Hospital offered land

An anonymous donor has offered to give Mitchell County Hospital District 18 acres of land alongside Interstate 20, which greatly advances its plans to build a new building, Administrator Rick Rickard said Tuesday night.

Rickard reported at the end of a 6 p.m. hospital board meeting that an officer of a local bank approached him about the gift and that he did not know who had made the offer.

He said the construction of a new hospital would entail the building of a new nursing home in the same area, like the mutual operation that the hospital now has with Valley Fair Lodge Nursing Home.

Rickard said after the meeting ended at 7:35 that a new hospital building has been in the district's plans for many years.

He said 18 free acres would allow the completion of the Early balloting strong at county courthouse

Early voting has been going well at Mitchell County Courthouse, and County Clerk Debby Carlock thinks the total might surpass 1994 "off-year election" figures.

Early balloting will continue from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily until 5 p.m. Friday, and it will be continued through the noon hour each day starting Wednesday.

Mrs. Carlock said the 1994 total, between presidential election years, was 692 from among the county's 4,737 registered voters.

The count at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday was 354, but she said the figure often doubles in the last three days of early voting.

See SAMPLE BALLOT, page 3

Registered voters have increased to 5,226, apparently because of a growth in population, Mrs. Carlock said.

The 1994 turnout was 45 percent of the electorate.

She said interest in the heated race between Democratic Congressman Charles Stenholm of Stamford and Republican Rudy Izzard of Abilene will bring out voters, along with the race between Gov. George W. Bush and Democrat Garry Mauro.

The election is from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Tuesday.

Polling places are as follows:

Pct. 1, the Colorado Schools Administration Building at 12th and Hickory Street.

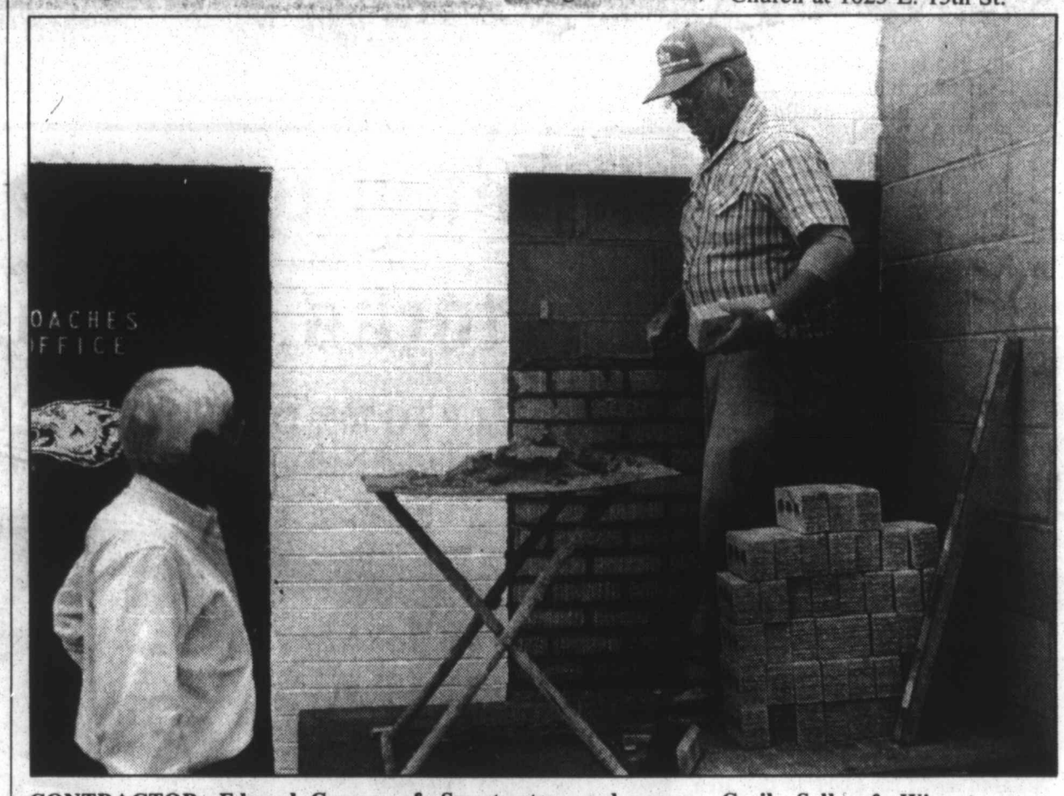

Pct. 2, the old tax office in Westbrook.

Pct. 025, Oak Street Baptist Chruch at 805 Oak St.

Pct. 3, Mitchell County Courthouse.

Pct. 4, Loraine Senior Citizens Center.

Pct. 046, Calvary Baptist Church at 1025 E. 15th St.

CONTRACTOR Edward Gomez of Sweetwater and mason Cecil Sell of Wingate, near Ballinger, are hard at work on the new athletic fieldhouse addition at Wolf Stadium. The cinder block walls and concrete foundation have been laid.

City evaluates wells

Hoping to change its water supply from lakes to wells, the City of Colorado City is making substantial progress with a new wellfield east of here.

Wheeler Drilling Co. of Stanton has drilled one 12-inch test well to a depth of 191 feet and will begin another when the weather permits.

City Manager Steve Shutt said Monday that he plans to use 60 percent lakewater and 40 percent wellwater from the new field in summertime and 80 percent wellwater in the winter if the field pans out.

Asked if there is any concern about causing the Santa Rosa Aquifer to fall, he said, "We're not going to do it if it drops the water table.

"The water table has risen a

Wolves prepare for key game

The Colorado City Wolves will face the Seminole Indians at Wolf Stadium Friday night with the winner gaining the driver's seat toward winning the district championship.

Because only Denver City has beaten the Wolves in district play and Denver City has now lost twice, the Wolves will be the district champions if they defeat Seminole then stop Slaton next week.

The 7:30 p.m. clash with the Indians will be the last regular season home game for the Wolves.

The Wolves travel to Slaton next Friday to end the regular season.

Seminole is currently in the driver's seat for the District 3-3A title with a perfect 3-0 district record, having defeated Denver City, Slaton and Brownfield.

The 2-1 Wolves will have to stop Indian running back Bobby Dale, the leading rusher in West Texas Class 3A schools with 923 yards and nine touchdowns.

Indian quarterback Juan Alvarado likes to throw to wide receiver Kaleb Clay. Clay leads area Class 3A schools in receiving with over 500 yards.

This will be a battle between two teams that won district last season and promises to be a classic, high-scoring contest with two of West Texas' leading passers.

Colorado City's Justin Hill is this area's leading Class 3A passer, and Seminole's Juan Alvarado is No. 3.

Win or lose, the 1998 Colorado City Wolves deserve your support.

Let's fill the bleachers and give the Mighty Wolves a REAL home-field advantage.

Caprock voters approve transition

Cap Rock Electric Cooperative Inc. is becoming a public stock company.

Its members voted last week to convert from a non-profit cooperative by a 98-percent margin, 4,828 to 66.

The Midland company, which has offices in Colorado City, Stanton and Celeste, has 20,000 meters in more than 20 counties.

Company spokeswoman Peggy Luxton said the election "puts us in great shape for the future of the industry and gives our customers a lot more options."

Ms. Luxton said, however, that issuing stock "is quite a ways down the road.

"Customers will see one change very quickly," she said. "They will be able to receive cash for their equity accounts or be able to use the value of equity accounts toward electric bills within the next couple of months.

"The next step will be that the board will do more research. This is not something that is going to happen immediately."

She said Cap Rock will watch the state legislative session beginning in January before plotting its next move.

"We are hoping, when we are finally able to offer stock, to have enough interest that it will be held locally for many, many years," she said.

Cap Rock members voted last April to require the board of directors to develop a plan to convert the company to a stock company.

Diaz indicted in wife's death

A 41-year-old Colorado City man has been indicted for murder in connection with the Sept. 28 death of his wife, who had been run over by a car.

Fernando Carrasco "Freddie" Diaz of 1819 Plum St. remained in Mitchell County Jail on a $200,000 bond.

Assistant District Attorney Ben Smith of Sweetwater said Monday that Diaz will probably be tried here in February.

The defendant is accused of running down his 39-year-old wife Silvia about 1:30 a.m. Sept. 22 on North Hwy. 208 at the intersection of the north Interstate 20 access road.

Police arrested him the next day at his home following a county-wide search in which his low-slung blue Chevrolet

Pat McKinney to be honored Saturday

A hero of the Colorado City Volunteer Fire Department, the late Pat H. McKinney Jr., will be honored with the unveiling of a bronze plaque in his memory at 2 p.m. Saturday at the 620 E. 11th St. department.

The city and county divided the $1,027 cost of the plaque, which was cast in Dallas through the local Memorial Monument Co. at 1925 Vine St.

McKinney, 72, died May 5 when the right outside dual wheel of a firetruck he was driving hit a concrete guardrail and the truck overturned on Lake Road North a few miles west-northwest of here.

He had moved over to meet an oncoming car.

His partner that late Tuesday afternoon, 34-year-old Pat Crow, had a concussion and a serious chest injury but survived.

The accident happened on the eve of McKinney's 50th anniversary as a firefighter.

His best friend in the department, Second Assistant Chief James R. "Bo" Bobo, said he still thinks about McKinney every day but has overcome his initial desire to quit fighting fires.

As a result, he has assumed part of the role McKinney played as a watchdog for unsafe practices and emotional leader of the 28-man department, which is currently two men short of a full roster.

Despite his age, other firemen said, he never declined a call, no matter what the weather.

"I'm not a quitter," Bobo said. "A lot of guys come to me and talk about things.

"You have to look after these young guys. They're the ones who get in trouble. The older ones have been there a long time and are beginning to settle down."

He said a group of Midland firemen came to Colorado City after McKinney's funeral to talk with local firemen in a meeting set up by Department Chaplain Heath Blassingame.

"We had kind of a round table discussion," he said. "I think it helped everyone.

"Some of the wives were pretty upset -- mine for sure.

Martin's interest in politics sparked by his great-uncle

LORAINE -- There aren't many 21-year-old county Democratic chairmen in Texas, but there aren't many with the political bloodlines of Geory Martin, either.

Young Martin says the example of his great-uncle, the late State Rep. Elmer Martin, had a lot to do with his interest in Democratic politics.

"I saw the fun he had and thought I'd like to be involved," he said.

"I would really like to encourage everybody to come out and vote. We have got to have the turnout, and one vote can make a difference."

Martin, an agricultural business student at Western Texas College in Snyder, took an indirect route into the county chairmanship after Woody Anderson was appointed to the State Farm Service Agency Committee and resigned the position.

Geory's father George, who farms with his son near Loraine, declined the appointment last spring, citing other commitments, including his service on the Mitchell Soil & & Water Conservation District Board.

Then Loraine City Councilwoman Chrystene Hall remembered Geory's precocious interest in government and asked him to cooperate with a write-in candidacy.

He did and was elected in the March primary.

Asked if he is interested in running for a bigger office some day, Geory said, "I sure might be. I think it would be a great experience.

"I have been around a lot of people with my dad, and it would be a chance to give back a portion of what all these people have given to me."

Among the political celebrities who have been part of Martin's young life are State Rep. Rob Junell of San Angelo, Congressman Charles Stenholm of Stamford and Speaker of the House Pete Laney of Hale Center, near Plainview.

"The Democratic side is looking real good," he said, reviewing Tuesday's general election. "I think we have a good Democratic county, and I hope we can keep it that way.

"It's just a lot of down-home values that the Democratic Party expresses -- a down-home feeling and country life, not trying to put us into a run-amuck society in the big city.

"We're keeping our small towns alive through our Democratic Party."

Geory was born and raised at Loraine, graduating from high school here in 1995.

He lacks four credit hours for an associate's degree at WTC, and he plans to attend Texas Tech University in Lubbock or Angelo State University in San Angelo to pursue a four-year degree.

He intends to continue farming after college.

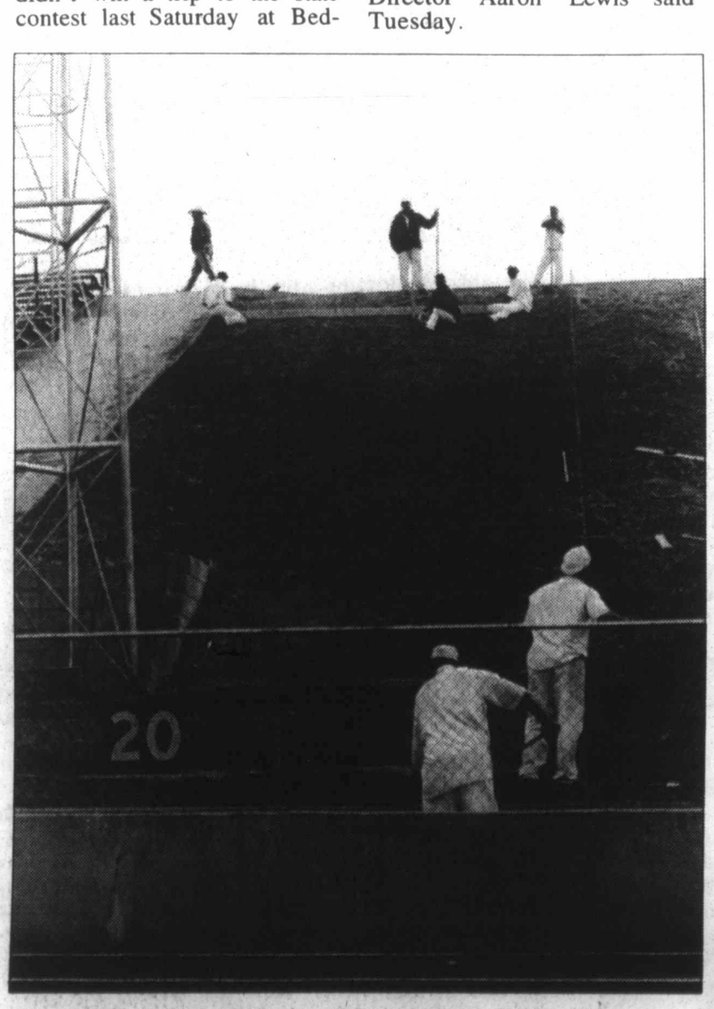

He has two older sisters, Shelly Williams of Roscoe and Sheila Womack of Abilene.

His mother's name is Brenda.

Geory said he is interested in the concept that each vote cast in an election actually counts twice because it is a vote that the opposing candidate does not receive.

CHS band performs well

The Colorado Wolf Band didn't win a trip to the state contest last Saturday at Bedford, but it did perform well, Director Aaron Lewis said Tuesday.

WALLACE UNIT trustees are clearing ground on each side of the visitors' grandstands at Wolf Stadium in preparation for concrete to be laid. The project will ready the eastern side of the stadium for the future expansion of the stands.

"We're very pleased with the way the kids played," he said. "The judges didn't agree with us, but that's all right. They're entitled to their opinions."

Lewis said the band tied with Ballinger and Merkel for 15th, 16th and 17th place in the area contest.

The bands that qualified for the state contest in Mesquite were Graham, Whitesboro and Breckenridge with Iowa Park as the alternate.

Compared to the Wolf Band's 73 members, Graham put 220 on the field, Lewis noted.

"The bigger band is going to win if you don't do more than they do," he said. "It's hard for five trombones playing perfect to equal 20 trombones."

He said there were 7,000 spectators in Bedford and the Colorado City band stayed to watch District 5-A competition Saturday night.

Individual band members will try out for all-district honors on Saturday, Nov. 7, at Abilene Wylie High School.

The band's annual Christmas concert will be at 7 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 10, in the school auditorium.

Local businesses to participate in Around Town Trick or Treat

Around Town Trick or treating will be held in Colorado City on Friday, October 30, 1998 from 3-6 pm. More than 100 local businesses will be handing out candy to kids as a safe alternative to door-to-door trick treating.

"There are plenty of fun and safe alternatives to door-to-door trick or treating," said Chamber Manager Windi Fuller. "Between the activities sponsored by the schools, private parties and businesses, the kids will have an entire day full of fun."

The Chamber of Commerce has compiled a list of more than 100 businesses that will be participating in this year's Around Town Trick or Treat. A copy of the list will be sent home with all elementary school students on Tuesday, October 27.

"We had had some guys fall off trucks and get skinned up or get too much smoke and need oxygen, but we had never had anyone get seriously hurt or killed."

McKinney joined the department in 1948 after mustering out of the Navy.

He served while working as an operator at the Col-Tex Refinery here and continued after the refinery was moved to Big Spring and he was commuting there.

He was chief from 1968 to '72 and from '76 to '78. He was first assistant from '73 to '75 and in '79 and '83-84.

Asked what kind of man McKinney was, Bobo said he was an interesting combination of being very nice on most occasions and very tough when he thought the situation required it.

"He was a good guy," Bobo said. "He would help anybody do anything.

"He was a driving force in the department. He wanted excellence out of the fire department.

"He was dead serious when it came to a fire, and that's the way it should be if you want to survive."

Whenever he saw a fireman do something wrong at a fire scene, he never failed to point it out, Bobo said.

"He stressed safety with the guys all the time and tried to get them to pay attention," he said. "He really minded his own business and wanted everybody else to do the same."

Bobo, who has been with the department for more than 40 years, said Colorado City and Loraine firemen had to cover the western end of the county, too, for many years before Westbrook developed its own department.

The number of fires ranged from around 200 annually to as many as 400 or 500, he said, with a foam rubber carpet pads plant on West Hwy. 80 in the late 1960's being probably the worst conflagration the department ever faced.

That one took two days to extinguish, and the toxicity of the smoke was a serious problem.

Written primarily by department member Linda Mathis, the plaque says McKinney "served our community well, always willing to perform beyond the call of duty.

"Pat lost his life honoring his commitment to the community. He was killed in an accident en route from one brush fire to another brush fire.

"He will be missed by this community for his expertise, leadership, commitment and character."

A color photograph of McKinney is under an acrylic cover on the plaque.

It will be set by Memorial Monument Co. owner Charles Ezzell, Ms. Mathis' father, on Friday night on the east wall of the vestibule outside the department entrance.

Windbreak trees for sale

Living in West Texas, everyone knows the wind never stops blowing. That's why a properly planned windbreak is so valuable.

An effective windbreak may provide protection from the hot, dry winds of summer and the icy winds of winter.

A windbreak may reduce wind speed to one-third its normal velocity, thus saving up to 30 percent on home heating and cooling costs. Not only will the fuel bill be less costly, a windbreak will also be helpful in preventing wind damage by protecting homes, gardens and even lawns. A field windbreak is also an excellent method of protecting livestock from the icy blasts of winter winds.

In short, an effective windbreak is an inexpensive way not only only to beautify a home, but also to reduce home heating costs by providing protection.

Windbreak trees are available through the Mitchell Soil and Water Conservation District located in the G-Kell Building on North Highway 208.

The windbreak trees available are young seedling trees with hardwoods sold at $.80 each and evergreens at $1.75 each. Evergreen "bullets" are also available at $36 per 30 trees.

The hardwood species available are Amur Honeysuckle, Aromatic Sumac, Catalpa, Desert Willow, Flameleaf Sumac, Fourwing Saltbush, Green Ash, Hackberry, Honey Locust, Lacebark Elm, Nanking Cherry, Russian Olive, Sandcherry, Sand Plum, Shumard Oak and Walnut. The evergreens available are Afghan Pine (also known as Mondell), Austrian Pine, Pinyon Pine and Redcedar.

Also available are Wildlife Packets that were developed to provide food and cover for specific wildlife species. Wildlife packets consist of four different tree and or shrub species (100 total in each packet) which promote wildlife habitat for such species as quail, turkey, deer and squirrel. Packets can be utilized to enhance wildlife habitat on CRP land. Packets are priced at $55 each.

Assistance is available from the Natural Resources Conservation Service on windbreak tree varieties and planting methods.

To keep your windbreak growing, healthy, full and beautiful, a drip watering system is easily installed and can be used for flower beds and gardens, as well as windbreaks.

Go by the Natural Resources Conservation Services Office, (G-Kell Building) to obtain a tree order form or drip irrigation supplies. Orders for trees must be in by February 4, 1999.

All services are offered regardless of race, color, national origin, gender, religion, age, disability, Political beliefs, sexual orientation, and family or marital status.

Horse Liniment Eases Arthritis Pain

OCALA, FL -- An ingredient derived from hot peppers that decreases inflammation in racehorse's legs, is now recognized as safe and effective for human use. The ingredient has been formulated into a product called ARTH-Rx* and comes in a strength designed for humans. Researchers are excited and say the formula can relieve arthritis pain for millions.

Developed by the Phillips Gulf Corporation, ARTH-Rx is a breakthrough in the treatment of painful disorders ranging from minor aches and pains to more serious conditions such as arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, tendonitis, backache and more.

Although the mechanism by which ARTH-Rx works to relieve pain is not totally clear, scientists suggest that pain is relieved because ARTH-Rx intercepts the messenger substance that sends pain signals to the brain.

ARTH-Rx is available in a convenient roll-on applicator without a prescription. According to a spokesperson for the company, due to the overwhelming demand for ARTH-Rx, supplies are sometimes limited. ARTH-Rx can also be ordered by calling 1-800-729-8446. © 1997 PGC

Democrats gain in election

Gov. George W. Bush's certain re-election has dominated the public's attention, but it is about the only certainty involved in this election year.

Democratic gubernatorial nominee Garry Mauro has made a spirited race, perhaps positioning himself for a winnable statewide race in two years.

Gov. Bush is the national frontrunner for the Republican presidential nomination, but first there is the matter of becoming the first Texas governor to be re-elected since the office went to four-year terms in the 1970's.

He is expected to need at least 57 or 58 percent of the vote to remain a viable presidential candidate.

The election is on Tuesday, Nov. 3.

A very competitive race, and one that analysts say will go to the wire, is the lieutenant governor's contest between Democrat John Sharp and Republican Rick Perry.

The two young, well-financed candidates have practically re-fought the Civil War in the high stakes battle to succeed Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock.

Lt. Gov. Bullock and his predecessor, Bill Hobby, are unanimously considered to have left big shoes, and the Sharp-Perry race is not just about which man would be better in the office.

It's about which one is more able to live up to the high standards of Hobby and Bullock, to stride the halls of the Capitol like they did and do great things for the state.

And if Gov. Bush is elected President in two years, either Sharp or Perry will automatically ascend to the governor's office.

Lt. Gov. Hobby's son Paul thrilled a lot of Democrats when he entered the state comptroller's race this year, challenging the physically diminutive but politically stout Carole K. Rylander of Austin.

Young Hobby started out as a decided underdog in this "Republican year," but he wowed the Democrats again last week when he went ahead of Rylander by 36 to 33 percent in the new statewide Texas Poll.

There was a lot of talk in the old days about the "Hobby Machine," especially after Bill was challenged by George Strake in 1982 and led to victory Ann Richards for treasurer, Jim Mattox for attorney general, Mauro for land commissioner and Jim Hightower for agriculture commissioner.

Paul has garnered a spate of newspaper endorsements in the past couple of weeks, and it looks like the old Hobby Machine is running again.

Bill has been going all out for his son, of course, and if the two can make the machine run like it once did, it will again help the entire Democratic side of the ticket.

A few weeks ago, it looked like Mattox, running for his old office after crossing Bill Hobby in the late 1980's and losing a couple of statewide elections, would be the only Democratic winner this fall.

He has led Republican John Cornyn all year, lately by 47 to 31 percent.

He has called Cornyn, a former corporate attorney for big insurance companies, "an insurance industry lapdog."

Cornyn has countered by bringing up Mattox' sometimes controversial career, which has earned him the sobriquet of "The Junkyard Dog of Texas Politics."

Mattox has said, however, that his zeal has been to serve the people, including his successful efforts in multimillion-dollar lawsuits against big oil companies and the insurance industry.

A Democrat who was considered to have no chance, agriculture commissioner nominee Pete Patterson of Brookston, in East Texas, took the lead against high profile Republican Susan Combs of Austin in the new poll, 35 to 33 percent.

State Rep. Patterson, longtime chairman of the House Agriculture Committee in Austin, has earned a lot of credibility among farm and ranch people over the past 20-plus years and has perhaps been helped by the seriousness of ag industry problems this year.

Patterson has been endorsed by former Gov. Dolph Briscoe, who ranches and farms on his 630,000 acres near Uvalde, Sharp's hometown.

A Democrat who also started way back but made up ground is State Rep. Richard Raymond of Benavides, challenging Republican David Dewhurst of Houston to succeed Mauro as land commissioner.

Rep. Raymond gained statewide attention, and probably some sympathy, when one of Dewhurst's aides went onto his recently widowed mother's property near Bastrop and frightened her by sneaking in front of her house and taking photographs.

The Bastrop County district attorney's office has filed a criminal trespassing charge against the aide, and Rep. Raymond has now closed the gap to 29 to 34 percent against the multi-millionaire former Central Intelligence Agency agent Dewhurst.

Rep. Raymond is Hispanic.

So if you believe in polls and the election were held today, that's Bush over Mauro, who knows who for lieutenant governor, Hobby over Rylander, Mattox over Cornyn, Patterson over Combs and Dewhurst over Raymond -- three out of five for the Democrats with one toss-up and four out of six if Sharp wins.

And with Raymond only five percentage points behind and gaining more than two weeks before the election, Dewhurst has to be wondering if his lead will hold until Nov. 3.

The undecided vote usually splits 50-50.

For example, if a candidate is ahead by 45 to 40 with 15 percent undecided on election eve, he or she may expect to win by about 52.5 to 47.5.

Insurance investigation proceeds

AUSTIN -- Attorney General Dan Morales has acquiesced to former Attorney General Jim Mattox' call to intervene in a legislative investigation into possible insurance discrimination.

Insurance companies had blocked State Rep. Lon Burnam of Fort Worth from hiring an investigator by winning a temporary restraining order.

Mattox, the Democratic nominee to win his old job back on Nov. 3, called on Attorney General Morales to enter the fray and gain Rep. Burnam the right to hire noted insurance investigator Bernie Birnbaum.

Ron Dusek, a spokesman for Morales, said in a Thursday telephone interview that attorneys from all sides met and agreed that Rep. Burnam may hire Birnbaum.

Dusek said Birnbaum will probably look for evidence of "red-lining," or excluding specific groups of people in certain areas of a city from being able to obtain insurance coverage.

"In meetings with the insurance companies, the State Board of Insurance and others, all the insurance companies have now decided to back off and allow the representative to hire this individual," Dusek said.

"Yes, we do agree with former Attorney General Mattox that the legislator has a right to use whomever he wants to use and he has a right to see the information.

"The investigator has to sign a confidentiality oath not to release it to anyone else."

Dusek said red-lining "may, in fact, sometimes be against certain ethnic groups or cultural groups, races, canceling insurance much more frequently or with less justification than in other areas."

He said 201st District Judge Suzanne Covington of Austin had issued the temporary restraining order against hiring Birnbaum and the case will remain in her court, although the meetings in which the agreement was made were not held in court.

Judge Covington recently ruled that Colorado City attorney Pat Barber may not be fined by the Texas Department of Transportation while a lawsuit is being adjudicated.

Barber seeks to leave up his "Just Say No to Searches" billboard west of Colorado City.

Judges follow 1,066 rules

By Randy Wilson,
Democratic nominee,
11th Appeals Court

Going to trial, whether civil or criminal, has a lasting effect on those involved.

Whether it involves the custody of a child, the prosecution of a criminal charge or damages for a catastrophic injury, you want to have a fair trial.

You want the trial court to follow the rules and the law.

There are 809 rules of civil procedure, 104 rules of criminal procedure, 74 rules of civil and criminal evidence and 79 rules of appellate procedure, together with countless numbers of laws passed by the Texas Legislature, Congress and the Supreme Court, along with the Constitutions of the United States and the State of Texas.

The trial court is required to see that each of the rules and all of the laws that apply to your case are followed.

Cases from Mitchell County, together with cases from 22 other counties in our region, are subject to review by the judges of the 11th Court of Appeals in Eastland.

Their job is to determine whether or not the law and the rules of procedure have been properly followed throughout the trial.

The judge must examine all of the documents filed and review the testimony of the witnesses, statements, comments and instructions given by the trial judge and the arguments of your attorney.

If the law and the rules were properly followed in your case, then the Court of Appeals will affirm or uphold the decision or verdict.

On the other hand, if after review the judges of the Court of Appeals decide that you did not receive a fair trial, then they may order a new trial or exercise one of several other options.

Courts of Appeals judges are required to be fair, impartial and without bias or prejudice in determining whether or not the law and procedures were followed.

The Court of Appeals does not sentence people to jail or the penitentiary; it does not make its decisions based on economic impact.

It applies the law and rules to the case that is before it for review.

It is important that the judges of the Court of Appeals be experienced in all areas of the law and procedure.

Judge Bob Dickenson of the Eastland Court of Appeals is retiring as many years of service.

The person you choose to replace Judge Dickenson may well have an impact on you, your family, your business or our community.

There are two candidates for this position, Republican Terry McCall and myself.

WELLS

foot since 1954. There is a lot of water down there, and it's under a lot of pressure."

He said driller Gene Wheeler hit water at 130 feet and kept drilling two feet into the "redbed" layer of clay under the aquifer.

Shutt said the first well still has to be completed for municipal use, but it appears to be good for a satisfactory production of at least 150 gallons per minute.

"We had a little trouble with the second well because of the rain," he said. "We can't get the equipment into the field."

He said as many as six wells might be drilled on 138 acres of land that Rick Perkins of Colorado City has optioned to the city for a maximum production of over a million gallons a day.

The site is about six miles east of town, just west of the intersection of Lucas Road and County Road 404.

Shutt has been working on the project for months with Ken Martin of Jacob & Martin Engineers of Abilene.

If the wells pass all tests, a grant of about $2 million will be applied for from the Rural Utilities Service of the United States Department of Agriculture.

A well-gathering pump station will be constructed just south of the field, along with a million-gallon storage tank a little over halfway toward Colorado City.

A 12-inch line will be laid from the field to the city's water treatment plant on the southwest side of town.

Martin and a colleague said at an Oct. 1 city council meeting that one attraction of a new supply is a great improvement in water quality.

As its level dropped during the past long, blistering hot summer, the quality of Lake Colorado City water also declined, requiring more and more filtering of impurities.

Shutt and Water Supt. Kenneth Rich said declines at Lake Colorado City and Champion Creek Reservoir bode poorly for the future of West Texas lakes in general.

And the city manager said a decreased dependence on lakewater would also lessen the amount that the city pays TU Electric Co. for it -- currently $150,000 to $175,000 annually.

He said that lessened expense would lead to a decrease in water rates.

TU Electric's Morgan Creek Plant on Lake Colorado City is the primary user of the lake's water.

Shorty Baumann, who farms five miles south of Loraine, said Tuesday that TU contracted for him and 15 or 20 other farmers along Champion Creek to pump large amounts of well water into the creek in 1970 or '71 to re-fill the lake.

They pumped 14,000 gallons a minute for 30 days for a total of 20 million gallons a day and more than six billion gallons for the month, during the summertime, without lowering the underground water level, Baumann said.

He said only about half of that amount reached the lake because of evaporation and vegetation.

"Then two years later the lake was getting low again and they asked if we would do it again," Baumann said. "We had sold the water too cheap the first time, 15 cents a thousand, and we were going to get a quarter or 30 cents.

"Then we had a big rain and the lake filled up."

Baumann said Lake Colorado City was lower in those years than it is now, but Lake Champion is lower now than it was then.

He said the underground water in the eastern end of the county does not lie in a pervasive aquifer like the Ogallala Aquifer in the Panhandle and South Plains.

"You can't get water just anywhere you drill," he said. "I have drilled eight and have just got four.

"They say they are underground streams. They may be just like a river with springs."

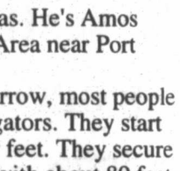

Nearly all the water wells in Mitchell County are on the south and east sides of the Colorado River.

HUNTING GATORS NEAR SABINE PASS

By Tumbleweed Smith

In Anahuac, Texas, alligators outnumber people three to one. During springtime you see the big gators out on the slopes of bayous. At night you can hear them bellowing.

Alligators used to be an endangered species. No more. They came off the endangered list in 1984. It's quite all right to buy those alligator shoes, briefcases and billfolds.

Texas has more alligators than any other state except Louisiana.

September is alligator hunting season in Texas. And it is a much bigger business than you might realize.

I attended my first Gatorfest this fall in Anahuac, a city on the gulf coast between Beaumont and Houston. It is an event that draws about 20,000 people. Not bad for a city with two thousand residents. The number was down a little this year because Anahuac had twelve inches of rain the day before the festival started.

Anahuac calls itself the alligator capital of Texas. The premier event at Gatorfest is the Great Texas Alligator Roundup. Hunters bring in the alligators they have caught and compete for cash prizes. The hunter with the longest alligator wins $500. This year the prize money went to Kevin Henke of Calhoun County. His gator was 12 feet, nine inches long.

At Gatorfest, you can buy alligator feet, eat some alligator and take an airboat ride through marshes where alligators live. The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department provides live alligator displays. Two stages offer every type of music from Cajun to Peruvian. When I arrived in Anahuac, I heard the song, "See ya later, alligator!" playing over a public address system downtown.

At Anahuac, I met the main alligator man in Texas. He's Amos Cooper of the JD Murphree Wildlife Management Area near Port Arthur. He let me tag along on an alligator hunt.

Although you can hunt alligators with bow and arrow, most people prefer to do a little fishing and hunting to get their gators. They start off by driving a steel rod into the ground about four feet. They secure a long bamboo pole to the rod, then string the pole with about 80 feet of strong cord. On the end of the cord is a two inch hook with some rotten chicken meat on it. The meat is suspended over the water about eighteen inches. The alligator smells that chicken, jumps out of the water to get it, then swims off with it.

The hunters then bring in the gator by pulling that strong cord by hand. While one hunter brings the alligator close enough to shore that it raises its head out of the water, the other hunter then shoots the gator in the head. Sometimes the gator thrashes and splashes, spins and turns, trying to get away, making for a difficult target. Sometimes they have to be shot more than once. An Alligator is not safe to handle until its eyes are closed. Once the gator is dead, duck tape is wrapped around its mouth. Then the gator is loaded onto the boat and sold for $16 a foot. Most of the meat goes to Asia.

At JD Murphree, the poles must be baited by 6 pm. Hunters can't retrieve them until after sunrise the following morning.

Stenholm rebuts criticism

U. S. Rep. Charles Stenholm of Stamford has remained good humored about increasingly shrill attacks that are being made against him in his re-election campaign.

No, he has nothing to do with increasing the hazard of nuclear waste spills on Interestate 20 outside Colorado City, and no, damaging Social Security is the last thing he will ever do, he says, laughing.

There is no public link between the radical environmentalist group that is sponsoring the nuclear waste radio advertisements and radical right-wing Republicans who see any Democrat, no matter how conservative, as a quarry to be stalked and destroyed.

But Rep. Stenholm said he is dubious of where the environmentalist group, the League of Conservation Voters (LCV) of Washington, D. C., got the money to produce such a professional ad and run it so many times.

Such groups do not have to report their financial sources.

Referring to the congressional recess, Stenholm said, "I finally got home, where I feel like I'm in a campaign now.

"It's going very, very well. It's the most interesting race I've ever been in. There are so many outside groups in here trying to beat me.

"Not only do I have an opponent, I have the State Republican Committee, the National Republican Committee, the term limits people and the League of Conservation Voters all spending money to beat me.

"The good news is that the grassroots support has really picked up. It's as good or better than it was in '78. That's what's kind of got me pumped up."

Stenholm was first elected to Congress in 1978.

In a Thursday interview at the Colorado City Record, he said the ominous-sounding radio ad that has been unremittingly played on local and area radio stations refers to the Texas Low-level Radioactive Waste Compact .

The compact is an agreement among Texas, Maine and Vermont for the safe disposal of low-level waste from hospitals, universities, nuclear power plants and manufacturers.

"Like Govs. Clements and Richards, Gov. Bush worked hard to see that Congress passed this compact," Rep. Stenholm said.

"Sens. Gramm and Hutchinson and almost the entire Texas congressional delegation supported it so that Texas could move forward with its plans to provide for the responsible disposal of low-level radioactive waste."

Govs. Clements and Bush and Sens. Gramm and Hutchinson are all Republicans.

"The LCV believes it is wrong to use fertilizers and pesticides," Stenholm said. "They do not believe modern medicine should save lives through the use of X-rays."

In the last Congress, the LCV gave Sen. Ted Kennedy of Massachusetts a 100-percent rating while giving Stenholm a "15."

"Charlie supports a common sense approach to protecting the environment," a campaign spokesman said in releasing a district-wide rebuttal to the ads.

"As a farmer, he recognizes the importance of protecting our land and water and the air we breathe.

"Don't let politics confuse the facts."

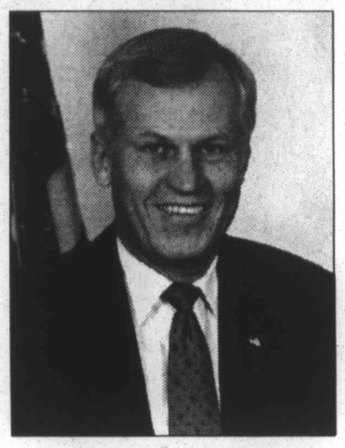

For the past three years, Stenholm has been co-chairman of the House Pension Reform Caucus "for the constructive reform of Social Security, to preserve and protect it.

"Any statement that I am wrecking or would wreck Social Security is a total misstatement of the truth," he said.

He said the caucus is proposing that Americans have the option of investing two percent of the 12.4 percent of their incomes that they pay into Social Security each year in Treasury notes, stocks or bonds.

Taxpayers could voluntarily increase their retirement age to 70, but they could also choose to retire at 60 or 65. There would be no mandatory retirement age.

Stenholm, who is being opposed by Abilene Republican Rudy Izzard, said he is doing well in Abilene, the biggest city in the 17th District, and expects to carry it on Nov. 3.

Charles Stenholm

If Abilenians want to keep Dyess Air Force Base, he said, they would be wise to support the Democrat because Amarillo, Lubbock and Fort Worth all lost their air bases after electing Republican congressmen.

"I have managed to do some great things for Dyess over the last two or three years," Stenholm said.

"We have the new engine maintenance program, the reactivation of the 13th Bomber Squadron in 2001 and the new pilot project for better housing for our men and women in blue."

He also tries to support Goodfellow Air Force Base in San Angelo, which borders his district and is represented by Republican Congressman Lamar Smith of San Antonio.

Investigate careers

Do you need to update your job skills or acquire new skills to get the job you desire?

Career training schools, both public and private, can offer valuable preparation for those seeking entry-level job skills, a career change or upgraded training in a specific field.

A career training school also known as a vocational, trade or technical school, should be investigated as carefully as any other service.

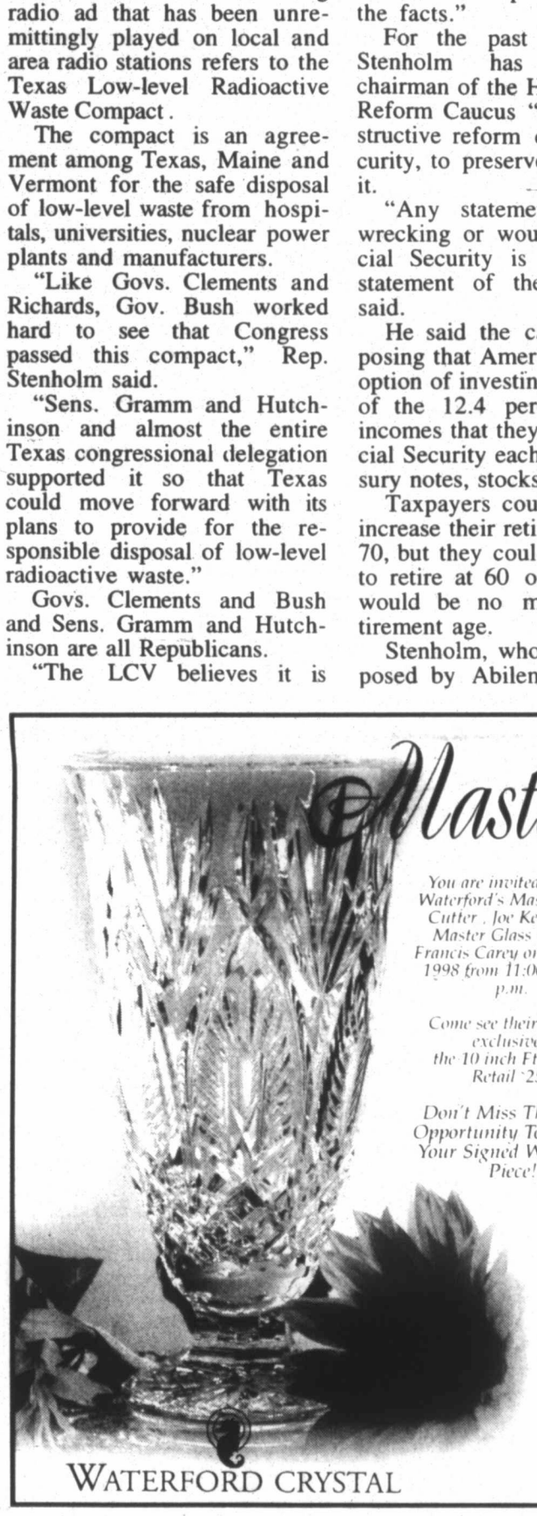

Whether the training program is in automobile mechanics, computer programming, practical nursing, locksmithing or any other vocational career area, it is important to make an informed choice.

The Better Business Bureau suggests the following tips when considering a career training school.

• Contact the Better Business Bureau at (915) 691-1533 for a reliablity report on the school.

For more information on career training, the Better Business Bureau has published a free booklet, "Career Training Schools."

When August and Emma Stenholm bought land in Ericksdahl in 1906, West Texas was still a raw and untamed land. One of the first things they did was build the town church – chiseling rock from a creek bed for the church's foundation. What they built was a monument to their faith, values, and decency. Their grandson, Charles, was raised by his parents with those same bedrock values...

The same values that guide our daily lives are the same values that Charlie Stenholm fights for in Congress.

The exact location of the land was not revealed.

Other business included a report from Dr. Dee A. Roach that software and hardware is scheduled to be delivered soon to improve operations in the hospital laboratory at a cost of $19,000.

His recommendation as chief of the medical staff was approved to give associate privileges to Dr. Pushpinder S. Guleria, an Odessa internist who wants to practice part-time in Colorado City.

Insuranceman John Snapp of the Perry-Hunter-Hall Agency in Abilene presented options for medical insurance for the district's 200 employees.

Snapp said an annual increase in claims to a projected total of $914,159 next year appears to have necessitated an adjustment in deductibles and other aspects of the plan.

The board took the matter under advisement until its November meeting.

Board members Shirley Clifton and Kent Boyd were re-appointed to the Mitchell County Hospital District Foundation.

Board President Tom Carlock suggested putting the subject of the district's computer conversions for the year 2000 on the board's agenda every other month so that it will stay current on the project.

Some candy "not so bad"

By: Mary McMullen CEA-FCS

The trick or treat bag will be full of fat and calories after a night of trick-or-treating, that's for sure!

Some candies are not-as-bad choices for Halloween indulging. Here's a look at how some of kids' favorite Halloween treats stack up:

Candy	Amount	Calories	Fat
Dum Dum	1 pop	25	0
Smarties	1 roll	25	0
Spree	1 roll	60	0
Tootsie Pop	1 pop	60	0
Candy Corn	1/8 cup	90	0
Peanut Log	1 piece	80	0
Tootsie Roll	3 midgets	80	0
3 Muskateers	1 fun size	70	2
Starburst	4 pieces	80	2
Hershey Mini	1 bar	45	3
Nestle Crunch	1 fun size	55	3
Kit Kat	1 snack size	80	4
Reese's Cup	1 snack size	95	5.5

Connie Evers, MS, RD, author of How to Teach Nutrition to Kids, and Feeding Kids, a free electronic newsletter (email evers@teleport.com or call 800-291-6098), has these tips to keep healthful food in small bodies:

- Maintain regular meals, including dinner, before children go trick or treating.
- At Halloween parties, include healthy snacks such as popcorn, pretzels, fruit & vegetable chunks, witches brew made with fruit juice and cocoa made with lowfat milk. These will help balance out the candy.
- When passing out treats, it is okay to give non-candy treats - see our list of suggestions to the right for some clever ideas.
- Set a policy for eating trick-or-treat candy. It is better to eat it moderately over several days as a substitute for dessert or a few pieces along with a healthy snack.

Halloween treats don't have to be candy. There are other treats that can be just as much fun for kids to get. Here are some alternatives to handing out candy:

- Look for individual wrapped snack foods like granola bars, seeds, nuts, or raisins.
- Check out a stationery store for cute and wacky pencils, stickers and erasers.
- Buy a package of plastic spiders and drop a couple in each trick-or-treat's bag.
- Purchase several packages of sports cards (baseball, basketball, football, etc.). Open them, put them in a basket, and let kids choose one.
- Wrap single quarters in plastic wrap and tie with orange and black ribbons.
- Pick up some pogs at a toy store.
- Check out your local party store for packages of party favors that would make fun Halloween treats.
- Empty a couple of large boxes of crayons in a basket and let kids choose one or two to put into their treat bag.
- Stickers are always a favorite and the choices are nearly endless!
- Combining one piece of candy with one prize may be better than giving out a handful of candy to each trick or treater.

FINGER PIZZAS

1 red bell pepper
12 sticks (1 oz. ea.) mozzarella
8 small (about 5" diameter) baked pizza crusts
1 cup purchased pizza sauce

Core, stem and seed pepper; cut lengthwise with 1" wide strips. Cut each strip crosswise into 1/2" pieces (fingernails). Round corners on one end of each piece.

Cut each cheese stick in half crosswise. On rounded end of each stick (finger), cut out a 1/2" square notch into which a pepper piece will fit to make a nail.

Lay crusts slightly apart on 3 baking sheets. Spread 2 Tbs. sauce evenly over each crust. Lay 3 cheese fingers well apart on each crust, fit a red pepper nail onto each one. Bake in a 450° oven until cheese just begins to melt, about 8 minutes.

MONSTER MUNCH

1 cup dry roasted peanuts, unsalted
1/3 cup butter or margarine
1 lb. marshmallows
1/2 cup peanut butter
3 cups puffed rice cereal
1 cup apricots, chopped
1 cup raisins

In a large bowl, combine cereal, apricots, raisins and peanuts. In a microwave safe 13x9" pan, melt butter and marshmallows on high for 2 minutes. Stir; add peanut butter, cook on high 2 minutes. Stir until well blended, add cereal mixture to dish and toss until well coated. Working quickly with greased hand, form into balls, using about 1/2 cup mixture per ball. If mixture begins to harden cook on high for 30 seconds, or until softened. If desired, mixture may be spread in unbuttered 13x9" dish and cooked and cut into bars. Makes 1 dozen balls or 2 dozen bars.

This is very similar to the Rice Krispie treats, but with the apriocots and raisins, it definitely gives it a fall look.

PUMPKIN PATCH CAKE

2 boxes devil's food cake mix
White frosting - enough for 2 cakes
Orange and green food coloring
3 pcs. Candy corn
1 pc. Black licorice

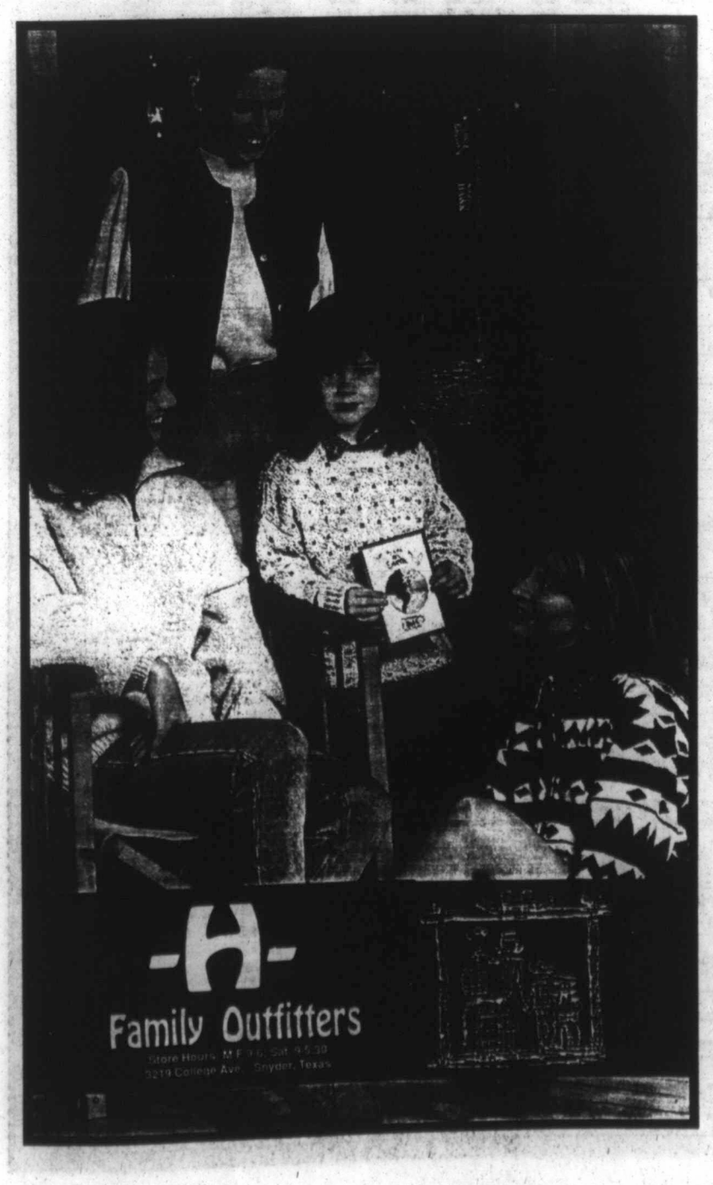

Prepare cake mixes according to package directions, except make the cakes in 2-12 cup bundt pans with ridges. Also, take enough batter to make one cupcake. Unmold pans and place them bottom to bottom. Set the cakes on a large platter and frost them with the white frosting tinted orange. Then, frost cupcake with white frosting green. There will be a hole in the middle of the cake. Fill with leftover frosting and set green cupcake on top (pumpkin stem). Place candy corn where eyes and nose should be. Then place licorice where mouth should be.

EASY HALLOWEEN COOKIES

Ritz crackers
Creamy peanut butter
White chocolate, melted
Orange sprinkles

Take crackers and make sandwich cookies out of them, using peanut butter for the filling. Coat each on in melted chocolate. Place on wax paper. Put some orange sprinkles on top and put in the refrigerator to cool. Store in an air tight container. No need to refrigerate once they set.

Thought for the day:
If you can't remember what worried you last week, you haven't any troubles.

Seniors' congress held in Austin recently

Haskell's age sixty-plus citizens had one of their own fellow citizens presenting a direct voice about the concerns of their age group at the Seventh Legislative Session of the Silver-Haired Legislature held in Austin recently.

Franciene Johnson, retired business woman and past-mayor of Haskell, not only represented several counties of the West Texas Council of Governments as a member of the Silver-Haired Legislature, she also sang the Star Spangled Banner to open the session.

Out of 70-plus resolutions introduced and considered at the session, only 33 got through the review committees, Johnson was instrumental in writing and getting three resolutions passed, two of which were in the top ten Prioritized Resolutions passed at the session.

The Utilities and Natural Resources Committee, of which Johnson was chairman, resolved that the 76th SHL request the Texas Legislature to pass legislation prohibiting unauthorized telephone billing and fraudulent practices disguised as sweepstakes contest entries and requiring all but basic services to be explained in writing and requiring written authorization by the customers before optional charges can be billed.

Johnson's Utility Committee also resolved to request the Texas Legislature to oppose the deregulation of electric power and the retail sales of electric power.

A third Johnson resolution accepted by the SHL was a request to the Texas Legislature to improve nursing homes volunteer ombudsman participation by providing some assistance on transportation (gasoline) expense.

Other top ten Priority Resolutions from among the 33 passed at the session were:

To maintain the current structure of the 28 Area Agencies on Aging.

The appointment by the Governor of a liaison as Commissioners on Aging.

To lower the authorized blood alcohol content of adults charged with DWI from 0.10 to 0.08.

To raise the monthly personal needs allowance of Medicaid nursing home residents from $30 to $40.

To oppose the use of school voucher systems. To require a criminal background check on all persons applying for employment as a Home Health Provider.

To provide protection from legal liabilities for Texas citizen volunteers involved in Good Samaritan functions.

To require that all hospital foster care homes and other short-term and long-term facilities be licensed under state and federal statutes for the health and safety of their residents on a 24-hour basis.

The Prioritized Resolutions and 23 other resolutions will be presented to the regular Texas Legislature for consideration in January 1999.

Members of the Texas Silver Haired Legislature are elected by their age 60-plus peers and serve without pay. They meet biennially in the House Chamber of the State Capitol.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED TO OLD GLORY

By Ola Grimes

What has happened to Old glory in this town?
Where are the faithful, the true, and the brave?
It is being trampled by people of greed,
Never satisfied, always wanting more.

Wake up America, the home of the brave.
A symbol of heroes that are now in their graves.
Dying for people who have chose to conform.
Be careful America, you are dressed in disgrace.

Look around America, you are being enslaved
By money hungry men, who never are pleased
Until freedom is gone and we are in our graves.

You grumble and gripe about how things are run
But you don't have a backbone like the soldiers of old.
They died for their country they all loved so well.

The life they lived through war was a living hell.
Old Glory is faded, her edges are tattered.
No one seems to care, to them the "cause" really doesn't matter.

Halloween safety asked

When children think of Halloween, they usually think of candy. Parents are more likely to think about safety.

"Falls, motor vehicle and pedestrian accidents, and burns can easily spoil the holiday. There also are instances when children are sickened by treats that have been tampered with," said Mike Bradshaw, K-State Research and Extension Safety Specialist.

Parents and children can take steps to improve holiday safety-starting when they choose a costume, he said.

For example, if an old sheet is to be used to make a ghost costume, trim the sheet to lessen the chance a child will trip.

Purchasing a costume? Look for flame-resistant fabrics and accessories, including masks, wigs, beards and hats, and opt for a size that best fits a child. Some costumes are made of reflective fabrics. If not, consider adding reflective tape.

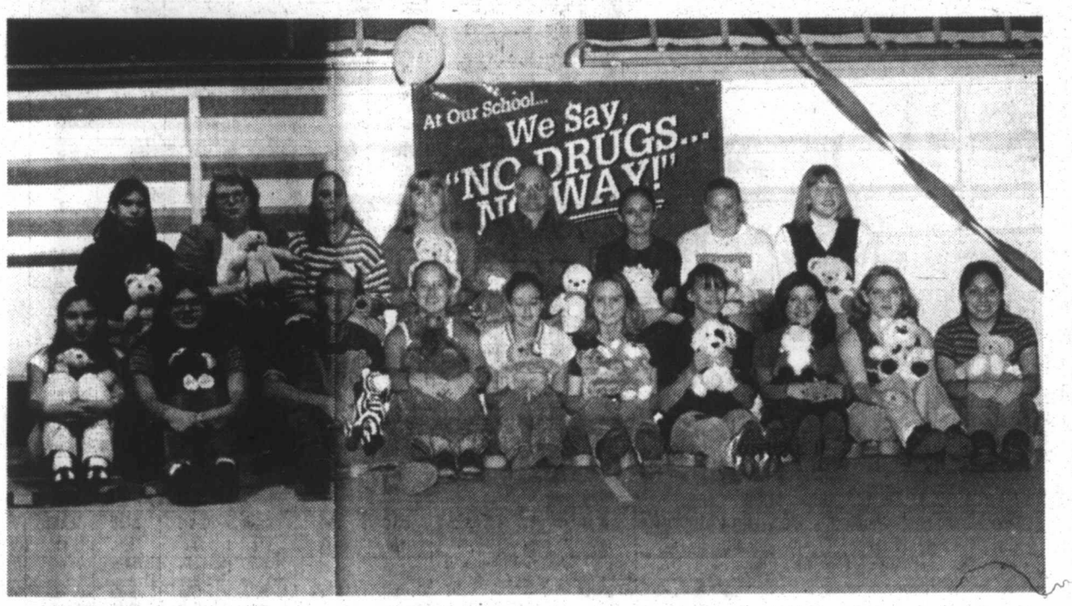

Consider face paint instead of a mask that can slip and obscure vision. If a mask is needed as part of a costume, consider enlarging eye holes to improve visibility. If a whole face mask is part of the costume, take a few tucks or add a little elastic to improve fit.

Pinning a child's name, address and phone number inside their costume also is recommended. If a child trips and falls on a neighborhood porch, easy identification can simplify steps needed to call parents.

- Equip trick-or-treaters with a flashlight.
- Remind children to walk, not run.
- Encourage children to use sidewalks, rather than walk or run through yard where they might trip over a low spot in a yard or lawn ornament, or be stopped short by a clothesline.
- Encourage children to cross streets only at corner intersections, with a light when possible. Darting onto streets accounts for more than 50% of all pedestrian injuries among children ages five to nine. Remind children to look, then look again, before crossing a street.
- Accompany small children. Only a parent can decide how old children need to be before they can go trick-or-treating on their own. Parents are, however, encouraged to set limits for older children.
- Encourage children to trick-or-treat in neighborhoods they know, or choose neighborhoods with less traffic.
- Encourage children to trick-or-treat only at homes with lighted porches. "Homeowners can reduce risks by removing unnecessary items from their porches," the safety specialist said.
- Instruct children not to go into a house or apartment building unless they are accompanied by a parent or known adult.

Department seeks toys

The Mitchell County Adult Probation Department Community Service Restitution Program is asking for donations of used toys, especially bicycles and tricycles.

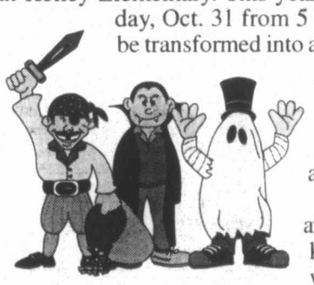

As one of their community projects, they are going to refurbish the items and then donate them to the Optimist Toy Drive to be distributed to Mitchell County children.

Items may be dropped off at the Probation Department on the third floor of the Courthouse or you can make arrangements to have your items picked up by calling 728-3457 and asking for Donna or Sally.

SC Museum has Santas

Do you have a favorite Santa Claus or Clauses which you have kept over the years?

If so the Scurry County Museum would enjoy displaying it during the Holiday Season, Nov. 19, 1998 through Dec. 10, 1998.

The Museum plans to display Santas from pioneer times to the present day.

Also, photographs are needed for background scenes which may include Santa Claus.

If you have any photographs which bring back memories of past Christmas seasons, the Museum would like to display them, also.

Please call the Museum at (915) 573-6107 if you have items to lend.

The Museum is located on the southwest corner of Western Texas College campus, 6200 College Avenue, Snyder.

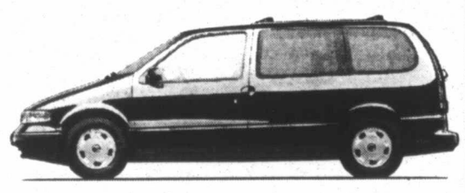

Its hours are from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday thru Thursday and 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday. Other times by appointment.

American Red Cross offers Halloween tips

The American Red Cross of Southwest Texas, a United Way agency, offers the following tips for a safe Halloween:

- Plan your route and share it with your family. If possible, have an adult go with you.
- Wear light-colored or reflective clothing so you are more visible. (And remember to put reflectors on bikes, skateboards, and brooms, too!)
- Use face paint rather than masks or things that will cover your face.
- Cross the street only at corners.
- Look both ways before crossing the street to check for cars, trucks and low-flying brooms.
- Don't hide or cross the street between parked cars.
- Walk, slither, and sneak on sidewalks; not in the street.
- Carry a flashlight to light your way.
- Visit homes that have porch light on.
- Keep away from open fire or candles. (Costumes may be extremely flammable.)
- Accept your treats at the door--never go into a stranger's house.
- Be cautious of strangers and animals.
- Have a grown-up inspect your treats before eating. And don't eat candy if the package is already opened. Small, hard pieces of candy are a choking hazard for young children.

For more information on American Red Cross services and health and safety courses call (915) 684-6161 or (915) 332-5461.

PAW PRINTS

Notes from the Colorado Independent School District

By Beau Rees, Hutchinson Elementary School Principal

Who says science isn't fun? Try these simple hands-on experiments with your child and see for yourself! All you need are a few everyday items and a keen pair of eyes.

As you work on these experiments together, tap into your youngster's natural curiosity. How? Ask questions -- just as real scientists do.

Is "lightening" possible without a storm? Blow up two ballons and let your child rub them against hair or clothing. In a darkened room, hold the balloons close to each other -- almost touching. Watch for the spark that leaps between them. What happens if you rub a balloon against other materials?

Can a single sheet of paper hold up a book? Roll a sheet of paper into a tube and secure it loosely with a rubber band. Then, have your child stand it on end and carefully place a book on top. How much weight can be added?

What makes ice cream freeze? Let your junior scientist combine one cup whole milk, one tablespoon sugar, and 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract in an airtight plastic bag. Seal the mixture and put it in a larger heavy-duty bag -- one that will not burst -- along with some ice. Sprinkle salt on the ice, seal the large bag, and take turns shaking it for 15 minutes. Presto! You have ice cream! What would happen if you didn't add salt?

These are only a few ways in which you can participate in encouraging your child's love of science.

DANIEL AUSTIN won a certificate and this T-shirt from Texas Caps & T-Shirts for being the top student in Hutchinson Elementary's accelerated reading program.

Letter to Editor, Abilene Reporter News 10/18/98

Bad information

While I was Social Security district manager in Abilene, it was my privilege to work closely with U.S. Rep. Charlie Stenholm on many issues. The relationship has continued, as I now do advisory work for the National Committee to Preserve Social Security and Medicare.

I have participated in Stenholm's town meetings, we have discussed individual cases in which he has had an interest, and I have observed his research into many different issues that affect the 17th District. Charlie has always been fair, honest, sincere and thorough in studying and making decisions on any issue that was before him.

My exposure to Rudy Izzard is more limited, but I did hear him speak on Social Security to a civic club recently. The information he gave was very misleading, and much of it was completely erroneous. With only a minimum of research, he would have realized he was presenting rumor and not fact on most of the Social Security issues.

Now Izzard is using inaccurate information in TV ads that accuse Stenholm of "raiding the Social Security trust funds." Nothing could be further from the truth! Stenholm has been dedicated to protecting the Social Security trust funds. This is why he has opposed a large tax reduction until the federal budget has a real surplus without including Social Security's surplus to balance the budget.

We need Charlie Stenholm's honesty, ability and common sense as our voice in Washington.

Wolves quieten Tornadoes

The Colorado City Wolves travelled to Lamesa Friday night and escaped with a 20-16 victory over a tough Golden Tornado squad.

Justin Hill was 11 of 19 passing for 163 yards and a touchdown with no interceptions.

Lamesa running back Juan Barrioz led the Tornadoes with 32 carries for 256 yards, including two touchdowns.

The game came down to the final 1:28 as the Wolf defense stiffened and Armando Rocha made the game-clinching interception.

The Golden Tornadoes received the opening kickoff and drove 80 yards in 13 plays to take a 7-0 lead with 5:53 left in the first quarter.

The Wolves first possession began at their own 23.

The 14-play 52-yard drive ended when the Wolves turned the ball over on downs.

On fourth and six from the Tornado 25, the Wolves elected to give the ball to running back Terry Green, who got stuffed at the line of scrimmage.

The Tornadoes were forced to go three and out though, as the Wolf defense shut down Barrioz, determined not to let the Tors extend their lead.

The Wolves' first score came on their third possession after a seven-play 68-yard drive, highlighted by a 48 yard pass completion to Chase Phariss.

Green punched the ball in from one yard out to knot the score at 7-7 with 3:02 left in the half.

The Tornadoes started from their 20 and were able to drive to the Wolf 11 yard line after a 60 yard Barrioz run.

Stopping the clock with two seconds left in the half, the Tors attempted a 32 yard field goal, but the kick sailed wide right and the teams went in at the half tied at seven.

The Wolves took the opening kickoff of the second half and made a couple of first downs, thanks to passes from Hill to Jaime Alvarez for 10 yards and Philip Castro for 13.

But the drive stalled at the Wolf 48 and Randy Byington hit a nice punt which Hill downed at the Tornado one yard line.

The Tors were able to earn one first down then had to punt.

A very poor punt gave the Pack great field position at the Tornado 34.

On first and ten, Green picked up 16 to the Tornado 18.

Then Hill made a perfect toss to Byington across the middle for six points.

With 5:52 left in the third, the Wolves took the lead for the first time, 14-7.

The Tors were called for a personal foul and Byington got to kickoff from the Tornado 45, almost putting the football in Colorado's travel bus.

The Pack attack had silenced the rowdy Lamesa crowd, but then Barrioz picked up 18 on first down.

On first and ten from his own 38, Barrioz ran left for 12 and, after a personal foul call for hitting him late, Barrioz got his team back into the game with a 40 yard touchdown run.

Tied at 14 each with 5:02 left in the third, the teams traded possessions to end the third quarter.

The Wolves started the final quarter at the Tornado 41 after a nice 11 yard pickup by Green to end the third.

Hill ran for eight yards and passed for another 22 to position his team at the Tornado 3.

Byington got his second score of the night as he ran it in from there.

The score put the Pack on top at 20-14 after a bobbled snap negated the PAT.

With 9:37 left in the game, Lamesa's Willie Ortiz took Byington's kick out of the endzone for a nice 23 yard return.

Wendell Mayes and the Wolf defense held Barrioz to only 12 yards rushing and, after a Chris Valenzuela QB sack for minus 11, the Tors' punter hit a beauty and put the Wolves on the one yard line.

With 3:35 left, the Wolves played it safe, running the ball and dropping a seven yard pass to Brett Hoyle.

On fourth and two, the Wolves opted to take the safety and give the Tors two points.

With the score Wolves 20, Tornadoes 16 and only 2:26 left in the game, Byington punted from his 20.

Lamesa was in trouble now, starting from the 50, the Pack defense clamped down on quarterback Waylon Hogg.

Byington tackled Hogg after only a two-yard pickup.

Hogg, running out of time with no timeouts left, threw down to stop the clock on second and eight with 1:45 remaining.

On third and eight, Hogg was chased out of the pocket and forced to throw, but no Tornado receivers were in the area and he was called for intentional grounding.

On fourth and forever, the sophomore quarterback attempted to pass to Barrioz but was intercepted by Armando Rocha.

With 1:28 left, Hill came in and kneeled down three times for the victory.

The Colorado defense completely shut down Lamesa's passing game as Hogg went 0-6 with one interception.

Conversely, Hill played smart. Taking a couple of sacks, the savvy quarterback avoided any turnovers in the contest.

The Wolf defense shut down the speedy Barrioz in the fourth quarter, allowing him only 12 yards total.

The (6-2)(2-1) Wolves will host the (5-2)(3-0) Seminole Indians at 7:30 Friday night in Wolf stadium for the driver's seat in district 3-3A.

State-ranked Lamesa hands L. Wolves sixth district loss

The Colorado City Lady Wolves varsity volleyball team travelled to Lamesa and lost their sixth district match to the state-ranked Lady Tornadoes.

Last Friday's match was a must-win for the ladies to earn a berth in the post-season.

The Lady Wolves lost in two games (7-15)(14-16), almost forcing a third game before the Lady Tornadoes came back from a 10-6 deficit in game two to win the match.

The ladies season record stands at (15-12)(3-6) heading into Tuesday's final match with Brownfield.

In what will be C-City's last match of the season, the Lady Wolves would love to go out with a win and force Brownfield into a playoff with Seminole for the third spot.

Lamesa has wrapped up the district title and the only questions left are who will be in the second and third spots.

The 1998-2000 district re-alignment was a tough blow to Colorado City, being the smallest school in the district.

The days for a cakewalk are over as CHS enrollment stands at 373, compared to the largest school, Lamesa, with 688.

Other teams in the district and their enrollment figures are Brownfield at 656, Seminole at 638, Lubbock Cooper at 541 and Denver City at 483.

Lady Wolves beat L. Cooper

The Colorado City Lady Wolves improved their record to (15-11) (3-5) as they beat Lubbock Cooper at the Pit Tuesday night, October 20.

The expected victory over Cooper, a (15-10) (15-11) win, was necessary to keep any playoff hopes alive.

In the match, Kendra Anderson and Edwina Ceballos had "kills all over the place", related coach Karen Trent.

"We double-teamed their middle blocker and they didn't know what to do", said Trent, whose troops are playing much better the last three games.

"Our serve receiving percentage has risen four points over the last three games and with each game, our passing gets better."

One exciting moment in the Cooper match involved middle blocker Anderson who spiked a ball which ricocheted off of a defender's head.

Cooper was able to get the ball back over the net but a waiting Anderson went up high and spiked the ball hard for a kill which echoed throughout the Pit like a cannon and brought the crowd to its' feet.

W'brook Wildcats lose to Ackerly Sands, 68-48

The Westbrook Wildcats lost their second district game against the Ackerly Sands Mustangs Friday night.

The (4-4) (1-2) Wildcats had the (3-5) (3-0) Mustangs down early, but a fourth quarter surge by Sands resulted in a heartbreaking 68-48 Westbrook loss.

The Wildcats got on the board first and had an 8-0 lead after the first quarter.

Both teams scored 22 points in the second quarter, going in at the intermission with Westbrook leading 30-22.

In the third, Sands outscored Westbrook 18-12, but the Wildcats still held a 42-40 edge going into the final period.

"We played til the fourth quarter but we had too many mistakes late," said Hill of the disappointing fourth quarter in which Sands outscored Westbrook 28-6.

"Sam Harless had a huge night," said coach Jim Hill of the upcoming Wildcat quarterback.

Harless was 21 of 36 passing for 401 yards, seven touchdowns and only two interceptions.

Harless found receiver Chris Chambers in the endzone four times on the night.

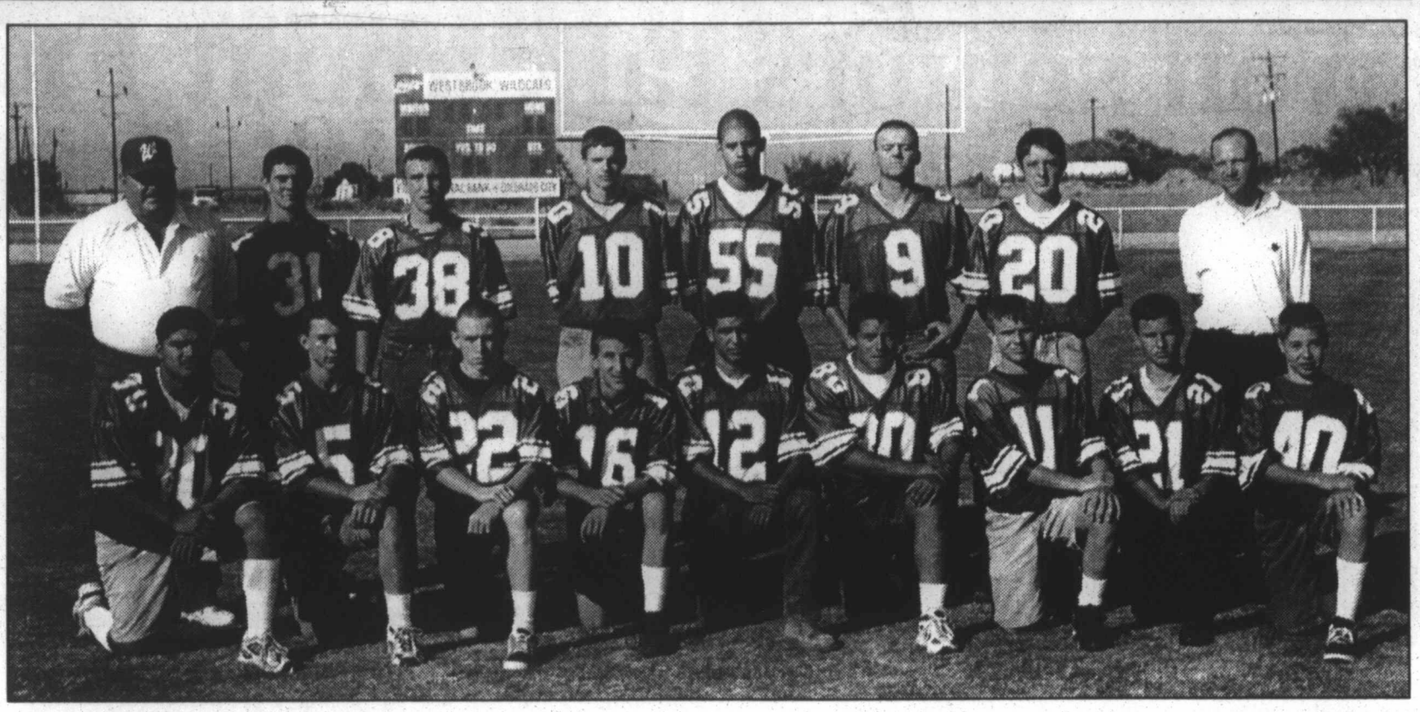

Chambers had 207 yards on just eight receptions.

Thadd Rich had five catches for 112 yards and two scores.

Brad Hale had four receptions for 59 yards and a touchdown.

The Wildcats host the Lenorah Grady Wildcats in Westbrook this Friday night at 7:30.

Grady comes to Wildcat stadium with a 2-1 district record after suffering a 67-22 loss to Borden County last week.

7th grade Wolves lose, 8th grade wins

The Colorado City Wolves CMS football teams travelled to Lamesa last Thursday and split games with the Tornadoes as the seventh grade lost 24-8 and the eighth grade squad won 28-12.

The 2-4-1 seventh grade Wolves fell to 0-3 in district.

Patrick Spear accounted for the only Wolf score in the game as he rushed for 75 yards and a touchdown.

The eighth grade Wolves improved their record to 5-2 overall and 2-1 in district with their win.

Wide receiver David Salazar scored twice on receptions of 18 and 95 yards.

Landon Graham scored once on a 20 yard run and once on a 25 yard pass reception.

Running back Mickey Green rushed 14 times for 68 yards and David Leanos carried four times for 25 yards.

Quarterback Jon Spear had a great day as he passed for 221 yards and three touchdowns with no interceptions.

"Our offensive line did a great job up front giving Jon time to throw the ball to our receivers. We did a very good job against a much bigger team," said coach Jerold Epperson.

The two teams will host the Seminole Indians at Wolf stadium this Thursday night, October 29.

The seventh grade begins at 5:30 and the eighth grade will start at 7 pm.

Bulldogs extend winning streak to two wins!

Fresh off a big upset win over Blackwell, the Loraine Bulldogs found winning to their liking and extended their winning streak to two with a 42-30 win over Paint Rock.

With 120 pound sophomore quarterback Luis Rico leading the way, the Bulldogs came from behind at halftime to notch the win.

Rico was only five for 13 passing but four of those went for touchdowns to junior receiver Rene Garcia.

Rico accounted for 114 yards rushing and a touchdown in 12 carries to go with his 67 yards through the air.

Junior running back Ramon Martinez accounted for the other Bulldog touchdown as well as carrying the ball for over 100 yards.

The backfield that averages only 120 pounds ground out 294 yards on the night.

The 'Dogs' made 17 first downs to Paint Rock's 14 but the Indians had 383 yards of total yardage, most of it by four-year starting running back Eddie Morin.

A welcome boost for the Bulldogs was junior center Mike Rico who missed several games due to an injury.

"The kids played another great game," said coach Jerry Miller.

"It was especially gratifying to see them respond like they did in the second half after being down," he added.

Loraine has a bye week this week before finishing out the season next week against Veribest.

Veribest, in their first year of varsity competition, is still seeking their first win of the year.

Loraine is 2-6 overall and 2-2 in district play.

Jr. High Bulldogs stomp Paint Rock

The Loraine Jr. High Bulldogs defeated the Paint Rock Indians 36-0 last Thursday.

Elias Barrera scored three times for the Bulldogs, including a 12 yard run, a 40 yard punt return and a 60 yard kick return.

Edward Lujan scored on runs of 34 and five yards for the Bulldogs.

Defensively, all six starters had at least six tackles each in the shutout victory.

The Bulldogs improved their record to 6-1 overall and 4-0 in district play.

Their next game is Thursday, October 29 at 6 pm in Novice.

Freshmen Lady Wolves defeat Lubbock Cooper

The Colorado City Lady Wolves freshmen volleyball team defeated Lubbock Cooper in two games on October 20 at the CHS gym.

The (16-14)(15-8) win was especially sweet for coach Geran Gatlin's girls as they have had a rough time getting the ball rolling this season.

"This is the first game we truly played as a team and we came out with a victory," said Gatlin.

"Our serving was excellent. In the first game, Rita Luera led the way with seven points, followed by Erica Grant with five."

"In the second game, Melissa Owens really stuck it to them by serving up eight points and Kassi Redwine served up five points with two aces," said the coach.

In the short run, the district re-alignment is going to be tough, but in the long haul there should be a positive result from playing against a tougher group of teams.

"Even though we have several losses on our side, our scores have not reflected the ability of our girls, this freshmen bunch of girls are really talented and hard-working," says Gatlin.

"I am really proud of the girls."

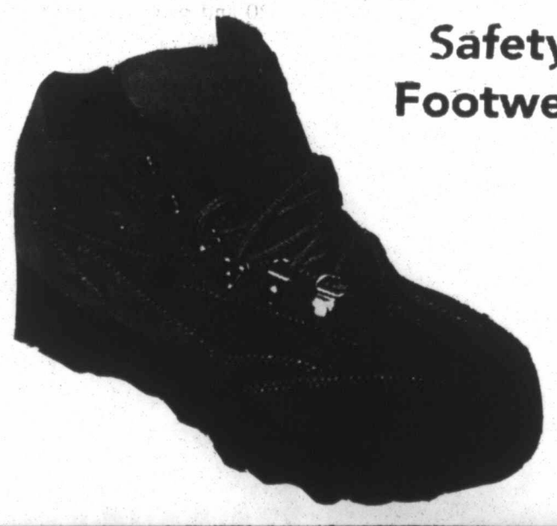

The team will round out the season Tuesday, October 27 at home against Brownfield.

To all the seniors, their parents, businesses, churches and all others who helped with our Sunday Night Senior Halloween Party in the downtown area. We just wanted to say THANK YOU for another SCREAMING party sucess!

Wolf seniors talk about Friday's game...

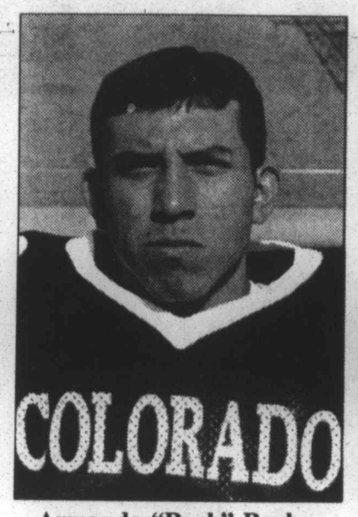

Terry Green
"I have been waiting for this moment ever since I was a little boy. I'm going out there for the last time in my life. I will promise this for the Colorado City wolf fans. The Wolves always come in packs. So Wolf Pack Up!"

Rashad Walthall
"Throughout my high school years, playing at this stadium has been the best, cause the fans are the best. I also know that this is the last time my family sees me step foot on Wolf Stadium grass. I will promise my family, friends and fans that I will do my best."

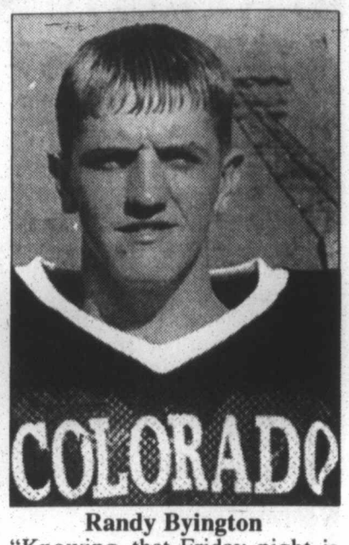

Abel Bonilla
"I feel very excited about my last home game because I think that it will give me a lot of memories and it is very important to me because it is my last year of becoming a wolf."

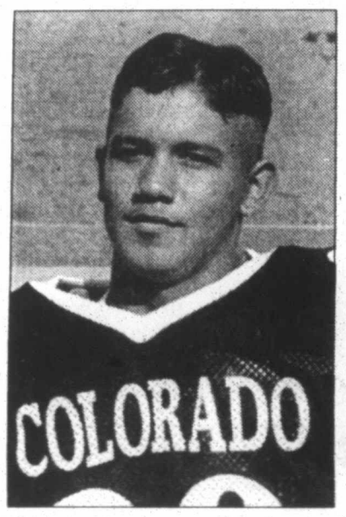

Armando "Rock" Rocha
"Friday night has been something I've waited for all my life. Being under the lights of Wolf Stadium for the last time is going to be emotional. So when the Wolf Pack goes out Friday night, we plan to give thanks to all the great fans of C-City for cheering us on, by defeating the Seminole Indians."

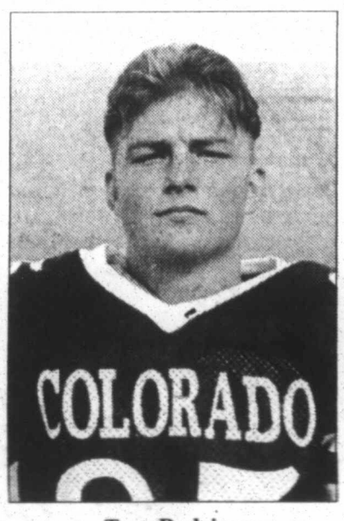

Jamie Alvarez
"Our last home game was something that I never thought of before. On October 30, I will play one of my hardest games; not against Seminole but against time. And I will cherish and remember all of my friends forever, and the last time on Wolf Stadium grass: Wolf Pack Up!"

Randy Byington
"Knowing that Friday night is my last game to play in Wolf Stadium makes me hurt inside. Friday night when I hear the great C-City crowd cheer us on for the last time at Wolf Stadium will be emotional, not only for me, but all the seniors on the team, in the band, or in the stands."

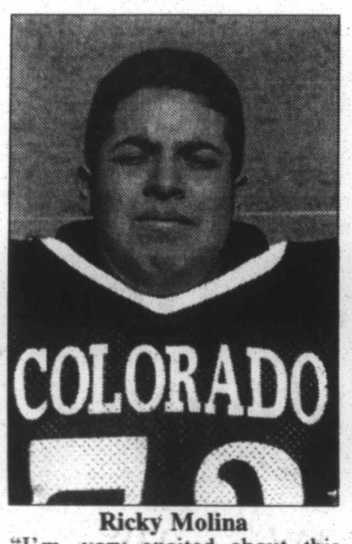

Pete Gonzales
Not available to comment.

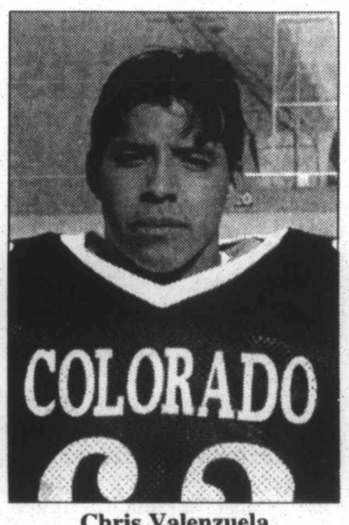

Tony Rodriquez
Not available to comment.

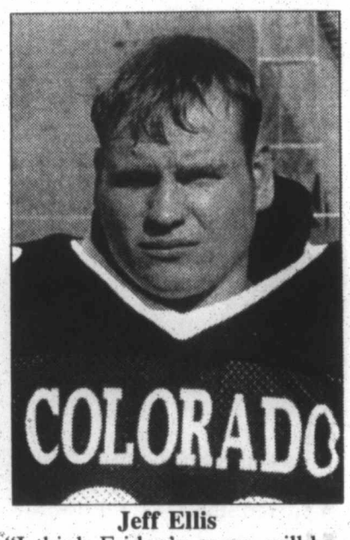

Freddy Atkinson
"It feels good to play at home all the time. I just know I am ready to play Friday."

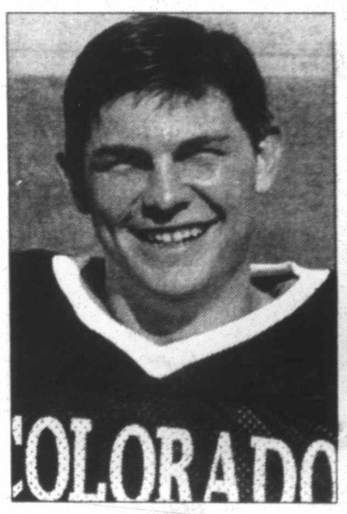

Ricky Molina
"I'm very excited about this game because this is going to be a very good test and this is our chance to show our stuff as seniors and as a team!"

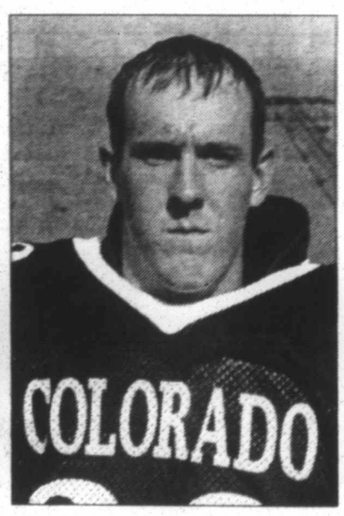

Chris Valenzuela
To me this game means a lot because it's the last game I get to play in Wolf Stadium. It will be very emotional for all the seniors."

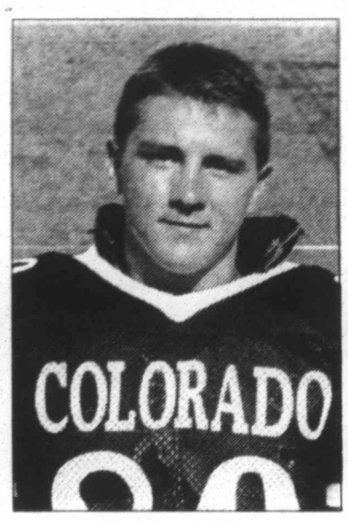

Jeff Ellis
"I think Friday's game will be an sad one, but I also think we will step up and play the game harder than ever before, being our last home game."

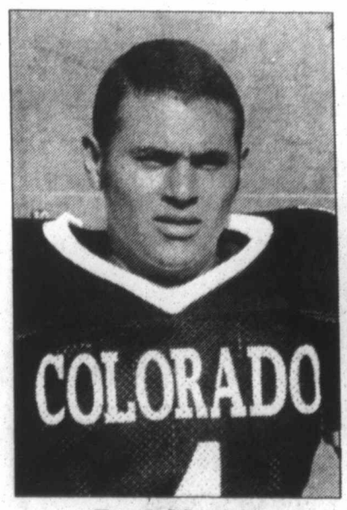

Brett Hoyle
"I probably don't realize how big this game is, but I hope I play hard and that the Wolves give the crowd a great game to watch."

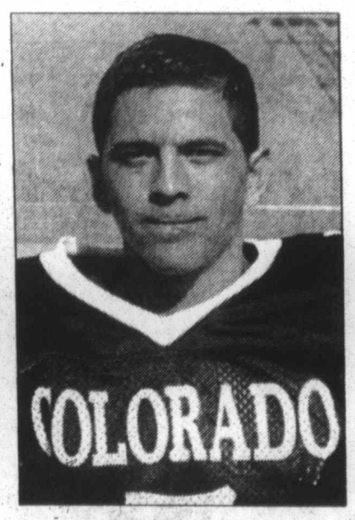

Kyle Hammond
"I'm excited and sad at the same time because it's the last time I get to play on that field that holds many memories to me."

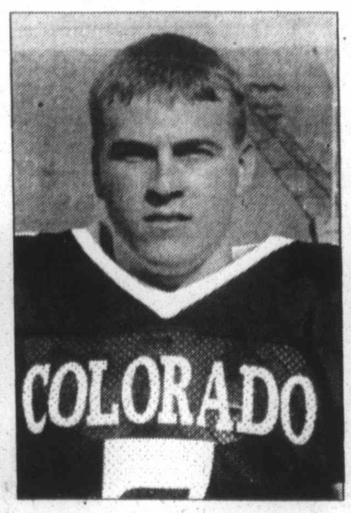

Robbie Atkins
"My brother Michael got hurt in the pre-season, I'm going out Friday night and I'm gonna hit people twice as hard - once for the district title and once for Michael. This will be a game to remember."

Frank Martinez
"With our last game at Wolf Stadium approaching faster everyday, the anticipation gets stronger. It's very important for us to go out like the WOLF PACK and be the true Red and Black. It's hard to imagine we came from the sticker patches of Kelley Elementary to being the stars on the grass of Wolf Stadium which has always been a childhood dream of the Senior Class of 99."

Philip Castro
"This will be my most memorable moment because it will be the last time forever to play on Wolf Stadium's grass with my classmates of '99, the last time to be together as one. At home it will be very emotional when that buzzer goes off because it will be 45 minutes to play and a lifetime of memories. Wolf Pack Up, Baby, because we're just "Too Sweet" (4 Life)."

Justin Hill
"Come Friday night there just won't be a football game going on, there will be a time of remembrance, glory and a whole lot of fun being reflected. As a senior captain on this team, I and the team, have to try to block all of that out and to go out and play a good game. I will miss walking down the stairs and running through the sign and hearing the band playing our fight song and all of our faithful fans cheering us on."

Who's Looking Out for Texas Agriculture??

October 25, 1998

Dear Voters:

Please take a few moments to consider what U.S. Representative Charlie Stenholm has meant to our area. Charlie is a strong, conservative leader who reflects and defends the values we all share. Charlie has paid his dues and is now one of the most respected members of the U.S. House of Representatives. He has earned our support.

His position as the Ranking Democrat on the House Agriculture Committee puts this area on the front lines in the battle to protect the interests of agriculture in this nation. You can bet that Charlie's presence will continue to make a difference when it comes to important issues that affect our region and its communities. We all depend on a strong agriculture industry and Charlie Stenholm is the right man in the right place.

Voters in the 17th Congressional District have an extraordinary opportunity to make sure both the Ranking Minority member and the Chairman of the House Agriculture Committee come from adjacent congressional districts. The combination of Charlie Stenholm and Larry Combest truly benefits this area. The opportunity to make lasting, effective policy changes for agriculture cannot be overlooked.

Drought relief, trade issues, boll weevil eradication. Each is an area where Charlie has put our best interests first and secured the help or financing necessary to make a positive impact on our communities. The future holds even more challenges as the 106th Congress gets set to evaluate the success of current farm programs, particularly crop insurance, to make sure farmers and ranchers have the best possible safety net. With your support, Charlie will be a key leader to effect changes that will improve these programs.

We urge you to support Charlie Stenholm - He's Earned It!

LHS Bulldogs are looking up

By Carl Graham

The future looks quite bright the next several years for the Loraine Bulldog football program.

The Junior High Bulldogs under Coach Victor Garcia is undefeated in district play (4-0) and sport a respectable 6-1 season record.

The loss came at the hands of Midland Trinity while the wins come over Lueders-Avoca, Abilene Christian, Highland, Trent, Blackwell, and Paint Rock.

They have games with Novice and Veribest left to play in district.

Coach Garcia noted the exceptional play of 8th grader Elias Barrera. He has accounted for most of the yardage on the ground from his running back post. Eddie Lujan, another 8th grader has been a defensive gem and leads in tackles.

"Elias Martinez has probably made the most improvement from last year," said Coach Garcia.

Seventh grader Ryan Lucas has stepped in to do a remarkable job at quarterback after doing mostly mop up duty last year. George Davila and Junior Delgado make up the rest of the starting team.

"What has impressed me the most is how unselfish these kids are," said Coach Garcia. "They are so easy to coach it makes my job real simple," he added.

Coach Jay Smith says his JV bunch are no slouch despite a 2-3 record. The three losses were at the hands of state ranked Borden County as well as the varsity Veribest team. The other loss was to a very good Rochelle team.

The wins were over Lueders-Avoca and Paint Rock.

"Colorado City transfer Johnny Lopez has come in and did an admirable job for us at quarterback," said Coach Smith. "Justin Briseno and C.J. Madrid, both freshmen, will be pushing for varsity jobs next year," he added.

Sophomore Jacob Smith, a 5-8, 223 pound center/end has played on both varsity and JV this year and makes a big target to hit.

Sophomore Earon Jones although only 116 pounds, has made some big hits from his cornerback slot on defense.

"Junior George Luevanos has done a great job kicking for us this year," said Coach Smith. "He will be an asset to the varsity next year," he added.

The JV has completed their season due to Novice dropping out and Veribest not fielding a JV team.

"I'm looking forward to these kids playing on the varsity," Coach Smith concluded.

Wolf fans support is appreciated Friday night 7:30 pm at Wolf Stadium!

Colorado High School runners head to district competition

Cross Country Coach Darrin Leverton is chomping at the bit to take his young, inexperienced team of freshmen runners to the district meet in Lubbock this weekend.

Young? Yes. Inexperienced? Yes. Talented? Definitely!

The mild-mannered coach Leverton seems to get the best out of his players, no matter what the sport, but this bunch of girls has put a twinkle in his eye.

"Brownfield is the team to beat and Mindy Sullivan is the individual to beat," says Leverton of the district meet.

"Our girls have run the course at Mae Simmons twice already and their times and finishes have improved with each run."

In meets thus far in the season, Team CHS has been nipped by the Brownfield squad but has outrun their only other close district competitors, Lamesa, on a regular basis.

This is coach Leverton's fifth season as CHS cross country coach and, thanks to solid, clear-headed instruction, as well as being blessed with a wealth of Lady Wolf talent, Leverton already has two district championships, including eighth at regionals last year.

Last year, the team placed second in district to Kermit by a couple of points.

The coach, being careful not to predict, says "with what I've seen, I think we should be guaranteed a spot in regionals."

Either way, CHS cross country has a bright future with loads of talent, both on the sidelines and the course.

SPORTS NOTES

Local students among leaders

Colorado City's Justin Hill is the number one passer in 3A with 1148 yards, 10 touchdowns and only six interceptions.

Armando Rocha is third in receiving with 363 yards.

Sullivan favored to win

CHS Cross Country runner Mindy Sullivan is favored to win district this Saturday in Lubbock as she has blown away all of her competition so far.

Sullivan and her cross country teammates are all just freshmen and should finish in the top three as a team in this weekend's event at Mae Simmons Park.

LJHS boys take district 11-A title

The Loraine Jr. High boys' Cross Country team won district in Abilene Saturday, October 24.

The district 11-A meet was held in Abilene's Pecan Ridge Park at 2 pm.

"Why do you coach?" " I coach because I have always enjoyed the competitiveness. I participated on the volleyball team my 7th grade year at Colorado City Jr. High. As a freshman, I was on the JV team here at CHS and varsity the next three years. (By the way, we won district in 1969 also!!) My freshman year we had the privilege of a track coach and team. After that for two year straight about 14 girls practiced daily on our own and our parents paid entry fees to invitational track events. (Thanks to a coach in Littlefield who sent us the messages and materials to enter.)

I enjoy sports and believe that our girls learn so much from the athletic program. More than just playing ball. There is team work, dedication, desire, determination, dreams, concentration, sportsmanship, leadership, friendships, sharing the glory as well as the pain, good times and bad, coping, pressures, communication as well as the sound physical and mental health achievements. I feel that all these qualities as well as many others help our girls develop a good sound character. I know for a fact that all these qualities have helped me through out my life time."

"What brought you to Colorado City?" "I was born and raised in Colorado City. My parents, sister and family are here. I attended school all 12 years in the CISD. I attended McMurry College and came home to referee volleyball games on weekends, helped with two-a-day work outs as a volunteer. Then returned to teach here.

My dream from the 7th grade was to become a coach and PE teacher. After my freshman year, I was certain that I wanted to coach and teach, and I wanted to do that here in Colorado City. I felt like we had the best gym and facilities around at that time. After graduating from college, there were no openings here. I applied other places and was offered jobs but decided not to go. I stayed here and substitute taught and worked on my master's degree from Sul Ross through the extension courses offered at Western Texas College. Just after receiving that degree, there was an opening at Colorado Middle School. That's where it all started! For me, it was a dream come true. However, no athletic program in Middle School. Two years later (and new laws - Title 9) I was honored to start the Middle School program. For seven years, I coached volleyball, basketball, track, Jamborees, and FCA as well as teaching five classes of PE. (Wish I still had that much energy!!)"

"Who or what most influences your coaching style?" "Mamie Lou New, Carolyn Walker, Dwight Tombs, Bob Newman, and Christen Hall and my parents... these people all had confidence in me and helped me gain the self-esteem and confidence that I needed to become successful. They all expected 110% at all times and would not settle for less than your best. They had enough confidence, trust and guidance for me that I wanted to give that 110%. While some people at CHS tried to tell me that I wasn't college material and should not bother to go, these people believed in me. It's amazing what you can and will do when someone believes in you!

As a middle school coach, I always try to remember the patience my heroes had with me and I try always to have patience with my girls. I try to make them feel good about themselves, their talents and abilities. If I ever feel myself losing my temper or patience, I just remind myself of how many thousands times I have passed, set, spiked or served a volleyball and I've played on more softball teams than they are old!"

Ag commissioner's race tightens

Agriculture commissioner candidate L. P. "Pete" Patterson has a lot of ideas about improving Texas agriculture, and he suggests that the overpoliticalization of the ag commissioner's office has been a factor in putting the industry behind the eight ball.

The Brookston Democratic state representative wants to create a "Certified Texas" program of Texas-grown and processed foods that would be well above federal standards.

He would be much more deliberate and energetic with marketing and "pressure the federal government to level the playing field with international competitors who do not have the same growing and handling standards as Texas producers by requiring imports to meet higher standards."

Rep. Patterson, 63, longtime chairman of the House Agriculture Committee in Austin, said he was pleased that former Gov. Dolph Briscoe of Uvalde endorsed him on Oct. 15.

Gov. Briscoe praised him for reducing inheritance taxes and making it easier for young farmers and ranchers to buy land by passing the Young Farmers Program.

"In my opinion, you are one of the most highly respected and hardest working and most effective members of the Texas Legislature," Gov. Briscoe wrote.

In a Thursday telephone interview from Houston, Rep. Patterson said he expects to be strong in South Texas and his native East Texas.

"I believe everything is coming together now," he said.

"We've run a grassroots campaign, and I think that's the best kind. It will be a close race, but I really have an opportunity to win it."

Asked if he has any criticisms of the current ag commissioner, Republican Rick Perry, Patterson said the last commissioner to do a good job was Democrat John C. White 20 years ago.

"Most of the commissioners since the John C. White days have had their own way of doing things, their own agenda and their own purposes for being ag commissioner," he said.

"My own purpose is to support our producers where we can have a viable voice in the economy of the State of Texas.

"My goal is to make Texas agriculture No. 1 in the nation in sales, but you have to work at it. You cannot sit back and wish. You have to get up front and work to make things happen."

Patterson, who grows wheat, soybeans, hay and cattle on his land 10 miles west of Paris, said he has no statewide ambition other than to serve as ag commissioner.

The former Lamar County commissioner has been on the House ag committee since first being elected to the Legislature 22 years ago.

Patterson said Ms. Combs, a former state representative who grew up on a Brewster County ranch, will spend more than $1 million on her campaign while his will run less than $200,000.

"It is refreshing to know that an office like this can't be bought," he said.

"I am running on my own merits. If I can't be elected on what I have done and tried to do, then I don't need to be elected.

"This is what I want to do. There is no other office, including governor, that can have more influence on the future of our state than the commissioner of agriculture."

Rep. Patterson's campaign has emphasized the importance of bringing more young people into agriculture.

He particularly wants to make extensive use of the Young Farmers Program to guarantee bank loans of up to $100,000 to help young producers get started.

Patterson said that so far, the program has only backed a half-dozen loans.

"Most producers are my age," he said. "That's scary.

"We need to help farmers stay out there and hold onto the land and help young producers. If we don't, we won't have any farmers in 10 years.

"We'll have three or four corporations doing food and fiber for our state and nation."

Ms. Combs, who fell behind Patterson by 33 to 35 percent in the new Texas Poll last week, might have been hurt by the publication in statewide newspapers of excerpts from her 1990 romance novel, "A Perfect Match."

She reportedly made $6,000 in royalties from the paperback novel published by Meteor Publishing Corp.

Its main character is "Emily Brown, a crypt-analyst for the National Security Agency who lived a quiet, solitary life until the day she intercepted a message that put her life and the country's security in jeopardy.

"She falls in love with Ross Harding, an NSA spy assigned to protect her.

"Ross's arms tightened, cradling her against his lean body," Ms. Combs wrote. "She melted against him, all rational thought gone as she sank into his embrace.

"Warmth flooded her. The outside world disappeared, and she met him kiss for kiss, gasp for gasp, her hands threading through his dark hair as she gave herself up to the dark storm that threatened to engulf her."

That's one of the more conservative passages.

Rep. Patterson said he had no comment about the novel.

Among his proposals is to create 10,000 new jobs in agriculture and related industries over the next four years.

"Everybody talks about increasing value-added production, but I'm the one who established the programs in the legislature," he said.

"My opponent, by supporting the agency's current course of action, only pays lip service to expanded value-added products.

"I will seek out professional marketers to assist producers in developing marketing strategies commensurate with today's trade and economic conditions.

"While some ag commissioners rely on the marketing division to market themselves, I will assign a marketer to each farm commodity."

At Mitchell County Farm Service Agency

Cost share sign up continues

Sign up continues at the Mitchell County Farm Service Agency, to request cost share assistance, on such practices as livestock pipelines, water storage facilities, and tank clean outs.

Due to the drought conditions in Mitchell County, livestock producers are eligible to receive cost shares, to enable them to utilize grazing that could not be used due to the lack of livestock water. Also producers that have sold their livestock but plan to buy back livestock may apply to have the tanks on there pasture land cleaned out.

For more information or an appointment please call 915-728-2651 or come by the Mitchell County Farm Service Agency Office in the G-Kell Building.

CRP sign up now underway

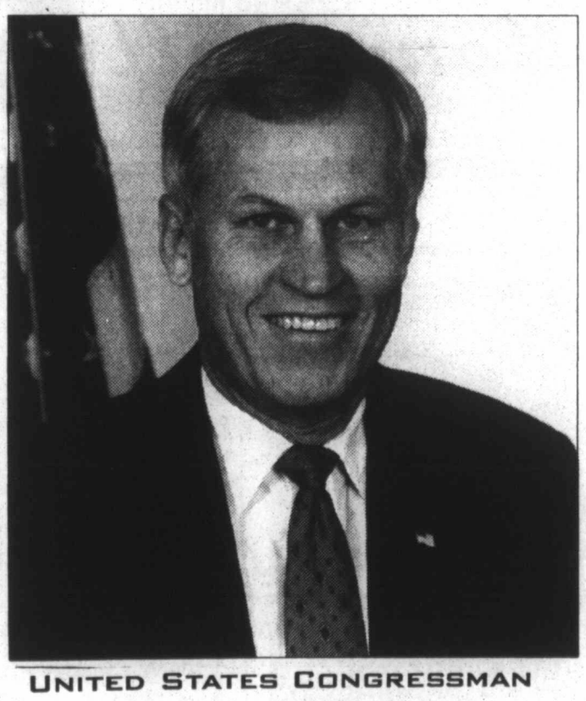

The Mitchell County Farm Service Agency is currently accepting signup from persons interested in offering land to be enrolled in the Conservation Reserve Program and continues through December 11, 1998.

To be eligible to bid the land must be owned for one year prior to the close of the 18th CRP signup. The offered land must be highly erodible, have been planted to or considered planted to an agriculture commodity two of the last five years.

As with the two prior signups Environmental Benefit Index points will be assigned to each bid offer.

Please call 915-728-2651 for an appointment.

CHARLIE STENHOLM & ROB JUNELL DESERVE OUR VOTE!

UNITED STATES CONGRESSMAN
CHARLIE STENHOLM

A proven leader in Washington - A proven leader for Mitchell County... Whether the issue is rural health care, agriculture or small business, this conservative Democrat has clearly represented our interests in an effective bi-partisan manner. Stenholm has been endorsed by the Texas Farm Bureau, Abilene Reporter-News, Colorado City Record and several other organizations. As a former teacher, Stenholm knows how tough it is to educate our children. As our representative in Congress, Charlie will work hard to help provide the tools and resources parents and teachers need to give our children the best education possible. Let's send Charlie back to Washington.

STATE REPRESENTATIVE
ROB JUNELL

We need people in the legislature who know what farming and ranching and brush control are about. People who know about education in rural areas, know about job creation in communities with populations under 100,000 - people who share the values of West Texans and are able to work effectively to preserve those values. With Rob's leadership and direction, over 750 jobs have been created in Mitchell County the past four years with the location of TDCJ's two prison units here. Monday, he annouced the construction of at least 16 cottages at Lake Colorado City State Park. Mitchell County needs Rob Junell's leadership and influence in Austin.

By Bessie Ann Vaughn

Greetings. Speaking of Daylight Savings time... A little "older" lady was talking with her daughter on the phone. She told her daughter she did what Dan Rather told her to do because he was from Texas and she trusted him."

What did he say do Mother?

To turn back my clock one hour at 2 am Sunday morning. I stayed awake until 2 am then ran it back."

You didn't have to wait until 2 am Mother, "I know but Dan is from Texas, I trust him."

Well your pastor told you the same thing.

"Well, what does he know besides syrup, he's from Vermont."

•••••

Long time Loraine resident Amy McKee, has recently moved to Atlanta, Texas. She will be near her son and grandchildren which will be great for everyone. We wish Amy well.

Her is an address to drop her a line: 110 Hickory #1, Atlanta, TX 75551.

This past weekend her nephew, Brandon Bankhead of Champion Community was wed to Karry Nachlanger of Snyder.

Brandon is the son of Lisa's sister Debbie Bankhead.

Charles and Mary Rose Bowen found beauty and interesting animal species to watch and even some to "watch out" for during the long dry spell.

Two baby rattlesnakes, a very young Coach Whip snake and a baby King snake seemed to have been abandoned, all looking for food and water.

A huge racoon ate the cat's food often and Charles surprised both himself and a fox who was drinking at a small bird bath.

Another source of enjoyment were butterflies, several kinds, including the Monarches. The humming bird feeders attracted the butterflies.

•••••

While in Abilene last weekend for Danny's college homecoming activities, Danny and Pam Butler had a nice visit with their children, Krystal Butler and Paul and Dawn Kropp, when they took them out to dine.

•••••

Danny and Pam Butler attended Danny's college homecoming last Friday night, the class of 1973 at H.S.U.

Following the program "The Sing", a musical was enjoyed. Also viewing the queen's coronation and congregating at the gathering place.

While attending the H.S.U. football game (H.S.U. won), the Butler's were pleased to see David and Jackie Smith.

•••••

Attending First Baptist church last Sunday were Charles and Marie Reeder. They were enroute to Roscoe from Big Spring and wanted to attend church in Loraine.

•••••

Billie Schroeder has just returned from Hyannis, Mass. and Cape Cod.

While there she visited the islands of Nantucket and Martha's Vineyard. She also watched the Humpback Whales, and saw the Pilgram's Village as it was erected in 1620, which was very interesting.

The tour group also toured a replica of the Mayflower.

On their trip to New England, they visited Bedford Rhode Island where Ocean Spray headquarters are located. While there, they saw several Cranberry bogs.

•••••

Last Wednesday, October 21 at the Senior Center, we enjoyed listening to Aubrey Wilson's western band.

On the 19th, we heard a program on telephone scams. Taking part in the program were Tommy Wright, Nell Doyle, Charles Dunn, and Juanice Butler.

•••••

Attending their 30 year school homecoming anniversary, last weekend were Irene Chavez, Mary Lujan Costabile, Mary Helen Lujan Gomez, Cecilia Lujan Munoz, Roland Graham, Danny Butler, and Gale Troutt. Also Jesse Munoz, Colorado City and Pete Castro, Colorado City.

On Friday night, the group had an evening meal at the former Villa, and following the program on Saturday. The group met at the home of Ceceilia Lujan Munoz and her husband, John.

•••••

We send condolences to the family and friends of Autavee Claxton. He was a long time resident of Mitchell County.

TALL

"Texas Tales"

A rich Texan walked into a store and kicked a small object.

Looking down he saw it was a money clip containing several one hundred dollar bills.

"This is great," he said, happily throwing the money away, "I've never had a money clip."

•••••

A Texan tells the story about a man who died and went to heaven where he was startled to see four men in chains.

"Men in chains in heaven?" he shouted.

"Oh, we had to chain them" an angel said, "they were dying to get back to Texas."

•••••

Take care and see you about town.
