

POWER FAILURE, BLIZZARD

Powerful Storm Rakes Northwest

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A powerful storm with winds approaching 100 miles an hour slammed through the Pacific Northwest again today, bringing blizzard conditions, power failures and fears of a repetition of last year's Christmas week disaster.

Winds up to 120 miles an hour roared across Washington, Oregon and Idaho Monday and dumped heavy rain and snow on dozens of communities, virtually isolating many.

Rivers and streams were able to handle the extra precipitation thus far and there was no immediate flooding danger. But the U.S. Weather Bureau issued a special bulletin warning that the main storm was now heading toward California and a second storm was moving into the already soaked northern states.

Grocery store clerks in the tiny community of Shelton, Wash., reported a brisk business in candles and kerosene lamps as area residents geared for another possible disaster.

Last year, just three days before Christmas, swollen rivers and streams throughout northern California and the Northwest spilled out of their banks in a terrible torrent that swept through hundreds of communities. Damage reached at least $300 million and 43 persons were killed.

Hearty citizens rebuilt their flood-damaged homes and businesses as quickly as possible. But even as they moved back engineers warned that a disaster of similar magnitude could happen again.

"There is nothing to prevent precisely the same thing from happening this winter," said Lt. Col. Robert H. Allan, head of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers in San Francisco recently.

WHO'S THE ENEMY?

Famed Lawyer Doubts US Can Prove Treason

By DAVID S. GRUBNICK
United Press International
NAHA, Okinawa (UPI) — A top civilian lawyer experienced in dozens of court martials said today the military would have a difficult time proving two U.S. Army sergeants aided an "enemy" during their two years of imprisonment by the Viet Cong.

The two men, Sgt. George E. Smith of Chester, W.Va., and Sgt. Claude McClure of Chattanooga, Tenn., have been charged with "aiding the enemy" while captives of the Communist guerrillas. They were released last month by the Viet Cong in honor of anti-war demonstrations in the United States.

At a news conference in Phnom Penh, Cambodia, Nov. 30 they said they would quit the Army and join the campaign against U.S. involvement in Viet Nam when they got home.

Howard B. McClellan of Clayton, N.M., who has served as defense counsel in dozens of court martials, told UPI he believed the Army would have trouble proving the two aided an "enemy" since there has been no declaration of war in Viet Nam by the United States.

McClellan also commented that in his experience it was extremely unusual for the Army to state that the men have been charged before an order convening a court martial was issued.

The Army announced Monday that a preliminary investigation into the conduct of the two men warranted the charges that they prepared, furnished and delivered to the Viet Cong certain documents, statements and writing inimical to the interest of the United States.

However, it remains up to the commanding officer here—Lt. Gen. Albert E. Watson—to decide whether there is enough

Viet Cong Ask Ceasefire For Holiday

SAIGON (UPI) — The Viet Cong today offered a four-day ceasefire during the Vietnamese lunar new year celebrations Jan. 20-24. But the offer appeared to have been made only to the South Vietnamese.

The Communist proposal came as the lull in U.S. air attacks on North Viet Nam entered the fifth day.

The offer, broadcast by the Viet Cong's clandestine radio, did not appear to have any direct connection with the mysterious lull, the longest since a six-day respite last April. There was no explanation in Washington but the administration presumably hoped for some peaceful Hanoi reaction.

The Communist cease-fire offer followed a 12-hour truce the Viet Cong promised Christmas Eve but which they honored for only half that time.

The Americans and Vietnamese called a 30-hour cease-fire and offered to extend it but Hanoi ignored this and there was a series of clashes.

The four-day lunar celebration called "Tet," is held throughout Asia, following a custom which originated centuries ago. The Jan. 20-24 period ushers in the year of the horse—considered by Asians to be one of the most propitious of symbols.

The wording of the Viet Cong broadcast authorized by the National Liberation Front, made it appear American troops and their non-Vietnamese allies still would be subject to attack during the proposed time period. American officials would not comment on the Communist offer.

Respite from Cold Only for Today

Mild temperatures and gusty winds Tuesday brought Pampa a touch of spring after a wintry Christmas weekend.

But the respite may be brief. After more warm weather Wednesday, the weatherman sees a colder trend Thursday.

Winds from 20-30 miles per hour combined with temperatures in the 50s, may dry some of the light moisture that came during the Christmas weekend, although Pampa wheat farmers are hoping that not too much would be siphoned off.

Light drizzle and fog cut visibility to less than three miles today over much of the High Plains and country east of the Pecos. Cloudiness was expected to cover all of Texas by nightfall.

Overnight readings ranged from 24 degrees at Dalhart to 60 at Brownsville—quite a contrast from the 17 degree below zero reading at Bemidji, Minn. early today.

Traffic Judge Favors Girls' Short Skirts

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Former Traffic Court Judge Chester K. Gillespie is all for short skirts.

As a traffic safety factor—he says, Gillespie, appearing on a traffic safety program on station WKYC-TV Sunday, said a girl's legs "can be seen at night" if she is wearing a short skirt.

"Short dresses are really a benefit to protect women from being killed by automobiles," he said.

He did not comment on short skirts as a distraction for motorists.

Recently, the Cleveland City Council banned go-go girls from dancing in a tavern window after male motorists caused several accidents outside the tavern.

Italian Foreign Minister Resigns

ROME (UPI) — Amintore Fanfani resigned today as Italian foreign minister in a political controversy growing out of the role he played in a recent abortive attempt to negotiate peace in Viet Nam.

Outnumbered Loyals Kill 50 Viet Cong

SAIGON (UPI) — Government troops outnumbered 5 to 1 today repulsed two massive Communist attacks on an outpost near the Cambodian frontier killing at least 50 Viet Cong. As darkness fell the lull in the air war over North Viet Nam entered its fifth day.

A Communist battalion—about 500 men—tried twice to overrun the Bu Prang outpost 100 miles north of Saigon and six miles from the Cambodian border.

A U.S. spokesman said the 100 Vietnamese defenders withstood a mortar and recoilless rifle fire barrage but called for air support when the Communists regrouped and began a second attack.

The Viet Cong withdrew about dawn when two F4F Phantom jets and two propeller-driven A1E Skyraiders made four strikes on their positions. Government casualties were described as light.

Rebels Sentenced
In Pleiku, a Vietnamese military tribunal today sentenced 15 more Montagnard leaders involved in the recent Central Highlands rebellion against the government.

All 15, charged with a breach of national security, received long prison terms. Four others were acquitted. Four other leaders of the mountaineers' revolt were sentenced Monday to death for their part in the uprising.

The longest previous halt in U.S. air attacks on the Communist North lasted six days in April of this year. It was ordered by President Johnson and revealed later that the administration sent out peace feelers to the Hanoi regime.

The peace overtures were rejected. North Viet Nam Monday continued to charge that U.S. planes and ships were violating its territorial airspace and waters.

Air Lull Continues
An Air Force spokesman disclosed today there had been no B52 strikes in South Viet Nam since Christmas Eve, prior to the 30-hour ceasefire.

The spokesman said he knew of no connection between cessation of strikes by the eight-jet Strategic Air Command (SAC) bombers in the South and U.S. Air Force and Navy planes in the North.

He also said there was no reason to believe that rainy weather had anything to do with the lull in air raids against the North. The spokesman said newsmen would be notified "at once" if the strike were resumed.

Valuable Diamond Ring Stolen In Pampa Burglary

Theft of a $1,635 diamond ring, mantle clock and set of silverware was reported to City police by Raymond T. Parker, 428 N. Starkweather.

Parker said the items were taken from his home sometime in the past 10 days or two weeks.

The one and one-quarter carat diamond Masonic ring was taken from a drawer in the bedroom, Parker said. Other items of jewelry in the drawer were not touched, he said.

The silverware, a service for eight valued at $98.50, was taken from a drawer in the kitchen cabinet. The Seth-Thomson mantle clock, taken from the living room, was valued at $35.

Parker said that the house had been left open at times during the past two weeks to permit access for maintenance men.

Parker said he believed the total loss would be covered by insurance.

Concessionaire Being Sought For Lake Meredith

WASHINGTON, D. C. (Sp.) — The Federal Interior Department is seeking a qualified concession operator for the Fritch Fort Site at the Sanford Recreation Area, Lake Meredith, it was announced today by Congressman Walter Rogers of Pampa.

Planned under a two-phase program, construction of the facilities is estimated to require an investment of $865,000. The 44,000 acre recreation area is located in Hutchinson County, 48 miles from Pampa.

The Congressman said the National Parks Service today is releasing a prospectus outlining the requirements for the construction and operation of the proposed facilities.

It is expected that Phase-I of the planned concession area will be started within three months after a contract is signed and completed within 18 months.

Phase-II is to be started within 18 months and completed within three years.

The successful applicant must be prepared to finance the cost of facilities that include, under Phase-I, a 30-unit motel with terrace and swimming pool; a 75-seat restaurant; 2500 sq. ft. floating dock with sales facilities; 100-slip floating dock with fueling facilities and boat moorings; boat trailer parking area for 50 boats; and rental and charter boats, as needed.

Phase-II improvement will include an additional 100 slips for the floating dock; a 9-hole golf course with pro shop and irrigation system; and additional rental and charter boats, as needed.

By law the Secretary of the Interior is authorized to negotiate concession contracts for public accommodation and services in areas administered by the National Parks Service. The offers submitted will not be subject to the standard government competitive bid procedure.

It is proposed that a concession contract will be negotiated with the applicant selected as the one submitting the best offer in the judgment of National Parks Service.

Persons interested in submitting offers for the Fritch Fort site concession facilities should contact the Superintendent, Sanford Recreation Area, P. O. Box 325, Sanford, Tex. 79078.

Offers should be submitted before Feb. 15, 1966. A prospectus will be mailed upon request to the same address.

HHH in Japan For First Stop On Goodwill Trip

TOKYO (UPI) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, on his first major diplomatic mission for President Johnson, arrived in Japan tonight to begin a week-long tour of the Far East. He was under heavy security against possible leftist protests.

Humphrey, on a five-day swing through Japan, the Philippines, Formosa, and South Korea, flew into Tokyo International Airport aboard the President's special jet, and was met by Japanese and U.S. officials including Prime Minister Eisaku Sato and American Ambassador Edwin O. Reischauer.

Thousands of Japanese police kept a tight cordon around the airport to prevent any rumored leftist demonstrations. A front organization of the Japanese Communist party earlier held a rally and demonstration in downtown Tokyo to protest Humphrey's arrival and U.S. Viet Nam policy.

In an arrival statement, Humphrey said he was "looking forward very much" to meeting with Japanese Emperor Hirohito and Sato to discuss "some of our common interests and problems" during his 18-hour Tokyo stopover.

"Our goals and aspirations are much the same," he said. "We share the same deep commitments to peace, liberty and the prosperity of all peoples. We value your friendship; we look for your advice; we need your help in common endeavors."

PAMPA AND VICINITY—Windy and warmer. Partly cloudy this afternoon, tonight and Wednesday. Little warmer tonight. High today near 50, low tonight in mid-30s, high Wednesday mid-50s. Westerly winds Tuesday 20-30 miles per hour. Outlook for Thursday: turning colder.

721 DIE IN BLOODIEST THREE-DAYS IN HISTORY

Holiday Toll More Than Viet Nam War

By United Press International
Highway safety officials, shocked by an all-time high traffic death toll during the Christmas holiday, mapped plans today to prevent a similar tragedy during the New Year's weekend.

They viewed with considerable alarm the toll of 721 persons killed during the three-day period, five more than the number of U.S. casualties during the two bloody months of the Viet Nam war that ended

Dec. 20.

"I am appalled by the death toll on U.S. highways," said Michigan Gov. George Romney. "What happened during the past three days was nothing less than a national disaster," said the National Safety Council's John D. Lawlor.

"If we can rocket men into space to rendezvous in capsules, we can reduce this every day slaughter on our roads and highways," he added.

Around the country, a number of reasons for the high Christmas toll were cited by highway officials along with several suggestions to curb the toll in the future.

Ohio Safety Director Warren C. Nelson said of the 50 people killed in his state during Christmas—only two were wearing safety belts. People "must learn they have to drive defensively for their own good and wear seat belts at all times," he said.

The individual driver was widely blamed for his indifference to the highway slaughter. "I'm continually disturbed that the good people in the community, the community leaders, apparently think little or nothing of disregarding safety laws and regulations," said Kentucky Public Safety Commissioner Glenn Lovern.

"It falls back to the same old warning," said Col. Fredrick Davids of the Michigan State Police, "the driver must accept the responsibility for himself and his passengers."

Dear Abby....

Mother Could Wring
Popular Son's Neck

DEAR ABBY: Our 17-year-old son is goodlooking, well-behaved and popular. He's a good student, good athlete and a good dancer, but he never asks a girl for a date. He's not afraid of girls. He'll go around with a bunch of boys and they will "meet up" with girls, but when it comes to calling a girl and making a date, he won't do it. Girls ask him to girl-ask-boy dances, and he goes and has a great time. He can use our car, his Dad will give him money, and many mothers of girls have hinted to me that their daughters would like to date our son. When a big affair comes up (like a prom), he waits around until the last minute and then decides it's too late to call any girls. What's wrong with him? I could wring his beautiful neck!

HIS MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: Believe it or not, even good-looking, bright and popular boys can feel inadequate when it comes to girls. They don't ask because they are afraid they might be turned down. (I know, I get letters from boys, too.) Keep "reminding" your son to get a date for those special events. If he's insecure, it will provide the extra push he needs. If he's immature, he won't call until he's good and ready.

DEAR ABBY: My child plays with a child her age who lives in our apartment building with her mother and father. We rarely see the mother as she is a stewardess with an airline. I know that this airline will not allow their stewardesses to continue to fly after they marry. Yet this young woman calls herself "Mrs." How can this be? How do I go about finding out if this woman is just living with this man or if they are really married?

NOSEY
DEAR NOSEY: You answered your own question with your own signature: You're too "nosey" for your own good.

Decorative 'Kitchen at the Table'

By KAY SHERWOOD
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Fancy dress of major holiday dinner tables encourages a more decorative approach to the other less-formal party tables we gather around during the winter.

Fancier dress may also serve as a sort of camouflage. My kitchen is too small to hold anyone but myself and one other person. At some casual parties we have, especially a brunch or late supper, the tendency is for the guests to gravitate to the kitchen to visit with the cook. An impossible traffic jam develops between stove and refrigerator.

One way to "enlarge" the kitchen

MISS DEB

... answers questions about Junior Miss etiquette, grooming and interests.

Q. Studying seems to take me forever. I read things over and over, and I lose interest before I'm finished. What can I do to concentrate better?

A. It's probably your study habits — not you! What about those distractions that keep you from concentrating while you study? Television? The radio, the phonograph? Phone calls? If they aren't the culprits, try studying in shorter periods, taking breaks in between. Set a specific time for studying every day. Study as long as you can — at least half an hour. Do whatever you like for ten minutes, then get back to another study session. You'll be pleasantly amazed at how well planned study sessions will work!

Q. I hate setting my hair! But if I don't, it gets all mussed up when I sleep. I'd like to avoid rollers and still keep my hair looking good every day. Any ideas?

A. Here's a hairdo-saving trick! It's easy and inexpensive to keep your locks in place by using bathroom tissue. Just before bedtime, brush your hair into your favorite style. Then, starting over one ear, wind tissue all around your head. Clip in place. You'll save time and the inconvenience of sleeping on rollers. Next morning you'll find your hairdo intact!

Q. Some of my friends must have extra-large appetites. Whenever I have a party for more than a few people, the food always disappears before everybody has eaten. I don't know what I'm doing wrong! Do you have any suggestions for serving about 20 people?

A. Could be that your guests are extra hungry because they are having such a good time! One way to be sure all your friends get some of the special refreshments you've planned is to stop the dancing or conversation and serve everyone at the same time. Hot dogs, potato salad and relishes are welcome fare, if you have some idea about appetites. Or, spaghetti, served by you at the buffet table, is hearty and filling when accompanied with salad.

Officers Installed

At Yule Dinner

Pampa Rose Society held its Christmas dinner meeting in Cibola Room of Coronado Inn recently with Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Carruth and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A. Bennick as hosts.

The meeting was opened with the Club Prayer led by Mrs. Glenn Radcliffe, with Mrs. H. H. Boynton, vice president, presiding over a short business meeting in the absence of Mrs. R. E. Darsey, president, who is vacationing in Hawaii with her husband. As a special favor, members were presented with wood roses, sent by the Darseys from Hawaii.

Mrs. R. W. Campbell, guest, presented the Christmas program by giving the story, "The Woodcarver" by Grace Noel Crowell.

Mrs. Weldon Adair installed the new officers, using the rose bush as a symbol, letting the canes represent the president, Mrs. Darsey; the roots as vice president, Dr. Weldon Adair; the blossoms as secretary and the sap as treasurer, Mrs. Bennick and the rosarian as historian, Mrs. D. A. Caldwell. Other members represented the leaves. With the cooperation of each member the club develops as a compact rose bush.

Members present were: Dr. and Mrs. Weldon Adair and Messrs. and Mmes. Wm. A. Bennick, H. H. Boynton, D. A. Caldwell, Milo Carlson, A. B. Carruth, Dan Glaxner and Glenn Radcliffe.

Guests were: Mrs. W. R. Campbell and Messrs. and Mmes. Robert Cox, J. E. Carlson and A. J. Johnston, former members now living in Portland, Ore.

RUTH MILLETT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A full-time homemaker and mother of three says her husband makes her feel inadequate by always talking enviously about men whose wives help earn a living.

"I know I work longer hours than my husband does," she writes, "and I feel I ought to be able to take pride in the job I do. But my husband's attitude that any man whose wife brings home a pay check is lucky makes me feel I'm not carrying my share of the load — even when common sense tells me I am."

There ought to be a way to stop that kind of talk from a husband — and, perhaps, there is.

Any wife whose husband seems to resent her not helping him earn a living might try this approach:

"Since you seem to envy men with working wives—I'm thinking about getting a job. But, before I go job hunting, we'll have to figure out just how we are going to manage things here at home."

"I know you like to relax in the evenings and on weekends — but if I work the same hours you do, we'll have to divide up the housework in order to get it all done at night and on weekends."

"I suppose we can both use our lunch hours to do the errands I've always had time to do."

"We won't be able to entertain at home as often as we do now — but I guess that's not too important, is it?"

"We'll both have to devote more time to the children when we are at home — if I'm going to be gone all day — but then we can use our Saturday afternoons to do things as a family instead of your playing golf."

"Oh, I'm sure we can manage. It's just a question of working out a completely new routine."

One evening of that kind of talk ought to make any well-looked-after husband decide maybe he — and not the man with the working wife — is the lucky one.

Mrs. Boynton Tells Christmas Story at Garden Club Party

Twenty-four members of Pampa Garden Club enjoyed a Christmas party recently in the gaily decorated home of Mrs. Lee Harrah.

Mrs. W. R. Campbell, introduced by Mrs. John Sweeney, program leader, gave the story of "The Little Woodcarver."

Following the program gifts were exchanged from a large red tree that dominated the living room.

Mrs. Harrah and Mrs. Fred Cary, hostesses served refreshments from a table covered with a pink organdy cloth and centered with pink tapers arranged with yule ornaments.

Uncle Sam Will Take More Taxes, But Readers Can Save

EDITOR'S NOTE: Ray De Crane is the Nation's foremost newspaper authority on income tax matters. His book, "Cut Your Own Taxes" helped nearly a half million persons save on their personal income taxes last year.

By RAY DE CRANE
NEA Special Writer

That tax man will be digging into your pocket deeper than usual after Jan. 1.

No one will be spared. Shed a tear, too, for the bootblack, the barber, the manicurist and the cab driver. Uncle Sam will be standing alongside him with his hand out whenever a trip is received.

The first blow will be struck on the first payday of the new year.

year. Don't demand the paymaster correct his errors when you get your first peek at the 1966 check. Chances are he has not made a mistake. The big deduction is due to the increased Social Security tax bite brought on by the adoption of Medicare in the last session of Congress.

Instead of a 3 1/2 per cent Social Security tax on the first $4,800 of earnings you will be taxed 4 1/2 per cent on the first $6,000.

Persons earning $6,000 or more in 1966 will pay a total of $277.20 in Social Security tax next year. That is an increase of $103.20 over the 1965 take or just about $2 more each week. Beginning on Jan. 1 tip income will be subject to both withholding tax and Social Security taxes.

Whenever an employee receives $20 or more in tips in a month he must account to his employer his total tip income by the 10th of the succeeding month.

The employer will then have to deduct the withholding tax and Social Security tax from the employee's earnings. The employer is not required, however, to match the Social Security tax on the tip income as he is required to do on regular wages and salary.

Failure of the employee to make a timely and accurate report to his employer makes him liable for a penalty equal to 50 per cent of the tax due on the unreported income.

Tax expert Ray De Crane's series of tax-saving tips will appear in The Pampa News early next year. An expanded version of the series will be available soon in book form.

Early birds who want to get the jump on Uncle Sam by filing early and getting any refunds due them ahead of the pack should order De Crane's all-new, highly informative booklet. You can get the "Cut Your Own Taxes" book by filling out and mailing the order form shown below.

De Crane's 64-page book is a step-by-step guide to understanding the new tax law and payment schedules. So don't overpay! Send for De Crane today and let him help you cut your own taxes.

The employer, of course, will have to furnish both the employee and Internal Revenue Service with a complete accounting of the tip income, Social Security and withholding taxes paid on it.

This unquestionably means that more tips will be reported on next year's income tax returns than ever before.

This is just the first of the bitter tax pills to be taken in 1966.

In many areas of the country renewed attempts are being made to equalize the real estate tax burden between commercial - industrial property and residential property.

As the valuation of commercial - residential property is lowered home values have to be increased in order to provide the same number of tax dollars. The only other alternative is to increase the tax rate. In either event the outlook is for higher real estate taxes.

Add to this the frantic popularity of the city and state income tax throughout the country as harried administrators pressed for more services from their citizens seek out ways to provide the funds to perform them.

It's no wonder that an IRS official in Washington recently commented to the writer: "Tax news is exceeded in public interest only by news of politics and military affairs. He may not realize it but the average man works two full months of the year just to pay his taxes."

Answer to Previous Puzzle

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

United Press International WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Christmas gift that I liked best this year was an appointment calendar with engagements for the entire year already filled in.

It was given to me by my wife, who set up my 1966 schedule along these lines:

Jan. 1 —Get up early and fix breakfast for children so wife can sleep late.

Jan. 2 —Take wife out to dinner.

Jan. 3 —Stop on way home from work and buy flowers for wife.

And so on.

Gaps Needed

Fortunately, she left a few days open. I expect to be pretty busy next year and I will need all the free time I can get.

In order to use it to the maximum advantage, I have gone through the calendar and filled in the dates she left blank.

January —Call LBJ and give him benefit of thinking on Viet Nam situation. Also recommend someone for new cabinet post. Continue negotiations re-hiring Rene Verdon as personal chef.

February —Make Lincoln's Birthday speech before joint session of Congress. Find new boy friends of Lynda and Luci. Climb Mt. Everest.

March —Offer advice to HHH on how to keep name before public. Continue negotiations re-buying New York Yankees from CBS. Make secret mission for CA to straighten-out situation in Dominican Republic.

April —Begin rehearsals for role of "Hamlet" in Broadway revival. Continue negotiations re-buying Mona Lisa to hang in study. Start training for next Olympics.

Leisurely Pace

May —Fly to London for Princess Margaret's party. Finish best-selling novel. Continue negotiations re-acquiring controlling interest in General Motors.

RADIO PROPAGANDA

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Russia and Red China are spending large sums of money broadcasting propaganda to the United States, but the listening audience is small, according to the director of the Voice of America.

John Chancellor, head of the agency, said the Moscow and Peking programs were effective in some parts of the world but not in North America, although the two nations are spending "a great deal of money" on the shows.

KOREAN RE-ELECTED

SEOUL (UPI) —The ruling Democratic Republican party Monday re-elected President Park Chung-hee as the party's supreme leader.

Park was unanimously re-elected at an annual two-day party convention which opened in Seoul's Citizens Hall.

Old Faces in New Places

By STEVE SNIDER
UPI Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UPI) — The "new faces" in the world of sports in 1965 were led by some old faces in new places.

No. 1 was Bullet Bob Hayes, the world's fastest human and an Olympian of world renown. He turned out to be quite a pro football player with the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League.

Close behind came a fellow Olympian, 200-meter champ and world record-holder Henry Carr. Henry made it as a classy defensive back with the New York Giants.

Adding to great amateur reputations were pro football rookies Gale Sayers and Dick Butkus of the Chicago Bears and Joe (400,000) Namath of the New York Jets.

Randy Matson, 20 year-old strong man from Texas A. and M., became the biggest name in track and field as one of the biggest participants (255 pounds). He tossed the shot 70 feet, seven inches.

In baseball, the rookie derby was led by Marcelino Lopez and Jose Cardenal of the California Angels, Curt Blefary of the Baltimore Orioles and Joe Morgan of the Houston Astros.

Smacked 22 Homers
Lopez wound up 14-13 for his freshman year and Cardenal batted .270 with 37 stolen bases. Blefary poled 22 homers and Morgan hit .271 with 14 homers.

Jose Torres became a new face in boxing's world title ranks when he belted over Willie Pastrano for the lightweight championship.

Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa., a new hot foot in auto racing, finished third behind Scotland's Jimmy Clark and veteran Parnelli Jones in the 500-miler at Indianapolis. Then he went on to win the national big car championship which had been the property of A. J. Foyt for four straight years.

No rookie golfer recorded a victory on the PGA circuit this year but Homero Blancas was the biggest money winner among the frosh indicated he's here to stay awhile.

Bob Murphy of Nichols, Fla., won the U.S. amateur golf crown on his first try. Carol Mann, a 6-3 swinger from Towson, Md., won the women's U.S. Open and school-teacher Jean Ashley of Chanute, Kans., scored in the women's amateur.

Thorpe Crown to Jim Brown; Third Time for Big Fullback

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
Sports Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) — Jimmy Brown of the Cleveland Browns — you might as well be saying John Jacob Astor of the New York Astors. Football-wise.

The incomparable fullback of the defending champions of the National Football League today was named the winner of the 11th annual Jim Thorpe Trophy by Newspaper Enterprise Association.

The award symbolizes the most valuable player in the league and is voted by his peers, the men on the active rosters of the 14 NFL teams. This is the third time Brown has been named to the high honor in a record-filled career that now spans nine years.

Brown first gained the pinnacle of the players' esteem in 1958 and again in 1963, when he tied for the trophy with Y. A. Tittle of the New York Giants.

The trophy presentation will be made to Jimmy on a special one-half hour telecast over the Columbia Broadcasting System preceding the championship game on Jan. 2. The program will also feature this year's NEA All-Pro team.

In the voting, the Cleveland fullback more than doubled the total of his nearest competitor, injured John Unitas of Baltimore.

"Everyone besides Brown is in a different league," noted kicking specialist Jim Bakken of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Although the players are prohibited from voting for their own teammates, linebacker Jim Houston of the Browns couldn't refrain from commenting.

"There is really only one man to consider—Jim Brown!" He is the irreplaceable man of the top team in the Eastern Division of the NFL. Never injured, indestructible, at the age of 29 he thrives in the benevolent climate brought to the Browns three years ago by head coach Blanton Collier.

With option blocking, giving Jimmy the choice of running to daylight, he stretched his NFL rushing record to 12,312 yards (almost seven miles) in a typical campaign in which he gained 1,544 yards. Versatile Jimmy was also on the catching end of 34 passes and scored a career high of 21 touchdowns.

It looks as though he gets up more slowly than he ever did and walks back to the huddle in that painful shuffle, but when he's turned loose with the ball, there's no difference in Jimmy Brown. With remarkable balance, a quick burst of speed and a lunge of brute power, he awes all of football. In a showing of NFL film highlights, the virtuosity of Brown brings applause from the most sophisticated audiences.

Unitas, a past winner of the Jim Thorpe Trophy, also drew support because it was evident how much he meant to the Baltimore Colts when they toppled out of the Western Division lead after he injured his knee.

John Brodie of the San Francisco Forty-Niners was a surprise third. "With the help of some running backs," wrote Monte Clark of the Cleveland Browns, "John showed what he always has had." Namely, a precision passing arm.

A fine season for Pete Retzlaff, the 33-year-old tight end of the Philadelphia Eagles, received mention.

"I know he is a teammate," said quarterback Norm Sneed, who brackets Pete as his favorite target, "but he is a fantastic

Sports Hall of Fame To Install 4 Members At Friday Luncheon
DALLAS (UPI) — The Texas Sports Hall of Fame will add four new honorees Friday at its annual luncheon, at which the two Cotton Bowl football teams will be guests.

Coach Frank Broyles of Southwest Conference champion Arkansas and Coach Charles McClendon of Louisiana State, the two bowl rivals, will sit at the head table in the Sheraton Dallas luncheon.

The hall will add jockey Willie Shoemaker, baseball great Mike (Pinky) Higgins, former Texas Christian football star Raymond (Rags) Matthews and the late Ben Lee Boynton, first Texan ever to gain the football All-America.

The luncheon, part of Cotton Bowl Week, usually attracts a crowd of more than 1,000 and is open to the general public.

football player and had a great year."

There was one final flip which should be noted. Paul Wiggins, Cleveland's defensive end, made a pitch for Leo Murphy. Leo didn't get into a single play this year.

"He's the Browns' trainer," explained Wiggins, "and deserves it—for keeping us in one piece."

Chicago Bears Withdraw From 'Money Derby'

CHICAGO (UPI) — Owner-coach George Halas of the Chicago Bears announced today the team was withdrawing from pro football's "money derby" and offered rights to the club's No. 1 draft selection to any National Football League team.

Halas said the negotiating rights to Louisiana State tackle George Rice were available to any team "which might be interested."

"The Bears are withdrawing from the money derby, which is getting ridiculous and is not conducive to good squad morale," he said.

Halas said he will work out a trade for the rights, perhaps a future draft choice "or something."

Halas said the Bears "found out what the other fellow was offering and it's beyond reason."

It was obvious that Rice's demands were the factor which induced Halas to give up on his attempts to sign the 250-pound tackle.

Rice was drafted by Houston in the rival American Football League, and the Oilers bid high for No. 1 pick Tommy Nobis of Texas before losing him to the NFL's new Atlanta team.

BRITISH SOCCER
LONDON (UPI) — Leeds United scored a 1-0 English soccer league victory over Liverpool Monday, snapping Liverpool's 10-game winning streak, on a goal by Peter Lorimer in the 15th minute.

Rags to Riches LSU Leaves For Cotton Bowl

The following is the 11th of 12 dispatches on the college football bowl teams.

Louisiana State
By ROBERT CAREY
United Press International

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — Louisiana State's improbable Tigers, a most unlikely candidate for any bowl in mid-November, leave for Dallas tomorrow to cap a rags to riches season against mighty Arkansas in the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day.

The 1965 football season for LSU has been a study in sharp contrasts. First there was the elation supplied by a murderous power display in opening season victories. Then the despair wrought in successive floggings by arch-rivals Ole Miss and Alabama, followed by a happy upswing in two final triumphs to close regular season play.

The Tigers had been pre-season co-favorites in the Southeastern Conference and looked the part perfectly on paper. No other team in the South could match the Tigers in experience and depth. With every position, the 1965 Sugar Bowl champions looked like good bets to make this the best season yet for coach Charlie McClendon.

They very nearly lost it all despite a respectable 7-3 season.

Stokely Hurt
What nearly became a disastrous year for the Tigers began in the Ole Miss game. Early in the first quarter, sophomore quarterback Nelson Stokely started up field, turned sharply in typical fashion but fell abruptly when something snapped in his knee.

He was gone for the season and for a while the Tigers lost their poise and winning ways. With Stokely, the man who could do everything, missing, Ole Miss choked off LSU's power attack cold and mopped the field with them 23-0.

Next week Alabama, then gaining steam, caught the Stokely-less Tigers boot low and thoroughly whipped them on the ground and in the air, 31-7.

These two losses coupled with a 14-7 loss to Florida in the third game of the season were enough to start the head hunters grumbling. Rumors increased that coach Charlie McClendon was under fire. The second task may be the most difficult. Green Bay fought it out in a hard-belted contest for its come-from-behind win in a grueling defensive battle with a drive that was almost awe-inspiring to the Browns, who have understandably let down a little in the five weeks since their Eastern Division crown was wrapped up.

Cleveland's biggest gun, Jim Brown, said the Green Bay victory was the best thing to get the Browns working hard. A Baltimore win, he said, might have had the Browns taking their quarterback situation into consideration.

"Now we know we have to prepare ourselves completely," Brown said.

For the title game Cleveland will be able to boast of something that has evaded it all this season. Every key player will be available for action.

Packers Enjoy Tree—Even If It's Day Late

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) — Christmas — a green one — came one day late for the Green Bay Packers Sunday, all because Zeke Bratkowski preferred not to make mistakes.

"We just tried not to beat ourselves," said the journey-second time this year was man quarterback, who for the pressed into action in a crucial game against the Baltimore Colts, and who for the second time became a hero.

"We just didn't want to make a mistake that would give them a short field goal. So we stuck to the basics," Bratkowski said.

The basics — straight ahead plays and simple pass patterns — set up Don Chandler's 25-yard field goal after 13 minutes and 39 seconds of sudden death overtime and propelled Green Bay into next Sunday's national football league showdown against the Cleveland Browns. Chandler's 22-yard boot with less than two minutes to play forced the overtime. His game winning kick was "the greatest thrill" of his 10-year NFL career, he said.

"This wasn't my first overtime game," Chandler said, thinking of the 1958 game in which the Colts beat the Giants 23-17 for the NFL title. "But the results were better."

Lombardi, who was a Giants' coach in that first overtime game, gave his team Monday and Tuesday off before beginning preparations for the Browns. The Packers normally begin the practice week on Tuesday.

"I'm happy," Lombardi growled. "There's nothing else to say. I have a great deal of admiration for everyone on the Colts team. Without the horses, without a quarterback, they did a great job."

Colts Lost Game, But Win Honors For Team Spirit

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) — Tight-lipped Don Shula knew he wouldn't be coaching a National Football League champion this year, but he was determined to bow out like one.

Shula, after guiding the Baltimore Colts to the Western Division title a year ago, saw his team lose a chance to repeat Sunday in the most heart-breaking fashion — a sudden death overtime in which the Green Bay Packers defeated Baltimore in the individual playoff 13-10.

He locked the dressing room door to newsmen for nearly 20 minutes.

"I told them I couldn't be prouder of them," Shula said. "I talked to them, told them we can hold our heads high. They gave everything they had. We gave them our one big shot, but what can you say after you play a team three times in one season and lose all three?"

Shula said Matte, who hadn't played quarterback since his days at Ohio State, "didn't botch a handoff or miff a signal all day, despite the fact he never played the position as a pro until last week."

Matte, who passed for 40 yards and ran for 57 more, said he thought his teammates, "played a great ball game, but Green Bay played a better one."

"If we couldn't make it ourselves, I hope the Packers beat Cleveland next week to bring the title back to the Western Division," he said.

EVEN THE CAVEMEN USED 'EM

Fish Really Go for Spoon Feeding

Few fishermen have yet to discover the fish-getting properties of the common metal spoon.

Lures of this type have long been favorites for many species of game fish. Trout, bass, walleye and the "pan" varieties regularly succumb to the enticements of a flashing spoon.

Pike are the best "patsies" for a spoon hand-out. A red and white chunk of glittering metal practically drives a "northern" wild, and has really earned the reputation it possesses in pike country.

Just why a nondescript bit of painted or hammered brass performs so well is a mystery. But perform it has...for centuries.

Exactly when the spoon was invented is not known. Archaeologists have unearthed artifacts of primitive cultures that may have been the forerunners of today's lures.

Historians have definitely shown the use of spoons fashioned from shells as preferred producers for many peoples whose livelihood and survival depended on the sea.

In the United States, spoons have been on the commercial scene since 1848, when a Vermont angler named Julio Buel first detected the appeal of small pieces of bright metal to fish, when he accidentally dropped a tablespoon into the drink and a fish made a pass at it.

The result was the depletion of the Buel household's stock of spoons and the introduction of effective "store-bought" lures to fishermen.

The popularity of red and white spoons in Canada is amazing, but the results produced quickly make believers out of doubters. In other waters, different patterns enjoy the limelight.

The moral of any discussion on spoons: use 'em.

The Pampa Daily News A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Now that the principle of separation of church and state has been broken down in the federal school aid bill, there is a campaign under way to persuade various parochial schools they should apply for some of that "free" tax money that is being doled out.

One can sympathize with the church people who are paying taxes to finance government schools and who have been paying additional fees to finance their own church schools. They are in effect paying twice for the training of their children and if federal taxpayer funds are to be distributed to the government schools, some of them believe some of them should go to help the parochial and other voluntary non-tax supported schools.

Currently, we hear from the school hierarchy that there will be no federal controls attached to the federal handouts. This is an old story that has been refuted many times. Yet it continues to be repeated by the bureaucracy.

Only a week or two ago, the Chicago tax-supported school system had a demonstration of the controls.

Chicago school people had rejected a personal questionnaire which the U. S. Department of Education had passed out. They also had not been moving as rapidly as some of the hierarchy had demanded in eliminating "de facto segregation."

Whether it was for one reason or the other, the federal bureaucrats chopped off the federal tax money and the Chicago

Sensing The News By THURMAN SENSING

Peace, Freedom and Good Will Though the United States is deeply committed in South Viet Nam, and Christmas Day found thousands of American soldiers fighting for their lives on various distant battlefields, the American people remain as dedicated as ever to the Christian hope of Peace on Earth, good will to men.

There is nothing contradictory about struggling for freedom and desiring peace and harmony in this world. Indeed an era of true peace and good will could never be achieved if men of religious faith failed to demonstrate courage as citizens.

Last Christmas the communists decided that they would attempt to usurp the "peace" theme, and they put out propaganda saying that intervention in Viet Nam was inconsistent with the Christian faith. This deceitful line proved to be a failure, however. Millions of good churchmen in the United States clearly understand that they have a moral obligation to resist communist aggression.

Nevertheless, one can expect leftists to use this line again this year. Indeed the leftists never lose an opportunity to try to enlist Christian symbols and teachings in their unworthy cause of advocating surrender. This means that church people have to be alert to the dangers of deceit.

One of the questions written on placards carried by peace-niks is: "Would Christ have carried a draft card?" Well, if one looks at the Gospels, one clearly sees that Jesus Christ was NOT a preacher of anarchism nor civil disobedience. He clearly recognized a man's obligations to society. Nor did Jesus Christ urge peace at any price. His was not a gospel of appeasement of evil.

Now our civilization recognizes that communism is an evil. In South Viet Nam, for example, communism is a synonym for terrorism, torture and the suppression of freedom. Thus it would be a betrayal of Christian values for the American people to bow to the will of communism in Southeast Asia, or anywhere else in the world.

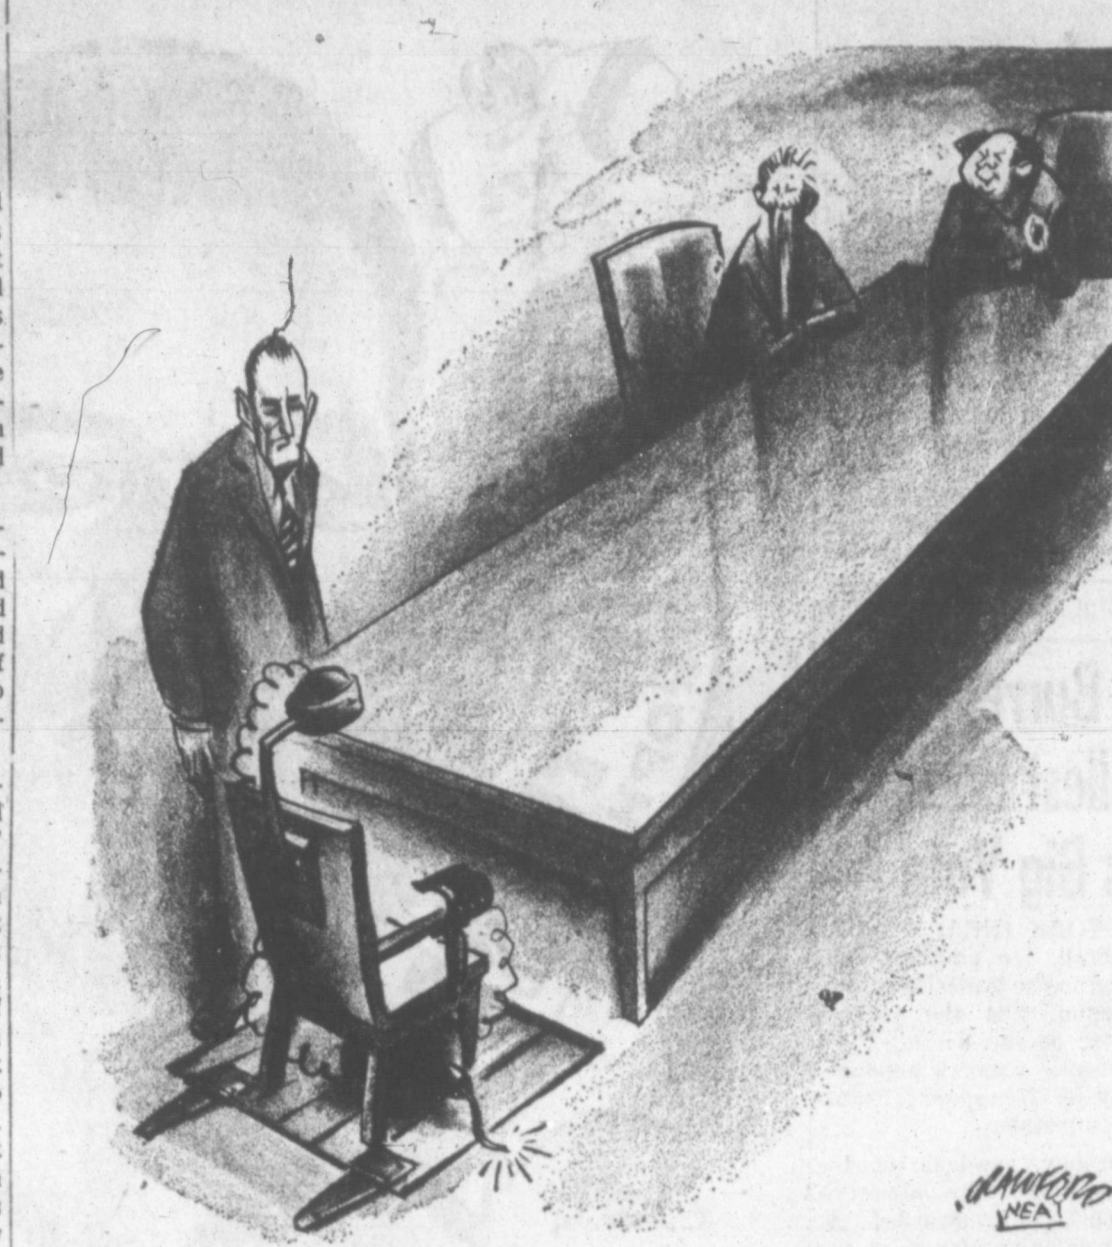

Another tricky line that one hears in some quarters these days is that we must not think of God as being on our side. Assuredly, God is the God of all people on this planet. But it is a mistake to accept the tricky notion that God is neutral on questions of good and evil, that God is approving of evil forces as He is of good forces in the world. Christians always have believed, and with justice, that there are forces working for good in this world and forces working for evil.

The whole communist conception of society and history is contrary to everything that Christianity teaches. As the United States is fighting and sacrificing to reduce the influence of the communist world, it is working against evil. Thus Americans have every right to call on God to support their just cause on the battlefields of this world.

The word "peace" is bandied about by people who actually mean surrender. These types attempt to make the defenders of freedom appear to be warmongers and moral monsters. But the moral monsters are those who would impose on their fellows the peace of slavery. That isn't the peace that Christians desire. Indeed that kind of empty peace can be obtained any time any country is attacked by a brutal tyrant.

Christ did not seek that kind of peace in his own time among men on earth. Jesus scorned a peace that meant a betrayal of all that He knew to be true. Therefore, Christ set an example to his followers in time to come — to strive for the peace that represents freedom. No other kind of peace is worth having.

"Have a Seat, We'll Talk Peace!"

Backstage Washington Increasing Soviet Jet Bomber Flights Threaten Coming Raids on Crowded South Viet Nam Harbors

WASHINGTON — A new Communist threat is ominously looming in the embattled skies over Viet Nam.

Soviet-built medium-range jet bombers, capable of striking clogged U. S. shipping in South Viet Nam's harbors, are undergoing apparent intensive training maneuvers between Nanning, China, and Hanoi.

In flashing sweeps of this area, U. S. reconnaissance pilots report sighting as many as a dozen Red bombers, with MIG-21 escorts, operating from the North Vietnamese-Chinese airfields at the same time.

Although these 500 to 700 mph bombers and their MIG escorts take swift evasive action and avoid contact when U. S. planes come within range, there is mounting concern among the Joint Chiefs of Staff that the Red bomber flights are forerunners of coming raids against U. S. installations in South Viet Nam.

Naval authorities in Saigon and Hawaii are alerting ships and shore units to be on guard against sneak attacks at the ports of Cam Ranh Bay, Nha Trang, and Da Nang. The Quang Tri — where more than 50 ships are waiting to have military, ammunition and other combat cargoes unloaded for the expanding operations in South Viet Nam.

These bulging ports, despite hastily thrown-together air defenses, are extremely vulnerable targets for another Pearl Harbor because of their exposed facilities and massed shipping. Also, warehouses bursting at the seams with military supplies and petroleum products, including jet fuel, occupy thousands of acres near these harbors and anchorages.

Question Box

QUESTION: "Since you believe that the worse things get, the sooner will people make a change (I have understood this from statements you have made, and your no-voting advocacy confirms it,) why do you preach against the evils of government? Why don't you promote them and thereby encourage the speed up of the worsening process?"

Around the World

By ROBERT MORRIS The significance of the 47 to 47 vote in the United Nations to admit Red China and to expel the Republic of China is ominous. Few people realize the consequences of what admission of Red China would mean.

The talk of Red China in the UN being subject to control is visionary. Red China is becoming more, not less, truculent as it approaches admission strength. If Red China gets into the UN, under the framework of the tie vote it will occupy one of the Big Five seats. That means it has the veto power over the whole Security Council! It would have a permanent seat on the World Court, its personnel would pour into the Secretariat. With present Communist strength, the enthroning of Red China in the Security Council would be a large step toward Soviet control over the UN itself.

But it could also lead to the crushing of Free China and any hope of resistance and liberation all over Asia. In all likelihood, most of Asia would sink into a political quagmire. With Formosa lost as a military base, with the offshore bastions of Quemoy and Matsu lost, the Philippines would be outflanked and undermined.

The trouble is that the spokesmen at the UN who recognize these dangers are few and far between. Those who are willing to express this point of view do not have access to communications outlets and the opposition is inundating the press with sheer sophisms.

The next vote is a year away. The strategy of the Johnson administration in 1965 was to insist that the admission of Red China was an important question, requiring a two-thirds vote. It won this, but now the "inevitability" sophism is undermining all of that. I believe we need a new basic approach. The Republic of China is expressly given a seat in the Security Council of the UN by the Charter itself, (art. 23). Amendments to the Charter must be approved by all permanent members and admission of new states is subject to veto by the Security Council.

The admission of Red China is far more substantive than the admission of Tanzania or of the Cook Islands. We should be stressing that — and a good legal case can indeed be made — that Red China's admission is subject to Big Power veto and that would stop the imminent disaster. The US or the Republic of China could exercise its legal veto.

But a whole educational campaign should be begun now, world-wide. The Committee of One Million, which Walter Judd and Charles Edson and others have been maintaining, should be supported, dramatically. The Time Is Now, not next August when the dirty work will have been done in the Whisper Chambers of the world.

Charles Goodyear, mid-19th century inventor, discovered the process of vulcanization of rubber by accident. In 1837, while experimenting for a way to commercialize rubber, he dropped some India rubber mixed with sulphur on a hot stove. His invention and its patent were infringed upon so many times that others made millions from it while Goodyear died penniless.
