GOOD MORNING—The joy of being prosperous in good times cannot compare with the satisfaction of emerging from a gloomy depression into the light.

WILL DISCUSS PANHANDLE PRORATION AT STATE HEARING

RAISE IN OIL PRICES GIVES NEW OPTIMISM

STILL HIGHER CRUDE SCHEDULE LOOKED FOR HERE SOON

CURB MAY BE LIFTED

COMMISSION WILL SET DATE OF HEARING IN FEW DAYS

Optimism such as the Panhandle oil fraternity had not exhibited in many months was apparent yesterday following the 28-cent raise in the price of crude oil, made by the Texas company Friday and followed by the Humble Oil & Refining Co., Saturday.

The substantial increase was regarded as the turning point in the local industry. There were predictions of a still better price should the East Texas field be held to 300,000 barrels daily production. Increased runs to local refineries were expected in answer ot demands. The Gray county field has an outlet for about 60,000 barrels under present conditions. Many producers refused to sell their oil in the last two months because of low prices.

Some oil men believed that should the Panhandle refrain from a drilling splurge, proration would be lifted by the railroad commission under the new law. There is no actual proration now in law, although the local office is maintaining voluntary proration pending outcome of the hearing Tuesday on the new law. Should the Panhandle drilling this fall buid up a larger potential, curtailment probably would be attempted by the state department. It is expected that present Panhandle wells will be allowed to flow at full capacity, cleaned out and deepened. The state may place an inspector in this field to watch the gas ratio as defined in the bill passed by the special session of the legis-lature.

Hearing Is Expected

Whether proration will be continued in the Panhandle depends upon a hearing to be held here during the early part of September. No date has been set yet, but it is believed here that the hearing will be held about Sept. 10. The railroad commission is due to announce the date for the hearing early in this week.

Two old producers were successfully deepened during the last week. Danciger-Shell's No. 2 Shaw on the LeFors townsite was drilled from the old total depth of 2,712 to 2,781, and had an increase in production from 30 barrels to 430 barrels daily, with the yield steadily increasing. It was shot with 20 quarts from 2,672 to 2,682, and made 220 barrels the first 24 hours.

Scouts Having Glorious Time

CAMP BRABHAM, Red River, N. M., Aug. 22. (Special)—Troop 15 of Pampa, of which John I. Bradley is scoutmaster, took first place in a nature study contest at the Boy Scout camp here this week.

Pampa Scouts also organized a baseball team and defeated Borger's aggregation Wednesday. Pampa's boys are certainly having a wonderful time. The high, cool altitude has given them a remarkable appetite for the excellent food. Organizations sponsoring the Pampa troops should see the boys now.

The Scouts left home Monday, and arrived at Clayton, N. M., in time for lunch. On arrival at Mt. Capulin at 3 o'clock, the lads were taken to the top to view an extinct volcano. The night was spent at Raton, N. M., where the chamber of commerce arranged a free swim.

Up at 5 a. m., the caravan after breakfast went on to Cimarron canyon, where it seemed that the water ran uphill and the cars would hardly pull "downhill." Lunch was at Eagle Nest dam, then the high climb to Red river was begun. Most of the boys demanded frequent stops to admire the scenery. At the bottom of the pass, the boys took a mountain trail and hiked to the permanent camping grounds, arriving at 4 o'clock in a mountain shower.

The caravan was comprised of 112 boys and 20 adults, carried in three buses, five trucks, and 15 passenger cars. Those at the camp are: Troop 1, Panhandle, Martin T. Pope, acting scoutmaster, 6 scouts; troop 3, Pampa, A. J. Erwin scoutmaster, 6 scouts; troop 7, Borger, John Walker Jr., acting scoutmaster, 8 scouts; troop 15, Pampa, John I. Bradley, scoutmaster, 11 scouts; troop 10, Borger, Kenneth Dally scoutmaster, 5 scouts; troop 16, J. A. AMERICAN NAVY HELPS SUFFERING PEOPLE IN FLOOD AREA

HANKOW, Aug. 22. (AP)—An appalling picture of a human misery and death confronted the American Asiatic fleet as it mobilized today to lend all possible assistance to the flood-stricken cities of Hankow, Wuchang and Hanyang, submerged by the swollen Yangtse river.

Acting on orders from the navy department at Washington, the various units of the fleet, some already here, prepared to give what aid they could to the hundreds of thousands of homeless natives.

A survey revealed that no Americans were in immediate need of aswomen had fled to the mountains womenh ad fled to the mountains but many American business men remained to carry on.

The Yangtse, which already has engulfed a rich and populous territory of thousands of square miles, continued to rise and reached the level here of 53 feet, 5 inches.

The food situation was growing desperate, with little on sale at the markets and little done to feed the multitudes of hungry. It was estimated that less than three weeks' supply of foodstuffs was available in the tri-cities.

Perched on housetops under the blazing sun, with sometimes a rag of cloth rigged up as protection from the burning rays, thousands of the natives refused to be rescued. They clung to the superstitious belief that Hankow is doomed and refused either to be helped or to help themselves.

ISLANDS CHEER LINDBERGHS

SHANA, Iturup Island, Japan, Aug. 22. (AP) — This fishing village staged a whole-hearted impromptu celebration tonight over the unexpected arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, forced down here by fog while seeking to fly to Hokkaido island, en route to Tokyo.

The villagers, among whom news of the coming of the fliers seemed to spread instantaneously, rushed to the shores of the lake where the plane alighted, seeking a glimpse of the distinguished visitors.

With the plane safely anchored, Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh were escorted to an old Buddhist temple and a few minutes later to the town hall, where the villagers held a reception with all the traditional formality of their race.

The Lindberghs smilingly listened to a translation in broken English of the radio broadcast from Tokyo of news about themselves.

Joe Mitchell was acquitted of a charge of swindling in county court this morning by a jury. He was charged in connection with the writing of a check on a local bank.

TERRACING AT SCHOOL HOUSE

CONSERVATION TALKS TO BE GIVEN BY MR. BENTLEY

A lecture on terracing, illustrated by stereopticon views, will be given Monday afternoon at Laketon school house by M. R. Bentley, extension agricultural engineer, County Agent Ralph R. Thomas announced yesterday.

Mr. Bentley will be accompanied by A. K. Short of the Federal Land bank, who will talk to the farmers on and conservation.

One hundred circular letters have been sent to farmers of the Laketon territory, and to Roberts county farmers. A large crowd is expected. The event has been widely advertised at Miami through C. E. Bairfield, vocational agriculture teacher.

Explanatory announcements of the Gray county fair and the wheat show to be held in connection with the fair will be given by Geo. W. Briggs, C. H. Walker, chairman of the fari committees, and Miss Myrtle Miller, home demonstration agent. Mr. Thomas will introduce the speakers.

Tuesday, beginning at 9 a. m., Mr. Bentley and Mr. Short will assist the county agent in conducting a terracing demonstration at the farm of Wheeler Paris, three miles west of Laketon on the Mobeetie highway Terrace lines will be run and model terraces built. County road machinery will be available on that day to build terraces through the courtesy of Commissioner John R. White. Men and boys attending the demonstration will have an opportunity of learning how to use the terracing level.

GOVERNOR SEEKS OPINIONS ON COTTON ACREAGE REGULATION

AUSTIN, Aug. 22. (AP)—Governor Ross S. Sterling today asked Texas cotton farmers and legislators to give him quick expressions of their views on a special session of the legislature to curb cotton production.

The governor's statement follows:

"To the members of the legislature and our cotton growers:

"At a meeting held in New Orleans yesterday called by Governor Huey P. Long of Louisiana, which was attended by governors and representatives of governors from nearly all of the cotton states, it was practically unanimously decided to call on the legislatures of the different states to enact a law prohibiting the growing of cotton for the year 1932.

"As governor of Texas, I would like an expression from the cotton farmers of Texas as to whether they would favor a called session of the legislature to enact such a law. If you are not in favor of the resolution that was passed preventing the planting of any cotton whatever in the year 1932, would you favor a law reducing the cotton acreage one-half or one-third? I am asking these questions through the press of the state in order to get quick response.

"I would also appreciate a frank statement from each member of the legislature as to whether they would favor such legislation, having in mind the fact that the legislature recently declined to pass a law to regulate the cotton acreage, though since that time there has been a great reduction in the price of cotton which has caused great confusion and unrest in the minds of our cotton farmers."

LOCAL LABOR WILL BE USED ON RAIL LINES

RIGHT-OFWAY PARTLY BOUGHT IN SOUTH GRAY COUNTY

READY AT WELLINGTON

CAMP IS ESTABLISHED NEAR M'LEAN FOR RAIL WORKERS

Actual construction of the Fort Worth & Denver railroad from Childress to Pampa is due to begin here this week. Grading of the line between Pampa and LeFors is expected to get underway.

Three large Caterpillar tractors to be used in dirt work arrived here yesterday from Florida. Constuction camps have already been established at LeFors, near McLean and at other points down the line. It is planned to locate a camp between Pampa and LeFors.

H. H. Durston, executive general agent, will be back in Pampa tomorrow to asists the local committee in purchasing right-of-way. The committee has enough right-of-way in the rough country between here and LeFors to keep a construction gang busy for a month or two.

All labor to be used will be hired through Mrr. W. H. Davis of the local Welfare Board. Mrs. Davis, last week, took the applications of approximately 300 men for work on the railroad. Transients will not be given employment on the line. Workmen are warned not to come to Pampa for labor on the line. A number of men here now that are classed as transients have been told that they cannot expect to obtain employment until all local men have been hired.

Mr. Durston and other Denver officials will select local engineering headquarters here this week. I. J. Leahy, resident engineer, will superintend engineering parties in this territory.

WELLINGTON, Aug. 22. (Special) Workmen intending to come to Wellington for employment on the Fort Worth & Denver Northern railroad are being warned by the chamber of commerce that home men will do all this work.

The big project will get under way here in a few days. The contract as awarded calls for completion within 10 months of grading and bridging on the 102-mile route from the Red river north of Childress through Wellington and Shamrock to Pampa.

Oran Speer, of Alvord has the contract for grading between Red river and Childress, where work was started last year but delayed pending outcome of the hearings before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

SHAMROCK, Aug. 22. (Special) Shamrock received first tangible benefits from the Fort Worth & Denver Northern railroad project in the last week when engineers placed orders for supplies with local merchants. A camp has been estab-

CRUDE PRICES GOING HIGHER

MIDCONTINENT BUYERS MEET STANDARDS SET BY TEXAS

DALLAS, Aug. 22. (AP)—Crude oil prices continued to advance today in the mid-continent area as 10 purchasing companies posted schedules ranging upward to 70 cents a barrel. The increases varied from 10 to 43 cents a barrel.

The Magnolia Petroleum company set a price of 68 cents a barrel in the East Texas district, an increase of 43 cents. Central Texas crude, coming from the Mexia, Wortham, Corsicana, Panola and Lytton districts, was listed at 64 cents, an increase of 24 cents.

Magnolia offered 58 cents for Gray county crude, an increase of 28 cents. Carson and Hutchinson oils were listed at 51 cents, an increase of 25 cents.

West Texas crude, coming from the Winkler, Crane, Upton, Howard, Glasscock and Mitchell districts, was posted at 35 cents, an increase of 10 cents.

Magnolia postings on Burkburnett, Archer, Stephens, Henrietta, Electra, Comanche and Olden field oil rose to 68 cents, an increase of 28 cents.

Mirando oil was listed at 60 cents, an increase of 16 cents. Darst creek was priced by Magnolia at 52 cents, an increase of 15 cents. Luling and Corsicana heavy were listed at 34 cents, an increase of 12 cents.

Crude oil from the Cushing, Yale, Oklahoma City, Morrison, Wewoka and Seminole districts of Oklahoma was posted at 68 cents, an increase of 28 cents.

Cement, Duncan and Walter district oil was priced at 60 cents, an increase of 28 cents. Hewitt and Graham oil was priced at 52 cents, an increase of 24 cents. Healdton crude was listed by Magnolia at 37 cents, an increase of 12 cents.

Stanolind Crude Oil Purchasing company, Carter Oil company and the Empire Oil and Gas company met the 70 cent offer posted by the Texas company yesterday. The H. F.

Joe Vincent, president of the Pampa Rifle club, announced his resignation last night to tage effect immediately. He gave no reason for publication.

Groceries Are Needed; Squad Drilling Hard

MANY ATTEND OPENING FOR NEW BUILDING

VISITORS' DAYS DRAWS LARGE ATTENDANCE HERE SATURDAY

Hundreds of people from all parts of this territory inspected the new Combs-Worley office building during its formal opening yesterday. John R. Roby, building manager, who welcomed the visitors in his office, said he was well pleased with the number that went through the building.

Pampa's largest office structure was built by Mrs. Phoebe Worley and Mr. A. B. Combs, pioneer residents of this section.

The opening of the building to visitors and the observance of Visitor's Day in Pampa drew hundreds here yesterday. The streets were crowded and traffic was congested in the downtown section.

Many of the merchants offered real bargains for the visitors, and some received wheat in exchange for merchandise. Theaters admitted farmers for a bushel of wheat. The NEWS-POST took wheat for subscriptions.

A band concert was given at the Combs-Worley building at 4 o'clock.

The scheduled auctions and terrapin race were called off for lack of interest. A number of visiting farmers said they had no difficulty disposing of their produce without an auction.

Last night, a football rally was held by the girl's pep squad of the high school during the grocery shower for the Harvester team. The grocery shower was given to enable the gridsters to stay at the training camp on the Mel Davis ranch ten days. On Friday afternoon the Lions-Rotarian baseball game netted $55 toward the training camp fund.

Another big day for Pampa and Gray county will be the Fort Worth & Denver Northern railroad celebration September 12. The celebration as first set for yesterday but was postponed because of a railroad meeting at Fort Worth yesterday. It will be on the last day of the Gray county free fair.

Representatives from all cities along the route of the railroad will be here. State Senator Clint Small will be the main speaker during the event. A banquet will be given the visiting rail groups by the chamber of commerce that night.

Pampa Harvesters, tired and hungry as harvest hands, heard with interest that more food was on the way as the result of the shower last night.

It will require considerably more food than is in sight, however, to feed the 48 huskies during this week. The need Irish and sweet potatoes, tomatoes, beans, peas, and similar substantial "groub."

Last night they were almost silent at times as they fell to at the supper table. They are not the rampaging young rascals who started the camp so eagerly. They gingerly rub sore muscles and talked football in its more serious aspects. The coaches have been driving them hard.

Some of the reserves of last year are going to make it tough on the so-called regulars. The prospect of having probably half a new 11 gives Coach Mitchell the problem of working with a rather green outfit. Last year's aggregation had played together for three years—some more—and had used the same plays. This fact eplains why the team was at near mid-season form before the schedule was one-fourth played. But this year it is different. The coaches are forced to teach the veriest fundamentals to more than a score of the athletes.

GASOLINE AND CIGARETS UP

PAMPANS PAYING MORE FOR BOTH ARTICLES SINCE SATURDAY

For those Pampans who smoke cigarets and buy gasoline, the cost of living mounuted higher yesterday morning.

Simultaneous with the commencement of the three-cent tax on cigarets, raising the retail price of a pack to 20c, Continental Oil company of Texas announced a two-cent boost in the retail price of gasoline. Other companies were awaiting orders from headquarters to put the increase into effect. Most local filling stations expect to begin selling gas at 14c, the new rate today.

Cigaret dealers did not get off to a good start. It was near night yesterday before all retail dealers were stocked with stamped cigarets. As had been predicted and expected, dalers were having a hard time getting the stamps to stick of the cellophane in which Camels are wrapped.

The new tax was met with a resentment that was rather resigned and stoical. Few approved of it. One does not like to pay 20c for cigaets when he has been buying them all his life for 15c a pack. So it was not surprising that many swore off. It may be a matter of temperament and may not last long, but for the time being, many smokers have abandoned "Lady Nicotine." Others have in mind to evade the tax by learning to smoke a pipe, roll their own. Yesterday, drug stores sold a number of new-fnagled contraptions called cigaret rollers; all you have to do is lick the paper, pour in tobacco and turn a crank and you have a well-packed cigaret; that is if you like ready-made cigarets.

CLARENDON MAN FATALLY SHOT

AMARILLO, Aug. 22. (AP) — B. O. Stanley, 36, of Clarendon was fatally shot here tonight. He died in an ambulance on the way to a hospital, a bullet in his head.

The shooting occurred on the porch of the residence of John F. Williams, where Stanley's estranged wife had been employed as housekeeper for a week.

Stanley came from Clarendon this afternoon, bringing his five children and taking them to the home of his mother, Mrs. G. W. Stanley, before visiting his wife.

Mrs. Stanley told police her husband threatened her and Williams. Six persons were present when the shooting occurred.

Police tonight said they were holding a man for questioning. No charges had been filed.

WORKER FALLS SEVENTY FEET OFF RIG TOP

JOHN HARRISON DIES FOLLOWING DROP OFF DERRICK

BODY BROUGHT HOME

FUNERAL SERVICE IS NOT COMPLETED LAST NIGHT

John Harrison, 33, Pampa rig builder, fell 70 feet to his death at 2:10 o'clock yesterday afternoon while working on a derrick 12 miles south of Dumas, in Moore county.

Harrison, who is an employe of Paul Kasishke, rig contractor, was tearing down the rig on the J. E. Jester No. 1 Texas company lease near Dumas when the accident happened.

He was at the top of the rig and witneses said he leaned against an unbolted brace, slipped, and fell to the rig floor. Several bones were broken and his head was injured.

The man was given emergency treatment by a doctor from Dumas but he died about 4 o'clock. A Stephenson ambulance was called and it returned the body to Pampa last night.

No arrangements for the funeral had been made last night, according to the Stephenson funeral home. He is survived by a widow, a brother and a father.

PHILLIPS SELLS LINE INTERESTS

BARTLESVILLE, Okla., Aug. 22. (AP)—Frank hillips, president of the Phillips Petroleum corporation, today confirmed sale of that corporation's interest in the $100,000,000 natural gas pipeline from the Texas Panhandle to Chicago to other joint owners of the project.

He did not reveal the stipulation but said the sales was "to other members of the group on a very satisfactory basis, together with gas rights on a substantial amount of gas acreage in the Panhandle."

First gas reached Chicago Thursday and the pipeline was expected to be in regular operation early next week. Other owners are Cities Service, the Insoll interests, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Texas company, Skelly oil, Southwestern Development and Columbia Carbon.

Thomas Returned To Hospital Here

Chas. L. Thomas was returned to Pampa hospital yesterday morning after pleurisy dqeveloped in the right side of the chest. Mr. Thomas suffered from pleurisy in the left side before he was removed from the hospital a week ago. He underwent an operation for appendicitis five weeks ago.

Dr. A. Cole, his physician, said that he was better yesterday afternoon than he was yesterday morning. The pleurisy began to develop Friday. While his condition has hospital attendants a little worried, it is believed he will be improved in a few days.

On his way to a cemetery to dig a grave, William Joiner, 55 years old, was killed near West Plains, Mo., when his automobile went into a ditch and overturned.

Judge W. R. Ewing of the 31st judicial district was a Pampa visitor yesterday. Court will continue in session at Wheeler for two weeks longer. The judge will open a 12-week term here, Sept. 21.

Testimony In Case Continues Monday

Testimony in the $10,000 damage suit filed by H. E. Stephens against Dr. W. F. Nicholas was heard in 114th district court yesterday.

Witnessed called to the stand included Mr. Stephens, Dr. Vineyard and Dr. R. P. Parcells of Amarillo, also Dr. Earl Thomason of Pampa and relatives of the plaintiff.

Mr. Stephens alleged that through negligence of the dentist in extracting a tooth he suffered partial loss of hearing in the right ear, and of sight in the right eye. The case will be continued Monday. W. M. Lewright is attorney for the plaintiff, and Stone & Guleke of Amarillo, assisted by Chas. C. Cook of Pampa for the defendant.

CITY PREPARING TO SEND ITS CHILDREN BACK TO SCHOOL

Many Women Cooperate in Giving Small Parties for Friends or Neighbors Throughout Week

KEEN INTEREST IS SHOWN IN GATHERINGS HELD FOR BENEFIT OF LIBRARY FUND

INFORMALITY OF THE EVENTS GIVES ADDED PLEASURE ON SUMMER AFTERNOONS; DIVERSIONS ARE VARIED

Chains of parties—new experiments in Pampa's entertaining—are proving widely popular here. The undertaking was begun the first of last week by a number of women and now, as the parties are increasing daily in number, women in practically every club and neighborhood in the city are stepping into the roles of hostesses.

Considerable financial assistance to the Pampa library is resulting from the parties, since each guest is required to contribute 25 cents for this purpose.

Mrs. James Todd Jr., librarian, is asking that each hostess, after she has entertained, place the money in a box that is provided at the library. Names of the hostess and the guests are to be included.

The informality of the events adds much to their interest these summer afternoons. Diversions are varied. Bridge and sewing seem to be the most popular, although Mrs. L. N. McCullough gave a covered dish luncheon, and Mrs. P. C. Ledrick is to give a small dinner on Monday.

Sewing Is Diversion

FEMININE FANCIES

By Hollyce Sellers Hinkle

The Pampa library is a monument to the cultural efforts of local women. Through their efforts the library has been maintained as a service to the entire city and through their efforts it is going to be able to meet a crisis successfully.

* * * *

Last week the library was faced with the problem of either raising some quick money or closing until the first of the year, at which time it will be supported by taxation. A part of the librarian's salary for July was still unpaid and $75 was still due at the bank.

* * * *

Then Pampa hostesses were called upon to assist. And what a response! No one entertainment would have been sufficient to raise the amount needed—$300 to $400—to maintain the library until January. So the women agreed to give an endless chain of very small parties. A number of women entertained about four guests. These guests then acted as hostesses to about four other women, and thus the process is continuing. A charge of 25 cents is assessed each guest, and it is hoped that the chain will not be broken until sufficient money is raised to maintain the library until January.

* * * *

The less trouble and expense connected with these little gatherings, the better. Just invite two couples to play bridge, or have your neighbors over for an afternoon of sewing, and the trick is done.

Two hostesses, entertaining together the other afternoon, made their own appointments and termed the gathering their "poverty party" in order that all money might be given to the library.

To Coca Cola and the Nehi Bottling companies have offered to furnish drinks for any of the events given for the benefit of the library.

* * * *

"We are not asking for donations—although they would be acceptable," said Mrs. B. E. Finley, president of the library association.

Cooperation of the women in entertaining is all that is needed to put the undertaking over.

* * * *

Small parties are going to continue anyway. Why not use them to help out the library?

* * * *

The series has had a good beginning, but it must have a good ending if success is reached.

* * * *

We have heard considerable complaint about married women in the teaching profession. Yet a paper published by summer students at the teachers' college, Columbia university, according to an A.P. report finds that married women usually are superior teachers. It says that a woman "who likes teaching well enough to remain in the profession when she no longer is compelled to do so for a means of support will better qualified than girls who are in the work only to spend the time until marriage".

The statement is "more truth poetry" and can be applied to any business or profession.

* * * *

Girl students who smoke at home with the consent of their parents are to be permitted to smoke at Salem college," according to the A.P. The college, located at Winston Salem, N. C., is one of the largest colleges in the south.

* * * *

It is surprising to read the above item—didn't think that would be news. Are there still colleges which forbid the girls to smoke yet permit the men to do it?

* * * *

This writer is not advocating smoking, but is advocating that regulations for men and women students be more uniform.

Smoking is undoubtedly harmful for women, but it is also harmful for men.

* * * *

Cigaret-smoking at Simmons university, Alma Mater of this columnist, is forbidden both for men and for women. If the rule were for women only we doubt whether it could be enforced.

When restrictions are placed on co-eds that are not placed on their brothers, the girls must be given a mighty good reason why

EVENING JEWELS NOW GENUINE

Costume jewelry no longer finds favor in Paris, where the new evening rule is to wear real diamonds and rubies—as many as you have.

By DIANA MERWIN
(Associated Press Fashion Editor)

PARIS, France, Aug. 21. (AP)—Costume jewelry has sung its swansong for evening wear.

Glittering strands of gilded, silvered, crystallized beads, looped in fantastic designs, are no longer the smart accompaniments for formal evening gowns. Whatever glitters now o'nights is (or should be) real platinum, diamonds or rubies, the style experts say.

Bracelets are back in favor as the smartest jewelled bauble. The answer to "How many to wear?" is "Just as many as you own."

Earrings are less worn than last seasos except by the woman whose type of beauty is particularly enhanced by them. Those for evening are generally long and dangling.

The strand necklace is giving way to the pendant design or elaborate choker which falls just below the collar bone. Patterns are complicated affairs.

Links of cut diamonds hold a pendant centered by a huge blue or yellow diamond, and chains made of emerald leaves and baguette diamonds or carbochon rubies and cut diamonds suspend baskets of emerald leaves or ruby flowers.

The women who cannot afford ornaments of such magnicicence will find the answer to her evening jewel problem in paste, designed along classic lines.

AFTER INSTITUTE IN CANYON TEACHERS WILL BE HERE TO ENROLL PUPILS ON SEPT 8

GOOD YEAR IS EXPECTED BY BOTH CITY AND COUNTY; GENERAL FACULTY MEETING WILL PRECEDE REGISTRATION

The back-to-school movement in Pampa, which will start Sept. 8, is expected to be dominated by a more serious purposefulness than ever before. General economic conditions over the country have served to emphasize the value of educational training, and absence of opportunity for children to be gainfully employed will make the nation's school attendance steady.

Pampa Independent school district teachers will attend the consolidated institute at West Texas Teachers college, Canyon, on September 3, 4, and 5. They will spend Sunday getting settled in their boarding places, then on Monday at 9 o'clock will attend a general faculty meeting at Central high school. The first faculty meeting, however, will be at Canyon at 11 o'clock September 3 in connection with the institute.

Enrollment September 8

Enrolling of pupils will begin September 8, Tuesday morning, at 9 o'clock. The grade schools are expected to complete the process in one day, but the high school, working under a registration schedule to be announced later, will require more time. No transfers of pupils between wards take place until enrollment day. No children who became 6 years of age after September 1 will be admitted under a state ruling.

The class schedule will begin at 8:45 a. m. as it did last year. A faculty of about 105 members will have charge of instruction. Last year the teachers totaled 121, but the economy program of this term will leave the number at about the sum of those who decided to stay with the system. Very few new teachers will be employed.

The enrollment is an unknown quantity. However, Central high school will be bolstered by an unusually large freshman class and will probably remain on a par with last year. The grade school enrollment may drop somewhat, although real estate men say residences are in demand and the population is surprisingly steady. Accelerated oil development, with highway and railroad construction, will probably offset other population changes.

Plan Full Term

Trustees and school officials are planning a full nine-month term. They point out that taxpayers have been careful to pay their school obligations, and that the same spirit next year will enable the school to be of the usual length. The system has All-Southern affiliation and is ranked with the best schools in the state.

Miss Bess Killough, school health supervisor, has resigned to join the state health department of Oklahoma. The program she inaugurated will be carried on by teachers unless the need for a school nurse arises.

Interest in the approaching school term is already at a high point of interest because of the football training camp near LeFors, where more than fifty boys are practicing twice daily under the direction of Coach Odus Mitchell and his assistants, Fox, Workman, and Morrow.

County Is Ready

County Superintendent John B. Hessey has just completed a survey of his schools, noting completion of all repairs, oiling of floors, and installing of new equipment. His teachers will meet together for the first time September 3 at the Canyon institute at 11 o'clock. They will enroll the pupils and have opening exercises on September 7.

Supt. Hessey expects a good year. Ninety per cent of his 65 teachers are those retained from last year. Salaries will be the same as last term. Enrollments will be steady or increased in the agricultural districts and slightly decreased in the oil areas. It is practically certain that all schools will last eight months, and several will be of nine-month duration. Mr. Hessey is working toward his goal of nine months for every county school, but may not quite reach it this year.

Good Reputation

Gray county schools have been raised steadily in quality in recent years. Every vacancy in the faculty is sought by teachers in the form of hundreds of applications. The county is regarded as a pleasant place in which to teach, both from the standpoint of salary and supervision.

One county school — Eldridge — opened early this month. It will continue two months, close one month during the cotton picking season, then end at the same time as the other county schools.

DRINKS FURNISHED

Dr. Pepper Bottling company furnished drinks for two parties given last week for the benefit of the Pampa library.

The Rainbow Girls have disbanded for the remainder of the summer. Their next meeting will be held on the second Tuesday in September.

LeFors people have been urged to take basket lunches of general size, since nearly a hundred visitors are expected. Miss Hattie Mae Wood of Amarillo will give a report in the afternoon on her recent trip to the international convention at San Francisco.

Revival services will begin Sunday night at the Community church. Services will be in charge of the Rev. J. T. Merrow of LeFors and Rev. Bessire of Canyon. There will be special music each night.

Mrs. Stowell Is To Be Hostess To Christian Group

Mrs. C. W. Stowell will be hostess to division 7 of the First Christian Woman's Missionary council Monday evening in the home of her sister, Mrs. Ivy Duncan.

A play under the direction of Mrs. James Todd Jr. will be given by Mrs. Nsida Lewter, Mrs. Lillian McNutt, and Mrs. John Beverly.

Other numbers on the program will include a duet by Retha and Macie Lester, a piano solo by Mrs. Ramon Wilson, and a talk on the passion play by Mrs. H. H. Hicks. A reading also will be given.

Neelys To Leave Soon For Denver

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Neely will leave the first of the week for Denver, where their son, Dock, who is visiting in Manitou, will enter school.

The Neelys have been in Pampa for the last year and have praised the city highly.

COURSES TO BE GIVEN HERE BY INSTRUCTORS OF CANYON

TEACHERS AND OTHERS INTERESTED MAY ATTEND

Special to The Pampa News-Post

CANYON, Aug. 22. — Pampa teachers will have an opportunity to attend one or more classes conducted by members of the faculty of the West Texas State Teachers college during the coming year.

Dean R. P. Jarrett states that if there is demand for it a course will be offered which will give either graduate or under-graduate credit to those who take it. As many as nine hours of work done in etension classes taught by teachers of the West Texas State Teachers college may be counted on the Masters degree which the college offers. There are many teachers in Pampa who already have their B.A. degrees who will welcome this opportunity to increase their professional training.

Last year Dr. Harris M. Cook conducted a successful class in Pampa.

Extension classes are open to townspeople who are not teachers as well as to teachers. There is a special rate for persons who wish to take the courses for their cultural value but are not interested in college credit for the study which they do. In discussing the offering for this fall with a Pampa teacher at Canyon, it was suggested that teachers and others in Pampa who wish to take etension class work communicate with the bureau of public service at the West Texas State Teachers college and that plans will be made to meet the desires of prospective students.

YANKS BREAK TIE TO BEAT BROWN SQUAD

ST. LOUIS HALVES TILT IN NINTH; FAILS TO KEEP STRIDE

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 22. (AP)—The New York Yankees had a long, hard struggle today before they made it three out of four in their series with the Browns by winning the final game 8 to 6. Lyn Lary's double in the eleventh decided the issue, bringing home Ruth and Gehrig, who had drawn a walk and a single.

TWENTY GRAND WINS ANOTHER LARGE PURSE

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 22. (AP)—The silks of the Whitney clan flew high at beautiful Saratoga today as Mrs. Payne Whitney's Twenty Grand scored a galloping victory in the ancient Travers and C. V. Whitney's top flight again asserted her claim to the two-year-old championship.

Twenty Grand, making her first start since being dethroned as the three-year-old titleholder by Mate in the Arlington classic, completely outclassed four capable rivals in earning $33,000 and boosting his total learnings to $211,575.

St. Brideaux, a stablemate of Twenty Grand, finished second. St. Brideaux was a length and a half back of his illustrious stablemate but easily was the best of the remainder of the field, finishing four lengths in front of Mrs. Katherine E. Hitt's Sur Meadow.

Linus (Pony) McAtee sent the big bay son of St. Germans over the mile and a quarter in the fairly good time of 2:04 3-5.

Top Flight had just as easy a task in winning the Spinaway stakes and $8,400 from a smart band of two-year-old fillies.

The Whitney Turf Miss was mean at the gate and finally was placed on the outside, but she broke flying and never once left the result in doubt. At the end of the six furlongs Sonny Workman had her five lenghts in front of W. R. Coe's Dinner Time with Brocado third. The time for the distance was 1:12 2-5.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Homer Hayes left today for El Paso and for an extensive tour of western and Pacific coast states.

PHILLIPS OILERS TO BATTLE BORGER TEAM

Company rivalry will be strong on the baseball diamond today when the Pampa Phillips Oilers journey to Borger to play the Phillips 66 team on their diamond at 3 o'clock. The ball park is near the edge of the Borger city limits.

Manager Kirkpatrick said last night he would take a strong team to Borger today to meet the Borger nine. Either Knight or Stewart will be on the mound with Pulliam on the receiving end.

It will be no easy game for the local boys for the hosts have a hustling bunch and are out to win. Many Pampa Phillips fans plan to go over with the team.

GRID CONFERENCE IS SCHEDULED AT DENTON

DENTON, Aug. 22. (AP)—An open conference for the interpretations of 1931 football rules will be held here Moday. Between 60 and 70 college and high school football coaches are expected to attend. The conference will be held at the North Texas Teachers college and presided over by Joe Utay of Dallas, Texas football official.

Among the speakers on Monday's program are coach Ray Morrison of Southern Methodist university; Coaches Schmidt and Meyer of Texas Christian university; Jack Roach, Burton Ricks and Joe Utay of Dallas. Ray Morrison, a member of the national rules committee, will discuss the changes in the 1931 rules.

FOUR HEAVYWEIGHTS WILL FIGHT DEMPSEY

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 22. (AP) — Four husky heavyweights had been signed today by Ralph H. Gruman, Portland fight promoter, to be prepared to enter the ring with Jack Dempsey when he opens his "fighting tour" of the northwest here next Monday night.

Big Bill Hartwell, Boston negro who tips the beam at 215 pounds, will be the first one to face the former heavyweight king.

But if Hartwell fails to last Bob Frazier, 200 pounds, Seattle; Dave McRea, 200, Tulsa, and Bob Mariels, 190, Portland, will be on hand to take up the battle.

HYDRO WINS WESTERN TURF CLASSIC EASILY

HAWTHORNE RACE TRACK, CHICAGO, Aug. 22. (AP) — A new speed marvel of the western turf flashed to victory today when Hygro, two-year-old son of the famous French stallion Epinard, smothered all opposition in winning the Hawthorne juvenile handicap, with a gross value of $13,850.

The fleet Hygro conquered 15 of the best two-year-olds in the west, galloping home five lenghts ahead of Liberty Limited, owned by W. T. Waggoner, multimillionaire, Arlington, Texas. Osculation, owned by the Longridge stable, finished third, but was disqualified for a foul. This moved Portden, John W. Schorr's colt up to third position, and placed Our Fancy, owned by J. B. Respress, Kentucky turfman, fourth.

WHAT OTHER EDITORS THINK

EAST TEXAS LEARNS

We have the word of the Marshall News, published within hailing distance of the greatest of gusher territory, that "quite a change has come over the way certain East Texans regard the oil situation". A short time ago, the News continues, "anyone who dared raise a voice favoring the conservation of the great wealth that lay under this section was immediately labeled an enemy to the common people and a friend of the octupus".

While thsi viewpoint prevailed, the East Texas paper goes on "the price of oil reduced from $1.00 per barrel to 90 cents, then 75, then 50 and finally down, down to even as low as 5 cents".

Came the dawn, as the movies used to say:

"But we see these same people who foamed at the mouth in their denunciation of those who had the temerity to advocate sanity in the disposition of this great natural resource, meeting in great crowds and petition the governor to enforce conservation at the mouth of bristelling guns and charging rangers. The governor is even abused because he wishes to see if the law will not be observed before he resorts to martial law. What a change, my countrymen."

Proration was anathema to East Texas though for many weeks, but now the East Texans have made the important discovery that proration is a friend rather than an enemy. It has been shown that proration, while it may fall short of perfection, is preferable to chaos. East Texas has learned an expensive lesson, and in learning it East Texas well-night ruined a prosperous and important industry.

It should be made impossible for any future oil discovery to repeat the folly of East Texas.—Abilene News.

CHARITY FOR THIS WINTER

Fall, with winter on its heels, is just around the corner and people in all American cities are beginning to think seriously about society's responsibility to care for unfortunates throughout the frigid season. Lubbock is in the same predicament that is faced by every community in the land and her citizenship is vitally interested in what shall be done.

It is the opinion of The Morning Avalnanche —and we believe this opinion is shared in by many—that the fall season, because of a broad crop yield, will be better this year than last. But we also believe that after the fall season closes and winter sets in there will be more people dependent upon charity than there were last winter—due to the apparent fact that few dependents have been able to save any money against the coming winter through the year thus far.

It is a foregone conclusion that Lubbock, along with all other cities, must dig and dig deep—must dig deep into the pockets of individual citizens or into public coffers to care for the problem of keeping bodies and souls together. The situation is here. We may just as well face it.

Care must be taken to handle dissemination of clothing, food and fuel in a business-like manner and in a way where there can be no overlapping of administration. Efforts must be successfully made to purchase supplies at bedrock cost, so that the money spent can be made to go as far as is possible. The time for hit-and-miss, slap-bang dissemination of charity has gone by the boards. It is a matter of business concern now.

In our opinion there should be but one charity organization in Lubbock this winter—and that the one should be so operated that unworthy mendicants cannot take advantage of the situation. We believe the churches and other agencies should work through this one disseminating organization, which must be operated upon a system of complete records, just as a bank or a large business is operated.

Winter months will be no time for inefficiency in charity. Money for charitable purposes is not going to be easy to get in large quantities. We hope over-zealous supporters of various charitable agencies will be big enough to work together for the common good and at the least expense possible, even if it means bowing to the supremacy of any one of the organizations which have dispensed oil in the past.—Lubbock Avalanche.

Well, cigarets cost more now, and we suppose the uppity pipe smokers can be effectively disdained by those financially able to buy the advertised brands.

Well and Good

And gone is the good old custom of saying "gimme a cigaret". This habit is now an insult. And the cigaret 'legger will have to talk out of the corner of his mouth at your elbow.

Subtle indeed is the method of the wet. Recently in a neighboring city the Pampan was served pretzels with his root beer. If that isn't a subtle suggestion we don't know what is.

And the Lions licked the Rotarians, just like we knew they would. Hindered from attending, this writer kept a fast car handy to be called upon for a pinch hit if needed, but his mates did the work very nicely without him. . . . Maybe we will get a crack at those Kiwanians, who hint they can beat either the roaring Lions or the rotating Rotarians.

This skyscraper idea isn't a bad one at all, but being up high is not the advantage here that it is in the hilly country. We have no mountains to look over, and a boy on stilts can see many a mile.

Divergent Interests

Cocklebur Bill isn't far wrong when he says that left to themselves the oil men would eat each other up. The interests of the independent refiner are not those of the royalty owner. The small producer has a problem entirely different from that of the big companies which also transport, refine, and market. The man with one will is on a different basis from a man with thirty wells. An operator of easy credit standing can endure shutdowns better than another barely able to keep ahead of the sheriff. Moreover, some royalty owners are able to wait for high prices and others need to secure returns on their investment even if small profit results.

The East Texas shutdown is helping many and hurting not a few. This situation was inevitable. The independent refiners have a howl coming, but they are vastly in the minority and in a democratic government the ideal is the greatest good for the greatest number.

Help Some, Hurt Some

Our government does not take much pains to avoid hurting some people to help a larger number. When it goes into the business of buying and marketing grains and cotton it replaces many middle men, and, in a sense, confiscates their business. When the farm board trades for South American coffee it is frankly becoming a competitor to coffee merchants.

* * *

It is to be hoped that a number of judges will have the nerve to suspend the driving rights of a number of drunken motorists. The suspension may be as long as two years. Enforcement of the law would do much to clear the highways of those drivers who wobble back and forth at high speed, endangering their own and other lives.

Nature Benevolent

Calling upon nature to help solve the problem of feeding unemployed men and their families is a very logical procedure. Nature makes that her business. Throughout the ages she has cooperated with mankind. She has provided fertile soil and an abundance of edible plants. Idle men could well afford to call upon her to provide sustenance, and certainly those with idle land should be glad to let it be used. Remember, no man really owns soil, which is a part of the universe which we occupy but for a season.

ABOUT NEW·YORK

By WILLIAM GAINES

NEW YORK—Racketeers apparently anticipated that raid on that Fifth avenue wine brick establishment.

Shortly after the government's raiding party had disappeared with the remaing stock, and while part of the throng of onlookers still lingered, "steerers" circulated among the townsfolk, confiding an address where the wine bricks could be obtained for $5.

They had been sold in the shop for $2, and the gentlemen of the racket or their purchasing agents had accumulated a supply of them for sale at the higher figure.

It is reported that before the close of the day's business, the unauthorized traders knocked down the price from $5 to $3.50, and then to $3.

This, it seems, was because rival grape concentrate dealers were not molested by the law at that time, and people prefer not to deal with unknown gyps when they can avoid it.

Eugenie—Ics

The muchly exploited influence of the Empress Eugenie mode is expected by some of the smarter women's stylists to be completely forgotten in six months.

As soon as the Eugenie note struck here, the Second Empire table in room 313, New York public library, was besieged by a swarm of designers. They still monopolize all illustrated books on the period, tracing the plates.

Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON—There's at least one person in the capital to whom this protracted vacation of Secretary Stimson in Europe does not appeal at all.

Hs is Eddie Savoy, the secretary of state's aged negro messenger and a sort of major domo around Mr. Stimson's office at the department. Eddie, whose period of service at the state department dates back to something like a half-century, under civil service regulations must retire this month.

As a matter of fact, his time was up one year ago, but when Secretary Stimson intervened with the commission in his behalf, the aged negro was granted a year of grace.

So Eddie's fate again rests in the secretary's hands. Civil service authorities have intimated that they can permit no further stay. If he retains his job other provisions must be made.

Picturesque

If this short, bow-legged old negro were to pass from the state department, one of the most picturesque figures in the capital would be lost.

For Eddie is that. Diplomatic day—Thursday of each week when the secretary holds open house to foreign envoys resident in Washington—hardly will be the same without him. This always has been the big day in Eddie's week.

He dons his swallow-tail coat that almost sweeps the ground behind him, adjust the correct shade of cravat to a winged collar, and makes his way to the nook outside the secretary's office where he awaits the diplomats' arrival.

Rules of precedence must be strictly observed on these occasions. They are fixed by the diplomats themselves and their rank in the corps is inviolable. An ambassador must he shown in before a minister. A minister goes ahead of a charge d'affaires.

Eddie knows them all and just where they belong.

A taxi cab company is giving vacations to its "safe" drivers. Might be a good idea to give them razors, too.

Well, they've found the spring where Solomon drank. With those 300 wives, there must have been an awful rush at springtime.

Most Wells Do Not Gush

DRILLERS HAVE FULL CONTROL

DRY HOLES REPRESENT ANNUAL LOSS OF 150 MILLIONS

When oil is struck it does not usually spout up in a great fountain, although occasional "gushers" have long appealed to the popular imagination.

As a rule the drillers have the well under complete control, and the oil is turned at once into tanks and pipe lines. Sometimes the oil has behind it only enough pressure of gas or water to bring it to the surface. In a great number of cases what is known as "shooting" with nitroglycerine is resorted to. A charge of dynamite is lowered to the bottom of the well, and is exploded in the oil sand for the purpose of breaking up the rock formations and facilitating the flow of the oil.

After a well has been drilled into the producing sand, the oil is carried by pipes from the well to steel or wooden tanks which have been set up to receive it.

"Flush" and "Settled" Production

"Flush" production indicates a well's first "enthusiasm"—when the oil flows from it freely and without mechanical assistance. After completion wells may be expected to "settle down" within a period of a few weeks. Wells which upon completion yield four or five thousand barrels of oil each day soon lose their high rate of production, and most wells must be pumped after the "flush" production period has passed.

"Settled" production does not necessarily indicate a pumped well, as some wells have flowed at a settled or normal rate for years. Settled production is the volume produced from any well after the initial pressure has been released and production is down to a point where only normal and gradual decline is taking place.

Operation of a Well

The operation of a well after it is producing is usually referred to as the "lifting operation," which includes pumping and various methods of increasing or prolonging the flow of oil. Frequently natural gas is pumped in to renew the pressure and to force the oil to resume its flow. This and other rejuvenating methods now extensively used keep many a well producing which a few years ago would have been abandoned as exhausted.

In flowing wells the "lifting cost" may be only a few cents a barrel, but it rises rapidly when production declines and pumping or repressuring and other rejuvenating methods are used. In many sections where wells have been producing for a long time, the margin between the cost of lifting and the sale value of the oil—after the payment of the royalty—may be reduced to practically nothing. Thus, during periods of low prices many wells must be either operated at a loss or shut down entirely.

Cost of Dry Holes

An oil well may be such in name only. Even on proven oil lands, where the elements of chance have apparently been removed, wells fail to strike oil. Approximately one well in three is a "dry hole," that is, it fails to strike oil or gas in commercial quantities. Seven thousand "dry holes" drilled annually in the search for oil represent a gross loss of approximately $150,000,000.

There are more than three hundred thousand producing oil wells in the United States. The production of these wells ranges from a fraction of a barrel a day to many thousands of barrels daily. The average production is about 8 barrels per day. In the older fields, where virtually all are pumped wells, the average production per well is in most cases less than 1 barrel a day. In newly opened fields the wells are in the "flush" production class, and yield relatively large quantities of oil.

Thus it is seen that this country is dependent for its oil supply upon two types of producing oil wells, "settled" wells and "flush" wells—each type having a considerable range of production, with lifting charges varying greatly.

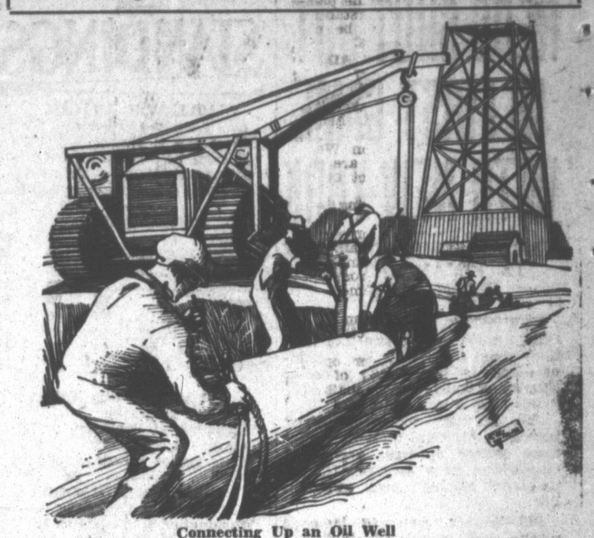
LEW AYRES IS STAR OF REX THEATER SHOW

What would you do if you had fallen desperately in love with the one you considered the most gloriously beautiful woman in the world—and then learned that she was the mistress of your employer?

This is the situation which confronts Lew Ayres in Universal's startling love drama, "Up for Murder," which comes to the Rex theater today. The woman is the society editor of a great metropolitan newspaper and Lew, cub reporter, is transported with newfound happiness—until he learns the sordid truth. From this point the story is one of the most absorbing description, and is said to afford this rising young star the greatest opportunity of his career to deliver a characterization of power and intensity.

The object of Lew's affections in "Up for Murder" is Genevieve Tobin, recruited only a year ago from the New York stage, while other important roles in the production are enacted by Richard Tucker, Frank McHugh, Dorothy Peterson and Frederic Burt. The picture was directed by Monta Bell, who has depicted in a convincing manner the newspaper background in which he has spent many years of his life, not only as a reporter, but also as editor and publisher of the Washington, D. C., Herald.

Deep Well Drilling Real Science



Connecting Up an Oil Well

MOON of DELIGHT
by Margaret Bell Houston

SYNOPSIS: Juanita's discovery that her chaperone, the marquesa, is responsible for the robbery of a number of her friends, causes them both to leave Kirk Stanard's home without a word to him or Nelly Belaise, his grandmother. Protesting at being thus used, Juanita returns to the gambling resort run by Divitt, who reveals his discovery that she, Juanita, is Beatriz Montega, wanted for a Vera Cruz crime. Juanita prostrated by the knowledge that Divitt knows her past, heeds the death-bed request of his wife, Molly, to resume her work as the resort's veiled cigarette girl. Meanwhile, Gabreau, Divitt's servant, tells her that Kirk, knowing and loving her as Senorita Flores, has been told by Divitt's Hotel Tijon that she and the marquesa have departed.

Chapter 34

THE MARQUESA'S PLANS

Spike, reflected the marquesa, was a widower now. What was to prevent their combining as they had once combined?

Not here in New Orleans; that was out of the question. But Philly again—Jersey.

The thought had kept her a willing prisoner in her room. For that she stayed inside, did not venture downstairs where Divitt feared she might be recognized.

Divitt, she told herself, was straightening, already after the blow of Molly's death. Today he had even seemed to see her as they passed each other on the balcony.

"How are you, Mister Divitt?" she had asked, and he had answered, "Oh, well enough." She would go in to see him.

Rain—rain—droning on the balcony, dripping from the eaves. Who would have supposed the heavens could hold all this rain?

They did not play so late in the parlors now. Spike would perhaps come up earlier to the office where he counted his gains every night and put them in the safe. Not many gains these nights and he was not long counting them.

She would listen for him to come, give him time. . . .

The marquesa dressed her opulent curves in the red satin gown, combed her black hair carefully, thrust in a jeweled comb, fastened the cresent-shaped earrings. . . .

She waited by the window till Divitt came up the stair. The office door closed. She waited ten minutes more while the rain droned. Then she laid the beaded red cape about her and went along the balcony to Divitt's door. She knocked.

Divitt asked first who was there.

"It is me—Carlota."

He opened then, and she stepped in, smiling.

"Where've you been?" he demanded.

"Nowhere," softly. "I'm just going." He closed the door and she added, "If you will let me. I am so lonely."

The evening's gains, a neatly counted pile of bills, lay on the desk. Divitt thrust them into a drawer, banged the drawer shut.

"Let you?" he said, "You've probably been going out every night."

"I have not,' protested the marquesa. "But a man—a man I met at the Cranshaws wrote me that if I came back in time I mus' come up to his rooms for a li'l supper tonight. He send the letter to the Tijon."

The allusion to the Cranshaws was unfortunate. Divitt had reason to be nervous regarding Umberto and the Cranshaw diamonds tonight. It was past the hour when Umberto should have telephoned him. "Uptown 0666?" No. Wrong number." Then he would have known everything was all right.

The marquesa went on softly.

"I am so lonely I say to myself, 'I can go to the supper and tell him I am leavin' again tomorrow'."

"That," said Divitt, "is an idea entirely worthy of you. Who is this man?"

"Mr. Eric Ledbetter," she answered with dropped eyes, having chosen carefully.

Divitt nodded. "Ledbetter is not in New Orleans," he remarked. "He sailed for Paris and the Orient something like a week ago."

"He mus' have gon sudden," said the marquesa.

"Just as well you found out, isn't it?" observed Divitt.

"I do not want to go,' she answered, laying by her cape. "I am jus' so lonely. I would much rather talk to you. . . . It is too bad the parlors have go down—"

"Who says the parlors have gone down?" demanded Divitt.

"But have they not? . . . So many people do not come any more."

"It's the new chief of police. They're afraid."

Divitt had risen, walked to the window. This Cranshaw job. . . . Things had been too easy for Umberto. . . .

Ever since Juanita and the marquesa had come back he had had a lurking premonition of evil.

Molly's death had overshadowed it for a while; later it had returned. In the marquesa's presence he seemed to feel it more. She was like a red omen of disaster.

"I am sorry for you, Spike." The marquesa's husky murmur. "We had a nize place in Philly no?"

He did not answer, standing by the windiw. The marquesa rose, stole to him softly. Her arm was about him before he knew that she was there.

"Spike—caro mio, let us be as we were before."

Divitt turned with such violence that she fell against the desk, staring at him with startled eyes.

The telephone rang behind her.

Divitt picked it up. "Get out," he said, motioning with his head to the door.

The marquesa's eyes began to smolder.

"Pay me what you owe me," she said.

A strange voice was coming from the telephone in Divitt's hand. Divitt pressed the mouthpiece against his chest, spoke again to the marquesa.

"Get the hell out of here."

Toward evening of the next day the sun came out, went down clear and red. That night there were stairs.

Juanita dressed almost automatically, so binding was Molly's last request, so close seemed the prospect of release. Gabrea stopped at her window as she pinned her veil.

"Umberto get caught last night," he said and grinned.

Juanita paused. "Where?"

"A house call de Cranshaws. It in de papers. De marquesa show it to me. I think she glad."

Juanita sat down on the window sill. Release seemed very close. Umberto caught.

"You might have been there, too, Gabreau."

Gabreau shook his head. "If I be dere he would not be caught. Divitt need me in de parlor."

"What will they do with him?"

"I don't know. Mebbe it will get us all in trouble. De papers say Umberto will tell nothin', but mebbe dey will trace him here. Dat what de marquesa say. She is pack her tronk."

"De paper say it think Umberto have to do all de robberies, but he will not tell what he do wit de loot. He will not tell nothin'. . . . Look! What I tell you?"

Juanita looking, saw the marquesa's trunk being carried down the stair. She had arranged her veil, fastened the pearl ring on the cord that dropped inside her breast, followed Gabreau down the stair.

The marquesa opened her door softly and looked out. Yet she knew that Divitt was not there. He had been gone all day. Now he was in the parlors.

In the dark of the balcony the marquesa crept to Divitt's window, broke a pane. Quickly she unfastened the catch, crawled in. Divitt the night before had thrust the bills into a drawer, rather than work the combination of the safe in her presence.

Immediately after the telephone call she had heard him leave the office. In the disturbed hours that had followed there was a chance that he had not thought of the money again.

The marquesa laughed softly as she opened the drawer. She pushed the bills into her bag, opening the other door, going out by way of te Tijon.

Boarding a taxi, she saw the Stanard limousine passing toward Rondeau street. Kirk was inside, and Nelly.

"Back at her old tricks," laughed the marquesa.

At the dock she took time to scribble a note.

"The DuBois crown jewels, the Fouche pearls and other things you seek are in the room over the kitchen at 8 Michel street."

She wrote on the envelope the name of the new chief of police, put on a special delivery stamp and dropped it in a box.

COTTON GOES UP

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 22. (AP) — There was considerable activity in the cotton market her today for a short Saturday session and prices showed a moderate upward trend. The stimulating influences were much better cables than due and a belief that the census ginning report due Monday will make a bullish showing. The close was steady with the general market showing net advances for the day of 15 to 17 points.

Liverpool cables came in 9 to 10 penny points better than due and private cables stated that shorts covered and the continent and Bombay bought. Manchester cabled that the home trade in cloths was quiet and that the Shanghai auctions were unsatisfactory. The close was at or near the top, October showing a net gain for the day of 16 points and December a net gain of 17 points. Liverpool was due to come in about unchanged on Monday on New Orleans.

Port receipts 7,665; for season 94,223; last season 393,737. Exports 56, for season 1,[illegible]; last season 183,68. Port stock 2,728,811, last year 1,748,244.

GRAINS DROP

By JOHN P. BOUGHAN
Associated Press Market Editor.

CHICAGO, Aug. 22. (AP)—Lower not higher, grain prices today followed giant bartering of wheat by the United States farm board. The exchange of 25,000,000 bushels of government financed wheat to Brazil for 1,050,000 bags of coffee lifted the wheat market momentarily 1-4 cent a bushel. Then, stop loss sales of corn became the dominating influence, and all corn deliveries dropped to new 1931 bottom figures, dragging wheat and other cereals down.

Corn closed shaky, 3-4 to 1 5-8 cents off at the lowest point reached, wheat 3-8 to 5-8 lower, oats showing 1-8 to 3-8 decline, and provisions a fall of 12 to 25 cents.

Corn selling was heavy and general, with demand so slack that corn available for immediate use, spot cash delivery, declined soon to the lowest prices since October, 921.

Wheat was not only affected by corn weakness but by fresh tumbles in quotations at Liverpool, where unfavorable mercantile conditions were reported as checking demand for wheat. The general reaction of the trade here relative to the farm board's big wheat-coffee deal was voiced in a statement from one of the principal houses that the price situation was unaltered except that 25,000,000 bushels of Argentine wheat usually marketed in Brazil had now been released for the European market at the expense of North America.

Oats and rye weakened with corn and wheat, although crop news about them were bullish.

Provisions followed downturns of cereals and of hog values.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—Sept. 48, 49; Dec. 52 1-8, 52 3-4; May 57, 57 7-8, 58. Corn—Sept. 39 5-8 to 3-4, 42 1-8; Dec. 37, 38-38 1-8; May 41 1-2, 42 5-8.

NEW YORK STOCK LETTER

By JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22. (AP) — The financial markets settled gradually in a listless week-end session today.

The selling flurry in stocks which appeared late Friday appeared to have spent itself, but there was a faint trickle which carried a few shares off a point or two, a few rails penetrating new minimum levels for the bear market. The bond market was fairly steady, but here too, a few more carrier obligations sank to new lows.

The price average of 90 representative shares showed a net loss of only 2-5 of a point, and the turnover in the stock exchange was only 423,650 shares, or less than half last Saturday's volume. The price average for 20 railroad shares eased to within 1-10 of one point of the bear market bottom of June 2. Speculative quarters have been anxiously awaiting signs of support around this level, for a new low in the rail average would be regarded as an unfavorable sign.

Corn was a soft spot in the commodities, declining about a cent to new lows for the season. Wheat sagged only slightly, while cotton rallied in sympathy with Liverpool, closing 65 to 90 cents a bale higher.

The news from London indicating an impending crisis for the MacDonald government may have been a somewhat unsettling factor in the stock market.

STEERS ADVANCE

KANSAS CITY Aug. 22. (AP)—Total accumulated receipts of cattle this week numbered 231,200 against 184,078 last week. Owing to a rather limited supply and a good demand, good to choice native fed steers and yearlings advanced 25-50 at most points but lower grades were that much lower. Several markets reported new high levels for the season. Wintered and fed grassers at river markets held steady to strong but straight grassers found a slow outlet at unevenly 25-75 lower figures.

Hog receipts totaled 334,200 against 329,042 last week. A series of lower trends brought hog values unevenly 10-85 lower for the extremes with a general rating of 35-85 covering the loss; offerings scaling 290 lbs. and up showing a minimum decline.

Sheep and lamb values opened at materially lower figures with a steadying tendency after midweek regaining part of the loss but lambs closed unevenly 15 to mostly 50 lower than a week ago while sheep lost 50-1.25. Receipts numbered 407,000 against 366,943 last week.

ROBERT MONTGOMERY SHOWING AT LANORA

Robert Montgomery understudied his own butler for his role in "The Man in Possession," his new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture which will open today at the La Nora theater.

In the picturization of the H. M. Harwood farce which Sam Wood directed for the screen, Montgomery masquerades as a butler, playing almost the entire film in that impersonation. From his own English butler he learned the art of serving and other tasks in the butling routine.

Irene Purcell plays opposite Montgomery in the new feature and the supporting cast includes Charlotte Greenwood, C. Aubrey Smith, Beryl Mercer, Reginald Owen and Alan Mowbray.

WHITTINGSTALL WILL PLAY AMERICAN STAR

By GAYLE TALBOT

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 22. (AP)—Mrs. Eileen Bennett Whittingstall, who two weeks ago was not considered a strong enough singles player to compete for England in the Wightman cup matches, tonight stood between Mrs. Helen Wills Moody and her seventh national women's tennis title.

Mrs. Whittingstall today eliminated Betty Nuthall, the defending champion and England's No. 1 singles star, 6-2, 3-6, 6-4. Yesterday she turned back Helen Jacobs, Berkeley, Calif., generally recognized as America's second greatest star, 3-6, 6-3, 8-6.

After watching the two English girls wage their fight there were few thrills for the fans in seeing Mrs. Moody dispose of her semi-final opponent the hard-driving Phyllis Mudford of England, 6-2, 6-4.

Mrs. Moody and Mrs. Whittingstall will settle the singles championship tomorrow, but the doubles final will not go on until Monday. Miss Dorothy Round of England, who paired with Helen Jacobs to enter the finals from the lower bracket, declined to play on Sunday for religious reasons. Her father is a minister.

Miss Round and Miss Jacobs reached the final with a 6-2, 9-7 triumph over the English pair, Mrs. D. C. Shepherd-Barron and Phyllis Mudford. Betty Nuthall and Mrs. Whittingstall went into the finals from the upper bracket by defeating Josephine Cruickshank, Sacramento, Calif., and Mrs. John Van Ryn, Philadelphia, 6-3, 6-2.

COLUMBIA WINS

NEED GROCERIES—

football way. It is rumored that Coach Mitchell's damaged eye resulted from a tackle at the captain which missed.

Big Ed Burch is strong and loud as usual, but has accumulated some sizeable bumps in action. Zest to the training has been provided by the certainty that Clarendon college, the first opponent (Sept. 12) will be one of the most powerful opponents on the schedule. The Bulldogs have a quartet of line plungers which are caimed to be as good as last year's Four Horsemen of the Harvesters.
