House Approves Extension Of Reciprocal Trade Program

ession's First Win Scored By Administration

Measure To Go To Senate For Further Action; Hearings By Committee To Start Monday

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 — The House gave the administration its first great victory of the session tonight with a vote extending the reciprocal trade agreements program for a period of three years. The continuation resolution, passed 216 to 168, goes next to the Senate, where the finance committee plans to begin hearings Monday. The Republican leadership fought the legislation to the end, assisted by a scattering of Democratic members from Far West and cattle sections particularly. These members have been in rebellion against the program on the ground that tariff reductions effected under it have injured producers in their districts.

Personal Triumph

In addition to being a victory for the administration, the vote was in the nature of a personal triumph for Secretary Hull, and one which some thought might increase his prestige as a potential Democratic presidential nominee.

Hull had fought for such a program for years before he became secretary of state in the Roosevelt cabinet. He obtained congressional approval for a three-year trial of the policy in 1934. The time was extended another three years in 1937. Under the legislation, Hull has negotiated agreements with more than a score of nations, which have reduced their tariffs in return for reductions in the rates of the Smoot-Hawley law, enacted in 1930.

Would Expire In June

Republicans came to the present session of Congress resolved to end the policy, which without the legislation approved in the House today, would expire next June.

But, the anti-New Deal majority which held sway in the House at the close of the last session failed to materialize.

Realizing some days ago that the battle was lost, the opposition concentrated today on a series of amendments intended to place restrictions upon the program. The administration held clear command throughout a day of voting, however, and one after another the proposals were rejected.

Of particular interest was an amendment offered by Rep. Crow-

Alice Faye's Upset, Henry Fonda Excited And Ameche Missing

(By The Associated Press)

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 23. — Irving Cummings was trying to direct a scene for a movie today:

With Alice Faye, who was upset because she was starting divorce proceedings against Tony Martin;

With Henry Fonda, who was excited because his wife gave birth to a nine-pound boy ("Boy, I've got a fullback!") in New York today;

Without Don Ameche, supposed to be present, but absent because he is under suspension for refusing a role at another studio. (Ameche's stuff will be fitted in, jig-saw fashion, after the row is settled.)

Mae Murray Of Silent Films Seeks Alimony

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 23. —Mae Murray, blonde star of the silent films, testified today her fortune of $3,000,000 was wiped out during the seven years she was the wife of David Mdivani.

She was appearing in her suit to force Mdivani to pay her $1,000 a month and enable her to make a home for their 13-year-old son, Koran David Mdivani.

MAE MURRAY

With tear-filled eyes, Miss Murray testified that in September, 1936, she spent three days in Central Park, New York City, because she had been ejected from her hotel and was without funds.

Sat On Park Bench

She packed a few necessities in a hat box, she said, and went to the park.

"You mean you spent three days in Central park—you mean you sat in a bench in Central park?" Superior Judge George Dockweiler asked.

"I sat on a bench with my little hat box," the former actress replied.

"I walked out of my marriage a bankrupt—that is a matter of record," she declared.

She resorted to personal appearance tours, she said, and placed her son in a boys' academy near White

Speakers Deny Possibility Of "War Boom"

"Unpleasant Medicines" For Boom Control Are Outlined At Farm Institute In Iowa

(By The Associated Press)

DES MOINES, Ia., Feb. 23—National farm institute speakers tonight expressed belief that United States neutrality and the condition of world markets constituted effective antidotes against the possibility of a war boom in this country.

"Certainly there is no present need to plant or breed another pound of grain, fiber or meat because of any war orders in sight," Chester Davis, member of the Federal Reserve Board of Governors, said in a prepared address.

"American farmers haven't completed the adjustments made necessary by the last war.

Headed For Trouble

"If they expand their plantings in anticipation that higher prices and enlarged demand will result from this one, they will be headed for more trouble than this generation is going to be able to mop up."

Howard Coonley of New York, chairman of the board of the National Association of Manufacturers, said industry was vigorously opposed to a war boom and at present could not promote such a boom of it wanted to.

Davis listed these "unpleasant medicines for boom control:"

Lacking In Appeal

1. Refusal to extend war credit to belligerents.

2. "Stiff and courageous taxation ... if the patient's fever begins to rise with symptoms resembling those of the business fever that accompanied the old war."

3. Sterilization of gold purchases, a practice that "lacks appeal because it involves adding $35 to the national debt for each ounce that is bought."

4. Allow the federal reserve board to fix bank reserve requirements at whatever point necessary to forestall a "dangerous credit expansion."

None Are Popular

"None of these antidotes would be popular when the time came to apply them" he said.

Coonley attacked the illusion of war prosperity by declaring that everybody could have a job "if we employed 5,000,000 persons to make fireworks and 5,000,0000 others to shoot them off—a less destructive occupation than war."

Movie Cowpunchers Shoot It Out In Drug Store To Enact Real Life Drama

(By The Associated Press)

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 23.—Two movie cowboys, in full Wild West regalia, shot it out today in a corner drug store, police reported. One was killed, the other fled.

Officers identified the dead man as Johnnie Tyke.

The shooting occurred a few steps from Columbia studio, on heavily-traveled Sunset boulevard.

Police were informed both were waiting between scenes of a picture in which they were extras.

Witnesses said the men quarreled, suddenly drew guns and blazed away. Tyke fell. He was dead when an ambulance reached a hospital.

Police arrested a man identified as "Black Jack" Ward after a short chase.

C. B. Sylvester and W. F. Molle, radio patrolmen who pursued Ward as he fled in his automobile and forced him to the curb, said he "fanned" the hammer of his six-shooter as he pointed it toward them, but the weapon was empty.

"I've fed and helped that guy for years," but he's been picking on me for four months," Ward told officers at the Hollywood police station as he took off his ten-gallon hat, rolled a cigarette and struck a match on his tight blue jeans pants.

Allies Move To Block German Iron Supply

British Vessels Are Sent To Arctic Ports Off Norway, Finland And Soviet Russia

By ELMER W. PETERSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 23.—Allied action in thrusting an arm of the blockade against Germany into the Arctic off northern Norway, Finland and Soviet Russia was interpreted here tonight as possibly aimed primarily at halting German transport of highgrade iron ore from Kirkenes, northern Norwegian port.

Scandinavian commercial circles said they believed a secondary motive was the blocking of any effort by German vessels which may be taking refuge in Murmansk, Russia's ice-free port, to get back to Germany.

No Discussion

(Authoritative British sources in London declined to discuss Scandinavian advices that Allied warships had begun a blockade to Arctic waters of Murmansk. The admiralty said any comment might give information to the enemy. French officials said they had "no information.")

Scandinavians shrugged off rumors that the British intended to land troops and equipment in the Petsamo area as an aid to Finland.

Likewise there was no support for rumors that a clash with the soviet Arctic navy already had occurred.

Both Norwegian and Swedish iron ore is loaded at Kirkenes.

To Safeguard Shipments

Commercial circles said they believed the British intended to safeguard their own shipments of ore from Kirkenes while trying to check the flow of supplies to Germany.

Meanwhile, with Baltic sea transport stopped by ice, Germans were reported busy shipping Swedish highgrade ore from Narvik, on the west coast of Norway. From Narvik German ships have the protection of Norwegian territorial waters, merging into Swedish and Danish waters en route to Germany.

The Oslo newspaper Arbaider Bladet, mouthpiece of the Norwegian government, asserted today in a stern editorial that "that big power which torpedoes our ships and murders our sailors while causing enormous financial loss to us has its ore

Russians Push To Within 12 Miles Of Finnish City

By THOMAS F. HAWKINS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HELSINKI, Feb. 23.—The Russian army thrust forward at several points along a jagged 30-mile front in an intensified drive through the western half of the Mannerheim line today, but at tremendous cost, losing nearly 3,000 killed in a single day's bitter combat.

The Russian penetration at one point reached to within 10 to 12 miles of Viipuri—to the vicinity of Naykki lake, roughly four miles northwest of the Kamara railway station, where fighting began Thursday, according to today's communique.

Admitted By Finns

The Russian dead, said the communique, approximated two battalions—about 2,000 men—in one sector and 800 in another in the fighting on the isthmus.

The widened front and the indication of the slight soviet advance toward Viipuri, together with the fact this was acknowledged by the Finns, might seem to present a highly serious picture for the defenders, but there were several additional factors weighing strongly in their favor.

These are:

Advance Few Miles

1. The Finnish army is making the most of its man-made fortifications, aided by deep gullies between forested plateaus and along ice-crusted lakes through which a large army can penetrate only slowly. The Finnish retreat from frontal positions was calculated to save men; it was done slowly and, according to Finnish military sources, with loss of thousands of men to the Russians.

2. The Russians have advanced only a few miles against the Mannerheim line, although their concentrated drive already is 23 days old.

3. Should the Russians penetrate the Finnish line and capture Viipuri, the Russian army would gain a considerable advantage, but to reach Helsinki it would still have to drive through natural barriers of lakes by the hundreds and through a series of well-laid military fortifications.

4. Finnish military strategy appears to be to hold every position as

Punishment For Britain Hinted By Senator Nye

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23—Senator Nye (R-ND) declared tonight "arrogant Britain" would come to terms quickly regarding the seizure of mail if the United States would pass up Bermuda as an airmail stop.

In an address prepared for the annual banquet of grand master Masons, he said:

GERALD NYE

"If German or Russian or Japanese authorities were to rifle our mail as the British are doing in Bermuda, how easy it might be to enrage the people to an anger that was boundless.

"Why not pass up Bermuda in our transportation? It would not be a week before arrogant Britain would come to terms."

After a half-hour conference with Secretary of State Hull today, the British ambassador, Lord Lothian, declared the problems existing between the United States and England were "comparatively of small importance" when it was considered that "150 neutral ships have thus far been sunk by the Germans."

He said Britain was "completely within her rights" in censoring mails at Bermuda, and added he believed this matter would be worked out to American satisfaction.

Information Received

Meanwhile, Senator Pepper (D-Fla) said he had received information indicating that British censors had removed between $14,000,000 and $17,000,000 in United States currency and negotiable securities from mail destined to Germany and intercepted at Bermuda.

Pepper said he had been informed much of the money was in $100, $500 and $1,000 bills in envelopes

CHANCES BETTER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP) — Finland's chances for an additional $20,000,000 loan for non-military purchases advanced a step today when the House banking committee recommended a $100,000,000 increase in the Export-Import bank's lending capital.

Although refusing to eliminate the restrictions on use of the funds for military equipment, the committee adopted an amendment to the Senate-approved bill to exempt commercial aircraft from that ban.

I'd Call Out Militia And Tell Federal Government To Stay Out—Alfalfa Bill

(By The Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 23—William H. Murray said today the Denison Dam project was "the biggest folly ever proposed" and added that if he were governor he'd stop such "foolishness" quickly by use of the militia.

"Alfalfa Bill," who called out the national guard 30 times during his hectic gubernatorial career, said he wouldn't want to be quoted as telling the present chief executive, Leon C. Phillips, what to do.

Duty To Protect

"But," he pointed out in an interview, "if they tried to put a deal like that over on me, I'd establish a military zone in that reservoir and I'd tell the government to stay the hell out of there.

"It's the fundamental duty of the soverign state to control its own land. However, before you can take the initiative like that, you must know the constitution and the law. I do."

Phillips lost by a 4-4 decision an attempt to block the $54,000,000 Red River project by filing an original injunction suit against the secretary of war in the United States supreme court.

He's Not Through

The governor said the court's refusal to accept jurisdiction did not mean he was through fighting, but he has not yet indicated what future action will be taken.

To Phillips' contention that the project violates the state's rights and is not feasible as a combination power and flood control project, Murray heartily agreed.

"Everybody knows that you have to keep the reservoir full of water to produce power," he said, "and to control floods, you have to keep it drained so there will be a place to put the flood waters.

A Criminal Offense

"You couldn't tell me the army engineers don't know better than to advocate a project like that. They're just doing what they're told.

"They started to survey for that dam when I was governor but I told them to just back off, that they couldn't build that thing while I was around to stop it.

"That's why they didn't want me for governor in the last election. They knew I'd tell them where to get off."

Murray, who once led the national guard to Red River free state bridges and close parallel toll structures, declared it was a criminal offense to interfere with a military order.

The naval vessels will protect shipping from Brownsville eastward in the Gulf of Mexico.

Much oil, cotton, sulphur and scrap iron, essentials to belligerents, is moved from Texas ports.

Slayer Is Ready For San Quentin

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 23— John Frank Reavis, 26, orchestra trombonist and son of a former Indiana college professor, was returned today from San Diego to face a charge of slaying Alice (Jerry) Burns, 17-year-old cafe entertainer, formerly of Fort Worth, Tex.

"I want to get the whole thing over," officers quoted him as saying in a statement. "They can shut me into that gas chamber up at San Quentin just as soon as they like. It's all right with me."

Taken Before Jury

Deputy District Attorney Vernon Ferguson, one of Reavis' questioners, said the case would be taken before the grand jury Monday. Ferguson said "naturally" he would ask the death penalty.

Police Capt. Edgar Edwards and Det.-Lieuts. Miles Ledbetter and Lloyd Hurst joined Ferguson in taking the statement. They quoted Reavis as saying:

"I picked the girl up in the cafe for what she was ... it was at her suggestion we went to the vacant lot. I was so disgusted with her that I told her what I thought of her. She started to claw at me. We battled in the car and out of it, all

Reading at Municipal airport was 43 degrees, far above the forecast low of 20 degrees. Showers also were predicted for the north portion of West Texas.

LaGuardia Says Republican Lot Is A "Poor One Indeed" Then Concludes With "Phooey"

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 23 — The voluble mayor of New York, Fiorello H. LaGuardia, has come to the conclusion, he said today, that the present crop of Republican presidential hopefuls is "a poor one indeed," and added this further comment: "Phooey."

The mayor's views were made in connection with his announcement that he was filing a declination in the April 9 Illinois preferential primaries, in which his name was entered without his knowledge as a candidate for the Republican nomination.

He was withdrawing, he explained, because he did not want "to divide the intelligent, progressive vote" in that state and suggested Illinois voters cast their ballots for President Roosevelt.

"The purpose of this advisory primary is to give the voters an opportunity of expressing themselves," the mayor said. "Now, as I have analyzed the situation, the voters in Illinois will have the opportunity of expressing their preference for a constructively progressive government by voting their preference for President Roosevelt who is entered in the primary, or they have various types of reactionaries among other candidates."

LaGuardia was elected to congress as a Republican, is now a member of the American Labor party and has been generally sympathetic to the New Deal.

British, French Vessels Mysteriously And Quietly Obtain Supplies And Steal Away

(By The Associated Press)

WEEHAWKEN, N. J., Feb. 23. —Grim-looking freighters, painted in dull, flat grey and streaked with rust, glide silently alongside Hudson river piers, take on mysterious cargoes and steal just as silently away.

Mounting guns and flying the British or French flags, the ships head for the Atlantic and home to replenish wartime supplies.

Day and night winches roar and cranes swing. When a ship, there at dusk, has gone at dawn, more freight is moved to the never-idle pier.

For almost a mile, from Weehawken northward to west New York, stretch railroad cars loaded with crates, food, machinery, scrap iron, motor trucks and tractors.

Long lines of cars are hauled into the yards by twin locomotives. Day and night switch engines puff and push.

Car floats line the riverfront, some to carry materials to the New York side of the river, where loading scenes are duplicated as French and British steamers come and go there as secretly as here. At Jersey City and other waterfront cities is similar activity.

Flood lights from pier and ship speed the loading at night.

YOU can add to the life line of your rug if you shift it around every half year or so. Here's what the Consumers Guide says:

"Laying a rug on the floor and leaving it in the same position forever after may soon give you a rug that is as good as new in some spots and worn to the floor in others. Obviously the amount of 'traffic' on the rug is heavy at entrances, or near a dining table, or around a chair that is the family favorite. Soon, in these places, the pile begins to crush or streak, and it isn't very long before wear begins to show.

"To avoid this, 'balance' the wear on the rug by shifting it around every six months so that all sections of the rug have a turn at the more traveled parts of the room. In this way, you may get more years of wear out of the rug."

Women To Fill Out Questionnaires

By MARIAN YOUNG
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK.—Housewives, attention! Do you know whether your husband has a Federal Social Security number? Whether deductions for Federal Old-Age Insurance were made from his wages during 1939? Do you know the exact amount of the combined incomes of the members of your family employed during the past year? Whether the income from sources other than money wages or salary was more than fifty dollars?

Do you know the market value of the house you own? The present amount of the first and second mortgage indebtedness on it? What it costs per year to heat your home, whether you own it or not?

If not, you'd better find out.

During the coming month of April, Uncle Sam's census takers will be around to ask these questions—and more, many of which have never been included in a previous census in this country. The Census Bureau expects that in nine cases out of ten the task of answering the questionnaires will fall to housewives.

The Bureau would like you to be as cooperative as possible. The young man at the door won't take more than one-half hour of your time, and you ought to feel that answering his questions truthfully and helpfully is one of your privileges as a citizen.

Cooperations Help

If the whole idea bores you, just remember that in Turkey martial law is declared during the period the census is being taken. No one, except the census takers themselves, is allowed on the street or even in doorways during that time. And perhaps you do not know that in Sweden every person is required to have such pertinent information as the Census Bureau wants on a card in his pocket all the time.

In France, a citizen must give the name and address of his employer. But such is not the case here. Our Census Bureau simply wants to know your occupation—not where you carry it on. The authorities point out that they have no intention of prying into your private life. They are merely trying to compile important but highly impersonal statistics.

They'll ask your age, of course. And for your own good, as well as the government's, you ought to be one hundred percent truthful about this. You never can tell when you will want to use the Census Bureau's records as legal proof of your age, which you are entitled to do.

Don't hesitate to admit that you have been divorced or that you have children by a previous marriage, even though these facts are not generally known among your friends. The law prevents the person to whom you give the information from ever revealing it. He is legally forbidden to tell your neighbor what you said—or even to let anyone look over his shoulder while he is writing.

The Census Bureau won't hand out facts about individuals. It is interested only in statistics.

Maverick Launches Austin Offensive

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 23 (AP)—Mayor Maury Maverick today launched a counter offensive against Austin's meat ordinance, requiring inspection of San Antonio meat by Austin inspectors.

At a meeting of the city council today he introduced ordinances providing for strict inspection of bricks, tallow and tallow products and extracts and chile food products. He later filed with the city clerk another ordinance requiring inspection of furniture imported into the city.

In introducing the ordinances, the mayor asserted that they were being introduced to "start a statewide and nation-wide fight on trade barriers."

In explanation of the ordinances, Maverick stated that they were as legal as the Austin meat ordinance. If cities continue to enact such ordinances this country would be "Balkanized," he asserted.

Five-Point Program For Livestock Industry Is Outlined At Illinois Meet

Joint Sessions Are Conducted

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 23 (U.P.)—A five-point program, intended to correct "existing" livestock conditions, was urged today on stockmen from corn belt and western states, here for the annual U. S. Livestock association and Illinois Livestock association convention.

The program was outlined by R. E. Ashby, chief of livestock marketing at the University of Illinois. He said the "need for organization among farmers and stockmen is fully as imperative as it is among other industries that have become strongly organized."

He suggested:

Practical Program

1. Inaugurate a practical program of accurate information to all livestock producers.

2. Unite major interests in a campaign for equitable freight rates and uniform freight rate relationships throughout the corn belt and the nation.

3. Improve the central markets and make them the effective selling places they should be.

4. Find out what prices producers are actually being paid at all selling points, local markets and central markets, on a definite weight and grade basis.

To Help Producers

5. Help livestock producers to understand the expense to the entire livestock industry in maintaining the excessive number of so-called markets, expense in direct costs, in price irregularities and in reduced bargaining power.

Howard Gramlich, secretary of the American Shorthorn Breeders association, urged that the capital of the United States be moved from Washington to Springfield to "bring the nation's leaders in closer contact with the agricultural sections of the country."

Post Deserted By Louisianan

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 23 (U.P.)—Sam G. Tujague, president of the Orleans parish (New Orleans) board of levee commissioners, resigned today without explanation.

The resignation followed closely the defeat of the city-state administration at the polls Tuesday when Sam Houston Jones of Lake Charles won the Democratic gubernatorial nomination over Gov. Earl K. Long. Long had been supported by Mayor Robert S. Maestri of New Orleans, acknowledged head of the administration machine.

Tujague had been president of the important board of levee commissioners for two and a half years.

Prior To Advent

The levee board was embroiled in one of the two federal mail fraud trials here in the aftermath of the Louisiana scandals. Five men were convicted of using the mails to defraud in collecting a $496,000 fee for refinancing of $5,485,000 worth of levee board funds.

The refunding was prior to Tujague's advent to office.

Tujague was a government witness in the mail fraud trial which convicted Robert H. Newman and Norman Trent Harris, partners in the brokerage firm which handled the transactions; Abe L. Shushan, president prior to the refunding and former lieutenant of Huey P. Long; Robert W. Wagues pack, chairman of the board's finance committee; and Henry J. Miller, accountant.

Professor Spots Cattle Trail Indian Trails Of Plains

The west as it was in the days of longhorns and cattle drives is no more, but age has left its tracks, said William M. Pearce, history instructor at Texas Technological college.

Taking the air, he flew over Yellowhouse canyon and could see the crossed Indian and cattle trails southwest of Lubbock, he said.

"The parts of the valley which have never been under cultivation, stunted shinnery and a different-colored soil mark the trails beyond cultivation," he said. The Indian trails are amazingly straight, but the cattle trails follow the contour of the land.

Since a route by which cattle could be moved stock northward for shipment, the canyon later became a legislative trail for cattle movers. In the early days of West Texas the canyon route was used by those moving from Central Texas over the Caprock and onto the Great Plains because of the availability of water along that route.

City Attorney Bradley Will Vouch For Birch, Magician

How clever is this magician, Birch?

Take it away, Durwood H. Bradley, city attorney, ardent admirer of those who know their legerdemain and whose hands are quicker than the audience's eyes:

"I've seen Houdini several times, and Birch. Birch is a close runnerup in the art. In fact, I think he's the best today. He 'charms' a rope in the typical Indian trick, the rope stiffens and extends upward, a little negro climbs the rope, the magician shoots a pistol and some some smoke, the rope falls and the negro disappears—don't ask me where!

"Plenty of stuff like that. There's a box over at Sherrod Bros. hardware company that was put together by Lubbock Sash and Door company. It is stoutly nailed and it is not different from other boxes as to form of construction. Birch will be placed in it, nailed up and, despite being shackled with rope, will get out. I've seen others do the same thing. Have helped nail them in and then stood off and listened. You hear a noise like of rope being stretched. Then the magician emerges from the box."

Birch will stage matinee and night performances here Monday, under auspices of the Kiwanis club. Money will go to boys' clubs, some of it to the Knothole Gang.

Government Should Be Aid To, Not Run, Business

By SANDOR S. KLEIN
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23—Director James W. Young of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce believes that government should do for business only that which business is unable to do for itself.

"We don't want to assume any activities a given industry or business, in an organized way, can carry on for itself," he told the United Press today in his first interview since Secretary of Commerce Harry L. Hopkins appointed him to the key post last August.

He added that there were some functions which government must perform for business because the general welfare is involved.

Only Impartial Agency

"Furthermore," Young continued, "the government is the only impartial agency that can get the confidence of all business to do certain jobs which are of vital importance to business. I cite as an example the monthly survey of inventories made by the commerce department. More than 900 firms are cooperating by furnishing figures on a voluntary basis. There is no private organization to which these firms are willing to give the figures.

"In spite of the fact that we have undertaken that activity, my attitude is that if any private agency could do it, we'd cheerfully give it up."

Opinion Expressed

He expressed belief that in the next decade industry's most important advances will come out of research in the field of social science.

"Businessmen, by and large, have learned to respect and value the work of students and research people in the field of the physical sciences because, over the last 25 years in particular, they have seen the tangible fruits of that research in manufacturing progress," Young said.

Value Not Learned

"Yet industry has not learned to value the work of the people in the social sciences. The economist is a worker in that field. There isn't yet in business a widespread appreciation of the fact that in the last 10 years very marked advances have been made in the techniques of research in the social science activities. And it's partly due to lack of appreciation of what the economist can contribute today that business tends to look upon people like that as long-haired theorists."

Young has spent most of his life in private business. He was chairman of the board of Lane Publishing Co., San Francisco, when Hopkins asked him to take over the bureau and reorganize it so that it might better serve business.

The one big job of the commerce department, as he sees it, is to promote trade so that more goods will be supplied to more people.

Sears Store Manager Here Goes To Chicago Session

W. C. O'Mara, manager of Sears Roebuck & Co. store here, left last night for Dallas and Chicago where he will spend next week in a conference with more than 480 managers of other Sears stores in all parts of the country.

The entire week, including at least three nights, will be given over to discussions of merchandising and operations problems, O'Mara said yesterday. Offices of many of the organization's headquarters executives are being moved to a centrally located hotel for the week and approximately 1,000 rooms in the hostelry will be used for display purposes.

Leaving by train last night, O'Mara will today join a special Pullman filled with Sears managers living in the Dallas zone and at St. Louis the car will be attached to a special train headed for Chicago.

During O'Mara's absence, the local store will in charge of Assistant Manager Orville Laird.

Frontier Tribesmen, British Troops Are Fighting In India

BOMBAY, Feb. 23 (U.P.)—Frontier tribesmen and British troops were fighting in the Ahmadizai region of the northwest frontier of India today.

Hostile tribes were resisting an advance by British Indian troops, which gained initial objectives near Gumatti only after a determined assault in which infantry detachments were supported by artillery.

Although tribesmen harassed the advance from caves and cliffs British casualties were reported light. British patrols have been established in captured areas.

"Freedom" For Finns Forecast

MOSCOW, Feb. 23. (U.P.)—Russian newspapers, observing the 22nd anniversary of establishment of the red army and navy, predicted today that "no doubt the nearest future will witness the liberation of the Finnish people from their bloody oppressors."

"A harsh winter, natural obstacles, the enemy's treachery, ferro-concrete fortifications—nothing can check the offensive thrust of the red fighters," The Red Star, official organ of the soviet army, said.

Policies Praised

"The red army's mighty blow has performed a classic break through the much praised Mannerheim line," another war office publication said. "The heroic fighters from socialist land have demonstrated for the first time in history how permanent fortifications must be taken. Certain bourgeois observers are not mistaken in declaring that penetration of the line means the end of White Finland."

Although the anniversary was not a national holiday, mass meetings were held at all garrisons, factories and other places. Speakers decribed the red army as "invincible," "the armed forces of victorious socialism," "liberator of subjected peoples," and "humanity's hope."

The press emphasized the red army's international character and praised Josef Stalin as socialism's greatest strategist.

Newspapers also stressed Russia's peace policies and said they were exemplified in the Russo-German pacts.

Missionaries And Catholics May Pay Honor To Confucius

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 23 (U.P.)—The Vatican has issued a decree permitting missionaries and Chinese Catholics to pay honor at ceremonial rites to Confucius, the great Chinese sage.

Since shortly after the introduction of Christianity into China, Christians have been forbidden to join the pagan Chinese in paying tribute to Confucius and considerable resentment has been caused at times.

The new decree was issued by the sacred congregation for propagating the faith. Authoritative Vatican circles said that it is based on the fact that Confucius is considered a national hero and philosopher, not a divinity.

"Gone With The Wind" Will Be Shown In Mornings

Do your dishes early and see "Gone With the Wind" next week.

A "housewives matinee" will be offered each morning Monday through Saturday, Arlie Crites, manager of Lindsey Theaters, inc., announced after requests for a morning show had flooded his office and the cashier's office.

Out Of Town Calls

The show, Crites stated, will be screened in the mornings not only for the benefit of housewives but for Lubbock persons working at night who would be unable to attend either the afternoon or night shows.

Also, numerous inquiries as to whether a morning show would be offered have been received from out of town. Seven telephone calls have been received from Plainview alone.

Admission 75 Cents

Showings will open at 8:30 o'clock each morning and will end at 12:15 o'clock. Admission price will be 75 cents. Tickets will not be reserved and will not be laid back for anyone, but may be purchased only at the Palace theater boxoffice immediately preceding the showings. The boxoffice will open at 7:30 o'clock each morning.

Suggestion for a "housewives matinee" on Monday morning was made by The Plainsman, Avalanche-Journal columnist, and officials were considering a show for that morning, then ended up by scheduling the six morning shows, said Crites.

Convenient For Many

The theater manager emphasized that the morning showings have not been scheduled because of a "sell out" of afternoon and night tickets, but only because it is more convenient for many to attend in the mornings.

Contrary to reports in circulation, there are nearly 8,000 reserved seat tickets left for the afternoon and night showings. Approximately 6,000 tickets have been sold of the 13,876 available.

Large blocks of choice seats are not available, however, and persons planning theater parties might find it more convenient to attend a morning showing.

Farmhand Pleads Guilty Of Second Degree Murder, Arson

DELHI, N. Y., Feb. 23 (AP)—James Fink, 22-year-old farmhand, pleaded guilty today to second degree murder and second degree arson in the slaying Jan. 14 of a Masonville, N. Y., farm family of three, and was sentenced to a minimum of 70 years in Attica state prison.

State Police Inspector E. A. Maynard said Fink confessed shooting Teed, 68, his wife, and their daughter after an argument with Teed over a card game, and burning the house to conceal the crime.

Jap Editorial Raps American Policies

TOKYO, Feb. 23. (U.P.)—In an editorial entitled "Don't Be Afraid of the United States," the newspaper Hochi tomorrow will say that the United States, not satisfied with mere protests, is preparing to resort to force and pressure against Japan.

"The stationing of the main strength of the American fleet in the Pacific may not mean immediate preparations for war against Japan but undeniably it is the basis for an economic blockade of Japan," the newspaper said.

Hochi said that American forces in Hawaii and the American Asiatic fleet have been strengthened. It urged that the Japanese foreign office use the Japanese naval power as a pressure factor in its policy regarding the United States.

Dallas Area May Enlist 166 Apprentice Seaman In March

DALLAS, Feb. 23 (U.P.)—A March quota of 166 apprentice seamen, largest in five months, was assigned today to the Dallas area naval recruiting office.

The 166 will be youths recruited from North Texas and Oklahoma. They will be sent to the naval training base at San Diego, Cal. The February quota was 150.

McNutt Speaks To Democrats

CHICKASHA, Okla., Feb. 23. (AP)—Presidential Hopeful Paul V. McNutt declared today the United States should never abandon the Philippines.

The federal security administrator, former commissioner to the islands, told a gathering of Democrats in a speech here that the United States had a legitimate stake in the Phillipines because it had launched a "notable experiment" in reconstruction of social and economic conditions.

"If we run away from the Philippines," he argued, "our monument will be destroyed and our handiwork will perish. . . .

"So long as our flag flies there the islands will remain the cornerstone of peaceful reconstruction in the Far East.

"America must be prepared to meet the unpredictable future. Our business is not to strengthen external defense, but to build up internal physical conditions and the morale of our nation so that in disaster there can be no collapse."

McNutt also scheduled an address today at Lawton before leaving the state for Little Rock.

Westerners, Abernathy, Morton And Idalou Enter District Semi-Finals

Four Fives Open Up At 10 Today; Finals Tonight

By JOE PIERCE

Four flashy South Plains high school basketball teams, unbeaten in day-long "sudden death" competition, get together this morning and tonight to decide the champion of the Texas Interscholastic League's District Three.

Abernathy's Antelopes, Lubbock's Westerners, Idalou's Wildcats and Morton's Indians survived two games each to crash the semi-final round of the tournament.

Finals At 8 O'Clock

This morning at 10 o'clock Abernathy and Idalou meet to determine the top bracket finalist; an hour later the Westerners play the Indians for the other position in the championship contest.

Winners meet winners at 8 o'clock tonight for the title.

Friday's first round and quarterfinal contests were marked by an unusual absence of upsets. Close contests were numerous, but in every instance the favored team came through for victory.

FIRST ROUND RESULTS

Abernathy 22, Meadow 14.
Idalou 24, Lamesa 22.
Lorenzo 36, Lockney 34.
Southland 34, Patton Springs 19.
Lubbock 27, Littlefield 19.
Bula 46, Plainview 28.
Draw 24, Levelland 10.
Morton 2, Plains 0 (forfeit).

QUARTER-FINAL RESULTS

Abernathy 28, Southland 17.
Idalou 34, Lorenzo 23.
Lubbock 43, Bula 24.
Morton 34, Draw 25.

Three of the four teams in the semi-finals are repeaters: Lubbock is defending the district title, Abernathy was runnerup last year and Idalou was edged out by Abernathy in a semi-final game.

Westerners On Spot

The defending champion Westerners made the day's most impressive showing in trouncing Littlefield and Bula. Last-half rallies brought victories in both games after score had been tied at halftime in each.

Against Littlefield in the opening round, the Westerners found themselves matched shot for shot in the first half; score was 10-all at the intermission. Led by two quick field goals by Frank Smith, Lubbock soon made it 19-10 and coasted in from there to win 27 to 19.

Lubbock Is Puzzled

The Westerners went into the semi-finals opposite Bula, conqueror of Plainview by a 46-28 count. The first half was tough again; Bula's fast-breaking offense and cross-country passing seemed to puzzle Cawthon, Tyson and company.

It was a different story after the half. Bula couldn't seep through the back-court protection of Leete Jackson and Smith, Pete Cawthon and Joe Tyson scored almost at will. The final count was 43 to 24.

Others Steal Applause

From a spectator's standpoint, the Lorenzo-Lockney and Lamesa-Idalou games, both first-round affairs, were the day's tops. Lorenzo edged out Lockney, 36 to 34, after the score had been tied eight times; Idalou ousted Lamesa 24 to 22 when Junior Sneed sank a couple of gift shots in the last five seconds of play.

The Lorenzo squad, featuring the nifty shooting of Martin and Gray, threatened Idalou seriously in another quarter-final game, but strong third-quarter play kept the Wildcats in the tournament. The final score was 34-23, with little Davey Holt tossing in 15 points for Idalou.

Antelopes Too Tall

Southland exhibited a smooth-passing, well-coached team to beat Patton Springs, 34 to 19, in the opening round, but didn't have the heighth to compete with Abernathy, and dropped from the lists, 28-17.

Draw advanced over Levelland by 24-10, then lost to the speedy Morton boys, 25-34. Morton had won by forfeit from Plains.

Johnson Leads Scoring

Little Roy Johnson, flashy little Southland center, led the day's scoring with 31 points in two games. Ford and Howell of Bula were trailing him closely with 29 and 28 points. Florence of Draw had 25, Gray of Lorenzo 22, D. Holt of Idalou and Smith of Lubbock 21. It is noticeable that the five leading scorers of the day played on teams that dropped their quarter-final tests.

Bowlers To Open Pin Wars Today In Big Tourney

First annual South Plains Bowling tournament gets under way today at Lubbock Bowling club but few scores are expected to be posted until Sunday.

Three teams from Midland, one of each classification, will appear this Sabbath, the first visiting pin-topplers to compete. Nine Lubbock teams have entered and tournament officials have requested they roll their competitive games this week-end to clear the alleys for the larger portion of visiting teams the final week-ends.

Deadline Advanced

Indications Friday night were that nearly 50 five-men teams would be on hand before the meet ends March 3. Out-of-town entries posted not later than Thursday midnight will be honored.

Two winning combinations from Amarillo's popular Panhandle Open tourney have filled entries. Albuquerque's Class A team, champions at Amarillo, and another team from the New Mexico city entered by last-minute mail.

Doubles champions of the Panhandle tourney from Hobbs, N. M., also have entered.

Class A Team Ready

Officials said they expected most of the Lubbock entries to complete singles and doubles bowling this afternoon and tonight.

Lubbock front-line five, representing West Texas Gas company in Class A competition, will be Ernie Crites, Leo Bell, Erwin Childers, Buddy Aderton and W. A. Goeth.

Three Class A clubs from Borger are due to place high in the money. They are Gunn-Hinerman Tire Co., KC Men's store and Ferndale Motor company.

To Give Cash Awards

Other certain entries have been received from Odessa, Sweetwater, Amarillo and Clinton, Okla. Amarillo's, with eight teams, ranks close to home entries.

Class B Lubbock team are: Swift Ice Cream, McDavis Clothiers, Fleming Real Estate and Hilton hotel; Class C: Struve Mercantile of Abernathy, West Texas Gas company No. 2, Texas-New Mexico Utilities and Lions club.

Guarantee of $100 has been made for distribution to winners in Class A and medals will be awarded all singles champions. Prize money in other classes will be dependent upon entry fees.

Cowboy Cagers Beat Teachers, 28 To 26

With plenty of laughs sprinkled in with some better than average cage performances, the annual Junior High Cowboy-Faculty hardwood classic was reeled off Friday afternoon—and, by request, the teachers had rather the event wouldn't be given any publicity.

In fact, it will probably be some warm afternoon next May before most of them are allowed to forget the episode.

Won In Overtime

The final score was 28 to 26 favoring the charges of Coach Lovic Liston. It was an overtime triumph for the students, the game being forced into an extra period when the regular tussle ended in a 26-26 draw.

Primo McCurry paced scoring for the afternoon, amassing a grand total of 22 points. Other Cowboys playing and their scores include: Captain Joe L. Thompson, 2, Ezell Wallace, 0, Hubert Bechtol 3, and Hollis Walker 1.

Teachers playing and their scores, if any, follow: Gordon Deering 2, Byron Chappel 4, Carl Bailey 0, J. W. Wilson 4, Russell Wimberly 12, John Cox 4, Jay Gordon 0, Ray Hines 0, and Joe Kennedy 0. Gordon Thompson coached his fellow instructors to their fine showing while Coach Liston broke precedent and sided with his charges for the first time in the history of the annual classic, which concluded the regular home basketball season at Junior High.

The Cowboys will participate in Idalou's Invitation junior tournament March 6-8 to conclude their campaign for the year.

Ernest Terry, Former Hubber Hurler, Back With Longview

DALLAS, Feb. 23. (AP)—President George Schepps of the Dallas Baseball club said today he had signed four Dallas boys and one from Mesquite to report to the Longview club this spring. The Dallas club recently purchased the Longview franchise.

The Mesquite prospect is Ernest Terry, six-foot four-inch right-handed pitcher, who made his first twice-in-a-row champions of the West Texas-New Mexico league. He played with Longview last year.

PAUL DEAN QUITS

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., Feb. 23. (AP)—Paul Dean, junior member of the once famous pitching partnership with brother Diz, intends to retire from baseball without reporting to the New York Giants this season, Manager Bill Terry disclosed tonight.

Ho Hum! Hoffman Breezes Into New York With Glad Tidings That Max Is Serious

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 23—Ancil Hoffman came to town today, with Max Baer's future in the palm of his hand.

"Look," he said, holding out a stubby paw on which blisters and callouses stood out like Indian mounds on a prairie. "Look at this if you don't think Max is serious about a comeback."

It was a little difficult to get the connection between blisters on Ancil Hoffman's hands and Max Baer's renewal of his campaign promises, but Hoffman quickly elaborated.

"I've had Max and Buddy out at my farm near Sacramento," he explained. "I set them to work spading up the garden, but they wouldn't work unless I worked with them." He sagged wearily at the memory.

"That's not the only reason I think he might make good, though. Max isn't afraid of getting his face cut up any more. He used to dread it, and as soon as he got cut he went to pieces.

Now he tells me: 'What the heck, I don't care what happens to my face.' Max is down to 221.

"Another thing, he has regained confidence.

"He's really crazy about that kid of his, too, which is another reason he's serious. Takes him everywhere, in airplanes, anything."

Ancil paused for breath, and looked around for Buddy Baer, who accompanied him East. Buddy, 6 feet, 7 inches tall, is down to 251 pounds now.

Buddy is a nice guy. Too nice, in fact, for his business. He is low-voiced, painfully courteous and intelligent. It has been remarked that he could be champion right now if he had any particular relish for fisticuffing. But, like Max, his fighting is more on the order of Ferdinand the Bull. Because of his build, he's here to battle Valentin Campo.

Buddy fought Lee Savold, who meets Bob Pastor here next week, and he has respect for the Des Moines youth, although he thinks he sees a weakness.

"He tires after four or five rounds," Buddy says. "I broke a bone in my wrist,"—he held out a wrist that looked like the rear axle of a truck—"in the first round, but went on to beat him. He tires, but he's fast and hits hard.

"I've never met Johnny Paychek, but I've been chasing him for a year and a half. I understand he has a fine left hand."

Ancil Hoffman puffed furiously at his cigar, remarked about the cold weather, then added:

"And don't forget, Max is really serious this time."

Which possibly will be greeted with an "Oh yeah?" in some quarters, although it must be admitted that spading a garden is a queer idea of fun.

Dawson Courts Par To Show Way In Houston Invitation

By WILLIAM T. RIVES
Associated Press Sports Writer

HOUSTON, Feb. 23. — Johnny Dawson, handsome Hollywood sporting goods salesman, shook hands with par today to enter the quarter-finals of the Houston County Club invitation tournament.

Playing the best golf of the day, Dawson swamped O'Hara Watts, Dallas veteran.

Watts fell 4 and 3 as Dawson turned the first nine in perfect figures—36—and closed out on No. 15 with Watts conceded a par and the match.

White Comes Through

Dawson was five up through the first 11 holes, but the gallery was stirred when Watts, apparently making a comeback, birdied 12 and 13. Dawson, however, won 14 when Watts missed a four-foot putt for a par.

The defending champion and home course player, Ed White, came through after a rocky start. He was one down through ten holes to 22-year-old Len Spitzer, University of Texas student, from Oakpark, Ill., but won the next five holes and the decision, 4 and 3.

Vines Challenges Dawson

Dawson and White were picked to enter the finals after today's matches, although each faces keen competition tomorrow.

Dawson bumps into Ellsworth Vines of Hollywood, former world's No. 1 tennis player, who bounced Lorraine Young of San Antonio 3 and 1. Vinces and Young were both off their games and the former needs to recover quickly.

White will meet Arthur (Buck) Luce, 19-year-old school mate of Spitzer—"but I'll be 20 next Tuesday"—who smothered lanky Jack Jackson of Dallas 4 and 3.

Luce's tournament experience despite his youth and the present caliber of his game—he was only one over through National inter-collegiate champion and Walker Cup player.

Reynolds Smith of Dallas, former state champion and Walker Cupper, also is in for rough going, meeting Hank Bowbeer of Chicago.

Smith defeated Ben Calhoun, home course champion, 3 and 2, while Bowbeer deflated Ed Herron, Houston, 2 and 1.

Bobby Riegel of Houston, former state titleholder, eliminated Horace Young of Houston 2 and 1, and M. C. Kelly, Baytown, defeated R. M. Moore of Montbelvieu, 2 and 1.

Riegel and Kelly meet in the fourth quarter-final match.

Darkhorse Leads At New Orleans

By MORTIMER KREEGER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 23.—Chandler Harper, 25-year-old pro from Portsmouth, Va., smashed a sensational 32-35—67 over the long windswept City Park links today to tie the course record and lead the first round of the $10,000 New Orleans Open golf tournament.

One of the last players to finish the 18 holes, Harper bettered the 36-32—68 which put Ben Hogan of White Plains, N. Y., in second place and the 35-34—69 which gave Tony Long of Inwood, L. I., the third spot.

Snead Draws Crowd

Five players were tied at 70 and four at 71, making a total of 12 entrants to beat par 72.

Harper, who put the big-name favorites in the shade—for a time at least—has never won a major title although he held his state amateur championship three times and open crown twice.

An estimated 8,000 persons, admitted free, followed the players. The biggest gallery was the (Slammin) Sammy Snead of Shawnee, Pa., whose one-under-par, 36-35—71, was good only for a ninth-place tie.

Low amateur was Wilford Wehrle of Chicago, with 37-36—73, followed by Fred Haas, jr., of New Orleans at 39-35—74.

Jimmy Demaret of Houston shot a 39-35—74.

Champions Will Defend Titles In National AAU Contests Tonight

NEW YORK, Feb. 23 (AP)—The National AAU championships, mid-season climax of each indoor track season, will be presented at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night with a cast of characters that includes individual defending champions in all but two events.

From Torrance, Calif., comes Lou Zamperini to offer the strongest threat to Chuck Fenske's string of five straight mile-running victories.

Flamingo Stakes Scheduled Today

(By The Associated Press)

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 23. —Joe Widener's flamingoes take their annual walk tomorrow, and then the customers at Hialeah will watch fifteen 3-year-olds scramble a mile and a furlong for $20,000 in the 13th running of the Flamingo Stakes.

This well-heeled event is expected to attract a near-record crowd to Widener's fancy plant, giving fresh cash register impetus to an already prosperous season. To justify the fancy name, the 400 large, awkward, salmon-pinkish birds that usually stand around the infield looking bored will be paraded up and down the greensward.

Seeks Third Winner

Herbert M. Woolf of Kansas City, owner of the Woolford farm, will be trying to capture the Stakes for the third consecutive year.

Woolf won in 1938 with Lawrin, which later went on to capture the handsome Kentucky Derby prize, and again in 1939 with Technician.

This year the Woolford colors will be carried by the entry of Inscolad and Prompt Pay.

Tempers Of Chinese Rise Because Of Food Shortage

PEIPING, North China, Feb. 23. (AP)—Hungry crowds besieged grain shops today as a growing food shortage, resulting from disastrous floods which last summer destroyed North China's wheat crop and war conditions, threatened millions with starvation in the Peiping-Tientsin area.

Soaring prices put even bare necessities out of reach of the legions of wage earners.

A foreign survey showed that living costs for the low income groups had risen nearly 400 per cent above pre-war prices, while wages have increased less than 50 per cent over the same period.

Temper Is Rising

Flour, the principal staple, was quoted at 44 dollars per hundredweight in the currency of the Japanese-dominated "federal reserve bank"—the equivalent of about two months wages for the average native worker. Coarse native grains, like millet and kaoling, were quoted at 20 to 25 "dollars" a hundredweight.

(The "federal reserve" dollar has an open market value of about 10 cents in U. S. currency. The present low exchange rate gives a false idea of its value to the Chinese, to whom it is still a dollar.)

Even at these prices little flour was available, and many shopkeepers closed their doors. Though there have been no serious disorders this far, the public temper was rising and a few cases of looting were reported.

Republican Says Roosevelt To Reject Man As Sane As Garner

DALLAS, Feb. 23. (AP)—R. B. Creager of Brownsville, Republican national committeeman for Texas, said here tonight President Roosevelt would control the Democratic convention and "he will never accept a man as sane and level-headed" as Vice President John N. Garner.

In an interview, Creager said "I don't feel that Garner can be nominated, although he is making long strides. Roosevelt's nomination will be a good thing because it will clarify the issues and give the nation a chance to defeat Roosevelt and the New Deal at the same time."

Creager, here for the state Republican executive committee meeting tomorrow, predicted the committee would choose Dallas for the state convention May 28. He added an uninstructed delegation would be sent to the national convention in Philadelphia June 24.

U. S. Senator Styles Bridges, (R-NH) a candidate for presidential nomination, will address the party leaders here tomorrow.

Dies Says CIO Has Warned It Will Fight His Re-Election

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23. (AP) — Chairman Dies (D-Tex) of the special House committee investigating un-American activities said today he had been warned the CIO was planning to spend $100,000 to prevent his re-election, but might abandon the idea if the relaxed his opposition to the labor organization.

CIO officials scoffed at the assertion privately, but declined to be quoted directly or to deny it officially. Inquiries at the headquarters of labor's non-partisan league, associated with the CIO, brought more informal and unofficial denial.

It was said privately in league quarters, however, that a survey would be made in Dies' district to determine the possibility of a candidate to run against him. The league opposed Dies two years ago, naming him as one of 39 House members from 24 states whose records on labor legislation were "unsatisfactory."

Gypsum Industry Undergoing Federal Investigation

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Attorney General Jackson announced today that a broad investigation of the gypsum industry had been undertaken as a part of the nation-wide anti-trust inquiry into building costs. Gypsum is a basic constituent of wall plaster.

Jackson said subpoenas had been issued directing 12 of the leading national producers of gypsum products to appear before a special grand jury here Monday. Those subpoenaed were not named.

The investigation was prompted, he said, by numerous complaints that prices for gypsum had been "high, uniform and rigid for a period of many years" despite a decline in the prices of most other building materials during the depression.

Mysterious Friend Has Ozark People Hounding Mail Man

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Feb. 23 (AP) —A generous but mysterious "sunshine friend" had the Missouri Ozark country beside itself waiting for the mail man.

Cashiers' checks of $100 or more are arriving unexpectedly at home with this penned admonition:

"Use this and try to make somebody as happy as this makes you."

The gifts to charitable and other organizations in Springfield total $12,900. Now three former merchants and a widow living in nearby Ava, Mo., have received checks. One check was for $150, the others for $100 each.

New Picture Of Vice-President Garner Is Placed In House

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)— A new picture of Vice President Garner hung today in the speaker's lobby of the House floor, where likenesses of all former speakers of that body are displayed.

The work was by Seymour Stone and was executed at the request of Amon G. Carter, Fort Worth newspaper publisher. The portrait replaced one done by another artist, Boris Gordon.

long as possible without causing heavy Finnish losses, then to withdraw slightly, exacting from the enemy heavy tolls in dead and taking from them artillery and vast quantities of war materials.

5. The Finns are receiving some foreign help, and although it is not now bringing the quantity of planes and men they would like, there always is the prospect that great quantities of either or both would change the picture quickly.

Tanks Destroyed

The Finns reported destroying 16 tanks on the isthmus and six more north of Lake Ladoga, where they also captured "large quantities of war material."

According to the Finns the Russians killed 12 women and children in an air raid yesterday on the town of Issalmi, in central Finland.

The Russians dropped "a few parachute patrols" behind the lines again, according to the communique, but they "were either killed or taken prisoner."

Fund For Labor Probe Granted

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23. (AP) — Without a word of debate, the House voted today to give another $50,000 to its special committee investigating the Wagner act and the National Labor Relations board.

Chairman Smith (D-Va) disclosed later that the first $50000 the House appropriated last year "already has run out."

"We will use this new money to complete our inquiry into activities of the labor board and to do the other things the resolutions which created the committee calls for," Smith said.

To Submit Changes

He referred particularly to sections which instructed the investigators to determine what effect the act itself has had on employer-employe relations and on unemployment.

It was learned, meanwhile, that the committee soon would submit to the House a series of amendments to the statute. Infomed persons said these revisions would be in the form of a "preliminary committee report" on which congressional action should be taken immediately.

The committee devoted its hearing today to a labor case at the consumers power company," Jackson, Mich. Four employes of the company testified that their AFL union would be supplanted by a rival CIO organization under procedure of the labor board.

CIO Or Nothing

Gerald L. Gill, their spokesman, asserted the board's collective bargaining election machinery forced the AFL union off a runoff election ballot, despite the fact that it polled almost as many votes in the first vote as the CIO.

Gill said that originally the CIO received 1,164 votes, the AFL 1,072, 506 workers chose neither union and 64 ballots were voided. Because no union received a clear majority of those voting, the board ordered the runoff election, but gave the workers a choice between the CIO union or no union at all.

"Confucius Say" Fad Lessens Eng Sing's Sentence To Day

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. (AP)— The "Confucius say" fad penetrated the August precincts of federal district court today and won clemency for a Chinese laundryman.

Judge George A. Welsh sentenced Eng Sing, 47, Princeton, N. J., to 30 days for contempt. The Chinese wept, said he was sick and begged for a lighter sentence.

"I wish I had the wisdom of Confucius," the judge remarked.

Then he pretended to "commune" with the ancient Chinese philosopher and announced:

"I think Confucius would say 'One day,' and one day it is."

Eng Sing bowed profound Oriental thanks.

Answer To Oil Crisis Sought

By WILLIAM E. KEYS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Feb. 23.—Members of the railroad commission searched today for an answer to the dilemma of prorating the huge East Texas oil field.

Two members advanced varying suggestions but there was little indication as to when a unified policy might be adopted to meet the problem posed by a three-judge federal court.

The tribunal said it would enjoin the East Texas method of distributing production unless the commission revamped it—allowing more withdrawals for leases which have greater acreage and reserves.

Call Is Awaited

Commissioners Jerry Sadler and Ernest O. Thompson were awaiting a call from Chairman Lon A Smith for a formal conference. The chairman did not indicate when he would act.

Sadler, who asked Governor W. Lee O'Daniel to call a session of the Legislature to meet the oil "crisis," said an appeal from the court ruling would force a reduction in the allowable of small East Texas tracts. He reasoned that if Humble Oil and Refining company and Rowan & Nichols, plaintiffs in the proration attack, were given greater allowables by court direction operators similarly situated also would obtain injunctions.

Bent On Appealing

Thompson was bent on appealing. He declared even if additional injunctions were ordered production from wells on small tracts would not have to be lowered.

Altering the order, he added, would delay an inevitable final interpretation of Texas oil conservation in the supreme court of the United States. If an appeal is taken immediately the commission should within a year have the final word on proration, he said.

Compliance with the order, Thompson explained, would deprive small operators of some of the oil they could produce while an appeal was in progress.

Administration Win

ther (R-NY), which would have changed the program into the tariff system advocated by the Republican platform committee, in the report submitted by its chairman, Glenn Frank, early this week. He proposed a reciprocity system, but one under which all the trade agreements would have to be approved by both Houses of Congress.

Rep. Dingell (D-Mich) contended the amendment would result in "the death of the trade agreements" and said that was "what the minority seeks at this time." In addition, he argued it would revive "log rolling," as a method of tariff making.

In the end the Crowther amendment was voted down, 161 to 144.

Opposition Closer

The opposition came much closer with an amendment by Rep. Disney (D-Okla) to forbid any reduction in excise duties on oil, coal, copper and lumber. Since all commodities were included, the proposal attracted the support of numerous members from sections which produce each.

Other amendments which were rejected included one by Rep. Coffee (D-Nebr) to require Senate ratification of the pacts, in the manner usual to treaties; one by Rep. Woodruff (R-Mich) to prevent reductions in tariffs on any farm product the price of which is below parity, and one by Crowther to provide a system of judicial review of the rate reductions at the instance of persons who might feel themselves injured.

The opposition made its final effort with a motion to send the bill back to the ways and means committee with instructions to include four amendments which had previously been voted down individually. Opposition leaders apparently hoped that in bulk these proposals would attract enough votes to put them over. However, the motion to recommit was defeated by a vote which Speaker Bankhead announced as 221 to 163.

Ouija Board Says FDR To Keep Quiet

By W. B. RAGSDALE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23— Some strategists for Democratic candidates, after sessions with the ouija board, predict that President Roosevelt will not break his third term silence until he actually has been renominated.

These men, when they talk freely, say they are convinced that if the president does not speak a positive denial in advance of the convention, the third term swell will sweep him into a nomination. That would demonstrate his hold upon the Democratic party, they argue, and would be the proper time for him to name his successor.

Lessen Discord

A dramatic appearance before a national convention after such a nomination, by a man come to reject the crown, would enable him to put across his successor with a minimum of party dispute. At least, that is the way some of the strategic guessers are beginning to figure.

They can provoke a quick argument by throwing before some other Democrats the statement that the president can get a third term simply by keeping his mouth shut. Most of the candidates are making desperate efforts to smoke him out of the third term hole. It is entirely possible that several of them might unite their forces in a bitter fight to stop a third term if the silence lasts too long.

Thus far, there has been no obvious union of the anti-third term forces, whatever may have been the undercover maneuvers.

Negro With Too Much Wine Is Arrested

A 31-year-old negro, who "had too much wine and whisky," was arrested Friday night for liquor law violation.

Frank Mitchell of the liquor control board said the negro possessed four gallons of wine and five pints of whisky. Charges will be filed today, officials said.

F. L. Stowers of 1624-A Tenth street told police his car had been stolen Wednesday. The 1936 Plymouth, license 814-635, was taken at Sixteenth street and Texas avenue, he said.

Loss of a woman's watch was reported by Wanza Lou Townley of Casa Linda.

None was injured in collisions of cars at Sixteenth street and Avenue H and at Main street and Avenue T, police reported. Drivers involved in the first mishap were V. H. Milligan, 43, of 1707 Avenue G and W. O. Daniel of 1112 Avenue L. Police said Ray L. Milam, 29, of Shallowater and Arthur Holly, 21, of Lubbock route 6 were drivers in the second accident.

British Punishment

which bore no return addresses and for that reason the money was being held by the British.

With reference to reports from an eye-witness that on Jan. 18, the British removed mails from an American clipper plane at bayonet point, the state department issued a statement today saying it had received no advices indicating the British used force.

Story Is Confirmed

However, a second eye-witness corroborated the story of force today. This spectator, who declined to permit use of his name, said that when Capt. Charles A. Lorber of the trans-Atlantic clipper displayed unwillingness to surrender the mail, the chief British censor replied:

"If you are going to be unpleasant about this, we shall have to resort to taking the mail by force."

"Then I am afraid you will have to do that," Lorber was quoted as saying.

Soldiers Are Called

Then "marines or soldiers" were called to enforce the censor's demands.

At Bermuda, the chief censor declared "the story of mail removal at bayonet point is utter nonsense."

Senator Pittman (D-Nev) suggested today a plan to lessen difficulties over the censorship. He proposed an agreement under which mail destined for Germany or countries adjacent to Germany be sorted separately for the censor's inspection and that other mail go through unhampered.

Pittman, chairman of the foreign relations committee, has said the British have the right to examine mail at Bermuda but are making "foolish" use of the right.

Squaredance Is Held As Part Of Recreational Program

Approximately 55 young persons turned time backward Friday night at a squaredance as a part of the city-WPA sponsored winter recreation program in the recreation center in Mackenzie park.

Edward Finch, playground leader, was caller.

Music was provided by a string band, composed of Buford Finch, director and guitar, Derral Finch, violin, Paul Randolph, guitar, Rachel Burns, guitar, and Harold Douglas, guitar.

Plans for a kite contest March 16 have not been completed, said Mrs. John W. Wilson, director. Leaders will be trained in kite making and flying next week.

Youths Attend Adventist Meet

Approximately 250 young persons of the Texico conference of Seventh-Day Adventists heard an address by G. R. Fattic Friday night in the Seventh-Day Adventist church, Twentieth street and Avenue K.

Warning the youths against false social and economic philosophies, Prof. Fattic, young people's secretary for the Southwestern Union conference, advised the development of right thinking and purposeful living.

Will End Today

Elder A. W. Peterson, of Washington, D. C., heard of world work for young people of the denomination, will speak at 11 o'clock this morning in the First Christian church, 1601 Avenue J. He will tell what Adventist young people are doing in other parts of the world.

Sabbath school will be conducted at 9:30 o'clock this morning. The convention will be concluded this afternoon with talks and discussions.

Lee Carter of Clovis, N. M., conference secretary, also spoke Friday night. Visitors were here from towns throughout West Texas and eastern New Mexico.

Man, Wife And Mother Slain

ROCHESTER, Mich., Feb. 23 (U.P.) A foundry worker, his wife and his mother were found dead in their home here today in what sheriff's officers said appeared to be a double murder and suicide committed a month ago.

Deputy Sheriff Ted Dunn said he found the bodies of Elliott Owen, his wife, Jean, and Mrs. Mary Owen, his mother, lying in three separate beds in their home near here. They had been shot.

A note found in the house addressed to "Dear Aunt" said:

"They didn't suffer any. They died while asleep."

Dunn said the note mentioned that Owen's wife had been sick and that he could not stand to see her suffer.

"I must be crazy, the note continued. "I've got a $1,000 insurance policy. It ought to bury us all."

Dunn said a newspaper found on the porch was dated a month ago today, leading him to believe that the tragedy occurred then.

Mae Murray Talks

Plains, N. Y. Then late in 1935 as she was preparing to sail to fill a picture engagement that would net her $120,000, Miss Murray testified, she received word the boy was desperately ill.

She remained with him for several weeks, during which her contract with a British picture concern was cancelled, she said.

"Then my funds began dwindling and I borrowed money and sold my clothes. I sold a chinchilla jacket for which I paid $5,000 for only $150."

She said she "begged and pleaded" with Mdivani to help her financially and finally went to the park bench. Outside the court room she explained she was five weeks behind in her hotel rent and when she left was forced to leave her baggage.

Annoyed By Sneers

Judge Dockweiler conferred with counsel for the former actress and for Mdivani and then announced he would send written interrogatories to a New York judge who would ask the son with which parent he preferred to live.

The boy is in the custody of Miss Bessie Cunning, sister of Dr. Daniel Cunning, a brain and ear specialist who performed a mastoid operation upon him.

Mdivani was in court at the afternoon session, but did not testify. During a recess Miss Murray complained to Judge Dockweiler that she was annoyed by his "sneers and face-making."

Told Of Appeals

Shortly before the hearing adjourned until next Monday, Miss Murray told of her appeals for help for their son, made to Mdivani.

"I asked him to be the man he was when I married him," she said. "I needed help and I didn't think he should hate the boy, and I offered to tell him where Koran was.

"He said: 'I don't want to know; I'll see you both in the gutter.'

"I told him I wanted him to establish a trust fund for Koran. I wanted to do the things that I would have done if he hadn't taken my money."

More Volunteers Sought

"They have the right to navigate our coast according to present international law. We respect this law. Should not this respect for their ships from our side be a certain value to those who steadily pursue our commercial ships?"

The Norwegian Shipping Times, commenting in the same vein, asked whether it "would not be a fair situation if deliveries to Germany from Norway were to be reduced by one loading each time the Germans sink a Norwegian ship."

In Sweden, with public indignation unabated over Wednesday's bombing of Pajala near the frontier with Finland and a Russian reply to the Stockholm government's protest still awaited, various youth organizations increased agitation for more volunteers to Finland.

Fraternity Head Speaks Here

Eleven new members were initiated into the Texas Technological college chapter of Tau Beta Pi, national honorary engineering fraternity, Friday night at a banquet in Hilton hotel.

Hatch Measure Given Approval

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP) — A bill to outlaw "pernicious political activity" by any of the half million state employes who receive part of their pay from federal funds was approved today by the Senate elections committee.

The legislation, drafted by Senator Hatch (D-NM), would extend to such state employes the prohibitions which the Hatch act of last year placed on federal employes.

The committee divided 6 to 3.

Three Are Opposed

Opposing the measure were three Democrats who have been uniformly friendly to New Deal proposals—Minton of Indiana, Lucas of Illinois and Stewart of Tennessee.

Those voting to report the bill, in addition to Hatch, were Chairman George (D-Ga), and Senators Green (D-RI), Austin (R-Vt), Nye (R-ND) and Wiley (R-Wis.)

Minton announced immediately that he would oppose the bill when it is called up for Senate consideration. Stewart said he considered it an invasion of states rights.

Left To Commission

As approved by the committee, the bill would leave it to the civil service commission to enforce the prohibitions against political coercion of state employes in any presidential, senatorial or congressional election.

The bill also would provide for prosecution of state administrative officials who used their authority to interfere with or control elections in which federal officers were elected.

A Common-Sense Suggestion

RESPONSE to an appeal to members of the national House of Representatives the other day to forget party differences in an united effort to solve unemployment problems should be instant and without reservation.

The appeal was voiced by a small group of Democrats and Republicans who, according to Associated Press dispatches, have called a meeting for next Monday night in Washington to discuss the problem.

It may be true, of course, that the motives of those issuing call for the meeting are open to question. It may be that some, or all, are more interested in their own political welfare than they are in the plight of the jobless. Their motives may be entirely selfish.

But even if that is true, it does not remove the fact that unemployment is the most vital problem with which this country is faced. If it ever can be solved, then every one of our economic problems will be solved along with it.

Therefore, it is not properly a matter for party bickering. It is not one to be solved by Democrats or Republicans working at cross purposes to each other. If it is to be solved, they must forget in their deliberations such trivial things as party labels in their endeavor to discharge their higher responsibilities as American citizens.

We Support Their Efforts!

IT IS QUITE easy to understand why those residing in the vicinity of College avenue and Sixth street become disturbed when they hear rumors that an attempt may be made to establish a skating rink in their neighborhood. The possibility of such an enterprise as a next-door or close neighbor is enough to disturb any home dweller.

Those residing near College and Sixth have heard many such rumors and on at least one recent occasion, have brought such moral resentment to bear that one enterprise collapsed. Now there are reports that a man residing in another city, and whose only interest in Lubbock may be the dollars he can make out of it, is promoting such a proposition—hastening his efforts so as to become established before a zoning ordinance now nearing completion can be put into effect.

There is no resentment against roller skating, per se. It is an excellent, though strenuous, exercise and is a lot of fun. In a suitable location and properly conducted, a rink could be desirable. But not even the most enthusiastic skating fan can deny that rinks in use are productive of thunderous roars. Nor can it be denied that too frequently such rinks become the gathering center late at night of those who are loudly vociferous.

Thus, there will be much sympathy with those residing on and near College avenue if they bring all the moral persuasion to bear they can to keep the rinks out. And the persuasion at their command is considerable. In their efforts, they are entitled to such cooperation as the city can reasonably and legitimately give.

"King Cotton is demonstrating, or attempting to demonstrate, how an old timer can come back," Homer Steen points out in the Floyd County Hesperian, Floydada. The One-Minute Sermon

Thus saith the Lord; Execute ye judgment and righteousness, and deliver the spoiled out of the hand of the oppressor: and do no wrong, do no violence to the stranger, the fatherless, nor the widow, neither shed innocent blood in this place.

For if ye do this thing indeed, then shall there enter in by the gates of this house kings sitting upon the throne of David, riding in chariots and on horses, he, and his servants, and his people.

But if ye will not hear these words, I swear by myself, saith the Lord, that this house shall become a desolation.—Jeremiah 22: 3 through 5.

CHAPTER XX

Katie Donovan rang the front doorbell furiously. Where was Ling? Where was everybody? Here she had arrived ahead of time to surprise the family and none of them were here. She fished in her purse for a key, but couldn't find it. While she was still rummaging, Ling opened the door.

"I've been ringing 10 minutes," she exclaimed. "You and Henry," nodding to the chauffeur, "bring in my bags."

As a matter of fact she had been at the door less than three minutes when Ling opened it, but he made allowances. He had learned to take Mrs. Donovan philosophically.

"Your telegram came, Meesah Donovan out," he explained. "His office hear from the Captain. They have Henry meet you."

"Where's my son?" Mrs. Donovan demanded, taking off her gloves and casting a critical eye around the entrance hall as if suspecting that half the furnture might have been spirited away during her absence.

"Messah Dan, he upstairs," answered Ling laconically. "He resting."

Ling didn't add that Dan had been out all night and that when he did return at half-past four he still had on his dinner clothes. Nor did he mention Dan's picture in the evening newspaper, on the table beneath Mrs. Donovan's purse.

"Poor boy." Mrs. Donovan's voice was tender. "He wears himself out." She picked up her purse and the paper and, starting toward the elevator, glanced absent-mindedly at the headlines.

"Carry my things up to my room," she began, still looking at the headlines, "and tell Susette to unpack—" She stopped. "Good heavens, what's this! Dan Donovan keeps lovelorn vigil for beautiful model! Oh-h—"

She flopped down on a chair. "Call Dan! Call Susette. I'm going to faint." Ling scampered off, returning a moment later with a glass of whisky and a wet towel.

"I call Messah Dan, Susette," he cried. "They come now, quick." His usually impassive manner was gone.

"Let me see the paper again," murmured Mrs. Donovan, weakly.

"Better drink first," cautioned Ling.

In his excitement, he had poured Katie Donovan a whole tumbler of whisky. Ordinarily, she didn't take more than one cocktail of liqueur because it always went to her head. But she gulped half the glass of whisky down, as she read in detail the story about Dan, and the rest of the drink when she flung the paper to the floor.

"That's bad, that's bad," she kept repeating indistinctly, as the liquor began to take effect. "Dan keeps vigil. What vigil?"

By the time Dan and the maid got there, Katie was drunk.

"Mother!" Dan took one look at her. "You're as tight as a tick." He turned angrily to Ling. "What in thunder happened?"

"She read pice 'bout you in paper. I have her drink. She took it—two swallows," Ling sing-songed.

Mrs. Donovan shook her finger at Dan. "Don't keep vigil, my boy, don' keep vigil." She swayed uncertainly on the chair. "Les' sing that."

Dan held his aching head in his hands. What were the Donovans coming to? No matter which way he looked at it, the fault was his. Susette pressed a cold cloth against Katie's forehead.

"Get a cup of black coffee," she hissed to Ling, "strong."

"And a quart of tomato juice," added Dan. He glanced at his own reflection in a mirror, a disheveled figure in his blue silk robe, hair rumple, dabs of court plaster spotting his face. "Well, we can't let her stay here." He eyed his mother. She was singing, if you could it call it that.

"Watch it," he cried. "She's going out." He caught her as she swayed, then sagged, a lump of lead in his arms.

"You take her feet," he directed Susette. I'll manage her head and shoulders. If we can get her to the elevator—"

They were almost in front of the elevator when Mike walked in.

"What in the name of the saints?" he exclaimed at sight of his wife, supported by Dan and Susette.

Katie opened her eyes. "Hello, Mike, me darlint. Whoopee!"

Mike stared incredulously. "Why, Katie Donovan," he said reproachfully. "You're as drunk as a lord."

"And it's all my fault, Dad." Dan's tone was hopeless.

Mike ran across to help Dan. On the way he picked up the evening paper from the floor, absent-mindedly stuffing it in his pocket. "We'll get her to bed," he told Dan sharply, "then I'll hear the story."

But he didn't follow his own advice.

"When did she get back?" he bellowed as he and Dan and Susette struggled into the elevator with Katie.

"I don't know," said Dan. "Ling came up like a crazy man babbling that Mother was having hysterics in the hall. I dashed down and so did Susette. We found her drunk."

Mrs. Donovan, her head on her husband's shoulder, came to for a moment. "Let's sing, honey," she began. "All aroun' the mulberry—"

"Quiet, Mrs. Donovan, quiet." Susette pressed her hands gently. We'll get you to bed so quickly."

"I don' wanna go to bed."

"Sh-h, Katie, sh-h."

Once they'd got her on the bed, Mike said, "Now we'll leave her to you Susette. Undress her as quietly as possible. The best thing in the world for her is sleep." He started toward the door, Dan with him.

"What was that," he inquired curiously, "about this being all your fault?"

The two turned down the hall to the study.

"I guess it was my fault, Dad." Dan flopped into a chair. "Mother saw a picture of me in that newspaper you've got in your pocket now. That must have started her."

Mike still had his overcoat on. He reached for the paper and slid the coat off.

"H'm," he said. "So you've been keepin' waterfront vigils I see, and in your Tuxedo too. I don't wonder yer mother gulped a glass o' whisky."

He lit a cigar and paced the floor. "I can't have a boy of mine makin' a ninny out of himself," he said gruffly. "Your mother evidently doesn't think much of it either." He looked at him sharply. "What you goin' to do, break her heart? She has her mind set on your marryin' another girl."

"Gee, Dad, I don't blame you for anything you do or say. I've got you into such a mess."

The phone rang. Mike could never let a phone ring if he was within reach of it. He always beat the servants to it, no matter how they struggled, at Mrs. Donovan's insistent directions, to get there first.

"Hello," he boomed. "Well, Mrs. Martin!" He lowered his voice, "and how are you this fine day? What's that, will Mrs. Donovan be back in time for the party tomorrow night?" He looked helplessly at Dan.

As much as he enjoyed talking over the telephone, he wasn't enthusiastic over a conversation with Mrs. Martin. He was uneasy in any encounter with her. She belonged to that mysterious world known as society, a world in which he was never certain of himself.

"Yis, yis, Mrs. Martin," he stuttered. "Sure she will. What's that, Dan is to bring Lyndia to the Plaza first for dinner? The boy'll be there!"

He put the receiver down carefully. "Now will the saints tell me what have I done?"

Dan got up. There was despair in his voice. "Don't worry, Dad. I'll not disgrace you any more."

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

A WAVE of fear sweeping Democratic ranks is responsible for the failure of John Nance Garner's movement to promote a vigorous anti-third term campaign within the party. A majority of practical politicos sympathize with the Vice President—have so informed him privately—but they don't dare to head the anti-Roosevelt parade.

The bloc of Senate Democrats facing reelection, including ultra-conservative southerners, share Cotton Ed Smith's hostility toward the idea, admire his courage in airing his views, but can't bring themselves to echo them. With all of the House membership going to the polls in the fall, only a few of the more audacious are willing to take a stand. They realize that the White House, through its use of patronage and money whips, could make it extremely uncomfortable for them. The sort of "purge" which failed against men of prestige and influence—Messrs. George, Tydings and Cotton Ed—might succeed against a mere member of the House.

Mr. Garner is also paying the penalty for the kind of technique he used in his famous battles with the White House—on the Supreme court bill, reorganization, economy. Although the V. P. supplied the inspiration and momentum in these historic controversies, he usually kept his head down until the last minute—until it was certain that his side would win. So the men he is egging on against a third term now are handing him a dose of his own medicine.

PROPHECY: During the first few hysterical months after the outbreak of the European war, American business men and industrialists softened toward President Roosevelt. Most of them favored his foreign policy, figuring that the foreign conflict would temper his radicalism or liberalism.

But the latest survey of sentiment among this group discloses that they are still antagonistic toward the administration's fundamental policies. Their chief worries center on two questions—high federal and local taxes and labor strife within their companies and plants. For these things they blame the President, despite his recent demands for economy and an end to the Green-Lewis batfling.

Recent figures on the emigration of industries from New York to New Jersey and New England states encourage employers in the belief that the taxation is at last making an impression on popular and political psychology. Ordinarily it is difficult to interest the mass of voters in the question of taxes. Either he doesn't pay them or makes his contribution locally and nationally only indirectly. But when he loses his job because his factory has moved away on account of an unbearable burden of real estate, income and NLRB problems, he may realize that he, too, has a stake in the tax total. In fact, certain GOP-ers prophesy that the industrial exodus from New York assures their capture of that state in the Presidential and gubernatorial elections next fall.

WAITING: The American navy is laying down its newest ships on the basis of lessons learned from the naval engagements in the present European conflict. Off the record the shipbuilders confide that vessels now in the blueprint stage—the 12,700-ton cruisers and the slightly larger destroyers—are "honeys".

The larger cruiser type will be based on a combination of the German pocket battleship Graf Spee and the 10,000-ton ships which have long been the mainstay of the cruiser flotilla. They will carry more 8-inch guns, more anti-aircraft artillery, have a slightly faster speed, additional safety devices for the vital electrical equipment, and a great deal more armor plate. It has been impossible, however, to devise protective armor for the ship's bottom against the destructive magnetic mines. To install such armament on so light a ship would be to make it top-heavy. The new 45,000 battleships will have this protection.

As against existing 1,500-ton destroyers and 1,850-ton division leaders, the new vessels of this class will range from 2,000 to 3,000 tons. They will be "baby cruisers" with heavier guns, greater maneuverability and finer defense against planes. Despite these innovations, our navy is going ahead slowly and conservatively. It is making no attempt to match Hitler's reported 17,000-ton cruisers or Italy's 4,000-ton destroyers. Uncle Sam figures he can afford to wait for a few more tips that may be forth coming from future naval clashes.

CHANGE: The new Undersecretary of Agriculture—Claude Wickard of Logansport, Ind.—happens to be a practical dirt farmer. The following anecdote about him illustrates the change of policy and personnel which has come over FDR, Henry Wallace and the Department of Agriculture:

Few weeks after his appointment Undersecretary Wickard returned home for a quick survey of his profitable Hoosier farm. While there, he discovered that a favorite sow was entertaining the stork. Donning the birthday clothes he wears on such a celebrated occasion, Mr. Wickard spent the night at the piggish bedside—or wherever it is that pigs have children. So now his friends are indulging in this rather philosophic wisecrack:

"Imagine the successor of Professor Rex Tugwell acting as midwife to a sow!"

NEW YORK
By Richard Waldo

WITH hardly a ripple of controversy the final batch of American steamers has been entered in the European war trade—following the precise formula that set Congressmen howling when attempted a few months ago. The deal transferring 8 U. S. Lines ships to Belgian registry was accomplished along the lines exclusively forecast in this space earlier in the year.

The transaction is both an evasion of the Neutrality law and a bona fide transfer of risk. Its nature can be explained through the assurances of insiders that, should the war end suddenly in one, two or six months, the ships will be found back under U. S. ownership and management. Yet "for the duration" they will ply the mine and submarine lanes—carry war goods which will alternately be branded contraband by the Allies and by Germany—will be liable to legitimate sinking—all without putting too much of a strain on America's stake in the war.

Sale to the newly created Belgian corporation is on an elastic basis. Payment, privately reported at 3½ millions, is a nominal figure. It will be written off through profit participation based on the 40% of legal ownership the U. S. company still retains in the foreign subsidiary. The dividends accruing from war trade will be split on a scale proportionate to the investment of the American company, which includes the enormous operating establishment in N. Y. In the event of sinkings, the company will make quiet collection from British insurance underwriters, without breathing a word of protest to U. S. authorities. Above all, in event of a sinking or capture, the U. S. owners will hope that the press will not picture an American loss since they have insurance hedges against impairment, of investment, prestige and profit. And the Neutrality law removes possibility of loss of men or U. S. owned cargo.

TRADE: How was it that Standard Oil got the license from the I. G. Farben to make Buna artificial rubber in this country? It is now confirmed that the management obtained the American rights in consideration of large unspecified quantities of fuel oil to be delivered to Germany now stored in the name of Standard Oil subsidiaries on the continent. Checking of quantities is not yet possible.

Scientists have advanced the theory that the lower animals are capable of thinking. Sounds suspiciously like a dirty crack at some people we know.

A Canadian physician announces that shell shock is curable. This, however, is of no help to theater patrons who sit near peanut nibblers.

A ventriloquist sold toy dogs that wouldn't bark when he wasn't around. If he had been smarter, he could have found enough unemployed ventriloquists to go with each dog.

Here And There In Texas

By GORDON SHEARER
United Press Correspondent

AUSTIN, Feb. 23 — State departments, like business offices all over Texas, are suffering from a "flu" epidemic. In one state office more than half the staff was missing because of influenza attacks during the early part of this month. All have had their workable staffs reduced.

Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, considers that influenza has reached the epidemic stage this year, as an epidemic is defined. However, the situation is not so serious as it has been in other years.

Reports for January and February to the state health department total 18,000 cases of influenza in the state. For the first two months of 1939 the total was 4,400. Greatest number in any single year on the department records is 40,000 with a death list of 5,000.

During an average year there are about 15,000 cases of influenza reported in Texas with a death list from 1,500 to 2,000. Department reports go back to 1920.

None Expected Next Year

There are two encouraging things about the present situation. Dr. Cox sees no reason to expect another influenza epidemic in 1941. Since records have been kept, he said, each peak year has been followed by a year of loss incidence of the disease. The other bright spot is that experience records show that when there has been an unusually large number of influenza cases early in the year, there is a rapid decline in March. The epidemics that begin later in the year are the ones that hang on longest.

THIS year's "flu" epidemic has no particular distinguishing frills. Like those of other years the symptoms are a general aching headache, fever, and prostration. The year's cases are distinguished by an apparent tendency of the fever to linger longer than usual.

This year's cases have not been more severe than usual. This is shown because the year's cases of pneumonia are fewer than in other years.

As Dr. Cox explains, the treatment is largely governed by the symptoms in each case. For the public welfare, he considers it important that the patient be under a physician's care, that he be sufficiently isolated to reduce the spread and that a report be made to the state department, so that more knowledge can be gained to combat future epidemics.

Study Pullman Situation

Federal judges, who sat here this week to pass on a railroad commission order requiring conductors for Pullman cars at all times when the cars are being used, heard that the order would require 17 1-3 more Pullman conductors in Texas.

They learned further that to put one conductor on a car operated at night would take one conductor but a conductor and a quarter.

Before the judges got studying what a third of a conductor or a fourth of a conductor would do and what part of him would be utilized, it became apparent that Pullman company officials were talking only in terms of man-power, not actual men.

It takes a man and a woman to do one night conductor work because labor contracts require that a man on night work shall be given relief every fifth night.

MOST of the Pullman cars are operated without conductors, it was testified, are so operated for short distances when pullman cars are taken through train. At Harlingen a man is dropped with a porter to Brownsville while other Pullman cars with both porters and conductor go on to Mission.

Between Ennis and Fort Worth a car is operated without a conductor while other cars with the same or go via Dallas.

Porters who operate cars without a conductor get additional pay. All conductors are white, all porters negroes. All porters on the Texas conductor cars in Texas are negroes. Officials say they want veterans picked on the priority list for long satisfactory service.

New "House" Scoreboard

Texas' House of Representatives will have a new scoreboard for the 1941 legislation season.

Like a parimutuel board at the tracks, it will be operated electrically, to show results.

The frame for the scoreboard is so large that it had to be moved to get into the House of Representatives.

On the board the names of the 150 representatives appear in full. Like the old electric board that has been in use in the House for years, it will record all votes. It will make the permanent record by perforations. The old board photographed the vote for a record.

Smaller boards on either side advise members of the status of the voting just as the speaker is advised by a small recording device on his desk. Whether this will be an advantage remains to be demonstrated. It may cause a member to votes to the popular side or it may give a member the advantage of refusing to go on record. If he does the proposition will be decided the way he wishes without his vote.

Wall Street . .

NEW YORK, Feb. 23 (AP)—Stocks stepped downward today in half-hearted dealings notable chiefly for the absence of many traders from Wall street.

Most of them had hied themselves from the exasperating market on the excuse that Washington's birthday and Sunday were so close together there wasn't much use of working the two intervening days.

Even the few shares which had served as leaders in an attempt at an upswing earlier in hhe week dropped today under disinterest. Aside from the transfer of new large blocks of Loft and Seaboard air line—at lower prices—nothing much happened during the morning and the rest of the day was even less active.

The Associated Press average of 60 selected stocks slipped .3 of a point at $0.0. Transactions totaled 650,760 shares compared with 782,850 Wednesday.

Commentators advanced no specific reason for any of the declines. One suggested: "Well, prices have to go somewhere and there wasn't enough interest to cause a climb."

Included in the downgrade list were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Eastman, Sears Roebuck, Anaconda, American Smelting, Standard Oil of N. J., Texas Corp., Pennsylvania Railroad, New York Central and Johns-Manville.

Among the few which gained a bit were Pajardo Sugar, General Electric, Westinghouse, and Brooklyn and Queens Transit preferred.

DownBard in the curb moved Nehi Corp., Phoenix Securities, Gulf Oil, Creole Petroleum and Niagara Hudson Power. Transactions were 154,000 shares compared with 166,000 yesterday.

When asked what he would think if mice nibbled his sandals, Cato, the Roman philosopher, said, "If the sandals were to nibble the mice, that would be something to think about."

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Feb. 23 (AP)—Cotton futures today sold at the highest price since mid January, when the market abruptly slid down from two-year peaks.

The list advanced despite heavy selling in March and May by leading spot interests, which has kept these deliveries under fire for several weeks.

Because of eavening-up in the March position, trade was at a far livelier clip than recent sessions. Short holders of that delivery covered commitments freely while price fixing by mills took large quantities of the staple off the market.

Firmness of the market under selling fire also tempted speculative contingents to the ring in larger numbers. In the face of heavy liquidation, the spot month reached 11.08 cents a pound, top since January 15.

Open contracts in March at the close Wednesday totaled 208,000 bales, with only 2½ trading days until first notice day.

Worth street reported a fair business in fancy cloths and specialty numbers but staple constructions were neglected. Prices were trimmed a shade following sales late Wednesday at concessions.

Exports Thursday 7,675 bales; season so far 4,789,850. Port receipts 32,685; port stocks 2,977,910.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 23 (AP)—The average price of middling 15-16ths-inch cotton today at ten southern spot markets was 5 higher at 10.92 cents a pound; average for the past thirty market days 10.69. Middling ⅞ths-inch average today was 10.74 cents a pound.

Health Officer Says Epidemic Of Influenza Is Threatening

AUSTIN, Feb. 23 (AP)—Revealing a total of 18,000 influenza cases reported to his office, Dr. George Cox, state health officer said today the disease was approaching epidemic proportions.

In the first two months of 1939 only 4,400 cases were reported.

Dr. Cox said an average year produced about 15,000 cases.

Encouraging factors brighten the current situation, he added.

Since records have been kept peak years are followed by a year of less incidence.

March usually shows a sharp decline in incidence when many cases are reported earlier in the year.

The department has recorded as many as 40,000 cases in one year with 5,000 deaths.

Grain . .

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Feb. 23 (AP)—Forecast of a cold wave over the grain belt and the day's budget of war news stimulated enough buying to hoist wheat prices almost 2 cents a bushel today to the best level in seven weeks but most of this advance Bas wiped out before the close.

Redemption of loan wheat at some markets was reported substantial, due to attractive prices ranging up to more than 20 cents over loan rates in many instances. Hedging of wheat thus marketed contributed to selling pressure, and this, along with profit taking, caused the reaction.

Wheat soared as much as 1⅞ cents in the first hour. This lifted May contracts to $1.07¼, the highest since January 3 and almost 12 cents better than at the start of February. July sold at the best level since December 19 and September established a new high for the season.

After midsession, however, selling increased, battering quotations down steadily. The close was only ⅛ to ½ higher than Wednesday, May $1.06@1.05⅞, July $1.04¼@1.04⅛. Corn finished ¼ off to ⅛ up, May 57¼@57⅛, July 57⅝; oats unchanged to ⅛ higher; rye ⅜ to 1 cent up and lard 2 higher to 2 lower.

FORT WORTH REPORT

Racket Leader Is Convicted

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 23 (AP) — Paul Petrillo, dapper little South Philadelphia tailor who police say was a ringleader of Philadelphia's murder-for-insurance plots was adjudged guilty of first degree murder today and sentenced to death in the electric chair.

Petrillo pleaded guilty last September to the insurance slaying of Luigi la Vecchio, a neighbor. Testimony at several of the mass murder case trials linked him with other killings and investigators said he was one of the chief plotters of a widespread murder "syndicate" blamed for 50 to 100 deaths in four eastern states.

He was the fourth defendant in the insurance slaying case to receive the death penalty. The others are his cousin, Herman Petrillo; Mrs. Josephine Romualdo and Mrs. Grace Giovanetti.

Clue Found In Woman's Death

NEW YORK, Feb. 23 (AP)—A few words about money, mumbled by attractive Frances Marks, 23-year-old bookkeeper, in the presence of a negro garage worker, offered detectives their first likely clue today to the identity of the young woman's slayer.

The girl's body was found yesterday morning in a WPA sewer excavation in Harlem's little Italy a few blocks from the garage where she had worked late Wednesday night.

Detectives kept their own counsel, but Charles Adams, the negro garage worker, told the night watchman that Miss Marks had received a telephone call the night she was slain, and had muttered something about "that doctor" and "owing him money."

Name Withheld

The name of the doctor and the names of a dozen persons, questioned until dawn today, were withheld by the police.

Miss Marks, who had left her home on the lower East side eight months ago to "do better things" than work in her father's market, was liked and respected by everyone who knew her, detectives said.

Dr. Thomas A. Gonzales, chief medical examiner, performed an autopsy today to determine how she met her death — whether through strangulation or a blow on the head. Her hat and shoes were missing when her body was found, and she had only six cents in her handbag.

Baylor Students Prevent Waco Pupils From Playing Hookey

AUSTIN, Feb. 23. (UP) — Baylor university students are keeping Waco school children from playing hookey, the National Youth administration was advised today by James T. Mixson, assistant to Baylor's President Pat M. Neff.

The collegians work under a NYA project, and are assigned to Waco public schools to visit homes of absentees. Of 1,849 cases handled this way, one boy has proven so incorrigible that he later was sent to the state juvenile training school.

London, England, has 145 hospitals.

Builders Have Few Problems

DALLAS, Feb. 23 (U.P.)—Problems in the office building industry are fewer and less serious in the Southwest than in any part of the nation, the opening session of the Southwest conference of the National Association of Building and Managers was told today.

The speaker was Phil C. Hodill, of Pittsburgh, president of the national organization.

He said the building industry situation in the Southwest was encouraging.

Business To Get

"Here cities are growing. Decentralization is no problem. There is business to go after. Your office buildings are equipped with every modern facility. You even build them occasionally — and expect to have them occupied — from which one might infer that the courage and optimism which conquered a continent still survives in this favored section," he said.

Hodill said that the office building industry has been making progress, despite unfavorable conditions, but obsolescence has been making inroads and the tax pressure in some communities "has favored the conversion of marginal properties into parking lots."

About 150 members of the regional conference attended from Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Arkansas and Missouri.

Radium is worth about $25,000 a gram, and the entire world's available stock amounts to 700 grams, or about 24 ounces.

Rumanians Will Have Hard Job

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

If Rumania is able to keep from being dragged into the European war she will be a wonder, or mighty lucky.

There's more than meets the eye in the shoving and pulling which King Carol is undergoing between Germany and the Anglo-French alliance in his efforts to keep his country neutral and preserve its sovereignty.

France and Great Britain—self-appointed but very welcome guardians of Rumania's welfare—lately have taken to pushing Carol into Herr Hitler, after the manner of schoolboys who are trying to force a scrap between two of their colleagues.

May Tantalize Fuehrer

It is obvious that these rough tactics might easily tantalize the nazi fuehrer into taking a swing at Carol, thereby starting the Balkan conflagration which most observers have been expecting.

Since the perils of Rumania are quite evident to England and France as they are to the uncomfortable Carol and the world at large, and since the two nations keep using this important Balkan state to crowd Hitler, it is fair enough for us to ask whether they would be surprised or displeased if war did develop in the Balkans, come good weather.

The immediate cause of Rumania's trouble is her oil, which is vital to Germany for prosecution of the war, and which the Allies very naturally wish to keep from the nazis. It is this situation which the Anglo-French brotherhood is exploiting, although Hitler's need of this petroleum is so great that he must fight for it if he cannot get it by peaceful means.

Ban On Exports

In order to placate the Allies, Carol has placed a ban on the export of aviation gasoline to Germany. Hitler is insisting on full delivery.

Things look so precarious to King Carol that he is rushing his already extensive military preparations.

Meantime recent developments in the Allied position are most illuminating.

They have massed great numbers of troops in the Near East and, in conjunction with their powerful ally, Turkey, are prepared to defend not only the entire eastern Mediterranean zone but the Balkan peninsula from invasion by either Germany or Russia.

Back-Handed Way

That is a back-handed way of saying they are ready if necessary to open up a new great war-front in southeastern Europe, equally useful for operations against the bolshevists or the nazis.

The result seems to warrant the conclusion that the Allies aren't trying to avoid trouble in the Balkans, to put the case mildly. And war in southeastern Europe quite likely would start through invasion of Rumania. Which brings us back to our original assertion that if Carol keeps his country out of the conflict he will be a wizard.

Mexico's Trouble With Oil Companies Will Be Settled

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 24. (AP) — President Lazaro Cardenas was quoted today as declaring that Mexico's conflict with the expropriated foreign oil companies "will be resolved satisfactorily for the Mexican nation before my term of office is ended." His six-year term ends Dec. 1.

Dispatches from Tixtla, Guerrero state, where the president is touring, said he made this statement to a small meeting last night.

Importance was attributed to it in view of reports in official circles that Mexico is nearing a separate agreement with the Sinclair company and others of the 17 foreign companies whose properties were taken over March 18, 1938.

Wichita Falls Man Is Fined $500 In Liquor Transportation

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Feb. 23. (AP) A man booked as Harlan Rigsby of Wichita Falls, Tex., was fined $500 by Municipal Judge Harper E. Harb today on his plea of guilty to a charge of transporting liquor through the state without a permit.

Judge Harb dismissed a similar charge against Brice Taylor of Sweetwater, Tex. Little Rock detectives who arrested Rigsby and Taylor several days ago reported finding 49 cases of liquor in the car driven by Rigsby. The officers said an invoice which the men carried states that the liquor was being shipped from Alton, Ill.

Poet Laureate, Without Ryhme, Corrects Sadler

AUSTIN, Feb. 23 (AP)—In words that did not rhyme, Poet Laureate Lexie Dean Robertson of Texas today pointedly told Railroad Commissioner Jerry Sadler her salary was not $12,000 a year.

But Sniper Sadler, who has been reading some of Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel's verse, came right back with a suggestion Mrs. Robertson take over the censorship of all poetry emanating from the state capital.

The snuff-dipping commissioner started the exchange with the Rising Star poetess after reading some of O'Daniel's works and blurting:

"They pay the poet laureate of England $6,000 a year, in Texas $12,000." The larger sum is what they pay the governor in Texas.

Mrs. Robertson Riled

That statement riled Mrs. Robertson, who mailed a protest to Sadler.

He acknowledged today receipt of the letter which said she wished he would clear up the erroneous impression about her salary—which actually is none at all.

"I will concede that Mrs. Robertson has been selected official poet laureate by the Legislature," Sadler rejoined, "and I suggest that she censor all poetry that emanates in the state capital.

"We've had lots of it coming out of here 'of my own composition.'" The latter presumably referred to the governor's efforts as a rhymster.

Wrong Again

Mrs. Robertson hasn't had a chance to get in the last word, but her original protest stood today: "I am disturbed by the fact that thousands of persons who are aware of my appointment will at once conclude that I am drawing the salary he mentions. The statement was without regard for the feelings of the poet laureate of Texas."

Jerry Sadler's estimate of the pay of the poet laureate of England is high.

At one period the pay was a "butt of sack"—a keg of wine. Tennyson received 72 pounds sterling a year, and 27 pounds extra, in lieu of the wine—a total of $500 a year.

Honorees Named

Dr. Robert Bridges, who wrote poetry to no man's order, king or commoner, once was the subject of attack in the House of Commons by Horatio Bottomly, a member, who urged the government of the day to pay the poet laureate in something more potent than wine, in order to bestir his muse.

Upon Bridges' death, John Masefield was named poet laureate, in 1930.

The job comes down from ancient days when minstrels and versifiers were part of the retinue of a king.

The poet laureate is supposed to produce formal and appropriate verses on birthdays and state occasions. Modern holders of the honor have been Southy, Wordsworth, Tennyson, Alfred Austin, Bridges and Masefield.

Birmingham City Fireman Is Found Dead In Murder Lane

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 23. (AP) George R. Merrill, 39-year-old city fireman, was found today in "Murder Lane," on the city's outskirts, a link of picture wire knotted about his neck.

The body was found by four WPA workers. Merrill had been dead several hours.

Coroner Gip M. Evans said the fireman apparently was strangled last night and his body taken to Red Mill road, known as Murder Lane because three other victims of violence have been found there in recent years.

Merrill had been missing since 8 a. m. yesterday, when he left his post at the East Lake fire station.

Red rain and snow have been fuite common occurrences in the past few years, when red soil from the Oklahoma dust bowl was carried into the atmosphere by high winds.

Allies Prepared In Near East

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is another dispatch from Reynolds Packard, United Press manager in Rome and veteran war correspondent, who is on a tour of the war-threatened Near East.

By REYNOLDS PACKARD
United Press Staff Correspondent

JERUSALEM, Palestine, Feb. 23 The Allied powers are ready with men, materials and lightning transport facilities for any threat of war in the Near East.

From the Egyptian desert, across the Suez canal to the sands of Arabia, the British and French military leaders working with native authorities are taking every precaution for an emergency and are turning vast regions to military activities.

Forces Assembled

In a survey of military centers in Egypt, I saw huge forces assembled with modern equipment for speedy travel over the deserts and witnessed the air-tight guard which the Allied armies, navies and air forces have set up along the empire's jugular vein through the Suez canal.

The Suez "life line" is being defended by British-Egyptian army, navy and air units against any kind of attack and as spring approaches these Allied Near East armies are being strengthened daily.

Palestine appears destined for an important military role in the Middle East. Thousands of Allied troops already here are in intensive training and preparations are being rushed to receive more reinforcements.

Reinforcements Sent

Many of the reinforcements have been sent to Egypt to join the already swelling colonial and native forces. At Port Said, I found the British-Egyptian units manning anti-aircraft guns, minesweepers and gigantic searchlights along the Suez canal.

The British contraband control is on constant watch. All ships approaching the canal from either direction are stopped at sea by Allied squadrons ranging from cruisers to small submarine chasers.

At present Palestine appears to be a chief point of concentration for the Allied near eastern forces. The country's resources which might contribute to an Allied victory are being manned to the limit.

Belisha Urges Finnish Aid

PLYMOUTH, Eng., Feb. 23. (U.P.)—Allied aid for Finland on land, sea and in the air was urged by former War Secretary Leslie Hore-Belisha tonight in his first address to his constituents at Devonport since his resignation from the cabinet.

"The risk of helping Finland may be a great risk, but the risk of not helping may be greater, for this gallant country is fighting not only for herself alone. She is holding the pass of civilization," Hore-Belisha said.

The resistance of the Finns has indicated that the might of Russia rested on insecure foundations, he said.

Action Needed

He said that successful British intervention in Finland would place her in the vicinity of the Gallivare iron ore mines in Sweden, which supply half of Germany's iron requirements.

"Control of Norway, Sweden and Finland by Germany and Russia would mean that our considerable purchases from them of ores, timber and agricultural products would be stopped," Hore-Belisha said. "Our successful intervention in Finland would thwart these possibilities."

He said that "well planned, adequate and decisive action now could curtail the duration of the war."

Aviation Group To Plan For Hearing

Plans to appear before the Aeronautics authority in Washington, D. C., when hearings are there April 8 on applications to establish airline services in West as will be discussed at a meeting of an inter-city aviation committee in the Gunter hotel at San Angelo tonight, according to announcements at the chamber of commerce Friday.

Call for the meeting was issued by J. H. Greene of Big Spring, chairman of the inter-city group.

A plane of Braniff Airways is scheduled to land at Municipal airport at 1:50 o'clock this afternoon en route from Amarillo to San Antonio for the hearing, the chamber was advised. C. E. Hoogen, chairman of the chamber aviation committee, and Dick Ikle, secretary, will board it.

Braniff is one of the four applicants for permits on which hearings are set. The line proposes to establish service from Lubbock through San Antonio, San Angelo, Big Spring, Lubbock, Amarillo, Pueblo to Denver.

Other applications set for hearing at the same time are: Continental Airlines, El Paso to Pueblo via Carlsbad, Lubbock and Amarillo; Essair, Inc., Houston to Amarillo via Austin, San Angelo, Big Spring, Lubbock; and J. H. Burke of Laredo to San Antonio.

AUDITIONS CHANGED

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 23 (AP) Auditions to select finalists for Leopold Stokowski all-American youth orchestra will be held here instead of in Dallas March 23, it was announced today.
