Texas 'Modernist' Pastor Plans Finish Fight In Heresy Case

CLERIC ROUSED BY SUMMONS TO PRESBYTERY

Cameron Minister Will Not Submit to Questioning Without Battle

MENTIONS 'CLIQUE'

Preacher Says Persons Who Started Action Will Be Asked to Testify

CAMERON, Texas, Dec. 28. (AP)—The Rev. H. G. Kenney, "modernist" pastor of the First Presbyterian church here, today laid plans for a finish fight, if necessary, to retain his place in the ministry, attained through 14 years of service.

In the face of his summons yesterday to appear before the Central Texas presbytery in Temple Jan. 8 to answer allegations on which heresy charges probably will be predicated, the Rev. Kenney said he did not intend to take his opinions from any man or body of men.

The Rev. Kenney, pastor here for the past three years, picked up the gauntlet thrown down by what he termed a "little clique" of his congregation with a statement that "those who have made the charges will be called on to appear at the trial, which I have no doubt will take place, and there I intend to challenge their competency on both moral and intellectual grounds."

While the nature of the charges was not disclosed, the minister expressed his admiration for Dr Harry Emerson Fosdick, noted modernist, and said that while he was not in complete accord with Dr. Fosdick's views, he probably would go a "great deal further in some things."

BOWIE LIONS HEAR GRAHAM

Wichitans Take Part In Banquet Program

Special to The Record News.

BOWIE, Texas, Dec. 28—Dr. R. H. Graham, president of the Wichita Falls Lions club and deputy district governor, delivered the principal address here tonight at the annual banquet of the Bowie Lions club.

Dr. Graham's subject was announced as "Love, the Greatest Thing in the World." The speaker emphasized throughout his speech the proposition that love for the movements of which one is a part, love for his fellow men, and love of right will enable him unconsciously to fulfill all the laws of his organization, to practice the adopted code of ethics, and to discharge fully his obligation to the world. Defining Lionism as the love of highest principles of conduct, Dr. Graham said:

1,600 Clubs Today

"Lionism is only in its infancy. In 1917 a handful of Lions held the first International convention in Dallas. Today we have over 1,600 clubs with more than 61,000 members. Great principles live eternally, and since Lionism is such a principle, I declare to you that it will live eternally.

"If I were an artist, and were to paint the picture of the highest type of man, I would dip my brush in the color of unselfishness, and paint a picture of a man who believed in his personal responsibility to himself, to his God, and to his country. I would paint the picture of man who has love uppermost in his heart. I pity the man who has brain power, but who does not dream on the right side of life and do his part in this great hive of human endeavor.

Happiness For All

"There is enough happiness in the world for all of us if we will but recognize it. If life is a dream, make it a joyous dream. If you laugh and the world laughs with you, keep it always laughing."

A group of readings was given by Mrs. J. S. Pitman of Wichita Falls. Other visitors from the Wichita Falls club included Roy E. Carter, P. B. Curd, Frank Cripliver, Fred Barron, J. L. McElreath and Wayne Somerville.

Wives of the members of the local club were also guests at the banquet.

PARDON GIVEN REV. SHUMAKER HELD ILLEGAL

Indiana Anti-Saloon Head Must Spend 60 Days At State Farm

POWER OVER-STEPPED

Supreme Court Holds 'Dry' Chief's Contempt Case Is Not Pardonable

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 28. (UP)—Rev. E. S. Shumaker, superintendent of the Indiana Anti-Saloon league, must serve a 60-day sentence on the state farm for contempt, the supreme court ruled today in holding illegal a pardon issued by Gov. Ed Jackson, Oct. 18.

The state prohibition leader was sentenced originally after publication of his annual report two years ago in which he allegedly referred to the supreme court body as "wet."

Made Long Fight

Shumaker fought the sentence for several months in the court but finally surrendered last October to serve the sentence. The "dry" leader arrived at the prison farm on Oct. 19, but a pardon from the governor already had been received and Shumaker was released.

Considerable controversy arose after the issuance of the pardon and a demand was made for Shumaker to apologize to the court. Shumaker's friends countered with statements that they believed the Anti-Saloon league superintendent had acted sincerely and he refused to apologize.

Attorney General Arthur L. Gilliom petitioned the supreme court for an opinion on Governor Jackson's pardon power and the ruling today was made on that petition.

Seek Habeas Corpus Writ

Shumaker's attorneys announced they would ask a writ of habeas corpus in federal court to prevent Sheriff Omer Hawkins from arresting the dry leader.

The attorney general's petition contended that the governor had no power to pardon a man who had been sentenced for contempt of court and that Jackson had overstepped his power in doing so. The ruling today upheld Gilliom's contention.

The report for which Shumaker was convicted of contempt was for 1925, published in 1926. The attorney general filed an information and the court referred the matter to five leading attorneys acting as friends and a majority of the lawyers held Shumaker was guilty.

Raley Prepares for Annual Rush In Sale of New Auto Licenses

Preparations for handling the annual new year rush for automobile licenses are being completed all over the county under the direction of Guy C. Raley, county tax collector. Branch offices will be opened in Electra, Burkburnett and Iowa Park, and special deputies put into the Wichita Falls office Monday.

The vanguard of the army which yearly invades the collector's office from the first day of January until the last, has been in evidence at the collector's window during the past two days. The small percentage of automobile owners who prepare for the new year before the last day have been registering at the rate of several hundred a day. Late Friday afternoon the total exceeded 1,300, with only two more days to go before the date set for the appearance of the new plates on all machines. During 1928, 21,000 license plates were issued in the county, so the collector is anticipating the usual heavy business between now and Feb. 1, the last day of grace granted before serious steps are taken, and a state penalty falls due.

Payment of poll taxes, also due on Jan 1, has shown a similar increase within the past few days, 1,700 new names having been put on the paid-up list this week. The department expects the registration of around 15,000.

Presidential Musket Spells Doom For Most of Six Quail Killed by Party Of Hunters at Coolidge's Island Retreat

SAPELO ISLAND, Ga., Dec. 28 (AP)—Quail, a game bird which eluded President Coolidge while hunting in Virginia a month ago, fell victim today to the chief executive's marksmanship. After a half hour's hunting with Col. E. W. Starling, Mr. Coolidge returned from the thickets and fields of Sapelo island with six birds, most of which had been shot by the president.

Today's hunting took place at a remote section of the island which is almost a separate island in itself, and has been named for Black Beard, pirate, said to have made his headquarters there at one time.

As usual, when hunting, Mr. Coolidge wore the broad white sombrero given to him in South Dakota a year ago last summer, while a leather jacket, riding breeches and high, laced boots completed his costume. The president used a 12-gauge, double barreled hammerless shotgun.

Mrs. Coolidge and Mrs. Howard Coffin, wife of the Coolidge host, had planned to go along today and possibly do some shooting themselves, but at the last minute, after being warned of the brambles and underbrush which would be encountered, they abandoned the idea. Instead, Mrs. Coolidge spent the day in chatting with her hostess, resting in the comfortable Coffin home and in walking about the island.

A. D. Montgomery First Native Of Wichita Falls Named to Bench

Successor to Judge E. G. Thornton, Resigned, In Law Practice Here Since Completing Training

Succeeding Judge E. G. Thornton, resigned, Allan D. Montgomery, Wichita Falls attorney, will take the bench in the 30th district court on Jan. 1. The resignation of Judge Thornton and the appointment of Mr. Montgomery were announced from the offices of Gov. Dan Moody Friday morning. Wichita, Young, and Archer counties are included in the district.

Judge Thornton, who has made his home in Archer City since his appointment, will move back to Wichita Falls and become a member of the law firm from which Mr. Montgomery will retire to accept the judgeship. On Jan. 1, the present firm of Kilgore, Rogers, and Mongomery will become Kilgore, Rogers, and Thornton.

Appointed In 1926

The retiring judge was appointed to succeed Judge H. R. Wilson, his former law associate, in 1926. He was elected for a four year term in November, 1926. He leaves two years of his term unexpired. He has lived in Wichita and Archer counties during the past 10 years, having come here after the completion of his service in the aviation corps during the World war.

Mr. Montgomery, the first native of Wichita Falls to be named judge of a district court here, is the son of Judge and Mrs. J. T. Montgomery, leaders here since the early days of the settlement. He is a graduate of the law school of University of Texas, having finished his work there after two years in the University of Wisconsin. During the war he served in the naval aviation corps. Between 1921 and 1923 he was a member of the firm of Carrigan, Britain, Montgomery, and King. Since then he has been associated with the firm which he will leave to accept his appointment.

Court Opens Jan. 7

The convening of the 30th district court and the impanelling of both petit and grand juries on Jan. 7 will probably be the first official acts of the new judge.

The resignation of Judge Thorton came as a complete surprise to both official associates and close friends. The judge is visiting relatives in Erath county during the Christmas holidays and the announcement of his decision came without warning from Austin.

FIREMEN SAVE TOWN OF PARIS

City Threatened by Blaze Levelling Nine Houses

PARIS, Texas, Dec. 28. (AP)—Nine dwellings in the residential section in southeast Paris were destroyed by fire late today. Firemen were able to bring the blaze under control only after a strong wind which had fanned the flames died down just before dark.

Pete McArthur, a fireman, was injured when a truck overturned in answering the alarm.

Another fireman was hurt slightly.

The fire originated on North Herron street, where two houses were destroyed. Sparks, carried four blocks by the wind, ignited another dwelling and seven houses in that section quickly burned. The entire section appeared doomed when the wind suddenly ceased, enabling firemen to extinguish several burning homes.

Bolivia's Warlike Act Fails to Cause Worry

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28. (AP)—Disquieting offical reports from Paraguay which reached here today telling of continued Bolivian military activities on the disputed border between the two countries, failed to disturb the firm belief in Pan-American conference circles that conciliation of the controversy through the parley was well on its way.

Delegates held the view that it was highly unlikely that either of the disputants openly would pursue a warlike policy after having accepted good offices of the conference and after receipt of the parley's draft protocol of conciliation.

UNIVERSITY OIL LAND PROBLEM CLEAR AS MUD

Those Most Concerned Are Those Most Mistaken, It Now Appears

'PHONE WIRES WARM

Governor Whole-Heartedly Favors Some Kind Of Action Quickly

AUSTIN, Dec. 28. (AP)—A bewildering succession of developments in which long distance telephoning and hunting trips figured had left the question of a special session of the legislature still up in the air tonight. The session is urged by Texas university regents to repeal the 1925 land leasing law and withdraw from the market 103,000 acres of university land in West Texas, advertised for mineral rights sale, Jan. 2, under requirements of the leasing law. The theory of the regents and the governor is that the state would get only a fraction of what the leases actually are worth.

Governor Moody had not decided late today what he would do about calling the session.

Action Refused

State Land Commissioner J. T. Robison, who advertised the land, refused by telephone from Webb county, where he is hunting, today, to act in accordance with advice given by Assistant Attorney General C. W. Trueheart to the land office in a letter today from San Antonio, that the sale could be postponed until a later date in January, probably after the regular legislative session meets Jan. 8.

Robison was not satisfied with Trueheart's advice as a legal ruling without Attorney General Pollard's approval. Reached by telephone at Carthage, Mr. Pollard later declared he approved Trueheart's advice.

Governor's Call Fails

Robison had talked to J. H. Walker, land office chief clerk who was preparing to postpone the sale, but deferred action.

Governor Moody, who had been telephoning Trueheart today at San Antonio, then made several unsuccessful attempts to get Robison, who went to the Callahan ranch to hunt.

Earlier in the day, Governor Moody had told newspaper men that Robison had agreed to abide by a ruling from the attorney general's department.

The governor declared himself strongly in favor of forestalling the lease sales and said he would call a special session if that should be necessary.

"I don't understand why the land commissioner, knowing the situation, advertised these lands for sale

SUSPECT HUNTED IN MISSISSIPPI

PARCHMAN, Miss., Dec. 28. (AP)—Hundreds of men, aided by an airplane and bloodhounds, searched vainly today for Charley Shepherd, negro trusty at the state prison farm here, wanted for the murder of J. D. Duvall, carpenter, sergeant at the farm, and for the kidnaping and possible murder of his 18-year-old daughter, Ruth.

Duvall, 55 or 60 years old, and father of eight children, was found slain on the floor of the dining room of his home early today.

The daughter was missing. There were bloodstains on her bed, which L. T. Fox, superintendent of the state penitentiary, said appeared to have been caused by a bloody finger drawn across it.

Fox believed that Shepherd, 61 years old, serving a 20-year sentence for manslaughter, entered the Duvall home to do violence to Miss Duvall, and that her father, hearing a noise, investigated and was killed by the negro.

Jacob Vanderberg, the youth, was found before daybreak sitting at the roadside with a shotgun and a suitcase when officers were attracted to the Vanderberg farm by the blaze. He told them that stifling smoke wakened him during the night and that he went to his mother's bedside and found her dead. He called for his father but receiving no reply he took a few belongings and fled the house.

Convinced that the Vanderbergs had been murdered as they slept and the house fired in an effort to cover the crime, police arrested the youth. He continued to protest his innocence.

The bodies of J. W. Vanderberg, his wife, their daughters, Louise, 20, and Pauline, 18, and the other son, Robert, 12, were lying in the kitchen. Officers could see the bodies through a window when they arrived but had to wait until the blaze died down before bringing them out.

Z. H. KIMBRELL IS VICTIM WHEN DYNAMITE POPS

CHARGE IS DELAYED

Wichita Falls Man Investigates Failure of Explosive to Go Off

Z. H. Kimbrell, of 1006 Seventh street, formerly floorman for the Kent Tire and Storage company here, was killed almost instantly in a dynamite blast near Jacksboro, Texas, about 5 o'clock Friday afternoon, it was learned here.

Kimbrell was in charge of a group of Texas Power and Light company workers drilling holes for the erection of high line poles at the time of the accidental blast. A charge of dynamite which had been placed in a hole failed to discharge, and Kimbrell, it was reported, went to investigate. As he neared the spot the explosive discharged.

News of the tragedy was received here by Night Patrolman S. J. Holt, who notified the victim's wife and daughter, the latter of whom returned Friday from a holiday vacation with relatives in Sherman, Texas. Both proceeded immediately for Jacksboro, where the body is being held.

Mr. Kimbrell resigned his position with the local concern about a month ago to take up the new line of work, it was said.

AUSTRIA MAY JOIN GERMANY

New President Sees Unification as Possible

By ALFRED TYRNAUER

VIENNA, Dec. 28. (INS)—While a union of Austria and Germany is impossible at the present time owing to the opposition of some of the big powers, Prof. Wilhelm Miklas, newly-elected president of the Republic of Austria, believes that the international obstacles may be removed in the future.

The new president is a strong critic of Italy's treatment of Austrian citizens in districts annexed by Italy since the war.

Since his election to the presidency in succession to Dr. Michael Hainisch, Prof. Miklas has given no interviews upon political matters. However, his views on the more important international issues affecting Austria were outlined to me while he was still a Christian Socialist member of the chamber of deputies.

Not Natural Unit

"Present Austria was created since the war solely upon political and military considerations," said President Miklas. "Economic, geographic, ethnographic and cultural elements were not considered. Consequently, Austria does not constitute a natural unit, and it is no wonder the 'Anschuluss' idea—the movement for a union with Germany—found such a wide and sympathetic echo in our little country.

"Though the 'Anschluss' is not regarded by the Christian Socialist party, the present government party, as the only possible solution of the Austrian problem, and, although it is certainly not feasible at the present time owing to the opposition of certain great powers, nevertheless, its national force may overcome, in the future, all international difficulties. And it is apt to win nation-wide support, provided that the Catholic interests of Austria can be protected by the far-reaching autonomy within the German reich."

Tyrolean Dispute

As to the South Tyrolean question, he said:

"Italy is the only neighbor of Austria with which real amity seems possible for the present. The complaints of our brothers in youth in Tyrol are known and should be known throughout the world. The 250,000 German-Austrians of South Tyrol have less freedom under the present Italian rule than the colored subjects of Italy in the African colonies.

"The German schools were closed. Publication and sale of German newspapers and books were forbidden. Names of families, streets, towns, churches and even the cemeteries were Italianized. Those who dared to protest against the tyranny were imprisoned—women as well as men."

Will Written on Scrap Of Paper Is Filed

BEAUMONT, Texas, Dec. 28. (AP)—A little scrap of paper torn from a notebook seven years ago will settle the affairs of an estate estimated at $10,000, following the death of J. C. Calhoun in a hunting accident.

It was on this ragged piece of paper that Calhoun made his will, and it is considered one of the most unusual documents ever filed in the local courts for probate.

East Texans Propose Fight on Smyrna Fig

GALVESTON, Texas, Dec. 28. (AP)—East Texas congressmen have become interested in a proposed tariff against the Smyrna fig, now imported and sold to manufacturing concerns at a low price against which the Texas magnolia fig cannot compete. If the congressional hearing set for the latter part of January bears fruit, it will mean the opening up of a new market for this product of Galveston and other gulf coast counties.

"Relatives Hardly Know Him Now," Says Mrs. James

Wichita Woman Says Orgatone Is Doing Her Husband More Good Than Anything He Has Ever Used in Twelve Years

"People and relatives who have known my husband for some time and know about the awful condition his health was in for 12 years hardly know him since he commenced taking Orgatone," said Mrs. J. A. James, residing at 512 Austin street, Wichita Falls, Texas, while in Allison's Drug store a few days ago.

"I don't think I ever saw anybody suffer any more than my husband did during all that time," continued Mrs. James, "and when he commenced taking Orgatone he was in such condition that he had been unable to work for over two years and had about given up all hope of ever seeing a well day again. All the medicine he had tried during these 12 years had failed to actually do him any good. He had suffered so much with a disordered stomach that finally his eyes went back on him and he could hardly see. He was bothered with indigestion and gas, too, and unless he ate the very lightest kind of food, he would be in perfect misery for two or three hours after meals. He was very nervous and it was impossible for him to get a good night's rest.

"Orgatone has made such wonderful improvement in his condition that all the folks feel sure he will be able to go back to work if he continues to improve like he has in the past three weeks. His eyes are some better, he eats and sleeps well now and really, as I have jokingly stated to him, 'he can now eat more than I can cook.' He isn't near as nervous as he was and we are both glad to have this chance to recommend Orgatone to everybody."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific treatment containing no alcohol or other false stimulating drugs and is sold in Wichita Falls exclusively by Allison's Drug store, 716 Indiana avenue, under the personal direction of a special Orgatone representative. Pint and Quart Transactions Still Safe for Buyer Despite Decision

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28. (UP)—Pint and quart transactions in liquor still can be conducted without fear on the buyer's part that he will be convicted of conspiracy, the United Press learned today from prohibition officials.

Enforcement will continue along present lines regardless of the recent ruling by a Philadelphia judge that under certain circumstances a buyer is equally guilty with the seller, both assistant Secretary of Treasury Lowman and Prohibition Commissioner Doran said:

"We are greatly pleased over the decision," Lowman commented, "but we cannot make use of it until it has been threshed out in the higher courts."

Doran expressed belief the decision might make an effective enforcement weapon if the United States supreme court upholds it. Prosecution of large transactions will be easier.

A member of the prohibition bureau's legal staff said the decision could not be used in the case of a simple sale where no question of transportation is involved.

"In other words," the attorney explained, "a purchaser can go to a bottlegger and buy liquor without danger of conviction on conspiracy charges, unless it involves a large transaction.

"A buyer also can call a bootlegger and say, 'I want a pint or a quart' with equal freedom of arrest."

Aimed at Big Boys

An anti-saloon league official expressed the opinion that the decision would not be used against the pint and quart purchasers.

"The conspiracy clause was not enacted for the purpose of apprehending the pint purchaser but is solely to stop large transactions," the dry official said.

This man, who has been in the inner councils of the anti-saloon league for more than 15 years, expained why the 18th Amendment did not include the purchase of liquor. The amendment simply prohibits the manufacture, sale or transportation of liquor, not mentioning purchase.

"Those who drafted the amendment were afraid that to include the purchase of liquor might involve too many legal technicalities on the infringement of individual rights. For this reason the purchaser was omitted from the amendment," he said.

Senator Sheppard, Texas Democrat, author of the prohibition amendment, declined to predict whether the ruling might lead to legislation making the purchaser of liquor equally giulty with the seller in all transactions.

"There is no telling what the supreme court will do with the decision," he said, "but from my knowledge of both prohibition law and the conspiracy law, I believe the judge was correct in his ruling."

Purchase Not Offense

A member of the Methodist board of prohibition, temperance and public morals said there was no inclination on the part of the board officially to make the purchaser equally as guilty as the seller in all liquor transactions although some individual members of the board believed such legislation desirable.

Those who have studied the decision pointed out the federal judge agreed the purchase of liquor is not an offense under the prohibition laws. This part of his decision said:

"We agree that the mere purchase of liquor is not an offense, under the national prohibition act, and that the purchaser cannot be convicted of aiding and abetting the sale. Further, we will assume, without deciding, that where there is nothing in the case but a simple sale, the purchaser cannot be convicted of conspiracy with the seller to make the sale; though it may be noted that the supreme court of the United States in the United States vs. Katz, 271 U. S. 354, went on further than to say that such an indictment would be of doubtful validity."

Endurance Fliers Forced Down by Air Pocket

IMPERIAL, Calif., Dec. 28 (AP)—Striking a downward air current which forced their heavily loaded ship earthward, Charles Rockeville and John Guglementi, pilots of the Albatross B-1, made a forced landing 15 miles west of Niland, Calif., it was learned here today.

The ship, which had taken up at 6:55 o'clock this morning in an effort to smash the world's endurance flight record, landed an hour and a half after the takeoff. The pilots said that the landing on the rough terrain had smashed the propeller and one wheel and that it would be necessary to dismantle the ship.

Another Air Mail Record Is Smashed

CHICAGO, Dec. 28 (AP)—The American Air Transport association today announced a new record had been made in a Boeing air transport mail plane which arrived here today with 1,700 pounds of mail from San Francisco 16 hours and 55 minutes from the start from the Pacific coast. The best previous record was 17 hours and 22 minutes. The four planes that brought the mail in relays were actually in the air 14 hours and 51 minutes on the 1,949 mile trip.

Ray Terrill to Make Deposition for Appeal

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 28. (UP)—John Lawson, assistant attorney general, will go to McAlester tomorrow to take deposition to be used in the April of Ray Terrill for release from solitary confinement.

Terrill, a member of the Mathew Kimes band bandit gang, sought release from prison several weeks ago on the ground that he was improperly committed.

Fearful Death Ray Invented

BERLIN.—Capable of exploding one kilogram of coal with a force of 90,000,000,000 horsepower and creating instant death to anything it touches are claims laid by Erich Graichen, 30, for his "invisible death ray." Graichen's ray is produced by an electrical current of 160,000 voltage passed through a vacuum valve of quartz glass containing an anode and two cathodes. The ray is the product of a combination of Roentgen or X-rays, cathode rays and light rays. The purpose of the ray, according to Graichen, is to isolate atoms and help eradicate cancer. His present ray is said to kill at 15 feet. "I am afraid under present inadequate conditions to build a bigger valve," he says, "for it would destroy everything in the laboratory.

Galveston Ferry To Open By Early Summer

GALVESTON, Texas, Dec. 28. (AP)—County officials have given assurance that the Galveston-Bolivar ferry service will be opened to traffic by early summer, thereby making available a new travel artery between Galveston and East Texas points by way of the Bolivar peninsula highway to Port Arthur.

KING REGAINS LOST GROUND

His Majesty's Condition Is Slightly Improved

LONDON, Dec. 28. (US)—Despite fears that were entertained last night for King George following the relapse he suffered yesterday, his majesty's condition showed a slight improvement again today.

Two bulletins were issued today, one at noon and the other at 8:15 this evening. The first bulletin said:

"The king had a fair night with quieter sleep towards morning. There was less difficulty with taking nourishment and his general state is improved during the last 12 hours."

Tonight's bulletin stated:

"The king has had a restful day. The slight improvement noted this morning has been maintained."

The violet ray treatment, which was renewed last night after a lapse of four nights, was again administered this evening.

Although the king passed a comfortable night the medical forces at the palace were augmented again today by the group of specialists who were called in nearly three weeks ago when the royal patient's condition became extremely alarming. Sir Humphery Rolleston and Sir E. Farquhar Buzzard joined the early morning consultation with Sir Stanley Hewett, Sir Hugh M. Rigby and Lord Dawson of Penn.

The consultation lasted almost three hours, and at its conclusion the five doctors signed the noon bulletin which brought a new feeling of relief to the people.

The doctors indicated their belief that the definite improvement in the local condition, meaning the infection in the base of the right lung, was regarded as lessening the chance for the return of the general infection. They let it be known through a palace spokesman that the king's ultimate recovery now hinges entirely upon his constitutional strength. The bulletins today do not indicate that the physicians consider this strength satisfactory.

YALE OBTAINS GROUND SLOTH

Historical Specimen Found North of El Paso

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 28. (US)—Described as "perhaps the most remarkable fossil that has ever come to light," the Peabody museum of Yale university has obtained a perfect specimen of the ground sloth or nothrotherium.

The historic specimen, extinct as a species since pleistocene time, was found about 45 miles northwest of El Paso, Texas, in New Mexico by Ewing Waterhouse and two companions from the border city. It was buried in a laval formation, deep in a cavern formed by the crater of an ancient volcano.

The skeleton, which is to be known to scientists as "the Yale sloth," was found at a vertical depth of about 100 feet below the ground level, according to Prof. Richard S. Hull.

"The animal had not attained full stature. The head was very small for the bodily bulk. The nature of its food will be revealed when a well-preserved 'food ball' found in its interior shall have been analysed. It was a small type for such an animal and, when alive, could not have measured more than eight feet from head to the tip of its tail."

Following discovery of the animal Waterhouse communicated with the university which, through the T. Mitchell Prudden fund secured the sloth for the Peabody museum where it is now mounted. In an excellent state of preservation, not only is the entire skeleton present, but the bones are held in articulation by the original tendons and ligaments. Several patches of hide remain, the rest having been gnawed away by some hungry rodent whose teeth marks are clearly visible. The hide bears patches of hair which is dense, long and straight.

Better Protection For Texas Game Assured

ALPINE, Texas, Dec. 28. (AP)—After a tour of inspection made by State Game Commissioner J. Tucker, Beal Jester, chief deputy game commissioner, and Joe Brown, assistant attorney general, better protection for Texas' wild game was assured, according to statements made by the officials while here. The party was directed over the Big Bend country by Pete Crawford, special deputy game warden for the Big Bend, who showed the officials the need for a shorter hunting season and a cut in the bag limit of black-tailed deer.

A bill probably will be introduced at the next session of the legislature by State Senator B. F. Berkeley of Alpine, which will provide for a 15-day hunting season, beginning Nov. 1, with a bag limit of one buck.

Mrs. Stronger is also taking lessons at London's smartest flying school where at least 50 women are at present being instructed, and has ordered a moth machine of her own for the spring.

POLICE DENY HALTING BOSSY

Wilkes-Barre Officers Say Report Was False

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Dec. 28. (INS)—Wilkes-Barre police this afternoon denied reports that Mayor (Bossy) Gillis of Newburyport, Mass., who is touring with an orchestra, had been taken into custody here following an automobile accident.

Police said that they had no record of any automobile accident in which "Bossy" figured and that he had not been arrested with the driver of a car, as reported.

Gillis, who appeared at a local dance pavilion with an orchestra yesterday could not be located today. It was not known whether he had left Wilkes-Barre or was staying with friends.

"Bossy" was stopped by a state highway patrolman while coming through Minooka, near Scranton, Wednesday night. The officer allowed "Bossy" to proceed after warning him about exceeding the speed limit.

GIGANTIC RAIL FEATS PLANNED

Tunnels Would Connect England and Africa

By RALPH HEINZEN

PARIS, Dec. 28. (UP)—Three great engineering projects) which would link the British isles and Europe with Africa, making it possible to travel from the north of Scotland to Capetown, Africa, without changing trains, are to be an outstanding subject under study by British, French and Spanish engineers during the next year.

Three engineering feats will make the projects possible:

1. A tunnel under the English channel, linking Britain and France.
2. A tunnel under the Straits of Gibraltar, from Algeria to Ceuta.
3. A single track railroad across the Sahara desert, putting the heart of Africa within six days of London.

Difficult Projects

Each of the three projects is as full of difficulties and as important to world peace and transportation as the Panama or Suez canals or the Great Transcontinental railways, European engineers contend.

The English channel tunnel, which would spoil England's "splendid isolation," has been opposed by the British war office for half a century.

The Gibraltar tunnel is much farther advanced, and during the first weeks of the new year an official Spanish technical commission will report on the situation, ending months of investigation.

Algeria's probably will be the Spanish terminal because it is the railhead of the main line from the rest of Europe. On the African side the terminal would be Spanish Morocco rather than in the Tangiers zone.

France's Part

France would contribute the Trans-Saharan railroad, which eventually would be prolonged down the west coast to other French colonies and link up with a British line to Capetown. The cost of such a line across the desert would be about $80,000,000. Material obtained from Germany under the Dawes plan could be diverted to construction of the road, but French investors would be called upon to foot the major part of the bill.

Exponents of the railroad plan contend that it would pay for itself in 25 years, just as the Trans-Siberian road proved profitable. They claim that cotton plantations could be established in the heart of the Sahara, cattle ranches in Africa and great grainaries along the entire west coast. A gigantic irrigation scheme would be carried out in connection with the construction of the railroad.

Would Reclaim Lands

The program of irrigation would reclaim 4,000,000 acres of rich valley land in the Upper Niger. Much of this would be suitable for cotton, and the beef output of West Africa would be quadrupled, the experts claim.

Princess Phones 10,000 Miles For News of Infant

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 28. (AP)—The anxiety of Crown Princess Astrid of Belgium for the welfare of her baby daughter, Princess Josephine Charlotte, who is staying with her grandmother, Princess Ingeborg of Sweden, while her parents are traveling in the far East, occasioned one of the longest telephone calls that ever came to Sweden.

From Banjuwang on the island of Java the young mother yesterday called up her former country home, Fridhem, in the province of Ostergothland, where the family is spending the Christmas holidays.

From Java to Amsterdam the call went by wireless short wave, an estimated distance of 12,000 kilometers, (7,452 miles) and from Amsterdam to Fridhem, a distance of 1,500 kilometers (931.5 miles) by the regular telephone cable under the Baltic which connects Sweden with Holland, Germany and other European countries.

Later Princess Ingeborg said she could hear her daughter's voice as clearly as though she had been in the same building. The news of the 15-month-old baby was "all well."

Emissary to Face Dope Trial May 6

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 28. (US)—Roberto Salazar, commercial secretary of the San Salvador legation at Mexico City, will stand trial here May 6 on charges of violating the Harrison narcotic act. Salazar was arrested Sunday by federal agents who allege about 20 pounds of drugs were found in his suitcase.

Salazar claimed diplomatic immunity, but advices received today from Washington said that the legation attache should be treated as any other person charged with a federal offense.

Thus far Salazar has been unsuccessful in raising a $5,000 bond, although he has cabled his plight to his government.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 28. (INS)—Officials of the Carnegie institute of technology voted today to postpone the re-opening of college after the Christmas recess from Wednesday, Jan. 2, to Monday, Jan. 7, because of the nation-wide influenza epidemic.

Conditions at the institution itself, however, are favorable as all flu cases among students living in the dormitories have been cleared up, school authorities said. Postponement of re-opening has been taken as a precautionary measure.

Sudie Hall to Head Oil Department In County Tax Collector's Office

Reorganization within the county tax collector's office after the first of the year will include the appointment of Miss Sudie Hall as head of the oil department, Guy C. Raley, collector, announced Friday.

Miss Hall will succeed Mrs. W. J. Townsend, who succumbed to a two months illness in Marlin last week. The new deputy for the oil division has been connected with the collector's department for the past ten years.

In recommending her to the public, Mr. Raley said Friday that the appointment had been made with the interest of the oil industry of the county in mind. He repeated a tribute to the work of Mrs. Townsend, who served the department for nine years.

No further changes in the personnell of the office will be made, the collector said, but the deputies already employed will be allotted to different work in the course of the reorganization.

All the changes are being made with an eye to better service to the public, Mr. Raley declared.

Aged Chicagoan Says Siren Took Naughty Picture

CHICAGO, Dec. 28. (UP)—A stuttering siren was accused by 68-year-old L. Frauenreder today of having him photographed in his undergarments as a plot to deplete his bank account.

Frauenreder said Mrs. Aldea Vaulman invited him to her home to talk business. They talked for a while and then she went to a window and drew the shade. At that signal her husband came in, pointed a gun at Frauenreder and told him to undress and get in bed.

Then, with Mrs. Vaulman sitting close beside the prone Frauenreder, the husband photographed them and took Frauenreder's diamond.

The victim of the plot had the Vaulmans arrested.

"G-g-g-g-eo-rge c-c-aught us," was all that Mrs. Vaulman would say.

George said he would give back the diamond ring and destroy the evidence.

Alleged 'Life Pact' Violator To Be Quizzed

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (US)—Edwin Farnham Green, leading figure in the textile industry and lately chairman of the board of trustees of Wellesley college, who was charged with violation of an astounding "life pact" agreement by Mrs. Lelia G. Trudell, will be examined by her attorney, Samuel C. Lipton on Jan. 10.

Mrs. Trudell, 35, alleges that Green broke a contract to pay her $1,000 a month for life, to assign her a life insurance policy of $100,000 and to keep up her apartment.

The agreement was allegedly signed on April 28, 1926, and Mrs. Trudell filed her complaint last September. Supreme Court Justice Churchill granted the motion allowing the examination of Green.

Mrs. Trudell declared that the last $1,000 check which she received was deposited with the Guaranty Trust company, and with failure to deposit payment for September came word from the defendant that he would no longer be financially responsible to her.

INDIA SEEKS HER FREEDOM

Nation Wants Definite Status, or Liberty

CALCUTTA, India, Dec. 28. (UP)—India's long and heated battle over her status within the British empire probably will be carried before the national congress Saturday as a aresult of the failure of reconciliation measures.

It is predicted here that the next month will witness the climax of the controversy among Indian nationalists over whether the nation shall take the status of a dominion or demand complete independence from the British empire.

Meeting Fails

Today's meeting of the subjects committee failed to bridge differences arising out of Mahatma Gandhi's new resolutions favoring acceptance of the Nehru constitution with the provision that if Britain does not accept the constitution before the end of 1930, a policy of non-violent non-cooperation should be revived.

The constitution report presented by Pandit Moti Lal Nehru was based on the acceptance of dominion status. The status of a dominion, Nehru pointed out, would be a "step forward" toward political independence. This previously had been opposed by Gandhi, who had sought to lead the natives to Independence.

Earnest Leader

Nehru, who is this year's president of the congress, has emphasized that he will support his report favoring dominion status to the extent of resigning if his liberty of action is challenged. As a result, if the Nehru report is repudiated by the Indian leaders themselves, they can scarcely expect the Sir John Simon commission, which is studying the entire situation and will make recommendations to London, to give it serious consideration.

Nehru can rely upon the support of an influential group of congressmen and politicians, but Srinivasa Iyengar and the younger section of nationalists pin their faith on independence as India's goal, supporting the Nehru report as only an intermediate stage.

The Day Book of a New Yorker

By GRANT DIXON
(Copy't, 1928, by Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—What is there about a complimentary ticket to a game or a theater that makes the punched pasteboards so coveted? Men who could afford to pay for them 10 times over seem to get a thrill out of "going in on a pass." A press agent explained it the other day.

"On a number of occasions a wealthy business man had come to the theater and bought a pair of good seats, and then asked that they be punched to look like passes. I asked him about it one day, just to satisfy my curiosity, and he admitted that when he wanted to impress an out-of-town friend he would take him to the show on the supposed 'complimentaries.' He didn't say so, but it made him seem important."

The cable splicer's helper sat among the numerous boxes, oil cans, melting pots and allied paraphernalia strewn around the open manhole beside the curb. Whenever the splicer underground called up for anything the helper would lower the tool or material required below.

A lull in requests from below permitted the splicer's helper to relax. As he sat down upon a box at the curb he took his cap, dropped it on the ground before him and rested his head in his hands.

Tinkle of metal caused the helper to look up in time to see two stylishly clad matrons walking away from him, one of the women muttering "poor fellow."

In his cap on the ground before him lay two shining pennies. With a loud "haw," the young fellow jumped up, walked over to a gum-vending machine and inserted the two pennies.

"Hey, George, here's a bit of gum one of my unknown admirers just gave me money to buy."

Even a Long Island crossroads can be snooty. There is a roadhouse at one of them near the sound that would be indignant, no doubt, if it knew that it was being described as a roadhouse. At least, it is a place to eat. It is one of those places that has no menu, nor price list.

It is one of those places that dares you to come in and question its system. It doesn't want you, anyway, if you are not of the inner circle of Long Island that pops in and orders what it has a craving for and pays whatever the host says is "about right."

A pair of great neckers got into the place by mistake the other night and called for a menu. Learning there was no menu, the spokesman asked if they might have a couple of ham sandwiches, and learned they might. He became suspicious.

"How much?" he inquired.

"I'm sorry, sir, but I don't know," the waiter replied.

"Do you suppose there is any way you could find out?" he pursued.

The waiter thought he might, come to think of it, and posted away. Returning, he informed the spokesman that two ham sandwiches for the gentlemen would be two dollars.

The casuals, just a little embarrassed, assured the waiter that they had been discussing the matter in his absence and had decided to wait until they reached home before they ate.

The Dauntless Quest

IT WILL BE a bad day for the race when the polar regions have been completely explored. There is a tonic to the daily stories of adventure in the land of everlasting snow that we will miss when the Arctic and Antarctic have finally been mapped and catalogued to the last square mile.

Sir Hubert Wilkins, flying over wastes of ice and snow at the bottom of the world, is doing his bit to hasten that day. He discovers that Graham land is separated from the Antarctic continent by a long arm of the sea, and notes half a dozen new islands which must go on all future maps. Incidentally, he and Lieut. Carl Eielson risk their lives repeatedly to make these discoveries.

Now all of this makes very interesting reading, even though we who read it never heard of Graham land before, have only the haziest idea where it is and can't for the life of us see what difference it makes whether it is part of the Antarctic continent or not. It is one of those places that we take on faith; we shall never go there, and we shall never talk with anyone who is going there.

But, for all that, the stories of Sir Hubert's discoveries make interesting reading. Despite the fact that he is covering the region in a modern airplane, his story is only a new chapter in the old, old story that was begun countless centuries ago by the first Phoenician captain who dared to poke his rickety craft out beyond Gibraltar, and continued, through the ages, by Columbus, Magellan, Frobisher, Cook and Peary.

This story is more than a summary of brave deeds and dreadful hardships. It is one of our most priceless possessions; a long epic of the human race's inexhaustible thirst for knowledge, an eternal testimonial to its capacity for going to dark places and braving death in desolate seas.

The race is restless. It is never satisfied with what it has or what it knows. Always it must put itself to fearful bother and take long risks to add new facts to its collection. That these facts sometimes turn out to have no practical value makes no difference. The fact that men will peril their lives to get them gives them an extra significance.

To be dauntless and to be everlastingly inquisitive—these are two traits in us that will not die out. So long as they last—so long as the Byrds and Wilkins and Amundsens persist, daring death for knowledge about a land that the race can never use—we can have hope.

Personnel of Forty-First Senate

GOVERNOR MOODY will be inaugurated in January and the 41st legislature of Texas will be organized. There are 31 senators. There are 16 holdover and re-elected senators. There will be 15 new senators. Fourteen have been elected and the winner of the contest in the Beaumont district will make the fifteenth. Election will take place some time in January. This will be the largest percentage of new members that the senate has had in decades. Holdover and re-elected senators are as follows:

Dr. B. F. Berkley, Alpine; Julian P. Greer, Athens; Carl C. Hardin, Stephenville; T. J. Holbrook, Galveston; Thomas B. Love, Dallas; W. D. McFarlane, Graham; Eugene Miller, Weatherford; Joseph N. Moore, Greenville; Miss Margie E. Neal, Carthage; Archie Parr, Benavides; Thomas G. Pollard, Tyler; Gus Russek, Shulenberg; Edward Westbrook, Sherman; A. J. Wirtz, Seguin; Edgar E. Witt, Waco, and Walter C. Woodward, Coleman.

New members: J. W. Beck, DeKalb; Oliver C. Cunningham, Abilene; Tom DeBerry, Bogota; Charles S. Gainer, Bryan; John W. Hornsby, Austin; Julian D. Hyer, Fort Worth; Will N. Martin, Hillsboro; Pink L. Parrish, Lubbock; Nat Patton, Crockett; Clint C. Small, Sellington; J. W. Stevenson, Victoria; W. E. Thomason, Nacogdoches; W. A. Williamson, San Antonio, and Walter Woodal, Houston.

Six new senators are not without legislative experience: DeBerry, Gainer, Patton, Stevenson, Thomason and Williamson are former representatives. Indeed, Senator Stevenson has three terms to his credit in the house. Representative-elect R. M. Hubbard, who is a former chairman of the state highway commisssion, in a recent interview, predicted that the administration program for the big bond issue would go over in the house and would receive the necessary affirmative vote at the balloting to take place at a special election to be held some time during the year 1929.

Gambling in futures is a great game. It is a game that is played in many fields of endeavor. There is one thing certain, the new year promises to be one of prosperity under the skies of Texas, and in a legislative sense it promises to be one of the most interesting years since James Stephen Hogg, the great commoner, was governor and battled for the adoption of what was known as the Hogg laws.

Life Insurance

CITIZENS of the United States carry 70 per cent of the total life insurance in force in the world. Out of a grand total of $113,000,000,000 world life insurance in force at the end of 1926, $76,844,000,000 was carried by citizens of the United States. These figures are amazing.

What a powerfully stabilizing force life insurance is in American democracy! How greatly does it promote the spirit of thrift, self-reliance and independence in American citizens! How its protection does hedge about business and the family!

Alfred Harrell, vice president and general counsel of the Prudential Insurance company, in a recent address stated the relation of life insurance to American democracy well when he said:

"Any institution or influence which tends to enlarge the sense of responsibility of the individual, improve his morals, quicken his conscience, refine his nature, increase his powers for good, is a tangible and valuable asset in a democracy which can be no stronger, nor more intelligent, nor more moral than the average of its members. Such an asset to this nation has legal reserve life insurance proved to be. Without the guarantee of property rights, there would be no safe foundation for life insurance. Life insurance translates the property right into actual ownership of equity in property, and ultimately into actual property. It was perhaps the first business in America to develop the instalment plan of purchase, but with this distinction, that it taught men to pay instalments for something becoming continually more valuable. Even the man who can pay but 5c a week becomes a property owner through life insurance. Thus are the material opportunities of democracy given tangible value through life insurance."

Mongolian Desert Not Cradle of Mankind, Scientist Tells in Report

But Barren Wastes Turn Into Treasure House of Ancient Lore—Expedition Unearths Marvels

By MORRIS DE HAVEN TRACY

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (UP)—The vast Mongolian desert has been revealed as a treasure house of ancient lore, in the days when the world was younger—but not, as had been hoped, as the cradle of mankind.

Instead Dr. Charles P. Berkey, professor of Columbia university, in his paper before the American Association for the Advancement of Science, described the area as one of surpassing importance in that it contains evidences of well-established civilization.

Doctor Berkey reported as chief geologist of the Central Asiatic expeditions of the American Museum of Natural History.

Dramatic Story

His story, couched though it was in technical terms, was dramatic with the romance of man's development. Baldly, in one summary, he told of the discovery of successive great walls, like that which is a modern marvel in China—walls built one above the other at succeeding geologic levels; of millstones, quarries in which primitive workmen hacked at stones, implements of succeeding levels of civilization, bronze objects, coins, camp sites, cave habitations, graves of a dozen sorts, some with stones roughly shaped into human effigies, complete vaults, with mounds in them representing divisions of graves, and some of them with surrounding walls; pictures, hacked or drawn by early artists.

Habitations were disclosed as fireplaces, surrounded by implements, ornaments and utensils of stone, bone, shell and pottery. At one point—Shabarakh Usu—the expedition found two distinct geologic "floors" of civilizations, the earlier underneath with chipped flints; the upper with industrial traits significant of much later life.

Summarizes Comments

Doctor Berkey summarized his comments on the primitive man idea:

"* * * Central Asia has long been regarded as a principal center of origin and dispersal of mammals, and the probable source of the new types that from time to time have appeared suddenly in the fossil record of Europe * * * most important of all, Asia has always been regarded by most writers, scientific and prescientific, as the center of dispersal of man. Thus far, these expectations have been only partly verified by the discoveries."

No new primitive types of man at all, he said, had been found.

Doctor Berkey revealed also that, as in the case of man, the expeditions found all sort of vertebrate mammals. It had been thought, he said, that in the desert would be found the ancestors of those specimens already uncovered in other parts of the world. But they, too, were well-developed, he said, and were not in the strict sense primal types.

The great value, Doctor Berkey said, of the expedition's work, was in the completeness of the specimens found. Where in other countries scientists have been overjoyed at finding bits of bones, in the great desert were found bones, skulls and even complete skeletons. Nests of dinosaurs were found, with dinosaurs old and young around them.

Many Fossils

Among the treasures retrieved by the expeditions were 260 cases of fossils. They will add materially to the comparatively recent history of evolution, and represent, he disclosed, perhaps the most important contribution to it ever made.

Doctor Berkey dismissed with hardly more than a word some features of the expedition's work. He pointed out that from an unknown country, the desert has become within a year or two one whose record is "fairly clear."

Great stretches of country were surveyed and mapped. Mountains were "put in place" on maps where they had been far astray; carayan routes were plotted accurately, and distances were recorded after prosaic, but accurate automobile speedometers had ticked off their length.

Tonight's session was the most important of the day's gatherings, which were many and varied. Numerous sections of the association met and listened to demonstrations of intricate problems in higher mathematics; discussions of experiments in insect life; reports of psychological researches, and a wide range of topics which were covered in a total of approximately 400 papers. Each paper represented many months or even years of research.

There seemed nothing too small or too large to gain the attention of the 6,000 scientists gathered here.

Why Crickets Chirp

One paper, for instance, dealt with the question of why a cricket chirps. Someone thought that the cricket's chirp was a mating call and Dr. Frank E. Lutz described experiments which showed that in reality a lady cricket cares mighty little how sweetly Mr. Cricket sings.

Doctor Lutz told how little cricket cages were built with two sets of windows in them. At one of these windows were placed crickets that chirped. At another were placed crickets that had undergone removal of their chirp—as a "simple and harmless surgical operation."

Inside the cricket cages at the windows were little treadles so arranged that even the weight of a cricket would depress them, turn on an electric current, and thus record on a tape any visit to the window which a lady cricket, within the cage, may have made.

The experimenter then studied the records on these tapes and found that the chirpless Mr. Cricket suffered little in the number of visits paid to his window from his lack of any means to serenade his lady fair.

Prof. Robert Cameron Colwell of the University of West Virginia, described the possibilities of forecasting weather from the intensity of radio signals.

His Conscience Hurt

MONTREAL.—Convicted on evidence of the real culprits, an innocent man was saved from a second installment of 10 lashes and many months in the penitentiary when one of the guilty men confessed to authorities. The victim of the plot had been sentenced to two years in prison and 20 lashes, on a robbery charge.

About 40 per cent of London's boys and girls go on attending evening classes after leaving school.

'Old Massa' Belasco, for $300,000, Builds An Efficient Hell on Earth

By GILBERT SWAN
NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Splitting the atom has been a haunting problem in the world of science. And dramatizing the atom might seem, at first thought, to be an equally difficult task. Yet this has been done, and with the most thrilling results, by assuming the atom to be completely under man's control.

The result is one of the most stirring and thought-compelling adventures that the Broadway theater has to offer, "Wings Over Europe," third of the Theater guild productions.

And while the unseen atom was being prepared for its role of hero, just around the corner David Belasco was expanding some of his remarkable energy converting his theater into a miniature of the Baldwin locomotive works. For at the age of 73, the old master of stagecraft decided to put on his mightiest effort. That the atom should prove infinitely more exciting than all of M. Belasco's gadgets and shooting flames is no reflection on the white hairs of the "old massa."

Had Belasco been half as careful in the selection of a play as he was in the preparation of his theater for the event, there would have been a different story to tell. As it happens, he selected Molnar's "The Red Mill," and renamed it "Mima." This is a play in which they literally "raise hell." They raise hell and bring it to Belasco's theater. It seems that an inventor, arriving in hell, decided to save Satan a lot of time. Hell needed greater efficiency. It was taking too long to wreck souls. So the inventor contrived a machine which would wreck the most virtuous soul in a few moments. The wrecking crew consisted of a super-siren, put together with great care by the inventor, and operated by the machine. This is Mima, and very lovely she was since Leonore Ulrich played her. So they pick on a hopelessly pure gent up on earth, bring him over to Mima, while the wheels turn and the sparks fly and the imps work overtime. The trouble is that Molnar took his bright idea and wrote a very dull play around it.

The hero, then, becomes the honest sweat of Belasco's brow. For there can be no argument that he has labored for love—since he can't hope to make money. Something like $300,000 was poured into the production, to say nothing of a year of laboratory experiments with lights and things and eight weeks of rehearsal. More than 300 cues are given, most of them mechanical—a feat requiring extreme patience in rehearsal lest some cog slip.

Miss Hope Williams, top, a social registrite, is the newest big game on Broadway. Below is Leonore Ulrich, the "Mima" of Belasco's modern inferno.

"Wings Over Europe," on the other hand, requires only the dignified setting of Number 4 Downing street, London, where the British cabinet chiefs meet. There is no woman in the play, since there is no "love interest."

The staggering situation is this: a poetic minded young genius has suddenly harnessed the atom. Because he can free mankind. He can change gold to clay and disintegrate matter; he can blow up London and the world; he can free men from the slavery of labor and can provide food for all. The physical millenium is at hand—no mines, no gold, no strife and worry, for the secrets of nature are in the hands of man.

Faced with this astounding fact, the feeble politicians are unable to grasp it. Each sees his own petty little place in the sun crumbling away and his own petty little interests being swept away. The messianic young inventor grows bitter and frantic at their quibbling and threatens to destroy the city unless they come to terms. Tense melodrama broods over the meeting room. The iny humans, facing defeat from the atom, decide this is too dangerous a weapon to handle. They determine to kill the inventor—and do, just as he is about to explode the whole earth because he thinks it unfit to continue its groping way. But the secret has been passed to two other scientists who call the nations of the world to Geneva to take action and, as the curtain falls, death dealing planes roar over London as a warning to all who fail to heed.

Drama—of course! But with science going at tis present rate of speed, who is to say that this problem may not be tossed at all our doors one day. And are we ready to face it?

Finally—we have a brief introduction this week—meet Miss Hope Williams! Hers is the newest big name on Broadway. A young lady who came out of the exclusive social circles, by which I mean the people who inhabit the social register, she first appeared a season ago in "Paris Bound." Just now in Philip Barry's "Holiday," the best comedy of the season, she has made a phenomenal personal success and, overnight, ranks with the leading Broadway performers.

YALE ALUMNI AIDS HARVARD

Donor of $3,000,000 Gift Is Revealed

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (US)—The report from Boston that Edward S. Harkness of New York, a Yale graduate, is the donor of $3,000,000 to Harvard university, was confirmed by his New York office today. This gift was announced on Nov. 8 as an anonymous benefaction by President Lowell.

It is planned to use the funds to build and endow a group of dormitories, dining halls and common rooms, which will be operated as a separate unit within the college. This will represent a distinct departure from the current system in American universities.

It is said that if the experiment proves to be a success the Harvard authorities may divide the remainder of the university into similar units. If this is done Harvard will closely resemble the English universities of Oxford and Cambridge.

Mr. Harkness and his mother have made many liberal contributions to Yale university, the most notable of which was the Harkness memorial quadrangle.

Mortality Rate Lower in 1927

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28. (UP)—The mortality rate in the United States for 1927 was 11.4 per 1,000 population as against 12.2 in 1926, the commerce department announced today.

All but five of 41 states, (Arizona, California, Colorado, Oregon, and Wyoming) had lower rates in 1927. The highest, (13.9) was for California, New Hampshire and Vermont, and the lowest, (7.1) was for Idaho.

Florida reported the highest death rate to mothers from childbirth causes in 1927 and Minnesota the lowest.

1930 Disarmament Conference Planned

GENEVA, Dec. 28. (UP)—Ground work for a league of nations general disarmament conference in 1930 probably will be laid in April, when the preparatory disarmament commission will be convened.

Dr. E. Loudon, president of the preparatory commission, indicated today that principal world powers had reached a basis for an understanding when he announced the convocation of the commission April 15.

It was admitted, however, that the general conference would not attempt to go beyond the limitation of armaments, leaving actual reductions for future conferences. Although there is no fixed agenda for the preparatory commission meeting, it will be obliged first to dispose of the soviet project calling for partial disarmament on a basis of 50 per cent reduction of present armaments.

Later, the commission will seek an agreement on a draft of a general disarmament project which which was not accepted last March because of divergencies in the English and French views on naval reductions. The reading of this draft is expected to be the outstanding business of the April meeting because of the anticipated rejection of the soviet plan of arms reduction.

It's Far From Bravery to Hang On to a Man Who Despises You

Straight Talk to Vengeful Wife Who Double-Crossed Her Husband—Is It a Wife's Duty to Drink With Her Husband?—Folly of Marrying a Rich Old Man in the Hope That He Will Die Early

Dear Miss Dix—Five years ago my husband deserted me for another woman. At the time he left he offered to deed me the home and all the balance of his property if I would sue him for a divorce. I agreed to do so, but after he deeded me the property I refused to give him his freedom, because I thought I could force him eventually to come back to me. I don't want a divorce, because I think I have a right to the prestige and dignity that my husband's name and position gives me. Since he deeded me the property my husband has refused to give me any money. He told me to live upon the income of the property, so in order to make him pay me temporary alimony I have closed up my rental property and my house and have gone to live with my married son and his wife.

My husband and I were married 27 years ago and have two grown children. We were never congenial, but he never drank or gambled or ran around with other women and he always provided well for us and I never thought he would leave me. Now he has fallen in love with this woman and says he would commit suicide if anything happened to her. I don't believe in such rot, but I have done everything I could to humiliate him and her.

My lawyer, my relatives, my friends and even my children say that my husband will never return to me and implore me to open up my houses and rent them, but I believe if I have the courage to hold out and make my husband see that I am dependent on my children he will come back to me. My husband says he hates and despises me, but he said that years ago and he still stayed on. Do you think he will come back to me?

—A BRAVE AND LOYAL WIFE.

Answer: You sign yourself a "brave and loyal wife." I think the very gods must laugh at your queer and distorted idea of what constitutes a brave and loyal wife. Is it brave to hang on to a man who tells you that he hates you and who is willing to buy freedom from you with the last penny that he has in the world? Is it loyal to try by every means in the world to drag the father of your children down into the dust?

Where is your dignity, woman? Where is your pride? Have you no atom of self-respect?

You are not even honest, because you got your husband to deed his property over to you under false pretenses. When he turned over to you the houses that you speak of as "my houses," it was on the definite understanding that you would give him his freedom, that you would apply for a divorce; but you admit that the minute you got the property in your hands you welched on your part of the bargain. More than that you have tried to defraud your husband further by refusing to rent the houses and thus force him to give you more money for your support. This is about the neatest job of double-crossing I have ever heard of.

Do you think that kind of conduct will endear you to your husband? Do you think any man in the world would ever go back to a woman who had treated him that way? Don't you know that, in addition to all of his grievances against you as a wife, he now looks upon you as a cheat and a robber who has held him up and by false promises got away from him the property he had worked so hard for?

Sometimes at middle-age a man has a sudden infatuation for a pretty face and if his wife has patience for a little while he gets over it and comes back to her, but the wandering husband never returns except to a good wife and to one of whom he has been fond. He never comes back except to a wife whom he respects and who has been tender and loving and kind. He never comes back to a wife whom he has barely endured for the sake of the children. So your case is hopeless. There is no chance on earth of your husband's ever coming back to a wife he hated and to a home that was a place of perpetual quarrels.

So give up your fight against the impossible. Quit filling your own life with bitterness and hate. Cease seeking revenge. You are only poisoning your own soul and alienating your children from you and losing the respect of all who know you.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—My husband and I have been married 10 years. Recently my husband begged me with tears to help protect him against himself by going out with him whenever he felt that he must go and get drunk and raise the dickens. He told me things that he had done when he was alone that made my soul shrink, but I held him close so he couldn't see the hurt in my eye and told him that we would be pals and that I would go out and get drunk with him.

So I have gone and drunk enough liquor to kill me. I believe it has pleased him more than anything I have ever done for him as a wife to be able to guzzle booze all night and still be able to talk and dance and have a good time. So this has worked out quite well. But what about my little daughter? I feel I am neglecting her and I am torn between duty to my husband and duty to my child, yet if I don't go with him some one else will, and I love him a lot even yet. —WIFE

Answer: It is certainly no part of a wife's duty to descend into the gutter with her husband nor to commit suicide by drinking synthetic gin and bootlegg whisky in blind pigs and speakeasies, and when your husband asks that of you he asks too much.

Nor is that any way to save him and win him back to a decent way of living. You cannot correct a weakness by indulging in it. The way to acquire strength is by resisting temptation, not by yielding to it. No drunkard ever reformed by imbibing an extra quart. Still less, did he ever reform by making a sot out of his wife, and that seems to be about your husband's idea. Nor did any wife ever reform a husband by getting stewed with him.

Certainly a wife should go to great lengths and make many sacrifices to be companionable with her husband. If he is a gay and pleasure-loving nature she should be a good sport and go around with him to all sorts of places of amusement, so long as they are clean and decent.

It is up to her to martyrize herself even to the point of playing golf when she loathes it or sitting through musical comedies that bore her to tears if they divert him, but no conceivable stretch of duty demands that she should make a drunkard or a gambler of herself or be his companion in excursions into the underworld.

In your case I consider that your duty is to your child. At least leave her one parent who is decent and whom she can respect. A drunkard father is bad enough, Heaven knows, but a booze-guggling mother is the most shameful thing that can be brought into any little girl's life.

So my advice to you is to refuse to go on your husband's wild parties and get drunk with him. Stay with your child. That way you may raise your daughter up to be a good woman and you will have an even better chance of saving your husband than you would if you descended to his level.

Dear Miss Dix—Two men want to marry me. One of them is 20 and poor. The other is 60 and rich. Would you marry the old man and wait for him to die so as to get the money to marry the young man on? Only I am afraid the young man might get married while I was waiting.

—LILLIAN.

Answer: I wouldn't marry a man of 60 expecting him to die of old age, because in these days a man of 60 is still a young man. Don't take anybody under 90-odd if you are counting on being a widow very soon.

It is ill-waiting for dead men's shoes, anyway, so why not marry the young chap and work up with him. That is the way happiness lies.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Miss Beulah Lane Weds Loren Stone Friday Afternoon

Charming in its simplicity was the wedding of Miss Beulah Lane and Loren Stone which took place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Lula T. Lane, 1812 Polk street, at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. Rev. Paul Henry Packard, evangelist, performed the ring ceremony in the presence of a few intimate friends and relatives before an improvised altar fashioned from yellow, white and bronze chrysanthemums.

The bridal party entered to the strains of the wedding march from "Lohengrin" played by the bride's sister, Mrs. W. O. Alexander. The bride wore a lovely afternoon frock of tan chiffon with accessories to match and was attended by Mrs. J. L. Randel. Her traveling costume was a tan ensemble with accessories to harmonize.

Mr. and Mrs. Stone left immediately following the ceremony for Dallas. They will go from Dallas to Galveston, when they will take the boat to New York where they will make their home.

Mrs. Stone is the daughter of Mrs. Lula T. Lane and was a popular member of the social set. Mr. Stone is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Stone, 1319 Britain street, and is an artist with the French-Seaman Advertising agency in New York.

National Prosperity Revealed in Report

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28. (US)—National prosperity continues to surpass the high level set last year.

With the exception of lumber, every industry recorded gains during the week ended Dec. 22 over the corresponding period in 1927, according to a weekly review issued by the department of commerce today.

Steel plants showed a lessened activity as compared with the preceding week, but even so were 20 pr cent ahead of the 1927 level.

The automotive industry showed substantial gain over last year.

Prices for iron, steel, copper and cotton were all considerably higher per cent ahead of the 1927 level.

The volume of money turnover, as reflected by check payments, was greater than in either prior period.

Cattle receipts at primary markets showed a decline from 1927 figures, but hog receipts were larger. Wheat receipts also increased.

Business failures were less numerous than in either prior period.

Beware of Diets to reduce

Medical authorities warn that reducing has gone too far

MEDICAL authorities are becoming alarmed at the extent to which American girls, women and men are reducing their weight by starvation diets. This has gone too far, they say, and in many cases is resulting in permanent injury.

One famous doctor says: "Starving leads to anemia, which may become so persistent that the tissues are no longer able to form blood in the proper way, even when sufficient food is subsequently supplied to them, and a state of actual starvation throughout life may result." "This," he goes on to say, "is because any method which defeats nature, long carried out, produces disease changes in the body which frequently become permanent."

Another error is the belief by some that sugar in the diet is the only cause of overweight. This is not true. Any food that is nourishing is fattening and nature should be allowed to store a certain amount of fat in the tissues as a reserve supply of energy when it is needed. Don't undereat; it is dangerous. Eat enough of a great variety of foods and enjoy them. Remember that nothing adds so much enjoyment to other foods as sugar. Sweetness is nature's ideal flavor and modern sugar is food in its least expensive form. Put one cup of sugar in the water used for boiling ham and notice the improvement in appetizing flavor. Be sure of tasteful variety in food. The Sugar Institute

CHIC CHERIE

Latest Fashions

Cherie is just completing her list of Christmas thank-you letters for gifts. There's also the list of Christmas presents that must be returned. She's got to make that next. Cherie's blouse is a suit-blouse of beige crepe de chine, halfway between the sports and formal styles, with its wide jabot and plain lines.

This is a sports blouse of white silk with several odd touches. The little stitched ornament that tops the tailored pleated jabot, the flared collar and the lines of pin tucks that zig-zag around it. The list Cherie is pondering over now, is a list of people from whom she got Christmas cards this year.

Cherie is wearing another sports blouse. Trim and demure, with a turned over collar, a string tie, tucks down the front and long sleeves that are skimpy, but have no cuff. Emily's blouse is of yellow crepe with hand-shirrings that gather the material into soft folds between the bow at the waist and the bow at the point of the V neckline. This is a suit blouse, too. As for Emily's errand—it's a distracting one. Just when Cherie thought she had finished with lists of all kinds for the year, here comes Emily with a list of six parties, to all of which Cherie promised to go on New Year's eve. Now isn't that perfectly absurd?

EAST AND WEST CLASH TODAY TO CLOSE GRIDIRON SEASON

TEAMS SEEM EQUALLY FIT

50,000 Expected at Fourth Charity Game

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28. (AP)—East and West, clashing on the gridiron here tomorrow, will ring down the curtain on football for 1928 in colorful fashion.

The fourth annual charity game for the Shriners crippled children's hospital will be played before upwards of 50,000. It matches two teams of practically equal strength, with the Eastern squad holding an advantage in the matter of practice and favored with a more versatile backfield combination. On the line, the Westerners are more powerful.

Press Favorites

Several all-Americans named this year by The Associated Press parade their wares before the assembled thousands. Malcolm (Ike) Frankain, St. Mary's end who was picked for the first all-American, will play the left flank position for the West. He will be opposed by Johnsos of Northwestern. Alongside of Frankain will be Mel Dressell, Washington State tackle, who made the second mythical team. "Biff" Hoffman, Stanford fullback a second team selection, will do the fullbacking for the West.

The outfit from the Eastern side of the Rockie includes McMullen, Nebraska, and Gibson, Minnesota, both guards and both named for the second all-American, and Harpster, Carnegie Tech quarterback, and Nowack, Illinois tackle, both third team selections.

Some Injured

Several members of the teams have received injuries during scrimmages the past week but the only player known to be definitely on the shelf is Brick Marcus, California halfback, who was regarded as one of the West's best bets. His place will be taken by Morton Kaer, former Southern California all-American. Kaer is a star, but he is out of condition and has had but one day's practice with the team.

While the Eastern lineup for the kick-off is practically certain, the Western eleven will not be named until shortly before game time.

Sponsor's Death Won't Halt Golf Tournament

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (UP)—Death of T. Suffern Tailer of Newport on Christmas day will not interfere with the gold mashie tournament, an annual invitation affair for amateur golfers, which the banker founded and sponsored at his private links.

Announcement was made today by the late millionaire's family that the tournament will take place July 26-27-28, as planned before Tailer's death.

San Francisco Quintet Defeats Oklahoma Five

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28. (AP)—The young men's institute team of San Francisco tonight defeated the barnstorming Phillips university basket ball team from Enid, Okla., 34 to 27.

Half time score was 21 to 7, in favor of the local team.

Holland, Phillips university forward, was high point man with 9.

St. Louis Awarded 1929 Collegiate Title Swim

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 28. (AP)—The sixth annual swimming championship tournament will be held at Washington university, St. Louis, Mo., March 29-30. The executive committee of the National Collegiate Athletic association decided the date today.

DEVOS MAKES WEIGHT

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (AP)—Rene Devos' expected difficulty in getting in under the middleweight limit of 160 pounds failed to materialize and the Belgian boxer scaled 158¾ pounds at the official weighing-in for tonight's battle with Ace Hudkins. The Nebraska wildcat weighed 155½, giving Devos an advantage of only three and a quarter pounds.

SHARKEY'S BOSS MUST PAY

WORCESTER, Mass., Dec. 28 (UP)—Johnny Buckley, manager of Jack Sharkey, Boston heavyweight, has even more reason than usual for insisting upon the best possible price for his boxer's services this winter. A sealed verdict opened in superior court here today awarded Charles Peskin, a former school teacher, $5,000 from Buckley for injuries received in an automobile accident.

Watch This Man, Georgia Tech!

Benjamin Lom, sensational halfback on the University of California football team, and one of the Pacific coast's finest. He will play against Georgia Tech in the New Year's Day battle in Rose Bowl.

Benny Lom's Broad Shoulders Carry Brunt of California's Hope Tuesday

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 29. (UP)—On the shoulders of Benny Lom, California's versatile halfback, probably will rest the Bear's hopes to defeat Georgia Tech in their game here New Year's day.

Lom will have to drive Tech back with his kicks. He is the center of a deep-laid series of triple threat plays which gives California a fair chance to make yardage, and he does the passing.

While there was some belief for a time that California was planning a complete shift from its usual defensive football to the aggressive, it is now believed that Coach Nibs Price will play his usual "kick and wait for the breaks" style.

Lom has been kicking high and far and a kick is supposed to make the opposition produce two first downs to get even. It wears the opposition down as well. If California plays its usual game it may be a case of "Lom punted; Lom around end; Lom passed."

Kid Williams Victor In Comeback Attempt

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Dec. 28. (UP)—Kid Williams, former bantamweight king, who is attempting a comeback, won a decisive victory tonight over Louis Guggleimini, rugged Washington boxer, in eight hard fought rounds.

The former champion, who lost his title more than 10 years ago, showed plenty of speed and cut his opponent to ribbons. Williams weighed 128, Guggleimini 130.

Benny Goldstein, 119, defeated Frankie Check, 124, Baltimore. Check dropped in the first round without being hit, and the referee disqualified him.

Tommy Connolly Signed By San Antonio Bears

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 28. (AP)—Tommy Connolly, former second baseman of the Beaumont Exporters, has been signed by the San Antonio Bears for 1929. Business Manager Conner announced today.

STARS HAVE HEAVIER TEAM

Conference Pick Given Edge in Battle Today

FORT WORTH, Dec. 28. (AP)—A heavier team, with a starting backfield averaging 196 pounds and a line averaging 197 pounds, is expected to give the Southwest conference all-stars an edge on the Texas-T. I. A. A. Centenary college team in their Shrine benefit game here Saturday.

Greater reserve strength 26 men on the Southwest machine to 19 on the Bridges' coached squad, is expected to play a big part in the result.

In spite of the weight and man power edge, the lesser conference stars were confident today as the two groups completed their workouts. They have confidence in the speed of their backs.

The probable lineups: Southwest—Trigg and Ford ends, Williams, Cowley, tackles; Baccus, Sewell, guards; Bartlett, center; King, quarter; Love, Hughes, halves; Bavers, full. Non-conference—Sims, Kelleher, ends; Pearce Mitchell, tackles; Bullock, Head, guards; Sarafiny, center; Boyd, quarter; Sanders, Jefferies, halves; Kilday, full.

TWO ILL TECH LINEMEN BACK

Georgians and Bears Take More Hard Drills

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 28. (UP)—Illness failed to keep two Georgia Tech linemen from practice today and the Yellowjackets worked out at unexpected full strength for their New Year's game here with the University of California.

Roger Drennen, right guard, and Jim Brooke, his substitute, last night had fevers which it was thought would force them to stay in bed for at least two days, but the illness was not serious as first believed.

Tech went through its second scrimmage this afternoon, but both Drennen and Brooke took things easy. The other members of the squad, several of whom have had slight colds, were reported in excellent condition.

Lines Look Strong

The southerners were back in the Rose bowl today with California working out at tournament park. Both teams looked very strong on the line and New Year's day fans probably will see some of the greatest defensive football played here this year.

George Tech's line attack, used today, was quick opening and seemed planned to surprise the opposition's weak spots rather than deceive. Tech showed a slashing off tackle play built around Warner Mizell, selected by a number of writers as an all-American halfback.

The Yellowjackets worked again on a defense against expected California passes. Bob Parnham, a back, did the hurling, but didn't complete many of the tosses.

There seems to be some belief here that Georgia Tech cannot stop short passes and California was trying them today. The Bears were using short passes from running formation.

Lom Is Bear Threat

In addition to the aerial practice, California appeared to be developing several new plays around the triple threat of Benny Lom, halfback.

Nibs Price, California coach, intimated that there might be a change or two in the Bear lineup before game time. He has had the same linemen in the first string lineup in nearly every practice, but has done some experimenting in the backfield. Eisan at quarterback and Barr at halfback made way for several substitutes today.

Georgia Tech continues to look in a little better condition than its western opponents. Price admitted that a player or two was having difficulty in getting down to best weight.

He is convinced that plenty of work will get the Bears in trim and at fighting pitch and has sent them through two workouts daily.

Yale Eleven to Play At Chicago in 1931

Announcement of the game was made at a luncheon of the Yale fathers and sons given by the Yale club of Chicago today.

West Coast Takes Its Chuckball Very Seriously, Runyon Discovers

They're Still Playing, Talking and Writing About Game While East Has Donned Its Winter Flannels

By DAMON RUNYON
(Copyright, 1928, by Universal Service, Inc.)

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—I am commencing to think that some of those west coasters do not realize that we surrendered to them back here on the chuckball field some time ago. They seemed disposed to carry on the war despite our flag of truce. I hope and trust that they will at least respect our wounded.

I have just received a report from the city weigh master on a consignment of letters that reached me from points west after the slaughter of the Army by Stanford, and which I sent to him for hefting. He tells me that the consignment tips the beam at exactly two tons.

What's more, letters continue to arrive. And we have been standing with our hands up for weeks! Gentlemen of the Pacific coast 'ave a 'art!

The letters that I personally perused, and these reported on by operatives, were all of the same tenor. The writers wished to inform me, first, that the two west coast teams, Stanford and Oregon State which gave the effete East such a showing up at chuckball, are just ordinary teams back home.

Second, that "Biff" Hoffman, and Mapel, the Stanford and Oregon players who attracted so much attention in the East, aren't the one-two-seven among the real players of the Pacific coast.

Damon Won't Argue

In short, I am given to understand by the letter writers that if one of the coast's real good teams had come East, there wouldn't be much left of us back here but the odor. Alright, gentlemen "yes." All right! That's a fact! Yes, sir! You betcha! You said it! Yes, indeed!

(They're not going to get me in an argument).

Some of my eastern readers may not understand this continued truculence on the part of the coasters, but let me explain that they are still playing their chuckball out there. They haven't even finished the gridiron season, much less taken up the post-mortems.

Back East, the pastime is all wrapped up in moth balls, players representing every precinct in the country have been named all-American, and we are getting out our flannel ripsy-rowsers, or trousers, and making ready for Mr. Rickard's exposition of the sour science down in Florida-de-da-dah. But out on the West coast, there are two more big games to go before they can start on the last leg of the debate.

There is an East-West game in San Francisco tomorrow involving some of the greatest chuckball players of the districts on either bank of the Mississippi, and on New Year's day in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Georgia Tech and the University of California clash, as we say.

Most Important Game

This Rose Bowl game, I believe, is regarded as the more important of the two for strictly chuckball purposes. The teams in the East-West game, a charity proposition, are pick-ups, hastily mobilized, and hastily coached. They reflect no specific brand of chuckball, whereas Georgia Tech will display the southern championship style of chuckball, against some of the best of the Pacific coast chuckball.

In fact some of the most ferocious of our chuckball experts claim that Georgia Tech is the chuckball champion of at least the East and South. However, I cannot add that the University of California is the chuckball champion of the Pacific coast, because it would make Mr. Marcus Aurelius Kelly, the chuckball savant of Southern California, very mad at me.

If California should wallop Georgia Tech, it would only drag the South down to the chuckball depths to which we of the East are now abased.

But if Georgia Tech should give California a smacking, it would give Georgia Tech some claim to the national football title, despite the fact that Mr. Marcus Aurelius Kelly has probably long since awarded same to the University of Southern California.

Georgia Tech is undefeated, and untied this season. California was beaten by the Olympic club of San Francisco, early in the season, and tied twice. The Californians and Stanford tusseled to a draw, then Stanford was beaten by the University of Southern California, 10 to 0.

Tornado Is Favorite

For some reason, the U. S. C. refused to play in the Rose Bowl game on New Year's day, so California got the assignment. My west coast operatives advise me that Georgia Tech is favorite over the Golden Bears, as they call the Californians, and add that this is the first time a chuckball team visiting the coast has been favorite over a coast team since the Harvard-Oregon game of some years ago.

The Rose Bowl was enlarged to seat 69,800 chuckball clients last year, and my operatives inform me that the Georgia Tech-California game is a sell-out. The biggest crowd that ever saw a game in the Rose Bowl before packed in there two years ago when Alabama's Crimson tide rolled up on Stanford late in the day to tie the score at 7 to 7.

The receipts this year will be around $300,000, with the seats at from $3 to $5 and this take will be cut three ways by the two colleges and the tournament of roses.

Offense vs. Defense

California is accounted strictly a defensive team, while Georgia Tech is mainly offense, with very speedy backs. In all its games this season, I am told, California was jolly well outrushed by its opponents but California fought on the theory that if it couldn't lick the other fellow, it wouldn't let him lick California. If you are interested in ancient history, here's the record of the Rose Bowl games for the past 12 years:

1916, Washington State, 14; Brown, 0.
1917, Oregon State, 14; Penn., 0.
1918, U. S. Marine Corps, 19; Camp Lewis Army, 7.
1920, Harvard, 7; University of Oregon, 6.
1921, Ohio State, 0, University of California, 28.
1922, Washington and Jefferson, 0; California, 0.
1923, Penn State, 3; Southern California, 14.
1924, Navy, 14; University of Washington, 14.
1925, Notre Dame, 27; Stanford, 10.
1926, Alabama, 20; Washington, 19.
1927, Alabama, 7; Stanford, 7.
1928, Pitt, 6; Stanford, 7.

DAZZY VANCE TOPS HURLERS

Dodger Is Most Effective Chucker in National

By WILLIAM J. DUNN
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Dazzy Vance, Brooklyn mound star, was the most effective pitcher in the National league during the season of 1928.

Official pitching records released today gave the dazzling Dodger a wide margin over the other hurlers of the circuit with an earned run average of 2.09 per nine inning game.

Unlike Garland Braxton of the Washington Senators, who led the way in the American league, Vance also finished high in the matter of games won and lost, counting 22 victories against 10 defeats for a .688 percentage.

Only three pitchers bettered this percentage mark.

Sheriff Blake, of the Chicago Cubs, finished second to Vance in the earned run column with an average of 2.46 per nine innings. Art Nehf, the veteran hurler who was unconditionally released by the New York Giants two years ago, was third with 2.64. Nehf wore a Chicago uniform.

Benton Leads in Wins

Larry Benton, New York, led the league in games won and lost, with 25 victories and 9 defeats, for a .735 percentage. Jesse Haines of the pennant-winning St. Louis Cardinals was second with 20 wins, 8 losses and a .715 percentage. Fred Fitzsimmons of the Giants won as many games as Haines, but lost one more, finishing third with a percentage of .690.

Burleigh Grimes, Pittsburgh, was the only other pitcher to win as many games as Benton. Their record of 25 victories each was the best in the league. Grimes, however, lost 14 games and wound up the season in seventh position with a .641 percentage. He was eighth in the earned run column with an average of 2.99.

Grimes also won "iron man" honors of the league, taking part in 48 games and pitching 331 complete innings. He faced the most batters, 1,377, and allowed the most runs, 146. Only 110 of these runs were earned.

Two Hurl 28 Tilts

Benton and Grimes tied for the most complete games pitched, with 28 each. Bob McGraw, Philadelphia, finished the most games, 20. Edward Brandt, Boston, suffered the most defeats, 21, and allowed the greatest total of earned runs, 127.

Vance, Blake, Grimes, Doug McWeeney of Brooklyn and Red Lucas of Cincinnati tied for shutout honors with four each. Eight pitchers were charged with one balk each.

In addition to winning the pitching title, Vance led the league for the seventh consecutive year in strikeouts. His season total of 200 brought his seven-year total to 1,338.

Grover Cleveland Alexander, St. Louis veteran, wound up his 18th year of major league baseball by finishing 12th in the earned run column and eighth in games won and lost. He won 16 and lost 9 games, turning in an earned average of 3.36.

Huskies Visit Children's Home

DALLAS, Dec. 28. (AP)—Gridiron huskies of the Big Six conference, who meet a team of Southwest conference all-stars here New Year's day, took off from strenuous practice long enough today to visit the Scottish Rite crippled children's hospital, where they met the little fellows who will be beneficiaries of the approaching tussle.

Realization that their efforts, translated into dollars and cents, will do much to brighten the youngsters who greeted them in wheel chairs and on crutches apparently imbued the visiting footballers with renewed determination to bowl over the southwest's best. They snapped through two lengthy workouts and still were going strong when Coaches Ernest Bearg and Bo McMillan sent them to the showers.

The Big Six mentors are overlooking no phase of the game in whipping their big squad into shape. Today's drill included passing and punting and running for the backs and blocking and tackling for the forwards.

Much of the session was devoted to perfection of a defense against passes. Both Bearg and McMillan expect the Southwest eleven to spring a formidable aerial attack. A long, hard scrimmage which lasted almost until dark wound up the workout.

Bearg was gratified with the condition of his squad. The comparatively warm weather of the last several days has had no obvious ill effect on the Big Six players, most of whom are used to ice and snow this time of year.

Health And Diet Advice

Improving the Circulation

A defective circulation becomes especially noticeable during the cold winter months. It causes cold hands and feet, and may cause the skin to assume a pale or purplish color similar in appearance to the skin of one who has been drowned or asphyxiated.

Elderly people or those who are weakened by disease or excesses, almost invariably suffer from a poor circulation of blood.

The principal causes of a poor circulation can be listed as follows:

1. If the valves of the heart are diseased, the heart cannot pump the blood into the arteries with sufficient force.

2. An inflammation of some internal organ may cause such a local engorgement of blood that the extremities will have a deficient supply.

3. If one is tired or of a low vitality his nerves do not send the proper simulation to the arteries and veins, and the arteries, especially, lose much of their power to contract and propel the blood.

4. Because of a toxic irritation, the walls of the capillaries may thicken and their caliber become so small that the blood can only pass with difficulty.

5. There may be obstructions or thickening material in the blood stream preventing its free passage through the capillaries.

6. A poor circulation below the waistline may be caused by tight corsets, belts or garters, or by prolapsed abdominal organs pressing on the veins coming from the legs. Tight collars may cause a slowing of the circulation of the face, making it puffy. Tight hat bands may impede the circulation to and from the scalp and constitute a common cause of baldness.

The causes of defective circulation which I have just outlined will suggest why some cases can be readily corrected and why others take much time and effort. You cannot expect your sluggish cirulation to improve if you just sit around and wait for it to do so.

Everyone working at a sedentary occupation will have a poor circulation unless vigorous exercises are taken at some time during the day. Regular physical culture exercises are invaluable as the relaxing and contracting of the muscular tissues not only develop the muscular tone of the blood vessels but also exert a pumping action upon the lymphatic vessels and veins.

Deep breathing exercises produce an immediate stimulation of the the circulation, and regulated breathing exercises are probably the best means for bringing about a freer circulation in all parts of the body and at the same time cause the oxidation of many tonic substances.

If the blood has become laden with toxic substances which irritate the inner lining of the blood vessels and cause the circulation to be sluggish, it is a good plan to clease the blood by fasting and dieting. The blood will circulate more freely when thus purified.

For all kinds of defective circulation it is a good plan to take long walks each day. This increases the heart action and induces more of the rapid breathing so necessary for oxidizing the blood. Do not be disappointed if you do not notice a big improvement within a few days. Continue to gradually increase your physical and breathing exercises and follow the right diet and you will soon be rewarded with rich, red blood bounding to every cell of your body.

(Dr. McCoy will gladly answer personal questions on health and diet addressed to him in care of Wichita Falls Record News. Enclose large self-addressed stamped envelope for reply.)

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Snuff

Question: W. P. asks: "In what way does snuff affect a person? Does it cause weakness and nervousness?"

Answer: Snuff is made from very strong tobacco and it is possible for the nicotine in snuff to cause a certain amount of poisoning. This would cause weakness and nervousness.

Adhesions and Appendicitis

Question: Mrs. J. E. asks: "Would adhesions caused from an appendicitis operation cause one's right leg to ache? I had the operation five years ago and have been bothered with the adhesions only in the last few months."

Answer: Adhesions on the right side around the cecum frequently cause such pressure on the nerves going into the leg as to produce an aching or numbness in the right leg. This is also due, sometimes, to an accident during an operation when some of the nerves are severed. However, the pain may be only due to the right side of the colon being packed with fecal matter. After an appendicitis operation the cecum and ascending colon lose much of their muscular tone and there is more tendency to bloating, distention and packing of feces then even before the operation.

Condiments

Question: L. P. asks: "What effect does salt have on a person's blood, also in inflamed stomach? Does pepper, mustard, vinegar injure one's stomach?"

Answer: The condiments you have mentioned are always irritataing and of course injure in proportion to the excess amount in which they are used. It seems necessary to flavor food with salt especially when it is overcooked and the natural sodium chloride destroyed. The use of excessive amounts of condiments will undoubtedly bring on an inflamed condition of the stomach and intestines, and if such condiments are used at all they should always be used in moderation.

FRANK E. NICHOLSON

By MIKE GAZELLA

Mike Gazella is the well-known baseball player from the South, who a few year ago, got on the outs with the locals and got in as an infielder with the New York Yankees.

MIKE GAZELLA

"One day as we were traveling to the South for spring training," he told me, "the train came to a sudden stop with a tremendous grinding of brakes. A terrific jolt followed. The passengers scrambled from their coaches.

"'An accident?' inquired a much-worried-looking young man of the conductor.

"'No. Some one pulled the communication cord and the engineer applied the brakes too suddenly and one of the cars jumped the track. We'll be held up until midnight.'

"'Oh, goodness, goodness, goodness!' exclaimed the young man, I'm to be married this afternoon!

"Instantly the conductor turned on the young man and bellowed: 'say, you ain't the guy who pulled the cord are you?'"

WATER SCARCE IN NEW FIELD

Plan to Use City's Supply May Fall Through

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, Okla., Dec. 28.—The water situation may help slow up the Oklahoma City oil area, if officials of the concerns owning acreage in the vicinity of the Indian Territory Illuminating Oil company and Foster Petroleum corporation's new discovery, No. 1 Fee, in the center of the southeast of the southeast of 24-11-3w, cannot agree on a conservative program.

Arrangements had been made to tie into the municipal water mains from Capital Hill, but with half a dozen wells demanding water to keep the big rotaries supplied, proved a larger item than originally it seemed. As a result water wells are now being drilled on leases of the operators where wells are to be drilled.

At a meeting Thursday at Oklahoma City, with Ray M. Collins, umpire for the corporation commission presiding, owners of acreage, city officials and others, were urged to use their good offices to develop harmony in the idea of a slow drilling campaign. The 1 to 40 rule for the first wells was urged, and owners of most of the acreage agreed to this, but many of the owners of smaller tracts, and especially town lots, appeared to object.

Wirt Franklin, of the Cromwell-Franklin company, and chairman of the Oklahoma City oil operators committee, is in favor of the one to a 40 rule

Wirt Franklin, I. T. I. O. and Foster companies have announced location for No. 1 Trosper in the center of the southeast of the northwest of 13-11-3w, due north of tht I. T. I. O.-Foster No. 1 Trosper, in the center of the northeast of the southwest of 13-11-3w, now drilling at 3707 feet.

Coline Oil company No. 1 Olds, in the center of the southeast of the northwest of 24-11-3w, is preparing to spud.

Ramsey Petroleum company No. 1 Fortson, in the center of the southwest of the southwest of 24-11-3w, is preparing to resume drilling after cementing surface pipe at 157 feet.

Hall & Briscoe of Chickasha spudded their No. 1 Holmes in the southeast corner of 10-11-3w, and are building foundations for No. 1 in the southeast corner of 14-11-3w, on two 10 acre tracts.

The discovery well of I. T. I. O.-Foster produced 5,745 barrels at a total depth of 6492 feet. Top of the pay is 6355 feet, with bottom of it at 6486 feet.

The production of the Greater Seminole field is up due to the increase in production in the Maud and Earlsboro pools. The output of the field was 283,617 barrels from 1309 wells Thursday as compared with 281,901 barrels Wednesday's gauge. Three new wells were added in Maud pool and one new well in the Earlsboro pool. Two wells were abandoned in the Earlsboro pool.

QUIET WEEK IN COLEMAN AREA

Two Small Producers Are Completed

Special to The Record News

COLEMAN, Texas, Dec. 28.—Two small producers were completed in Coleman county fields during the past week, although operations in most of the fields were at a standstill during the holidays.

Continental Oil company and associates' No. 10 Overall, J. H. Barclay survey No. 701, seven miles south of Coleman is making 30 barrels of oil after being drilled five feet into the pay, topped at 2,128. The hole is to be deepened one foot in effort to increase production. The oil is 42 degrees gravity.

Continental Oil company and associates' No. 3 Overall, J. H. Barclay survey No. 700, northeast of the Overall discovery well, struck gas sand Thursday afternoon at 2109 feet and is showing up well for a good producer, according to oil men. The well is running about 12 feet lower in formation than the No. 1 Overall, it was said. Independent Oil and Gas company's No. 4 McCord, northeast of No. 3 was drilling Thursday at 1650 feet. A rig has been erected for No. 11 Overall and No. 4, southeast offset to No. 1, has spudded.

Santa Anna Well

Byrd & Golston's No. 4 Moody, near Santa Anna in the J. Scott survey, is producing 30 barrels from the 1850-foot Moody pay.

About 2,500,000 cubic feet of gas was struck in Texas company's Hays No. 4 in the Jennings field, Bonds & Sanders survey No. 93, southeast of Santa Anna, Wednesday, and was spraying oil. The pay was topped at 1108 feet.

Continental-Anzac No. 1 Gardner, A. Quigley survey No. 739, southeast of Coleman in the Gardner area, completed last week with an initial flow of 130 barrels, has not produced since Sunday, and will probably be placed on the pump. The absence of sufficient gas in the Gardner pay is thought to be the cause of the test's inactivity.

Duster Recorded

Eastland Oil company's No. 1 Manning, east of Silver Valley, is to be plugged a dry hole at 3101 feet. Two showings of oil were encountered in the hole, at 2320 feet and 2920 feet, but failed to show the fluid in commercial quantities.

A tentative location has been made by James McCamey et al for their No. 1 Beck, three and one-half miles east of Thalia in the western part of the county. The test is to be located 1200 feet southwest of the Rae gasser, recently completed.

Atlantic, Urban and Davies No. 1 Gates, section 67, G. H. & H. Railway survey, was spudded Thursday.

Continental-Anzac et al No. 2 Hinds, in the Overall district, is being plugged after getting a hole full of water in the Gardner sand at 2280 feet. No oil was found in the Hinds at the lower pay level, although a showing was found in the Fry at 2132 feet.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (AP)—The cotton market was generally quiet today, with prices lower under a little southern selling and liquidation promoted by disappointing Liverpool cables and rather a bearish view on week-end figures. March contracts sold off to 20.20 and closed at 20.21, with the general market closing steady at net declines of 7 to 9 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 1 to 4 points under some near month liquidation promoted by the issuance of 6 or 7 January notices and in response to relatively easy Liverpool cables. Prices steadied up to about yesterday's closing figures right after the call on trade buying or near months and covering. The demand soon tapered off, and the market eased later in the day under comparatively small offerings which were supposed to include some southern selling as well as liquidation. At the lowest, January sold at 20.20 and May at 20.22, or 9 to 10 points below yesterday's final quotations, and the close was within a point or two of these figures.

Reports that the way had been cleared for launching a corporation representing an amalgamation of spinners of American cotton in Lancashire, attracted some bullish comment on the ground that it might foreshadow improved conditions in that quarter. There was some comment on reports of favorable text trade conditions in the Far East and these factors may have attracted some buying during the early trading. They evidently failed to inspire any aggressive sentiment, however, and the small volume of business suggested a disposition to wait for early new year developments.

Week-end figures showed an increase of 122,185 bales in the world's visible supply of American cotton for the week compared with an increase of 99188 for the previous week and a decrease of 5,971 bales for the same week last year. Private cables said trade calling had been supplied by liquidation in Liverpool and that the demand for cotton cloths and yarns was poor with little activity expected until after the turn of the year.

Port receipts today 48,627. U. S. port stocks 2,397,266. Exports 28,985, making 4,701,102 so far this season.

New Orleans Cotton

The market ruled quiet all morning. January sold down to 19.56, March 19.62 and May 19.61, or 7 to 9 points below the early highs and 6 to 7 points under yesterday's close.

At noon the market was steady and quiet and a point or two above the lows.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 28. (AP)—Holiday dullness characterized today's session of the cotton market with the circulation of additional notices for 2900 bales of January cotton the only development. These notices however, were promptly stopped and therefore exerted no great influence on prices, which after a slight early advance from an opening decline eased off steadily.

March contracts eased off from 19.68 to 19.62 and closed at the latter figure, net 6 points lower. The general market closed steady at net declines of 5 to 6 points.

Liverpool cables were relatively easy and the market here opened unchanged to 3 points lower in sympathy, with January contracts showing the decline due to the circulation of the additional notices. New York ignored the trend of the English market and opened higher and this brought out a slight demand in early trading which carried January to 19.63, March 19.69 and May 19.70, or 3 to 4 points up from the lows and unchanged to 3 points above yesterday's close.

The market then lapsed into quietness and prices gradually eased off under spasmodic offerings and due to the distinct lack of sustaining support which traders attributed to holiday influences. January eventually traded off to 19.56, March 19.12, May 19.61, or 7 to 9 points down from the highs. Final prices were unchanged to one point above the lowest.

Industrial Stocks Touch Highest Average in History of Exchange

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (US)—Industrial stocks today attained the highest average prices in their history.

Substantial gains were scored in most of the leading issues on the stock exchange in one of the broadest and most impressive advances of the entire year. The industrial group was up an average of over five points, while the rail shares shared in the bullish enthusiasm to a much slighter extent. Leadership at all times was held only by the very strongest and highest-grade stocks, imparting the most confident feeling in stock market circles since the severe recent break. Call money renewed at 12 per cent the highest in eight years, but failed to advance above this rate, further strengthening the bullish sentiment.

Outstanding Shares

Shares sponsored by the First National bank and the Morgan group furnished the outstanding performances. Johns-Manville, known as one of their pet issues, approached within a fraction of $200 a share, establishing a record high for all time on buying which was understood to be based on the most optimistic expectations of important developments pending within the company. Next year this enterprise is expected to disclose expansion projects of enormous scale, which will be reflected in a marked increase in earnings. The same thing is true of American Can, sponsored by the same interests, which reached a new high on its present advance. Powerful buying has been going on in this stock for several weeks. Earnings of American Can in 1929 will reflect for the first time the more liberal accounting and dividend-distribution policy of the management. Huge surplus income has been ploughed back by American Can into property expansion and improvement for years and now the directors are believed to favor granting stockholders a share of this built-up prosperity.

General Electric High

Utility shares were among the strongest groups and the Electrical manufacturing issues were also in demand. General Electric reached a record high and Allis-Chalmers touched $200 for the first time. General Electric is reported planning another year-end "surprise" for stockholders, while Allis-Chalmers which has been climbing steadily for weeks is understod to be enjoying a record business on a most advantageous basis. Westinghouse's financing plans had a temporarily depressing influence on the stock but the best kind of buying made its appearance inspired by recognition that the new funds will be applied for retirement of debt and further improve the company's capital position. Earnings of Westinghouse are running very close to those of General Electric, figured on a per-share basis. There are many keen stock market observers who look for Westinghouse to assume a leading position in the 1929 market.

Motors Unchanged

General Motors remained practically unchanged, but other issues were taken in large blocks. Nash had a sudden jump of more than seven points on expectation of favorable action to be announced shortly. Hudson gained a fraction as renewed attention was directed toward this issue because of favorable reports on its new models. The forthcoming auto show, as usual at this time of the year, has Wall street guessing as to the probable leader for 1929. Each motor stock of course has its own friends, many predicting that General Motors will again command complete leandership, while others disagree. Jordan Motors gained a point as interests affiliated with its affairs expressed complete satisfaction over its recent financing. The new funds, it was asserted, have placed the company in comfortable financial position and permits it to go ahead with its expansion program. The company has new models which will be introduced.

Montgomery-Ward Up

Montgomery-Ward, another First National-Morgan favorite advanced sharply, regaining all of its sharp loss during the recent depression. The most optimistic reports are heard as to this company's prospects. Radio also added to its recovery nothwithstanding active entrance of a third large radio enterprise into the American field. Chemical stocks were taken in large amounts, Mathioson Alkali scoring a gain of six points in anticipation of recapitalization announcement. Allied Chemical made a still larger gain for similar reasons, and Union Carbide was up a few points on buying for the account of the most powerful interests in current market affairs.

MIDWESTERN REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 28. (AP)—(U.S.D.A.)—Firm prices were maintained around the 11-market circuit on fat lambs. Aged stock was unchanged with the exception in a 25@50c advance at Chicago on fat ewes. Choice fat lambs at Chicago scored $15.60 and fat ewes reached $8.50; total offerings were around 37,800 as compared with 24,314 a week ago and 28,491 the same day last year.

Hog prices were unevenly steady to 15c higher as compared with Thursday's average trade; as most points were lower than yesterday's opening trade, a material advance was registered at Chicago on offerings scaling under 190 pounds; the day's extreme top of $9 was paid at St. Louis; aggregate receipts were estimated at 120,000, an increase of 4500 over last Friday and 38,500 more than a year ago.

The supply of cattle approximated 11,275 against 8,651 a week ago and 10,963 a year ago. Trade at most markets consisted of the usual Friday cleanup with no material price changes registered; some strength was reported at Chicago on light weight steers and yearlings; market interests expect fairly liberal shipments of fed steers throughout the month of January and all indications point to a narrowing of the prevailing prices spread with the better grades receding and cheap moving up; stocker and feeder cattle should be more plentiful next week but no increase over the average is expected.

TEXAS LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, Texas, Dec. 28. (AP)—(U.S.D.A.)—Very light receipts of cattle and calves again posted today on the livestock market. Four cars of slaughter steers included in the cattle arrivals, with the remaining cattle supplies consisting largely of she stock and mixed butcher classes. Most of the calves on sale were weighty averages.

Although the market was poorly tested, prices paid for cattle shown about steady. Low cutters appeared rather dull and weak, but the few loads of slaughter steers sold more readily than on previous days this week. A two-car shipment of grass slaughter steers brought $9.90 and a two-car shipment of short feds $10.40. The better grades of fat yearlings practically lacking. Several sales of fat cows reported around $7.50 and $7.65 and small lots of good fat cows up to $8.00 and above, low cutters at $4.00 and $4.75.

Slaughter calves in demand at prices strong to around a quarter higher. Packers paid up to $10.50 for good to choice heavies and other sales of weighty averages sold at $10.00 and less. Desirable mixed weights brought $10.75. Cull sorts sold as usual around $5.00 and $5.50.

Most of the hog supply today arrived in the truck section of trade. Prices paid quotably steady. Best truck hogs brought $8.50; bulk of the light and medium kind sold at $8.30 and $8.50. No good to choice butchers in carlots, one load of medium grades sold at $8.35; packing sows sold at $7.50 and $7.75 and appeared steady.

Fat lambs and wethers ruled strong to 15 cents higher; today, two decks of good to choice shorn fat lambs brought $12.00 and a deck of good fall shorn fat wethers $8.25.

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 28. (AP)—Hogs—Receipts 7,000; 10c lower; top $8.55 on 210 to 240 pounds; butchers, medium to choice 250 to 350 pounds $8.15@8.50; 200 to 250 pounds $8.15@8.55; 160 to 200 pounds $8.10@8.50; 130 to 160 pounds $7.75@8.45. Packing sows $6.75@7.85.

Grain

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW

CHICAGO, Dec. 28. (AP)—Big deliveries both of corn and wheat in settlement of Chicago December contracts did much today to force grain prices down. Today's deliveries of corn here totaled 887,000 bushels, and of wheat 710,000 bushels. Besides, enlarged estimates of the exportable wheat surplus of Argentina and Australia were current.

Closing quotations on corn were nervous ¼c@1⅛c a bushel net lower. Wheat finished at the same as yesterday's latest prices to ⅜c off, oats ⅛c@¼c@⅜c down, and provisions varying from 12c decline to a rise of 25c.

To the surprise of many traders who had been looking forward to a scarcity of corn supplies here and to a consequent squeeze in the corn market before December was at an end, more corn was being handed over in Chicago today to new owners than the buyers appeared ready to accept.

Predictions of colder weather likely to accelerate the movement of the corn crop tendered further to weaken the corn market. Moreover, there were sales of corn into store here today to the extent of 370,000 bushels.

Wheat values were influenced by announcement that the combined surplus of wheat in Argentina and Australia is 348,000,000 bushels, contrasting with 286,000,000 bushels cleared last season. Today's figures showed 18,000,000 bushels increase over the latest previous estimate from Argentina as to the surplus there. Oats followed the trend of other grain.

ROYAL SUIT ASKS BILLION

Archduke Seeks to Recover Vast Properties

BUDAPEST, Dec. 28. (AP)—A suit for recovery of property valued at one billion dollars has been instituted before the permanent court of international justice at The Hague, it became known today.

The suit is that of Archduke Albrecht, pretender to the Hungarian throne, and is brought on behalf of his father, the Archduke Frederick, field marshal of the Austrian army during the war, and richest member of the house of Hapsburg. It is for recovery of property, consisting of royal palaces, castles, villas, estates, antiques, paintings, jewelry, furniture, gold and silver objects belonging to Frederick in Italy, Jugoslavia, Czecho-Slovakia and Rumania, and sequestered by those states under the peace treaties.

If Albrecht and Frederick should win the suit Frederick would be the richest royal personage in Europe.

BRADSTREET'S REVIEW

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (AP)—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

With seasonal conditions ruling the trend has been toward quiet in all lines, but especially in retail trade and in industry, which are still, however, relatively more active than a year ago. One reason for retail trade, after a probably record turnover, remaining active, is found in one area in the volume of bonus money released late and employed in picking bargains from after-holiday clearance sales.

It might be noted here that the mild weather before and during the holiday period was a retarding element at most markets, heavy clothing and similar lines being so much slower as to have cut down the volume of retail buying as a whole.

Flu Hits Sailors On Vessels at Houston Port

HOUSTON, Dec. 28 (AP)—Influenza has reached out to seize men off the ships in the channel here. Eight men from the crew of two Italian steamers have been taken to hospitals within the last few days and a number of other sailors lodging temporarily at the Seaman's institute have fallen victims to the disease. No deaths had been reported among seamen today.

Postman Gets Divorce On Sleuth's Evidence

CAMDEN, N. J. Dec. 28 (INS)—Stanley E. Black, Palmyra postman, is in possession of a divorce today from Mrs. Almira Black, after Private Detective Frank Miller testified that he had watched William Hale, an embroidery shipper, feed Mrs. Black gumdrops and then kiss her for "15 minutes and 34 seconds according to my watch."

TEXAN IS SLAIN

NACOGDOCHES, Texas, Dec. 28 (AP)—John Ainsworth, 23, was shot to death at Bobo's mill, nine miles west of Nacogdoches, at noon today. A man was arrested.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT

HOUSTON, Dec. 28 (AP)—Hugh Brown, 12, of Seabrook, was shot accidentally today by Lewis Kittman while hunting.

Lisping No Bar To 'Talkie' Film, Says Professor

CHICAGO, Dec. 28. (UP)—If you have the face, personality and the where-with-all to put it over on the screen, don't worry about the latest cinema invention as no matter how you talk you can say it in the "talkies."

This encouragement for movie celebrities who feared a lisp or faltering speech would keep them out of the talking pictures and for those who aspired to screen careers but doubted the larynx, comes from Prof. W. R. McDonald of the University of Southern California.

"Those who lisp need have no fear of the talkies," the professor, who is attending the national convention of Teachers of Speech, said today. "Scientific or correct breathing will correct practically all speech defects. Speech is nothing more than muscular exercise and the voice box can be developed the same as muscles of the body.

"Regular training will correct the defects and tend to bring the voice towards perfection."

WOMAN ABHORS FATE OF DOGS

Chicago Benefactress Scores Cruel Treatment

CHICAGO, Dec. 28. (UP)—The dog—often called man's best friend—is getting a shabby deal in Chicago.

Several agencies, including the humane education society, and Mrs. Frederich W. McLaughlin, the former Irene Castle, are determined that something must be done.

The dog pound authorities, on the other hand, are just as determined that nothing can be done.

It seems that back in 1903 the city built a dog pound 12 feet square. The pound was adequate in those days, perhaps, but today with 37 dog catchers and nine wagons picking up stray dogs at a rate of 100,000 a year, a dog pound only 12 feet square represents rather cramped quarters.

Cruel Treatment

Mrs. McLaughlin, organizer of the "orphans of the storm," a colony for stray dogs on the north side, says Chicago "is back in the middle ages in the way it treats its dogs."

"I have received scores of letters telling of scenes at the Chicago pound," Mrs. McLaughlin said today. "I have about 125 orphans of the sort now, and I would like to have more but it costs $4 to reclaim a dog from the dog pound and I can't afford to take them all, of course.

"Chicago's boulevards are divine; our buildings are beautiful but our dog pound is a civic black eye."

Mrs. Mary Hoff at the Chicago Humane Education society joined the chorus of protest by declaring that she had traveled from coast to coast and that never had she seen anything to compare with the "way Chicago treats its poor, helpless dogs."

Poor Dying Dog

"One poor beast was dying in the pound the day I was there," said Mrs. Hoff, "but no attendant would lift it aside so that it would not be trampled on by the other dogs. Some puppies were being born in a stall so crowded that they hardly could turn around."

William S. Stuart, who has been superintendent of the Chicago dog pound for 27 years, said conditions were bad but not as bad as painted by Mrs. McLaughlin and Mrs. Hoff.

"The city collects about $100,000 a year in dog license fees," said Stuart. "But the joker in the deal is that the dogs get only a small part of the money. Our whole budget for dogs is only $38,000 a year. Of that we spend $10,500 on food and the rest of it goes for equipment and salaries.

Stuart said unclaimed dogs are kept only 24 hours before being put to death with charcoal fumes.

"We can kill about 200 dogs that way for 75 cents," the superintendent said.

BURKBURNETT

BURKBURNETT, Dec. 28.—Mr. and Mrs. Oran Kite spent the Christmas holidays with Mr. Kite's mother, Mrs. Henkel at Burkburnett.

Terrence Word, who is attending college in Montana, spent the Christmas holidays with his parents at Burkburnett.

Alvin Morgan of Comanche, Okla., was in Burkburnett this week.

N. R. Allen, agent for the Wichita Daily Times and Record-News at Burkburnett, has returned to Burkburnett after spending the Christmas holidays with friends in Fort Worth.

The teachers of Burkburnett who spent the Christmas holidays away from Burkburnett have returned here to resume school work which starts Monday, Dec. 31.

Mr. and Mrs. Battles of Burkburnett are spending a few days in Cordell, Okla., in the home of Mr. Battle's relatives.

Several cases of "flu" are reported in Burkburnett this week.

John McKinney and family of Burkburnett spent the Christmas holidays in Southwest Texas with relatives.

Billie Dove in "The Night Watch" is something else again that holds a peculiar interest. The show is a strong one, and is based on a show of the same name of the legitimate stage that has been mighty sucessful. The public will go to the Majestic Saturday or some other day and see the show and like it, but the public probably will not have a great deal of love for any of the stars of the picture as not one has a truly sympathetic part.

◇ ◇ ◇

Billie Dove gets into more or less of a tangle because of her husband and also because of some things she does. Why she does them, the commander of the French navy couldn't explain, although he heard the reasons expounded in a French naval courtmartial.

Continuing plays that are unusual is "Mother Knows Best," a romantic tragedy which will open at the Strand theater New Year's eve with a midnight matinee at 11:45 o'clock. The cast includes Madge Bellamy, Louise Dresser and Barry Norton.

Here's Paean to Kerrville Country

Hot Rolls and Sausage for Hunters

The lure of wild turkey and deer is not the only feature of hunting excursions into the wooded hills of Central Texas which draw many Wichitans into that district with the coming of cold weather in the late fall of the year, according to Ben G. Oneal, president of the Izaak Walton league, who has just returned from a hunting trip there.

According to Mr. Oneal, the delightful scenery that may be enjoyed during the days of tramping, and the rare hospitality extended to visiting hunters by some of the resident ranchmen in the district, constiute as great reward for the time and effort spent as the excitement and results of hunting.

The particular district visited by Mr. and Mrs. Oneal during the last few days is near Kerrville. The residences of ranchers are widely separated, Mr. Oneal said, leaving much territory for wild game to roam with comparative freedom during most of the year.

The hospitality shown to Mr. and Mrs. Oneal, he said, came particularly from the hands of German families who have been there since the large body of immigrants from the better class of families in Germany settled in the vicinity of Fredericksburg almost 100 years ago. The present residents in the old houses, some of which have stood for 60 years, are of the third generation since the community was first settled, and for the most part are thrifty, well established ranchmen.

Mr. Oneal's host took advantage of the cold weather which visited the section to make up the large supply of "country sausage." The storing up of fresh sausage, however, was not sufficiently urgent to crowd out the 4 o'clock recess for coffee. Hot bread fresh from the oven, new made butter, and small cakes filled with fruit and nuts, with a pot of steaming coffee, comprised the midafternoon refreshment, and according to Mr. Oneal, competed successfully with the killing of a 17-pound turkey gobbler for first place among things to be remembered from the hunt.

The gobbler was bagged while Mr. Oneal and his host were trying to make their way through a thicket to get within range of several head of deer, hoping to sight a buck.

Superiority Complex Best Means Of Combatting Opposite Trend, He Says

The only way to escape from an inferiority complex is to cultivate consciously and deliberately a superiority complex Rabbi S. J. Schwab, of Temple Israel, asserted Friday night in his regular weekly sermon.

"Many of us are suffering from an inferiority complex, and the world is trying its best to preserve and intensify that complex in many of us," he added.

Rabbi Schwab, who spoke on the subject, "The Best Resolution for the New Year," inferred that this resolution should be a determination on the part of the Jewish people to prove their inherent cultural and religious worth.

"Those of our people who advocated an escape from the inferiority complex are just a little in advance of most of the rest," he said, adding that it was the hope of the race that each member "strive for an increasingly higher degree of superiority within himself, thus providing an escape from the inferiority complex through a superiority complex."

The best means of obtaining the superior viewpoint, Rabbi Schwab said, is to devote more interest to the spiritual, than to the material, side of life.

Dinners Honor War President

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (AP)—Admirers of Woodrow Wilson gathered in many parts of the country tonight to honor his memory on his birthday.

While the eighth annual dinner of the Woodrow Wilson foundation was held in the ballroom of a hotel here, with former Ambassador Henry Morgenthau presiding, and Governor-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York as a speaker, similar gatherings on a smaller scale were taking place in Prescott, Ariz., Pasadena and Stockton, Calif., Pueblo, Colo., Boise and Coure D'Alene, Idaho; La Port and North Vernon, Ind.; Olathe, Topeka and Strong City, Kan.; Augusta and Lewiston, Me.; Lowell, Mass., Detroit and Ionia, Mich.; Ashland, Mo., Benton Harbor, Mich., Omaha, Neb., Reno, Nev., Exeter, N. H.; Rochester, N. Y.; Wilmington, N. C.; Perry, Okla., Portland, Ore.; Lancaster, Pittsburgh, and Washington, Pa., and Seattle, Wash.

Eulogizing the late president, Mr. Morgenthau drew for the foundation dinner here a picture of a great moral leader and a great formulator of the doctrine of Democracy.

Newton D. Baker, secretary of war in Mr. Wilson's cabinet, sent a telegram, which was retelegraphed to the various other dinners, saying:

"The peace of the world is still maintained by the principles he (Wilson) laid down, while in our home affairs he remains the great liberal of modern times. To commemorate his birthday is to preserve a great tradition."

KENLEY ENTERS LAW PRACTICE

District Attorney Joins Father in Office

Dick Kenley, retiring district attorney, Friday afternoon announced that he will take up the general practice of law in association with his father, R. O. Kenley Sr., after Jan. 1. The firm of Kenley and Kenley will have offices on the fifth floor of the City National bank building, he announced.

Mr. Kenley was appointed to the office in early fall, following the resignation of Ben Allred, with whom he had been associated as assistant district attorney. He will be succeeded by Sam B. Spence, present assistant county attorney, who will take the office on Jan. 1.

In retiring Mr. Kenley expressed his loyalty to the incoming administration and offered all the assistance in his power for the completion of work begun during his administration.

only six days before the regular legislature meets," the governor said.

"He could have postponed the date several days ago.

Decision Today

At about 9 p. m. Governor Moody, after a telephone conversation with Regent Holliday at El Paso, and Commissioner Robison in Kerr county, said no decision will be made as to the special session before sometime Saturday. Despite Attorney General Pollard's concurrence in the Trueheart opinion, Commissioner Robison still would not agree tonight to postpone the sale, Governor Moody indicated.

"I could not do anything with him," the governor said.

He will try to hold a conference with Robinson somewhere tomorrow and thresh out the question finally.

"I don't want to call a special session if it can possibly be avoided," the governor said.

The governor related two separate attempts by the university regents to get Robinson, before he ever advertised the land for sale, to withhold it from the market until after the legislature meets in regular session.

These attempts, the governor said, were told him by Regent Holliday in the telephone conversation tonight.

"Holliday told me that he wrote Robison before the land was advertised—back in November—and told him that it was the unanimous wish of the legislature and land committees of the regents that none of the land be advertised for sale prior to convening of the legislature," Governor Moody said. "Holliday said he told Robison that the regents wanted a chance to get the land leasing act amended before any more mineral rights were sold.

"Judge R. L. Batts, another regent, of Austin, went to Robison personally, I am told," the governor continued, "and asked him not to call a sale until after the legislature meets. Robinson had sent the advertisement forms to the printer, but no advertisements had been sent out at the time. Robison finally agreed to defer sale of all except the 103,000 acres to later dates in January but insisted on putting this amount on the market, saying he had promised some one that it would be advertised for sale on Jan. 2."

Golden Gizzards

HIAWATHA, Kan.—Gold found in a gizzard may have nothing to do with the goose that laid the golden egg, but Mrs. W. S. Hobbs is keeping close watch over her chickens. She recently found a gold nugget in the gizzard of a chicken she had butchered and the word was passed around that some of the other chickens may be "gold-filled" too.

Fewer births were registered in England and Wales last year than in any year since 1855, when the population was less than half the present figure.

Doctor Herrington had been the "minority" member of the board usually voting against R. B. Walthal and Roy I. Tennant, the other members, on questions at issue. Walthal is present chairman of the board.

BANK ROBBER MAY BE HELD

Frederick Officers Here To Look at Prisoner

The possible identification of a suspect held in the recent Spoonts Drug store holdup as one of two men who held up and robbed the Bank of Manitou at Manitou, Okla., on Dec. 21, was the mission of Roy Moss, deputy sheriff, and Ray Mathews, business man, both of Frederick, Okla., who arrived here Friday afternoon.

The men came here on the invitation of local authorities, after Sheriff Jenks McCorcle, in a long distance conversation with Sheriff W. G. Bralley, said methods used in the local holdup corresponded to those used in the bank raid. Description of one of the men held, it was said, corresponded to that of a man seen during the bank robbery, and this also led to the effort to identify the man.

Neither the deputy sheriff nor Mathews had seen the suspected prisoner late Friday night, according to information from the sheriff's department, and it was thought the investigation had been postponed until Saturday.

Mathews was one of the customers in the Manitou bank who was forced, along with everyone else in the establishment, to lie on the floor, while two unmasked men looted the bank tills of about $2,000.

L. B. Gregg, cashier of the bank, is to be one of the main factors in the efforts of officers to link the man held here with the robbery, it was learned Friday night. Gregg, in a long distance telephone conversation, said he would be informed of the success of Moss and Mathews in making the identification, and that if it was successful, he would come to Wichita Falls to confirm or deny the findings of officers.

Specifically, the officers are concerned with a man described by local authorities as "tall, and swarthy."

It was such a man, said Mr. Gregg, who approached him on the afternoon of Dec. 21 in his office, with his hands in his overcoat pockets.

"Hello," Gregg said. "Wait on you in a minute."

"The hell you will," the swarthy one replied. "You'll wait on me right now."

And then, Mr. Gregg said, the bank robbery commenced.

Old Oil Well Flows 30,000

Wink Excited by Sudden Performance of Test

WINK, Texas, Dec. 28. (UP)—A fickle year-old oil well, producing barely enough to maintain operation, late today blew in for an estimated 30,000 barrels a day and with a terrific gas pressure back of the oil estimated at 80,000,000 cubic feet a day.

Tonight the inhabitants of this new boom oil town are in a greater uproar than they were two weeks ago when rum runners kidnaped one of their neighbors to punish him for alleged hijacking of a half million dollar liquor caravan. The strike is said to be one of the greatest developments in West Texas oil fields in the last year.

The well is the V. T. Bolin No. 1, Altman tract, in the main producing area of the Winkler county oil field. It is seven miles northeast of Wink and three miles northeast of the northeast edge of Hendrick pool.

The location is 300 feet from the south and east lines of southeast quarter of northwest quarter, section 4, block B-5, public school lands survey.

The well has been pumping an average of 65 barrels of oil daily for the past year. It has been making infrequent light heads during this period.

Tonight the flow was increasing hourly as the well cleans itself out and drills deeper. Latest reports estimate the flow at 2,000 barrels an hour running wild.
