URGE NOMINEE BE DECLARED ON RETURNS

MANDAMUS SOUGHT TO INSURE COMMITTEE FUNCTIONING

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Sept. 7.—Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, apparent Democratic nominee for governor of Texas, today sought help of the supreme court in an effort to have the vote of the August primary canvassed and the result declared according to state election laws.

She filed an application for mandamus to compel W. O. Huggins chairman and the members of the state Democratic executive committee to tabulate the returns according to reports made to them and recommend the candidate receiving the greatest number of votes to the state party convention as the nominee.

Hearing Set

The court ordered the petition for application set down for hearing next Friday.

The executive committee meets at Lubbock next Monday and the convention will assemble on Tuesday.

James E. Ferguson, husband of the gubernatorial candidate who semi-official returns showed, had obtained a majority of the votes cast as between her and Governor R. S. Sterling for the nomination, said the proceeding was to insure functioning of the party executive committee according to law.

"This action was taken in view of the public statement of the governor that he would be nominated at Lubbock and that he would be elected governor," Ferguson said.

Governor Sterling's friends were preparing to contest the nomination of Mrs. Ferguson, should the executive committee and the convention declare her the nominee on face of the returns.

He claimed he had obtained a majority of the votes "legally cast." He asserted that he had obtained information and evidence that convinced him thousands of persons ineligible to participate had taken part in the Democratic primaries.

Ferguson explained his court action was taken to insure compliance with the election laws in the matter of canvassing the primary election returns and reporting to the convention.

In view of the undisputed returns which show that my wife received a clear majority of something over 3,800 votes, and in view of the statement of the governor and po-

Whether the Rangers are to be in Lubbock on official or unofficial business was a question but it was intimated they might be on hand to quell any disturbances that might arise in the convention sessions or thereabouts.

Clergyman Sought In Abduction

GIRL SCHOOL TEACHER MISSING FOR SECOND TIME IN ONE WEEK

(By The Associated Press)

OTTAWA, Ill., Sept. 7—La Salle county authorities were searching today for a 22-year-old country school teacher who was reported missing for the second time within a week.

Meanwhile, Sheriff E. J. Welter said he held a warrant sworn out by the girl's brother charging William Courtney, 40, described by the sheriff as being a Catholic priest at Alexis, Ill., with having kidnaped her.

The teacher, Collette Haley, yesterday started her second year as teacher of the rural school in Eagle township. Pupils reported that she left the school during the afternoon session with a man who had called her from the classroom.

The warrant charging kidnaping was issued by Justice of the Peace Frank McGrath on complaint of James F. Haley of Streator, the girl's brother, the sheriff said.

Miss Haley returned to her home in Streator Sunday after what the sheriff described as an unexplained absence of several days during which she was reported missing by members of her family.

LOCAL PUBLIC SCHOOLS ARE UNDER WAY

FALL SESSION OPENS TODAY AS WEATHER CUTS ATTENDANCE

Hundreds of pupils bustled at all of Lubbock's public schools today as they enrolled and were assigned their first lessons of the fall term. School officials said they believed numbers of youngsters were not present today because of inclement weather which had handicapped registration since last week.

Figures could not be obtained this morning on school enrollment and even approximations were not possible at some schools, it was said. Central Ward school reported about 280 attending as compared to a normal attendance of about 400. About 350 were at Geo. M. Hunt school.

Enrollment at senior high school was 1,018 Tuesday afternoon. Principal Carroll Thompson of junior high school reported about 1,015 students in junior high school, divided as follows: Eighth grade, 275; seventh, 365; sixth, 375. Additional enrollment at the school in grades one through five, totaled 225, he said.

There will be no general assembly of students this week, the first as-

British Novelist Claimed By Death

LONDON, Sept. 7 (AP)—Sir Gilbert Parker, 69, noted British novelist and for ten years a member of the famous motion picture writers' colony at Los Angeles, died here of a heart attack last night.

More than 30 years his name figured from time to time among the best sellers and in the United States he was best known, perhaps for his novel, "The Right of Way," the motion picture production of which he also arranged.

The father, Hubert Johnson Jenkins, electrical engineer of Louisville, Ky., came here last week and was allowed to see the boy several times.

SENATE PROBE OF PRIMARY DELAYED

COMMITTEE POSTPONES RESOLUTION ASKING FOR INVESTIGATION

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Sept. 7.—The Texas senate affairs committee voted today, 9 to 6, to postpone indefinitely a resolution calling for a senate committee investigation of the recent Democratic primary.

Proponents of the resolution, still unwilling to give up the fight, said they would move to have the senate instruct the committee to report the proposal.

Compromise Talked

The senate voted yesterday 15 to 10 to refer again the matter to committee. Talk of a possible compromise was heard but little effort was made in the committee meeting this morning to effect such a compromise.

Soon after the session began, Senator Walter Woodul of Houston, co-author of the resolution, moved that the proposal be reported favorably. Senator Archie Parr of Benavides proposed as a substitute that consideration of the resolution be postponed indefinitely.

Senator Williamson asked Senator Parr to withdraw his motion so that a substitute might be made that a sub-committee rewrite the resolution, but Senator Parr declined.

Senator Woodul asserted the Democratic party could never be jeopardized by finding out the true situation existing in any primary. "If the Democratic party winks at fraud now, it will wink at it two years hence and the party's position will be weakened," Senator Woodul said.

Woodul and Thomason explained that charges of fraud had been hurled by both factions in the close heated governor's race.

Conflicting Stories Puzzle Police Investigation Of Paul Bern Suicide

JEAN HARLOW, PLATINUM BLONDE BRIDE OF VICTIM, CANNOT EXPLAIN MOTIVE FOR ACT; FAREWELL NOTE FAILS TO REVEAL ANY REASON

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 7.—Conflicting stories of week-end events which preceded the discovery of the body of Paul Bern, film producer and husband of Jean Harlow, platinum blonde screen star, confused police investigation of the apparent suicide today.

David A. Davidson, head of the police homicide squad, said he was dissatisfied with the progress his men have made in the case and, pending the inquest tomorrow, he would again question domestic help of the producer. The inspector of detectives said the servants' accounts differ as to the events of Saturday and Sunday.

The unclothed body of Bern, 42, was found by John Carmichael, butler, Monday in the dressing room of his home. A pistol, one chamber discharged, was gripped in Bern's right hand and a bullet wound was in the head. A note signed "Paul," addressed to "Dearest Dear" and confessing a "frightful wrong" lay near a picture of Miss Harlow.

Carmichael said the producer dined with Miss Harlow, his bride of two months, Saturday evening, but Harold A. Garrison, chauffeur, told police his employer left the film studios in Culver City and drove to the Ambassador hotel a few minutes after 6 p. m. Garrison further declared Miss Harlow was at the home of her mother both Saturday and Sunday evenings.

Miss Harlow was questioned by police last night after they had been forced to wait for more than 24 hours due to her hysterical conditions.

"I can't understand why this terrible thing should have happened," she said. "As for the note left by Paul, I have no idea what it means. This 'frightful wrong' he apparently believed he had done me is all a mystery. I can't imagine what it means.

"Paul often talked to me of suicide as a general topic, but never once did he intimate that he himself contemplated such an act. There was nothing between us that I can think of that would have caused him to do this."

Oil Sand Found In Archer City Test

ARCHER CITY, Tex., Sept. 7 (AP)—Oil sand was encountered today at 1,130 feet in the Helena Oil and Gas Company's No. 1 M. B. Ray test well on the William Henry survey one mile northeast of Archer City. After drilling seven feet deeper, oil began to flow from the top of the casing. The well was located in wildcat territory and if it lives up to expectations, will open a new field. It will be the closest producer to Archer City.

Education To Be Traded For Food

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz., Sept. 7 (AP)—A bushel of potatoes, a bale of hay, a crate of eggs, a bag of oats—anything that is food for man or beast—will be acceptable at the Northern Arizona State Teachers' college this fall in lieu of cash for board and room and books for farmers' sons and daughters.

Dr. Gray Gammage, president of the school, announced the barter policy today.

KNAPP CHOSEN CONDUCTOR

TECH PRESIDENT WILL BE IN CHARGE OF NEXT INSTITUTE

Dr. Bradford Knapp, Texas Technological college president, was named conductor of the 1933 South Plains Teachers institute at the final session this morning at Lubbock high school. The instructors, who have been here since Monday, voted to hold the next session in Lubbock.

Because of weather conditions, final divisional programs were held at the school, instead of at Texas Tech as originally slated. Dr. A. W. Evans, retiring conductor, said. Doctor Evans estimated that between 750 and 800 teachers registered, and that at least 250 did not sign.

Dr. B. F. Pittenger of the University of Texas discussed "Education for Culture," and President Knapp spoke on "Education a Preparation for Life" at this morning's general meeting. President J. A. Hill of West Texas State Teachers college, Canyon, discussed "The Education Crisis in Texas and What the State Teachers Association Is Doing to Meet It." A round-table discussion of effects of cotton picking on the schools was led by E. P. Reeves, Acuff school official.

Schenck Freed Of Blame In Kidnaping

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7, (AP)—J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the justice department's bureau of investigation, said today a federal inquiry had disclosed no connection between the kidnaping of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, jr., and Garrett Schenck, Hopewell, N. J., fish peddler.

Schenck claimed he was held a prisoner in a mountain cabin near Johnstown, Pa., for 76 days by a private investigator in the Lindbergh case, before Johnstown police effected his release.

"MA'S" LEAD SET AT 3,870 VOTES

DALLAS, Sept. 7 (AP)—Final returns to the Texas Election bureau give Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson a majority of 3,870 votes over R. S. Sterling for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

The bureau last night tabulated returns from the 13 counties which were late in sending reports after last Saturday's canvass of the vote by county committees. The final figures were: Mrs. Ferguson 477,844; Governor Sterling 473,974.

"WHO BUT HOOVER?" IS SELECTED AS SLOGAN FOR REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Sept. 7—An average of 13 persons a week write or telegraph Republican campaign headquarters here that they think "Who but Hoover?" would be a very apt campaign slogan.

The Republican leaders think so to; in fact they adopted it many weeks ago. But still the letters, many of them hinting that financial remuneration would be acceptable, continue to pour in.

"About 5,000 slogans have been submitted to various state and national Republican campaign offices since last June. Some of the slogan writers represent advertising or printing companies looking for business, but the majority of them "just thought them up at dinner last night."

The man who claims to have coined the famous phrase, "Keep Cool with Coolidge," in 1924 is back with another suggestion. He is William H. McMasters of Cambridge, Mass., and this year he submitted, "It's over; thank Hoover," explaining he means Hoover has ended the depression.

The quotation, "don't swap horses in the middle of the stream," has prompted sloganeers to suggest "Don't change doctors in a crisis," "Don't rock the boat," and "don't drop the pilot."

Slogan writers have written

McKEE PRUNES SALARIES

GOTHAM MAYOR TAKES PAY CUT WITH OTHER EMPLOYES OF CITY

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 7—Joseph McKee, mayor less than a week, pulled tight today the purse strings of "six years of spending," as he called it, slicing $15,000 a year from his own $40,000 salary and setting a $12,000 a year maximum for other offices under his control.

By these salaries slashes and allied economies he said an annual saving of $2,000,000 a year would be effected.

Limit Is Set

City employes receiving $2,000 a year or less are to be protected in their present incomes, he said.

In some cases, the pay cut amounts to more than 50 per cent. That is true of the corporation counsel and superintendent of schools, each of whom now receives $25,000 a year. Dr. William Schroeder, jr., chairman of the sanitation commission and personal physician to former Mayor Walker, will be reduced to $12,000 from his present $22,500.

The heads of the police and fire departments will be reduced $3,000 a year to get within the $12,000-year-maximum.

Fifty city magistrates now receiving $12,000 may be cut to $10,000 the mayor said.

DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL HEADQUARTERS SWAMPED WITH SLOGAN SUGGESTIONS

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—An estimated 50,000 have written or come in person to Democratic national headquarters to tell how they think Franklin D. Roosevelt can be elected president with the help of their special brand of slogan, song or knickknack.

The out-of-towners are mostly content to write, or telegraph, but a large percentage of idea-inflamed New Yorkers come right into headquarters to demonstrate.

And that's where Ralph Hitchcock comes in. He listens to their songs, rolls their slogans over his tongue, looks at their cartoons, blinks non-committally at some of the strange inventions, and thanks one and all for their interest.

Filing cabinets in Hitchcock's office are crammed with the offerings, including such engines of propaganda as a transparent cake of soap enclosing a picture of the Democratic candidate and a tricky little gadget that is supposed to speak for itself, a rose on a piece of felt.

Some of the suggested slogans are: "Vote for Roosevelt and roast beef", "Reject Roosevelt, deject the public", "Make everything rosy with Roosevelt", "Vote for Roosevelt and results", "Revive with Roosevelt", and "Forget Roosevelt on election day and you forget yourself."

GERMANY ASKS EQUALITY IN ARMAMENTS

THREATENS TO RESIGN FROM CONFERENCE AND ARM ANYWAY

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, Sept. 7—A German ultimatum, anouncing she will quit the world disarmament conference unless the powers agree to grant her equality in armaments, was before the world today.

From a clear sky last night, Foreign Minister Baron Konstantin Von Neurath published the text of the government's aide memoire to France, containing its arms equality demands. The document was handed to the French ambassador more than a week ago.

To Arm Anyway

The note also suggested "confidential talks between the French and German governments." Its publication followed shortly and suddenly a statement made at Koenigsberg by Defense Minister General Kurt Von Schleicher who said if Germany is not granted arms equality she will arm anyway.

The defense minister, recognized as a power behind the Von Papen cabinet, added he meant what he said.

Foreign Minister Von Neurath said he published the text of the note to France to dispose of erroneous impressions which had got abroad and to refute charges that Germany was planning to arm to the pre-war standard.

The aide memoire was intended to be confidential, he said, but France had seen fit to communicate it to other nations. It contained nothing surprising, as the text would show, he said, and there was no intent to throw obstacles in the path of a disarmament treaty among the nations.

Tired Of Waiting

"It is useless to tell us to have patience and wait for other powers to disarm in the course of time," he said, "and that equality will duly come along, too. We have been waiting more than ten years to get our claims recognized.

"The disarmament conference has come to the point where a declaration about equality can no longer be shelved. Germany can no longer be expected to submit to discrimination which is irreconcilable with the honor and security of the nation."

GLADEWATER, Sept. 7. (AP)—An oil explosion early today critically burned Thurlow Burnett, 19, oil trucker. He was pumping waste oil from a well pit into a tank truck. BODIES FOUND TODAY AFTER LONG HUNT

THREE CHILDREN AND MOTHER DROWNED; FIFTH IS DEAD

(By The Associated Press)

ABILENE, Sept. 7.—Bodies of five persons drowned in unprecedented flood waters which are sweeping this city and vicinity were recovered today. Identity of a man who lost his life in the flood had not been determined. Bodies of Mrs. George Mullens, wife of an Ontario, Calif., dairyman, and her three young children were found in Elm Creek after an all-night search by hundreds of men and boys.

The body of the mother was found about 50 feet below an underpass on the Texas and Pacific railroad under which the four were drawn by the swirling water. Bodies of the children—Harry, 5; Ronald, 3; and Arnold, 18 months—were found lodged against a fence 250 yards farther downstream. The bodies were recovered by members of a Texas and Pacific section crew, who placed them on a handcar and started for Abilene. After a mile they were overtaken by the Texan, fast passenger train, which stopped and took the bodies aboard and brought them on to Abilene. They were being held at a local undertaking establishment pending funeral arrangements.

The husband and father, who fought desperately to save his family, was rescued after clinging to a tree for two hours.

"It's the hardest thing I ever tried to do—just lying here with them out there in that water," Mullens cried in anguish from his hospital bed.

The flood waters slightly receded today, leaving a trail of death and destruction, flooded homes and heavy property damage. A call came here this morning also from Hawley, 15 miles north of here for men and boats. Hawley is on the Clear fork of the Brazos.

The body found by relief expeditions was said to be of a man, identity of whom was not reported.

Mrs. Mullens and her children were swept to their deaths after the car in which they were returning home from a vacation in Arkansas had stalled in the stream that coursed over the highway.

It was discovered today that had

ELROY GOES ON TRIAL HERE

EVANGELIST CHARGED WITH ADULTERY IN COUNTY COURT

Two prosecution witnesses this morning testified in county court that W. E. Elroy, evangelist on trial for adultery, had told them that he and "Mrs. Etta Black had been joined by the Lord." Mrs. Black, tried a month ago for adultery, was convicted and fined $150.

Because of the huge crowd which thronged the small county courtroom this morning, the trial was to be reopened at 1:15 o'clock this afternoon in district courtroom on the third floor of the courthouse, Judge E. L. Pitts announced.

The evangelist represented himself. The case was being tried before Judge Pitts, a jury having been waived. A scattering of women and several young boys were in the courtroom. Five state and two defense witnesses had been heard when court was adjourned at noon.

One prosecution witness, Gladys Watkins, testified that after Elroy told her that he and Mrs. Black were joined "by God," Elroy asked her "not to tell." Miss Watkins told of going to Llano, where Mrs. Black and Elroy were conducting a meeting. The witness testified that the defendant and Mrs. Black slept together a part of the time.

DALLAS RETAINS TWO-GAME LEAD OVER BEAUMONT EXPORTERS

HOOKS AND SLIDES

by WILLIAM BRAUCHER

THE fact that Rogers Hornsby was cast loose by the Cubs was a great break for several major league managers. The magnates promptly signed them to long-term contracts to still any talk that Hornsby would be the next boss.

Happy With Bill

ST. LOUIS baseball writers saw Hornsby and Phil Ball, owner of the Browns, talking at the ball park. Aha! The news was relayed to the fans garnished with nice black headlines. Phil Ball called in the gentlemen of the press.

"I have just signed Bill Killefer as manager for three more years," said he. The news was carried to the clubhouse on the wings of the wind. The players danced for joy. They were happy to know that Bill would be with them three more years.

Staccato Style

OTHER members whose status was unknown were promptly called in and signed. Among these were Fonseca of the White Sox, Max Carey of the Robins, Burt Shotton of the Phils and Gabby Street of the Cards.

Another Williams

THIS Tony Freitas of the As continually kept reminding us of somebody we hadn't seen on a ball field for many years. Now and then, in the press box the question was asked. Who does this Freitas remind you of?

Finally Jimmy Isaminger, veteran Phills scribe, gave the correct answer. He said: Lefty Williams. Not southpaw Tiny Tony like Lefty in curve but in stature. And Tony needn't feel offended by that, either.

Frivolous Facts

IN accordance with our annual custom of slipping you a few quaint facts it is hereby announced that Brutus Hamilton, new track coach at California, was born at Peculiar, Mo., and that Eric McNair, shortstop of the As dwells at Complete, Miss.

The Old Fight

THAT home run of Mark Koenig's that won an important ball game for the Cubs in the ninth inning the other day, brought out an important fact: the Cubs are imbued with the old college spirit. When the ancient blind mail-meaning Koenig staggered across home plate with the winning run a dozen of his mates grabbed him, slapped him on the back, shook his hand and gave the good old Siwash yell. An inspiring spectacle as well as unusual for big leaguers.

Brooklyn? Well—

THE old baseball grapevine carries the word the that the Brooklyn ball club is about to become its natural self again and drop back to spot just out of the first division. In other words Brooklyn has been playing over its head, they would have you know.

From Uncle Wilbert

FROM Dover Hall, Ga., comes a courier bearing from Wilbert Robinson this important message: "I would like the fans of Brooklyn to know that I am pulling for Casey and sincerely wish him success. Max and I always understood each other and reading between the lines that implies it was just too bad the front office and the writers couldn't get along. I always thought he would make a good manager. That was my idea when I had him as coach. I expected him to succeed me one day and if I had my way he would not have been released as a Brooklyn coach.

Now that's that, just like old Uncle Robbie!

Canned by the front office but still rooting for the boys. And hoping that even though such a happening would cast him deeper into the shades, Flatbush comes through with a pennant in the team's first year without him.

If you have any doubts about the quality of Wilbert Robinson, prepare to shed them now. Uncle Robbie is okay.

TWENTY-FIRST TILT IS WON BY FUHR

SHIPPERS KEEP PACE BY WINNING GAME OFF GALVESTON

BY BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Oscar Fuhr, veteran Dallas portsider, turned in his twenty-first victory this season yesterday by beating Tyler, 5 to 2.

Schoolboy Rowe, Beaumont's sensational young right-hander, won his nineteenth victory when he stopped Galveston, 5 to 1.

The success of Fuhr and Rowe allowed Dallas to retain a two-game lead over the Exporters for the second half pennant, and kept Beaumont on the trail of the Steers in case the league leaders should slip.

Not Good Enough

Fuhr struck out seven Tyler batsmen and did not issue a base on balls. He was opposed by George Hollerson who pitched fair baseball but not good enough to stop the Steers.

Two runs in the fourth on McMullen's single, Fuhr's double, a passed ball and James' single gave Dallas a start that Tyler could not overhaul. The Steers collected three more in the seventh when Bonura hit a home run with Langford and Radcliff on base.

Rowe scattered nine Galveston hits to coast in with an easy win. He struck out ten and collected a pair of hits himself. Paul Easterling who leads the league in runs batted in and is second in home runs, cracked out his thirty-sixth homer this season in the fourth inning for Beaumont's first run.

Scoring two runs in the ninth San Antonio won a 3 to 2 game from Houston. The Buffaloes netted two runs the first two innings but lost their lead in the final round.

Longview and Fort Worth were rained out.

HENRI COCHET IS BEST BOX OFFICE "DRAW"; WILL MEET VAN RYN TODAY

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—Henri Cochet may or may not be the world's greatest tennis player at the moment but there can be slight doubt the marvelous little Frenchman tops them all as a box office draw.

For three days now the big stadium at Forest Hills has been comfortably filled with spectators and hundreds more have spilled on to the outlying courts, all having paid a pretty stiff price for the privilege of watching what was bound to be indifferent tennis in the opening rounds of the national championships.

Cochet, surrounded by an aura of semi-invincibility, has pulled most of them through the gates. Some have been there to see Ellsworth Vines, America's cannoneer, but it has been noticeable that when Cochet played on the center court the stadium was filled, the other playing fields virtually deserted.

Prospects were he would need all his resources today when he encountered John Van Ryn, the steady Philadelphian, in the outstanding duel of the fourth round. Although he prefers and excels at doubles Van Ryn can play a lot of singles when he takes the notion.

Things also promised to warm up today for Vines, who has loafed through two previous matches. The champion meets his old friend and doubles partner, Keith Gledhill, who has beaten him frequently in lesser tournaments.

George Lott, jr., who made his "comeback" yesterday by defeating 16-year-old Frankie Parker of Milwaukee in four sets, was up against a serious obstacle in Takeo Kuwabara, champion of Japan.

CUBS FAVORED BY REST OF SCHEDULE

CHICAGO IS NOT THE BEST ROAD CLUB IN NATIONAL LEAGUE

BY HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago Cubs are not the best road club in the National league but there's nothing in the records to indicate they'll lose much of their present six-game lead on their current eastern invasion.

The second place Pittsburgh Pirates can boast a better record on the road but the Cubs have overcome this by a vastly superior showing at home. Chicago has played .718 ball at home and .459 on the road. The figures for Pittsburgh are .592 at home and .500 on the road.

The rest of the schedule also favors the Cubs, six of whose remaining 22 games will be played at Chicago. Pittsburgh must play all of her remaining 20 games on the road.

Actions in the major leagues yesterday was restricted to a doubleheader in the American league, Cleveland taking St. Louis over the hurdles twice, 4-3 and 6-0. Irving Hadley struck out seven Indians in the opener but was the victim of a three-run outburst in the sixth. George Connally was in form in the second game and blanked the Brownies with eight scattered hits.

NORTHWESTERN BACKFIELD PROSPECTS BRIGHT BUT TACKLES FORM PROBLEM

BY WILLIAM WEEKES
Associated Press Sports Writer

EVANSTON, Ill., Sept. 7 (AP)—For the first time since he went to work at Northwestern six years ago, Coach Dick Hanley doesn't know just what to make of the Wildcats' chances in the approaching football wars.

When he thinks of Pug Rentner, all-America halfback and the rest of his backfield talent, Hanley almost smacks his lips. When he thinks of those two tackle spots where Dal Marvil and Jack Riley worked for three years, he shakes his head.

"For three years out here," he says, "I didn't think so much about championships, and we didn't get any. In 1930 and 1931, I was pretty sure we would be right up around the top of the Big Ten, and we were. This year I don't yet know just how to figure.

"Rentner, Olson and Potter and whoever else we start in the backfield, look like about a match for anything the rest of the conference has. Rentner should be even better than last season, even with everybody concentrating on him. Olson is a fine kicker and Potter will be a better quarterback."

All this with high enthusiasm. Then he becomes thoughtful.

"But," he asks, "where am I going to get another pair of tackles like Riley and Marvil? They don't come along every year. We will have experienced men for the rest of the line, but I'll just have to wait and see how reserves develop."

Hanley figures Ohio State, Minnesota and Purdue as the outstanding choices for the championship.

"I am certain of just one thing," he says. "Ohio, Minnesota, Purdue, Michigan and Notre Dame will have strong teams—and we meet them all.

Thought For Today

Thy mercy, O Lord, is in the heavens; and thy faithfulness reacheth unto the clouds.—Psalms 36:5.

YOUTH without faith is a day without sun.—Ouida.

Adventure

From London comes news of one of the strangest expeditions to be undertaken in recent years. A group of British explorers, headed by Captain V. De La Motte Hurst of the Royal Geographical Society, are preparing to set forth for Madegascar to find the "sacrifice tree," said to devour human beings.

During tribal ceremonies there it is reported that natives offer up young girls in sacrifice to this tree, described as about eight feet high, six feet at the base and having huge concave leaves lined with "claws" secreting an intoxicating liquid. The victim is compelled to drink this liquid and then forced into the tree, after which the leaves wrap about her, crushing her to death.

It all sounds like a chapter from Trader Horn's adventures, but the expedition is to be made in real earnest. When Captain Hurst's party returns perhaps the world will know more about the sacrifice tree—and perhaps not. In order to search far corners of the earth there must always be an "object" and a sacrifice tree will do as well as any other. In reality that object is likely to be man's thirst for adventure.

It's deep down, this yearning to shake off civilization and revert to the thrills and hazards of primitive life. Those who can not make such trips can at least read about them.

Thousands are doing it, for travel and adventure books have never been more popular. Motion pictures of jungle life are pronounced box office successes. The machine age, for all its heralded dangers, has not yet changed this element in human nature.

J. J. MUNDY, one of the numerous gents who writes feature pieces for The Journal has ripped off a particularly good one—one which applies to a great many of us. Under the caption 'Give Praise', he advises:

"When a friend or associate does something commendable, compliment him.

"It is a little thing for you to do and may mean much to him.

"Folk everywhere are too free with condemnation and not free enough with good words.

"How bright this world might be if every person who has done a fine thing, worthy of consideration, were told about it by his or her friends.

"It is a bad habit of all to take tasks well done as a matter of course.

"Tasks done in an inferior manner are far more talked about.

"It may be that a wee bit of jealousy halts the impulse to give credit where credit is due.

"You know yourself of innumerable times when you have started to praise another and checked your impulse.

"Why was it?

"It might be well to ponder this question and it might make you ashamed of your little meanness.

"The real leaders are those who most appreciate the something well done by others, because they are big themselves.

"They know how easy it is to make mistakes and how praiseworth are things well done."

Pretty good, isn't it?

National election day is only two months removed from tomorrow.

Consider, then, the following exerpt from the address of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, delivered two weeks ago at Columbus, Ohio:

"Here is the case summed up in the President's own words. At St. Louis, in 1928, he said, 'without the wise policies which the Republican party has made effective through the past seven and one-half years the great prosperity we now enjoy would not have been possible.' Remember this, my friends, in the face of present assertions that government cannot effect business conditions. If he claims to lead, he must take responsibility of what the army does and where it goes.

"The mobilization of business as the President practices it by promotion methods will always be defective. His power to influence public opinion is great, but this driving will, as it has been well put, always be back-seat driving—ineffective and dangerous."

NEW York Journal recently printed an interesting piece concerning one John Reed, theater electrician, who always thought he would make a great actor but who was never given a chance.

Reed held his job 44 years—all the time in houses catering to Shakespearean audiences. He came to know the lines of the various plays and set his head, as it were, to make a name for himself in the Shakespearean play business.

When he died he ordered his head severed from his body, the body buried and his skull prepared for further use.

The latter, willed to the Shakespearean company playing Reed's theater at the time of his death, is being used in Hamlet, along with the lines "Alas, poor Yorick! I knew him well!"

It has been many years now since the skull of the departed Mr. Reed first appeared on the stage but they're still using it where Shakespeare is played.

"And", concludes New York Journal, "after thousands of performances not a single critic has found anything wrong with the acting of all that is left of John Reed!"

The Reprieve!

Most Of The Howling Against Congress Done By Balked Special Groups; Voters Believe Solons Are A Bad Lot

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—Some members of Congress unquestionably are losing their jobs this year because many voters are convinced that Congress is a bad lot.

It is impossible to enter any blanket defense of Congress and its performances but it is also unfortunate that so many people fall for the propaganda of those groups and individuals, so often motivated by pure self-interest and so often uninformed or willing to misrepresent, who most persistently ridicule and berate it.

Dutcher

Congress is attacked often justly but seldom with intelligent criticism—for extravagance, cowardice, petty personal graft, playing politics, verbosity and other sins.

Better Than Deserved

But it is elected by the people of the United States on the theory that they will send here the men they want to represent them. Considering the muddle-headed voting and popular indifference we have had thus far, recent Congresses probably have been much better than we deserved.

As an institution Congress is the branch of government which directly represents the people and which is most responsive to their desires. If it were suddenly eliminated the government would become a dictatorship which at this time would inevitably be dominated, for better or worse, by the industrial and financial interests which already exert a major influence both in Congress and at the White House.

There are many conservatives would prefer such a dictatorship who believe that the president should have a completely free hand even though he has been getting about everything he asked for. But that raises the question whether you want to trust one man with such mighty power and, if so, which man.

Somebody Loves Them

Every member is loved by somebody, although in some cases heaven knows why. It takes a lot of people to elect one. The assumption is that a senator who stays here is pleasing to a majority in his state and that congressmen re-elected are favored by their districts. When he gets here the member has to reconcile his own ideas and prejudices on national legislation with his political leadership, but he must please his constituency or he can't stay.

Whether he is or isn't already controlled by some interest or interests at home, he at once becomes the target of organized pressure groups which are likely to influence him to the extent to which they can influence political events in his bailiwick.

He finds himself in a whirl of conflicting interests—wets versus drys, capital against labor, veterans and farmers against the other taxpayers, tariff beneficiaries against consumers, rich men against those who would tax them more heavily, power companies, business men and bankers lobbying against taxes or legislation they dislike, cabinet members and various powerful groups opposing specific economies.

What's Back of the Howling

He does the best he can, with affectionate regard for his political skin and for the attitude of his voters as nearly as he can figure it and comes in for plenty of abuse almost inevitably. The powerful, articulate groups are bound to be pleased with some congressmen and displeased with others.

One group is pleased where another is not. Many such groups hate each other. No group is completely satisfied unless Congress is completely subservient to it.

So the sum total of attacks piles up until there seems to be a general howling chorus directed at Congress. The president, naturally anxious for more power and prestige, takes advantage of it whenever possible as do his cabinet members and other political henchmen.

Congressional extravagance and cowardice may be traced largely to organized pressure. Examples of nepotism, the mileage racket and other petty graft are sometimes disgusting, but when you recall the trust-controlled members and other highbinders who in former decades shoveled out our natural resources and other privileges to grasping capitalists often for bribes, even if some of them are enshrined as revered statesmen', it is hard to get excited about it.

The few exceptional statesmen in Congress today—able, honest and fearless—compare favorably with the dead statesmen for whom we build statues. Complaints that Congress "plays politics" are usually a matter of whose ox is gored. Politicians will always play politics, from the White House right down the line to the lowliest street sweeper.

After listening to a few campaign demonstrations, we don't wonder that people call politics a racket.

Around the RADIO Clock

BY C. E. BUTTERFIELD

(Time Is Central Standard)

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—Norman Brokenshire thinks the movies should be a little kinder in their interpretation of the radio announcer.

He says as much in a letter in which he declares he is taking up the cudgle for announcers in general. For one thing, he declares announcers do not make the fabulous amounts of money as pictured in the films. "The average pay for an announcer," he comments, "still is between 40 and 50 bucks a week."

Mrs. Rudy Vallee To Obtain Divorce

RENO, Nev., Sept. 7 (AP)—Mrs. Rudy Vallee, the former Fay Webb of Santa Monica, Calif., arrived here yesterday from New York and said she would establish residence with a view to obtaining a divorce.

Mrs. Vallee was accompanied by her father, C. E. Webb, former chief of police of Santa Monica.

Preceding them by a few hours was Hyman Bushel, attorney, who said he thought the couple "very foolish to be divorced," and added that he had told them so. Mrs. Vallee said there was no possibility of a reconciliation. She wore her engagement and wedding rings.

Bushel said he would make arrangements tomorrow for a divorce. Mrs. Vallee may file suit October 18.

FORMER STAR WEDS

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—Constance Bauney, former stage star and Jerry Wharton, jr., a Philadelphia lawyer, were married at the city chapel Tuesday by Deputy City Clerk James J. McCormick. Archibald Jackson of Scarsdale, N. Y., was the only witness.

The actress and Charles E. Cotting, Boston banker whom she married five years ago, were divorced recently at Reno.

Eyebrows Tell

YORK, Eng.—The woman who is trying to conceal her age should keep an eye on her eyebrows, so to speak. They tend to give the secret away, Prof. V. Suk told the British Association for the Advancement of Science that eyebrows change position with advancing age. They sink below the upper margin of the orbital cavity, or eye socket.

London Rebuked

LONDON — Londoners who gibe at Chicago as crime town got a rebuke from Mayor Anton J. Cermak. "You Londoners quit maligning us," the Chicago executive told interviewers. Declaring ten big American cities had more murders than Chicago last year, he said: "You have 22,000 police in London, I am told. If Chicago had that many cops I'd clear the city of every criminal."

Something New

BLACKPOOL, Eng. — Sideshow patrons are gaping at something new in the way of "entertainment." The Rev. H. F. Davidson has taken to a barrel to raise money for his appeal of a conviction of immorality with young women. Each morning he climbs into the barrel and spends all day there writing his defense.

NEW YORK — 50,000 ideas have been submitted, say officials, to the song, slogan and knicknack department at Democratic national headquarters but the most feasible of all is an emblem bearing no words at all—just a rose pinned to a piece of felt. Figure it out for yourself.

Hobo Flattered

BUDAPEST—A certain hobo felt bewildered but flattered. Stories were printed that a "Spanish nobleman" had been caught crossing the Hungarian border and rumors flew there was a plot against former King Alfonso of Spain, who is visiting here. The nobleman turned out to be a tramp.

That Chicago outfielder who played 18 innings without a fielding chance the other day should thank his lucky stars he is in baseball. In big business, he would have been laid off by the end of the fourth inning.

Ex-Governor Bilbo of Mississippi recently said he would kick Huey Long off the front pages if he is elected to Congress. Now he is being swamped with letters from well-wishers.

"B. C." Relieves Periodical Pains In Three Minutes

It is so unnecessary to suffer month after month from inorganic pains, because "B. C." will bring soothing relief in three minutes. "B. C." is prepared by a registered pharmacist, compounded on a different principle from most relief-giving agencies in that it contains several ingredients, used by many physicians, so blended and proportioned as to accomplish in a few minutes what we believe no one drug formula can do in so short a time. "B. C." should also be used for the relief of common colds, headaches and neuralgia, muscular aches and pains, reducing fever and for quieting a distressed nervous system without opiates, narcotics or such habit forming drugs. Get "B. C." in 10c and 25c packages, wherever drugs are sold. (adv.)

Italian Air Racer Killed In Plunge

DESENSANO, Italy, Sept. 7. (AP)—Lieutenant Neri, who flew a seaplane 430 miles an hour to exceed the world's speed record less than three months ago, was killed Tuesday when his ship plunged into a lake in flames.

The bid for a world record made last June by the ace of the Italian air force was invalidated by an accident in which he narrowly escaped death. Today he was traveling at a moderate speed but was stunting.

One of the reasons for all this automobile safety agitation is that you never can tell how a cow or a woman is going to act on the road.

DIES OF INJURIES

MOUNT PLEASANT, Sept. 7 (AP)—Ray Elrod, 9, died Tuesday of a spinal fracture suffered in an undetermined manner. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. MAINE TO VOTE NEXT MONDAY

PROHIBITION ONE OF MAIN ISSUES IN STATE ELECTION

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 7 (AP)—In a campaign in which the prohibition issue has been stressed by several candidates, Republican and Democratic leaders marshaled their forces today for the final drive before the state election next Monday.

A governor, three congressmen members of the state legislature and county officers are to be elected.

Although leaders of both parties have had little to say about the oft-repeated phrase "as Maine goes, so goes the nation," they have evidenced their interest by the manner in which they have tossed out-of-staters into the fray.

As rock-ribbed as its coastline in its allegiance to the Republican party, Maine frequently in previous contests has heard itself described as a political barometer, a legendary attribute not entirely supported by figures.

In all the congressional contests the issue of prohibition is clear-cut, with Congressmen Carroll L. Beedy and John E. Nelson and former Governor Ralph O. Brewster, Republican candidates, contending the voters of the state have not indicated they favor any change.

Their Democratic opponents—Joseph E. F. Connolly, Edward C. Moran jr., and John G. Utterback—are out-and-out repealists.

Lewis J. Brann, Democratic nominee for governor, also favors repeal, but Burleigh Martin, Republican, has been non-committal.

ABILENE FLOOD

the family remained in their car they probably would have escaped, as the machine was watermarked just slightly above the running board.

Hundreds of residents in the lower parts of the city and along the valley of the stream between Buffalo Gap, where rain fell in torrents yesterday afternoon, and this city evacuated their homes and spent a night of terror. Fears held for a time that the dam at Lake Abilene, city water reservoir, would break, were abated early today when the waters began slowly to recede.

Highway traffic west and south had not been resumed early today, but rail traffic over the Texas and Pacific west, where tracks were under water for a short distance all night, was moving cautiously over the affected area after sandbag dikes had been placed near the trestle embankments to reinforce them.

Rain continued to fall most of the night but shortly after daybreak abated some. At mid-morning a drizzle was resumed with indications of more precipitation.

GENERAL RAINS FALL OVER AREA

Slow rains, general last night and early this morning over the South Plains, brought the precipitation total here to 78 this week.

Although Lubbock and this section has had no washing rains, effects of heavier rains and high water south were felt today when Santa Fe traffic north of Sweetwater was cut off by a washed out bridge. Traffic on the line is expected to be resumed by 6 o'clock today with the repair of the bridge six miles this side of Sweetwater it was said here today.

Worm Menace Seen

Despite danger of worm damage to cotton, the excessive rainfall will aid farmers by providing an excellent season for winter grains and make possible good pasturage, County Agent D. F. Eaton pointed out today.

The county agent has had reports of both boll and leaf worms in small numbers, and has received request for worm poison from farmers outside of Lubbock county. Injury to matured feed, according to the county agent has been considerable. Unless leaf worm depredation begins soon, Mr. Eaton believes that cool nights will make the pests inactive.

Rainfall here last night and this morning totaled 12 of an inch the state experiment sub-station reported. Most of the moisture believed to have been heavier in Lubbock, fell in light showers or fine mist. Hale Center reported one and a half inches.

Two canceled bus schedules to Sweetwater and to Big Spring were reported at Union bus terminal. The Big Spring route was to be opened again late today. Roads north are said to be passable, but in virtually all other sections the conditions are said to be bad. Traffic has been operating over the road to Clovis, N. M., although greatly hampered.

Farmers Pessimistic

Farmers and cotton men were pessimistic over the outlook for worms. Continued cloudy weather and rain following the damp weather of the past week or more has made possible the breeding of boll and leaf worms and other insects that may do considerable damage to cotton and grains.

With scattered reports of first bales from half a dozen towns the past week, little cotton picking has started. Late rains will delay the gathering of crops.

Grain Harvest Delayed

Farmers are worried over delay in harvesting of grain sorghums. This work was well under way while farmers awaited the opening of mills to make cotton picking advisable.

RIO GRANDE IS BIGGER, WIDER

BROWNSVILLE, Sept. 7 (AP)—The swollen Rio Grande was bigger and wider than in years today as its eddying flood encircled half a dozen villages lying in its fertile lower valley.

Levees had crumbled on the southern bank before the rush of the waters but on the American side the barriers held firm, though many thousands of acres not so protected were under water. Deep floodways on the American side helped carry off the water without damage to farms and citrus orchards inside the levees. Hundreds of volunteers had kept watch all night along the levees. They stopped several small breaks near McAllen.

Hidalgo, on the American side, and several small villages on the Mexican side of the river were cut off by water. There was no danger at Hidalgo but the Mexican villages of Capote, Sandoval and several others were flooded. A bridge approach at Hidalgo was dynamited last night to relieve pressure from water backing against an improvised levee protecting the town. The river there was at the 25-foot stage.

Many Mexican families on the American side were cut off as waters spread about their homes but it was not believed they were in danger. Many people living in the lowlands were fed and sheltered at towns protected by the levees.

DAILY MARKETS

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEAS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 7 (AP)—The cotton market opened steady today with a fair volume of trading. Although Liverpool came in only about as due, first trades here showed gains of 8 to 12 points due to shorts covering in advance of the government crop report due tomorrow. As New York did not respond as fully as expected to the local rally and as some pre-bureau liquidation developed, prices eased after the start to 8.87 for October and 9.02 for December, or 5 to 9 points down from the opening figures.

This reaction attracted some fresh buying and prices rallied again 2 to 3 points from the lows. There seemed to be a disposition to support the market around the nine-cent level for December.

The market rallied early in the second hour owing to the weekly weather and crop summary claiming that the weather the past week had been unfavorable for cotton. This caused October to advance to 8.94 and December to 9.12, or 7 to 10 points above the early lows and 9 to 14 points above yesterday's close.

Later prices eased off again owing to renewal of liquidation in advance of the government crop report due tomorrow. October dropped to 8.77 and December to 8.94 down 17 to 18 points from the previous highs.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, 4 points higher to 3 lower with near months higher on steadier Liverpool cables while the late months were lower under southern selling.

Orders seemed to be pretty evenly divided at the opening and, after a few minutes of irregularity, prices turned steadier on trade buying with December selling up from 9.01 to 9.10, making the general list about 4 to 7 points net higher at the end of the first half hour.

There may have been some buying on the reports of further rains in Texas last night but much of the early business was attributed to further evening-up of accounts in preparation for the government crop report tomorrow. Houses with Liverpool connections were among the buyers here during the early trading.

Liverpool cables reported Bombay liquidation and hedge selling in that market, but the decline there was not considered sufficient to meet the local reactions of yesterday.

The weekly weather report stating that conditions of the past week had been mostly unfavorable for cotton brought in some additional buying later in the morning. The demand was held in check, however, by the inclination to await the government crop report and, after selling up to 9.11 for December, or about 8 points net higher, prices raised again under renewed liquidation. Buying was less active after the mid-morning advance and December was selling around 8.95 at midday with the general list showing net losses of 7 to 10 points.

litical associates, that my wife shall not be nominated, she has brought this action to make sure that the Democratic executive committee performs its duty and functions under the law to declare the person nominated who has received the highest number of votes in the primary," Ferguson said in a statement.

COURT FIGHT IS SEEN IN PRIMARY

DALLAS, Sept. 7 (AP)—Prediction that the controversy over the Democratic gubernatorial nomination would be thrown into the courts within a few days for a recount of ballots cast in that race in the run-off primary was made today by former State Senator Thomas B. Love, supporter of Governor R. S. Sterling.

"Undoubtedly there were many irregularities in the primary," Love said, "Sterling was renominated over Mrs. Miriam A. (Ma) Ferguson without the shadow of a doubt. A fair recount will prove it. Everyone should stand for an honest ballot."

Love said Sterling would ask the district court at Austin for a review of the entire runoff primary, which means every vote for governor will be recounted, if the district judge acts favorably on the petition.

Task Held Easy

"The task of recounting will not be as great as some might suspect," Love said. "All the court will have to do is to appoint 254 agents of the court, one in each county, to supervise the task. The work will be simple, as these agents will ascertain how many votes the candidates received in only one race."

LEGISLATURE

construction of highways now on the state system was passed by the lower branch of the legislature yesterday. Enactment of the proposed law would relieve counties of substantial tax levies, ordered to meet road bond obligations.

Goes To Senate

The senate, which had cleared its calendar of a controversial resolution, proposing investigation of the Democratic primary elections, was in a position to begin consideration of either the house bill or one on the same subject by Senator W. R. Poage of Waco.

The house had passed the bill by a vote of 120 to 9, a sufficient majority to make its terms immediately effective should the senate favor the proposal by a two-thirds majority.

The legislature ratified formally an amendment to the federal constitution which would eliminate the short session of congress. The amendment was submitted by the last congress.

SHOCK-PROOF BOARDS

CHICAGO, — Air lines have been experimenting with shock-proof instrument boards to eliminate the jarring and misalignment of instruments through hard landings. One of those expected to meet requirements consists of heavy rubber diaphragm, and special rubber mountings. This rubber board is insulated from the frame by rubber shock absorbers.

and submitted hundreds of slogans expressing their faith in Republican and Hooverian proposals to bring back prosperity. Among them are: "Hoover will pull us through," "We're headed for prosperity with Hoover," "Down and up again with Hoover," "The worst is over; let's go!—with Hoover."

Then there are the catch-phrase writers. An Iowan suggested "Vote for Who?—ver." An artist submitted a banner portraying an owl with very large eyes saying, "Ho-ho-Hoover."

There May Be a Lesson For You in This Cartoon

Dear Sir:

Some business men pride themselves on their ability to economize. They make a cut here and a slash there. In some cases the business is actually starved.

When the human body lacks a supply of water or food, the nerves register a complaint. But when a going business does not have such a nervous system and when a business is starved, sometimes the warning comes too late.

An eminent business authority says that genuine executive ability is shown more clearly by wise spending rather than by false economies. Anyone, he says, can make a decision not to spend. But it requires courage and outstanding judgment to spend—that is, to invest.

How did John H. Patterson beat the panic in 1893? He did not sit back and clamp down on expenses—not Patterson. He improved his selling methods and beat all previous records when business was supposed to be at a standstill.

Too many merchants still look upon newspaper advertising as a luxury to be indulged in when times are good.

Why not use advertising to CREATE business instead of using it as a barometer to REFLECT business? Use LESS advertising in flush time and MOST advertising in hard times.

"Attention" can be bought today for less than at any time in the past five years. Take advantage of this condition. Advertise now.

Increase your sales. Increase your profits. The arguments in favor of strong, enthusiastic, adequate advertising NOW seem unanswerable.

Very sincerely yours,

FARM HOLIDAY SUSPENDED

STRIKE BLOCKADE IS TEMPORARILY ENDED TO AWAIT CONFAB

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Sept. 7 (AP)—The farm strike blockade of Sioux City is ended, temporarily at least.

Produce was moving into the city at a normal rate today following withdrawal of all farm picketeers, apparently to await the conference here Friday of midwestern governors, called to work out an agricultural relief plan.

County leaders of the Farmers' Holiday association are preparing meanwhile for a resumption of "hostilities" should such action appear necessary to further their plans for higher prices for farm products. They adopted a resolution yesterday calling on members of the association to hold themselves in readiness for further picketing activities.

Throughout the entire strike area all was quiet. Only one incident in connection with picketing activities was reported. That was in Plymouth county, where 100 farmers met to halt nine trucks. They were escorted through the lines by deputy sheriffs however, without violence.

The newest fronts in the holiday movement were at Toledo, Ohio, and Memphis, Tenn. At Toledo representatives of several thousand farmers met yesterday to formulate plans for preventing a threatened price disruption caused by price cutting by Toledo distributors. At Memphis, producers threatened to dump 40,000 gallons of milk into the Mississippi river if milk prices are not increased by Saturday.

The United States led all other nations in supplying China's imports during the first five months of 1932, with a volume reaching 27 per cent of the whole.

Fights Zoning Law in Residential Community

For five years Mrs. Daniel A. Warren, of Glen Ridge, N. J., vainly pleaded for a change in the town zoning law which would permit her to lease her home for a store or apartment house. When her appeal again was denied recently, she resorted to a drastic protest. Clothes lines were strung about the unkempt porch and yard, and draped with long woolen underwear, as shown above. The house itself has been painted a glaring yellow with bright blue trim. Shuddering neighbors and a worried borough council are wondering what can be done about it.

HUGE PROGRAM PROGRESSES

REVIEW OF PROJECTS SHOWS SPEED IN RELIEF PLAN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (AP)—Rapid progress on the $700,000,000 public building program was reported today by the treasury department in a review of authorized projects.

The report said specific authorizations aggregated $496,463,942 and that 230 buildings costing $71,400,219 already had been completed. It further reported 382 projects with a total cost limit of $324,588,323 were under contract either in whole or in part.

In regard to 136 projects costing $42,172,900, the treasury said they either were in the specification stage or that bids had been received for their construction. Sixteen projects to cost $2,534,500 were reported in the drawing stage while plans for 39 projects costing $17,673,000 were being drafted by private architects.

It was explained that Secretary Mills had not yet determined on the expenditure of the $100,000,000 provided in the relief act for public buildings. However, it was said that if Secretary Mills ruled that funds could be made available for this construction the money would be applied to the $700,000,000 program.

The entire program calls for construction of 1,800 buildings in the District of Columbia and throughout the country.

COTTON RECEIVED

LITTLEFIELD, Sept. 7 (Special)—The first three bales of this season's cotton came to Littlefield Monday. J. F. Mayfield's load of cotton was the first by a few minutes. Mayfield lives nine miles northwest of Littlefield. E. A. Mills, of five miles east of here, brought the second bale. Lint in both graded strict middling and sold for nine cents per pound. Later in the day a third bale arrived. The cotton is four days earlier than the first of 1931.

THREE AMERICAN CONSUL OFFICERS ESCAPE BRIGANDS

TEHERAN, Persia, Sept. 7 (AP)—Three United States consular officials have arrived here, weary and footsore, after having been held for ransom by brigands. They escaped in the confusion of battle between the bandits and Persian soldiers.

The three are Robert B. Treeper of Columbus, O., Cyril F. Thiel of Chicago, and Thomas A. Hickok of Rochester, Pa.

The men had been forced to walk 25 miles into the hills with their captors before they were able to gain their freedom.

The American officials were among the passengers in a caravan of 21 automobiles held up by the robbers at Kangavar. After looting the cars, the bandits allowed all the passengers to go free except the consular officials, whom they detained for the purpose of extorting ransom.

The prisoners were marched off in the direction of Khurrumabad. Meanwhile, news reached the Persian authorities who rushed troops to the mountain. The soldiers caught up with the brigands and in the subsequent battle the Americans escaped.

Grain Breeders To Gather In Lubbock

Certified grain sorghum breeders of Texas will meet here Monday, September 12, for an annual meeting. The session starts at 10 a. m. in the office of D. F. Eaton, county agent, in the federal building.

R. V. Miller, secretary of the state plant and feed board, plans to be here. There are about 20 breeders in the state raising certified seed.

Officers are James C. Burrough, Lubbock, president; W. M. Poole, jr., Muleshoe, vice-president and W. M. Cunningham, Littlefield, secretary-treasurer and manager. State headquarters are at that point where Cunningham maintains a warehouse for seed.

Records of the steamboat inspection service for 1931 show that 1,065 lives were saved by means of life saving equipment.

Fair Tickets Are Given To Teachers

Teachers of 75 South Plains schools, attending the annual institute at the high school yesterday, were given tickets to the annual Panhandle-South Plains Fair for school day, Wednesday, September 28.

So many teachers asked for tickets that the first supply was not large enough and more had to be sent from the fair association office. Fair officials said they believed the greater demand for tickets this year presaged a larger attendance than ever before.

Each year between 40,000 and 50,000 tickets for school children are distributed free.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION VISITORS TO BE GREETED BY LUBBOCK COMMITTEES

Beginning with the Santa Fe train from the south due here Saturday at 3:55 p. m. every train coming into Lubbock until Tuesday will be greeted by a special committee of welcome, the reception and transportation committee for the state Democratic convention decided yesterday at a meeting. There will be a committee of women and one of men for each train.

At the same time, starting with Sunday morning, committees will work in three shifts daily at both the Lubbock and Hilton hotels, greeting visitors. These groups will show the out-of-town convention visitors that Lubbock's hospitality is a real, vital thing.

Chairmen of sub-committees, a man and a woman, were named for each train beginning with Saturday afternoon. The chairmen are to get as many members as they feel necessary to handle the crowds. Cars are to be provided to carry visitors down to the hotels.

Badges for each committee will be provided, with official stickers for windshields of the motor cars.

At the hotels, starting with Sunday morning, three groups of committees are to be at work from 8 a. m. until 1 p. m.; the second from 1 until 6 p. m. and the third from that hour until the last train at night. There will be one group for the Hotel Lubbock and another for the Hilton hotel.

Special committees to have charge of securing of enough cars to take visitors on the auto tour of Lubbock, will be named. These will secure as many cars as necessary.

It is planned to take visitors over the city, showing them the churches, schools, residential districts, industrial section, retail section and Texas Tech as well as the parks and country club.

Members of the general committee are: W. O. Stevens, Jess C. Levens, J. P. Middleton, Mrs. D. K. Bondurant and Mrs. R. M. Chitwood.

What A Wife!

(What a Gas Range!)

LOOK OUT for this type, girls—he's one of those "fair-weather" husbands. When the roast is well done, he's proud and happy and hungry as a wolf. But when things go wrong—just watch for that pained expression. Give him half a chance and he'll tell you "frankly" that your cooking isn't "up to par". He may even go so far as to apologize to the guests—for your cooking! Such men never realize what a woman has to contend with when she has one of those rickety, old-fashioned cook stoves.

What Every Young Husband Should Know

No matter how good your wife's cooking may be, she's going to run into a lot of failures unless her gas range is MODERN. The difference between the old and the new is that the Modern Range has Oven Heat Control, an Insulated Oven and an improved type of burners. In other words, a Modern Range is insurance against cooking failures. You wouldn't work with out-of-date tools. Why ask her to? See your dealer and he will explain "frankly" how much a Modern Range will mean in time and labor saving—as well as flawless cookery!
