CHINESE KEY CITY CAPTURED

SHANGHAI, Nov. 21 (Sunday) (P)—Japanese drove west to new conquests today following the sudden fall of Soochow, key point of China's "Hindenburg line."

Chinese strove to form a strong, new defense line to bar the invaders' progress to Nanking, from which the government yesterday formally announced removal of the capital to Chungking, in Szechwan Province.

Foreign military observers, however, expressed doubt that the Chinese would make a determined stand before Nanking and some predicted the city would be given up after a feeble struggle.

In that event they said, Chinese troops would follow their government into the hinterland.

The new Chinese line, along which 130,000 troops were reported entrenched, stretched from Wushih, 25 miles north of Soochow, to Kiangyin, a distance of nearly 35 miles.

Japanese drove toward the line, northwest of Shanghai, from three points.

They announced that after a bombardment which lasted throughout the night their marines had captured the Fushan forts. Stronghold of the Yangtze river 33 miles northeast of Soochow.

Further inland, a column from Changshu was reported to have

Dr. C. H. Schulke figuring up that he has missed only two football games played by the Pampa Harvesters during the last eight years. "Doc" was unable to go to Greenville or to Clovis last year. He made up this fall, however, going to Part Arthur, Lubbock and Plainview. Can anyone beat that record?

SIT-DOWNERS DEFY OFFICERS IN CAR PLANT

PONTIAC, Mich., Nov. 20 (AP)—Leaders of an unauthorized strike in the Fisher Body Corp. plant here were summoned tonight by Homer Martin, international president, to meet in Detroit Sunday with the executive board of the United Automobile Workers of America.

PONTIAC, Mich., Nov. 20 (AP)—Local unionists defying their international officers in a "wildcat" sit-down strike at a Fisher body plant here held their positions today awaiting a visit from Homer Martin, United Automobile Workers president.

Martin, his requests for evacuation of the plant unheeded, summoned 24 members of the U. A. W. international executive board to an "urgent meeting" in Detroit at 10 a. m. Sunday. Union officials said the "entire General Motors situation" would be discussed.

The Fisher sit-down followed rejection by the union of amendments to the U. A. W. agreement with General Motors. The corporation has demanded renewed guarantees against such unauthorized strikes before negotiations are resumed.

Martin went to Flint, Mich., to address a union meeting this afternoon, and arranged to stop at Pontiac later.

Demand of the Fisher strikers were outlined by Odin H. Johnson, U. A. W. attorney, as: Reduction of company line speed; removal of plant manager, E. R. Leeder; re-employment of 1,350 workers; abandonment of a reported plan to transfer some plant processes to a New Jersey unit; and reinstatement of four men discharged Wednesday, six dismissed June and two discharged in March, 1936.

William S. Knudsen, president of General Motors, said "irresponsibility

2 DEER BROUGHT BACK FROM HUNTING TRIP

Two deer, one a 12-point, the other a 4-point, were brought back last night by John T. Mobley and R. E. Johnson, two members of a party that left Pampa Sunday on a hunting trip in South Texas.

The other three members, Euclid Wright, Jim Banks, and John Gentry were due to return last night, but had not arrived at 7:15 p. m., when Mr. Mobley and Mr. Johnson drove into Pampa.

The deer were killed 55 miles south of Van Horn. One of the horns on one of the deer was broken off, the animal having fallen off a cliff when shot.

From the point 55 miles south of Van Horn, the party hunted down to the Rio Grande, Mr. Mobley said. In a part of the country they traversed there was one pasture containing 90,000 acres, and "you couldn't grow a garden anywhere on it," Mr. Mobley commented.

JAMES TODD CALLED TO CHURCH AT PANHANDLE

Rev. James Todd Jr., pastor of the Christian church at Spearman, and former pastor of the First Christian church at Pampa, will go to Panhandle tomorrow to become minister of the Panhandle Christian church.

Rev. Todd has filled the pulpit of the Panhandle church several times and is well known to the congregation. He succeeds Rev. S. W. Baker, who resigned November 7, and left for Colorado the following day.

Rev. Todd has been pastor of the Christian church at Spearman for the past six months.

FAIR AND CRISP DAY PROMISE FOR SUNDAY

Pampa's week-end weather menu brought bobbing-up-and-down temperatures which varied from 17 degrees above zero at 7 o'clock yesterday morning to a day's maximum of 35 degrees at 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

At 8 o'clock last night the mercury had run back to 22 degrees and at midnight had dropped to 19 above.

The weatherman indicated late last night that today would be fair and crisp.

1,000 JOBLESS TURN IN CARDS

Approximately 1,000 unemployed or partially employed persons in the Pampa postoffice area had returned National Unemployment Census report cards late last night, according to a final check made by Postmaster C. H. Walker.

The local census, part of a nationwide fact-finding survey on unemployment, began last Tuesday, when mail carriers left a report card at every home where mail is delivered.

Results of the national census on unemployment are expected to be made public late in December, according to word from Washington.

In the Pampa area, Postmaster Walker said, a great majority of the cards were turned in by persons employed only part time. The postmaster said the percentage of persons wholly unemployed here will run low.

The local survey included all Pampa homes, general delivery and postoffice box renters, and homes on all mail and star routes served by the Pampa office.

GOOD SEATS FOR GAME THURSDAY AVAILABLE

Reserve seat tickets to the Pampa-Borger football game to be played here on Thanksgiving day, at 2:30 p. m., have been going fast but good seats are still available at the office of Roy McMillen in the city hall. The duets, in the west stand, are $1.

Borger took 2,000 tickets for the game and at the last report they were going in large blocks. Borger will be "closed" for the day and citizens will move to Pampa for the big battle.

Last fall in Borger the Harvesters noosed out the Bulldogs 13 to 6 with a last minute touchdown. The Bulldogs at the time announced they would avenge the loss and yesterday's licking in Amarillo hasn't dampened the Bulldog spirit.

Red Cross To Go On Air; $1 To Be Price Of a Request Number

The "Red Cross Song Shop," designed to boost the Pampa Red Cross roll call drive, will go on the air over Radio Station KPND tomorrow night. B. M. Behrman, general chairman of the Pampa fund campaign, announced last night.

"Song Shop" salesmen will broadcast their appeal by radio, beginning at 5:45 p. m. Monday, and the program will run until midnight.

The price of a requested number will be $1, the price of a Red Cross membership. The "Song Shop" will provide a gala evening of radio entertainment and afford listeners the opportunity to aid a worthy cause.

The "Song Shop" period will be devoted to the playing of only requested numbers. Pampans may phone in their requests, giving their names and addresses. A messenger will be sent to these addresses to collect the Red Cross $1 membership fee, the price of the request.

Over KPND tomorrow between noon and 12:15 p. m. will also be broadcast the third of a series of plays in connection with the annual roll call. This will be the last of the series, which is resented by dramatic students of Pampa high school. The other programs were presented on Monday and on Wednesday.

With the end of the roll call, only three days distant, General Chairman Behrman and his corps of workers plan an energetic drive toward Pampa's goal of $1,000.

A total of $700 had been raised up to Saturday afternoon. House-to-house canvassing by the women's teams from the Catholic and the Presbyterian churches has been

Appraisers Set Value Of Late Mrs. Worley's Estate At $1,491,985

An appraisal of the estate of Mrs. Phoebe A. Worley filed Friday in the county court revealed the total appraised value of all property as $1,491,985.81.

E. J. Dunigan Jr., W. M. Castleberry and J. S. Wynne were the appraisers. They were appointed by County Judge Sherman White on September 20, 1937. The inventory was filed by Albert Combs and J. R. Roby, executors under the will.

The estate consists principally of real estate situated in Pampa and Amarillo and of farm and ranch lands. Some of the latter are oil producing.

Valuation placed by the appraisers upon oil royalties was $602,400, of other real estate, $371,279.28. The latter figure includes the Combs-Worley building, appraised at $90,000. The River, or old Lockhart ranch, was appraised at $139,637.50.

Personal property, including a herd of cattle owned by Mrs. Worley, a herd of registered cattle owned by her, and her interest in added Worley, and stocks and bonds, made Worley, an stocks and bonds, made up the principal items of personal

The Roving Reporter Gets Hit By Paper Wads At Contests

By the ROVING REPORTER
The Roving Reporter, Dick Hughes, Jack Foster went to Miami Friday night to judge an amateur contest put on by a man travelling through the country doing nothing but putting on amateur contests.

About 200 persons were in the high school auditorium when the R. R. and two other Pampans sat down middle ways. The R. R. had no sooner got his long legs stretched out in the aisle than plop! and a big wad of paper wad squashed against the back of his head.

"Huh," said the R. R. "They're going to get revenge on the judges before and not after the contest. Well I can't blame them."

In another minute, another well-chewed wad neatly plugged the R. R.'s right ear, and the R. R. got up, shook his fists at the boys on the back seats, wished his gang of Pampa boys were there to even up the throwing, pulled his overcoat over his head and sat back down.

Then the Shirley Temple contest was held. Thirty-one little

200 OLD AGE CASES TO BE OPENED AGAIN

With November pension checks received, Gray county clients of the Texas Old Age Assistance commission have only one more check upon which they can positively depend, the one to be issued for the December pension payments.

Checks for the November payments were received in Gray county last week. December checks are due on the first of the month, but are not expected to arrive until December 15, judging from the time the November payments were received.

Gray county citizens on the old age pension rolls are 300, while for the entire state the number is 116,000.

Investigators of the Texas Old Age Assistance commission in district 16, which includes Gray county, have been instructed to proceed with their regular work. Re-investigation of cases is being stressed, while the commission awaits the action of the legislature to provide funds to continue the old age payments.

In Gray county, 200 cases are listed for re-investigation.

John B. Hessey, supervisor of the Pampa office of the commission in district 16, Friday attended a staff meeting of district officers in Amarillo. J. S. Fischer of Amarillo is district supervisor.

Investigators attending the meeting were Miss Laurel D. Beville, Shamrock; Mrs. Edith McSwain, Amarillo; O. W. Gano, Canyon; J. B. Dorsey, Dalhart, and John B. Hessey, Pampa.

EIGHTH PERSON DIES FROM CHILI POISONING

TUCUMCARI, N. M., Nov. 20 (AP)—Doctors and health authorities battling a fatal outbreak of food poisoning, from which eight persons have died, relaxed their vigil tonight in the hope the dread scourge had run its course.

Monday, for the first day since a funeral luncheon here, when a party of mourners at a funeral luncheon here were struck after eating home-canned chili, no new sufferers had been added to the grim list of botulism victims.

Little hope, however, was held for at least two of those yet alive, while only an even chance of recovery was granted three others.

Physicians, hospital doctors and district health authorities were believed to have rounded up and given antitoxin treatment to all other unsuspecting members of the luncheon party, which Dr. C. A. Wagner of Tucumcari hospital estimated to total about 30.

Feared to be fatally ill were pretty Anita Marquez, 19, and 8-year-old Richard Lujan.

Scouts Numerous As Leaders in Local Schools

Boy Scouts of Pampa furnish a large part of the leadership of Junior high school and high school and the ward schools.

Five out of the six boys who were named for special awards—citizenship, scholarship, leadership, the T. D. Hobart award, etc.—at the Junior high school graduation last year were Boy Scouts. Scouts hold a majority of class officers in high school.

Yesterday you read in the NEWS on this page that boys who are Scouts outnumber boys who are not Scouts on the Junior high and high school football teams.

Scouts go places because of the training they get. That is why the government during the world war rated the training an Eagle Scout received as valuable as a college education.

Boys if you want to be a Scout and enjoy camping and learning privileges, fill out the blank on the "funnies" page of the NEWS and mail or bring it to Scout headquarters in the City Hall.

FARM PLANS NEARLY READY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—Farm bill leaders, anxious to get a measure before congress Tuesday, set committee machinery into non-stop operation today.

Joining in an almost unprecedented maneuver, senate and house agriculture committees undertook executive sessions which some members said would be virtually continuous until Monday.

Secretary Wallace told reporters after a conference with Vice-President Garner the measure was "coming along all right."

It was assumed they conferred on plans for handling the bill which leaders have decided to set ahead of the pending anti-lynching legislation.

The progress of the committees was none too rapid.

Chairman Smith (D-SC) said the senate committee had been able to agree only as far as page 6 of the 124-page bill. He added, however, the differences "were not very serious."

"I have asked the committee to keep going all day and all night if necessary," he said.

Senator Norris (Ind-Neb) doubted the measure would be reported out by Monday, although he expected some report to be made on the status of studies at that time.

Chairman Jones (D-Tex) made no forecast for the house committee which is no less distracted.

"It looks like there'll be cash for cotton and control for corn," complained Representative Coffee (D-Neb).

The house committee still has to vote on recommendations that corn producers be limited to marketing quotas based on a tilled acreage basis. The plan has the backing of the administration.

Senate committee members debated whether to offer wheat and corn growers outright acreage-control contracts or blanket them in on general provisions for a referendum vote before any program became effective.

BASS TO ERECT $9,000 APARTMENT BUILDING

A permit for construction of a $9,000 apartment house in North addition was issued last week to J. B. Bass. Work on the building will begin immediately according to S. S. Thomas, building inspector.

Permits issued during the week totaled $13,000, making the amount for the year $279,600. Mrs. Birdie McKinney also took out a $2,000 permit for remodeling a residence at the corner of Francis and Somerville.

Other permits issued were for repair jobs.

BIG SHOTS IN CHINESE TONG HELD IN JAIL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—A trail that started with the source of supply for a narcotic addict in New York had led treasury agents today to a series of raids in five cities in which they said they had smashed a nation-wide ring doing a yearly business of $750,000.

Six months of quiet investigations paved the way for the raids, and when the agents cracked down last night, they arrested 17 persons, including the wife and brother of a member of the notorious "Lucky" Luciano gang and a former president of the Chinese Hip Sing tong.

Treasury officials said the 17 seized in New York, Pittsburgh, Chicago, San Francisco and Butte, Mont., were importers and large scale dealers in narcotics.

The synchronized raids started last night but complete results were not available until today when announced formally by the treasury.

Most of those arrested, the treasury said, operated through a tong organization. Harry J. Anslinger, commissioner of narcotics, said seizures made earlier in the investigation indicated that opium, morphine and heroin were handled by the syndicate.

In New York, the treasury agents arrested Mary de Bello Pennochio and Vito Pennochio, wife and brother of Tommy (the Bull) Pennochio, a member of the Luciano gang who now is serving a 25-year sentence in Sing Sing.

Arrested with Mrs. Pennochio in her home on Mulberry street, were her father and brother, Pietro and George de Bello.

In Pittsburgh, agents arrested Yee On Li alias Yee Haim, former president of the Hip Sing tong, which is one of the major Chinese organizations in this country. Chin Joo Hip and his son, Chin Joo Hip, the younger, were seized at Butte, Mont.

The elder Chin, described by Anslinger as the "father of the tong," was said to be the principal adviser and contact man for the contact ring.

Anslinger said the investigation "started from scratch" after agents had traced the source of supply of a minor addict arrested in New York.

Anslinger said no further arrests were expected.

"We know who we wanted and we got them," he said.

NATURE HELPS TO STAKE DOWN STAKED PLAINS

CLOVIS, N. M., Nov. 20 (AP)—Nature extended a helping hand in the most difficult work of staking down the Staked Plains, or reseeding barren pasture lands.

An 80-acre patch about 15 miles west of Clovis put in cultivation in 1916, started a sandblowing menace that covered about 300 acres with great, shifting dunes. It was among the first serious wind erosion problems in New Mexico.

That dune region, made barren 17 years before the winds of the high plains conspired with drought to lift valuable soil in black blizzards and create a dust bowl, now is the only place in the world producing blue-stem grass seed at anything less than prohibitive cost for replanting blown out range lands in the sandy sections of the plains.

The one bleak dune region produced 9,000 pounds of grass seed—enough to reseed 900 acres—this fall. The owner turned the 80 acres back to pasture land the year after the seed was broken. Until 1934 the struggling bluestem, the grass best suited to sandy sections of the plains, was nipped to the ground by cattle. It produced no seed. The place was fenced three years ago and no cattle allowed in the past three years. Bluestem, growing first at the outside edge, now averages 200 feet in width around the dune area, and is as high as a man's head. Spreading seed in front of it, close enough that the fringe protects the new plants, the grass has encircled the barren 300 acres, and gradually is closing in on the dunes with a choking embrace.

Meanwhile, various federal agencies have had only fair success in reseeding to grass the blown lands of the Great Plains. Officials of the soil conservation service agree that perhaps the most difficult work in controlling the dust area is reseeding to pasture grass. Seed is scarce. There is no "convenient way" to raise it without devastating the covered land and leaving it to the mercy of the wind and dust. Seed from the grass patch Nature nurtured will be used in reseeding and the patch will be saved as a producer of seed.

A Domei (Japanese) news agency correspondent with the Japanese in Sochow reported the city was captured as a small vanguard of Japanese, hooded against the rain, walked through the gates undetected and raised their flag on a pagoda.

Chinese troops he said, were thrown into a panic and the Japanese who followed the vanguard quickly captured 2,000 of them.

One thousand other Chinese soldiers were killed in hand-to-hand fighting, he reported, while the remainder fled in confusion.

A Japanese army spokesman yesterday said Sochow fell without a shot being fired.

Chairman Behrman asked that all workers who have not reported as yet during the call, to report before noon tomorrow at the Pampa chamber of commerce office, and to turn in all Red Cross buttons and materials.

More Buttons Ordered
It has been necessary to order an additional supply of Red Cross buttons. A shipment of 500 buttons received last week was exhausted before Saturday, and 750 were ordered yesterday from the Amarillo Red Cross chapter.

Amarillo's Red Cross roll call Saturday had produced only $1,000. The roll call in Amarillo began three days before the call was started in Pampa. Amarillo's quota is $3,000.

Reports Due Tuesday
Mr. Behrman called on various oil companies in the county Friday seeking their cooperation in the roll call. He has urged that workers at oil company plants try to complete their assignments and turn in their collections not later than Tuesday, if possible.

Mr. Behrman said the workers might either bring in the amount collected to the Pampa chamber of commerce, or phone in when their canvass was completed, and he would send out for the membership fees collected.

Industrial Canvass Monday
With work completed, or nearly so, in business and residential sections, efforts will be concentrated on the industrial section tomorrow.

While it appears that Pampa will easily attain the $1,000 goal, the campaign will be pushed energetically tomorrow in a try for a quick finish for Pampa's quota. The day preceding Thanksgiving will be the last day of the roll call, Mr. Behrman said.

Dr. Louis Shores, director of the library school of George Peabody college, one of the four nationally accredited professional schools of library training in the South, will follow Miss Sheers on the program.

hand over the child's head. Betty Lee placed second. Both little girls were unusually cute and attractive. However, there were several others the R. R. thought were just as lovely.

Then some of those old, mean boys threw a paper wad—except it must have been shot with a rubber band, because it struck the hand in which the stage announcer was holding the program. She showed annoyance and jerked up her hand right quick. Soon after, one of the men on the door spotted the boy, and there was no paper-wad throwing.

Beauty Contest

Besides the boys got interested in the beauty contest that came up next. The girls wore no bathing suits, but they were pretty enough without them. Do you know how stubborn Dick Hughes is? He'll have his way or bust, so Jack Foster and the R. R. gave in when Dick said that Fannie Blanche Tolbert was the one—but understand they gave in willingly! Jack picked the second place winner, Marie Southard, and the R. R. held out for Betty Dean Dunivan for third place. A dozen girls competed.

The next thing up was the amateur contest, and the entrants were children, not old enough to go to school, and those old enough to go. There was a little boy about three who sang six verses of a cowboy song; there were two girls who imitated Judy Canova's singing of Soap Gets in My Eyes. Then the sensation of the evening performed.

The R. R. immediately knew that Renner Ratliff, son of Homer Ratliff, the fiddler, was the reason why he went to Miami.

Realistic Imitation
Renner first imitated a crowing rooster, and his crowing was startlingly realistic. Never heard anything like it come from human lips. Then he gave imitations of sucking pigs, feeding hogs, a hen who has just laid, and of other animals, and you had to look at that boy before you'd believe there wasn't a barnyard on the stage.

Plays Piano With Heel

Of course he won first place, hands down. Then a girl who entered the beauty contest, Fern Keelin, and who might have won a bathing beauty contest, came on the stage barefooted. The announcer said watch her left foot. Well, that blonde, young woman sat down to the piano and played "Beautiful Texas" and played the bare with her left heel! She won second place. Third place went to Verna Grace McCusick and Betty Lee. Betty who gave a clever musical reading in which one said "You can't play in my back yard anymore," and the other replied, "I don't wanna play in your back yard . . . and you'll be sorry when you see me sliding down my cellar door!"

After the contest, the judges profusely congratulated Mrs. Holt Barber on the fine quality of feminine beauty exhibited and on the performances of the talented children. Mrs. Barber was in charge. Then Dick Hughes donated the $150 she gave him as expense money to Mr. McCusick to give to the Red Cross.

P. S.—I know why you boys threw those paper wads at the R. R. but let's forget that 1937 basketball season. Now whaddya say? Let's make up! You got your revenge.

Also, you grownups down there, don't go jumping on those boys for throwing wads at me. It was a personal matter. Maybe I deserved it. They wouldn't have done it to nobody else, because the R. R. has found the Miami boys the squares—shooting, most gentlemanly, the most courteous you could find anywhere.

P. S. No. 2—Merely trying to play the piano with your heel is something! Did you ever try it? The R. R. did after he got home. Why that girl deserved second place because she had the nerve to try it, if for no other reason!

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

EVERY SPARK SETS OFF A CYCLONE!

Rushing into the cylinder at speeds as high as 250 miles an hour, the fuel-charged spark strikes the Turbulator built into the piston. Instantaneously it is converted into a tiny cyclone of terrific turbulence. The spark flashing into this cyclotron, fires a faster, cleaner, more furious explosion which drives piston down with almost 10% stronger power-punch.

A SAFETY CUSHION ON EACH WHEEL!

Buick replaces the usual type spring with this special spring of stout coiled steel in a big direct-acting Transport Type shock absorber. Rigidly aligned by the Torque Tube, rear axle and wheels cannot twist or distort, cannot affect steering. Greatly reducing danger from skids. No shackles, no grease points, no chatter, no premature rear tire wear.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP)—Stocks did a fast about-face in today's market and leaders retrieved 1 to more than 3 points of their sharp losses of Friday.

The comeback was in the face of still cloudy business trends, continuing labor difficulties and doubts regarding the ability of congress to revise much-disputed tax laws at the present special session.

Brokers attributed the upward reversal partly to quick-turn buying by those who believed yesterday's decline called for at least a moderate rally.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 1.1 points at 44.3. There was a setback of 2.7 points the previous day. Transfers amounted to 1,232,100 shares against the 599,500 last Saturday. It was the largest 2-hour volume since October 23.

Conspicuous on the forward tilt were shares of U. S. Steel at 53 1/2, Bethlehem at 47 1/2, Chrysler at 58 1/2. DELEGATES PREPARING NEW SINO-JAP REPORT

BRUSSELS, Nov. 20 (AP)—United States Ambassador-at-Large Norman H. Davis and British delegates today debated the draft of a new statement on the Chinese-Japanese conflict to be submitted Monday to the apparently moribund Brussels conference.

The absence of the principal delegates from Great Britain, France, and Russia was regarded as a portent the next session would end without decisive action.

The statement in final form might follow the general outlines of the speech Davis made at the opening sessions of the conference urging direct negotiations between the warring nations.

Chinese delegates remained optimistic, however, despite the growing belief in conference circles the powers would not give China the material support she asked.

PEP SQUAD GIRL GIVEN TREATMENT AT STATION

Rae Zernial, member of the Pampa high school pep squad, was given medical treatment at Amarillo Friday night following an attack of acute indigestion. She was riding on the special train from Plainview when she became ill.

When the train reached Canyon, Supt. R. B. Fisher instructed Dick Roberts, Santa Fe traveling freight and passenger agent, to wire ahead to have a physician at the station when the train arrived.

The train was held at Amarillo for 15 minutes while the physician treated the sick girl. She was allowed to continue on the train and upon arrival at Pampa her condition was greatly improved.

It was believed that a sandwich she ate before leaving Plainview caused the attack.

William Henry Harrison, ninth President of the United States, was a grandfather of Benjamin Harrison, 23rd president.

NICE RESPONSE GIVEN TO CLOTHING DRIVE

The old clothes drive sponsored by the Pampa chapter of Veterans of Foreign Wars closed last night and the committee in charge was well pleased with the response. Residents of Pampa and LeFors gave liberally, especially of shoes which were badly needed.

John I. Bradley, chairman of the committee, and J. G. Sturgeon, whose VFW Boy Scouts gathered the clothes, last night asked The NEWS to thank all who assisted by donating in the move to secure clothing for needs of Pampa.

Clothing was cleaned and shoes repaired free of charge by local concerns and it will soon be ready for distribution by Mrs. Willie Baines, county case worker.

KANSAS LOSES TO ARIZONANS IN 9-7 UPSET

By HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

California's Golden Bears have moved in as the far western Rose Bowl representative but the latest wave of football upsets failed to shed much additional light on just what outfit will get the job of opposing Stubby Allison's Pacific Coast Conference champions at Pasadena New Year's day.

While Yale's favored Bulldogs were suffering their first defeat at the hands of Harvard, and Boston College, Navy, Syracuse, Holy Cross, Indiana, Kansas State and Arkansas were cast in the unwanted roles of victims in a series of form reversals yesterday, California wound up unbeaten season with a 13-0 conquest of Stanford that carried with it the conference championship and a berth in the Rose Bowl classic.

Keeping step with the Golden Bears were the unbeaten Eastern Colliaths, Pittsburg, Fordham, Villanova and Dartmouth. The South's chief Rose Bowl candidate, Alabama, was idle in preparation for its Thanksgiving day clash with Vanderbilt, itself rated by some experts as a Pasadena eligible if it gets past Alabama.

90,000 See Game

A crowd of 90,000 saw California tied by Washington but undefeated, turn back Stanford with a second half drive that accounted for both touchdowns. Pitt, with its great backfield axes, Goldberg, Cassiano, Stebbins and Patrick running wild, crushed Penn State by a 28-7 score and now needs a stoppage to wind up a season marked only by a scoreless tie with Fordham's powerful Rams.

Fordham was less impressive in a 6-0 victory over St. Mary's Gaels from California although the undefeated Rams dominated play from start to finish. Unbeaten Villanova ran up the biggest score in the history of the series by routing Pop Warner Temple Owls, 33-0. Dartmouth, which has said officially it will play no post-season games, completed an unbeaten season with an easy 7-0 conquest of Columbia, giving the Indians from Hanover, N. H., clear title to the "Ivy League" championship.

Meanwhile, Lafayette's Leopards downed their traditional rivals, Lehigh's Engineers, 6-0, to complete a season marked by neither defeat nor tie.

Yale led as usual by the irrepressible Clint Frank, gave Harvard a stiff fight but in the end the crowd of 58,000 saw the Crimson win out, 13-6, on its hard-driving ground attack and effective passes tossed by Frank Foley. Harvard's victory carried with it the "Big Three" title, first time the Crimson has won it since 1915.

Scoreless Draw

Unbeaten Holy Cross was held to its second scoreless draw, this time by Carnegie Tech, in a major eastern surprise but the biggest form reversal of the day overtook Navy's Tars who were thoroughly shellacked by Princeton, 26-6. Boston University beat Boston College for the first time in history, 13-6, while Colgate, trampled by most everybody this season, once more showed itself Syracuse's master, 7-0.

Maryland's clever Southern Conference team outpointed Georgetown, 12-2; Manhattan tripped Niagara, 13-7, and Army's reserves buried St. John's of Annapolis, 47-6.

In the midwest Minnesota's Gophers captured the Big Ten championship by virtue of a 13-6 victory over Wisconsin's battling Badgers. Ohio State's Buckeyes gained second place with an easy 21-0 victory over Michigan. Purdue surprised the experts by jolting Bo McMillin's Indiana array, 13-7. Illinois turned back Chicago with a second half drive, 21-0.

Notre Dame took advantage of one break to score the only touchdown of the game in a 7-0 defeat of Northwestern's Wildcats. The remaining Big Ten member, Iowa, was soundly fayed by Nebraska, 28-0.

Kansas State Loses

Iowa State's unpredictable Cyclones upset all calculations in a 13-7 triumph over Kansas State in the only Big Six game of the day. Missouri won over Washington University (St. Louis) 3-0, but Kansas was tripped by Arizona, 9-7. Oklahoma won its annual tussle from Oklahoma A. & M., 16-0. McNeese's well beaten team upset Duquesne, 13-6, in a major intersectional surprise.

Rice's drive toward the Southwest Conference crown met with a rude setback as Texas Christian's Horned Frogs, paced by Davey O'Brien, pounded out a 7-2 verdict that threw the conference race wide open again. Baylor ran up a 17-13 count on Loyola (California) and Southern Methodist invaded the far west to share a 26-13 decision over U. C. L. A. Arkansas' Razorbacks, however, were held scoreless for the first time since 1934 in a 0-0 deadlock with George Washington.

Despite its defeat by California, Stanford finished second in the Pacific Coast race as Oregon State bowed to Washington State, 7-0. Washington, bowling over Oregon, 14-0, finished third. Montana, previously unbeaten and untied, fell victim to Idaho, 6-0.

Auburn Tied

There was little action in the south but Georgia engineered another big surprise in the Southeastern Conference race by holding Auburn

Pampa Harvesters outplayed the Plainview Bulldogs in every department but could register only a 5 to 0 victory Friday afternoon in freezing weather at Plainview. Nearly 500 Pampans, including the band and pep squad, witnessed the game. The band and pep squad and many fans made the trip by special train.

The Harvesters drove to 13 first downs to five for the Bulldogs and gained 245 yards to Plainview's 79 paces but all the gains were in mid-field. When their goal line was in danger the Bulldogs stiffened and only once were the Harvesters able to break through.

Little Don Smith registered the difference between a scoreless tie and victory when he crashed through from the two-yard line. Graham's try for extra point was wide. Two laterals, one carried by Heiskell and the other by Graham, sent the Harvesters downfield to the 10. Heiskell whipped a lateral to Smith for 4 paces. Karr went around left end for 4 more paces and Smith went over on a sneak.

The Harvesters invaded pay territory several times but never to the dangerous point. Plainview, on the other hand, never threatened. The closest the Bulldogs could carry the ball was to the Harvester 35 yard marker.

Graham, Heiskell Gain

Graham and Heiskell were the only Harvester ball toters able to consistently gain against the Bulldogs. They went for yardage on sweeping end runs but the center of the Bulldog line which was tested many times, failed to yield. Crossland, who was used little because of a side injury, was Plainview's big ground gainer although Vaughn and Barry picked up considerable yardage.

The Harvesters changed their defense for the game playing a 3-3-2-1 formation with Mathews the extra man in the secondary. So effectively did the Harvester line function that Mathews had little to do, which was fortunate considering his bad knee.

Harding, Pampa center, played one of his best games at did Nelson and Coshaw. Coshaw was also a power on defense. Andis, reserve end, made one of the prettiest plays of the game when two Bulldogs tried to hurl him off the field to let a ball carrier get through between tackle and end. Andis battled them off and made the tackle.

Because of the cold, fumbles were numerous. Both teams took advantage of the fumbles, Pampa covering three of the Bulldog bobbles and losing two.

Smith Goes Over

After the kickoff punts were exchanged but Plainview got the advantage when Smith fumbled a bad pass from center and Wiley recovered. After a kick over the goal line, the Harvesters started to function, Graham and Heiskell doing the major portion of the ball totting but the drive died out.

Plainview failed to register a first down in the quarter while the Harvesters picked up five, all in mid-field or in their own territory. Heiskell circled his left end for 12 yards at the quarter.

Without losing the ball the Harvesters plugged away to score early in the period.

Plainview's first gain came after the kickoff when Barry raced 14 yards. It was Plainview's only major gain as the Harvesters held the ball most of the time, running up 7 first downs in the quarter. A pass intercepted by Heiskell and one good run by Wear put the Harvesters on their way but a strong Bulldog defense, led by Wiley and Sigmon caused it to bog at the half.

With Crossland in the lineup, the Bulldogs showed their first determined offensive of the game after the half. He had a first down on two plays and then passed to Shirley for another on the Pampa 47. The drive died on the Pampa 35 and Karr and Smith took over to help Graham and Heiskell run out but a fumble gave Plainview the ball on their 41. Midfield play continued until the quarter.

Opening the last stanza, the Harvesters got a break when Wear covered a Bulldog fumble, but the drive died and Plainview got a break when Wear tried to catch Crossland's 13 yard punt and fumbled, losing the ball.

Fumbles Numerous

A Bulldog threat was terminated late in the period when Dunaway, replacing Smith, intercepted one of Crossland's heaves. Graham gained ground on three plays and Wear followed with a hidden ball around his weak side for 15 yards. Dunaway's fumble was covered by Crossland and again Plainview was on the offensive.

In an effort to score, Coach Hilliard started sending substitutes into the game, drawing a five-yard penalty on each one as he hoped for a completed pass. His strategy failed, however, as Graham intercepted Crossland's pass at the gun.

In Wiley, Plainview has one of the outstanding tackles in the district and he has two more years of eligibility.

Plainview took the field with three regulars and two reserves not in uniform. They were dismissed to a 0-0 score. Georgia Tech walloped Florida, 12-0, and Tulane won from Sewanee, 33-7, in other conference games. North Carolina State fell before Duke in the only Southern Conference game of the day, 20-7. Centenary's sturdy gentlemen were upset by Texas Tech, 7-2.

With Colorado and Denver resting before their Thanksgiving day title battle, the Rocky Mountain Conference offered little of general interest although Colorado State sprang one upset in a 6-0 decision over Colorado College. Brigham Young took Montana State over the jumps, 19-0, and Greeley State trounced Colorado Mines, 32-6.

BULLET BILL TOSSES BEARS TO 27-13 WIN

By OLEN W. CLEMENTS
BEAUMONT, Nov. 20 (P)—The reviewed Baylor Bears smothered the University of Loyola of Los Angeles, 27-13, here today as Bullet Bill Patterson tossed three touchdown passes.

The Texans were too much for the Californians through the game. Baylor rolled up 13 first first downs to Loyola's 10 and gained 205 yards by rushing to Loyola's 48. A crowd of 6,000 turned out for the intersectional clash.

Patterson and Bubba Gernand, a Beaumont boy, put the Texans in the lead in the first quarter. Gernand took a short pass from Patterson, ran 43 yards for a touchdown and then kicked goal.

Baylor scored two more in the second period, Huesner and Barnes snaring end zone passes from the unerring Patterson. Gernand placed-kicked for one of the extra points and missed his next try. The Texans fourth touchdown was made in the fourth period when Brazzell raced through the Loyola line for 25 yards and a touchdown. Coleman, substitute Baylor guard, kicked goal.

Loyola came back in the third quarter and began a passing attack featuring fullback Jack Lyons, considered one of the best passers on the Pacific Coast.

Late in the third quarter, Lyons threw a 28-yard pass to Steve Kolton, substitute Loyola back, who grabbed the ball and plunged three yards over the goal line. Ratzkewich, substitute Loyola guard, kicked the extra point.

The Loyola passing game began to click again in the last quarter, and Loyola scored on the third play after Baylor had kicked off. The score was made possible by a beautiful 50-yard return of the kickoff by Acquarrelli, who took the ball on his own one-yard line and ran it to Baylor's 49.

Lyons on the next play threw a long pass to Polich, who ran the ball 15 yards further to the Baylor six. Redson scored after skirting end and cutting back. Katkovich missed the try for point.

Elwin Williams, Baylor sophomore, playing his first game for the Bears, rammed the line for many yards during the afternoon.

A total of 56 passes were thrown during the game.

McMurry Beats Christians 13-7

ABILENE, Nov. 20 (P)—Stymied for more than three quarters, the McMurry College Indians came smashing back to save themselves from a threatened upset by the Abilene Christian College Wildcats this afternoon in the eighth renewal of their intra-city rivalry.

McMurry scored two touchdowns in the last ten minutes and took the game 13 to 7. Their last game of the season, it left McMurry high in the Texas Conference standing and the Christians in complete charge of the cellar.

Brookshire passed 19 yards to Anthony for the first McMurry touchdown, and then placekicked for the tying point. Within three minutes the Braves had scored again.

GOPHERS WIN TITLE

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 20 (P)—Ohio State's Scarlet Tide rolled relentlessly over Michigan's hopes of a winning football season today, vanquishing the Wolverines for the fourth successive year, 21 to 0.

The victory provided some balm for the Buckeyes' Western Conference title aspirations, blasted when Minnesota defeated Wisconsin today to win the championship, and gave them a record for the season of six games won and two lost.

from the team for infraction of training rules after the Borger game. The Bulldogs entered the game determined to show up their erring brothers and they succeeded admirably.

TWO KILLED IN WEST VIRGINIA TRAIN WRECK

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., Nov. 20 (AP)—Two passengers were killed, 53 persons hurt seriously and 20 others injured slightly today in the wreck of a Norfolk & Western passenger train near here.

Recovery of three persons was doubtful.

Frank Booker, negro of Williamson, W. Va., was thrown from a coach as it overturned and was killed instantly.

Miss Georgia Clyburn, 61, of Bramwell, died several hours later.

Those who may die are Irene Dunman, 15, Elkhorn, W. Va.; Dora Lee Gammon, 29, school teacher at Kimball, W. Va.; and J. W. Dickenson, railroad employe at Bluestone, who was pinned under a coach two hours.

One coach, containing a group of women and children, tumbled down an embankment to the edge of the Bluestone river, twice overturning.

Another passenger coach of the all-steel train and two baggage cars were sprawled across the tracks. The cause of the accident was not determined.

Rescuers battled swirling snow and icy embankments two hours to extricate the injured.

The train, No. 24, en route from Columbus, O. to Norfolk, Va., had left the Bluestone powerhouse of the Norfolk & Western ten miles west of here. Many of the injured were workmen returning from the night shift.

Three doctors stood by the trapped Dickenson and administered opiates while trainmen toiled two hours to free him. Later doctors said one leg would have to be amputated.

Many of the injured suffered broken bones, all were badly bruised and suffered from shock.

THREE CASES FILED WITHIN 15 MINUTES

There were no special prices or reduced fees for filing a case in the office of District Clerk Miriam Wilson, but Saturday both the district clerk and Miss Aris Thompson, deputy, were almost convinced that attorneys had that idea.

Three cases were filed in 15 minutes, the first of the three at 3:45, the last at exactly 4 p. m. Two of the cases were divorce suits.

PARTISAN RETREAT

Now radio news commentators are on the spot, and there arises the question of "equal rights on the air waves." A newspaper radio editor says:

"The recent outburst of sponsored commentators who present only one side of controversial subjects has struck the broadcasters a blow which has them staggering. They are drawing radio toward the pit it has carefully avoided ever since the government turned the airlines over to commercial operators."

The situation has become so acute, he adds, that the president of a big broadcasting company recently issued orders that no new commentators could be signed without his approval, and also indicated that when some of the present editorializers' contracts expire they may be held up.

It is obviously desirable to keep any vested interest or self-assertive individual from getting control of this powerful means of publicity, whether thru the device of sponsored news broadcasts or any other means.

The broadcasting companies have played over backward in their effort to lean fair politically during election campaigns. But obviously their impartial policy is thwarted, and free speech is abused, if news commentators employed by radio advertisers, thru excess of zeal, give only one side of public issues and there is no provision for the other side getting a hearing.

Washington Daybook

BY PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—Military students in these parts have come to the conclusion, after close analysis of the Chinese conflict, that the Japanese are very skillful fighters.

Here is a quickie picture of what has happened on the two fronts:

In North China the Yellow river extends inland to the west some 500 miles, then turns abruptly northward about the same distance. That forms the bottom and far side of a rough square in which are four rich provinces of North China which Japan set out to subdue. Peiping, the North China capital, is within that square. The area includes more than 300,000 square miles.

Three railroads run roughly north and south through the square down to the Yellow river. One is about 50 miles inland, another 250 miles inland and the third 400 miles inland.

Japan, operating southward from the puppet kingdom of Manchukuo, launched a drive in three columns, following southward along these three railroads. The heaviest drive was first concentrated on the railroad nearest the coast. There was a reason for this.

As soon as the Japanese line had forced its way about half way to the Yellow river on the south, a strong force was sent inland from this coastal railroad. This force hit the Chinese in the rear along the second railway, 250 miles inland. It forced the Chinese back, and thus the second Japanese column was brought about even with the first in the southerly advance.

As soon as this advance had been accomplished along the second railway a strong force was sent inland similarly to hit the Chinese in the rear on the third railway, about 400 miles inland. That movement was accomplished November 9, virtually winding up the business of taking the four northern provinces.

In four months Japan has overrun about 300,000 square miles. If Germany had overrun all of Belgium and France in 1914, it would have covered only 223,000 square miles.

On the Shanghai front the difficulties were vastly greater, but the Japanese strategy was effective.

Best strategy on most battles is to go around the enemy's flank. But at Shanghai the Chinese north flank was on the Yangtze river and their south flank anchored against the International Settlement. So flanking was well nigh impossible. The Japanese had to punch a hole through, which they did near the International Settlement early in November. Cut loose from the International Settlement, the Chinese had to fall back.

Meantime, these are rough statistics of the war as gathered from cumulative news reports:

Killed and wounded: Chinese 300,000; Japanese, 125,000.

Expenditure: China $250,000,000; Japan, $600,000,000.

Chinese property loss: $200,000,000.

Trade loss: China, $100,000,000; Japan, $250,000,000.

Total cost to China: $550,000,000; to Japan, $850,000,000.

Meantime another smart maneuver was in the making. The Chinese had blocked the Yellow river, up stream from Shanghai, on the way toward Nanking. The Japanese made a show of attacking this blockade on the Chinese north flank. Meantime they brought two

John Mullen, pastor of the Christian church, who prefers not to have the pre-fix, "Rev.," used in connection with his clerical affiliation, once had the nickname, "General." . . . Boys and girls around Pampa area already have begun writing their annual letters to Santa Claus, with a view to living up to the old persuasive admonition to "shop early," or take what's left. . . . I'd like to say a word here about The Boss who is coming to the Pampa Daily News tomorrow with the idea in mind of being a permanent fixture in Pampa. . . . The Boss is an amiable top-hatted gentleman who will inhabit the pages of the Pampa News every day, beginning tomorrow. . . . We looked around a long time for a fellow like The Boss. . . . One of the most unusual things about the boss, as the fact that he never says a word, and he never will. . . . However, his deeds more than make up for his silence. . . . The world has too many pessimists, and every community has too many of them, so The Boss is an answer to chronic pessimists who bemoan the state of the nation and scoff at leading thinkers. . . . Although he loses occasionally in his bouts with a recalcitrant universe, The Boss maintains a marvelous batting average when it comes to performing the seemingly impossible.

The Boss is more than a funny little man. . . . His is the spirit of the successful, of the strong soul who meets life on its own grounds and conquers its obstacles with a flourish. . . . His performance is always good for a chuckle, but he is more than a pen and ink buffoon. . . . He helps his friends over tough spots with the essential simplicity of greatness. . . . I'd like to predict that The Boss will have made many, many friends in Pampa and surrounding towns and communities by this time next week—for most people will see in him something of themselves as they would prefer themselves to be. . . . I have seen The Boss in advance, and that's the way he appealed to me. . . . So, watch for The Boss in tomorrow's Pampa News. . . . He will be balm to anybody's bruised soul.

For instance, Pampa defeated Panhandle, and Panhandle defeated Perryton, and Perryton defeated Borger, and Borger defeated Lubbock, and Lubbock defeated Clovis, and Clovis defeated Pampa, which puts Pampa at both ends and in the middle at the same time. . . . If you need any additional testimony that all football dope is haywire, drop around and we'll turn the scorebook apart and see what it's made of.

Yesteryear In Pampa

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY

The first of a new series of big wells in the Bowers pool of section 88, Gray county, near Pampa, was flowing at the rate of 260 barrels hourly.

Musical compositions by Professor Otto Schick of Pampa were to be featured at the Amarillo broadcasting station.

Thirty adult leaders attended the second session of the Boy Scout leadership training school conducted in the high school gymnasium.

Thirty-three unemployed men with families were given work by use of the government relief money received.

Divisions from the far north (Yellow river) front, landed them on the sea-coast south of Shanghai and headed inland toward the Chinese south flank. The Chinese were taken completely by surprise and had to back away faster.

Getting Right Into The Farm Spirit

Man About Manhattan

—BY GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—In the front row at an opening of a play the other night sat an actress who used to be one of New York's best, but who gave up Broadway to become a successful glamor girl of the films.

Clutched tightly to her was a package of some sort, and she held it so carefully that I asked her what in the world it was. "You look nervous," I said, "that must be very valuable."

"I don't know," she said. "This could be a small fortune or it could be nothing. Then she explained: 'I keep my jewels and their imitations in identical boxes. This afternoon I thought I was taking the imitations down to a friend who wanted to borrow them, but suddenly I had a premonition that these were the real ones, and now I can't tell until I have my jeweler look at them. He's going to let me know after the theater.'

"But couldn't you tell by comparing them with the other set at home?" "No, I couldn't. As a matter of fact, it was my friend who first thought that I had made the mistake. I wanted her to wear the jewels anyway but she refused. It was too late to go by my jeweler then, but I telephoned him and made arrangements to see him after the theater."

Next day I hurriedly scanned the headlines to see if some snatches had relieved the pretty of her jewels. But evidently she got them safely home. Can you imagine taking a fortune to the theater and not knowing whether it's a phony or real?

At the automobile show I ran into further activities of the camera fiends. They were mostly tourists, armed with diminutive motion picture cameras, who lurked in the aisles waiting to take pictures of the celebrities who sauntered past the cars.

One young man said enthusiastically: "This is great. When I get home I'm going to give a motion picture show, charging admission, and I'll make enough to spend Xmas in Havana."

Among the "names" he had caught were Helena Rubinstein, Police Commissioner Lewis Valentine, Gertrude Lawrence, George M. Cohan, Jack Dempsey, Guy Lombardo, Paul Draper, Oscar of the Waldorf, Sylvia Sidney and Henry Fonda.

Another favorite diversion of the camera-minded ones was to pose in the ritzier machines, either behind the wheel or leaning nonchalantly against the door while having themselves photographed. A third ruse was asking a celebrity for a match while a confederate "shot" the scene. He could then return home and flash himself on the screen getting a light from Doug Fairbanks or whomever it happened to be. Some fun!

People You Know

By ARCHER FULLINGIM

Mrs. Golda Sartain is a new-comer in Pampa but she is an old-timer in spirit. She moved here this fall from Hot Springs, New Mexico, where for years she operated a hotel and knew the Dave Lards. There where the sick came for the healing baths Mrs. Sartain formed a great sympathy for the poor in body. Mrs. Sartain lives on Russell street and when anyone on that street is sick and she hears about it, she not only visits them but offers her help. Unlike most of us who whiz in and breeze out, Well does she know that sick people need nursing and comfort more than visiting.

When she was a girl she took nurse's training and since then she has had a most tender solicitude for the sick. So it was last week when she heard that a neighbor was ill, and she came and administered, and brought comfort and her humble hands gave that old-time care the pioneers gave to each other, and which many moderns now think is as extinct as the Good Neighbor Policy which the humane and loving President constantly, but perhaps vainly, preaches to the harried, hurried Americans.

How's Your Health?

By IAGO GILDSTON, M.D.

The physician attending a sick person will order his diet with the same care he exercises in prescribing the necessary medicines. However, there is much involved in the diet which should be known to the lay person and particularly to those who are likely to be called upon to do home nursing.

In case of acute illness of short duration, little harm is likely to result if the patient is over-fed or under-fed. But when the illness is prolonged, it is imperative that the patient be fed according to his requirements as well as according to the nature of his illness.

The patient at rest in bed is of course comparatively inactive and hence requires less food than he would be up and about. Frequently, however, his appetite is active, and as a result he is prone to overeat. This is likely to be the case with the patient, who is kept in bed because of a bone fracture, or for some other crippling condition.

The patient suffering from fever, on the other hand, is liable to have a poor appetite and yet, because of his fever, he is likely to require as much food as does an individual who works hard.

The items in the diet of the sick that require special attention are total caloric content, the intake of mineral salts, the intake of vitamins and fluids. In serious illness, the physician will draw up the diet so as to provide for each of these items, but it is up to the person attending the sick to see that the patient actually takes or consumes the foods in the amounts indicated. Persons sick-a-bed usually do better on several small meals than on a few large ones. They are also responsive to color, texture, flavoring and temperature of the meals served.

It is here that their attendant can show great ingenuity, for apart from the foods proper there is an art in serving meals so as to make them appetizing.

Around Hollywood

—BY ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Here's a new note on the educational influence of the movies. A school teacher (not in Hollywood) was faced with a disturbing phenomenon. Seemed every time one of her pupils went to the blackboard there was tense interest among the others, and frequently the recting child suddenly sat on the floor amid general glee. Being a good disciplinarian, the schoolmarm got to the bottom of things immediately, learned the children were engaged in a continuous game called Parkyakarkus—"if any kid forgets to keep his fingers crossed," as one explained, "he's gotta park-his-karkus—right there!"

Interesting short: Pete Smith's essay on "Radium."

That silver anniversary dinner for Eddie Cantor set 20th Century back about $6,000—and worth it, too, if for no other reason than it got Jack Benny on the air kidding Eddie's "All Baba."

New little actress in "Having Wonderful Time" is Becky Bayer, who wants to change her name to Bretta but doesn't specify whether whole wheats or white-s.

Leave It To Errol
Inevitable item from the "Robin Hood" location: "With a bow and arrow, Errol Flynn, Warner Bros. star, killed a 25-pound wildcat in the woods near Chico, Calif." Why are they having a peace conference anyway, now that the redoubtable Errol has mastered the bow and arrow, and could settle all those foreign messes single-handed?

Today's quotation: Rose Stradner (of "The Last Gangster") surveys the question of casual romance and career:—"An actress more than women in any other profession always has to look her best. She can't if she is emotionally upset." (Miss Stradner is a newcomer in Hollywood, apparently unfamiliar with the truism that no movie actress becomes too emotionally upset to look her best for the news cameras.)

Hiding Out At Home
Joseph Calleia has solved the problem actors have in getting away from it all. Calleia had a six-months' vacation recently, and wanted to be alone, except for a quick trip to New York. He managed it. For six months he found uninterrupted leisure to write a play, to read the books he's been planning to read, and to compose songs which prove a profitable hobby. How did he do it? He refused to answer the telephone, wrote letters to no one, avoided public places. And where was his hide-out? Right here in Hollywood, at his home.

Beautiful photography by George Barnes of some of the nicest scenery in Washington state distinguishes "The Barrier," a good old Rex Beach yarn about the pretty girl who thinks she's a half-breed but isn't and so can marry the dashing army officer after all. Occasionally, watching the reels unwind, I had the feeling that too many actors and too much plot were getting in the way of the scenery—but the actors (Leo Carrillo, Jean Parker, James Ellison, Robert Barrat, Otto Kruger, Andy Clyde) did what they could with the materials, and the result is good for a few laughs—or heart-throbs if you take it seriously.

Book A Day

—By BRUCE CATTON

There's something tremendously satisfying about the five prize-winning novelettes chosen for publication by Little, Brown and Company from 1340 manuscripts. Lastly, searchingly frank, laying bare the whole gamut of human emotions, these stories leave you pretty hopeful for the future of our younger novelists.

First-place novelette was Wallace Stegner's "Remembering Laughter." Runner-ups are William Corcoran's "This Man Joe Murray"; "A Cargo of Parrots" by R. Hernekin Baptiste; "Loving Memory" by James Hill, and "Night at Hogwallow" by Theodore Strauss. Mr. Stegner's story has been previously reviewed in this column.

Love, from the man's standpoint, is the story of "This Man Joe Murray." Joe was a pretty regular guy up against a pretty irregular world. He liked new places, new girls. He fell in love once—hard—but he didn't marry the girl. The second time the girl married him. You'll go a long way to explain love as well as Mr. Corcoran does. "A Cargo of Parrots" is a vastly different story, swinging you down the coast of Africa on a tramp steamer. Here the east and the west meet dramatically.

In "Loving Memory," James Hill returns to romance after death, and to the story of a man who found in his wife's diary what she really believed of him. The final wallop comes in "Night at Hogwallow." Mr. Strauss has packed into this story all the bitterness of a rape case in the south. A white girl goes out "hunting for trouble," finds it, and because a white man was afraid and a black man was black a whole township is embroiled.—P. G. F.

JAPANESE ADOPT 'BAR AND JAZZ' AS NEW WORDS.

TOKYO (AP)—With the approach of the Olympic games in Tokyo in 1940, learning English has become a popular craze among the Japanese.

This has resulted in the adoption into the vernacular language of more and more expressive phrases from the United States and England. Some business men in the larger cities are converting Japanese signs into English to catch the eye of American and British visitors.

A tendency to insert English words into conversation or written Japanese began 30 years ago when it was considered fashionable to speak English. Today it is regarded as not merely fashionable but indispensable. The study of English is compulsory in all schools and universities.

Among the commoner English words appropriated by the Japanese are: radio, taxi, camera, bar, jazz, broadcast, mass production, factory, etc. They have become so well established that they are now regarded as newly-coined Japanese words.

The Capitol Jigsaw

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, Nov. 19 (AP)—Psychology plays a formative part in conditions leading to a special session of the legislature. Some say it is "working" even now.

A little reference in newspapers to the possibility of a session, the desire of an individual to further a project requiring legislative attention, perhaps the comment of a lobbyist who doesn't want a session and, presto! a session is in process of being born.

Consider the current situation. Even before the September-October session ended, some members of the House of Representatives, convinced nothing would be achieved, expressed opinion the legislators ought to go home, meet constituents and reconvene at the start of the new year. After the session blew up, with a dove hunting law its chief product, these said, in effect, "I told you so," and speculated on what might be salvaged from the wreckage later on.

Since the session there has been much interest in the problem of old age assistance. The board of control has laid one entitled to a pension would lose one in November and January and there was fair prospect this condition would continue indefinitely. John Wallace, a board member, has emphasized income for old age assistance exceeded outgo in October and one ordinarily does not go broke so long as income is greater than expenses. But the members figure he had better get his pet bill ready to submit it in event there is a session. The governor replies courteously he hasn't considered a session but will keep the bill in mind and the members guess a session about a session in January. He threw up his hands.

In other words, after much pessimistic prediction, the pension situation seems to be in hand.

Yet the talk of a session in January goes on!

"I see where there is going to be a session in January," says a member of the legislature to another. He has nothing definite on which to base the observation. He has possibly heard chatter about what would happen if there should be a session. But the members figure he had better get his pet bill ready to submit it in event there is a session. The governor replies courteously he hasn't considered a session but will keep the bill in mind and the members guess a session about a session in January. He threw up his hands.

"For heaven's sake," he cried, "don't let's start that." But it has started, none can say just where.

It is pretty certain the governor doesn't want a session in January or any other time if one can be avoided. He doesn't enjoy battling the problems a governor has when the legislature is at his front door. Many members, probably a big majority, don't want one. They have work at home, businesses and professions to look after, children in school and so on and so on. Those who might see their taxes raised wouldn't protest if there wasn't another session for a long, long time.

In fact, it isn't clear just who does want another special session. Possibly a few members to whom $10 a day pay is a big thing, a few more with political ambitions they think a session would help, and some organized groups who want self-serving legislation enacted. Probably not many others.

World champion figure skater, Sonja Henie and Tyrone Power take the leading roles in Twentieth Century-Fox's "Thin Ice," showing today, tomorrow, Tuesday and Wednesday at the LaNora.

At the Rex, the picture for today and tomorrow is "Forty Naughty Girls," featuring the fast-talking, wise-cracking James Gleason and the flutty ZaSu Pitts. In this RKO Radio picture, laughs are frequent but the picture never goes out of the way for a laugh just to relieve the dramatic tension.

Jimmie and ZaSu are cast as sleuths deluxe who investigate a backstage murder. "Parnell" is showing at the State today, tomorrow, and Tuesday. It's an M. G. M. picture in which Clark Gable plays the title role. Myrna Loy, as Katie O'Shea, plays opposite Gable.

It's a story of the man who united 86 members of the Irish party for the first time in history, and used the House of Commons as a battle ground. How Parnell rose to power, met Katie O'Shea, and then through love for her, was forced to abandon his life work and lose Home Rule.

KPDN MANAGER TO SERVE ON RADIO GROUP

S. L. Patterson, manager of the Pampa Daily NEWS radio station KPDN, has accepted an invitation to serve on the radio council of the new National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, a development of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's Warm Springs foundation.

"In keeping with the whole plan," writes Keith Morgan, chairman of the executive committee, for the celebration of the President's birthday, "we have set up a new agency. And radio has and will play an enormous part in this work. It has already been a major factor in this fight. Especially has this been shown recently in Chicago, where radio was used to teach the youngsters who had to remain at home on account of the infantile paralysis epidemic which necessitated keeping the schools closed."

"We have established a very important group to be called the radio council, and it gives me great pleasure, on behalf of the committee, to invite you to serve as a member of this council."

The new national foundation will have as trustees between 30 and 40 eminent men, geographically located so as to give representation on this board to all sections of the country. The personnel of this foundation will be announced by the President, probably on Thanksgiving day, at his annual dinner at Warm Springs.

Members of the executive committee, headed by Mr. Morgan, are Edsel B. Ford, Marshall Field, Walter J. Cummings, George Allen, Fred J. Fisher, W. Averell Harriman, and S. Clay Williams.

Purpose of the new organization, as explained by President Franklin D. Roosevelt in a statement issued September 23, is a concentrated attack on infantile paralysis led and directed, though not controlled, by one national body.

"The work of the new organization must start immediately," the President declared. "It cannot be delayed. Its activities will include among many others those of the Warm Springs foundation, of which I have been president since its inception. I shall continue as president of the foundation."

"But in fairness to my official responsibilities, I cannot at this time take a very active part in the much broader work that will be carried out by the new foundation, and I therefore do not feel that I should now hold any official position in it."

To Concentrate Receipts Basil O'Connor, treasurer of the Georgia Warm Springs foundation, Inc., in a letter to President Roosevelt recommended that all funds received next year by the Birthday Celebration committee be given by the President to the new National foundation and that none of these funds go to Warm Springs.

AUSTIN, Nov. 19 (AP)—Thirteen types of motor license plates running the "scale" of color are manufactured for the state by the Texas prison system.

Those for passenger cars next year will be white in background with black letters, figures and borders. Probably about 2,000,000 will be made for issuance by the state highway department to the counties and thence to the car owners.

Others to show the state registration fee has been paid are, with the background list first:

Commercial cars and trucks—black and orange.

Farm trucks—orange and black.

Trailers and tractors—light gray and maroon.

Dealers vehicles—ivory and black.

Motor buses—maroon and light gray.

Exempt (federal, state, city and county-owned vehicles—black and ivory.

Motorcycles—orange and black.

Motorcycle sidecars—black and orange.

Four other types manufactured for the railroad commission to issue buses and trucks which it regulates are:

Motor buses—green and orange.

Common carrier trucks—white and black.

Contract carriers—orange and green.

Special commodity cars and trucks—black and white.

The colors are changed from year to year to make it easier for officers to know when the taxes have not been paid and for other law enforcement purposes. Passenger car colors this year were black and ivory.

The highway department last May placed an order for 1,250,000 passenger car license plates for 1938 but it was understood at the time a re-order probably would have to be made.

Business, drought, crop and other conditions naturally affect the demand. Approximately 1,250,000 were issued to date this year.

The new registration plates will be sent counties in January and some counties may begin issuing them Feb. 1 but they may not be legally placed on vehicles until March 1.

The deadline for paying the tax is March 31 and vehicles may not be used legally after that date without the plates.

The new railroad commission plates are in use, the fiscal year for which the permit is required having Sept. 1. Such plates usually are attached between Sept. 1 and Sept. 15, the latter the final date for payment of the fee.

Until a few years ago the plates were made by private manufacturers but the prison system, for economy purposes, then was given the job. State officials say the prison's work has been satisfactory.

Rustam Mametov and his wife, Sayat, of Armenia, are said to be the world's oldest married couple. Their ages are 140 and 116, respectively.

TWO ACCIDENT
AWARD SUITS
FILED IN CITY

Two suits, in each of which plaintiff seeks to have award of the Texas Industrial Accident board set aside so that a lump compensation payment can be made, were filed on Thursday and Friday in the 31st district court.

The suit filed Friday is styled Edgar L. Eldridge vs. Consolidated Underwriters. In this case plaintiff asks a lump sum compensation payment amounting to $15.78 a week for a period of 397 weeks beginning July 28.

Plaintiff's petition states that on June 25, while at work for Danziger Oil and Refineries, Inc., he lifted the iron base for a tank, straining his back and hips, the injury being a sacro-iliac slip.

He wore a sacro-iliac belt as a part of the method of treatment for the injury. On July 1, he returned to work and continued until July 21. He states that he did his work with great difficulty, due to the pain.

The board ruled on the case on November 5, setting $4.56 as the average daily wage and $26.30 as the average weekly wage. The compensation rate was determined as $15.78 a week.

In a suit filed Thursday, Mrs. Zora J. McCracken is asking for a lump sum payment of compensation as regards her portion, but would keep the sum that her four-year-old son would receive on a weekly basis.

Mrs. McCracken is the widow of Edgar N. McCracken, who died on April 26. Plaintiff's petition states that Mr. McCracken was injured in a fall while working as a route-bout for the British-American Oil Production company on March 22. In the fall, Mr. McCracken struck his back upon heavy steel or wood, and these injuries caused abscesses to his lungs, the petition states.

The Texas Industrial Accident board gave its ruling on the case on October 21. It set the average weekly wage of Mr. McCracken at $36.

Judgment is asked by Mrs. McCracken on a share-and-share alike basis for herself and her son, Edgar Donald McCracken, on a basis of $20 a week for a period of 390 weeks, with redemption of compensation to Mrs. McCracken in a lump sum.

The case is styled Edgar Donald McCracken by Mrs. Zora J. McCracken his mother and next friend and Mrs. Zora J. McCracken, individually, vs. Texas Employers Insurance association.

Musicians Who Will Appear in Recital Monday

Nuptials Spoken By Candlelight

In an impressive candlelight ceremony Thursday morning Miss Margaret Skibinski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Skibinski of the Bell community, became the bride of Melvin James Whitchurch, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Whitchurch of Barnsdall, Oklahoma.

The Rev. Father Washalia officiated at the ceremony which was solemnized at an altar decorated with palms, fern, red and white chrysanthemums, and cathedral tapers in the Sacred Heart church at White Deer. Miss Skibinski was married on the wedding anniversary of her parents and three sisters.

Mrs. Laddie Kotora, sister of the bride, played the wedding music. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was gowning in a vionnet model of white cut velvet with long fitted sleeves with a high neckline and a slim skirt which extended into a train. Her veil of bridal illusion, attached to a coronet of seed pearls, extended the full length of her train. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and orange blossoms.

Miss Geraldine Skibinski attended her sister as maid of honor and another sister, Miss Dorothy Skibinski, was bridesmaid. Both wore black taffeta floor length frocks and halos of black velvet with black illusion veils. They carried arm bouquets of pink carnations. Following the wedding, a reception was held for more than 125 guests at the home of the bride's parents. A three tiered wedding cake centered the table, which was laid with a white linen cloth used at the reception given after the marriage of each of the bride's sisters.

After the reception, the couple left for a wedding trip to Carlisle, Mrs. Whitchurch wore a gray wool suit with a cross fox collar and blue accessories.

The bride was graduated from the Pampa high school in 1935. Mr. Whitchurch, who is a graduate of the Barnsdall high school, is employed with the Travelers Oil company in Pampa, where the couple will live.

WHEN LIPSTICK STAINS.
Lipstick stains on linen napkins can usually be removed by rubbing soap on them before they are dipped in water. If that is not strong enough, hydrogen peroxide will almost always do the trick.

Woodrow Wilson Study Group Has Report Card Playlet

Mrs. R. E. Dowell presided at the meeting of the Woodrow Wilson Parent-Teacher association discussion group held last week at the school.

Two members, "The Secret" and a negro spiritual, by the junior choral club under the direction of Miss Charlotte Radcliff opened the program. Such questions as "How Often Should an Interested Parent Visit School?" and "How Can One Help a Self-Conscious Child?" were answered by the members in the question discussion.

Characters in the playlet, "The New Report Cards," with the setting in Frank Monroe's office were principal, Mr. Monroe; teacher bringing complaints from parents, Mrs. J. L. Lester; an angry parent, Mrs. E. M. Keller; a teacher with arguments for the new report card, Miss Helen Massengale; and a satisfied parent, Mrs. L. P. Yoder.

"These report cards are the comparative work of the pupil not comparative work of other children," Mr. Monroe said.

"To the question, 'How can parents determine what grade the pupil is making if no mark is by a subject?' Mr. Monroe answered that this would indicate that the child is doing satisfactory work.

"I cannot see how I can tell without grades how you are going to derive at a passing or failing grade," Mrs. Keller asserted.

"Consult your child's teacher if there is a doubt of his making passing grades, for the teacher keeps daily grades from month to month for comparison," Mr. Monroe answered.

"I like the new report cards because they show that Pampa is a progressive town, willing to cast aside old methods and take the new as a person casts aside old dresses and buys new ones with the change of styles; second, because these cards show the child's ability through comparison of his own work; and third, because teachers are able to grade in a fair way," Miss Massengale pointed out.

"I like this new system because children do not just go to school for grades. These cards bring out the child's best because they are his," Mrs. Yoder added.

"A report card should be a device which informs the parent in an understanding way of facts that are vital to the school success of their child," Mr. Monroe said in closing.

In a secret ballot taken from the third, fourth, fifth, and sixth grades, 64 per cent of the pupils voted that they liked the new report cards.

The 30 members of the study club present complimented the American Legion for their open house visitation program and urged Mr. Monroe to have more of them.

Mrs. Roy Holt and L. H. Anderson of the B. M. Baker Parent-Teacher association were visitors at the meeting.

Directors of Annual Messiah

Lester Aldrich, left, will direct the fourth annual Messiah which will be presented December 20 by the choir of the First Methodist Church. Mrs. Aldrich will sing the dramatic solo, "Why do the Nations Rage so Furiously Together," at this musical celebration. Mae Foreman Carr, right, will accompany the singers at their practices each Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock and at the final presentation.

Evening Gowns Will Hold Spotlight During Holidays

Centering around the Thanksgiving grid game between Pampa and Borger, holiday festivities will include several formal and informal parties and dances which will call for the smartest evening gowns of the season.

The local shops afford many attractive frocks appropriate for any of these dress-up occasions. Two modes featured this season are the full skirted waltz-time affair and the clinging silhouette which has a skirt that is almost straight.

Yards of swishing taffeta, fine lace, corded velvet, net, chiffon, and tulle make the loveliest full skirted party gowns which are designed with fitted bodies and slender waists. Alluring crystal, slipper satin, crepes, a new silk and wool jersey are used in the softly draped and princess silhouettes with high waists and low necklines.

Rich colors holding the spotlight in the dress parade are dull black, white, dusty pink, royal blue, rose, Wallis blue, mint green, gray, copper brown, and gold.

Short matching bolero jackets with short puffed sleeves which top informal dinner dresses, may be removed to make appealing dancing gowns. Other dresses are topped with lace, metallic cloth, sequins, and cloth of gold.

Black crepe dresses trimmed with matching silk fringe and the new corset styles are unusual trends in the winter fashion show.

Individuality in evening attire may be emphasized with smart bags, gloves, slippers, and hair ornaments.

Always wipe off the clothes line with a damp cloth before hanging up the laundry. This prevents dirt from staining the clothes.

MIND your MANNERS

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. Is "I'll come if I can" a graceful way to accept verbal invitation?
2. Is it all right for a wife who receives a dinner invitation over the telephone to say "May I ask Bob if he has any other plans and then call you back?"
3. Is it necessary to answer a written invitation to a tea?
4. Is it correct to give a reason for not accepting a formal invitation?
5. Does a wedding invitation ever require an answer?

What would you do if—
(a) You receive a formal invitation—
(b) Call your hostess on the telephone to tell her whether or not you can accept the invitation?
(c) Give her your answer the next time you happen to see her?
(d) Write a third person acceptance or regret on a small piece of white notepaper?

Answers
1. No.
2. Yes.
3. No.
4. Yes, if one wishes.
5. Yes. An invitation to a home wedding should be answered. And one should answer an invitation to a church wedding if he is also invited to the reception afterwards.

Modern Menus

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

Two answers to two totally different questions—Mrs. Edgar Blower, San Francisco, wants a day's menu for a person with a cold. Here it is, and just what the doctor ordered:

For a person having both a fever and a cold:

Breakfast at 8 a. m., 8 ounces orange juice, coffee with cream and sugar, cream of wheat and cream.

At 11 a. m. there should be an 8-ounce glass of pineapple juice, and at 2 p. m. some milk toast with fruit sherbet.

At 5 p. m., another 8-ounce glass, but this time with grapefruit juice.

Dinner will consist of tomato juice with lemon, a poached egg on toast, and at 10 p. m., before going to sleep, another 8-ounce glass of orange juice.

Remember, that is for a cold and fever combined.

A bad cold without the extra woe of a fever, permits a little more food during the day. Breakfast consists of eight ounces orange juice, a poached egg on toast, dry toast and coffee. At 10 a. m. an 8-ounce glass of orange and pineapple juice mixed, and for luncheon there is tomato juice, fresh vegetable salad with French dressing and cottage cheese balls; also Melba toast and mellow. Grapefruit juice appears at 5 p. m., and for dinner there is vegetable soup, broiled lamb chop, string beans, grilled tomato, hearts of lettuce with French dressing, fresh fruit cup.

Drink plenty of water in both cases and fruit juices, such as pineapple, grapefruit, lemon and orange which tend to alkalize easily. Better put one-half teaspoon of lemon juice in each glass of water. Omit all sweets and pastries while the cold is on.

Mrs. John W. Easton of Cattaraugus, New York, wants a recipe for sweet dill pickles.

Nine pounds medium size prepared dill pickles, 4½ pounds sugar, one tablespoon allspice, one table spoon cloves, two whole garlics, three-fourths cup tarragon vinegar, one cup olive oil.

In glass containers or stone crocks, place a layer of dill pickles, then a layer of sugar, until container is filled. Mix vinegar, oil and spices and pour over pickles. Stir daily for four days. Then your dill pickles are sweet enough to eat, Mrs. Easton.

SELECTING FURNITURE.

When you shop for furniture do you—

Begin by measuring carefully the space it is to occupy?

Make sure that a given piece will be comfortable by having the person who will use it most test it?

Look at the under side of tables and chairs, pull out drawers, swing doors, drop leaves?

Make sure, if a table or chair has very curving legs, that the grain runs in such a way as to prevent splitting from undue pressure? (The grain should follow the curvature).

Ascertain that table tops are evenly finished and flat?

Test bed springs by putting a mattress on them and lying down? —From "The Shopping Guide."

CLEAN WINDOWS EASILY.

If window washing has always been a long, drawn-out affair at your house—try the modern way with a liquid cleaner prepared especially for windows and mirrors. You will find that you can dispense with rubber gloves, buckets of water, and a bundle of wet rags.

IN SELECTING WALL PAPER.

If the surface of your walls is uneven, avoid paper with a blocked pattern or a striped paper. For kitchens a washable paper is best, but if you select a paper which cannot be wiped with a damp cloth, remember that one with a smooth finish will not gather as much dust as a soft crepe paper.

Football on the corner lot! Enthusiasm and boisterous play make thriving youngsters. But scan them for skinned knees or cut fingers when they come home. Each broken skin area is a potential source of infection. Clean, disinfect and watch! If soreness remains or a cut does not heal promptly it's time to tell your physician. Remember, neglect opens the door to sickness and disease.

Sky Scout Troop To Be Organized Here Tuesday Night

TWA GIVES AID IN-BEGINNING UNIQUE TROOP

A Sky Scout troop will have its beginning in Pampa Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock sharp, when boys interested in aviation are invited to attend an organization meeting at the Scout room in the basement of the First Methodist church.

The troop, if organized, would be sponsored by the Methodist church, local fliers, and unofficially by Transcontinental & Western Air, Inc., Kansas City, Mo.

The TWA sponsorship will be unofficial until national Boy Scout headquarters gives approval of the Kansas City Sky Scout troop now being sponsored by TWA in Kansas City. Jack Frye, president of TWA, yesterday sent a message stating that TWA will officially sponsor the Pampa troop to the extent of supplying local boys with various instruction pamphlets and other data used by the scoutmaster, after national Boy Scout headquarters gives official approval to the Kansas City set-up. At the last meeting of the Adobe Walls Scout Council, a Sky Scout program in Pampa was approved. If organized the council would make application to the National Council for a troop charter.

Who Are Eligible
In Kansas City, only boys between the ages of 16 and 22 who have attained the rank of Life or Eagle Scout are eligible to join. On the suggestion of Scout Executive Fred M. Roberts, the membership temporarily will be thrown open to boys 15 and over who have attained the rank of Life or Eagle.

However, exception will be made in the case of a few boys who are intensely interested in aviation but who may or may not be Scouts. Such boys, that is, those boys who build model airplanes and are unusually interested in flying, are strongly urged to attend the organization meeting. Although the troop probably would meet in Boy Scout Troop 80's room in the Methodist church, the membership would not be necessarily confined to that troop, and all boys interested in Sky Scouting, including members of other troops, are asked to attend.

Local Pilots to Help
Local aviators, including Dee Graham, Bill Mann, have promised to assist in giving instruction as provided by the Master Manual of TWA Explorer troop 12 of Kansas City, which was received last week. This manual states: "There are no merit ratings in Sky Scouting other than the merit rating as accepted by the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America. Ratings earned by the Sky Scouts are classified in degrees. Each degree earned by the Sky Scout signifies his qualification in a particular field of aviation, as symbolized by the Degree Badge issued to the Scout. The Tenderfoot of Sky Scouters is the rank attained after qualifications and entrance requirements have all been satisfactorily passed. The badge for this rank is an official half wing on a red circle with Sky Scout printed in the center of the circle."

Flying Not Involved
"Sky Scouting does not mean flying, but means a thorough study of the field of aviation in all its phases, the term Sky Scouting being used to designate a Boy Scout scouting in the field of aviation."

After a boy has become an Honorary Sky Scout, or a Tenderfoot, he may complete nine degrees, each of which is signified by a unique badge. Then he may complete special achievement projects which are similar to merit badges in Scouting.

Nine Degrees Offered
The nine degrees available are as follows: I, airplane mechanics; II, airplane electricity; III, airplane carburetor; IV, engine mechanics; V, airplane instruments; VI, meteorology; VII, navigation; VIII, air transportation; IX, radio.

The troop officers will comprise a scoutmaster, troop scribe, treasurer, quartermaster, bugler, public relations director.

When possible certain delegates of the Sky Scout troops will be assigned honorary trips by air to points of interest.

The first pamphlet received from TWA was "The History of Aviation." Subjects for Study.

The second pamphlet to be studied by the Scouts will be the theory of flights, which will teach the boys aerodynamics, wind tunnels, under such absorbing topics as equilibrium, velocity, airfoil, chord, span, aspect ratio, angle of incidence, natural lift line, forces acting on an inclined plane, center of pressure, drag, resistance, skin friction, head resistance, dihedral, top camber, stagger and wind tunnels.

TWA sent only the first two degree unit pamphlets, but as soon as the Pampa troop is actually under way and going ahead on a definite program, copies of the other instruction pamphlets will be sent in advance as far as possible.

TUBE INVENTION TO BE TESTED MONDAY

Monday, through the sponsorship of Gunn-Hinerman, Goodyear tire dealers for Pampa, a special demonstration of tubes will be given, east of Harvester Park.

The demonstration will be a speeding car driven by factory representatives driving over an iron slab studded with sharp spikes which blow out the tire, demonstrating the protection of the tube. Dynamic caps will be put in the tires and blown also to prove the merit of the tube.

There will be two demonstrations of this unusual invention in tire tubes, at 10:30 a. m. and 2:30 p. m.

The torrid zone is a belt around the earth which extends 23½ degrees north and south of the equator, and is bounded on the north by the Tropic of Cancer, and on the south by the Tropic of Capricorn.

RED CROSS GIVES INDIVIDUAL HELP TO DISASTER VICTIMS

Here are a few instances of how Red Cross services operate in the case of the individual. The field of the Red Cross, however, is as limitless as the problems man is heir to.

Orphan of the Flood
In the early days of the Ohio-Mississippi valley flood, a volunteer from Frankfort came down the Kentucky river in his power boat to assist the work of rescue in Louisville.

Toward the end of the day when he was returning to the boat center he heard a faint cry from a house. The house had six feet of water over the ground floor and as its doors were open he maneuvered his boat inside.

In the dining room, he discovered a five-year-old boy precariously perched atop a high sideboard, crying weakly and blue with cold. He took the little fellow to his hotel.

After he was warmed and fed the little boy told how his mother and father, with two younger children in their arms, had waded out of the house to seek help, leaving him perched above the flood waters.

Investigation proved that the others of the family had been drowned, and the little boy's rescuer took the child to his own home, and has since adopted him.

A New Start
Sam White and his wife barely escaped from their farm home when the flood waters swept over their small acres and little house. They had been farming two years, seeking better health after Sam's years of sitting cross-legged at a tailor's bench in the big city. They took refuge in a Red Cross camp, and here they grieved over their inability to return to the little farmstead.

Red Cross workers, investigating, solved the problem by repairs to the house, which was put back on its foundation, some new furniture and bedding, and by telling White an advance would be given him to buy two cows to restart his small herd. Sam was a good trader and on a visit to the farm the Red Cross worker found Sam had bought a cow with a calf and one with twin calves and had a good start in the dairy business.

A Life Saved
In the New London school explosion, when the lives of 293 school boys and girls were snuffed out, one boy was not added to the death toll, because of the cool headedness of a companion, who had been trained in Red Cross first aid.

As the blast occurred, many children jumped from a study hall window. One boy cut a deep gash in his wrist on the window pane. A high school boy seized him and on the scene of tragedy and confusion, quickly applied a tourniquet to stop the flow of blood from the torn arteries, and led him away. When a doctor arrived he said if this had not been done, the child would have bled to death.

Highway First Aid
Mounting files of reports of Red Cross first aid given to victims of automobile accidents on the highway attest to the value of the new service. Many of the reports indicate the saving of a life through the prompt handling of the injured person by the trained first aider.

In an auto collision near Fort Wayne, Ind., where three young men had newly established a first aid station in their filling station, a man's head was badly and deeply cut and the loss of blood was great; and a little girl was deeply cut on the head also.

The Red Cross first aiders bound the injuries expertly, stopped loss of blood, summoned an ambulance and sent the automobile victims to a hospital.

A bus crash near a Red Cross first aid station on the Dixie highway injured a number of persons. Red Cross first aid attendants gave first aid, but had to summon state police to hold the curious crowds back, so that proper aid could be given the injured. The owner of the station wrote: "I was certainly glad that I had had Red Cross first aid training as both my assistant and I were able to relieve a great deal of the pain and suffering of the crash victims."

Sprinkle dry salt on a new fruit stain to prevent it being permanent.

Yesterday: The expedition gets under way after many preparations and Melissa looks forward to the new turn of her career with great anticipation.

CHAPTER III

The heraldic crowing of Ma Pelphry's roosters, amplified by clear atmosphere and a complete lack of sound, awoke Mary Melissa Lane next morning. She jumped out of bed, startled.

"Goodness!" she murmured softly. The chicken house wasn't 20 feet away from her window, and dawn was creeping on the other side.

"That's Ma Pelphry?" she called. "We have waited on you."

When her thoughts had cleared the girl had to smile to herself. Many a night she hadn't more than started to bed at this hour—she struck a match to see her wrist watch. Four-forty a. m.

"Yes, Mrs. Pelphry. Are we to get up now?"

"Everybody's up but you, honey. Breakfast's on."

The others had eaten. Haden Jones and the younger man, Holliman, were already busy with the myriad details of making packs for the mules and horses. Bob Barry sat beside the parlor lamp, working with pencil and papers.

"Morning!" he greeted her cheerily. "Sorry to haul you out at midnight, but it's a custom out here."

She was embarrassed, but she covered it with a smile. "I'll get used to it—I hope. Please forgive me. But I really had no idea about the time to rise. And no alarm clock, except the roosters."

They laughed at that, but she quickly spoke again. "I hope you believe me when I say I want to work as well as put up the money for this trip. I admit I am inexperienced, but—"

He grinned at her. "Stout fellow! But take it easy, and learn as you go along. We'll divide up the duties when we get to camp, if you like. There'll be a deal of book work, records and such. You can help there, I know."

"Can't I do something now? Today?"

He thought for a moment before he answered that.

"Why perhaps you can. One item of equipment I overlooked yesterday is some clothing for the cook. I arranged for one before you came. He's an Indian and he has to meet us at my shack. But all redskins are penniless, Miss Lane. How'd it do for you to slip over to the store and get him some clothes and tobacco? Store opens at 6 o'clock."

"All right," she agreed.

She gave thought to the matter while eating her breakfast. The meal, incidentally, was a challenge. Ma Pelphry apparently expected a slight city girl to consume six enormous hotcakes, with butter and syrup, three fried eggs; a plateful of biscuits, fresh and hot; assorted cuts of breakfast dipped in flour and fried, with thick gravy beside them; a jar of squawberry jam; a mug—not a cup—of cavalry-type coffee.

Lissa thought it best not to appear surprised, but she wondered how to keep from hurting Mrs. Pelphry's feelings. In the end, however, she found that she had done amazingly well. It was the heaviest breakfast she had eaten in all her life, she felt sure; the desert air was already getting in its heady thrills, slightly intoxicating due to altitude. She smiled inwardly at the memories of tomato juice and dainty toast.

"You ain't on your feed yet, honey, but you'll be eatin' all right soon. Ma apologized for her. 'Takes a spell to forget the train travel out of a person's bones, I always say.'"

"Thank you, but it was delicious!" Mary Melissa said and meant it. Actually it was a strange delight to eat with zest that way.

"Now come and I'll help pack your things for the trip," Ma suggested.

"Thank you, they're all packed. I mean—" She had given this detail no thought, really. Suddenly she remembered the small bags assembled there by Haden Jones and Holliman. For an absence of at least a month, she observed, they couldn't have more than one change of clothing each. Wise Ma Pelphry appeared to read her thoughts.

"You won't really need much, honey," she consoled. "Just strong outdoor things. Now that pretty pink gown, it—"

"But it's my bathrobe, Mrs. Pelphry!"

"It may be, honey, but you won't need it. You will be miles from any water hole. Even old Haden can't pack in water for your bath every night. But it'll be all right."

MARY MELISSA regarded this with dismay. The little intimacies of her routine life, she realized, would have to be sadly altered. Silently she thanked herself, for the tenth time already, for deciding not to bring a maid to Arizona. But she just hadn't given any thought to such services as the hairdressers, manicurists and her beloved shower bath.

When Ma was through with her, she looked fine. She wore cowboy denim pants—they're most practical at all. Ma declared—and hiking boots, a mannish red shirt, and a real man's hat, which Ma had given her with the promise that it would ward off the Arizona sun.

"Great!" exclaimed Dr. Barry when she saw her. "Was afraid you'd be a little well-dressed. You know what I mean. But you look—"

He swallowed. After all, he wasn't sure of himself now. Telling a girl she looks cute and smart takes finesse anywhere, and Dr. Robert Wilson Barry was more at home with prehistoric pots and shards, abandoned caves and Indian signs.

"He likes me," Mary Melissa decided instantly. She hadn't even noticed what he was saying. But Mary Melissa was highly excited, appreciated his glow. In the same fleeting moment she noticed that he himself was quite presentable, but he hadn't fooled her any. Over the night he had managed to get a half-cut and shave, concessions the fact that his new partner was a woman.

With the storekeeper's help, she purchased two pairs of trousers, two blue shirts, two socks and brown shoes for the Indian cook. "I've made 'em generous size, ma'am," the store man said. "Most redskins are pretty fat hereabouts."

The men had bought and outfitted all of the saddle horses and pack mules, so that the party was ready to travel soon after noon. Mary Melissa was highly excited as they rode away. They wouldn't do all the 20 miles to Bob's cabin this afternoon, he told them, but would camp en route. They could pick up the Indian cook there next morning with only a 10-minute stop, then proceed on toward the Montezuma range and the cliff dwelling.

Camp was simple that first night, and although Mary Melissa was saddle sore next day, the group rode on easily. Everybody had slept well. In his mind Bob Barry rechecked every detail carefully. He could think of no item of equipment lacking. Old Haden had proven a genius at outfitting. The Indian cook would complete the party's preparations.

Bob Barry had already experienced one major surprise on this project, when M. M. Lane turned out to be a girl. Now, at his ranch cabin, fate took another dig at him. The Indian was waiting, as old Three Horses had promised.

But—the young scientist halted in amazement—the redskin who waited there was not a man!

"I am Honey Bee Girl," the new cook announced. "Three Horses, my grandfather, say you want one who cover the white man's food. I have learn in white man's school. I cook the white man's food. I am ready."

Haden Jones, Bob Barry, Holliman and Mary Melissa all were staring down from their horses at the fact that girl—as slender and as pretty and wild-looking a creature as a mountain deer.

Pep Squad Gives Supper For Team

By EFFIE MARIE COFFMAN
 GROOM, Nov. 20.—The football squad and the faculty of the Groom school were entertained with a buffet supper at 7:30 o'clock Friday night by the Pep Squad girls, sponsored by Mrs. Martin Ezell and Mrs. Walter Whatley.

The supper, marking the end of the football season, was given in the high school gymnasium.

There are 39 members in the Pep Squad. Eleanor Soules and Virginia Lee James are leaders, and Dorothy Belle Barnett, mascot, of the organization.

Pep Squad uniforms consist of red sweaters, black skirts and black bellboy hats.

If You Want To Camp Out Join The Scouts!

A Boy Scout! What fun he has on camping trips to the Palo Duro canyon, to the cottonwood forests on Chicken Creek, White Deer Creek, to Dripping Springs, to Colorado and to a dozen other places!

He knows the principal trees and birds and animals that he meets. He knows which are poisonous weeds or reptiles. He can find his way by the stars as the Indians and pioneers did.

What good things he can cook out there in the open! His "Good Turns" to some one each day make him many friends. For the way to have many friends is to be one. His motto is "Be Prepared." How he enjoys sleeping under the silent stars, and how the stories told by the campfire thrill him—You'll have more fun if you're a Boy Scout!

If you are interested in being a Boy Scout or a Cub, just fill out the following blank, paste it on a penny postcard, or put it in an envelope, or bring it yourself to BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA, ADOBE WALLS COUNCIL, CITY HALL, PAMPA, TEXAS.

Dear Sir:

I would like to become a Boy Scout—a Cub.

CONGRESS' AIM THIS TERM TO BE RECOVERY

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—A recession and election-conscious special session of congress, called to expedite New Deal long range social and economic planning objectives, disclosed in its first week an urgent desire to make recovery, not reform, its goal.

It popped up in committees where party leaders strove to urge some part of the President's legislative program through parliamentary snarls. It featured off-stage conferences between high ranking White House aides and congressional visitors. It doubtless was reflected in such indirect contacts as President Roosevelt himself had with legislative captains despite the tooth ailment that kept him away from his desk most of the week.

Yet it all produced no definite idea of what to do to bolster faltering business. An overwhelming congressional sentiment to overhaul New Deal tax policies ran head-on into budget balancing difficulties.

That is where the political shoe pinches. Congress is ready for tax-slashing moves to aid business but has found no other sources of revenue to fill that gap.

The senate closed a week of talk-fests to stall off a vote on the anti-lynching bill with intimations that some step might be taken there soon to assure business and the country that tax revision, budget balancing and any other possible action to reverse the recession cycle would be given right of way in the regular session.

Administration leaders in congress were in obvious doubt as to their ability to stem the gaining tide of senate and house sentiment for special session action in some form to meet the recession threat. They were faced by a general congressional lukewarm interest in other subjects in striving to undo the snarl in which every administration urged bill except the farm bill is tangled.
