When the Dallas Gossell trippers arrive in Pampa tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock to spend one hour in the city, they will bring plenty of entertainment with them. In addition to a 25-piece band, visitors will present radio talent. The full program will be broadcast over station KPDN. At the top is pictured Alex Keese, program chairman for station WFAA, Dallas. He will present The Flainsmen quartet, second from top. Third from the top is Pinky Martin, accordionist supreme of the Early Bird program who has asked Ken Bennett of Pampa, bottom, to play an accordion duet with him during the program.

BLAZING TRASH BRINGS FIREMEN ON THE RUN

Pampa firemen at 1:45 o'clock this morning thought they had another South Pampa conflagration to battle as the trucks roared from the station. The south portion of the city appeared to be on fire as flames leaped high. Upon arriving at the rear of the Harris Food store on South Cuyler street the firemen found a large refuse box burning fiercely. Water from a truck booster tank soon had the blaze under control with little loss. Only the fact that the trash box was backed against a brick building on the north side, saved a bad fire. One Ben White said today that the box had been unprotected from the strong south wind the fire might have spread. The fire was discovered by night police officers cruising in the police car. Recently the Mann Furniture company store on South Cuyler street was destroyed by fire.

Pampa baseball fans wondering what's wrong in the majors with all the shutouts being recorded. The National league's new ball may have something to do with their league but that doesn't have any bearing on the American league which is just as bad, they remark. One fan was heard to remark this morning that if the Yankees paid Lou Gehrig what he was worth he might start hitting.

CITY IN PATH OF FLOOD IN SOUTH TEXAS

VICTORIA, April 26. (AP)—Swollen tributaries of the raging Guadalupe river today fed the river from a dozen sources as the river at Gonzales continued rising half a foot an hour, heading for a 30-foot stage expected sometime tomorrow.

Heavy rains in the Yoakum, Cuero and San Marcos areas put the river out of its banks in the lowlands yesterday, damaging crops and causing slight livestock loss.

The river here was falling after inundating lowlands on the outskirts of town. Observers said the water pouring into the Guadalupe from the terrain in this area would move into the Gulf of Mexico before the Gonzales rise began to affect the river stage in the Victoria-Cuero area.

Rich farm lands in the river bottoms were flooded and farmers expected newly replanted crops, damaged at Easter by a heavy frost, would be almost a total loss.

At Hochheim, a small town eight miles from Yoakum where 12 inches of rain fell Sunday, Peach creek was rising slowly and emptying into the Guadalupe. The river there stood at 26 feet and needed to rise several more feet before serious damage would occur.

Observers here said there apparently was no danger of a serious flood along the Guadalupe unless more heavy rains fell. It was still cloudy, but there was little precipitation. They said a 30-foot stage at Gonzales would cause very little damage except to lowland farms. The river had reached 28 and one-half feet today.

MIDLAND MAN, HURT IN CAR CRASH, NEAR DEATH

PORT WORTH, April 26. (AP)—Little hope was held today for the recovery of Tom S. Hollon, 62, of Midland who was injured in an automobile accident here Sunday.

He contracted pneumonia last night and was placed in an oxygen tent. Hollon and three other members of the Midland First Baptist church were en route to Corsicana seeking a minister when their car collided with one driven by Jess Morton, 46, of Lamesa. Morton was killed.

Paul A. Babb Sr., 33, Dallas, and his brother, L. Pat Babb, 30, of Amarillo, injured in a collision at Azle Sunday which claimed the life of the elder Babb's wife and Mrs. J. R. Truitt, 67, Gainesville, remained in a serious condition in a hospital here. The funeral of Mrs. Babb was delayed pending outcome of her husband's illness.

THREE FORT WORTH RESIDENTS IN CRASH

CORSICANA, April 26. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Hill, 1908 Chaburn Court, Fort Worth, and their granddaughter, Beverly Hogg, 6, were seriously injured in an automobile accident late yesterday on highway 75 near Corsicana, 28 miles south of here. They were brought to a local hospital in an ambulance for first aid treatment and later taken to Fort Worth.

Beverly Hogg suffered a broken right thigh. Mrs. Hill, probably most seriously injured of the three, suffered internal injuries, a crushed chest, broken cheek, injured forehead, sprained hands and knee. Mr. Hill suffered scalp lacerations and other injuries.

API BOARD WILL PLAN BIG SAFETY PROGRAM

Plans for the big safety program to be held by the Panhandle chapter of the American Petroleum Institute on the night of May 10, tentative, will be completed at a meeting of the advisory board tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the Schneider hotel.

Vice-Chairman H. V. Mathews will preside. He has issued a call for all board members to attend the session. Plans call for securing of at least two nationally known men as speakers, the showing of a moving picture on safety or first aid and possibly contests.

Dallas business men will arrive in Pampa aboard a special train tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock and will be met at the Santa Fe station by the high school band under direction of Winston Savage, the Junior high band under direction of A. C. Cox, city and chamber of commerce officials and citizens.

The children of Pampa are also invited to meet the trippers and join in the parade to the 100 block on North Cuyler street where an official welcome will be held, broadcast over station KPDN beginning at 8 o'clock. The visitors will have favors for everyone.

Farris Oden will be master of ceremonies at the welcome replacing Reno Stinson, president of the BCD, who is out of the city. Mayor E. S. Carr will make the address of welcome after which the program will be turned over to the visitors with Alex Keese of station WFAA, Dallas, in charge. He will present noted Dallas citizens and an interesting musical program including a 25-piece Dallas band, accordion, guitar and saxophone numbers after which the Plainsmen quartet of Dallas will present a program, from 8:30 until 8:45 a. m. from the main studios of KPDN.

Pampa is the farthest point north to be visited by the Dallas trippers. They will make a special trip to Pampa returning to Amarillo to spend one hour before leaving for Childress and points in Oklahoma before leaving the city yesterday afternoon. President Stinson issued an appeal for Pampans to "turn out by the thousands" to welcome the Dallas trippers.

"Let's give them a welcome to the Friendly City of the Plains that

Woodrow Wilson Play Wins Safety Plaque

Woodrow Wilson school's play, "Guardian Angels," was awarded first place in a ward school safety play contest held at 8 o'clock last night at the Pampa High school auditorium. The play contest is a part of the Safety Week program, being observed this week in Pampa, and sponsored by the Kiwanis club.

There were 15 in the cast of the Woodrow Wilson play, which was in two acts. B. M. Baker and Sam Houston schools had one-act plays, while Horace Mann's, like Woodrow Wilson's, was two-act. Sam Houston's play was entitled "Triumph of Safety." Horace Mann's "Show White, the Careful One"; Baker's, "Circus Comes to Dan."

In judging the plays, scoring was on the basis of 50 percent for safety theme, 30 percent for acting, and 20 percent for costume and sound effects. Judges were Ernest Cade, Pampa high school history teacher, Ben Gull of the Cabot companies, and R. M. Klinger, of the General Atlas Carbon company.

A plaque was presented the winning cast. Last year the award went to Horace Mann. Two consecutive winners of the award entitle the holder to permanent possession of the trophy.

Observance of the week will be climaxed with the Kiwanis club program Friday noon when Mayor E. S. Carr will be presented with an honorable mention plaque given the city of Pampa by the National Safety council. Also on the club's program will be the presentation of the B. M. Baker school safety play.

At 11:25 o'clock this morning Sheriff Earl Talley made the third in a series of radio talks on safety over KPDN. His subject was "Safe Highway Driving."

At the same time tomorrow, Supt. L. L. Sone will speak on "Safe Walking."

Thursday's speaker will be Mrs. Julia E. Kelley, Gray county home demonstration agent, "Home Safety," and on Friday, Pampa high school principal Doyle F. Osborne will speak at 2:30 p. m. on "Child Safety."

WELCOME DALLAS!

An Editorial

Pampa will have another opportunity tomorrow morning to express the warm welcome of the Friendly City of the Plains to another group of goodwill trippers. This time they come from Dallas. Sixty representative business and professional men are aboard the train and they are scheduled to arrive in Pampa at 8 a. m. Wednesday.

While they will not arrive early enough for breakfast as did the Fort Worth trippers last week, the Dallas delegation will parade through downtown streets and wind up in front of the LaNora theater where the reception program will be staged and broadcast by Radio Station KPDN.

Let's have a big crowd on hand at the railroad station at 8 o'clock in the morning and those of you who can't make it at that hour should be down in front of the LaNora for the program at 8:30 a. m.

Fort Worth trippers still are singing the praises of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce for the splendid reception last week.

So, let's show the same kind of a welcome for Dallas. Remember, the delegation is scheduled to leave the train at 8 and the downtown program begins in front of the LaNora theater a half hour later.

BRITISH HIKE INCOME TAXES

LONDON, April 26. (AP)—The British government jolted the nation today by boosting the income tax from 25 percent to 27½ percent to help pay the costs of the staggering rearmament program.

Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in his annual budget speech before a shocked House of Commons, announced the income tax would be raised from five shillings in the pound to five shillings sixpence (from $1.25 to $1.37½ in $5.00).

Presenting the budget bill for the 1938-39 fiscal year (beginning April 1), Sir John announced the government's total needs as $44,398,000 pounds ($4,721,990,000), an increase of 81,500,000 pounds ($8,500,000,000) over the previous year.

The Chancellor also announced an increase in his duties on tea and oil. The higher tax on oil will reach into the pocketbook of virtually every family in the land, rich or poor. The higher income and oil taxes also will hit most of them.

Simon dropped several other bombshells, including the disclosure that the government secretly purchased early this year huge stocks of wheat, sugar and whole oil, sufficient to last through "the early months" of a possible war.

The chancellor presented the nation with the largest peacetime budget in its history.

The blow of the income tax boost was softened somewhat by announcement of a special exemption by which 2,000,000 small taxpayers will escape the increase.

In the United Kingdom everyone who earns 150 pounds ($750) or more a year pays income tax. But the tax will not be increased this year for single persons making up to 290

City Attorney

Meet your new city attorney. He's Walter Rogers, popular young Pampa lawyer, appointed last Friday by members of the new city commission to serve as the city's legal advisor during the next two years. No other appointments have been announced by the commissioners. Mr. Rogers will handle the talking angle of the Roving Reporter's birthday party for April-born Pampans Friday night at the athletic arena. He will pay vocal tribute to the two centenarians for whom the party is being held, and will likely to have something to say about those born on April 1.

MAYOR URGES SUPPORT FOR FIESTA IN JUNE

Whole-hearted support of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Top O' Texas Fiesta was promised by Mayor E. S. Carr and representative businessmen who spoke at the regular weekly Jaycee luncheon in Hotel Schneider at noon today.

Mayor Carr commended the organization for its splendid civic program and also invited the group to join with the city fathers in plans for the betterment of the community as a whole.

The mayor's remarks were roundly applauded by the membership and guests. Others who encouraged the Jaycees to bigger and better things were Fred Cullum, H. L. Folley, Carl Boston, M. C. Johnson, and R. G. Hughes who discussed the benefits of past spring celebrations.

Mayor Carr also urged Pampa citizens as a whole to get behind the Top O' Texas Fiesta being planned by the Junior Chamber of Commerce for June 9 and 10.

R. B. Allen, general fiesta chairman called on committee chairmen for reports of progress on plans for the June celebration. C. H. Schukley, president, conducted the meeting.

ROAD TO BE WIDENED IN TOWNS, ON CURVES

Work of widening Highway 33 between Kingsmill and the Potter county line will consist of widening the road only on curves and through the towns of White Deer and Kingsmill, Texas Highway Department residents engineer J. C. Dingwall said this morning. The job is expected to begin within the next 30 days.

Mr. Dingwall said that the borrow pits to be filled along the highway from White Deer to the Potter county line would not be all the borrow pits, but only those that were the greatest hazards to safety.

Widening of the highway will increase its width to 24 feet at the points specified, but the remainder of the road will be unchanged at 18 feet.

Allhands and Davis, Dallas, are the contractors for the project.

BABY KILLED, 4 WOMEN HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

COEMAN, April 26. (AP)—An eight-months-old baby was killed and four women injured severely this morning when their automobile overturned near Silvery Valley, ten miles northwest of Coleman.

The baby's mother, Mrs. J. P. Stevens, of Trent, was reported suffering from a broken hip. Others injured were Opal Freeman, and Mrs. C. C. McCree, both of Trent, and Mrs. H. F. Williams of Garber, Okla.

The party was en route from Trent to Comanche to attend a Woodman Circle convention. A tire blowout was given as cause of the accident.

SPEAKERS AT MEETING CITE MANY REASONS

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL
WICHITA FALLS, April 26. (AP)—Strenuous opposition to additional taxes on the petroleum industry was voiced by speakers at the annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce here today.

H. B. Fell of Ardmore, Okla., executive vice president of the International Petroleum association, told a group conference technical advances had made it possible to give consumers good products at low prices despite excessive taxation but the process could not be kept up forever.

"It is essential there be no additional tax burden," he said.

He pointed out that in Texas 45,000,000 acres of land were under lease for oil development, the annual wage payroll of the industry was $185,000,000 and $100,000,000 in equipment and supplies was purchased yearly.

The state government was financed largely by the oil industry, he continued, the producing branch alone in 1937 paying $45,000,000 in taxes, or 43 percent of the total governmental cost including the gasoline tax, more than 60 percent of state revenue was derived from oil.

J. C. Hunter of Abilene, president of the West Central Texas Oil and Gas association, said oil men did not oppose paying their share of taxes sufficient for economical administration of the state government but objected to unfairness.

"Their complaint," he said, "is that taxes are not now levied on an equal and uniform basis as provided by the constitution. They are protesting against glaring, unconstitutional inequality."

"We are unalterably opposed to any increase."

Hunter observed that while poli-

BIDS FOR SURFACING HIGHWAY 178 WANTED

Pampa good roads enthusiasts were overjoyed today upon announcement by the Texas Highway commission that bids for surfacing of 10.6 miles of U. S. Highway 178 from the Hartley county line to Dumas in Moore county had been called for immediately.

The section of the road is on the Offield Highway 41 association program of a short cut between Oklahoma City and Denver through Pampa, Borger, Dumas, Dalhart, etc.

Highway engineers received the full speed ahead signal on a state financed improvement program costing an estimated $3,674,000. Officials said $1,988,700 was available and plans and specifications for 23 projects would be ready soon.

It was also announced that 31 additional items would be ready for submission soon and local boosters believe the program will include work on the stretch between Stinson and Dumas on Highway 41.

NATIONAL MUSIC WEEK OBSERVANCE PLANNED BY LOCAL GROUP

SPRING FESTIVAL TO BE FEATURE OF ALL SCHOOLS

The first week in May will witness the 15th synchronized nationwide observance of the National Music week. The Treble Clef club is sponsoring the activities of various local organizations in observing this celebration.

On Friday evening of this week the spring music festival of all Pampa schools will be presented in the high school auditorium at 8 o'clock as a contribution to the music week.

Numbers at this open program will be presented by special groups and by the choral clubs and bands of all of the schools. Before the program is presented in the auditorium, all of the uniformed groups will be featured in a parade.

Music supervisors for this event will be Miss Helen Martin, senior high school; Miss Madge Sears, Baker school; Miss Talitha Addison, Horace Mann; Miss Julia Giddens, Sam Houston; Miss Charlotte Ratliff, Woodrow Wilson; and Miss Winifred Wiseman, junior high school.

An opening feature of music week will be the vespers musical Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock to be presented by the advanced pupils of Mrs. May Foreman Carr at the First Methodist church.

Monday evening the elementary and intermediate students of Mrs. Carr will present a program which will be augmented by the violin students of Mrs. Fidelia Yoder and Miss Clara Mae Lemm.

The Treble Clef club is making arrangements for the musical numbers to be given in the program on Tuesday evening. Mrs. Alex Schneider, president of this club, is attending the state convention of Federated Music clubs at Beaumont with several other members of the local organization.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt, chairman of the honorary committee of governors in charge of arrangements for music week observance, has assisted the workers in making this celebration more notable in the constructive benefits derived.

Last year's slogan and keynote, "Poster Local Music Talent," will be repeated because it met with popular response and to obtain the benefit of cumulative interest.

BTU Will Have Business Meeting At Church Tonight

Baptist Training union of the First Baptist church will have a business meeting tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the church.

All teachers and officers are especially urged to be present.

Students Conduct Assembly Program

McLEAN, April 26—The assembly program Friday morning in McLean high school was turned over to the student body. The events of the agriculture boy's trip to California and Texas A. & M. College were summed up by E. M. Gossett, president of the McLean P. F. A. Chapter. Mr. Clyde Magee, agriculture teacher, and W. M. Brally, principal of high school, accompanied the boys on this trip.

Miss Patsy Cash of Hutchinson, Kas., who is visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pat McMillin, entertained the student body with musical numbers. Patsy sang "Harbor Lights" and danced to "Dipsy Doodle."

Home Ec Club Has Picnic

McLEAN, April 26—Members of the Home Economics club enjoyed a picnic at Sandspur Lake Tuesday evening. Miss Betty Farley, sponsor, and Miss Margaret Hess were chaperones for the evening.

During the business meeting Opal Thacker, president of the club, was elected as the club's representative to the home economics rally at San Antonio next month.

Others enjoying boat-riding and other games were: Peggy Greer, Doris Doane, Margaret Kramer, Mary Alice Ledgerwood, Francis Hudgitz, Dora Mae Overton, Bernice Mae Wade, Virginia Wehler, Maxine Goodman, Eleanor Hanes, Marie Rudy, Bernice McClellan, Cleo Ledbetter.

Zone Meeting Set For Thursday at Harrah Chapel

A report on the Woman's Missionary society conference which was held last week at Snyder was given by Mrs. Kit Autry at the meeting of the McCullough-Harrah Woman's Missionary society at the Harrah chapel yesterday afternoon. Following the opening hymn and scripture reading by Mrs. C. D. Harris, plans were completed for the zone meeting which will be held Thursday at the Harrah chapel beginning at 10 o'clock. Luncheon will be served at the noon hour and the meeting will be completed afterwards.

Mrs. Henry English closed the meeting with a prayer.

Members present were Mmes. C. D. Harris, H. L. Wallace, L. P. McDaniel, J. E. Baird, Henry English, Kit Autry, and E. H. Johnson.

MIND your MANNERS

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. Should there always be a plate under a soup bowl?

2. Should a hostess avoid the use of small side dishes for vegetables?

3. Is it better to serve salad dressing at the side of a salad than on top?

4. Should one use intense colors when putting vegetable coloring in foods?

5. May one eat the garnish, on food?

What would you do if—
You are a newcomer in a town and are invited to a small luncheon in someone's house and you do not know if it is the custom to wear your hat during the meal?

(a) Manage not to be the first arrive, and follow what the others are doing?
(b) Ask someone ahead of time what is customary?
(c) Do whatever was customary where you previously lived?

Answers
1. Yes.
2. Yes.
3. Yes, for guests can then eat it or not, as they choose.
4. No.
5. Yes.

Modern Menus

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

Fluff up your tomatoes or bake your spinach. Lunch need not always be a bore.

Tomato Fluff
(Serves 4 to 6)
One No. 2 can tomatoes, 1-8 pound American cheese, grated, 1-4 cup cooked spaghetti, cut in 1-inch pieces, 3 tablespoons dry bread crumbs, 1-2 teaspoon prepared mustard, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon salt, dash of paprika.

Beat yolks and whites separately. Combine all other ingredients and bring to a boil. Cool. Beat in beaten egg yolks, add salt and cayenne. Then fold in beaten whites. Turn into greased baking dish. Dust with grated cheese. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for about 25 minutes.

Baked Spinach
(Serves 4 to 6)
Two pounds spinach, 5 tablespoons fresh bread crumbs, 2 eggs, 1-2 cup whole milk, 8 slices bacon, seasoning.

Wash spinach, cook lightly, then chop. Beat eggs. Combine spinach, bread crumbs, eggs and seasoning. Beat in milk. Grease a baking dish and lay 4 strips of bacon on the bottom. Pour in spinach mixture. Lay 4 strips of bacon across the top. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until bacon is crisp, about 25 minutes.

Apple Sweet Potatoes
The youngsters will love them. The ingredients are sweet potatoes, applesauce, butter, salt.

Boil sweet potatoes in their skins for 10 minutes. Then peel. Cut into thin slices. Use buttered baking dish. Place a layer of sliced potatoes in dish, dot well with butter and sprinkle lightly with salt. Cover with a layer of applesauce. Repeat layers until dish is full, ending with potatoes. Bake in slow oven (300 degrees F.) for about 3-4 hour.

Sewing Club Meets With Mrs. Bowsher

SKELLYTOWN, April 26.—Mrs. Dallas Bowsher entertained members of the Pleasant Hour Sewing club Friday afternoon at her home in the Skelly camp.

Sewing and bingo furnished entertainment for the afternoon, with Mrs. A. A. McElrath, of Pampa, and Mrs. G. F. Morris, winning the awards.

Gifts from Rosebud Friends were passed out by the hostess, and names were revealed.

Mrs. Bowsher, president, presided at the short business meeting. A refreshment plate was served to Mmes. Arthur Johnson, Joe Wedge, J. R. Stansell, Chas. Webb, E. M. Stafford, of White Deer, Tommy Hall, G. F. Morris, A. A. McElrath, O. L. Satterfield, W. W. Hughes, and the hostess.

Mrs. Les Kries will be hostess to the club at the next meeting.

Legion Auxiliary To Sponsor Bridge Party on Friday

Members of the local American Legion auxiliary will sponsor a bridge party at the Legion hut on Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Hupp Clark and Mrs. W. L. Heskew compose the committee in charge of arrangements for the event.

An admission of 25 cents will be charged for each person playing. Proceeds will assist the underprivileged children of the community.

Glorifying Yourself

By ALICIA HART.

Regardless of her age, weight, height, where she lives or what she does to earn a living, any woman can, within three months, reduce her hip measurements considerably. It isn't an easy task, and it isn't much fun. But it is not nearly as difficult as the majority seem to believe and, especially with the swimming season close at hand, it's certainly a worthwhile idea.

Exercise is the answer. If you are just generally overweight, you probably should plan to eat less and exercise, too. But if surplus weight on hips and thighs is your concern, then you can go on eating the customary amount of food, concentrating on exercise routines. But you must do at least three exercises and do them the required number of times every single day. And if you can manage a brisk walk of not less than a mile three or four times a week, so much the better.

Here are several exercises, especially designed to reduce hips and thighs. Pick any three, then stick to them:

Lie flat on the floor with arms at sides, ankles together. Without moving shoulders, roll to the left until left thigh is pressed against the floor. Now roll to the right as far as possible. Roll from side to side ten times the first day, eleven the second, and so on until you are rolling back and forth fifty times each morning.

Lie on the floor on your left side with left arm up-stretched—head resting on it. Place right hand on the floor in front of you—palm down. Now lift both legs off the floor. Keeping knees stiff, move legs back and forth rapidly—as if you were running. Notice the pressure this puts on the thigh that rests on the floor and how it makes hip muscles work. Repeat ten times. Turn over on your right side and repeat.

The tried and true riding-the-bicycle exercise is fairly simple to do and most effective. Simply lie on your back on the floor. Then raise legs as high as possible, bending knees under hips. Now make believe that your feet are on the pedals of a bicycle and that you are trying to win a race. Repeat fifteen times the first day, twenty the second, and so on until you have reached sixty.

Lie on the floor with hands at sides. Keeping knees straight and shoulders flat, raise right leg, cross it over the left one and touch toes of right foot to the floor. The higher you can raise the leg and still keep touching, the more good the exercise will do. Repeat, crossing left leg over right.

BRITAIN AND IRELAND SIGN PEACE TREATY

LONDON, April 26. (AP)—The new treaty of friendship between Great Britain and Ireland clears the path toward an effective military cooperation.

It is likely that talks will begin almost immediately on the matter of defense, so that Ireland may be added to the circle of "friendly nations" around the British empire.

These conferences, it was said today, would be pointed toward establishment of Irish military forces, closely supervised and trained by British army, navy and airforce experts.

The talks would be unofficial, personal conversations among military leaders.

The accord, which must be ratified by both parliaments, was signed yesterday at Ten Downing street, the signers headed by Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and Prime Minister Eamon De Valera, New York born and once a prisoner in a British jail.

The three-point agreement contains provisions for an end to trade barriers, settlement of old financial disagreements, and for permitting Ireland to be responsible for her own defenses. Union of Ireland and Northern Ireland (Ulster) was not mentioned.

Principal point of the defense section was Britain's agreement to withdraw by Dec. 31 from the ports of Berehaven, Cobh and Loughswilly, where she has maintained naval defense stations.

The details of giving to Ireland full sovereignty over defense of her shores, and at the same time working out the means of coordinating the defense of the two countries to the advantage of both, however, were not touched upon. The personal staff talks, which may continue for some time, would handle these.

U. S. OIL PRODUCTION FIGURES SHOW BOOST

TULSA, April 26. (AP)—Increases in most of the major producing states gave the United States an average daily crude oil production of 3,427,888 barrels during the week ending April 23, an increase of 44,355 barrels daily over the week before, the Oil and Gas Journal reported today.

Oklahoma had an rise of 1,700 barrels daily for an average of 499,425. East Texas' increase was 1,053 barrels to 432,400 and the state of Texas increased 5,551 barrels to 1,339,551.

Louisiana declined 870 barrels to 262,485. California's production was up 9,150 barrels to 728,750 and Kansas jumped 31,975 barrels to 181,900. Eastern states, including Michigan, had a decline of 228 barrels to 192,162.

Bridge Party Held In Stewart Home

SKELLYTOWN, April 26.—Mrs. John Stewart entertained a few friends with a bridge party recently at her home north of Skellytown.

A green and yellow color scheme was used in the decorations, table appointments and carried out in the salad course, which was served at the close of the games.

High score was won by Mrs. Joe Miller. Mrs. J. C. Jarvis received out at one table, while Mrs. Ray Mackey won high cut at the other table, traveling prize was held by Mrs. Earl Groberg and the lucky award went to Mrs. Chester Strickland.

Those attending were Mmes. Henry Johnson, Chester Strickland, Earl Groberg, J. C. Jarvis, Ray Mackey, Jack Propst, W. F. Harlan, Joe Miller and the hostess.

NORRIS WILL VOTE AGAINST NAVAL BILL

WASHINGTON, April 26. (AP)—Senator Norris, Independent, Neb., usually an ardent administration supporter, said today he would vote against President Roosevelt's naval expansion bill.

Norris' statement that "we have already voted enough money for an adequate navy" came during congressional discussion of several phases of foreign relations.

In the house, members of the foreign affairs committee expected to learn during the morning whether the state department officially has branded Japan and Italy as treaty violators.

Chairman McReynolds, Democrat, Tenn., had received the department's response to a request by Rep. Scott, Democrat, Calif., that treaty violators be specifically identified.

Norris based part of his opposition to the navy bill on the possibility that "if we start to build a whole lot of battleships, we may find by the time they are built that the battleship is out of date as a weapon of naval warfare."

The veteran Nebraskan said he would not oppose some expansion in the navy's air force but declared the proposed $1,156,000,000 bill for ships and planes together is "too big."

Norris said he thought the $550,000,000 annual naval appropriation bill passed earlier in the session had provided for an adequate navy and that further heavy expenditures might be wasteful.

Some time ago, Norris had said he favored a strong navy because "Japan is running amuck."

The senate likely Friday will vote on the bill. An opponent, predicted a vote would not be reached before Friday. Sponsors of the bill are considering seeking a limitation of debate to hasten action.

Chairman Pittman, Democrat, Nev., predicted meanwhile that the senate foreign relations committee would give early approval to a measure requiring federal registration of all foreign propagandists.

The bill, previously passed by the house, has been dormant for several months.

Under its terms, all agents of foreign governments, political parties or business concerns seeking to influence the policies of this country would be forced to register with the state department and furnish information about their propaganda activities, their employers, and the terms of their contracts.

Domestic relief needs were considered further today by a house appropriations subcommittee.

The house reversed two earlier decisions and agreed, by a 150-122 vote, to appropriate $2,013,000 to begin work on the Tennessee Valley Authority's proposed dam near Gilbertville, Ky. The senate already had approved the item.

BLACKLEDGE SENT TO FREDERICK THEATERS

WELLINGTON, April 26.—Calvin Council of Goldsmith, Okla., has succeeded Kenneth Blackledge, former Pampa, here as manager of the Ritz theater. Mr. Blackledge had been in Wellington for the past year.

Mr. Blackledge has been made manager of the Rannona, Ritz, and Grand theaters, at Frederick, Okla., where he was sent two months ago to organize the newly purchased theaters for the Griffith company.

TODAY'S SERMONETTE

Jesus' power is complete over all conditions, all afflictions, yet He never exercises it for those who do not believe and trust Him. But when men come to Him as did the father of the afflicted child and say, "I believe, help thou mine unbelief," He never fails to respond.—Chivers.

A GREAT ORDER IS BORN

This being Safety Week in Pampa, it is fitting to report that an organization that will dwarf the American Legion for size has been formed in Council Bluffs, Iowa. It is called the Veterans of Automobile Accidents and the most conspicuous objects of wearing apparel at its first meeting were crutches and canes.

More than a million Americans become eligible for membership every year. We have not seen a copy of the rules and by-laws, so we cannot say what constitutes an eligible accident. Even if loss of leg or arm or a broken bone be made the sine qua non of membership we imagine the organization still could enroll several hundred thousand persons a year.

If the organizers make a go of it—and there is no reason why they shouldn't, seeing the broad field before them—an auxiliary in the form of Purple Star Mothers likely will be the logical next step. Eligible for this branch would be the mothers of those who have laid down their lives in the War of the Roads.

With this beginning, there is nothing to keep ingenious persons from organizing other auxiliaries. A large and growing company, for instance, would be eligible for the International Order of Those Who Have Been Left Holding the Bag After an Accident. Hospitals and undertakers could qualify wholesale. So could motorists who were unlucky enough to have their cars crashed into by impetuous idiots who couldn't pay damages. A more select but none the less numerous crowd would be joiners of the Amalgamated Association of Victims of Hitchhikers. Then in order would come the Society of Those Who Have Never Been Arrested for Speeding (very select), the American Association of Corner Cutters, and the Shoguns of Swearwords, made up of those who have cursed out one or more cops for doing his plain duty.

Obviously the Council Bluffs people have something there. We wouldn't be a bit surprised if somebody runs for governor on the Veterans of Automobile Accidents platform.

ASK THE BOYS

Reform schools anxious to be in truth the instruments for moral repair which their name implies might do well to take a cue from the poll of opinion made in the reform schools of New Jersey.

The results of the poll disclose enough about the juvenile delinquent's cast of mind to serve as a realistic base for attacking the "bad boys" problem.

New Jersey found, among other things, that the majority of its reform school boys considered policemen their worst oppressors, with judges the closest contenders for that enviable title. The poll found also that only one out of approximately 700 boys held his home environment responsible for his lawlessness.

It suggests a lot about the "bad boys" attitude toward the world he lives in, and a little about his ignorance of it. The conception of judges and cops as enemies is an old story come to light again, and one, among others, that needs changing.

Behind the Scenes In Washington

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Pampa Daily News Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 25 — Pat Harrison of Mississippi sought the majority leadership in the Senate and John J. O'Connor of New York went after the same post in the House.

They were ambitious to reach the highest points in their political careers. And in each case Franklin D. Roosevelt turned thumbs down. Harrison and O'Connor were too conservative for the New Deal.

But they got there just the same. While the men whom the administration preferred to lead its forces pleaded desperately but impotently for Congress to stand by the President, Harrison and O'Connor have appeared conspicuously as leaders of a new majority in Congress—the anti-Roosevelt coalition.

Both are popular and known generally as "good fellows." So their recent triumphs have been enjoyed by many friendly colleagues who smarted with them when the administration in its palmer days blasted their aspirations.

After the historic defeat of the Roosevelt reorganization bill, O'Connor had some of the correspondents, photographers and others up to the sanctum behind the Rules Committee room and opened the door of an electric re-

Tex's Topics

I have been boiling a bit over the action of the gangsters, alleged to be members of the so-called German-American Bund, the Nazi outfit spreading its wings in America, who attacked a crippled editor in the East the other day—and because he wouldn't kiss the Swastika emblem, they pummeled him generally and then scratched the emblem on his chest with a knife. . . . I have never believed in inciting class hatred or, don't think it is a good thing to arouse riotous thinking, but I do believe that these trouble-makers are going too far. . . . If they like that kind of stuff why don't they go back to Germany where they can get their bellies full of it. . . . I'm for rounding them up and shipping them right NOW.

We have enough lugs of our own in this country without having to put up with the insults of any foreign importations. . . . One ventures to guess that plenty would happen if a band of American Legion men tried to pull some funny stuff in reverse in the streets of Berlin. . . . Their heads would be chopped off so quickly it wouldn't be funny. . . . Still, over here a Nazi-inspired bunch can kick the American Legion around and attack crippled editors without fear of any great amount of reprisal. . . . What's wrong with that picture? . . . Of course, this is the land of the free.

The Daily NEWS is throwing a birthday party for all the folk born in April. . . . Do you know that persons born this month share honor with men who bore some of the greatest names in American history? . . . Thomas Jefferson, apostle of agrarian democracy, author of the Declaration of Independence and third President of the U. S., was born on April 13, 1743. . . . Henry Clay, one of our most outstanding statesmen, was born April 12, 1777. . . . Did you know that Reno, Nev., is farther west than Los Angeles, Calif.? . . . I didn't, either, until just a minute ago—and I had to consult a map before I would concede the point. . . . Yessir, you live and learn (I hope).

That reminds me to tell you that the South Pole is colder than the North Pole, and that the coldest spot in the world is at neither of them. . . . It's in the province of Yakutsk, Siberia where temperatures lower than 90 degrees F., have been recorded. . . . Along the some line of thought, do you know that there is no such place as 'Dublin, Ireland'? The place is now called Baile Atha Cliath, and it is the capital of the Irish Free State. . . . And, if you still want something to disbelieve go ahead and disbelieve these two facts: . . . Asia is only 36 miles from North America and it is only eight and one-half miles from Europe to Africa. . . . And, I don't care who tells you differently—the earth is NOT round. . . . Do you know that you lift an average from 550 to 770 tons every day? . . . Well, you do.

Yesteryear In Pampa

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY

Beautifying of the American Legion post grounds, preparatory to entering the 18th district convention here August 11 and 12, commenced.

At the district meet held at Canyon, Pampa won second place Amarillo scored 27 points while Pampa scored 18.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Disbursements of the city of Pampa were $23,386.60 in 1932 compared with the previous year.

Dripping clouds, for which Gray county farmers had looked in vain for many months, released one-third of an inch of moisture and continued a drizzling precipitation.

frigerator which contained champagne, whisky and beer. Perhaps he wasn't thinking of the days of late 1936 when he and his cronies sat in that satchum and had to mourn collapse of his campaign for the leadership. He had a right, however, to recall those days.

An often turbulent, alternately gruff and genial, but keen-minded, red-haired Irishman. O'Connor had incurred New Deal wrath when he opposed abolition of the Democratic two-thirds rule at the 1936 convention and when, as chairman of the Rules Committee, he balked the White House desire for a record vote on the holding company bill's "death sentence."

Administration propagandists made much of the fact that O'Connor's brother Basil had accepted a $25,000 fee from the Associated Gas & Electric Co. during the holding company fight.

Although O'Connor did not rate the leadership through seniority, his chairmanship of the Rules Committee made him the third most powerful leader in the House and it had been tradition that when a southerner—in this case Will Bankhead of Alabama—was to be speaker, the leader should be a northerner.

But the administration chose Sam Rayburn of Texas, who had piloted the holding company bill and other of its legislation. Roosevelt persuaded Vice President Garner to come to Washington before the session began and put Sam over. That was the end of O'Connor.

But today O'Connor is still chairman of the Rules Committee—the committee which stands in the way of wage-hour legislation. And it was O'Connor who led the anti-reorganization bill fight, providing strength for the opposition which undoubtedly was responsible for the bill's burial. When the House voted down his first motion to kill the bill by 23 votes and it looked as if the measure would win, O'Connor said: "There'll be no reorganization bill passed."

The Railroads And Congress

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—One day last November I was walking up Fifth avenue when I noticed a girl sitting at a table in Child's restaurant. You could see her very clearly through the plate glass windows and she seemed so melancholy that after I had walked past the place I retraced my steps and went inside. She was a blonde, there was a cup of coffee in front of her and she was smoking a cigarette. Or rather she held a lighted cigarette in her hand. From time to time she tapped the edge of the saucer with it, to free the ash, but she did this subconsciously, and it was clear that her thoughts were a thousand miles away.

Although she seemed vaguely familiar, I was unable to place her. I dropped down at a table not far removed and studied her for a long time, and it seemed at the moment that I had never seen anyone as dejected or unhappy.

Well, after a while, I got up and went out and after a little while I didn't think of her again until, a week later, I saw a two-column picture smiling out of a morning newspaper. There was nothing unhappy about this pose. Her name was Julie Hayden and she had been engaged to play the ingenue in a new play, "Shadow and Substance."

The rest is very recent and gratifying Broadway history. I think there can be no question that Julie Hayden is the dramatic find of the season. In this play about Catholic Ireland she plays a little drudge whose faith and humility teaches an austere big-wig of the church that religion, after all, should not be based on a classical, remote concept of God.

The critics saluted her and the columnists wrote long, enthusiastic pieces about her. She was appearing in all the magazines, interviewed and her picture began. This month you will find her on the cover of a monthly magazine. Paul Vincent Carroll, who wrote "Shadow and Substance," is an Irish school teacher who lives in Scotland, and not long ago he crossed the ocean to see the play that is making him independently wealthy. He is still here, and he thinks Ed-dies Dowling, who produced it, deserves a medal for casting Miss Hayden in the role of Bridget, the little servant girl.

Meanwhile, some day soon I have a date with Julie Hayden to sit down and talk, and although she doesn't know it, we aren't going to talk in any hotel bar or restaurant. Not if I can help it. I'm going to take her over to a Child's restaurant on Fifth avenue and sit her down at that table where I saw her, alone and melancholy, one gray afternoon last November.

Synovitis The synovial membranes are common about the joints and tendons. Their function is to secrete a lubricating fluid to facilitate smooth movement of the joints and tendons. Synovitis, or inflammation of these membranes, may be variously caused. It may result from direct injury to a joint, sprain or wrenching, or to the over use of a joint. It may also be caused by infectious conditions such as rheumatic fever, tuberculosis or syphilis, or by extension of the infectious process from foci of infection in the teeth, tonsils, sinuses and elsewhere in the body. People You Know

By ARCHER FULLINGIM

Would you like to know what a 100-year old woman thinks about? We are speaking of Mrs. Mary Wrye of Mobeetie who will be 100 years old Saturday. Remember now, she was born in 1838, two years after the battle of San Jacinto, 22 years before the Civil war began. Abe Lincoln was almost unheard of at the time. The middle western prairie were the western boundary of the United States. . . . Well, what does she think now that she's 100 years old. Well, for one thing she's happy that she's 100 years old and is still able to think, she's thankful that her mind is clear—although her eyes are not. So many people's minds grow feeble with their bodies, but not Mrs. Wrye. She thinks she owes her long life to her ancestors. Her grandfather lived to be 100 years old. He and his two brothers fought in the Revolutionary war. She can't see much hope for the future—people hurry too much and get too excited, she says. The happiest things in her life came to her while she was teaching school, she said. It has been her aim to try to help humanity. You should get so interested in helping other people you should forget about yourself, she said. It's fatal to think only of yourself. Next to teaching school, she has enjoyed church, Sunday school and the Bible most. She has read the Bible through six times. She has been a member of the Missionary Baptist church for 71 years. . . . She has never been to a show, and has been to one fair. . . . She has lived through four wars. The saddest was the Civil war. She lost her husband and other loved ones in the Civil war. The horrors she knew in that were indescribable. She has never talked about the war. She was born in North Carolina and has lived in Georgia, Tennessee and Texas.

Around Hollywood

By ROBBIN OONS

HOLLYWOOD—Eleven years from last Saturday, which was her ninth birthday anniversary, Shirley Temple will come into a fortune. How great a fortune is a riddle. All her earnings—minus expenses and taxes—are being saved for her in trust funds and annuities. Nobody besides the Temples and their immediate circle knows exactly what Shirley makes. Shirley has a "sealed contract." But Mrs. Temple admits freely that Shirley is in the 70 per cent income tax bracket, and that last year every cent the child received for endorsements—dresses, dolls, books, and so on—went to the government, plus $20 extra from her film earnings. Everybody else having guessed—and wrongly, Mrs. Temple insists—I will guess too: Shirley's gross income is around $650,000, her taxable income after deductions around $500,000, and her taxes—on receipts from endorsements—around $300,000. She gets at least $100,000 a picture. (Hollywood figures it's closer to $125,000.) Shirley is the greatest child star since Jackie Coogan, who left the screen with $2,000,000 in the bank. The Coogan fortune, by investment, increased substantially through the years. Shirley's recent suit against his parents set the present figure at $4,000,000. But Shirley, who may earn as much as Jackie did, probably won't have that much in the end. Taxes, you know. Shirley was three when she first faced a camera, but she was five before she got a contract at $150 a week. She was six before her salary approached her importance at the box-office, and seven before it attained real "big money" proportions. At nine she has two and one-half years to go on her present contract.

It's Up to Shirley Then what? "As I've always said," Shirley's mother affirms, "the moment Shirley seems to be tiring of picture work she will stop it. As long as she enjoys it, and the public wants her, Mr. Temple and I will let her keep on. We haven't any definite plans for her next few years—those will depend on Shirley."

Many in Hollywood believe that Shirley, if she wishes, can continue as a star right through the "awkward age." Recently the Temples refused an offer of $10,000 a week—for 26 weeks—for personal appearances by Shirley. They likewise rejected $100,000 for radio work. They think pictures are enough. The "endorsement money" doesn't require any work of Shirley's part. Shirley at nine is in grade 5 B, a year ahead of her age level. She lives in a pleasant, unpretentious Brentwood home, which doesn't boast a guest room. It has a swimming pool, in which Shirley is just learning to swim. The household includes a housekeeper, a chauffeur and bodyguard, a cook, a part-time gardener, and a high school boy who helps take care of Shirley's extensive collection of pets. Shirley knows now that she's famous—but the realization has come so gradually that it hasn't affected her. Mrs. Temple has stressed—as part of her "unspoiled Shirley" system—the thought that Shirley is applauded for hard work she's done, not because she is a glamor child. As tight-lipped about their charities as about Shirley's earnings, the Temples nevertheless devote a substantial part of their income to helping others. AUSTIN, April 26 (AP)—An institution especially designed to care for Texas' criminal insane is favored by Claud D. Teer, chairman of the board of control, which administers state eleemosynary establishments. He expressed the opinion in discussing the escape of Howard Pier-son, young slayer of his parents from the state hospital for insane at Austin.

The criminal insane have no place in institutions primarily intended for persons not criminally insane," Teer said. "An entirely different line of treatment is needed. A mixture of the has not been, and cannot be, satisfactory."

He recalled that several years ago the legislature authorized construction of a hospital unit within penitentiary walls to care for insane criminals but made no appropriation for it.

A number of states, including New York, have separate institutions for insane persons with criminal tendencies.

The fame of the Texas State Police seems to have spread to Czechoslovakia.

Headquarters received a letter from S. J. Hozz, Czechoslovakia, a member of the Zlin Rotary Club, requesting assistance in promoting a highway safety campaign.

A copy of the police traffic program was sent him.

Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, warns that the menace of diabetes is growing in Texas, last year claiming 600 lives.

While the controllable diseases, such as typhoid fever, malaria, diphtheria and smallpox are causing a smaller number of deaths each year," he said, "Diabetes, which was noticeably absent in pioneer days, now is taking a staggering toll."

Declaring diabetes was not a problem, he said the disease has increased in proportion to development of luxury living and general disregard for "basic laws of health."

It is "nature's backlash at coddling and pampering the body," he said. "There would be fewer victims of ravishing diabetes if those who are indulging in soft, anti-natural living would realize the folly of their ways," he added.

"Especially should middle-aged persons and those beyond middle age exercise care."

An annual physical examination was among his recommendations.

Individualism suffered a heavy blow at the University of Texas when officials decided graduates this year would be presented degrees en masse.

The faculty commencement committee announced that to keep the program from being too long and tiresome the time-honored custom of parading across the stage and receiving degrees individually would be abandoned.

The reason is that the university with a student body this year in excess of 10,000, has outgrown the old method of passing out sheepskins.

Sharing the Comforts Of Life . . .

By R. C. HOILES

Profits Out of War. There has been a couple of bills introduced into congress with the intended purpose of taking profits out of war.

The May bill especially is a very dangerous and drastic bill. While it does seem unfair for citizens to be drafted into war and compelled to work for low wages while the people at home make large wages and large profits, the bill certainly is not a practical bill.

It is hard to comprehend why any individual who takes great risks and produces equipment that will help win the war should not be rewarded just as much as any man who furnishes food, shelter and indulgences during the war.

We cannot see why it would not be practical to raise the pay of men enlisting so high and the taxes on consumption so high that the man who stayed at home would have to live so economically that all the resources of the country would be concentrated on winning the war. If the pay of the soldiers were so high and the taxes on consumption so high, it would then be a matter of choice with the men whether they enlisted or stayed at home. It might be even more desirable, from a financial standpoint, to enlist rather than remain at home.

With this kind of arrangement, it is doubtful whether any draft would be necessary. If taxes were high enough on consumption that the cost of the war was paid as it progressed, the man who stayed at home and did not devote all his energies and resources to winning the war would not have a very comfortable life, to say the least.

In any event, the plan as advocated by these bills, is very dangerous. It would weaken us in times of war and would prevent the aggregate initiative and talent of all the people from being used to win the war. It would make a bottleneck and greatly reduce efficiency, management and production. The columns are open.

Encouraging Sign.

One of the most encouraging signs that people are realizing that we cannot get people back to work by the government's spending policy was indicated by the survey made by the American Institute of Public Opinion. This organization asks a cross-section of the people in the United States their beliefs on important political and economic questions. They recently made public a survey as to whether or not the people believed it was to the advantage of our country to have the government continue its spending policy or retrench on spending.

The surprising thing is that nearly four out of five voted the government should retrench rather than increase its spending. Even among the people on the dole, about 49 per cent of these people voted against increasing spending.

If the congressmen come to understand that the people really mean this, they then might vote for economy and to stop the shameful waste of wealth that is depriving the honest workers of jobs and a decent living.

It is one of the first signs that we have observed that the people are coming to their senses.

'STARTERS' WILL BE PICKED AFTER INTRA-SQUAD GAME THURSDAY

EXES WILL BE OPPONENTS IN NIGHT GAME

Boys who will be called "starters" on the Harvester football eleven which will meet the exes in a night game next week will be named following an intra-squad game at Harvester field Thursday afternoon about 4 o'clock. No admission will be charged and fans are invited to see the boys in action.

The squad was divided last week with Coach Odus Mitchell taking one group and Coach J. C. Prejean the other. Since then the squads have been working separately and each expects to have numerous surprises for the other when they line up Thursday afternoon.

Following the game coaches are expected to name 11 boys to start against the exes in the big night game which will close the spring training period which has stretched over a two-month period because of unfavorable weather.

Spirited battles are expected at the center positions where Tommy Solomon and R. C. Gandler are battling. The loser may be shifted to tackle, however. The "short" jobs are also being a source of worry to coaches and a spot where a battle is raging between Glen Nichols and Albert Kemp. The guard assignments are also in the battle group with Rumble, Stiles and Bailey the big ends.

The two elevens are pretty evenly divided and fans are scheduled to see a spirited battle.

Paris College Wins District Track Crown

PARIS, April 26 (AP)—Paris Junior college scored 54½ points to win its fifth consecutive district 1 junior college track and field championship here yesterday.

Wesley of Greenville trailed in second place with 37 points; Texarkana Juniors were third with 32½. Jack Wilson of Paris hurled the javelin 200 feet, 4 inches to shatter the record of 170 feet, 4 inches set by McCrae of Paris last year. McCrae trailed yesterday with a heave of 191 feet, 4 inches.

Morgan of Marshall and Truby of Paris were to play off the singles finals in men's tennis today. Rogers and Tate of Kilgore will meet sometime later in finals of women's singles.

Other results yesterday: Team golf, Paris first, Texarkana, Tyler, second and third, respectively. Winners Ramsey and Dickson House.

Girls tennis doubles: Maurine Nichols and Virginia McLaughlin, Marshall, defeated Rice and Ainsworth of Kilgore 9-7, 6-2 for the title.

Boys doubles: Butts and Ellison of Paris won from Black and Warren of Marshall, 6-1, 6-1, 6-0, in the finals.

The Biscuit and Popeye Arrive For Race of Century

NEW YORK, April 26 (AP)—The Biscuit and Popeye the Sailor are both on hand and before you know it their hooves will be beating out the pattern for the race of the century.

The Biscuit is Seabiscuit, Charles S. Howard's famous king, who races Popeye the Sailor, War Admiral to you, for $100,000 at Belmont park, Decoration day. Seabiscuit joined the Admiral at Belmont yesterday and started limbering up today. He will not have any speed trials until Jockey Jack (Red) Folliard arrives.

Seabiscuit stepped from his car looking surprisingly fresh after the 3,000-mile journey from the coast. Trainer Tom Smith, however, says this is nothing unusual.

"He is a grand traveler," Smith commented, "nothing bothers him and the beauty of it is he never suffers any ill effects from a trip such as this one."

Smith has no plans for Seabiscuit beyond getting him limbered up in a day or two.

Regular ticket prices will prevail for the race, said an announcement yesterday by Cornelius V. Whitney, vice president of the Westchester Racing association. This means that ticket prices will range from $1.50 for general admission and $2.50 for unreserved grandstand to $8 and $10 for box seats.

Falling Chain Kayoes Ambers

NEW YORK, April 26 (AP)—Write this into Lou Ambers' record: "knocked out by Lou Ambers (1)."

The lightweight champion was working out in Stillman's gym yesterday. He took a terrific swing at a punching bag, knocked loose the upper fastening and the heavy chain which held it fell on Lou's head, putting his down for the count. He suffered two small scalp wounds.

MONTANEZ TO BOX WALLACE

By HUGH S. FULERTON, Jr.
NEW YORK, April 26 (AP)—Like the fellow who was often the best man but never the groom, Pedro Montanez, the Puerto Rican battler, appears to be always a prominent candidate for someone else's championship.

It was just about a year ago that Pedro was almost a sure shot to take the lightweight crown from Lou Ambers after he had cleaned up the rest of the challengers and had beaten the champion in an overweight bout. He didn't get it, but he's still rated the best man, outside of Ambers, in the 135-pound class.

Now Montanez, starting a campaign for a shot at Barney Ross' welterweight title, has run into another kind of trouble. He lined up an ambitious schedule, including two bouts in three days and was surprisingly held to a 10-round draw by Tommy Cross in the first of them last night at Philadelphia.

Pedro came in at his best weight, just above 137 pounds, and had a five-pound edge over the young Philadelphia negro, but he made the mistake of trying to save himself for tomorrow's encounter with Frankie Wallace of Cleveland at the Hippodrome. He didn't do any real fighting until the last round and then only enough to offset Cross' ineffective left jab.

As a result, Montanez probably will have to fight all the harder against Wallace, who gave him a terrific argument down in the homeland last summer. If Pedro wins decisively it should help atone for last night's fiasco at Philadelphia. Then he's booked for five bouts in about six weeks on the Pacific coast and Pedro figures if he can win them all he ought to be ready to lift the title.

NEW YORK, April 26 (AP)—Along about this time every year you worry about the feud that makes Penn and Drake hold their relays on the same days. Instead of scheduling them a week or two apart so each could have its pick of the crack athletes, rather than having to split up the headlines. Don't worry about "poor" Joe DiMaggio. In addition to the $25,000 he collects from the Yankees, he's only clearing up close to five grand for a magazine series, about the same for endorsements and about two G's a month from his fish place in Frisco.

Onkel Francis Frisch, whose Cardinals are "way down at the bottom of the bunch, might have a lot less to worry about if the gas house gang had some of its traded ivory back. REAL VILLAIN TURNS UP, AS TREMAINE FOE

Pampa wrestling fans thought Buck Lipscomb had returned to town last night when Sterling "Dilly" Davis replaced Gorilla Poggi in the main event but the villain succumbed before a ferocious attack of Andy Tremaine who "really went to town."

Poggi was unable to wrestle because of a nose infection which followed a broken breather a few weeks ago. Davis took his place and proceeded to use the ropes, demonstrate new trickery and generally bait the fans. Davis has one of the most perfect bodies seen in a local ring in many moons.

George Hartay opened the battle of middleweights with a 17-minute victory over Dick Sampson who went to the ropes and slugged for the first time since he came to Pampa. Hartay came out of a series of heart punches to drop Sampson with a few well-placed drop kicks and a jack-knife.

Soldier Thomas returned to the local mat and although handicapped by a severe case of sunburn went to a draw with Bob Cummings in the semi-final. The match was a grueling one, both matiers applying almost killing holds time after time. Both favored arm and head holds. The battle was clean from gong to gong.

A new referee appeared on the mat last night but he was unable to cope with the situation. Fans who have been "boiling" Ray Clements wished he was back but the "Big Train" has graduated to Oklahoma City "where I'll be appreciated," as he remarked. Promoter Cliff Chambers is in the market for a good referee and will receive applications from "wise guys" who think they can handle the situation.

Tremaine took plenty of punishment while wrestling clean. Davis' long suit was to get close to the ropes where he could use hands or feet to give additional leverage. Tremaine finally came out of a punishing arm bar to clamp on a rolling split which set Davis' shoulders on the mat in 18 minutes.

"Dandy Dilly" used the ropes to help himself win the second fall. He got Tremaine in an Indian stake hold and then got leverage by holding the ropes. The referee failed to see the rope trick and gave Davis the fall in 19½ minutes.

Tremaine took the situation in hand for the deciding fall after being punished with a chock leg scissor. The referee did nothing but get in his way so he pushed the third man in the corner and went after Davis who was sojourning outside the ropes. He pulled Davis over the

RIDEOUT AND BROWN TWINS TO ENTER PENNSYLVANIA RELAYS

PHILADELPHIA, April 26 (AP)—Sectional rivalries will be renewed this week-end when leading college trackmen of the east, south, mid-west and southwest vie for honors in the forty-fourth annual University of Pennsylvania relay carnival. Last year it was the east vs. the mid-west and southwest with honors even at four American titles each. Manhattan contributed two titles and Pittsburgh and Cornell one each to the east's total while Indiana won three and North Texas Teachers one.

The same rivalry is in prospect this year although the presence of strong southern teams may complicate the battle. Indiana, North Texas Teachers, Michigan, Ohio State and Michigan State are the chief western title favorites while Manhattan, New York University, Fordham, Columbia, Pittsburgh and Dartmouth carry hopes of the east for titles.

Relay officials awaited the arrival today of the North Texas Teachers squad, first of the 3,000 college, preparatory school and high school athletes expected here by Friday for the two-day classic. Included in the Teachers' squad scheduled to arrive for preliminary workouts were the famous twins, Wayne and Blaine Rideout and Elmer and Delmer Brown.

The Texans have three of the four runners in the Brown twins and Alvin Chrisman, who helped win the quarter-mile title last year and the same trio were members of the mile relay team which turned in the fast time of the 1937 carnival in winning the class B title. The Teachers also will present a strong distance medley quartet in the Rideout twins, Delmer Brown and Henry Morgan, Lone Star conference mile champion.

BUFFS BLANK BEAUMONT 2-0

(By The Associated Press)

Beaumont's Exporters, still leading the Texas league although blanked 2-0 by the Houston Buffs last night, move to San Antonio today (Tuesday) to play the Missions in the second of fifteen games scheduled on the Exporters' current road trip.

Both other games last night were also shut-outs. The Dallas Steers jumped from sixth place into a tie with the Missions for fifth position by trouncing second place Tulsa, 4-0.

Oklahoma City's Indians remained in fourth place despite a loss, 2-0, to the Fort Worth Cats. Dallas will play the Indians and Fort Worth moves to Tulsa tonight.

The tailender Shreveport Sports and the Missions were idle again last night because of rain. The Houston Buffs, clinging securely to third place in standings, trek to Shreveport for a day game with the Sports.

Stellar pitching by John (Brudder) Grodzicki, brought him his second shut-out and third victory of the season, as the Buffs downed the Exporters.

Rabbit McDowell of the Ft. Worth Cats, accidentally flipped his bat into the way of a pitched ball in the second inning, for a hit which scooped past first base and aided his teammates in their victory over the Indians.

King Oil and Danciger unofficially ushered in the softball season yesterday with King eking out an 8 to 7 victory over Danciger in a game on King diamond.

Morrison and Jamison divided the hurling duties for King with Patrick on the mound for Danciger. None of the pitchers "opened up" because of the early date. Hitting was brisk on both sides.

* King and Skelly are scheduled to tangle under the lights at the Skelly-Schaefer plant Thursday night.

The league season will open on May 3 with a possibly six team in the "big league," two entries having been reported ready to drop out.

Tyler Unbeaten In Five Starts

(By The Associated Press)

Games today: Longview at Henderson. Tyler at Texarkana. Palestine at Marshall. Jacksonville at Kilgore.

The Tyler Trojans, undefeated in five starts, moved over to Texarkana today (Tuesday) for an engagement with the LLiners.

Last night's 6-2 conquest of the Palestine Pals left the Trojans at the top of the East Texas league heap with a perfect record.

In second place were the Henderson Oilers, who dropped a close tilt 7-6 to the sixth place Liners last night.

Marshall still rode in third place despite a loss, 11-4 to the Jacksonville Jax. Kilgore's Rangers, in fourth position, were fresh from a win over last place Longview, 6-8.

Longview will play Henderson. Palestine engage Marshall and Jacksonville go to Kilgore for games today.

your pocket?

"Honestly, I don't know where the money goes. It's spent, but what I spent it for is more than I can say!"

Are these your sentiments too?

Take two quick hints from those who have learned to spend wisely and well:

- (1) Budget.
- (2) Read the advertisements.

Keep a strict, accurate account of every dollar. You spend so much for food, for rent, for clothes, for amusement. Write it down. And stick to the budget!

The second idea is a favorite plan of thrifty buyers. Each day, go over all the advertisements in this newspaper carefully. Find out in advance what things will best serve your needs, where you can buy them, what you must pay. The advertisements give you that news regularly!

Life is too short to worry any more than you can help about financial problems. Get the budget-advertising habit now!

DRIVING FAST CAUSES MOST CAR ACCIDENTS

In connection with Safety Week, being observed now in Pampa, the accident report issued this week by the Texas Department of Public Safety is of significance.

Of a total of 815 Texas accidents reported, 108 were caused by speeding, 84 by cases where the driver where the person involved did not have the right of way, 63 by driving on the wrong side of the road.

Pedestrians running into the path of cars accounted for 48 accidents; an improper left turn for 39, driver did not signal for 37, improper passing for 35, blinding lights for 32, skidded on wet pavement 32, tire blow out 31.

Other causes included: defective brakes 28, driver asleep 22, improper entry into highway 22, pedestrian ran into side of car 21, defective steering gear 17.

Parked on pavement, railroad grade crossing, and disregard of signs each accounted for 13 accidents; livestock on highway, cutting in on curve, no lights or no tail light each accounted for a dozen accidents.

Less than a dozen accidents in each class were from the following causes: disregard hand signal, improper right turn, trailer swaying, fell from car, driver's lack of attention, miscellaneous mechanical defects, physical defect, inefficient driver, no flares, passing street car on wrong side, failed to stop for school bus, wagon without lights.

ticians, especially "the present administration," viewed with horror a general sales tax, and oil men were not urging such a tax, nevertheless the oil industry was bearing a large one, the five-cent gasoline tax.

This tax represents 100 per cent of the wholesale value of the product," he said. "We are not advocating a general sales tax but want to point out the inconsistency."

Skelly To Talk

Also on the program of the oil section for an address was W. G. Skelly of Tulsa, Okla.

One thousand persons per month were murdered or killed by criminal negligence in the United States during the last 18 months, R. T. Harbo, administrative assistant to J. Edgar Hoover of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, said in a prepared address.

"This 18,000 death toll is more than one-third the number killed for an equal length of time during our participation in the world war," he said.

"Also there have been in the United States during this time approximately 71,000 felonious assaults resulting in wounds to the victims."

"Add to these figures the number of robberies, burglaries and other miscellaneous offenses, and we have a total of more than 2,000,000 serious crimes committed in the United States."

"Each year the financial cost of crime amounts to several billion dollars."

Prevention and suppression of crime constitute one of the most important problems confronting United States citizens, he said, urging strong public opinion back of and cooperative support in demanding vigorous enforcement of the law.

"There is great need for increased efficiency in all phases of law enforcement and administration," he said.

BANKHEAD BOYS ARGUE OVER CLOSING TIME

WASHINGTON, April 26 (AP)—The Bankhead boys from Alabama—Senator John and Speaker William—disagreed today on the probable date congress will adjourn.

Said Senator Bankhead: "This session will extend through June 15 or longer."

Said Speaker Bankhead: "I think adjournment will be not later than June 1. In fact, I'm putting a peg on that date right now."

CHUBBY STEWART HELD ON ASSAULT CHARGE

CHINESE EVACUATE AS JAP TROOPS ADVANCE

SHANGHAI, April 26 (AP)—Japanese, driving forward savagely only

12 miles from the east-west Lunghai railway, their objective in four months of fighting, reported today the entire Suchow area was being evacuated by Chinese civilians.

A Japanese army spokesman said aerial observation showed all roads in the sector choked with Chinese farmers carting their belongings southward and westward, in apparent expectation of a rapid Japanese advance upon Suchow, the strategic junction of the Lunghai and north-south Tientsin-Pukow railway.

At the same time a wide shakeup in the Japanese naval command in Chinese waters was announced.

"TOBACCO GROWERS FAVOR CAMELS FOR THEIR SMOKING!"

— is the majority opinion in a survey of well-known tobacco planters

"When Camel says 'costlier tobacco' I know it's right," says Mr. Edward Estes, capable young planter, who knows tobacco from the ground up because he grows it. "Take my last crop, for instance. Camel bought all the best parts—paid me the most I've ever gotten. The men who grow tobacco know what to smoke—Camels!"

"Last year I had the dandiest crop ever," says Mr. Roy Jones, another experienced planter who prefers Camels. "I smoke Camels because I know they bid higher and pay more at the auctions for the choice lots of leaf tobacco. They paid the highest price I ever got from anybody. Considering that Camel uses finer, costlier tobacco, it's not surprising that Camel is the leading cigarette with us planters."

Mr. Harold Craig, too, bases his preference for Camels on what he knows about the kinds of tobacco that go into the various cigarettes. "I get the check—so I know that Camels use more expensive tobacco. Camel got the best of my last crop. That holds true with most planters I know too. You bet I smoke Camels."

Joe DiMaggio

"How about it, Joe, do you find that Camels are different from other cigarettes?"

"Any all-cigarettes-are-alike talk doesn't jibe with my experience. There's a big difference. I've smoked Camels steadily for 5 years, and found that Camel is the cigarette that agrees with me, in a lot of ways. Good taste. Mildness. Easy on the throat. And Camels don't give me jumpy nerves. Like a lot of other people I know, I'd walk a mile for a Camel!"

BILL GRAHAM, seeing Joe DiMaggio pull out his package of Camels, asked his opinion on smoking. Joe came straight to the point: "There's a difference, a big difference, between Camels and the others." You, too, will find in Camels a matchless blend of finer, more expensive tobaccos—Turkish and Domestic.

TEXAN FLAYS DAIRY CATTLE FEEDING LAW

BY HOWARD MARSHALL.

WICHITA FALLS, April 26 (AP)—The annual convention of the West Texas chamber of commerce swept on today with interest centering on a mammoth parade early in the afternoon and an address by Mayor Ettore H. LaGuardia of New York.

Other high spots were a conference on oil and other mineral problems, additional preliminaries in the home town speaking contest, a directors' meeting, a band contest and at night the coronation of Miss West Texas.

The government's soil conservation program as it limits the dairying industry drew criticism as did certain reciprocal trade treaties permitting the importation of cattle from foreign countries.

Albert Mitchell of Albert, N. M., former president of the American Livestock association, told a group conference the cattle industry had been injured by the treaties and cattlemen were apprehensive of the ultimate results.

Under an agreement with Canada, 155,000 head of cattle and about 75,000 calves were permitted to enter the United States at a reduced tariff, he said. An agreement allowing cattle and meat importations from Argentina also was attacked.

"This policy is a source of considerable apprehension," he said. "It is inconsistent to aid agriculture with one hand and in turn offset this result by lowering the tariff on cattle."

Dairying Act Flayed.

Chester Harrison, manager of the Brownwood chamber of commerce, denounced a provision of the agricultural law which forbids feeding to dairy cattle soil conserving feed crops if the milk or butter is to be sold off the farm.

Answering a demand for explanation, E. M. Holmgren, director of the AAA program in Texas, said the limitation had been imposed by congress because dairy states of the north had feared encroachments on their industry from the southwest. He praised the soil conservation program as of certain last benefit.

Harrison complained there were 4,000 school children in Brown county who needed milk but we have to import milk and butter to feed them. "It was impossible to develop a dairying industry, he said, because farmers feared they might violate the law."

The works committee of the chamber at a night session approved resolutions advocating lower freight rates in West Texas.

Release of ear-marked public funds to complete dams of the Brazos river authority and other West Texas projects, protection of virgin wool and mohair by federal trade commission rules so the public would know when reclaimed wool and mohair was used in fabrics, establishing a permanent West Texas resources institute and museum and continued work for West Texas solidarity.

Another resolution adopted declared support for affiliated towns seeking highway and airway improvements, and particularly in obtaining air mail service connecting Amarillo and San Antonio through Lubbock, Big Spring, San Angelo, and Kerrville.

Election Tomorrow.

Opposition was expressed to reduction in tariff duties detrimental to West Texas livestock and agricultural products as well as tariff policies detrimental to potash gypsum and other mineral development.

There was talk generally that H. S. Hilburn of Plainview, first vice president of the chamber, would be elevated to the presidency. Abilene, Big Spring and Sweetwater have made bids for the next convention. The president and convention city

Maverick Club's Annual Show to Begin on Friday

The Maverick Boys club of Amarillo will stage their annual Maverick Jubilee Friday and Saturday nights, April 29 and 30, at the City Auditorium in Amarillo.

The boys put on their big show each year to help defray operating expenses of their club, and they are inviting the entire Panhandle to come in and see the two-hours of the best entertainment available, consisting of 14 acts of vaudeville.

Heading the list of stars appearing on the Jamboree program, is Stuttering Sam, who has furnished laughs over the radio for Panhandle folks for the past two years. Stuttering Sam is now in Hollywood working with Rufe Davis on radio, vaudeville and pictures. The popular entertainer is returning to Amarillo for the two nights of the Maverick Jubilee on a promise he made the Maverick Boys when he left for Hollywood that he would come back for their annual big doings.

Along with Stuttering Sam will be Art Quarry Tap Dancing—the three Roys singing trio—Don Jo and Mario—Bob Walker, Borger songster—Duke and his gang—Canyon German Band, and many other acts, including six top acts by the Maverick boys themselves.

PRICES BELOW LEVEL OF 1932 ANNOUNCED

Closely following the recent decline in wholesale market prices, Montgomery Ward today announced reductions in their retail prices to some of the lowest levels in the history of the company.

These new prices will be in force in all Montgomery Ward stores for the duration of the semi-annual Ward Week Sale, April 27 to May 7.

Mr. Johnson, manager of the local Ward store, commented: "Not since I have been in business, have I seen these prices go so low. They are even under the 1932-33 prices that we thought were absolutely rock bottom."

"Our buyers were lucky in being able to take advantage of the lower commodity prices. And, of course, buying for 578 stores, they were in a position to make really exceptional savings."

"We were able to get only limited quantities at these special savings, so we can maintain these new prices only during our Ward Week Sale."

MOVE TO 'DRAFT' MA LAUNCHED AT MEETING

SAN ANTONIO, April 26 (AP)—A move to draft "Ma" Ferguson as a candidate for governor was launched at a mass meeting here last night.

At the meeting, attended by about 800 persons, T. H. McGregor, former state senator from Austin; Mayor C. K. Quinn of San Antonio; Roy Sanderford of Belton, and Mrs. J. E. King of San Antonio, spoke urging the entry of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson in the race.

HEARINGS ON PUMP-PRIMING MOVE SLOWLY

WASHINGTON, April 26 (AP)—House Committee hearings on the administration pump-priming and relief program were progressing so slowly today that some members predicted the legislation would not be ready for floor debate by May 1.

Leaders had hoped that if the bill reached the house by that date, it would be ready for President Roosevelt's signature three weeks later. Secretary Ickes was called before the committee today to discuss resumption of a broad public works program, inasmuch as he has served as PWA administrator.

Simultaneously representative Better (D-NY) proposed that PWA be made a permanent branch of the interior department and that it be given new powers over the operation of publicly-constructed projects.

While legislators were discussing the spending-lending program, Democratic leader Rayburn of Texas read the house yesterday an anonymous letter which he said President Roosevelt had received. "I thought you (and Jim Farley)," the letter said, "might be interested in copies of a 'mailing' form attached to the letter spoke on 'alarm' over combating the depression with 'wasteful extravagance'."

"This is being originated in a large corporation in Detroit, Michigan, the same outfit that got out the chain telegrams started by their henchmen in different states, many of which were signed by minor children, babes in arms, and even the family pet poodle, and congress fell for it like a ton of brick, so they are about to try it again."

Copies of a petition form attached to the letter spoke on "alarm" over combating the depression with "wasteful extravagance." Representative Michener (R-Mich) interrupted Rayburn to request that he also submit "petitions being circulated among WPA workers urging congress to vote for huge expenditures."

President Roosevelt, who will discuss the business situation with Henry Ford tomorrow, may send congress a message late this week on revising the anti-trust laws. An informed person said it probably would request a broad study of the question by a joint congressional committee to report next January.

GOLD-FINDING MACHINE USED ON GOLF COURSE

PASADENA, Calif., April 26 (AP)—Because his gold-finding machine showed decided activity, Thomas Karns asked permission to dig two test holes near the ninth green of the City Golf course.

Officials granted permission, but they're skeptical. Evacuation to date has produced nothing but divots.

Why didn't somebody TELL me?

Many of these, we are convinced, will do this because they do not appreciate how little a LaSalle costs. They assume that LaSalle's price is high—because its quality and reputation are so high. But this isn't true!

As a matter of fact, you can pay more for certain models of eleven other cars than it costs to get a new LaSalle V-8.

If you expect to pay more than $1,000 for your next motor car—go on up and get a LaSalle. You ought to do this because there is really no substitute for Cadillac quality, Cadillac safety and Cadillac prestige.

Easter Cruise

BY MARION WHITE
Copyright, 1938, NEA Service, Inc.

Yesterday, Joyce realized at last that she really loves Dick but for the moment she does not admit it.

CHAPTER XVII

In the afternoon they hired a car and drove across the island to the little town of Port Antonio. Every mile was picturesque; here the road was a narrow trail, winding up a mountainside where they could look down into the valley and follow the course of the rippling river cascade over the rocky falls; in other spots it followed the shore line, curving in a horseshoe fashion around some little blue-green inlet of the sea, bordered by tall coconut palms bent toward the water's edge by the force of hurricane winds.

At Port Antonio the road was high above the water, the harbor was a deep blue lagoon almost encircled by high hills or verdant palms and palmets, and gleaming white ships lay at anchor under the bright water, catching the rays of the sun in their brass trimmings. Only one event marred the perfection of the day. Returning along a different route, they rounded a bend and stopped suddenly, to see the road ahead entirely buried under an avalanche of loose dirt and rocks. But their driver, a bright young colored lad, who combined shrewdness in the afternoon with studying of medicine at the college in the morning and evening, calmed their fears. They would not be late getting back to the ship, he assured them; he knew a detour, not a half mile away.

Despite the detour, which took them four miles out of their way, they were back at the wharf a full half hour before the Empress was scheduled to sail. And to Joyce's delight, the water front was still crowded with vendors. Their stocks seemed but slightly depleted, and many of the other passengers were engaged in last-minute shopping.

She realized with a sudden pang that this was the end of her foreign travel. From Kingston the Empress would sail to Miami, and thence to New York. But Miami was no quaint tropical village. There the shops would feature the same smart novelties that she could pick up along Fifth Avenue. On the entire cruise, she had bought nothing but the set of dishes this morning. Aunt Martha would grumble and frown at the thought of spending good money for what she might call foreign junk, but nevertheless she'd like some of the beads, to offer at the next church bazaar, with a superior explanation: "My niece, you know, bought them in the West Indies."

So she bought beads; vivid, colorful strands, some made of dyed seeds and pods, some of carved fish bone (shark's back-bone, the native boys told her, to make the sale more exciting), some of jet-black glass, which looked far more expensive than the one shilling they cost. She bought an enormous hand-woven straw hat, which Aunt Martha could wear about the garden while spraying June bugs off the rambling roses; she bought bright baskets for mending and marketing.

"For heaven's sake," Dick complained, "where are you going to put all this?"
"Oh, I'll find a place," she replied vaguely, hurrying toward a pile of the wicker furniture, from whence she added two small tables and a rocking chair to her collection.
"There!" she said with satisfaction. "I think I've got enough."
"I'll say it's enough. If you have an idea of walking through the Grand Central Station loaded down with this—"

"Dick, look!" She laid a detaining hand on his arm, indicating with a quick nod the three men who were coming down the wharf toward them.

"Why, it's Gregory!" he exclaimed, following her direction.
A very different Mr. Gregory it was, however. A fearful, furious Mr. Gregory, his face white and drawn, his mouth a thin, horrible line of hatred and desperation. Behind the thick glasses, some made of dyed seeds and pods, some of carved fish bone (shark's back-bone, the native boys told her, to make the sale more exciting), some of jet-black glass, which looked far more expensive than the one shilling they cost. ISOBEL smiled mysteriously. "He is probably worn out from our day ashore," she said proudly. "We had the most marvelous time! Just before we came ashore we stopped at the Myrtle Bank for cocktails and someone suggested an Iron Heel to Hilary."
So it's Hilary, Joyce thought. I knew Isobel and he would be congenial.
"Of course he hadn't the slightest idea what it was," Isobel said brightly. "But he's such a good sport! He had two of them. I wonder what effect they're having."

She laughed in gay abandonment. Something's wrong with me, Joyce told herself. If Mr. Gregory is a good sport, then I don't know my critics. I wonder if they were running him to a hospital. The Iron Heels might have kicked back.

Mrs. Porter shook her head reprovingly. "I think it's very foolish, Isobel, to try these strange drinks." She looked at her usual spirit this evening; it was plain that she did not approve of Isobel's plan of burying her romance with Dick in a new affair with Mr. Gregory. Or perhaps she was not ready to admit defeat. She turned to Dick now, and asked him, with forced brightness: "You have an enjoyable day, Richard?"

"Perfect!" he replied and proceeded to outline the highlights of the trip to Port Antonio.
Isobel's lip curled with a new show of disdain. "We were going to Port Antonio," she boasted, "but everybody said there's nothing to see out there since the termites ate the Titch Field Hotel. We went over to the golf club—it's very exclusive, you know—but Hilary had friends."

She looked at Isobel's such an assuming person, don't you think? But he comes from a splendid family. And he's been in the banking business for years... knows every detail of it, inside and out....
At that moment Joyce felt a little sorry for her. If she were talking this way to stir up some show of jealousy on Dick's part, her tactics were very crude and very obvious. Particularly since she had made no previous pretense of affection for Mr. Gregory.

"Dr. Gray seems to be late for dinner, too," she remarked, endeavoring to change the conversation.
"PERHAPS, he's out on deck looking for the sunken city by moonlight," Dick laughed. "The old sailors might have seen the reflection of electric street lights through the water. You've heard the legend, Mrs. Porter?"

"About the earthquake? Of course. It's no legend, however. The earthquake is an actual fact of history."
"Have you ever seen the sunken city?" Joyce asked hopefully.
"No, I think that might be a sailor's myth. The wreckage is all there, however, and even now, an old relic of the past is brought up by fishermen occasionally."

"Rubbish!" Isobel contradicted rudely. "These old West Indian fairy tales are more sick, sunken cities and voodoo worship and pirates' gold.... it's ridiculous, all of it. Only ignorant people would give it a second thought."

Her mother's face became a little bitter. "Then perhaps I am an old ignorant person. I've always been fascinated by the tradition of the islands."

Presently the doctor joined them, apologizing for being so very late. "Had to check up some details for the captain, you know, in this Gregory affair," Isobel demanded, pretending a tremendous concern.
"Ill?" The doctor's voice was flat. "No, he isn't ill. I thought you'd all heard all about it."

"We were just wondering why he was so late to dinner," Mrs. Porter told him.
Dr. Gray frowned. "He was arrested in Kingston," he said quietly.
"Arrested?" Isobel echoed, thunderstruck. "What for?"
"Embezzlement. Ran off with some bank funds back in New Jersey." He spoke shortly, reluctant to discuss the man who had been a guest at his table for so many days. "Let's forget it, shall we? It's a very unfortunate affair. Very."

In amazement, they turned their attention to the food on their plates, each one too thoroughly shocked to make any attempt at light conversation. Mr. Gregory arrested! Joyce remembered her vague distrust of the man; she recalled his peculiar outburst on the bench at La Playa. "I only live once. Why shouldn't I have the same as anyone else?" So he had stolen, to get it.

Mrs. Porter looked at her daughter, and her glance dripped contempt. You made a fool of yourself, it said plainly; you would come back here tonight and boast of his banking ingenuity.
Yet of them all, Isobel was the first to regain her composure. "Well, it certainly goes to show," she offered philosophically, "you never can tell. I'm glad he had those two Iron Heels. He'll have a long time to cool off."

BRITAIN MOANS LACK OF DEFENSE PLANES

LONDON, April 26 (AP)—The disquieting realization that Britain has not enough airplanes either to defend itself or attack an enemy successfully placed a major problem squarely before Parliament and cabinet today.
From all sides came charges that the domestic aircraft industry was not producing bombers and fighters rapidly enough.

The scramble for more planes was said to be based on the British military theory that the next war would be fought with tremendous masses of aircraft both in defending London and other vital points and in inflicting immediate devastation upon enemy objectives.

Such a war, this theory, held, would last only a few weeks and victory would ride with the largest airforce.
The plane problem promised to come to the fore in Parliament just before Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer, unfolds his budget Tuesday. One member of Parliament has asked permission to raise the question.

Unless there is a satisfactory explanation of a serious lag in air rearmament, it was predicted a parliamentary storm would be loosed in a formal inquiry into air ministry methods.

THE INCOME TAX

A group of independent oil producers walked into the office of a California capitalist.

"Take, we understand you've got $750,000," they announced.

"Yep, just exactly."

"Give it here," the oilmen said, "and we'll make you a whole lot richer."

"I'm listening," the capitalist said wisely.

The oilmen wanted to buy $750,000 worth of labor and the products of labor, and build a pipe line to take their oil to the sea. They explained their proposition.

"None," said the capitalist.

"Why not?" asked the oilmen.

"Isn't it a good set-up?"

"Gentlemen, is it undoubtedly the greatest opportunity of my life," the capitalist cordially said. "The income tax is the reason why not."

"You have proved to me that this pipe line would make me a million dollars," he continued. "But with the income tax, it would take me at least ten years to get my money back. And I don't expect to be alive ten years from now, or even five."

"Suppose I gave you the money, and the pipe line earned $100,000 profit the first year. All income taxes would leave me with about $60,000—plus, the pipe line, of course. But then, suppose I popped off. The government would step in with the inheritance tax. Noting the $100,000 earning power, the government might put a valuation of two million on my pipe line, and might hand my wife and daughters a tax bill for one million, payable in cash. To get the cash, they would be forced to sell for anything they could get, and turn most of it over to the tax collector. This greatest opportunity of my life could in this way wipe out my fortune and ruin my family. Gentlemen, I have, of necessity, returned."

"What about your money?" the oilmen inquired.

"It's retired," too—in government bonds," Jake said. No tax, no worry, no trouble about cashing part of them, no nothing."

Thus out of the window went at least $750,000 worth of immediate jobs plus all the other jobs which would have been required in the pipe line's operation.

In substance the foregoing is a true story. This capitalist blamed his decision on the income tax and the income tax's brother, the inheritance tax. And labor was the goat.

Income tax did not do the time away from that capitalist. In time-free government bonds his money is safe, although he hates to keep it there. Income tax took three quarters of a million dollars straight out of the pay checks of the guys who would have made the pipe line and necessary machinery, the guys who would have put the pipe line together; it prevented the foundrymen's wives and the laborer's children from getting $750,000 worth of food and clothing and the rent money.

And when you consider that the government didn't profit a penny from the cash of the pipe line and the capitalist—on the contrary must itself pay interest on Jake's bonds—the income tax law looks a trifle silly.

And the further you examine the actual workings and results of this law, the sillier the law proves itself, till a point of downright economic stupidity has been reached—with labor ALWAYS the goat.

Originally the income tax was designed, not to "soak the rich," as so many persons believe, but to bring in revenue. It now provides about two fifths of the federal revenue, or more than two million dollars a year.

But because it SEEMED to soak the rich it immediately became popular with labor. Labor has no active opposition. Actually it soaks the poor. It feeds on jobs and thus on the bread and clothing of everybody who works or would work if he could.

Capitalists abhor the income tax, and continually attack it. Naturally. But the people who really have cause for objection are the workmen of the nation.

Prove it! Here we go.

A group of business men decided a certain area near Los Angeles would be a lovely place for a subdivision. They planned to build a city of small homes. They put up more than $400,000 of their own money, got the land they wanted, and started hiring labor right and left—street graders, plumbers, architects, carpenters. Indirectly but just as definitely, by releasing his money into general circulation they also gave work to thousands of other persons, from the mechanics on the assembly line of a distant tractor factory to the farmers and bakers who produced the bread their ditchdiggers ate.

The subdivision went over with a bang. They sold $700,000 worth right off the bat. BUT—

They sold it in contracts—so much down, so much a month—because that's the way you must sell subdivisions, particularly when yours is intended for ordinary folks, as this one was, and not for millionaires.

In cash they took in only about $75,000, part of which they put immediately back into the development.

The contracts called for payments spread over ten years. Therefore the group fondly imagined they could report their income and profits, and pay tax, as and when received. BUT—

"No," said the government. "These contracts of yours are worth value. Your profit may be a paper profit, but it is a profit, and you made it all in one year. Here is an income tax bill for $120,000."

Well, they didn't have any $120,000. The subdivision came to practically a complete stop as far as its promoters were concerned. And bang went the jobs.

In the bank the group had less than $50,000. And the government stand has become something of a policy. It settled for everything they had in the bank—minus, of course, an $18,000 fee for the attorneys. If you figure that this collection cost the government as much for legal piloting as it cost the promoters, the government's cash "take" shrinks to about $10,000. Thus for $10,000 the income tax halted an industry that in one year turned over to labor almost half a billion dollars, and seemed likely to turn over at least $100,000 a year more for several years.

LABOR'S MOST VICIOUS ENEMY

Reproduced by Consent from Liberty and Written by Robert Neal Leath

Silly? You ain't heard nothin' yet! The subdivision still was there, regardless of everything. The group still owned it. Like all promoters, they had known in advance that some of the contracts would bounce back, particularly if another general business "recession" came along. So a great many contracts bounced.

And, actually, before the group could return home from Washington, the government had filed suit in California for an additional $25,000!—claiming the group had gained additional profit from the reversion of real estate represented by the forfeited contracts!

The government did not worry its head explaining where the group could raise any cash to pay. In the subdivision business you cannot hand the government part of a lot, or in the dairy business a few Holstein calves. You must pay in CASH, even if you must go bankrupt and sacrifice your assets on the auction block at a dime on the dollar to do it.

The result? Our promoters were forced into receivership. But the lads who really got it in the neck were, as usual, the workmen—who lost their jobs.

Another California group got together. They were interested in oil exploration—discovery of NEW oil pools. Wildcatting. They persuaded themselves to combine with the following reasoning:

Among California wildcat wells, chosen with the best biological advice and drilled with unlimited capital—wells that did not have to be abandoned before definite showings for lack of funds—about one in thirty strikes oil. One individual drilling one wildcat, might, with great luck, find a fortune—and other individuals, with twenty-nine more wells, might find nothing, and pay for their individual failures out of their own pockets—since the government with the income tax, participates always in a man's profits but never in the losses.

Combined, however, and drilling all thirty wells at once, all the individual operators together, shared their successors pay for the dry holes BEFORE they figured profits and income tax.

The group's reasoning was sound. They started drilling. But for the first few years they were unlucky. Each year they went into the red, lost money. But they retained their faith; kept on meeting the pay roll regularly. Then, last year—wham! A killing! Money all over the place!

So the government stepped in. Income tax, you remember, ignores the years you lose. You cannot start with a million loss half of it, then in one year earn $600,000, put back what you lost, and THEN figure tax on $100,000. You must figure on the whole $600,000. When the smoke cleared away, the group discovered that, despite their killing, they had less capital than when they began.

Technically, the tax bill of this group was for both income and "undistributed profits" taxes. If, as a corporation, you fail to promptly pay your income tax and divide what's left among your stockholders so that this money can be taxed over again—if you want to use your profits for employing more labor and expanding your business—THEN the government slaps an undistributed profits tax on your bank account. The total can run up to 40 per cent.)

NEW YORK, April 26 (P)—Death has stayed the restless hand of George Grey Barnard, 74, one of the world's great sculptors.

A heart ailment claimed the white-haired artist Sunday while he lay in a hospital, fretting to complete his gigantic statue of Abel, brother of Cain.

The modern Michelangelo, whose marble figures grace the great galleries of the world, also left uncompleted his life's masterpiece—The Rainbow Arch, "a monument to democracy."

Barnard, who worked 15 years and spent $200,000 of his own money to prepare a 100-foot model of the arch, had sculptured in plaster 400 heroic statues for the frieze. Death intervened before he could raise funds to convert his dream into marble.

NEW YORK, April 26 (P)—Five members of a British mission, headed by Air Commodore James G. Weir, arrived on the S. S. Queen Mary today to explore the possibilities of buying American aircraft to help speed Britain's $7,500,000,000 armament program.

Commodore Weir indicated the mission would make a thorough canvass of United States aircraft factories to determine how many planes and what types of fighting craft could be obtained.

Asked if he had been empowered to buy planes, Commodore Lord Winterton, undersecretary for air, said that action would be taken to explore the possibility of purchasing aircraft in the United States to assist in the expansion of British air forces.

Commodore Weir said he could not say at this time what types or how many planes Britain would seek to buy in this country, nor how much money his government was prepared to spend.

Postal receipts at Goldthwaite in the first quarter of 1938, exceeded all previous records, Postmaster M. Y. Stokes Jr. says. An additional clerk was authorized on account of increased business.

NOYES QUILTS AS PRESIDENT OF AP SERVICE

NEW YORK, April 26 (P)—Frank B. Noyes retired today as president of the Associated Press with a last "gift" from the membership—a pledge that the service would be rededicated "to the cause of truth in the news."

In a speech prepared for the AP's annual luncheon, Paul Bellamy, editor of the Cleveland Plain-Dealer, praised Noyes' unbroken tenure of 38 years in the presidency now ended, and told him:

"... this is not farewell. It is not even an adieu. We are to have your counsel for many years more, but now is as good a time as any ever come to tell you that the members of the Associated Press can never repay you for what you have so freely given up in the years of your leadership."

"There is a gift we can give you today," he said "which will gladden your heart more than any other, and I think I know this membership well enough to say that we will give it to you."

We can and we do dedicate ourselves to the cause of truth in the news. This cause was never in direr need of defenders than today. The march of events intensifies class differences. The centrifugal forces which have split apart many a country in the past are at work among us.

"One pressure group after another takes the center of the stage, each fanned into a fierce flame of endeavor by its leaders. Who, then, shall start for America first and his own 'isms' second? Only that one, I suspect, who can see the country whole and know it as it really is, know all its parts and their relationship to each other, know what the entire adventure is about."

And how do we develop citizens of this order? Only by telling fully and truly what is going on. Public opinion rules a democracy and news is the raw material of public opinion.

"... we shall tell the truth," he added, "and more resolutely than ever. We shall do it because we love and honor you and the other founders of this great free news service. We shall do it because you have been right for 45 years. We shall do it because your own consciences impel us. We shall do it because our beloved country requires us to keep the faith."

Prevention and killing of jobs constitute only the first barrel of the machine gun with which income tax blasts at the livelihood of the nation's workman.

So that labor can get to work!

MANCHESTER'S EXAMPLE CITED TO EAST TEXANS

LONGVIEW, April 26 (P)—East Texas businessmen were told today how the heroic efforts of the leaders of Manchester, N. H., saved that place from economic ruin and gave it the name of "the city that refused to die."

William H. Zeller of Manchester, outlined for delegates of the East Texas chamber of commerce convention a new chapter in American city planning and economic development, and urged them they might well pattern after Manchester.

Zeller related the story of how Manchester business men, working cooperatively through their chamber of commerce, rehabilitated a huge industrial plant that failed during the depression and saved the city from ruin. He told how the city perpetuated and protected its principal source of income, and added:

"East Texas, one of the richest sections in the nation, looks prosperously full in the face today. But its cities, with their natural resources, raw products, cheap fuel, transportation facilities, ideal climate and other advantages, might well pattern after Manchester."

The Manchester business men raised $5,500,000 in cash in five days when the New Hampshire city saw its largest industry closed down. One year later, the plant was 92 per cent occupied by manufacturing industries, 50 per cent of which had purchased the space they formerly rented. The job was done, Zeller said, and shortly thereafter an offer to sell the plant at more than a million dollars profits was refused.

BRITONS ARRIVE HERE TO SHOP FOR AIRCRAFT

NEW YORK, April 26 (P)—Five members of a British mission, headed by Air Commodore James G. Weir, arrived on the S. S. Queen Mary today to explore the possibilities of buying American aircraft to help speed Britain's $7,500,000,000 armament program.

Commodore Weir indicated the mission would make a thorough canvass of United States aircraft factories to determine how many planes and what types of fighting craft could be obtained.

Asked if he had been empowered to buy planes, Commodore Lord Winterton, undersecretary for air, said that action would be taken to explore the possibility of purchasing aircraft in the United States to assist in the expansion of British air forces.

Commodore Weir said he could not say at this time what types or how many planes Britain would seek to buy in this country, nor how much money his government was prepared to spend.

Postal receipts at Goldthwaite in the first quarter of 1938, exceeded all previous records, Postmaster M. Y. Stokes Jr. says. An additional clerk was authorized on account of increased business.

FURTHER PROCEEDINGS ORDERED IN FILM SUIT

WASHINGTON, April 26 (P)—The Supreme Court ordered further court proceedings today on the government's suit to enjoin a group of leading motion picture distributors and Texas exhibitors from alleged violation of the anti-trust laws through film licensing agreements.

In an opinion read by Chief Justice Hughes, the tribunal said the Northern District of Texas District Court had not stated its "findings of fact" as required by federal procedure.

Hence the high court set aside a decree granted the federal government by the district court. The case now returns to the court.

Justices Stone and Black expressed the opinion that the court should go ahead and decide the case even though the findings were "informal."

Justice Cardozo did not participate.

Motion picture producers and distributors appealing to the Supreme Court from the decree were Columbia Pictures Corporation, Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corporation of Texas, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Distributing Corporation, Paramount Pictures Distributing Company Inc., RKO-Radio Pictures Inc., United Artists Corporation, Universal Film Exchanges Inc., and Vitaphone Inc.

These companies were held by the district court to have violated the anti-trust law by agreeing with Interstate Circuit Inc., which operates theaters in Texas, to place restrictions on the use of films licensed to its competitors.

AGREEMENT REQUIRED IN NEW DIVORCE LAW

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 26 (P)—The Supreme Court in a 5-2 decision has held that Arkansas' new law allowing divorce upon three years separation requires mutual agreement between husband and wife.

The majority decision written by Chief Justice Griffin Smith held that the separation act could not be invoked in a case where the husband suggested that his wife leave home for a short visit with relatives in another city, then moved from the home to a hotel in the home city and maintained a status of separation for three years in disregard of the wife's request that he return to her.

NEW YORK, April 26 (P)—Demand of the foreign oil companies of the right to continue draining Mexico of its wealth, and the insistence of the Mexican labor movement that labor be permitted to share in this wealth led to the Mexican petroleum controversy, Mayor W. J. Hammond of Port Worth told the Institute of Public Affairs today.

Mayor Hammond, who teaches Mexican history at Texas Christian University, was one of the 30 speakers who will discuss United States-Mexican relations at sessions of the institute sponsored jointly by the Arnold foundation of Southern Methodist University and the Carnegie endowment for international peace.

"The laborers in Mexico are fighting for the interests of their country, but the oil men are not even fighting for the United States, only for money and business," Mayor Hammond asserted.

Samuel Gompers, deceased American labor leader, was named by Mayor Hammond as the man who had done more for Mexican labor than any other. His influence prevented the United States from intervening in Mexico in 1916, Mayor Hammond said, and President Carranza followed Gompers' advice when the Mexican government had ignored demands of the President of the United States.

Mayor Hammond traced the growth of the Mexican labor movement which he said is determined to end domination of United States capital.

"Texans have an opportunity to interpret Mexico to the United States so that they will not be warring nations, such as France and Germany, but so that each will appreciate the other and will live together in peace and understanding," he asserted.

TRAVELING SEA LION PLAYS HOOKEY THIRCE

NEW YORK, April 26 (P)—Amos, Brooklyn's perambulating sea lion, had his keepers in a frenzy today, trying to figure out how he had played hookey from his pool in Prospect park zoo three nights in a row.

The sea lion—just hundreds of pounds of good clean fun—waddled over to the bear pits Friday night. He tripped a taxi-cab driver Saturday night by trying to hitch a ride to Manhattan, where gather most of those in the night life swim.

Last night Amos ambled down a Flatbush street, bristling his mustache and leering amably at the ladies.

A man bumped into Amos' smooth bulk in the dark.

"Pardon me," he said. "Har-r-r-r-umph," snorted Amos. "These foreigners," sighed the man.

Later a crowd began to gather and passing automobiles stopped, too. But police and Moe Maded, a zoo keeper, unceremoniously rolled Amos in a trapaulin, carried him back to his pool and dunked him.

Tonight a watch will be set over Amos to see how he conquers his six-foot fence.

MUDDY RIVER SETBACKS DATE OF TARPON RODEO

BROWNSVILLE, April 25 (P)—The International Tarpon Rodeo scheduled for this week has been postponed until May 12 and 13 because of the muddy condition in the Rio Grande.

Last week the river was so low anglers were hoping for a slight rise to stimulate the silver kings, but they were not bargaining for the muddy surge that came down the river today. Postponement was announced by J. H. Batsell, president of the International Tarpon Club.

WORKERS SEEK GUARANTEE OF MINIMUM PAY

DETROIT, April 26 (P)—The first known attempt of workers in the automobile industry to obtain a guarantee of an annual minimum wage was revealed today by the Ford Brotherhood of America, an independent labor organization.

The brotherhood's goal is at least $1,500 a year for every hourly-rate worker in the mammoth Rouge plant of the Ford Motor company in suburban Dearborn, where it claims a membership of 21,400. During peak production periods the factory has nearly 90,000 employees.

The F. B. A. disclosed that it has been negotiating with the company the past month and, after numerous conferences, submitted written contract proposals to the management Saturday.

Louis J. Colombo Sr., Ford counsel, represented the company in the negotiations and turned over to Edsel Ford, president of the concern, the brotherhood's proposals.

As far as could be learned, this was the first time that organized workers in the industry have sought contractual assurance of an annual minimum wage. It is known, however, that at least one other

PROF. DEFENDS MEXICAN OIL EXPROPRIATIONS

DALLAS, April 26 (P)—Demand of the foreign oil companies of the right to continue draining Mexico of its wealth, and the insistence of the Mexican labor movement that labor be permitted to share in this wealth led to the Mexican petroleum controversy, Mayor W. J. Hammond of Port Worth told the Institute of Public Affairs today.

Mayor Hammond, who teaches Mexican history at Texas Christian University, was one of the 30 speakers who will discuss United States-Mexican relations at sessions of the institute sponsored jointly by the Arnold foundation of Southern Methodist University and the Carnegie endowment for international peace.

"The laborers in Mexico are fighting for the interests of their country, but the oil men are not even fighting for the United States, only for money and business," Mayor Hammond asserted.

Samuel Gompers, deceased American labor leader, was named by Mayor Hammond as the man who had done more for Mexican labor than any other. His influence prevented the United States from intervening in Mexico in 1916, Mayor Hammond said, and President Carranza followed Gompers' advice when the Mexican government had ignored demands of the President of the United States.

Mayor Hammond traced the growth of the Mexican labor movement which he said is determined to end domination of United States capital.

WORKERS SEEK GUARANTEE OF MINIMUM PAY

DETROIT, April 26 (P)—The first known attempt of workers in the automobile industry to obtain a guarantee of an annual minimum wage was revealed today by the Ford Brotherhood of America, an independent labor organization.

The brotherhood's goal is at least $1,500 a year for every hourly-rate worker in the mammoth Rouge plant of the Ford Motor company in suburban Dearborn, where it claims a membership of 21,400. During peak production periods the factory has nearly 90,000 employees.

The F. B. A. disclosed that it has been negotiating with the company the past month and, after numerous conferences, submitted written contract proposals to the management Saturday.

Louis J. Colombo Sr., Ford counsel, represented the company in the negotiations and turned over to Edsel Ford, president of the concern, the brotherhood's proposals.

As far as could be learned, this was the first time that organized workers in the industry have sought contractual assurance of an annual minimum wage. It is known, however, that at least one other

NEW IMPORTED FRUITS

A South African berry, sweet yet tangy, with a subtle, wild flavor, has been canned and recently imported into the United States. They make marvelous tarts and are delicious, too, served with cream or combined with other fruits.
