielder, did little to overcome the commanding lead the Des Moines Demons gained on Waco in the first two innings at Katy park this afternoon and the final score was Des Moines 11; Waco 5.

Hudlin, Waco's kid pitcher from Wagoner high school of Oklahoma, hurled the first five innings for the Cubs and homers proved his undoing.

Des Moines	11	16	1
Waco	5	13	3

Thomas and Haworth; Hudlin, Augilar and Muller.

HOUSTON, April 7.—(AP)—The Omaha Burebrods came out on the long end of a 13 to 11 hitting fest here today with the Buffs, in the first game of a five-game series. The most savage slugging of the season featured the game.

Happy Hollohan, former Buff player and now with Omaha, led in the scoring work with two singles a double and two triples in six times at bat. For the buffs Homer Peel, hitting ace, singled, doubled and hit the longest home-run of the spring in five trips to the plate.

Omaha (W.)	12	71	4
Houston (T.)	11	13	4

Batteries: Wright, Yellowhorse, Walker and Shirley. McConnell; Littlejohn, Seliers, Mahaddy and Burns, Goff.

FORT WORTH, April 7.—(AP)—Undaunted by the prospect of batting against the pitcher with the famous "double kick in" ball, the Fort Worth Panthers will leave tomorrow morning to face the American legion nine of Decatur tomorrow afternoon. It was freely predicted here tonight, in fact, that if the soldiers flash any such marvel, J. Ats will sign him at sight.

Chick Howard will pitch for the cats and go the whole route, Jake announced today. The game will start at 2 p. m. and fair and warmer is predicted. The entire squad will make the trip, leaving by bus.

SHREVEPORT, April 7.—(AP)—Shreveport Sports, of the Texas league, and the New Orleans Pelicans of the Southern association clashed here first of a six-game series that is to decide the championship of the state and the Pelicans were victorious 2 to 0.

A half dozen errors helped the visitors to triumph, but Luther Roy, visiting moundsman, was entitled to his reward. He allowed four scattered hits. The longest blow was a triple to center to start the seventh, hit by Dutch Hoffman, New Orleans cast-off, who also was surprised by beating out an infield hit.

The game was played in a drizzling rain and the errors were on bad throws to the bases. Lefty Thompson worked for the locals and for the first time this year twirled nine innings. He pitched himself out of a bad hole in the sixth when he retired the side after the bases were packed and before a batter had been put out.

Gritty Golf Feature Of Women's Meet For First Round

GALVESTON, Texas, April 7.—(AP)—Gritty golf today distinguished the first round of match play which left in the running for the state links title two women from Texarkana and one each from Dallas, San Antonio, Waco, Houston, Paris, and Fort Worth.

Two down after the 16th, Miss Berta Maxey of Houston won the 17th, 18th and 19th holes to win one up over Mrs. H. Gartner of Fort Worth, who played just as gamely as did her little conqueror. Miss Maxey found the tin with an eight-foot putt to square the match on the home green.

The major upset was the elimination of Mrs. Pauline Stripling Hedrick of Fort Worth, 1922 Lone Star state champion by Mrs. L. J. Morris, Brookhollow Country club, Dallas, by 3 and 2.

Mrs. Scott, 1924 victor had a narrow escape today, being carried to the 18th green by Mrs. John Hodges of San Antonio, 1923 runner-up. She will have to fight hard for every hole if she defeats Mrs. Hopkins, Arkansas title holder, who is at her best in match play.

On form shown thus far Mrs. Lapham and Mrs. Scott are duped to go into the semi-finals of the upper half, while the links wiseacres are predicting Mrs. Morris and Mrs. Magruder will be lower-half semi-finalists.

Today's championship flight results:

Mrs. John H. Lapham, defeated Mrs A. M. Rhodes, Dallas, 6 and 5. Mrs. F. E. Pharr, defeated Mrs. Alfred O. Anderson, Dallas, 7 and 5; Mrs. S. G. Hopkins, defeated Mrs. E. R. Lederer, Fort Worth, 6 and 5; Mrs. Rufus Scott, defeated Mrs. John Hodges, 1 up; Mrs. L. J. Morris, defeated Mrs. Pauline Stripling Hedrick, 3 and 2; Mrs. George Thompson, defeated Mrs. Clyde Maddox, Fort Worth, 5 and 4; Miss Berta Maxey, defeated Mrs. H. Gartner, Fort Worth, 1 up; Mrs. L. W. Magruder, defeated Mrs. Robert O. Souddarth, Dallas, 9 and 8.

Bowie Expects To Win Track Meet

The Bowie high school track team is preparing to capture the lion's share of the Montague county meet to be held at St. Joe April 11. The team has been training daily and is rounding into shape fast.

Captain Sadle, star weight beaver, who tossed the shot 50 feet in a try-out meet in Bowie recently has been slowed up with a slight strain in his arm, but is expected back before the big meet.

All of the other men are in good shape and great things are expected of them in the county meet. The other men that will represent Bowie in this meet are: Wade, Raines, Sadler, (Capt.), Mitchel, Donely, Woodal, Whitman, Robechaux, and McDonald.

The Bowie team are greatly favored to send many of their men into the district meet. Captain Sadler and Wade were in the invitation meet held in Wichita Falls last Saturday and both did some very fine work.

REFINERS LOOK STRONG.

The American refinery club is being boomed by many fans as the coming Twilight League champions. At any rate, the club is just as strong this spring as was the powerful aggregation of 1925. Manager Lawrence Medford, for one, can't see any other club as a winner.

* * *

Several of the 1925 players are not included in the American line up this year. However, most of the veterans are back. The holes left by departure of these players have been plugged with first class material. Hoop Cannon, Dick Gordon, Dudley Skeen and Tank Horton will not be with the refiners this summer.

* * *

Curley Christian, slugging third-sacker with the Americans in '25, is alternating in the outfield during the practice games. He's a versatile ball player and his stick work is expected to help the Medford outfit very much.

* * *

Coyal Francis and Speck Roberts, both first class infielders, are included on the inner works. Speck has been working some at the keystone. Francis has seen quite a bit of service at third.

* * *

Martindale, catcher recently lined up by Medford, looks like one of the best backstop bets in amateur baseball of this section. As was remarked here once before, he's the Possum Moore of the twilighters, a husky fellow and a heavy slugger.

* * *

GAME TODAY.

The Americans are billed with the Gulf Production crew over at Burkburnett this afternoon. Connally will do the chunking and Martindale the catching.

Hogue May Join Security Nine.

Othel Hogue, well known Burkburnett high school baseball and basketball player is planning on playing this year with Hugh Cotner's Security National bank team.

Hogue was the captain of the basketball team, and one of the outstanding players on the baseball team last year. Hogue is a second sacker and is one that is very good as far as completing double plays.

Hogue said Wednesday that he believed that he could give any one on the Security club a hard battle for the second sack position.

McGraw Forecasts New And Greater Money Era in Baseball

NEW YORK, April 7.—(AP)—A Washington-New York world series next October and an era of baseball prosperity which will soon find stadia seating at least 100,000 spectators in every major league city were forecasts of John McGraw today on the 53rd anniversary of his birth.

Linking the financial success of the national pastime with its development in this city the veteran Giants' pilot asserted that winning teams in New York were necessary for continued prosperity of the game. "When interest languishes here, it soon falls off all over the country," he said.

"In the light of my experience in baseball, I can see only bigger and better things, with new and greater stadia all over the major circuits.

"Some idea of the growth of the game may be found in the fact of that in 1890 I could have bought the Pittsburgh Nationals for $35,000. You could not buy the club for any amount now.

"When I broke into New York 25 years ago as manager of the Giants, major league baseball was a losing venture. The clubs at the top usually made a little money, but at least five others always lost. Now it's a rare thing for a club to finish with a deficit. Twenty years ago you would have been lucky to draw 300 to 400 at an exhibition game in the south. Now at least four or five thousand fans turn out.

"Behind all this success you will find New York. We took the lead in raising the standard of the personnel. We also showed the way in providing better accommodations for the spectators, putting up the first steel and concrete stadium in the game.

"I am more than eager this year to win the National league pennant. On paper we look like the best team.

"In the American league, I expect the Senators to come through again. I have a high regard for Mac's Athletics but they do not impress me as being as well balanced or as smart a team as the Senators."

Cutting Cuts In On Court Finals

NEW YORK, April 7.—(AP)—C. Suydam Cutting of New York today reached the finals of the national amateur court tennis tournament by defeating J. W. Appeal, Jr., of New York, 6-1, 6-0, 6-3.

Cutting's victory qualified him to meet George Huband, English player, now a resident of Chicago, who gained his final bracket earlier in the day by eliminating W. C. Wright of Philadelphia, 6-4, 6-4, 7-5. The winner in the final round will gain the right to challenge the present holder of the title, Jay Gould.

HAMLIN NINE WINS

HAMLIN, April 7.—The Hamlin high school baseball team defeated Breckenridge 7 to 4 here today. Bryan of Hamlin allowed five hits and struck out 13. Willingham led the Pied Pipers' attack in hitting with three hits out of four times at bat.

Gorgeous Georges To Scrap Huffman

NEW YORK, April 7.—(AP)—George Carpentier of France, former light heavyweight champion, and Eddie Huffman of California, today were matched to fight ten rounds at Madison Square Garden on May 21.

The match will mark Carpentier's first ring appearance of his present American invasion. On his visit in 1924, he suffered a technical knockout at the hands of Gene Tunney and lost a decision to Tom Gibbons of St. Paul.

Huffman came to the front rapidly last year. During a recent eastern invasion he won a twelve-round verdict over Jack Demaye. Later he boxed a draw in Newark, N. J., with A. D. Stone and lost a decision to Jack Sharkey, Boston heavyweight.

Clara Track Team Has Tough Breaks

There is nothing but hard luck coming from the Clara high school track team as they prepare for the county meet to be held in Iowa Park Saturday. Two of their best prospects have fallen through, as was their luck in the basketball tournament.

Orien "Curley" Walkup and Joe Jones will be out of the meet. Both of these men were promising to make somebody hustle in the county and now with them out, the Clara hopes are greatly blasted.

Walkup is in bed with the mumps while Jones has blood poison in his leg. In the big meet held in Wichita Falls last Saturday Walkup scored 10 1-2 points. He won first in the 220-yard low hurdles, tied for first in the broad jump, and won second in 220-yard dash and in this he won in his heat, which was slower by 1.2 seconds than the wining heat. Jones was not in the meet.

Jones was a dash man and his absence will be greatly missed along with Walkup. This throws the burden of the men off on some six or eight men, but despite the hard luck are confident of capturing the county in Class B.

LUNG YIELDS GRAIN.

After Three Weeks Choking, Child Is Relieved.

SAN ANTONIO, April 7.—A grain was removed this afternoon at Santa Rosa hospital from the right lung of 3-year-old Edward Teavy Jr., of Floresville. The boy was brought here after suffering severe choking spells for three weeks.

KING'S GIFT ON BIRTHDAY

LONDON—King George sent a bouquet of flowers to Mrs. Eleanor Tylden of Ingoldisthorpe on her 103rd birthday.

Burk Team Will Make Mean Bid

The Burkburnett Bulldogs have been backing some very bad training weather of late in which to get their team in shape for the county track meet to be held in Iowa Park Saturday.

Rain, sandstorms and cold days have not stopped them and they have worked on steadily. Floyd Patterson has been improving steadily on both the javelin and discus this week and hopes to capture the honors Saturday. Johnnie McDonald is improving on the same lines and is pressing Johnnie hard for the field honors.

Mitchell Wolfe has cut his time down greatly and it is thought that this lad will deal much trouble to opponents on the 440-yard dash and the mile relay.

Douglas Tiffin and Leroy Eddie Eddie have been shaking a mean pair of legs and mean business in the county meet on the dashes. Sam Moore is showing up greatly on the vaulting. Glenn West is counted upon to handle the Burkburnett end of the hurdles.

Captain Harrold Hickam will run the 220-yard dash and will be on the relay team. Pat Hood will be the man counted on for the 880-yard dash, relay, and high jump. Pat "Bannanas" Hood is also a mile man, but the rulings put him out in this as no man can run both the mile and 880-yard run in the same meet.

The BROWN of SOUTH

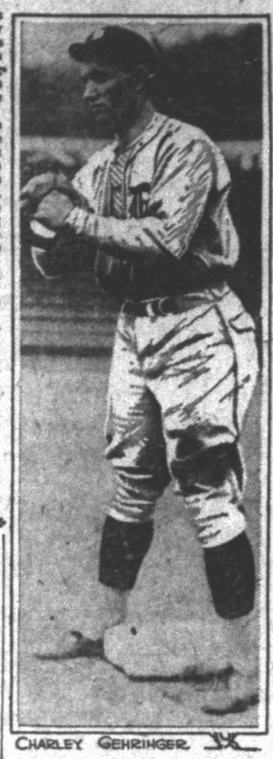

Gaze a bit at the young lad whom ten big league clubs want and only one can have, of course. He is Charles Gehringer, the rookie second baseman of the Detroit Tigers. He is standing on second, which bids fair to be his permanent home with the Tigers, once he gets going.

The Detroit Tigers obtained him from Toronto last fall after the young man had drawn the attention of the big league ivory hunters by his all-around playing. Friendly relations between the clubs gave Cobb the edge. Gehringer led the International League in total bases on hits by collecting 337. He also led the league in sacrifices, to show his versatility at the plate.

When he joined the Tigers last fall he found big league pitching pretty stiff but in eight games did not make a single error afield.

Gehringer is serving his third year in professional baseball. After playing a year on the baseball team at the University of Michigan, Gehringer joined the London team of the Michigan-Ontario League in 1924, and the following year went to the Toronto team where, under the shrewd coaching of big Dan Howley he became the talk of the minors.

Gehringer will be playing second for the Tigers before the season is many weeks old if Cobb does not start him there.

Dutch Mantell Sidetracks His Timidity and Wires Eloquent Acceptance of Matsuda Bout

Columbus Monkey-Man Becomes Agitated And Yaps, "Get Him in Ring! I'll Do the Rest!"

Heh, heh, heh. That crack carried in these columns yesterday about Dutch Mantell displaying the well-known saffron streak in face of negotiations for a return match with Matty Matsuda evidently has brought the "old reliable Dutchman" out of his sudden hibernation.

We were sadly mistaken, Helen, about Dutch being afraid of the Jap. At least, he doesn't appear a bit fearful now, even if he may have had to think twice and be prodded considerably before he would doff his timidity and consider meeting Matsuda again.

Following eloquent telegram was received by the Record News sports editor yesterday afternoon from the Columbus monkey-man:

"Blondy Cross,

"Get that slant-eyed Chinaman in the ring for me! I will do the rest! Am always ready to muss that Chink up! Any date suits me!"

Dutch Mantell.

And that settles that—until Monday night in the Majestic theatre! Matsuda is on deck now, in great condition and rearing to take the Dutchman. Just a gentle tip, the Matsuda of today is 100 per cent in better condish than the Matsuda of several weeks ago when he wrestled Mantell here and won on a foul after the Dutchman had strangled him three times in succession. The Irishman will beat Mantell this time and beat him decisively! Take it or leave it.

Two finish matches have been carded for the Monday program.

Matsuda hooks with Mantell two falls to a finish. Yaqui Joe, the tough Indian welterweight, takes on Ernie Maddock, the Cleveland junior middle, two falls to a finish.

HOW DID IT GET THERE?

DULUTH, Minn.—A wooden skewer, four inches long was removed from the body of a dog whose ribs had been broken by an automobile.

Browns, Athletics Sized Up By Baseball Critic As Strongest In Junior Loop

Macks Have Edge On St. Louis Outfit, Is Norman's Opihion—Lefty Groves Due To Come Through

By NORMAN E. BROWN
Sports Editor of Central Press.

The two strongest teams in the American league—as they size today—are the St. Louis Browns and the Philadelphia Athletics. Their actual strength, vouched for by the records and their general showing in 1925, plus the strength added through acquisition of players and other conditions gives them the edge.

And of the two I believe the Athletics have a shade the better.

For that reason I am going out on a limb and pick the Athletics to win the flag.

And I offer these as the main reasons.

First, because of the presence of Kid Gleason as coach and field general of the team.

Second, because of that fact that Lefty Groves is ready to deliver.

Groves Checked Macks in 1925.

These reasons are paramount. Connie Mack had the mechanical equipment last season. The failure of Groves alone might be called responsible for the failure of the team to win the race.

Now Groves is ready and Gleason is on hand to force every other member of the team to start and remain at high speed.

Other minor, but still important reasons are that Mickey Cochrane, catching sensation of last season, enters this one with a year's big league experience behind him and a working knowledge of the Athletic pitchers.

Jimmy Poole, who will have to assume Hauser's place at first in all probability, has had a year of big league work at first and now has the benefit of Gleason's help daily.

Sammy Gray, pitching sensation of last year until hit on the pitching wrist and forced to retire from the game for weeks, can well expect to avoid such a fate this year.

Have Well Balanced Club.

As far as general playing strength is concerned the Athletics have the best balanced club. They have the catching—and that is a vital part of any pennant winning team. Cy Perkins was considered one of the league's premier catchers in his own right until a couple of years ago. Now Perkins plays second string catcher to Mickey Cochrane. Two beautiful catchers for any pitching staff.

The Mackmen have the best pitching stag in the league. It was that last year, despite Lefty Groves' failure to get going, until Sammy Gray was stricken down.

Eddie Rommel has ranked as one of the great pitchers of the game for several years. With a good break in luck and fair support he can win 25 or more games a season year in and year out. He is ready this year. Slim Harriss, a question mark for several years, found himself last season.

Gray's value is well known.

Rube Walberg impressed last season although he was not a winning pitcher.

Jack Quinn will still be on deck for emergency roles.

Stan Baumgartner should be of more value to the club last year and he was winning pitcher last year even though he won but six games. He was defeated only three times.

And then there is Lefty Heimach.

If Harriss, Gray, Rommel and Groves get going they will make a walkaway of the race. One can discount the probable performance of one of this quartet and still see the others winning the pennant.

Wamby Gives Infield Reserve.

In addition to Poole on first Mack will have Max Bishop at second, Galloway at short and Dykes at third, his regular infield. The veteran Wambsganss will be on hand in case Bishop hits a batting slump. And Sammy Hale, is still trying to oust Dykes from third—which is a good thing for Jimmy.

The outfield, with Bill Lamar in left, Al Simmons in center and "Bing" Miller in left (his natural positions) ranks well with any outfield as a hitting aggregation, though but mediocre in fielding. If Lefty Groves gets to zipping over that fast ball of his and shooting it in the right direction there will be little need to worry about the fielding.

Jimmy Welch gives them reserve strength in the outfield.

I am banking a lot on Gleason and Lefty Groves in this prediction. But Gleason's value to the Mackman has already been demonstrated—is apparent now. Groves looks better now than he did last spring, according to his own teammates. He has more confidence. And a pitching fault that may have caused some of his wildness has been corrected. Which gives me reason for thinking he will deliver this year.

I will offer no alibis if Connie Mack doesn't fight it out with the Browns for the 1926 pennant.

TALUNAR HOUSE ENDS AN IDEA

Its Completion a Result Of Desire to Give Quality Home

An idea conceived a long time ago—that of making available at a medium cost homes of superlative merit, was brought to its first conclusion Wednesday when a new home in Talunar Place was opened by the firm of Talbert, Lundien & Arnhold. The builders conceived the idea of constructing smaller type residences incorporating the best architectural and construction designs, building when the highest quality material and choosing locations of attractiveness, yet at the same time keeping the cost within reason.

That idea has borne fruit in the present Talunar house. The residence is situated in a restricted section, is one and one-half stories high and has eight rooms. Hardwood floors are installed throughout, while upstairs for the three bedrooms are six large, roomy closets. A feature of the downstairs is a large living room 15x22 feet, casement windows and an attractive touchstone mantel. The exterior finishing is English brown, with a vari-colored shingle roof. It is situated on a corner lot 75x150 feet on the rear of which is a two-car garage and servant's house.

Cabinet Officer's Son Goes To Sea

BOSTON, April 7.—(AP)—Belief that Douglas Robinson, missing Harvard student, has gone to the sea, was expressed by his father, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, Theodore S. Robinson, after arriving here tonight and talking with his wife and others.

He said he and Mrs. Robinson were confident that no harm had come to their son.

The father said he first heard of his son's disappearance in Savannah, Ga., where he arrived on his way north from Key West. He had planned to fly from Washington to Boston but gave it up on account of the fog. He had had telegrams from his wife today, he added, advising not to believe newspaper reports that the son had been discovered.

Taxes On Texas Farms Increased

COLLEGE STATION, April 7.—(AP)—"Taxes on agricultural land in Texas have increased 120 per cent since 1924."

"The tax on rural land in 108 counties increased from $6,000,000 in 1914 to over $13,000,000 in 1923."

"No corresponding increase in the price of farm products has occurred."

"In some sections the rural tax burden has become almost unbearable!"

These facts are revealed in a pamphlet on rural taxation written by F. A. Buechel and just published at Texas A. & M. college.

HINDENBERG RECEIVES

Celebrates Anniversary of Entering German Army

BERLIN, April 7.—(AP)—Amid the fragrance of spring blossoms from the spacious gardens of the executive mansion, President Von Hindenberg today greeted his old regimental comrades on the occasion of the 60th anniversary of his entering the German army as a second lieutenant. Nine embattled regimental standards stood out in strange contrast against the republican colors as Germany's sorrows marched past.

Jacob Gould Schurman, the American ambassador and other diplomatic representatives personally paid their respects to President Von Hinderberg. Most of the officials were in uniform.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, April 7.—(AP)—The cotton market today developed slightly more trading than on the earlier days of the week without being in any sense active. The general trend of prices was upward mainly due to unfavorable weather although realizing later caused reactions. The market opened firm and during the early trading advanced 14 to 18 points owing to the higher Liverpool cables than due, a rainy weather map and rather a bullish weekly weather report. Prices eased off around noon on more or less scale selling, losing about seven to ten points of the early gain but rallied some in the early afternoon on a reported good demand for May. The market turned easier in the late trading but did not quite duplicate the early lows. The close showed net gains for the day of three to 12 points. At the start cables came in much better than due and first trades showed gains of nine to 10 points. The market after a slight reaction right after the call again advanced on a bullish weekly weather report and the appearance on the map of a considerable low depression on the Pacific coast. May traded up to 18.13, July to 17.75 and October to 16.96 or 14 to 18 points above the close of yesterday.

The market eased off seven to ten points around noon on hedge selling and realizing but rallied some in the early afternoon on a better demand for May. The market eased off near the end, May dropping to 18.07, July to 17.85 and October to 16.85 or seven to ten points down from the highs. The close was near the low except for May which was relatively firm. Exports for the day totaled 20,835 bales.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, April 7.—(AP)—Unfavorable weather reports from the south and relatively steady Liverpool cables were followed by advances in the cotton market today, July sold up to 18.35, or 17 points net higher, but lost a good part of the gain in late trading, closing at 18.25. The general market closed easy at net advances of one to 13 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of seven to nine points on covering by some of yesterday's sellers who were evidently disappointed by the showing of the weather map, covering by near month trade of speculative shorts, and broadening commission house demand. Considerable realizing, with some southern and local selling, checked the advance around 18.35 for May and 17.63 for October, or about 18 points above yesterday's closing quotations. Offerings were absorbed on reactions of seven or eight points, however, and the market firmed up again in the early afternoon on covering by May shorts. That delivery sold up to 18.37 in late trading, making new high ground for the day, while new crop positions just about recovered their mid-day losses. As prices approached 18.90 for May, realizing developed and the close showed reactions of eight to four points from the best.

While unfavorable weather reports and complaints of delayed farm work as heard to be the chief news factors in the day's market the advance was led by the old crop positions as if shorts were apprehensive that a late new crop start might be reflected by firmer spot markets in the south.

The weekly report of the weather bureau was mixed, but on the whole seemed to make rather a bullish impression on attachment in connection with the detailed weather reports showing heavy rains in central belt sections today. There may have been some selling toward the close on prospects for cooler, but clearing weather in the southwest.

Exports today 20,835, making 6,659,059 so far this season. Port receipts 20,083. U. S. port stocks 1,147,824 bales.

NEW YORK, April 7.—(AP)—Reactionary price tendencies developed in today's market after an uninterrupted advance of nearly one week. The selling represented profit taking by traders who had bought stocks "for a turn" and sporadic bear attacks on a few industrial issues, based on the theory that the market was due for a transactional reaction. Both the rail and industrial averages closed moderately lower.

Trading was extremely quiet during the morning, but picked up in the afternoon the day's sales aggregating 1,223,700 shares. The late selling movement was checked by a spirited rally in the rubber stocks.

The day's trade news provided a good background for the selling movement. The weekly steel trade review expressed some doubt as to whether the high rate of mill operations could be maintained, and emphasized a sharp drop in pig iron, making the new price level the lowest since last October.

U. S. Steel common closed a point lower at 122, but substantial gains were recorded by shares of some of the independent companies, particularly Canadium. Otis Steel preferred and Midland Steel products preferred.

A further softening took place in money rates. Funds on call renewed at 4 per cent as against 4½ yesterday and 4½ on Monday, holding at that figure all day with large sums available. Time money which has been quoted at 4½ per cent for all since last Friday, is reported to have been placed as low as 4⅜ for some of the shorter maturities. Completion of quarterly payments, drastic reduction of brokers' loans, heavy gold imports from Canada and relatively light discounting of commercial paper rate among the reasons ascribed for the relative cheapness of money.

The report of the American Petroleum Institute, showing an increase of over 13,000 barrels in the daily average of gross crude oil production last week tended to restrain bullish operations in the oil shares and net changes as a rule were fractional. Motor shares were featured by the strength and activity of Packard, which was bid up over two points to 37¼, in anticipation of a special dividend distribution in June, but part of the gain was lost on realization. Hudson closed ⅝ lower, at 77⅞ after having fluctuated between 76 and 79¼, and Mack Trucks showed a smaller fractional loss at 111⅛ after having touched 113⅝.

The late rally in the rubber shares appeared to be a drive against the short interests. U. S. Rubber common was bid up nearly four points to 70¼, closing near the top and Fisk, Goodrich and Kelly-Springfield advanced a point or so.

American Beet sugar dropped 2½ points to a new low at 23¼ in further reflection of the omission of the dividend, the market heaviness also developed in Foundation company, General Electric, R. H. Macy, Pathe Exchange and U. S. Cast Iron Pipe.

Trading in the rail shares was sluggish, strength of Chicago Great Western preferred, St. Louis Southwestern and the "Soo" issues being counteracted by the heaviness of Atchison, Chesapeake and Ohio, Delaware and Hudson, Lackawanna and Missouri Pacific preferred.

Belgian francs rallied nearly 20 points to above 3.90 cents on short covering in expectation of an early agreement on a new international loan. Demand sterling and French francs held firm around $4.85⅛ and 3.48 cents, respectively. Japanese yen were slightly firmer, but the other far eastern exchanges were weak Indian rupes falling below 36 cents to a new low level for the year.

STOCK-A-DAY

The Consolidated Textile Corporation is a holding company owning the capital stock of a number of subsidiaries manufacturing cotton goods. The principal subsidiary is B. B. & R. Knight Inc., now in the hands of a receiver. The concern also owns a large stock interest in the Exposition Cotton Mills of Atlanta.

The plants of the Consolidated Textile company make a wide variety of goods including chambrays, flannels, percales, crepes, sheetings, drills, print cloths, and yarns which are sold under well established trade marks. Plants are located in North Carolina, Virginia, Massachusetts, Texas, Kentucky, Georgia and Rhode Island. The Knight company alone owns 17 mills.

Capital stock of the Consolidated company consists of 1,275,344 shares outstanding of no par value. Funded debt, including the bond issue of B. B. & R. Knight Inc., totals $18,637,500. As of Jan. 1, 1925, bank loans were $500,000. On that date current assets totaled $13,958,359 and current liabilities $1,456,622. The receivership for the Knight company followed default on the interest on an issue of $7,395,000 in 7 per cent bonds in 1930.

Earnings for some years have been unsatisfactory due to depression in the textile industry. For the first 6 months of 1925, operations resulted in a loss of $33,801. This compared with a loss of $905,518 for the corresponding period of 1924. Dividends were begun at the rate of $3 a share in 1920 but none has been paid since Jan. 15, 1921.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, April 7.—(AP)—Speculative sellers over-reached themselves in the wheat market today and found prices showing a brisk rally at the last. Uneasiness over alternate freezing and thawing was apparent in the wheat trade, with corn and oats responsive also to unfavorable weather.

Final quotations on wheat were unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish 1½@c higher, May (new) $1.57⅞ to $1.55 and July $1.36 to $1.36¼, corn closed at 1c to 1⅜c advance, oats ⅝c to ⅞c up and provisions varying from unchanged figures to a rise of 5 cents.

Profit taking on the part of previous sellers was largely responsible for a bulge in corn values and in oats. Adverse conditions for hauling of corn and for seeding of oats were also a strengthening factor.

Provisions reflected the firmness both of hog prices and of grain.

"Will Take Texas Hundred Years To Live Down Effect of Pardon Policy," W. W. Silk Writes Governor

Local Business Man Cites Jackson Escapade as Example of Abuse of Pardon Power; Says Texas Will Sooner or Later Hold Ma to Account

Citing the recent escapade of Jack Jackson who was arrested on a hijacking charge while enjoying a 60-day furlough before starting to serve a 25-year murder sentence, W. W. Silk, local oil producer and business man, has written to Governor Ferguson protesting against certain features of her pardoning policy. With his notation to her, he enclosed clippings taken from the Record News of April 6 in which an account of Jackson's arrest and his part in a Holliday hijacking was given.

"I am giving you these facts to show you that it will not do to release criminals of this type unless they have shown every indication of having reformed and have paid the penalty for their crimes against society," Mr. Silk wrote, Continuing, "there is no man in the world who believes in mercy more than I do, and the pardon should be granted, but granted only where it will not encourage crime or impair our safety. It will take Texas a hundred years to live down the awful effect of releasing the hundreds of criminals that have been set free in this state by you. Allow me as a citizen to say to you that the people of Texas will sooner or later hold you responsible for these acts."

Copies of the letter were sent by Mr. Silk to Attorney General Dan Moody, Senator J. D. Parnell, Judge P. A. Martin and the World's Work, Garden City, N. Y., which recently carried an article on "The Rising Tide of Crime," written by Lawrence Veiller and which Mr. Silk commends as an able analysis of causes of crime and means for its rectification.

JACKSON TRIAL DEPENDS ON MA

Allred Requests Permission To Keep Prisoner For Court Hearing

Although notification has been received here that Jack Jackson, under a 25-year sentence for murder, has had a sixty-day furlough, granted a few weeks ago by the governor, revoked, it is believed probable that permission will be obtained to retain Jackson in custody of officers under the jurisdiction of the thirtieth district court until such time as he can be tried for the high-jacking offense at Holliday, Monday night. A letter requesting this of Mrs. Ferguson was mailed Wednesday afternoon by district attorney Ben P. Allred, following a telegram to Sheriff Fred K. Smith, earlier in the day from the governor that the sixty-day furlough had been revoked. The letter to Mrs. Ferguson sets forth that the Archer county grand jury meets the first Monday in May and a speedy trial, following indictment is assured. Any sentence assessed Jackson as a result of the trial in Archer City may be made cumulative with his 25-year sentence already imposed by a Wichita county court, it is understood.

In the meantime Jackson, with Carrol Mumford and E. E. Savage, captured with Jackson following the affair at Holliday, were taken by city officer Will Allen, deputy sheriff H. L. White and a member of the constable's force to Graham Wednesday afternoon to be held there pending the trial at Archer City.

HELD FOR ARCHER

A young man wanted in Archer county for passing alleged worthless checks was arrested by city Officer Arthur Haigwood Wednesday afternoon and turned over to a deputy sheriff of that county.

421 go to the county and $12,126 to the state. Redemptions amounted to $26,682, the schools getting $8,396.
