The public is cordially invited to be present for the judging of the Queen's Contest.

All Buckaroo contestants need to report to the action area of the arena by 10:30 a.m. to receive rodeo numbers. All need to be ready to assemble for the Grand Entry at 10:45 a.m.

D.M. (Bub) Holt will again emcee all proceedings. A public address system will be provided for announcements of all events.

Jim "Hot Dog" Walters, as clown, will provide fun for the day.

A concession stand, under management of Mrs. Renee Williams, will make sandwiches and soft drinks available to all.

Spectators are reminded to bring folding chairs or stools thus providing their own grandstand seats. Umbrellas for shade may also be desirable.

Action events will follow in swift succession. Parents and grandparents are urged to be present. All interested sightseers and thrill-seekers are welcome, according to promoters.

Bi-Centennial Planners Meet

Members of the Planning Committee for Olton's celebrations of the Bi-centennial are urged to be present at a session to be held Wednesday at 8:30 p.m.

The meeting will be conducted in Hospitality Room of the PCA building. Anyone who would like to share ideas will be most welcome. A progress report will be given.

Mustangs Picked No. 4

Dave Campbell's "Texas Football" magazine is on the newstands with the Mustangs of Olton High School selected for an enviable 1975 season.

Veteran predictor, Campbell place Olton in fourth place among the state's Class AA Top Ten. Listed ahead of the Blue and White Ponies are Cameron, Freer and LaGrange.

"It took state finalist Spearman to oust Olton from the 1974 state race - and it may require even more this season - since 8 offensive and 7 defensive operatives are returning from a 10-2 club," the magazine states.

The 1975 Mustangs will have 13 returning starters, six of those as two year starters.

'Texas' Trip In Offing

Olton Chamber of Commerce/Agriculture stands ready to charter a bus and make plans for a group attendance at the current production of "Texas" in Palo Duro Canyon.

Anyone interested in such a trip is asked to call the Chamber office Monday through Friday, from 9 to 12 noon.

Gym Opens Next Week

Athletes or others who "just want to get in shape" will have the opportunity to take advantage of facilities at Olton's high school gym beginning next week.

Physical fitness, conditioning and exercises will be the offering each Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evening beginning at 6 p.m. OHS athletes will be especially interested even though the gym facilities are open to the public.

City Council Re-Hires Combest

Given Night Patrolman Duties

Appearing before the city council, which met in a called session Monday night, Glenn "Bun" Combest said he would like to say a "couple of little things" before the council began discussion of the police department again.

"Since you sent me to school, I thought you might be interested in my grades. My final exam grade was 90 and my average over the six weeks period was 84."

"And another little thing," Combest continued, "It seems like in the past a little something or other wasn't satisfactory. Whatever it is, I apologize for things said or done in the past. If that's acceptable, that's all I have to say."

Combest, who was relieved of his duties by the council, effective Friday, July 11, for reported neglect of his duties, was hired back Monday night in the post as night patrolman at the same salary he was drawing as Police Chief. But the action did not come before a lengthy discussion by members of the council.

Vernon Nixon made the motion to elect Combest back as chief and the motion was seconded by Tom Sluder. However, it failed as Mrs. Billie Norfleet, Raymond Powers and Joe Hall voted against.

Nixon said he felt that part of the trouble with Combest was that he was under pressure, noting that his wife had been hospitalized and also his attending school during that period.

Powers brought up the point that he had made no effort during the past month to contact the night patrolman as he was instructed to do and that he would not assist David Dalton, night patrolman, in an arrest of a drunken man when asked. The mayor had to give him instructions to do so before he went to the night patrolman's assistance.

Powers said that since Combest had gone to school, that it seemed to him that he should be willing to help Dalton learn how to do his job better.

Sluder stated that as far as he was able to find out, that Combest was as good an officer as the city had ever had. And he questioned Dalton's ability to take instruction, citing the fact that Powers and the council had each told him not to leave the city limits at night unless called. Dalton admitted that he did leave the city limits after being told not to.

Powers said he felt like "we need someone to give more attention to our kids. I can go right now and buy some pot and bring it and show it to you. Nothing is being done by local officials to try to get to the bottom of the narcotic problem. The only time a 'bust' is made, Smitty does it."

Mrs. Norfleet said that she felt to hire Combest in the same capacity was asking for the same thing again, stating that maybe in some other capacity it would work out, but "not for chief, for reasons we have discussed before."

Hall said he felt like that undue pressures were being put on Powers and Mrs. Norfleet and that maybe the entire council should share the responsibility of the police department. (After re-organization of the council following the last election, Powers and Mrs. Norfleet were named to head up the police department with other council members being named to street department and water department.)

Powers then said, "In effect what you're saying is that Billie and I are going to be taken off the police department as head because we have been doing our job. If Bun goes back on, then Billie and I are the ones who are, as Sue would say 'reprimanded'."

Hall said no, that it wasn't that way at all, to which Powers said, "That's the way it looks to me. Just because Bun says he's sorry..."

Sluder then spoke up and said, "We talked about an apology when we relieved Bun."

Mayor Givens then called for a vote which failed.

Joe Hall then made a motion to offer Bun the job as night patrolman at the salary he was receiving as chief and if he accepted, relieve Dalton of his duties. Second was by Nixon.

Voting for the motion were Nixon, Sluder, Norfleet and Hall. Powers voted against.

Applications for job of the day time city patrolman are now being accepted by Mayor Givens and when sufficient applications are made and if the need arises, a called meeting will be scheduled for the purpose of naming a day man. Otherwise, the issue would be discussed at the next regularly scheduled meeting.

Five Swedish Youth

Didn't Want To Go Home

Five young Swedish visitors greeted this week's time for departure without the usual eagerness which accompanies a going-home. It was, instead, the too-soon ending of an enjoyable trip.

In participation with Lions International Youth Exchange program, the five had been visiting in local homes since June 15. Two of the youths, Nils Rundblad and Ann Doultan were guests of the Willie Green family. Eva Hellstrom stayed with the Raymond Powers family; Stefan Ekenberg, the Leon Noack family and Lena Friberg, the Delbert Howells.

All are well traveled. Nils has vacationed in most of the European countries and in Gambia, Africa. Ann has visited most of Europe and has also been to Tunis and Cyprus. Stefan has traveled in Germany, Italy, Austria, Switzerland and Spain. Lena has vacationed in France, Spain and nearby islands.

Eva, who's traveled fewer places, said, "I've been to Spain," and with a matter-of-fact shrug, she added, "about 10 times." She explained her family has spent a number of Christmas holidays in Spain.

Spain and the Canary Islands, the five said, are popular vacation spots for people of Sweden.

Twenty Swedish young people, all participants in the Lions program, made the flight together. From New York, they went to separate destinations in Texas. The five young Olton visitors explained that a choice was offered by all picked Texas over the other states.

With American television shows familiar to Swedish video screens, the young people discovered Texas to be much the same as their expectations. None pictured the state in the "cowboy and Old West image" which some foreign visitors envision.

Popular American TV shows on Swedish screens include "Cannon," "McMillan and Wife" and "McCloud." The discontinued shows, "Ironside" and "Bonanza" were also popular.

Television, operated by the government, has one outstanding difference from the American version. "We have no commercials," they explained. A tax paid by viewers provides the revenue which would otherwise come from advertisements.

The catchy television commercial which describes the menu offerings of the hamburger chain, "McDonald's" was new to the young Swedes although all were familiar with the eating places which are also found in their homeland.

"It's cheaper here," all said. "Big Mac's," they explained cost twice as much in Sweden as those in the South Plains area.

"To eat out in Sweden is very expensive," Nils said. "Much more than here."

But he noted, too, that wages are higher in Sweden. All visitors agreed that Sweden is a rich land where there are "no poor people." "If you can't find work," one explained, "The government helps you until you do find a job and can begin earning wages."

Swedish citizenship is not difficult for foreigners to obtain the youths said. There are requirements to be met, however, before aliens may enter Sweden to live.

"You must have a place to live and you must have a job."

Government supported doctors and dentists are the norm, although there are "private ones."

For "two or three dollars" one may be admitted to Swedish hospitals whether the stay is to be one day or several. "You stay as long as you need and that is all that you pay."

Percentage of income which goes for taxes is quite high, Nils explained, although he is not sure of the ratio. "At least 40 percent,"

he believes.

The visitors all had new foods during their stay and all expressed liking for the popular Mexican food. Stefan particularly expressed a fondness for enchiladas. Tacos and tamales were also accepted with favor.

Squash was a new vegetable the youths tried although Stefan refused his first offering, served one day by his host family, the Noacks. Dinner guests in the Green home one evening, the youths were served a "must taste" helping of squash and Stefan found the new dish tasty.

"But she don't say what its name is," he said in laughing defense.

Plainview's Bar-None Rodeo was also "a first" for the young Swedes. All liked the experience and said there was nothing like it at home. Some also rode horses for the first time with Lena confessing fear at first.

Howell, Lena's host father who has several years experience as a pilot, provided her with her first ride in a small plane when the Howells and Lena visited in South Texas and Mexico.

Everything But The Kitchen Sink

By Mozelle Trotter

On the subject of winners! I mentioned this briefly once before but I've more to say about the debt of gratitude our town owes to a certain person.

Don't turn me off when you see this is baseball connected! Please!

Without Janice-Mrs. Travis Walters we'd never have completed our summer baseball program this year! And without her family back of her, she'd never made it so we owe them a great big thanks too.

There's a whole lot more involved in a baseball program such as ours than "signing up" and "playing ball."

Funded and operated as a volunteer program, it is only as good as we make it. And, if it had been left to the "we's" it would have never survived!

It's had problems, it's had headaches, it's had more than its share of bickering and complaining. Yet it survived because of a dedicated, Never-give-up "Queen of the Diamonds."

Janice spent many more hours in her job as "secretary of Olton Baseball Association" than anyone (except her family) could believe!

Finding people to serve in such "volunteer" positions is difficult because the reason for refusing ("I don't have the time") is genuine. Janice didn't have the time, either, but she made it!

So, it's a great big "Thank you, Janice" we all need to say.

From the planning to the completion, she's kept records, managed monies, run errands and then more errands, scrubbed concessions, heard complaints, served Cokes, worried over equipment failures, listened to fussing, pacified when possible, begged for funds, pleaded for workers and boosted the boys! Janice managed, after all that, to handle a multitude of other tasks for baseball.

Busier than the proverbial bee, Janice survived all that and still found time for her most important job...being "just a housewife" and the devoted mother of three sons.

Of all things! We forgot to share our good news! Still about winners.

The "Ladies Gazette" likes entering newspaper contests and we entered them again this year. We won a couple of little awards in an earlier contest and were proud of our second place advertising and third place Woman's page feature even though we'd dreamed of "firsts!"

Well, Texas Press Newspaper Contest winners were announced June 26 and we tied for general excellence for newspapers in our population category. That's the award for "over-all," the winner receives a bronzed plaque of the front page of one of the entries submitted so there had to be just one winner.

Wouldn't you know! When they reconsidered the two papers we lost out to Archer City? We did earn first place in News Writing and third place Editorials so we didn't get left out.

We still have one contest to go. Who knows, maybe we'll be lucky in that one also.

And then, there's always NEXT YEAR!

Letters From Our Readers

Church Page Appreciated

Dear Sue,

I want to commend you, and the merchants who sponsor the listing of the churches in Olton in the newspaper. For some time now, I have appreciated this, as it appeared each week in the paper. I took it for granted that all papers did this.

However, I found this is not true. As a part of letting people know about our Hearthstone Inspirational book racks, we write the churches in the towns where we have racks. So I have had occasion during the past weeks to buy newspapers in other small towns in the area, looking for a list of the churches. In many instances I found no reference to the churches.

Thanks again, Olton Enterprise, and the merchants who make it possible for our churches to be recognized in the paper. We are proud of you, and our churches, and I think folks realize this when they come to visit or live in our community.

Sincerely,

tery, Irving, under lease for two and one-half years. Prior to that he had worked in that firm seven and one-half years. Earlier he had worked eight years for Sears.

He states that he is able to begin with a frame and completely build or re-build a piece of furniture. He prides himself in being able to restyle various pieces by tearing away to the frame and rebuilding.

Ratliff will carry a complete line of upholstery swatches, and through connections in Dallas can get immediate delivery of materials selected.

He brought with him to the city, work that he is doing for an interior decorator in Amarillo and he comments, "It's one thing to bring a business into the town, but it is still another to bring business in from another town."

Operating the "furniture hospital" is a family project with the Ratliffs. While he has the building and upholstery skills, his wife and two younger children, Tonya and Tony, help in various ways to ready the furniture for rebuilding and re-upholstering. The elder daughter, Linda, serves as the firm's bookkeeper.

Ratliff lived here formerly, from 1942 to 1950. He attended Olton schools and still has many relatives in the area.

Mrs. Ratliff, a native of Dallas, has worked for Reserve Life Insurance Company in that city the past five years and has been named employee of the month to win monetary awards.

Mr. and Mrs. Ratliff frankly state they prefer a smaller town in which to rear their children, and they are looking forward to becoming a part of community endeavors.

Ratliff wishes to invite persons with "ailing furniture" to pay them a visit. He states they are "trying to get things shaped up, get the coffee pot on and will welcome visits from all comers. No job is too large or too small."

WELCOME TO OLTON

MR. AND MRS. JOHN WILLIAM RATLIFF & FAMILY

Welcome is extended this week to a family from Dallas. They are bringing a new business into the city.

Mr. and Mrs. John William Ratliff are opening an Upholstery Shop at 604 Main. For Ratliff, the move is coming home, since he lived here at a former time and attended Olton schools.

Mrs. Ratliff was born and reared in Dallas. They are parents of three children, Linda, who is 15 years of age, Tonya who is ten, and Tony, seven.

The Ratliffs are making their home at 1100 Ave. G. They plan to attend Hopewell Baptist Church.

Swedish Students

not played in Sweden so the Little League and Babe Ruth baseball games played in Olton gave the visitors still another first. Attending almost every tournament game played here last week, Stefan was asked if he would like to take the game of baseball home to Sweden. "Never," was his quick answer.

Nils celebrated the Fourth of July in a special way when his father called by trans-Atlantic telephone. One of the young Noacks was amazed to hear Stefan explain, "No, Sweden does not celebrate the Fourth of July."

Sweden does have two summer holidays. June 6 is Swedish Flag Day and June 21 is Midsummer Day. The sun never sets on Midsummer Day. Darkness falls about 5 p.m. in winter with sunrise about 9 a.m.

Schooling is different in Sweden where youngsters begin school at seven years of age. Nine years of grammar school are required of all students. High school education varies with the individual and, depending on what the person wishes to study, may take two, three or four years.

For those wishing to continue with college study, the curriculum also determines the years of required study and may vary from two to six years.

"Everyone who wants to go to college can," the youths said. Government funding enables those who need financial assistance to obtain the college work desired. The educational loans are repaid.

Swedish youngsters begin studying English - a required language - at nine. They must also study a third language and three of the five visitors said they chose German. Ann picked French with Lena choosing both French and Spanish.

Nils will begin college work in September and plans to study economics and "electricity." Ann, after two more years of high school study, would like to study law. Lena has completed high school and is working in a bank. The youngest two, Stefan and Eva, are still in high school.

Years of study give the Swedes a fluency of the English language so American visitors find no language barrier in Sweden, the youths said. The only lack of communication, they add, would be with the generation of their grandparents.

The Swedish alphabet differs from the English in that it has 29 letters. The three extra letters are the "a" marked with two dots, the "a" marked with one dot and the "o" marked with one dot.

Swedish youth cannot obtain a driver's license until they are 18 years old. They do not study driver's education in school but take private lessons which makes their license more costly than that of their American counterparts.

A notable difference is that licenses do not have to be renewed. "That's bad," Eva said.

If a driving license is revoked, Nils said, it is for a two-year period and a new license "must be bought at a much higher cost."

Nils explained that Sweden is very strict about DWI offenders and that most serve a jail sentence as punishment. A safety belt law is also enforced and persons are subject to "heavy fines" if caught violating the regulation.

Most Swedes walk or use public transportation because automobiles are so very expensive. Nils said that the Volkswagen, one of the more popular cars, costs about $4,000.

The visitors all expressed amazement at the "low cost" here of Wranglers and Levi jeans. Both brands are popular in Sweden but "cost much more."

King Carl Gustav VI of Sweden is not a ruling monarch, the young people said. "He just has a title, he has no power. We have government by the people."

Sweden, they explained, has five political parties including the Conservative, Liberals, Socialists ("the biggest party") and Social Democrats ("not like U.S. Democrats").

The 350 elected officials are presently divided equally from the Socialist and Social Democratic parties. "It is the first time we've had it like this. Neither party agrees with the other, so..." and a shrug of the shoulders indicates the futility of such circumstances.

King Gustav is described by the youths as "young - very young - and a bachelor." He is also, as described by Lena, "very cute."

Ending a happy visit, at least two of the youths expressed a desire to again visit the U.S. and Texas, with Eva saying, "I'm coming back."

Smith's total strike outs numbered 13. He walked one.

For Olton in the first, David Smith led off with a walk; Henry Perez hit a sacrifice grounder and Gregg Smith collected an RBI with a double. Pitcher Smith was safe on an error which scored G. Smith. An error to Vance Stroebel scored another run. Lonnie Neinast doubled.

Alfred Ruentz singled to open the second. Then with two down, G. Smith walked and K. Smith singled. One run scored in the inning.

Fifteen men came to bat in the third. Back-to-back walks to Stroebel, Neinast and Rob Sivley loaded the bases and Fuentez singled. D. Smith walked, Perez singled and G. Smith slammed a ball over the left field fence. K. Smith singled and Glen Terrell sent a ball deep into left field for the first out. Stroebel walked, all hands were safe on a fielder's choice to Neinast and Sivley went down swinging. Fuentez was hit by a pitch and D. Smith walked. A long fly ball to center field ended the scoring spree with nine runs crossing the plate and three men left on base.

With one away in the fourth, K. Smith connected for a triple. Terrell's sacrifice fly scored Smith. Neinast singled.

Darryl Quigley singled in the fifth and scored on a double by Perez. Olton's final run came in the sixth when Neinast singled and later scored on an error which put Thomas Rios on base.

Plainview sent five pitchers against the hitting Olton All Stars.

Muleshoe scored five runs in the sixth Tuesday night to take the lead and victory over the Oltonites, eliminating them from the tournament.

Olton led 5-3 until the sixth with all five runs coming of the home run hitting of Gregg Smith. Smith slammed four baggers in the third and fourth innings.

In the first, D. Smith drew a base on balls, Perez was on with a fielder's choice and then wiped out by the same fate as G. Smith hit for a fielder's choice. K. Smith singled but no run could score.

In the second, Neinast singled but could not get past second.

Perez opened the third with a single and G. Smith sailed one over the fence to score two runs. Terrell singled and advanced. Neinast connected for his second single of the game.

In the fourth, Perez was again on first base when G. Smith connected for his second home run. K. Smith and Terrell singled but neither were able to score.

Olton's only remaining hit came in the fifth when Rios singled.

M & W Perfect Kern'l GRAIN DRYERS

UNMATCHED CAPACITY • UNBEATABLE ECONOMY
GRAIN QUALITY NO OTHER DRYER CAN TOUCH

These are the unchallenged champions of grain drying. Farmers all over the country have found out that nothing gives them the capacity, the economy and the grain quality they have to have to keep ahead in today's farming. Every kernel gets the same treatment. There's no overheating, no overdrying — no pockets of wet grain to invite spoilage. And they do the job faster and cheaper too!

All it takes is a glance at your own checkbook to know that in the long run you have to have more coming in than going out. The same principal works with nations as well. That's why an international trade surplus is more desirable than a trade deficit. American farmers last year did far more than any other segment of U-S industry to reduce a trade deficit topped off by the high prices of mid-eastern oil. Agricultural exports last year were worth 22 billion dollars, producing an agricultural trade surplus of nearly 12 billion. This contribution by food and fiber producers brought our total deficit to 3 billion dollars. Still high, but much less than some economists thought it would be. Those figures from last year are considered by many to be the harbinger of agriculture's future importance to the U-S position in world affairs. Farmers and ranchers are moving more directly into the limelight as they produce enough to keep us number one.

Lamb County Farm Bureau 385-3444
Why is the wording in insurance policies so difficult to understand? Why not use plain talk?

All policy forms must be approved by the Department of Insurance for each state in which the policy is to be sold. Therefore, to comply with various state regulations, an insurance company was developed, eliminating the necessity of 50 different policy forms. Insurance companies would like to see plain talk policies since most companies maintain Policy Holder Service Departments which write to policy holders re-explaining the terms of the policy in layman's language. Companies would prefer to eliminate this additional expense and pass on the savings in premium payment reductions. Progress has been made in the last five years to simplify the language and better illustrate the benefits.
