China Rejects U. S. Protest On Shooting

Nationalists To Mine Red-Held Ports; American Firm Plans To Run Blockade

By GEORGE DURNO
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—The Chinese Nationalist government today rejected U. S. demands that it stop firing on American ships and announced that China ports will be mined Wednesday to prevent trading with the Communists.

The State department promptly relayed this information to all American shipping companies but the Isbrandtsen line defiantly announced it intends to run the Nationalist blockade again with the merchantman Flying Cloud.

Firm Is Defiant

Thus, the situation was presented of the U. S. government twice warning American shipping to stay out of Shanghai in particular, and a New York firm which, denied naval escort, still intends to trade with the Communists.

There were these other developments in the China crisis:

1. British Foreign Minister Bevin was reported in London to have protested verbally to the Chinese ambassador over the announcement that the Communist-held ports will be mined.

2. A foreign office spokesman said the mine laying plan has increased British irritation and is likely to remove all British sympathy for the Nationalists and quicken London's recognition of the Reds.

3. The Nationalists claimed their troops supported by airmen recaptured Kunming, capital of southwestern Yunnan province, and a former American base city.

Announced In Hong Kong

Word of the Nationalist deadline for mining ports on Wednesday was announced in Hong Kong and was not contained in the delayed answer to the State department protest over the shelling of U. S. ships.

The note, dated Dec. 12, indicated, however, that such action was planned and warned American vessels not to enter the China waters. It said:

"Ever since the proclamation of the closure of the designated ports in territorial waters the Chinese government has time and again advised the various foreign governments that foreign vessels shall assume their own responsibilities for any consequences in case of the violation of this (blockade) order.

"With a view to tightening this order, henceforth the Chinese government will take such effective means as may be deemed necessary.

"Any foreign vessels which, in violation of this order, should hit

Adm. Denfeld Rejects Post

By JAMES LEE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Admiral Louis E. Denfeld, who was fired as chief of naval operations for opposing unification policies, today refused command of U.S. naval forces in Europe because Navy Secretary Matthews has questioned his loyalty.

Denfeld said the circumstances in which he was ousted would make it impossible for him to have the "respect and confidence" of other nations which, he pointed out, an officer holding the European command must have.

To Make Decision

The admiral said he will decide by Jan. 19, when his leave expires, whether to remain in the Navy or retire.

Denfeld said in a letter to Matthews:

"In your letter of Oct. 27 to the President of the United States you requested my removal as chief of naval operations, giving among the reasons that I was, in your opinion, not loyal to my superiors."

The admiral acknowledged that there are naval duties in which he could serve despite the charges leveled at him at the time of his ouster. He said:

"While there are assignments in which I could serve inside the Navy without fear that my loyalty to the best interests of this nation would be questioned it could conceivably happen that other nations having read of this public accusation would not have the necessary respect for, and confidence in me, which the commander in chief of the Eastern Atlantic and Mediterranean forces should enjoy in his relations with officials of other governments."

Denfeld, who was succeded as CNO by Admiral Forrest P. Sherman, recalled Matthews' charge that he "lacked respect for authority that should exist between various official ranks." The admiral added:

"It is obvious, of course, that the assignment to London involves continual relationships with our Allies and their armed services, particularly in connection with the Union Charges Hearing 'Rigged'

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19. (AP)—The CIO Office and Professional Workers union cut short its defense against charges that it has Communist leanings today with an assertion that a CIO committee hearing was "rigged" in advance.

Union President James Durkin set forth the group's position in an 11-page statement which denied that it followed the policies of the Communist party rather than the CIO. Durkin said the union is thoroughly democratic.

It is one of ten unions similarly accused, with ouster from the CIO as a possible penalty if the charges are sustained. Today's was the opening hearing.

Court Suit Filed

Meanwhile, the CIO slapped at Durkin's union with a federal district court suit here for $18,700 plus interest, which it contended was loaned to the office workers and not repaid.

The suit contended that the National CIO, in exchange for three notes, loaned the union $3,200 in September, 1938; $500 in July, 1939, and $15,000 in December, 1941.

Durkin said the CIO leadership "has fomented, aided, financed, and abetted Red-baiting, raiding and secession movements designed to 'subvert' UOPWA, to bring pressure upon it, to dismember it, in the expectation that such pressures would compel its membership to yield their right to make their own decisions and to govern their own union.

"These attempts have failed. Hence these charges and this new persecution."

Earlier, the CIO panel had barred a 40-member delegation of

Judge Refuses Plea Of Murder Suspect

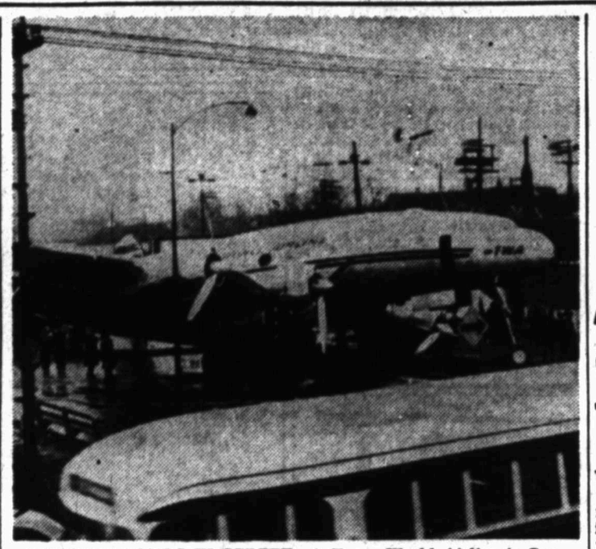

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 19. (AP)—George Ochoa lost today the first round of his fight against extradition to Laredo, Tex., to face murder charges.

But Ochoa was not in custody, and the foreign office said it had no trace of him.

His request for an injunction against arrest or extradition was refused by federal Judge Javier Aguayo. Announcement of the judge's action was made by the foreign office, which earlier today said it had received the extradition request.

In asking the injunction, Ochoa did not give any reasons for his request. Judge Aguayo asked the foreign office the nature of the crime for which Ochoa is wanted in the U. S. When he was told it was murder, he denied the injunction.

However, lawyers say Ochoa can request another injunction from the same federal court. Meanwhile, he is liable to arrest and detention while the extradition matter is being settled.

Faculty Okayed For New School Here

By ROGER SOUTHALL
Avalanche Staff Writer

NAMING of a principal and five teachers to the faculty of a new elementary school in southwest Lubbock highlighted a called meeting of the board of trustees of the Lubbock Independent School district Monday afternoon at the school district business office at 1007 Texas Avenue.

The school, which is located between Fortieth and Forty-second streets, Monroe and Jackson avenues on land recently purchased by the school board and the school business office, is to be ready for operation by Jan. 23. A temporary frame building is to be moved to the school grounds from the P. F. Brown school.

Greer Named Principal

M. R. Greer, who for the past several years has taught in the Roscoe Wilson elementary school, was named teaching principal of the new school.

Other teachers approved by the board of trustees for positions on the faculty of the school are: Mrs. Mary B. Creson, Mrs. Opal E. Robnett, Mrs. W. Kary Mathis, Mrs. Shirley J. Lightfoot, and Mrs. Bessie M. Powell.

Boundaries for the new school, as approved by the board, are as follows:

Beginning in the south at Taylor Ave north to Thirty-sixth, east on thirty-sixth to Polk Ave., north on Polk to Thirty-fourth, east on Thirty-fourth to Jefferson Ave., south on Jefferson to Thirty-seventh, east on Thirty-seventh to Adams Ave., south on Adams to Fortieth, and east on Fortieth to College Ave., and thence south.

Bus Change Planned

Supt. R. W. Matthews explained to board members that it would be necessary to change three buses now going to Overton elementary school, effective Monday, Jan. 23.

One of these buses is to be transferred to Central Ward and the other two to the new school (as yet unnamed) at Fortieth and Jackson. The change of students riding these three buses has become necessary because of the phenomenal growth in the enrollment at Overton during the past year and because of construction now underway in the immediate vicinity of the school which is expected to materially increase enrollment before the end of the second semester.

Matthews explained that the change of buses will mean that approximately 114 children now attending Overton school will go either to Central Ward or to the new school. After the change is made, anticipated enrollment at Overton will be 343, as contrasted

Santa Claus Will Visit Hale Center In 1909 Model Car

(Special To The Avalanche)

HALE CENTER, Dec. 19.—Santa Claus will really go back a long way for his mode of travel into Hale Center Tuesday afternoon.

When the jolly old fellow rolls into town about 2:30 p. m. he will be riding in a 1909 model Ford, brought from Plainview specially for the occasion.

But the vintage of the car and absence of reindeer isn't expected to faze approximately 1,000 children who will receive fruits, nuts and a gift from St. Nick. The annual Yule party is being sponsored by the Hale Center Merchants association under direction of Gwynne Owen, president of the group. Ward school children will be dismissed for the party on the city's square.

Lewis Faces Suit In Fund Dispute

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (INS)—Judge Charles I. Dawson today filed suit in federal district court to force John L. Lewis to recognize him as a trustee of the United Mine Workers welfare fund.

In a formal statement, Dawson charged that Lewis has "shamefully squandered" millions of dollars paid into the welfare fund by the coal operators, whom Dawson recently was named to represent on the trustee board.

Dawson told a news conference that he regretted being forced to take legal action against Lewis, chairman and mine union representative on the board, of which Sen. Bridges (R-N.H.), is neutral member.

He said, however, that "I am going to let the courts of the land determine . . . whether Lewis should be left free and uncontrolled in his haphazard and profligate spending of the fund." Dawson added:

"I want it distinctly understood that the complaint contains no allegation of improper or illegal conduct on the part of Sen. Bridges."

Dawson's appointment was supposed to take effect Nov. 3. Lewis refused, however, at meetings Nov. 21 and Dec. 2 to permit him to be seated.

Dawson said that he was "not in the habit of submitting tame-

UNIONS SEEK NEW DECISION

Supreme Court To Rule On Issue Of State Power To Ban Picketing

By DON SANDERS
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19—The Supreme court agreed today to rule whether a state may ban picketing where no immediate labor dispute is involved.

It called for arguments—probably early next year—on three cases in which Washington state courts have held peaceful picketing is illegal where there is no direct employer-employe relationship with the union concerned.

Three unions asked the court to strike down that finding. They contend it violates the Constitution's guarantee of freedom of speech.

No Washington statute covers the circumstances specifically. The state courts relied on a policy declaration in the Washington labor disputes act and on common law.

Common law—that not written by a legislative body—takes its binding force from long usage and general acceptance. When recognized in court opinions, it has the same force as statutory law.

One of the three cases arose in Seattle, when a local of the AFL

Arms To Be Standardized

By FREDERIC TUTTLE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—The U. S., Britain and Canada announced today a plan to standardize arms and military training and the Defense department said that the three powers already are exchanging observers in guided missile tests.

Announcement of the arms program, which was made simultaneously in Washington, London and Ottawa, came amid fresh reports that America seeks an agreement to share the know-how of the latest atomic bomb with her English-speaking Allies.

Guided Missile Included

First word that the arms standardization program had been projected into the secret field of guided missile—weapons of ultra-modern war—came from a Defense department spokesman. He said that this highly-secret branch of war was in no way excluded from the three-power discussions.

The spokesmen pointed out that guided missiles would dovetail with the building of anti-aircraft defenses to gird the North American continent against sky attacks from aggressors of the future.

Announcement of the arms agreement, which has been under consideration since 1947, said that observers will be exchanged to assure that "there will be no material or technical obstacles to full co-operation among their armed forces."

Defense Move Made

The agreement was described as "a step toward fulfillment" of provisions of the North Atlantic treaty which calls for standardization of "parts and products of military equipment in the North Atlantic area."

A similar arrangement previously was made by the five western union European nations, including Britain and France, under the Brussels treaty.

The U. S.-British-Canadian plan was announced as top officials of the three countries continue their meetings on atomic energy.

Key military and diplomatic observers express belief that the administration desires to bring the British and Canadians up to date on post-war atomic develop-

Truman Fails To Fill Top Posts

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
Associated Press Staff Writer

KEY WEST, Fla., Dec. 19. — President Truman concludes a three-week Florida vacation tonight without filling four vitally important posts upon which he is expected to act soon.

He flies mack to Washington tomorrow still facing a decision on:

1. A successor to David E. Lilienthal as chairman of the Atomic Energy commission.

2. A new chairman of his Economic Advisory council, suceeding Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, who quit after differences with fellow members.

3. Filling the long-vacant post of chairman of the National Securities Resources board.

Another Position Open

4. A new special counsel to serve him when Clark M. Clifford steps out early in the new year to enter private law practice in Washington.

Several names are under consideration by the President for an atomic energy post. His associates say he is anxious to find an outstanding administrator capable of working in harmony both with the Senate-House Atomic Energy committee and other members of the board.

He will take his time about making up his mind since Lilienthal has agreed to remain on the job after his resignation becomes effective Dec. 31 if any pending problems require his attention.

Nor is there any hurry about announcing a successor to Nourse. The President does not want to appoint a new man until after presentation to Congress of his

Chicago Firm Adopts Plan To Bar Reds From Holding Jobs

CHICAGO, Dec. 19 (INS)—Stewart-Warner corporation announced tonight a new policy barring Communist party members, former members and supporters from employment at its main plant in Chicago.

The firm also ordered "several" workers to sign non-Communist affidavits or quit.

The policy became effective immediately with the requests handed the unidentified employes late today and requires that non-Communist affidavits state that the employe has had no connection with the Communist party since Dec. 7, 1941.

Hiss Again Denies Charge Of Giving U.S. Secrets To Reds

NEW YORK, Dec. 19. (AP)—Alger Hiss, for the second time this year, today denied under oath that he ever turned over State department secrets to a prewar Russian spy ring.

His voice was calm but firm as he took the witness stand in mid-afternoon of the 21st day of his second perjury trial.

Hiss started his testimony with a recital of a Washington career that took him to a high place in America's State department.

Then he was shown a batch of documents, allegedly stolen from the department for transmittal to a Soviet spy group.

"Did you ever give them to Whittaker Chambers?" asked Defense Attorney Claude B. Cross.

"I did not," Hiss replied.

"Did you ever give them to any unauthorized person?" asked Cross.

"I did not," repeated the witness cooly.

Of typewritten copies of state secrets, Hiss testified:

"They were not typed in my house or by Mrs. Hiss and I have no idea where they came from."

ABILENE FIRM BURNS

ABILENE, Dec. 19. (AP).— Fire raged through the South Texas Lumber Co., here tonight, destroying one warehouse and part of another. Both were filled with lumber. C. M. City Fireman Weldon Caffey was overcome by smoke fighting the fire, but was recovering at a local hospital.

Cold Weather Sweeping Toward Panhandle; Area May Feel Blow

ANOTHER cold front is headed toward Texas, with the promise of tumbling temperatures and snow in the Panhandle by late tonight and much colder readings in the Lubbock area by Wednesday morning.

Sharply lower temperatures with an outside possibility of freezing rain and snow flurries were held in prospect for the South Plains by Wednesday morning if the cold weather continues to move on down into the state, the Weatherman said late last night.

Cloudy weather, which moved over the area last night, is expected to continue throughout today and tonight until arrival of the front about dawn Wednesday, the Weather bureau station at Municipal airport said.

A chill, brisk wind accompanied the cloudy weather in the area last night.

The mercury is expected to hit a high of 55 degrees this afternoon. Monday's reading was a warm 62 degrees. Sim-

Nation's Crop Production Second Largest In History

By OVID A. MARTIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19—United States crop production was the second largest in history this year—and as a result it may be the last year for some time that farmers are free of broad government controls.

The Agriculture department's final report of the year showed today that the total output was 132 percent of the 1923-32 average, compared with last year's record peak of 137.5 percent.

This year's harvested acreage turned out to be the largest since 1932, when depression-ridden farmers sought to offset declining prices by expanding production.

Bad Weather Hits

Considering the big acreage, production this year would easily have set a new record had acreage yields equalled last year's. But bad weather during the growing season in some sections kept yields down.

Nevertheless, the harvest is so large that the department has felt called upon to invoke production controls of various kinds in an attempt to reduce the volume next year. Crops likely to be produced under controls of some kind or other include cotton, peanuts, major types of tobacco, rice, potatoes and soybeans.

This year's big volume has been reflected in lower producer prices and in a drop in farm income.

Average Is High

The department said the huge harvest was the result of uniformly large production of most crops, rather than record volumes of a few individual ones. Records were marked up only for rice, dry beans and peas.

But a corn crop of 3,378,000,000 bushels is only eight percent below last year's record of 3,682,000,000, and is 21 per cent above the average.

This is the fifth recent year in which the production of corn—the raw material for meats, dairy and

JUDGES TO INSPECT ENTRIES

Fifty Contestants Entered In Christmas Lighting Contest

ENTRY lists closed as scheduled late Monday with exactly 50 contestants competing for the $100 cash prizes in the third annual Home Christmas Lighting contest sponsored by The Avalanche-Journal.

The entries include 12 each for the prizes offered for the most beautifully decorated exterior of home and most beautifully decorated doorway; 18 in the window contest and eight in the outdoor tree division.

The judges, all members of the Lubbock Garden club, said they hope to complete their inspections in time to announce their decisions on Christmas day.

Their identities will not be disclosed until after the awards are announced. They are to make their inspections during any night they may choose between now and Christmas. Decorations, therefore, should remain lighted until midnight each night.

The rule contests also require that they must remain in place until after Christmas and, preferably, until New Year's day.

Soviets Push Construction

By MAX BOYD
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19. — Spurred by authoritative reports that the Russians are fast building up their submarine fleet, the United States Navy indicated today that anti-sub warfare is its top job.

Jane's Fighting Ships, British publication which is recognized as an authority on sea fighting fleets, reported that Russia now has some 360 submarines and hopes to have between 750 and 1,000 by 1951.

A Navy spokesman would not comment directly on the publication's estimates of Russian submarine strength. Nor would he discuss Jane's report that the Soviets are believed to be building three ultra-modern, 35,000 ton battleships equipped with radio controlled aerial torpedoes and rockets.

Subs Are Top Job

In response to an inquiry, however, the spokesman said planning and preparedness for anti-submarine warfare remain the Navy's top job. There has recently been evidence that the Navy is concentrating more and more on undersees warfare.

Jane's estimate of the number of submarines that Russia now has is a little higher than the figure given to Congress early this year by Admiral Louis E. Denfeld, then chief of naval operations. He figured the total at that time to be from 250 to 300.

Jane's estimated that Russia's U-boat fleet includes some types captured from the Germans. Other information reaching this country indicates that some of the Soviets subs are small coastal vessels and that only a small percentage are the fast, long range snorkel type developed by Germany during World War II. The snorkel is a "breathing" device which prolongs the submersion period.

May Fall Short

Reporting that the Russians hoped to have between 750 and 1,000 long range submarines by 1951, Jane's expressed belief they will fall short of this goal because of a scarcity of shipyards and technicians.

Jane's said Russia is believed to be building three modern battleships, with two others in the blueprint stage. The Soviets already have two battleships, so such a

Federal Grand Jury To Probe Eventful Career Of Maragon

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19. (INS)—A federal grand jury will take a searching look Tuesday at the eventful and sometimes strange career of John Maragon, who used to be quite a man-around-the-White House.

U. S. District Attorney George Morris Fay said today he will give the grand jury a full record of Maragon's part in last summer's congressional probe of Washington "five percenters," and that a perjury indictment may be sought.

Maragon, who once held a pass to the White House, enjoyed the friendship of Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, President Truman's military aide, until the "five percent" probe cooled off their relationship somewhat.

The grand jury inquisition stems from Maragon's testimony, secret and public, before the Senate committee headed by Sen. Hoey (D-NC).

WAR BETWEEN EAST, WEST RAGES ON

1949 To Be Remembered As Year Of Peace In World Of Strife

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Dec. 19. — The year of our Lord, 1949, will be remembered as a year of peace in which there was no peace.

The most populous nation on earth, China, fell before sword and expediency and was delivered, at year's end, unto the Kremlin. Half the world leaned with a history-making dependency on one nation — this—and we met the challenge by the arresting maneuver of going millions of dollars deeper into debt each day.

In the western world the great empires of the past continued to wither, and the doctrine of the welfare state strengthened here and there, and lost ground in distant New Zealand and Australia. Men and women everywhere soberly weighed the estate of personal security against the cost of loss of liberty.

Soviets Tested Bomb

Russia got its bomb in 1949 and, unable to resist the human temptation of testing it, thus revealed it to sleepless distant monitors and their seismographs and Geiger counters. People wondered what it would mean, and their reading helped little — for they were told on one hand that it meant the dawn of atomic warfare and, on the other, that it meant the abolishment of it in the fear that had become mutual.

It was the year of trials as well as tribulations. The gavel of death fell on men who had helped in the erection of the iron curtain and men behind it who opposed it. The western world looked on, stunned and unbelieving, as the doomed hastened their downfall with screamed confessions. Here, after tedious months and scrupulous regard for law, a jury of negroes and whites, rich and poor, convicted the U. S. Communist hierarchy.

UN Building Dedicated

In New York, which receded toward the desert, representatives of two billion humans gathered to dedicate a permanent temple to peace, then tried to rule that Jerusalem — made a capital city by David a thousand years before Christ — must be an international city. And then adjourned, convinced they had worked for naught.

This was the year in which Stalin, last of the great war's triumvirate still in power, reached the age of 70 and saw his iron rule contested openly by a suddenly galvanized puppet who calls himself Tito. The world learned a new word: Titoism, and could not accurately define it. But in Washington and Moscow men still played cards, close to the vest, for the highest stakes in history—possession of the soul of man.

Also, Year Of The Spy

This, too, was the year of the spy, and millions were spent in this country in the hope of tearing from him his cloak. A man's loyalty to his country meant more in 1949 than at any time of peace that preceded it in the U. S., and there were panels and hearings — sometimes raucous — aimed at ferreting that most elusive target, the state of mind.

Our military staged a bloodless civil war in 1949, operation appropriation. It's Fort Sumpter was a gigantic aircraft carrier that never came closer to exdistence than its keel, and its resultant battles were done with words — flung angrily back and forth by men who, a few years before, would have died for one another and, in an emergency, would recapture the same brotherhood.

More Americans were kicked around in more places on the globe during 1949 than during any period of peace in our history. They rotted in unmarked jails, or were forced to flee at gunpoint, and remained little more than hostages while they performed their duties abroad. Pleas in their behalf, and, as the year ended, sharper demands brought relief to only a handful.

A short eight years after Pearl Harbor we learned to regard Japan and the western part of Germany as allies in the event of war against Russia, and into Italy, long since our friend, we poured enormous funls and trust. We sought through the Marshall Plan not only to destroy Communism in estern Europe but to bring about a United States of Europe, and our people (as in the days of post-depression alphabetical bureaus), puzzled over the meaning of ECA, Benelux, Scanglia and the alphabet soup of UN committees and commisions for which we are paying.

It was a year in which Americans bought more books about the soul, and its nourishment, than the body and its wiles. A movie girl became, through marriage, a princess-heiress to the fortune of a deity whose subjects have given him his weight in diamonds. Our bussing, septugenarian vice president upped and married, after the most public wooing since Ilson and Mrs. Galt, and our two best-known Shirleys had trouble. One failed to swim the channel the other made most of us realize how old we're getting by divorcing a husband.

It was a tired world at the end, and no man could say what was held in store for it.

The yes was for Major Edward A. Hawdens of Pittsburgh. The engagement of the Wichita Falls, Texas, actress and the U.S. Air Force officer was announced yesterday.

As "Ado Annie" in the successful London production of "Oklahoma," Betty Jo has been singing the popular song: "I Can't Say No."

The major and Miss Jones met at a Royal Academybenefit dance in March — 10 days after the Pittsburgh airman landed in London on assignment to the ministry of supply's engine research department.

Before coming to London, Miss Jones played for the Theater Guild in summer stock and on television. They plan a summer wedding in Wichita Falls.

Police Asked To Search For Woman Missing In San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 19. (AP)—Police were asked today to search for Mrs. Ruth Gates Allison, 45, of Tornillo, near El Paso, who has been missing since she arrived in San Antonio last Thursday.

According to police reports, Mrs. Allison arrived at the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad station from Dallas and is known to have driven away in a cab. She was on her way to the home of a niece here.

The cornerstone of the original U. S. Capitol was laid by President Washington on Sept. 18, 1793.

A gigantic planer and milling machine, which can shave a sliver 1/1,000th of an inch thick from a steel block the size of a railroad box-car, has been placed in operation. The machine will be used in the manufacture of equipment for industrial and power generating applications.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

ALTHOUGH most people who work downtown and shoppers, too, are terribly tired these days, there is a wonderful feeling of "dear hearts and gentle people" in evidence in Lubbock.

IN THE MAIL

DEAR MISS TURNER: I want to put a notice in your column to try to help a man and his wife who are handicapped. They need a farm for another year as that is all they can do. There surely is someone who has a small farm of 80 or 100 acres who would rent it to the couple. They cannot do public work because of their handicap but they do better farming then well people as anyone can see from the place they worked.

The owner is returning to his farm so they have to move soon. They are deserving people and will make permanent tenants.

What a happy Christmas they would have if they could find a place to move, because farming is their life.

Sincerely,
A Friend.

IF anyone has a small plot of land to rent to this couple and will get in touch with the Woman's Angle, she will give him the address of the couple.

PERSONALS, PLEASE

PLEASE telephone the women's department if you and your family are going to leave town to spend the holidays or are to entertain out-of-town guests. We'd like to hear about the holiday celebrations and to pass them on in print.

CARDS PLEASE!

OUR request for unusual Christmas cards has not met with much response. We thought it would make interesting reading to describe unusual cards. Don't you agree? If so, give us a ring or drop us a note of description.

Latest idea in wedding rings is called a renewal ring with five scrolls engraved around the band. These scrolls are symbolic of the five happy years of marriage, and the ring is to be exchanged on the fifth anniversary for the old one.

SAINT NICK VISIT

IF you know of sick children who will not be able to see Santa Claus during his visits about town, you may telephone the Recreation department at 9346 or the Junior Chamber of Commerce, 6861, and make reservation for visits. It's hoped no child will be overlooked.

GIVE AWAYS

THERE are six eight-weeks-old Persian kittens to be given away by Patti Hill, telephone 2-1714. Patti says they would make wonderful gifts for Christmas and she will even tie a bow around their necks.

A male kitten, three months old, is to be given away. Telephone 2-4655.

A STUDENT at McWhorter found a heavy silver identification bracelet with the name J. L. Miller and address, Route 4, Boonville, Ark. It is at the office of the principal.

Mrs. W. E. Heard found a woman's gold wrist watch in her yard at 2436 Twentieth last week. The owner may claim the watch by identifying it. Mrs. Heard's telephone is 2-4282.

MRS. MARVIN M. QUAID

Miss Klaus Is Bride Of Marvin M. Quaid

The marriage of Miss Margaret Anne Klaus and Marvin M. Quaid was performed at St. John's Methodist church Monday at 6 o'clock in the evening by Rev. Hubert Bratcher. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hellmut Klaus of 1606 Ave. X and the bridegroom is son of Mrs. J. H. Garrison of Houston and Marvin Quaid of New Orleans, La.

Baskets of white gladioli stood on the altar, against a background of woodwardia fern and lemon leaf. White bows marked the bridal aisle.

Mrs. Marlin Smith, organist, played a prelude of traditional wedding music and offered "Indian Love Call" as vows were repeated. The organist accompanied Mrs. Raymond Marshall, soloist, as she sang "Because" and "At Dawning."

Bride Carries Orchid

Mr. Klaus gave his daughter in marriage. Her bridal gown was of ivory slipper satin fashioned with a fitted basque, buttoned in the back with pearl buttons from the neckline to a point below the waistline. The long fitted sleeves extended to points over the hands. She carried a white orchid, surrounded by gardenias.

The bride was attended by her twin sister, Mrs. Lynn Walker, matron of honor, another sister, Mrs. W. E. McCoy of Los Angeles and Mrs. Bill Wood of Sundown. Each attendant wore a soft green velveteen ballerina length dress in empire style. Their shoes were green velveteen opera pumps and their bouquets were of light pink carnations, tipped with diamond dust.

Dorothy Lee Garrison of Houston, sister of the bridegroom, was flower girl. Her dress was fashioned after the other attendants'.

Robert F. McMillan of Amarillo served as best man and Lynn Walker and Bill Wood were ushers.

Guests At Reception

Wedding guests attended a reception after the ceremony. Mrs. H. A. Allen, aunt of the bride, presided at the punch bowl. The Christmas motif was used in decorations, and a double ring wedding cake highlighted the decor on the bride's table.

Among out-of-town guests were the bridegroom's mother of Houston, Edward Cassidy of Frankfort, Kan., and W. E. McCoy of Los Angeles.

For a wedding trip to Sonta Fe, N. M., the bride wore a dusty pink milateen suit with a navy blue topcoat and accessories and an orchid corsage. After Jan. 2, the couple will be at home in Corpus Chrisit, where the bridegroom is serving in the Naval Air corps. Both the bride and bridegroom are former students of Texas Technological college. Mrs. Quaid was a member of Ko Shari social club there.

FALL HOUSE PAINTING

Fall is the ideal time for painting the exterior of your house, say the experts. By that time exposed surfaces have been dried thoroughly by summer sun, temperature is mild and there is very little inclement weather. Begin after the morning dew has dried.

Rehearsal Dinner Set

The wedding party of Miss Bettie Hart of Anton and Neil Herrin will attend a rehearsal dinner at Hilton hotel Thursday night at 8 o'clock as guests of Mr. Herrin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Herrin. The wedding will be performed Friday night at 7:30 o'clock at the Anton Methodist church.

Miss Hart gave a trousseau tea Sunday afternoon from 3 until 5 o'clock at her home at Anton. Mrs. Herrin presided at the refreshment table which was laid with a white lace cloth and centered with a tall red taper, greenery and red balls. Attendants of the bride were honor guests.

A luncheon complimenting the bride-elect was given Saturday by Mrs. B. W. Lawson and her daughters, Miss Sue Lawson and Mrs. Roy Butler.

On the list were Mrs. Ed M. Hart, mother of the bride-to-be, Mrs. Herrin, Mrs. J. Mule Davis, Mrs. A. J. Smith, and Misses Chloe Herrin, Jane Skinner, Mary Duggan, Mary Roe and Betty Wright. The hostess gift was of china.

Playlet Presented By Junior Girls

A playlet, "The World's Christmas Gift," was presented by the Rosa Lee Mills Appleby Junior G. A.'s of First Baptist church Monday in the home of Mrs. Frank L. Todd, 3210 Thirty-first. The girls also sang carols and exchanged gifts.

Present were Mary Ann Girod, Jane Grant, Carolyn Haney, Patricia Hutcherson, Janice Junell, Geraldine Lokey, Mary Ligon, Bobette Sherman, Barbara Ann Tripp and Denevee Turner.

Lawton Book Is Reviewed At Party

At the Christmas party given for the LLL class of First Baptist church recently in the home of Chlotilde Abernathy, 2201 Main, Miss Barbara Ann Lunceford reviewed "Ben and Me" by Robert Lawton.

Gifts were exchanged, and the class presented gifts to Miss Dorothy Lomax, teacher, and Miss Lunceford.

A Christmas plate was served to 18 members.

PINT OF RUM DEADLY

LILLE, France (AP) — Profiting from the temporary absence of his parents, four-year-old Jean Dumonchel, of Mericourt-sous-Lens, near here, downed a pint of rum. The child died shortly afterward.

Town Talk

MRS. H. H. HOLMES, of 2303 Monroe Ave. will be hostess at a Tuesday bridge luncheon at 12:30 o'clock at the Lubbock Country club.

Decorations will portray a Yuletide theme, with arrangements of white pine cones, fragrant pine greenery and red candles centering the tables.

Following the luncheon, guests will go to the home of Mrs. Pierson Couch for a gift exchange.

Attending will be the hostess, Mesdames Couch, O. B. Trinkle, Jesse Seale, R. V. Williams, J. H. Hackfield, Reed B. Loflin and J. M. Young.

James C. Allen, son of Dean and Mrs. James G. Allen, 3110 Twenty-first, will arrive Friday to spend the Christmas holidays at home. He is a junior student at Harvard, Cambridge, Mass.

Charles A. Guy, jr., will arrive early Thursday to spend the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Guy, 2610 Twentieth. A 1949 graduate of Texas Technological college, he is employed as an industrial engineer by Hughes Aircraft company, Culver City, Calif.

Miss Lorene McClintock of New York, former Slaton woman who is author of the unique book, "Everyone Can Play the Piano," is spending the Christmas holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. D. McClintock of Slaton.

Mesdames Roy Cocannouer, J. D. Sanders and W. A. Robinson will be hostesses this afternoon to members of the Llano Estacado chapter of the International Travel Study club. The entertainment will be a Christmas luncheon at 1 o'clock at the Hilton hotel.

Decorations will carry out a traditional holiday motif, with arrangements of poinsettias, red candles and pine greenery centering the tables.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Arnall of Cincinnati, O., are to arrive today to spend Christmas with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John David Lynch, who recently moved to their new home at 3612 Twenty-ninth.

Mr. Arnall is a cousin of Ellis Arnall, former governor of Georgia.

Youngbloods Are Hosts

A Yule tea was a Sunday afternoon entertainment given by Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Youngblood of Cain Terrace. Seventy-five friends called.

In the line were the hosts, their daughter, Mrs. Vernon L. Bridges, and Mr. Bridges of Anton and Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Davis.

Misses Mary Gowin and Dolores Webb presided at the refreshment table which was laid with pink satin and lace and centered with a green and red centerpiece, flanked by red candles and ribbons. Cranberry punch, served from a crystal bowl, featured a star of ice in which holly was embedded.

Christmas music was played throughout the receiving hours.

Luncheon In Slaton Honors Bride-Elect

Mesdames A. E. McLaury and Huland Eaves honored Miss Betty Fortenberry, bride-elect of Edward S. Smith of Lorenzo, with a luncheon Sunday in Slaton.

Attending were the honoree, Mr. Smith, Misses Glenna Marlar, Mary Beth Eaves, Mary Jo Smith; Ronald Smith, Huland Eaves, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Smith and the hostesses.

The hostess gift was a Christmas corsage and a woolen blanket.

HERE FROM CALIFORNIA

Mrs. Lillian Rous and daughters, Betty and Marcia, arrived Sunday night from Los Angeles to spend the holidays with her mother, Mrs. Lyda Murphy, 1924 Dixie Drive.

Dominican Republic sugar workers have agreed to a 20 per cent payroll cut in 1950.

Gifts Given By D.A.R.

Nancy Anderson chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, through the American committee, headed by Miss Kathleen Brown and assisted by Mrs. Isabel Garrison, is providing Christmas cheer to several organizations. Those receiving fruit, candy, chewing gum and nuts are Guadalupe school, Dunbar school, the Lubbock negro nursery, Milam's home, Mexican Methodist and Baptist churches, St. Joseph's Catholic school and an orphanage in Levelland.

Various members and friends of the chapter have contributed to the fund for this work. Several hundred pounds of Christmas goodies will be distributed through the generosity of various Lubbock firms, over $800 worth of material being used in the project.

Miss Brown also is presenting attractive Christmas baskets as prizes to Guadalupe and Dunbar schools for outstanding student achievement, the gifts to be given at Christmas programs at the two schools.

The DAR chapter has received special honors and prizes for the last two years for the work done in the field of Americanism.

Klever Kraft Klub At Yule Luncheon

Mrs. H. H. Holmes was hostess recently to members of the Klever Kraft Klub at a Christmas luncheon at the Lubbock Country club.

Traditional Christmas decorations were used, with pine cones, greenery and red candles.

Following the luncheon, members went to the home of Mrs. A. L. Scoggin for a gift exchange.

Attending were 15 members.

Announcement Made Of Kansas Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Lester of Oklahoma City, Okla., announce the marriage of their daughter, Mrs. Lucille Jones to Mr. Harold Johnson Torgeson. The wedding was read Dec. 3 in Kansas City, Kan.

Mrs. Torgeson is a former Lubbock resident and the former Mrs. Frank Owen Jones.

The couple will be at home after Dec. 27 at Lawrence, Kan.

Church Group Programs Are Based On Yuletide Theme

Programs on the story of Christmas and parties carrying out the Yuletide theme were held Monday by various groups of Lubbock churches.

OUSLER BOOK IS REVIEWED

"The Greatest Story Ever Told," a book by Fulton Ousler was reviewed by Mrs. Frank, L. Todd Monday afternoon for Ausbury Methodist Woman's Society of Christian Service. The reviewer was assisted by another guest, Mrs. R. B. Parkinson, who sang "O Holy Night."

Gifts were brought for charitable purposes, and the women attending exchanged gifts.

The program was opened with the song, "Joy to the World." A prayer was led by Mrs. C. A. Bickley and a devotion from Luke 2 was presented by Mrs. C. A. Powell. After the program, refreshments were served.

BOXES ARE PACKED

Members of Central Baptist Women's Missionary society who met at the church Monday packed Christmas boxes for shut-ins.

A short business session was conducted, and Mrs. Helen Waggoner led the song, "Take the Name Jesus With You." Mrs. S. W. McGaw offered a prayer.

Nineteen persons attended.

WSCS PRESENTS SKIT AT CHURCH

A skit, "The Wisest Man," was presented by members of the East Broadway Woman's Society of Christian Service at the church Monday afternoon. Mrs. C. A. Hartley was program leader.

Mrs. J. M. Rogers asked a benediction. Members will begin a new study in January.

PROGRAM IS ON JOY OF GIVING

Women of the Westminster Presbyterian church met Monday morning at the church to hear a program on "The Joy of Giving," which was planned by Mrs. W. R. Postma and led by Mrs. S. T. Hodges.

Mrs. E. F. Greve presided in the giving of a joy gift for ministerial relief.

Attending were 18 members and one guest.

METHODIST WOMEN MEET IN CIRCLES

Forty-two members and guests of Africa and Korea circles of First Methodist WSCS attended a luncheon at Fellowship hall Monday. Mrs. Cecil Matthews taught a lesson for the group.

A morning meeting of Young Mothers' circle was held in the home of Mrs. John King with Mrs. W. Frank Campbell as cohostess. The teahcer was Mrs. R. T. Campbell; 14 persons attended.

Armed Bandits Get Christmas Spirit

ST. PAUL, Dec. 19. (U.P.) — Even bandits can get the Christmas spirit, cab driver Robert Johnson of St. Paul reported today.

As Johnson pulled to a stop at the destination given him by two passengers, one of the men shoved a gun into the back of his neck and demanded his receipts. They got about $17.

But when they asked for his billfold, Johnson said the $11 in it was Christmas money for his two children. They let him keep it.

Christmas Party Scheduled Wednesday At Dunbar School

A Christmas party for underprivileged children will be held from 1:30 to 4 p.m. Wednesday in the gymnasium of the Dunbar High school.

Candy and refreshments donated by local business firms will be distributed by Santa Claus as a high point in the afternoon's entertainment.

W. C. Rutledge, owner of the Lubbock Wholesale drugs, Joe Baldridge of the Baldridge bakery, and others will be honored guests at the party.

Chas. A. Guy, editor of The Avalanche-Journal, will be principal speaker.

Police Quell Marine, Navy Fight On Train

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 19. (INS)—The Marines and the Navy mixed it up today on a Santa Fe streamliner train and as a result 24 of the combatants were placed under military arrest by their respective branches.

It all began early today shortly after the Los Angeles-to-San Diego streamliner pulled out of Los Angeles' Union depot with a score of sailors from the San Diego Navy base and members of the football team from the Marine base at Camp Pendleton, Calif., aboard.

Police said that members of the football team, which was defeated Sunday, 14 to 13, by the Quantico Marines in a game for the all-Navy football championship, and the sailors began mixing it up.

The train was stopped while still inside the Los Angeles city limits and a riot call brought more than 15 police cars to the scene. After an hour the disturbance was quelled and the train continued on its way to San Diego.

ever, whereae

When it reached Oceanside, however, where Camp Pendleton is located, 21 Marines were taken from the train under military arrest. When San Diego was reached, three of the sailors were turned over to the shore patrol.

ABALONE COSTS TOO MUCH

Santa Claus To Visit Party House, On Streets Here

Santa Claus' busy pre-Christmas schedule calls for him to visit the Party House with children of the Cerebral Palsy clinic today while his helper cares for the children in the downtown district.

Yesterday Santa visited the downtown area of Lubbock from 1 to 5 p.m. for confidential chats with children.

On the remaining days of the week, Santa will be present at various schools and communities in the city and will visit several Christmas trees.

KEY DEMO LEADERS DISAGREE

Cotton Belt Protests Threaten To Intensify Capital Dispute

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19. (AP)—Protests from the cotton belt threatened today to intensify public disagreement between Secretary of Agriculture Brannan and Senator Anderson (D-NM).

Sharp differences between these key Democratic spokesmen on farm programs and policies may complicate next year's political campaign.

The current flare-up results from drastic reductions in plantings and incomes faced by cotton farmers, principally those in the older cotton belt.

Anderson, who preceded Brannan as President Truman's Secretary of Agriculture, sponsored a new cotton acreage reduction law earlier this year.

Mistakes On Law Cited

Last Friday, Brannan said the blame for the present situation rested on "mistakes" in the law, which he said his department resisted unsuccessfully at the time.

One of the few cotton belt congressmen now in Washington, Senator Sparkman (D-Ala), told a reporter that the next session of Congress will be forced "to take immediate action on this."

Carefully side-stepping the Anderson-Brannan row, Sparkman said the cotton control law must be changed "to give more flexibility to the secretary, the state farmer committees and the local county committees in making allotments."

In general the cotton control law aims at cutting back cotton price-depressing surpluses. Next year the acreage is to be about 21,000,000 instead of about 27,000,000 last year.

Despite the storm of complaints about acreage reductions, cotton growers voted overwhelmingly for rigid planting and marketing controls for next year. The majority was 89 percent with only two thirds required.

The sniping between Brannan and Anderson to date has been indirect. Most recent example involved the American Farm Bureau federation.

President Allan B. Kline of the Farm Bureau protested to Brannan on administration of the cotton controls.

Brannan fired back a letter saying the hands of the Department of Agriculture had been tied by the law Anderson and the Farm Bureau pushed through Congress. The secretary said he would support amendments by Congress but could do nothing himself about complaints.

Anderson told the Farm Bureau last week that the cotton control bill came from local, state and regional meetings of cotton farmers in all producing sections.

"We tried to express in law the wishes of cotton farmers as we understood them," he said.

Two Youths Escape Injury When Car Hit By Two Trains

HOUSTON, Dec. 19. (AP)— Two youths narrowly escaped injury early today as their automobile ran into a freight train and then was struck by a passenger train.

The accidents caused the Southern Pacific passenger train No. 17 to be 3½ hours late on its Houston-Dallas run.

Southern Pacific officials said the freight train was on a side track near Waller waiting for No. 17 to pass. They quoted the youths, Bill Newman, 16, and Fred Paben, 14, both of Brookshire, as saying fog prevented their seeing the train.

The collision knocked the automobile onto the main tracks adjacent to the siding. It was struck by the passenger train while the youths were seeking aid to repair the vehicle.

The diesel engine on No. 17 and six baggage cars were damaged. None of the cars were derailed.

Reds Teach Children Christ Never Existed, Paper Claims

BERLIN, Dec. 19. (U.P.)— School children in the Soviet zone of Germany are being taught that Christ never existed, the official newspaper of the Berlin Catholic diocese said today.

The paper, Petrus Blatt, said ancient history in Soviet zone schools is being taught from a German translation of a Russian textbook written by Prof. A. W. Mischulin and containing the following statement:

"Scienitsts have proved that Christ never existed."

The book, published by Leipzig's "Volk and Wissen" (People and knowledge) publishing house and entitled "Geschichte des Altertums" (the story of ancient times), adds, according to Petrus Blatt:

"In none of the historical works of the time is a single word about Christ mentioned . . . at the beginning Christ was a verbal concept, and people talked about him. Only later was he written about."

"What shall we do?" Petrus Blatt asked. "Shall we counter this action by summing up historical sources? We can mention reports by Pliny, Tactitus and Suetonius, the Jewish Prophets Flavius and Josephus, and the Christian prophet Paul. Nobody today dares deny their statements about Christ."

BRASS BANDS GREET PARTY

U. S. Consul Arrives In Japan On First Lap Of Journey Home

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
Far Eastern Director, INS

YOKOHAMA, Dec. 19.—United States Consul General Angus Ward arrived in Yokohama today with the toughest lap of a long journey from a damp Communist cell in Mukden to Washington, D. C. already behind him.

Ward, his famed Van Dyke neatly trimmed, showed no signs of the "hellish" ordeal he went through in Communist China. He arrived with Mrs. Ward and the other members of his party aboard the evacuation ship Lakeland Victory.

It was a joyous greeting. Brass bands played American songs for Ward and his wife as they stepped down the gangplank to celebrate their thirtieth wedding anniversary with their arrival in Japan.

Despite the hilarious farewell party given the consular official and his staff aboard the Lakeland Victory the night before, he looked well rested and alert.

He had been feted with the best the freighter had to offer on his final night aboard ship. Correspondents and ships officers managed to unearth secret caches of beer, bourbon and soda to give the occasion a fitting spirit.

The newsmen even wrote two songs in Ward's honor, one entitled "Ward's Aweigh" which was sung to the tune of Anchor's Aweigh."

Immediately after Ward and his party of 18—one took an assignment in Korea—disembarked, he was whisked to the new Grand hotel where he refused to answer questions at a news conference on future American policy in China. He said:

"I am not prepared to recommend any policy. I don't know enough."

The consul, who has been the unwilling central figure in one of America's most controversial diplomatic incidents, said his opportunities for observation had been limited.

His whole party was held under house arrest for 13 months and Ward himself spent 28 days in a Communist cell before he was tried and deported on what he called "trumped up" charges of beating a Chinese consular employe.

He said he would seek a new foreign service assignment, adding:

"But I doubt that I will return to the Orient."

The veteran diplomat estimated that about 1,000 westerners—none of them American—remain in Communist-held Manchuria. He said he was impressed on the 400-mile journey from Mukden to Tientsin by the lack of railroad culvert and bridge guards.

Ward skillfully sidestepped answers to any policy questions insisting he preferred to report first to his superiors in Washington. Other members of his party were equally mum.

Wednesday Ward expects to confer with occupation Commander Gen. Douglas MacArthur and he is scheduled to sail Thursday with Mrs. Ward aboard the liner President Wilson for San Francisco.

U. S. Diplomats Plan Latin-American Meet

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19. (AP)—The State Department announced today that the 20 United States ambassadors in Latin-America will meet in Havana Jan. 18 and at Rio de Janeiro March 1.

George Kennan, department counselor, and assistant Secretary of State Edward G. Miller, jr., who is in charge of Latin-American affairs, will attend the Rio meeting. For Kennan, Rio will be one stop on a tour of Latin-America for an on-the-spot check of United States relations.

The State department said that the two meetings are in line with the new policy of getting American envoys together in various parts of the world to "discuss matters of mutual interest in their area."

Such meetings already have been held by American ambassadors in western Europe and the "iron curtain" countries.

Michael J. McDermott, state department press officer, told a news conference that a similar meeting scheduled for American diplomats in South Africa Jan. 9 has been postponed.

McDermott declined to divulge what specifis topics Kennan would concentrate on in his visit to Latin-America. He termed it a "study tour."

Kennan, long-time chief of Secretary Acheson's policy planning staff, expects to begin a two-year leave of absence next summer to study and lecture.

Bertolino Gains Title With Kayo Over Bill Henderson

1,800 See Galveston Youth Score Convincing Triumph

Cool Galvestonian Master All The Way; Duncan Racks Up TKO In Semifinal Bout

By CHOC HUTCHESON
Avalanche Sports Writer

Eddie Bertolino, a methodical ring craftsman from Galveston, last night captured the Texas lightweight boxing championship with a convincing 13th-round knockout of Levelland's Bill Henderson before a near-capacity crowd of 1,800 fans at Chapman fieldhouse.

The cool, cautious Galveston youngster took charge from the opening bell and was the master all the way, except for a short-lived Henderson splurge from the fifth to the ninth rounds. And even when Henderson was the aggressor in these stanzas, Bertolino was chopping steadily away to inflict the punishment that brought on the finish. Actually, it wasn't a knockout, but Henderson's sheer exhauston that ended the bout.

Some Rounds Close

This writer's scorecard had it eight for Bertolino, two for Henderson and two even through the 12 completed rounds. Several rounds were so close that they might have been scored either way, but the overall picture was so overwhelmingly Bertolino that it would be unjust to term it a close fight.

The knockout came after 2 minutes 37 seconds of the 13th. Henderson had just come up from an eight count after Bertolino's straight right had toppled him backward across the lower rope. The Galvestonian was on him quickly, and hammered home a solid left hook that buckled Henderson's knees. The Levellander fell face forward on the canvas, completely exhausted, and was tolled out by Referee Bo Sexton.

The first four rounds were fairly close, with a slight edge to Bertolino, whose most effective punch was a chopping right to the head.

Henderson Rally Fails

By the fifth, Henderson's facial features were beginning to swell, but he staged a gallant rally to force the fighting through the next four heats. After a furious fifth-round attack that brought a thunderous ovation from the partisan crowd, Henderson continued to carry the action to Bertolino. After the fight, Bertolino said that a smashing right on the nose by Henderson had caused him difficulty in breathing, and that it wasn't until the tenth that he recovered from the blow.

But once Bertolino regained command, there wasn't much doubt as to the eventual outcome. From the tenth through the 12th, he peppered Henderson repeatedly with stinging lefts and damaging bolo rights to the head. Fighting cautiously, he kept the Texas Tech student bewildered through the late rounds, beating him to the punch consistently. And when Henderson rushed in to land a good blow, the Galveston youth invariably tagged him with punishing counter punches.

Blows Aimed At Head

Practically all Bertolino's blows were aimed at the head, and by the end Henderson's features told the story of the fight. His left ear, not completely healed from an earlier ring injury, was trickling blood, and his cheekbones were puffed.

But even after it was apparent that Bertolino was on the road to victory, Henderson's courage never faltered. He was still in there trying when he pitched forward to take the final count.

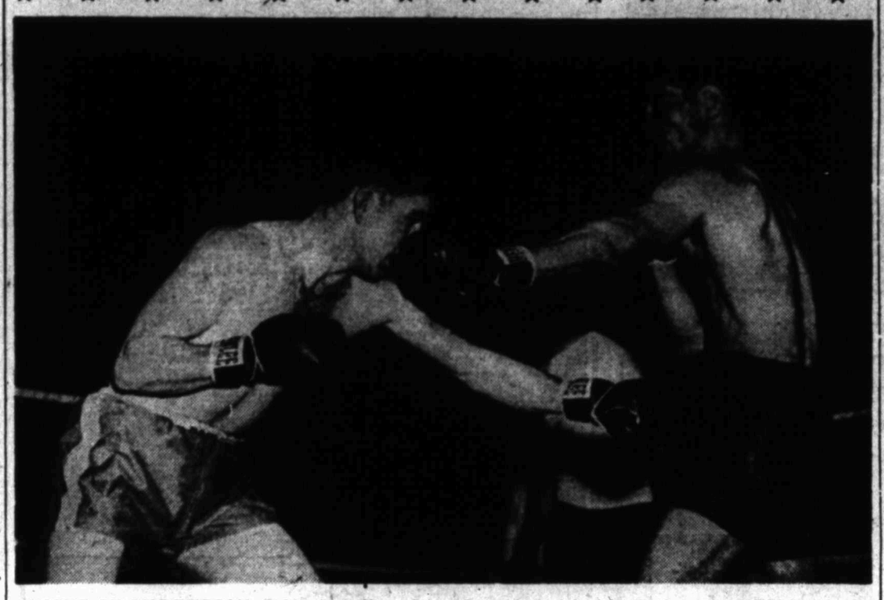

It was the 51st victory in 56 pro starts for Bertolino, who was presented a championship belt immediately after the fight. For Henderson it was the third setback—and second by a knockout—in 32 pro bouts. Both the earlier defeats were administered by Frenchman Jean Mougin.

Before this fight, it had been agreed that the two would meet in a return match at Galveston. Whether Henderson's handlers will want an early rematch after last night's convincing Bertolino win remains to be seen.

Leonard Duncan, Hale Center middleweight, racked up his ninth success in ten pro efforts by scoring a TKO over flabby Gil Ramirez, El Paso in 1 minute 23 seconds of the second round. Ramirez, though outclassed, amazed the crowd by taking an almost unbelievable amount of punishment before going down.

Joe Chaplin, a Shreveport welterweight with some peculiar footwork that amused the throng, was too classy for Jimmy Moreland, Lubbock, and scored a clean knockout in 1 minute 37 seconds of the first round. A straight right to the chin was the finisher.

In a lively four-round opener, Juan Henerra, El Paso featherweight, and Enrique Morales, San Antonio, battled to a draw. Morales took a slight lead in the first, but Hererra evened things up in the second and the two fought on even terms through the closing two stanzas.

Alderson Racks Up 31 Points For Tech

By AL WILLIAMS
Avalanche Sports Writer

Sophomore Jack Alderson went on a scoring spree at Tech gym last night, scoring 31 points to lead the Red Raiders to a 62-43 victory over Checker Cab of San Angelo before a slim crowd of 200 persons.

The Tech guard hit from all positions on the court with a sizzling one-handed push shot that got hotter as the game progressed. Starting off rather shakily Alderson connected with but three field goals and a free throw in the first half, but in the second he could not miss, plunking in 10 field goals and four charity tosses.

The Cabbers were playing without the services of their star forward, big Norman Berge, but managed to hold the Raiders well in check the first half and trailed 26-20, at the end of the period.

During the first stanza the score changed hands twice and was tied four times, with Tech going ahead for the final time with 6:30 left in the first half when Jiggs Jackson followed up a short shot with a tip-in to put the Raiders in front, 16-15.

The six-point halftime margin was pushed to 17 points midway of the last half, and a last minute flurry of Cabber shots kept the margin from being greater than the final 19-point gap.

Next high scorer for Texas Tech was guard Jackson with 14 points, and forward Verdell Turner was third with seven.

Pacing the Checker Cab five was Norman Hopkins, tall 6-foot, 7-inch center with 12 points, made on eight free throws and two field goals. John Kiick, San Angelo High cage coach, followed through with 11 points on four field goals and three free throws.

Shooting the first half by Tech was very erratic, allowing the Cabbers to go ahead, 6-2, after four minutes of play when Hugh Welch sank a close whirl shot. Alderson sank a push shot from near the free throw circle, but Hopkins and Kiick scored to push the count to 9-4, for the visitors, their widest margin.

With Verdell Turner, Gene Gibson and Jackson chopping away at the Tech deficit, the Raiders tied the score at 10-all, then 12-12 and finally 14-14 before pulling out in front to stay.

Tech Leads Last Half

Most of San Angelo's scoring was done from about eight feet away from the basket, and as the game wore on shots were taken from farther out.

During the last half Tech ruled the backboards, with Gibson, Turner and Alderson snaring the ball consistently.

Tech's fast break began to tell on the Cab quintet shortly before the half ended, and during the final period the Raiders were able to break away for crip shots through the zone defense opposing them.

Grid Rule In Court Test

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19. (AP)—A football player's suit for $4,100, seeking a test of the vital pro contract reserve clause, went to trial today in federal court after a directed verdict was denied.

Judge David A. Pine refused a motion of the Washington Redskins for a verdict in the club's favor. The player, fullback Ralph Ruthstrom, formerly of SMU, contends he was prevented from making a living during suspension by the National League club. He said the reserve clause kept him from joining a Buffalo, N.Y., team.

The clause binds a player to the club holding his contract, unless he is released. It is an important part of the structure of professional baseball and football. Several court attacks have been made on it by baseball players.

In Philadelphia, Commissioner Bert Bell of the National-American Football League—newly formed by merger of the two big outfits—said the National Football League contract does not constitute "slavery." He said its reserve clause gives the club the right to extend a contract to May 1 beyond its expiration date.

Bell said the league is prepared to defend the clause in court if necessary.

Ruthstrom's attorney, James J. Laughlin, said he would ask the court to rule whether the contract and reserve clause are legal.

Laughlin said that Redskins president Geogre Marshall suspended Ruthstrom in 1947; that the player sought a release so he could play with Buffalo of the All-America Conference but that he wasn't released until 1948.

Marshall said that Ruthstrom left the team without permission. The Redskins filed a counter suit for $241.80 today, contending the player owed the club on a loan.

Ruthstrom now is owned by the Baltimore Colts.

Marshall Fires 63 For CC Mark

Raymond Marshall cracked the Lubbock Country club course record Monday by firing an eight-under-par 63 over the 6,233-yard layout.

Marshall's performance trimmed one stroke off the former record, set by Dallas' Don Schumacher in the 1946 Texas PGA tourney and later equalled by Lofton Burnette and Gene Towry, both of Lubbock.

Playing the back nine first, Marshall fired a sizzling 30, six under par, to establish a new mark for the back nine while en route to the 18-hole record.

His remarkable back-nine display featured successive eagles on Nos. 13 and 14. On the par 5 No. 13, he chipped into the cup from just off the green. On the 350-yard No. 14, he powered his drive to within six feet of the cup, then holed the putt for a deuce.

He also had two birdies and five pars on the back nine.

Marshall bogeyed No. 1 as he began the front nine, but settled down to shoot three birdies and five pars on the remaining eight holes for a 33, two below par.

Marshall's record-shattering round was shot while he was playing in a fivesome which included Roy Cooper, Jack Markham, Gene Towry and Billy Tatum. Towry, who saw his own record broken, had a four-under-par 67 Monday while playing with Marshall.

Lubbock Seeking Ninth Victory

Westerners, Pampa Meet Here Tonight

Pampa's Harvesters invade Chapman fieldhouse tonight at 8 o'clock to take on Lubbock's Westerner quintet in a non-conference basketball game

The contest will be the fifth for Pampa, sporting a four game winning streak, and Lubbock will be after its ninth win in 10 starts, having lost only to Borger this season.

Seeks Ninth Win

The Westerners are seeking to stretch their new string of victories, having won three in a row in winning the Wayland college basketball tourney in Plainview last weekend.

Pacing the Harvester attack will be Jimmy Howard, 5-foot, 10-inch guard and James Gallemore, 6-foot, three inch center. Gallemore and Howard are the only two regulars off last year's squad which tied for the 1-AA crown with Lubbock and Amarillo, being beaten in the playoffs by the Westerners.

Three squadmen of the past season round out the Harvester lineup. They are Tony Jones, forward; Dwain Reno, forward; and Jack Sutton, guard.

Sexton, Wilson Lead Team

Leading the Westerners tonight will be Forward Jimmy Sexton and Center Jim Wilson, both lettermen. Wilson has scored 77 points this year in nine games, and Sexton has accounted for 70.

At the other forward post will be Tom Cheatham, and guards are Carl Ince and Richard Allen. Probable substitutes are Walter Norton at center, Morris Turner at guard, Garnet Reeves at forward and Bill Williams at guard.

Price of admission to the game will be 60 and 30 cents. On Wednesday the Westerner and Cowhand teams play Abilene at Chapman fieldhouse.

Shooting Stressed

Monday in practice at Lubbock High school, Coach David Cook sent his squad through a brisk workout, followed by a scrimmage with the Cowhands.

In early practice concentration was on shooting and ball handling, with figure eights and lay-up shots being used to help timing.

Two-Minute Rule May Be Repealed

NEW YORK, Dec. 19. (AP)—Bruce Drake of Oklahoma and Sam Barry of Southern California, members of the National Basketball Rules Committee, both predicted today that the controversial two-minute rule will be wiped off the books by next season.

The rule, providing that a team which is fouled in the last two minutes of a game not only gets to make the free throws but also retains possession of the ball, has been severely criticized.

Both Garry and Drake expressed disapproval of the rule, but pointed out that it had been approved by a vote of the National Coaches Association before it was put into the code.

"We spent four hours on the last two minutes," Drake said as he explained how the provision had been debated in the rules committee session last spring. "The vote was very close."

"I want to emphasize, however, that every recommendation submitted by coaches was passed."

The first professional football game ever played was on Aug. 31, 1895, between Latrobe, Pa., (12) and Jeanette, Pa., (0).

Texas To Lead Nation In Number Of Pro Baseball Clubs Next Year

State Tops North Carolina With 47

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Dec. 19 — Texas Suh, is in a bragging mood about its baseball. Of course, it is most unusual for Texans to stick out their chest, being the quiet, reserved and modest people they are.

But the Lone Star State will lead the nation in number of professional ball clubs next year with 47, finally passing North Carolina, which next season will be able to muster only 44 in seven leagues.

A new league and the addition of two new clubs to another gave Texas the edge on North Carolina, which always has been the leader—until now.

There will be eight leagues operating in Texas next spring. Thirteen of the 60 clubs will be in bordering states.

The new league is the Class D Gulf Coast, which takes in Port Arthur, Galveston, Jacksonville and Lufkin, Tex., and Crowley and Lake Charles, La.

The Rio Grande Valley League, which has raised its classification from D to C, has added Alice and Harlingen to make it an eight-club circuit. Other members are Corpus Christi, Robstown, McAllen, Del Rio, Laredo and Brownsville.

Other leagues in Texas will be the same as last year when close to 4,000,000 attendance was reported for seven circuits.

The other leagues:

Texas League (Class AA)—Houston, Dallas, San Antonio, Beaumont and Fort Worth, Tex.; Tulsa and Oklahoma City, Okla.; Shreveport, La.

Big State League (Class B)—Austin, Wichita Falls, Waco, Greenville, Gainesville, Texarkana, Sherman-Denison, Temple (all Texas clubs).

East Texas League (Class C)—Bryan, Kilgore, Henderson, Paris, Marshall, Longview, Tyler, Gladewater (all Texas clubs).

West Texas-New Mexico League (Class C)—Pampa, Borger, Amarillo, Lubbock, Abilene and Lamesa, Tex.; Albuquerque and Clovis, N. M.

Longhorn League (Class D)—Midland, Sweetwater, Vernon, Odessa, San Angelo, Big Spring and Ballinger, Tex.; Roswell, N. M.

Arizona-Texas League (Class C)—El Paso, Tex.; Juarez, Mexico; Bisbee-Douglas, Tucson, Phoenix and Globe-Miami, Ariz.

MILLS GAINS—Cotton Mills (12), Port Arthur back, rakes a gain against Austin High in their Class AA semifinals game at Port Arthur, Dec. 16. Mills was stopped by Guard Bill Trafton (77) and Center J. T. Seaholm (42). Austin won the game, 20 to 14, to advance to the finals. Austin will meet Wichita Falls for the state crown Friday, Dec. 23.

Dimmitt, Springlake Dominate All-District 3-B Football Team

SPRINGLAKE, Dec. 19. (Special)—The Dimmitt Bobcats and Springlake Wolverines landed three men each on the official All-District 3-B football team announced today by Springlake Principal S. T. Newman, district chairman.

Champion Olton, Anton, Farwell, Hale Center and Friona each placed one player on the first team.

Selections were made by vote of the district's coaches. Second team choices and honorable mention players also were announced today by Newman.

Line Averages 163

The first-team line averages 163 pounds per man, while the backfield has a weight average of 154 pounds.

A feature of the all-district selections was the choice of 126-pound Max LaDuke, Olton's "watch fob" guard, for a first-team berth. The diminutive Mustang lineman is the smallest player so honored. The heaviest first-team selection is 220-pound Earl Jordan, Springlake tackle.

Team Listed

The complete first team included:

ENDS — Lloyd Leasure, 155, Dimmitt Bobby Poteet, 150, Farwell.

TACKLES — Earl Jordan, 220, Springlake Jack Dyer, 180, Hale Center.

GUARDS — Bill Murphy, 160, Dimmitt; Max La Duke, 126, Olton.

CENTER — Melvin Massey, 150, Friona.

QUARTERBACK — J. J. Barlow, 175, Springlake.

HALFBACKS — Junior Smith, 145, Springlake; Bobby Glasscock, 140, Anton.

FULLBACK — Everett Wilkerson, 155, Dimmitt.

Other selections included:

Austin Maroons Begin Work For State Class AA Playoff

AUSTIN, Dec. 19. (AP)—The Austin Maroons, a team that wasn't given much of a chance to get past its own district, began preparing today for their Class AA championship football game with undefeated Wichita Falls Friday at Fort Worth.

J. T. Seaholm, Austin's first string center, who was injured in the third quarter of the Maroons 20-14 upset of previously unbeaten Port Arthur last week, is expected to be ready for action Friday.

Tech Eleven Holds Drill

In a long workout Monday at Jones stadium, the Texas Tech Red Raider gridders got down to serious work after several days of conditioning.

Coach Dell Morgan's Raisin Bowl-bound squad worked on play assignments and dummy blocking drills before coming together for a dummy scrimmage.

The passing attack is being stepped up sharply in practice, and when Tech meets San Jose State the air may be full of Raider aerials. A whole new series of pass plays were effective in practice.

Morale of the squad is good, and the players went through their drills with lots of enthusiasm and pep.

Looking good in running plays were Fullback Bud Conley and Walter Maloney, both flashing lots of speed on ground plays.

In the line Guard Dan Pursel was acting linebacker on defense and doing a good job covering pass receivers. Passes from the arm of Ernest Hawkins were hitting their mark with regularity, but receivers were experiencing difficulty holding onto the pigskin after the short layoff from regular practice the early part of December.

Tech will continue its drills daily at Jones stadium through Dec. 27, except for time off over the weekend for Christmas holidays.

San Jose's Spartans Begin Bowl Practice

SAN JOSE, Calif., Dec. 19 (AP)—San Jose State's Spartans pulled on their football togs today after a three weeks layoff to practice for their Raisin Bowl game in Fresno, Dec. 31, with Texas Tech's Red Raiders.

Coach Bill Hubbard sent his charges through a two-hour drill, half of it in light scrimmage, and observed they appeared rusty after the lengthy absence from the practice field.

All 41 members of the Bowl squad reported in good physical condition. Injuries had plagued the team during the regular season.

Dud Degroot, former San Jose State mentor now coaching at the University of West Virginia, attended the practice. He warned the local coaching staff that Texas Tech had the reputation of being formidable. Degroot's West Virginia club tied Texas Western which lost to Texas Tech.

VANCOUVER BANS LOUIS

VANCOUVER, B. C., Dec. 19. (AP)—Joe Louis, former world heavyweight boxing champion, will not be allowed to fight exhibition bouts here. Chairman Alex Fisher of the Vancouver Boxing and Wrestling Commission made that definite today. "No Louis exhibition will be permitted here," he said, explaining that such bouts serve "no good purpose."

SPORTS Slants
BY CHOC HUTCHESON

Now that Joe Louis has announced his decision to try to regain the heavyweight boxing title from Ezzard Charles, we'll soon be hearing the old sports writers' chorus, "Don't do it, Joe. Quit while you're on top."

For half a decade or more, scribes have been advising Louis to retire. It seems that every time some "name" writer needs a few quick bucks, he dashes off a magazine article dishing out fatherly advice to the Brown Bomber. Apparently the market for such pieces is unlimited; I know I have read at least 50.

Personally, I regret that Louis is returning to competition. In my ledger, he's the greatest heavyweight champ we've ever had—in and out of the ring. If he should lose in his comeback effort, his record would be unjustly blemished. Many fans would be quick to forget that the current Joe Louis is just the shadow of the savage tan tiger who blasted Max Schmeling into unconsciousness in less than one round.

It's unfortunate, I think, that a fighter of Joe's caliber is destined to be judged largely on the basis of performances turned in long after he passed his peak.

By this, I'm not hinting that Louis is "washed up." He still is the greatest living heavyweight, I believe, although I expect Charles' sizzling speed to trouble the Bomber plenty when—and if—the two get together.

But the point I started out to make is that, regardless of what the nation's sports writers may say, Louis is fully entitled to make his own decisions. To date, he has done remarkably well. I recall that, before the second Conn bout, scores of scribes advised Joe to hang 'em up for keeps. Well, he didn't—and he went on to show the gents behind the typewriters that he knew what he was doing. In his post-war bouts, he has picked up more cash than I would care to count; and, ironically, many of the writers who were telling him to quit are now gone and forgotten.

In view of Louis' sound judgment in past years, the public should reserve comment on his comeback until the final decision is in. Joe himself says, "I think that Louis has one more good fight in his system."

Maybe he's right.

An amusing (but unverified) yarn making the rounds is that Littlefield Coach J. S. Fikes took his ferocious Wildcat gridders into a cafe for a post-game steak dinner. When the waitress asked if he wanted the steaks cooked "rare, medium, or well," Fikes is reported to have replied, "Raw, please!"...Co-Captain Joe Brock of the 1949 Lubbock Westerners has been named to a tackle position on the 60-man All-Southern schoolboy football squad. A few eyebrows have been lifted because Amarillo's Jack Newby was given a squad berth while Lubbock's Bobby Brown was relegated to honorable mention. One wag quipped, "Both of 'em probably got the honor because of that great Newby-to-Brown passing combination in this year's Sandie-Westerner game" (Brown, you know, intercepted three Newby aerials)...Gus White, jr., the ex-Lamesa High football star who now plays polo out of White Plains, N. Y., has retained his seven-goal handicap for the coming year. Gallopin' Gus is ranked as one of the nation's most promising young poloists...There's some loose talk of matching Gene James, local heavyweight, with Jimmy Curl, the hard-hitting San Antonio middleweight. Despite the weight disparity, it should make a good match. Curl is one of the South's best ringmen, when he wants to be.

WILDCATS IN TOP CONDITION

LITTLEFIELD, Dec. 19. (AP)—The Littlefield Wildcats, who next Monday meet Mexia for the Class A schoolboy football title, expect their toughest game of the season. Coaches of the South Plains eleven say the squad will be in good shape for the tilt, to be played in Abilene.

The Massillon Tigers and the Canton Bulldogs, pioneer pro football teams, both were formed in 1905.

Ohio Preps For Rose Bowl

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 19 (INS)—Ohio State university's scarlet and grey-clad gridiron warriors buckled down today for their first serious practice in the 14-day interim before they tangle with the best in the west—California—in the 1950 Rose Bowl game in Pasadena.

Wes Fesler, the Buckeye's confident coach, said his team would have two workouts a day to get the kinks ironed out and to get in shape for the January 2 battle with Coach Lynn (Pappy) Waldorf's champs of the Pacific Coast.

The Bears are rated six points favorites in the Big Ten's fourth Rose Bowl battle with the best the western states could produce. Up to now the midwestern teams have all scored victories, Northwestern trimming the Bears last year by a touchdown margin.

The Bucks are rehearsing their plays at Brookside Park, just a pass and a point away from the huge stadium where they will meet California officially come the day after New Year's. They practiced today despite a downpour of rain which gave the Bucks a right-at-home feeling, it having rained the day they left Columbus.

Fesler's team, with the exception of six players who are coming by train, arrived last night by plane two hours late in the rain. They went immediately to the Huntington Hotel in Pasadena, traditional stopping place for Rose Bowl visitors. Thirty-seven players made the trip.

Practices at Brookside are closed to the public but are open to newspapermen.

Cards-Browns Civil Suit Goes To Court

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 19. (INS)—Court testimony in a civil suit between the St. Louis Cardinals and St. Louis Browns baseball teams today revealed that Fred M. Saigh, jr., and the late Robert E. Hannegan bought the Cardinals for $60,800 in cash.

The rest of the money needed to swing the deal was obtained as follows:

A loan from the St. Louis First National bank for $3,000,000; $550,000 in short-term loans from Sam Breadon, the former owner; $150,000 from Mrs. Mark Steinberg, wife of a St. Louis broker; and $1,500,000 by mortgaging the Rochester, Houston and Columbus farm clubs.

The testimony was given by George Simpkins, secretary-treasurer of the Cardinals in a trial involving the Cardinal's contract to play in Sportsman's Park.

Mac Speedie of the Cleveland Browns caught passes for 1,028 yards—better than a half-mile—during the 1949 season.

West Team Gridders Hold First Workout

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 19. (AP)—Western football stars, with Matty Bell of Southern Methodist directing offensive tactics as head coach, held their first workout today for the East-West charity game here, Dec. 31.

Bell, whose SMU team gave mighty Notre Dame its toughest battle of the 1949 season, gave the Western squad basic plays in his version of the single and double wingback formations. He was assisted by Coaches Leo "Dutch" Meyer of Texas Christian and Jeff Cravath of Southern California.

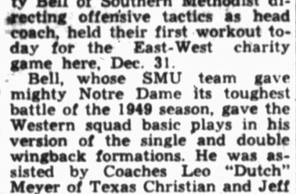

Eddie LeBaron, clever College of the Pacific quarterback, was assigned to the tailback position in the backfield group. It is the key position in the wingback setup, calling for most of the ball handling. Lindy Berry of Texas Christian was named tailback in the other quartet.

Berry called signals in a suit that included Ken Carpenter, Oregon State at left half; Don Paul, Washington State, right half, and Dick McKissack, Southern Methodist, fullback.

Although LeBaron has played the T-formation quarterback position for the last three years, head Coach Bell predicted the five foot eight inch 165 pounder would easily fit into the wingback style.

Brooklyn and Boston struggled through a 1935 National Football League game with only three first downs between them.

20 Years Ago...

THEN, A CHRISTMAS GIFT FOR A FEW ... NOW, GIFT OF PROTECTION FOR MULTITUDES !

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY, a thousand school teachers and one hospital founded the Blue Cross-Blue Shield Plan. On that December 20, 1929, they designed a Christmas gift of freedom from anxiety about the cost of illness, a gift which half-a-million Texans now enjoy.

In its first year Blue Cross paid less than $10,000 for its members' hospital care; that annual amount has swelled to $4 million for this year. Blue Shield, the companion plan created in 1946, already provides nearly a million dollars annually in doctors' services.

Blue Cross-Blue Shield, serving their purpose well for 35,000,000 throughout America, can be of the same service now to still other employees and their families. If your organization has as many as five employees, all of you can enjoy this worry-free protection.

This plaque at Baylor Hospital, Dallas, commemorates the founding there in December, 1929, of the Blue Cross Plan "in appreciation of the origin of this movement which has contributed so greatly to progress in health care and which has made hospital service available to millions."

Police Continue Shooting Probe

Officers were continuing investigation in Lubbock Monday into the Saturday night fatal shooting of Robert S. Spence, 24, of Morton, but reported no new developments.

A cold trail also met officers investigating the armed robbery of Payne's Food store at 4118 Ave. H on Saturday night which netted two men approximately $1,500.

In the Spence case, the district attorney's and the sheriff's departments said "four or five men known to gamble frequently" had been questioned Monday in connection with the case.

Men Deny Presence

None of them were at the apartment in the 1900 block Ave. R when the shooting took place, they told officers. All disclaimed any knowledge of the trouble.

"That leaves us right where we were," an official said.

John Dayton Ritter, 43, former Oklahoma City resident who reportedly had been in Lubbock several months, remained in county jail here in denial of bail in connection with a charge of murder with malice in the case.

In a signed statement, Ritter said after his arrest that Spence had attempted to hijack a dice game in the apartment. Ritter and S. E. Melton of 1908 Ave. Q, another witness to the shooting, told officials that Spence had been in the game earlier in the night.

Other Activities Reported

Meanwhile, Lubbock police and the sheriff's department reported a collection of less important activities on the crime front.

Mrs. Earl Creel of 3603 Twenty-sixth street told police that a man's suit and a lady's suit and blouse had been stolen from a car parked in the 1200 block Texas avenue about 5:45 p. m. Monday. She said the articles were valued at $125.

Theft of a $20 watch from J. F. Duncan, at Duncan's cafe in the 800 block Broadway, was reported to police.

S. T. Sewell of Stadium Courts, 405 College Ave., reported that his 1941 four-door Dodge sedan, license EY 4271, had been stolen.

Robbery Suspect Released

Talmadge Monroe Bonham, 17, of Bonham, was released from county jail Sunday after posting bonds totaling $45,000 in connection with robbery with firearms charges in Lubbock, Crosby and Dickens county. An indictment was returned a week ago in one of the charges by a Dickens county grand jury. Efforts are being made to arrange an early trial date.

Six pleas of guilty of misdemeanor offenses were entered by five defendants Monday in the Court of County Judge Walter Davies the county attorney's department announced.

They were listed as:

Gwyn Heard, $5 and costs, violation of check law; Leon White, 42, a negro, $25 and costs and three days in jail, theft; Homer Furgerson, 30, of Slaton, $100 and costs and $150 and costs on two charges of carrying a pistol; and Joe Hernandez and Garland H. Gilmore, 34, $75 and costs each on drunk driving charges.

One of the charges against Furgerson was filed in August, the other Monday, it was explained.

Bill Allpaugh of a mile and a half north of Slaton said a 410-gauge shotgun and a .22 calibre seven-shot rifle, both in khaki case, had been taken in a burglary of his residence.

$120 Reported Taken

William Neal, a negro of 1325 East Thirty-first, reported $120 in money lost in a burglary of his residence. The money was in a small chest that was removed from the place, he said.

Another negro, Claud Robison, who works on the Frank Love farm two miles south of Abernathy, said he had been "knocked in the head" and robbed of $11 at a dine and dance place in the negro section of Lubbock Saturday night.

Reporting late Sunday, he told sheriff's deputies he did not "realize what had happened" until a brief time before he made his complaint.

ly to any willful invasion or disregard of what I regard as my legal rights and I do not intend to make any exception in favor of John L. Lewis."

Dawson's suit was in the form of a petition for injunction which asked the court to prevent Lewis from spending any part of the funds remaining in the board's account or transferring any part of it to any other account.

Dawson, who is from Louisville, also asked that the court assess cost of his action against Lewis individually rather than against the welfare fund account.

An estimated $13 million have been paid in by the operators to the fund since July 1.

Floydada Officers Continue Probe Of Auto Firm Burglary

FLOYDADA, Dec. 19. (Special) — Investigation of the Saturday night break-in and robbery of the Oden Chevrolet firm here was being continued Monday but no arrests in the case have been announced by officers.

Approximately $300 in cash and $1,100 in checks were taken from the firm's safe, company officials estimated, although $27.30 was dropped by the thieves as they crawled out of a shop window.

The theft was discovered by an employe, Adrian Fields, Sunday morning.

Officers reported that the thieves apparently gained entrance through a window in the rear of the shop, then entered the office through another window inside. The knob of the safe was knocked, then the safe was carried into the shop. Shop tools were used to open the safe.

Few clues have been found by officers conducting the investigation, but more than one person was believed involved in the theft.

Quick Action Needed

In the case of the chairmanship of the National Securities Resources Board, the President wants to act as soon as possible.

Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman, who has been serving as acting chairman, has, with the help of administrative assistant David Stowe, worked out a flexible industrial mobilization plan to the point where he thinks it can be turned over to some one else. Because the plan is subject to constant change there is no present intention to submit it to Congress.

Meanwhile, the President took his last dip in the Gulf today, and soaked in more sunshine on the sands of the enlisted men's beach.

He goes Back to Washington more tanned, but not a thinner man, although he appears completely rested and relaxed.

The President meets with his cabinet at 9 a.m. (CST) Thursday to talk over the prospective messages, a tax program and other problems.

Then, he flies to Independence, Mo., Friday morning to spend the Christmas holidays at his home there with Mrs. Truman and Margaret.

If the final total should exceed the requested $3,000, it will be used to pay for the merchandise already bought. The bills already exceed the $3,000 budget because there are more children to remember than was anticipated at the start of the campaign.

NO FIRE FOUND

Lubbock firemen called to Pup Thomas Hudson agency at 1704 Main at 8:34 p.m. Monday, reported they found no fire.

Bert Wallace, Widely Known Rancher, Dies

Bert Wallace, 56, widely-known Clairemont rancher, died about 5:50 p.m. Monday in Lubbock Memorial hospital. Wallace had been a patient at the hospital for several days, undergoing treatment for a heart ailment.

He was known throughout the state as a rancher-stockman.

Definite funeral arrangements had not been made by the family last night, Rix Funeral home reported.

It was understood here that Wallace was a graduate of the University of Oklahoma and a veteran of World War I. The family formerly resided in Abilene for several years, although Wallace himself spent much of the time at his ranch in Kent county.

He was a member of the Episcopal church.

Survivors include the wife; two sons, Bilby Wallace of Clairemont, and Joe Wallace, a Texas Tech student; and one daughter, Mrs. Joe E. Baldridge of Lubbock.

A second case was similar. The AFL automobile drivers and demonstrators picketed George E. Cline's used car business in Seattle to try to compel him to remain closed on Saturdays. State courts ordered the picketing halted.

Damages Awarded

The third case involved a $500 damage award to W. L. Gazzam, owner of the Enetai Inn at Bremerton. His hotel was picketed by the building service employes union in an effort to force unionization of its workers. Local courts banned the picketing and made the damage award.

The State Supreme court held that such picketing is illegal if none of the workers is a member of the union or has expressed a desire to join. It called the action coercive in that it attempted to compel Gazzam to ask his men to join the union.

In another action, the high court in effect upheld a finding that automobile clubs are liable for federal income and excess profits taxes.

Review Is Refused

The court also refused to review a lower court decision that the Army acted within its rights in arresting a civilian in Texas for removal to Germany for court martial on an old charge.

The civilian was James W. Mobley, who was arrested at Houston on March 28, 1949. A former civilian employe of an Army post exchange at Frankfurt, he was arrested on a charge of improper use of cigarette coupons.

He was discharged and later, the Army contended, fled to this country.

Lower courts had refused to order his release, and the Supreme court declined to overturn this decision.

Nation's Crops

poultry products—has exceeded 3,000,000,000 bushels.

This year's production includes near record crops of soy beans, grain sorghum and tree nuts, relatively large crops of cotton, cottonseed, wheat, oats, flaxseed, tobacco, apples, peaches, cherries, hops, cranberries, sugar cane for sugar, and truck crops.

Smaller than average crops were reported only for barley, rye, buckwheat, popcorn, sorghum forage and silage, dry peas, sweet potatoes, sorghum and sugar cane syrup, apricots and maple products.

The department said about 356,000,000 acres of the 52 principal crops were harvested this year, or nearly 4,000,000 acres more than last year. The nearest approach to this total since 1932 is the 352,500,000 acres in 1944. Since the department started keeping records in 1909, only the acreage of 1930 and 1932 top the current total.

Yields per acre were above average for most crops although wheat, flaxseed and dry pears were notable exceptions.

Nearly 163,000,000 tons of the eight grains were harvested this year, o total exceeded only by the 180,500,000 tons last year.

The livestock feed grain total was reported at 126,000,000 tons, compared with 138,000,000 last year. Nevertheless, the volume is the second largest of record.

Production of vegetable oil seeds—soybeans, peanuts, flaxseed and cottonseed—was about 15,300,000 tons, virtually equal to last year's record, and 41 percent above average.

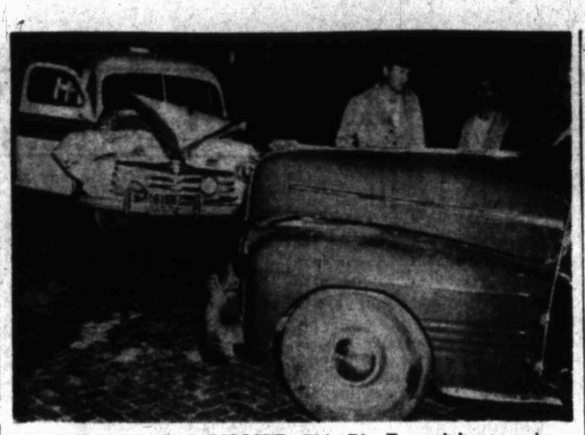

Fruit production was reported at 9,800,000 tons, or 14 percent more than last year and only six percent under the record 1946 tonnage.

FINAL REPORT ON TEXAS 1949 WHEAT CROP GIVEN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19. (AP)—Texas' bumper 1949 wheat crop was estimated today by the U. S. Department of Agriculture as 102,848,000 bushels.

The department's final report on the year's production said the Texas crop produced an average of 14.5 bushels per acre from 7,093,000 acres.

Corn production for Texas was set at 58,208,000 bushels, or 22.5 bushels per acre from 2,587,000 acres; oats at 34,020,000 bushels or 27 bushels per acre from 1,260,000 acres; grain sorghums at 92,676,000 bushels, or 24 bushels per acre from 3,869,000 acres; potatoes 3,696,000 bushels from 38,000 acres at 97 bushels per acre; rice 22,618,000 bushels at 43 bushels per acre for 526,000 acres.

AMBULANCE, CAR COLLIDE—This Rix Funeral home ambulance, answering a false alarm wreck call, got into the real thing at the intersection of Broadway and Ave. G. Monday night when it collided with the side of a 1941 Pontiac, hood showing at the right. Miss Joyce Sandlin, 18, of 2418 Ninth street, received a fractured collar bone. Drivers of the car and ambulance were not hurt. (Staff Photo by Tom Davis.)

and bruises.

Melot remained in Lubbock Memorial hospital last night, where attendants said his condition was "good" although he had lost a considerable amount of blood.

Hits Back Of Car

He was driving an old model Ford which collided with the rear of a 1938 Ford driven by John Harold McDonald, about 48, who lives two blocks north of the accident scene. McDonald was not injured.

McDonald told Texas Highway patrolmen that he was making a left hand turn when the accident occurred. Melot was thrown to the pavement. Officers reported that while waiting for an ambulance, Melot was all but run over by a motorcycle when its driver failed to obey warning flashlights being used to direct traffic.

Rix and McDonald Funeral home ambulances answered the first wreck call, with the Rix ambulance taking Melot to the hospital.

The second call, either a prank or the outgrowth of the first wreck, was answered by the Rix ambulance which collided with the car. After the ambulance-car wreck, a Sanders Funeral home ambulance took over the Rix call, but its driver reported he found no wreck on East Broadway. A McDonald Funeral home ambulance took Miss Sandlin to Lubbock Memorial hospital.

City Patrolmen A. E. Sherrell and Bob West said they gave a traffic summons to Dwight for failure to grant right of way to the ambulance.

The front of the ambulance was heavily damaged, while the right side of the car was smashed in by the impact of the collision. The ambulance was going east on Broadway— the car south on Ave. G.

the accused union which sought to get into the hearing. The group peaceably submitted to orders that only eight could go into the room with Durkin.

Following the office workers, the panel headed by strongly anti-Communist Emil Rieve, will turn to charges against the CIO public workers. Eight other CIO unions are similarly accused. The charges were made before the CIO executive committee at the CIO convention. The executive committee was given power to expel unions refusing to adhere to CIO policy, which is anti-Red.

Graveside Rites Held For Three Victims Of Collision

BROWNFIELD, DEC. 19.—(Special) — Unaware her parents and brother were killed in a traffic accident near Brownfield, little Nicolosa Miranda, 9, lay seriously ill today at Sanitorium, Texas.

The little girl has been under treatment at Sanitorium for tuberculosis. Saturday night, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Felipe Miranda, and brother, Nafario, 12, were killed near here while enroute to her bedside to take her home.

Graveside services for the three members of the family were held at 4 p.m. at Brownfield cemetery.

Burial arrangements were under the direction of the Brownfield Funeral home.

Another son, Bertal, who was driving the car, was reported resting well today by attendants of the Treadway-Daniel hospital here. Walter Chandler, 52, of Brownfield, the driver of the truck, was uninjured.

Talk On Mohammedanism Given At Toastmasters' Dinner Here

Ray Chapman's informative talk on Mohammedanism highlighted a series of four talks on religion at the Toastmasters' club dinner at the Hilton hotel Monday night and won for him the president's cup for the best speech of the program.

Other speakers on the program, acclaimed as the finest of the year, were made by A. B. Watkins, club president; Warren Faller and Hugh Anderson.

Dr. O. W. English was toastmaster for the dinner program and Leland Culp was topicmaster. Critics were: Edwin Merriman, O. L. Byrd, Bob Rose and Dr. G. G. Boysen with C. W. Ratliff serving as general critic.

Next meeting of the club will be on Jan. 9, meeting for the next two weeks having been cancelled because of the Christmas and New Year's Day holidays.

Barber College Quint Drops Lorenzo Veterans, 60 To 52

LORENZO, Dec. 19. (Special)—Lubbock Barber college defeated Lorenzo VFW, 60-52, here tonight in an independent basketball game after trailing at the midway point, 24-23.

For the winning Barber team Y. F. Bowley had 16 points and Dave Lawson made 14.

ilar warm readings were reported throughout the state as a pea-soup fog snarled Texas air traffic for hours early Monday and started drifting back in again last night.

The Weather bureau in Dallas said the cold wave headed for the state had left below-zero temperatures in Montana and North Dakota and was in the vicinity of Denver, Colo., last night.

It was due in the Panhandle area late tonight and in the Dallas area late Wednesday. But it was entirely possible, the Weather bureau in Dallas said, that the real cold weather would hit the Panhandle only and the rest of the state would only be "cooler."

Freezing Weather Seen

Should the cold front move into the South Plains on schedule and with full force, the mercury is expected to skid rapidly below freezing Wednesday morning and remain near the freezing level throughout the day with even colder weather Wednesday night and Thursday morning. Cooler weather is expected to continue the remainder of the week.

However, it was still too far away to take up the possibility of a white Christmas for the South Plains, the Weatherman indicated. Much of the northern portion of the nation, the Midwest and East coast likely will have snow coverings for the Yuletide.

Monday morning fog boosted the rate of traffic accidents on travel lanes already jammed with Christmas shoppers and grounded planes over the eastern part of the state, from Corpus Christi to Dallas the Associated Press said.

Fog Holds Up Ships

On the Gulf at Morgan's point, the entrance to the Houston ship channel, an observer of the Houston Maritime association said late Monday that not a single ship had passed the point, going in either direction, since Saturday because of fog. Eighteen ships were stacked at Bolivar roads (Galveston bay), waiting to come up the channel. Twenty were in Port Houston. The fog was not quite as thick in Houston last night and was expected to be blown away by winds by early Tuesday.

The weather continued unseasonably warm over the state, with Monday afternoon temperatures ranging from 55 at Dalhart in the upper Panhandle to the sixties across North Texas and into the seventies and low eighties in south-central and south Texas.

Slippery pavements from rain as well as fog contributed to a high traffic accident rate. San Antonio police reported 90 accidents over the weekend with two killed and 22 hurt—one of the worst weekend traffic tolls this year. Houston reported 101 weekend smash-ups and Police Chief B. W. Payne blamed it on fog and rain.

Private Recital Presented By Lubbock Speech Teacher

About 30 people attended a private speech recital by Nita Tatum, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Tatum of 2711 Twenty-fourth Monday night at the residence. The recital was presented by Mrs. Leo Healer, Lubbock speech teacher.

"The Littlest Angel" was the main recitation delivered. "Saturday's Orders," "Husbands" and "Grandma's Way" were also included on the program.

A Christmas motiff was featured in the decorations and refreshments.

Mr. Tatum is the president of the Lubbock School board.

Faculty Okayed

with 457 at present. Enrollment at Central Ward will be increased from 270 to 327.

The bus carrying the largest average group, Bus No. 2, route 1A, Levelland road, is being transferred to Central Ward. This bus was assigned to Central Ward during the 1948-49 school year, but was sent to Overton this past fall because cafeteria facilities were available there.

With the opening of the new cafeteria at Carroll Thompson Junior High and Central Ward anticipated soon after the opening of the second semester, bus students still will have hot lunches available in the cafeteria.

The other two buses involved in the change are Bus No. 23, which runs in the southwest part of the school district, and Bus No. 2, route 3. Both will carry students to the new school at Fortieth and Jackson.

Enrollment Takes Jump

When the M. C. Overton elementary school was opened in the fall of 1948 on half-day session at Roscoe Wilson school, only 194 students were enrolled. In January, when classes were transferred from Wilson to the new building, 208 students were enrolled. A total of 235 were listed last May. The remarkable increase in enrollment came this past September when enrollment reached 429. The only change in zone in the two years was moving the school boundary one block—from Tyler east to Harrison Ave.

In addition, only one sixth grade class is attending school at Overton, the other sixth graders in the Overton district attending classes at J. T. Hutchinson Junior High school.

The school board approved the change of buses as proposed by Matthews.

Textbook Committee Okayed

Other business occupying the attention of the board last night included approval of a textbook committee, election of several new teachers, acceptance of the resignation of one faculty member, and discussion of a proposed addition to the Roscoe Wilson elementary school.

Faculty members named to the textbook committee in addition to Supt. Matthews, were Miss Irene Armes, Miss Bessie Bullock, W. C. Watts, Miss Eddythe Walker, Mrs. Wesley B. Smith, and Mrs. Novella Dewhurst.

Election of th following new teachers was approved: Mrs. A. B. Hardin, Guadalupe school; and Mrs. Naomi R. Thompson, P. F. Brown school.

The resignation of Miss Barbara Ann Lunceford, a teacher in P. F. Brown school, was accepted.

No definite action was taken on a proposed addition to the Roscoe Wilson school.

School Calendar Extended

The board also approved the extension of the school calendar to have May 30, 1950 as the closing date of the 1949-50 school year instead of May 26 as originally planned.

At Monday's meeting, minutes were read on proceedings of an executive meeting of the school board several days ago. At that meeting, employment of an assistant business manager of the school district was authorized. The board also voted to extend the contract of Business Manager A. C. Jackson one year from the time of its expiration in July, 1950.

No action has thus far been taken on hiring an assistant business manager, it was said yesterday.

Those attending Monday's meeting were Clyde G. Tatum, president of the board, Glenn Woody, Don L. Jones, G. C. Dowell, Wm. H. Evans, Ruel Martin, Dr. M. M. Ewing, Supt. Matthews and A. C. Jackson.

The U. S. protest, to which this was an answer, came after the shelling of the Isbrandtsen line's Sir John Franklin off Shanghai last month. There were no casualties, but the vessel was hit 12 times.

Earlier, the Flying Cloud, which reputedly is going to make the run into Shanghai again regardless, was similarly shelled and hit, while two other Isbrandtsen vessels were detained and boarded by Nationalist naval forces.

Amherst Boys, Girls Cage Teams Win Over Bula Fives

AMHERST, Dec. 19. (Special)—Amherst boys and girls basketball squads racked up twin victories here tonight over Bula High school teams.

In the boys game, Amherst gained a 32 to 25, District 7-B win over Bula's hard-fighting cagers. Gerry Tollett and Bobby Davis led the winners with seven points each. Dudley Cash was high point man for the game and for the Bula five. He racked up 10 points.

Joyce McClelland's 16 points paced the Amherst girls to a 27 to 17 triumph over the Bula girls. Wanda Hall led the losers with five points.

Denfeld Rejects

military assistance program."

Denfeld also lashed out at the implicit gag applied to naval officers who have criticized Defense Secretary Johnson's unification policies. He said:

"In view of the events which have transpired since my testimony before the House Armed Services committee Oct. 15, I would be under an undesirable restraint on the vital matter of frank discussion with the military representatives of other North Atlantic pact nations."

Denfeld, referring to his congressional testimony in which he opposed the strategy concepts held by the Army and Air Force chiefs of staff, declared:

"My views on combined strategy, and particularly on naval participation in any arrangement whereby the countries concerned should be defended in the event of an emergency, might reopen the recent controversy to the embarrassment of my colleagues, my superiors, and our government."

The admiral said he will make up his mind by Jan. 19, when his leave expires, whether to retire. He said:

"If I decide to remain on active duty, I shall be glad to serve in any assignment in which the handicap imposed by recent events will not be present."

The letter, dated Dec. 14, was made public at Denfeld's own request.

Although he did not say whether he would accept demotion from four-star rank, he told Matthews:

"I appreciate your statement . . . that you desire me to retain my rank of admiral and to have an assignment in which my experience can best serve the nation."

Admiral Sherman, who relinquished the London post when he took over as chief of operations, has announced that if Denfeld refused the assignment it would go to Admiral Richard L. Conolly, who now holds it on a temporary basis.

Lamesa Gains 52-32 Basketball Victory Over Mineral Wells

LAMESA, Dec. 19. (Special)—Lamesa used thirteen players here tonight in gaining a 52 to 32 non-conference basketball victory over the Mineral Wells High school quintet. The Lamesans simply outplayed the game, but outclassed Mineral Wells team and led 29 to19 at the half.

The game's high point man was Center Bill Harrell, who racked up 17 points. High point man for Lamesa was Guard Bobby Hawkins with 12.

A girls game preceded the boys tilt, with Lamesa copping a 26 to 18 win over the girls from Loop school. Eva Mae Jones led the Lamesans with nine points and Annie Tate paced Loop with 10.

The two teams meet again tomorrow night.

ments in line with mutual defense in event of possible Russian aggression.

Assurances Given

President Truman has given assurances that no atomic knowhow will be dispensed without prior consent of Congress under the atomic security act.

It was believed that the President may ask Congress for such power sometime during the next session when the three-power atomic discussions reach a more positive stage.

In discussing the arms agreement among the U. S., Britain and Canada, Defense Secretary Johnson said that "no treaty, executive agreement or contractural obligation has been entered into by any of the participating nations." The secretary declared:

"These arrangements are decentralized to the working level agencies of the armed forces of the three nations for study in the various fields of military equipment and operational procedures.

Standards Sought

"The studies, which are carried on by exchange of observers, aim at the gradual development of common designs and standards in arms, equipment and training methods.

"Co-operative arrangements for this purpose do not impair the control of any country concerned over any activities in its territory."

Military leaders declared that there were many World War II incidents where U. S. and British armored forces were hampered because their tank ammunition was not the same.

One military spokesman said that armored units were put on ammunition rations during the 1944 Battle of the Bulge, when there would have been enough shells to go around had the munitions been interchangeable.

Submarine Defense

program would give them a total of seven.

This would still be less than half the U. S. Navy's existing number of battleships. Although the Missouri is the only one now in service, 15 other U. S. battleships are in reserve.

The U. S. Navy places much greater emphasis on aircraft carriers, of which Russia has none so far as is known in this country.

Aircraft Main Reliance

Adm. Forrest P. Sherman, the new chief of naval operations, said in a speech recently that for the foreseeable future the fast aircraft carrier task force will remain the principal offensive striking element in the U. S. fleet.

This country has a total of 102 aircraft carriers of all sizes in service or in reserve.

Major combat vessels now available to the U. S. Navy — including battleships, carriers, cruisers, destroyers and submarines—total 689. At the moment, 161 of these are in the Atlantic fleet, 82 in the Pacific and 446 in "mothballs." In addition the Navy has hundreds of smaller combat vessels and transports.

The United States has far fewer submarines than Jane's said the Russians now have. The U. S. U-boat fleet, in active service and in reserve, totals 166.

Northern Ireland's Parliament is being urged to help solve the "gypsy problem."

INCREASE TO START JAN. 1

Social Security Taxes To Take Bigger Bite Out Of Paychecks

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19. (AP)—Uncle Sam is about to take another bite out of your pay check. Starting Jan. 1 social security taxes are going up.

Employes covered by old age and survivors insurance have been paying taxes at a rate of one per cent on their first $3,000 of earnings per year. The rate will be boosted to one and one-half per cent the first of the year.

Employers, who match employe contributions, also will have their rates increased to one and one-half per cent.

First Increases Slated

This is the first increase in rates since the social security act went into effect in 1935. All previously scheduled increases have been deferred by direction of Congress.

A bill passed by the House but awaiting Senate approval would increase the taxes even further during the next 20 years. Under the bill the rate would go to two per cent for both employers and employes on Jan. 1, 1951; to 2½ per cent on Jan. 1, 1961, to 3 per cent on Jan. 1, 1965, and 3¼ per cent on Jan. 1, 1970.

Present law calls for the tax to go up only once more — to 2 per cent on Jan. 1, 1952.

Sad Change Expected

The social security trust fund still is receiving far more money than is being paid out. But after a few years, experts figure that more will be going out than coming in — even at the increased tax rates.

Should the Senate approve the House bill at the next session, old age benefits — which start at age 65 — would be increased by an average of about 80 per cent. The average primary benefit, now about $26 a month, would be boosted to an average of $44 a month.

The House-approved bill also would extend old age insurance coverage to about 11 million persons. Some 35 million workers are covered now.

The proposal also would raise the taxable amount of income from the present $3,000 to $3,600. This would provide larger insurance checks for workers when they pass the retirement age.

O. E. (Jack) Butler, 51, who was engineer at Hilton hotel for a 10-year period ending about five years ago, died Dec. 15 in a hospital at Berkeley, Calif., friends here learned Monday. Survivors include his wife, a native of Crosby county.

At Saunderton, England, 583 pounds of mushrooms recently were picked in a day.

Names May Add To Future Confusion

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 19. (AP)—The department of sheer coincidence at Mercy hospital has had to be expanded to take care of twins—three sets of 'em born in an 8-day period.

Not so much because all the look-alikes are boys, but because their parents must have used carbon paper to name them.

Here's how the roster reads —and it's no typographical error:

Ronald Gene and Donald Dean Bacon.

Ronald Theo and Donald Gene Magness.

Ronnie Lee and Donnie Dale Osborn.

None of the couples knew the other two. There's just something hyme-ish about Donald.

Services Set Today For Brownfield Man

BROWNFIELD, Dec. 19. (Special) — Funeral services for Joel Hyman, 38-year-old former Brownfield drug store owner who was found dead of suffocation Sunday afternoon in his hotel room here, will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Brownfield First Presbyterian church.

Rev. J. Preston Murphy will officiate and burial will take place in the Terry County Memorial cemetery under direction of the Brownfield Funeral home.

A verdict of death from accidental suffocation was rendered by Justice of the Peace J. P. Hogue today, said Police Chief Houston Hamilton.

Chief Hamilton said Hyman had been dead several hours when his body was discovered. A gas stove in the room was said to have consumed all the oxygen causing Hyman's death.

Hyman had been a resident of the hotel for three days.

Fort Worth Vet Opens Training For Proposed Swim Of 15 Miles

DENISON, Dec. 19. (AP)—Roy P. Sutter, 36-year-old wounded war veteran of Fort Worth, opened training this week for his proposed 15-mile swim on Lake Texoma May 14, 1950.

Sutter splashed two miles in 58-degree water in a small lake near his Fort Worth home. He plans to step up his training swims until mid-March, when he should be turning in 12-mile daily workouts.

The Purple Heart wearer scorns indoor pools as a means of winter water conditioning. He just slaps on a coat of grease, breaks the ice where necessary, and splashes away in the outdoor lakes.

Sutter, who splashed an estimated 360 miles in four months last summer, plans to attempt to shatter the world's inland lake distance swimming mark of 21 miles this summer.

His May date at Texoma will officially open the season for Sutter and by late July or early August he hopes to be in the peak of condition for his assault on the distance mark. He may make the attempt on Lake Texoma, too.

Two Freight Lines In State Move Nearer Expansion Goal

DALLAS, Dec. 19. (AP)—Plans of two Texas motor freight lines to extend their operations by hundreds of miles, requiring a large expansion of activity, moved a step nearer reality today at an Interstate Commerce conference.

The Herrin Transportation Co., of Houston, but with large facilities in Dallas, is seeking ICC permission to extend its routes westward to California.

J. V. Braswell, doing business as Braswell Motor Freight lines, of El Paso, also with considerable investment in Dallas, wants to haul general freight between Dallas and New Orleans, via Lufkin.

The ICC hearing was the first "pre-hearing conference" ever held in Dallas, according to R. E. Brady, ICC trial examiner from Washington.

Cotton Quotas To Face First Test Today

Texas Farmers Seek Injunction

By TEX EASLEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.— The legal battle of 10 Texas farmers against the announced cotton acreage control program in their state faces its first court test tomorrow.

William H. Shireman, Corpus Christi attorney, will argue for an immediate order from the U. S. district court here to block enforcement of the program.

The Texans claim that the cotton acreage quota law, as interpreted by the Agriculture department, deprives them and other farmers in 11 Gulf Coastal Bend countries of use of approximately 150,000 acres for cotton without incurring a penalty for exceeding planting allotments.

Procedure Change Wanted

They do not seek any increase in the over-all Texas allocation of 7,637,029 acres, but want a change in the procedure followed in breaking this figure down among the counties in the state.

Once the court has acted on the request for an immediate injunction it then is expected to set a date for detailed hearing of the case.

The injunction order would have the effect of suspending present allocations in Texas until the court could decide whether a different procedure should be followed in assignment of quotas among counties.

The present Texas quota was based on 95 per cent of the acreage in the state actually planted to cotton in 1948.

The law provides that the allocations within a state to counties shall be made on the same basis used in giving a state its quota out of the national acreage allotment of 21 million acres.

In their suit, filed against Secretary Charles Brannan and other top Agriculture department officials the Texas farmers contend they were given no credit for so-called war crops grown in the years 1945-1948, inclusive. War crops included grains, grain sorgum and flax.

Change Not Considered

The Texas allocation happens to be the same under either procedure, Shireman told a reporter, but by use of the "95 percent of 1948 plantings' base no consideration is given to farmers who switched from cotton to grain sorghums and flax.

The procedure which has been announced gives an unduly large quota to Texas counties which

$182,925 Damage Suit Filed Here

A suit asking $182,925 in damages was filed in Judge Dan Blair's 72nd district court Monday afternoon as outgrowth of a truck-train collision about 9 a.m. Nov. 23 near Shallowater.

Plaintiffs are Ygnacia Acosta Quirino, for herself and as next friend for eight minor children; Carlos Quirino, and Rosa Chavez Quirino.

Railroad Is Defendant

Defendant is Panhandle and Santa Fe Railway company, a corporation.

Anacleto Charves Quirino, sr., nusband, father and son of the 11 plaintiffs, was owner of and a passenger in the truck, driven northwestward by Isaac Quirino, a son, when it and the west-bound freight were in collision.

The suit was filed by Winston Brummett, of the law firm of Brummett and Brummett.

The suit is an outgrowth of the tragic accident which killed eight Latin Americans, three from one family, and injured eight others.

Charges Filed In Hale Center Affray

HALE CENTER, Dec. 19 (Spl.)—Two of four Latin-Americans injured in an hour-long gun battle in a Hale Center lumber yard Sunday afternoon remained under hospital treatment here tonight. None was in a serious condition.

Meanwhile, Sheriff Ted Andrews said one of the five men involved in the free-shooting fight had been charged at Plainview with carrying a pistol. The man, Louis Aguilar, 25, of Littlefield, remained in county jail at Plainview.

Andrews said the investigation was continuing, and that other charges may be filed Tuesday.

Remaining in the hospital were Fidel Flores, 37, who suffered the loss of a little finger, and Juan Aguilar, who received a wound in the thigh.

Treated and released Sunday were Ben Flores, brother of Fidel, who suffered facial abrasions, and Joe Hernandez, who had wounds in both arms and a head injury.

Almost 1,500 Hear Outstanding Program

Tech Concert Draws Capacity Crowd Here

By KENNETH MAY
Avalanche Staff Writer

A crowd of nearly 1,500 persons packed the Lubbock High school auditorium to capacity Monday night to hear the first combined concert of the musical organizations of Texas Technological college.

From the opening of the first curtain there was little doubt but that the audience was to hear one of the most outstanding musical programs ever presented in Lubbock or on the South Plains.

With the Tech choir and Campusaries making their debuts under direction of Dr. Gene Hemmle, new head of the Tech music department, two more organizations joined with the already well-known Men's Glee club and Tech Concert band to firmly establish the department as a leader in the field of music in West Texas.

Wide Variety Presented

Numbers ranging from negro spirituals and folk songs to Christmas carols and classical tunes were included on the hour and fifty minutes program.

The Men's Glee club, now in its third year under direction of Richard Richards, lived up to all expectations as it opened the night's presentation with three spirituals. Showing remarkable change of pitch, the group gave one of its most successful performances in its entire history.

Following the Glee club was the Tech choir, rendering its versions of such tunes as "Dry Bones" and "Set Down, Servant." Only rarely could even the trained ear have suspected the group had less than three months of preparation behind it.

All-Girl Chorus Included

The Campusaries, an all-girl chorus directed by Dr. Hemmle, was next on the program. Like the choir, it was organized only this fall, but it met with enthusiastic response from the large audience. Unusually pleasing versions of "Jesus, Jesus, Rest Your Head" and "Waken, Little Shepherd" marked the chorus as most promising.

Taking the stage for the second time, the choir rendered the Christmas portion of the night's presentation with such numbers as "O Come, All Ye Faithful," "Carols of the Bells," "Silent Night," and the Hallelujah chorus from "The Messiah." Although its version of the first number might have been given with a little too much gusto, the choir definitely showed it is to take its place high among the Tech musical organizations and gave evidence of the organizational leadership of its director.

After intermission, the 16-year-old Tech Concert band, under direction of Prof. D. O. Wiley, took the stage for the final portion of the program. Five numbers including the highly difficult Smyphony No. 6 in B Minor by Tchaikovsky were rendered by the group with its usual dexterity of movement and control of pitch.

Estes Jailed On Contempt Charg

DALLAS, Dec. 19. (AP)—Fred Estes went to jail today—for 30 days or more unless he changes his mind about testifying before U. S. Immigration authorities. He might be freed on bond, however.

The Grand Prairie tree surgeon refuses to tell the immigration service what he knows, if anything, about Communist connections of seven Dallas aliens.

Because of that, he was ordered jailed today by Federal Judge W. H. Atwell on contempt of court charges. He was fined $100.

The wording of Judge Atwell's order indicated the landscape artist may be liable to further sentence if he still isn't willing to talk at the end of 30 days.

Court Order Given

"We find you in contempt of court," said the ruling, "and order you to pay a fine of $100 and remain in jail for 30 days or until you purge yourself."

Defense attorneys include Sam Barbaria, Dallas Progressive party member, and Mrs. Carol King of New York City, general counsel for the American Committee for Protection of the Foreign born.

Mrs. King said she was asked by the National Civil Rights congress to enter Estes' case. The Justice department has listed both the Civil Rights congress and American Committee for Protection of the Foreign born as subversive.

Both attorneys indicated an appeal will be made. Mrs. King told reporters:

"We have no intention of stopping short of the U. S. Supreme court."

It was Estes' third hearing before Judge Atwell in connection with the same case. The judge has twice ordered Estes to tell the immigration service about the aliens.

Estes would answer only one question—he gave his name—at three closed hearings before Dallas immigration officials.

80 Holiday Deaths Expected In State

AUSTIN, Dec. 19. (AP)—The Texas Department of Public safety today planned to mass its forces to try to save 80 persons from death.

That is the toll department officials predict traffic accidents will claim over the Yule holiday period.

Highway Patrol Chief W. J. Elliott announced that all Highway patrolmen will be on continuous duty on Christmas Eve, Christmas and New Year's Day in an effort to keep the death figure at a minimum.

SEVERE CROP DAMAGE CAUSED

Scientists Launch Drive Against Enemy Of Texas Blackeyed Peas

(Special To The Avalanche)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—A modern "Whodunit," started in the blackeyed pea fields of Texas, is about to find its solution in the Bureau of Entomology and Plant quarantine, right here in Washington.

Protagonists? Senator Tom Connally of Texas, Reps. Paul Kilday of San Antonio and Lindley Beckworth of Gladewater, and scientists in the Department of Agriculture.

Antagonist? "Ephestia cautella," better known to grain and pea farmers in Texas, Kansas and Missouri as the Mediterranean moth.

Texas Victims Listed

Victims? The Texas farmers who raise blackeyed peas and such distributors of the crop as Douglass W. King, Co., San Antonio and Benham and company of Mineola and L. R. Barron, others, also Texas firms.

Following a letter from Mr. King, Sen. Connally and Reps. Beckworth and Kilday have been trying to find a solution to the inroads made on the mighty Texas pea crop by the Mediterranean moth. And now apparently, according to A. J. Loveland, acting secretary of the Department of agriculture, scientists in the Bureau of entomology are coming up with a solution.

It all started with Mr. King's letter in which he told the elder statesman from Texas that the moth has created a serious problem, in that it is doing more damage to blackeyed peas now than in the past 25 years of its known existence in this country.

Moth Causes Loss

For example, last year, Mr. King shipped some 30,000 bags of black eyed peas but lost some 3,000 bags en route because of the moth. He said his experience is similar to that of many purchasers in Kansas and Missouri.

He further told the Texas solons that "we want something done in Texas so that we handlers of the Texas pea crop will feel safe in going into the market and buying the peas next year."

Alternative, according to Mr. King, will be stagnant blackeyed peas on the Texas farms because of their unmarketableness.

"It is a good proposition for us to buy the blackeyed peas raised," said Mr. King.

Villian's Identity Uncertain

"Ephestia cautella," or the villain in this destructive havoc to Texas farms some say, is the Mediterranean moth, others say it is not the moth at all but a twin which is just as bad in that it is common in the feed stores throughout Texas and Oklahoma

Sentences Are Assessed Here

Sentences totaling 40 years in the penitentiary, some of which will run concurrently, were pronounced against five defendants Monday afternoon by 99th District Judge G. V. Pardue.

James Ira Stevens, 18, was sentenced to three years for burglary; Ennis Wilson, jr., an 18-year-old negro, two years for car theft; Glenn William Thornton, 35, five years in each of two cases of forgery and one of car theft, to be served concurrently; A. J. Compton, 42, five years in each of two forgery cases and one of swindling by worthless check, to be served concurrently; and John H. Sweeney, a 26-year-old negro, five years for robbery. A robbery charge naming Fred Montoya was dismissed when the complaining witness failed to identify him.

Montoya pleaded guilty in the county court of Judge Walter Davies and was fined $100 and costs of court for illegally carrying a pistol. The offense date alleged was the same as that in the robbery indictment.

Three Latin-Americans charged with rape will be tried today. They are Luciano Gonzales and Fred Navarette, both 20, and Nasario Flores, 24, all of Lubbock. The death penalty will not be asked, by agreement of sides. The cases were consolidated under an order signed Monday by Judge Pardue.

Tech Students Start Holidays Wednesday

Holidays for more than 5,800 Texas Tech students will begin after classes dismiss Wednesday, Dr. E. N. Jones, vice president said Monday.

Classes will not be resumed until 8 a.m. Jan. 3, he added, although staff offices will be closed only six days, except Sundays, during the Yuletide season.

All offices will be closed Thursday through Monday this week for Christmas and again Dec. 31 to Jan. 2 for New Year's. All other days administrative workers will work from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Students may begin leaving for home after their last class dismisses Wednesday, Dr. Jones said. Some subjects are taught until as late as 10 p.m.

PROGRAM IS HELD

The Blanche Rose Walker circle of the First Baptist church met Monday in the home of Mrs. Russell Ray, 2318 Main. A total of 15 members were present.

A Christmas party was held by the members after the presentation of a Bible lesson.

PRESSURE FOR ACTION SEEN

Truman And Congress May Face Showdown With Miners Soon

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 19. (AP)—President Truman and Congress may have to face a problem next month—how to get John L. Lewis' United Mine workers back on a five-day work week.

Pressure is increasing in some quarters for the President to invoke the Taft-Hartley act.

Industry leaders say Lewis has created a national emergency through the four full-scale walkouts he's called this year and the three-day week which he has ordered indefinitely for his 480,000 United Mine workers.

There's enough coal on hand for about three months unless unusually cold weather prevails. But retailers and steel companies are watching their dwindling stockpiles and are worried.

The steel companies are starting to eat up their reserves. They're trying to catch up with the production they lost during the recent 42-day old strike of the CIO United steelworkers.

It all adds up to increasing pressure on the industry and Lewis to get together on a contract to extend the one which expired last June 30.

Lewis isn't saying anything. But he's keeping a close watch on efforts of his lieutenants to get independent soft coal operators to sign contracts and break away from the solid front maintained by the industry's leaders. Meanwhile, negotiations are continuing with the anthracite operators who employ about 80,000 miners.

Five-Day Week Sought

UMW officers say some contracts have been signed to cover a few of the 400,000 soft coal miners. They haven't said how many but indicate they have signed operators who produce about 10 per cent of the national tonnage. Top coal spokesmen scoff at the figures.

Meanwhile, industry leaders want the Taft-Hartley act used to get all diggers back into the pits on a five-day week.

Former Representative Fred Hartley, co-author of the labor law, also is plumping for such action. In a speech at Atlantic City, N. J., yesterday, Hartley declared Lewis is "the nation's number one oil-burner salesman." He referred to companies and homes which have switched from coal to oil for fuel.

Fund Payments Due

In Pittsburgh, J. Don Horner, president of the steel city's Retail Coal Merchants association, said he is sending a telegram to President Truman telling him coal supplies in Western Pennsylvania are rapidly approaching a critical stage."

In the contracts which Lewis has signed so far, he's gotten a 95-cent increase to bring miners' daily wage to $15, and a 15-cent increase in royalty payments to the UMW's health and welfare fund. Payments under the old contract are 20 cents a ton.

Regular payments to the fund are due tomorrow. Most operators are expected to pay. However, Laurence E. Tierney, president of the Eastern Coal corporation, at Bluefield, W. Va., said his company would not meet the payments. He urged other southern operators to follow his action but there was no indication they would do so.

Bidault Pledges France To Attempt At Budget Balancing

PARIS, Dec. 19. (AP)— Premier Georges Bidault pledged his government today to do everything in its power to balance France's 1950 budget and avoid renewed inflation.

Failure to balance the budget might mean the loss of $700 million in Marshall aid next year. One of the conditions of U. S. aid is that beneficiaries balance their budgets.

Bidault said Marshall aid itself played a big role in helping France balance her budget, and he expressed hope that it would continue.

Bidault spoke at a luncheon of French political correspondents shortly after the National assembly began debate on the record high $6,500,000,000 1950 budget submitted by the government.

The budget must be voted by the Assembly by Dec. 31.

Bidault, whose government may stand or fall on the issue, told the Assembly as public debate opened that failure to balance the budget would bring the risk of renewed inflation.

REA Expected To Clarify Loan Requirements For Rural Phones

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 19. (AP)—The Rural Electrification administration hopes to tell farmers in a few days just what they have to do to get federal aid under the new rural telephone program.

REA Administrator Claude Wickard came here to confer with Sen. Hill (D-Ala), author of the telephone act which makes REA loans available for rural service.

Wickard said detailed requirements will be made known as soon as possible following conferences with Hill and Rep. Poage (D-Tex), House sponsor of the telephone bill. He planned to leave for Waco, Tex., during the day.

American Oil Firms In Britain Ordered To Cut Future Imports

LONDON, Dec. 19. (AP)—Britain has ordered American oil companies to stop all fuel oil imports and gasoline imports by one-third beginning Jan. 1, an oil company official said today.

Object of the slashes is to save dollars for hard-pressed Britain.

The oil man, who declined to be quoted by name, said American oil companies selling in Great Britain felt this move was the "thin edge of a wedge to squeeze us out of the sterling market."

Both he and the British ministry of fuel and power declined to translate the import cuts either in terms of barrels of all oil or of money. The ministry said the oil would be obtained from sterling financed companies.

Move Sets Off Dispute

The move set off a quickening dispute both here and in the United States. To deal with the situation, the ministry sent V. S. Butler, under-secretary for overseas petroleum, flying Washington last night.

The cuts affect three American companies: The Anglo-American Oil Co., owned by the Standard Oil of New Jersey; Vacuum Oil Co., Ltd., subsidiary of Socony-Vacuum, and Cal-Tex, a subsidiary of Standard Oil Co., of California and the Texas Co.

They have been supplying about one-third of Britain's 18 million metric tons of petroleum and petroleum products yearly.

Britain imports about half her fuel oil from Persia (Iran) where it is produced by Anglo-Iranian Oil company, partially owned by the British admiralty. Industry in Britain uses comparatively little fuel oil, relying mostly on coal from her own island mines. About one-fifth of her gasoline is produced by Anglo-Iranian.

"About the only place where British companies show a surplus is in Venezuela," the oil man said, "and there is a high percentage of dollar cost in Britain's production there."

The oil man said the ministry of fuel and power gave "only short notice of its decision.

He said it came at a time Britain and the U. S. were attempting to work out . mutual oil policy.

He said American companies believe that there is an element of dollar cost in all oil produced by the western world. One broad view put forward in American circles is that American companies operating outside the U. S., should reduce their dollar costs to those of British companies, and then negotiate sales to non-dollar areas on that basis.

"From that point of view," said the oil man, "American companies would be on the same footing in non-dollar areas as British companies.

During the year ended March 31, 1949, Britain's dollar oil requirements were estimated by the Marshall plan at $200 million. The Marshall plan financed $166 million, or about five-sixths, of these dollar oil purchases.

During the year ending next March 31 Britain's dollar oil requirements were estimated slightly lower.

WORTH TRYING

A Sound Suggestion

STATE Sen. Pat Bullock, of Colorado City, spoke the sort of language that practically all Texans like to hear the other day.

He isn't going to vote for any new taxes, he said, until after the Legislature gets a chance to trim all proposed appropriations. Enough trimming can be done, according to his further opinion, to take care of all needs, including those of State hospitals, without increasing taxes.

It is possible, of course, that the Colorado City senator is overly optimistic. But there certainly can be no doubt that Texans overwhelmingly would endorse a thorough investigation of his ideas—many of them convinced he is as right as rain.

Sounding Brass

THOSE seriously concerned by the rising cost of living— which includes nearly everyone—have reasons for uneasiness because of the recent rise in steel prices. They almost invariably have been the forerunner of an increase in general living costs.

As usually happens, the administration politicians are squawking mightly. They are yelling for an investigation which spokesmen for the steel industry say they would welcome. Perhaps an inquiry is desirable. If the increase is unjustified, something should be done about it—and Congress is in an excellent position to do it.

But elementary reasoning supports the declarations of steel industry spokesmen that the increase is an effect, not a cause. The already generously paid steel workers were given the latest of numerous wage increases recently. The administration politicians were an important, if not decisive, factor in enabling them to get it. No one can deny they added enormously to operating costs in the steel plants. Higher steel prices were the inevitable aftermath—and the Washington politicians knew they were bound to come.

This is not an attempt to champion the cause of "big steel." It has its faults and undoubtedly has done plenty of exploiting of the American people.

But the recent squawkings in Washington have been an insult to the intelligence of reasoning Americans. They have the sound of an attempt to pass the buck for the rise in general living costs which the increase in steel prices are likely to portend. It is an attempt to divert attention from the apparent fact that the real reason for the living cost prospect is the wage increases the administration helped the steel workers to get.

On Calm Seas

AMERICAN automobile production for 1949 passed the 6,000,000-mark the other day, to break all previous records with indications reportedly favoring a continuing high demand during 1950.

This astonishing record is significant for many obvious reasons.

One of the most obvious is just this:

Any nation in which 6,000,000 autos can be built, with most of them sold, would not appear to be in serious danger of a depression. People who were experiencing hard times, or feared they might be near, could and would not buy in such huge quantities any merchandise that most of them could get along without.

"A shortage of mules is reported" —Trade note. There is no shortage, however and alas, of mules' paternal progenitors.

Motion picture cameras can be operated at such high speeds now that it is possible to secure a pictorial record of a congressman dodging a hot issue.

After paying burial expenses, the woman who hired a man for $500 to murder her husband so she could collect $1,000 insurance probably realized very little profit. She's a poor business woman. By shopping around a bit she could have had her old man knocked off for $50 or less.

One Minute Sermon

O Lord our Lord, how excellent is thy name in all the earth! Psalms 8:9.

Hear me when I call, O God of righteousness: thou hast enlarged me when I was in distress, have mercy upon me and hear my prayer. Psalms 4:1.

The Cameo

CHARLIE REDDY darted silently across the patio to the French doors. The handle turned with only a slight click and he pulled the door open an inch at a time. He stepped inside and drew the door closed. The room was dark, and Reddy identified a few shadowy furniture outlines and began to pick his way through them, praying that he wouldn't collide with an unremembered footstool.

He reached the hall and turned to the left, feeling ahead of him for the door to the studio. He found the knob and turned it. Locked! Anxiously, his fingers fumbled downward. There was a key in the lock! Before turning it, he stood tense, listening for even the slightest stir from the remainder of the house.

Slowly and delicately, he turned the key and opened the door.

He took out his flashlight, directed its beam to the floor and stepped cautiously only where the small circle of light showed uncluttered space. Reaching the storage end of the studio, he beamed his flash over the shelves containing rows of glazed and bisque-fired pieces. Tom had said he hadn't been doing any work lately, which would mean that the two peculiar-looking female figures might still be unglazed. Concentrating on the chalky bisque pieces, he inspected the contents of the top shelf and worked down: vases, jugs, three tigers, two Balinese busts, more vases. Reddy snapped off his light in disgust and stood in the darkness wondering what had become of the two sorrowing women.

He could recall exactly how the pieces looked: About 12 inches high, about eight inches at the base, the femininity of the figures just barely suggested by the drapery around the lower body, an egg-like head, with one rather gross arm bent around it resting on what might be the knees. The whole piece had the bulky block-like quality of an Epstein sculpture. Reddy remembered that he had thought the things were pretty good, pretty well-done. In spite of their vague outlines, he had immediately concluded that they represented a pair of weeping women.

A weeping woman! Why hadn't he thought of the connection before? His weariness and puzzlement disappeared instantly. He snapped on his light again and directed its beam searchingly around the room. He had to find those figurines!

Tom's modeling bench was over there in the corner. Tools, stained rags, a segmented mold. Up above was a broad shelf, and on it—Reddy stepped closer excitedly—on it was a blocklike figurine, light reflecting from its satiny blue glaze. One of the weeping women!

Reddy propped his flash on the bench and reached up both hands for the figurine. Reddy picked it up, balancing it with great care on the palm of one hand. With the thumb and middle finger of his other hand, he thumped it for what would be the answer to whether he was here on a wild goose chase.

THE pottery gave a low, clear ringing sound. An expression of intense disappointment spread over Reddy's face. He was about to return the figurine to the shelf when the lights in the studio snapped on.

He whirled around to face Tom O'Neill!

"It was my impression, Charlie, that you had left my house and gone home. I should've asked you if you'd like to come out and visit my workshop. I'm a very poor host, leaving my guest to stumble around out here by himself without any lights." He advanced slowly to the work bench, "Do you like the blue figurine?"

Reddy found himself idiotically nodding and patting the surface of the figurine.

Tom smiled faintly: "Take it home with you. It's yours." He placed a hand on Reddy's arm, slowly tightening the fingers.

Reddy tried not to wince—the man's hand seemed about to crush the muscles of his forearm! Reddy's astonishment at Tom's strength almost obliterated the sensation of pain. Tom's eyes lacked depth, the lids were stretched wide apart and the pupils were dilated, giving back the light as flatly as the surface of a well. He hardened the muscles of his arm against Tom's fingers and gradually pulled away from the grip.

Reddy made his voice pleasant and calm. "Thanks, Tom, but I couldn't accept the figurine—much as I'd like to."

"You take it, Charlie. That's the Chinese custom. When you admire something in a mandarin's house, you find it all wrapped up and ready for you to take when you go home." Tom picked up one of the soiled rags and draped it around the blue figurine. "Here you are, all wrapped up for you. Take it home, now, Charlie." He pressed the bundle into Reddy's hands.

Tom obviously was not sane.

He took the figurine. "Many thanks, Tom. I appreciate this very much."

TOM linked an arm through his and began propelling him toward the door, "And now we'll all call it a day, huh, Charlie? The party's over, isn't it, Charlie?"

Charlie inclined his head, "The party's over, Tom."

As they approached the door, Reddys eye was caught by a blue gleam from an open cupboard near the door. He stopped and craned his neck in spite of Tom's tug at his elbow.

"Wait just a minute, Tom!" He yanked his elbow free. "Isn't that another figurine like this one?"

Reddy's teeth clashed together and bit off the rest of the sentence as something of tremendous weight came down on his skull.

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

JEAN Hersholt, beloved movie actor, gave a poignant one-word message to the people of Filmland a few days ago.

He gave it in an address to the Motion Picture Relief Fund, of which he is president.

BRANDEIS

The only reason why I repeat his message here is that it applies not only to movie actors but to almost every one of us.

It's on old, old message. It has been given for centuries.

We have all read it, seen it, heard it.

But how many of us have heeded it?

The message is "SAVE".

Please don't call me an old fuddy-duddy. Please don't say that I am just rehashing old stuff. This message needs repeating over and over again.

Jean Hersholt knows what he is talking about.

You'd be surprised, he says, if you knew how many movie people who once earned fabulous salaries now depend on relief just because they didn't SAVE.

Almost every day we hear of someone who once was a phenomenal money-maker and is now spending his — or her — declining years in some charity institution.

Only a couple of weeks ago we read about "Bojangles" Bill Robinson, who had earned more than four million dollars during his long career as a dancer, dying almost penniless.

True enough, he was charitable and always good for a "touch".

But charity does begin at home — and to SAVE while you may is charity to yourself and justice to those who look to you for support.

"I do not believe that more than twelve of our big names would enjoy financial security if their careers were cut short tomorrow," Jean Hersholt said in his address. "The twelve might not be the biggest tal-

IN RACE WITH U.S.

Soviet Forces Lead

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—"How do our Army, Navy and Air Forces compare with Russia's right now?" demands F. M. of Brooklyn, N. Y. "It seems to me that we have spent an awful lot of money on the armed forces lately, but military men kept saying how weak we are during the recent hearings in the Navy Air Force row."

TUCKER

Answer: It would be just too bad for us and for our Allies if Russia should go to war tomorrow.

While she will not be ready to mount a major conflict for four or five years, according to the so-called experts, she could probably seize Europe, the Balkans and the whole Middle East in no time flat. Utilizing the invaded countries' manpower and resources, she could make that vast area almost impregnable.

SUPERIOR: We lag behind the Moscovites in almost every respect, despite the $50 billion we shall have spent between June of 1946 and next July.

Russia has the largest and most powerful air force. Formerly she built for defense and tactical operations with ground troops, but now she is concentrating on bombers that can reach our cities. As soon as she has accumulated an atom bomb reserve, she will be far ahead of us in destructive power.

She has about 15,000 first-line planes, with 10,000 in reserve. Our comparable figures are 9,500 and 9,500. With the Navy's force, we have about the same over-all number. But hers are superior to ours, especially the jets. Her air force personnel is 600,000. Ours is 300,000.

RESERVE: We have twelve crack, excellently trained and fully equipped divisions, including two Marine infantry units. They are distributed as follows: One in Europe, four in the Far East, and seven within the U. S. The seven domestic outfits include the two Marine divisions, although their status in a future conflict is still debatable.

The basic weakness of our army, however, is that we have only one armored and two air-borne divisions, and it takes a tremendous amount of time to train them for their specialized work. Russia has 150 divisions ready for war, and a reserve of the same number.

Russia's tanks are the world's finest, according to Chief of Staff J. Lawton Collins. We have better models, but they are still in the blueprint stage for lack of money.

Our World War II fleet is virtually mothballed, although we have only recently strengthened the Pacific squadron. Russia is reported to have several hundred of the most modern type of submarines, while we are merely experimenting with them.

LUXURY: We should remember, however, that it is much easier—and cheaper—to create and maintain a military machine in a dictatorship than in a democracy.

Stalin does not have to ask any legislative body for a draft if he wants another million under arms. Nor does he need to have any regard for Congressional or popular complaints over the terrific financial burden.

He pays his soldiers only a pittance. He uses slave or cheap labor for construction of weapons. Over here the cost of military pay, subsistence, supplies, transportation and weapons has increased in the same proportions as thing to do with as he pleases.

For us a military machine is an expensive but necessary luxury. For Stalin it is a plaything t odo with as he pleases.

WELFARE: "What effect do you think the defeat of the labor governments in New Zealand and Australia will have on President Truman's legislative program when Congress opens next month?" asks M. R. of Charlotte, N. C., as well as several other readers. "Will it slow down the march toward the so-called welfare state?"

Answer: I think the New Zealand and Australian results, especially as these two islands have a common language and tradition with us, will incline Congress to stop, look and listen. Until England votes next spring, members will not know for certain whether this swing away from the left is an isolated or widespread movement. But the deflection down-under will make them cautious, especially as they must face the voters next November.

DEAL: In fact, on the basis of the Australian-New Zealand outcomes, it should be possible to anticipate Congressional action on Mr. Truman's New Deal legislative program.

There will be no repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act, for labor lost heavily in even industrial regions. There will be no adoption of the Brannan, two-price farm plan, for price-fixing, restrictions on production and general governmental interference were largely responsible for the vote. Similarly, there will be no action on national health insurance.

High taxes and prices also influenced the down-under voters, so any increase in rates is out. In fact, there may be repeal of many excise duties.

The victorious parties pledged themselves to maintain and expand the social services inaugurated by their opponents. Therefore, since social security is no longer a partisan issue, Congress will probably boost S. S. payments and extend the coverage. A bill for federal aid to education may also merge.

In short, it is quite probable that the popular parade to the left that formed ranks here in 1932-33 may be halted.

Down Memory Lane

(Taken from the files of The Lubbock Morning Avalanche, Dec. 20, 1929.)

At a meeting held Wednesday evening, seven elders and 43 deacons were unanimously elected for the coming year to serve the First Christian church.

Eldres elected were W. R. Blake, J. E. Hartley, J. F. Matthews, John R. McGee, S. J. McFarland, E. L. Pitts, and J. D. Quick.

Deacons for 1930 will be L. O. Armstrong, J. C. M. Barnes, G. C. Barrier, Paul Barrier, N. L. Benson, Charles Collier, J. E. Couch, C. C. Crenshow, W. H. Crunk, Jewell Davis, B. J. Edwards, Leo Edwards, Ben Eskridge, L. E. Grimes, Hill Garrison, Harold Griffith, M. E. Heard, J.A. Hodges, A.C. Jackson, A.M. Johnson, J. O. Jones, A. W. Kerr, J. W. Kolk, George P. Kuykendall, F. Rhodes, Kenneth Renner, Alfred M. Scott, Charles E. Smith, L. W. Squyres, T. Teal, and O. A. Terry.

Alfred M. Scott, church secretary, reported the church membership as 506; Bible school membership 594; total cash receipts from all departments, $11,707.57; disbursements for missions and benevolences, $1,626; cost of new Bible school built during the year, $3,500; Bible school equipment, $1,500; 1930 budget for current expenses and missions, $10,618.30.

Believe It Or Not -

IN LATEST LOYALTY CHECK CASE

Rights Of Worker Claimed Lost

BY THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — There was told here a few days ago the story of Abe Zeiger, the 47-year-old Los Angeles mail carrier with a spotless record of service for 25 years who was suspended from his job on "disloyalty" charges and has been hounded through the government's giant loyalty machinery.

His case is now pending on appeal before the top loyalty board here.

STOKES

Today we have the story of a carpenter who worked for the Navy as a Civil Service employe, also in the west. Now 61 years old and ill, he served in both World Wars, volunteering for each. Completely cleared of "disloyalty" charges after a year and ten months, during which time he was laid off his job, he went through a distressing ordeal, and has been unable to get his back pay because he was suspended before the law was passed providing for restitution of pay in such cases.

Small Fellow Suffers

This is another example of the little fellow caught up in the vast loyalty network which comes to light somewhat ironically against the background of the nation's current observance of the bill of rights.

When the carpenter — whose name is withheld because he is afraid of further harassment — came back from the last war, he returned to his carpenter job for the Navy. On July 1, 1947, he received a letter from the Navy saying he was being discharged for disloyalty. That was before the elaborate loyalty machinery was set up to handle such cases.

WHEN it was established, his case was taken before the local loyalty board. At the time he was ill in a hospital. Several of his fellow workers who had known him a long time testified for him, all approvingly except one who said he had picked up a copy of the New Republic that the carpenter read in his lunch hour and found a "Communist advertisement" in the magazine.

The case against the carpenter related to political activity several years before, during the 1930's. He admitted it all freely. He became interested in politics when Al Smith ran for President in 1928 on the Democratic ticket, and took a more active part subsequently on behalf of Franklin D. Roosevelt. He was a Democratic precinct committeeman, district chairman and a member of the county central committee.

He also was business manager of a political newspaper and conducted open forums in the streets. As his social, economic and political creed he had adopted a summary of a cure for depressions expressed by the Technocrats, an organization founded by Howard Scott that attracted notice during the depression, which was:

"A scientifically planned system of production and distribution in which the purchasing power will equal the consumptive needs of the nation, limited only by the productive capacity of the country."

No Charges Against Him

There was no charge against his of disloyalty, treason or sabotage, nor that he was a Communist, only intimations that he had associated with Communists during those days, which, however, were never developed so that he could answer them. While he was in the hospital waiting for an operation, two men visited him to examine him about his political views and, as he has stated, "made me feel as if my life were at stake."

He has not participated in politics since 1939. Illness first caused him to drop his political activities and afterward, when he became a civil servant as a Navy carpenter, he could not participate actively, as that is banned by law.

LAST spring he received a letter from the loyalty board stating he was cleared of the charges and that the board had asked the Navy to restore him to his job. He went back to work, but became ill after a short time.

When he applied for his back pay he was advised of the ruling of the Comptroller General that the act of Congress authorizing restitution of pay for persons cleared of disloyalty charges did not apply to those who were discharged before the act was passed. The senator from his state has interceded on his behalf with the loyalty board in this matter, but is was said at the board that it has no jurisdiction in pay matters. A case now pending before the Court of Claims here on this issue, brought by another government employe similarly situated, may clear the way for settlement; but, if not, the law would have to be amended.

This country still ought to be safe for carpenters who want to get up on soap boxes at street corners and speak their minds.

Scientists Study Methods To Halt Insect Threat To Crops

where it breeds in peas, beans, corn and other seeds. Agricultural experts say it may be also found in other vegetable products indigenous to Texas.

Mr. Loveland advised that the moth infection does not come in the fields but is the result of storage warehouses and bins.

Two chief solutions are very simply, according to the acting secretary, fumigation in the warehouses and extensive use of an insect proof fabric bag, perfected by the Bureau of entomology. He says that this ultimately will mean the elimination of the Mediterranean moth — or its twin, if it isn't actually the Mediterranean specie.

Scientists Attack Problem

Entomologists are actively working on this problem at many points in the country, including experimental stations at College Station and Beeville, Texas.

Mr. Loveland also advised that it is really up to the farmers themselves h. the blackeyed pea areas of Texas to whether or not they want to raise profitable, non-infected crops.

"One of the most urgent needs at present is the universal application by the farmers themselves of practical methods already known for the protection of farm-stored grains from insects and rats."

During the past two years the extension services of the Department of agriculture, working with the Texas Agricultural Experiment station, has been active throught educational meetings in an effort to stimulate more general application of insect and rodent control, says the secretary.

More Fumigation Urged

Which actually boils down to more and more fumigation of the warehouses in storing the blackeyed peas and the use of a new and thoroughly proof bag, devised by the department.

And now, in the hope that the day will soon arrive when both the Texas farmers and such handlers as Mr. Douglas will not lose as much as 10 per cent of the blackeyed peas shipped, Rep. Lindley Beckworth is going with his plans to popularize this lowly but proud product of Texas soil both among the lowly and the high.

High brass in the National Establishment are being contacted by Rep. Beckworth in an effort to have more and more blackeyed peas on the menus of military posts and naval bases. He reports that he is meeting with some success.

With the Mediterranean moth willing, the Texas farmers and handlers willing and the military willing to pay reasonable prices this succulent dish soon may be familiar to boys in the military wherever the American flag flies.

San Antonio Man Named Head Of Gatesville School For Boys

AUSTIN, Dec. 19. (AP)—James B. Atlee of San Antonio today was appointed superintendent of the Gatesville school for boys by the State Youth Development council.

Atlee, area supervisor for the State Department of welfare, succeeds R. E. Blair, whose resignation was requested by the council at its meeting here a month ago.

Atlee is a veteran of World War II, serving as an Army captain and adjutant of a hospital in England. He is a graduate of Houston public schools and John Tarleton State college at Stephenville.

Legion Packs Sacks For Christmas Party

Approximately 1,000 sacks were packed with candy, fruit and nuts last night by members of the American Legion executive committee and American Legion Auxiliary for a children's Christmas party Thursday 3 to 5 p. m. at the Legion hall, 910 Texas avenue.

All children in the city under eight years of age are invited to attend, Wayne D. Groce, post commander, said.

"The program is not especially for underprivileged children, but for all," he said. "The more, the merrier."

Santa Claus, who arrived here by plane last Friday will on hand to distribute the sacks to all children present, and members of the cast of "Stars of Showtime," sponsored here Wednesday and Thursday by the Legion, will appear on the program.

Approximately 5 Auxiliary members and Legionnaires attended the meeting last night. Dr. H. H. Bidwell is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the Christmas party.

Tech Concert Given

Highlighting the entire program was the second Lubbock performance of "A Christmas Fantasy," an original arrangement by Robert Dorough and Pete Wiley, former Tech students. Combining all the old favorite carols into a highly pleasing medley, the Fantasy left the audience begging for an encore they did not get.

Individual standouts other than the directors included Norma Hammer on piano accompaniments, Paul Lovett doing sound effects for "Dry Bones," and "Christmas Fantasy" Claude Burrow on double bass with the Tech choir, Walter Buice and Roger Dods doing solo work on "Set Down, Servant" and "Mule Train" (given as an encore number by the choir), Al Stephens cracking the whip for the latter number, and Jean Gillum, Lamoyane Harrell and Mary Richardson doing solos for the Campusaries.

Joe Haddon, assistant director for the Concert band, took the stand to direct a special arrangement of short classics for band by James R. Gillette.

The concert, slated as an annual presentation by the Tech musicians, was the initial program in an expended music curricula which is aimed at building the music department to be one of the best in the Southwest.

Rest, Romance Revitalize New York Mayor

O'Dwyer To Marry Fashion Stylist In Ceremony Today

By JEAN BUCK
INS Staff Correspondent

STUART, Fla., Dec. 19. — New York City's 59-year-old Mayor William O'Dwyer — revitalized by rest and romance — will marry beauteous, blue-eyed Elizabeth Sloan Simpson tomorrow morning in a simple Catholic ceremony at Stuart.

The bride, a 33-year-old New York fashion stylist who now describes herself "the happiest girl alive," will wear a navy blue ensemble for the ceremony, which will be conducted by the Rev. Timothy J. Geary in St. Joseph's Catholic church at 8:30 a.m. (EST.)

She and "hizzoner" will depart immediately after the nuptials for the honeymoon yacht "Almar II," which is expected to take them on a leisurely cruise through the Florida Keys.

Only a two-man crew will accompany the newly-weds aboard the 46-foot honeymoon yacht "Almar II."

O'Dwyer will wear a simple dark summer-weight suit, a gray four-in-hand tie, and black shoes for the single-ring ceremony in the flower-bedecked church that is being decorated elaborately in white and gold.

A Christmas touch will be added to the proceedings by the floral display around the communion rail which will consist of red poinsianas traditional yuletide flower—and green fern.

O'Dwyer, who came to Florida to recuperate from exhaustion and heart strain, was reported today to be well-recovered from his recent illness.

His personal bodyguard, New York Detective Joe Boyle, told reporters that the Irish-born executive of the world's largest city "hasn't felt better in a year."

A plain gold wedding band, which the mayor's friends described as "simple as can be," will be used to unite the couple in marriage.

O'Dwyer and his bride-to-be both remained in seclusion today. They are not supposed to see each other until tomorrow at the altar. He has been visiting at Hobe Sound, exclusive millionaires' retreat a few miles south of Stuart.

Both principals in the highly-publicized nuptials have been married previously. O'Dwyer's first wife died in 1946. Miss Simpson's first marriage ended in divorce in 1943.

Then he went on with something that all of us should remember and apply:

"Hollywood people who come into big money," he said, "seem to be deluded with the idea that they are getting their high salaries intact and that they will continue forever. They spread and spend, paving the way to financial disaster when they lose out."

I TALKED to the owner of a fancy grocery store a little while ago. He looked down in the mouth. I asked him why he was glum, when his store was always crowded with prosperous looking people.

"That's just the trouble," he complained. "They LOOK prosperous, but they are broke.

"These people buy caviar and all sorts of delicacies on the cuff. Then they give big parties to impress their guests.

"I look at the lists of the hosts and the guests. Most of them owe me money. Many of them will never pay.

"What's the answer? Why do they do it? What good does all that fourflushing do? Will THAT keep them out of the Old Folks' Home if they don't SAVE?"

Some years ago I visited Trujillo City in the Dominican Republic. We drove down a wide, beautifully paved boulevard. Suddenly the boulevard ended and became an impassable jungle lane — going nowhere.

Where the jungle lane began there was a sign "Dead End".

Elliott Roosevelt Given Date With Court On Traffic Charge

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y., Dec. 19. (AP)— Elliott Roosevelt has a Christmas Eve date with a justice of the peace to answer his latest speeding summons.

Roosevelt was to have appeared before Justice of the Peace George C. Dietz Saturday night, but won a week's adjournment when he telephoned it was inconvenient for him to be present. Dietz granted the delay until 7 p.m. this Saturday.

Roosevelt was arrested last Friday night on a charge of driving 55 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone. The Christmas Eve court appearance will be his second before Dietz, who fined him $10 on July 13, 1948 after he pleaded guilty to driving 50 miles an hour through a 35-mile zone.

The plantiffs in the suit operate farms in the following 11 ccunties: Jim Wells, Nueces, San Patricio, Aransas, Kleberg, Bee, Karnes, Live Oak, Refugio, Wilson and Atascosa.

Their combined allocation under the 95 percent plan was fixed at 274,128 acres. Under a base giving credit for war crops it would be approximately 420,000 acres.

WE'LL DO OUR BEST
...but some Christmas calls will be delayed

We'll do our best not to disappoint anyone who wants to make a long distance Christmas call. All available switchboards and circuits will be in use—and we've added a lot of new ones this year. Every operator who can help will be on the job.

But so many people will be saying Merry Christmas over long distance lines that circuits are sure to be crowded. You can help reduce delays two ways:

1. Please give the operator the out-of-town number you are calling, if you know it.
2. Please don't inquire about the progress of your call. It will be put through in turn and as promptly as possible. Calling back to ask about it may actually delay your call—as well as others that are waiting.

Thanks much for your cooperation. And if your call is delayed, thanks for your patience and understanding.

THIS YEAR YOU'LL HAVE TWO DAYS TO SAY MERRY CHRISTMAS
This year, Monday, December 26, will be an official holiday, too. If your Christmas call can be made then, it will go through faster. Holiday rates will be in effect all day.

Location Of Air Academy Poses Major Problem For Congress

By SARAH McCLENDON
Avalanche Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—One of the most ticklish questions for the armed forces to handle in the next session of Congress will be location of the Air Academy. In fact, this question is still so involved with personalities among Congress that the Air Force does not dare even tell what cities are applying, because some of the applicants want to work secretly.

So far as is known the only Texas city which has publicly brought forward its request is San Antonio, which sees only Randolph Field as the air academy, bearing out its noble tradition of "West Point of the Air.

Congress To Decide

To many persons throughout the Air Force contacted here in Washington, Randolph field is still the favored spot. But they won't have much to say about it. In fact, although there is an Air Force site selection board, empowered to make recommendations, the final decision will be up to Congress. Rep. Carl Vinson, Georgia Democrat, rapped the knuckles of the Air Force this week in reminding them that this was a matter for Congress to decide.

"In the final analysis," said Congressman Vinson, "Congress should have the sayso about everything."

A year ago, Congressman Vinson supported Rep. Paul J. Kilday's plea to have the academy at Randolph Field. Today, however, Vinson said: "A lot of things have happened since then—Now I know of no place better than my own district."

Influential Post Held

Vinson is chairman of the Armed Services committee of the House and extremely influential.

Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn, Bonham, a close friend of Air Force Secretary Stuart Symington, is even more influential than Vinson. Rayburn said before leaving for home this fall after Congress adjourned that the Congress would have to authorize establishment of an air academy, then leave it up to a commission to determine location.

The Air Force says it will release the names of applicant cities on Dec. 31. That is the deadline for applications. In the meantime, the district office of Army engineers at Dallas has been asked to send preliminary survey teams to cities requesting that they be considered.

Extreme Caution Cited

One reason for the extreme caution of the Air Force, is that there exists not even authorizing legislation. There are 27 bills pending providing for specific locations.

Recently, the Air Force announced that an air field itself is not absolutely necessary for location of the air academy, but its proximity would be advantageous by way of general background for students. Generally what is desired is a location in the vicinity of a major population center, with adequate transportation, power and water and generally a favorable climate.

The site selection board is composed of Gen. Carl Spaatz, chairman, Lt. Gen. H. R. Harmon, Maj. Gen. David M. Schlatter, with Lt. Col. Arthur E. Boudreau, secretary.

Rev. McPherson To Head Baptist Group

Rev. Fred McPherson, pastor of South Side Baptist church, was elected president of the Baptist Pastors conference at an annual banquet attended by 56 persons, including Lubbock Baptist pastors, their wives, associate pastors and their wives and church secretaries in the First Baptist church annex at noon Monday.

Other officers elected were Rev. Ed Carson, pastor of East Side Baptist church, vice president; Rev. John P. Baker, pastor of Trinity Baptist church, secretary-treasurer; and Rev. Cecil Ray, pastor of Arnett-Benson church, program chairman for the year.

After luncheon and a fun program, Rev. Vester Wolber, head of the Baptist Bible chair at Texas Tech, delivered the main address.

Lubbock Man Jailed, Fined For Contempt Of Court Here

J. C. James, 41, of Lubbock, adjudged in contempt of a former order of the 99th district court, was ordered to jail Monday for three days to pay a fine of $100 and court costs.

Judge G. V. Pardue, presiding, also found that James was delinquent by $577.50 in child support ordered by the court Nov. 20, 1947, and provided that James shall remain in jail until he purges himself of contempt by paying the delinquent sum as well as the $100 fine.

Further, the court said in his order that the support payments are to continue, one each month, while the defendant is in jail.

James already was in county jail, under indictment charging child desertion, the sheriff's department said.

Woman Ends Purse Shopping Expedition With Red Face

JACKSONVILLE, Dec. 19. (U.P.) A Jacksonville woman held the dubious honor today of having the reddest face in town, acquired on a Christmas shopping trip.

She looked in almost every store for a large purse, a roomy one and yet attractive. Finally, in the last store on her list, she saw just what she wanted and told the clerk, "that's it." The clerk said, "Okeh, but that's a diaper bag!"

Exhibition Of Navy Paintings Will Be Shown Here On Feb. 4

Lubbock is one of six Texas cities where "Operation Palette," the traveling Navy exhibition of 100 outstanding paintings and drawings by Navy combat artists, will be exhibited, the Navy department announced in Washington.

The exhibit has just returned from Panama City and Colon, where 7,500 Panamanians viewed it. It is now at Corpus Christi. The exhibit will move to San Antonio January 7, El Paso Jan. 21, Lubbock Feb. 4 and Amarillo Feb. 16.

It was not announced where the exhibit will be in Lubbock, but it likely will be displayed at the Naval Reserve Training center, Eighth and College avenue.

State Board Of Education To Hold Meeting In Austin Jan. 4

AUSTIN, Dec. 19. (AP) — The State Board of education will hold its next meeting here Jan. 4, Chairman R. B. Anderson announced today.

It will be the first meeting since committees on organization and on screening applicants for state commissioner of education were appointed.

Jayton Infant Dies As Fire Sweeps Home

JAYTON, Dec. 19 (Special) — The charred body of 7-months-old Charlie Doyle Phillips was found today in the ruins of his parents' home in east Jayton, following a fire which leveled the three-room stucco house.

An alarm was sounded at 10:20 a. m. but firemen were unable to enter the burning structure and save the child. Officials believe the flames started when an oil stove exploded.

Father Picking Cotton

The child was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Phillips.

The baby's mother had gone across the street to the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Frances Copeland. She had taken a chicken to place in Mrs. Copeland's icebox. The fire started while she was away. The house was owned by W. K. Joiner.

Body of the infant was found lying on a bed in the front room. It was taken to Robinson Funeral home here. No arrangements had been made.

Engineers Group To Meet Here

Officers will be elected at an organizational meeting of the South Plains sub-section of the Permian basin chapter of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Hilton hotel, it has been announced.

A committee of three was appointed in an initial meeting of the group Nov. 26 to draft by-laws and make nominations for officers. One nominee will be submitted at the Wednesday meeting for each of the offices of chairman, first vice-chairman, second vice-chairman, and secretary-treasurer.

E. B. Armstrong of Honolulu oil company, Paul Johnston of Texas Tech, and R. R. Shaffer, Stanolind oil and gas company, are included on the nominating committee. More than 50 oilmen attended the November meeting and a larger number is expected Wednesday night.

The new sub-section will probably alternate its monthly meetings between Lubbock, Brownfield and Levelland. A joint meeting with the Texas Tech student chapter has been tentatively set in Lubbock for Jan. 16.

INSTALLMENT CREDIT RISES

Stock Market Trends Indicate New Inflation Expected In U. S.

By SAM DAWSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 19. — Many observers believe that Wall Street, Washington and Pittsburgh—and apparently main street, too — are betting on inflation ahead.

Brokers report that the public is coming into the stock market, and that there is a noticeable shift from bonds and preferreds to the buying of common stock—both trends usually considered indicators of inflation-mindedness around the country.

New Budget Planned

Washington is drafting next year's budget — in a financial atmosphere ruled by deficit financing, which means the pumping of new money into the business stream. Washington also notes that installment credit is rising and that the authority to apply curbs has lapsed. And low interest rates and easy money are still prime policy at the treasury, in spite of federal reserve criticism. All these are listed as inflationary.

Pittsburgh sees steel prices going up, and figures that the steel companies wouldn't have taken that step unless they were betting on sustained demand and on general business speed-up.

Steel being an essential raw material for about 40 per cent of American industry, a price rise there can only mean higher production costs all along the line.

More important, possibly, are the indications that labor will use the steel price hike as the springboard for asking pay hikes.

Rent Increase Likely

Until inflation gets well underway, if it does, the cost of living will show little of its effects. That is because much of it is based on farm prices, and commodities continue to slide slowly if jerkily down. Rents, however, seem likely to rise. The textile market shows some strength again, so that clothing prices may not decline as much as some once hoped.

Retail prices will still be bolstered in one way or another by Washington. Farm subsidies keep food prices from dropping much. Continued high taxes, the coming hike in the minimum wage, and the talk of imposing a new general five per cent excise tax on manufacturer's sales — all would be added in time to the over-the-counter price you would pay for goods.

Head Of Giant Chain Store System Dies

NEW YORK, Dec. 19. (INS) — David T. Bofinger, 63-year-old president of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company, collapsed and died today while attending a testimonial luncheon in New York.

Bofinger was at a function at the Biltmore hotel honoring L. Z. Whitbeck, retiring A & P general traffic manager, when he collapsed suddenly at his table.

He had been president of the company for less than a year, having been elected in February, 1949. He succeeded John A. Hartford who became chairman of the board.

Two weeks ago, Sen. Gillette (D-Ia) asked Bofinger to come to Washington on Dec. 5 to testify on the costs and prices of bread, coffee and dairy products at a Senate hearing.

Bofinger told the chairman of the Senate Agriculture subcommittee that he was more than willing to testify but that it would have to be at a later date.

His refusal to appear until such time as he could assemble the necessary figures for the hearing caused it to be called off temporarily.

The company, meanwhile, is fighting a government anti-trust suit with full-page advertisements in daily newspapers across the country denying the charges.

Film Star Bergman, Husband Prepare Property Settlement

NEW YORK, Dec. 19. (U.P.)—A property settlement between screen star Ingrid Bergman and her husband, Dr. Peter Lindstrom,is being negotiated, Lawrence Brinn, attorney for Lindstrom, said today.

Brinn, a New York lawyer, said he has been in touch with Greg Bautzer, counsel for Miss Bergman, regarding a property settlement but added that "nothing definite has been settled so far."

Miss Bergman and screen Director Roberto Rossellini have announced their intention to marry soon as the screen star obtains a divorce. Both are currently in Italy.

MARKET LOSES SLIGHTLY

NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (AP)—A last minute flurry of selling nudged the stock market to the losing side today.

The average decline was small. For the most part the market was a highly mixed affair with gains and losses spread out over a range of a point or more in either direction.

There was a lot of evidence of profit taking after last week's advance which took prices to an average 17-month peak.

Concerted buying or selling was lacking in any of the major groups except for brief periods.

Allied Chemical ran up as much as 4 points before falling back to close at 209 up 3. Superior Oil of California lost 11 points from its 56 point gain of last week, and regained some of the drop to close at 207 off 5.

Western union made a new high for the year and stood out with a gain of a point at 19.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost 1 or a point at 70.9. The industrial component of the average was off 1 of a point, and both the rail and utility components were unchanged. Of 1,156 individual issues traded, 360 advanced, and 496 declined.

The volume of trading at 1,420,000 shares was the lowest in more than two weeks. It compared with 1,960,000 shares traded Friday.

Allegheny Corp was the day's most active issue, off ⅛ at 3⅞. Paramount Pictures sold at 22½ off 1⅛ was second in the list.

Other stocks losing ground, with closing prices and net change, follow: U.S. Steel 26 off ⅛, Youngstown Sheet and Tube 75¼ off ¼, General Motors 69¼ off ⅛, International Harvester 28⅜ off ⅜, Schenley Industries 30 off ⅜, Philco 32 off ⅛, Consolidated Edison 23½ off ¼, Kennecott Copper 30½ off ⅛, Anaconda Mines 14¾ off 1/4, Dow Chemical 54¾ off ⅜, International Paper 67½ off ⅛, Coca-Cola 168¼ off 1½, Nickel Plate 100 off ⅜, Standard Oil (NJ) 69¼ off ¼, unsettled.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (AP) — Cotton futures advanced slightly in early dealings today on mill and export buying, but thereafter drifted lower. Scattered liquidation and light hedging met indifferent trade support. A less active demand for spot cotton and generally quiet conditions in textiles influenced the hesitant tone in the futures market. Some traders felt that the market faced increased

Grain

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Dec. 19 (AP) — The price trend in grains was downward on the board of trade today. Deferred deliveries lost the most ground, but even with them the extent of the decline was not large.

At times December wheat and corn moved above the previous close on short covering, trading in all December contracts ends tomorrow. There also was some mill buying of wheat following a government request for 155,000 sacks of flour.

Wheat closed ⅛-1⅜ lower, December $2.21-$2.20⅞, corn was ⅜ lower to ⅝ higher, December $1.30¼-⅜, oats were ⅝ to 1 cent lower, December 77-76⅞, rye closed 1 to 2 cents lower, December $1.40¼, soybeans were 1¼-2¼ lower, December $2.39¼, and lard was 12 cents lower to 3 cents a hundred pounds higher, December $11.30.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Dec. 19 (AP) Wheat No. 1 hard, 2.38-43.

Oats No. 2 white 94-95.

Corn No. 2 white 1.63-65, nominal.

Sorghums No. 2 yellow milo, per 100 lbs. 2.32-37.

Transparent plastic boxes for packaging are a new product of the Netherlands.

Warner Bros. 18⅜ off ⅜, and R-K-O 8¾ off ¼.

Higher were Douglas Aircraft 70 up 1½, Air Reduction 23¾ up ⅜, General Electric 41¾ up ¾, Remington Rand 12¼ up ⅜, Santa Fe 99¼ up ⅜, Union Pacific 83¼ up ¼, and U.S. Gypsum 110 up 1.

On the advance there were 53 new highs for the year reached as against 56 new highs Saturday and 62 on Friday. There were only 2 new lows.

In the curb market, prices leaned lower among the leaders.

Engineer Will Make Study At Texas Tech

A Dallas consulting engineer is on the Texas Tech campus this week to make a survey of the new facilities which will be required to furnish lights, gas and water to the college's rapidly multiplying buildings.

D. C. Pfiefer will be on the campus all week to study the problems and gain background material necessary for his recommendations, according to Frank Junell, assistant to the president.

When his report is completed and turned over to Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president, it is expected the college will have a clear estimate of the amount of added equipment and facilities which will be necessary for its 20-year expansion program now in progress.
