Special Train To Arrive At 9:30 Tonight

Fifteen-Minute Broadcast On KFYO At Train Is Planned; To Be In City Half Hour

A rousing welcome is planned for the St. Mary's Galloping Gaels when they stop in Lubbock tonight enroute to Dallas where Monday they meet Texas Tech's Red Raiders in the Cotton bowl.

The Gaels, 38 strong will arrive at the Santa Fe station at 9:30 o'clock for a 30-minute stop-over before proceeding to Dallas.

Stars Not Aboard

Rumors that Alice Faye, blonde movie actress, and her actor husband, Tony Martin, were aboard the St. Mary's special were quieted by an Associated Press dispatch to the Evening Journal, saying the vivacious Miss Faye left Los Angeles Thursday for Detroit to meet Martin who will open an engagement in the Michigan city this week-end.

A goodwill committee of the chamber of commerce will go to Littlefield and accompany the visitors into the city. City Manager W. H. Rodgers and Durwood Bradley, city attorney, will officially welcome the Gaels.

Broadcast Is Planned

A 15-minute program, arranged by Coach Slip Madigan, will be broadcast from KFYO. Details of the broadcast were lacking in communications to the station.

It is hoped that a large delegation of Lubbock persons will greet the Californians on their arrival here, committeemen said.

In Dallas Thursday, Curtis Sanford, president of the Cotton Bowl association, said that 25,000 tickets for the Tech-St. Mary's game Monday had been sold. He predicted sell-out crowd of more than 46,000 would witness the contest.

Arrive Early Saturday

The Moragans will arrive in Dallas early Saturday morning to complete their training. The Red Raiders have been practicing on Southern Methodist university gridiron more than a week.

Miss Opal Hill of Post, senior textile engineering student of Texas Tech and national cotton queen, was given a loud reception when she arrived in Dallas Thursday. She will

Four Suspects Held In Jail

Four suspects were held in Lubbock and Littlefield jails this morning in connection with investigation into the burglary at Anton Wednesday night or early Thursday morning, Sheriff Tom Abel revealed this morning.

Officials representing police and sheriff's department and Texas Rangers went to a tourist camp on Avenue H Thursday afternoon after receiving report of queer actions of four persons there.

Offer No Resistance

Going into a cabin in which shades were drawn, they found two men and one woman. The three surrendered without resistance. Officers waited several hours, but when the fourth failed to return issued description of the car in which he had left the camp and he was arrested a short time later at Littlefield.

Two of the men were thought to have penitentiary records, officers said. Officials were working on the attempt to link those arrested with the burglary at Anton and possibly others in this area.

Go To Littlefield

Mannie Gault, Texas ranger, and Cleve Hawkins went to Littlefield this morning to transfer the prisoner there to Lubbock.

Piecing a letter the woman had torn at the camp, officers learned her husband lives at Amarillo. The letter contained a plea that she return home.

It had been announced Thursday night by Ed Hofackct, Hockley county sheriff, that loot taken in the Anton burglary, from Telford Lumber

Buzz Appears Chief Loser

The explosion which jolted the Gordon Parkhill home, 2010 Main street, was a wholly unscheduled aftermath of Christmas this morning.

It was somewhat to the sorrow of Gordon (Buzz) Parkhill, jr., 10, whose football was to blame. He had received it as a Christmas present.

Hid Ball In Oven

Buzz and his sister, Jean, it was explained this morning, played a game of hiding things from each other the night before. She hid his football, fully inflated, in the oven of the kitchen stove. The game was interrupted and all was forgotten about the football. That is, it was forgotten until this morning.

Then someone lit the oven burners without looking inside the oven Air expands when heated. That in the football obeyed natural laws. A deafening explosion followed.

Not only that, but the odor of burning rubber made wide-open windows and doors a necessity in the chill of early morning a necessity. However, there was no damage.

Goebbels Gets Beating Over Actor's Wife

Friends Of Husband Attack Hitler's Minister And He Is Sent To A Hospital

(By The United Press)

NEW YORK, Dec. 30—The New York Daily News, in a copyright dispatch from Basel, Switzerland, said today it had learned that Dr. Joseph Goebbels, nazi minister of propaganda, "was beaten almost to death" Dec. 22, or Dec. 21, by friends of a German actor whose wife was the object of the minister's attentions.

"Since Dec. 22," the news dispatch said, "Nazidom's second most powerful minister has lain in a closely-guarded Berlin clinic, swathed in bandages, his head cut and bruised, both eyes blackened and with at least one of his prominent teeth missing."

Divorce Is Rumored

The hospital, the dispatch added, "may, indeed, be the gimpy little doctor's prison, for the scandal has caused his wife, Magda, first lady of the reich and Adolf Hitler's official hostess at most state functions (Hitler is a bachelor), to prepare to depart for Denmark, reportedly to get a divorce."

Hitler, the news said, was greatly displeased by the "scandal."

Goebbels was ordered to bed a week ago yesterday, according to reports from Germany, because of an attack of intestinal influenza, the news dispatch continued.

Surprised In Apartment

But Goebbels was really taken to the hospital, the news said it learned, "because loyal friends of Gustav Froelich, actor husband of the Czech cinema star, Lida Baarova, surprised him in the Froelich flat and there sought to avenge the imprisonment of blond and handsome Froelich in a concentration camp so that the doctor might make love to the exotically lovely Baarova.

"Only the intervention of Goeb-

California Woman Is Killed In Texas Auto Collision

BEAUMONT, Dec. 30 (U.P.) — The death of Mrs. Hattie Halligan, 65, of Whittier, Calif., raised this section's traffic fatality toll today to 14 within a week.

Mrs. Halligan was killed and her husband, James Halligan, was injured when their automobile collided with a truck last night near Nome, 19 miles west of here on the Houston highway. They were en route to California.

Halligan was brought to a hospital here. Attendants said he was suffering from injuries and shock.

Shattered Romance Ends In Tragedy; Three Are Slain

(By The United Press)

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Dec. 30.—The law separated William Query, 39, from his child bride, Betty, 15. Last night he attempted to coax her to return to him and failed, so he shot and killed her and her father, then committed suicide.

Query eloped with the girl, daughter of Ralph D. Kendall, 36, a contractor, after a brief courtship which they had kept secret from her parents. They were married at Cloverdale, Ind., a week ago after the bride had obtained a license by saying she was 18.

When her mother, Mrs. Minnie Belle Dobson, Greencastle, Ind., learned of the marriage she complained to Judge C. C. Gillen. She said her daughter was too young for marriage. Gillen issued a warrant and police arrested the couple at Cloverdale, Ind., yesterday. Gillen remanded the girl to the custody of her father and released Query under $1,000 bond.

Query appeared at the back door of the Kendall home last night while his bride and her stepmother, Mrs. Margaret Kendall, 30, were washing dishes. Mrs. Kendall, in a formal statement to Police Chief Clint Seward, said Query had a "wild look" in his eyes and appeared to have been drinking.

She said he came into the kitchen and attempted to coax his bride to return to him.

"Are you ready to go," he asked.

"Don't touch me," Betty replied. "I don't want to go with you."

Kendall entered the room at that moment and told Query to leave. Query drew a .32 pistol and fired twice. One bullet passed through Kendall's heart. Betty ran out a rear door but Query fired two shots before she could get out of range. She fell on the back porch, shot through the chest and neck. Mrs. Kendall escaped through a side door and, as she ran for aid, heard another shot. Police found Query dead beside Kendall, a bullet wound between his eyes.

Seward said Query had been married twice and had worked intermittently at Cloverdale as a truck driver and clerk.

Woman Eludes Watchful Eyes Of Nurse And Plunges From 35th Floor To Death Below

(By The United Press)

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Eluding the watchful eyes of her nurse for an instant, Mrs. Miriam Marve Rieber, 55, wife of Torkild Rieber, multi-millionaire chairman of the boards of the Texas company and the Texas corporation, plunged to death shortly before midnight last night from the window of her luxurious 35th floor apartment overlooking Central park.

The nurse, Miss Helen Koerner, caught her at the window, struggled with her and managed to grasp her robe. Mrs. Reiber screamed: "Don't hold on or I'll take you with me."

They grappled several seconds, Miss Koerner said, before Mrs. Rieber wrenched herself free and jumped. Her body struck in an alleyway. Screams of the falling woman and the nurse at the window attracted a crowd from one of the most fashionable midtown neighborhoods of Manhattan.

Mrs. Rieber had been suffering from a nervous ailment for two months and the nurse was in constant attendance. The nurse said she had gone into the kitchen to prepare tea for Mrs. Rieber, peering into the other room every few seconds to keep watch on her patient.

She saw Mrs. Rieber edge toward the window and she sprang after her. The window was open and they reached it almost simultaneously.

Rieber was reported to be in Europe. A native of Norway, he went to sea in his youth and commanded one of the tankers that brought the first oil out of the Spindletop field in Texas. The Texas company later bought the tanker and Rieber went into the firm's marine department. He was named chairman of the board three years ago.

Man Rescues Family Trapped In Auto

Car Sinks In Icy Waters

(By The United Press)

ORANGE, Dec. 30.—Alvin Granger, 45-year-old truck driver, was the hero of enthusiastic citizens here today.

Granger saved five members of a Louisiana family from drowning in their submerged automobile in a canal six miles west of Orange yesterday.

Plunges Through Bridge

E. A. Slocum of Baton Rouge was driving to Lufkin to the bedside of a niece who was injured critically Wednesday in a traffic accident, when his car plunged through a bridge railing into the canal.

Granger, hauling a load of hardware, saw the plunge and skidded his truck to a halt. He dived into the canal, broke out the windows of Slocum's sedan and began dragging out the stunned victims.

One by one as motorists gathered, Granger rescued Slocum, his wife; Harry Joe Hanson, 9, and Louis Hanson, 6—Mrs. Slocum's children by a former marriage, and the woman's brother, O. W. Loving.

All Were Dazed

All were unconscious or dazed and were unable to help themselves as Granger dived frantically into the chilly water.

Thanks to Orange's hero, however, the family escaped with only cuts and bruises. After a few hours in a hospital, the group left for Lufkin in another car to see Slocum's injured niece.

Edward Gene Jurak Is Taken By Death Here This Morning

Mother And Five Children Burned To Death In Fire Which Sweeps Impoverished Home

(By The United Press)

WINNIPEG, Man., Dec. 30—Mrs. Lyle Robson and five of her children burned to death last night in a fire which swept through their home in an impoverished section of Winnipeg.

Her husband, a fuel dealer, was near death from burns and injuries he suffered when he leaped from a second floor window. The only member of the family to escape injury was Stanley, 12.

The children killed were Shirley, 10; Dorothy, 7; Dorreen and Dennie, five-year-old twins; and George, two and one-half.

Firemen were hampered in battling the flames by a temperature of 28 degrees below zero. They believed the fire was started by an overheated stove.

All of the bodies were found on the second floor. Firemen said positions of the bodies indicated that four of the children had been overcome in their sleep and that the mother had attempted to carry one of the youngest children to safety.

Six Persons Are Locked In Cells As Two Desperadoes Break Jail At Palo Pinto; Make Their Escape In Jailer's Auto

(By The United Press)

PALO PINTO, Dec. 30 — North Texas officers were on the lookout today for two prisoners, one under sentences totaling 14 years, who escaped yesterday from the Palo Pinto county jail.

Sheriff John Bonds said that the fugitives, W. T. Haley, 27, and A. G. Patterson, 27, drove north from Palo Pinto in Jailer Ott Howard's automobile after locking Howard and six other persons into cells. The automobile was last seen at Graford, in north Palo Pinto county, a short time after the break.

Faces 14 Years

Haley was under sentences totaling 14 years for thefts and burglaries in seven counties. Patterson was held in jail pending grand jury action on a forgery charge.

Sheriff Bonds discounted the theory that the gun with which the jailer and Dr. R. H. Smith were held up was an imitation one. He believed it was a real weapon, smuggled into the jail by friends of the men.

"At least it looked real enough that they (Howard and Smith) were scared to make a move," said Bonds.

Doctor Was Called

Dr. Smith, the town's only doctor, was called to the jail to treat an ear infection of which Haley complained. When he and Howard entered the cell, Haley pointed the partly-concealed weapon at them and ordered both into the cell that he and Patterson had occupied. Dr. Smith said later that he believed the prisoners' gun was an imitation.

The prisoners then locked up R.

Twelve-Year-Old Girl Beats Grandmother After "Insult"

WILLIAMSBURG, Ky., Dec. 30. (AP)—Acting County Judge Joe Feather said authorities were puzzling today over a 12-year-old girl's story that she beat her maternal grandmother unconscious with a hammer because "she said my daddy ain't no good."

The girl, a seventh-grade pupil whom Judge Feather said County Attorney Walter Ray Smith described in a report as pretty, blue-eyed and "unusually intelligent," was placed in jail on a delinquency charge.

The judge said the grandmother, Mrs. Mary Hampton, 56, was in a critical condition in a hospital at nearby Corbin, Ky., was given a chance to survive.

Young Negro Confesses To Slaying Of Five Persons

SAVANNAH, Ga., Dec. 30 (U.P.) —A 24-year-old negro who said his desire for money led him to beat four persons to death with an iron pipe and kill a nightwatchman with a shotgun was removed today to a distant jail.

Marion Hunter, Savannah negro, confessed last night to killing James Tillman, his wife and two small daughters, and Tom Chester, watchman, on the night of Dec. 22. Solicitor-General Samuel A. Cann said Hunter had signed a confession.

Amateur Boxer Turns Gun On Women; Four Are Wounded

GREENFIELD, O., Dec. 30. (AP)—Fifty dining and dancing patrons scurried under tables, ducked behind counters and raced for exits early today when an amateur boxer sprayed a small cafe with bullets, wounding his estranged wife, two other women and himself.

Constable Wendell Crishman, in the cafe when the shooting occurred, identified the gunman as William Cross, 29, amateur boxer and baseball umpire.

Cross was under police guard in a hospital where his wife, Katherine, 20, shot in the abdomen and breast, was given an even chance to recover. Her companions, Miss Lois Curry and Miss Esther Smalley, suffered flesh wounds.

Garner Favors Local Control

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Vice President Garner was described authoritatively today as taking an active part in efforts to give local communities more control over expenditure of WPA funds.

Garner is understood to have told close associates that he believed the problem of keeping politics out of relief could be met at least in part by setting up non-partisan boards in each county. These boards would examine complaints of political misuse of relief money or discrimination against relief applicants.

Should Be Local

He has told his friends, it was learned, that these boards should be purely local agencies, appointed by local officials entirely free from WPA control.

This view differs sharply from that of Senator Barkley (D-Ky), who said yesterday he believed that if such boards were set up, they should be appointed by the WPA.

Barkley, the Democratic floor leader, said he never had favored the current practice of having a local certifying agent, appointed by a local official, accept the responsibility for designating those eligible for relief. He said he believed WPA

Prison Manager Denies That He Is Planning To Resign

HUNTSVILLE, Dec. 30 (U.P.) — Prisons Manager O. J. S. Ellingson said today that a report that he would present his resignation to the Texas prison board in Houston next Monday was "news to me."

"I don't know a thing about it," Ellingson said. "I am not planning to resign."

Ellingson said that he had been asked about the report and about a rumor that he had been offered a position in Beaumont.

"I don't know anything about any job in Beaumont," he asserted. "I've got a job here and, as far as I know, I am going to keep on doing it."

Definite Assurance Given Ki Aldrich Is To Play

FORT WORTH, Dec. 30 (U.P.)—Dr. Webb Walker, physician for the Texas Christian university football team, said definitely today that Ki Aldrich, All-America center, could play in the Sugar bowl game Monday unless Aldrich's infected eye develops some unforeseen trouble.

Dr. Walker said that the player might be able to work out with the team at New Orleans Saturday. Aldrich has been out of practice since Wednesday, resting [illegible] for an operation.

City's Mules Spend Their First Day In Idleness When Trucks Come In To Take Their Jobs; Aging Feet To Quit Pavement

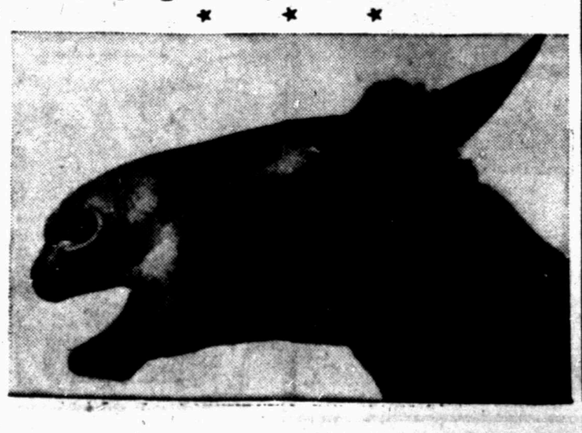

The mule and horse era for the city of Lubbock came to an end this morning.

Pete, Pet, Cat and Dan, the last of the city-owned mules, spent a working day in complete idleness for the first time since they became city property six to eight years ago.

Their loafing days, however, will not continue long because they have been sold. But compared with the work they have done, their chores will be light and their aging feet will escape constant pounding on the hard pavement.

The new owner is T. E. Simmons, whose bid of $175 for the four mules was the highest of several submitted. The next

Hitler Given Dubious Title As Result Of 1938 Events

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.(U.P.)—Today's issue of the magazine Time named Chancellor Adolf Hitler of Germany as "man of the year," the designation Time gives annually to the person who has caused the most dramatic change in the course of history.

"For 1938," the magazine said, "there was only one serious contender: Hitler. Greatest single news event of 1938 took place on Sept. 29, when four statesmen met at the Fuehrerhaus, in Munich, to redraw the map of Europe . . .

Reaps Rich Harvest

"Herr Hitler reaped on that day at Munich the rich harvest of an audacious, defiant, ruthless foreign policy he had pursued for five and a half years . . . Most other world figures of 1938 faded in importance as the year drew to a close. Prime Minister Chamberlain's "peace with honor' seemed more than ever to have achieved neither . . . Among many Frenchmen there rose a feeling that Premier Daladier, by a few strokes of the pen at Munich, had turned France into a second-rate power . . . During 1938 Dictator Mussolini was only a decidedly junior partner in the firm of Hitler and Mussolini, Inc. His noisy agitation to get Corsica and Tunis from France was rated as a weak bluff whose immediate objectives were no more than cheaper tolls for Italian ships in the Suez canal and control of the Djibouti-Addis Ababa railroad . . .

"On the American scene, 1938 was no one man's year. Certainly it was not Franklin Roosevelt's: His purge was beaten and his party lost most of its bulge in the congress."

Lesser Men Chosen

Time's lesser men of the year included:

"Undoubted crook of the year was the late Frank Donald Coster (nee Musica), with Richard Whitney, now in Sing Sing prison, as runner-up.

"Aviator of the year was 33-year-old Howard Hughes, diffident millionaire, who flew a sober, precise, foolproof course 14,716 miles round the top of the world in three days, 19 hours, eight minutes.

"Radio's man of the year was youthful Orson Welles, who, in his famous 'The War of the Worlds' broadcast, scared fewer people than Hitler, but more than had ever been frightened by radio before . . ."

Gabriel Pascal, producer of "Pygmalion," based on a drama of George Bernard Shaw, was "cineman" of the year. Science men of the year, for discovering that nicotinic acid was a cure for human pellagra, were: Drs. Tom Douglas Spies, of Cincinnati general hospital, Marion Arthur Blankenhorn, of the University of Cincinnati, Clark Niel Cooper, of Waterloo, Iowa.

Pope Also Named

Religious men were Pope Pius XI, because he "spoke with bitter sadness' of Italy's anti-semitic laws, the harrying of Italian Catholic action groups, the reception Mussolini gave Hitler last May," and the German Protestant pastor Martin Niemoller who "gave courageous witness to his faith" by spending most of the year in prison.

Time's cover, captioned "Man of 1938," is the reproduction of an etching by Baron Rudolph Charles Von Ripper, described by the magazine as "a Catholic who found Germany intolerable."

It portrays Hitler as an organist playing a "hymn of hate in a desecrated cathedral while victims dangle on a St. Catherine's wheel (above the organ's pipes) and the nazi hierarchy looks on."

Recognizable in the symbolic etching is the figure of Gen. Hermann Wilhelm Goering. Four figures dresesd in the ermine robes of royalty stand to the right of the organ's console.

Though blind, Charley Gazeley, of Burton Latimer, Northants, England, makes bicycles from scrap metal as a hobby.

Farm Groups Are Chosen

The 1939 AAA county committee composed of three members and two alternates, was selected Thursday by representatives of six districts in Lubbock county in a meeting in the county agent's office.

This group will direct activities under the program for the coming year.

County Agent C. C. Jobson and W. F. Johnson, administrative assistant, and secretary, met with the delegates in advisory capacity.

Lilley Reelected

C. E. Lilley, Slaton farmer who has been chairman the past year, was reelected to that post. John R. Murrell, Shallowater, was named vice chairman in place of Grover Gillett, also of that community; R. A. Powell of Becton was renamed; H. C. Johnston, Monroe was named first alternate and W. H. Killian, Idalou, second alternate. Killian was formerly a member of the county committee.

Delegates at the meeting were, Judge C. Smith, Slaton, Murrell, George C. Eklund, Woodrow; E. L. Wheeler, Wolfforth; W. W. Lewis, Idalou and S. S. Alcorn, Monroe.

Following are the six community committees, as reported to Secretary Johnson:

Idalou, W. H. Killian, chairman; J. L. Thomas, vice chairman; E. W. Reddell, third member; Wilbur Lemon, first alternate. R. A. Powell was elected to the committee but his selection as a member of the county committee automatically changed his status on the local group.

Nix Heads Monroe Group

Monroe, Pat Nix, chairman; J. R. Shipp, vice chairman; R. E. Fielding, third member; Fred Kveton, first alternate. H. C. Johnston was named chairman but his selection to the county committee resulted in moving up of other members.

Shallowater, O. C. Medlock, chairman; Earl Merrell, vice chairman; Grover C. Gillett, third member; W. C. Gardner, first alternate. Murrell was chosen chairman, but his selection on the county committee also forced a change in the original slate.

Cooper, L. W. Wilke, chairman; George Ecklund, vice chairman; W. B. Copeland, third member; Curtis L. Boyd, first alternate; Otis A. Rogers, second alternate.

Wolfforth, E. L. Wheeler, chairman; G. K. Horton, vice chairman; Ed McCrummen, third member; O. C. Heard, first alternate; J. C. Simmons, second alternate.

Slaton, Judge C. S. Smith, chairman; L. E. Park, vice chairman; J. W. Alspaugh, a third member; C. Z. Fine, first alternate. C. E. Lilley was named vice chairman, but his selection on the county committee automatically removed him and advanced the three other members.

Final Opportunities Being Offered To Get Buttons

Today and Saturday will be the final opportunities to buy Red Raider buttons here which will be the official badge of those attending the Cotton bowl game.

Chamber of commerce officials reminded that the red lettering on the buttons is such that they will be useful on any future trips which concern either Lubbock or Texas Technological college.

Committee in charge of distribution of the buttons said Thursday night that they would be gathered Saturday afternoon and sent to Dallas. Street venders will sell them there for possibly 25 cents. Cost here is 10 cents.

Badges are on sale at Hub Clothiers, McDavis Clothiers, Walton's Men's store, Hilton hotel cigar stand, Mark Halsey drugs No. 1 and 2, and Lubbock hotel.

Guns Of Gibraltar Roar In Grim Warning

Spanish Ship Is Grounded

GIBRALTAR, Dec. 30. (U.P.)British and French warships guarded the Spanish loyalist destroyer Jose Luis Diez today as it lay grounded at Gibralter. Beside it lay the nationalist destroyer Jupiter which it rammed when, crippled by gunfire from seven insurgent warships, it made for shore.

Three British subjects were wounded, one seriously by nationlist shells which struck the village of Catalan Bay, on the east side of the isthmus of Gibraltar, during the fight.

Guns Fire Warning

The guns of the great "rock," the impregnable British fortress which guards the strait, fired blank shots in warning—and full gun crews stood by ready to fire real shells if necessary.

Seven men of the loyalist destroyer were killed in the battle and 11 were wounded.

The destroyer fired six torpedoes during its fight against hopeless odds, and members of the crew told the United Press that they believed the nationalist armed sloop Calvo Sotelo, which was unaccounted for, had been struck.

As the crippled Jose Luis Diez made for shore after the battle, two British destroyers and a French one raced in between it and the nationalist attackers so that any shot fired would have been fired at them. They were able to do so because the loyalist ship was then in British waters.

To Repell Attacks

As soon as the Jose Luis Diez had been grounded, and sent its wounded men ashore to hospital in Gibraltar, Gen. Sir Edmund Ironside, commander in chief and governor general of Gibraltar, put a strong British armed guard aboard it, with orders to repel any attack.

It was understood that the escort was under the command of a British general officer.

There were indications that a serious intentional incident might result from one of the most dramatic incidents of the Spanish civil war.

Turmoil Grips Youth Meeting

(By The Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 30.—Turmoil gripped the Oklahoma youth legislature today when communism was mentioned and order was restored only after delegates were led in prayer.

Charges that "reds" were on the arrangements committee were interspersed with attacks on the doctrine itself and a statement that policies of the American Youth congress were controlled by the communist party.

Bedlam broke out immediately after Miss Sara Morris, youth council chairman, read her yearly report to a joint session of the house and senate.

Negro Elected

Other developments included election of an Oklahoma City negro delegate, Wynard Normand, as house floor leader; promise of several delegates to introduce Saturday a resolution condemning Communism, Fascism and Naziism, and close observance by American Legion officials of the group's activities.

Merel Rogers of Pawnee attacked Miss Morris' report, charging that the arrangements committee, which is headed by Miss Morris, had sent unauthorized delegates to the National Youth congress.

"Bunch Of Reds"

"The arrangements committee is made up of a bunch of reds and reds drew up the constitution," he asserted.

Henry Lee Sweezy of Stillwater read a report sent to Milt Phillips, state American legion adjutant, by H. L. Chailleaux, director of the National Americanism commission, concerning the American Youth congress.

The letter charged the American Youth congress included many well known members of the young Communist league and that policies of the congress were controlled by the Communist party.

Texas Tech Band Will Leave Saturday On Trip To Dallas

Texas Technological college's Matador band tonight starts a full program that will give it little respite until after the Tech-St. Mary's game in the Cotton bowl Monday afternoon.

The band will rehearse at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the textile engineering building, said D. O. Wiley, director. Boarding three chartered buses, it will leave at 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning for Dallas.

From 12:30 to 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon, it will participate in a program over WFAA from Baker hotel's Peacock terrace. That afternoon will be spent in drilling on North Dallas High school football field, in preparation for elaborate demonstrations to be presented between halves of the bowl game. It will play at a mammoth rally at fair park at 7 o'clock Sunday night, then will present a 30-minute concert opening at 9:30 o'clock that night at Palace theater in Dallas.

When special trains loaded with fans pull into Union terminal at 8:30 o'clock Monday morning, the scarlet-clad bandsters will be present and will lead the West Texas parade to the Adolphus hotel. It will participate in a 30-minute program over the Mutual Broadcasting system, opening at 1:30 o'clock Monday afternoon in the Cotton bowl, then will play during the game.

Climax of the band's participation in Cotton bowl festivities will be reached between halves of the game, when it presents several elaborate demonstrations to the accompaniment of appropriate music. Ninety-six musicians and the drum major, Lee Hackler of Topeka, Kas., and two twirlers, Edwin Hale of Lubbock and Ruth Clark of Breckenridge, will participate in the demonstrations.

The band will spell out "Howdy," reversing so as to face both sides, and will play "How Do You Do, Everybody?"; will form "Gaels" and play "On To Victory," Gaels fight song; will form a mammoth bell, pendulum included, and play "Bells of St. Mary's; the Double-T and play the Matador song; and last, a huge star and play the Cotton Bowl Jubilee song and "The Eyes of Texas."

High Schools To Join

Director Wiley announced Thursday night the Lubbock High school band of approximately 74 members, in new uniforms, and Mexia High school band of about 90 members would participate in the forming of the star demonstration, as well as in playing with the Tech band during the game. The Lubbock High school band, in gold and black uniforms, will form a star inside the scarlet one and the Mexia band, in maroon uniforms, one on the outside.

Mexia and Lubbock High school bands have been designated as official bands also representing Tech and will sit alongside the Matador band at the game. H. A. Anderson, high school director here, and his musicians will go on the Avalanche-Journal special train leaving Sunday night.

Plan To Train Pilots Given Backing Of Student Union

NEW YORK, Dec. 30 (AP) — The American Student union last night endorsed President Roosevelt's plan to train 20,000 college youths each year to fly planes.

In a resolution adopted by a 256-72 vote the union said it would "watch the experiment closely to see that it is kept under civilian controll," and to guard against exclusion of students because of "beliefs, creed or color."

BUCK TURNS ON HUNTER

BRANDON, Vt. (U.P.) — Frank Malinowski, 22, almost lost his life when a wounded deer reversed the usual hunter-hunted order and pinned him to a tree. But the youth freed an arm, whisked out his hunting knife and plunged it into the neck of the 14-point, 186, pound buck—killing the animal.

About 75 per cent of persons killed in urban automobile accidents in the United States are pedestrians.

General Exodus Of Lubbockites To Dallas And Cotton Bowl Is Beginning

Many To Leave Here Sunday

Judging from the conversations on every hand there will be a general exodus of Lubbockites to Dallas this week-end. Many families plan to leave early Sunday morning for the big city, spending New Year's Day en route. College students enrolled in Texas universities and colleges plan to return to school by way of Dallas for the famous Gaels-Red Raiders game and hundreds of Tech students in discussing holiday plans stated such intentions.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Benson, jr., plan to attend the game as do Mr. and Mrs. Clem Boverie, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Furr, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Eagan, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Sanders, jr., and Miss Wyndham Gaye Robertson.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Telford and son, Lindsey, Marion Turner and Joyce Wheelock are leaving early Sunday morning for Dallas and the Bowl game.

For Tech Club

Las Chaparritas alumnae, active members and pledges plan to attend a luncheon Monday morning in the Mural room of the Baker hotel. Mrs. Patrick Henry of Dallas, the former Miss Jean Shelley Jennings of Lubbock, is to entertain at her home, 4805 Montrose, Greenway Park, Sunday afternoon between 4 and 6 o'clock honoring the young women, their husbands and escorts. She will be assisted by other alumnae.

Dr. and Mrs. James Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Davis are numbered among the Lubbock residents who will attend the Bowl game.

Official Night Club Ball Will Be Held

DALLAS, Dec. 30. (Special)—All West Texans are invited to attend the official Cotton bowl night club ball this New Year's eve at the roller rink in State Fair park in the city of Dallas.

The officials of the Cotton bowl are well prepared for an overflow crowd that is expected to swarm in Dallas for the New Year gaieties. Curtis Sanford, director general of the association said: "When these folks from West Texas visit us for the Cotton bowl jubilee, we feel that they are our guests and want them to have a real good time because that is the meaning of jubilee. We want these folks when they return home to tell the ones who were not so fortunate to enjoy these festivities that Dallas really took care of them in an entertaining way."

The official Cotton bowl night club ball will have Ernie Fields and his original orchestra to furnish the dance music starting at 10 p. m. and will last until the wee hours of early 1939. The floor show is made up of twenty dancers direct from New York City called the Harlem Revue.

For reservations, phone or wire the Cotton bowl office in the Adolphus hotel in the city of Dallas. The price is $1.65.

Mrs. Nolan Ray Is Club Hostess On Thursday

Mrs. Nolan Ray was hostess to the My-T-Fine club Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Leslie Strickland, 1614 Sixteenth street. Mrs. Ben Porter made high score in bridge games for members and Mrs. Leonard Hamrick was high for visitors. Refreshments were served to Mesdames Allan Sparkman, Donald Helm, James White, Porter, Strickland and Hamrick.

The club will meet January 12 with Mrs. Helm, 811 Avenue N, at 2:30 o'clock.

Mrs. John D. Millings Is Honored With Shower

Mrs. Riley F. Hule, 3008 Twentieth street, was hostess Thursday night honoring Mrs. John D. Millings, the former Miss Esther Moser.

After contests, the honoree received a shower of miscellaneous gifts. There were 15 guests.

Mary Martin, Texas Girl, Is Picked As Glamour Girl For 1939; Large Mouth And Straight Nose Are Verdict Of Jury

BY BETTY CLARKE
AP Feature Service Writer

The 1939 Glamour Girl—what will her height, her weight, her coloring and her personality be?

I've just come from a discussion on that very subject. The participants were Toni Frissell, ace fashion photographer, Dorothy Wilding, official portrait photographer of the British royal family; Gloria Bristol and Veronica Dengel, New York beauty specialists, Lilly Dache and Valentina, fashion creators for American glamour queens, and Elsa Maxwell, society party-giver. Fair enough cross-section of opinion, wouldn't you say?

Her Measurements

The 1939 Glamour Girl will measure: Height, 5 feet 7 inches (without heels); weight, 120 pounds; bust, 34 1-2 inches; waist, 26 inches; hips, 35 inches. Note that she's two inches taller this year than last and five pounds heavier than any rating for fifteen years.

There's a catch to this figure measuring, points out Mrs. Dengel, and Mrs. Frissell. They agree that the 1939 Glamour Girl will be muscularly rounded "like a Greek boy," but they say she won't be voluptuously curved. She'll be high-bosomed and short-waisted and extremely long of limb. Her feet will be large—size six and a half—since she must be lithe and sure-footed, not mincing.

Her mouth must look huge (Frissell) but not be painted slashes (Bristol). Laugh wrinkles are allowed—but no other. She'll have a straight nose, slightly tiptilted, and very wide nostrils.

Her Make-Up

Platinum and straw blondes, fake carrot tops and henna queens are definitely out, decree both Bristol and Dache. (Take your bows you lucky brunettes and near-brunettes.)

Green or violet eyes are in—baby-blues out.

Ivory-skin with the radiant glow of good health is a must. Make-up will enhance—but not cover up. Eyebrows won't be plucked too much, even if they grow together.

One little affectation is allowed: false eyelashes. But they can't look pasted-on—just thick and silky, to do away with that hard look mascara gave glamour girls of former years.

MARY MARTIN
Broadway Actress Picked As 1939 Glamour Girl

Her eyelids will be smooth—but not heavy. She'll wear just enough rouge to give a healthy bloom to her skin. When summer comes around she'll turn a soft rose bronze, like a Bali beauty—not the deep, deep brown popular until last year.

Her Hair-Do

Hair will be short and curled into ringlets like a Greek runner's (Frissell) but it will not be up. (Unanimous). It will be brushed to gleaming perfection and will have a slightly wind-blown effect.

To whom do they point as "typical 1939 Glamour Girls?"

Mary Martin, star of the current Broadway musical "Leave It To Me." Countess Kurt Haugwitz-Reventlow, the former Barbara Hutton, is cited as eyebrow-trend evidence.

Countess Haugwitz-Reventlow
She Has 1939 Eyebrows

Facts And Figures Of Lubbock Prepared For Distribution

More than 1,000 extra copies of "Facts and figures of Lubbock" have been prepared and will be distributed to a carefully selected list during the Cotton Bowl festival in Dallas, according to information given at the chamber of commerce this morinng.

The facts and figures are contained in a pamphlet which supplies briefly statistical and descriptive information concerning Lubbock and its trade territory.

In Dallas, the pamphlet will be distributed only to those who ask for it and to a select group of others who are known to be interested in Lubbock, Texas Technological college and the South Plains.

Beauticians Will Gather In City To Organize Unit

Organization of an area unit of the Texas association of Accredited Beauty Culturists is scheduled at a meeting in Hilton Hotel here at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, according to announcement Thursday.

George W. Scoggins of Abilene, hair stylist, will be guest speaker. Amendments to the Texas beauty culture laws to be presented at the approaching session of the Texas legislature will be discussed.

UNBLISTERED CRUST

Pricking pie crusts to prevent them from blistering during baking must be a thorough job. The sides and bottom of the crust should be pricked at inch intervals. When baked, the crust fills up the holes so that the filling will not run through.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Haynes and family, who have been on a holiday vacation trip to visit relatives in Woodville and Port Arthur, are expected home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. McConnell of Houston have returned to their home after spending Christmas with Mrs. McConnell's parents, Mr and Mrs. J. B. Shannon.

Holiday Observance Will Be Staged In City Monday

Most member firms of the Retail Merchants association and nearly all official offices will be closed Monday in observance of the New Year's holiday, according to announcement Thursday.

January dollar day will be the following Monday, Jan. 9, it was also decided.

Banks and the postoffice will observe the holiday next Monday, as well as all government offices and other offices.

A large number of stores, it was indicated, were closing down in order to permit employes to attend the Cotton Bowl football game in Dallas. In many instances, it was said, stores are furnishing employes with tickets to the game.

Belgium is the leading export market for American passenger automobiles, while Japan is the chief truck market.

Alvin Allison Is Appointed To Aid In Plans For Dinner

LEVELLAND, Dec. 30. (Special)—Appointment of Alvin R. Allison, Hockley county judge and legislative representative-elect, as a member of the arrangements committee of 200 for the "plain peoples" Jackson day dinner" in Dallas the night of Jan. 7 was received here Thursday.

State Senator G. H. Nelson and Homer L. Pharr, both of Lubbock, also are members of the committee.

S. E. McMillan Is On Last Lap Of His Public Service

S. E. McMillan is on the last lap of six years of public service in Lubbock county, having served four years as county treasurer and the last two as justice of peace. He was not a candidate for reelection.

Saturday will be his last full day to serve as justice of peace. Sunday happens to be the alternate Sunday on which Walter Davies' justice court will remain open. On Monday, McMillan will open the office but will surrender it to his successor later that day.

McMillan was engaged in the real estate business before entering public office and will resume that work.

BE CAREFUL WITH BEER

Do not store beer in the coldest part of refrigerator, such as directly next to the ice or freezing unit. Over-chilled beer loses some of its flavor.

Baptist Group Has Meeting

Plans for the new year were made and the old year's business completed at a meeting of the First Baptist Women's Missionary society at the activity center Thursday afternoon.

Ten members of the executive committee met at 11:45 a. m. for a business discussion, then 35 members of the W.M.S. gathered at 12:30 o'clock for a covered dish luncheon which was followed by the general meeting.

Mrs. R. S. Wilkinson gave devotional on the subject, "How We Might Start the New Year." Officers submitted final reports for the year and the president, Mrs. Gradie W. Bownds, reviewed accomplishments of 1938. Mesdames Bownds, C. Fred Litton and W. L. Pattillo discussed a recent state W.M.U. convention they attended in Dallas.

Among plans decided upon for 1939 is the reorganization of the circles. The circle leaders are to meet in the home of Mrs. Bownds for that purpose Saturday afternoon. At least one new circle, for business and professional women, will be added to the group.

The new circle leaders Saturday will announce places of meeting for Monday afternoon. One 1938 circle, Lena Lair, will meet with its old group at 3 p. m. Monday in the home of Mrs. W. E. Twitty.

It was announced that a quarterly associational W.M.U. meeting will be held Tuesday at the Baptist church in Whitharral, beginning at 10 a. m.

City's Mules

highest bid, according to information given at the city hall, was $145.

Thus the city, for the first time in its history, became a municipality which owns not a single piece of horse-flesh. Its motorization has been completed in every department — the first time that has been true since Lubbock was large enough to have a municipal government.

The change came about with the delivery late Thursday of two large trucks and trailers for the garbage department. Each truck and trailer comprises a unit, of which there are four. Each of the units, according to officials, will handle approximately five times as much garbage and will haul it further than is possible with a mule team and wagon. The more distant hauling will be necessary because the dump ground is to be moved approximately a mile further from the city limits than the present grounds, which is at the eastern edge of the limits.

The city never has had any extensive investment in horses and mules. It has never owned more than 10 at any one time. This is explained by the fact that practically the whole of Lubbock's growth—from a cattle town to a modern city—has taken place within a space of less than 25 years.

The city, for example, never has had anything but a completely motorized fire department, having bought its first piece of fine equipment as far back as 1916. Even before that, it possessed a sort of makeshift fire truck which was adequate for the needs.

Ostrich Plumes Recall By-Gone Period

Ostrich feathers are seen featured on the white velvet hoopskirt gown worn by Mrs. John H. G. Pell, socially prominent New Yorker. With a wide band of the white feathers outlining the strapless decolletage, Mrs. Pell, with her hair up, wearing a chatelaine necklace and long earrings, carries a tiny ostrich feather muff, to complete the picture of a charming old-fashioned cameo.

PAINTING GOURDS

It is time to shellac some of the mail, unusual shaped gourds and squash. Select fruit that is free from blemishes and soft spots and paint with clear shellac. Dry thoroughly and they make interesting decorations.

Road accidents cost the London hospitals about $1,000,000 annually, according to estimates. Less than 10 per cent of this ever is recovered.

Yule Wedding Told In City

The marriage of Miss Ruth Henderson of Idalou and J. B. Shannon, jr., which took place Christmas Eve at the home of the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Ray Red, 1112-B Eighteenth street, was announced this morning. Rev. C. T. Jackson, a Methodist minister, officiated.

The bride wore a frock of Harding blue and a corsage of sweetheart roses.

Twenty relatives and friends were guests.

The couple left for a short wedding trip to Dallas and attended the Lubbock-Corpus Christi football game Monday. They are at home at 1405 Twenty-fourth street.

Mr. Shannon, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Shannon, is a graduate of Sunset High school in Dallas and a former student at Texas Technological college. He is assistant manager of the Western Pine Lumber company. Mrs. Shannon also is a former Tech student.

Texas Ranch Country Balances Books In Black As Year Is Close

Bank Balances Are Bulging

BY L. C. SLOAN
Associated Press Writer

The Texas ranch country balanced its books in black ink as prosperous 1938 ended.

Bank accounts bulged with cash from sales of last year's surpluses and this year's crops of livestock, wool and mohair. Christmas rains had revived dry ranges. Livestock prices were higher generally on firm markets.

Texas Receipts Rise

While ranch receipts of the United States fell 6 per cent below 1937 figures during the first ten months of the year, the U. S. department of agriculture estimated Texas receipts rose 12 per cent to total $159,269,000.

This compared with $146,277,000 in the like period of 1937 when markets nose-dived with the business recession.

The total cash receipts for Texas ranch products during 1938 are expected to run well above $191,000,000.

Fort Worth livestock commission men helped swell this total by paying during 1938 an estimated $59,204,556 for cattle, sheep and hogs.

Wool Growers Paid

Northern buyers paid West Texas wool growers an estimated $15,500,000 for 65,000,000 pounds of wool, and goatmen got about $6,000,000 for about 15,000,000 pounds of mohair. Unsold in West Texas were about 3,400,000 pounds of wool and 3,000,000 pounds of mohair. Markets for these products were in the doldrums last New Year's and the carryovers were several million pounds greater.

"Livestock producers and feeders in the southwest haye had a good year," said W. L. Pier, vice-president of the Fort Worth National bank.

Unusually large numbers of cattle and lambs have been sold and shipped to other states at prices which have held steady on cattle and have gradually increased on lambs since early fall," Pier said.

Fewer Being Fed

"Fewer lambs and cattle are being fed in Texas than a year ago, due to two things: good stocker prices and lack of sufficient moisture to furnish the usual feeding on grain fields.

"During the past week, however, beneficial rain has been received over most of the territory, more being needed, however, to insure early grass and weeds. Without this, Texas will not have the usual number of fat lambs and cattle for the spring market," he concluded.

In West Central Texas around San Angelo, ranges appeared in slightly better condition than at last year's end, due to heavy summer rains which left fall and winter grass. There recent rains helped ranges materially.

At the same time a drouth of several months was broken in southwestern and South Texas areas.

Ranges Are Good

South Texas ranges were termed in "tip-top condition" by W. O. Cox, agricultural manager of the Houston Chamber of Commerce. He said 600,000 head of livestock were handled in 1938 on the Houston market at prices comparable with those paid at Kansas City.

On the South Plains around Lubbock, the range was reported fair with many ranchmen supplementing pasturage with cottonseed cake.

Panhandle range and cattle conditions were reported better than last year despite dry weather which curtailed wheat pasturage.

An increase in cattle auctioning was reported. An Amarillo auction handled $1,270,000 worth of cattle at its weekly sales in 1938. Four Lubbock auctions averaged 2,500 to 3,000 weekly.

Panhandle stocker sales were especially brisk as cattlemen guarded against overstocking. On the South Plains more farmers fed small bunches of calves than last year.

Range Prices Strong

Range prices for cattle held strong. Around Lubbock steer calves sold at 8 to 9 cents a pound, heifers at 6 1-2 to 7 1-2, feeder yearlings 7 to 8 and heifers 6 to 7 cents.

Range prices around San Angelo were slightly lower than these and few lambs and calves remained unsold.

Lambs were quoted at 7 cents for feeders in West Texas with yearling wethers at 5 to 5 1-2 cents a pound. Lambs sold as high as 8 1-4 cents last year when a large part of the crop moved before mrakets slumped in the fall.

Some cattlemen were disturbed this week by announcement that Mexico had placed an embargo against exports of cattle to the United States. The extent of this embargo and its effect upon the United States industry remained undetermined.

Engineering Feats Of Nature Talked

NEW YORK, Dec. 30. (AP)—Engineering feats of nature that dwarfed the most ambitious projects of mankind were discussed last night at the convention of the Geological Society of America.

Prof. Richard Foster Flint of Yale university and Dr. William H. Irwin of the University of North Carolina and the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation reported that the Grand Coulee dam in Central Washington virtually would restore the conditions that existed during the last ice age.

They said the dam "will reproduce in concrete a blockade of glacier ice that dammed the Columbia thousand years ago and will convert the Columbia upstream into a lake similar to one created by the ancient glacier dam."

Clay, silt and sediment, deposited in the Columbia canyon to a thickness of 800 feet, told the story during the present excavation.

The advancing glacier, 40 miles wide and at least a half-mile thick, triumphed over the roaring river in a great conflict for the channel the scientists reported. The river was dammed and eventually spilled into a new channel to the south, down which it flowed until the ice melted then it reoccupied its former route.

BRITAIN MUST PASS LAW

LONDON (AP)—Before the Air Raid Precautions department of the Home Office can stage a blackout of London, Parliament may have to pass a special bill.

It was pointed out by an official that suppliers of light in London are compelled by law to maintain lighting services. The regulations could not be suspended by the department or by suppliers.

Report Given On Epidemics

A weekly morbidity statistics bulletin received from the state department of health shows Lubbock and the South Plains are not escaping the mild influenza epidemic in Texas, although they are free from some of the infectious diseases over the state.

For the week ending last Saturday, there were 20 influenza cases and one scarlet fever case in Lubbock county. The report showed 127 influenza and 74 scarlet fever cases in the state.

One County Exceeds

The fact that number of influenza cases in this county was exceeded in only one other county and equalled in one other was counteracted by statistics showing that numerous other counties were suffering more diseases, some of more serious nature than influenza. Also, in proportion to population, the number in this county was smaller than that in several others.

The report gave the following statistics for several other South Plains counties:

Dickens—Influenza, 5.

Floyd—Influenza, 3; diphtheria, 1; scarlet fever, 1.

Hale—Influenza, 2.

Lamb—Influenza, 10.

Motley—Diphtheria, 2; influenza, 20; pellagra, 1.

Dawson—Influenza, 18; scarlet fever, 2.

The report did not list all counties.

State Totals Released

Numbers of cases in the state reported for various diseases last week were: Diphtheria, 47; dysentery, 14; malaria, 30; measles, 34; meningitis, 2; pellagra, 13; poliomyelitis, 1; small pox, 2; tuberculosis, 57; typhoid fever, 20; typhus fever, 14; undulant fever, 8; whooping cough, 21; chickenpox, 170; dengue, 1; mumps, 14; ophthalmia, 1; paratyphoid, 2; pneumonia, 128; rabies, 4.

No figures by counties were given for chickenpox, dengue, mumps, ophthalmia, paratyphoid, pneumonia, or rabies.

The health reports are mailed to the state department each week by health officials in the various counties. Dr. W. L. Baugh, member of the state board of health, sends reports fro Lubbock county.

The bulletin showed number of influenza cases in the state for last week exceeded the number for the preceding week by 43, but that it was 66 less than the number for the corresponding week last year.

Mystery Is Clear As Man Appears

Mystery of the disappearance of R. D. Trentress, 22, was solved by him Thursday.

Reported missing since Dec. 18 and having caused no little alarm among friends and relatives, as well as law enforcement officers who had begun to fear foul play, he walked into the sheriff's office here Thursday afternoon "to straighten things out."

After being shown his picture, which was published in the Wednesday issue of the Morning Avalanche along with a report that he was missing and was being hunted by officers, he said he was surprised. Friends accompanied him to the sheriff's office.

"A Guy Came Along"

"Sunday, Dec. 18, I started home from Lamesa, that is, to a place about 13 miles west of Lamesa where I had been working," he said, "and a guy came along and I was gonna ride with him.

"He was going to Portales, N. M., and I have an uncle there and I decided to ride that far with him. I spent Christmas there and stayed until Tuesday evening.

"I rode the bus to Lubbock Tuesday and was here all day Wednesday. I started to Lamesa today (Thursday) and met my neighbors and decided to come in and straighten it up. After I saw my picture in the paper, I decided I'd better get on in."

He said he had no idea that he had caused so much worry. He spent Wednesday night at a farm residence near Lubbock, he said.

STILL 'CLOSING OUT'

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP)—"Going out of business" and "closing out" sales hereafter will be governed by the Newport board of aldermen. Such sales will be held only with permission of the board because one of the members noticed that a firm which started a closing out sale last spring is still closing out.

The University of Poitiers, in western France, was founded in 1431.

Golf In Swing-Time

A symphony of light and motion is caught by new ultra-speed photography making 1-100,000 of a second exposures of Bobby Jones driving a golf ball. Jones' symmetrical swing and follow-through, shown above, take just 61-100 of a second. Taken by the research department of A. G. Spalding & Bros., the photos below show, at left, two wires placed in front of the golf ball. When hit, the ball forces them together, closing a circuit that sets off the speed flash. At right is portrayed the moment of impact, with the side of the ball flattened by the club head.

Gay Inaugural Of Governor Olson In California To Last Six Days

Big Carnival Is Scheduled

BY JOHN W. DUNLAP
United Press Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 30.—California, the golden state where everything is "colossal" in true Hollywood style, expects to live up to its reputation with the gala inauguration of Culbert L. Olson, the first Democratic governor in 41 years.

Olson's celebration will open Monday, Jan. 2, and culminate Saturday, Jan. 7, with a barbecue and carnival at the state fair grounds with free food for an anticipated 25,000 visitors. Olson said he wanted the rank and file of the state's citizenry to help him celebrate, so he invited everyone to the barbecue, where not only the food is free but dancing, candy, fruit, entertainment by movie stars, athletics and sightseeing.

California has witnessed some varied inauguration events but Olson's barbecue is the first of its kind. Visitors at the fair grounds can enter a "jitterbug" contest and those last 55 may compete in a waltz contest. Four "big name" dance bands will play all day and famous movie stars will appear. Entertainers by the dozen are being rounded up and all will donate their services.

50,000 Pounds Of Beef

The preparations for the barbecue are staggering. More than 50,000 pounds of dressed steer beef will be cooked in deep barbeque pits for 48 hours before serving. Huge vats will be used to cook the 4,000 gallons of barbeque sauce. Edward Romero, chef from Los Angeles, said he will require 10,000 pounds of beans and 25,000 French rolls, as well as 25,000 gallons of coffee. Ten assistant chefs will help Romero with the cooking and service supervision.

Another high spot of the inaugural festivities will be the formal ball Friday, Jan. 6. Olson originally intended it to follow the inauguration before the legislature, but later changed the date to accomodate his friends and Hollywood celebritics from Southern California. They pointed out that the Rose Bowl football game and Tournament of Roses parade in Pasadena would prevent them from attending the ball in Sacramento the same day.

Despite the fact Monday is a holiday, state law requires the new governor to take his oath of office before a joint session of the legislature. Both Olson and Lieut. Gov. Ellis Patterson will make addresses and Olson will receive the governor's 19-gun salute as the ceremonies end.

Inaugural Quiet In 1935

Olson's inaugural week will be a sharp contrast to the scene four years ago when Frank F. Merriam, 68-year-old Republican, dictated the procedure. Merriam shunned the spectacular and appeared only at his inauguration and the ball.

Perhaps the gayest celebration was sponsored by "Gentleman Jim" Rolph, Jr., the immaculate San Francisco mayor who preceded Merriam in office. He always wore a white carnation and cowboy boots. Rolph revived the formal ball, dormant since 1903, and Sacramento danced and celebrated for three days. More than 8,000 persons attended the inaugural ball.

Peter H. Burnett, colorful figure of the old gold rush days, originated the inaugural balls in 1848, a year before California was admitted to the union. Newton Booth made his 1871 banquet momentous by serving oysters on the halfshell, then considered a rare delicacy in California. After George Pardee's inaugural in 1903, the ball custom was abandoned until Rolph revived it in 1929.

Johnson Eschewed Pomp

Probably the least pretentious governor in the state's history, with the possible exception of Merriam, was Hiram Johnson, a California senator since 1916 and the only governor to be re-elected in his home state. Johnson refused to have an inaugural ball, engraved invitations, banquet, parade, brass bands or the usual pomb and splendor. When it came time to go to the capitol for the ceremony, he shunned a carriage and walked with his sons.

Despite Olson's barbeque, the new governor is not considered a headline hunter or spectacular politician. The father of three grown children, he is white-haired and dignified, has a tall and commanding presence, and speaks slowly and quietly. Olson is 62 and was formerly a state senator in California and Utah. He lives in Los Angeles and has been a practicing attorney for 40 years.

Don't Drink And Drive Is Warning

CHICAGO, Dec. 30. (U.P.)—Stay alive—don't drink and drive!" was the plea made by the National Safety Council today in an effort to cut down New Year's eve traffic deaths.

The council offered five antidotes to traffic accidents:

"Stay away from the wheel if you drink—yes, even if you take 'just a couple.'

"Stay out of a car whose driver has been drinking.

"Don't forget that on New Year's eve you not only must watch your own driving, but be doubly cautious of the other driver.

"Excitement and inattention are just as dangerous as intoxication.

"Parents—urge your sons and daughters not to ride with drinking drivers. And set them a good example!"

Well Drilling Was Practiced In China Before Christian Era, Oil Institute States

NEW YORK, Dec. 30. (AP)—Well drilling, says the American Petroleum Institute, was practiced in China before the Christian era and it is believed water wells were drilled to depths exceeding half a mile with surprisingly primitive equipment. Ancient illustrations show the well-drilling methods of that period closely resembled modern cable tool drilling practices. The ancient driller lined the upper part of the well with perforated blocks of stone and used tubes of wrapped bamboo for the lower part, the forerunner of modern steel casing in oil wells.

In the early days of the petroleum industry the drilling was a relatively simple process. Oil was obtained a few hundred feet below the surface and drilling was effected by tools suspended from a pulley attached to a wooden tripod. Often a well could be completed in a few days.

Because of increasing demand for petroleum, search for oil has been pushed deeper into the earth. Wells a mile or two deep are now common, the deepest exceeding 15,000 feet. Rotary drilling has been improved and more efficient tools perfected. The weight of a string of rotary drilling tools often exceeds 50 tons. Strings of casing weighing more than 150 tons are not exceptional. Great skill is required in the manipulation of that enormous weight in drilling a straight hole, especially through inclined strata of rock.

Tech May Launch Strong Aerial Attack At Gaels

Sportometer

Big Football Business

By Collier Parris

ALLAS, Dec. 30.—Wednesday's "open house" at Southern Methoniversity's Ownby Stadium closed out the Texas Tech Red Raidpublic appearances" until next Monday—unless their attendance y at Sunday schools and churches of their individual bents serves ract extra Sabbath day worshippers.

"From now on, we aren't meeting the public until we play the Mary's Gaels here next Monday," Cawthon told the boys this rning. "We have a lotta work to do yet. But from a social ndpoint, you are through until the game is over. I'll take care the society details, and you boys put your minds on beating Mary's.

e Texas Tech mentor showed that he knew his way around when ught the Red Raiders here ten days before game time. A perchap with regard and respect for press and pictures, he knew ribes and cameramen would take up a lot of time. It was better, re, that he come in early, get the business over with press and and still have time for a few days of actual practice.

Secret workouts are the order from now on, but this does mean that Cawthon is turning on the Wallace Wade influe. He welcomes the newspaper guys and cameramen, but inis that every person who enters the S. M. U. stadium shall ve a pass, signed by him. He is not at all stingy about the sses," but is a bit particular about who gets them. Cawthon is with the sports newshawks; he is never too busy to talk h them, answer their questions, give information. Appreciae of publicity, but not of the demanding type, he is one of the t liked coaches in the country, so far as the sports lads are ncerned.

OM FOUDY, the demon press representative of St. Mary's univeras been here since Monday, and is getting the Gael story spread r town. He has been around Coach Madigan so long that he has d the genial mentor's attitude—one reeking of pessimism. But Tom winds up by carrying a big torch for St. Mary's.

u never saw a town take to an athletic organization like Dallas ng to the Red Raiders. But Dallas also has respect for St. Mary's. nsiders the Cotton Bowl game as one of the greatest of all games. allas admiration for the Red Raiders was well expressed Wednesnen more than a thousand folks thumbled their noses at the freezmperature and almost filled one side of the stadium to watch the workout. In addition, the fans have done everything possible to at coaches and players are entertained. The entertainment angle pted for the Raiders by the coaches.

Every newspaper and news service in town was represented at today's workout, which is nothing unusual because the ibes have been out there nearly every day since the boys hit rn.

From the Dallas News today, George White, sports editor, d Charley Burton, assistant, were there, and Ross Bedell, also the staff, slipped out for a spell. The Times-Herald was repented by Bill Singleton and Louis Cox, the Dispatch-Journal Flint Dupre and Bill McClanahan, the Associated Press by lix McKnight, the United Press by Bill Parker, the Star Teleam of Fort Worth by Frank Tolbert, the San Francisco pars by Tom Foudy, and the Avalanche and Journal by yrs truly.

d speaking of sports writers, it was a great day last Monday for le of our Houston friends when Corpus Christi defeated Lubbock state schoolboy grid championship. We speak of Ray Kornegay Houston Chronicle and Johnny Lyons of the Houston Post.

had been so long since a South Texas team had made a showing state race that the boys really thought they had something. And d not fail to let us know what they had.

OU PERHAPS noted the recent dope regarding Texas Tech and outhwest conference. This is a sore subject to your reporter, and ll please pardon us if we seem a bit critical.

day yesterday we tried to figure out, and find out, the why and ore of Southern Methodist university's sudden interest in Texas Southwest conference "application."

S. M. U. came out, as you know, as a campaign leader in ch's behalf, stating that the Dallas institution was highly in vor of accepting Tech into the conference.

The accompanying story, and stories since, have pointed out at "should Texas Tech make application next spring, at the ular May meeting of the Southwest conference fathers, the ds are in favor of acceptance of same." It was pointed out that h would have to make formal application for membership in er to be admitted, which would necessitate a meeting of the h board of directors, who would be compelled to "take back" previous "on record decision" regarding Tech's nonchalance ard seeking admission "after being refused for years and rs."

e sudden stand taken by S. M. U. strikes this reporter as being unny. We are willing to suppress the laugh, however, provided J. can talk the other dissenting schools into making it unanimous. Christian university, University of Texas and Texas A. & M. have d they would not oppose Texas Tech's admission to the league. has hinted the same. Arkansas and Rice have been noncommittal.

Tech made no official request for membership at the December . A member of the Tech board of directors did get in an unofficlicited, unauthorized lick in behalf of Tech, and the conference consider it—but did announce that it would consider the applicathe 1939 spring session.

Did they want to see how Tech came out against St. Mary's? did they want to kill Tech's chances for conference admission two more years by waiting until spring to act? College foot- schedules are made from one to two years in advance, and ally on a home-and-home basis. Tech's schedule is virtually plete for 1939, and is rapidly nearing completion for 1940. It be complete before the May session of the conference.

ess Texas Tech can procure absolute information that the Southnference will vote its admission UNANIMOUSLY, we sincerely e Texas Tech board of directors will not consider rescinding its in deciding never to apply for conference membership. Unless it ed BEFORE HAND that Tech will be admitted if it makes ap-, the Red Raider institution would be laying itself open to furmiliation by backing down on its decision to let the conference e offensive for a while.

er all, Tech has a pretty good defensive maneuver now; if the iders can defend themselves against the Gaels, and come out it won't take Southwest conference membership to keep it going.

re'll be more from day to day about the Red Raiders. We'd like have a little say about the Lubbock-Corpus Christi game. It won't n.

Toughest break was that experienced by Coach Weldon Chapn, who deserved to win if a coach ever did. For something like years he has been coaching Class A football teams, and his ns have been good every year. Trouble was, somebody in the district or in an adjacent district had a team just as good, better. Chapman's teams have knocked on the championship several times, only to be repulsed by a greater, but by no ns a better coached, team.

s year, Chapman had the best team, from start to finish. He tough breaks, starting early in the district race, but the smiles ne favored him when the breaks were worst, and he pulled . He won the district, and when Lubbock beat Amarillo, it was day for Lubbock. The state championship seemed in the bag. It even more secure when he downed the stout Vernon team in the ct. Breckenridge offered little trouble, neither did Masonic Home. Westerners were favored to sail on through.

bock had looked kinda terrible at times in the Breckenridge and Home game, but had pulled through with last half rallies. They ne to depend on those rallies, it seemed, but they didn't work Monday.

We think we know why the Westerners, a superior team any but Monday, didn't win. We think we printed it last week. Of e, those Webster fumbles were costly, and that third period lty for holding, after Lubbock had driven down field like valanche, was a rough break. Had it not been for that, the cerners might have scored, tied the count, and gone on to win another drive a few paces later.

the game goes down in the books as the worst exhibition turned e Westerners all season. Just where the fault lies, none can say We think it was because the people of Lubbock, the fans close layers, had done too much whispering, too much "pepping up," much gambling. They had the Westerners thinking they were en the big test came, the Westerners just didn't go to town. their feet in the clouds instead of on the ground.

• • •

's really no room to kick; the Westerners had a great season, t job, and we're for them as strongly as ever. By winning their district, quarter-final and semi-final games, they showed they tuff and the spirit, and we're all proud of them.

Record Crowd For Classic Is Expected

DALLAS, Dec. 30 (Special) — Texas Tech's Red Raiders "turned on the heat" here today as fans became even more excited over the big Cotton Bowl classic next Monday.

Coach Pete Cawthon planned the last hard workout for the colorful Techs for this afternoon, the squad tapering off tomorrow and taking things easy Sunday.

A record crowd will fill the huge Cotton Bowl if the weather behaves, or even if it turns bright and warmer by noon Monday, officials say. More than 30,000 tickets have been sold, but a bright day Monday will find the many box offices at the stadium rushed for remaining tickets.

West Texas fans who have not purchased tickets may get them upon arrival in Dallas. Ducats will be on sale at the Baker hotel Monday morning and at the stadium.

Raiders Work On Passes

Miss Opal Hill of Post, the Cotton Girl of the Nation, arrived here yesterday and was welcomed with a colorful parade. Miss Hill was guest at several local social functions during the day.

The flashy Red Raiders, however, forgot about social functions until after the Cotton Bowl game and went through one of the most spirited workouts since they have been here. All players were on hand and performed in an encouraging manner. The most encouraging part of the practice was the way the Crimsons tossed the ball around with accuracy and speed that suggested that an aerial game might be Texas Tech's main offensive weapon next Monday.

Dudley Akins, Elmer Tarbox, Rex Williams and Raymond Flusche came in for most of the pass defense work while Gene Barnett, Akins, C. L. Storrs and Woodrow Ramsey indulged in a forward passing rehearsal of their own. Tossing aerials in the pass defense drills were two Lubbock High school backs, Harold Parsons and Wayne "Rusty" Johnston, staying with the Raiders now. Also aiding the Raiders in their preparations for the powerful Gaels was Pete Cawthon, Jr., whose heaves of every description were praised by many of the Tech passers.

St. Mary's To Get Welcome

St. Mary's Gaels and several hundred fans arrive in Dallas Saturday morning about 10 o'clock and a parade and reception similar to that given the Red Raiders last week will be tendered the colorful Californians.

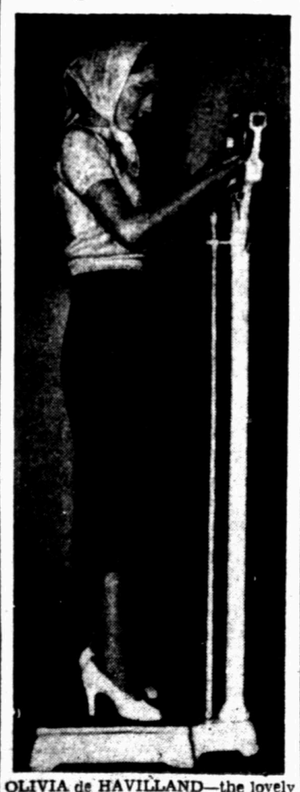

Coach Cawthon has not designated a starting lineup yet but from past records and workouts it will include Bobby Holmes, the 147 pound left halfback, who has recovered from an ankle injury and is showing a lot of pep and enthusiasm. Others in the lineup will probably be Elmer Tarbox at right half and Raymond Flusche at quarterback. The starting fullback post is in doubt with Charley Calhoun probably getting the nod over Walter Rankin and Jodie Marek, sophomores. Sharing left halfback honors will be Gene Barnett and Dudley Akins, with Akins probably taking over quarterback duties if necessary.

The team and coaches will attend Sunday school in a body at the First Baptist church Sunday and will take things easy the rest of the day, Coach Cawthon announced.

Promises Trouble For Tech

Ed "Hellzapoppin" Heffernan, 174-pound sophomore halfback who, according to Slip Madigan, can do everything but kick and cook, is the passing standout of the St. Mary's Gaels who will meet Tech's Red Raiders in the Cotton bowl Monday. He holds the record this year on the west coast for passes completed with average of 46.5.

Plainview's Bulldogs To Tackle Indians From Biloxi Today; Record Crowd Seen And City's Business Houses Close Up

PLAINVIEW, Dec. 30. (Special)— This city was crowded today with football fans from over West Texas as Plainview's Bulldogs and the Biloxi, Miss., Indians made ready for their intersectional meeting this afternoon.

A record seasons crowd was expected to overflow the Junior High school stadium for the contest. Plainview business houses have declared a holiday and the football faithful are expected from all over District 1.

Teams In Fine Shape

Both teams were pronounced in fine condition by their respective coaches and should fair weather prevail a great battle is expected.

Coach Vernon Hilliard's squad will be sparked by eight seniors playing their last game for the Bulldogs. They are Needham, center; Sherley and Kemp, ends; Mitchell and Johnson, tackles; Hale, guard; Coker and Schneider, backs.

In addition there will be several holdovers and a group of candidates for the 1939 Bulldog eleven.

An Experienced Crew

Coach Engel May of the Biloxi Redskins will have an experienced team at his command. Leading the Tribe's attack will be Captain James Stevens, star quarterback, and Joe Mattina, Biloxi's halfback who made the All-Big Eight Conference.

The Mississippi warriors journeyed approximately 1,000 miles to engage the Bulldogs. Biloxi is rated as one of the most colorful elevens on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Tech Cagers Again Lose

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 30 (AP)— Seven Texas teams already eliminated from the championship bracket in the Oklahoma City All-Collegiate basketball tournament played yesterday in the losers bracket where the goal is nothing but experience.

The Pittsburgh (Kas.) Teachers, substituting for Westminster, turned in their second victory of the night when they clowned their way to a 45 to 37 win over Texas Tech in the losers bracket.

The Kansans played just hard enough to stay ahead and had the Raiders outclassed all the way.

Pittsburgh offered to fill in against the Tech team after Westminster's squad withdrew.

City Boys On Victory Side During 1938

BY HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Staff

The pendulum which swung toward "the boys from the forks of the creek" in Texas schoolboy sports in 1937 took the opposite course during the past year with the cities winning all but one of the ten championships and the larger centers coming through with seven of them.

The only "rural" or "town" title went to little Meadow which produced the state girls tennis doubles champions — Oleta Franklin and Jamie Ruth Dechard.

We Remember Corpus

Dallas, Houston and Fort Worth schools accounted for basketball, track and field, two divisions of tennis, baseball, golf and swimming, and the "middle group," represented by Corpus Christi and Robstown—the smaller cities — came through with the football and boys tennis doubles crowns.

While the large cities were taking down the majority of titles, however, the "little fellows" were consoled somewhat in keeping the top prize of scholastic sports — football. Corpus Christi was impressive in marching to the championship, something the major cities have been unable to attain in 15 years.

Was Banner Year

It was a banner year for high school athletics with football enjoying its heaviest attendance in history. It was estimated the season brought an attendance of 4,000,000.

Baseball and swimming were added to the list of sports in which state champions were determined.

Woodrow Wilson of Dallas started the year by winning the basketball championship, defeating Abilene 41-27 in the finals. Milby of Houston came in with the track and field title.

In tennis Bobby Curtis of Reagan won the boys singles championship for his third consecutive year. Ralph Eads and Bruce Kellam of Robstown came through in boys doubles. Lula Burton of San Jacinto (Houston) was the girls singles titlist.

Dallas Tech Wins

The first state baseball tournament was held at Dallas with Dallas Tech defeating Merit 4-3 in the finals and producing one of the year's outstanding stars of scholastic sports, Carl (Country) Williamson, a brilliant pitcher.

The first swimming tournament saw Paschal of Fort Worth win the title with 40 points. Austin was second with 16 1-2. The tournament was held at College Station.

Texas schoolboy football teams played more than 40 intersectional games and showed 19 victories and 7 ties against 11 victories and 6 ties for the opposition. Oklahoma and Illinois were the only states showing a margin over Texas. Oklahoma won 4, lost 3 and tied 3. Illinois won 1, lost none, tied none.

New Mexico, Mississippi, Georgia, Massachusetts and Mexico won no games though New Mexico did get 2 ties. Louisiana managed to break even with 4 wins and 4 losses and so did Arkansas with 1 victory, 1 defeat and 1 tie. Arizona won 1 and lost 2.

Two class B football teams made outstanding records, Hull-Daisetta running its winning streak to 35 straight in three years and Wink showing 24 consecutive victories in two seasons with an average of over 42 points to the game.

Harrold won the class B track and field championship with Campbell second, but no other class B sport went through to a state title.

Henry Armstrong Is A Tireless Fighter But He's A Smart Boy And He Plans To Quit Ring Before It's Too Late

BY HENRY McLEMORE
United Press Staff Correspondent

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 30.—As a fighter, Henry Armstrong is as tireless and relentless as Ol' Man River, but unlike Ol' Man River he's not gonna jes' keep rollin' along.

By this time next year, the dark little fighting man told me yesterday, he hopes to have a $100,000 annuity paid up in full, and that sum, he figures, will be enough to keep him in corn and 'taters the rest of his life.

He Plans To Quit

The annuity will pay him off at the rate of better than $400 a month, and the brain that directs his fighting brawn has told him that he had better quit when the quitting's good. He knows that the sort of lip Lou Ambers gave him doesn't make for a comfortable old age, and he knows that for all the hundreds of punches he rolled with, there were a few he didn't roll with. And those are the punches that a fighter is reminded of when he's through. Henry is sharp and keen today. He has made up his mind to see to it that he stays that way.

His manager, Eddie Mead, sees eye to eye with Henry, and is so genuinely fond of this nice colored boy that he doesn't want him to throw one punch too many or take one punch too many.

Henry Is Smart

"If he doesn't quit at the end of next year," Mead told me, "he is going to stop in two years at the most. Then, if he still wants to stay around boxing we will go on exhibition tours, and give talks on boxing. Henry's smart. He can talk to any kind of a group and put over what he wants to tell 'em about boxing. Don't believe this stuff you read about us not getting on together. I never questioned what he did in the ring and he never questioned what I did out of it."

After Armstrong finishes with Baby Arizmendi here early in January he probably will go to Cuba to fight a 20-round fight under the promotion of the Havana Jockey club. Bobby Pacho probably will be his opponent. I asked Henry w... he thought about 20 round bout...

He Likes The Idea

"Mister McLemoh," he answe... "I like 'em. It gives a man time warm up. When I'm feeling g... I like the thought of a thirty... forty round fight, the kind t... used to fight before I was born... you're a fisherman you like to ... all day, and if you're a fighter ... like to fight."

"I like my fighting regular," ... said. "Two years ago I fought m... once a week, and I did better t... I did this year. 'Course I won th... three titles this year, but that wa... because I fought any better. N... year I plan to keep awful busy."

Mead doesn't know when A... strong will fight Lou Ambers ag... Weill wants them to go for the l... pound championship, while Mead... holding out for the 147-pound sc...

It's Still Business

"It's business with us," Ar... strong's manager said. "As much... Henry likes to fight, it's still bu... ness. I figure it this way. Texas Railway Loses Battle

DALLAS, Dec. 30 (AP)—A three-judge federal court ruled today that the Texas Electric Railway company must be classified as a railway and operate under the provisions of the national railroad labor act.

Effect of this ruling will be to raise the wages of from fifty-five to sixty men 100 per cent, James P. Griffin, president of the company, said in testimony given before the decision was made. The company will have to set aside 3 1-2 per cent of the salaries to provide a retirement fund for the workers and match this amount.

They will also have to recognize the rights of railroad unions to bargain collectively, to pay minimum wages and observe the hour rules and to submit disputes to national railway adjustment boards.

The company operates lines out of Dallas to Sherman and Denison, to Waco and to Corsicana, about 234 miles of trackage.

Federal Judges W. H. Atwell, T. Whitfield Davidson and Circuit Judge Joseph Hutcheson, jr., sat on the case which involved the constitutionality of certain legislation on railroads. They dismissed the two suits, one brought against Clyde Eastus, United States district attorney, to restrain him from prosecuting them, and the other against W. A. Thomas, United States collector of internal revenue, restraining him from collecting taxes.

Prior to the suits being filed the interstate commerce commission had held a hearing in which it ruled that the Texas company was an interurban line originally and exempt from provisions of the railroad act, but since it had started carrying a large amount of freight it had lost that characteristic.

After hearing of Barkley's statement, Garner conferred with Senator Byrnes (D-SC), floor manager for WPA appropriation bills.

Byrnes said later that he had not made up his mind on details of relief legislation. He called a meeting of the senate relief committee for next Wednesday.

Byrnes has said previously that he believes some specific prohibition against political coercion of relief employes would be inserted in the next WPA appropriations bill. He also has been working on a formula by which relief might be apportioned to states according to need, population, area and other factors.

In the house, meanwhile, influential members intimated that the appropriations committee might curb the administration's relief program for the year beginning July 1.

Some legislators talked of letting the committee make a long-discussed investigation of the entire relief set-up, including any political aspects it may have.

bels' chauffeur, it was said, saved the doctor's life . . . Reichfuehrer Hitler's displeasure is evidenced by the fact that all films in which Baarova appears have been withdrawn, without explanation, from circulation in Germany.

The news said it was the "second time in less than three months that Pau Goebbels, who is without doubt the most influential woman in Germany, has decided on a divorce because of the Baarova affair." The other time, the news said, "Hitler himself healed the breach."

As minister of propaganda," the news dispatch said, "it is one of the little doctor's offices to pass upon the qualifications and eligibility of all actors and actresses in Germany . . . Goebbels in passing upon Baarova's application for a movie career became so fascinated and bestowed upon her such attentions that the hot-headed Froelich injudiciously challenged him to fight a duel.

This was in October. Instead of being sent to battle, Froelich was ousted and thrown into a concentration camp. His fate today is not known."

Ninety-nine members of the Texas Tech Matador band will leave early Saturday on three special buses. A full program is mapped out for the musicians over the week-end.

Fans To Start Trek

Fans of the section will start the trek by automobile, train and bus during the next 24 hours.

The Avalanche-Journal All-West Texas Cotton Bowl special will leave the Santa Fe station at 9:45 o'clock Saturday night and reach Dallas at 8:30 o'clock the following morning.

It is planned that Rufe Davis, hillbilly stage and screen imitator and entertainer who is in Lubbock for a personal appearance today, will be among Texas Tech boosters in Dallas Monday.

He has visited in Lubbock twice before and is an ardent admirer of the Red Raiders. His brother, Bernie Davidson, formerly was a student of the college.

Chamber of commerce officials have asked the movie "rube" to lead the parade in downtown Dallas streets. His answer was expected today.

Recognize 'Em? 1938 Brought These New Sports Faces

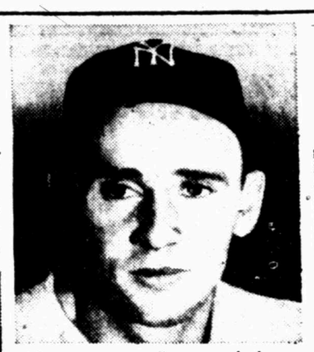

He played on his first Davis Cup team. During the season he lost two important matches: To Jack Bromwich and to Gilbert Hunt.

Robert Riggs

He was the fullback on an undefeated football team. A splendid player, he was in shadows as a teammate grabbed headlines.

Connie Sparks, T.C.U.

He was generally regarded as the outstanding baseball rookie of '38, having won a starring role with the world champions.

Joe Gordon, N. Y. Yankees

His was a feat that had never before been accomplished in 100 years of baseball history. He pitched two straight no-hitters.

John Vander Meer, Cincinnati

He came from the town of Snyder, Scurry county, Texas, to set the track world on fire. He won four U. S. hurdles titles.

Fred Wolcott, Rice Institute

Noted Comic Here Today

Rufe Davis is in town today.

The country-looking boy who makes funny noises was scheduled to arrive at 10 o'clock this morning for four engagements at the Cactus theater, but that lackidaisical manner of his was blamed for his tardy arrival a couple of hours behind time.

He will make his appearance on the Cactus stage twice this afternoon and twice tonight.

Personal Appearance Tour

Although he is now at the crest of the wave in his screen popularity and has been considering several offers to make pictures, Rufe has decided to make a personal appearance tour before he returns to the west coast.

It's Rufe Davis Day

Mayor Carl E. Slaton has proclaimed today Rufe Davis day in the city in honor of the visitor and Rufe'll get most anything he wants. Asked what he'd like in the way of arrangements, he said the mainest thing was a couple of bales of hay tossed on the floor in his hotel room so he could pile down on them and get some real rest. You see, Rufe don't think so much of beds.

A few years ago Rufe got to thinking that cotton picking was a little hard on his back. Rufe comes from a farm around Mangum, Okla. So he hit on the idea of employing his imitations in an easier and more remunerative business. Looks like he hit on the right plan—he's a big success.

He first appeared in tent shows, carnivals and fairs, then at theaters. This led to Broadway and an appearance in a night club in New York, where a movie scout saw him and signed him to a long-term contract.

Still A Country Boy

Many of his imitations, stunts and tricks, plus his guitar playing and singing, which have been features in such motion pictures as "Mountain Music," "Cocoanut Grove," and "Big Broadcast of 1938," will be a part of his personal appearance engagement here.

All the fame which has been showered on the farm boy hasn't changed him a bit. "Don't make no difference whether Rufe's in Hollywood or doin' them imitations and playin' his gittar in theaters around the country, he always goes to church and Sunday school every Sunday," says Bernie Davidson, his brother-manager. (Rufe's real name is Davidson).

Bernie was a Texas Tech student until Rufe got so "derned famous he called fer me." Bernie has been in Lubbock the last couple of days making arrangements for his brother's engagement at the Cactus.

The safe which had been loaded onto one of the company's trailers and hauled away was found one and one-half miles west of Anton in a shock of feed. It had been opened with a hammre and chisel taken from the lumber company. The trailer had been found abandoned in a field two miles south of the town.

Vendor lien notes, secured by chattel mortgages, valued at $9,000 to $10,000, in the safe were recovered, said S. H. Reid, jr., 3024 Twenty-first street in Lubbock, vice president and general manager of Telford Lumber companies at Whiteface, Lubbock, Anton and Wolfforth.

Juanita Howard, 22, daughter of the jailer, hid herself in the family's living quarters when the escape was made and later freed the seven persons who had been locked up. The two fugitives made no effort to free seven other men and a woman held in the jail, and conducted the "break" so calmly that none of the other prisoners were aware what was in progress.

Bryan Funeral Set For This Afternoon

Funeral services for J. H. Bryan, 70, of 2012 Main street will be conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the First Methodist church with Dr. L. N. Lipscomb, pastor, officiating.

Burial will be conducted by Sanders Funeral home at Lubbock cemetery.

Mr. Bryan died Thursday night in a hospital here after a long illness. He had been in the hospital nearly two weeks.

He was owner of real estate here, but had not been active in business in several years.

To Lubbock In 1910

The oldest son of the large family of Mr. and Mrs. Y. L. Bryan, he was born at Brundidge, Ala., Aug. 4, 1868. Thirty years later, to the day, he was married to Gertrude Van Arnam at Fitzgerald, Ga., and moved to Tifton, Ga., where he became superintendent of a peach orchard. He lived 12 years at Louisville, Ky., where he operated a pleating office, relatives said.

He came to Lubbock in April, 1910, but moved away in 1917. From that time until he returned in 1923 he was engaged in the oil and the mercantile business. He returned to Lubbock to look after his real estate interests here.

Until 1934 he was active in civic circles. That year his health became bad and after two major surgical operations he retired from active business.

Other than his wife, he is survived by a son, C. L. Bryan of Dallas; a daughter, Miss Sue Bryan of Lubbock; and the following brothers and sisters: Albert Bryan, Mrs. Maude Reddock, Mrs. Leon Helms, Mrs. U. F. Preston, Miss Claude Bryan and Miss Leila Bryan, all of Brundidge, S. Bryan of Tifton, Dr. L. Bryan of Greenville, Ala., Mrs. Elizabeth Dinkins, Mrs. Jack Terrell, and Mrs. Warsaw Carlisle, all of Montgomery, Ala., and Mrs. Grady Tucker of Campbellton, Fla.

Pallbearers will be H. W. Stanton, Sam C. Arnett, I. S. Doak, E. T. Pope, Charles R. Bacon and Neil H. Wright.

No Arrangements On Funeral For D. G. Stanton Are Made

Funeral arrangements for D. G. Stanton, 21-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Stanton of 1508 Avenue X and junior engineering student of Texas Technological college, had not been completed at noon, Rix Funeral home said.

The youth died in a hospital at Galveston Thursday of injuries when he was struck by a truck here Monday night.

Members of the family, Mr. and Mrs. Stanton, and a sister, Mrs. J. L. Clements, were expected to return here today from Galveston where they had gone after the accident. They indicated Thursday night that funeral services would be at Halfway, 16 miles west of Plainview, Saturday afternoon, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

The body will arrive here tonight by train.

MARKET LEADERS TIRED

NEW YORK, Dec. 30 (AP) — Although many stock market leaders acted tired today, following their swift climb of Thursday, selected rails, amusements, utilities and specialties managed to continue the forward swing.

Profit taking in steels, motors and aircrafts, combined with further last-minute "cash" tax selling, tended to give the list a spotty appearance after a fairly firm opening. Dealings dwindled substantially on the development of irregular trends. Transfers approximated 1,400,000 shares.

Despite the uneven price performance, a number of favorites succeeded in penetrating new high territory for the year. Losses, in the majority of cases, were held to minor fractions.

Huge Benefits Are Detailed By Secretary

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 — Secretary Ickes reported to President Roosevelt today that the Public Works administration had been per cent successful in carrying its part of the administration's huge spending-lending program.

The report went to the White House amid speculation that Roosevelt might support a movement among congressmen to make the PWA a permanent agency.

Speed Is Emphasized

It emphasized the speed with which a nationwide $1,500,000,000 construction program had been initiated as the spearhead of the drive—started last July 1 — to improve business.

In the six months, the PWA has closed, 8,137 construction projects have been put under contract. It said work would be started on virtually all of them by next March 1, the deadline set by congress.

Mr. Roosevelt, according to reports, was impressed with the fact that such speed would have been impossible had the PWA not had experience in two previous programs—both of which got off to a much slower start — and had it lacked a reservoir of proposed projects from which to draw.

Would Abolish WPA

Several congressmen have suggested that PWA be made permanent and that the Works Progress administration be curtailed or eventually scrapped.

While the president has in the past favored a permanent public works agency, there was doubt among informed persons that he would agree to abolishing the WPA. In support of this they cited his often-expressed view that provision must be made for the needy unemployed.

One fundamental difference between the two agencies in their effect on unemployment is illustrated in the way their money is spent.

Differences Are Seen

Last spring congress assigned $968,000,000 to the PWA and $25,000,000 to the WPA.

WPA officials said 88 cents of every dollar was spent on labor, 8 cents on material and four cents for administrative expenses. States and local communities bore some of the materials costs.

Of every PWA dollar spent, it is estimated, 36 cents goes to pay labor and 64 cents to buy materials, mostly iron and steel products, cement and other durable goods.

John Flynn Says:

BY JOHN T. FLYNN
NEA Staff Correspondent

As the year draws to a close one wonders what has become of the great Public Works program of over a billion dollars authorized last June, which was to lift the country out of the recession then going along merrily. Although over a billion dollars was authorized, only 68 million of that money has actually been spent.

For several months after June, almost weekly announcements were made giving huge totals of projects that were authorized. The impression got around that a vast pouring of public funds into public works, instead of WPA, was to be the administration's final bid for recovery.

FLYNN

Then an announcement was made that all of the vast sum had been authorized and there was no more left. The WPA appropriation was purposely kept down because PWA was to take up the load as the days went on.

Plenty Of Funds

But now WPA funds are practically exhausted and WPA is still far from being under way. For 68 million dollars in six months is only about 11 million a month, hardly as much as the government spends in the most prosperous periods.

Rumors have got around that PWA funds are being purposely held back in order to have them available for military construction when Congress meets. The argument will be strong that the armament plan will thus cost very little more than the funds already provided. But in the meantime what becomes of government expenditures for relief and work relief? If there is any validity in the claim that public works expenditures will produce recovery, then is it not plain that any plan which tends to divert them into war expenditures will postpone their expenditure and postpone recovery?

The question whether we are to have a great armament program is one thing. One may hold what view he wishes on that. But it will be idle to suppose that an armament program can begin to have much effect on business for some time to come.

Mistake Goes Back

Six years ago the president, when the first PWA money was appropriated, was urged to go in for low-cost housing. This he refused to do. Here and there a few housing projects have been built at costs and at rental rates which put them completely beyond the reach of the low income groups.

Had the president six years ago put behind a real low-cost housing program one-half the energy that was expended on the illstarred NRA and other almost forgotten adventures, the government would have something tangible in assets for the money it has spent; the people would be well on the way to the solution of one of our most serious problems.

We would now know something perhaps about low-cost housing construction. But now, six years after the New Deal began, it is a little late to talk about housing. It ought to be inaugurated, even at this late day, but it will take years to develop it to the point at which it would be developed had the golden opportunity been seized in 1933. Now, apparently, we are to have battleships instead of houses.

Regional Units To Fight Cancer

LONDON, Dec. 30. (U.P.) — A network of scientifically equipped centers over the country to fight cancer in its early stages is planned by the British government.

Walter Elliot, minister of health, addressing the British Medical Associations' annual dinner, announced that the government's proposals for more effective treatment of cancer along these lines were being embodied in a bill for presentation to Parliament.

The plan invokes the equipment of regional centers with all modern aids, such as X-ray apparatus and pathological laboratories. It is likely that local authorities will be empowered to set up special sanatoriums for the reception of cancer cases, and the disease may even be made notifiable.

"Cancer causes nearly 70,000 deaths a year in England and Wales alone, and an incalculable amount of suffering," said Elliot. "I regard it as a matter of urgent public necessity to make a sustained attempt to deal with this problem on the broadest national lines."

A survey indicates that seven South Carolinians left that state for every outsider who moved in during the decade from 1920 to 1930.

Ski's The Limit

CAST OF CHARACTERS

SALLY BLAIR — Heroine. She had everything that popularity could win her, except

DAN REYNOLDS — Hero. He might have had Sally but while he was king on skis

COREY PORTER was king of the social whirl. So . . . But go on with the story.

Yesterday: Dan offers to take Sally skiing at 6 in the morning and Sally accepts Corey's dare to do it. But she is none too confident.

CHAPTER III

That night the carnival was held and Sally officially was crowned queen. A magic wand must have been waved to have produced such a crystal fairyland. The colorful pageants, the spectacular floats, the brilliant flares, the huge blocks of ice carved into all manner of objects. On either side of the throne, raised at the top of the long silver stairway, stood two majestic lions, made from snow. Hidden lights, in rainbow colors, turned the crystal world into rose, then lavender, then gold. Last of all in the solemn procession came the queen in the magnificence of regal robes, an ermine cloak with a train that spread for yards like a peacock's tail, a glistening scepter in her hand, a glittering tiara crowning her dark curls.

There were sighs and whispers and then a mighty thunder of applause and acclaim.

The carnival continued long into the night, until the last tiny star was enfolded in a cloud and put to bed, and the last song had died on the clear, crisp air and the queen and her ladies in waiting found that their eyes were dream-lidded and their dancing slippers stilled. Nevertheless Sally Blair, her short reign ended, slipped out of bed before 6 o'clock that next morning, resumed the ordinary clothing of mortal maid, and crept out to meet the dawn.

Or, rather, to meet Dan Reynolds, who was waiting, true to his word, at the foot of practice hill.

"I didn't think you'd make it," he said. He had not put any stars to bed. It was too important that he be in form for the last important events of the meet.

"I always keep my word," Sally returned. She looked as fresh as if she had had her regular beauty sleep; perhaps her dark eyes were a little brighter, her cheeks a bit more flushed. "I wasn't at all sure you'd keep yours," she challenged, swinging into step.

"Thanks." His mouth set in a grim line. It was a very nice mouth, even though it was so stern. He was not smooth and shining and fair like Corey. But there was a ruggedness, a strength about this boy that matched the mountains he set out to conquer.

He said, "Shall we use the tow-pulley to get to the top? It will save time." The tow-pulley was a long loop of rope, that fastened about one's waist, saved hours of laborious climbing.

Sally shook her head stubbornly. "I've plenty of time," she said, even though he had none for her, except this grudgingly extracted bit, of which she would make the most, or die in the attempt.

He helped her adjust her skis into the toe-plates, tightened the bindings with one firm pull. They herringboned up the hill, breaking the virgin snow that had fallen during the night.

"Want to rest?" Dan asked at the halfway mark. She had matched his silence with hers. She would show him she could share the companionship and stillness of a new day that was like a sanctuary in its stark purity.

She shook her head. They trudged on, side by side. It was glorious, the clean air washing against her face, filling her lungs, beckoning her on and on, up and up. But not so glorious as the downtrail, the hushed moment of the Schuss! when the ground would drop away beneath you, the wind hum in your ears as, like a feathered creature on the wing, you took the forest-bound run.

"Do you know anything about skiing?" Sally's instructor demanded sternly, the summit reached.

"A little," she admitted, with her dimpled smile. She should be better than she had been last year, after a month's vacation in Switzerland last spring, perfecting real Alpine technique.

Wouldn't Corey laugh if he could see her now, listening so attentively while Dan explained so earnestly the importance of relaxation, of keeping the skis together, the weight balanced!

"Better begin with a few basic stems and snow plows first," he suggested, proceeding to put her through the easiest maneuvers.

"I think I can try it now," Sally said. She had endeavored to give a good demonstration of windmill gyrations, holding her body with ramlike stiffness. It would never do to let this serious boy know she was laughing up her sleeve at him.

Or was she? Before this first lesson was over, Sally was not so sure. He had been so patient, so painstakingly careful, so earnest and eager, when he finally accepted the idea that his pupil seemed in earnest, too. Sally, after a warm word of praise when she swung a telemark that was almost too agile for such a beginner as she, had the grace to feel a trifle ashamed.

Still, he had asked for it, she told herself fiercely, the lesson over, as he knelt before her to unsnap her skis.

"You did pretty swell for a girl." His directly gray eyes looked up into hers. "You'd make a real skier. If you could take it seriously enough."

"What makes you think I couldn't?" Sally asked.

She liked the way his hair rumpled in the breeze. No hat or masks or sun-goggles for Dan Reynolds. He was of the wind and sky, the clear, swift air of mountain tops.

"Oh, I don't know."

"Yes, you do. Tell me!"

"Well . . ." he hesitated, the warm color creeping up into his face. "It's the kind of girl you are."

That was what Corey had said! "What kind of girl do you think I am? How can you be sure?" Her laughing eyes mocked him.

"I've known your kind before." His answer, like his eyes, was direct. "Or rather I've always sworn I'd never let myself in for knowing them. Party pretties. Prom trotters. Glamor girls."

"That's not very kind—or fair!" The hot color flooded Sally's lovely face now. So that was all he thought she was. Just because she was so popular, because she could have worn a half dozen fraternity pins and had another dozen broken hearts to her credit, because she had been chosen Queen of the carnival. "You ought," she added, "at least give a girl a chance."

"I told you I haven't time," he answered, almost roughly. He straightened to his tall, lean height. "I don't belong in your crowd, Miss Blair, in your world. I'm working my way through school. I sling hash for my meals; didn't Corey tell you that? I only got spiked into the fraternity because I may make the Olympics. I'm just a poor scrub."

"I don't care what you are," Sally replied and her dark eyes were shining, not dangerously, but softly now. "I think you're okey, Dan Reynolds." And the amazing part was that she meant it! "And I hope you'll have time for another lesson. Tomorrow morning at this same hour?"

She would show him that she could take it! Besides there were not many mornings left. She must make the most of every one of them. Especially if she was to show Corey—and the gang—that she could win him dare.

But somehow Sally felt a little bit ashamed now, when she thought of that. Was that because of this new boy, who claimed he had no part in the world of a carnival Queen?

Native Songs Never Before In Print To Be Compiled By John A. Lomax At Corpus Christi

CORPUS CHRISTI, Dec. 30. (AP)—Native songs which never have been printed will be compiled by John A. Lomax, curator of folk songs for the Library of Congress, who will spend the winter at Port Aransas with his wife, the former Ruby Terrill, once dean of women at the University of Texas.

The new book will be a departure from other Lomax collections such as "Cowboy Songs," "American Ballads and Folk Songs" and negro folk songs as sung by "Leadbelly." Lomax said he would collect songs not heretofore published, mainly from the 11 Southern penitentiaries he visited in his research for the Library of Congress.

"The prisons of the South are about the only places in America today where men are worked in 'gang system' to any extent," Lomax said.

"There are several reasons for the negroes in prison to sing. The guards encourage them to sing together because they do more work singing, and they sing too because they are burdened with their tribulations, and they sing to forget."

"There is just one place that I know of today where the English language is being talked in the same way Shakespeare used it and that is among the negroes," he added. "Everywhere else the language is losing a large part of its originality, but the negroes, especially in isolated regions of Mississippi, are keeping the language fresh and alive."

Not only have the words been preserved, but the songs as sung by the negroes have now been recorded and placed in the Library of Congress.

WE HOPE WITH MR. HOPKINS

The natural inclination is to be hopeful that new Secretary of Commerce Hopkins will be successful in his campaign to put several million men and women back to work in private industry within the next year.

If it can be done, it probably would mean the real return of the kind of prosperity the nation knew before 1930.

But in this case, not even the optimists are likely to start counting chickens prematurely. They are going to wait—hopefully, perhaps—to see men and women in employment before they celebrate.

That does not suggest that private industry will refuse to cooperate. On the contrary, industry is eager for obvious reasons to put as many men and women to work as possible, because the greater production they have and for which they can find market, the greater their profit. But they cannot be expected to invite bankruptcy by employing when there is neither existing nor prospective market for production.

TRADE AT CLARK'S

THE WOMAN WHO SHOPPED BY PHONE . . . .

One morning last week, when the Christmas Shopping Rush was on, she realized how pleasant it was at home instead of shopping for groceries. But how could she stay in, when there was a grocery order to be filled? She decided to place the order over the phone, something she had never done before. So she stayed at home . . . and her order was sent over immediately, selected as carefully as if she had shopped herself. (When YOU would rather stay at home, shop by phone!)

Rates, Rules and Requirements of Classified Advertising Of The

Lubbock Evening Journal
Lubbock Morning Avalanche
Sunday Avalanche-Journal

All classified advertising will appear in both the Morning and Afternoon papers, both papers counting one insertion. All classified advertising is printed in the Lubbock Morning Avalanche first and the Daily Journal of the same date, no classified originating in the afternoon paper.

Classified for Sunday's issue will appear in the Avalanche-Journal counting one insertion as the paper is sent to all subscribers of both the afternoon and morning papers.

AVALANCHE-JOURNAL Combined Rates
10 Word Minimum

1 day, per word 4c
2 days, per word 6c
3 days, per word 8c
4 days, per word 10c

These rates are for consecutive insertion only.

All out-of-town ads received by mail must be cash with order. No exception. "NO REFUNDS" on ad stopped after it has appeared in paper.

PHONE 12, 14, 15 OR 16

Our experienced ad taker will receive your ad and help you to word it then our collector will call the following day.

THESE ACCOUNTS ARE "ACCOMMODATION ACCOUNTS" FOR OUR PATRONS AND FOR ONE DAY ONLY.

No advertisements accepted on an "until forbid" order. A specified number of insertions must be given.

We reserve the right to place an advertisement under the proper classification and reject unclean or objectionable copy.

Obituaries and cards of thanks at regular classified advertising rates.

The publishers are not responsible for copy omissions, typographical errors or any unintentional error that may occur further than to correct it next issue after it is brought to their attention. All advertising orders are accepted on this basis only.

The Avalanche-Journal can not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of a classified ad. Advertisers should check their ads on first day of publication and immediately notify the Classified Department if any mistakes occur.

Classified Advertising accepted until 6:00 p. m. on week days and Saturdays.

For classified display advertising information

PHONE 12, 14, 15 OR 16
TO DISCONTINUE AN AD

Notice to Discontinue an Ad must be given after 8 a. m. and before 6 p. m. to some member of the Classified Advertisement Department. We cannot be responsible for notice given before or after these hours and to a member of some other department.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

The Avalanche-Journal is a member of the Association of Newspaper Classified Advertising Managers which includes leading Newspapers throughout the country and has as its aim the elimination of fraudulent and misleading Classified Advertising.

Texas U. Prexy Worked Way In College

Homer Rainey Is Elevated

AUSTIN, Dec. 30. (U.P.)—Dr. Homer Price Rainey, who will become president of the University of Texas at the end of this college year, worked his own way through college.

Among the duties he performed at Austin college, Sherman, in obtaining his education was scrubbing out the college swimming pool. He played baseball and football and is a big, bronze haired Texan, 42 years of age.

He probably meets most nearly the "specification" announced by the university regents when they began search for a president to succeed the late Dr. H. Y. Benedict, more than a year ago. They preferred a Texan or some person with a Texas background. They sought a married man, a religious man, a young man who might be expected to "grow up" with the university and they sought a man with outside experience of a wide scope.

"Dr. Rainey is one of the outstanding men in higher education in the United States, and we are confident that he will give our university vigorous and intelligent leadership," said Dr. Edward Randall, chairman of the regents.

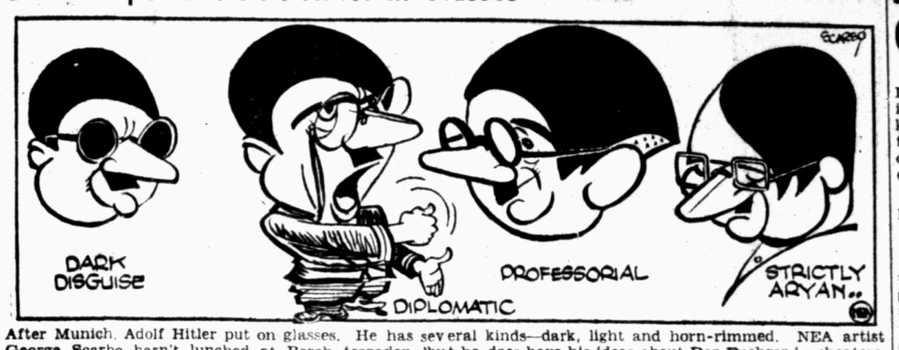

"Dr. Rainey will have from the first day of his presidency the wholehearted support of the entire staff of the university in his work of bringing to Texas the fulfillment of a dream of a 'university of the first class' and also the first in that class," said Dr. J. W. Calhoun, acting president. Dr. Calhoun will resume active business control of the university's vast oil lands and operation of its plant in serving an enrollment of 10,114 students at Austin, exclusive of those at the College of Mines at El Paso and the College of Medicine at Galveston. His reference to a "university of the first class" is a quotation from art. 7, section 10 of the state constitution ordering establishment of such an institution and endowing it with lands for the purpose.

These holdings, estimated to have an ultimate value in hundreds of millions, have caused the University of Texas to be referred to as the "richest university". Regents say that is erroneous, that several universities have larger endowments and more property. They point out that the money received from oil royalties and from oil leases cannot be used as it is received. It goes into a "permanent university fund" for buildings. This fund is shared with A. & M. college. By an amendment to the constitution, the regents were permitted to pledge the income from investment of this permanent fund, for a period of years to provide for an immediate $15,000,000 building program. This has been supplemented by ex-student funds providing a modern union building and stadium.

Mrs. Rainey is an alumna of the University of Texas. Dr. Rainey has served on summer faculties here.

The organization which he now directs was founded and endowed by John D. Rockefeller jr. The Rockefeller foundation supports a number of projects directed by members of the University of Texas staff.

Quite A Spectacle . . . Hitler In Glasses

Special Corner Is Offered To Lovers

UXBRIDGE, Middlesex, England, Dec. 30. (U.P.)—Because sweethearts in the audience indulged in so much kissing and cuddling that they distracted the attention of the rest, a cinema here has reserved a special corner for lovers.

"A number of people used to complain that courting couples, kissing in front of them, made so much noise and obstructed the view completely that they could not tell what the film was about," the manager explained. "Elderly women were the chief grumblers, and some of them thought that ardent lovers should be turned out.

"So when we built the new cinema we made a 'Lovers' Corner.' The lighting is dimmer there than in the rest of the cinema. We hope the young lovers will do their courting there."

The Vicar of Uxbridge, however, doesn't like the idea at all. Other clergymen opined that no self-respecting young man would take his girl into the special kissing seat.

IT TOOK ONLY WEEDS

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — Tumbleweeds on the track recently halted rail traffic between Denver and Cheyenne. Freight trains stalled on a long hill because the weeds, blown by a high wind, were so thick they made the track slippery as the wheels were crushed under the locomotive wheels.

The long trains were divided and a few cars at a time were taken over the hills.

Fellowship Convention Will Be Conducted At Church

A two-day fellowship convention in connection with the formal opening of the new Pentecostal church at Avenue U and Fifth street is scheduled to open here Saturday with delegates attending from Oklahoma, New Mexico and the Texas Panhandle, according to announcement Thursday.

Rev. S. C. McClain, the pastor, said the service Saturday night will be a watch night meeting in which the ordinance of the Lord's supper and feet-washing will be observed.

Work on the building was started last spring and although not completed, has been kept clear of debt, the pastor said.

Galveston Municipal Airport To Be Used By Army Planes

GALVESTON, Dec. 30. (AP)—Planes of the Third Attack group from Barksdale Field, Shreveport, La., will base at the municipal airport during annual maneuvers and target practice over the Gulf next summer, if plans of the war department mature.

The board of city commissioners adopted a resolution authorizing a lease to the government of 15 acres of land at the airport at an annual rental of $475 with renewal privileges for 10 years. Under the terms of this contract, which is to be forwarded to Washington from Barksdale Field, the war department will have to construct an operations office, radio and other facilities. The agreement contains a clause that military aircraft are not to interfere with commercial aviation.

A. J. Peterson, city commissioner who has supervision over the airport, said negotiations had been under way several months. He said the land to be leased is adjacent to the 1,000-foot extension of the north and south runway, now being built.

The old army airdrome at Fort Crockett, in use for about 15 years, will be abandoned by the fliers, the commissioner said.

New Microscope Which Magnifies Object A Million Times Shown To Scientists

BY STEPHEN J. McDONOUGH
Associated Press Science Writer

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 30 — A new microscope which magnifies an object 1,000,000 times and which has made disease veruses visible for the first time was demonstrated today before the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Dr. V. K. Zworykin of the Radio Corporation of America showed the instrument and demonstrated how it is now possible to see invisible things by making the atomic particles called electrons convert unseeable things into visual images.

A Powerful Tool

This electron microscope, which Dr. Zworykin described as "one of the by-products of research on television" is expected to be one of the most powerful tools in finding and curing the diseases caused by the viruses, such as the common cold, infantile paralysis, and smallpox.

He showed for the first time a picture made with the new microscope of the virus which causes smallpox. Further studies may enable scientists to differentiate between it and other viruses in the same way they now recognize different kinds of bacteria.

One of the next applications of the super-microscope will probably be the recording in motion pictures of the life cycle of bacteria to determine the best methods of fighting them after they get into the body.

No Glass Lens

No light or glass lenses are used in the microscope. Dr. Zworykin generates a beam of electrons and focuses them with electrostatic or electromagnetic lenses on the bacteria, virus, or other object to be studied. The image created is much like the shadow made by holding your hand under a table lamp. This image is then magnified through other electrical lenses, as many times as necessary to bring it up to 1,000,000 times the size of the original object and is projected onto a special screen where it is converted into visible light.

Thus a single bacterium one one-millionth of an inch in diameter is magnified to the size of a basketball.

Practices In Steel Industry Will Receive Investigation

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (AP) — The monopoly committee started laying groundwork today for a major investigation of practices in the steel industry.

Questionnaires were sent out to 60 steel companies asking for information on their price and distribution policies.

"The information called for is fundamental to determining the economic effect of the pricing policies of the steel industry," a committee statement said.

The committee, which is studying the workings of the economic system, already has held hearings on the use of patents in the automobile and glass container industries.
