By J. W. King, Sr.

In this issue of the Mitchell County News read the advertisement of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association titled "The Road Ahead."

The oil industry in Texas is showing the way in utilizing Texas' vast natural resources. The industry refines with Texas labor over four-fifths as much oil as the state produces. Its products make up nearly one-half of all Texas manufacturing. Petroleum provides the living for almost one-sixth of our people.

As a result of the enterprising oil industry Texas has cheap gas and oil to provide fuel for other Texas industry which is rapidly expanding throughout the state.

An example of what can be done in many communities in Texas in establishing an industry suitable to the needs of the particular community is provided in the cooperative cheese and loker plant here in Loraine. Although the cooperative organization is comparatively small it provides work for some twenty people and a payroll of no mean proportions for a town the size of Loraine. And there is no end to the possibilities for the expansion of the organization.

Counting what is paid to the farmers for their products the payroll of the cooperative amounts to about $125,000 a year—not a bad industry for any community.

With the defense program in force the cheese industry should be better for it is valuable food and will be in demand. Texas does not produce near all the cheese it consumes so there is room for expansion of the industry in Texas.

Some farmers are complaining that worms are eating their young cotton. A few have had to replant a part of their crop. We do not know what kind of worm it is but in places the ground is covered with them and their damage may assume alarming proportions if some means of control is not provided.

Next Monday night will be regular meeting time again for the Loraine Chamber of Commerce. Everybody interested in the upbuilding of the town should make it a point to attend the meeting. There are possibly several things to come up for discussion, one of which will likely be the sponsoring of a dairy show here the latter part of the summer. The dairy industry has come to mean quite a lot to this community and we should do all we can to promote it. The best way we know is to have a jam-up good dairy show. To put on a good one we must start planning in plenty of time and it isn't too early now.

Some of our streets are in a bad shape following the heavy rains in May. In some places a car can hardly get over them. Perhaps the city can't do anything about it but we wish they could.

Have you noticed the difference in the size of the crowds in town at night since the new theatre opened? Loraine is beginning to look like a town with some life in it.

On Saturday afternoon the still large and as long as the "Pot of Gold" expect the people to keep coming. Loraine is a good town and we see no reason why folks can't do as well here as anywhere else.

Texas produced 14,362,000 pounds of cheddar cheese in 1939.

Forty-one states, including Texas, have enacted laws permitting farmers to establish conservation districts.

VOLUME 11, NUMBER 4

LORAIN, TEXAS, JUNE 5, 1941

Subscription Price, $1.00 per year

Response To Subscription Drive Is Very Gratifying

Response of the people of community to our special offer of a full year's subscription to The Mitchell County News for 50 cents was most gratifying to the publisher. The occasion for the special offer was the eleventh anniversary of the paper.

Seventy people took advantage of our offer, the large majority of whom were new subscribers. The offer expired last Saturday and due to the fact that the paper did not reach our subscribers until Saturday because of the holiday on Friday some did not get the news in time to take advantage of the offer.

Because of that we are extending the offer during this week only to give our subscribers and more new ones a chance to get in on the bargain rate. The offer closes Saturday night.

The Mitchell County News was established in May 1931 and because of that fact many subscriptions expire at this time of the year. If you are a subscriber now and your time has expired a red X will be marked on your paper. If you do not renew your paper will be stopped.

Hall-Land Wedding Sunday

Wedding rites for Miss Lonice Land and Mr. Jabus Hall were read at the Methodist parsonage Sunday morning at 8:30 by Rev. J. E. Shewbert.

The bride and groom were accompanied by her brother, Garland Land, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hall of Colorado City, Emmett and Dorothy Hall, Carl Stanley of Sweetwater, and Evaline Land.

The couple left immediately after the ceremony for Big Spring where they spent the night. They will make their home in Abilene where the groom is employed by Banner Creameries.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Land. She attended high school here and graduated with the class of 1938. Since her graduation she has been making her home with her parents.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hall of the Bau-mann community.

Defense Training Program In Progress In Tex.

Because national defense calls for skilled and semi-skilled labor many who otherwise could be utilized in the defense program either are without jobs, or in lower paid classifications.

The national defense training program is paid for by the federal government, offering them opportunity to become employable in industries handling national defense contracts. While there is no great shortage of labor, there is a shortage of skilled labor. In Texas the program is handled through the State Board of Vocational Education. The programs have been set up locally through the public school systems.

Men are being trained upon the recommendation of the Texas State Employment Service, and the Works Projects Administration. Training also is provided for out-of-school youth and enrollees recommended by the national Youth Administration. For those out of jobs for several years, refresher training is offered to make them employable.

Placements are handled by the Texas State Employment Service. The placement record in Texas has been about 85 percent. Texans in the eligibility class who fail to take advantage of this free instruction placing them in a position for substantial earnings are losing a valuable opportunity.

Texans Urged To Buy Bonds

Austin, Texas June 2, 1941

Dear Mr. News Editor:

Following the President's talk on Tuesday, I have come to the conclusion that it is my duty to call on the citizens of Texas to double their efforts to aid America, and we must have an all-out purchase of defense bonds and savings stamps.

We are going to have a big bill to pay in order to protect this land we love so well—and it will be worth every cent it costs to know that our country and those we love are safe. And when I stop and think that our Government thought far enough ahead to make plans to borrow money from us that it could pay back with interest, I swell with pride. The United States Government could have just imposed higher and higher taxes on us—money to be paid in and nothing received in return and nothing received in return but protection. Protection would have been a lot, but instead we are lending our money and will get it back with interest. When you buy one of these bonds, you are buying confidence in your country, your family, your neighbor and yourself. You are making money for yourself, and, by lending it to the Government, you are making it work for your country.

I could think of no more fitting memorial to those who gave their lives in the last war than to ask that all Texans do their bit now toward preparing defenses which we hope will protect us and save the lives of our native sons.

Sincerely yours,
Frank Scofield

Mexican Hangs Self In Jail

Dorio Preto, 56-year-old Mexican who was charged at Colorado City with incest and at Stanton with murder of his 15-year-old daughter's infant, was found dead in his cell in the Mitchell County jail early Saturday morning. Braided strips from his blanket had been used to fashion a noose which was fastened to the window bars.

RED RYDER SERIAL TO BE FINISHED

The serial "Red Ryder" which was being shown at the Gem Theatre by Mr. Barrow before the show was closed, will be finished at the new Lorex Theatre on June 13-14, according to Mr. Joe Judkins, manager. The last three chapters of the serial will be shown on those dates. Those who were keeping up with the story are especially invited to see it.

Cotton loans made by the Commodity Corporation on the 1940-41 crop in Texas amounted to $77,640,143.88. Of this amount $28,476,125.98 has been repaid on April 14, and loans outstanding on that date aggregated $49,164,017.90.

It is estimated that if terracing needed on farms in the United States were done it would call for moving as much earth as in the digging of 40 Panama Canals.

H. S. Romance Climaxed By Wedding Sunday

The marriage last Sunday morning of Miss Nova Lee Groom and Eldon Mahon culminated a romance that started when both were students in Loraine High School. Both were graduated in the class of '36.

The wedding took place at the Methodist Church Sunday morning at nine o'clock with Rev. J. E. Shewbert reading the ceremony from a pulpit that was profusely decorated with pot plants and cut flowers. The wedding was attended only by relatives and neighbors of the families.

The bride and groom entered when Melba Mahon, sister of the groom, played the wedding march. They were attended by Royce Mahon and Nina Pearl Groom, brother and sister of the bride and groom. Mrs. Joe Pea of Abilene sang "I Love You Truly". The bride wore a white dress trimmed in black and the groom wore conventional blue.

Immediately after the ceremony the couple left for a short trip to the Davis Mountains. They will return to Loraine Wednesday or Thursday for a few days before leaving for Carlsbad, New Mexico, where Mr. Mahon has employment as a Ranger for the summer.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Groom of the Lone Star Community. She graduated from high school here in 1936, attended nurses training school at Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene where she graduated last year. Recently she has been employed as a nurse in a Mineral Wells Hospital.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Mahon of Loraine. He also attended school here and graduated in 1936. He attended McMurry College at Abilene for two years before going to Texas University where he is studying law. He plans to return to school this fall and will receive his law degree next spring.

Rattlesnakes Bite Man 4 Times

The clear-headedness and quick thinking of Buck Greer of Colorado City, electrical maintenance supervisor for the Shell Pipe Line corporation's West Texas-New Mexico area, was credited Thursday with the fact that O. K. Baker, Shell Oil Co. employee of Midland, is recovering in a Seymour hospital from four rattlesnake bites received while working on a pipe line near Bomarton Wednesday morning.

Bitten on the ankle by one snake, Baker fell into a den and was bitten three more times. Geer produced the snake bite kit which his company requires him to carry, applied tourniquets above all the bites except one on Baker's cheek, and proceeded to cut crosses and draw blood with a suction device which is part of the kit. Then he rushed Baker 20 miles to a Seymour hospital where serum was administered. Doctors there called Geer's work "a good job".

Final Date Set To Sign Cotton Supplement Program

College Station, June 1.—June 14 is the last day on which Texas cotton farmers planning to earn cotton order stamps can sign their intention to participate forms.

B. F. Vance, state AAA officer in charge, points out that producers failing to sign will not be eligible to earn cotton stamps or to earn food production and storage payments under the AAA program, he said.

The supplementary cotton program, a joint effort of three agencies of the United States Department of Agriculture—the Texas A. & M. College Extension Service, the Surplus Market Administration and the Agricultural Adjustment Administration—is designed to encourage voluntary reduction in the acreage planted to cotton in 1941 by payment of cotton stamps to farm on which such reduction is made. The stamps can be exchanged for finished cotton goods. Under the supplementary program, farmers on those farms qualifying for cotton stamps, can each earn an additional $3 payment for meeting specified food production and storage practices.

No extension of the closing date will be made, Vance said, since by that time, most of the cotton in Texas will have been planted.

Recruiting Marine Officer In Colorado City

Word has just been received from the Dallas Recruiting office of the U. S. Marines, that a Recruiting officer will visit the Post Offices in the following named places on the dates indicated, to examine applicants for enlistment in the Marine Corps: Sweetwater, Monday June 9th; Colorado City, Tuesday June 10th; Big Spring, Wednesday and Thursday, June 11th and 12th.

The age limit for the Marine Corps has been lowered from 18 to 17 years, and any young man who has reached his 17th birthday may now voluntarily enlist in the Marine Corps Reserve for the duration of the national emergency only. Previously enlistments in the Reserve were for four years. It is well worth the time of any young man between the ages of 17 and 30 years who is single, with no dependents, to investigate the opportunities offered by the Marine Corps, and now is the time to act. The Recruiting officer will be glad to answer any questions about the Marine Corps and this does not obligate you in any way. Many changes have been made in recent weeks and enlistment requirements have been altered accordingly. Further information may be had by applying at the Post Offices in the above named places.

Hay or dry bundle feed should be kept within reach of dairy cows while they are on young green grass.

Hugh Elliott is visiting his sister, Mrs. Clarence Williams, at Tahoka this week.

The meeting is open to the general public and merchants are invited to attend as well as the Stamp Plan Committee on the stamp program.

This is a very important meeting for all concerned, and interested to County Agent J. W. Williams.

Norris, superintendent of Divide School, will be in charge of activities; Raymond Upham of Midland will be in charge of safety instruction; Ed Pondergrass and corps of life savers, will teach and administer a program of swimming. The camp will not accommodate over 100.

U. S. Plan for Hemisphere Defense Is Charted by President's Message Proclaiming Full National Emergency; Loss of Big Ships Highlights Sea Battle

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.) (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

PLEDGE:
From FDR

The war course of the United States was more firmly charted by President Roosevelt's "fireside chat," yet the reactions abroad were considered as more important than that at home, enthusiastic though it was.

For the President went "all-out" on the diplomatic limb for a victory for Britain and China, pledging a continuance of United States' aid to the embattled democracies, and promising wider action when and if needed.

The speech was believed to have settled the convoy question, the strike issue, the use of the navy in furtherance of a British victory, many other questions which had kept the people of this country in a nightmarish condition of not knowing "what was coming next."

Virtually all of the American editorial comment was favorable, though many of the editorial writers took the stand that succeeding events would show how much of the President's talk was words—how much would be backed by action.

Night following Mr. Roosevelt's speech, Sen. Burton K. Wheeler of Montana took the radio to inform the nation regarding the stand of the opposition to the President's policies. He asked the President for a new "pledge of peace."

Rome newspapers cut the Gordian knot and stated that the U. S. "was virtually in the war." German press took a more literal view of the President's speech, referred only to his "freedom of the seas" dictum, called the United States a nation attempting to be dictator of the seas.

German government sources said: "Our ships have been ordered to continue the blockade of Britain, to sink all ships coming within the combat zones, and these orders have not been rescinded and will not be."

Lease-lend ships had been sunk, and there was no question about it,

VICHY:
Active Again

That Vichy was implementing her German aid was seen in British dispatches which told of the sinking of two French flag vessels in the Mediterranean, one of them a 5,000-ton tanker loaded with oil and headed for Tripoli.

At the same time the British reported the sinking of an 18,000-ton Axis liner, presumably Italian, carrying 3,000 German troops to the same destination.

These dispatches pointed, disquietingly enough, to proof of one of two things, possibly of both. Either there was being planned a strong increase in the battle of North Africa, or the Germans were moving in force to Dakar to create a strong base there.

Either of these was disquieting enough, particularly the latter, from the American point of view, but the main thing was that it showed definitely that Vichy was becoming active again, this time plainly on the German side.

AMBASSADOR WINANT
His recall was "just part of it."

It was brought to the fore again questions about the mystery of Weygand, where he was, what he was doing, what manner of man he might be. Defections of French troops to the British standard in the Near East—and crossings of the Syrian boundary by various groups to the Free French forces of De Gaulle were in the reports, lending color to the British claim that the Gallian government was about to fall.

The Italians were getting nowhere in their general retreat in Ethiopia, and division after division was surrendering. But in spite of all this news, it was evident that the Petain government, possibly now dominated by Laval and Darlan or one of them, was getting more and more involved in the whole African and Near East campaign.

This might have far-reaching effects, not only on the present situation, but on the future disposition of national power after the war should be ended. Particularly would it affect the diplomatic interchanges going on between Vichy and the United States.

The sudden recall of Ambassador Winant to Washington for a conference with the President and the cabinet was just part of it. Vichy was in the midst of all that was moving on the continent, like a volcano emitting smoke after a long quiescent period.

SHIP:
For Ship

Down to the bottom of the Atlantic ocean went H. M. S. Hood, 42,100 tons, with about 1,300 men aboard, victim of an "unlucky hit" from the 15-inch guns of the Reich's great battleship Bismarck.

Three days later, down to the bottom of the same Atlantic went the Bismarck, victim of a "lucky hit" on her propellers from a British torpedo plane.

But the whole Bismarck story, observers generally felt, might change, if it had not already changed, the whole story of naval warfare. It brought the airplane into new prominence, and showed that this arm of present-day navies had not been given the notice it deserved.

Indeed, the plane-battleship controversy got a sharper answer during the past few weeks from the Hood-Bismarck battle and the Cretan encounter of the Mediterranean British fleet with the Stukas than it had thus far in the war.

In both of these battles the planes gave a good account of themselves. The British admitted the loss of two cruisers and four destroyers, in the battle of Crete, and while the ships of war prevented any ship-crossing to the island, it was at terrific cost.

It is true that planes cost a good deal, but it takes around a million dollars to build a destroyer, and anywhere from 10 to 30 millions for a bigger cruiser, and those millions lost in the Crete battle would have bought even more than the "hundreds" of Stukas engaged, and only relatively few of which were lost.

Washington Digest
High Wages, Crop Loans Threaten Cost of Living

Price Control Measures Considered Likely; 'Peace-Lovers' Picket White House; Hull Reveals Post War Plans.

By BAUKHAGE
National Farm and Home Hour Commentator.

WNU Service, 1343 H Street, Washington, D. C.

Dollars! At last they are beginning to worry Washington. Not the ones going out of the treasury—we can take that in our stride. But the ones rolling into pay envelopes and starting to burst forth again in such excitement that everybody is afraid that the noise is going to scare prices up a tall tree.

Wages today are the highest in history. And as one official remarked to me: "If something isn't done we'll have inflation and a slump that will be streamlined. It will make the old-model T depression back again."

Some people put the blame other places but this is the story that friends of the administration tell.

Leon Henderson, price czar, hoped to keep prices from running away by using moral suasion or legal effort to keep industrial prices from going beyond a certain level. There were two reasons for that: to get down costs in essential defense commodities; to control prices on basic materials like steel which always take other costs up when they rise themselves.

Next, to achieve a balance between agricultural prices and others, the government would support farm prices up to a certain point. Lastly, a certain amount of elasticity in wages would be allowed in order to prevent strikes.

But what happened?

Workers demanded, and as I stated, are getting, the highest wages in history. Workers wanted to get their slice of the money the government is spending on defense.

Then the friends of the farmer came along. They said the farmer might as well cut a melon, too, while the cutting was good. And so congress voted an increase in crop loan rates, which the President said might push certain products above parity.

And so the result is more dollars for the consumer to spend and less things for him to spend them on, especially since the defense industries have to beat their sewing machines into tanks and the like.

When the demand is big enough and the supply is small enough it takes all the king's horses and all the king's men to keep prices down. You can't repeal the law of supply and demand. However, the prospects are that congress will be asked at least to try to amend it. In other words some drastic price control measures will be taken. A flat ceiling will be established for certain goods and then, unless a method is adopted for getting folks to lock up those extra dollars with no place to go, nobody knows what will happen.

Two hours later a philosophical Communist friend was sniffing at it as we walked past the treasury building. "Back to the old order," he said contemptuously.

Half an hour later a genial conservative was laughing at it—"Give me good high tariffs," he said, as if he were contemplating a slice of juicy roast beef.

Perhaps, as an old-style bourgeois, I should have agreed with that, but I am a bourgeois, new style. I don't know anything about economics but I know what I like—I like to think that Secretary of State Hull is right when he says that the seeds of war take root behind artificial barriers which keep people from getting their share of the earth's bounty.

Five Points in Program. Mr. Hull's program is the one he has lived by since his early days in congress and the "five points" which he outlined to the world are his credo—no extreme nationalism which would enforce excessive trade restrictions; non-discrimination in international trade relations; raw materials of the world available to all nations; international agreements to protect the consumer countries and the people; international financial run so that all countries can develop their essential enterprises.

If these conditions were explained to the middle-class people of the world today, in Britain and Germany, in France and Italy, in terms of the kind of life Mr. Hull believes his plan would bring, and if those people could be convinced that such a plan would be carried out, I'd wager they would turn their guns and battle for these five points under any honest leader.

Unfortunately there were, once upon a time, 14 points which Woodrow Wilson offered as the basis of peace in 1918. And all those little points were broken off short by the gentlemen in Paris who thought they had a better scheme.

They made a peace which we learned to our sorrow, was just a "thing of shreds and patches."

Man Is Self-Conscious. Next was a serious-looking, average man in glasses. He was the only one who looked at me a little self-consciously. He carried a banner with the commonplace request to "join the peace movement."

There were others but by this time I was feeling a little self-conscious myself, so I grinned at the policemen and they grinned back. There were two of them guarding the pickets who had been attacked at least twice by overpatriotic soldiers. Two more bluecoats stood at the White House gates for when there are demonstrations no one can enter the grounds without proper identification. As I went in I heard one of them reporting at the call-box "everything going fine out here."

But I wondered.

Hull Tells Plans For Post War Peace. Just a simple bourgeois, I. A thing of shreds and patches. Of fiscal bumps and scratches. And monthly bills to pay.

With apologies to Gilbert and Sullivan, I modernize Nanki-Pooh from the Mikado hoping there will be no reprisals. For sometimes I think it is time the bourgeois who seem to be so unpopular (until the guns begin to shoot and the taxes are levied) deserve a word or two.

And so on one Washington summer day recently when I was wakened by the birdsong in the neighboring invisible elms I had a surprise that pleased me. As I opened the door and reached for the milk, the morning papers and the rent bill, my sleep-dimmed eye caught a cheering headline:

HULL DEFINES OUR POST-WAR PROGRAM
WANTS RAW MATERIALS TRADE FOR ALL

That was the first hopeful message for the average guy, that my weary eye had met in a long time. You may recall that in this year of our discontent, one of these columns began this way: "There is a peace-machine in Washington, all oiled and ready to start the moment the last gun is silenced in Europe. From it may come a plan which the democracies can offer to the world as an alternative to the totalitarian way of life."

And at last the good, gray and stubborn gentleman in the state department trotted it out to hold up to the struggling world; a promise instead of a threat, a hope instead of a sneer.

Two hours later a philosophical Communist friend was sniffing at it as we walked past the treasury building. "Back to the old order," he said contemptuously.

Half an hour later a genial conservative was laughing at it—"Give me good high tariffs," he said, as if he were contemplating a slice of juicy roast beef.

Perhaps, as an old-style bourgeois, I should have agreed with that, but I am a bourgeois, new style. I don't know anything about economics but I know what I like—I like to think that Secretary of State Hull is right when he says that the seeds of war take root behind artificial barriers which keep people from getting their share of the earth's bounty.

Five Points in Program. Mr. Hull's program is the one he has lived by since his early days in congress and the "five points" which he outlined to the world are his credo—no extreme nationalism which would enforce excessive trade restrictions; non-discrimination in international trade relations; raw materials of the world available to all nations; international agreements to protect the consumer countries and the people; international financial run so that all countries can develop their essential enterprises.

If these conditions were explained to the middle-class people of the world today, in Britain and Germany, in France and Italy, in terms of the kind of life Mr. Hull believes his plan would bring, and if those people could be convinced that such a plan would be carried out, I'd wager they would turn their guns and battle for these five points under any honest leader.

Unfortunately there were, once upon a time, 14 points which Woodrow Wilson offered as the basis of peace in 1918. And all those little points were broken off short by the gentlemen in Paris who thought they had a better scheme.

They made a peace which we learned to our sorrow, was just a "thing of shreds and patches."

Man Is Self-Conscious. Next was a serious-looking, average man in glasses. He was the only one who looked at me a little self-consciously. He carried a banner with the commonplace request to "join the peace movement."

There were others but by this time I was feeling a little self-conscious myself, so I grinned at the policemen and they grinned back. There were two of them guarding the pickets who had been attacked at least twice by overpatriotic soldiers. Two more bluecoats stood at the White House gates for when there are demonstrations no one can enter the grounds without proper identification. As I went in I heard one of them reporting at the call-box "everything going fine out here."

But I wondered.

Hull Tells Plans For Post War Peace. Just a simple bourgeois, I. A thing of shreds and patches. Of fiscal bumps and scratches. And monthly bills to pay.

With apologies to Gilbert and Sullivan, I modernize Nanki-Pooh from the Mikado hoping there will be no reprisals. For sometimes I think it is time the bourgeois who seem to be so unpopular (until the guns begin to shoot and the taxes are levied) deserve a word or two.

And so on one Washington summer day recently when I was wakened by the birdsong in the neighboring invisible elms I had a surprise that pleased me. As I opened the door and reached for the milk, the morning papers and the rent bill, my sleep-dimmed eye caught a cheering headline:

HULL DEFINES OUR POST-WAR PROGRAM
WANTS RAW MATERIALS TRADE FOR ALL

That was the first hopeful message for the average guy, that my weary eye had met in a long time. You may recall that in this year of our discontent, one of these columns began this way: "There is a peace-machine in Washington, all oiled and ready to start the moment the last gun is silenced in Europe. From it may come a plan which the democracies can offer to the world as an alternative to the totalitarian way of life."

COTTON INSECT CONTROL

EVER YCOTTON FARMER
NEEDS A DUSTING
MACHINE

The cotton dusting machine is now an essential part of cotton farming equipment. It is just as important to keep the cotton field free of insects as it is to keep it free of weeds. Good farmers never allow weeds to take their cotton crop, and now the efficient means of controlling insects, farmers can not allow cotton pests to destroy the crop. Since the spraying process only controls the leaf worm, it is now obsolete and is giving way to the dusting process which is the only known method of controlling the principal cotton insects, including the pink boll worm. Certain insects are worse some years than others, but the cot-

INFANTILE PARALYSIS WORSE IN SUMMER

Austin, Texas, June 3, 1941—Infantile paralysis can be expected to occur more frequently during the next three months declared Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state Health Officer. "This disease is always more frequent during the hot months."

"The germ responsible for infantile paralysis is so small that it escapes detection even with the most powerful microscopes. The first symptoms are usually vomiting, headache, fever, stiffness of the neck, pain in the legs irritability and drowsiness. Complete recovery may follow such an illness. In more severe cases, the germ penetrates the nervous system, resulting in paralysis of nerves controlling one or more groups of muscles. Some remarkable recoveries have been noted."

"Flies or other insects have been demonstrated to play a part in the spread of this disease. Infection spreads from person to person with the droplets attending coughing and sneezing. Children and grown people who are healthy may be carriers of the germs, when present in epidemic form, about one child in each hundred is likely to suffer an attack."

"Early recognition and diagnosis are essential. The use of immune serum may be a factor in preventing paralysis. A period of complete rest is essential for muscles that are affected. If parents note any symptoms of illness in their children, the family doctor should be consulted at once."

ton flea hopper does considerable damage every year. This ever presence of the flea hopper justifies some dusting practically every season, so it is to be expected that, eventually, every cotton raiser will, of necessity, own a dusting machine. With present prospects for both a good crop and good price, why not get that dusting machine this year?

SWIMMER, GET THAT SUN-TAN GRADUALLY!

Washington, D. C.—With the opening of the water sports season at hand, the American Red Cross warns enthusiasts that short cuts in acquiring a deep suntan may result in unwelcome consequences.

This year, upwards of 80,000,000 persons will take to the water—for a swim, boat ride or to test their skill with rod and will join in the growing fad of sunbathing in private gardens and apartment house roofs, all of which points to a busy season for self-styled experts on how to acquire mahogany tan in three days.

The Red Cross warns there is no short cut for the swimmer who wants to match the tan of the lifeguard he saw at the beach over the weekend. Some tan quickly others don't, and there is little that can be done about it. Skin textures and pigments vary in such range that sun exposure, practically harmless to one person may result in calling a physician of another.

Sun-bathers, should be their own judges of "how they can take it," the Red Cross stresses, the first evidence of redness should be a warning to get out of the sun or cover up, a freshly mixed five percent solution of tannic acid, or tannic acid in ointment form should be standard equipment for the vacationist or week-end.

Applications of tannic acid in these forms prior to exposure to the sun in some cases serves as protection to a certain degree tending to toughen the skin. The Red Cross warns however this treatment varies in effectiveness with the person. Harmful effects. Delayed and improper treatment may result in an interrupted vacation. If your skin is such that it doesn't tan, cut your time in the sun to a minimum.

HAPPENINGS AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH

Many of our people were absent Sunday for one reason or another. It cut our Sunday school attendance and the offering suffered but I hope that we will consider these things next Sunday. These months are the months that we need to be faithful to God, our church, and considerate to each other.

Next Sunday there is a great treat in store for you. Bro. Earl Landrop, pastor at Lorenzo, will preach for you. Most, if not all, know him he has preached for us before. You will enjoy him this time. He is one of our best young preachers. The pastor will consider a personal favor if you will be in all the services next Sunday.

Mrs. Godfrey and I are in Fort Worth this week until Thursday attending the Evangelistic conference at the Seminary. We will return Thursday morning, then I will go Friday to Post to help Cone Merritt in a revival meeting with the Calvary Baptist Church. Pray for us. Mrs. Godfrey will visit in Lubbock while I am in the meeting.

On Sunday morning, June 15, the ladies of the church will put on a program. It will be a good program so don't fail to hear it.

DAIRY COW IS REPLACING KING COTTON

Houston, Texas, May 30.—Bossy, the milk cow, is roaming far and wide over Texas acres that used to be the domain of King Cotton.

And because of her numbers and growing importance, National Dairy Month will mean more to Texas this year than it ever meant before, it was said today by B. E. Stallones, chairman of the Texas Dairy Month Committee.

"The dairy industry has never before been as important as it is this year," Stallones asserted.

"The increase in the growth of Texas cities has brought new dependence of food products of the farm. The national defense program, with its vast military camps, has called attention to the needs for health-giving foods. "And Texas' great shift from cotton production to the production of foods has greatly increased the number of dairy herds in the state."

"For these various reasons Texas farmers, chain stores and independent merchants are putting increased emphasis on National Dairy Month, which will be observed during June. Dairy Month was organized as a means of calling the consuming public attention to the economy and high food values of milk and milk products. Texas always has participated in it, but this year the state has a greater stake in it than ever before, and this is recognized by variety store, grocery stores and others who sell milk products for home use or at lunch counters."

It is only in recent years that dairying has become a major

HOG SHIPMENTS MAKE RECORD IN APRIL

Austin, Texas, June 1.—A gain of 31-per cent in hog shipments over a year earlier marked April records of livestock movements from Texas ranches to interstate points and the Fort Worth stockyards, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports. A total of 756 cars were shipped.

Total livestock shipments declined 4 per cent, to 9,616 carloads. Cattle fell off 413 cars to 6,540; calves, 20 cars to 813; sheep, 258 cars to 541.

BUYS LAUNDRY

E. O. Leggett has purchased the Roman Laundry from Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bomar and will continue to operate it in connection with his cleaning and pressing business.

Industry in Texas. Until after the first World War dairying was on a local basis, with milk cream butter, and ice cream being the only important products. But the 1940 census showed a vast increase in the value of dairy products in Texas, with manufactured products such as cheese, ice cream, evaporated milk and creamery butter amounting in 1939 to more than $27,000,000.

Stallones, president of the South Texas Producers Association, was named chairman of the Texas Dairy Month Committee at a recent meeting of South Texas dairymen. The committee will work with the National Milk Producers Federation which organized National Dairy Month with the cooperation of restaurants, chain stores, independent merchants, dairies and other outlets for dairy products.

EGGS NEED GOOD CARE

College Station, June 1.—Good care of eggs on the farm will be making a valuable contribution to the food-for-defense program. George P. McCarthy, Extension poultry husbandman, says careful handling means more eggs for defense food supplies and additional income for poultry producers.

But care of the finished product is only a part of the poultryman's job. Proper quality food for producing quality eggs is just as important.

Efficient egg production, McCarthy says, is influenced by the amount of feed it is possible to induce each laying hen to eat daily. Normally one hen will eat about 80 pounds of feed a year, approximately half of which should be mash and one half grain for best results.

Egg mash, or laying mash, is the important portion of the feed for hens that are expected to lay. Laying mash is a combination of feeds which are high in protein and other ingredients essential for keeping the hens in good health, as well as for producing a maximum number of eggs.

Laying mash must constitute one half, or 40 pounds, of the yearly ration. The usual mixtures for laying rations comprise 100 pounds protein supplement and 200 pounds of ground home-grown grains to make a suitable mash mixture. The grains may be corn, maize, or hedges in combination with oats.

Under average feeding only 40 pounds of home produced grain is fed but with the use of supplements and home grains in the mash, 2-3 of the mash is of home-grown grains. This will make approximately 68 lbs of home produced grain fed to each hen yearly.

One hundred laying hens will consume about 3 1-3 tons of home grown grains a year, McCarthy adds. If the net income from the flock is figured on the basis of increased return from home produced grain, the producer will find that he sold his

USO DRIVE ON

E. B. GERMANY

As Southwestern chairman of the United Service Organizations for National Defense, E. B. Germany of Dallas is regional director of the nation-wide campaign to provide recreational and welfare facilities for soldiers, sailors, and defense workers.

Endorsed by the President and Army and Navy officials, the USO expects to raise $10,765,000 to operate service establishments built by the Government. Texas' quota is $400,000, and committees appointed to raise this fund began their drive officially June 3 in every Texas county.

Mr. Germany urged all citizens to contact local USO workers and participate in this patriotic campaign.

TIME TO PLANT SUMMER VEGETABLES

College Station, June 1.—It is time to plant summer vegetables which will stand heat and drought.

It would be well, cautions J. F. Rosborough, extension horticulturist, to check gardens for the following summer vegetable list: Cream peas, tender green mustard, summer leaf lettuce, okra, bell pepper, egg plant, lima beans, Fordhook squash, Caslan pole beans and cushaws. These vegetables may be planted at present in most areas of Texas to provide the table with fresh, vegetables throughout the hot months.

In addition, says Rosborough, every farm should have a small patch of cantaloupes and watermelons. For home use, the Hale's Best and Perfecton are good varieties for the former. The Cuban Queen, Halbert Honey and stone mountain would be the choice of high quality water melons.

In some areas where moisture is amule, Honey June sweet corn may be planted to provide late roasting ears. It should be remembered, however, that corn ear worms are apt to damage late ripening ears, but if they are dusted with lead arsenate or calcium arsenate as the silk is forming, much damage will be prevented.

HOW TO EAT TO FIGHT FOLD BY FOOD EXPERT

Answering President Roosevelt's appeal for improved diet, Albertine Berry of Dallas, home economics director for Lone Star Gas System and home service chairman for American Gas Association, suggests ways by which food and cooking advisors can strengthen a fighting nation. To obtain high food value menus at minimum cost planning proper buying of foods purchasing from reliable food sources, protection of food by proper storage and what foods are available and the best ways of preparing them.

She listed the following as a typical high food value menu at comparatively low cost. Breakfast—baked pears, fried mush, margarine, cane syrup, not milk, coffee, cream, sugar.

Lunch—cream potato soup, raw carrots, crisp toast, margarine, bread pudding with raisins.

Dinner—Stew of beef, potatoes, carrots and onions; cabbage slaw topped with dressing of salt, sugar, milk and vinegar; whole wheat bread, margarine.

Cox and Dr. J. M. Coleman of the State Department of Health, Austin; Dr. Ercel Eppright of the home economics faculty Texas State College for Women, Denton; and Ruth Huey, director of vocational homemaking for the State Department of Education. Miss Horton, Miss Camp, Dr. Eppright, and Miss Huey are members of the Texas State Nutrition Committee.

Miss Berry said the food dollar should be divided into five parts, with 15 cents for milk and cheese; 25 cents for vegetables and fruits; 20 cents for flour wheat corn meal, oats, rice, grits, bread and other grain foods; 20 cents for butter, lard, other fats, and sugar and molasses, and 20 cents for meat, fish and eggs. For a family with children the milk and cheese allotment should be increased 10 cents on the dollar, she said.

"Home service workers can cooperate with local, county state and Federal agencies in promoting better health through proper diet," she explained. "Any work that will build and keep the health of children—our nation of the future—is to be particularly recommended. Home service workers can help in the information on food and nutrition; (2) promotion of the use of surplus commodities by families needing and eligible to receive them; (3) assisting in planning for meals, cooked and served in school; and (4) interpreting home economics services to all income levels, especially for families of low incomes."

SAVING MONEY With Cotton Bags

Summer cottages may be charming. A great variety of articles especially suitable for the summer home can be made from used Cotton Bags. Use laundered Cotton Bags to make curtains. Trim them with applique or stencil designs or with a border of contrasting material. Sew small brass rings under pleats at the top to permit the curtains to be drawn to at night to avoid the need of window shades. Make pillows, table cloths, kitchen towels, hand towels, dusting cloths, etc. all from Cotton Bags. Any of these articles can be dyed or tinted to carry out a color scheme. The material in Cotton Bags is sturdy and closely woven and will stand the hard wear to which every article in the summer cottage is put.

Other Cotton Bag Sewing ideas are illustrated in a free booklet. Write to National Cotton Council, Box 18, Memphis, or Textile Bags, 100 N. LaSalle St., Chicago.

the ROAD AHEAD

Old Man Texas is today looking ahead and planning.

Beside the great farming and ranching country which Texans have built, he sees a new industrial empire here.

Already the start has been made. Some industries, such as petroleum, are now showing what can be done to utilize Texas' vast natural resources. Today this industry refines with Texas labor over four-fifths as much oil as the State produces. Its products make up nearly one-half of all Texas manufacturing. Altogether petroleum provides the living for almost one-sixth of our people.

But this is only a beginning.

Texas has many other raw materials, unexcelled by any other State. Texas has in oil and gas the cheap and dependable fuel supply essential to industry. Texas is the gateway to Latin America, our new foreign market.

Each new industry means more jobs. It makes added tax values for our State and local governments, bigger payrolls for our workers, and greater prosperity for you and every other Texan.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

There is nothing so handy in a kitchen as a shelf above the sink for soaps, etc.

A wire screen, galvanized steel or copper, can be fitted over the tops of roof gutters to keep out leaves and trash.

Common kerosene will cut the grease from the kitchen sink and remove that ring from the bath tub.

Offensive odors coming from sinks and drains can be eliminated by pouring in a strong solution of borax and hot water.

Glassware takes on the highest polish if dried directly from hot, clean suds without being rinsed.

When laundering clothes, don't use too much soap because water becomes so slippery that it "slides past" instead of penetrating the fabrics.

Covering uncooked meats placed in the refrigerator favors bacterial growth.

LESSON

BEGINNING OF WORLD MISSIONS

LESSON TEXT—Acts 12:25-13:12.
GOLDEN TEXT—And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature.—Mark 16:15.

Nineteen hundred years of "front line action" for Christ began that day in Antioch when the first missionaries of the cross were sent forth. There is no more thrilling story in all history than that of missions. The glorious thing is that it goes on year after year, and will do so as long as the Lord of the harvest continues to send forth workers.

The writer of these notes is glad to be associated with a training center which in its half century of operation has prepared for service about 2,300 men and women who have been sent to the foreign field by their churches and missions, and of whom approximately 1,600 are still active on the field in spite of "peril, toil and pain."

Our lesson teaches us how "to fight the good fight of faith" (I Tim. 6:12). First we must have

I. The Base of Operations (vv. 1-3).

Every army must have a home base; just so, the army of the Lord looks to the home church, the local gathering of God's people. An army would fail if that at the base of its action were asleep, or so interested in the pleasures of this world, or so indifferent to their responsibility, that they would not work hard in support of the active army. So the cause of Christian missions cannot go ahead if it has to depend on a home church which is spiritually asleep, indolent, indifferent, and worldly-minded.

The church at Antioch prayed and fasted. It ministered the Word of God. It was responsive to the guidance of the Holy Spirit and ready to sacrifice by giving its leaders to the missionary cause. Is your church that kind of a church? If not, why not?

Observe also that it is from such a church that God calls His workers. Sunday school teacher, you may have in your class next Sunday one of the missionary leaders of the next generation. See to it that the message from God reaches that heart.

II. Good Soldiers of the Cross (vv. 24).

The army does not call for the weak or physically handicapped to serve. Just so, God's service calls for the strongest men and women of the church, not the misfits or failures. A girl was once heard to remark: "If I can't get married, I will be a missionary." Fortunately for God's work, she did get married. Some men who cannot succeed in business think that means they should be missionaries.

God wants our best (Deut. 15:2) and He wants the best a church can give, which means the best spiritually, but in other ways as well. Note also in verses 3 and 4 that the messengers of the Lord must be constantly led of the Holy Spirit.

III. The Heat of Battle (vv. 5-10).

Warfare is not a Sunday school picnic. It is a hard, hot, and often a bloody conflict with the forces of the enemy. So the missionary of the cross must be prepared to meet Satan's opposition. Saul and Barnabas met this "son of the devil" (by the way, reader, we trust you do not belong to that family who opposed the work of grace which had begun in the heart of the governor (vv. 8-10)).

However, there are those who do seek to hear the Word of God (v. 7) as did Sergius Paulus. The business of the missionary is to preach to them, but not only to them; the city of Paphos was really a miniature of the world of that day. It was a Greek city of high culture and low morals; it was ruled by the Roman governor, a man of noble character and a "man of understanding" (v. 7). But right with him was Elymas the sorcerer, a wicked and ungodly Jew, a disgrace to his own people and a hindrance to the work of God. The messenger of God rejoices in the opportunity to minister the Word, whether to Roman, Jew, or Greek, of high or low estate, wicked or good, interested or antagonistic. They all need God's Word.

IV. Victory for Christ (vv. 11, 12).

The army goes into battle with the purpose of winning a victory, or it is defeated before it starts. The Lord's army, is, on a victorious march, certain of success, because He that is in us is "greater than he that is in the world" (I John 4:4).

In dealing with the sorcerer, Paul brought down the drastic judgment of God. Note that this was not done because Elymas opposed Paul, or because he had some different belief, but because he in his wickedness opposed God. Those who fight against God are in a losing battle; the victory is always on His side.

There was another kind of victory here, and the soldiers of the cross are (or should be) far more interested in that type of victory; namely, the surrender of a sinner at the foot of the cross. God won a victory in the heart of Sergius Paulus.

(See Recipes Below)

REFRESHMENTS PLUS!

Summer nears. You think of lots of things—new, crisp, cool clothes . . . vacation trips . . . gardening . . . and even parties, especially gay ones that call for a minimum of "home work."

I think I understand. You love to have people in your home. In spite of the warmness of June days, you want those of your friends who remain in town to drop by often for conversation, relaxation and refreshments. But, of course, you want what you serve to be easy to make, delicious, entirely different from anything that you've ever served before, and economical. In the last two of these points, I've found homemakers hold a unanimous opinion.

So today I'm going to give you what I think are ace-high ideas on easy entertaining. I'm sure you'll find the recipes worth trying.

Dessert bridge parties will do wonders to round up the "Mrs." crowd who feel free, after feeding hubby and the children, to don dress-up frocks and skip out for dessert and an afternoon of fun. If your friends don't play bridge, substitute another hobby, but the serving of dessert upon the arrival of guests can nevertheless be carried out.

Serving dessert when guests arrive gives the hostess lots of leeway. She doesn't have to keep in mind that her friends will be going home to dinner soon, as she does with later-on refreshments. And, she can provide a really filling dessert.

Pictured at the top of the column is a dessert which I'm sure will answer your desires. It's Tropical Gingerbread.

2 eggs
¾ cup brown sugar
¾ cup pure molasses
¾ cup melted shortening
2½ cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup boiling water
2 teaspoons ginger
1½ teaspoons cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt

Add beaten eggs to the sugar, molasses, and melted shortening; then add the dry ingredients which have been mixed and sifted, and lastly the hot water. Bake in small individual pans, or in a greased pan, in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 30 to 40 minutes. Top with whipped cream and sprinkle with shredded coconut.

With this dessert, you'll want to serve a beverage . . . coffee, tea or perhaps an iced drink of fresh fruit mixture.

Vanilla mousse is the basis for a number of appetizing desserts, and is a good party refreshment in itself. Among the many variations are peanut brittle and chocolate fudge mousses.

To make the vanilla mousse, fold one cup of confectioners' sugar and two teaspoons of vanilla into one quart of heavy cream that has been whipped. Fold in four egg whites which are stiffly beaten.

Spread the mousse into two large refrigerator ice trays and place in the freezing compartment of your refrigerator, or, freeze in your ice

LYNN SAYS:

In thinking of party foods, I remembered these few suggestions my mother passed on to me. Maybe you'll find them helpful.

To remove fecal meats whole, cover the shells with boiling water and let them stand until cold before cracking them.

Chocolate cakes usually call for unsweetened chocolate. This blends with the cake mixture much better. If it is cut in small pieces and melted, rather than grated.

Rhubarb juice is a good substitute for iced tea, as a basis for iced fruit drinks.

cream freezer. Allow three hours for the freezing. This recipe will yield two quarts of mousse.

For a crunchy surprise frozen dessert for your guests, serve peanut brittle mousse. To make it, crush ½ pound of peanut brittle with a rolling pin and fold into the vanilla mousse before it becomes solid (about 1½ hours).

If it's an extra-special party you're planning, I've included a special dessert-bridge menu in today's column.

You'll spend more hours in the kitchen preparing these particular foods, but they're so-o-o-o good that your guests' ohs and ahs will amply reward you for your efforts.

Cream Sponge Cake.

1 cup sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ cup cold water
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
2 egg yolks, unbeaten
¾ cup granulated sugar
2 egg whites, unbeaten
1 teaspoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons granulated sugar

Sift flour, baking powder, and salt together three times. Add water and lemon rind to egg yolks, and beat with rotary egg beater until light colored and at least tripled in volume. Add ¼ cup of granulated sugar, 2 tablespoons at a time, beating well with rotary beater after each addition; then add sifted dry ingredients, a small amount at a time, beating slowly and gently with rotary beater only enough to blend.

Beat egg whites until they form rounded mounds; when beater is raised; then add lemon juice and 2 tablespoons sugar, and continue beating until stiff enough to hold up in moist peaks. Fold into flour mixture. Pour into two ungreased 8-inch layer cake pans, stirring lightly while pouring. Bake in moderate oven of 350 degrees F. for 30 minutes. Remove from oven, and invert on rack until cakes are cold. Fill with Orange Chiffon Cake Filling according to directions below.

Orange Chiffon Cake.

2 8-inch Cream Sponge Cake Layers
1 envelope plain, unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
4 eggs separated
¾ cup granulated sugar
¾ cup orange juice
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon grated orange rind

Make and bake the Cream Sponge Cake Layers, following the recipe.

Meanwhile, soak gelatin in cold water 5 minutes. Place beaten egg yolks, 6 tablespoons sugar, orange and lemon juices, and salt in double boiler. Cook while stirring until like custard. Add gelatin, and stir until dissolved. Remove from heat, stir in orange rind, and chill. When mixture begins to thicken, fold in meringue made by beating egg whites until frothy, but not dry, and folding in 6 tablespoons sugar gradually, while continuing to beat until stiff. Prepare cake layers for the filling by placing one layer on a cake plate; make collar of double waxed paper about 3 inches high to fit tightly around edge of cake; secure with pins or paper clips. Pour orange filling over the top of this layer; top with second cake layer; then place in refrigerator to chill until set. Before serving, remove waxed-paper collar from cake. To add finishing touch to top of cake, place lace-paper doily over top layer, sift confectioners' sugar over it, and remove doily carefully to preserve design.

Star Dust

By VIRGINIA VALE
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

GRETA GARBO has not only acquired a new hair-do for her next appearance on the screen—she's to have a new tint as well. It's a special one concocted for her by Sydney Guilaroff, Metro hair-dresser, and he has named it "Moonlight Blonde."

As for the hair-do, it's Napoleonic—a fringe, with a soft point in the back, and "a studied shagginess characterizing the whole coiffure, complete even to forelock"; there's also the influence of the Botticelli paintings, shown in a cap of short curls.

Tim Holt, young star of RKO Westerns, and his father, Jack Holt, will be seen together with Victor McLaglen and Edmund Lowe in the RKO production, "The Marines Are Ready." They'll appear as father and son for the second time on the screen.

The first time was 12 years ago, when Tim, a boy of 10, played the son in his father's starring vehicle, "Vanishing Pioneers." Tim is also a skilled polo player.

Between the scenes in the houseboat dining salon that you'll see in Paramount's "Nothing But the Truth," Bob Hope, Edward Arnold, Lief Erikson and Glenn Anders were amusing themselves by filling the crystal goblets to different levels with water, then playing chimes on them with silver spoons. The prop man nearly had a fit—seems the glasses were part of a dinner service worth more than $2,000.

"Send over to my house for something less expensive," urged Hope. "Our goblets are cottage-cheese glasses!"

Years ago Ruby Keeler was famous on Broadway for her dancing, in the days before she married Al Jolson. On the screen she danced along with other people; now she'll dance alone for the first time in pictures in a musical, "Sweetheart of the Campus," in which she shares top honors with Harriet Hilliard, Gordon Oliver, and Ozzie Nelson and his orchestra. Miss Keeler was a star at the Texas-Guinan night club when a lad named George Raft used to stop the show with a skating Charleston.

Charles Boyer finished his work in Paramount's "Hold Back the Dawn" and took a train for the East; after a week's vacation he planned to go to Montreal, where he will do a series of plays in French, proceeds going to British war relief funds.

Virginia Weidler's become soloist with a band; she's spending all her time between her scenes in "Barnacle Bill" practicing in her dressing room. The band belongs to her three brothers, and has made a name for itself playing at country club dances.

Larry Parks, young Group Theater actor, played the Robert Montgomery part in tests with other actors seeking the starring role in "Heaven Can Wait"; as a result he'll have a featured part in the forthcoming Paul Kelly-Lola Lane "Mystery Ship."

If you've seen "The Lady Eve" you'll remember those slapstick falls of Henry Fonda's long after you forgot the plot of the picture. Preston Sturges, who wrote and directed the picture, is also responsible for "Sullivan's Travels"—and he started right off by dropping Joel McCrea from a rope's end into a barrel of water. Furthermore, McCrea had to wear a tramp's rags and a five-day beard. Veronica Lake is McCrea's co-star in this newest of the Sturges comedies. They say it will be as funny as "The Lady Eve."

Marlene Dietrich has selected the five men who, she says, have the most "womanpower"—she doesn't say what she means by that, except that it's the opposite of "manpower." Anyway, here's the list—Clark Gable, Orson Welles, Ernest Hemingway, Erich Maria Remarque and Howard Hughes.

ODDS AND ENDS—Olivia de Havilland and George Raft are Warner Bros. star selections for "All Through the Night" . . . Olivia's sister, Joan Fontaine, has recovered from the flu and gone back to work as Cary Grant's co-star in RKO's "Before the Fact" . . . When he finishes "Bullets for O'Hara" Roger Pryor will tour the nation's draft camps with an orchestra . . . Joan Crawford gives what's probably the best dramatic performance of her career in "A Woman's Face" . . . Metro's operatic star, Risa (Reese) Stevens, doesn't think her name unusual—her mother's is Sarah.

YOUTHS ARE WANTED FOR THE U. S. MARINES

Although the U. S. Marines are offering young men an opportunity to enlist in the Marine Corps reserve, for the duration of the national emergency only, the larger percentage of them are enlisting in the regular Marine Corps for a period of four years, Major J. D. O'Leary, Recruiting Chief of the Dallas Recruiting District, stated today. Since the lowering of the minimum age limit from 18 to 17 years, last month, many young men of 17 have taken advantage of this opportunity of enlisting in the Marines. However, Major O'Leary pointed out, while many more would like to enlist, their parents will not sign their consent papers, which is required for men who have not reached their 21st birthday. This is understandable, the Major said, but it is still a fact that the young fellows make the best soldiers. The parents of all young men who are interested in the Marine Corps, are particularly invited to visit their nearest Marine Corps recruiting station and let the recruiting officer explain the many advantages offered.

An unlimited number of vacancies still exist for enlistment. Marine Corps recruiting station in the Dallas District are located in Dallas, Abilene, Fort Worth, Tyler and Waco, Texas.

J. A. Crosby was on the sick list last week after returning from a trip to Eastland County for a visit with his son and family.

Ruby Jo Marshall, who has been attending McMurry College, is at home for the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Marshall.

These Boy Scouts using the revised "Handbook for Boys" with a new cover by Norman Rockwell, are among the 9,600,000 Scouts and Leaders in America who, since 1910, have found the volume a friend and helpful partner. In 31 years, 6,900,000 copies have been used. The revised edition also contains a color supplement on the Flag Code, Scout Uniforms and Insignia, space for a Scout's personal record of progress, and the Scout Oath and Law. Used by Scouts and non-Scouts alike, the Handbook contains valuable material on first aid, camping, cooking, pioneering, health, safety as well as many phases of nature study.

REQUIREMENTS LOWERED TO ENLIST IN NAVY

Lowering of physical requirements for enlistment in all classes of the Naval Reserve, except for commission rank, will permit enlistment of many men who have previously been rejected for the regular Navy or Naval Reserve, Navy recruiting officers at Abilene, Texas announced today.

Minimum height for Naval Reserve enlistment has been reduced to 62 inches, regardless of age. Former minimum was 63 inches if between seventeen and eighteen birthdates, and 64 inches for all others.

All previous weight and chest minimums have been suspended with the provision that the applicant for enlistment must be well proportioned and muscular. Eighteen sound and vital teeth may now get an applicant past the examining medical officer who previously demanded that he have 20 sound teeth.

No changes were announced for physical requirements for enlistment in the regular Navy or Classes V-5 and V-7 of the Naval Reserve leading to commissioned rank.

Age limits for enlistment in the Naval Reserve are from 17 to 50 years with beginning pay ranging from $21.00 to $99.00 per month, depending upon recruits qualifications, while on active duty. Those enlisted should expect immediate orders to active duty and to be released from active duty after national emergency or war as soon as their services can be spared, recruiting officers said.
