HEW Decision On Medicare Is Explained

Olton Community Hospital and Clinic received word this week from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, that their decision reinstating the hospital as a provider of medicare services was made "after an evaluation of the precautions presently being taken by the staff of Community Hospital to minimize hazards to patients and the cooperation and the endeavors made to correct existing deficiencies."

In addition, the HEW letter stated that "the action of the community in causing State legislation to be enacted providing that a hospital district might be created by favorable public referendum indicates the community supports your good faith and the efforts you are making to upgrade the level of care provided by the hospital."

Continued participation in the Medicare program will be dependent upon the continued efforts of the hospital to correct existing deficiencies and to remain in compliance with the Medicare conditions of participation.

District 3-AA Adds 2 Teams, New Schedules Are Released

Olton school administrators and coaches were hosts Monday night to the District 3-AA representatives when they met to set up schedules for 1970-71.

Schools represented were Abernathy, Dimmitt, Floydada, Friona, Littlefield, Lockney, Morton and Olton, which makes up the new district.

Ray Schultz was re-elected as chairman and Joe Turner was re-elected secretary.

The first order of business was the drawing of schedules for the eight schools. Olton's district play is as follows:

Oct. 2 -- Friona at Olton
Oct. 9 -- Olton at Littlefield

Oct. 16 -- Abernathy at Olton
Oct. 23 -- Olton at Floydada

Oct. 30 -- Morton at Olton
Nov. 6 -- Olton at Lockney
Nov. 13 -- Olton at Dimmitt

The non-conference schedule has not been officially worked out as yet, but will be released at a later date.

Other business included the adoption of rules.

It was agreed that the proceeds of the gate, minus the expenses of four officials would be split 50-50. The only exception to this rule was that any other arrangements must be made by mutual consent of the opposing teams.

Admission will be $1.50 for adults and 75¢ for students. However the amount that is charged in addition to the $1.50 for reserved seats will be retained by the home team.

Officials will be selected from a recognized UIL association. Each home school will be responsible for securing a timekeeper, and the visiting school shall be granted the privilege of providing an assistant to the timekeeper. It was further agreed that only adults be used to carry the chain and down marker.

Opposing coaches must be agreed by May 1, 1970, as to what officials will be used. If the coaches cannot agree, decision will be made by the school administrators.

All district games will begin at 7:30 p. m. unless changed by mutual agreement of school involved, and if changed, all other schools must be notified. Home school shall be responsible for notifying all other schools if a change in time is made.

Chairman of the district will send 12 passes to each school. The home school may issue a season pass for the team physician and his wife, and the pass is to be honored by all schools of the district.

Members of the band and cheerleaders in uniform will be admitted free.

A Wilson TD2 football with stripes will be used. The ball

Rains And Tornado Make The Scene

Rains continue to fall on the area which has seen an early freeze damage cotton crops, and lighten the maize yield in parts of the country.

A total of 2.95 inches of moisture has been officially recorded by James Gallagher, as of Thursday morning at 7 a. m. However, cloud laden skies were still hovering over head and dropping moisture on the already soaked fields.

Sunday night a tornado dropped out of the clouds north of Olton at the Raymon Carson farm, taking with it a portion of the roof, uprooting trees and moving the barn off its foundation.

Carson had stepped out on the front porch to look at the cloud because of the heavy lightning and thunder, but said he didn't see anything other than bright lightning and decided that it was just a thunderstorm.

He had just gone back into the house and told his family that he didn't think it "was going to do anything" and about that time, the tornado struck.

Billy Carson, son of the Raymon Carsons, and his wife, Emma Lou were visiting at the time of the tornado. Billy Carson was in the dining area which was one of the hardest hit spots in the house.

"I was oiling my saddle and heard this terrible wind and saw the storm windows being ripped off so I dove to the floor." He was cut by flying glass but not seriously.

Carson's study was on the other end of the house and it was also severely damaged. Windows were blown out both on the north and south and debris strewn through the room.

"They're lucky to even be here," Mrs. H. B. Carson, sister-in-law of Raymon Carson, commented concerning the tornado that struck the latter's place Sunday night.

Heavy damage was done to the house and outbuildings. Many of the small buildings were blown away, although a small house to one side was not touched. The brick main house was made unliveable as the windows were blown out and the roof was torn loose.

Although the Carsons had many farm animals and electric lines were blown down, they suffered no loss of any animals.

A fire that started from wires torn in the attic was quickly quelled by the fire department, though not before further damage was done. There was also some water damage, as the rain poured in through the roof.

Coming out of the southeast heading northeast, the tornado also struck the Floyd Light place seconds later. Damage there, however, was mostly confined to the barn, which had its north end blown out. The house, though immediately in front of the barn, was unharmed except for the loss of some surrounding shrubbery.

According to Mrs. Light when the tornado struck, it "Wasn't loud -- it was sort of like a vacuum or like someone threw a blanket over the house."

At the time, they were all watching television and wouldn't have gone out to check except for the fact that Light complained sudden pressure, has caused his ears to hurt, and thought he had better investigate.

GOODIES FOR THE PANCAKE SUPPER which will be sponsored by the Olton Booster Club are looked over by president of the booster club, Percy Parsons and manager of Don's Super Market, Larry Digby, who was responsible for the food. Donations were made by the Jimmy Dean Meat Co., Rancher Bacon, Best Maid Syrup Co., Cloverlake Dairy Foods and New Mexico Mills and Elevator. Time for the affair is 5 to 7 p. m. Friday night in the school cafeteria. (STAFF PHOTO)

Hughes Has Perfect Score; Mrs. Roberson Still Leads

Phil Hughes made it look real easy this week when he copied first prize in the weekly Enterprise football contest. Upsets failed to bother him as he chalked up a perfect slate of picks. He picked the Mustang-Owl game at 21 to 6.

Ten contestants were right behind, missing only one game. Junior guesser, Jeff Sampler, claims the second place check with his six points off guess of 35-1. Picking it 28-7 for 13 points off, Sonny Miller will receive the third place check.

Only eight points separated the remaining eight one-missers. Last week's winner, Doug Lawyer, came close to repeating but missed with 17 points off on his tie-breaker score of 33-16.

Missing with 18 points were Billie Jean Wilkinson and Joe Turner with guesses of 24-8 and 28-0. James Ray Hyatt of Amarillo was one point back with 27-0. Basil Sherman and Percy Parsons each missed by 20 points with picks of 21-7 and 28-14.

Trent Sharp of Sunray was 22 points off with a 24-12 guess and Ronnie Dennis missed by 25 points, predicting it 21-12.

Six different games were the bug-a-boos of the ten persons who missed just one game. Three of the ten missed the Springlake-Farwell game which proved upsetting to Enterprise contestants as well as Springlake fans. Of the 109 entries in last week's contest, 74 people took a loss right along with the Wolverines.

Eight contestants missed only two games and 27 missed just three.

Two contestants who had been close to the top in the season's standings had a bit of bad luck when they failed to mark their choices on their entry blanks.

Every contestant was guaranteed one point because of the incorrect listing of Arkansas and Texas. The same thing will apply this week with the Kress-Vega game.

Norene Roberson continues to lead in the season's standings with 75 points. Don Franks is in second place only two points back. He should have been listed in second place last week but mistakenly was omitted from the standings.

Contestants with 67 or more points are listed on page 6.

Lockney Longhorns To Visit Mustangs This Friday Night

Lockney's Longhorns will invade Mustang stadium Friday night when they come to get revenge for last year's 35-0 loss to the Mustangs.

But Olton's Mustangs have showed a lot of promise this week in practice and have some ideas of their own about this game, like "head 'em up and move 'em out."

Lockney is an explosive ball club this year. They have returned a punt or kick-off in each game so far this season. Their lowest point output has been 20 points in their loss to Floydada.

"Lockney has a real fine team, one of the best that Olton has faced this year," Coach Jerry Blakely said. "The Longhorns are said to be improving with each game. They use several different types of defense during a game. Their offense is described as being of the wide open type."

"Halfback Tracy Dickson is a real break-away threat along with their quarterback. Lockney's quarterback passes a lot but he is a fine runner also. He likes to run around outside with the run or pass option," Blakely commented.

Game time here in Olton is 7:30 p. m. The Mustangs will be minus two players this week, Johnny Arroyos, who broke his arm in last Friday night's game and Lynn Gullett, who broke his leg in practice this week.

Trick Or Treat?

Trick or Treat? Well, if you are looking for a Treat, then make plans now to visit the Spook House, which will be located in the Virgle Gray garage Thursday and Friday night, Oct. 30 and 31.

The Grays and friends opened their house to the residents last Halloween and had so many visitors that they decided to fix a Halloween spook house in the garage this year.

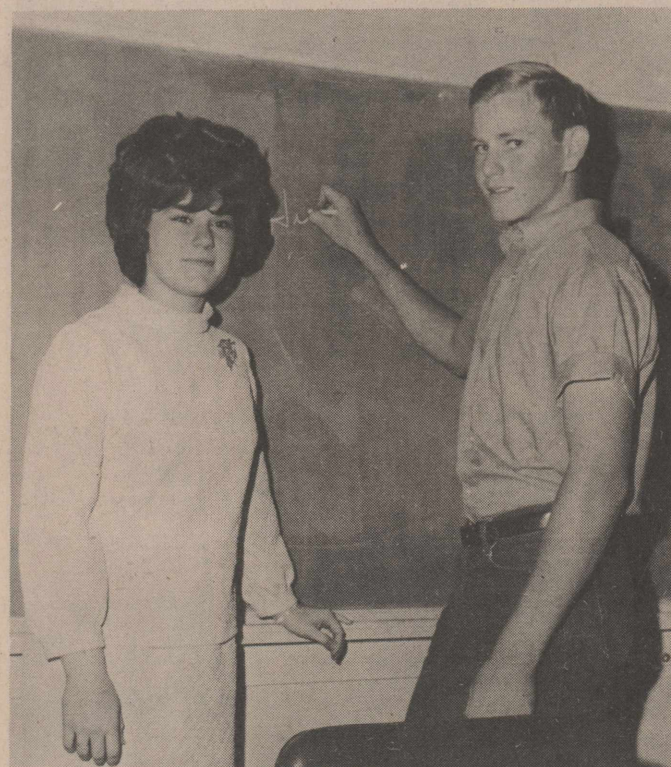

Everyone is invited to come by and visit, for a real treat!

Is Sufficient Enough?

To the Editor:

I have contemplated the writing of this letter for a long time; but as is normal, I just kept putting it off. The thing that made me realize that I must write it was "the day of the moratorium".

All of my life I have thought of our community as an aggregation of decent, hard working, God fearing people who were far more concerned with coaxing a living from "Ol' Mother Earth" than in all this rioting, demonstrating, and protesting that seems to dominate, not only our country, but the whole world today. It was with a great deal of pride and satisfaction that I noticed the many flags flying on this particular "day of moratorium".

Just the other night the wife of a Naval Commander, who is being held prisoner in North Vietnam, made the statement on television that during her talks with the North Vietnamese representatives in Paris, concerning the release of her husband, she was told that it was the opinion of the North Vietnamese government that the government of the United States was on the verge of collapse. As proof of their conception they offered the fact of the many demonstrations occurring in the United States protesting our involvement in the predicament in Vietnam. I am sure there is no way for us to know exactly what the people in power in Vietnam really think, really believe. But it is, I think, a fair assumption that they are, at the very least, considering this possibility, the possibility of the collapse of our government; and if this is true, how can our representatives in Paris ever maintain a bargaining position?

No person in his right mind wants to be in war; but we are in one. Whether it was right or wrong to become involved in the first place is no longer the question. The question now becomes how to disengage ourselves in an honorable way and maintain our position as a world power which can always be trusted to keep its word and never become domineering.

There are some two hundred million people in the United States and yet, in every report I read, these "protesters" numbered only in the hundreds. When you add all these hundreds, they only become thousands, and a few thousand is still a very small percentage of two hundred million. Still, it would seem that the government of North Vietnam considers the opinion of this small percentage to be the desire of us all. WHY? Could it be because many of our elected officials sanctioned this movement and a few even participated in it?

The illustrious Teddy Roosevelt voiced a conviction many years ago, John Kennedy proved it not so many years ago with the blockade of Cuba, and it still holds true today. Speaking softly and carrying a big stick is an almost unsurpassable bargaining position.

During my tenure as City Judge I was usually the first city employee to arrive at the city hall each morning and thus received the privilege of raising "Old Glory". This always occurred at just about the time of the greatest influx of people on their way to school or work. To my great surprise and sincere disappointment, not once during that time did any child or adult stop, face the flag, and place his hand over his heart. When I began to inquire as to why, I was told that although people should stop and face the flag when it is being raised or retired, it isn't necessary to place the hand over the heart. That sufficient respect for our flag is shown by simply facing it during its transition up or down the mast. I challenge that statement. Is it enough just to be sufficient? Is it enough to give only the minimum requirement? What has happened to our spirit of nationalism? Where are those "blood and guts, do or die" kind of people who made the United States the great nation it is today? I still get a tingling feeling up and down my spine when I see "Old Glory" flying in the breeze, and I still place my hand over my heart when she is being run up or down the mast.

How about you, fellow citizen?

Robert C. Dennis.

Dear Sirs:

We want to congratulate you fellows in your campaign to counteract the anti-religious protests being waged by Madolyn Murray O'Hair!! We refer to her as the "Modern Jezebel" of our time - She just might end up like the Jezebel of the Old Testament times! Her fate was predicted by God through Elijah the prophet in I Kings 21:23, and the prophecy was fulfilled in II Kings 9:30-37. God is still on His Throne! We are happy to have a part in this letter writing campaign.

Sincerely,
Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Gunter Sr.

The News Is Alarming

Dear Friends:

The illegal traffic and use of narcotics in Amarillo and other Panhandle communities is on the upswing. This is the alarming news I received from sources close to the problem during my most recent trip to the 18th Congressional District.

This news troubles me greatly. The illegal use of narcotics brings slavery not freedom; drugs possess the potential for ruining the lives of all those who come in contact with them.

The dangers of illegal narcotics can hardly be overstated. I have been advised that samples of some of the illegal drugs sold to unsuspecting young people throughout the Panhandle contain as much as 85 percent strychnine poison and 15 percent opium, heroin, or other narcotic by-products. These drugs are deadly; their use must not be permitted or condoned.

Your cooperation is urgently needed. I urge all citizens to join together and fight this growing menace. Discussion groups both in and out of the classroom are needed to fully acquaint our citizens about the dangers of narcotics and to determine the full extent of this problem in Panhandle communities. In addition, suspicious situations and individuals should be reported to the police immediately.

I am in the process of obtaining a film on the narcotics problem which will be made available for public use through my Amarillo office. For further information concerning what you can do to help rid our local communities of this peril, please contact your local police department.

Cotton Growers Forms Mailed

New features of the program are designed to reduce cotton marketing cost, speed up redemption of loan cotton, permit cotton to move more freely into trade channels, and reduce Government costs.

Leaflets explaining the program have been mailed to cotton producers and will be available to others in the industry.

It is more important that the program details be fully understood. The folks in the County ASCS office will be happy to answer any questions about them.

Form A is used for cotton price-support loans by the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) to individual producers. For approved cotton cooperative marketing associations, a Form G is used and a different administrative procedure is followed. Loan rates are the same for both Forms A and G programs.

A new feature in the Form A Cotton Loan Program permits a producer's agent to pool loan cotton with other producers' cotton for marketing purposes and to distribute marketing proceeds on a pro rata basis.

Another provision that after a producer has put his cotton under price-support loan he can contract to sell the loan equity at a set price with the buyer redeeming the cotton at a later date. A producer may not first sell or agree to sell his cotton and then place it under loan.

A third new provision sets a 30-day period in which cotton may be redeemed by authorized persons after the cotton producer signs a release.

The ASC Committee Chairman said that as in prior years, a producer may go to the county ASCS Office to fill out loan papers, or he may go to approved loan clerks at such places as banks, cotton gins, and warehouses, and cotton trade offices. All Form A cotton loans will be disbursed by County ASCS offices by issuing a draft which may be cashed the same as a check.

National Farmers Organization Initiates Grain Holding Action

The National Farmers Organization has conducted a series of meetings in grain sorghum producing areas and has initiated a grain sorghum holding action for contracts and for a price of $2.30 per hundred weight.

NFO members have been advised to hold their grain sorghum with their price being based in the heart of the grain sorghum producing area with transportation differentials added to the price in other areas. This means up to $2.80 per cwt in the state of California.

The grain sorghum holding action was initiated for three main reasons.

It was felt that government estimates on this year's crop was greatly exaggerated and was being used to try to beat down the gain that the NFO members have already made in grain sorghum bargaining.

Although the NFO collective bargaining program has raised grain sorghum prices to 30 to 50 cents per cwt, above support prices, this is still not satisfactory price and must be raised further.

The NFO felt that this action would step up their action to block grain sorghum together so that grain sorghum could be fed onto the market at a more satisfactory price to the NFO members. The members are being asked to contact all non-members to join the NFO and to hold their grain.

They are advising their members to store and hold all other grains at harvest time. Additional steps will be taken to increase all grain prices and will be announced at a later date. Particular emphasis will be placed on yellow corn and wheat as wheat is now being used for feed, which will change the position of wheat to a more favorable climate for bargaining.

Sue's Views

Icky, Sticky Goo

BY SUE CANNON

Doggone, I've had so many people tell me to keep writing this crazy column that I just wish I had something to write about.

Of course, there is always the weather. And the weather is something that needs discussing right now! In fact it's something that needs something "done about it" right now.

I am sick and tired of getting wet everytime I go outside. To say nothing of these cotton-pickin' muddy roads!

And speaking of muddy roads, I have a pet peeve that I just as well get out in the open right now.

The vocational agriculture boys that live in town have one more mess when it rains getting to the ag farm to feed their animals.

If you are familiar with the location of the ag farm, you know what I mean, but in case you're not...let me unload!

It's just south of the town section located on Ave. A and when they paved Avenue A, I asked about the possibilities of getting paving all the way down to the ag farms.

I was told it was too expensive for the school to pay for it and too expensive for the city to pay all of it and that the county had already been out all they could on the paving of Ave. A.

So the boys continue to have to pull the mud...either in a car or by foot. It has been so bad so long this time, that the majority of the boys have to park their vehicle at the end of Ave. A and walk about a quarter of a mile or more through that mud carrying their feed to get to their animals.

I've been down there about three times, (last year) and had to walk back into town and get help to get someone to come down and get me out. So far this year, my boys have been able to push me out when I get crossways on the road.

But the terrible thing about this is, this doesn't stop when the weather stops...No! there is water running across the road during the summer and into their pens because the barrow ditch doesn't drain out and you also have a time getting in there when it isn't even raining!

I -- for one -- think something should be done about it! And I've talked to others and they think so too!

So much for that!

And now, I want to encourage you to read the letters to the editor this week. We sure got some good ones.

And I want to apologize for being so dumb, but I didn't know that you were supposed to stop and face the flag when it was being raised.

And I'm wondering how many others are just as dumb. I've seen the flag going up at the city hall and post office both and never once did I stop and face it. And as I said, I'm sorry...but I didn't know any better.

We also started running a series about the abuse of drugs this week, beginning with LSD. Be sure and read it, it's worth your time.

And regardless of whether we want to admit it or not, the problems of drugs is here in Olton with us NOW!

We might as well get prepared to take a stand against it and know a little more about the use of such terrible things.

We have the best crop of young people in the state of Texas as far as I'm concerned but they have just as many temptations as any others and they are only human. So we need to help them understand the dangers of drugs.

LSD - Will It Turn You On Or Will It Turn On You?

First In A Series

No drug has caused more controversy, with the possible exception of marijuana, than the strange compound known as LSD.

Is LSD dangerous? Definitely yes, says the National Institute of Mental Health, Federal agency focus of a new nationwide attack on the abuse of dangerous drugs and narcotics.

Hospital and other medical studies show that LSD can cause panic, paranoia, and accidental death.

Reactions to taking LSD range from worry, panic, and depression to severe mental derangement.

Days, weeks, even months after a dose of LSD has been taken, the things the user thought that he saw and felt may recur in his mind and make him fear he is going insane.

The physical effects LSD can produce are far from pretty.

Eye pupils dilate, hands and feet shake and tremble uncontrollably, palms turn cold and sweaty, the body shivers and turns chilly, goose pimples pop out, breathing is irregular. There is loss of appetite and nausea; and the pulse and heart rate rise, as does blood pressure.

LSD is short for lysergic acid diethylamide. A man-made chemical first produced in 1938, it was accidentally discovered in 1943 to produce bizarre effects on the mind when a Swiss chemist swallowed some LSD while working in his laboratory. He had strange sensations and felt as if he were flying.

Despite the soaring start, LSD was little explored in following years as far as definitive pharmacological studies in man were concerned. The weird compound lay around, studied by some drug researchers but ignored by most. Then the wave of far-out experience seekers washed up a few years ago.

LSD became the darling of the daring. It was claimed to give you great feelings and increase many capacities, like sex and creativity.

None of this has proved out. In fact, the reverse may be true. But many fables and fallacies like these have spread about LSD. The following facts come from research, not from fantasy and rumor.

Studies have shown that LSD is more likely to decrease sex interests than to increase them. Paintings, writings, and other works by LSD-users fail to show greater talent; rather, the works are poorer when done "under the influence."

Worse, LSD is dangerous. It can cause panic (fear of losing one's mind), paranoia (suspicion that "they're after me"), mental derangement, and accidental death.

It has been called the most powerful drug in the world. No wonder: 25 micrograms is an amount almost invisible to the naked eye. Yet this amount will produce an effect in most people.

Classed as a hallucinogen and psychedelic -- which mean mind-affecting or mind-altering -- LSD is a member of a group of drugs which include other compounds like marijuana, peyote, mescaline, psilocybin, DMT, and STP.

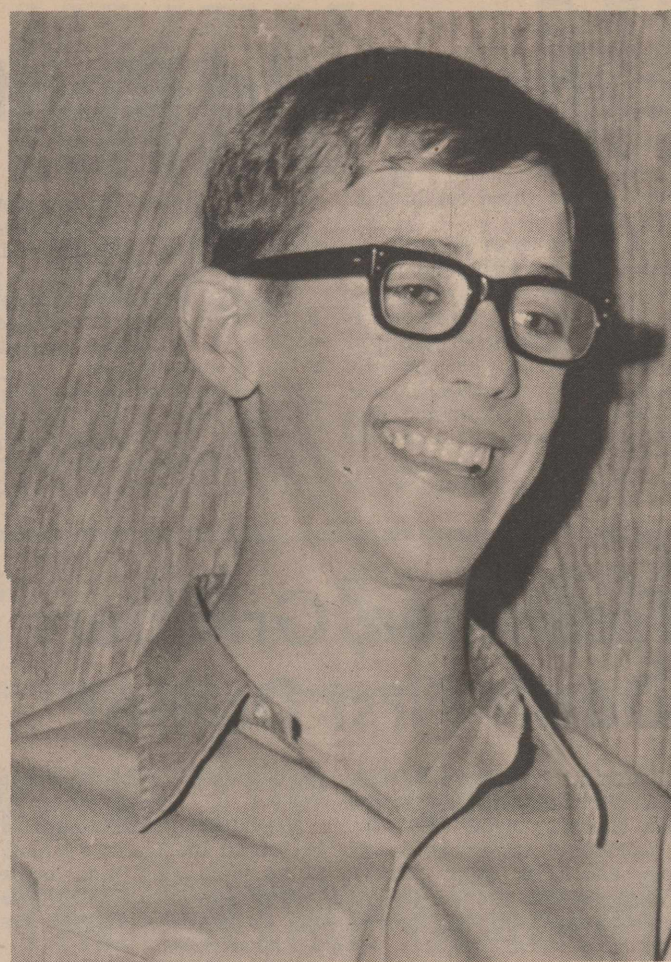

Except for government-approved use for research, LSD is illegal in the United States. Because LSD is dangerous when not used for careful research under close medical supervision, it is closely regulated by Federal and State laws. These provide stiff penalties for illegal production, sale, other disposition, and, in some cases, for possession or use.

Because more knowledge is needed about this powerful compound, broad scale research is underway to learn fully about its chemistry, animal and human effects, and whether it can have any medical or other real values.

This is another part of the national attack on abuse of narcotics and dangerous drugs of all kinds. On the educational side, newspapers, magazines, radio, and television are enlisting in the fight in a new campaign to provide everyone with accurate information.

For a free folder of facts about LSD, write: NIMH, Box 1080, Washington, D. C. 20013.

Everything But The Kitchen Sink

BY MOZELLE TROTTER

The "now generation" tells us to "do your own thing". Well, that's just what I did last week.

Someday, maybe, I might "let go" of my children -- even though it's one of the hardest things a mother has to do. Someday, though, I will. Of course, it will probably be because my rheumatize and feeble bones won't let me hang on any longer.

Anyway, I "did my own thing" last week -- I went with number one son to Kansas City to see him receive his American Farmer Degree at the National Convention of Future Farmers of America.

(And I saw another mama there, too! -- Seriously, there were quite a few parents present.)

It looked for a while like we'd never make it there! And I always thought I was a pretty good navigator!

The referendum, approved by a 74.1 percent majority of votes cast, will assess grain sorghum growers five cents per ton of their crop for the program. Collection of the levy begins immediately, according to Grain Sorghum Producers Association officials.

Take Time For Your Children

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article was given to us by a reader who wished to share it with all our readers:

TAKE TIME FOR YOUR CHILDREN

By Richard L. Evans

We "shall not pass again this way". And in these swift-passing scenes and seasons there seems to come an insistent, almost above all else this compelling cry: Take time for your children.

More and more, professional people are telling us that children are shaped and molded at a very early age -- so early that it is a sobering fact to face. Home, parents, early impressions set the pattern for the future -- and the evidence is overwhelming that nothing in this world is ever going to take the place of wholesome, happy homes.

And there is more to this than food, shelter, and physical sustenance.

There is the shaping of attitudes, of minds, of morals; opening avenues of interest and activity; instilling honesty, respect, reverence; prayers at a mother's knee; correction with fairness and firmness "showing forth afterwards an increase of love" and kindness.

All this we cannot do, all this we cannot do, by not being there, by living separate lives, by an overabsorption in outside interests.

Take time for your children.

They are so soon grown, so soon gone. "Is mother home?" "Where is mother?" are the questions asked when they come home from anywhere. Oh, let them have the blessing of your being there.

Take time for open arms; for talking, for reading, for family prayer; for home evenings and hours. As one discerning poet put it: "Richer than I can ever be -- I had a mother who read to me."

Take time for making memories; for fixing sure foundations that will last long after less essential things are far forgotten. Mothers need to be home. A mother, a father, waiting is a source of safety and assurance.

Parents need to give their children wholeness and wholeness by the very lives they live. Oh, the blessedness of coming home and finding mother there, with love and kindness and encouragement.

Life goes quickly. Don't brush them off and turn them over to others.

Take time for your children -- before they're grown, before they're gone.

Oh, take time for your children.

Mrs. Freddie Mae Hysinger visited recently in Crowell with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Ruby Reinhardt.

The recent freeze over much of the High Plains brought an abrupt halt to cotton and vegetable production and may also prove detrimental to livestock producers if certain precautions aren't followed.

Caution should be exercised when grazing livestock on johnsongrass, sudan, sorghum-sudan hybrids, grain sorghum and forage sorghum because of prussic acid poisoning, points out Buddy Logsdon, Lamb County Agricultural Agent.

"When the growth of any type sorghum is slowed or stopped by freezing temperatures or drought stress, certain chemical changes occur in the plant and sometimes a high prussic acid content develops, especially in young growth," explains the agent. "An animal that feeds on such plant material can be poisoned and can die in a very short time. Whether or not an animal can be saved depends on how soon a veterinarian can get to it."

Freeze damaged sorghum plants should not be grazed until they are as dry as good quality hay or until at least three to four days after the freeze, warns Logsdon. A week delay is preferable. But keep in mind that new sucker growth appearing after the initial freeze will also be high in prussic acid.

If the crop was ready to cut for hay before the freeze, it may be cut immediately, provided adequate curing time is allowed. Silage made from freeze damaged plants is usually safe after a two to three month preservation period. Another precaution, although less practical, is to air-dry silage before feeding if prussic acid is suspected.

"Young plants or second growth suckers are more likely to cause trouble than older plants nearing maturity," explains the agent. "Too, the more luxuriant the growth, the higher the prussic acid content will generally be when their growth is interrupted."

Logsdon cautions livestock producers to keep an eye on their stock if the animals are grazing plants that might be potentially dangerous.

Animals that have been poisoned may stagger and act sleepy before suddenly dropping dead, he points out. Severe muscular twitching is sometimes seen. Labored breathing and frothing from a wide-open mouth are common symptoms. An animal may grind its teeth and turn its head into its flanks. The breath usually has an almond-like odor and mucous membranes appear congested. The blood is often cherry red.

Death results from suffocation, since the poison prevents the exchange of oxygen from the blood to the tissue. "A good way to check grazing safety is to turn one or two animals into a suspect field and watch them for a day or two," says the county agent. "Be sure water is available to them or the symptoms may be delayed."

If poisoning is suspected, Logsdon advises to consult your local veterinarian at once. However, good grazing management is the best preventive against animal losses from prussic acid poisoning.

Mustangs De-feather Hale Center Owls

Olton's Fighting Mustangs spotted Hale Center's Owls six points Friday night before going to work and putting the game out of reach of the Owls.

Olton received the opening kickoff with Owl Johnny Davis kicking off for Hale Center. Davis booted the ball out of the end zone to put Olton in business on the 20.

Ronnie Sanders carried two times for the Mustangs picking up a first down at the Olton 33. An incomplete pass and two running plays left the Mustangs with fourth down and six needed for the first.

Stockdale punted to the Owl 34. On first down, Hale Center fumbled with Olton recovering on the Owl 34.

On first down, halfback Carlos Talamantez tucked a short Stockdale pass under his arm and sped into the end zone. But Olton had committed a no no marked by a big red flag. A five yard penalty put them back to the H. C. 39.

Facing first down again, Talamantez blasted right back through the Owl line for 26 yards to the 13. A fourth down field goal try was wide giving the ball to Hale Center on the 20.

Hale Center picked up a first down out to the Owl 35 before punting to the Olton 17.

Olton found the going tough and punted to the Owls 35. The Owls found it just as tough and punted on fourth down to the Olton 17.

On first down Hale Center's Mr. Do Everything Johnny Davis intercepted a batted up Olton pass and returned it 40 yards for the first score of the ball-game.

Extra point try failed leaving Hale Center out in front 6-0.

Pete Riveria received the kickoff on the Olton one and returned it 25 yards to the Olton 26. Talamantez picked up a first down to the 37.

Hard running Sanders got another first down at the Olton 49. On the first down play Sanders rounded his right end behind beautiful blocking and scooted 51 yards to pay dirt only to turn and see a red flag flying. Olton had committed another no no. This time it was fifteen yards back to the Olton 27.

Still facing first down Sanders ground out nine yards to the Mustang 36 before being downed. Talamantez exploded through the right side of the Owl line and outran the defense 64 yards to tie the score for the Mustangs.

Stockdale kicked the extra point to put Olton out in front to stay.

It was a short kickoff with Hale Center starting from their own 42. Robert Davis picked up four yards to the 46 only to have Barry Cowart drop him for a two yard loss on the next play to the 44. Hale Center punted on fourth down and Olton was in business again on their own 17.

Olton gained a first down out to the 29. Sanders got five more yards to the 34 before Olton was forced to punt with Stockdale punting to the Owl 21.

On first down Olton's Cowart intercepted a Hale Center pass on the H. C. 30 and returned it two yards to the 28.

On third down Sanders found running room to his left and charged the 28 yards for the second touchdown. Stockdale's kick was good giving Olton a 14-6 lead with 6:56 remaining in the first half of play. Hale Center and Olton then swapped punts to use up the remainder of the first half with Olton leading 14-6.

To start the second half Olton kicked off to the Owls with Stockdale booting the ball out of the end zone preventing any run back. Hale Center moved out to the 40 aided by a penalty.

But the stubborn Mustang defense threw the Owls for a four yard loss back to the 36 on first down. A second down pass fell incomplete and Cowart and Ronnie Truelock dropped the Owl quarterback for a loss back to the H. C. 25 on third down.

Hale Center punted on fourth down to the Olton 46. Olton used 10 plays in moving the ball to the Owl 6. On third down Stockdale passed to Joe Dale Chitwood on the left side for the Olton touchdown. Extra point try failed leaving Olton with a 20-6 edge with 5:44 to go in the third quarter of play.

Olton exploded for 20 big points in the fourth period of play. First Stockdale connected with Mickey Crowder from five yards out for a T. D. and Stockdale's kick for point failed.

Chitwood set up the next Olton score, intercepting a Hale Center pass and returning it 16 yards to the Owl 30. On second down Stockdale connected with Luis Rey who made it to the Owl four before being brought down.

Sanders plowed his way to the one and on the next play bulled his way in for the T. D. Extra point try failed putting Olton out front 32-6.

Next the hard charging Chitwood recovered the Mustang kickoff at the Hale Center 27. Olton moved to the H. C. five only to have the Owl defense stiffen up, preventing the Mustangs from making a first down. Hale Center passed to Johnny Davis who was dropped immediately at the 10.

Olton's Mike Parsons intercepted the Hale Center second down pass at the Owl 40 but Olton was unable to move the ball and it went over on downs to the Owls at their own 37.

Parsons intercepted another second down pass for the Mustangs at the Olton 44. Olton drew a penalty moving the ball back to their 34.

Riveria broke through the Hale Center line and ran it down to the one before being brought down from behind.

Olton drew another penalty back to the six before Riveria scooted around his left end for the last Olton T. D. Cowart ran the extra point giving Olton a 40-6 victory over the Owls.

Freshmen Gridsters Dealt First Defeat

Olton's freshmen suffered their first defeat of the season last Thursday night.

Littlefield came out on the long end of the stick 27 to 7. This loss gives the Ponies season total of four victories and one defeat.

Littlefield was leading 14-0 before Olton was able to score. Collin Johnson scored for Olton on a six yard plunge. Keith Workman passed to Robert Ahrens for the two point conversion.

Littlefield stayed out front 14-8 until the last two minutes of the game when Olton decided to gamble. The gambles failed and Littlefield scored two easy touchdowns.

"Olton learned a hard lesson in this game," Coach James Weaver said. "That is, you don't have a game won until you play it and win. But the boys have showed a lot of hustle this week -- what little they have been able to practice because of the rain."

They travel to Friona this Thursday. The game is expected to be a real close one as Olton defeated the Friona lads here two weeks ago 18-12. Game time is 6 p.m. in Friona.

Mark Stroebel Wins Second

Mark Stroebel placed second in zone competition in Punt, Pass and Kick contest held last Saturday in Lubbock. With a score of 241 yards he held winners position throughout most of the division contest, but was ousted by a lad from Brownfield.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Stroebel, Mark received a citation for his achievement.

VISIT GRANDMOTHER
Visiting Thursday with Mrs. Freddie Mae Hysinger were her grandson-in-law and granddaughter, Mr. and Mrs. Don Perry who are moving from Fort Worth to Lubbock.

Change Time

Meeting time of the Olton Booster Club was changed Monday night, setting the new time at 7 p. m.

Coach Ray Kinnison presented the players of the week to the club members. Offensive players for the Hale Center game were halfback Ronnie Sanders and lineman Luis Jimenez.

Defensive players were Ronnie Truelock and Joe Dale Chitwood. Chitwood intercepted two passes and recovered two fumbles for the Mustangs.

Kinnison reported that all district candidate Johnny Arroyos received a broken arm in the Hale Center game and will be out for the remainder of the season.

Lynn Gullett broke his leg in practice this week also. Gullett has just recovered from breaking his other leg. The Hale Center game was the first game of the year for Gullett and now he is out for the remainder of the season with another broken leg. Last year it was three broken arms.

Halloween Tradition Is It Harmless Or Tragic

Halloween may seem harmless enough a tradition, but each year some unsuspecting children are treated with tragedy instead of the expected sweet or surprise.

Give it a little thought, and you'll see how a Halloween celebration could trigger any one of many accidents.

Take a group of excited children about dusk on the streets and you have an excellent potential for a traffic accident. If these children are in dark clothing and wearing a mask restricting their vision, your chances for a traffic fatality are even better.

Masks may contribute to other possible hazards. One limiting vision may cause a fall or prohibit a youngster from seeing glass, steps or other potential danger. For the very young, a mask may pose a problem of suffocation.

Bulky, poorly fitting costumes may catch on fences or bushes, or even cause an additional traffic hazard.

If your little goblin wants to be a pirate and carry a knife or sword, insist that it is a toy or cardboard one.

Painful burns or even more tragic accidents may await a youngster carrying a candle-lit pumpkin or dressed in flimsy, flammable clothing. Avoid this by using a flashlight - never a candle - to light a jack-o-lantern and by flameproofing costumes.

To flameproof a costume, dip it in a mixture of three quarts warm water, seven ounces borax and three ounces boric acid. Repeat the process each time the garment or costume is washed.

One of the most helpful precautions to take for youngsters is to be sure that they are properly supervised by an adult or responsible older child. And, if they are your children, have them stay in their own neighborhood.

If you are driving on Halloween, especially at dusk, drive slowly and be especially careful on side streets.

Brighten the way for the children by keeping your porch light burning. If you prepare any decorations or costumes for the occasion, be sure they are flameproofed.

With proper precautions Halloween can be a lot of fun.

Texas Youth Trick Or Treat Against Hunger

The youth of the churches in over 250 Texas communities are uniting their forces to wage an attack on world hunger during Texas CROP Week, the last week in October.

The CROP Youth in Action project began as a Halloween project with the youth collecting "treats" for hungry children abroad in the form of milk. The Halloween date has lost its preference in most communities in order that the CROP youth canvasses for world hunger might be more effective.

CROP is the Community Hunger Appeal of Church World Service collecting resources for the overseas relief programs of the churches. It has helped CWS to minister to the starving refugees of the Nigerian-Biafran crisis and other similar emergencies from disasters. Its major thrust is providing aid for the root causes of hunger with its seeds, tools, fertilizers, and food for work projects.

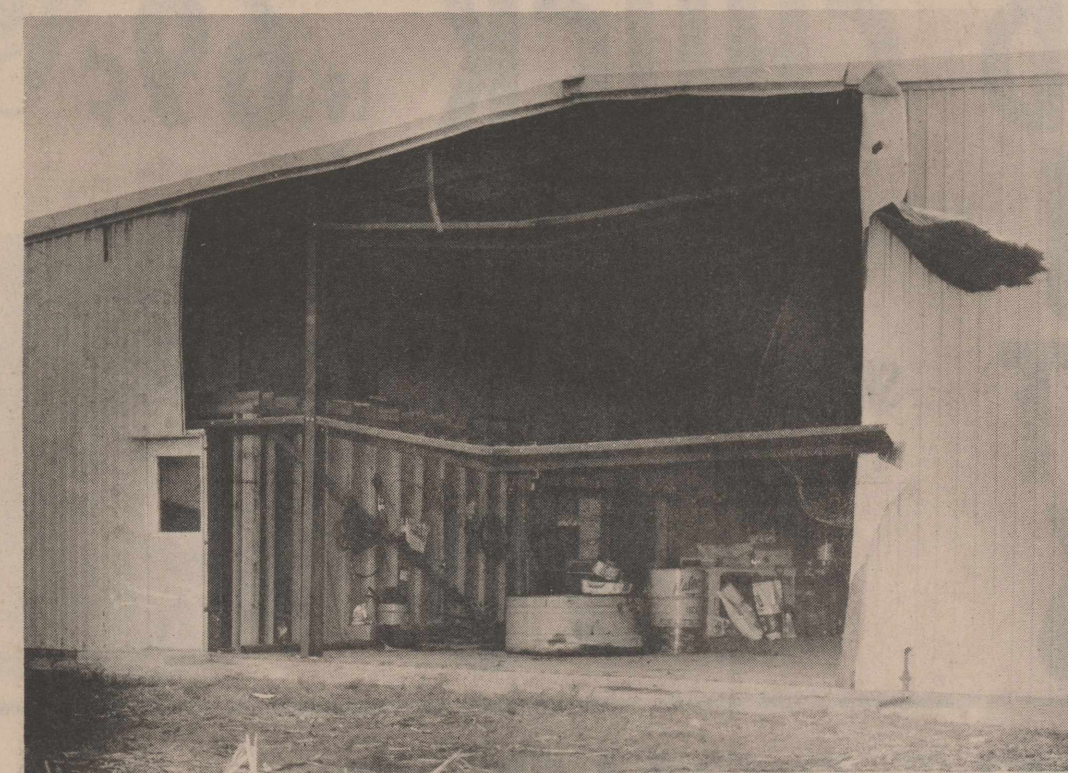

The Texas youth who will be conducting CROP canvasses in ecumenical endeavors will be recognized by CROP identification buttons and official CROP Canvass Kits or CROP Canvass Envelopes. In some instances the canvasses will take place at locally determined dates alternative to the last week of October.

Diverted Acres Grazing Begins

Acres diverted under the 1969 feed grain and wheat programs may now be used for livestock grazing. Grazing began on Oct. 15.

The announcement affects only livestock grazing on land diverted under annual commodity programs. No diverted acreage may be harvested.

Diverted acreage is land set aside from crop production by farmers participating in voluntary commodity programs. Diverted acreage must be kept in conserving uses. Among other provisions, this means no livestock may graze during the growing season. Vegetative cover is required to be maintained to protect the diverted land from erosion.
