Goodfellows Open Office

The Goodfellow office in Snyder will open Thursday. Families who will need help from the Goodfellows to make theirs a merry Christmas, may apply beginning tomorrow.

Mrs. J. Nelson Dunn and other members of the Twentieth Century Club have accepted the responsibility for the application phase of the Goodfellow program.

Applications will not be received by telephone, and all persons requesting Christmas aid from the Goodfellows who need clothing should have the correct sizes of the clothing written down so that they may be given to the Goodfellow office workers.

These booths, at which donations to the Goodfellows may be made, are staffed by members of the Cosmorama and Acaia clubs.

The Goodfellow program is designed to serve the needy people in this county with material Christmas gifts, toys for the children, clothing for the poorly clothed, and food for Christmas dinner.

These personal donations can be made at either bank or by sending a check or money order to the Goodfellows, Box 661 Snyder, Publication of the donors names will start in the Daily News, unless the person requests anonymity.

The economy, plus civil rights and national unity—the three keynotes of the new administration—were on the White House agenda today.

To discuss the health of the economy—and also to make an appeal for support—the President summoned representatives of labor and big business to the White House.

Meetings were scheduled for late afternoon with members of the AFL-CIO Executive Committee and representatives of the Business Advisory Council.

Johnson also planned to talk with James Farmer, director of the Congress of Racial Equality, and to attend a ceremony honoring Secret Service agent Rufus Youngblood.

Youngblood, who shielded Johnson with his body after the shots rang out that killed John F. Kennedy, will be cited for bravery.

Pressing his economy drive, Johnson conferred again Tuesday with Budget Director Kermit Gordon and his deputy, Elmer Staats.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said the Budget Bureau is launching "an agency by agency, department by department examination of the budget."

Salinger said Johnson will hear the appeals of any federal department heads who protest they are not getting enough money in the new budget, which will cover the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Kennedy had aided the budget from requests submitted by federal agencies, Salinger said, and "President Johnson is attempting to cut that budget further."

The attempt is to arrive at a budget between $88 billion and $103 billion," Salinger said.

While trying to reduce the gap between spending and revenue, Johnson was also setting his administration's tone in the matter of government regulation of business and industry.

THE REPORT OF THE SOUTHERN ASSOCIATION of Colleges and Secondary Schools brought smiles all around Tuesday evening when it was given to members of the Snyder school board and administrators of the schools here.

Evaluation Report Heard By Snyder School Board

The Snyder school board met in a special called session Tuesday night to hear the report of the accreditation survey team of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

The report was the climax to two years of self-evaluation and the recent survey by 14 members of the association of the local high school.

The report was presented by Dr. Emmitt D. Smith, chairman of the evaluating team, and director of program development and research at West Texas State University in Canyon.

In part the report stated "High commendations for the faculty and student body of Snyder High School came from every member of the Visiting Committee for the sincere and intensive self-evaluation and improvement program which preceded the visit of the team."

Dr. Smith stressed to the board that the team does not sit in judgment nor recommend membership in the association. He said that the visiting teams take an objective approach to the schools they evaluate, and their only purpose is to see if the local self-evaluation was accurate.

"Actually," said Dr. Smith, "by being strangers, we can more easily mention weakness or strengths which might be overlooked by local personnel who are too close to them to see them objectively." He also said that the sharing of ideas was of value, not only to the school being evaluated, but to team members as well.

Some 1100 different items are checked by the evaluation teams, Dr. Smith said. He added that the teams do not take just a general look, but rather a specific look at everything that goes on in the school.

The visitors in Snyder High School had special praise for the faculty members here who "go beyond the call of duty in helping the boys and girls" of Snyder High School.

In the area of recommendations for Snyder schools, Dr. Smith cautioned the board personnel to follow their published guide lines and conform to the board's role as a policy making body only.

a board setting a policy, and then allowing the administration to carry out that policy. The board, he said, cannot direct their every act.

Dr. Smith was high in his praise for the administrative and executive staff of Snyder's schools.

Dr. Smith also suggested that the board consider placing additional emphasis on staff improvement and professional growth. There were many ways of accomplishing this, he said, and that the local board could best decide which would be the most suited to local needs.

Another recommendation to the board was that they might re-evaluate the school's expenditures. He noted that while the salary scale here was far above the state average, it was slightly below that of schools which had the resources of the Snyder schools.

On the other hand he noted that the "per pupil cost" of the Snyder schools was quite high. Dr. Smith suggested that re-zoning might be a way of reducing the per pupil cost and raising the pay of the teachers without increasing the overall cost of the school operation.

The survey team also suggested that more "vertical" coordination between the grade schools, junior high schools, and senior high school might be of benefit. Each group, he said, was functioning well in its own area, but suggested that perhaps they were "isolated" one from the other.

The team also had high praise for the Snyder schools. They also praised the Snyder High School, thanked that with such a fine plant, it would be good if the adult education program could be expanded to take advantage of the facilities offered here.

Dr. Robert Clinton, principal of Snyder High School, thanked Dr. Smith for his and the team's evaluation studies. The program "made us take a real good look at ourselves," Dr. Clinton said, and "was of great benefit to us and to the students."

Trial Facts Will Be No Surprise

DALLAS (AP)—People throughout the nation saw Jack Ruby kill the accused slayer of President Kennedy, and they're likely to hear nearly all the evidence before Ruby's murder trial ever starts.

Steps to set two formal inquiries in motion raised this prospect today on the heels of an eight-week postponement of the Ruby case, originally set for Dec. 9. The new date is Feb. 1, fixed Tuesday by District Judge Joe B. Brown because the prosecution and defense said they needed more time.

Fresh information came to light, meanwhile, about Lee H. Oswald, the 24-year-old Marxist charged with the Kennedy assassination, and Ruby, 32.

Dallas night spot owner who gunned down Oswald before national television viewers just two days later.

In Washington, a former Marine Corps lieutenant in whose unit Oswald served for a time, John E. Donovan, said Oswald's military discharge and departure for Russia in 1959 caused a stir.

To speed up House action on the bill, Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., said Tuesday plans are going ahead to have a discharge petition filed Monday. Democratic leaders a majority of the House members are hoping to have a large number of Democrats sign up at once.

FINAL WINNER NAMED IN FOOTBALL CONTEST

There was a single winner for first place, but three entrants tied for second in last week's Snyder Daily News Football Contest.

Last week's event concluded the season. First place winner in the final contest was Hazel Berry, 601 Twenty-ninth Street. She missed five selections in the 28-game line-up.

Tied for second place, with six misses each, were Dan Cotton, 3774 Dalton; Darrell Haney, Rt. 1, Box 129; and Steve Burney, 311 Thirty-sixth Street.

Leoni May Meet Stiff Opposition Vast Reforms Are Decried

By PAUL FINCH CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Raul Leoni, apparent winner of the Venezuelan presidential election, may face fewer problems than outgoing President Romulo Betancourt, but Communist terrorism and inadequate strength in Congress will hamper his "consolidation of democracy" program.

Leoni, 58, the candidate of Betancourt's Democratic Action party, probably will begin talks soon with Rafael Caldera of the Social Christian party to renew the governing alliance Betancourt had formed.

Caldera was the runner-up in the seven-man presidential race. In a surprising show of strength in Sunday's elections, Caldera's Social Christians climbed from third place in 1958 elections. As their price for supporting Leoni in Congress, they are expected to ask for more than the four ministries they hold in Betancourt's government. Together Democratic Action and the Social Christians will control just over 50 per cent of the seats in the Chamber of Deputies.

Betancourt, who leaves office next March after a five-year term, had much difficulty because the opposition dominated the lower chamber.

By EUGENE LEVIN VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI decreed a vast reform of Roman Catholic worship today, called on the bishops of his church to share with him in its government, and then announced he would make an historic trip to the Holy Land next month.

The 67-year-old Roman Catholic ruler, in office scarcely five months, took the actions at a momentous closing meeting in St. Peter's Basilica of the second session of his Ecumenical Council.

He and his bishops gave Roman Catholicism its first two council decrees in 53 years—one on liturgy, the other on mass communications—and then recessed the council until September.

But Pope Paul made clear that the nine-month recess would not be an idle period. He told the council's drafting commissions to rework all pending documents so that they might be completed at the assembly's next session.

All three actions by Pope Paul today contained implications for Christian unity.

The decree on liturgical reform, permitting the use of modern languages instead of Latin in the Mass and sacraments, set ultimate Christian unity as one goal of the revision.

Pope Paul's eloquent appeal to Roman Catholic prelates to share with him, and under him, in the Church government obviously will be reflected in the impression that Roman Catholicism gives to the world. Non-Catholic Christians often have contended that the papacy has too much authority.

The assembled prelates voted 2,147 to 4 to promulgate the liturgical decree. The Pope then promulgated it.

Although it deals only with Catholic worship, it emphasizes the importance of Scripture in liturgy and advocates more preaching. Many Protestants have said in the past that Catholicism did not pay sufficient attention to the Scripture and preaching.

The Pope himself said today the decree was a gift and an invitation to all Christians to join Catholics in prayer.

Pope Paul's Visit To Holy Land

By JAMES M. LONG Associated Press Staff Writer VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI announced today he would make an unprecedented visit to the Holy Land in January.

The Pope did not set the exact date in his announcement, made at the closing meeting of the current session of the Vatican Ecumenical Council in St. Peter's Basilica.

The pontiff said he would be the first Pope to visit the Holy Land since St. Peter left Rome after the death of Christ.

Pope Paul will be the first pontiff to leave Italy voluntarily in 159 years, since Pope Pius VII went to Paris in December 1804, to crown Napoleon. Later Napoleon brought Pius VII back to France as a prisoner to sign the cessation of the papal states in 1813, and he remained there for a year.

Pope Paul's trip to the Holy Land will be the longest trip ever made by a Pope since St. Peter.

Epilogue For John Kennedy Written By Close Friend

NEW YORK (AP)—Theodore H. White, a close friend of President and Mrs. John F. Kennedy and author of "The Making of the President" wrote an "Epilogue" in the current issue of Life magazine.

The full article, copyrighted by Life magazine and made available to The Associated Press follows:

HYANNIS PORT — She remembers how hot the sun was in Dallas, and the crowds — the greater and wider than the crowds in Mexico or in Vienna. The sun was blinding, streaming down, yet she could not put on sunglasses for she had to wave to the crowd.

And up ahead she remembers seeing a tunnel around a turn and thinking that there would be a moment of coolness under the tunnel. There was the sound of the motorcycles, as always in a parade, and the occasional backfire of a motorcycle. The sound of the shot came at that moment. Like the sound of a backfire and she remembers Connelly saying, "No, no, no, no, no."

She remembers the roses. Three times that day in Texas they had been greeted with the bouquets of yellow roses of Texas. Only at Dallas they had given her red roses. She remembers thinking, how funny — red roses for me, and then the car was full of blood and red roses.

Much later, accompanying the body from the Dallas hospital to the airport, she was alone with Clint Hill — the first Secret Service man to come to their rescue — and with Dr. Burkley, the White House physician. Burkley gave her two roses that he had slipped under the President's shirt when he fell, his head in her lap.

All through the night they tried to separate him from her, to sedate her, and take care of her — and she would not let them. She wanted to be with him. She remembered that Jack had said of his father, when his father suffered the stroke, that he could not live like that. "Don't let that happen to me," he had said, when I have to go."

Now, in her hand she was holding a gold St. Christopher's medal.

She had given him a St. Christopher's medal when they were married; but when Patrick died this summer, they had wanted to put something in the coffin with Patrick that was from both, and so he had put in the St. Christopher's medal.

Then he had asked her to give him a new one to mark their 10th wedding anniversary, the month after Patrick's death. He was carrying it when he died and she had found it. But it belonged to him — so she could not put that in the coffin with him. She wanted to give him something that was hers, something that she loved. So she had slipped off her wedding ring and put it on his finger. When she came out of the room in the hospital in Dallas, she asked: "Do you think it was right? Now I have nothing left."

And Kenny O'Donnell said, "You leave it where it is." That was at 1:30 p.m. in Texas.

But then, at Bethesda Hospital in Ma land at 1 a.m. the next morning, Kenny slipped into the chamber where the body lay and brought her back the ring, which, as she talked now, she twisted.

On her little finger was the other ring; a slim, gold circlet with green emerald chips — the one he had given her in her memory of Patrick. There was a thought, too, that was always in her mind.

"When Jack quoted something, it was usually classical," she said, "but I'm so ashamed of myself — all I keep thinking of is this line from a musical comedy.

"At night, before we'd go to sleep, Jack liked to play some records; and the song he loved most came at the very end of this record. The lines he loved to hear were: 'Don't let it be forgot, that once there was a spot, for one brief shining moment that was known as Camelot.'"

She wanted to make sure that the point came clear and well. "There'll be great presidents again — and the Johnsons are wonderful, they've been wonderful to me — that there'll never be another Camelot again."

"Once, the more I read of history the more bitter I got. For a while I thought history was something that bitter old men wrote. But then I realized history made Jack what he was. You must think of him as this little boy, sick so much of the time, reading in bed, reading history, reading the Knights of the Round Table, reading Marlborough. For Jack, history was full of heroes. And if it made him see this way — if it made him see the heroes — maybe other little boys will see. Men are such a combination of good and bad. Jack had this hero idea of history, the idealistic view."

But she came back to the idea that transfixed her: "Don't let it be forgot, that once there was a spot, for one brief shining moment that was known as Camelot."

Bob Kennedy Back At Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy returned today to the job his assassinated brother gave him and President Johnson asked him to keep.

The 38-year-old attorney general went to his Justice Department office shortly before 10 a.m. to resume his duties as the nation's chief law enforcement officer.

He has been resting with his wife and friends in Florida since the days following the slaying of President John F. Kennedy Nov. 22.

The attorney general continues to be looked on by thousands of American Negroes as a leading champion of equal rights. And President Johnson is expected to rely heavily on him in carrying forward the civil rights program inherited from the dead President, brother of the attorney general.

Alaminos Is Dedicated

GALVESTON (AP)—Some 300 persons attended a ceremony Tuesday dedicating the research ship Alaminos, which will be operated by the Texas A&M department of oceanography and meteorology.

"It is imperative that we move ahead with research projects in which the Alaminos will play a vital role," A&M President Earl Rudder said.

It is the only such vessel operated by a university in the Gulf of Mexico which is equipped for all ocean research.

Dr. Dale Leipper, head of the department, dedicated the 180-foot ship and presented the official commission to Capt. Stan Fidel, its skipper.

Johnson Says Youngblood 'Most Noble'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson described Secret Service agent Rufus W. Youngblood today as "one of the most noble and able public servants I have ever known."

Johnson spoke in the White House flower garden during a ceremony in which Youngblood, 39, received the Treasury Department's exceptional service award for, in Johnson's words, offering his life to save another — Johnson's.

The award is the Treasury's highest for exceptional bravery. The Secret Service is an arm of the Treasury.

It was the second such award presented to a Secret Service agent for actions on the day of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy in Dallas. One was presented Tuesday to agent Clinton J. Hill who ran to the Presidential limousine and shielded Mrs. Kennedy after the shots were fired.

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon read the citation to Youngblood as the agent wife and four children watched proudly.

The citation said: "Mr. Youngblood was riding in the front seat of the vice president's limousine within close proximity to the President's limousine when the assassination occurred. Upon hearing the first shot, Mr. Youngblood instantly vaulted across the front seat of the car, pushed the vice president to the floor, and shielded the vice president's body with his own. His prompt response in the face of great danger and his readiness to sacrifice his life to save the vice president were in the highest traditions of the secret service."

Youngblood had been assigned to guard Johnson while he served as vice president. President said today that James J. Rowley, the Secret Service chief, now has assigned Youngblood to the presidential protective force.

Council Expected To OK Embargo

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U.N. Security Council is expected to approve today a Norwegian resolution calling for a worldwide arms embargo aimed at forcing South Africa to abandon its racial policies.

Norway's proposal reportedly won reluctant support from the African bloc after behind-the-scenes bargaining showed that the African demand for a total trade boycott of South Africa would run the risk of a Western power veto.

The Soviet Union complained that the Norwegian proposal did not go far enough, but indicated it would support it.

The resolution calls for the toughest action by U.N. members since South Africa's apartheid policy of racial segregation was attacked in the U.N. 17 years ago.

Designed to paralyze South Africa's arms industry, it goes considerably beyond a council resolution in August calling for a limited arms embargo.

The Norwegian resolution calls on all nations to observe the previous resolution and also to halt at once sale and shipment of equipment and materials for the manufacture and maintenance of arms and ammunition in South Africa.

Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko told the council appeals to South Africa for moderation had proved useless.

"The time for half measures is over," he said.

Fedorenko said the council should call for a general trade embargo and asserted South Africa "is unworthy of being a member of the United Nations."

The South African government has ignored more than two dozen resolutions against apartheid and there has been

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law, who is otherwise a very decent and moral person, reads trashy literature. She gets all the confes-ion-type magazines, illustrated with pictures of passionate kissing, or a drunken man ripping the nightgown off his wife. (You know the kind!) What she reads is her business and I really don't hold it against her, but I take my children to visit her often, and I don't want my 10- and 12-year-old daughters getting interested in trash like that. Lately when we go to Grandma's the girls head right for the magazine pile. They adore their Grandmother and I wouldn't have it otherwise, but what can I do?

DEAR IN BETWEEN: Tell your Grandma that you would rather not expose your daughters to such "sophisticated" literature at their impressionable ages, and ask her kindly to ditch her collection when you visit.

DEAR ABBY: It grieves me to see a wonderful woman like my stepmother treated the way she is, Abby, she has done things for my father that my real mother never did. He was a drunk when she married him (my mother divorced him) and he hasn't had a drink in over two years. She has worked by his side fixing up his little

Police Search For Suspect In Car Theft

FORT WORTH (AP)—A man stepped for questioning fired wild at one policeman and later took a pistol and car from another in Fort Worth before dawn.

Officers searched for the man throughout the city.

Patrolman J. R. Clayton spotted two couples inside a car halted in a Southeast Fort Worth park. He herded the two men into his own auto to inquire about ownership of the other vehicle—which turned out to be one reported stolen in Dallas.

One of the men jumped out, thrust a pistol against Clayton's back and then to his chest, demanding the officer's gun. Clayton refused to hand it over.

Ordered to alight, the policeman quickly thrust the car door open. The man fired three shots as he fled. One hit the top of Clayton's car but all the bullets missed him.

Ten minutes later patrolman C. C. Eagle stopped the same man downtown. Again the man produced a pistol, forced Eagle to leave his police car and took the officer's pistol and flashlight.

He ordered Eagle to start running. As Eagle complied, the man roared away in the patrol car. It was found abandoned five minutes later on Fort Worth's near west side.

Howard Co. Choir Here Friday

The Howard County Junior College Choir of Big Spring, Texas, which will appear at the Marth Ann Woman's Club on December 6 at 8:00 p.m. under the sponsorship of the Musical Coterie has gained a well-deserved reputation during the past few years for the outstanding quality of its musical presentations. The choir, which has been under the direction of Ira Schantz since the fall of 1957, has so consistently grown in performing ability and musical stature that some critics now consider it one of the very finest junior college choral organizations in the entire Southwest.

The Howard County Junior College Choir has often appeared at civic functions and high school assembly programs in the West Texas area. In addition, it has recently appeared at the State Fair of Texas in Dallas and before the State Junior College Convention in Fort Worth. After its appearance at the Junior College Convention it was frequently spoken of as "one of the finest choirs to appear before the Convention in its entire history."

Under the strict discipline of its director, Ira Schantz, former member of the famous Robert Shaw Choral and a well-known tenor soloist in the Southwest, the choir has performed much great choral music ranging from the early contrapuntal school of composition, represented by such composers as Heinrich Schütz and Hans Hassler, to the more modern choral music of contemporary composers and show tunes of the Broadway stage. Among the presentations of oratorios in which the choir has recently taken part have been "A German Requiem" (Brahms), "Mass in G" and "Mass in C" (Schubert), "The Mount of Olives" (Beethoven), "The Messiah" (Handel), and "Christmas Oratorio" (Saint-Saens).

Accompanist for the choir is Jack Hendrix, head of the Department of Music at Howard County Junior College. Mr. Hendrix has an outstanding reputation as an organist, pianist and teacher, his students having often won competitions up to, and including, the national level.

Among the numbers to be presented by the HCJC Choir for the Snyder Musical Coterie are the following:
Fanfare for Christmas Day — Martin Shaw; O Come, O Come Emmanuel — Gregorian Chant; Arr. Shaw-Parker; While Shepherds Watched Their Sheep — Jungt-Dickinson; Gesu Bambino — Pietro Yon; Shepherds Awake! — Katherine K. Davis; As I Fell Upon a Night — Arr. Katherine K. Davis; Psalms (300) and the continue baking until custard is set — about another half hour. (To test done-ness, insert knife; if custard does not adhere, it is ready.)
Quiche can be served either hot or cold. The above makes 4 to 6 luncheon servings; eight when used as the first course of a dinner.

Like flavored milk? Add a tablespoon of molasses and a teaspoon of powdered instant coffee to a cup of milk and whirl together in an electric blender. Use light or dark molasses to suit your own taste.

Maestro's In The Kitchen

Norman Luboff, the dynamic and immensely popular choral conductor and arranger, makes his first "in person" appearance here directing his Choir on Dec. 7, at the high school auditorium, under the auspices of Snyder Jaycees. As Luboff fans know, his programs feature an extraordinary variety of style, and are apt to include anything from Bach to Cowboy ballads. And speaking of Cowboy songs, Maestro Luboff is at "Home on the Range" in more ways than one — he's an excellent and imaginative chef. Mr. Luboff's menus are as varied as his musical fare, but when pressed he'll admit that the French-Italian style is his specialty.

Many summers in the south of France have inspired this knowledge of and admiration for Mediterranean cuisine — garlic and all — and he gives much credit for his education in this field to one of the family's summer cooks. "She was a strange little woman," Luboff says, "she looked like a real truck driver, but she did the most incredibly delicate cooking. Every meal was a gastronomic delight; as a matter of fact, after a couple of weeks my wife and I had to ask her to go a little easy, at least for one meal a day. Because, as you can imagine, it is practically impossible to resist a lobster souffle at dinner time, even though you may have had an indescribably delicious bouillabaisse for lunch! "Actually," the bearded conductor chuckles, "I later found out that although she created all these colorful fantasies for my wife, our kids, our guests, and me, our cook herself was on a strict diet of 'Mescal' — that is, she ate only one of Mr. Luboff's tastiest recollections of his Riviera days:

Slice 4 medium - sized onions and saute in butter until golden. Sprinkle over bottom of pie shell.
Do the same with one cup of finely chopped Gruyere cheese and about 4 strips of partially-cooked bacon, which should be broken or cut up into small pieces.
Next, blend together with a fork two cups of scalded heavy cream, four eggs, finely chopped tarragon, finely chopped chives, salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste.
Pour mixture into pie shell. Bake in hot oven (around 450 degrees) for ten minutes. Then reduce the heat to slow oven (300) and continue baking until custard is set — about another half hour. (To test done-ness, insert knife; if custard does not adhere, it is ready.)
Quiche can be served either hot or cold. The above makes 4 to 6 luncheon servings; eight when used as the first course of a dinner.

You can prepare the speediest of sweet sauces by heating a cup of milk and a half-cup of cream. Serve over ice cream, pudding or cake, or use in a caramel milk shake.

LET HIM COOL HIS HEELS AWHILE

Not All Americans Believe In The Brotherhood Of Man

BY INEZ ROBB

made all, not some of us, in his image. All of us, not just some of us, are His children. But the Citizens' Educational Association, a new Mississippi hearing today that their children were being subjected to brainwashing textbooks that reject this ancient belief out of hand, but decry it as atheistic and Communistic.

It is interesting that the examples of bad grammar and bad spelling that Gov. Ross Barnett, who made such a show of flying to Washington to attend the funeral of President Kennedy in New York to deny that what I read from the Washington airport was an interesting part of his unshamed pedantry, had gone on to form a brotherhood with atheism and Communism, and to exercise of many a modicum of good taste would have kept Governor Barnett and Gov. George Wallace of Alabama occupied in their home states during the holiday season.

Governor Barnett is chairman of the Mississippi's textbook commission. On Thanksgiving Day, before his ad-vised to the nation phrased it of prejudice and against brotherhood, he said, "God, of course, he agreed with the women. However, the board, composed of five members, has voted against any immediate book burning.

And Otis Allen, president of the State Association of School Administrators, who must be a brave man, had the courage to contend at the hearing that professional educators are better qualified and more competent to judge textbooks than women who would apply the torch to tolerance and brotherhood.

This small scene in Jackson seems the essence of the nightmare that plagues our time and country and of which the President spoke on Thanksgiving night when he said:

"How much better it would be, how much more sane it would be, how much more decent America it would be if all Americans could give their time and spend their energies helping our system and its servants solve our problems instead of pouring out the venom and hate that stalemate us in progress."

"In each Administration the greatest burden that the President had to bear has been the burden of his own countrymen's unthinking and unreasoning hate and division.

"It is this work that I most want us to do—to banish rancor from our words and hearts—to close down the poison strings of hatred and intolerance and fanaticism—to perfect our unity North and South, East and West to hasten the day when bias of race, religion and region is no more and to bring the day when our great energies and decencies and spirit will be free of the burden that we have borne too long.

"Let us pray for His divine wisdom in banishing from our land any injustice or intolerance or oppression to any of our fellow Americans, whatever their opinion, whatever the color of their skins, for God made all of us, not some of us, in His image. All of us, not just some of us, are His children.

Amen!

Flowers Can Express All Sentiments

By EDDY GILMORE
LONDON (AP)—You love the girl? Then send her a rose. You're sick of the guy? Then send him a bouquet of Michaelmas daisies.

Want her to marry you? Send her sprigs of ivy.

Those and dozens of other sentiments and declarations—which can be expressed by flowers—are the subject of a book published here.

It's called "The Language of Flowers."

Explaining it, the publishers said: "To express gratitude or affection by the gift of flowers is common enough, but nowadays few people make use of the opportunities provided by this pleasant custom to express other and more specific sentiments."

"For instance, how nice and delightfully simple, to be able to express one's constancy with a bunch of bluebells, or to declare war with a sprig of wild tansy," they said.

The book, with illustrations, has 88 pages. The author is Mrs. L. Harris.

It has two easy indexes. One explains what the various flowers, fruits and plants mean. The other explains numerous sentiments—and what to send to express them.

Here are a few:

Admiration—amethyst. Ardor—the cuckoo plant. Beware—oleander. Coldheartedness—lettuce. Dangerous pleasures—tuberose. Disgust—frog ophrys. Falsehood—yellow lily. Fascination—fern. Hopeless love—yellow tulip. There are three ways to express horror—by sending mandrakes, dragonswort, snakes-foot.

If you want to say "I'm worthy of you" you send a white rose.

Should you want to say "My best days are past" send colchicum or meadow saffron.

Should you want to say that someone's absolutely perfect—the pineapple is the answer.

Stage Set Once More For Kirby

By ROGER LANE
AP Business News Writer
BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—The stage was set today for Allan P. Kirby, 71-year-old Eastern financier, to grasp once more the reins of giant Allegheny Corp., wrested from him more than 30 months ago.

Nowhere in sight for the Allegheny stockholders' meeting, convened to restore Kirby to power, were the oil-rich Murchison brothers of Texas who toppled him from command of the vast railroad and investment company empire in May 1961.

John D. Murchison, 41, captain of the successful dissident forces of 2½ years ago, was reported inspecting his investment in a Colorado ski resort. Clint W. Murchison Jr., 39, was said to be in Dallas looking after other Murchison interests.

A $18.8-million stock-purchase transaction arranged early last July and executed Oct. 31 sealed the victory for Kirby and his allies.

The intervening time was required to tie together loose ends and for procedural steps, climaxed today with election of a new slate of Allegheny directors, headed by Kirby and including his sons, Fred M. and Allan Jr.

Kirby was expected to resume direction as chairman of the board.

As a New York holding company buffeted by litigation and quixotic shifts of individual fortunes in its 3 years, Allegheny overseas assets of about $7 billion.

Its prime holdings are effective control of Investors Diversified Services, a $4-billion Minneapolis-based investment company complex, and the $2.5-billion New York Central Railroad, the nation's third largest.

Junior Editors Quiz on REPTILES

QUESTION: Are there any flying reptiles?

ANSWER: If by flying, you mean the ability to rise in the air as a bird can, the answer is no. But if you include the ability to glide down through the air from a higher position to a lower one, the answer is yes. Our upper picture shows the fascinating "Flying Dragons" of Malaysia, small lizards with large flaps of skin stretched between ribs which can be extended to allow them to sail down to some lower part of the trees in which they live. The "wings" are orange with black bars and the "dragons" really look more like large butterflies. These animals are the closest thing to a present day flying reptile.

The bottom picture shows a remarkable creature which lived between 150 and 60 million years ago—the Pterodactyl, one of a group of now extinct soaring reptiles called Pterosaurs or Pterodactyls. Pterodactyl was a giant, with a wing spread up to 25 feet. The wings were webs of skin stretched from the arm to a greatly enlarged fourth finger and back to the body. Some experts think they scooped up fish. Others think they couldn't fly well enough to do this and believe they lived in trees.

FOR YOU TO DO: Look for pictures of Pterodactyls in books and museums and form your own opinion as to whether they could soar upward after grabbing a fish. Their bodies were very light; maybe they could soar on upward moving currents of air.

(Tony Cordova of Santa Rosa, Calif., wins today's grand prize of a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, and you may win a set too.)

Bracero Import Showdown Today

By G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate scheduled a showdown vote today on a proposed final one-year extension of the law which permits the importation of farm labor from Mexico.

The central issue is whether the Senate should reverse itself and knock out of the bill language the House has refused to accept.

The hotly disputed program is due to expire at midnight Dec. 31. Backers are seeking to avert a stalemate on the bill between the two chambers.

Sen. Allen Ellender, D-La., the bill's floor manager, promised his colleagues in a Senate speech Tues. This was the last extension he would seek. He is chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee.

Opponents of the program contend it breeds exploitation of both domestic and foreign farm workers by playing one group against the other.

Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., one of the measure's opponents, has called Ellender's death knell for the mass importation of farm labor.

McCarthy told a reporter he would neither claim victory nor concede defeat in his fight to keep language in the measure which the House rejected.

This was a McCarthy amendment adopted 44 to 43 last Aug. 15 declaring that no farm could employ foreign labor without first offering at least as good wages, working conditions and benefits as those required by the agreement with Mexico.

Ellender said the House would not accept this because it "would have the effect of more or less killing the bill." McCarthy did not dispute Ellender's claim.

McCarthy told a reporter later that he felt Ellender's promise makes it certain that the program "if it isn't killed, this program, will have only one more year to run."

That was about the way Ellender sized things up in his speech. He said employers of foreign farm labor who contend they just can't find enough domestic workers to fill their needs had better start preparing now to lose the foreign labor supply in 1965.

He said he could not foresee what reaction this might cause in relations with Mexico, or how U. S. farmers would get along. The program was launched in 1951, partly because of complaints by the government of Mexico that thousands of its nationals were crossing the border illegally to work on U.S. farms, only to be exploited by employers who thrust sub-standard wages, working and living conditions upon them. The program now is supervised by both governments.

THE NORMAN LUBOFF CHOIR ... here Dec. 7

Norman Luboff Choir Is Making First Road Tour

Norman Luboff, the brilliant and popular conductor-arranger, makes his debut here on Dec. 7 at the High School Auditorium under the auspices of The Snyder Jaycees, leading his crack "troops" of virtuoso singers known internationally as the Norman Luboff Choir.

Although this is the Choir's very first "in person" tour, its unique reputation has long since been established on the basis of its many splendid and many-splendored records. The group has made over twenty LP albums for RCA Victor and Columbia, ranging from Cowboy ballads to show tunes and from Bach to the Blues.

Varied in style and content though they are, the records have one important thing in common; they're all best sellers!

Tickets are priced at $1.50 for adults and $1 for students. Advance tickets may be purchased at Snyder Athletic Supply and Toyland, Rogers, Inc., Thompson's Shoe Store, and Dryden's Shoe Store.

Certain time for the choir's concert is 8 p.m.

Mario Pei, the noted linguist, calls Swahili "the worst and most dignified of all African Negro tongues." He recommends it as a national language for African nations south of the Sahara.

Ike May Lead GOP Quest For Presidential Nominee

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—The political upheaval caused by the assassination of President Kennedy may project former President Eisenhower actively into the search for a 1964 GOP presidential nominee.

Eisenhower has disclaimed any desire to become a kingmaker. But associates who have talked to him since Kennedy's death say the former president recognizes that the Republican situation has changed so rapidly as to invite efforts to get the kind of moderate candidate he believes can win.

Eisenhower has opposed public discussion of political matters at this time. He was reported to have suggested it might be well for Republicans to preserve an air of bipartisanship longer into the new year than they had planned by postponing a series of scheduled Jan. 29 closed-circuit television fund-raising dinners.

With his treasury bare, however, national chairman William E. Miller ruled that the dinners will go on as scheduled. Eisenhower, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon are to be among the speakers.

Before Kennedy's death, the Republican nomination scramble was developing rapidly into a two-man contest between Goldwater and Rockefeller. It was a party kept secret that Eisenhower didn't view this prospect with any enthusiasm, but there wasn't much he could do about it.

The death of Kennedy and the elevation of Lyndon B. Johnson to the presidency changed things. Goldwater supporters had figured their man had a chance of beating Kennedy by carrying the South and some of the more conservative states in the Midwest and West. Now he would be facing a Texas president with an image more conservative than Kennedy's.

If Goldwater decides to get into the race—and there now is some doubt that he will—it does not seem to be recovering from his divorce and remarriage.

In such a situation there is a feeling that if Eisenhower and his friends of the National Republican Citizens Committee can find a suitable candidate in the next couple of months the way would be open for the type of buildup that made Wendell T. Wilkie the nominee in 1940.

Nixon, of course, remains in the forefront of possible contenders. While he has praised Nixon as well qualified, the impression remains that Eisenhower would rather turn to another for the 1964 race.

But even some of the governor's supporters concede privately that his political fortunes do not seem to be recovering from his divorce and remarriage.

In such a situation there is a feeling that if Eisenhower and his friends of the National Republican Citizens Committee can find a suitable candidate in the next couple of months the way would be open for the type of buildup that made Wendell T. Wilkie the nominee in 1940.

Soldiers Are Home

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has brought home about 31,000 soldiers who were sent to strengthen the Army in West Germany during the Berlin crisis two years ago, it was learned today.

This represents about 75 percent of the 41,000 troops, mostly rear echelon elements shipped overseas during late 1961 when the Russians were threatening to try to push the allies out of West Berlin.

The remaining 10,000 reinforcements probably will stay with the U.S. 7th Army for some time.

This places the 7th Army's current strength at about 242,000 men whose fighting power is concentrated in five divisions and a number of miscellaneous combat units adding up to a sixth division.

New Facts Show Smoker's Risk

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—The American Cancer Society, in what it says is the broadest study yet made of the subject, reported today that death rates are far higher among cigarette smokers than among non-smokers and that the rates increase with the amount of smoking.

The report came on the heels of a proposal by the American Medical Association's Board of Trustees for a research program on tobacco and health "beyond statistical evidence."

The American Cancer Society's report was based on 422,094 men who filled out detailed questionnaires and then were traced for an average of 34.3 months.

Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond, the society's director of statistical research, outlined the new findings at the 17th annual clinical meeting of the American Medical Association. The figures confirm previous findings and go further, he said.

Pipe-smoking Dr. Hammond reported death rates were far higher among cigarette smokers than non-smokers, they increased with amount of smoking, and they were lower among ex-smokers of a year or longer than among current smokers.

The latest study, aimed at refuting challenges to six earlier ones, includes many new factors. One part of it compares death rates of 35,975 matched pairs (one smoker and one non-smoker).

The "twins" were matched for age, race, height, urban or rural residence, and numerous other characteristics—even degree of baldness and frequency of eating fried foods. The smoker in each pair used a pack of cigarettes a day or more.

Of the 35,975 matched pairs, 1,385 of the smokers died during the study compared with 662 of the non-smokers.

Lung cancer killed 110 of the smokers, 12 of the non-smokers. Fifteen smokers died of emphysema, another lung disease, compared with 1 non-smoker. More than twice as many smokers as non-smokers (684 and 312, died of two arterial diseases. Other causes felled 576 smokers compared with 329 of the non-smoking "twins."

Among smokers age 40 to 69 who started before age 15 the death rate was 2.9 as high as among those who never smoked regularly.

Lung cancer death rates of current cigarette smokers were 11 times as high as non-smokers—18 times as high among very heavy smokers.

The American Tobacco Institute has said conclusive scientific evidence is lacking to show connection between cancer and smoking.

Dr. Hammond said other diseases found related to cigarette smoking included cancer of the throat and bladder, and gastric ulcers.

The smaller plaque was also presented to Mr. Stinson by the Lone Star State Pharmaceutical Association and Texas Southern University for his "outstanding and unselfish service" to the association.

Moment Without A Leader Makes Nation Vulnerable

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—The assassination of President Kennedy raises some grisly questions which were not a problem when John Wilkes Booth planned to kill President Lincoln and some of the highest officials around him.

There were no intercontinental ballistic missiles in Lincoln's day. At that time the nation could not be in immediate danger if someone were not found within a matter of minutes to become president and commander-in-chief.

Now a few moments—the time between the start of an enemy nuclear attack and the order to make a nuclear counter-attack—could mean the difference between annihilation and some survival if not victory.

Officials have said American nuclear missiles are so well protected and guarded that could reply so fast that an enemy beginning an attack would be equally devastated.

Such statements, a discouragement to an enemy, are based on the assumption that at the moment of attack there would be someone in supreme authority to order, and very quickly, a counter-blow.

As commander-in-chief, the president would give the order.

If the president were killed, the vice president, by becoming president and commander-in-chief, would give the order.

Under a 1947 law, if there is no president or vice president, then next in line of succession to the presidency are the speaker of the house, the speaker pro tempore of the Senate, and then the Cabinet officers, starting with the secretary of state.

So the line of succession, spelled out this way, looks clear and simple. If the enemy began an attack by dropping nuclear bombs on Washington, the president and all those next in line might be wiped out.

Krush Happy With Vows

"We note with satisfaction," said Khrushchev, "that Lyndon Johnson, the new President of the United States, speaking of his intentions to continue President Kennedy's policy, emphasized he would strive for a peaceful solution of international relations and for better relations with the Soviet Union and all other countries."

"As regards the Soviet Union, it will not relax its efforts in search of a solution to major international problems and will press for the further consolidation of relations with other countries."

Khrushchev made his comment at a farewell dinner given by President Urho Kekkonen of Finland, who was ending an unofficial visit with Khrushchev.

Mrs. Kennedy's New Home Abounds In Fine Art Work

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—A home with a history and a warmth filled with the art she loves, will greet Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy when she walks into her borrowed Georgetown residence Friday.

The new address for the former First Lady—3038 N St.—is a three-story red brick dwelling with plenty of room. Undersecretary of State and Mrs. W. Averell Harriman, who own the house, have turned it over to the former First Lady and her children and have moved into a hotel.

From the entrance hallway, with etchings by Picasso and Matisse in the stairwell, to the picturesque dormered third floor bedrooms, it is furnished for elegant and comfortable living.

The dining room seats up to 18 comfortably.

There are fireplaces in all but one room and the house contains a collection of French, English and Chinese lacquer furniture and Lowestoft china. And the art collection would be the pride of a museum.

In the rear is a spacious, blue-tiled bathroom and terraced garden, with boxwood and magnificent magnolia trees and a swimming pool.

As she walks over the two Iranian rugs (gift of the shah) in the entrance hallway, past a Louis XV console with a big carved mirror of the same period of France's grandeur, Mrs. Kennedy will be in an atmosphere not unlike what she created in the White House.

The history books of Georgetown indicate this house dates back to the same period as the mansion at 1600 Pennsylvania Ave., which Mrs. Kennedy is vacating after almost three years.

It is said to have been built in 1800, the same year President John Adams moved into the unfinished White House.

It was announced Tuesday that Mrs. Kennedy will move in Friday. There is no indication when President Johnson and his family will take occupancy of the White House, but probably soon.

The Harrimans, who once occupied the governor's mansion in Albany, N.Y., bought the Georgetown home last spring. His prior owner was William Scranton, now governor of Pennsylvania.

Oct. Deaths Set Record

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's traffic deaths in the first 10 months in 1963, with a record high for October, totaled more than 35,000, the National Safety Council reports.

Highway fatalities in October totaled 4,000, topping the previous October high of 3,985 in 1962. The toll, the third highest ever recorded for one month, compared with 3,880 in October last year.

The council said 35,170 persons lost their lives in traffic accidents from Jan. 1 to Nov. 1, an increase of 5 per cent over the 33,420 for the corresponding period last year.

Trustees Hold LBJ Wealth

WASHINGTON (AP)—Almost all of President Johnson's personal wealth has been placed in the hands of trustees, the Washington Post said today.

It also said he has put his Washington house up for sale.

According to the newspaper, the new President had put most of his stockholdings under trusteeship when he assumed the vice presidency in 1961. It said most of these have been liquidated.

Since becoming President Nov. 22, the Post said, Johnson has placed some 5,000 acres of unimproved Texas grazing land under trusteeship. He owns the land jointly with Mrs. Johnson.

Under the agreement, the trustee may not apply for any provision federal farm or land subsidy under any circumstances. The trust lasts until Johnson is not president or dies, whichever comes first.

The trustee is A. W. Moursland, a Johnson City, Tex., attorney who is co-trustee for Mrs. Johnson's holdings, which include the LBJ Co., which had an interest in several Texas and Oklahoma radio stations. Mrs. Johnson was majority stockholder and chairman of the LBJ Co.

The President continues to hold his ranch house near Johnson City and some 40 surrounding acres, the Post reported. He will also retain control of his municipal bonds.

The house the Johnsons plan to sell is known as "The Elms" and is located in the exclusive Spring Valley section of Northwest Washington. It was estimated they paid between $160,000 and $200,000 when they bought it from Mrs. Perle Mesta in June 1961.
