Hunt For Missing 'Spy' Plane Waged

(AP WIREPHOTO)

U.S. Reconnaissance Plane Missing

A four-engine Navy EC121 propeller reconnaissance plane, similar to the Air Force model, below, is missing over the Sea of Japan. The U.S. defense department said the plane was based at Atsugi, Japan, and had 31 persons aboard. North Korea claimed today that its air force shot down a large U.S. reconnaissance plane when it intruded deep into North Korean air space.

TOKYO (AP) — The North Koreans, who captured the intelligence ship Pueblo, reported their air force shot down a large U.S. reconnaissance plane today. The U.S. Defense Department said a Navy reconnaissance plane with 31 aboard was missing in the Sea of Japan.

Japanese fishing boats joined U.S. planes in a search for survivors. The U.S. Embassy in Moscow asked the Foreign Ministry for the assistance of any Soviet ships in the area.

In Washington, the Defense Department said the Navy EC121 plane was flying "a routine reconnaissance track" which kept it at least 50 nautical miles from the North Korean coastline.

The Pentagon did not immediately confirm that the North Koreans shot down the huge electronics-packed aircraft but said only that a broad search was launched for the plane and its crew of 31 in the Sea of Japan.

At the Capitol, however, Vice Adm. J. B. Colwell, deputy chief of naval operations, talked as though hostile action was involved.

He called the incident "a clear case of international piracy and a breach of international law." He talked briefly with newsmen before going into a closed session of the House Armed Services Committee. He declined to give further details in public.

At the Pentagon, Daniel Z. Henkin, the Defense Department's chief spokesman, dodged all questions on what may have happened but said "the aircraft was in communication with its base during its mission."

The North Korean news agency, in a broadcast monitored in Tokyo, claimed the plane intruded deep into North Korean air space and was shot down at 1:50 p.m.—11:50 p.m. EST Monday.

Henkin told newsmen the unarmed plane, jammed with six tons of electronic equipment including radar and gear to intercept radio messages, "was flying a routine reconnaissance track similar to hundreds of missions which have been flown over international waters in that area since 1950."

Aboard the plane, flying out of Atsugi, Japan, was a crew of 30 Navy men and one Marine enlisted man.

"We have no information at this time which confirms the sighting of any survivors," Henkin said.

The U.S. destroyers Tucker and Dale, based at Sasebo, Japan, were dispatched to the general area, within 200 miles of where the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo and its 83 crewmen were captured last year.

In advance of the two destroyers, the Navy sent a big HC130 Hercules rescue aircraft accompanied by a KC135 tanker and combat patrol cover.

Henkin estimated the two destroyers would reach the search and rescue area about 8 a.m. EST Wednesday.

Seas in the area were described as moderate with waves of about four feet and winds of 10 to 16 knots. The air temperature was reported 10 to 18 degrees above freezing temperature, with the sea slightly warmer.

The broadcast gave no information on the fate of those aboard.

It said only that the North Korean air force shot the plane down at a high altitude "by showering fire of revenge upon it."

Policemen Are Slain In Shootout

CHICAGO (AP) — Two policemen were slain in a shootout with a former Marine suspected of planting a number of bombs in public places, one of which killed a woman a week ago in a department store.

Firing rifles and pistols and hurling homemade bombs, Frank Kulak, 42-year-old veteran of fighting in World War II and Korea, barricaded himself Monday in his third-floor flat on the city's South Side to hold off police seeking to question him.

The bullet-riddled bodies of the policemen were found on a third-floor porch after Kulak surrendered.

Two other policemen and a civilian were wounded in the prolonged exchange of shots and several others were injured by falling debris from the explosions.

THAT'S WHY

Kulak told police that he wanted to show people the horror of war.

Before he was taken away in a patrol car, Kulak was asked why he did it.

"Well, they came at me," he said. "The police, that's who. They came after me."

The siege began when three policemen went to Kulak's door about 3 p.m. to question him about several recent South Side bombings, including an explosion April 7 at a store in which a woman was killed and eight others injured.

When the policemen identified themselves, they said, Kulak fired through the door with an automatic weapon, wounding Detective William McInerney, 45. Detective Michael A. Spiotto said Kulak moments later emptied a carbine into Sgt. James Schaffer, 48, and Det. Jerome A. Stubig, 40, whose bodies were found later on the porch of the three-story brick building.

At this point, police said, Kulak barricaded himself in his apartment. He was armed with what a police spokesman called "a small arsenal."

The arsenal included a large amount of black powder, a number of concussion grenades and homemade bombs, a grenade launcher, several automatic weapons and a .45-caliber automatic pistol.

Police exchanged gunfire with Kulak for nearly an hour. Several grenades and bombs, hurled or shot by Kulak, rocked nearby buildings and shattered windows up to two blocks away.

TSU Rider Hot Issue

AUSTIN (AP) — Smarting under a statement from Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, Speaker Gus Mutscher said today he might very well ask the House appropriations conferees to delete a spending bill rider that would close the predominantly Negro Texas Southern University Law School.

"It could very easily be that I will encourage my conferees" to drop the rider, which provoked the hottest floor fight of the day in Monday's House appropriations debate.

The speaker said Monday he backed the rider.

And Mutscher voiced his most bitter words thus far in the growing split between himself and Barnes, under whom Mutscher consolidated the power that led to his election as speaker.

"This doesn't surprise me, this press release (from Barnes)... Anything that looks politically popular over there, they pass without scrutiny," Mutscher said

He also accused the Senate of "passing bills over there like batting ping pong balls around."

'HANGING TREE'

Teen Raped, Nearly Choked To Death

EULESS, Tex. (AP) — Police held two men today after a teenage girl told police she was raped and nearly choked to death in an abortive hanging attempt.

The girl, 16, said she was hanged from a tree three times before a motorist's headlights saved her.

Thoman Flippen, 24, and Mark Lundquist, 18, were charged with assault to murder. An investigation continued. Euless is a Fort Worth suburb.

Flippen, a truck driver, was convicted of rape in 1966 and served two years, police said.

The girl told police from her hospital bed Sunday that she accepted an offer from two men to take her home from a skating rink Saturday night.

They drove to a wooded area where she said the older man raped her and his companion looked on.

Then, she continued, the older man tried to hang her from a tree but the limb broke. A second attempt failed. Finally, she said, she was hoisted off the ground, her hands tied behind her.

Investigators said the owner of the property then drove up.

The girl said she was pulled down, carried to the man's pickup and driven to his apartment. Later, she was taken to a Euless hospital, she said. She suffered from black eyes, bruises and rope burns around her neck.

Police entered the case after the girl telephoned her mother from the hospital.

Euless Police Chief W. M. Sustaire said investigators searched Flippen's pickup and found "girlie book" pictures of nude women hanging from trees.

Minimum Pay Bill Change

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas legislators changed their minds on two important controversial issues today — annual sessions of the legislature and a state minimum wage.

The House approved 101-42 and sent to the Senate the proposed constitutional amendment for annual sessions, with Speaker Gus Mutscher casting an "aye" vote.

Last Tuesday the same measure failed to get the required two-thirds approval by a 99-43 vote, one vote shy.

Senators changed their minds and removed from the minimum wage measure an amendment that would have exempted farm workers, one of the main aims of the bill.

Newest Heart Swap

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Ted C. Chambers, 44, of Hazelwood, Mo., Houston's newest heart transplant recipient, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Methodist Hospital.

The heart of David Fearing, 30, of Toledo, Ohio, was implanted in Chambers' chest Monday in a three-hour operation.

Fearing died of brain damage suffered Monday in a traffic collision. He was flown to Houston in a jet ambulance.

Chambers entered the hospital Jan. 24 with severe coronary artery disease and heart failure, a spokesman said.

Fate Of Sirhan Now In Hands Of LA Jurors

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The fate of Sirhan Bishara Sirhan rests with a jury that must weigh this question: how ill was he, mentally, when he killed Robert F. Kennefy?

The bantamweight, 25-year-old Jordanian Arab who put a gun to the head of the New York senator last June 5 watched stolidly as the jury of seven men and five women filed from the courtroom Monday to fix the degree of his crime.

PITY, PASSION

Instructed by Judge Herbert V. Walker to be "uninfluenced by pity for the defendant or by passion or by prejudice against him," the jury can return any of four possible verdicts:

—First degree murder — asked by the state—with the penalty of life in prison or death. The penalty would be determined by the jury in a separate session.

—Second degree murder—asked by the defense—with the term of five years to life in prison.

—Manslaughter, one to 10 years.

—Acquittal.

The defense contended that Sirhan's mind was so blurred that the crime didn't meet the legal definition of first degree murder. But it did not ask for the other possible verdicts of manslaughter or outright acquittal.

Prosecutor Lynn D. Compton, in his final argument, had this to say about the testimony of mental experts in the case:

"The psychiatrists say if you hate a man a little bit and kill him, you are responsible and mature; but if you hate him a lot and kill him, you are not too mature; but if you hate him a lot and kill him, you are not responsible and not mature."

HATE PREMIUM

Compton wound up with a plea to the jury not to "put a premium on hate" by returning a verdict of less than first degree.

Sirhan turned once to his brother Adel—in the spectator section 15 feet away—and mouthed the words: "Where's mother?"

Adel explained later that Mary Sirhan, who had given her son quiet support from her second-row seat throughout the 14 weeks of trial, "felt she just couldn't go through this day."

Defense attorney Grant B. Cooper told the jury, in his closing argument last week, that Sirhan's motive for the killing "from his sick mind was a good motive. It was a good motive in his mind. He thought it was right."

Rioting Italian Convicts Give Up

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Two thousand rebellious convicts were transferred in chains today from two of Northern Italy's biggest prisons. Both were wrecked beyond repair in three days of rioting.

At Milan's San Vittore jail the last of 1,300 rampaging convicts raised their hands in surrender early today after a two prong assault by police who invaded the prison in a cloud of tear gas. More than 100 policemen and about 20 prisoners were injured.

More than 600 prisoners had surrendered at Turin, leaving less than 400 convicts huddled in the ruins of the prison there. Police said they were surrendering as fast as officers could handcuff them, load them aboard trucks and send them to jails in Sicily and Sardinia.

The holdouts were expected to be cleared out of the Turin prison by evening.

Spokesmen said only about 300 women and a few sick prisoners will remain in the Milan prison, which suffered an estimated $800,000 worth of damage. Officials said the damage at Turin might exceed that figure. Only the women's sections at both prisons were undamaged.

Many Families Continue To Flee Swirling Water

By The Associated Press

Minot, N.D., was chopped in two by the rampaging Souris River today and braced for new floodwaters spilling down from Canada.

Some 2,000 to 3,000 residents were moved out Monday, joining 3,500 persons evacuated over the weekend.

Flood waters had taken eight lives in Minnesota, and damage estimates for five states exceeded $5 million.

Damage to Minot alone was estimated at $3.1 million after a 17-foot crest sent the Souris spilling into the city of 35,000 population. An expected 22-foot crest could force even more evacuations.

At Fargo, N.D., conditions were complicated by an invasion of rats forced from their lowland lairs.

Fargo high school students were dismissed from classes to help bolster the dikes as flood waters covered the city's low areas.

North Dakota Gov. William L. Guy made a third plea to President Nixon to declare his state a disaster area.

"Destruction in many communities is greater than any in history," Guy said after touring flooded sections.

About 300 tons of rocks and 100 old car bodies were dumped into the swirling Big Sioux River, which was carving off chunks of the dikes at North Sioux City, S.D. All of the city's 800 residents had been evacuated.

The swelling St. Croix River, which separates Minnesota and Wisconsin, forced the evacuation of some 200 families near Stillwater, Minn. School was closed in nearby Hudson, Wis., so students could help maintain the dikes which were holding back water already four feet above flood level.

About 150 families were evacuated from Prairie du Chien and LaCrosse, Wis., on the Mississippi River.

Nixon Unfurls Budget Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon unveiled today more details about budget cuts said to represent "hard choice and potentially unpopular decisions." The only agency to wind up with more money is the Justice Department.

Announcing new spending figures for each agency under a revised budget calculated to produce a $5.8 billion surplus in the fiscal year starting July 1, Nixon revealed more than half of the $4 billion in reductions he is claiming come out of defense and military-aid programs and scaled down legislation to increase Social Security benefits.

BENEFITS

The cut in planned military spending, put at $1.1 billion, was attributed largely to "lower consumption of ammunition in Vietnam," a cutback of the antiballistic missile program proposed by former President Lyndon B. Johnson and "modification" of purchases of short-range attack missiles.

Another $1 billion of the reductions was attributed to whittling down another Johnson plan —never transmitted to Congress but included in his January budget—to increase Social Security benefits.

Nixon called for a 7 per cent increase in those benefits and proposed liberalization of the retirement test so retired persons can retain their benefits while receiving increased outside earnings.

The $4 billion in claimed savings cut all across the board, although some individual programs within agencies were granted increases.

The Justice Department budget was boosted $16 million to $730 million—a reflection of Nixon's plans, yet to be spelled out, to step up anticrime measures.

In a statement, the Budget Bureau said the revisions embrace "hard decisions on priorities, important program reforms and targeted new initiatives."

CONCERN FOR POOR

"All are part of the administration's concern for the cities, for the poor and for fundamental change in the domestic program systems of the federal government," it said.

The revised budget calls for a 10 per cent increase in spending for the poor in the coming fiscal year—a boost from $24.4 billion to $26.9 billion.

Tornado Kills At Least 165

DACCA, East Pakistan (AP)—A freak tornado from the Bay of Bengal ripped through Dacca Monday, killing at least 165 persons and injuring 1,200 in East Pakistan's capital.

Rescue workers were still digging through the debris for bodies today.

The tornado, with winds up to 100 miles an hour, lasted 25 minutes. It blew away tin shanties and thatched mud huts and demolished brick buildings.

The city of 700,000 persons was in darkness last night while workers struggled to repair downed power lines. Telephone communications also were disrupted, and ambulances still brought a steady stream of injured to the city's two main hospitals today.

Crain Ordered Returned To Face Murder Charges

Bobbie Randal Crain, indicted in connection with the Dec. 9 fatal shooting here of A. D. Blount, will be returned to Howard County after a two-month stay in a Kansas City, Mo., jail.

Wayne Burns, district attorney, was notified today by Kansas City authorities that a writ of habeas corpus for Crain was denied and his extradition to Texas was ordered by Judge Donald Murphy. Murphy's ruling was handed down a week after Crain's hearing, which was held last Tuesday.

Howard County Sheriff A. N. Standard said that Crain will be brought to Big Spring by deputies within a few days.

Ray Bourbon, 76, also known as Rae Bourbon, and Bobbie Eugene Chrisco, 22, are also indicted in connection with the case and have been in Howard County jail since March 12. Bourbon, charged with accomplice to murder, and Chrisco, charged with murder, had fought extradition from Kansas City when they were arrested Dec. 19, and were confined to Jackson County jail, until they were brought to Big Spring.

Crain, who also was arrested Dec. 19 with the other two men, originally waived extradition to Texas and was brought here Dec. 20. He remained in jail here until he was ordered released after a habeas corpus hearing Jan. 27 in 118th District Court.

All three men were indicted by a Howard County grand jury on Jan. 28, and Crain was arrested on a fugitive warrant Feb. 2 and placed in Jackson County jail.

PRESIDENTIAL PREFERENCE PRIMARY

'Political Umph' Proposal

AUSTIN (AP)—An East Texas legislator called it "political muscle." A professor described it as "political umph." Both meant Texas could grab more national political power by staging a presidential preference primary.

The proposal was presented to the House Elections Committee Monday night by Rep. John Hannah of Lufkin.

Cosponsors of the bill are Reps. Arthur Vance of Pasadena, Carlos Truan of Corpus Christi and Paul Moreno of El Paso.

GROWING PAINS

Hannah said a presidential primary "would directly and exactly reflect the views of rank and file" voters as "to who should lead their parties.

"We're suffering growing pains in America . . . because it is the feeling of the people that they no longer have control of their institutions."

Hannah's bill, which was sent to a subcommittee, states that "Each voter of a political party whose candidate received 20 per cent or more of the votes for president in the last general election in Texas may vote for one person to be his party's presidential nominee. A political party not meeting these qualifications is not required to hold a presidential preference primary."

The measure also provides that national convention delegates would be divided according to the percentage of votes each candidate received in the preference primary. The delegation of any candidate that received less than 10 per cent of the primary votes would be prorated among the other candidates.

"This would mean the delegates would not be overshadowed by party bosses and political leaders," Hannah said.

Another provision of the bill—"to keep someone from buying the election"—would limit advertising for a presidential candidate in the preference primary to the last 30 days before the primary.

Dr. Robert Lineberry, University of Texas government professor, said the first such primary was held in Oregon in 1910 and that now 15 states and the District of Columbia have presidential primaries.

"Remember how important West Virginia became in John F. Kennedy's nomination," Lineberry said. "And look at the importance placed on the primary in the small state of New Jersey.

"Texas could strengthen its political umfph by a presidential primary."

"It would show its political muscle to a greater extent," said Hannah.

Key Suggestion For Closer Labor, C-C Cooperation

A suggestion for closer cooperation on programs for Big Spring betterment between organized labor and various interests represented by the Chamber of Commerce was given consideration at the C-C directors meeting Monday.

Six persons representing the Central Labor Council and North Side interests were guests at the meeting. Their spokesman, J. T. Farquhar, said his group felt that more could be accomplished on a community-wide basis "if we at least get together and try to work together."

Farquhar and his group were applauded and the board determined that a committee be named to work out areas of coordinated activities.

"We may not necessarily agree on everything," Farquhar said, "but we at least can get together on issues of public interest without fighting. Working together means money to us, just as it does to you business people. As working people, we feel we haven't had a part in enough of the committees studying and working for the improvement of our city and county, and we would like to have a voice."

It is the working people who make the town go, he said, and his group is interested in any program that can improve job situations and open up new employment. He mentioned as areas of cooperation the encouraging of annual voter registration and helping find more employment for residents of the North Side.

The chamber directorate took action on other projects. It approved co-sponsorship of a big Go-Kart racing event scheduled for May 17-18 in the City Park. The City of Big Spring, the Jaycees, and the Big Spring Go-Kart Club will be joining in staging the affair.

Also approved was a publicity campaign to get a public awareness that there is no plural "s" on the city's name of "Big Spring," and arrangements will be made to use car bumper stickers, special cards and other materials.

The board heard a report from Jack Powell on activities of the Public Health and Safety Committee, which include such projects as a safety program plus disaster control and fire prevention; organization of a committee for the aged; and study of providing emergency care plus sharing of some hospital facilities.

April Showers Bring Forth April Flowers

Country lanes are beginning to be transformed into flower gardens in the wake of the generous rains of last week. This "garden" was found on the road to Lomax which last year was one of the spring wild flower show places in the county. A few more days of sunshine and this year's production promises to equal that of 1968.

Code To Cover Mobile Homes

AUSTIN — A state regulated code governing electrical, plumbing and heating components used in the manufacture of mobile homes has been signed into law, according to Sam A. Kepple, president of Texas Mobile Home Association. The law will go into effect Oct. 3.

Essentially, the code covers only the electrical, heating and plumbing components in mobile home construction which must conform to standards established by the United States of America Standards Institute. In calendar year 1968, there were 22,000 mobile homes shipped into Texas.

Artillery Battle Rages Along Suez

By The Associated Press

An artillery battle raged along most of the Suez Canal today, the Israeli army announced. It was the ninth consecutive day that Israeli and Egyptian forces had exchanged fire across the waterway.

An Israeli spokesman said Egypt opened fire at 12:30 p.m. on Israeli troops entrenched on the east bank of the canal, first along the southern half of the waterway and shortly after as far north as El Qantara.

Israeli forces were firing back "to silence the sources of the Egyptian shelling," the spokesman said.

Israeli and Arab gunners also dueled today across the Jordan River cease-fire line, and Israel and Jordan each claimed the other started that fighting.

An Israeli army spokesman said an Israeli patrol was attacked with bazooka, mortar and small arms fire near Ashdot Ya'Aqov, on the southern shore of the Sea of Galilee. One Israeli soldier was slightly injured, the spokesman reported.

A Jordanian military spokesman said the Israelis opened up on Jordanian forces, touching off a 35-minute machine gun and tank duel. He said two Jordanian soldiers were slightly injured.

The Israelis claimed they hit a Jordanian gun position, and Jordan claimed to have damaged an Israeli tank and half-track and inflicted a number of casualties.

Israel also claimed Arab infiltrators set off an explosive charge on a road near the mountainous Lebanese border.

United Nations observers restored the cease-fire along the Suez Canal Monday night after Israel and Egypt dueled with jets, artillery and tanks for the eighth straight day.

Israel reported two of its soldiers were killed and two wounded. Egypt said one of its soldiers and a civilian were wounded.

Both nations also claimed they downed a fighter-bomber. It was the first time in more than a month that aircraft had been used in the hostilities across the 103-mile waterway.

Winds Whip Dust Aloft

By The Associated Press

South west winds stirred dust aloft around El Paso as still another Pacific cool front headed toward Texas today.

Occasionally heavy thunderstorms flailed parts of the Panhandle-Plains region during the night, and more were expected by this evening. Parts of that sector were placed under a severe storm watch Monday evening but it expired without word of any weather damage.

More showers were expected in the west and southwest parts of the state with the new frontal system, which was due to arrive before nightfall.

Forecasts called for scattered thunderstorms to edge into North Central Texas also by tonight, and to spread into Northeast Texas by Wednesday. Partly cloudy to cloudy skies and mild temperatures were promised the rest of the state.

Temperatures Monday afternoon ranged from 69 degrees at Longview up to 87 at Laredo.

LTV Joins Fight With Fed Agency Over 'Antitrust'

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The Justice Department has challenged the biggest conglomerate of them all — Ling-Tempco-Vought.

The antitrust division asked Monday for a court order requiring Dallas-based LTV, 14th largest corporation in the United States, to relinquish ownership of Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp.

LTV promptly announced the extension through May 5 of its offer to acquire Jones & Laughlin common and preferred stock, originally due to end April 21.

The antitrust division's action generally was viewed as a test of whether conglomerates can be successfully attacked through existing federal law. A conglomerate is a corporation which annexes other businesses in a different line of industry.

Commie Troops Badly Battered

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. ground troops, planes and artillery killed at least 198 North Vietnamese soldiers early today when two enemy battalions tried to overrun a day-old camp near the Cambodian border, the U.S. Command reported.

Thirteen Americans were killed and three were wounded, an American spokesman said.

Spokesmen said some of the attackers got within 30 yards of the perimeter wire before they were brought down by the American firepower. It was the largest number reported slain in any recent single action along the border.

DIAMOND BASE

Later, an American air observer reported "40 to 50" enemy dead stacked in a field two miles from the battle site on the Cambodian side of the border. Apparently they had been carried away by the North Vietnamese for burial.

"We had helicopter gunships working from the northwest, planes from the south and artillery firing from seven different locations on the enemy," said one officer.

The base, known as Diamond III, was carved out of the jungle about 30 miles northwest of Saigon Monday by infantrymen of the 25th Division's 2nd Battalion. Hours later the GIs detected movement 200 yards beyond the camp perimeter and called in artillery support.

A division spokesman said about 500 enemy troops attacked at 3:15 a.m., charging out of the woods in waves from three directions, firing rocket grenades, mortars and small arms.

FIVE STAR READING

Writing to a friend, Dwight D. Eisenhower once mentioned Winston Churchill, George Washington, Abraham Lincoln and Robert E. Lee as great men, and then went on to establish his own scale for weighing greatness.

"It embraced," as Relman Morin writes in his new biography, EISENHOWER: A GAUGE OF GREATNESS, "the qualities of vision, integrity, courage, understanding, and the ability to communicate."

You will be interested in Morin's judgment on how Eisenhower measured up to the high standards that he himself set.

This is just one of the insights that Morin, a two-time Pulitzer prize winner, supplies into unknown and little known aspects of the life of the war time commander and peace time president.

Legacy Posing Woe For Demos

WASHINGTON (AP) — The legacy of a landslide falls due next year and, ironically, it poses a problem for the Democrats who won it.

Democratic senators who won their terms in former President Lyndon B. Johnson's electoral blitz of 1964 must run again in 1970, and the Republican National Committee says the GOP has a chance of winning control of the Senate for the first time in more than two decades.

Democratic analysts are frankly worried.

Normally, an off-year election produces congressional gains for the party which does not control the White House, but in 1970 the arithmetic and the circumstances could work against tradition.

There are 33 Senate seats at stake, 25 of them now Democratic, only eight Republican.

Democrats now control the Senate, 58 to 42. But a gain of eight seats—making the parties even—would put the GOP in charge because Vice President Spiro T. Agnew would cast the decisive vote in a tie.

Frequently, an off-year election casts the presidential party in a defensive role. But the Democrats are not sure that will be the case next year.

One official at the Democratic National Committee already is advising Sen. Fred R. Harris, the chairman, that the party should brace for a GOP on the offensive.

This Democratic strategist maintains the party should map its campaign plans on the assumption that President Nixon will succeed in settling the two biggest problems he faces: The war in Vietnam and inflation at home.

If that is the situation when campaign time comes, he says, "the Republicans will not only not be on the defensive in 1970 but quite on the contrary will be robustly on the attack."

Furthermore, a Democratic analysis of the 1964 returns indicates another problem—Republicans who won seats in that election withstood the undertow of Sen. Barry Goldwater's losing ticket, while Democrats rode with the presidential tide. Johnson polled 43 million votes, Goldwater 27 million.

Outside the Deep South, only five Democratic senators elected in 1964 ran ahead of the Johnson ticket. The others, presumably, benefitted from the presidential returns.

In four of their victories, Democratic analysts believe, the coattail power of Johnson's massive showing was the decisive factor.

The Senate elections they put in this category are those of Sens. Howard Cannon of Nevada, Joseph M. Montoya of New Mexico, William Proxmire of Wisconsin and Stephen M. Young of Ohio.

Against that background, Democrats are advising their Senate candidates to make an early start on the 1970 race, not only to build for the November election, but also in hopes of averting troublesome primary contests.

The strategy-makers also counsel concentration on the suburban precincts, where President Nixon made his best showing last November.

Dynamite Bombs Rip Truck, Office

LONE STAR, Tex. (AP) — Dynamite bombs blasted an unoccupied pickup truck and a real estate office in towns near the Lone Star Steel Co. plant Monday as a United Steelworkers' strike neared its seventh month.

No one was hurt in either blast.

Company officials said the truck belonged to L. D. Brooks, a former striker who returned to work April 4.

Officials reported extensive damage at the Mac-Tea Realty Co. Mrs. Gail Tiggert, office manager, said she had been warned before the strike started not to sell or rent to new steel company employes, a company statement said.

Saturday night, the strikers voted almost unanimously to reject the only company offer to be brought to a vote by the union.

The offer was rejected because the company did not guarantee to rehire all the strikers, union officials said.

Since the strike began Oct. 15, the company has hired about 1,400 men to replace the 2,600 strikers.

Hiring will continue until all strikers are replaced, President George Wilson said Sunday.

Wilson said the rejected contract offer remains available should the workers decide to accept it. He said the offer is the final one by the company.

In most bidding situations, the direct approach is favored. As soon as the partnership has determined its best contract, a player should bid the limit of his hand. An exception may sometimes be noted, however, in competitive situations where the opposition has put up a fierce struggle during the auction.

In the above hand taken from a recent team-of-four contest, one North feared that if he bid too strongly, his opponent might be induced to seek a profitable sacrifice. He therefore adopted a soft sell approach in an effort to buy the hand.

West opened with one diamond and North made a take-out double. East seized the convenient opportunity available to show his six card heart suit, inasmuch as a bid in this situation does not denote any special high card strength.

South held a self-sufficient suit facing a partner who had announced a good hand. He therefore proceeded directly to four spades. West persisted to five diamonds.

North was convinced that his side could make a slam. Psychological considerations deterred North from bidding six spades directly, however. If he sounded too confident, West, who obviously had a long diamond suit, might be reluctant to defend. Furthermore, there was no guarantee that a bid of even seven diamonds could be severely punished.

North bided his time by bidding five spades. West realized that his defensive prospects were not attractive and he carried on to six diamonds. North now made a disciplined forcing pass. Inasmuch as he and his partner had bid very strongly, South is obliged to take some action at this point. The pass by North at this point is actually a strength showing call, for it implies a willingness to carry on. If North thought that the partnership could not make a slam, he would have doubled six diamonds himself.

South read his partner's message perfectly and he bid six spades. Perhaps West should have taken out insurance by bidding seven diamonds, but he felt that his opponents might be guessing—and he decided to defend.

There was little to the play and South routinely chalked up 12 tricks to post a profit of 1,430 points on the deal [the slam bonus is 750 plus 500 for the game]. At the other table, the bidding proceeded similarly until West reached five diamonds. At this point, North leaped directly to six spades. West then sacrificed at seven diamonds and succeeded in taking nine tricks for a deficit of 700 points—which represented a substantial saving against the vulnerable slam recorded at the other table.

A LOVELIER YOU

Body Makeup Film Covers Blemishes

By MARY SUE MILLER

A Lovely writes: My chest is peppered with large, dark freckles. When I wear low necklines I feel terribly self-conscious. Is there a smudge-proof cosmetic that would cover the problem? I've tried several kinds of makeup, but they rubbed off on my dresses. And that looks worse than the freckles.

The answer: Freckles and brown spots can be toned down, and sometimes completely hidden, with specially formulated cosmetics. Body makeup gives a very satisfactory performance when it is applied in a mere film, allowed to dry well, and then buffed with a chamois or velvety puff. The finish is an even rubproof and waterproof matte.

Heavy duty cake makeup and opaque creams are suited to this purpose, as well as to facial use. Both must be set with waterproof finishing powder when applied to the chest.

The best shade to wear in any kind of cover-up cosmetic near matches the foundation you use on your face. Even when light in tone, cover-ups have a density of pigment that freckles can take refuge behind.

As for application, two thin coats look more natural than a thick, masky one. Coats should meet and blend with your facial foundation, preferably just under the jawbone. Other edges should be feathered to infinity. There is wisdom in holding several rehearsals in private before you spring the ruse on your public.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I have a four-year-old daughter who is usually underfoot when I sew.

Last year I went through my sewing scraps and cut two two-inch squares from each piece of material. (I used about fifteen different fabrics.)

Now, whenever I sew, I let her take out her "game." She spreads the various fabric squares on the floor and then matches up the two fabric squares which are of the same design.

She is only allowed to play this game when Mommy is sewing, which makes it quite special.

This has been a grand idea for both of us. It keeps her busy and lets me sew in peace . . . Mrs. L. Schuenemann

• • •

You could even cut the pieces in circles, triangles and rectangles to make it more interesting and, at the same time, educational.

You were an angel pie to think that one up, Mrs. Schuenemann.

Bless you always . . . Heloise

• • •

Dear Heloise:

I save all my paper grocery sacks. But instead of the usual jumble of bags on top of the ice box or under the counter, I use a tiered skirt hanger (the kind that has clothespin clips to hold several skirts).

I put different sizes on each clip and hang it in my utility closet out of sight and within easy reach.

Now I can easily find the size I need and remove it without looking through all the sacks . . . Anne

• • •

Wow, that sure does help the scramble in the morning when packing school lunches . . . Heloise

• • •

Dear Heloise:

I read your column everyday but I am still not sure that this is my own idea.

After I load the dishwasher, I take two spring clothespins and pin my dish cloth to the top rack in the washer, hanging it horizontal so it doesn't touch the dishes in the bottom rack. Then I start the dishwasher as usual.

I never have a sour cloth anymore, and stains usually come out, too! . . . Andrea Wright

• • •

Dear Heloise:

Here is a hint that I discovered by accident. For those of you who freeze your fish, there is a simple method of scaling them which can be done right in the kitchen without all the usual mess.

Thaw the fish only halfway. Be sure they are NOT completely thawed. Put them in tap water making sure they are completely immersed. Then use a spoon to scale them.

The scales will not fly all over everything. When all fish are scaled, simply wipe the scales from the side of the sink . . . Mrs. B. Phiegger

• • •

That is absolutely fantastic and it's the best, true fish story I've ever heard. And I've heard plenty of tall ones.

So put a gold crown on your pretty head, love . . . Heloise

• • •

Dear Heloise:

My fifteen-year-old son came up with a dandy idea the other day while I was baking cupcakes for school lunches. (I have eight children.)

I dislike frosting them, as the frosting gets all over the sandwich bags, so have been cutting them in half and putting jelly inside.

He suggested dropping a little marshmallow and jelly in each individual cup of batter and then bake as usual. Marshmallow melts but stays on top and jelly is absorbed in the batter.

No mess and absolutely delicious . . . Van's Mom

Speaker Outlines Role Of Women

Mrs. Harvey Herd, president-elect of Episcopal Church Women of Northwest Texas Diocese, spoke on "The Role of Women in the Church Today" at Monday's meeting of the Women of St. Mary's Episcopal Church in the parish hall.

Mrs. Herd said that woman's role in the church is no longer segregated from the men, but the two units work together for better, more enlightened church programs.

Mrs. Milton Talbot Jr. presided, and the group met for luncheon at Furr's Cafeteria after the meeting.

Beauceants Honor Past Presidents

The ninth local anniversary of the Social Order of Beauceant was observed with a banquet Monday evening at Masonic Temple. Mrs. R. L. Lee, president, introduced past presidents.

They were Mrs. Jack Alexander, Mrs. Tom Helton, Mrs. C. R. McClenny, Mrs. O. L. Nabors, Mrs. Eugene Gross and Mrs. Homer Thorp.

Mrs. W. C. Fryar, program chairman, presented "Duty and Honor of a Country Boy," by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, and Mrs. R. L. Mundt read an Easter poem.

The president announced that Mrs. John F. Johnson, supreme first vice president, will make her next official inspection here Jan. 29, 1970. Plans were made to donate trading stamps or money to buy a bus for the Masonic Home for the Aged in Arlington. This is the Texas Supreme Assembly's project for the year.

Mrs. Joe Jacobs and Mrs. Mundt, decorations chairmen, arranged tables with an April shower motif. Crystal and silver appointments were used.

The next meeting will be April 28.

Xi Mu Will Give LVN Scholarship

Xi Mu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi will award an LVN scholarship at Howard County Junior College to a May graduate of Big Spring Senior High School. The announcement was made by Mrs. Roy Granbery, president, during a Monday meeting in the home of Mrs. Jerry Spence, 1709 Yale. Mrs. Les Caperton was cohostess.

Final plans were made for the Founder's Day banquet April 29 in the Officers Open Mess at Webb Air Force Base. Reservations must be made by April 28 by calling Mrs. Granbery at 263-3788. The charge will be $2 per person, and entertainment will be "Mark Twain" as interpreted by Al Scott.

The program was given by Mrs. Walter Wheat, home economist for Texas Electric Service Company, who was introduced by Mrs. Caperton. Mrs. Wheat explained and demonstrated uses of a blender and portable electric oven. The latter, termed a "radar range" cooks a frankfurter in 45 seconds.

Reception Held At Parsonage

Dr. and Mrs. Byron Orand were hosts for an open house Sunday in their home at 700 Birdwell Lane. Dr. Orand is pastor of the College Baptist Church, and the parsonage has been recently remodeled.

Receiving guests with the couple were their daughter Kara Lea, and Mrs. Orand's grandmother, Mrs. Grace Harrison of Houston. The women wore yellow carnation corsages.

Wives of the church deacons formed the house party. Mrs. Noel Hull and Mrs. Bill Draper presided at the registration table, which was accented with an arrangement of orange carnations. Refreshments were served from a polished table accented with a spring bouquet and appointed with crystal and silver.

Calling hours were from 2 to 5 p.m., with approximately 150 in attendance.

Earlier in the day, at the close of worship services at the church, Mrs. Ira Raley, a local artist, unveiled a painting of Dr. Orand in his academic robes during a ceremony conducted by Bob Lewis. The picture was hung in the parsonage, and during the open house, Mrs. Raley was presented a gift and an orchid corsage.

$500,000 SHORTAGE, PROBE UNDER WAY

Wanted: New Bank In Alvarado

ALVARADO, Tex. (AP) — Residents of this small farming community appeared stunned Monday at the closing of the town's only bank, which state banking commissioner J. M. Falkner said could be as much as $500,000 short.

An official notice was taped to the front door of the 25-year-old Citizens State Bank at 9 a.m. People soon gathered on the corner of the town square where the bank stands.

NO FEED

"I have 30 head of cattle going hungry. They'll all be lying in the field with their feet in the air if something isn't done soon," said James Sprivey, 24, rancher.

He tried to pay a $200 bill at a feed store Monday morning, but the store would not take his check or give him any more feed, Spivey said.

Falkner said bank president Jack Park, who is also mayor of this North Central Texas town of 1,750, told him last week there was a $200,000 shortage He added that the shortage could amount to more than $500,000.

First indications of anything irregular at the bank came last week the commissioner said, when examiners from his department noted that several different signatures seemed to be in the same handwriting. He attributed the shortage to "forged notes, fictitious signatures on notes and pulled ledger sheets."

A pulled ledger sheet works this way: An unauthorized person withdraws a deposit and also removes the ledger sheet so there will be no shortage on the books.

James Duvall, liquidator for the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., said at the bank—which handles only checking accounts—that deposits up to $15,000 will be paid probably beginning Thursday. Safety deposit box holders are expected to be admitted then also.

Duvall would not say how many of the bank's five regular employes were on hand Monday. He said Park and the other directors who signed the closing notice were not available for comment.

Outside the bank, area residents stood talking in the hot, sweltering sun.

"I've known Jack Park all my life, and I would have bet any amount of money that his bank would never have closed," one commented.

He said Park, in his early 60s, was born in the small town.

Frank Pardue, editor and publisher of the town weekly newspaper, the Alvarado Bulletion, said, "You won't find anybody here that doesn't have the utmost respect for him (Park)."

WORRY LATER

News of the closing traveled fast. A Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. official said the circuits were heavily overloaded. He said there hadn't been so many calls placed simultaneously since the assassination of President John Kennedy.

In the dwindling business community where many stores have boarded up their doors at least one merchant was apparently not too worried. He runs Richard's Cafeteria and commented as he scooped up plates of smothered liver and onions, "Eat now ... worry later."

An audit at the city secretary's office showed the town to have over $63,000 on deposit at the bank. Frances Hardee, who runs the school tax office, said the school had everything tied up in the bank, but was partly protected by bonds.

Chicago 13 Will Appeal

CHICAGO (AP) — Attorneys for 13 persons found guilty of disorderly conduct in a protest march during the Democratic National Convention say they will appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court, if necessary.

The defendants were convicted Monday by Magistrate Arthur L. Dunne of Circuit Court after the longest disorderly conduct trial in Chicago history.

Dunne levied fines from $200 to $400 each plus costs, but stayed the penalties pending the outcome of post-trial motions. A hearing on motions was set for May 9.

"I firmly believe," Dunne said in his decision, "that our cities, and the residents of these cities, can and must be protected by their government from noisy, chanting, shouting, marching, threatening picketers who, under the guise of free speech, hurl pieces of brick, stones and fireworks, bent on filling the minds of men and women and children with fear and hysteria."

One defendant, Miss Patricia Saltonstall, said after the court session: "We believe just as much in the First Amendment's rights."

Officials Due For Masonic Meeting Friday

Two ranking officials of Texas Masonic bodies are to be in Big Spring Friday night for an open district meeting of Council and Chapter members from Midland, Odessa, Big Lake and Big Spring.

Three Snatch Airliner, 29

HAVANA (AP) — A hijacked Colombian airliner landed in Havana Monday night after a stopover in Cartagena where authorities refused to refuel the plane for three hours.

The Sociedad Aeronautica de Medellin (SAM) airliner was carrying 25 passengers and four crewmen on a flight from Medellin to Barranquilla. There was no immediate word when the plane and passengers would be released.

Authorities said there were three hijackers, one of them a young man who held a knife to the pilot's throat and ordered him to fly to Cuba. The pilot replied he did not have enough fuel for the DC4 to make the 650-mile flight and would have to land at Cartagena, on the Caribbean coast of Colombia.

Squads of Colombian marines stood by near the plane while authorities debated whether to refuel the aircraft. Finally they relented.

Nimbus 3 Starts Sending Photos

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nimbus 3, the first nuclear-powered weather satellite, has started sending pictures of the earth's cloud cover and it is expected to continue operating more than a year.

The Goddard Space Flight Center at Greenbelt, Md., reported Monday that Nimbus 3 and a companion satellite were in good orbit 676 to 703 miles above the earth over the north and south poles.

Its polar orbit enables the satellite's camera to scan all the earth's weather.

The mission was described as the first civilian use of nuclear energy in space.

Dear Abby

Feinberg Or Finnegan?

DEAR ABBY: I'm an Irish-Catholic, and my father doesn't allow me to date fellows who aren't of my faith. Well, I'm going with a very good-looking Jewish guy. He has blue eyes and dark curly hair and he could pass for Irish. His name is "Feinberg" but I introduced him to my father as "Finnegan."

They only got to say hello and good-by, but pretty soon I'm afraid they'll get into a conversation and my father will find out the boy's not Irish, and then what will I do? I don't want to be the first teenager to land on the moon.

IRISH EYES

DEAR EYES: Tell your father the truth before he finds out himself. You may be the first teenager to land on the moon, but you'll get there with a clear conscience.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am a divorcee with an extremely bright 6-year-old child, I'll call Debbie.

Debbie's father lives near us with a woman who is not his wife. This woman is expecting a baby any day.

Debbie's father visits us often, and we go to visit him. (Whatever differences he and I may have had, I must say he was a good father.)

The problem: Debbie assumes her father and this woman are married, but they don't even bother to put up a respectable front, and I'm scared to death one of these days the child will find out they aren't married.

I don't want my daughter to think that living together without marriage is right.

What would YOU do? Try to keep Debbie away from her father? (That doesn't seem fair.) Tell Debbie the truth myself? Trust to luck?

DEBBIE'S MOM

DEAR MOM: I'd trust to luck. Maybe they'll get married before Debbie gets wise.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Never before have I written to a newspaper column, or sent an unsigned letter, but that letter from the 41-year-old virgin who was still waiting, came so close to home, I had to tell my story:

In 50 years of marriage I never once saw my wife naked. She is a closet disrober and wears long, heavy nightgowns. Some years back I bought her a lovely, fairly sheer nightgown, and she took it back to the store and exchanged it for one exactly like those she's always worn.

She's been a wonderful mother to our children, and has many fine qualities, but she's a "touch-me-not." Hands are not for patting or caressing, and should be kept to one's self.

I know my wife will never change, so I have learned to live with things as they are, and have kept myself busy with outside activities.

If women like "WAITING" (and my wife is one of them) could have learned early in life to shake loose from their Pollyanna ways, their lives would be so much richer.

People who have never learned how to give love or accept it, miss the best part of life.

I assure you there isn't a normal man living who doesn't want a warm, responsive, uninhibited wife. God bless you, Abby. NOT DEAD YET—BUT DYING

DEAR NOT DEAD: The two most tragic aspects of your letter are (1) Timing. It should have been written 50 years ago. (2) It should have been addressed to your wife. At least you'd have tried while there was still time.

Three Visit Shrine Center

Three members of the Big Spring Committee for Masonic Service to Crippled Children spent the weekend in Houston, visiting the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children and the Shriners Burns Institute in Galveston.

In addition to visiting the patients, the committeemen toured the facilities and talked to the administrators to learn what types of cases are treated. They also investigated admission procedures. Making the 1,000-mile round-trip were committee chairman Ken Leach, Tom Stewart and Walt Johnson.

"The hospital in Houston treats orthopedic cases and has a capacity of 54 children," Stewart reported. "The burns institute has a 30-bed capacity and only treats children who have serious burns."

The Galveston Burns Institute is one of three operated by the Shrines. The others are located in Cincinnati and Boston. All are across the street from a medical school, so that the facilities can be used for training doctors, he said.

"While costs at the 19 orthopedic hospital is about $1,500 per patient, burn patients' expenses run about $16,000 per child," Stewart said. The Shrines maintain a permanent endowment fund and the interest from it is used to operate the hospitals.

The local committee was organized earlier in the year and will process applications for the Shrine hospitals and the Dallas-based Texas Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children. There are representatives from all the Big Spring Masonic bodies serving on the committee.

Doctors quit smoking

CHICAGO — According to a recent survey, 52% of American doctors do not smoke. Many quit recently due, according to the Anti-Tobacco Center of America, to the conclusive evidence linking cigarettes and lung cancer.

Many doctors gave up smoking without straining their will power thanks to a new tablet which helps to progressively eliminate the need for nicotine and, as a result, the desire to smoke. Less than 2% of the 150,000 people who tried this tablet reported they still smoke!

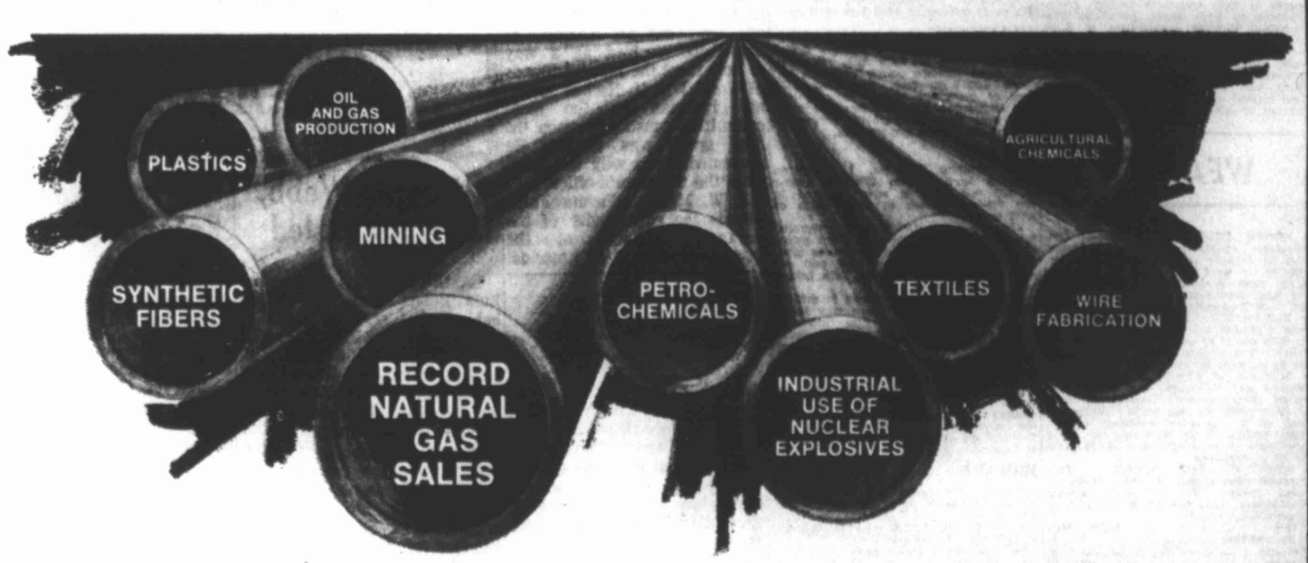

Smokers interested in receiving information (free) about this new tablet are invited to contact directly the Anti-Tobacco Center of America, Dept. 1011-H, 276 Park Avenue South, New York City, 10010.

El Paso Natural Gas is expanding its horizons

Natural gas is a big part of our business—but it's only one part of our business.

In 1968, El Paso Natural Gas Company delivered a record 1.67 trillion cubic feet of gas to customers in 11 western states. That's equivalent to more than half as much energy as was supplied last year by all the investor-owned electric utilities in the United States combined.

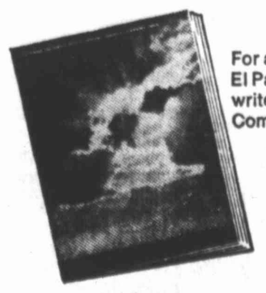

And even more gas is on the way. We're completing facilities to deliver an additional 310 million cubic feet per day to California and the Southwest. On top of that, we're now taking steps to supply another 280 million cubic feet per day to these growing markets.

But that's only part of the story.

We've expanded our activities into a wide variety of non-regulated fields—in petrochemicals, mining, textiles, synthetic fibers, agricultural chemicals, wire fabrication, plastics, oil and gas production, and in the industrial uses of nuclear explosives.

In 1968, our sales reached a new high of $821 million—with almost 36 per cent of revenues derived from non-regulated ventures. Earnings were $40 million, up more than $4 million from a year earlier.

Write us, for the story of groundwork laid during 1968 for more growth in 1969 and future years.

IT'S OSCAR TIME AGAIN IN HOLLYWOOD

'Oliver' Named Best Picture; Martha Raye Honored

By GENE HANDSAKER
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The second tie in the 41-year history of the Academy Awards gives Oscars to both Barbra Streisand of "Funny Girl" and Katharine Hepburn of "The Lion in Winter"—and makes Miss Hepburn the first three-time winner.

Cliff Robertson in the role of the mentally retarded man whom doctors turn temporarily into a genius in "Charly" was named best actor of 1968 at Monday night's presentations.

YEAR'S BEST

"Oliver!," a musical spectacle based on Charles Dickens' "Oliver Twist," was voted the year's best picture. It won in five categories, including best-director laurels for Sir Carol Reed with this, his first musical.

For supporting performances, the honors went to Jack Albertson as the blustering father in "The Subject Was Roses" and Ruth Gordon as the meddling neighbor and part-time witch in "Rosemary's Baby."

Races in all the top categories were close, but the selection of "Oliver!" as best picture over "The Lion in Winter" was a surprise to some observers. "The academy voters apparently wanted entertainment this year," one veteran Oscar-watcher commented.

Ingrid Bergman, presenting the best-actress Oscar, looked stunned and unbelieving as she opened the envelope containing the winners' names and exclaimed: "It's a tie!"

A tie happened only once before, in 1932, when best-actor awards went to both Fredric March for "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" and Wallace Beery for "The Champ."

Miss Hepburn, 59, this year became the record holder for Oscar nominations with 11. Her previous awards as best actress were for work in "Morning Glory," 1933, and "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner," last year. She is the first triple winner in the lead actor category, either male or female. Miss Hepburn also is the second star to win twice in succession. Luise Rainer accomplished this in the 1930s.

Walter Brennan, has won three Oscars but they were for supporting roles.

Miss Hepburn, who won as the queenly Eleanor of Aquitaine in "The Lion in Winter," didn't attend the cesemonies—just as she didn't the other two times she won. She was reported to be in New York.

Robertson, on location in the Philippines, was another absentee.

Miss Streisand, the Brooklyn girl who won with a rollicking portrayal of Fanny Brice in "Funny Girl," her first movie, said from the podium: "I'm very honored to be in such magnificent company as Katharine Hepburn. The first script of "Funny Girl" was written when I was 11 years old. Thank God it took so long to get it right.

"It's like when somebody asked if I'm happy. I said, 'Are you kidding? If I was happy I'd be miserable.' I'd like to thank all the members of the academy for making me miserable."

Asked about her comments backstage, she said: "Maybe some people are basically happy when they're miserable."

She said the award was "really unexpected. I never gave it much thought. I enjoy the work, and to get the award for it is just whipped cream on the cake."

There was no explanation of the tie balloting among the 3,030 voting members of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences. Vote totals are never announced.

For best song the Oscar went to the intricate melody, "The Windmills of Your Mind," sung by Noel Harrison in "The Thomas Crown Affair." The French composer, Michel Legrand, was in Paris, working on another film score. The husband-wife lyricists, Marilyn and Alan Bergman, accepted their Oscars.

The Soviet Union's 6½-hour spectacular, "War and Peace," collected the award for best foreign language film. It was presented to the picture's beautiful, dark-haired star, Ludmilla Savalyeva.

Writing winners were James Goldman for adaptation of his play, "The Lion in Winter" and comedian-scenarist Mel Brooks for his original screenplay of "The Producers."

The award to the gray-haired, balding Albertson capped a long career ranging from burlesque comedy to vaudeville, theater and supporting movie roles.

"My eternal gratitude will always be reserved for the man who made this moment possible, Frank Gilroy, who wrote 'The Subject Was Roses,'" Albertson said. There were tears in his eyes as he addressed the crowd of 3,000 in the Music Center Pavilion and a nationwide television audience.

BACKSTAGE

Backstage, Albertson remarked that he won Broadway's Tony award in the play and that author Gilroy "insisted I do both the play and the movie."

The 72-year-old Miss Gordon drew loud laughter by admitting she made her film debut in 1915 and: "I can't tell you how encouraging a thing like this is."

To newsmen backstage she confided, "My husband said if I didn't win this time he wasn't going to bring me again."

She was nominated as a supporting actress in "Inside Daisy Clover," a 1965 film. She is also a writer like her husband, Garson Kanin, and with him was nominated for screenplays of "A Double Life" in 1947, "Adam's Rib," 1950, and "Pat and Mike," 1952.

Bob Hope, who has been master of ceremonies of 14 Oscar presentations, was replaced this year by 10 alternating actors and actresses serving as hosts, hostesses and award presenters. But Hope made an appearance, giving Martha Raye the Jean Hersholt award "for great humanitarian service."

An Oscar For Her First Movie

In her very first movie, Barbra Streisand won this Oscar last night in Hollywood for her performance in "Funny Girl." She and Katherine Hepburn were named the year's best actresses in a rare tie. Miss Hepburn was honored for her performance in "The Lion in Winter."

Essayist Receives Awards In Special Presentations

By SAM BLACKBURN

A Big Spring High School senior and one of her teachers starred in ceremonies today in the school cafeteria, when officials of state agencies gathered here to honor Elicia Keele and Mrs. Johnny Johansen.

The occasion was the presentation of awards to Miss Keele, 17, whose essay on the advantages of employing the handicapped won first in a state-wide contest. The contest was sponsored by the Governor's Committee on Employing the Handicapped, the state department of the Disabled Veterans of America, the Great American Reserve Insurance Co., Lubbock, and the Texas AFL-CIO.

Mrs. Johansen was cited for the help and encouragement she gave Elicia in preparing the essay.

Miss Keele's victory won her a $300 cash scholarship at the college of her choice; an all-expense paid trip to Washington D.C., May 2-3; a gold medal and a trophy. She was also presented with a citation of commendation from the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicap.

Mrs. Johansen received a plaque and a check for $250 to defray part of her expenses to accompany her young protege on the trip to the nation's capital.

Here for the ceremonies, which were witnessed by 200 of Elicia's schoolmates, were Lawrence Melton, Dallas, who is chairman of the governor's committee on the employment of the handicapped and was the man who in 1942 first proposed to President Roosevelt the use of the nation's army of physically disabled as a way to help meet the labor demands of World War II. He has served as chairman on the state committee constantly since the first group was named. He presented Elicia with the scroll from the president's office.

J. W. Martin, Wichita Falls, who is the commander of the Texas Department of the Disabled Veterans of America, is an ex-marine who saw service in two wars and suffered five wounds in combat. He made the presentation of the gold medal and trophy to Elicia and the plaque to Mrs. Johansen.

Marshall D. Farrell presented Mrs. Johansen with the check from the Great American Insurance Company, and Kenneth Howell, Big Spring, representing the Texas AFL-CIO, gave Elicia a round-trip ticket to Washington and $100 for expense money.

Others on hand for the ceremonies included T. J. Frazier, Wichita Falls, department chief of staff for the Texas Department DAV; Ed E. Graves, San Angelo, Texas Employment Commission assistant district director; and Jim Roberson, with the TEC in Austin.

Also in attendance and seated at the head table were Elicia's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Keele, 1606 Lexington. John Smith, high school principal, served as master of ceremonies for the meeting.

Elicia's essay is now in the hands of the judges for the national contest. Last year, a Texas senior won second place in the national contest.

She won her first place this year in competition with nearly 1,000 boys and girls from all parts of Texas.

Prizes, Trip Await Contest Winner

A scholarship, prizes and a trip to the Miss Texas Pageant in Fort Worth is in store for the winner of the Miss Big Spring Pageant slated Saturday night at City Auditorium.

Seven girls will be contesting for the right to represent Big Spring at the state pageant when the curtain goes up at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the local competition which is sponsored by the Big Spring Jaycees. There are also nine entrants in the Junior Miss Big Spring contest, which is being held in conjunction with the senior pageant.

One of the contestants for the Miss Big Spring title is Kay Read, sponsored by Security State Bank. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hezzie Read Jr., Coahoma, Miss Read is a senior at Coahoma High School. She is a member of the Future Homemakers of America, Library Club and Science Club at Coahoma High School. She has won a grand championship in FHA achievement, and she enjoys sewing, singing and horseback riding. Her talent is singing.

KAY READ

Activities Saturday will begin with a parade at 10 a.m. through downtown Big Spring. In the caravan will be the contestants; Glenda Propes, Tyler, Miss Texas of 1969, Donna Axum, Miss America of 1964; Sharon Hicks, Miss Big Spring of 1968; Howard County Sheriff's Posse, Shrine Motor Patrol, and contest judges.

Reservations for the pageant may be obtained by calling 3-3112 days, and 7-5101 nights, according to Mike Faulkner, pageant chairman.

Crusade Needs Volunteers

Volunteers are needed to help conduct the Cancer Crusade Thursday night.

Mrs. Charles Butts, chairman of the door-to-door canvass, said this morning that many of the areas of Big Spring will not be covered unless more volunteers come forward with their services.

"We don't anticipate more than two hours work involved in the canvass," Mrs. Butts said. "However, we are going to need about 75 more people to say they will help."

Wherever possible, people will be assigned to work in their own neighborhood, she said.

"There are holes in the canvass all over town, so I can almost promise any area a person wants to work," she said.

The Howard County Unit of the American Cancer Society set $10,000 as its goal this year.

"If we could get enough people interested, and every one in the county were contacted, each peeson would have a fair share of 25 cents," she said. "The key to meeting our goal is volunteer workers."

New Band Hall Planned At H-SU

ABILENE — The internationally-known Cowboy Band of Hardin-Simmons University will soon have a new band hall.

Dr. Lee Hemphill, vice president, disclosed that an "anonymous donor" has contributed the major portion of some $45,000 on hand for the construction of a new facility for the band members. The donor has said he will contribute at least $50,000 more at a later date and possibly up to $100,000, Hemphill said.

Exes of the Cowboy Band have formed a proposed foundation to support the band, it was disclosed.

Four Guilty Pleas Recorded

Three persons pleaded guilty Monday in Howard County Court, and one pleaded guilty in 118th District Court.

County Court Judge Lee Porter heard Maximino Morales, Larry Wayne Loftin and Magdalino Morena all plead guilty to driving while intoxicated. He fined each defendant $50 plus court costs and assessed each a six-month probated sentence.

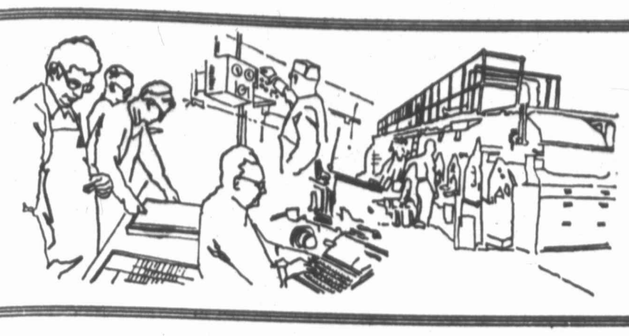

Billy Ray Brown pleaded guilty in 118th District Court to burglary, and Judge Ralph Caton assessed him a 10-year sentence in state prison to run concurrently with a 10-year sentence Brown is now serving.

MAY, OR MAY NOT, BRING ON NEW TAXES

State Spending Bills Compromise On Menu

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas senators were expected to clear the way today for final compromise talks on 1970-71 state spending that may, or may not, bring on new state taxes.

The predicted Senate refusal to accept the $5.72 billion general appropriations bill approved Monday by the House sends the state spending issue to a 10-man conference committee for a final decision. The Senate approved its own $5.77 billion bill several weeks ago.

'HOT' AGENDAS

Meanwhile, both houses faced highly inflammable agendas today.

First business expected in the Senate was an attempt to revive a state minimum wage bill which had its entire effect changed last week by an amendment that would exempt farm workers.

Efforts to debate the $1.25 minimum wage again Monday failed when a quick gavel in the hands of Sen. Wayne Connally, Floresville, sent the chamber into adjournment.

The House faced a calendar topped by a proposed constitutional amendment that would require annual, instead of biennial, sessions of the legislature. There would be 140-day sessions on "odd" years and 60-day financial huddles on "even" years.

House members also spent considerable time Tuesday studying the Wednesday lawmaking menu, when a crisis vote on liquor-by-the-drink is slated.

VERY CLOSE

"It will be very close," Speaker Gus Mutscher said late Monday when announcing debate on the Senate-approved plan to let voters decide if mixed drinks should be served on a local option basis.

Also on the Wednesday House schedule are Senate-approved proposals to raise legislators' pay and to remove the $60 million annual state ceiling on public welfare payments.

The $5.72 billion appropriations bill approved Monday by a voice vote in the House was changed by only one floor amendment. Members of the House Appropriations Committee, led by Rep. W. S. Heatly, Paducah, veteran chairman, held fast against all other efforts to make amendments.

Rep. Curtis Graves, Houston, one of the two Negro representatives, pleaded for "no" votes as a protest against "this one-man stranglehold on our state ... If you vote for this bill, each of you is voting to give up the power that the people of your individual districts have given you. You are in fact telling the citizens of Texas that they did not need to elect you or the governor of this state, but rather all they need to do from now on is elect one man and make him guardian of the cookie jar, the director of the state spending bill, and he can pass all the laws we need in the state as riders to that bill," Graves said.

Heatly remained silent, raising the one-finger "yes" signal for the 129-14 preliminary approval of the bill. Final approval came on voice vote.

Backers of the House bill bragged that it would cost no new taxes, although it did not include a much-supported $220 million teachers pay raise that is pending in separate legislation.

The Senate appropriations measure, which also did not include the teachers pay hike, would cost an estimated $63 million in new taxes.

Eleven of the 12 floor efforts to amend the bill were defeated in the three-hour debate that went through the lunch hour without a break.

The only successful amendment, by Rep. Don Cavness, Austin, would transfer $76,500 from hunting and fishing license money to give more pay to game wardens with more than five years of service. The vote was 77-63.

Mutscher helped defeat another Cavness amendment that would have added $25,000 to air pollution control efforts which Cavness said would get the state another $50,000. The amendment was tabled 73-70 with the speaker announcing his vote against it.

There was little debate or hot argument during the three hours, except over a one-paragraph provision designed to phase out the law school at Texas Southern University. An amendment that would have removed the provision failed 74-66.

A large group of students from the predominantly Negro school, who had been contacting legislators Monday morning, silently arose and left the spectators gallery after the defeat.

Texas Southern's law classes provide "special opportunities for students who otherwise would be unable to attend law school because of enrollment requirements," said Rep. Zan W. Holmes, Dallas, a Negro.

Mutscher said before the vote that he favored the state taking over financing of a private law school, the South Texas School of Law in Houston, and adding it to the Texas A&M System. "It would be unrealistic to have three state - supported law schools in one city," he said.

Rep. W. R. Archer, Houston, tried to delete a provision of the House bill that would give any surplus funds of the mental health and mental retardation department to the Vernon Geriatric Institute—in Heatly's District. Archer's amendment failed 102-37.

Sit-Ins Continue At Three Campuses

By The Associated Press

Several thousand Harvard University students have voted to strike classes for three more days while sit-ins continue at three other major college campuses.

At a mass meeting in Harvard Stadium, students twice voted Monday by narrow margins not to continue the strike until the university met all demands including abolition of the ROTC program.

Then on a voice vote the assembly roared its approval of a motion to continue the strike for three days and demand a public reply from the administration on the use of police to oust 200 sit-ins Thursday.

At its height the assembly was attended by about 10,000 persons but by the final vote that number had dwindled to about half. The enrollment at Harvard is 15,000.

The unrest grew out of the seizure of the main administration building by Students for a Democratic Society-led protesters last Wednesday. The initial three-day strike was voted by about 1,500 students to protest the use of police.

President Nathan Pusey met with the Harvard Overseers later, and they in turn "unequivocally" endorsed his use of police.

The administration at Boston University assured 125 protesting students that police would not be called and they continued a sit-in at two deans offices.

The DS-led demonstrators occupied the offices Monday to protest military recruitment and training on campus. It was the second such protest at the school in five days.

The university warned the demonstrators they faced expulsion from school. Arland Christ-Janer, university president, termed the action "interruptive" and said, "I dislike giving them an ultimatum. I dislike receiving one."

At Columbia University in New York City about 20 black students occupied an office to back demands for a larger role in recruiting more black applications. The university rejected their demands.

At Stanford University in California a student sit-in to protest military research at the Applied Electronics Laboratory ended its sixth day. Administrators said the students refused to identify themselves.

The administration had planned to submit the names of all refusing requests to leave to the judicial council for disciplinary action. The students responded by voting to give only "The April 3rd Movement" when asked their identity.

Pennsylvania State University officials established an Office for Student Discussions aimed at resolving student demands. Labor mediator Theodore W. Kheel had recommended the office to faciiitate communication.

At Southern University in New Orleans, La., faculty members planned to meet with dissidents to try to end a boycott that has virtually shut down the predominantly Negro school.

Last week, police arrested 27 persons on the campus, after a black "liberation flag" was put up in place of the American flag. Protesters raised the black flag again Monday, but did not touch the American flag. No trouble was reported.

Four Officers Get Honors

Four officers at Webb AFB were recently presented with master instructor certificates for accident-free flying.

The quarted, Maj. William Lund, Capt. Robert Gobble, Capt. Kenneth Marcroft and Capt. Edwin Newcomer, received the honor awards at a 3561st Student Squadron commander's call. Maj. John O'Donnell, squadron commander, made the presentation.

The master instructor certificate represents 800 hours of flying time in jet type aircraft within the Air Training Command without an accident attributable to pilot error. For local presentation, 500 hours had to be accrued at Webb.

All four instructor pilots fly the T-38 Talon. Maj. Lund, a senior pilot, and Capt. Marcroft fly approximately 25 hours per month. Their primary duties are as academic instructors.

Capt. Gobble, another senior pilot, and Capt. Newcomer fly approximately 35 hours monthly. Their chief duties are as training officers for undergraduate pilot training classes.

U.S.-Swiss Banks Agreement Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States renewed efforts today to work out an agreement with Switzerland that would give U.S. crime fighters a chance to look at the supersecret Swiss bank accounts of American gangsters.

The State Department said three days of preliminary talks opening today were another step in informal discussions begun last year when former Asst. Atty. Gen. Fred M. Vinson Jr. met in Berne with Swiss officials.

"The purpose of the conversations," said press officer Robert J. McCloskey, "is to discuss the possibility between the two governments relating to an exchange of information in criminal investigations."

Although he did not say so, the United States specifically wants a look at secret Swiss bank accounts which the government contends are used to coverup illegal activities in this country.

Witnesses before the House Banking and Currency Committee last December said U.S. account holders include gangsters, tax dodgers, loan sharks and stock market manipulators.

Taking part in the talks is Vinson's successor, Asst. Atty. Gen. Will R. Wilson, and representatives of the State Department and Securities and Exchange Commission.

On the Swiss side is Dr. Pierre Nussbaumer of the foreign ministry and Dr. Curt Markees of the Swiss Ministry of Justice and Police.

The negotiations are expected to be sensitive and difficult because of Switzerland's strict laws on banking secrecy that provide jail terms for unauthorized disclosure of transactions.

But because of criticism here, the Swiss government agreed to enter the talks last year out of concern for the integrity of their financially strong institutions.

Pressure from Congress and statements of concern by Justice Department officials brought the issue to the forefront late last year.

Bumper Signs Are Explained

"For People Who Know, IT'S BIG SPRING," will be the message the Chamber of Commerce will try to get across with 3,000 bumper stickers.

The actual sticker will have an "S" crossed out in the word "Springs" to make it Spring and make the point that there is only one "big spring" from which the city gets its name.

The stickers will be available as soon as they are printed, according to chamber advertising and promotion committee chairman Bob Crowell. He made the announcement in a joint meeting of his committee and the committee on conventions and tourism Monday afternoon.

In addition to the stickers, there is the possibility that the chamber will have a new brochure, which will be printed with color pictures. A subcommittee is investigating the cost of designing and printing the brochure. After it is printed, it will be used to supply information about the city.

The committees heard a letter from state Senator David Ratliff, who said that the request for the name change of the Big Spring State Park to Scenic Mountain State Park is going through channels in the Parks and Wildlife Department. If the new name is approved, all map makers will be notified.

A report was given of the upcoming golf tournament, but no date was set.

Chamber Manager Tom Eastland reported on the go-kart rally to be held here in May.

DID YOU READ THAT RIGHT THE FIRST TIME?

A lot of people usually don't see the extra "the" at first reading. Which only goes to prove that you can't believe everything you think you see. The same thing with your hearing. You're not always aware of what you hear.

Like Muzak, for example. Here's an unobtrusive, scientifically programmed musical environment that people don't consciously listen to but subconsciously react to in a positive, functional way. That's one reason why Muzak is so successful in motivating people and increasing their efficiency. Not because we say so. But because companies like your own are proving it every day.

If you would like to see some convincing cases in point on how effective Muzak environments are, just call or write us.

A Devotional For The Day

If any one is in Christ, he is a new creation; the old has passed away, behold, the new has come. (II Corinthians 5:17, RSV)

PRAYER: O Lord, in a day of degradation and despair left our vision from a sense of futility. May we with Thy faithful on station at the hardest posts see the light of Thy heavenly hope, through Christ our Lord. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Time To Start

The presentations of Dr. Rex Johnston, head of USDA research in the Southwest, Dr. Gerald Thomas, dean of agriculture at Texas Tech, and Bill Fryrear, superintendent of the U.S. Experiment Station here, should leave little room for doubt on the need of a major agriculture research facility here. The primary mission would be in soil research, particularly to reduce or control wind erosion of precious soil. Its loss not only inexorably robs this region of soil fertility and urgently needed organic matter, but it is one of the worst causes of air pollution.

Every bit of that soil is needed to meet the food crisis ahead. A number of field studies have been made of the problem, but in this spawning ground of sand and dust storms, almost no basic research has been done. We think it is important to the nation, not just Big Spring or West Texas, that it be done.

Tests Make Sense

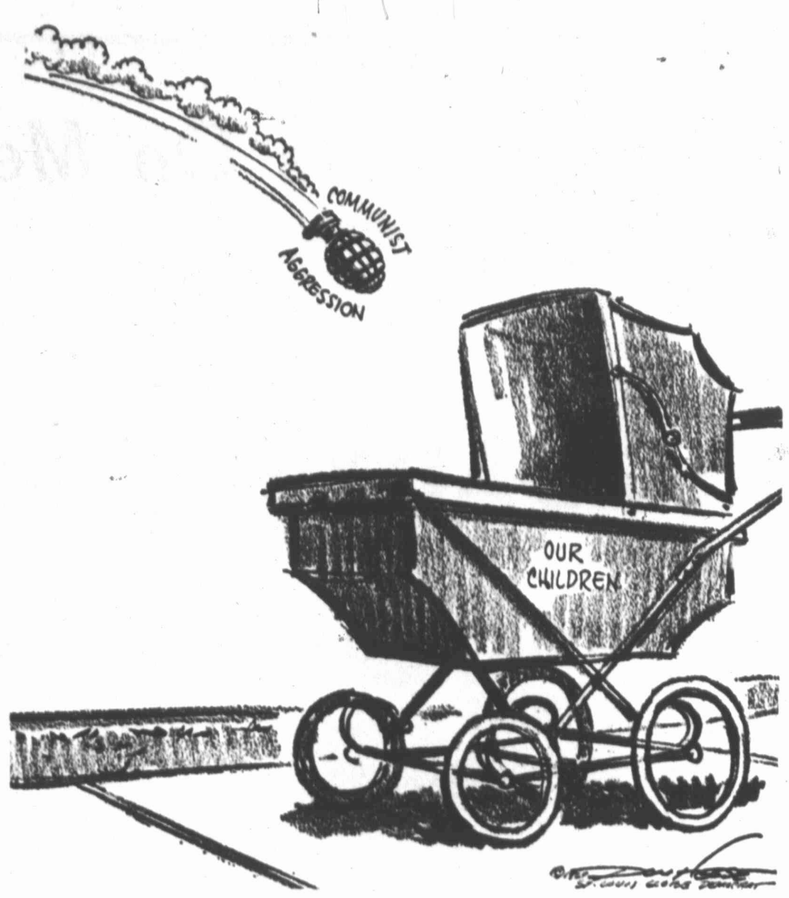

Hearings are under way in the legislature on an "implied consent" bill. The crux of the measure is that those who drive after drinking alcoholic beverages thereby give implied consent to testing in event they are picked up by officers.

The Senate has approved a measure which would impose a breath test. A proposed House bill would authorize a blood test. Under current laws, Texas drivers can refuse, without any penalties, to take tests. Texas is one of only eight states which do not have some form of compulsory chemical tests for ascertaining the degree of alcohol in the system of the suspected driver.

It is difficult to justify opposition to an implied consent bill except on the grounds that one might have a fear that someday he might be on the business end of one of the tests. The preponderant weight of evidence is that consumption of alcohol grossly impairs the ability of drinkers. Clinical studies have shown that drivers with a blood alcohol level of .06 per cent are twice as likely to cause an accident as those with no alcohol in the system; drivers with .10 of a per cent are six times as likely to cause an accident; those with .15 of a per cent (regarded as being intoxicated) are 25 times as great a risk.

A report by the U.S. Department of Transportation says that drinking is a factor of over 55 per cent of the highway mishaps which claimed 52,000 lives last year. Texas safety experts figure that half of the state's 3,481 fatalities result from one or more parties in a wreck drinking. In a six-year period, mishaps and deaths on the highway jumped 51 per cent; yet the Texas population increased only 11 per cent. The Texas Safety Association says that in the past 10 years, 68 per cent of one-car fatalities in Texas have been tied to drunken driving.

An implied consent bill might sharply increase the number of DWI cases, but it also might have a sobering effect that would be reflected in hundreds of lives being saved, injuries being prevented and property damage drastically curtailed.

LEGACY OF A VIETNAM FAILURE

Marquis Childs

Pessimistic View Of Vietnam

WASHINGTON — The world is full of Vietnam watchers, the great majority with a deep emotional bias against the involvement of the United States in that prolonged and tragic conflict. One of these watchers in the top flight of the professionals with a broad range of firsthand knowledge is Sir Robert Thompson.

His book "No Exit from Vietnam," just published in London, is being hailed there as an event of major importance. Thompson's stern judgments, based on his leading role for 12 years in suppressing the Communist uprising in Malaysia and four years as an official observer in Vietnam, show with appalling clarity how a whole series of errors and misconceptions led to the present impasse.

IF THE BOOK had been issued with the express purpose of refuting the self-serving reports of Gen. William C. Westmoreland and Admiral U.S. Grant Sharp, who exercised command in Vietnam, it could hardly be more timely. Thompson shows how Westmoreland's strategy of search and destroy, pursued for nearly three years, played directly into the hands of the Communists.

It was, Thompson writes, a no-win strategy. The American forces fought a separate war, which ignored its political and other aspects and were not on a collision course with the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese who, therefore, had a free run in the real war. It was just as if the Americans, having been frustrated in the chess game, thought that they could win by going off and playing poker instead.

T H E FAILURE of American strategy, in Thompson's view, can be measured by the military response to the Tet offensive of 1968, which caused such widespread devastation in the cities. This was a request for 200,000 more troops. Bad strategy really was now dictating policy, but it was a bit too much of "more of the same." Fortunately, the request was refused, since the strategy of attrition as a means of achieving military victory was bankrupt.

HE IS EQUALLY critical of American bombing of North Vietnam. While the aim was to check the infiltration of North Vietnamese troops into the south, the rate of infiltration steadily increased. It was running at an estimated 7,000 a month in 1967 and North Vietnamese forces in the South were put at 50,000 to 60,000. This was when the bombing had been carried to the oil depots around Hanoi and to the Thai Nguyen iron and steel complex and other targets close to Hanoi and Haiphong. Almost the only targets off limits were the harbor of Haiphong for fear of hitting a Soviet ship, the civilian population and the Red River dikes.

THOMPSON BELIEVES that one effect of the bombing was to stiffen morale in the north. It made every citizen a participant prepared to stand up to the invader. In a primitive economy even prolonged bombing could have little effect on the movement, by a wide variety of means, of the 200 to 300 tons a week of materiel sent into the south.

Reviewing the three years beginning in 1965, when in March of that year South Vietnam almost went under, Thompson puts the heaviest share of the blame on former President Lyndon B. Johnson. Johnson gave an open-ended commitment — "We stand with Vietnam" — without having actual control through effective training of and coordination with the South Vietnamese army.

T H I S WAS BOUND to have devastating consequences in the economy and the civil administration. Trained manpower was drained off. Inefficiency, rising prices, a sullen and resistant population — all the evils plaguing a country that has endured nearly 30 years of occupation and war — were magnified.

Thompson is not hopeful that any reasonable compromise can come out of the current negotiations in Paris. He writes:

"What no one could face was that neither the cessation of the bombing of the north nor the withdrawal of United States forces were any longer regarded by Hanoi as bargaining counters. Both were considered to be only a matter of time and Hanoi could afford to wait for them without making any real concession."

Billy Graham

I don't understand Matthew 18:8-9, where Jesus said that if you hand offends thee, cut it off, or if your eye offends thee, pluck it out. Will you please explain this for me? L.W.

Our Lord had many ways of teaching. Sometimes He spoke in parables, sometimes He employed the dialectic method, and sometimes He would teach truth by mentioning the impossible. Anyone would know, when listening to a statement such as the one mentioned, that a person with sinful tendencies would never eliminate them by cutting off a part of the body. If sin can be localized, then it would be well to do it that way.

But sin is a condition of man's heart. Even when there is no outward appearance of sin, a person may have a very wicked heart. His desires may be totally evil, but lacking either courage or opportunity he may outwardly avoid outbroken wickedness. The Bible says that, "A man's heart is deceitful above all things and desperately wicked." (Jeremiah 17:9). That is why God must give a new heart to the wicked, and in so doing, make them disposed to do good and not evil. God said, "I will take the stony heart out of the flesh and will give them a heart of flesh that they may walk in my statutes." (Ezekiel 11:19-20).

John Cunniff

Broadway Joe's Theory

NEW YORK (AP) — The big plans of celebrity-promoted fast food franchises, and in some cases their swift growth, are drawing the anxious attention and often critical comments of the older, well-established companies.

Some of this concern might be for the potential competition from hamburger and sandwich shops using the names of sports and entertainment personalities. But often the criticism is about financing and methods.

WITH ONLY ONE shop, for example, Broadway Joe's, Inc., recently raised $2 million from investors, the attraction being football star Joe Namath's association with the company as much as any successful restaurant experience.

Thomas Marshall, president of the sandwich, hamburger and shrimp operation, says he's never been involved directly in the operation of restaurants, but adds, "We know we've got food that doesn't take a back seat to any other."

He continues: "We've got an attractive building and a good menu. We've done our homework. We've got definite plans and we'll prove we know what we're doing.

"Lots of companies have been in business a lot longer and and their resources are greater," he said by telephone. There is, he said, "a high degree of risk," but "we feel our potential is well in line with the risk involved."

Other people do also. The stock opened at $10 early this month but now sells closer to $15. And Marshall says he has received about 1,500 applications for franchises.

HOW WELL does Broadway Joe's expect to do? "I'll let you know in five years," says Marshall. Echoing Joe Namath, he adds, "You have to think you're best. If you don't you might as well quit."

What if Joe Namath did quit? Wouldn't his publicity value be diminished? Wouldn't he fail to attract big crowds at openings of Broadway Joe's outlets?

"We feel very strongly that when he's through playing football he'll still be a personality," Marshall says.

Ray Kroc, chairman of McDonald's hamburger chain, questions the value of celebrities. What, he asks, would be the current fate of a restaurant promoted in the 1930s by using Will Rogers' image?

Kroc answers his own question. "The kids today wouldn't even know who he was," he says. And he suggests that something of the sort could happen to the present day image makers.

John Jay Hooker Jr., young president of Performance Systems, Inc., of Nashville, Tenn., one of the most impressive of the quick success stories, has an interesting theory about such images.

HOOKER AND his associates chose the name of Minnie Pearl, a country singer, to publicize their fried chicken enterprise because "she has the image of a decent, wholesome American woman who knows how to cook chicken."

Hooker, who was narrowly defeated for governor in 1966 and who may run again next year, feels that his franchise operation isn't dependent on a name.

Invitations To Disaster

NEW YORK (AP) — Staying out of trouble is one of the marks of success. Getting into trouble is one of the marks of failure.

But how can one stay out of trouble? One of the best ways is knowing when to say no.

Here, for example, are a few invitations which, if accepted, are likely to lead only to disaster:

"If I tell you what really happened to me, will you lend me the money to bail myself out?"

"YOU FELLOWS look like you're really getting a kick out of that poker game. Would you mind if a stranger sat in for a few hands? Here's my business card."

Wouldn't you rather buy the gin for your Martinis by the case instead of the bottle, sir? Over the years you'd save quite a sum."

"I don't know why you think wives can't judge racehorses, George. If I win more than you do at the track today, will you double the amount?"

"Perhaps the baby has an upset stomach. Why don't you let me hold him in my lap while you go to the medicine cabinet and get something to soothe him?"

"So what if he is growling? That doesn't bother me. I've always had a way with dogs. Let me show you. Here, Tighe! Here, Boy!"

"Sure I've got a chip on my shoulder. And if you think you're man enough to knock if off, why don't you try—starting right now?"

"THE ONLY way I can figure for you to get back a tax refund is to put down $450 for charitable contributions. Don't worry —you've got such a kind-looking face they'd never think of questioning the amount."

"Gee, Jane, see the cute little black-and-white striped pussy cat over there by the edge of the woods? It looks hungry. Why don't we go over and feed it some of our leftover picnic scraps?"

"If I let you make all the long-distance phone calls you want, Gladys, will you give me your word of honor that you'll get a passing grade in your math course this semester?"

"Why don't we try to make it all the way without wasting time stopping at a filling station, Dad? Jimmy told me when he finally got home with the car last night that he left the tank almost full of gas."

"WHY DON'T we brace the boss together. If we tell him we'll both resign unless he follows our suggestion, he's bound to back down."

"If you think that guy next door is so much nicer a husband than I am, Edna, why don't you just draw all the money out of our joint account and run away from home with him?"

Deciding When Hemorrhoid Surgery Is Necessary

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: You say hemorrhoids can be cured. I'm beginning to think surgery is the only remedy. My husband has been troubled for over a year. They are very sore and even bleed. We have tried most everything. I wish we could heal those hemorrhoids. I enclose 35 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope for your booklet on hemorrhoids. — Mrs. F.K.

To speak bluntly, you're evidently reached the point at which you are ready to accept the one positive cure for hemorrhoids — removal of them.

I've left out the details of the emulsions, ointments, sitz baths, and other things your husband has tried, but he pretty obviously has gone the whole unhappy route.

There are, really, only two things you can do about hemorrhoids, or "piles." If you can keep them from being too annoying, fine. When you can't, remove them.

With mild cases, it often is possible to prevent them from getting worse and from causing too much discomfort. (One of the most important things is not medication, but preventing constipation, and straining. Too many people do not realize the importance of that and hope that salves or ointments will do the job for them.)

It is fruitless to think you can "heal those hemorrhoids" other than temporarily. Why? Because hemorrhoids are varicose veins, veins that have been stretched to the extent that they no longer can return to original size. There is no known way to make them resume their former conditions.

Proper bowel habits, and the help of medications in some cases, may prevent enough irritation so that milder cases will not bleed or be too painful. But that is as far as you can go toward "healing" the problem.

When they have passed a certain stage, the sooner you have surgery, the more misery you will avoid. The operation is not exactly fun, a subject on which I can speak with both authority and sympathy, since I've experienced it. The soreness may be considerable for several days, but after that you begin to realize that you are beginning to feel better after all.

There are two ways of deciding when to have surgery: either when life otherwise has become completely unbearable, or when the doctor, after examining you, tells you that you are going to go on suffering until you decide on the operation.

I suppose the biggest problem involving hemorrhoids is to get the patient to realize that it's time for surgery. He keeps hoping that some patent medicine or salve will stall off the inevitable. They say hope springs eternal in the human breast. It also seems to in the human sitting-down place. But the truth is that, once hemorrhoids have reached a certain stage, the sooner you have them removed, the better off you'll be.

Around The Rim

Hey, Lay Off Our Road Runners!

A reader sent me a clipping from a newspaper printed deep in Arkansas.

The clipping sort of shook me up. It depicted a genuine roadrunner of the Texas-New Mexico species and asserted that this fine upstanding bird is now being imported into the hills and woodlands of the Razorback state.

IT SO HAPPENS I like Arkansas very much; I love its beautiful mountains, its heavily timbered valleys. I relish the fine cooking one finds there, and I enjoy the colorful and generally friendly individuals who make up its population.

However, like a fellow said about New York — it's very, very fine to visit Arkansas but I somehow don't think I'd like to live there. That goes for the roadrunner. I fancy countryside which spreads out in wide vistas. I prefer dry, desert-flavored air. And if it wasn't out and out treason, I would even argue that the pleasantest summer I have enjoyed in my current 13 years in Howard County was one in 1956 when it didn't rain enough to dampen a hankie.

ALL OF THE roadrunners of my acquaintance appear to me to be of the same general tastes as me. They seem to like semi-treeless wastelands and to get their biggest kick out of scampering on their skinny little legs across caliche-white countryside.

I just can't picture a roadrunner enjoying himself ducking and crawling through the dense undergrowth of the heavily timbered Arkansas hills.

The high humidity of summer which I have always encountered in that part of the country is bound to clash sharply with the dryness which prevails in his normal habitat.

THE CLIPPING which makes use of a photo supplied by the Arkansas Soil Conservation Service alleges that the "piasano" or "chaparral cock" is now to be found in all parts of the state. The article goes on to say that the bird is "highly beneficial" and is given full protection by the game laws of Arkansas.

They add that the roadrunner eats mostly grasshoppers and other insects. He also dines on poisonous scorpions, centipedes, tarantulas, lizards, mice and small snakes.

THEY FAIL TO mention his main pastime of bumping off rattlers. They claim that in winter, when bugs and snakes are hard to come by, he will occasionally eat another bird (I do doubt this), but they add that the good he does far outweighs any bad habits he may have.

Actually, the roadrunner is a good Joe anyway you look at him. I hope he enjoys his stay in Arkansas, but I sincerely hope, too, that he doesn't find it so pleasant he will recruit all of his fellows to join him there.

THIS PART of the country just wouldn't be the same if we didn't see a roadrunner flashing across the countryside from time to time.

An Aristocracy Among Men

WASHINGTON — British Novelist C. P. Snow, who's also a social historian, gave himself a Q-and-A which most American publicists would have shunned.

Q: "Is there something in the Jewish genes pool which produces talent on a quite different scale from, say, the Anglo-Saxon pool?"

A: "I am prepared to believe that this is so. The Jewish performance has not only been disproportionate, but also ridiculously so."

TO SAY THAT one race is intellectually superior to another is to admit that inequality exists and that we might as well take it into account in our laws and customs. Nathaniel Weyl in "The Jew in American Politics" says a lot about Jewish superiority and Jewish peculiarism. He writes with supporting statistics:

"The American Jewish community is overwhelmingly middle-class and upper middle-class. American Jews are more highly educated than any other national or religious group . . . Their income is much higher than the national average. Their contribution to the economic, political and creative leadership is much greater . . ."

BUT DESPITE their wealth, Jews have an unrequited sympathy for the poorest American class, the Negroes, who provably return hatred for support. And despite their clannishness and religious traditionalism the Jews are more liberal than conservative. They supported Franklin Roosevelt by 91 per cent, Adlai Stephenson by 75 per cent, gave Kennedy more solid backing than the Catholics did, and were massively against the half-Jew Goldwater with a 91 per cent vote for LBJ in 1964.

THE JEWS, says Weyl, vote very much the way Negroes do. The difference, Weyl goes on, is that the Jews look upon liberalism in its dictionary definition (defense of human liberties), whereas the Negroes see modern liberalism as a way to achieve not equality, but special privilege.

Jews who know all about ghettos from their European experience say there has never been such an institution in America, but Negroes and the white radicals who egg them on have made "ghetto" a synonym for darktown.

BOTH SNOW and Weyl point out that Jews became superior through 2000 years of selective in-breeding, and by cultivating an admiration for premarital virginity and large families. The Negroes clamor against the miscegenation statuses and mores. Liberals were indignant when Daniel Patrick Moynihan pointed out what's wrong in Harlem: More than 50 per cent of the children are illegitimate, and the sixth graders have an I.Q. of only 86.3 per cent.

IN HIS BOOK called "The Coming Aristocracy," Leonard Read comes out for a "super-race," not religious, not racial, not genetic, not environmental, not restricted. Any number may join if they demand no more of government except the liberty to go-it-alone. Superiority has to do with self-achieved excellence, however attained.

Inequality is one subject on which nearly all our statesmen stand around and lie in their teeth. It was not always so.

"I agree with you," wrote Jefferson to his political enemy, John Adams, "there is a natural aristocracy among men. The grounds of this are virtue and talent."

The Day They Took The Rolls Away

WASHINGTON — The wonderful thing about our neighborhood in Washington, D.C., is that the people rally around when someone is in trouble.

For example, one of our neighbors is McPherson, who happens to own a Silver Shadow Rolls-Royce. It was his proudest possession, but in McPherson's defense, it must be said that he never lorded it over the rest of us. Occasionally he might have brought up the Rolls in conversation, but he'd always turn it into a joke such as, "I had a heck of a time parking the chariot this morning", or, "My clock stopped in the Rolls last night, and I had no idea if the motor was running or not." There was nothing offensive in these remarks, but there was no question that the Rolls symbolized everything McPherson had worked for all his life.

WHILE THERE were a few neighbors who were bored by McPherson's talk about his Silver Shadow, most of the rest of us had a live-and-let-live attitude about it.

Then last week the roof fell in. It was announced that Rolls-Royce was calling in all its Silver Shadows and Bentley T models because of a possible faulty setscrew in the steering lever.

The first person all of us thought of was McPherson. We tried to phone, but the line was busy. So my wife said, "In a tragedy like this, they'll need food," and she started to make a casserole.

That morning we went over to McPherson's carrying the casserole.

SEVERAL NEIGHBORS were already there. The minister of the church had also arrived, and when we walked into the living room, he was talking to McI herson:

"The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away. You have to understand there are overload conditions, even on Rolls-Royces, that no one knows anything about. The mysteries of steering mechanisms are beyond the comprehension of mortal man, but you must believe that there is some master plan beyond all this, and in the long run it will all be for the good."

McPHERSON, his eyes red, just stared off into space. I went up to him and touched his shoulder.

"I know how you feel," I said sympathetically.

McPherson turned on me. "What do you mean, you know how I feel? None of you knows how I feel. How can I face my friends, my business associates, my golf partners? All my life I dreamed that someday I'd have a Silver Shadow, and now they're taking it away from me."

"LOOK, McPHERSON," I said, "it isn't the same as having a Chevy or a Ford or a Chrysler recalled, but all of us have lived through a similar experience. Believe me, in time no one will remember they recalled your Rolls-Royce."

Nolan, another neighbor who was sitting in the living room, said, "Would you like to borrow my Volkswagen while your Rolls is in the shop?"

It was obviously the wrong thing to say because McPherson broke into tears. "Oh, the shame of it. Whoever thought that one day I'd be driving a Volkswagen?"

THE MINISTER took McPherson's hand. "Try to imagine that your Silver Shadow has gone off on a trip. Your Rolls-Royce is now in that beautiful, great garage in the sky. And don't forget, you're not losing a car, you're gaining a new steering lever mechanism."

Patrolmen Start Measuring Noise Of Automobiles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A team of California highway patrolmen started Monday measuring the noise of automobiles zipping along the highways to determine if they are violating the State Code.

It limits sound to a maximum of 82 to 92 decibels, depending on the type of car or truck and speed limits. Officers say most passenger cars will be limited to 82 decibels, about the noise from a pneumatic drill.

The patrolmen are using a shoebox-sized meter with a cable to a microphone on a four-foot-high tripod placed 50 feet from the center of the right-hand lane. To start, the team is operating in Los Angeles, Ventura and Orange counties.

Thixton Helps To Make Summer Easy

The grass is growing, but it won't get a head start on you if you stop by Cecil Thixton Motorcycle shop to investigate ownership of a Murray Super Deluxe Electric Start Self-Propelled Power Mower.

The Murray Super Deluxe mower has a 3.5 H.P. 4-cycle electric starter motor. It has a 22-inch cutting width with a discharge chute mounted on the right side.

The best feature of all is no more struggling with a starter rope. Simply roll the Murray Mower out onto the yard. Check the gas level by looking at the gas gage. Check the oil with the dip-stick. Then turn the key and the mower starts

A chain-driven drive propels the Murray Mower through the front wheels for easy handling. For close places the self drive can be easily disconnected, and the mower becomes a conventional push mower.

The cutting height can be adjusted to seven positions through quick wheel adjustments.

Not only is the Murray Mower designed for use during the summer, but it was also built for easy non use during the summer months. The handle folds over and down to form a low-level protection frame for the motor. The mower can be stored away without fear of having the handle jab you in the side when you are going through the garage in the dark.

Thixton is also headquarters for Schwinn bicycles. He carries the complete line of the Schwinn Krates, the Apple Krate, Orange Krate, Lemon Peeler and Pea Picker. A whole new world of cycling thrills can be yours when you blast off and move out aboard the flashiest Sting-Rays ever designed, the Schwinn Krates.

The Krates come in four colors, each reflects its name. They have all the features of the big bikes, plus built-in all-around fun.

Bishops To Draw Recommendations

HOUSTON (AP) — Roman Catholic bishops assembled today to draw up recommendations for simplifying marriage annulments and to set up machinery for settling disputes within the church.

More than 200 of the 270 member hierarchy—cardinals, archbishops, bishops, and auxiliary bishops—were in town for a semiannual meeting of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops.

The bishops last met as a body in November, 1968, in Washington. They issued a pastoral letter then that defended the right of married couples to follow their own consciences about contraceptives and the encyclical of Pope Paul VI against the use of such devices.

RONALD CHOICE ANCHORS HCJC TO 440 RELAY VICTORY
Lubbock CC second to Hawks' record clocking of 41.8

Thunderbirds Rally To Win Meet Here

New Mexico Junior College came on strong in the latter stages of the meet to win team honors in the ABC cinder show here Monday, scoring 64 points to 46 for runnerup Lubbock Christian College and 42 for host Howard County.

South Plains also sent a team in for the meet, which originally was booked for Saturday, and managed to amass ten points.

Odessa and Cisco were committed to send teams here Saturday but could not make it yesterday. On the other hand, NMJC was able to come when the date was changed.

The Thunderbirds, who will host a meet of their own Saturday, picked up five points each in the shot put and discus, eight in the 330-yard intermediate hurdles, six in the broad jump, five in the two-mile and five in the javelin to pull away.

HCJC lost strength in the distance races when Frank Clark wore a blister on one foot and had to withdraw.

Nine records were established in the 15 events held.

James Irving of HCJC easily wiped out the 880-yard run mark of 2:14.2 when he covered the two laps in 1:58.1.

HCJC's sprint relay team, composed of William Fogle, John Scheibel, Charles Copeland and Ronald Choice, lowered the record to 41.8.

Alfred Branch of Lubbock Christian tied the record in the 440 by negotiating the distance in 49.2. He beat HC's Fogle, who had set the mark last year, to the wire.

New Mexico's Gary Powell shattered both the discus and shot put marks.

The Thunderbirds' mile relay team raced to a new standard with a 3:19.2 clocking.

HCJC was second in the same event after it looked for a while like its anchor man, Fogle, might catch Frank Garcia at the wire.

The Hawk quartet's clocking by laps included:

Choice, 51.5; Irving, 49.3; Copeland, 50.7; and Fogle, 48.3.

Lubbock's Gene Grassie easily bettered his own mark in the javelin, delivering the spear 196-½.

Two boys, William Gambrel of HCJC and John Whitman, NMJC, cleared 14-0 in the pole vault but Gambrel was declared the winner in the event and the new record holder after Whitson was injured and had to withdraw for a while.

Although he didn't set a record, HC's Choice turned in an excellent 9.5 in the 100. He was favored by a strong breeze.

Competition was not held in the high jump and triple jump because there was not enough personnel on hand to supervise those events.

In all, nine records went by the boards, another was tied.

Summary:

Sprint relay — 1. HCJC (William Fogle, John Schelbel, Charles Copeland, Ronald Choice), 41.8 (new record; old record, Odessa, 41.85, 1968); 2. Lubbock Christian, 41.9; 3. New Mexico JC, 42.0; no fourth.

Mile run — 1. Fred Strickland, LCC, 4:33.6 (new record; old record, Don Cantrell, LCC, 4:35.1, 1968); 2. Tony Lucero, NMJC; 3. Frank Clark, HCJC.

440-yard run — 1. Alfred Branch, LCC, 49.2 (tied record set by William Fogle, HCJC in 1968); 2. William Fogle, HCJC, 49.9; 3. Kenneth McCabe, South Plains, 50.3; 4. Frank Garcia, NMJC.

100-yard dash — 1. Ronald Choice, HCJC, 9.5; 2. Danny Johnson, LCC, 9.55; 3. Barry Hardin, LCC; 4. Charley Copeland, HCJC.

120-yard high hurdles — 1. Andrew Pettus, NMJC, 14.4; 2. Ronnie Tannery, LCC, 14.9; 3. Danny Thompson, NMJC; 4. Scotty Hart, NMJC.

180-yard run — 1. James Irving, HCJC, 1:58.1 (new record; old record, Mike Perry, Odessa, 2:14.2, 1968); 2. Gary Sandoval, NMJC, 1:58.4; 3. Tony Lucero, NMJC, 2:01.5; 4. Frank Garcia, NMJC, 2:02.5.

220-yard dash — 1. Barry Hardin, LCC, 22.2; 2. William Foale, HCJC, 22.3; 3. Andrew Pettus, NMJC, 22.4; 4. Charley Copeland, HCJC, 23.6.

Shot put — 1. Gary Powell, NMJC, 47-11 (new record; old record, Don Mulkey, Dallas Baptist, 47-9, 1968); 2. James Jackson, South Plains, 41-4; 3. John Billizon, HCJC, 40-5; 4. Wayne Turman, South Plains, 39-5.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue:

PETE ROSE, Cincinnati baseball standout, disturbed by the long sideburns of his teammate, Tommy Helms:

"Just because this is the 100th anniversary of baseball, you don't have to look like Nap Lajoie."

• • • •

RICK BARRY, who defected from the National Basketball Association to sign with Oakland in the ABA:

"I'd be kidding myself if I said the signing of Lew Alcindor by Milwaukee didn't make any difference. But we can still make it."

• • • •

JIM LINDSEY, ball carrier for the Minnesota Vikings:

"Great football runners have a barbaric gift that I don't have. It's a gift that enables their feet to move without a message from their brain. Gale Sayers has it. He has to have it. He couldn't possibly make the moves he does if he thought about them first."

• • • •

RAY SONS, Chicago scribe, discussing Al Davis, general manager of the Oakland Raiders of the AFL:

"Davis always gives the impression that he is getting a bunch of the boys together in the back room to stab Caesar."

• • • •

ARTHUR C. ALLYN JR., owner of the Chicago White Sox, when asked how he felt about a proposed domed stadium in that city that would cost upwards to $100 million:

"I have no interest in it whatsoever. I still plan to go ahead with my own sports complex on 53 acres of air rights over railroad tracks south of the Dearborn railway station."

• • • •

LUM HARRIS, manager of the Atlanta Braves, discussing baseball as a livelihood:

"I wouldn't do anything else, not under any circumstances. I come under the same category as Satchel Paige, I guess. I played the game because I loved it, and I manage for the same reason. At the same time, the game has been good to me financially . . . in every respect. I've always tried to repay baseball by working hard at my job and being dedicated to the job. I'd never knock it. I'd say the same thing if I were fired tomorrow.

• • • •

DOC HAYES, former SMU basketball coach, discussing the sport:

"You can't play it, you can't coach it, and you can't officiate it."

• • • •

HOYT WILHELM, veteran relief pitcher for the California Angels:

"I never know what my knuckle ball will do when I let 'er fly. I grip it with two knuckles down and release it so there is no spin on the ball. I have strong nails but I don't dig the ball with them. I've been in one World Series, in 1954 with the New York Giants along with Bill Rigney. I hope to get in as least one more. The way I feel now, I think I can keep going until I'm 50."

• • • •

RUBE SAMUELSON, Pasadena (Calif.) scribe:

"Remember Cotton Warburton, USC's mighty mite of the '30's? He has been affiliated with the Walt Disney Studios for 13 years. And hear this: If Knute Rockney hadn't been killed in 1931, Cotton would have gone to Notre Dame."

DALLAS NEWS:

" 'I never measured one of my passes for distance,' says Bart Starr of Green Bay, 'but the farthest anyone on our team has thrown a pass that was measured was by Ray Nitschke, a linebacker. He threw a ball 76 yards in practice one day.' Probably right after Vince Lombardi told him to throw it 75.'

Don Meredith Still No. 1, Says Landry

DALLAS, Tex., (AP) — Despite some malfunctions in crucial situations, Tom Landry is optimistic about his quarterbacking situation.

Let's tune in on Coach Landry of the Dallas Cowboys in his 1969 "Cowboys Scouting Report" and see what's ahead for training camp in July.

"No one has better quarterback depth than we do. Our quarterback situation is good. I think we should have a pretty good battle there.

"(Don) Meredith is still No. 1 and will be until somebody proves he's better. (Criag) Morton is in his fifth year and is greatly improved. He should make a strong bid for a starting position.

"And we still have Jerry Rhome. Jerry didn't play last year, but he provided that insurance we felt we needed to make a run for the championship."

TOM WAS STUNNED

Landry was stunned last year after his National Football League club sailed through the Capitol Division with a 12-2 season record and took a 31-20 country whippin' from Cleveland in the Eastern Conference playoff.

Meredith's inept day at the man-under-post contributed handsomely to the Cowboy demise. But Landry figures a man who was the No. 2 passer in the NFL last season with 21 touchdown shots should be given a fair shake.

Landry said "The team we had last year was the only real good football team we've had. And yet we didn't reach as high. And we were better prepared to reach it than we had ever been.

"We should be even better this year. All of this has had a maturing effect on the club. All of the talking we could ever do could not match the experience. This should be a positive step in us being better."

FISHING

Hyden Gets Big Catfish

Luke Fortenberry of Big Spring reeled in a 12-pound catfish while trying his luck near the Lakeview Camp on Lake Colorado City recently.

Floyd E. Young, Big Spring, also reported good luck. He snagged three crappie, weighing from ¾ to one pound each, along with 25 pan-sized crappie, while fishing off Louie's Lakeside Lodge at Lake Colorado City.

C. H. Hyden, Big Spring, fishing near Cooper's Cove on Lake Colorado City, landed a yellow catfish weighing 34 pounds.

• • •

Henry Tournage is the new manager of Lakeview Lodge on Lake Colorado City. He wasn't long in wetting a hook — he reported a yellow catfish catch weighing 32 pounds.

• • •

Fishermen from Lorenzo, Midland, Lubbock, Crane and Odessa have also tried their luck at Lake CC in recent days.

Lake officials report bluegill are hitting worms and crickets while bass are being attracted to minnows and artificial bait. Baker's Green Acres on the lake has completed a new concrete boat ramp.

Bass are getting ready to spawn and are being caught in shallow water. The lake is in good shape, with water 20 to 80 feet deep.

Montreal Treats Fans To Victory

By The Associated Press

Dan McGinn and the Montreal Expos were upset winners as major league baseball came to Canada for the first time ever. Back in the United States Richie Allen came up with a surprise, too.

The Expos won a wild home opener 8-7 Monday over St. Louis before a standing room crowd of 29,184 on Coco Laboy's double and run-scoring single by winning pitcher McGinn in the seventh inning.

And in Philadelphia, Allen crashed a 500-foot two-run homer that helped the Phils to a 5-1 victory over the New York Mets. The tape-measure blast of Allen's comes as no surprise though, but what he did after it certainly rates a double-take.

FANS APPLAUD

Allen, trotting to his first base position after the third-inning clout, tipped his hat to the applauding home opener crowd of 13,070. It was the first time in years he had acknowledged the cheers of the fans who have booed him in the past.

In other National League games, Chicago swept to its sixth victory in seven games, stopping Pittsburgh 4-0 and Houston bombed Los Angeles 11-5. The San Francisco at Cincinnati game was rained out in the only other scheduled game.

McGinn, a fireballing lefthander, earned his first major league victory with 5 1-3 scoreless innings of relief, allowing only three hits.

McGinn, drafted by the Expos from the Cincinnati Reds, said he was getting even with the Cardinals. "They beat me in my first major league game last year in 11 innings."

The Expos had blown a 6-0 lead as Mack Jones drove in five runs with a three-run homer and two-run triple in the first two innings but the Cards came back with a seven-run fourth inning.

The Expos contributed five errors and Dal Maxvill sliced a grand slam homer to right field in the inning.

Deron Johnson's second-inning homer had given the Phils a 1-1 tie before Allen cracked a Jim McAndrew pitch over a 10-foot high sign atop the left field roof for his first home run of the year.

Woody Fryman got the victory as he scattered four hits as the Mets lost their fourth straight.

Longhorns Host Bengals Today

Losers of only two games in their first 20 starts, the powerful Snyder Tigers move into Steer Park today for a 4 p.m. practice game against Oakey Hagood's Big Spring Steers.

The Longhorns will be seeking to pit the skids of a three-game losing skein. Over-all, the locals are 8-6-1. Their bad luck can be attributed in part to a siege of illness. Their pitching staff was especially hard hit.

Either Jimmy Farris or Thomas Ham will likely go to the mound for Big Spring today. Snyder could counter with Steve Holder.

The Tigers, who are coached by Speedy Moffett, have the South Zone title in District 3-AAA all but locked up. They've won four straight games and have knocked off the defending champion, Lamesa, both times they've played them.

The two teams met previously in Snyder and played to an extra inning deadlock.

Inability to hit the ball has cost the Steers dearly in recent games.

The locals were to have played Ector in Odessa last Friday but that contest was postponed twice within 24 hours. The two teams are now committed to play Thursday. Big Spring then goes to Abilene Saturday to tangle with Cooper.

They play their next conference game at home against Odessa High a week from today.

Pete Ward Is Sox Hero In Victory Over Angels

By The Associated Press

Pete Ward and the Kansas City Royals have pocketed a pair of prized keepsakes—reluctantly gift-wrapped by Hoyt Wilhelm and John Kennedy.

Ward's two-run double off knuckleballer Wilhelm climaxed a four-run eighth inning rally that swept the Chicago White Sox past the California Angels 4-3 Monday night.

Kansas City capitalized on two errors by Seattle shortstop Kennedy and nipped the Pilots 2-1 in the season's first meeting of American League expansion teams.

"It's so difficult to hit Wilhelm, I'm gonna clip out the box score and frame it," Ward said after bringing the White Sox from behind against the 45-year-old relief specialist, who pitched for Chicago last season.

Kennedy would like to forget his first 1969 start. The Seattle glove man misplayed a sixth-inning grounder before Joe Foy's checked-swing single tied the game 1-1, and booted Jerry Adair's smash in the eighth as Foy raced home from second with the winning run.

In the only other game on the AL schedule, Boston topped Baltimore 5-3, Tony Conigliaro delivering the deciding run with an infield single in his first Fenway Park appearance since he suffered a serious eye injury two years ago.

The White Sox went into the eighth trailing 3-0, with just one hit off Jim McGlothlin. But successive singles by Gail Hopkins, Buddy Bradford and pinch hitter Walt Williams produced one run and chased the Angels starter.

Wilhelm came on and fanned Duane Josephson, but Carlos May doubled home another run and Ward stroked his go-ahead double one out later.

Dick Stuart homered for the Angels off winner Tommy John.

Foy poked four hits for the Royals, who remained atop the league's West Division, reliever Dave Wickersham rescued winning pitcher Roger Nelson from a bases-loaded jam in the ninth.

Bucking The Official

New Orleans Buccaneers coach Babe McCarthy takes issue with referee Sid Borgia (15) on a matter of a couple of points as the quarter buzzer sounded in New Orleans Monday night. McCarthy won the argument as the two points were chalked up but he lost the game to the Dallas Chaparrals, 123-112, during the fifth game of the Western Division ABA semi-finals.

Knicks Fight Off Celtics

NEW YORK (AP) — With their backs against the wall, the New York Knicks have resorted to thievery to make sure their no tomorrow wasn't today in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

Stealing time by swiping the ball, the Knicks fought off elimination in their Eastern Division final series against Boston by beating the Celtics 112-104 Monday night to cut their deficit to 3-2 in the best-of-7 series.

"But we still have to get that game back we lost here," said Dick Barnett, thinking ahead to the Knicks' next all-or-nothing test in Friday's sixth game in Boston while looking back to their series opening loss in New York which cost them the home-court advantage.

Boston still needs only one victory to eliminate the Knicks and advance to the NBA final against the Western Division winner—Los Angeles or Atlanta.

The Lakers take their 2-0 lead into the third game of that best-of-7 set, which continues tonight in Atlanta.

Despite the figures which show only an eight-point victory and Boston outshooting the Knicks from the field, 52.5 per cent to 44.3, New York rebounded from a one-point loss Sunday in Boston for an easy victory Monday.

The Knicks forced Boston to give up the ball 17 times in the first half—when New York surged into a 60-46 advantage—and 25 for the game.

C-City Council OKs Increased Budget

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The Colorado City council Monday evening approved a budget for the fiscal year beginning May 1 in the amount of $476,573, up $34,232 from the current year. Rises in the cost of doing business were cited as reasons for the increase.

The tax rate will remain the same at $1.60 per $100 valuation assessed at 45 per cent of the market value. Councilmen instituted a series of discounts for early payment of taxes. October payments will bring a three per cent discount; November, two; and December, one per cent.

R. J. Hoback was named mayor pro tem, succeeding C. G. Harkins, who did not seek re-election. Sworn in were J. C. Britton, a newcomer to the council, and Paul Hunter, C. C. Britt, and J. C. Brown, who were re-elected. James E. Jeffrey, city attorney, administered the oath of office.

In other council business, a crawler type loader was purchased from Treanor Equipment Company, Abilene, for $16,230. The city increased its payment for meals of city prisoners boarded in the county jail from 90 cents to a new figure of $1.25 per day.

The council approved a note, which in effect asks Mitchell County to buy a new fire truck to replace one wrecked last week while it was en route to fight a rural fire. The county owned the truck, which was almost totally damaged, and pays the city $60 per run to answer rural fire calls. The city maintains the truck and operates it.

Passage Seen For Bill To Force Breath Test

AUSTIN (AP) — The "implied consent" law on drunken driving apparently is on the way to passage.

The House approved it overwhelmingly two years ago, but only three days were left in the session and the Senate did not have time to pass it.

The Senate already has approved it this year, and it was referred to a House subcommittee Monday.

The Senate took out a section that would have presumed a man guilty if a breath test showed his blood was .10 per cent or more alcohol. The sponsor, Rep. Don Cavness of Austin, said he would not try to put that back in the bill in committee.

The law would require a person suspected of drunken driving to submit to a breath test or risk losing his driver's license.

A driver must be stopped for a traffic violation before an officer could insist that he take the breath test.

Cavness said at least half of the Texas traffic accidents in which 3,481 persons died last year involved a drunken driver.

Three To Board Of Mental Health

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith appointed three members to the Board of Mental Health and two members of the Texas Industrial Commission today.

The mental health appointees are Dr. Charles Brown of Wichita Falls, replacing Dr. George Constant of Victoria; Mrs. H. E. Butt Sr., of Corpus Christi, reappointed; and Dr. Emerson Emory of Dallas, replacing Dr. Raleigh White of Temple.

C. L. Cooke of Fort Worth, was named to replace Ray Horton of Houston on the industrial commission and Truett Smith of Wyline was named to replace J. M. Haggar of Dallas.

Local Antenna For KOSA Requested

Doubleday Broadcasting Company, Inc. of Odessa has filed application with the Federal Communications Commission for the construction of a tower near here to broadcast signals. The application, filed April 9, 1969, asks that the corporation be given permission to construct a new television broadcast translator on South Mountain 2.3 miles southeast of the courthouse. It would operate on an output of channel 10 with 39 watts power for rebroadcast of signals from KOSA-TV (Channel 7) at Odessa.

Another Bitter Dose Of Belt-Tightening

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson's embattled Labor government prepared to give the British people another bitter dose of belt-tightening austerity today.

Higher taxes, a forced savings scheme or a combination of the two were expected in the annual tax budget statement Chancellor of the Exchequer Roy Jenkins was to read in the House of Commons this afternoon. It was certain to lower the government's popularity still more.

Wilson already is faced with a divided cabinet and an irate trade union movement because of his determination to take strong measures to curb the wave of wildcat strikes hurting the export drive. There are demands for Wilson's replacement, and some union leaders are demanding a nationwide, 24-hour strike to protest the proposed curbs.

Informants said Jenkins, by means of his new budget, hoped to drain off 400 million pounds —$960 million—from British pocketbooks in order to reduce buying of foreign goods.

Imports last year sent the nation's foreign payments account plunging to a deficit of nearly $1.5 billion. The deficit averaged $87.2 million—during the first two months this year—more than $1 billion on an annual basis.

The budget today is the second from Jenkins since he became chancellor soon after Britain devalued the pound 17 months ago.

Last year's budget was the toughest in British peacetime history and siphoned off nearly one billion pounds, $2.4 billion, in purchasing power. Yet it failed to inhibit the public's spending.

Young Farmers Club Launched

ACKERLY — Officers of the Four Counties Young Farmers were elected Monday night and a constitution and by-laws were adopted at the group's first meeting.

Heading the newly-formed group, which meets the first Monday night of each month at Sands High School cafeteria, is Marion Snell, president; J. D. Hall, vice president; Don Shortes, secretary-treasurer; and Dick Shortes, reporter.

Hulan Thomas, Area II supervisor of the Texas Vocational Education Agency, met with the young farmers to assist in the organization of the Four Counties chapter.

Reason for organizing the chapter is for educational purposes, with particular reference to the field of agriculture, according to Kenneth Wink, vocational agriculture teacher at Sands High School.

Jerry Hall was appointed program chairman in charge of acquiring speakers each month.

Grant Request Talked Monday

Suggestions and plans were discussed at some length Monday, and the Permian Basin Law enforcement study committee plans to draw up a request for action funds at its next meeting, April 24.

Chief Jay Banks and Larry Smith, adminstrative aide to City Manager Larry Crow, attended the Monday meeting in Odessa. The results of a recent survey were discussed, and it will be used as a basis for drawing up a request for an action grant to be submitted to state officials.

Earl Of Aylesford Is Included On Histo-Wall

One of Big Spring's earliest and most distinguished settlers is included in the English histo-wall at the Institute of Texan Cultures in San Antonio.

He is Heneage Finch, the seventh Earl of Aylesford, a transplanted English nobleman who set up his own barony on the brakes and plains of West Texas in the year 1883.

An account of his adventures, carried in the 70th anniversary edition of the San Angelo Standard Times, is part of the English section in the Institute. The story was written by Franklin Reynolds, then a member of The Herald's staff.

For some obscure reason the Earl settled here (there were rumors he had been banished because he was a bad influence on the Prince of Wales, his bosom companion; some said he had marital troubles and came to establish holdings in the New World where there were no laws to prevent his leaving them to his daughters.) Probably it was through the recommendation of Jay Gould, whose Texas & Pacific railroad was pushing westward across this country, that he came to West Texas. John Birdwell, a former Texas ranger, had been recommended as guide.

This friendship led to all sorts of episodes. The Earl was known as "the judge," probably a substitute for "his honor, etc.," and was a favorite with the cowboys. He favored gray corduroy suits, good meat and good whiskey and gin, of which he was a devoted consumer. He died here in his old Cosmopolitan Hotel a couple of years later, surrounded by a couple of his brothers, servants and personal physician. His body was returned to England.

Thefts, School Robbery Listed

Several thefts and a burglary were on the police blotter this morning.

Yeggs who entered the Cedar Crest Elementary School left with a record player and several pens. Bob Smith, 3911 US 80 west, reported a Citizens Band radio, valued at $50, was taken from his pickup.

Mrs. R. E. Hughes, 1801 Mittel, reported a tire and wheel, valued at $55, taken from a pickup. Joe Munoz, 105 NE 10th reported a stolen bicycle.

A man arrested at the Safeway Store on Gregg was charged with shoplifting, after he attempted to take a can opener.

Convicted Of Killing 'Hippy' In Greenville

GREENVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Calvin Whiddon, 20, of Hialeah, Fla., was convicted of murder Monday in the slaying of another youth described by police as a hippy.

The jury deliberated today on the punishment. The state had waived the death penalty. Whiddon could be sentenced to from two years to life.

He was accused of the stabbing and beating death of Joseph Montcalm, 25, of Negaunee, Mich. The body was found on a trash heap near Greenville Jan. 21, 1968.

Also charged in the murder is another hippy-type, Thomas Headley, 21, of Oakland, Calif.

Charged with conspiracy to commit murder are Charles Perkins, 21, of Miami Beach, and Robert Thomas Jr., 18, of San Francisco.

The four were arrested in Louisiana. Police at Baton Rouge said the young men told them the slaying occurred after all five of them—including the victim — had taken pills, sniffed glue and drunk wine.

Police said the four could only identify the victim as "a fat slob named Joe" when they were arrested.

The police said three of the youths said the victim was slain while en route with the others from California to New Orleans for Mardi Gras.

Montcalm's throat was cut with a razor, and he was knifed in the stomach and stabbed with an iron rod, detectives said.

Officers said the youths had bloodstained gloves, a butcher knife and other weapons in the car when they were stopped in Baton Rouge, where they were held for vagrancy.

Woman Found Shot To Death

MARSHALL, Tex. (AP) — Police said Mrs. Leroy Allen, 60, was found shot to death at her home Monday.

A man was arrested after police filled the house with tear gas.

The man offered no resistance and was unarmed, police said. A gun was found inside the house.
