TEXAS CHAMBER OF COMMERCE REPORT ON CONDITIONS IN MEXICO

For a period of ten years prior to 1921, the Republic of Mexico was in turmoil, one revolution following another, as a result of ambitious men or parties seeking to direct and control the destiny of its people, resulting in political and financial chaos, worthless currency and limited national credit.

The present administration has made surprising progress in restoring confidence by adopting a metallic currency, rehabilitating transportation and aiming to establish sound commercial relations with the United States and other nations.

That a stable government has been in existence for more than a year can not be questioned. However, the present constitution of Mexico revised and adopted in the year 1917 contains certain provisions that, while they may be sound in theory, are absolutely impractical in meeting immediate needs.

I refer particularly to article 27 which vests title to all lands, as well as all minerals in or under such lands or waters in the Federal Government. The purpose of this article was clearly to exclude foreign investment in either land or minerals. The effect is to not only prevent acquisition, but to prevent foreign loans on lands or minerals. A further and more serious effect is to add doubt and uncertainty regarding the future among the large land owners on which the Republic has been dependent for its food supply, a source of apprehension among the thoughtful and foresighted citizens who have the present and future welfare of Mexico at heart.

However, these are internal questions, and whether wise or unwise are not open to change by foreign governments, corporations or individuals, and must be settled by the Mexican people themselves, and should be taken into account to the extent only of guiding our policy pertaining to investments or loans and would seem to confine our commercial contact to trade in the form of purchase or sale of commodities.

The population of Mexico is now estimated at upward of 16,000,000 people. Its foreign trade with the United States has grown rapidly as shown by the figures below:

Imports (Into U. S.)

|      |               |
|------|---------------|
| 1921 | $119,445,533 |

| 1906 | 58,182,278    |
| 1901 | 36,475,350    |

Of the 1921 trade with the United States, Mexico purchased to the value of $221,844,304 in gold. Complete figures upon various articles bought by Mexico during 1921 are not yet available, but figures upon the commodities exported through the San Antonio-Laredo district (only one of the four customs districts of Texas) during the first eleven months of 1921 should be of interest to citizens of our State.

The national debt of Mexico as of June 30, 1921, (independent of railroad obligations assumed by the government) is reported by the Mexican minister of finance at $563,526,517 (pesos) which is the equivalent of $281,763,258.50 in terms of United States money. This debt it will be noted is very moderate as compared with the national debt of the United States and European nations, and under proper laws and administration, Mexico should promptly attain a strong financial position. However, at this time the people are being heavily taxed, prices for necessities are extremely high, and a large amount of unemployment exists, resulting in considerable discontent. The unsatisfactory situation is accentuated by political graft through irresponsible individuals who look selfishly to their personal welfare rather than the general welfare.

Texas, with its extensive Mexican border line of more than one thousand miles, is particularly interested in aiding the stabilization of Mexico.

I take it that our membership are agreed that Mexico is justified in aiming to prevent the exploitation of her resources and her people by foreigners. Further, that the people of our State, living under the most advanced form of government ever developed by man, are not egotistical enough to assume that our experience with its administration, justifies our assuming to direct or dictate to a people where civilization is known to have existed for centuries previous to development of our form of government.

The recommendations it is proposed to submit for consideration are:

First: That the government of Mexico be immediately recognized, under such conditions as will insure to our citizens protection of life and the safeguarding of property rights under the constitution and the law existing at the time such property was or is acquired.

Second: That all unnecessary restrictions regarding trade and travel (including skilled or unskilled labor) be removed.

Third: That as applied to the Republic of Mexico, a so-called bargaining tariff be adopted, thus permitting executive changes or adjustments as conditions demand.

Fourth: That the International Automobile Highway extending from our capital, Austin, to the capital of the Republic, Mexico City, as recommended at the Laredo meeting, above referred to, receive our hearty endorsement and support as an additional means of intercourse between Mexico and the State of Texas.

Your comments or suggestions will be appreciated.

Yours very truly,

J. S. Cullman,

Pers. Tex. Chamber Commerce.

Uncle Hugh Wilson has a birthday Thursday, and was down Tuesday to see if a holiday was going to be observed. He was born in Hall County, Georgia, in 1858, and moved to Arkansas in the early seventies, then on to Texas in '79, where he has lived since.

KERRVILLE MAYOR HOLDS CITY TRAFFIC ORDINANCE INVALID

Mayor J. S. Wheelless has put in quite a lot of time studying legal authorities on the traffic ordinance for Kerrville, which Judge Lee Wallace attacked as invalid, and the decision was reached that the irregularity of passage made it so.

The ordinance, when first drawn and printed, provided that cars should park parallel, but it was later decided by a majority of the City Commissioners to change to parking at about an angle of forty-five degrees, which was done on the day before the ordinance became effective by publication. The amended ordinance was then republished.

The change was made in the original ordinance in an informal way and while Mayor Wheelless was absent. His name was also left off the ordinance as published.

It is supposed that the City Commissioners will pass another ordinance, which will be changed to meet some of the objections to the first one, and especially as to garages. It is claimed by the garages that they need exception to the provisions of the ordinance for space sufficient in front of their gas and oil tanks to permit customers being waited upon.—Kerrville Mountain Sun.

THREE BABIES BORN FRIDAY NIGHT

The population of Kimble County was three greater Saturday than it was the day before. Three fine baby girls were born Friday night, one to Mr. and Mrs. Odie Wright, in Junction, weight 7 1-2 pounds, named Mollie Elizabeth; one to Mr. and Mrs. Ben T. Joiner, on Bear Creek, and the third to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bode, in Copperas.

Ramsey Milholland

By Booth Tarkington

This charming tale is no less boy and girl than "Penrod," "Seventeen," and "The Oriole." But it has a more serious significance in its revelation of great events, such as the World War, changing government, as it were, boys into men and girls into women — another illustration of the age-old dictum that men must fight and women must weep.

The earlier scenes are of boys and girls in public school, where the plodding Ramsey Milholland learns to hate the traditional bright girl pupil — the teacher's pet.

The plot carries the same characters to the state university. We have a rollicking picture of boys and girls struggling with the rudiments of education and finally of youth getting the finishing touches at college. Up to this point it is mostly humor and care-free action.

Then comes the war, changing everything. The author carefully avoids the tragic and heart-rending. He implies a happy ending with an opportunity for the reader to fill in through imagination, the tragedy if he so desires. It is a delightful Tarkington story, typical of the author's best talent.

JOHN J. SMITH PASSES 103RD. MILESTONE

"Uncle" John Smith was in Junction from his home four miles up South Llano Tuesday greeting his friends. On Friday of this week, he will be 103 years old. He was born in Washington County, Illinois, in the same year as Chas. A. Dana and Julia Ward Howe, both of whom have played their part in the world events and passed away. It was the same year that the State of Alabama was admitted to the Union, and in the same year that marked the crossing of the Atlantic by a steamboat, during the administration of President James Monroe and two years before the death of Napoleon at St. Helena. These events seem a long way back in history, and it can hardly seem possible that one man has lived to see all the progress and inventions that have come in these years.

"Uncle" John came to this County over forty years ago, and has lived at his present location ever since.

For several years prior to the Civil War he was in the Texas Ranger service in the Red River country fighting Indians. During this service, he formed the habit of eating a hearty breakfast and getting little or nothing to eat at other times, as it was always a bad policy to build fires at night in the Indian country. He has followed that habit to the present time, rarely eating much for dinner or supper. He has ten children, all living, the oldest of which is fifty-seven.

"Uncle John served the entire four years of the Civil War.

When he came to the Eagle office to renew his subscription, we asked if he was going to have a birthday party, to which he replied that if the weather was favorable, he would be planting corn on his birthday.

Without doubt, "Uncle" John Smith is the oldest reader of the Eagle, the oldest citizen of Kimble County, and among the oldest in the State.

NEFF BORROWS $700,000 TO RUN PENITENTIARIES

Austin, Texas.—The prison system is provided for at last. There will be no special session of the legislature.

Governor Neff today announced the consummation of a loan of $700,000 from a Kansas bonding house to finance the prisons until the 1922 crops are harvested and sold.

The governor's statement to the people of Texas follows: "For some months numerous reports have been in circulation in regard to financing of the penitentiary system. The penitentiary belongs to the people. Like other state institutions, the state is charged with the responsibility of operating it. The legislature having adjourned without providing for its operating expenses, other than appropriating the proceeds from the labor of the convicts, it was necessary to make other plans. There are 3,300 convicts in the penitentiary. It costs approximately $70,000 per month to clothe, feed and guard them. The penitentiary has had no money since the first of last December. It is now something in excess of $250,000 in debt for operating expenses.

I am glad to announce the successful culmination of negotiations for the financing of this institution until such time as the fall crop of cotton can be gathered and marketed. The task of obtaining this loan has

Water Elms Set Along North Side of Cemetery

A fine lot of water elms and sycamores have been set out along the north side of the old part of the Junction Cemetery. The trees are from eight to twelve feet high, after being trimmed, and will add much to the appearance of the cemetery. Some arrangement will have to be made to water them for a few months, until they take root. Monroe Smith did this work free, and we are sure those having loved ones in the old part of the cemetery, as well as every one interested in improving the appearance of the whole yard, will be grateful to Mr. Smith for this commendable work. It would add much to the appearance of things there to plant trees the remainder of the way from the plank fence, where these trees extend, to the west end.

FRED RAMSEY VICTIM OF SERIOUS ACCIDENT

While attempting to move a car so as to get his truck out of the Schreiner-Hodges Co. garage, last Sunday afternoon, Fred Ramsey got the little finger of his left hand badly mashed, and Dr. McMahan amputated the first joint the same afternoon. Ramsey drives a truck for Will Maglin.

ELECTION ORDERED FOR ROOSEVELT SCHOOL DIS.

Upon a petition of 24 resident taxpaying voters of the Common School District number 17, on the 14th day of April for the purpose of determining whether the present school tax of 25 cents shall be raised to 50 cents on the hundred dollars valuation.

been a difficult one. We first sought to procure the necessary money from financial institutions in Texas. Several things not necessary to relate prevented. We regret very much the necessity that forced us to go outside the state to finance the prison system of Texas.

"It being necessary to do so, we took the matter up with the Brown-Crummer Investment company of Wichita, Kansas. We have today, with this company, consummated a loan at 7 per cent interest, of approximately $700,000 to be used, as needed, for the actual support and maintenance of the penitentiary.

"The loan was made on plain promissory notes, no mortgage or security of any kind being required. In securing this loan there was not $1 of expense incurred on the part of the state or the prison system, either as bonus or attorney's fees, or for any other item of any nature or kind whatsoever. While the notes do not mature until February 1, 1923, the prison commissioners, in order to stop interest, are privileged to begin paying these notes off as rapidly as possible, beginning with Oct. 1 of this year. We confidently expect this loan to be taken out of the proceeds of the crops, before the last of next year.

"This statement is made for the reason that the people of Texas should at all times be advised what is being done by their servants in connection with matters of this kind."

VOTING MACHINE TO SAVE TIME FOR SOLONS OF TEXAS

When the Texas legislature next convenes at the capitol at Austin, the votes in the house of representatives will be counted so quickly that a considerable saving in time and expense will result, in the belief of the legislative committee which recently tested the new automatic voting machine in the house. Economy, through the saving of time, was the principal reason for installing the machine, according to Representative C. E. Dinkie, of Hunt county, chairman of the committee.

Heretofore, it has taken about 20 minutes to take and count the votes in a roll call. The saving in time will amount to from five to ten minutes or more on each count. Each day of the legislative session costs the state of Texas about $2,195, it has been estimated. During the last regular session of the legislature, sixty hours time could have been saved with the machine, it was estimated, being the equivalent of ten days. The monetary saving would have been about $21,950 for the session at this rate.

The voting machine was ordered installed in a resolution passed at the second called session of the thirty-seventh legislature last summer. The installation has been progressing for several months, ending with the final test of the machine last week.

Votes are cast by the members turning a key on their desks. One turn of the key to the left registers a "yes" vote, two turns a "no" and three turns, "present not voting." Each turn of the key flashes a light on a large board above the speaker's stand. On this board is the name of each member. If a "yes" vote is cast by a member, a red light flashes opposite his name on the board; if a "no" vote, a blue light, and a white light for the "present, not voting" signal. At the same time the letter "Y" or "N" whichever the vote is, appears opposite the name of the legislator casting the vote.

The rear of the board is an exact duplicate of the front. When the vote has been closed a photostat machine makes a photograph of the board, which is sent through a tube to the speaker's stand to become the record of the vote. The whole process from the beginning of the voting to the delivery of the photograph is completed in slightly more than five minutes, whereas the usual time for a roll call is fifteen or more.

Immediately after the vote is closed the affirmative and negative votes are indicated on dials on the speaker's desk and the desk of the clerk.

Do you love the way your children are interested in the Sunbeam? Then come and see them in their special program at the church Sunday afternoon at four. It will be a great pleasure to the little folks and those who are working hard with the Band to make it successful will be much encouraged if you come.

Our Sunday school is very interesting now, but it is not quite satisfactory. We never go down to low water mark in attendance; neither do we rise to high water mark. Let us do more than hold our own.

One mother said, "My children talk about next week's Beginners' Sunday school just like it was going to be a picnic." It is better than a picnic, and all that have part in it work to make the session joyous and instructive to the fine bunch of little ones. All our sick are reported better. We are thankful.

Last Sunday morning, the pastor preached on the subject "The Lord and the Weather," using the experiences of Joseph and Elijah in the midst of the great drouths they experienced. Read for yourself what they did and maybe it will stimulate your confidence in God's dealings with men.

We cannot begin our meeting next week, as we had expected. Some two weeks ago, Brother Estes wrote that his two boys were very sick and that he feared that he could not come. Ten days later, he sent a telegram stating that Mrs. Estes and one of the boys were still very sick, and there was much sickness in the town.

THE RANCHMAN AS A SUCCESSFUL DRY-FARMER

In years gone by when we drove our herds from the Silvery Rio Grande to the North Pole, running a head of stock to the thousand acres, we did not worry about winter feed, but TIMES HAVE CHANGED.

Winter feeding with the ranchman is today a serious proposition. We know that a year's profit can easily be fed up in a short time, owing to high prices of feed stuff.

Kimble County ranches will furnish our ranchmen with land that can be cultivated. Let us take advantage of this in a proper way.

Bankers fail when they refuse to bank along legitimate lines. Merchants fail when they attempt to conduct their business without due regard for the requirements of the trade. FARMERS fail in every part of the world and under the most favorable conditions unless they endeavor to educate themselves into the methods necessary for their particular soil and climate. Study soils, seeds, adaptability of crops to locality, adaptability of methods to climate, conditions and causes of success or failure.

A few acres put in will be worth your efforts.

POPULARIZING A TOWN.

Recently an automobilist was arrested and fined at Junction upon complaint of a party he had difficulty with along the road. The complaining witness told one tale, the automobilist another. He paid a fine.

This leads to the following very pertinent comment upon the part of the editor of the Junction Eagle:

"... we are not criticizing the actions of any one,
but we do think that authorities should be very careful in fining people passing through here, without establishing the fact that they were really guilty of some violation. Most any man, passing through a country, will pay a small fine rather than be detained and put to the trouble of proving his innocence, and it is certainly going to have a bad effect on outside people to hear that people are arrested in passing along the roads and compelled to pay fines or go to a great deal of trouble to fight their case."

The Junction editor's position is well taken. Perhaps we all know or have heard of towns where the town marshal busies himself, an incidentally fat-tens his bank account through fees, with filing complaints against passing autoists who park their cars wrong, or who, unintentionally, violate some of the local ordinances. Such towns may profit momentarily from the collection of fines so assessed, but they might as well hang out a "yellow fever" signal, so far as the good effects are concerned. That one autoist will spread the word to avoid that town among every other autoist he meets. The town will virtually be black-ed among tourists. As the Eagle editor says, almost anyone would rather pay a fine than have to stay and fight a case—but the recollection remains.

The importance of this fact is no better illustrated than in Colorado, California and the Western and Northwestern states, where the annual tourist travel is heavy. Violation of any rule brings a smiling admonition from the traffic cop, or town officer, or a card is left in the car on which the regulations are printed, and the rule that has been violated is marked.

Give the stranger within our gates a fair deal—he may want to return; or he may say a good word for us sometime, someplace, that will bring us the rewards that unfeeling kindness and courtesy always warrant.—Brady Standard.

does not from time to time use credit both as a matter of con-necessity. But no good man will either pay his debts when any ground for apprehension pays or arranges to pay is the equal of any man. But the man who deliberately dodges his debts is no man at all.

Everybody knows that fact and he knows it as well as any-

How Firestone Has Reduced the Cost of Tire Service

HOW the cost of building quality tires has been brought down to the lowest level in history was explained by H. S. Firestone, President of the Company, to the stockholders at the annual meeting on December 15, 1921.

1. All inventories and commitments at or below the market.
2. Increased manufacturing efficiency and volume production reduced factory overhead 58%.

3. Selling costs reduced 38%.
Mr. Firestone stated, "This reduction in prices is made possible by our unusually advantageous buying facilities, and the enthusiasm, loyalty and determination of our 100% stockholding organization."

"Due credit must be given to Firestone dealers who are selling Firestone tires on a smaller margin of profit. This brings every Firestone saving direct to the car-owner."

The saving through first cost plus the saving through high mileage doubles Firestone economy and is daily adding new fame to the Firestone principle of service—

YOUR COMPETITOR.

By Dr. Frank Crane in The Rotarian.

It is a mistake to suppose you have to fight your competitors. Nothing was ever permanently gained by fighting. For fighting of any kind is pure destruction.

Your competitor does not have to be your enemy. He can be your friend.

Competition does not kill trade. It builds trade, stimu-lates trade, and makes new trade.

This is based on the natural law that no one person can suit everybody. No man can get all possible business in any community. His personality attracts some and repels others.

Wherever there is a lot of business for one man there is business for somebody else.
This is proved by the fact that in any big city business houses in the same line group together. We find most of the piano houses in one part of the town. Most of the automobile concerns are strung along a certain section of Broadway, N. Y.
The silk merchants, the hat manufacturers, and so on, each have their district. This proves that in the practical working out of business it pays a man to locate in the neighborhood of his competitors.

It is not true that there is just so much business to be had, and that a rival cuts your trade in half. As a rule, the more tradesmen the more trade.

A good lively competitor will increase your custom.
Two grocers in the same block will do more business than if they were only one, and if the other grocery is good, it is a more valuable competitor to you than a poor one.

"Where the carion is there the eagles are gathered together."

So runs the proverb. And where no eagles hover there is slim picking.

Don't hate your competitor.
Hate is always expensive. Get acquainted with him. You may learn something.

Don't knock your competitor.
It sounds bad, and it is bad.
Be a good sport, play the game.
Keep good natured.

Beat your competitor if you can, but remember that the surest way to beat him is to sell better goods, give prompter service and have more courteous work people. Don't fight by cutting prices. Keep your margin of profit fair.

If your competitor lies about you, or uses underhand methods to harm you, don't worry.
He is cutting off his nose to spite his face. He cannot fool all the people all the time.

Straight business and good wins out always in the long run.

Your competitor will do you a great deal of good if you keep your eyes open. He will keep you from slumping. He will make you energetic, careful, more attentive to business, and altogether will be a good tonic for you, if you know how to use him.

There is business enough for both of you. Go after it.

Watch the little folks speed home for Kellogg's Corn Flakes

It's great to see child-enthusiasm for Kellogg's; great to see every one in the family enjoy their crisp crunchiness and wonderful flavor! To sit down before a heaping bowlful of these cheery, oven-browned "sweet-hearts-of-the-corn" and some milk of cream—and fresh fruit, if it's handy —is just about the very last word in appetizing appeal! And, your good taste will prove that!

Kellogg's Corn Flakes ought to be superior—they are the original Corn Flakes! Kellogg's are never tough or leathery; never hard to eat; never a disappointment!

Be certain to get Kellogg's—the kind in the RED and GREEN package—because none are genuine without the signature of W. K. Kellogg, originator of Toasted Corn Flakes!

The effects of a disordered stomach on the system are dangerous, and prompt treatment of indigestion is important. #### SUTTON COUNTY LIVE STOCK DEALS INCREASE Sonora, March 16. — Live stock deals in Sutton County are on the incline, bringing more money into the county each week.

The George J. Trainer Commission Company of Sonora reports the following steer deals during the week: From Cauthorn Brothers, 100 head of 2's and 3's, at $30 and $40; from J. A. Cauthorn, 90 head, 3 years old, at $40; 80 head from Jack Wardlaw, 2's, at $30; 50 head from Bob Cauthorn, 3's and 4's, at $50 round; 40 head from Hi Eastland, 4's and 5's, at $50 round. These steers were purchased by W. H. Cripe of Kansas and Mr. Schultz, representing the Woodford Commission Company of Kansas City, Mo. These cattle will immediately be shipped to the long grass country in the flint hills of Kansas and will be fattened and shipped to market this fall.—San Angelo Standard.

H. N. LEWALLEN.

On last Sunday morning at eight o'clock, H. N. Lewallen died at his home eight miles below Junction, after only a brief illness.

Mr. Lewallen came here with his family from Eden, in Concho County, last November, and bought the S. L. Jeter stock farm. A number of friends and relatives from Voca and Eden, including Mr. Lewallen's brother and two sisters of Mrs. Lewallen, came as soon as notified of the death.

The body was taken to Voca Sunday night and buried Monday. Voca was the former home of the family before moving to Eden. Mr. Lewallen was about fifty years old, and was apparently in good health until a few days before his death. The family, although living here only a few months, have made many friends in and around Junction, who join the friends and relatives in the Eden and Voca communities in extending sympathy and speaking words of condolence to the bereaved family and other relatives.

PROTRACTED MEETING

Arrangements have been made for a meeting to begin on Saturday night before the first Sunday in May next. Our Bro. Carpenter, of Abilene, is to do the preaching. This agreement was made before we knew of any other contemplated meeting, and is made because of the announcement of the Methodist meeting to begin the fifth Sunday in April, and no intended conflict was made. In the event of a continuance of their meeting, we trust that both meetings will be well patronized, and that much good will be the result.

The undersigned expects to preach next Sunday, the fourth Sunday. Give us a hearing.

JOHN S. DURST.
