A fast-burning fire destroyed this 30 x 100 foot barn and shed Monday afternoon, June 5, at Buster Hughes farm adjoining Wellington. Dick Pendleton and Bob Weatherly lost

County Joins Panhandle Regional Planning Group

Collingsworth County has joined the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission (PRPC) with headquarters in Amarillo. County Judge Zook Thomas announced after mailing the request to R. G. Mills, chairman, Thursday, June 11. The Commissioners Court passed a resolution to join the commission.

As a member, Collingsworth will have equal voice in PRPC

Cochran Named Commander of American Legion

Jimmy Cochran, a World War II veteran, was elected commander of the Frank King Post of the American Legion in the recent election meeting.

He will succeed Robert Gosnell at the installation slated for Thursday, July 2.

Other officers elected were Joseph A. Beard, vice commander; John Coleman, re-elected adjutant; Raymond W. Mitchell, re-elected chaplain; Riley Dunson, re-elected finance officer; and Doyle Stallings, sergeant at arms.

The remainder of the meeting was given over the handling routine business.

Mr. Cochran will name the appointive officers and they will be installed along with the elective slate.

Barjenbruch to Hold Auction

Doc Barjenbruch has announced that he is selling at public auction fixtures, equipment and supplies of the Barjenbruch Implement Co., on Saturday, June 20. The sale will start at 10:00 a.m. at the company location, 1008 Ninth St.

Mr. Barjenbruch was International Harvester dealer here for many years before closing the house to join the staff of a major feedlot in Hereford.

Cleatus Calloway of Frederick, Okla., will be the auctioneer.

Included will be parts bins, work benches, shelving, drawers, a crane lift and similar items and thousands of dollars worth of parts and repairs.

along with every other county, since each has one vote.

Regional Planning Commissions were set up in 1969 by state law for the co-ordination of local planning and development activities which have regional significance. The PRPC, like the others in the state, is a voluntary association of general purpose units of government and special districts.

A significant factor, and one of special interest in Collingsworth County, is that every project for which federal funding is sought must be reviewed by the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission before the application can go farther.

Collingsworth already has one application before PRPC: the Elm Creek Watershed Development Project sponsored by the Soil Conservation Districts of Collingsworth, Wheeler and Gray counties.

Legal entities besides counties may become members, including towns and cities, school districts, water or other special districts, soil conservation districts and others.

The by-laws are most liberal, and they insure that counties with small population will have equal voice with the more populous counties. Judge Thomas declared. The same would apply to city, school or other unit which is a member.

A member may withdraw by a majority vote of such member's governing body.

Each member will designate two elected officials to serve on the commission. Those from Collingsworth are to be named.

The membership fee for the county was mailed Thursday also, in the amount of $148.50, three cents (3¢) per person according to the last census.

PRPC has a membership of 17 entities. Mr. Mills told Judge Thomas on June 8.

The total planning region as defined by the Governor of Texas comprises 25 counties, all in the Panhandle except Childress County.

"We cordially invite you to join with us in our endeavors to plan and work together to improve our region. We need your knowledge of your area, especially since the Governor has designated us to be the reviewing agency for this office. This covers, but is not limited to, roads, highways, water and sewer projects, open space, dams, lakes, etc.," Mr. Mills said.

Charles T. Crow of the Governor's Regional Planning Association.

New Employees Begin Work at Leader

With the close of school, changes were effective on the staff of The Wellington Leader, Deskins Wells, editor, announced.

Malicia Junod, who has been in charge of circulation, and has had other duties on the paper, resigned. She graduated from Wellington High School with this year's class and is moving to Amarillo to work and enter college.

She made her home with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Templeton.

Succeeding her is Denise Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Mitchell.

Denise will be a senior next year, and she is training in the circulation department and is writing personals.

Henry Wells, who will be a senior journalism major in the University of Texas next year, is working in the mechanical department of The Leader during the first six weeks. He will return to Austin to enroll for the last six weeks of summer school. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Deskins Wells.

Another new employee is Cecil Wiles of Dodson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Roy Wiles. He is 17 years of age and attends Wellington High School, where he will be a senior.

Cecil is an apprentice in the mechanical department.

Millers Around for Two Weeks

The infestation of millers that has been a pest in area homes after nightfall, may be here another two weeks. County Agent Don Reeves has indicated. That would be the life span of this generation of insects.

More nuisance than damaging, the millers probably hatched here, since they do not migrate, the county agent said.

Climatic conditions, moisture and a number of other factors determine the size of the hatch. From the housewife's standpoint, 1970 was just right for a bumper hatch.

Services Held Thursday for Wayne Parker

Funeral services for Wayne Parker, 55, were conducted at First United Methodist Church at 2:30 p.m. Thursday, June 11. The prominent farmer and livestock raiser suffered an apparent heart attack at his home eight miles northeast of Wellington. He was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Joseph's Hospital.

The Rev. R. T. Dyess, pastor, officiated at the service, assisted by John Hogue of Andrews, a long-time family friend, and the Rev. Bob Sandlin, pastor of Faith Baptist Church.

Burial was in Memorial Gardens under the direction of Kelso Funeral Home.

Palbearers were R. T. Savage, John Robert Henard, Don Greenley, Johnny Henard, Moody Conner and Ralph Owens.

Mr. Parker was reared in Wellington, but about 25 years ago he and his family moved to Mangum, Okla., and a few years later to Andrews, where he was a prominent business man until three years ago, when he disposed of his interests in West Texas and returned to Wellington.

Born at Duncan, Okla., Dec. 1.

Fire Destroys Barns of Two Near-by Farms

Fires at two farms just outside of Wellington left large barns destroyed and at one several head of hogs died from burns.

The first was discovered about 4:00 a.m. Friday, June 12 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Fires, one-half mile south of Wellington.

The second occurred Monday at 3:00 p.m. at a farm belonging to Buster Hughes immediately east of Wellington on FM 338. The buildings and lots were leased to Dick Pendleton and Bob Weatherly to raise hogs. They had lost five shoats Tuesday at noon and expected several more to die.

Chief Jim Sikes said that when firemen reached the Fires home, a 100-foot long sheet metal shed and cinderblock and brick garage were engulfed in flames, and eaves of the house had caught fire.

Unable to save the barn and garage, they poured streams of water on the house. Even so, windows on the east side were broken by the intense heat.

The three Wellington Volunteer Fire Department units were used and each made two trips to town to bring water.

The blaze was discovered by Herbie Clay as he drove by the Fires home, according to the fire chief.

There were no vehicles in the garage although there were items stored in the barn, he added.

The fire at the Hughes farm had spread through the 30 x 100 foot sheet iron barn and attached shed by the time it was discovered.

Pendleton and Weatherly had 158 head of hogs at the place, mostly sows and shoats.

Elm Creek Watershed Development Renewed

Application for the Elm Creek Watershed Improvement was submitted Tuesday, June 9, for review by the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission, as sponsors in three counties made a second effort to push this project to completion.

Review by the PRPC is mandatory before the application can be returned to the State Soil and Water Conservation Board, explained Gary Reed of the Soil Conservation Service, Wellington.

Improvement of the 153,000 acre Elm Creek Watershed is sponsored by Salt Fork, Gray County and Wheeler County Soil and Water Conservation Districts, and by the Commissioners Court in Collingsworth County.

The application was first submitted Oct. 2, 1968, prior to setting up regional planning commissions in Texas. No action was taken by the board at that time. L. J. Lane, acting assistant State Conservationist, returned the application to Area Conservationist Douglas Cunningham of Pampa on June 3, 1970 with the request that it be submitted to the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission.

After the PRPC review, the application will be re-submitted to the State Soil and Water Conservation Board, where it will be scheduled for a feasibility study.

If this is favorable, and receives approval by the State Soil and Water Conservationist, the application will go directly to the Secretary of Agriculture.

Federal funding will be sought under the Watershed Protection and Flood Prevention Act.

A cost figure has not been put on the project at this point.

In reviewing the project, Mr. Reed recalled that the entire Elm Creek Watershed in Texas is included, from its beginning at the town of McLean, eastward through most of the southern edge of Wheeler County, and southeasterly through Collingsworth County to the Oklahoma State Line east of the Needwood Cemetery.

Lela and Shamrock lie at its north edge, Lutie on the south perimeter.

Highway US 83 traverses it 12 miles south to north and I-40 for a longer distance east to west. It enters Collingsworth County about a mile west of FM 1547, south of Lela, and goes southeasterly to Lutie.

There would not be one large dam, but a whole series of small structures where they are needed along the watershed as well as other soil and wa-

Mayor Asks Citizens to Conserve Water

Mayor John Coleman Wednesday issued a call for co-operation in conserving water.

With temperatures hovering above the 100-degree mark, more water is being pumped than ever in the town's history, but more is being used. Along with this, the water table is dropping. The city's water tank lacked three feet of filling Tuesday night.

He requested that service stations wash cars only on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday until the shortage is over.

Residents were asked to water lawns on Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Sunday, and during daylight hours only.

Golfers Slate Scotch Tournament Sunday

The tournament is open to all teams from any town, and

The first round will determine the flight each player is in, and the total score for the 18 holes will determine the winner.

Prizes will be golf equipment.

The municipal course is in the best condition ever, and this is due to be one of the top Scotch Partnership tournaments of the lower Panhandle this summer.

The entry fee is $5 per player.

A Scotch Partnership tournament, it was explained, is one in which the partners take time about hitting the same ball.

Other tournaments are being planned by the Green Acres Club and will be announced at a later date, Mr. Sullivan said.

Horn Flies on the Increase

Horn flies are beginning to increase rapidly on cattle on the Texas High Plains as the warmer weather continues to be the order of the day.

These pests live on animals continuously and feed as much as 20 times a day. A moderately heavy infestation of 5,000 flies can extract one-half pint of blood or about one percent of the blood value of a 1000-pound animal.

In addition to the blood loss, the flies constantly irritate animals, thereby causing a loss of energy. Digestive upsets are common and feed utilization and consumption decrease.

Some authorities say that uncontrolled infestations of horn flies can cause a loss of one-half pound of flesh or one quart of milk per day.

To combat horn flies during periods of peak populations, insecticides may have to be applied on a two-to-four-week basis. In addition to spraying, other methods that are effective are dusting, dipping, self-treatment dust bags, back rubbers, and mineral treated salt blocks.

Numerous insecticides are available for controlling horn flies. Information on these can be obtained from the "Texas Guide for Control of External Parasites of Livestock and Poultry," available at the county Extension office located in the courthouse.

IRS Exemption Forms on Withholding Tax Available

DALLAS.—Students working for the summer, and retired persons and other part-time workers may be entitled to exemption from income tax withholding under the Tax Reform Act of 1969. Forms for claiming this exemption are available from Internal Revenue Service offices in North Texas.

Any employee who had no income tax liability last year and anticipates none for this year should use Withholding Exemption Certificate, Form W-4E to claim the exemption, stated Ellis Campbell, Jr., IRS district director for North Texas.

For 1970, a single person who makes less than $1,725 owes no tax. This is based on the $1,100 low income allowance and a personal exemption of $625. A taxpayer over 65 can earn wages up to $2,350 without incurring a tax liability, Campbell explained.

Anyone who qualifies can fill out the form and give it to his employer to claim exemption from income tax withholding on his wages.

Employers needing quantities of the new Form W-4E may obtain them from their IRS District Office.

Schedule A (Form W-4), revised to reflect the liberalized rules that were also provided in the Tax Reform Act of 1969 for claiming additional withholding exemptions based on large itemized deductions, are also available from IRS offices.

Financial Facts

By Jeff Wilson

WHEN A DOLLAR WAS MORE THAN A DOLLAR

Did you know that at one time a dollar was worth more than a dollar?

During the Civil War the United States faced bankruptcy. In order to alleviate the situation, the government issued Compound Interest Treasury Notes in 1864.

The idea behind the notes was this: For a three year period after their issue, the notes could be used for currency at their face value. During those three years, the notes would earn six per cent interest compounded semi-annually. Only after this time could they be redeemed for their face value plus interest.

Some people were fortunate enough to latch onto these bills for their face value right before the three years was up. Then after only a few months or weeks, they turned the notes in at a nice profit!

Mr., Mrs. J. B. Stevenson Observe Golden Wedding Anniversary Sun.

A festive celebration of the early summer was the reception Sunday afternoon, June 14 honoring Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Stevenson on the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding.

The hosts were their children, Mr. and Mrs. Orland Butler of Lubbock and Mr. and Mrs. James Stevenson of Tucson, Ariz. Grandchildren assisted.

The celebration was held in their home at 1000 El Paso Street.

Twenty-six relatives joined the couple in observing the anniversary. Some came from as far as California. For others it was a first visit to Wellington in more than 30 years.

Among them were Mrs. Stevenson's brother, Tom Williams of Santa Barbara, Calif., and Mr. Stevenson's sister, Miss Mary Stevenson of Wichita Falls.

Only a grandson could not attend, Dan Butler, who is in the armed forces.

Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson greeted the guests who called Sunday.

Miss Stevenson was at the guest register, assisted by three of the couple's grandsons, David Stevenson and Wayne Stevenson of Tucson, and Alan Butler of Lubbock.

The reception table was laid with a white linen cut-work cloth that was a wedding gift to Mrs. Stevenson from her aunt, Mrs. Ivan Johnson of Denton, who was present Sunday.

Yellow roses were arranged in a silver vase that was also a wedding gift, and punch was served from a bowl the couple received at their marriage.

The couple's four granddaughters served the guests, Mrs. Dan Butler of Lubbock, Susan Butler, and Diana Butler of Lubbock, and Jeana Stevenson of Tucson.

A conversation piece at this golden anniversary was the picture hanging above the buffet, presented to Mrs. Stevenson's grandparents, the late Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Williams of Denton, on their 50th wedding anniversary.

ary in 1919, and handed down to her parents in 1939.

When Mr. Stevenson sold the Stevenson Implement Company only a few years ago, to retire from business life, he had served the farming economy of the Collingsworth area 32 years, one of the longest tenures in Wellington.

Prior to that, he was in the automobile business, and at a still earlier period, he engaged in merchandising cotton and grain. Along with this he farmed.

Both are life-long Texans. James Brame Stevenson was born at Sulphur Bluff, the son of James A. and Cora Cain Stevenson.

Austin is the birthplace of the former Mary Williams, whose parents were George and Fannie Davis Williams.

The couple was married June 16, 1920.

They came here only a few years later.

Mr. Stevenson attended East Texas State University at Commerce, and after graduating from Denton High School, she studied at North Texas State University.

Mrs. Stevenson taught many years, first in the Denton Schools, then at North Fort Worth High School.

She taught in Wellington when her children were small. Then she came out of retirement during the acute shortage of teachers in World War II, to re-enter the classroom.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson are active in First Methodist Church, and she has contributed more than her share of Civic Work in Wellington. She was a long-time member and former president of the Domestic Science Club and she belonged to the City Federation.

Mr. Stevenson served in the Army Ordnance Department in World War I. He is a member of the Masonic Lodge, the American Legion and the Kiwanis Club.

The out of town guests here for the anniversary were Lloyd Spotswood of Arlington; Mr.

and Mrs. Jim Edwards of Ft. Worth; Mrs. Ivan Johnson of Denton; Mrs. Fred Carr and Miss Marjorie Williams of Ardmore, Okla.;

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Cartwright of Carrizo Springs; Miss Carolyn Crews of McAllen; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Williams of Santa Barbara, Calif.; Mrs. Don Barnes of Bakersfield, Calif.;

Mr. and Mrs. James Stevenson, Jeana, David and Wayne of Tucson, Ariz.; Mr. and Mrs. Orland Butler, Susan, Diana and Alan, and Mrs. Dan Butler of Lubbock;

Seven of the nine children were present for the reunion.

Guests were served from a table covered with a gold linen cloth and appointed in crystal and silver. The centerpiece was the birthday cake in the form of an open Bible, circled with yellow roses. At the sides were white daisies and yellow asters in crystal vases, tied with gold streamers. Mrs. Gafford served the cake and Mrs. Hill poured.

Thirty-five friends called during the afternoon.

Although Miss Keesee has been blind since early childhood, her 80 years have been years of happiness and she has a consistently optimistic outlook on life, her family says.

Her hobby has been piecing quilts, which she does by feel, and many relatives, especially nieces and nephews, treasure these.

She makes her home with her sister, Mrs. W. E. Winters, but spends much time with her other sisters.

Still active, each Sunday she attends the Church of Christ, where she is a member.

Generation Gap

*The "generation gap" may not be as wide as many people think. According to a recent authoritative opinion survey, adults and teen-agers agree on a number of important points concerning college student demonstrations.

Both teen-agers and adults think the colleges have been "too easy" on student demonstrators. Teen-agers and adults agree in the belief that the demonstrators are breaking the law. A substantial percentage of both teen-agers and adults believe that law-breaking student demonstrators should be taken to court. Both teen-agers and adults also agree to a substantial extent that demonstrations are the work of small groups of troublemakers on campus. The draft opposition to the Vietnam war are seen by teen-agers and adults alike as primary causes of student demonstrations.

Adults and teen-agers differ in the matter of whether students should have more say concerning the academic side of colleges. The majority of teen-agers would like more control over the courses, examinations and so forth, while a majority of adults believe otherwise.

Perhaps the gap of understanding between youth and adults is not as wide as has been popularly assumed. The fact is that each generation faces many unknowns and so far each has met the test and has contributed to the growing strength and well-being of the nation.

—Hillsboro Argus, Hillsboro, Ore.

Disrespect For Law

Disrespect for the law does not start with the younger generation. It starts with the parents and grandparents of that generation who have made exceptions to the law in their own cases and justified it by the ends while not permitting the younger generation the same privilege. It has always seemed an extremely vulgar act to us to have public officials elected by a trusting electorate, violate the principles and intent of the law on the pretext that they know best what may be revealed to the people. In nearly every school district, in nearly every township, in nearly every village, in nearly every city, in nearly every county there is an elected official who believes that exceptions to the law can be justified in how he or his committee operates. It does not take youngsters long to learn that these violations are occurring, that persons by virtue of their position take advantage of the law, that officials fail to perform the required duties of their office, that some flaunt Wisconsin's democratic statutes which provide that minutes must be kept of all governmental meetings and made readily available to the public. It is no more a crime to destroy the records of a university or a draft board office than it is to fail to comply with law which requires that the people's governmental business be conducted in the open and not secretly.

SURE SHOT SALLIE. Mrs. Sallie Durbin of St. Louis, Mo., takes aim under watchful eye of husband John. Couple holds several world skeet-shooting records.

AUSTIN.—Pressure from the courts may move the Legislature to massive election law reforms next year.

At least two major Texas cases which could have far-reaching consequences for the state election processes and political system are pending in three-judge federal courts.

In one, Corpus Christi, San Antonio and San Marcos plaintiffs challenge the constitutionality of the annual voter registration requirement and the Jan. 31 registration deadline. They ask reopening of registration after the June runoff primaries to allow voters until October to qualify for the November general election. More than 30 states already have a general election sign-up extension and no state requires as early a close-off of registrations as Texas.

A second case tests validity of the candidates' filing fee system. An El Paso candidate for county commissioner and a Tarrant County candidate for county judge won places on the May primary ballot through court action when they pleaded they could not afford to pay the stiff filing fee.

A third case attacks the constitutionality of the statute denying aid to illiterate voters in marking ballots.

Secretary of State Martin Dies, Jr., acknowledges a great many changes are needed in the state election code. He is compiling a list of needs with an eye on court decisions and plans to contact legislators about them soon.

Dies indicates he is inclined to favor the recommendation that May-June primary dates be shoved back until August and September (as some 14 states now provide).

He also tentatively likes the idea of making voter registrations good for four years.

And the state, believes Dies, "is going to have to reach the conclusion that candidates cannot continue to completely finance primaries."

Legislative Decorum

A House committee studying ways to improve the legislature's decorum and public image indicated it wants curbs on the familiar practice of law makers' voting for absentees on an electronic machine.

Committee members couldn't bring themselves to condemn "proxy" voting for members absent from the floor for a few minutes to take telephone calls from constituents. But they frowned on votes cast for legislators who are truants from the capitol.

Committee, headed by Rep. John E. (Ned) Blain of El Paso discussed a variety of proposals to make the House of Representatives look and act better.

Among other major suggestions: a glassed-in spectators' gallery, desk-to-desk floor telephone communications and overhead projectors to display hasty floor amendments to legislation.

Drug Memo Signed

High-ranking state officials signed a "memorandum of understanding" with the U. S. Department of Justice Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous

CROSSROADS REPORT

Original idea of our 1776 founders was a republican system where competent leaders would be hired to run the country and left alone to wrestle with the job.

But now the public opinion polls and the know-it-all commentators, college professors, etc., have about shifted the thing to a full democracy.

Our leaders are now like a railroad engineer having to run back and let the passengers vote on whether to stop at the next town, and whether to go on a siding for an oncoming freight train or try to bluff it off the track.

D. E. SCOTT

Drugs

Memorandum formalizes the present working agreement and outlines areas of responsibility for state agencies and the federal bureau in which mutual efforts and cooperation will be necessary or desirable.

Overall purpose of the memorandum is to establish and maintain effective working arrangements between the state and the federal bureau to hold to a minimum diversion of narcotics and dangerous drugs from legal channels to illicit traffic. Most of the stimulants and depressants sold illegally originated from legitimate foreign or domestic channels.

Courts Speak

Texas Supreme Court heard arguments as to whether it should uphold a district court decision that the Texas obscenity control law is unconstitutional.

By a six to three decision, High Court held that a man could not recover damages although an Arlington hospital nurse fed him solid food soon after a colon operation.

A suit for $43,600, against a life insurance company that issued a policy on a quarter-horse, was refused by the Supreme Court because the company was not notified immediately when the animal became ill.

High Court ruled for Grand Prairie in a 3,000-acre annexation dispute with Arlington.

Court refused to hear an appeal of an Austin teenager dismissed from school after he was caught with marijuana in his pockets.

These flags will herald the fifth season of Paul Green's musical drama, "Texas". This is a spectacular blend of music and dance, drama and sound played by a cast of 75 people. Their stage is at the base of a 600-foot cliff. Their story is the strains and celebrations of the settling of this area and their songs are the calls of the early western days.

Each night the bugle rivets the attention of the audience on the lone rider who bears his flag to the top of the high cliff.

Each night the thunder and lightning of a great storm crackle through the audience. And each night the actors tell of the land and its grip on them until people go away and so "So that's the way it was!"

The directors of the production, William and Margaret Moore of West Texas State University have announced that rehearsals began on May 31 and members of the cast will work eight hours a day before the opening for almost a month.

They not only must learn the show but must condition themselves since they work in such a large area of the canyon.

The theatre seats 1500. Barbecue dinner, free parking, souvenirs and drinks are available.

And the drive to the theatre is a breath-taking experience.

"Texas" is one of six great historical outdoor shows written by Paul Green and playing this summer. The new one is "Trumpet in the Land," a story of the Moravians which opens for the first time this summer in Dover, Ohio. Another is the "Cross and Sword" in St. Augustine, Fla., which is entering its sixth season. The "Stephen Foster Story" in Bardstown, Ky., is opening for the 11th time. The "Common Glory" in Williamsburg, Va., is telling the story of Jamestown for the 23rd summer, and the original "Lost Colony" is entering its 30th season.

It is wise to make reservations in advance, especially on week ends. Write to "Texas," Box 268, Canyon, Texas 79015 or telephone 806-655-2182.

Aquarena Springs In Operation

Aquarena Springs, the picturesque San Marcos tourist attraction was in full operation just ten days after a 17-inch cloudburst flooded the popular site and caused an estimated $350,000 to $500,000 damage.

In announcing the re-opening of the waterland attraction Don Russell, president of Aquarena Springs declared: "All of our activities including the submarine theatre, glass-bottom boats, Texanna Village, sky rides, restaurant, gift shop and Aquarena Springs Inn are now open."

Before the six foot flood waters had subsided on May 15, offers of assistance came from every section of the country.

Members of the Discover Texas Association, who operate most of the top tourist attractions of the state, phoned, wired or came in person to offer trucks, personnel, animals, and merchandise to get Aquarena Springs operational.

Surrounding communities offered the use of graders, bulldozers, scrapers and other heavy equipment for the cleanup.

Seven Brothers and Sisters Head Guest List at Annual Davis Reunion

The annual Davis family reunion was held in Bura Handley community center Saturday, June 6. This brought together the family of James Hugh and Martha Jane Kennedy Davis, both of whom were born in Maury County, Tenn., and were among those who came to this area in the 1890s.

As Jack Davis is the only one of the children living here, he and Mrs. Davis were the official hosts.

Studies of their family tree have engaged this family for several years, and a reunion highlight was a genealogical table with charts, pictures, and private family collections.

Another unusual feature was the large group of cousins attending, some coming from as far as Tennessee, the family's ancestral state.

A guest of honor this year was a brother of the late Mrs. Davis, A. K. Kesler of Denison.

Seven of the eight children living from a family of 13 attended, along with several generations of their descendants.

They were Miss Annie Davis and Mrs. Woodson Wilson of Hollis;

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Davis of Hollis and their children, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Davis, Libby, Cindy and Jeff of Tulsa; and Mrs. Paul Horton and Kathy of Hollis;

Mr. and Mrs. Julien Farris of Leonard and their children, Mr. and Mrs. James Farris and their children of Denison,

Mrs. George Omohundro and Read, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Gaskey, Michelle and Johnny of Plainview; and Mrs. Betty Zo Droby of Dallas; Misses Kathryn and Suzann Glenn of Dallas, and Mr. and Mrs. Don Bingham of Irving;

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Davis of Wellington and their children, Mrs. John Thomas, Wesley and Valerie of Bryan and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Davis of College Station;

Ashley Davis of Whitharrell; Mrs. Clayton Nichols of Columbus.

All of the children of Mrs. Elzie Price, a deceased sister, were present: Mr. and Mrs. Owen Miller of Plainview and their daughter, Mrs. Jim Frye and Kristi of Ropesville; Miss Billie Price of Houston; Mr. and Mrs. Glynn Braden of Ropesville.

Among the Davis cousins attending were Mrs. Velma Moore, Miss Jean Moore and Mrs. Hazel Thomas of Columbia, Tenn.; Mrs. Margaret Rachel Johnson of Hampshire, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. Bithal Davis of Stinnett;

Mrs. George Castleman and George Rowell of Amarillo, Mrs. James Morton and Jones Morton of Dumas;

Harry Grimes and Jay Grimes of Fort Worth; Mrs. J. H. Davis of Claude; and Mrs. John Tedford of Hollis.

Visitors were Miss Sue Ward of Ada, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Scott of Wellington, Mrs. Joe Lindsey, Vicki, Roger and Ricky of Eureka, Kan.

Family, Friends Honor C. F. Hyman Recently on His 92nd Birthday

C. F. Hyman, who has lived on the same farm in the Nicholson community 63 years, observed his 92nd birthday recently when his children honored him with a birthday dinner.

The hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Maddox of Breckenridge, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Parrish of Gainesville, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hyman of Shamrock, and Archie Hyman, who lives with his father.

A successful stock farmer, Mr. Hyman has also grown cotton and grain through the years. He remained unusually active, and drove his car until only a few years ago.

Mr. Hyman was born May 22, 1877, in Ashland, Ky., and moved to Texas with his parents when he was three years old. The family lived in the Bulcher Community in Cook County, where he attended school.

Mr. Hyman arrived here on March 17, 1906, from St. Jo, in a covered wagon, and settled on his farm. At first, the family lived in a tent until a dug-out was finished. Later a small house was built, and still later, the comfortable home in which he lives.

He is a charter member of the Assembly of God Church in Shamrock. His hobbies are reading the Bible and working in his yard.

Those attending the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Hyman of Kermit; Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Hyman of Olton; Mr. and Mrs. Kirby Hyman, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Daly and sons, Mike and Kerry of Amarillo;

Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Hyman and son of Leon, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hyman and four children of Clinton, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hyman of Crawford, Okla.;

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hyman of Elk City, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Hyman of Shamrock; Mrs. Lillie Buchanan and Miss Sue Adams of Leon, Okla.;

Mrs. Eula Tucker and Mrs. Dona Tucker of Shamrock;

Mary DeLoach, Lt. Wischkaemper Wed in Ceremony at Texarkana

First Lieutenant Larry Michael Wischkaemper of Fort Hood took as his bride Miss Mary Evelyn DeLoach in a ceremony performed in Walnut Street Church of Christ, Texarkana, Saturday, May 30, at seven-thirty in the evening.

Jay Wischkaemper of Lubbock, brother of the bridegroom officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. DeLoach of 20 Westeria, Texarkana, while the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Wischkaemper of Route 1, Slaton, formerly of Samnorwood.

Wedding selections were sung by an A Capella choir of the church, with Mrs. Susan Barrett of Magnolia, Arkansas, as the soloist.

Mr. DeLoach gave his daughter in marriage.

She wore a floor-length gown of white silk and linen blend in princess design. A wide band of Alencon lace outlined the neck and extended down the front. Lace also banded the short puffed sleeves. A flower headpiece held her tiered veil, appliqued with lace motifs, that swept to chapel length. Her bouquet was of lilies on a white Bible.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Tommy DeLoach of Oklahoma City, her sister-in-law, as matron of honor, and Miss Diane Enger of Lubbock, Mrs. Bill McClosky of Redwater and Mrs. Dick Young of Texarkana, bridesmaids. Their empire dresses had white organdy bodices over blue floral skirts. They wore white organdy hats and carried daisies in rainbow colors.

Bill Wischkaemper of Lubbock, brother of the bridegroom, was best man and the ushers and groomsmen were his father, Mr. Wischkaemper of Slaton, and brothers of the couple, Phillip Wischkaemper of Slaton and Tommy DeLoach of Oklahoma City.

Candles were lighted by Nancy Wilson of Forman, Ark., and Boo Mitchell of Texarkana. Debra DeLoach of Oklahoma City was the flower girl and Jerry Trapp of Texarkana the ring-bearer.

After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. DeLoach honored the couple at a reception in the fellowship hall of the church.

Among the members of the house party were Mrs. Bill Wischkaemper of Lubbock and Mrs. George DeLoach of Texarkana.

The couple is now at home in Fort Hood after a wedding trip to New Orleans and other points in Louisiana.

The Longuette—Who Wears It?

It's a big question for fall—who wears the Longuette? The answer is easy. Everyone does. The Longuette is the new fall proportion, it's more than just a longer skirt length. It's a look, a mood, a whole new way of putting things together. It's the spirit of the seventies. You will see Longuettes in soft casual shirt dresses. You will see battle jackets, Gaucho pants, knickers, skirts with slits, the Longuette cape.

Here's what you will see in the fall:

—Skirt movement achieved by gores, panels, folds, concealing slits, split level redingotes, tucks and pleats. This will send you to the sewing book for brush ups on construction methods.

—Jacket lengths will juggle from waist high to three-quarters long. The Battle jacket will be strong.

—Waist lines will go up or completely disappear.

—Dark stockings and higher heels will be important. The sling pump will reappear.

—You will see more dresses in two or three piece look by using different colored or patterned fabric.

—Light weight no-bra-look will be the "thing" for foundations.

—Black will be a very good color, as will gray, brick, burgandy, all deep purples, caramel and brown.

—Accessories will be wide above the waist belts, thin belts, and cummerbunds. Gauntlet gloves in a return of lengths, small scarfs, frame bags and clutch bags will be good.

Change is coming — and change is what fashion is all about — no longer will one length dictate.

dyeability makes it a multi-colored pattern paradise for designers; it works well in the popular double knits and knit jerseys. For owners of WD-2 clothing, its easy washability is an added plus. The fiber can be laundered repeatedly with no greying tendency. This is because of its ability to resist any resettling of soil during washing.

How to Pray

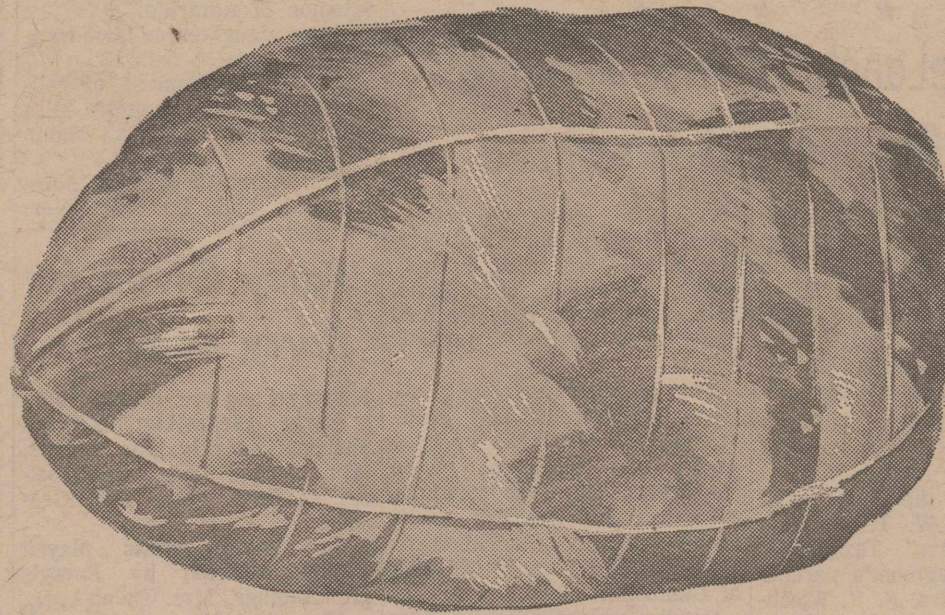

BY GAYLORD COOK

Do you know how to pray? Would you like to be able to pray better? The Bible, God's Word, tells us how pray. Note each point, and read each verse carefully.

1. We must pray in the name of Jesus Christ. John 14:14.
2. We must pray in harmony with the will of God, as revealed in His Word. I John 5:14.
3. We must pray in faith. Mark 11:22-24.
4. We must pray in humility. Matt. 6:5,6.
5. We must pray in gratefulness. Philippians 4:6.
6. We must pray in righteousness. I Peter 3:12.
7. We must pray definitely. James 5:17.
8. We must be ready to back up our prayers with work. James 2:20.
9. We must pray constantly, persistently. I Thessalonians 5:17.

If prayer has not accomplished what you feel it should, is it possible you have not met these conditions?

Putting the polish on a doctor's degree: John Gordon Thomas, State Entomologist with the Texas Extension Service, completed work for his Ph.D. some time back at Kansas State University at Manhattan, but he didn't pick it up until the commencement recently.

Then he, Janice and their children came down to visit their parents. John spent his first post-doctoral days building fence and planting cotton for his father, Lefty Thomas.

Someone who would delight Wellington's young matrons: Mrs. John D. Coleman, who lives on a ranch in the northwest part of the county. Vivacious and talented, this daughter-in-law of the Dee Colemans has lived in India and traveled much in that part of the world.

Dr. David Moreman, Clarendon veterinarian and brother of Jack Moreman, spoke for Quail FFA a while back. After getting out of Texas A&M he lived a while in Washington, D.C., courtesy of the U.S. Army, primarily for teaching and research at Bethesda.

But among Lt. Moreman's duties was going over to the White House once a week and checking the pets. Since this was in the Johnson administration, sometimes there were 15 or 20 dogs.

"Him and Her were has-beens, but there was Yukie," he said, indicating this patient was something of a character. He was the dog one of the Johnson girls picked up on an Austin street and he became thoroughly spoiled.

"If there ever was a dog that knew his master was president of the United States, it was Yukie," says Dr. Moreman.

Ronald Howerton, who was to teach art this summer at Corky's, could not come on account of one of those freak accidents.

He parked his truck and got in the camper, when he felt it shaking. He got out. The truck was moving backwards, knocked him down and broke his collar bone, ribs, pelvis bone and ankle. The latest word from his wife is that he "seems to be doing fine."

Insurance man Cal Aaron, his wife Nelda, and their children were up recently from Dallas, where they returned after living for a time in Atlanta, Ga. Distinguished looking with premature iron gray hair, Cal was asked while in Atlanta to appear in an educational TV film on safety for nationwide showing. The sponsors consider it most successful. But with the move, the letter notifying him of the date of the showing did not catch up with the Aarons until after the film was aired. Not only did he miss seeing it, but so did all his Wellington relatives who were awaiting it so eagerly.

County Has Two Rural Wrecks in May

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated two accidents on rural highways in Collingsworth County during the month of May, according to Sergeant Jack Therwanger, Highway Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in one person injured and an estimated property damage of $1,675.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county during the first five months of 1970 shows a total of six accidents resulting in no persons killed, two persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $4,625.

The accident records in other counties of the area were:

Childress County: 7 accidents, no deaths, 1 injured, $3,650 property damage.

Cottle: 4 accidents, none killed, 2 injured, $1,175 property damage.

Donley: 4 accidents, none killed, 1 injured, $2,325 property damage.

Gray: 23 accidents, none killed, 18 injured, $13,130 property damage.

Hall: 1 accident, none killed, none injured, $2,000 property damage.

Hemphill: 5 accidents, none killed, 3 injured, $4,325 property damage.

Wheeler: 10 accidents, 1 killed, 8 injured, $13,420 property damage.

Ventura Gets M. S. Degree

His major field of study was astro-geophysics.

Upon his graduation he was assigned for three years at Hickham Air Force Base, Honolulu, Hawaii, as detachment commander of an observatory.

He, his wife and baby son, will leave for there within a short time.

Mrs. Ventura is the former Virginia Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Patterson.

Capt. Ventura, a career Air Force officer, was stationed at Altus Air Force Base and Clinton-Sherman Air Force Base, and assigned for study at Texas A&M University before his present assignment at the University of Colorado.

What Co-operatives Mean to Wellington and Collingsworth County

There are those who would have you believe that Co-operatives are Tax Free . . . that they get a free ride at the expense of the taxpayer. Here are the facts:

The two co-operatives located in Wellington pay taxes, they contribute to charities, they support local firms with which they do business. They have large payrolls, adding to the community's income and in many cases offer services and facilities that would not be available without them.

Also, patrons of these institutions, that pay patronage dividends, pay Federal Income Taxes on these profits that are returned to them. Here are some of the combined totals taken from the individual reports shown on this page.

Wages and Salaries	$199,122.16
Property Taxes	8,672.06
Other Taxes	9,342.87
Dividends and Earnings	119,698.40

Local Hauling and Freight	85,669.55
Other County Expenses	7,100.64

When you check these reports you will find your co-operatives are a very vital part of the community . . . a part few citizens would want to do without.

Below are more detailed reports of the finances, operations, and services of the two co-operatives which we believe you will find interesting.

Lone Star Gas
Gas living makes sense

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

The City of Amarillo is considering bringing court action to prevent New Mexico ranchers from using Toxaphene to kill caterpillars on the Lake Meredith watershed. The sprays that are used to kill insects and those that keep down noxious grasses and weeds are wonderful and have proved a boon to the stockman and the farmer. They are also dangerous and they can be deadly. A better understanding of all of them is needed and clearer regulations of their use and more planned precautions are imperative.

There are conditions in some places in this county that are unfortunate. The principal cause is dry weather; but the plight of some farmers who intended to plant cotton has been aggravated by the herbicides they put down earlier. Even if it rains they can't plant grain sorghum on the land they have treated for noxious grasses. Perhaps they can turn to guar or something like that. As it is they can't turn to anything until they receive adequate moisture.

The Quarter Horse outnumber any other breed in the United States as most readers know; but the number of other breeds that have been registered has increased ten fold in the last ten years. This information was contained in the last issue of The Farm Quarterly. As might have been expected the Thoroughbred was second in numbers. Many people confuse the Thoroughbred with any registered horse. This is not the case. The Thoroughbred is the racehorse bred for the mile and longer distances. A good Quarter Horse can outrun a Thoroughbred for one fourth of a mile in many instances.

Registered Quarter Horses passed the half million mark in 1968 and the Thoroughbreds were over 200,000. The most beautiful horse of all, the Tennessee Walker, was third with the Appaloosa coming in third among the registered horses with over 100,000 of them being registered as compared with only 4,052 in 1960. This was interesting to me as well as the figures on the Palomino and the Paint that are far behind the Appaloosa in registered numbers. It would have been my guess that there would be more Palominos than either the spotted or painted horses. But the two lines that interested me the most were the ones of the Morgan and the American Saddle. These are the names of two famous breeds.

The Morgan was little known in Collingsworth either before or after the turn of the century. He was a horse beyond belief, strong, fast, brave, gentle, obedient and he was used to plow, haul, ride, run and drive to a surer. He was brownish red to blood red, always a bay and he was thicker in the neck than a quarter horse and more sturdy in build. We owned one in my boyhood and I rode him bareback and with saddle. On occasions he also plowed with the mules, but I cursed in my heart when he had to plow with these crossbreds although I loved each mule. On Saturday night we did not feed the animals who had plowed in the field. We turned the stock loose to graze on grass until Monday. On these occasions, I would tie the big old disgruntled mules with their harness still on and unharness the Morgan and lead him to the trough to drink. When he had his fill, I would gently loose the strap around his neck and give him a sharp slap on the side. It was a ritual. He would take four or five walking steps, toss his head, take a few running steps, lift his tail and jump forty feet in the first leap and set off at a dead run to the green grass.

There were only 1,600 American Saddle Horses in the United States in 1960. By 1968 these had grown to over 50,000 registered animals. In 1900 a "saddle horse" was a must among the ambitious, ranchers, businessmen, lawyers, doctors and others. The Saddle Horse was known as the gaited horse. The easiest slow ride was the fox trot which was slow. The speed was the pacer and the single-foot. Actually the pacer and the singlefoot are descendants of the noble Dan Patch that are used to this day in harness racing. Next I may write about the racehorse I tried to train as a cowhorse. He could outrun the cowponies and he could outrun the cows, too. He seldom turned one; but he could ter control measures. Many foresee that by controlling the floodwaters, and water on the upper reaches, there will also be enough water for a large dam structure at a site long-sought at the mouth of Wolf Creek about three miles east of the Oklahoma State line.

A multi-purpose project is outlined in the application. It would reduce floodwater damage by at least $65,000 annually (1968 figures).

Erosion control would be reduced by 80 percent in the watershed.

Other benefits would be increased irrigation, fish and wildlife development, with accompanying fishing, boating, camping, picnicking at all the structures. It would provide a water source for Shamrock, largest city in the watershed, Mr. Reed explained.

outrace any horned critter in the pasture.

Dub Marchant has a story about a hound and a foxhunt. Upon reading that the beautiful people planned a foxhunt, a hillbilly brought his many old hound down to the valley where the hunt was to be held. He was told he could not enter an animal like that.

"Oh, you must let her run—she is a leader."

After much objection he finally persuaded the redcoated officials to let her run and watchers were stationed at various points. After the hunt had been underway for about twenty minutes, one of the watchers reported to headquarters:

"That old hound is a leader, all right; she is leading the pack."

"Where is the fox?"

"The fox? Oh, the fox is running fifth."

Congratulations to Earl Hunter for the superb job he is doing in taking care of the lawn of the Baptist parsonage this summer.

Key personnel who will attend are Dr. James Mulkey, superintendent of the Chillocothe Experiment Station; James Simmons, District 3 agent, Vernon; Bill Gresham, District 1 agent, Amarillo; County Agents Max Hatter of Wheeler County, W. B. Hooser of Hall County and Reeves of Collingsworth; and Farm Demonstration Assistant Dwane Scott of Wellington.

Others will be specialists from the Extension Service and Experiment Station at Lubbock.

The Northwest Texas Research Demonstration Program was set up to serve the needs of this area specifically, but the results also benefit many other parts of Texas with soil conditions and problems similar to the Southeast Panhandle.

Among this year's demonstrations named by Mr. Reeves are cotton variety, wilt tolerant cotton varieties, brush control, forage sorghums, grain sorghum fertility, and cotton fertility.

"There is quite a bit of grass work. We are trying to see if there are some introduced grasses that will help us here," said Mr. Reeves. "If we are increasing any part of our program, it is the grass part."

There is also a grain sorghum and herbicide plot.

Sharon Starkey Gets Degree

Sharon Campbell Starkey of Lubbock was awarded a Bachelor of Science degree in Home Economics with a major in child development, at the end of the presentation of degrees this spring.

The wife of Gary Starkey, she completed the work for her degree in December 1969.

She was consistently on the Dean's Honor Roll, and was graduated with honors, having a 3.5 grade point average.

She was a member of Phi Kappa Phi honor society, which is limited to the top 10 percent of the enrollment, and of the American Home Economics Association.

Mrs. Starkey is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Campbell and was graduated from Wellington High School.

Wayne Parker

11, 1914, Andrew Wayne Parker was the son of Mrs. Pearl Parker of Lubbock and the late Tot Parker. He was graduated from Wellington High School.

He was married to Miss Lorraine Gray, Oct. 7, 1941, at Odessa.

During World War II, he served in the 116th Infantry in France, Germany and England. He was wounded in action three times.

The period of his greatest civic activity was the 15 years he spent at Andrews, where he operated supermarkets. He was described as outstanding in his relations with the people of Andrews.

He was a member of the school board four years. In that time, a new high school was built at Andrews, and many innovations, then new and untried, were introduced that have become widely adopted. Perhaps the best known was the school's new English curriculum.

Mr. Parker belonged to the Kiwanis Club. Active in Boy Scout work, he was a member of the Order of the Arrow, honor camping group, and served as a Scoutmaster and Explorer Advisor.

He was a member of the First United Methodist Church in Wellington and was a charter member of the Glenn Moore Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

He was an active leader among Democrats in West Texas, and he was moving forward with the same type of leadership here. Most of his time since returning to Wellington, however, was devoted to his farming interests.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Lorraine Parker; a daughter and three sons: Mrs. Jerry Ford of Lockney; Lt. Roy E. Parker of Laughlin Air Force Base, Del Rio; Yates Parker, and Stanley Parker of Wellington; his mother, Mrs. Pearl Parker of Lubbock; two brothers, Bill Parker of Odessa and Raymond Parker of Lubbock; and four grandchildren.

One brother, Lt. R. E. Parker, died during World War II.

Social Security Brings County $78,000 Monthly

Social security benefits paid to residents of Collingsworth County totaled $78,000 a month as 1969 ended, Travis C. Briggs, social security district manager, reported today.

A benefit increase, signed in to law by President Nixon on Dec. 30, 1969, has since raised the monthly rate of payment by 15% for the 1,097 social security beneficiaries in Collingsworth County, Briggs noted.

Of the social security beneficiaries living in Collingsworth County, 717 are retired workers and their dependents. Another 275 are receiving benefits as the survivors of workers who have died, and 86 are getting benefits as disabled workers or the dependents of disabled workers.

Briggs pointed out that although the majority of social security beneficiaries are older people, about one out of every four is under age 60.

In the State of Texas, 321,147 people under age 60 are collecting social security payments each month. The 186,789 who are under 18 are receiving payments because a working father or mother has died or is getting social security disability or retirement benefits.

Of the 30,272 who are 18 through 21 years of age, most are getting students' benefits under a provision which permits the continuation of a child's benefits past his or her 18th birthday, and up to age 22 if he or she is attending school full time.

But in this 18 to 22 age group are some other types of beneficiaries illustrating the broad family protection that is provided working people of all ages under the social security program.

A number are the children of retired, disabled, or deceased workers who became disabled before they reached 18 and who will probably never be able to go to work and become self-supporting. The benefits of these young people, severely handicapped by physical or by mental disabilities, will continue indefinitely and benefits are also payable to their mothers if the disabled son or daughter is in the mother's care.

Another small but significant group of youthful social security beneficiaries are those who are receiving social security benefits as disabled workers. Under a 1967 change in the law, disability benefits can be paid to a person who becomes disabled for work even if he has less than five years of work under social security. As little as a year and a half is required in the case of a worker who becomes disabled before age 24.

sistance Division explained to a group in December that the State of Texas, when it passed the law setting up regional planning machinery, visualized 21 areas in the state with strong regional identifications and populations in excess of 100,000.

The aim is a decentralization process, an effort to get people to plan together for progress on a regional basis.

"We want to see local governments inventory their problems and come up with projects designed to solve such problems with applications coordinated by the regional planning commissions," he said.
