Chief of Police Continues Crime Prevention Crusade

Chief of Police James Craig-mile is continuing to do everything he can to stimulate and expand an effective program of crime prevention in the Rockport area.

In fact, he is so convinced that crime prevention projects offer realistic opportunities to decrease crime that he accepts every chance he gets to give talks on the subject—here and in nearby communities.

As an example, he was one of the three speakers who spoke on "Crime Prevention and the Press" Aug. 28 at a joint luncheon meeting at Corpus Christi Petroleum Club sponsored by the Press Club and the Greater Corpus Christi Chapter of Women in Communication.

Accompanied by Rockport Police Sgt. Joe Hinojosa and John R. Kinsey, editor of the Rockport Pilot, Craigmile addressed a large audience of area law enforcement officers and representative of newspapers, TV and radio from Corpus Christi and several other cities in this area.

Craigmile said that for years the public showed apathy about participating in any type of crime prevention program, but with crimes of all types continuing to increase throughout the nation, most people during the

County Budget Shows Decrease

The Aransas County commissioners have okayed a budget of $1,560,272 for 1975-76. This is a decrease of $341,044 from last year.

Some construction projects and other one-shot costs were included in last year's budget.

Assessed valuations have been estimated at $57,544, an increase of $47,162 over 1974-75. The tax rate will remain at $1.10 per $100 assessed valuation.

The budget calls for $632,991 in local taxes but estimates there will be $63,299 in delinquent taxes. As of July 1, the county had $34,820 in delinquent taxes from last year. No pay raises are called for in the new budget.

SeaFair Gumbo Cook-off Oct. 11

This extravaganza of the culinary art of gumbo cooking is to be held for the first time Saturday, October 11, as part of the all new Rockport SeaFair.

The cook-off will begin at 12:30 p.m. Contestants must furnish all necessary paraphernalia pertinent to their production. The amount prepared should be no less than one gallon or more than five gallons. Contestants may enter as individuals or a team of two; male or female or any combination thereof. Roux may be prepared in advance.

There will not be an entry fee. In lieu of this, SeaFair will sell cups of gumbo for 50 cents each after the judging. Twenty percent of sale price will be retained by SeaFair with the remainder going to the respective contestants.

Six or five judges will be on hand with the judging taking place at 4:30 p.m. Awards for front place, next to front place, behind place and showmanship cookery will be presented at 5 p.m. Lots of fun to be had by all!

To enter send your name (Indv. or team), address, telephone number and the name of your recipe to: Dusty Smith, SeaFair, 13 Lauderdale, Rockport, Tx. 78382.

Don't tarry - cooking space is limited!

Dump Closing Is Protested

County commissioners have found out that local residents want their almost-automated dump open on weekends.

The county has two compacting machines and adjacent dumping grounds where residents can pay to have their trash and garbage compacted or to drop off old washing machines and other metal.

Recently, the commissioners decided to close the area on weekends. Citizen protest was fast. They let County Judge John Wendell and the commissioners know, mainly by phone, the action wasn't appreciated.

So commissioners decided to reopen the facility all day on Saturday and half a day on Sunday.

There is a 20-cent compacter charge for 20 or 30-gallon plastic bags or cans, $1.50 a yard for brush and rubbish and $2.25 to compact large amounts of garbage.

Rockport has garbage pick-up, but apparently some people like to haul their own.

Yard of the Month

Mr. and Mrs. A.L. Stratton of Fulton have received the September Yard of the Month award. Mrs. A.C. Hamon, chairman of the Yard of the Month committee, announced. The Stratton home is located on the corner of Fourth and Fulton Streets.

Stratton maintains the lawn, trims, edges and clips the fig vine that covers a portion of the Campaign to Cut Burglary

Aransas County Sheriff Robert Hewes announced today that he has been chosen to participate in the National Sheriff's Association's efforts to reduce burglary and larceny nationally and in Aransas County.

The National Sheriffs' Association (NSA), with headquarters in Washington, D.C., is a professional law enforcement association with more than 40,000 members in all American states and territories. Sheriff Hewes has been chosen, according to NSA Executive Director Ferris E. Lucas, because of his demonstrated concern for the safety of the citizens of Aransas County.

The program to combat burglary and larceny, known as Operation Neighborhood Watch, is designed to make the citizens aware of these specific crimes as well as to enlist citizen support to reduce these offenses. The program is supported by a grant awarded by the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration of the U.S. Department of Justice (LEAA). The National Sheriffs' Association was chosen to administer the program because of their countywide law enforcement authority and responsibility.

Advisory assistance and pledges of cooperation have been received from the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, the United States Jaycees, and the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution.

Sheriff Hewes was notified by NSA Executive Director Lucas that he will be furnished with informational and educational material which will explain the citizen's role in Operation Neighborhood Watch in Aransas County. Lucas commented that, for the program to be successful, the cooperation of the law-abiding citizens of Aransas County is absolutely essential.

The specific crimes of burglary and larceny were chosen as the focal point of this program by the National Sheriffs' Association because burglary has increased 70% and larceny has increased 109% during the past five years. They therefore represent a countrywide problem and approximately 70% of all reported crimes, nationwide.

Sheriff Hewes said he has notified NSA executive Director Lucas that he will gladly assume this added responsibility and will provide details of Operation Neighborhood Watch to the citizens of Aransas County as soon as they are received. Lucas said he will be watching Aransas County closely during the coming months to determine the program's success, as compared to other selected counties across the nation.

United Fund For 1975-1976 Campaign Goal Set at $12,500

Goal for the Aransas County 1975-1976 United Fund campaign was set at $12,500 at a meeting of the fund's board of directors last Thursday at Corky's restaurant. The campaign is scheduled to start Oct. 1, with Rev. Tom McClung as drive chairman.

The new goal compares with last year's goal of $11,500, although a total of $11,922 was raised for 11 charitable, welfare and character-building agencies. The surplus was distributed to the agencies on a pro rata basis.

Mayor Walter S. Falk, Jr., chairman of last year's campaign and current president of the fund, reported that so far only four of the participating agencies have informed the fund of their needs for the 1975-1976 year. He urged the others to make their request for funds immediately so the budget committee can complete its work prior to the start of the campaign. Participating agencies also are asked to include a brief summary of their activities and objectives. This information will be used in promotional material during the drive, he said.

It was agreed that the board investigate the needs of several local organizations not at present included with participating organizations for possible inclusion in this year's campaign.

Rev. McClung briefly outlined tentative plans for the campaign. Most of the solicitation will be by mail as has been the program in recent years. However, special efforts will be made to win the support of a number of local groups which have not been responsive in the past, according to Rev. McClung.

It was voted unanimously to ask official designation as a Bicentennial project for the 1975-1976 United Fund campaign from the local Bicentennial Commission.

Directors attending last week's meeting, in addition to Mayor Falk and Rev. McClung, were John P. Mitchell, Jr., Mildred McDonald, Betty French, Joe Hugenberg, Virginia Shivers, Mary Burke, Bill Ratliff, Loyce Landrum and David H. Crooks.

THREAT OF HURRICANE HURTS TOURIST BUSINESS

The threat of Hurricane Caroline caused a sharp decrease in the number of out-of-town people who had expected to spend the Labor Day weekend in the Rockport-Fulton-Lamar area.

A check with local motels, trailer parks, restaurants, tackle shops, bait stands and charter boat operators on Tuesday verified what was obvious to anyone driving around this area—that scores of men, women and children who had looked forward to coming here changed their minds when the exact course of the hurricane was unknown.

Some people who had motel or trailer park reservations called and cancelled while some simply didn't arrive.

The manager of one leading motel said business at his place was down about 25 per cent last Friday, business picked up some on Saturday and the decrease was only 12 per cent, and the net result was that business for the month was down 3 per cent, compared to what had been anticipated.

Speech Needs To be Checked

Carol Keller, plan-a-speech therapist for Aransas County Independent School District, will begin routine screening of the school population to determine needs of students for speech correction.

Mrs. Keller provides help to students with articulation, oral language, improper tongue placement and stuttering problems.

Speech correction is offered through the schools with no cost to families. Parents will be contacted if a child will benefit from this service.

COUNTY ACTS ON AIRPORT MATTERS

On August 27 there was a special meeting of the Commissioners Court with the following members present: John D. Wendell, County Judge; Eric Eller, Commissioner Precinct No. 1; Ray Longino, Commissioner Precinct No. 2; C.L. Hale, Commissioner Precinct No. 4; and Ruby Hart, County Clerk.

Motion was made by Commissioner Hale to accept lease modification agreement between County of Aransas and Linwood Bland as presented. Motion was seconded by Commissioner Eller. Motion carried unanimously.

Minimum requirements as set out for Airport Aeronautical Services were read.

Jesse Davis met with the Court to protest what he called "the nuisance" of airplanes flying over his home.

The Court granted permission to Bland, Airport Manager, to assign lease to Aransas Aviation, Inc.

Motion was made by Commissioner Longino that the Court turn down lighting contract until lighting meets certain specifications. Motion was seconded by Commissioner Hale. Motion carried unanimously.

Motion was made by Commissioner Eller that proposal from Metals Building Sales to furnish labor and materials on existing structure at county dump ground, with door changes to be added, be accepted. Motion was seconded by Commissioner Hale. Motion carried unanimously.

Motion was made by Commissioner Hale to hire dragline to dig ditches and to bury brush, and to investigate the purchase of truck. Motion was seconded by Commissioner Eller. Motion carried unanimously.

BANTAM BOWLING

All children interested in bowling on a Bantam or Junior League, please contact Mrs. Elmer Redden at 729-7204, Mrs. Louise Ziesler, 729-0845, or be at the bowling lanes in Aransas Pass on Sept. 6 at 10 a.m.

Support and Response to Hospital Foundation Growing

Heirs of Col. John H. Wood and publishers of the book "Texas Coastal Bend: People and Places" by Mrs. Alpha Kennedy Wood, have offered this book as a fund raising contribution to the Chamber of Commerce Women's Committee. This Committee is raising funds for the Hospital Foundation.

The author was a direct descendant of Joseph F. Smith and wife of Will Welder Wood, grandson of Col. John H. Wood, one of the founders of Rockport.

The completed history of our area is made available to you through the Chamber office or Women's Committee (Mrs. Bertie Cone and Mrs. Clyda Milks, co-chairmen) at $7.95 per copy.

All profits over the basic fee charged the Chamber will be contributed to the Hospital Escrow Foundation. Orders are being taken now for our first delivery. You may contact Mrs. Cone or anyone in the Chamber office. Sales will continue through the SeaFair and Bicentennial year.

Response has been increasing daily to the request for people to rally behind building this foundation. Volunteers to help in a workshop which is held each Tuesday and Thursday are asked to contact Mrs. Bertie Cone, 729-5750, or Chamber, 729-6445. Larger work space is required, Mrs. Cone stated, and you are asked to go to Mrs. Nancy Cooke's home, 44 Flamingo, Key Allegro Island. Both homes will be used if necessary. Two days instead of one will be necessary to complete projects for SeaFair festival, according to Mrs. Cone.

If you are free any time between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. on Tuesdays and/or Thursdays, please help sew, needlepoint, knit, crochet, work on craft projects and so forth, on these special days. If you are interested in working on projects at your home, arrangements will be made for this also.

WIETING NAMED TO LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL

Austin -- Representative Leroy Wieting has been appointed to the Legislative Council by Speaker of the House Bill Clayton.

Wieting is one of ten representatives appointed to the Legislative Council by the Speaker. In addition, five senators are appointed by the Lieutenant Governor. Each will serve for the next twelve months.

The Legislative Council provides facilities and professional personnel to assist members of the legislature in areas of research, special studies, legal counsel, communications, and bill drafting. The regular research staff, supplemented by temporary members and consultants, makes studies requested by the legislature and by the Council itself.

Marvin H. Brown of Brownsville, right, district governor of Rotary for this area, is greeted by Joe Hugenberg, president of Rockport Rotary Club, on the occasion of Brown's first official visit to the local civic club last week.

skilled, such as mechanics, repairmen and technicians in various fields. They, too, are financed for a year's study in another country. The fourth program offers similar opportunities for advanced study abroad for outstanding teachers of handicapped persons who have either physical or mental disabilities. The final program is a group study exchange in which five students, accompanied by a Rotary advisor, visit another country to learn more about another way of life.

These students tour the country including visits to Rotary Clubs in the host country and are expected to acquire a better understanding of the country and its people with the expectation that they will spread this information when they return home.

Brown emphasized that these programs are world-wide in scope, involving many countries where Rotary is active, not just the United States. He asserted that the program does an effective job of selling the American way of life.

Both at the Tuesday night meeting and the Wednesday luncheon meeting Brown urged the local club to stress community service, effective communication with club members and the public, continuing efforts to attract community leaders to club membership and special effort to make the club's weekly bulletin an effective means of internal communication for members.

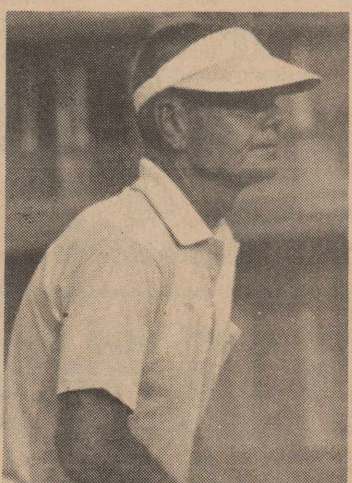

During his visit Brown also urged the club to let the community know about civic activities of its members, including involvement in Aransas County Library, SeaFair festival, United Fund campaigns, and the Rockport Bicentennial Commission. "Don't hide your light under a bushel," he advised.

Tennis Ass'n Elects Officers

The Rockport Tennis Association, whose chief purpose is to encourage and support tennis activities in the Rockport area, held its organization meeting and elected officers at Rockport Racquet and Yacht Club last Sunday afternoon.

The new association's by-

Dewey Lingo has been named president of Rockport Tennis Association.

laws state the organization's main purpose is "furtherance of charitable and educational activities, particularly in the field of tennis in Rockport, Texas, and in the surrounding area: the encouragement and promotion of good health and character by outdoor recreation and tennis competition; and to organize and manage tournaments and to stimulate tennis in general."

Dewey Lingo, who has been active in stimulating interest in such an organization, was elected president; Jim White was named vice president and George Falk, secretary-treasurer.

Directors are as follows: Lingo, White and Dr. Jim Wideman, three-year terms; Falk, Joe Hugenberg and Leon Bateman, two-year terms; Polly Bracht, Roy Hicks and Jim Allen, one-year terms. As these terms expire directors will thereafter be elected for three-year terms.

It is planned to seek a state charter for the new organization and to obtain tax exempt status from the Internal Revenue Service, as has been done by similar organizations.

As explained by John Gutzke, professional at the Rockport Racquet Club, an organization such as the new Rockport Tennis Association is necessary to obtain membership in the United States Tennis Association and official sanction by it for tournaments staged in this area. Also, it will make possible state ranking for local players by the Texas Tennis Association.

A tentative program for the new local association includes promotion of more wide-spread participation in tennis in this area, sponsorship of junior players in out-of-town tournaments and support for more emphasis on tennis at local schools, possibly to include better facilities in the way of courts and instruction.

At Sunday's meeting it was proposed that there be several classes of membership in the new association, probably to include sponsors and junior memberships in addition to regular adult memberships. Allen was appointed to study this question as well as a schedule of dues and a budget.

Hugenberg, Mrs. Bracht and Bateman were named to a membership committee. It was pointed out that local business firms as well as non-playing individuals probably would be interested to sponsor memberships in view of additional business which may be generated by staging tournaments here which are officially sanctioned by The United States Tennis Association.

Falk was appointed to explore procedure and costs of obtaining a Texas state charter for The Rockport Tennis Association.

Tennis Summer Season Ends

Two informal ceremonies marked the end of the summer season at Rockport Racquet Club recently.

First, trophies were awarded the four leading players in the Beginners Lesson League conducted Tuesday and Thursday mornings throughout the summer by John Gutzke, professional and teacher. Each session involved group lessons in tennis techniques and practice with a ball machine which hurls balls across the net for students to return. This was followed by match play. Winners were selected on the basis of this competition, according to Gutzke.

Winners were Gay Harper, first; Stacy Johnson, second; Barbara Allen, third; and Lori Allen, fourth. Other players in the league were Andy McMillan, Julie Hiller, Lisa Johnson, Lu Cinda Hamon, Scott Meyer, Lisa Smith and Rene Fair.

A similar league was conducted for women beginners who met Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. Trophies were awarded the three top players in this league with Margaret Montague winning first; Sherry Hiller, second; and Patty McMillan placing third. Other players were Linda Daly, Eleanor Clement, Kay Smith, Phillis Fair and Susan White.

Encouraged by popularity and success of the two summer lesson leagues, Gutzke announced he was planning similar leagues for this fall for juniors, women and men, with women playing in the morning, youngsters after school and men after work.

"Our plan, which combines lessons with competitive play, seems to appeal to most beginners who are anxious to learn the fundamentals of tennis but also want the challenge of competitive play at the end of each teaching session," Gutzke said. "Also, this program helps to maintain interest by giving students an opportunity to immediately try out what they have learned during the class," he added.

State Park Use Fees Going Up

Austin — The inflationary spiral has finally hit the Texas state park system.

Come September 1, 1975, use fees will be increased to assist in generating more revenue to offset rising park operation and maintenance costs.

Entrance fees will remain unchanged at $1 per vehicle per day at most parks, with the option of a $12 annual permit or a $5 restricted annual permit.

Park entrance is free for persons 65 years of age and older through the State Parklands Passport.

According to Parks and Wildlife Department Executive Director Clayton Garrison, among fees to be raised are those for regular campsites, from the present $1 to $2 per vehicle; campsites with electricity, from $1.50 to $3 for the first motor vehicle and $2 for all others; campsites with electricity and sewage, from $1.75 to $3.50 for the first motor vehicle and $2 for all others; and screened shelters, from $3.50 to $5 for the first motor vehicle and $2 for all others.

Fees for cabins occupied by one or two persons will be increased to $10 from the present $6. Each additional adult staying in the cabin will be charged $2 and each child ages six to 12 charged an additional $1. Children ages five and under will continue to stay free.

"With few exceptions the department's user fees for overnight facilities have not changed in more than 20 years," said Garrison.

"Our scheduled fee increases are in line with the department's aim of insuring that those persons who receive the greatest and most direct benefit from the system should contribute an equitable share of the system's financial requirements."

The fees help finance the operational and maintenance costs of the parks.

Park operations officials at the P&WD surveyed comparable private, state and federal facilities and found that present fees charged for Texas state parks are among the nation's lowest.

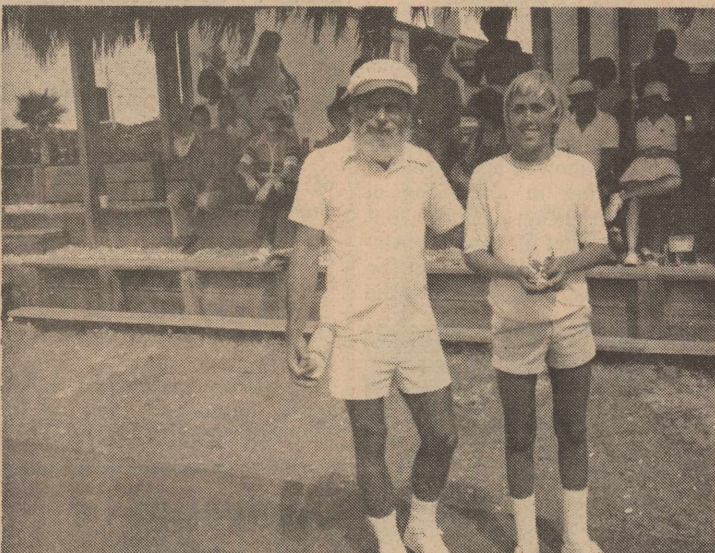

Average charge in all states for overnight camping facilities with electricity is $3.35. Camping rate in Texas for KOA-type campgrounds is $5.75. Corps of Engineer parks in the state charge $3.50.

Garrison said that notices of fee increases will be mailed to those who have reservations in parks for after September 1.

A total of 15 user fees is being increased on that date. Local park superintendents will have information on fee increases specific to their parks.

Winners in the Junior Beginners Lesson League at the Rockport Racquet and Yacht Club recently were awarded trophies for play during the summer sessions of the league. Shown, left to right, are Gay Harper, first; Stacy Johnson, second; Barbara Allen, third, and Lori Allen, fourth. John Gutzke, club professional who taught the group and presented the trophies, is shown rear.

Steve Allen, right, who has been assistant to John Gutzke, Rockport Racquet Club professional, left, was given a trophy in recognition of his work at the club during school vacation. Allen was responsible for conducting the junior division of the recent end-of-the-summer club tournaments.

1st National Employees Taking Courses

Almost half of the members of the staff of First National Bank have registered for college level courses in banking, finance or related subjects at Del Mar Junior College or Texas A and I at Corpus Christi this fall.

The courses at Del Mar are under sponsorship of American Institute of Banking which has worked out an arrangement for college credit to be given students who complete the courses. This program leads to an associate's degree in banking and finance. Classes meet once a week.

Pat Blackwell and Mary Lueders, both assistant cashiers at the bank, will be taking a course titled "Principles of Bank Operation" which meets once a week and carries three credit hours.

Robbie Andrews and Joyce Hill, also assistant cashiers, as well as Lenora Moses and Diana Eller, are taking "Introduction to Data Processing." This class also offers three credit hours but it includes one hour of laboratory work as well as three hours of classroom work.

Eddie Ratliff, vice president, will be taking "Installment Credit" and Elsie Hawes, assistant cashier, has registered for "Public Relations and Marketing."

Forrest C. Porter, Jr., who has been working for First National during the summer vacation, will continue on a part-time basis while taking four business courses at Texas A&I at Corpus Christi to complete requirements for a bachelor's degree. He has already completed three years of university work.

Gary D. Gray, recently elected assistant vice president and assistant comptroller of First National Bank, will take six credit hours of graduate work in the evening school at Texas A&I at Corpus Christi toward a master's degree in business. He received a bachelor's degree in Business Management last spring at Texas A&M University.

The University of Texas at San Antonio opened on its new $43 million campus September 2. About 5,000 students--juniors, seniors and graduate students--are expected to attend fall classes. Freshmen and sophomores will be enrolled for the first time in fall, 1976. The UTSA campus is located on 600 acres of rolling woodland, which will be left as a large natural park.

Texas Has New University At San Antonio for 5,000

San Antonio -- Texas has a new university campus, as of September 2.

One of the state's youngest universities, The University of Texas at San Antonio, will enroll undergraduates for the first time this fall when classes begin on the new $43 million campus.

Established by the Texas Legislature in 1969, UTSA will admit juniors and seniors this fall and freshmen and sophomores in September, 1976. Graduate students have attended UTSA since June 1973.

Administrators project that about 3,000 undergraduates and 2,000 graduate students will attend UTSA this year. About 1700 graduate students were enrolled at UTSA during the spring, 1975 semester.

The UTSA faculty also will show a big increase in September from 85 to 175. That number will grow to about 400 by September, 1976.

In the hiring to faculty, the quality and breadth of their contribution to the university and their dedication to teaching are the most important factors. "We don't hire faculty who don't like teaching," UTSA President Peter T. Flawn said. He added, "However, we believe a faculty member should be active in his field through scholarship and research. A good teacher is creative, not just a loud speaker or vaudevillian."

More than 600 classes will be offered during the fall semester at UTSA. They will be held in the huge Humanities-Business Building, which contains 181,000 square feet. It includes nine lecture halls, 51 classrooms and 96 offices.

Phase one of construction on the campus is 95 per cent completed and will be finished in 1976. More than 10,000 students, including freshmen and sophomores are expected to attend UTSA in fall, 1976, when the first phase is complete.

Included in phase one are three large classroom buildings, the John Peace Library, a physical education building, a convocation center and several auxiliary buildings.

Phase two of construction, a $13.5 million project, was recently authorized by the Texas Legislature. A general classroom and office building and an addition to the arts building are included in this phase.

Located off Interstate 10 in a park-like setting in northwest San Antonio, the UTSA campus is bounded by Babcock Road on the west, Loop 1604 on the north, Regency Blvd. on the east and UTSA Blvd. on the south.

No dormitories are planned for UTSA in the immediate future.

However, private builders already have begun construction on several apartment complexes designed specifically for students near the campus.

Applications for the fall semester are being accepted in all fields up to the first day of classes. Students who have earned 60 hours of transferable credit, have a "C" average in their college work and are in good standing at the last institution attended are eligible for the undergraduate programs.

Students may work toward a bachelor's degree in accounting, anthropology, biology, chemistry, early childhood and elementary education, economics, English, finance, history, humanities, management, mathematics, computer science and systems design, medical technology, political science and Spanish.

Other undergraduate programs will be implemented in fall, 1976, although students may begin satisfying degree requirements this year. These programs include art, criminal justice, French, German, music, physics, psychology and sociology.

Looking ahead, Dr. Flawn sees a year devoted to recruiting faculty and program development.

He said, "One benefit for students attending a new university is that they will have an impact on the development of its academic programs and on student life. They will leave their mark."

AVOID SPOILAGE IN HOME CANNING

College Station -- With more homemakers canning food at home now, "spoilage knowledge" is necessary, one foods and nutrition specialist reminds.

"Three common causes of spoilage of home canned foods are inaccurate pressure canners, incorrect processing temperature and improper cooling of jars," Frances Reasonover, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, said.

She advised checking the pressure canner once a year to be sure it is accurate.

Noting ways to be sure foods are processed at the correct temperature in the pressure canner, Miss Reasonover suggested:

--test pressure gauge so that the temperature is at 240 degrees F. at 10 pounds of pressure.

--exhaust pressure canner 10 minutes after flow of steam from the petcock.

--keep pressure accurate. Less than 10 pounds of pressure won't kill bacteria in vegetables and meats.

--make adjustment for high altitude in areas about 2,000 feet above sea level.

She advised homemakers using a waterbath canner to have water boiling when jars are placed in the canner. Water should be one inch or more above the top of all jars throughout entire processing time, and it must be kept at a rolling boil.

"Check time table carefully for whatever product is being canned, and be sure to add recommended time for high altitude areas," she said.

It's important to cool jars properly after processing is finished.

The specialist said that jars should come out of canner when gauge registers 0 degrees F, or when processing time is completed. They should be placed at least one inch apart and left uncovered until cool.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:

As a mother of four Rockport School students, from first grade, six grade, 11th grade and a senior, it is always a pleasure and of great interest to me, to read most every week in our local paper (your paper - The Pilot), what has happened to countless ex-students after they graduated from high school here.

How many ex-Rockport students are on the honor list in colleges in different parts of the country, receiving degrees in all kinds of undertakings, may it be to further their schooling, in different branches of the U.S. military service, in all different jobs, activities and I am just as proud as their parents must feel, because my children are also students in school here and I hope some day one of your articles will even be more personal to me.

This brings me to the real reason and need I feel to speak in an open letter, not for myself, but for all students in our fine town.

Remember, the student of today is the adult of tomorrow. My children didn't have to earn our trust or respect. I raised them as I was raised. We gave them our trust and respect and I know maybe they had it double hard to live up to that trust and respect but today I want to say that not only my own children have our well deserved trust and respect, but so do their friends and all our students of Rockport.

I am a firm believer in law and order, regulations (school rules, dress code, etc.). You might even label me pro establishment, but today I feel a need to come openly to the defense and rights of our students in Rockport because of what happened to one of my children in a store here.

I overheard quite by accident my son tell my daughter about an incident in a store here. He finished however telling her about it with these words: "Don't bother telling Mom and Dad about it, because they probably only will say 'Regulation is regulation,' but what hurts even more, to hear your child say, can't wait to graduate, so I can leave this town, because I felt so humiliated at the store." What I overheard didn't make sense to me and at first I thought my son was joking.

It seems that on my son's day off, (from his summer and after school job, and we are grateful to the stores and merchants who give our students jobs) my son and several other students stopped at a store and were denied the right to enter.

It is not a local owned merchant, but rather a corporation-owned business, out of town, out of state even, who took it on themselves to set up a rule in their stores that not more than 3 students at one time are allowed in there. My son was refused entry, so were other students. They had to wait outside for quite some time because the clerk explained the rule and pointed to a sign in a window. Apparently customers his age were already in the store.

Hearing the full story, my first reply was, it must be legal. Means probably the same thing as in some other public places "We reserve the right to refuse service, etc."

I am not writing this letter to question the right, although I doubt the legality of such a regulation, but my son told me, Mother, the sign does read "Only 3 customers allowed at one time," but singled out students. He wanted to know why and as a mother of four students, so did I. So I went to one of the stores to find out why.

The answer I got inside from the store manager is one I object to and consider a slander against our students here, even more so against our law enforcement agency and me as a parent.

The reason for the regulation I was told was that it was for all their stores everywhere, that the students steal the stores blind, that their clerks can't handle them, since they work sometimes hrs. with only one clerk.

Worst of all, I was told that if theft, etc. occurred, that when called, our law enforcement agency wouldn't do anything about it and we as parents were condoning this behavior as well. What the corporation says, in short, to my understanding:

The students are the ones who steal, our law officers look the other way when called, we the parents allow all this, adults don't steal. In short, generalizing and labeling our students as thieves.

This isn't a big city. I live here and only know too well that such tactics are not necessary here. We all must know each other and I happen to think our law enforcement agency is doing a fine job and I will not stand idly by and have my children students be labeled in such a manner.

There is good and bad in all of us, all ages and to single out our students to me is an outrage.

School started last week, the older students who are allowed to leave the campus during lunch have only limited time for their shopping so I offered my children and their friends an also legal way to solve such humiliation. I am willing to drive my family and my children's friends to a local merchant, even if it means going out of our way, because we still live in a free country and don't have to give a cent to a corporation which calls our children thieves and says our law officers are not doing their job.

Today it is the student, what or who will it be tomorrow. I am proud to live in a country where I can still speak out about injustice and our students don't deserve such labeling.

As to the manager of the store who gave me his side, I have only this to say. I am all for crime prevention, but we have troubles enough all over the world. Don't start in a quiet town like ours, student unrest, because we as parents, our school officials and our law enforcement officers have so far proven we take care of our students pretty good and have no student problem in Rockport.

My son over a year ago saw a man steal a pack of cigarettes in one of our stores. He brought it to the attention of the then manager. Our law enforcement agency took it from there. Not only did the store get the cigarettes back, but the pack of cigarettes cost the man a fine of $27.50. This is what I call crime prevention, being alert and to respond to law and order.

P.S. I can see also the side of the corporation, because I know thefts are committed, crime does occur, but don't single out our students; they deserve better than that. Equalize your regulation "3 customers at one time only." Maybe we adults will not object to such regulations. Are they afraid to try it, and I myself will not sit here silently and have our students labeled as thieves, untrustworthy. They don't deserve it, anyway not my children and I will stand up and protect them from such humiliating tactics and just take our trade where not only myself but my children are welcomed. Also, isn't it great to know our country is still free enough where we have such a choice and the right to speak up.

We are, and we won't be breaking any law or need a court of law to help us, and if enough of us only would realize what and how many rights and how our country still is, we could settle so many things without breaking the law or resorting to force. No law has been passed yet which tells us where to shop. The choice is ours.

Thank you sincerely,
Mrs. Helga G. Vargas

Decker Lake is not a large body of water, as lakes go, but it is an important one to inland fisheries personnel of the Parks and Wildlife Department.

This lake is just a few miles east of Austin and is a cooling reservoir for a power generating plant. That means that its waters are warmer than we consider normal for a lake that size in that location. These warm waters provide a 12-month growing season for the fish, and the production of forage fish, such as shad, is phenomenal. This production far outstrips the ability of the black bass, the normal predator found there, to control the rough fish populations.

In their search for a predator fish that could tolerate the warm waters and that might help control the forage production P&WD fishery biologists have turned to salt water species.

Last February about 1,000 tiny flounders were introduced into Decker Lake and later little speckled trout were stocked. Just in the last few days little redfish, spawned in the National Marine Fishery Resources Laboratory in Port Aransas, have successfully made the trip and taken up residence in the central Texas lake.

One night last week Austin-based inland fisheries personnel went out to Decker Lake to see if they could find any flounder. They found, and gilled, only one flounder, but they were happy with the results of their expedition. That one flounder weighed just over one pound. Food must be plentiful and living conditions must be right for the fish to gain a pound in less than seven months.

Other fish receiving attention of P&WD biologists for possible use in these warm-water lakes include the Nile perch from Africa and peacock bass from South America. With these exotic fish, however, a great deal of study is necessary. The stocking of these fish in Texas waters is a long way

LT. GOV. HOBBY THANKS MISS BONNER

Lieutenant Governor William P. Hobby has expressed appreciation to Miss Lola L. Bonner, local attorney and Democratic leader, for agreeing to serve on a special joint committee to seek acquisition of the federally funded portion of Matagorda Island.

"I know you share my interest in assuring that this seashore is preserved for the benefit of present and future generations of Texans," Hobby wrote, adding, "Best wishes for the successful completion of this task."

DANVILLE, VA.--To help out during the energy shortage, nine workers at the Goodyear Tire & Rubber plant here are sharing a ride they wouldn't want to make alone --in the back of a hearse.

FALL FASHION LEADERS

College Station -- Sweater lovers--wearers or lookers--are sure to be happy this fall, Marlene Odle, clothing specialist, predicts.

"All styles of sweaters from sleeveless vests to turtle-necks--to v-neck pullovers and cardigans to match--will be fashionable," she said.

Fabrics will be softly designed acrylics, orlons and wools in rich colors of burgundy, greens, and rusts, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, specialist added.

"Detailed styling will include v-necklines, mitered stripes, and solids with contrasting white banding around the waistline and cuffs.

"As tops, sweaters will team with colorful tailored shirts and pants or below-the-knee-length skirts in bias cuts, A-lines, pleats or flares," she said.

Health Needs For School

As new school year begins for millions of Texas youngsters, their parents once again are reminding themselves that there are some things that must be done to get the children ready.

A medical examination is recommended for the child who is starting to school for the first time. Your doctor will know what to do. His examination will cover all essential aspects of your child's health. It is better if this examination can be made, and booster immunizations given, before school starts.

Some school systems require a medical exam for beginning students. Texas law now requires immunizations against five infectious diseases before entering elementary schools, secondary schools, or institutions of higher education. These are diphtheria, tetanus, poliomyelitis, measles and rubella.

Most doctors now feel that four or five examinations during the elementary and high school years are sufficient for most children. These usually are spaced at the start of the first school year, about the fourth grade, about the seventh grade, at the ninth or tenth grade and upon graduation from high school. And, of course, if any untoward symptoms arise at any time, a visit to the doctor is in order.

A special examination also is important if your child is participating in school athletics.

In the excitement of the first few days of school, the small child may forget all of the safety warnings you've been teaching him. Each parent should be sure the child knows how to cross intersections enroute to and from school. He should know about proper deportment on the school bus. He should know the rules of bicycle safety.

Give careful thought to your child's entire schedule during the school year. Does he have plenty of time to play? That is, play at things he selects, and not something that you or a teacher select for him. Does he have time to just sit and dream, if he wants to?

Or, are you lining up a fall and winter that includes daily rounds of music lessons, dancing classes, after-school athletics, social affairs, family affairs in which the child must participate whether he wishes or not?

Cooperation between the home and school and the guidance of the physician can prevent an overload.

If you're a teacher, try to remember that yours is not the child's only class, and try not to overload him with too much homework and outside assignments. Remember that other teachers also are giving assignments, and that there are limits to how much young minds and bodies can absorb.

BOWLING NEWS

At the Coastal Bend Bowling Lanes in the Coffee Time league the Marvels team took first place, the Should of Beens second place, and the Slow Pokes, third place.

ROSARY SOCIETY

The Rosary Society met Aug. 27 at the home of Dan Rasco. The next meeting will be Sept. 3 at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Antonio Mejorado on Racine Street. The attendance is increasing at the meetings but they would like to have more try to attend.

Sea Gun Teams Are Champions

The Sea Gun Resort Hotel Boy's and Girl's Baseball Teams have ended another successful year as champions, taking first place for the second year in succession.

They would like to say thanks to everyone who contributed in making it possible for them to play, with special thanks to Sea Gun, Dennis Jenkins, Carl Hardin and all the others who helped.

Sea Gun gave both teams and their families a barbecue on August 24 in Neptune Hall.

Glorified real estate advertising is hardly new. When Eric the Red discovered Greenland in 982, he gave the Arctic island its misleading name in a successful bid to attract Viking colonists.

TURN OFF - AND SAVE

You may be wasting precious (and expensive) energy by operating your room air conditioner while you're away from home. But you don't want to return to a hot, humid house, so what else can you do? Carrier has the answer - an automatic timer.

FREE with purchase of Carrier Room Air Conditioner

Simply set the timer to turn on your air conditioner an hour or so before you plan to be home. Automatically, it turns on to provide you with cool comfort at a fraction of the cost for cooling your empty house all day. But time is running out on this limited offer, so see the dependable line of Carrier room air conditioners and get your timer right away.

Direct Deposit of Soc. Security, Supplemental Security Income

Over 60,000 residents of the Coastal Bend area are getting a special opportunity to have their monthly social security and supplemental security income checks deposited directly in their checking or savings accounts, according to A.L. Finck, Jr., social security district manager in Corpus Christi.

Homemaking Conference

Homemaking teachers from across the state of Texas convened in Dallas recently for their annual State Inservice Conference. Miss Frances Mutscher, local homemaking teacher, attended this event.

The conference theme was "Homemaking Education - Strategies '75." Program and conference consultants who challenged the home economists included Dr. L.S. Pope, Associate Dean, College of Agriculture, Texas A&M University, who spoke on "Economic Conditions - A Serious Concern for Homemaking Education," and Mrs. Mary Allen Jolley, who spoke on "Immediate Strategies for the Profession and the Professional."

"Vocational Education: A Public Affairs Forum" featured reports from Victor Van Hook, president, American Vocational Association and state director of Business and Office Education, Stillwater, Okla.; Mrs. Mary Allen Jolley, Director of Public Affairs, American Home Economics Association, Washington, D.C.; and The Honorable Dan Kubiak, member of the Texas House of Representatives, Rockdale.

Interest Group Sessions were held concurrently and included the following: "Consumer Education - More Important than Ever," "Educating for Parenthood," "Updating Nutrition," "Involvement Strategies," "Communication Skills," "FHA-Action in the Classroom," "Humanizing Education," "Teach It and Tell It," "Co-ed Classes - Why and How," "Community Education - The New Opportunity," and "Homemaking Education in the Quarter System." Each participant was able to select to attend four of these sessions.

The awards banquet of the Vocational Homemaking Teachers Association of Texas was held Wednesday evening. Addressing the twelfth annual meeting of the Vocational Homemaking Teachers Association on Thursday was The Honorable Sarah Weddington of Austin and a member of the Texas House of Representatives.

The conference concluded following the area business meetings on Friday.

Mrs. Elizabeth F. Smith serves as Director of Homemaking Education in Texas. Mrs. Bobbie H. Moore serves as Homemaking Consultant, Area X.

Their checks will keep on coming as in the past.

"But people who want their checks mailed to a bank, savings bank, savings and loan association or similar institution or a Federal or State chartered credit union can arrange for it with a direct deposit authorization form," he said.

Direct deposit information was mailed with checks that were delivered in August to people who get monthly social security or supplemental security income payments. The direct deposit authorization form-SF-1199-is available at savings and loan associations, banks, credit unions, and similar organizations.

"Completion of the form does not permit withdrawals from your account by anyone other than people you authorize," Finck said.

People whose checks are already being mailed to a financial organization should also make direct deposit arrangements with the SF-1199 form.

The direct deposit program will help prevent loss and theft of social security and supplemental security income checks and will eliminate standing in line to cash or deposit them, according to Finck.

Social security pays monthly retirement, disability, and survivors benefits to eligible workers and their families. The supplemental security income program makes monthly payments to people with little or no income and limited resources who are 65 or over or blind or disabled.

On Eating

Nutritional experts say the current cuisine trend among youth-consumption of more vegetables and cereals, rather than meat-is encouraging. And, they say, a balanced diet can be maintained with only vegetables and cereals.

Some time ago at a Washington nutritional conference experts welcomed the trend toward more organic foods, though of the opinion organically grown fruits and vegetables have only very slight nutritional benefits. But both trends emphasize consumption of fruits and vegetables, and this is said desirable.

Other studies, including those on heart disease, indicate middle-age citizens shouldn't eat red meat more than five times a week. All recent evidence indicates the consumption of vegetables and fruits should be substituted for some of the fats, sweets and meats most of us eat. It may be hard to believe, when considering chomping down on a fine steak, but you could sometimes substitute dried peas or dried beans for better nutrition.

Rayburn Joins Extension Staff

Corpus Christi - Ralph Rayburn, who has been serving as a program assistant with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in its marine advisory program for the past four months, will become county Extension marine agent for San Patricio and Aransas Counties on September 1.

Announcement of Rayburn's appointment was made jointly by County Judges John D. Wendell of Aransas County and Percy A. Hartman of San Patricio County, and Lin Wilson, District Extension Agent for new District 14, headquartered at Corpus Christi.

Rayburn will maintain an office in the Aransas County courthouse in Rockport, and will serve the fishing and seafood industry in San Patricio and Aransas Counties.

Six other county extension marine agent positions exist along the Texas coast, serving Brazoria, Galveston, Matagorda, Calhoun and Cameron Counties.

County marine agents provide local leadership for Extension educational programs designed to assist marine resource users, particularly the marine fisheries and related industries. Their educational efforts are supported by the Sea Grant Program of Texas A&M University.

Marine agents devote full time to development of education and assistance programs for marine resource users just as agricultural agents provide leadership for agricultural programs, explained Wilson.

The newly-named county Extension marine agent has a B.S. in zoology from Texas A&M University, and in May of this year earned the M.S. degree in biological oceanography from A&M, where his study focused on food of deep sea fishes of the Gulf of Mexico.

As a graduate student, Rayburn worked as a fisheries technician with the Extension Service, assisting Dr. Wallace Klussman, Sea Grant program leader, and fisheries specialists with Extension demonstrations and applied research efforts in fisheries.

Rayburn has served in the Army for three years and is presently in the reserves, where he holds the rank of captain. His wife, Elaine, is a teacher.

THE SPEAKER REPORTS

As the new school year begins, much attention is focused on the effects of the school finance legislation passed by the last session of the Legislature.

The Texas system of financing public schools was seriously in need of revision, and the 64th Legislature tackled the issue as top priority. The revision effort was a long and hard struggle as legislators grappled with the finance problems raised by the Rodriguez Supreme Court case. Rodriguez called for a new thinking in school finance to "assure a higher level of quality and greater uniformity of opportunity" for our public school children. No longer could the tremendous disparities in taxation and expenditures be tolerated. The Legislature realized that the time had come to begin revising the state's funding system so as to provide a greater degree of fiscal and educational equity throughout Texas.

Several major proposals were considered in the reform effort. Teachers' salary increases and the possibility of increased taxes were major points of discussion in all of the proposals, and the lawmakers wondered how all sides could be satisfied. Compromises were necessary if any progress was to be made, and each point of view had to give a little in the process.

The final product of these legislative deliberations was a comprehensive, two-year school finance bill which will make wide-spread improvements in our state public schools. The bill expanded the Minimum Foundation Program to increase state aid to districts. It also made definite progress toward basing state aid on a district's relative wealth and tax effort.

The school finance reform bill granted $100 million over the biennium in direct state aid to school districts in an equalization effort. Teachers were given a $1400 across the board salary increase over the current state salary schedule. Maintenance and operation funding was increased by three times, and transportation funds were increased by 62.5%.

Funds were also appropriated for compensatory education for educationally disadvantaged students.

To finance these improvements, approximately $650 million in state funds will be added over the next two years to the state expenditure for public schools. Local districts' share of the Foundation Program cost is also increased.

About 40% of the recent $1 billion increase in the Foundation School Program is for raises in salaries. The remaining 60% will pay for school costs previously funded with local tax dollars. These costs have now been brought under the Foundation Program so that local funds may be spent for other purposes.

Local school boards are left wide discretion to make expenditures from local funds above the Foundation Program level. But if districts decide to simply add the entire salary increase in the state schedule on top of their current salaries, they may have to raise taxes. Professional teachers' associations will put pressure on many local school boards to maintain the same level of salary enrichment over the state base, but the decision will be local-not forced by state action. In fact, the Legislature's efforts to reduce the per-pupil spending gap between rich and poor districts could be counteracted by wide-spread action to pass through the entire salary increase.

The Texas Research League has reported that the effect of the new law will be to increase the local share of the Foundation Program by only 8% by 1976-77, while the total cost of the program increases nearly 42%. The TRL further calculates that the average district will get nearly $100 more state aid per student in 1977-78. Poor districts will get about $200 per student extra, and rich districts will receive about $100 less.

Certain discrepancies do still exist in the calculation of districts' local share. This is due to

ALVIN G. BRUNS DIES

Alvin G. Bruns, 61, of Corpus Christi, died Aug. 28 in a Corpus Christi hospital after a long illness.

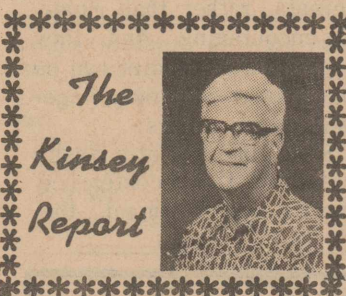

He was born in Skidmore and had lived here since 1936. He was assistant postmaster for more than 20 years until his retirement in 1965.

Surviving are his wife, Edna; one daughter, Mrs. Ray Wolf of Rockport; one son, James A. Bruns of Austin; one sister, Mrs. H.F. Meyer of Mathis; two brothers, G.E. Bruns of Houston and H.F. Bruns of Aransas Pass; three grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at First Lutheran Church in Corpus Christi.

the lack of uniform procedures for assessment of property for tax purposes. Without valid figures for the property values of districts, fair and accurate calculations of a district's ability to pay are impossible. The proposed new constitution would allow a great deal of improvement in our property tax structure, and this would lead to a more fair apportionment of the local share of the cost of public education.

The new law will be continually reviewed and reassessed during the next two years so that necessary revision can be made in 1977. We still have a long way to go in our attempts to provide every student in our public schools an equal educational opportunity, but we have moved in the right direction and will continue to revise and re-evaluate the complex school finance issue.

This weekend, call any other state* and talk five minutes for 86¢ or less... usually less!

*Except Alaska and Hawaii

Our weekend One-Plus rates are so low that you can talk awhile and still spend less than a dollar. For instance, a five-minute coast-to-coast Long Distance call dialed direct all Saturday and Sunday until 5 p.m. is only 86¢. An out-of-state call spanning fewer miles costs even less. If you can't wait till the weekend these same low rates are in effect every night from 11 p.m. to 8 a.m.

Where One-Plus dialing isn't available, One-Plus rates apply on station calls. If you dial direct and reach a wrong number, call the operator. You won't be charged.

Travel by Long Distance...and stay awhile.

For rates to Alaska and Hawaii, call the operator. One-Plus rates don't apply to person, coin, hotel-guest, credit card or collect calls, or calls charged to another number.

PUBLIC NOTICES BECAUSE THE PEOPLE MUST KNOW

Editor's Note: Public Notice advertising plays a unique role both in American history and in the process by which this country's democracy is preserved. Its one premise is that people must be informed if they are to govern themselves competently. Public Notice advertising first came into being with the Congress of 1792. That body, recognizing its responsibility to the people, required the Postmaster General to advertise for bids for the construction of new post offices. From that inauspicious beginning to the complex publication requirements by federal, state and local laws today, government officials have come more and more to understand the obligations to inform the public through Public Notice advertising. Newspapers over the years have been the vehicle by which these obligations have been fulfilled. They will continue to be as long as the public demands that it be informed frequently and by the best means possible.

HARRY BERTOIA—A SCULPTOR OF VISUAL SENSITIVITY

The Bertoia Sculpture Fountain in the Entrance Plaza of the Phila. Civic Center. Dedicated Nov., 1967.

Harry Bertoia creates abstract metal sculptures that people relate to, that are commercially successful and that are often designed to suit certain architectural conditions. For this, his work has been criticized as being banal, and described as decoration rather than pure art. On the other hand, his admirers feel that his ability to work with architects in no way compromises his artistic integrity.

Bertoia was born in northeastern Italy in 1915 and came to the United States when he was fifteen years old. In 1936, he graduated from Cass Technical High School which had a special program in arts and sciences. He later won scholarships to the Art School of the Detroit Society of Arts and Crafts and Cranbrook Academy of Art, for his painting and drawing. The freedom and accessibility of studios and shops at Cranbrook allowed Bertoia to experiment with metal-work and printmaking. He developed a unique method for producing a variety of color prints and impulsively sent almost a hundred of them to the Solomon R. Guggenheim Foundation Museum of Non-Objective Painting in New York. He was pleasantly shocked when the museum's director kept all of them, paid his price and exhibited nineteen of them in a Guggenheim Foundation group show.

By 1943, Bertoia was living in southern California working with Charles Eames on the design of the famous Eames chair. He became a United States citizen in 1946 and was lured back east by Hans Knoll of Knoll Associates, Inc. who consistently hired artists and architects (Mies van der Rohe, Noguchi and Saarinen among them) to design furniture for his company. The Bertoia chair, light-weight, diamond-shaped and wire-webbed was marketed in 1952 and is still distributed by Knoll International. It also has many copies.

Bertoia's move from California inspired him to settle in Bally, Pennsylvania, where he has his studio and where he soon decided to concentrate his artistic efforts on metal sculpture, exclusively.

He is constantly experimenting with materials and techniques. Bertoia's work with architects has heightened their respect for his keen sensitivity towards space and light. He has designed sculpture screens of welded metal for buildings such as General Motors Technical Center, Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co., the United States Department of State and the Dallas and Cincinnati Public Libraries. Bertoia's fountain sculptures dominate the scene at the Philadelphia Civic Center and the Manufacturers and Traders Trust in Buffalo, N.Y. The bronze mural at Dulles International Airport is monumental in concept and unique, to date. His famous Sunlit Straw, one of his few titled works, composed of thousands of textured rods welded together, is the focal point of the lobby of the Northwestern National Life Insurance Co. building in Minneapolis, designed by Yamasaki.

In an introductory script written by Eleanor T. West for the film, Harry Bertoia's Sculpture, Mrs. West comments, "His works are never signed and seldom named. His sculpture seems to belong more to the people who see it than to the man who created it... it is a rediscovery, a remembering, an experience."

Rockport Cockades

This league consisted of six teams. It was an adult/child learn and bowl league formed to help the Rockport Cadettes earn their sports badge. The teams were Venus Watkins (child) and Marsha Barganski (adult); Maria Garcia (child) and Melvin Mills (adult); Lola Bills (child) and Mary Poole (adult); Frances Ramirez (child) and Bell Bills (adult); Tony Mills (child) and Darlene Mills (adult); and Kathleen Tillison (child) and Gladys Tillison.

The child awards were the following: League champion was Maria Garcia, 2nd place was Tony Mills and 3rd place was Frances Ramirez.

The ASBC awards for league high series (297) and league most improved average (by 8 pins) was won by Tony Mills. She actually had league high game of 119 but could not receive both high series and high game awards. She also earned Brunswick's award for 50 pins over average.

The AJBC awards for league high game (110) and league high average (69) was won by Maria Garcia.

Team high series places were Team 5, Tony Mills and Darlene Mills with a 705; Team 2, Maria Garcia and Melvin Mills with a 676; and Team 6, Kathleen Tillison and Gladys Tillison with a 670.

Team high series places were Team 5, Tony Mills and Darlene Mills with a 266; Team 2, Maria Garcia and Melvin Mills with a 258 and Team 6, Kathleen Tillison and Gladys Tillison with a 244.

Adult high series places were Melvin Mills with 424, Darlene Mills with 410 and Gladys Tillison with a 316.

Adults high game places were Darlene Mills with a 181, Melvin Mills with a 171 and Gladys Tillison with a 122.

During the learn to bowl league this summer for the badge they were shown films and then given a test over the films and the girls passed their tests.

TOKYO--Emperor Hirohito greeted England's Queen Elizabeth II recently which was the first visit to Japan by a British monarch.

B.A. CURRY DIES

Burnard A. Curry, 82, died Aug. 26 in a Kerrville hospital. He was a native of Rockport and had also been a resident of Aransas Pass, Arkansas, and Comfort, Texas. He was a retired farmer and a member of the Baptist Church. He was a veteran of WWI.

Survivors include his wife, Alpha Mildred Curry, Comfort; a daughter, Mrs. Leone Paisley, Mesa, Arizona; a brother, Lee Curry, Pensacola, Florida; numerous nieces and nephews.

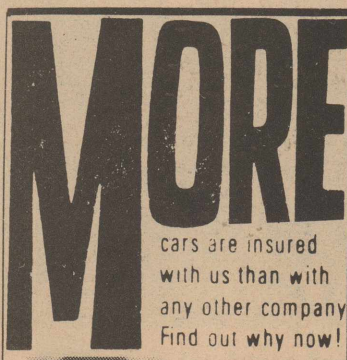

Funeral services were held Aug. 30 at the Marshall Funeral Home in Rockport with Rev. Charles Fake officiating. Interment was in the Rockport Cemetery.

Tillers

More than 1,750,000 earthworms may churn through one acre of rich farmland, producing as much as 40 tons of topsoil every year. Their tunnels aid root growth, allow air to penetrate underground, and improve drainage, thus preventing erosion.

SLOW PITCH SOFTBALL

There will be a men's and women's slow pitch softball tournament Sept. 6 and 7 starting at 11 a.m. at Memorial Park. The public is invited to attend. Admission will be free. Come out and support your local teams.

Learn how to trim your food budget without lowering your standard of eating.

It takes a lot more than money-saving recipes to save money on food these days.

It takes the Better Homes & Gardens Encyclopedia of Cooking. You'll find it packed with enough money-saving hints to pay for itself.

There are entries on meal planning and nutrition, including charts on vitamins, minerals and calories. Did you know, for example, that while lower grade eggs are cheaper they are not lower in nutritional value; that the dark meat of poultry has more nutrition than the light. And that equal servings of meat are equal in protein, but may differ in vitamins and minerals?

And that's just the beginning. There are 20 easy-to-use, hard-cover volumes. Published by America's No. 1 Food Editors with over 50 years of cooking experience under their belts.

You'll find information on shopping for fruits and vegetables. Including what times of the year to get the best quality at the best price.

To help you properly store the food you buy, before and after you cook it, there are sections with the different methods of canning, freezing, even defrosting, completely detailed.

PLUS 4,200 RECIPES FOR EVERYONE FROM THE THRIFTIEST SHOPPER TO THE TOUCHIEST GOURMET.

Since an encyclopedia of cooking wouldn't be complete without recipes, there are recipes. Enough, in fact, to make three different meals a day for three years and eight months without repeating one.

You'll find everything from a Swiss-Turkey Ham Bake that turns leftovers into a meal elegant enough for a mother-in-law; to a Beef A La Wellington and Baked Alaska fit for a holiday feast.

And since good food is not measured by the amount of time spent in the kitchen, many of the recipes outline the traditional and a shortcut version as well.

Yet all this is just a taste of The Better Homes & Gardens Encyclopedia of Cooking. If you'd like to know more, pick up Vol. 1 in any of our supermarkets. Then pick up a volume or two a week until you have the complete set.

It'll help you make the most of our food and your food dollars.

SHOPPING WITH PLANNING

Planned shopping can save you money. If you can sit down once a week and plan the basic meals for the week coming-up, you'll find you can save money.

This method stops a lot of impulse buying, and saves unnecessary trips to the store. Also, keep a continuous shopping list on the basic items that are running low - then you may be able to take advantage of specials on the items you are almost out of.

Art Sense

The experts tell us there's now a major trend in painting—to get back to reality, what's beautiful, restful or nostalgic.

Most Americans welcome the trend. The far-out extremists and faddists have had the spotlight long enough (though realism has never lost its popularity, according to art dealers).

This explains the current popularity of painters like Andrew Wyeth and Bob Timberlake. They (and others) reproduce nature and natural scenes with almost camera-like accuracy. The buyer knows what he's getting—an honest painting for a change!

Master Yourself

Human beings, blessed with a good earth, have made a mess of many things. However, viewed from any distant peak of the past, the present records unmistakable gains, and the natural belief is that the future, compared to the era in which we live, will show similar advances.

The reader of this editorial has a very definite role to play in all the drama that makes up human life. The part may be small, insofar as history is concerned, but large in its effect upon other human beings.

Every man and woman must attempt the mastery of his or her own nature and a productive translation of his or her personality through living among other people, difficulties and faults, inherent in the imperfection of human beings.
