Legislation Lacks Only Signature Of Hoover To Become Effective; Independents Are Opposed

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON
Associated Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14. (AP) — A slash of $160,000,000 in next year's dues of individual and corporation income tax payers, was assured today with the adoption by the senate of the house tax resolution by a 63 to 14 vote.

Republican and democratic leaders joined in support of the proposal and attempts to amend or substitute the tax cut were overwhelmed throughout a long day of debate.

Independents Opposed.

Western republican independents assailed the reduction as a gift to the rich but democratic spokesmen supported the contention of administration leaders that it had buoyed up a delicate economic situation and was vital in the revival of good conditions throughout the country.

Eleven western republican independents and three democrats were the only ones voting against the resolution on a roll call reached late in the day.

Lacks Signatures.

The resolution still must be signed by President Hoover. It goes to the White House on Monday. Mr. Hoover had advocated it and his

Brown To Talk At Executives' Meet

Organization Manager Of United States Chamber Of Commerce On Program Of Convention Here

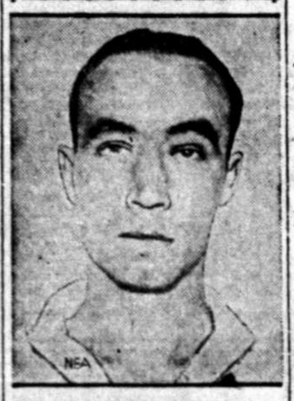
Colvin B. Brown, manager of the organization service of the United States Chamber of Commerce, of Washington, D. C., will be the principal speaker before the semi-annual meeting of South Plains Commercial Executives' association which will convene here on January 28.

Announcement of Mr. Brown's appearance was made at a meeting yesterday of South Plains secretaries of Chambers of Commerce held here. The meeting yesterday was for the purpose of outlining plans for the January gathering, which is held twice each year in Lubbock. At that time discussion of the needs of this section will be made and a plan of cooperation between the cities concerned formed.

Attendance Given.

Those in attendance yesterday included: Maury Hopkins, secretary of the Plainview Chamber of Commerce and president of the executives association; Bob Anglin, vice-president of the association and secretary of the Clovis, N. M., Chamber of Commerce; C. C. Williams, secretary of the association, and secretary of Tahoka Chamber of Commerce; L. A. Wilson, Slaton Chamber of Commerce; A. V. Bullock, secretary of Ralls Chamber of Commerce; Ed Bishop, secretary of Floydada Chamber of Commerce, and A. B. Davis, manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, directors.

Leader of Fatal Prison Mutiny



Henry Sullivan, above, desperado of Rochester, was the ring leader of the convicts in their latest bloody prison mutiny at Auburn in which nine lives were taken. He was killed by a burst of machine gun bullets.

Hold Services At Comanche Today For Clay Lester

Body Of Hanging Victim Is Shipped For Burial At Former Home; Takes Own Life To Escape Prison

Clay Lester's body was shipped Saturday afternoon at 12:55 o'clock to Comanche, former home of the convicted wife slayer who hanged himself in the Lubbock county jail Friday. Funeral services will be held there this afternoon.

The body, prepared by Bynum Brothers, of this city, was accompanied by George Underwood, of Lubbock, R. B. "Blackie" Lester, Clay's brother, left by automobile for the city where funeral services will be conducted.

Cheats Life Sentence

Sentenced last Tuesday to 99 years in the State penitentiary by a jury in 99th district court, Lester expressed dissatisfaction over the verdict, asserting that the jurors should have condemned him to death if there had been no doubt in their minds as to his sanity at the time he shot and killed his wife, Mrs. Virgie Lester, in this city October 24. He committed suicide on the day of the week that the State customarily inflicts the death penalty.

Lester had planned the suicide for

New Official In Charge Of Prison At Auburn

AUBURN, N. Y., Dec. 14. (AP) — Auburn state prison, which three days ago was the scene of the second bloody conflict in five months between convict mutineers and the forces of law, tonight had a new official in control, replacing Warden Edgar S. Jennings.

Dr. Frank L. Christian, superintendent of the Elmira State Reformatory, today was appointed acting warden by Governor Roosevelt.

President Hoover Gives Release To Communist Group

Parade Is Orderly

Fourteen Girls Included In Movement Against U. S. Policy Toward Haiti And Kellog Pact

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14. — President Hoover had 36 Communists released from jail today after their arrest during a demonstration in front of the White House, taking the position that they should be "sent to their parents" instead of granting them "the favor of cheap martyrdom."

His action introduced something new into the handling of such spasmodic demonstrations which occur in front of the White House, the capital and foreign embassies. There have been numbers of such in recent years, especially after questions in connection with foreign policies had been given unusual attention. These invariably have been orderly, as was the one today, but heretofore those arrested in front of the White House generally have been required to post bond for their release.

Held At Stations

The young men and women had spent two and one-half hours in various police stations and the house of detention before Captain J. P. Carroll, of the park police, received the request for their release from the White House.

They were charged with parading without a permit.

The arrests were made at 2:30 p. m., when 14 girls and 22 young men gathered at the west gate of the White House grounds, carrying placards which bore such phrases as "defend the rioting masses of Haiti against American imperialism," and "the Kellogg pact is Wall street's declaration of war."

Laredo to Greet Calles Cordially

LAREDO, Dec. 14. (AP)—Indications that General Plutarco Elias Calles would not only pass through here on his return from Europe unmolested, but would be greeted cordially was seen today in plans formulated by Laredo business men and officials.

The former president of Mexico, according to the plans, will be met at the railway station either Tuesday afternoon or Wednesday morning and, in addition to being tendered military honors by the commanding officer of Fort McIntosh and his staff, will be greeted by business men and others.

Calles had been threatened with arrest by John A. Valls, district attorney of Webb county, in connection with a charge of conspiracy he filed against the general in the death of two Mexican officers here in 1922.

HARDING ASPHYXIATED

Son Of Late Lawyer Found In Gas-Filled Room

WAXAHACHIE, Dec. 14. (AP) — Marion T. Harding, 25, son of the late District Judge W. L. Harding, known in legal circles over the state, was found dead in a locked room filled with gas here today. Several letters were found in the room when an ambulance driver broke down the door and found the body.

Relatives called the ambulance when they returned home and found the locked door, and after an explosion had occurred when they attempted to see over the transom by the light of a match, J. B. Hines, an uncle was slightly burned.

Farmer, Family Stand in Field to Watch Themselves Become Wealthy

(By Associated Press)

VAN, Dec. 14. (AP)—A father, his wife, and their 5 children stood in their East Texas cotton patch today and watched themselves become wealthy as two oil wells, apparently rich producers blew in on their land.

The father, L. P. Tunnell, who had laboriously earned his income by scratching the surface of the land for cotton planting will receive an estimated income of $1,200 a day if the production of the wells lives up to their promise. Mrs. Tunnell, as she stood in the shadow of one of the big storage tanks, and watched the oil spray from the first well remarked she believed she "would go to Grand Saline and buy a dress."

Shell Corporation's Tunnell No. 1 in the new Van field was allowed to blow itself in late this morning and had an estimated initial potential production of between 12,000 and 15,000 barrels. Early in the afternoon the sister well, Tunnell No 2 was allowed to come in and some observers estimated that it might make as high as 18,000 barrels if turned loose.

Just One Real Issue!

AN EDITORIAL IN SUPPORT OF PAVED ROADS

When the taxpayers of Lubbock county go to the polls next Tuesday, December 17th, they will be faced with but one question.

It is: "Shall Lubbock county have a modern system of paved highways and push forward as one of Texas' progressive counties, or shall its citizens continue to trail along in the mud and dust of mediocrity?"

That one question is the basic issue of Lubbock county's third road bond election. Upon it must be based the individual ballots of the voters.

Pre-election surveys held in Lubbock and Slaton indicate that the two most heavily populated communities of the county will give the bonds a large majority. Success of the project lies with Idalou, Shallowater and the rural boxes. They must come in on the side of progress—and they will come in if they do not permit the facts to be clouded.

The business men of Lubbock and Slaton, who have never lagged when the rural sections have called for aid, are solidly arrayed under the banner of good roads. If the rural citizenship appreciates the co-operation always offered by business men it will support the road bonds for that reason alone—not even taking into consideration that rural people will reap more convenience from the hardsurfaced highways than any other group.

There is no doubt that the majority of the people of Lubbock county want paved roads. There is no doubt that paved roads will be the biggest boon to this county since the entrance of the first railroad. There is no doubt that eventually Lubbock county will see the light and vote funds for a hardsurfacing project. The only doubt in the whole matter is whether the forward-looking progressive citizens will get out to vote as they should and actively work that this campaign may be ended successfully and to the advantage of the majority.

The routing of Highway 53 out of Lubbock to Idalou—that same old bugaboo—is the only fly in the ointment of this campaign. More than 40,000 citizens of Lubbock county will be affected by paved roads. Only an iota of that number can be affected by that routing as it is finally established by hardsurfacing. For that reason the routing of Highway 53 can cast no more than a flickering shadow across the horizon of the big problem—To Pave or Not to Pave.

The Avalanche-Journal believes there has already been too much dilly—dallying over hardsurfaced highways. It believes that the time for action—the time to end this needless heckling, once and for all, will come next Tuesday.

Get out the vote for progress Tuesday! Let the majority be served and let Lubbock county take its rightful place in the sun with a system of paved highways!

W. M. Ross Named Farm Bureau Head

Lubbock Man Is Chosen As President Of Federation At Session Saturday In County Court House

W. M. Ross, of Lubbock, was elected president of the Lubbock County Farm Bureau federation for the ensuing year at a meeting held Saturday afternoon in the court house.

Other officers elected included: R. L. Hooten, Shallowater, vice-president; Mrs. F. F. Revier, Lubbock, secretary.

Directors Named

The following will make up the personnel of the board of directors: Precinct 1—James Burrough, Mrs. W. M. Ross; Precinct 2—J. L. Benton, Mrs. C. Z. Fine; Precinct 3—T. M. Nelson, Mrs. Douglas Pounds; Precinct 4—Bob Crump and Mrs. C. E. Merrell.

The election of officers took practically all of the attention for the afternoon though a short program was held with talks from Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Hudson, of Hale Center; R. E. Overstreet and H. J. Bower. About 100 members of the federation were present.

FEW HOMES ENTERED

Prizes Offered For Best Decorated Homes Here

Only a few homes have been entered in the Christmas decoration contest, being sponsored by the Retail Merchants association, according to information from headquarters yesterday.

"We want to urge as many as possible to enter before Tuesday in order that they can get the extra 25 per cent bonus on judging points" said Sam Lightfoot, chairman of the decorations committee.

"Everyone has a chance to win the prizes and the judging will be started the latter part of the week. We want it distinctly understood by all that only the outside of the homes will be judged and that the interior decorations will not figure. Only the front yards with their lighting effects, shrubbery, trees, etc."

Simple Service Held For "Father of the Texas Panhandle"

(By Associated Press)

GOODNIGHT, Dec. 14. — On a spot he selected more than half a century ago, the body of Col. Charles Goodnight, 93, frontiersman, was buried today.

More than 3,000 friends, many of whom followed his leadership in development of the Southwest, particularly the Texas Panhandle, attended the short and simple services. Last rites were in accordance with Col. Goodnight's request that his funeral be in accord with his life habits.

Many Pay Tribute.

From early yesterday morning, when the body arrived in Clarendon from Tucson, Ariz., where he died Thursday, until the casket was lowered into the grave this afternoon, there was a constant stream of people paying tribute to the "Father of the Panhandle."

Atop the casket, during the brief ceremony were a wreath of holly and a single white flower, the gift of Matthew (Bones) Hooks, aged negro cowpuncher, who worked for Col. Goodnight more than 40 years ago, and who sent the floral offering for "the whitest man who ever lived."

Planes In Cortege.

The casket was carried to Goodnight over a road which Col. Goodnight helped build, through a country the denizens of which were buffalo, wild turkey and Texas Longhorns when Col. Goodnight first came to the Panhandle. On his last trip today, the long string of automobiles was accompanied by the whirring of airplanes which accompanied the funeral cortege from Clarendon to Goodnight.

GET 50 CENTS LOOT

Robbers Fail To Open Safe Of Packing Company

Looting of the McDonald Packing company office in this city sometime Friday night netted robbers a scant 50 cents after their efforts at the safe had failed.

Entrance into the building was gained through a chute used for the distribution of refuse.

Marks were left on the knob of the safe, which showed that the prowlers had evidently hammered at it, trying to force an entrance. Only a 50 cent piece was missing from the cash drawer Saturday morning, when officials of the company checked up.

Crosbyton Banks Are Merged Into One Institution

First National, Citizens Joined In Transaction Saturday; Deposits Of Joint Bank $330,000

Effective Monday

C. E. Maedgen, Of Lubbock, Buys Controlling Stock Of One Institution And Sells Out To Other

ANNOUNCEMENT was made Saturday by C. E. Maedgen, president of Lubbock National bank, of the merger of the First National and Citizens National banks of Crosbyton, effective Monday.

The bank will be known as the Citizens National bank and will remain in the same quarters with a capital and surplus of $60,000 and deposits of $330,000. Both banks formerly were capitalized at $50,000 each.

Officers of the new institution will be N. Y. Bicknel, president; Wade Cooper, active vice-president and R. H. McCurdy, cashier, all of whom served in the same capacity with the Citizens; E. M. Perkins, president of the First National, will be taken in as an officer, according to the announcement.

Mr. Maedgen was active in the merger having purchased a controlling interest of the First National Saturday and selling to the Citizens National the same day.

"The merger of the two banks gives Crosbyton one of the strongest financial institutions on the South Plains," said Mr. Maedgen. "Not only will it be strong financially, but it has a capable staff of officers."

The Citizens National bank is the oldest bank in Crosby county and was first established in Old Emma when that town was the county seat.

Family Hates Are Blamed in Slaying

ARKANSAS CITY, Kas., Dec. 14. (AP)—A picture of a family whose hates resulted in the slaying of Carl Jones, Cowley county farmer, was painted here today by the prosecution at a preliminary hearing for three men, charged with first degree murder.

John Phelan Jones, father of victim, and Harry and Neil Jones, brothers, sat with their counsel and listened to testimony indicating family bickerings had resulted in murder threats prior to the tragedy.

At the conclusion of the hearing Justice S. Harry Brown announced he would make public his decision Monday morning. Two of the defendants, he said, would be bound over for trial in district court. Doubt existed in the mind of the justice, he declared, concerning his action regarding the third. He did not name the two men to be held for trial.

FRIEND IS SOUGHT

Wife's Return To Family Ends In Tragedy

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 14. (AP) — Police tonight sought an unnamed friend of Mrs. Juanita Beatrice Clutts, 23, whose journey home to join her estranged husband and children for Christmas ended in her tragic death early Thursday. The man sought was described as a former friend of Mrs. Clutts.

The body of the young mother was found in a clump of bushes near Marked Tree, Ark., where it lay in a mortuary until Horace Clutts, Memphis freight agent, today identified it as his wife. Sobbing, he told of plans for her welcome and the re-establishment of their home.

"Shotgun Daniels" Is Shot Down In His Barricaded Shanty After Escaping From Officer's Squad

(By Associated Press)

GROESBECK, Dec. 14. (AP)— A roaring pistol in each hand, B. O. "Shotgun" Daniels threw his last defiance into the teeth of authority early today.

The elderly recluse, at bay in his lonely shack near Thornton, died resisting the efforts of Limestone county officers to rearrest him and proceed with him to Groesbeck for a sanity test.

Barricades Self

He escaped the squad last night and went directly to his shanty. There he barricaded himself in and when Sheriff Boss McKenzie and his deputies came for him, he fired through the door, wounding McKenzie in the arm.

The officers dashed in and Daniels loosed both his pistols upon them. He did no further damage, however, and fell shortly with three slugs in his body.

The Thornton townspeople knew him as "Shotgun" because he rarely appeared on the streets without this weapon over a shoulder and a pack of hounds, his constant companions, trooping behind him. Men he shunned.

REMOVAL SOUGHT

Claim Fair Trial Is Not Possible In Brownsville

BROWNSVILLE, Dec. 14. (AP) — A motion seeking to have the hearing of the $1,000,000 libel suit filed against Collier's Weekly by R. B. Creager, republican national committeeman for Texas, removed to some other place because it was believed a fair trial impossible in Brownsville was filed today by attorneys for the magazine.

Several other motions, including one to dismiss the case, also have been filed by attorneys for the magazine.

In the motion filed today the attorneys made special reference to published reason why Judge J. C. Hutcheson Jr., had disqualified himself to hear the case. Politics in Hidalgo county, basis for one of the articles upon which the suit was based, also was mentioned.

Cotton Member Of Farm Board To Be Here This Winter

Announcement Is Made By R. E. Overstreet, State Director Of Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Group

Back From Confab

Representative Of Lubbock Returns From Marketing Association Session At Memphis Last Week

CARL WILLIAMS, of Oklahoma, cotton member of the Federal Farm board, will be the principal speaker at the second annual farmers short course to be held at Texas Technological college this winter, it was learned Saturday from R. E. Overstreet, state director of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton association.

Mr. Overstreet said, upon his return to Lubbock from Memphis, Tenn., where he attended a meeting of all cotton marketing associations representatives in the South with the Federal Farm Board, that Williams definitely agreed to appear on the program here.

Date Not Set.

The date of Williams' appearance here has not yet been set, but it will be either at some time during the latter part of January or the early part of February. When this time can be set then dates for the Texas Tech short course will be set in accordance, H. J. Bower, professor of agronomy of the Tech school of agriculture, stated Saturday. Bower is general chairman of the short course.

In addition to Overstreet, other directors from this section of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton association attending the Memphis meet-

Cotton Ginnings At 41,977 Bales

Increase Of 1,500 During Past Week Boosts Total One Notch Nearer 45,000 Mark For 1929 Season

Cotton ginnings in Lubbock county climbed a notch nearer the 45,000-bale mark for the season this week, showing an increase of approximately 1,500 bales, according to telephonic reports received by the Avalanche-Journal from the gins of the county yesterday. The season's total stands at 41,977 bales.

Lubbock's seven gins continued in the lead as well as in the increases during the week. The gins had a total of 11,397 for the season, an increase of 463 bales over last Saturday. Slaton's six gins showed a total of 6,547 bales, an increase of 254 over last week. Idalou with a total of 5,506 bales for the season increased 243 for the week, while Shallowater with 4,567 bales increased 177 bales.

Gins Still Active.

Reports from the community gins over the area showed increases ranging from 5 to 70 bales.

Only about two more weeks of regular ginning remain in the county, gin men estimated. After that certain days will be designated for ginning. Close observers of the crop were of the opinion yesterday that the county's total ginnings for the season will easily reach 45,000 bales.

"Slime" Dance No Place for Cops to Enjoy Life; Vegetable Shower Given

A FRESHMAN DANCE is no place for a hard working officer.

At least that is the opinion expressed by several members of the Lubbock sheriff and police departments last night after the annual freshman dance at Texas Tech gymnasium.

Rotten tomatoes with accompanying companions of the vegetable variety flew thick and fast as 100 sophomores sought to gain an entrance into the "slimes" exclusive affair. Time and again they rushed only to be repulsed by a determined guard of "laws," backed by a horde of "fish." One, however, got just close enough to hurl a bottle of ammonia through a window which sent those in the interior scurrying for fresh air.

Tires All Flat

It was a sad group of freshmen who pumped up tires after the occasion. Valve cores were missing and every tire was at least flat on the bottom.

Two of the sophomore leaders were arrested by officers and lodged in the county jail until they could cool a bit. They were released a short time later.

Lubbock Schools, Churches Prepare For Christmas

Programs And Entertainments Are To Be Given Here During This Week; Churches Planning Special Services

Spirit Is Instilled Into The Daily Routine Of Schools; Tech To Stage Programs This Week

CHRISTMAS, Climax of the year for young and old alike, lies just a week away. And Christmas which has come to be a season when folks live in a happy daze, seeing all people and things through a rosy mist, means for several thousand school children in Lubbock a few days of rest from studies and plenty of time for play. The local public schools will close their doors Friday, December 20, and reopen them on Tuesday, December 31, according to a statement made last week by M. H. Duncan, superintendent of schools.

The students will give no programs outside of lesson hours, but instead an effort has been made this year to instill the spirit of the Yuletide into the classroom routine and rooms have been decorated, while the children have been taught carols. There will be no Christmas trees or giving of gifts in the schools according to the authorities.

Students Singing.

The spirit of the approaching season has prevailed at Tech college during the past week. Under the direction of Prof. W. R. Waghorne students have caroled lustily in the third corridor between classes, and Friday evening the annual Christmas program was given under the archways of the Administration building. The college Glee clubs and the audience sang carols and Dr. Paul W. Horn read the story of the first Christmas.

On next Tuesday evening at the college gymnasium the Alpha Psi Omega, dramatic organization of the college, together with the Sock and Buskin and the Thespian clubs will present two plays. The program begins at 8 o'clock and the general public is invited to attend. There will be no admission charged.

Emphasizes Story.

The first play "Why the Chimes Rang," by Elizabeth Anthorp McFadden, is a story which emphasizes the story of the Christ Child, rather than the Santa Claus phase of Christmas Eve.

Miss Martha Knight takes the role of Holger, a peasant boy, while other characters are as follows: Speen, a younger brother, Miss Johnnye May Patterson; Bertel, the uncle, Ameral Payne; an old woman, Mrs. Louise White, while the following are in the cathedral scene: a priest, Cecil Kersey; a rich man, M. O. Phillips; the scholar, Ray Main; a rich woman, Mrs. Vance Gilbreath; courtier, R. V. Willis; king, Roscoe Bayless, and an angel, Eileen Graves. The scene takes place in a wood-chopper's hut at the edge of a forest.

Relates Story of Dolls.

The second presentation is called "Dolls" and written by Louise Van Voorlis Armstrong. It relates in a humorous nature the story of nine Christmas dolls who prove to be gay caricatures of people in real life.

Those taking part are Hilma Bartlett, Marjorie Blackshear, Evelyn Rutherford, Gertrude Osborne, Marie Warren, Doris Ladd Johnson, Margaret Baskin, Martha Knight, Vivian Williams, Twilight Baker, Lelia Faye McIntyre and Meda Craig Twitty.

Many college students will take the homeward trail beginning as early as Thursday and the campus will be practically deserted by Friday afternoon since each student leaves as soon as his final examination is over. Registration for the winter term begins on January 2, while classes will be resumed on the third.

Churches Have Program.

Many of the churches in the city are having programs, pageants and gift offerings to express the spirit of this occasion of "Peace On Earth, Good Will Among Men."

The First Methodist church will have a Christmas program on Sunday evening, December 22, which will take the place of the church hour. A pageant, "Miriam's Vision," is to be staged, and during the scene a special offering is to be presented. This offering goes to the orphanage home in Waco. The part of Mary, the Mother of Jesus, will be taken by Miss Theresa Everheart, while Benjamin Powell is to play the part of Joseph. Mrs. H. W. Richardson and Mrs. N. A. Gamble are directing the pageant.

On next Friday the nursery, beginners, primary and junior departments of the Sunday school are to have Christmas trees and gifts will be exchanged.

To Hold Open House.

The Senior Epworth League will be guests at an open house this evening in the entertaining room of the church annex. A Christmas program is to be a feature of the entertainment.

On Sunday, December 22, the First Presbyterian Sunday school will meet in the main auditorium for a special worship program. An offering which goes to ministerial relief and the orphanage at Files Valley will be taken.

Sunday evening the choir presents a cantata, and on Monday the four younger departments of the Sunday school will give a program and play pageant. There will be a Christmas tree and the program will consist of singing and readings. Gifts which are brought will be taken to the Sanders school and presented to the children there. This is known as a white Christmas.

The choir of the First Baptist church presents its annual Christmas cantata at the church tonight.

Under the direction of Miss Mary de Bardeleben the Asbury Methodist church is giving a pageant on Sunday, December 22.

Congress Starts Serious Business Of Laying Plans For Re-Election And Demos Hope For Gains, Dutcher Claims

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Assembling again in regular session, Congress will pay strict attention to business. Every man may be depended upon to serve the best interests of his constituents and to concentrate his efforts on matters of serious purpose. The Congressional Record will bulge with the evidence of great and windy endeavors.

For the beginning of every regular session finds each member of the senate running for re-election. And there are few incumbent statesmen who do not regard re-election as the most serious phase of their jobs. Nearly all are convinced that they ought to do their utmost to save the folks back home from being represented here by some gent less able and worthy.

Speculation about the 1930 congressional elections is far easier than prediction at this time, because in most cases it's too early to tell who's going to run against whom and because if there is any particular trend in them one way or the other it probably will be attributable to conditions which will develop or become more apparent within the next eight or 10 months.

But they will be more interesting than usual, first, because of the trouble President Hoover has been having with the senate and, second, because the results may help answer the question of what's happening to the democratic party—a question commonly asked after its sad licking in the electoral college a year ago.

Once there was a lusty rumor that Mr. Hoover and his personal friends were going to launch a movement to elect a "Hoover Senate," which would mean backing other and more docile republicans against such incorrigible insurgents as Senators Norris and Borah.

Whispers to that effect came so vociferously from the general direction of the White House that they attracted considerable attention. But if there ever was such a plan not much has been heard about it lately, even though the provocation by the insurgent section of the senate coalition in its defiance of the White House may seem to have been very great. It seems reasonably certain that Mr. Hoover himself will be careful to take no part in the primary fights, although there will undoubtedly be a "Hoover candidate" to oppose the renomination of Norris in Nebraska, Pine in Oklahoma and possibly of Schall in Minnesota.

The democratic national executive committee here has been greatly encouraged by democratic victories in municipal elections last month. Some of its jubilations, but not all, may be discounted. It is axiomatic that the party in power is most likely to suffer in these biennial congressional elections and there is very little if any hope that the regular republicans will improve their position in 1930. Under normal conditions the very large republican majority in the house probably would be somewhat reduced and the democrats might reasonably gain two or three seats in the senate. That would still leave a good republican majority in both houses, but there is no nourishment in that either for Mr. Hoover or for the Old Guard. The senate is broken up into groups of Old Guardsmen, Young Guardsmen and Insurgents on the republican side and then there are the democrats with whom the Insurgents have made coalition.

Here lately the democrats have been talking about democratic majorities in both houses and while that would be extremely unlikely under normal conditions nobody ever knows what will happen if conditions are especially abnormal next fall. If business happens to be poor along toward election time the democrats would have a very good chance. It is a consoling thought to republicans that Hoover is undertaking to establish himself as a "business doctor."

Only 13 democratic senators will be up for re-election, as against 21 republicans. The total is 34 instead of the normal 32, because of the deaths of Warren of Wyoming and Burton of Ohio.

Living and Loving

BY MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

BY VIRGINA LEE

Just what is the proper attitude when some one hints that your wife or husband is accepting or giving attention to an outsider?

It would depend on what type the said husband or wife was, I imagine. Whether they had a tendency to "step out," or whether they were the souls of honor and uprightness.

In the latter case, I would imagine one would feel indignant that anyone would dare say such a thing about our loved one.

Faith in those we love comes natural. And better be fooled than to hurt by lack of faith.

"DEAR VIRGINIA: I am a married man with two fine boys, eight and five. Wife and myself love each other very much all the time since we were married 11 years ago. Now some of my friends tell me there is some other man going to see her when I am away from home. Would like to know your advice, what you would do if you were in my place? Your friend, TROUBLED MIKE."

I think I'd trust the little woman, Mike. People are all too ready to gossip and turn the most harmless happenings into causes for suspicion. I think I'd be extra loving to her and the children, so as to make her feel you are her "man," and tell the tattlers to mind their tongues.

WONDERING PEGGY: No harm at all, as far as I can see, to go to a show with a nice boy whom your parents know. You are suffering from young sister-itis. Your parents are used to your older sister's going out, but think of you as still a baby. They will realize, in time, that you, too, are growing up.

SWEETIE: Haven't room to print your letter, dear, but the answer is, you can't force yourself to love a person. All you can do is to appreciate your friend's good points. It's hardly fair, either to him or to you, to go together "steady," feeling as you do. Such a relationship ramifies marriage in the long run.

If you are both invited to the birthday party, one present, bought half and half, is enough.

YOUR FRIEND: Hope you will recognize the signature. You had such a long one, I could not use it all.

You do not say how old you are, but I judge you are pretty young. If you are going to marry Bill and wear his ring, it hardly seems fair to go with Tom on the sly. On the other hand, if you are very young, you might not be happy and contented settling down with Bill if you have other boys on your mind. That is a very unsatisfactory thing. Bill certainly sounds like a dandy fellow, but don't marry him if you can't forget about the others and be loyal and true to him.

BROWN EYES: Too bad you girls don't know your own minds. Wonder how many letters I get in a year from girls who say they have given the boy friend his walking papers and then found they loved him.

No harm in writing him a little note saying you would like to see him. If he doesn't respond, all you can do is to put the incident down to experience, and not let it happen again.

FROSH: If the boy and his former girl friend have "broken up," as you say, it is perfectly all right for you to go with him. He must like you or he wouldn't continue to ask for dates.

CLARA AND BROWN EYES: If a boy really cares for a girl he usually makes it pretty plain. So don't worry about them, girls, if you can help it. You will have boy friends sooner or later, even if those you now think you love fail you.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I am a boy and I was to slip off and marry a girl whom I am desperately in love with. My father stopped me and I didn't get to meet her. She thinks I did it on purpose. Please help me with your good advice.

"BARNACLE BILL."

Thank your lucky stars your father did interfere, Bill. Wait until you are in a position to support a wife. You can simply explain to the girl how it happened, and if she won't believe you—well, what can you do about it?

CARILLA: I couldn't possibly do what you ask, Carilla. It would be advertising such people, and I could not do that. Look in the advertising columns of the paper and you will probably see their advertisements, if you must try to take a peep into your future.

TACKLE: Thanks, Tackle, for "them kind words." I suppose a boy might feel under some obligation to go with a girl he no longer cared much about because he had been going with her and it might not be easy to break away. Most boys of 17 don't, however. They go with the girl they think they love at the moment. Twenty-one is a better age for the boy to start smoking, if he must start.

* * *

WORRIED SWEETHEART: I think you were very wise to let the boy friend go with this other girl and say nothing. He would, any-

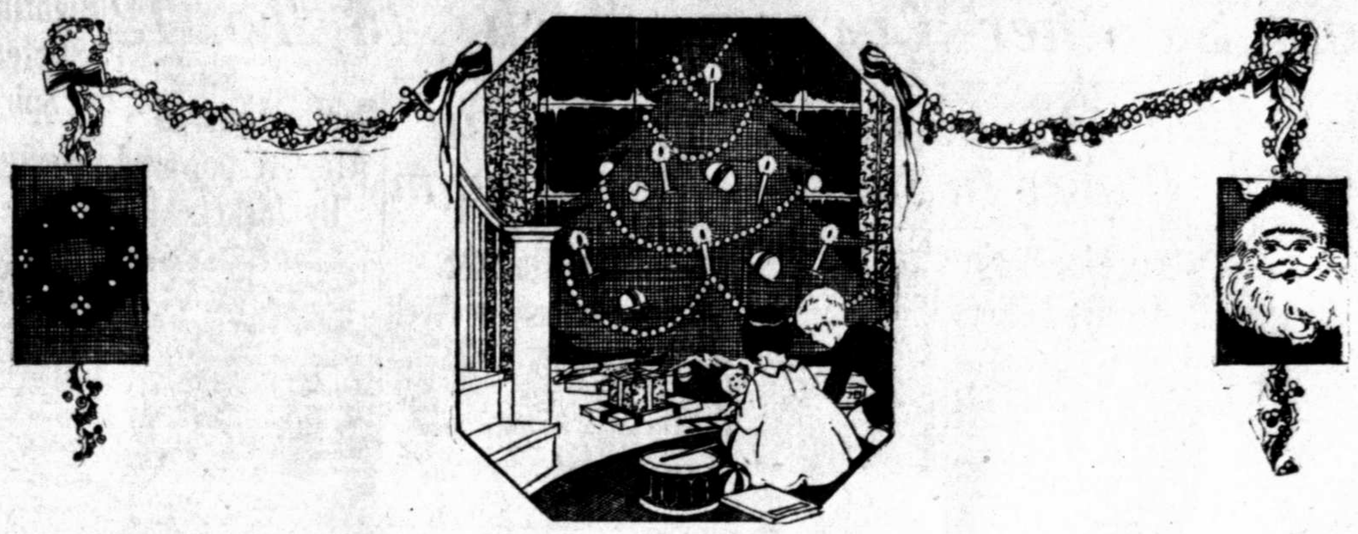
Sub Post Office Now Open

The sub-station of the Lubbock post office will be open in the rear of our store beginning Monday. Use it for your Christmas mailings.



Use Our Wrapping Service

We delight in making your Christmas packages attractive for you. On all purchases, where you desire, just say "Wrap as a Gift." Of course, there is no extra charge.

It's mighty nice, once each year, to forget all thoughts of selfishness and to consider only the problem of choosing gifts to please some one else. Little remebrances that will bring a glow of happiness to some tiny tot, or some thoughtful selection to light a new fire in some Frandfather's eyes or bring a smile to some forgotten Aunt.

Practical, uesful gifts are much surer to appropriately express this unselfishness, for they have the advantage of calling it to mind time after time during their period of service. It's this charracter of gifts that we would have you choose at Hemphill-Wells, gifts that are not only practical but especially high in quality, desirables in style and sure to express the true Christmas Spirit.

Breckenridge And Port Arthur Win Way To State Final

IN THE REALM OF SPORT

WITH ALLAN CARNEY
Avalanche Sports Editor

Hail the conquering heroes! The Lubbock Westerners.

Never in recent history has a football team on the Plains so completely won its way into the hearts of the home folks as did the Lubbock High school eleven Friday afternoon in turning back the powerful Cleburne Yellow Jackets so decisively. Never before have the praises of a group of grid men been so highly as a result of a non-championship game.

The 25 to 13 decision was a signal triumph for West Texas football which for years has been considered the most undeveloped section of the state relative to high school football. Cleburne lost to Waco, 7 to 6, but all reports give the Jackets credit for outplaying the Tigers all over the Cotton Palace gridiron. Lubbock's team went out on the college field last week and gave the cocky crew from Central Texas a first-class football lesson and incidently showed the visitors how football is played out here in the wide open spaces.

Despite the keen rivalry between members of District One, a strong loyalty exists between the same teams when the district championship is not at stake. The majority of Lubbock fans were pulling strong for an amarillo victory over Breckenridge in the bi-district struggle recently in the hope that this district's representative would break its jinx over the Oil Belt champions.

Yesterday a message was delivered to the Westerners between halves that clearly showed that all Amarillo fans were behind Lubbock's football team. The message was addressed to the Lubock Westerners Football Team and signed "Amarillo Fans."

It read as follows:

"All Amarillo fans are with you today. Show Cleburne how football is played in the Panhandle. Smear it on them good and heavy."

That is the sort of spirit that will help West Texas and Panhandle football teams take their place alongside the leading contenders for the Interscholastic league crown. Amarillo's message to the Westerners was a splendid gesture that will do much to destroy any unfriendly rivalry which smacks of unsportsmanship.

Dutch Smith turned down a nice fat salary last week when he refused to sign the contract as head coach at Amarillo High school for another year. News that the Sandies' commander would not be back hailed as being "from out of a clear sky" at the Panhandle metropolis, but his departure had been predicted generall for several weeks and to the majority of those who have followed the progress of the Amarillo club it was no surprise. Except for the statement that he had other coaching positions in mind, Smith made no definite announcement concerning his plans for the future. The former Austin College athlete is apparently leaving Amarillo at a good time. Three successive district titles have gone to the Sandies since he went there from Sherman. At least 17 members of the Sandy football squad are lost at the end of this school year and the prospect for next season isn't so rosy. We wouldn't exactly relish the job of stepping into Smith's shoes next year.

A situation has arisen at Tech that merits consideration of all authorities of the college. Just to put it briefly, the college gymnasium has recently resembled a theater or a public dance hall more than a building for the advancment of athletics. So numerous have been the social gatherings and club meetings at the gym that the Matador basketball squad has been able to practice little more than half of the time. Every club that the Tech quintet will meet this year has been in regular training for weeks and unless the locals get in more work than they have been getting, the difference will be more noticeable than comfortable. Social gatherings are necessary, but some plan must be worked out to allow the Matadors to their own building.

A practice game with the Lubbock Comets will give the Matadorr their first workout of the week either Wednesday or Thursday night, pending investigation into the social program for the week. Ho hum! When's the next party?

Slaton High Gridders And Pep Squad In Banquet

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

SLATON, Dec. 14.—A banquet for the Slaton high football team and members of the pep squads will be given next Friday night by the Slaton Rotary club, W. H. Smith, club president, has announced. About 125 will attend. The event will be a special tribute to the Tigers and the pep squads for winning nine of the 11 games played this season.

Trojans Smother Carnegie Tech, 45 To 13

Reserve Strength Of Californians Conquers Tartans

Early Lead Of Carnegie Tech Swept Away By Determined Rush Of Western Eleven

BY PAUL B. ZIMMERMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLISEUM, LOS ANGELES, Dec. 14. (AP)—A Carnegie Tech scoring attack which flourished in the first half, wilted and was swept away before the determined Trojans of Southern California in the final two periods of their clash here today, and the Trojans scored a 45 to 13 triumph before 50,000 fans.

It was the tremendous reserve strength of the Trojans which brought about the crash of a great offensive after the valiant aggregation from the Smoky City startled everybody, including the men of Troy.

Saunders Runs Wild

Russel Saunders, driving quarterback and Francis Tappaan, sturdy left end, did much of the work which turned the tide to a Southern California victory in the third period after the count was deadlocked at half time, 13-13.

What the stocky Saunders failed to do in his running attack, he supplanted with unerring passes. It was his pass to Garrett Arbelbide which brought Coach Howard Jones' men their first touchdown after the team from Pittsburgh had swept all before it to send Murray Armentrout across, giving the Tartans the lead.

Armentrout, who had been substituted only a moment before for Johnny Eyth at left half, covered himself with glory, not only his touchdown, but by superb cutbacks through the tackles and remarkable, shifty end runs. His 77 yards in 15 attempts all but equalled the record of Saunders. The U. S. C. signal caller made 124 yards in 24 tries for a 5.8 yard average. The Tartan halfback averaged 5.1.

Visitors Lead In Downs

Whatever the score may show, Carnegie Tech accounted for the greater yardage, making 18 downs to 14 for U. S. C. Three hundred eighteen of these yards were made from scrimmage, but the Trojans outdid their opponents in passing. The men of Troy completed nine of 17 efforts for 162 yards against six out of 19 for 123 yards. The Southern California yardage from scrimmage stood at 294.

Score by quarters:

U. S. C.	0	13	13	19	—45
Carnegie	7	6	0	0	—13

Touchdowns: U. S. C. Arbelbide, Tappaan, Duffield sub for Saunders); Wilcox (sub for Hoff); Edelson, Saunders 2.

Carnegie — Armentrout (sub for Eyth); McCurdy.

Points after touchdowns: U. S. C. Baker (sub for aBrragar); Shaver (Duffield) drop kick. Carnegie, Dreshar.

Officials: Referee, D. W. Very, Penn State; umpire, Arthur Badenoch, Chicago; head linesman, Bruce Kirkpatrick, Occidental; field judge, Walter Ekersall, Chicago.

Matador Cagers Facing Twenty Games In Impending Campaign

Twenty Matadors Receive Letters

Jack Durham Is Named Captain Of 1930 Eleven; Squad Will Lose Few Men By Graduation

Twenty members of the 1929 Texas Tech football squad were issued letters for their past season's performance, it was announced yesterday by the college athletic department. The awards were recommended by Coaches Grady Higginbotham and Victor Payne, pending the approval of the Tech athletic council.

Election of Jack Durham, stellar Matador center, as captain of the 1930 Tech football team was made known at a banquet held in honor of the squad Friday night.

Five of the 20 letter men are expected to graduate at the end of the current school year. These are H. C. Dewitt, Sidney Knowles, Ameral Payne, Bill McWilliams and Chas. Wooldridge.

Following are the varsity letter men announced: Ends—Ameral Payne, J. H. Tadlock, Dennis Vinzant and Freeman Edmonds. Tackles—George Langford, W. D. McWilliams, jr., and E. C. Simmons. Guards—H. C. Dewitt, Walton Nixon and Sidney Knowles. Centers—Jack Durham and Canvin Swift. Quarters—Edgar Cappleman and Dick Green. Halfbacks—Orville Brothers, Harold Crites, Basil Hill and J. D. Waller. Fullbacks—Charlie Wooldridge and Clarence Hodges.

Twenty-one freshman gridders were awarded numerals. They are: Ends—Bill Teal, R. B. Crabtree and T. J. Wallace; tackles—Bennie McWilliams, Henry Murphy, Emmett Farris, Theo Hazelwood and John H. Gammon guards—J. F. Lumsden, John Ross, Clyde Ross and J. T. Howard center—Robert H. Janes; backs—W. A. Gilmore, C. A. Doose, Milten Moffott, J. B. Pickett, Carl McAdams, Alfredo Navarro, H. L. McDonald and John Dickson.

Matador Leader

JACK DURHAM

A former Hamilton high school star who was the outstanding cog in Texas Tech's defense during the past football season has been selected to lead the Bull Fighters through the 1930 grid campaign. The new Matador captain has been a thorn in the side of practically every team the local collegians have met this year and gives promise of making a capable leader for the Tech eleven next year. Durham has two varsity letters to his credit.

Strong Quintet Looms For Tech

Coach Payne Anticipates Fast Aggregation Of Dribblers For This Year; Track Schedule Given

Announcement of Texas Tech's basketball and track schedule for the current school year gives indications of plenty of fireworks for the remainder of the 1929-30 athletic campaign.

Twenty basketball games are on the Matadors' cage program, including contests with five T. I. A. A. quintets and two Texas conference aggregations. Wayland is the only non-conference school the Crimson five will meet.

Three dual meets, the Texas Relays, S. M. U. Relays and the Great Plains meet at Canyon constitute the track schedule for the local institution. Only two of these events are to be held in Lubbock, both of which are dual meets.

Basketball training under the direction of Coach Victor Payne has been underway at Tech for the past several weeks, but the Matadors have been sorely handicapped by conflicting engagements held in the college gymnasium. Practice on Monday and Tuesday nights will necessarily have to be postponed because of various events scheduled for their practice floor.

Although there will be no more than five letter men available, Coach Payne anticipates a much stronger team than the club that won 12 out of 20 games last season. Strong reinforcements from the freshman squad of last year will add worlds of punch to the Matador quintet. Maxwell, center and Grimes, a forward, are two stars from the 1929 frosh quintet who are practically certain to win berths on the varsity this year. Hodges, Dalton and Puckett, returned veterans are the other forwards who are expected to carry their share of the scoring burden. Leon Fisher, 1929 center, may be shifted to forward. Tadlock, another rangy pivot man, will be used at center on the tip-off but will be shifted to guard on the defense.

Guards are at a premium on the Tech squad. Dennis Vinsant is the only returned veteran for one of the guard posts. Stockwell, another graduate from last year's freshman team, shows promise, but outside of these two the material is lacking.

A practice game with the Lubbock Hornets will be played Wednesday or Thursday night of this week, Coach Payne announced last night.

Following is the complete basketball schedule:

Wayland college at Lubbock and at Canyon (dates to be set).

Jan. 13 and 14—Howard Payne at Lubbock.

Jan. 16—Simmons at Lubbock.

Jan. 20 and 21—Daniel Baker at Lubbock.

Jan. 27 and 28—A. C. C. at Lubbock.

Jan. 29 and 30—Sul Ross at Lubbock (tentative.)

Feb. 3 and 4—McMurry at Abilene.

Feb. 5—Simmons at Abilene.

Feb. 6 and 7—A. C. C. at Abilene.

Feb. 10 and 11—Canyon at Lubbock.

Feb. 19 and 20—Canyon at Canyon.

The 1930 track schedule for the Matadors:

March 28—Texas Relays at Austin.

March 29—S. M. U. at Dallas.

April 12—Canyon at Lubbock.

April 14—Simmons at Abilene.

April 19—Daniel Baker at Lubbock.

April 25 and 26 — Great Plains Meet at Canyon.

Idalou Wildcats Will Play Series During Holidays

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

IDALOU, Dec. 14—The itinerary of the Idalou Wildcat cagers for their Christmas basketball tour was announced here today by Coach L. F. Swinney.

Leaving here next Thursday afternoon, the local basketball quintet will go to Snyder for a game that night with the Snyder five. On Friday night the Wildcats are scheduled to meet the Denton Broncos in Denton. Saturday night will find the Idalou cagers at Corsicana.

Monday night, December 23, the Wildcats will invade the den of the Athens Hornets, national schoolboy champions. Tyler Lyons will furnish opposition for the Idalou lads on the night of December 26 and on the return trip, the Wildcats will stop off in Snyder for another game, December 27.

Schedules Given For San Marcos

SAN MARCOS, Dec. 14. (AP) — The following San Marcos Teachers college track and football schedules for 1930 have been announced by Coach O. W. Strahan:

Lamesa Gridders Are Given Banquet

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

LAMESA, Dec. 14.—Members of the Lamesa high school football team were guests of the Lamesa Lions club during a banquet here today. Coaches McCollum and Elms were among those present. Nearly 20 of the Golden Tornadoes were present.

BEGIN CAGE TRAINING

ALPINE, Dec. 14. (AP)—Basketball practice at Sul Ross State Teachers college got underway here this week with 30 men out for the team. Many candidates are yearlings, but Coach B. C. Graves has four lettermen left from last year. Some of the new men, too, are showing up well.

AGREEMENT ANNOUNCED

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 14. (AP)—A two year home and home football arrangement between Stanford university and University of Minnesota was announced today by Al Masters, graduate manager of Stanford. The first contest will be played at Stanford next October 11.

Whalebone is not a bone. It is an elastic substance which grows in the roof of the mouth of certain whales.

Wyoming Club Is Defeated, 7 to 6

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 14. (AP)—Fort Crockett upset the football dope bucket here this afternoon, outplaying the highly touted First Infantry of Fort Warren, Wyoming, to win, 7 to 6. The feature of the game was a 57-yard run after a break through center by Red Lashley. His gallant romp ended in the touchdown that tied the score. The winning point came a moment later off the toe of Perkins.

The wyoming score came in the secnod period when Plummer tossed a long pass to Mellman from midfield for a first down on the Birds' 13 yard line. On the second play Plummer followed perfect interference through to a touchdown. Sleeth missed the try for point.

BANQUET TORNADOES

Lamesa Business Men Will Honor Football Squad

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

LAMESA, Dec. 14.—Business men of Lamesa are planning a big banquet for the Lamesa Golden Tornadoes here Monday, December 16. Every member of the team and pep squad will be feted, it is said. Over 100 are expected to be present during this banquet, which will be the Tornadoes' fifth big feed this season.

STRONG GIRLS' TEAM

Ralls High Has 20 Skirts Working For Club

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

RALLS, Dec. 14.—Ralls, already famous for its winning boys' basketball teams, is now entering the field with what appears to be an equally strong girls aggregation, Coach M. L. Penn, reports that he has 20 girls, out of which he expects to build a winning team.

Four girls of last year's team are back and a wealth of new material have reported. The four girls from last year's squad are Smith, Walker, Day and Gubbart.

Plans are underway, according to Coach Penn, for an invitation tournament to be held in Ralls on the 24th and 25th of January.

Lubbock High School Superintendent Sees Great Value In Athletics; Writes Songs For Westerners

Lubbock High school's football team, which closed its 1929 season Friday in its post-season skirmish with the Cleburne Yellow Jackets, can claim the distinction of having the most loyal superintendent in all West Texas.

Affectionately dubbed, "The Daddy of the Westerners," Superintendent M. H. Duncan has directed the program of athletic expansion at Lubbock High school with all the genius of a seasoned veteran and the enthusiasm of a schoolboy.

Proud of Team

Closely linking football with his modern plan of education, the head of Lubbock's city schools is just as proud of the Westerner football eleven as any fan of the city. In fact, the part that Supt. Duncan has taken in building up the famed Westerner spirit has been a predominant factor in the school's rise to prominence.

M. H. Duncan is the first to buy a ticket for every high school game in Lubbock and when special trains are run out of the city, he's one of the first to make reservations. Unlike the majority of school heads that demand complimentary ducats for their executive party, Duncan pays the cash for his admission "just like the smallest boy," as he terms it.

Has Written Songs

So strong is his enthusiasm for building school spirit, Duncan has written no less than three pep songs, all of which are splendid bits of writing. His latest is a school song, which will likely be adopted as Lubbock High school's varsity. If his present plans are carried through, the song will be sung at the end of every game with the entire student body joining in with bared heads.

Realization of the prominent part football has come to take in the lives of high school students is behind Supt. Duncan's enthusiasm. He disagrees with many school executives who insist that football is being over-emphasized in high schools and believes that a high school coach wields a greater influence than afiy other individual.

"Football affords a better opportunity than any other phaze of the work of the schools for practicing the elements of character to wholesome American citizenship," Duncan asserts. "On the football field the boy learns self-denial by practicing it. From the time he begins his training, he denies himself of many pleasures and indulgencies that other boys claim to enjoy and, by practicing self-denial, he builds in himself the habit.

Need of Team-Work

"He learns that, if he would attain the goal of success on the football field, he must leave off many things that his desires call for, and this is one of the most important lessons anyone can learn. He learns the lesson of co-operation, of teamwork, by having to practice it every day in the football game. He learns to hide himself, to keep in the background and to let others occasionally have the glory. He learns to look to the interests of the group he represents—the team, the school, the town—and to lose sight of his personal ambitions. Who will say these are not vital lessons for anyone to learn and who will claim that they can be gotten from the reading of books?

"The boy on the football field learns to hit the line hard. He learns to face difficulties in his own training and on the playing field, and to continue fighting until he was won over them. Nowhere else in the schools does he have such an opportunity. . . . . The spirit of football reaches every student in the schools, gives each one new zeal for his regular studies, and builds an atmosphere that makes better work everywhere possible. The game is replete with educational opportunities and every school should take advantage of it to the limit. It should use the game to overcome the lack of virility of the work of the average classroom and to build in the children those virtures necessary to sane American citizenship."

Denton Broncos Are Overpowered By Jackets, 13-0

Hometown Crowd Of 10,000 Witnesses Clash; Barfield Intercepts Pass To Give Victors First Score

PORT ARTHUR, Dec. 14. (AP)—Port Arthur's fighting Yellow Jackets drove through to the state schoolboy grid finals here today when they defeated the Broncos of Denton by a score of 13 to 0 at Franklin Field before a hometown crowd of 10,000 wildly cheering fans.

Held scoreless throughout the first quarter and all but two minutes of the second, Rue Barfield, Jacket backfield, intercepted a Denton pass on his own 45 yard line and raced 65 yards to a touchdown. Domingue converted.

Barfield's run was made behind perfect interference.

It was not until the final quarter that the Jackets were able to muster the strength to put over their second marker.

Barfield Scores

After taking Scott's punt on Denton's 46 yard line, Otis Beckham, Jacket fullback, hit the line for two yrads in the first play. On the second stab, Hawsey, Jacket end, took Dumesnil's pass for a gain of 32 yards. Barfield then crashed the Denton line to put the oval on the one-half yard line and carried it over on the next play. Turner failed to convert.

Although Denton penetrated the Dennis men's 20 yard line twice during the game, they were unable to muster the force to drive over for a counter.

Sheely Grandstaff, Denton half back, flashed brilliantly at times and hung up the majority of his club's gains.

It was a tenacious Bronco line that turned back Jacket charges time and again. These Bronc linemen reached the heights in the first quarter when they held the Port Arthurians for downs on their own two-yard line.

Makes 27 Yard Run

Grandstaff's most sensational run came at this stage of the game, expecting a kick, Port Arthur backs played wide and Grandstaff took out around left end for 27 yards as the gun ended the quarter.

It was a disappointed little handful of Denton fans who left the field today as final play ended. They had held hopes of crashing through to victory even to the last few minutes of play.

Although no definite plans have yet been made, it is believed that Port Arthur officials will arrange a meeting with those of Breckenridge sometime Sunday in order to complete plans for the state final.

Final decision as to where the game will be played will in all probability be left to the flip of a coin.

The lineups—

Waco scoring — Touchdown, Phipps.

BY GAYLE TALBOT JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer.

BRECKENRIDE, Dec. 14. (AP) — The Breckenridge Buckaroos struck twice through the air today to defeat a fighting Waco eleven, 14 to 6, and go into the finals of the state high school football race.

Once in the first period and again in the fourth, Boyce Magness, brilliant Breckenridge halfback, wound up and hurled long passes into the arms of his receivers for touchdowns. Pruitt caught the first one, G. Cary the second. Aubrey Magness added both extra points.

Tigers Fight Back.

The Tigers from Waco, backed by a glorious tradition, made a noble effort to pull the game out of the fire after the Buckaroos had taken their seven-point lead in the opening period. They came back to play their opponents on more than even terms in the second and third quarters, and score a touchdown after a 60-yard march down the field. Their attempt at point was blocked by Wohlford, big Breckenridge tackle, however, and the Buckaroos' second touchdown was not needed.

It was a spirited battle between two powerful teams, with neither having an appreciable advantage.

Although their celebrated spinner was stopped most of the way, the Tigers compiled nine first downs to seven for Breckenridge. The ability of Boyce Magness to consistently outkick the visitors was an important factor in the outcome.

Waco Threatens.

Twice in the second period the Tigers worked the ball inside Breckenridge's 10-yard line, only to find further progress blocked by the scrapping Buckaroos forwards. Each time Magness kicked long spirals out from behind his own goal line to put his team out of danger.

Aubrey Magness, brother of Boyce and quite a football player in his own right, paved the way for Breckenridge's initial touchdown when he returned a punt to Waco's 20-yard mark. Three plays at the line gained only five yards, but on the fourth down Boyce Magness dropped back and flipped a pretty pass to Pruitt who took it on his finger tips across the goal line.

Shear Shines.

Jim Shear, Waco linesman, was the guiding spirit of his team's march to a touchdown in the third period. First he ripped off 37 yards on an end-around play and then pegged a long pass to Miller that fetched up on Breckenridge's six-yard stripe. Miller picked up five on another end-around and on the last down Phipps knifed through and over the goal line. Miller's attempted placement struck the charging Wohlford in the chest.

Most of the final period was consumed in a punting duel, with the Buckaroos waiting until the last few minutes to slip over their score. A screened pass, Magness to Pruitt, carried to the 31-yard mark. On the next play the entire Waco secondary sucked over to the right and Cary was in a clear field as he took Magness' toss on the run and trotted across the goal line.

Waco Spinner Stopped.

Both teams accomplished their chief aims today, stopping their opponents' main offensive weapon. Except for occasional flourishes the Waco spinner was stopped almost dead. A slightly muddy field hampered the tricky Tiger backs. The Wacoans, on the other hand, succeeded in keeping Boyce Magness in check on his running plays, but his passing and kicking proved their eventual downfall.

Longhorn's Track Prospects Bright

Littlefield Casts Covetous Eyes On Cinder Crown; Weights And Distance Entries Stronger

AUSTIN, Dec. 14. (AP) — Having failed to finish first in the gridiron melee, Clyde Littlefield, football and track coach at the University of Texas, is casting covetous eyes on the Southwest conference cinderpath crown.

If practice means anything the Longhorns will not be weak in field events and distances, as they were last year, because they started preparing for next springs' conflicts soon after school opened.

Baldwin Stands Out.

A few of last year's stellar thinclads will be missing, principal among them being Leo Baldwin, all around star from Wichita Falls, but a glance over the roster indicates that the Steers will have a fair array of veterans and a promising group of freshmen.

Lettermen include Capt. Frank Mondrick of Cameron, sprinter and hurdler; Scott Wilkey of El Paso and Frank Barton of Amarillo, dashmen; Frank Guffin, of Austin, half-miler, who turned the distance in 1:57:9 last year; C. W. Cole of Ranger, two-miler and a member of the cross-country squad; George Harris of Austin, letterman of three seasons ago in weights; Milton Perkins of Bastrop and John Craig of Plainview, footballers who performed the broad jump and high jump. Littlefield is hoping that Curtis Beaty of Wichita Falls, whose leg was broken in the Aggie football game, will be able to run dashes again.

Rose Shows Promise.

Other gridiron performers who may win their spurs on the track are "Big Un" Rose of Dallas, who placed second in the discus at a conference meet last spring, and "Bull" Elkins of San Antonio, broad jumper. Both are playing basketball. One of the most promising sophomores is Hill Hodges of Austin, who has a mark of 196 feet with the javelin.

The Steers will open their season March 15 when they take part in the Illinois Indoor Relays at Urbana-Champaign. On March 28 they will be host to the Texas Relays and the next day will compete in the S. M. U. Relays at Dallas.

The Aggies will be the first opponent in a dual meet at College Station April 5 and a week later Baylor and S. M. U. will be met in a triangular affair at Waco. On April 19 the Longhorns will journey to Lawrence for the Kansas relays. Rice Institute will be met at Houston, April 22 and A. and M. will come here May 2. The conference competition is to end with the conference meet at College Station, May 9-10. The last meet of the year for the Steers will be the National College Union of America, meet at Chicago, June 6-7.

TEACHERS WONDER

San Marcos Claims T. I. A. A. Title In Football

SAN MARCOS, Dec. 14. (AP)—It became known here today that members of the athletic committee of Southwest Texas Teachers College were considering meeting next week to discuss the action of the Texas Intercollegiate Athletic Association in falling to award the local team the conference title at its meeting in Dallas.

The Teachers eleven was undefeated but the conference declined to name a champion. It was believed here that a question as to the eligibility of a player caused the action. Authorities here say that the eligibility of the player in question was put up to the conference early in the season and that the president of the conference instructed the coach to go ahead and use the player unless further notification to the contrary was received.

Longhorns Play Before 100,000

AUSTIN, Dec. 14. (AP)—The University of Texas football team played to nearly 100,000 fans during the season and realized from paid admissions $100,193.65, according to figures compiled by Dr. H. J. Ettlinger, director of athletics.

Two games were on guarantees, the others a percentage basis.

Gross receipts of games in which Texas participated aggregated $202,590. The games in Austin with St. Edward's, Centenary, Rice, Baylor and T. C. U., brought in $44,384.50 and the three big games abroad with Oklahoma, S. M. U., and A. & M. brought in $158,206. The Arkansas game was played under a $3,500 guarantee and the B team at Simmons college in Abilene played for a $1,200 guarantee.

The largest money gate of the season was at College Station with A. & M. when $69,306 was paid in. S. M. U. drew the next largest gate, $48,215.

Boilermakers on Baylor Schedule

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Dec. 14. (AP)—Baylor University, one of the leading teams in the Southwest conference, will be the opening opponent for Purdue's Western conference title defending 1930 football eleven on October 4, here, it was announced today by Colonel N. A. Kellogg director of athletics. Signing of the Baylor team gives Purdue home games with Baylor, Wisconsin, and Indiana, and games away from home with Illinois, Michigan and Chicago.

Chicago Moguls May Stop Shires-Wilson Ring Battle

Cub Management Throws Bombshell Into Plans For Fight Between Two Baseball Luminaries For Big Money

President Veeck Refuses To Give Consent For Wilson To Take Part In Venture; Shires Still Cocky

BY CHARLES DUNKLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer.

CHICAGO, Dec. 14. (AP)—The pugilistic world's series involving a fist fight—in the ring, for important money—between the self-confessed great man, Charles Arthur Shires, and Hack Wilson, the Dempsey of the dugouts, was reeling tonight, in a state of collapse, with the prospect that it might not come off.

Officials of the Chicago Cubs tossed a bombshell into the proposed battle of the centuries by announcing they were opposed to it and that if Wilson did go through with the fight, he would do so of his own volition, and not by the permission of the Cub management.

Refuses Permission.

William L. Veeck, president of the Cubs, said he would refuse permission for Wilson to trade punches with the conqueror of mysterious Dan Daly, but added he could not stop the Cubs centerfielder from going through with the match if he chose to do so.

"Wilson is a great ball player," Veeck said, "but I do not think it is within the province of any ball player to become a boxer. Wilson has not, and will not, receive our permission to fight Shires. If he goes ahead with it, the thing will be entirely on his own responsibility.

"We cannot prevent a man doing what he pleases in the off season. His contract which has yet to be renewed, covers athletic endeavors, and if he fights he will violate that clause."

May Fight Anyhow.

In the face of President Veeck's statements Wilson intimated he might go through with the fight as he views the battle as an easy way to earn $10,000, plus $1,000 training expenses.

Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball, when asked about his view on the match, snapped out a crisp "Let 'em fight." And that's all he would say.

From his mountain home down in Martinsburg, W. Va., Wilson issued a few war bulletins and announced he would start for Chicago tomorrow to talk over the proposed fight with President Veeck and with William Wrigley Jr., owner of the National League champions.

Wilson said President Veeck had urged him not to go through with the fight.

"He seems afraid that I'll get hurt or something of that sort, and that my baseball career would be endangered as a result," Wilson said over the telephone. "I don't think so. I hope he will not ask me to abandon the match after I talk the situation over with him."

George Trafton who will be Shires' opponent in a Monday night go, issued a warning to the great man to cease talking about a fight with Wilson until he gets past him.

"I think I'll just put a stop to all this noise about a Wilson-Shires fight by knocking the guy out myself."

The warning failed to impress the great man.

"Trafton? I'll use him for a sparring partner. One sock in his piazza will take care of him. It will be over in less than 21 seconds."

Hack Wants Full Permission First

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Dec. 14. (AP)—Hack Wilson, Chicago National outfielder and prospective opponent of Art Shires, stated upon his return to his Martinsburg home from a hunting trip tonight that he would not meet the White Sox performer unless given full permission by the Cub management.

Saints' Star Chooses Diamond

AUSTIN, Dec. 14. (AP)—Acting on the advice of his father, a physician, Harold Jansing of Westphalia, star three-sport man at St. Edward's university here, will not play basketball this season, his last at the institution.

Jansing, center, was captain-elect. His father ordered only two sports this year because of Jansing's heart and the big fellow chose baseball over football. He is a slugging outfielder and his friends believe he has a roseate future before him in professional baseball.

Next spring will be Jansing's fourth on the Saint baseball nine and he could have earned his fourth cage letter by playing this year. Eugene Sullivan of El Paso, captain in Jansing's place, is a guard. The Westphalia youth was one of the outstanding backs of the Texas conference this fall and earned his third football letter.

Assisting Miss Baird in the scoring will be Misses Jean Dorrell and Vivian Johnson, of Texas Technological college.

Big Feet Better

Large Feet Are Given Chance

CHICAGO, Dec. 14. (AP)—"Give the little girl a big foot," advises Dr. Harold H. Hedrick, director of research for the Illinois Association of Chiropodists.

The bigger the foot the better its chance of being perfect, he says. The chiropodists reason that the gal who wears a No. 8 knows she's out of bounds and won't try to force her foot into a smaller size. Hence it has an opportunity for normal development.

But in the face of their grave pronouncements the chiropodists picked a 3B foot as perfect at their convention.

Easterwood Will Promote China To Dallas Air Race

Texas Sportsman Will Sail To Honolulu To Arrange Details Of $25,000 Offer For Contest

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 14. (AP)—W. E. Easterwood, millionaire sportsman of Dallas, announced here today he would sail tomorrow for Honolulu in connection with his offer of $25,000 to the first aviator to fly from Hongkong, China to Dallas.

Easterwood said he hoped James D. Dole, Honolulu millionaire and donor of the prize money for the air race from California to Hawaii in 1927, would contribute to the Hongkong-Dallas flight prize, but the project would not be affected if Dole failed to do so.

In San Francisco yesterday Dole asserted a flight between Hongkong and Dallas constituted too great a risk of human life and there was "no possibility" of his contributing $25,000 toward the purse.

Easterwood said he could not agree the distance was too great.

Amarillo Furniture Company Store Here Transfered To Baker Company In Return For Store At Plainview

Name Of Local Firm To Be Changed To Household Furniture Company; Dallas Named Manager

Announcement was made late Saturday of a transaction which involves the Baker Furniture company of this city and the Amarillo Furniture company, with headquarters in Amarillo, whereby the holdings of that company in Lubbock have been transferred to Norton Baker, effective immediately.

A store each was maintained by the two companies in Plainview and the trade specifies that the Amarillo company will have control of both Plainview establishments in return for which Mr. Baker takes over their concern in this city.

New Store Named.

"We will maintain present location at 1112-14 Broadway," said Mr. Baker, "together with the main store on 13th street. The name of the Amarillo company's store will be changed to Household Furniture company, and we plan to make it cater to popular prices. We also will deal in second hand lines."

As result of the enlargement program two new managers have been named by Mr. Baker, who plans to give his attention to wholesale business at an office to be opened at 811 Avenue H.

Dallas Named Head.

W. R. Dallas will manage the Baker Furniture company on 13th street, having been in the store for almost two years as interior decorator and assistant manager and buyer.

David E. Sellers has been named manager of the Household Furniture company, having been, for the past 11 months, manager of the branch store at Plainview. He has been with the company since April, 1927.

R. C. Wright, former manager of the Amarillo store here, will move to Plainview shortly after the first of the year.

Cop Mistaken, Or Was He?

EVANSTON, Ill., Dec. 14. (AP) The familiar motorcop cry, "pull over to the curb," rang in the ears of the woman motorist who ran the red light at Fountain Square last night.

"I think there must be some mistake," the lady said.

Officer Jack Serbin looked more closely.

"Why, you're Mrs. Bartlett, the mayor's wife," he exclaimed.

"I certainly am," said Mrs. Bartlett, and drove on.

"Nevertheless," said Officer Serbin, later, "I can't help but feel she was wrong about that stoplight."

New X-Ray Device In Demonstration

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 14. (AP) — The human heart has been exhibited as its own photographer at a demonstration of a new x-ray device at the Franklin institute.

The device was invented by Charles E. Weyl, assistant professor of the Moore school of electrical engineering, University of Pennsylvania. Dr. F. Maurice McPhedran, roentcenologist of the Harry Phipps institute, collaborated with him in its perfection. It was announced at the demonstration last night Prof. Weyl would be awarded the Franklin institute medal.

The instrument reduces the variation in x-ray photographs which have hampered physicians in making accurate pictures of conditions in the lungs and heart.

By an elaborate system of electrical connections, percussion instruments, mirrors, fans and electric lights, the heart is made to take pictures of itself and the lung cavity at any point in their cycle of movement that the doctor may desire.

Improved System Looms in Merger

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14. (AP)—The proposed merger of the Radio Corporation of America with the International Telephone & Telegraph company was negotiated in the interest of a "More efficient and more economical system of communications than either company could hope to develop independently," David Sarnoff, Radio Corporation president, testified today before the Senate Interstate Commerce committee.

Subject to legislative approval, Sarnoff said, the plan would at once provide a communications service for the United States that would at once provide a communications service for the United States that would "place us on some measure of parity in this respect with England, France, Germany and Italy, where similar unification already has been effected."

He testified on the Couzens bill to set up a government commission with supervision over all forms of communications.

Stage Set For Lubbock, Dawson Road Bond Ballots

Paving Of Three Highways Facing County's Voters

Bonds For $991,000 Are To Be Issued For Surfacing Project If Voters Okay Plan On Tuesday

ON TUESDAY, December 17, Lubbock county voters will go to the polls for the third time to vote upon the proposition of whether or not bonds in the amount of $991,000 are to be issued for the purpose of providing funds to pave three important highways through this county.

These highways are numbers 7, 9 and 53. As stated in the election order, the highways and amounts to be voted are as follows:

State Highway Number 7, from Hockley county line by Shallowater, Lubbock and Slaton to the south line of Lubbock county, $325,000.

Texas State Highway Number 9, from Lynn county line by Woodrow and Lubbock to Abernathy, $274,000.

Texas State Highway Number 53, from Crosby county line by Idalou and Lubbock and Wolfforth to Hockley county line, $370,500.

To Care For Bonds

In addition to the above, which totals $969,500, there are $21,500 of outstanding bonds in Road District Number 1, including the city of Slaton, which must be retired before any county bonds can be issued, according to the law affecting county-wide elections.

The above amounts represent only one-third of the total, as figured by the state highway department engineer, necessary to pave all excepting 53 from Lubbock southwest, and one-half of that necessary to pave that portion of this highway. The state and federal governments are to pay the remaining two-thirds of all excepting 53 southwest from Lubbock and the state is to pay one-half of this portion of 53.

Type of paving figured as above is concrete, and $2.10 per square yard was the basis of figuring total payment for this on all roads. There is all likelihood of several thousand dollars being left over, as in the case of Hale county, where $1.95 per square yard was the figure used in contracting for part of construction of its highways.

Who Can Vote and Where to Vote

Complete Information Concerning Vital Subjects Of The County-Wide Good Roads Bond Election Tuesday

Who can vote and where to vote? These two questions confront every citizen on the eve of any election, at all times.

Answers to these two questions, as they pertain to the $991,000 road bonds election to be held in Lubbock county next Tuesday, are given as follows:

Voters Outlined.

First. Those who can cast their ballots are any qualified property tax paying voter. This means anyone who either has paid their 1928 poll tax or who is exempt.

Exemptions include those who became 21 years of age after January 1, 1928—or who became 60 years of age before January 1, 1928, provided they own such property as a watch, or other jewelry, household goods, musical instrument, real estate, any article that is taxable. The property does not necessarily need to be rendered for taxation, nor is it necessary that the taxes be paid on it. The only requirement is that the voter be in possession of taxable property.

Voters who resided in other counties prior to January 1, 1929, who paid their poll taxes in those counties, but who have resided in Lubbock county for six months prior to next Tuesday, are entitled to vote, if they get a transfer of poll tax from the former county.

Polling Places Listed.

Second: Where to vote. Every voting place in Lubbock county, with the number of the precinct and election judge in charge is listed following:

Prec. 1, Lubbock, at the courthouse, W. E. Ballew, judge.
Prec. 2, Lubbock, at courthouse, J. J. Dillard, judge.

How Lubbock County Voted in Two Previous Road Bond Elections

There were 1978 votes for and 2,292 against the first bond issue election held in Lubbock county last December.

Results of the second election, held in January, show a total of 1,780 votes for and 1,663 votes against the proposition then.

A vote of two-thirds for to one-third against is necessary to carry any bond issue election.

Voting Strength 6,551

There were a total of 3,870 votes cast in the first election and a total of 3,476 cast in the second. The voting strength of Lubbock county this year is approximately 6,551.

It will be interesting to note the vote by boxes, as well as the total in next Tuesday's election. A box by box vote on the past two elections is given below:

Lamesans Believe Good Roads Drive Is To Be Success

Dawson County Citizens To Cast Ballots On Passage Of $1,250,000 In Bonds On Next Saturday

BY VICTOR LAMB
Special Correspondent.

LAMESA, Dec. 14.—Passage of the $1,250,000 road bond issue in Dawson county, December 21, is expected on numerous arguments outlined by Henry J. Price, president of the Dawson County Roads association.

The bonds, if passed, will provide for hard surfacing of State Highway No. 9, running north and south through the county, and State Highway No. 83, running east and west through the county. Six hundred thousand dollars will be spent on the two state highways, while $650,000 will be used in hard surfacing county roads leading to the main highways. The county roads will include the Brownfield highway running north to the county line and the Stanton highway running south to the couty line.

Money Is Saved.

Arguments being used by the good road association at present show saving of money by paving highways into Lamesa, which will provide quicker transportation and less expensive transportation of farm products to the markets.

"Paving of the highways in Dawson county means a step toward progress!" is the slogan adopted by the association. Circulars, advertisements, speeches and cartoons are being used by the association stressing the value of paved roads.

The types of highways to be built are reinforced concrete on the state highways at an estimated cost of $30,000 per mile. With paved roads farmers can save two cents a mile by driving their car over the hard surfaced roads in preference to dirt roads, according to Price. This saving will affect all car owners in the county, for very few drive their cars less than 5,000 miles per year, which is a very low average. This will mean a saving of $100, it is pointed out.

To Employ Labor.

"Building these highways in this county will mean prosperity, for over $2,000,000 will be spent in the county for labor and materials," Price said.

Prominent citizens in Lamesa express their opinion that the bonds will pass from the present outlook. Comment on them all over the county is favorable, according to reports. Price says he is almost certain the bonds will carry for the farmers and landowners will not hesitate to vote for their own interests.

One of the largest polls in the history of the county is expected during the election. This issue has created more interest than any before, it is believed. Very little opposition has been in evidence since the county commissioners' announced the election, November 11, this year.

What Opposing Leaders Have To Say

M. G. Abernathy, Opposition Leader, Favors Gas Tax Funds for Highways

M. G. Abernathy, leader of the opponents to the $991,000 road bonds issue to be voted on next Tuesday, stated Saturday that in his opinion highways should be paved through money raised by the state gasoline tax and that the State Highway Department should revoke its minutes order No. 1663, which pertains to the routing of Highway 53 and the providing of a right-of-way by the Lubbock county commissioners' court for another road, in case of changing routing.

"I believe," Mr. Abernathy said, "that our state gasoline tax should be used to pave our roads, by issuing some kind of debenture certificates against our gasoline tax fund, as is now in operation in the states of Louisiana, Arkansas, New Mexico and California.

Raps Maintenance.

"The Texas four cent gasoline tax is now in force. Under our two cent gasoline tax we had a better maintenance condition of our roads than we have today.

"This gas tax was increased from two to four cents about six months ago. Our roads are in worse condition now than they were before that change was made and we don't know why. We are getting the benefit of this maintenance fund from gas tax and if we voted bonds and put up money we would not get any more maintenance funds, but would have our improved roads.

"Six months ago 95 per cent of our population were satisfied with the location of our highways. Today there is not a definite location of a state highway in Lubbock county.

Says Rights Jeopardized.

"This condition jeopardizes the vested rights of the citizens and business people of the villages of Woodrow and Monroe, and of particularly the following citizens: H. A. McGee, B. D. Guess, J. W. Turner, L. T. Ward, W. M. Johnson, J. B. Earhart, Mrs. Gail F. Gilmer, J. M. Hettler, Mrs. A. T. Lemmon, Mrs. W. G. Nairn, J. W. Lemmon, R. C. Anderson, F. W. Austin, C. A. Dawes, C. R. Styles, J. R. Thompson, C. S. Inmon, J. A. Mullins, J. A. Newton, Ed Vaughn and many others who are adversely affected

Charles O'Neall, Good Roads Group Head, Says Bonds Will Be Approved

Expressing confidence in the outcome of next Tuesday's road bonds election as being for the bonds Charles P. O'Neall, chairman of the Lubbock County Good Roads Association, stated late Saturday that the only problem is getting those who favor the bond issue to go to the polls and cast their ballots.

"We have given the public all the facts we can, "O'Neal said, "and we feel confident of winning the election, if those who have said they would vote for the bonds will turn out on Tuesday and vote. We have arranged with the city authorities for the use of the west part of Texas Avenue, between Broadway and the alley back of the Citizens National bank, for parking of automobiles to be used in carrying folks to and from the polls.

Urges Active Work

"On Tuesday we want every man and woman of the city of Lubbock who is interested in the passage of these bonds and who is willing to get out and work, to come personally to my office early that morning. Here territory will be assigned to them."

Mr. O'Neall's office is in the Citizens National bank building, rear, and is headquarters for the association.

"We also want to remind members of the Lions, Kiwanis, and Rotary clubs, and their wives," O'Neall said, "to assemble promptly as scheduled and march to the polls in a body. Those who do not vote at the courthouse boxes, following the march to that edifice, will be carried, in cars that will be provided to the Nineteenth street box or the one in the north end of town."

Schedule Is Made

The schedule for assembling of the three civic clubs is as follows:

Lions club members and their wives—To meet at their regular luncheon at Hotel Lubbock, which starts at 12:15. At 1 o'clock they will disperse this meeting and assemble downstairs for the march to the courthouse. This march will be headed by the Lubbock High school band.

Kiwanis club members and their wives—To meet at Hotel Lubbock

1536 Town Lots At $23. each

How would you like to purchase 1536 regular sized town lots, right here close to Lubbock—almost in the shadow of Tech College, at $23.00 each. The location is ideal, this property actually faces on 34th Street, exactly in the right place—immediately in the path of expansion and development. Unquestionably, the most beautiful future resident section of Lubbock.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT

It's a cracker-jack 320 acre tract, 99 1-2 per cent tillible, good old deep sandy loam soil, part in cultivation, fair improvements, nothing elaborate, but all new. A real revenue producing property, a fine place to live, close to the Tech, close to Lubbock's splendid schools. It'll pay its way in the meanwhile—later, it can be sub-divided and sold out in home sites because it is properly located—not far out. Take your pencil and a piece of paper, let's do a little figuring: 1536 lots @ $23.00 each now—later, say three years, not over five—let's be conservative, so we'll just place a minimum valuation of say $100.00 per lot. Do you happen to know of any lots in Lubbock today, that will compare with these that can be bought for $100.00 per lot? Remember there are 1536 of these lots and each lot is 50x120 feet. Now multiply 1536x100. Startling, isn't it? Now subtract the original cost from this amount. Not bad you say, but too much profit. It is a whole lot we will admit, but not at all impossible. But to be ultra-conservative, or to take the pessimistic view of it—let's play absolutely safe; let's place a ridiculously small value on the lots, say $50.00 each, instead of $100.00 each. Now multiply 1536x50, then deduct the original cost. Just a little more than doubled my money you say! That's still not bad—Do you happen to know of any safer proposition where you can realize the same return on your money in the same length of time?

"AND THEY SAID IT COULDN'T BE DONE"

Do you recall the history of "Ellwood Place" and "University Place"? That hasn't been long—you saw them stake out the lots perhaps—less than five years ago. Do you happen to know of any lots in either of those additions that can be bought for $100.00 each now? Naturally, there are no more tracts of land like that available—so we are offering the next best, further out of course, but not too far out. As an investment, this is much better than either of those were five years ago—you'll realize more quickly on it.

What living man can foretell the future of Lubbock? Think back over the short period of three, four or five years just passed—see what has transpired. Compare the little "cow-town" of 4500 souls—dubbed Lubbock of that period—with the modern little city we have today, conservatively estimated at 27,000 population. Then, for a moment, attempt to visualize the Lubbock of the very near future, and act on your better judgment.

This is NOT a forced sale—he does not have to sell. The owner is a non-resident, never been on the land but one time in his life and he bought it 15 years ago, and retains his business interests elsewhere. He bought it worth the money then, and is satisfied with a fair profit now. It can be had at $50.00 per acre less than adjoining lands. It doesn't take all cash either. Six or seven thousand cash, and if you are the right type of individual, we'll give you eight years on the balance—10 if you want it.

This land has never been advertised for sale before. One week from today will be too late—it'll either be sold or off the market for good. If you mean business and are in position to do business, write the undersigned today and tomorrow we'll show you the land. Then you can make your own decision. The replies will be considered in the order received, and it can only be purchased through this source. No trades. 'Nuff said.

A MILLION DOLLARS RUNNING WILD

On Tuesday you will vote for Good Roads, Progress and Prosperity. Every farm owner as well as every home owner in Lubbock county can well afford to pay the small cost of these Road Bonds. The cost on a 160 acre farm is only $5.76 a year! Any farmer will save more than that each year on auto expenses. Then think of the convenience of riding to any town in the county on pavement. Any home owner, owning a home assessed at say $2,000, (actual value being about $4,000) will ONLY pay $6.00 a year additional in taxes. Surely no reasonable taxpayer can object to this small charge in exchange for nearly 100 miles of pavement!

Then too–don't forget our Tech College! With paved roads, students can more easily attend College and at same time can live at home. It will be a great savings on that kind of expense.

When you vote next Tuesday, keep in mind what Judge W. H. Atwell said: "That four cities had a chance to be the Metropolis of West Texas, Amarillo, Lubbock, Abilene and San Angelo." Your vote will help the Town of Lubbock to realize its Destiny or it will help to set Lubbock back.

We are for Lubbock county. We want every part of the county to have its share in Prosperity. Good Paved Roads will do this very thing. We want every voter to know that so far as Highway 53 is concerned that its routing is with the highway department, that this bond issue has nothing to do with its location. This road will be paved under the bonds no matter which way it runs from Lubbock to Idalou. We ask every voter to go to the polls and vote for the bonds on Tuesday, December 17th.

This is a slogan put out by M. G. Abernathy, who is working for the defeat of our Road Bonds.

We would like to ask Mr. Abernathy if he thought the million dollars was wild at the time he agreed to support the bonds last week? Or is it just because the Highway No. 53 does not run through his 700 acres of land? Is that what made the Million Dollars Wild?

We would like also to ask Mr. Abernathy why he is so concerned now as to other folks' interest, when he was perfectly willing, ready and anxious to withdraw his opposition if he could get Highway No. 53 through his land? The only thing that is changed since he wanted this done, is his own changed attitude.

We who have represented the route out Broadway have been ready at all times to vote for the highways. We are still ready and are going to vote for the bonds next Tuesday. We are not allowing our personal interest to stand in the way of the greater good of the entire county of Lubbock.

We ask every city on the Highways–Idalou, Shallowater, Slaton, Posey, Woodrow and Wolffarth to remember this fact: These bonds provide that these highways shall serve your towns. The County Judge and the Commissioners Court have placed this in the bond issue. You are just as sure of a road to your town as is the City of Lubbock. Don't let any one fool or mislead you. Vote the bonds.

Don't let any talk of a Million Wild Dollars scare you–These dollars would be tame ones if they ran the road through a certain 700 acres of land. The real issue is to get the paved roads and do it now. Vote "YES" on next Tuesday. This is not a one man county.

Terracing Campaign Creates Widespread Interest

Demand Exceeds Ability Of Eaton And Patterson To Meet; Farms Will Be Visited In County This Week

Success Of Terracing During Past Few Years Is Of Great Help In Encouraging Other Farmers

More calls for terracing work are being received from farmers of Lubbock county, by County Agent D. F. Eaton, he announced Saturday, than he and John Patterson, terracing expert engaged to assist in this work, can take care of.

"The success obtained by farmers who had their lands terraced last year and before," Eaton said, "has proven wonderful demonstrations and from every part of the county more and more farmers are requesting aid."

Week's Schedule Given.

This week will be full of terracing work, with one day for demonstration, the schedule for the period being as follows:

Monday—Carlisle Eaton and Patterson are to survey out lines on the farms of J. B. McCauley, James Burrough, Roy M. Wood, R. I. Marr, G. E. O'Neal.

Tuesday—Liberty. The McClatchy farm, E. P. Norwood, J. R. S. Arnold, W. J. Hood, A. A. Nance.

To Give Demonstration.

Wednesday — Woodrow community. A terracing demonstration at the farms of D. W. Gill, A. L. Payne and John Marcy.

Thursday — Barton and Foster communities. Farms of W. C. Cook, D. B. Jarvis, Roy Dopson.

Friday — Caldwell and Center communities. Farms of R. M. Foster, R. A. Powell, N. N. Goebel, G. G. Woods and H. C. Struve.

"On each day that we have been doing this sort of work," Eaton said, "some one or more farmer has been learning how to operate the instruments, locate terrace lines and other necessary operations."

Says Gardening Beats Banking

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

CORSICANA, Dec. 15.—The number of farm gardens in Navarro county more than doubled in 1929 over 1928, if the record of home demonstration club members is indicative of the entire situation. In a summary just issued by Miss Mattie Wilroy, home agent, it is shown that 236 women raised gardens this year as compared to 103 a year ago. The number of different varieties grown increased from an average of 11 in 1928 to 26 varieties the past season.

The economy of a garden is strikingly revealed in a comparison between the cost of vegetables to Mrs W. A. Dobbins, farm woman who won the spring garden show, and a banker's wife who purchased her green stuff. The latter averaged one and one-half varieties of vegetables daily in May, at a cost of 44 cents for family of five, while Mrs. Dobbins had twice as many varieties at a cost of only 34 cents. The same ratio held throughout the entire season. Mrs. Dobbins kept daily garden records showing that her garden of one-fourth acre size, was worth $101.15 to her.

and who are fighting to defeat this issue and to defend their rights and to save their property.

"Let the Highway Department revoke this order No. 1663, which they admit is "perhaps in error"; put our roads on the ground with the assistance and approval of our commissioners' court, who are the legal representatives of our people, and we are ready to vote for highway improvement.

"We declare that our fight is for justice and right to all the people of our county."

promptly at 1:45 p. m. Their march will be headed by the high school band.

Rotary club members and their wives—To meet at Hotel Lubbock at 2:30 p. m., for the march headed by the high school band.

Asks Fair Perusal

"We are anxious that every voter in the county will read all the advertisements that have appeared in the papers, from both sides of this question," said O'Neall. "We feel that if a perusal of all arguments of both sides is made, every fair-minded voter will vote for the bonds."

Straw votes, taken in 15 different blocks of the city of Lubbock during the past few days, states O'Neall, shows 466 for the bonds and only 32 against. These straw votes were taken in portions of the city thought to be as representative as possible, from east to west and from north to south.

Information received from J. H. Brewer and L. A. Wilson, of Slaton, state that indications of the vote in the city of Slaton point to a safe margin above the two-thirds vote necessary to carry the election.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14. (AP)—The house public buildings committee today approved the government's huge building program by voting to report favorably two bills to authorize the appropriation of $239,740,000 for construction in the national capital and throughout the country.

One measure would authorize $230,000,000, half of which would be for new department buildings and other structures in Washington, and the remainder for postoffice buildings in cities in practically every state.

Poultry Farming Is A Life Saver

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

GAINESVILLE, Dec. 15. —A poor sandy land farm and failing health drove Luther Hafford to change his method of farming five years ago. Starting with nine Buff Leghorn hens on his place in the Dye community in Cooke county he now has 900 hens that netted him $1,125 above feed cost and living expenses to the first of October this year.

According to L. L. Johnson, county agent, Mr. Hafford has grown into the business re-investing his profits in better houses and equipment. He grinds his own feed, builds his own chicken houses and keeps them painted. He markets everything locally except breeding stock and eggs.

Falls County Is Cashing In Well

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

MARLIN, Dec. 15.—A $350 registered Jersey bull has returned $2,000 to the Westphalia community in Falls county in his first year of service there, according to D. T. Simmons of the Texas Jersey Cattle club. He says that half brothers of this bull have increased the production of daughters over ordinary dams from 100 to 125 pounds of butterfat yearly, and Anton Fuchs, keeper of the bull for the local circle, states that 79 cows were bred to this bull the first year. At present milk prices each daughter will add from $50 to $60 to the community production and 40 such heifers will bring the total up to $2,000 or more.

Corn Club Boys Get Big Average

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

SHERMAN, Dec. 15.—Corn club boys in Grayson county have averaged 35 1-2 bushels of corn per acre in their demonstrations this year, which C. C. Morris, county agent, declared is easily 15 bushels more per acre than the county average. The best yield reported is 60 bushels to the acre made on average black land. It is attributed to improved seed and good tillage.

BEGIN TERRACING

Ten Thousand Acres To Be Improved In Howard

BIG SPRING, Dec. 14. (Special) —Howard county farmers will begin this week to terrace more than 10,000 acres of farm land under the superision of county agent J. V. Bush. Farm levels have been purchased by a number of farmers and the chamber of commerce in order that the work can go forward without delay. The first terracing began at the T. M. Bailey farm at Fairview and other farms will be terraced in the community before moving the equipment to other communities, according to Mr. Bush.

More Sweet Cream For Local Market

Dairy farmers of the South Plains, according to County Agent D. F. Eaton, should bring more of their sweet cream to Lubbock for marketing. This would aid in creating a larger and better market for this product, he says.

Several dairy farmers have reported that a much better price is to be had for their milk by selling on a sweet cream basis and that a premium of several cents was paid.

"This climate should be very beneficial to the sweet cream marketer," says Eaton, "and more of this product should be brought to town."

Schleicher County Boys Feed Lambs

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

ELDORADO, Dec. 15.—More than 80 lambs are going on fed December 1 in Schleicher county in a lamb club organized among the boys of the county by L. E. Sumner, county agent. Plans have been made for the boys to ship to Fort Worth in early March to fill every place in the lamb club classes at the annual stock show there.

All the boys have home grown feed on hand for their animals, milo maize heads being used as the basic feed. It is pointed out that the average of the experiments at the Spur sub-station since 1920 have shown that about one-third of a pound gain per day has been made by feeding lambs ground milo heads and cotton seed meal and alfalfa hay.

Combat Blackhead By Worming Fowls

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

CROCKETT, Dec. 15.—That one of the best ways to combat blackhead in turkeys is by worming the birds early in the season is borne out by the experience of Mrs. J. S. Rials of Rock Hill community in Houston county. Unsuccessful in raising turkeys for several years because of this disease, she tried the home demonstration agent's way this season and gave one dose of the liquid iodine injection treatment. She has now 75 turkeys for Thanksgiving and Christmas markets.

Tenants' Wives Beautify Yards

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

DENTON, Dec. 15.—A yard improvement contest in Denton county among home demonstration club women this year resulted in the beautification of 100 farmsteads by planting of shrubs and flowers, Mrs. Edna W. Trigg, home agent, reports that 150 yards were cleaned six times during the year and 20 others were cleaned weekly. Every member of the Camey club, composed almost entirely of tenants' wives, set out shrubs and flowers, and cleaned yards weekly.

Turkey Pool Has Aided Price For Fowls In Section

Three Car Loads Have Been Shipped From Shallowater This Past Week And Plan Made For More

The third carload of Turkeys to be shipped by South Plains farmers, in the pool operated by them, was sent from Shallowater Friday afternoon and plans made immediately for more cars within the next few days.

W. W. Cox, of Brady, who is responsible for providing a market for the turkeys, stated that next year the farmers of this area should plan to ship 10 or 12 car loads on a pool basis, so they could be loading them all the time during the turkey market season before Thanksgiving and before Christmas.

The success of this pool is measured in an added income to turkey raisers of approximately $600 on the carload of about 1,400 turkeys. On top of this there is a lowering of the minimum weight to get the price of 17 cents per pound paid. The local markets were offering from 13 to 16 cents on minimums of nine and 14 pounds for hens and toms, respectively, while the pool minimum was placed at eight and 12 pounds.

Takes In $785.39 From Her Poultry

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

ORANGE, Dec. 15.—Mrs. F. M. Taylor has made her hens pay for their feed and her labor, and then some. She took in $785.39 last year from a flock of 210 hens for a net profit of $354.88, which is a profit per hen of $1.77. Her hens produced an average of 170 eggs each last year, due to good feeding and management. She is a member of the Little Cypress Home Demonstration club of Orange county.

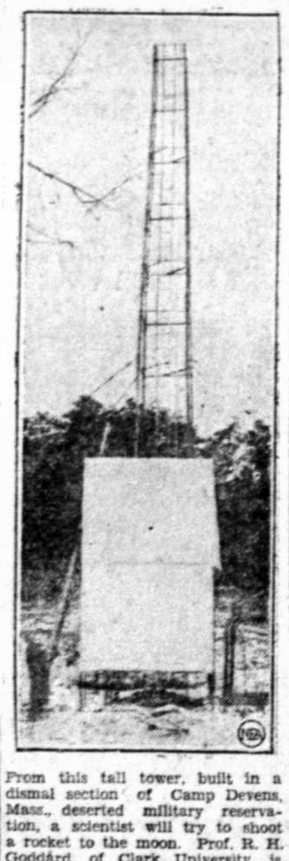
Tower Will Guide "Moon Rocket"



From this tall tower, built in a dismal section of Camp Devens, Mass., deserted military reservation, a scientist will try to shoot a rocket to the moon. Prof. R. H. Road Bond Election Order Sets Down Control Points, County Judge Robert Bean Points Out in Official Report

A question that is being asked by many Lubbock county voters in regard to the $991,000 road bonds election to be held next Tuesday, is whether or not the highways, when paved, will be routed by such towns as Idalou, Shallowater, Woodrow and Wolffarth.

County Judge Robert H. Bean, when interviewed about this question, stated that the election order specifically sets down that these control points are to be served by the highways and that no money from proceeds of bond sales can be used on these specific routes without going by these towns, as named.

Law Is Cited

The law on this point is cited in the case of Quisenberry et al vs. Mitchell et al, 292 S. W. 160, decided by the Commission of Appeals of the State of Texas. This decision reads as follows:

"1. Counties, key 178. Road bond money must be applied to construction of road between places designated in order of election.

"Where order of election for road bond issue designated controlling points for proposed road, portion of bond money must be applied to construction and improvement of road between such places."

Statement Is Made

Judge Bean's statement follows in full:

"The petition for the bond election which has been called for December 17th, 1929, designates Idalou, as a control point on Highway No. 53 the bond election order also designates Idalou as a control point on Highway No. 53; these facts, as I understand the law, make it as certain as is possible, without a change in the law by the legislature, that in the event this bond election carries, the money set apart for expenditure on Highway No. 53 will have to be spent in paving a road through Idalou, and Lubbock and Wolfarth, the other two control points designated in the petition and bond election order. In other words, I do not know of any way, under the present law, to make it more positive that Idaleu will get Highway No. 53, through Idalou, than that this bond election as ordered for December 17th, 1929, shall pass. In the event it fails, there is nothing, as I understand the law, to prevent the Highway Commission from changing it from Idalou or any other point, should this or any other Highway Commission, decide to do so, except that under the present law, the Commissioners' Court is the only body that can obtain a right-of-way by condemnation proceedings; and the present Commissioners' Court would not consent to any effort to get a right of way any other way than by Idalou.

"In support of my contention that this money, in the event the election carries, must be spent on a road through Idalou, I cite the case of Quisenberry et al vs. Mitchell et al, 292 S. W. 160, decided by the Commission of Appeals of the State of Texas.

"Yours truly,"
ROBT. H. BEAN,
County Judge.

SUBPOENA WITNESSES

Special Attorney To Probe Wurzbach Election

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 14. (AP) — With the arrival in San Antonio of Fred Horowitz, special assistant to the United States attorney general, it became known that virtually all witnesses heard in previous investigations concerning the contested McCloskey - Wurzbach election last November have been subpoenaed to appear before the federal grand jury which convenes next Monday of next week.

Horowitz, who conferred with John D. Hartman, United States attorney for the western district of Texas declined to be quoted directly but admitted that what is believed to be fresh information will be laid before the federal inquisitorial body.

DR. MEZES NAMED

Former T. U. Head Elected President Emeritus

AUSTIN, Dec. 14. (AP)—Election of Dr. Sidney E. Mezes, former president, to be president emeritus of the University of Texas, and discussions of the proposed dormitory building program and regulation of grazing leases on university lands, constituted business before the board of regents here today.

Dr. Mezes, president of the university from 1908 to 1914, is the first man to be honored by selection as president emeritus. He left Texas to become president of the College of the City of New York, resigning his place there on account of ill health. He is now in Europe. He was also designed professor emeritus of philosophy.

The policies and services of the two churches are similar.

Shift To Better Staple Cotton In Texas Is Indicated From Report

Increased Emphasis On The Growing Of Better Cotton Points To Standardization Of Superior Strain

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

COLLEGE STATION, Dec. 15.—Early indications point to increased emphasis by Texas farmers next year on the growing of better staple cotton, according to reports of county agents to the Extension Service. In the past most of the development of one-variety cotton communities, standardized on one superior strain, has come as a result of much urging by county agents and others, but farmers in many localities are this fall pushing the matter for themselves.

The reasons most commonly given for this change in sentiment are price discrimination in local markets against short staple and low grade cotton, the general short crop and low prices, and the successful experiences of many communities in Texas counties last year.

Results Not Summarized.

The results of their ventures in growing and selling better cotton have not yet been summarized, but the previous year an average increase of $7.83 per bale was realized, the Extension Service agronomist reported.

Among the counties whose farmers are reported by county agents to be active in establishing one-variety communities are Lynn, Van Zandt, Mills, Dickens, Howard and Mellson. In Van Zandt county 17 farmers have asked aid of the agent in developing the production of good staple cotton in place of half and half, and bankers report that hundreds of farmers have indicated that they would not plant short staple cotton next year.

A meeting of "staple-minded" farmers is being held in Dickens county this month to begin a fight to get the $15 per bale alleged to be lost in the local market there on account of short staple cotton.

Must Know How
Tax Inspector Is Given Queries

LONDON, Dec. 14. (AP)—Many a man who has tried to figure out his income tax return would be astonished to hear how much a British inspector of taxes has to know before he is turned lose on the taxpayer.

Among the questions asked in an examination were the following:

Explain the action of yeast in brewing.

Give an account of the work of the Salvation Army.

State the arguments for and against the Channel tunnel.

How far is it possible to make a food for infants that is a substitute for mother's milk?

Account for the popularity of musical comedy or revue.

Candidates also were asked numerous questions bearing on music, poisoning, radio, apes and George Bernard Shaw.

The four "great killers of mankind," as listed by the U. S. Public Hearth service, are heart disease, kidney disease, cancer and pneumonia.

Lubbock Fathers Seek To Aid Sons In Life But Not Persistent About Their Following "Dad's Footsteps"

By SUTTON CHRISTIAN
Avalanche-Journal Staff

A father may name his son after himself but that will not cause the youth's early manifestations of professional tendencies to resemble his dad's source of livelihood.

The ever-changing complexities of the business world present a wide range of attractions for ambitions of the present generation, Lubbock fathers agree. Most of them, however, say that youth, of yesteryears had much that challenged initiative. There have always been opportunities, they concur.

Not One Persistent

Interviews with prominent Lubbock citizens reveal that in very few instances does the son, after reaching an accountable age, express any ambition to follow in dad's shoes professionally. On the other hand, there was not a single father among the group who was persistent in a desire that the son succeed him in business.

"I believe in careful tutorship of my son along the lines of minor details which are applicable in any business," said G. P. Ruykendall, the 8-year-old son, has not yet expressed the initial ambition. "At the office and at home I have given my son many little assignments to watch the results of his work. If he takes care in the little things I believe that he will have enough precision when he enters business to make a success.

To Encourage Him

"Naturally, I want Roger to enter the automobile business with me when he grows up. However, it will be my pleasure to encourage him in that which interests him. Above all things, I would encourage him to learn how to use his hands in work at an early age."

Mayor Harley D. Woods says that Harley D. jr., 5, may enter any profession which is honorable. "I plan to encourage him when he displays interest in anything desirable," he said. "I would like for him to enter a field of usefulness."

Ambitions Differ

Charles F. O'Neall, jr., and Roddy O'Neall, sons of Charles F. O'Neall, local realtor, have different ambitions. Both are students of Lubbock High school. Charles is making plans to attend Princeton and study law, while Roddy has an ambition to attend Brown university and become an educator. "Their ambitions are very satisfactory," said the father. "I shall do everything possible to help them meet their objectives."

J. A. Raley, jr., wants his son, Bedford Moore, 7, and J. A. Raley III, 5, to become lawyers. "I also want one to be a fullback and the other a quarterback on the T. C. U. football team," said Mr. Raley.

May Have Liberty

E. J. Parsons, manager of J. C. Penney company, says that his son, Harold, 8, may have liberty to enter the profession which interests him mostly.

Charles E. Maedgen, jr., 14, son of the president of the Lubbock National bank will be a manufacturer, if his present ambitions continue unabated. Charles plans to make a thorough study of economics and technical engineering. "I want him to find himself," said the father. "That which interests him will be agreeable to me, but I shall be concerned in that he equips himself thoroughly for a business career."

To Be Civil Engineer

George Dupree, jr., 12, will be a civil engineer, he says. Hunter Dupree, 8, has not yet expressed an ambition. The father, member of the law firm of Bledsoe, Crenshaw & Dupree, could not be reached for an interview.

Billie Crenshaw, 15, aspires to enter his father's profession, law. Charles C., jr., plans to become a civil engineer. "Their present plans are pleasing to me," said Crenshaw. "Of course, if it develops later that one is temperamentally unfitted for the work he chooses to follow I shall encourage him to enter a new field."

To Influence Him

"I shall do everything to influence M. H. Duncan Jr., to enter the profession in which he can live the right kind of life," said his father, superintendent of Lubbock public schools. "By using the tests which science gives us I believe it is possible for the father to find the vocation for which his son is best adapted."

Henry E. Frnka, jr., 5-months-old, will not be a coach, so says the Lubbock High school football mentor. "I want him to play football in high school and college," said Coach Frnka, "but when he leaves College I want him to be a doctor."

Charles A. Guy, III, 2 years old, is an embryonic "Plainsman." "I would like for him to become a good newspaperman," said the managing editor of the Lubbock Avalanche - Journal publications, who did not express any particular classification, other than to say that he wanted the son to work in the editorial department. "If he fits into that profession to my satisfaction I will be a happy man."

Albert Marvin Hill, 10, son of Al Hill, editor of the South Plains Farmer, will be another newspaper man, if the father has anything to do with shaping the lad's ambitions. "There is no field which offers more educational contacts and greater service than the newspaper profession," said Mr. Hill.

Cotton Trends Downward; Mart Quiet

Weak Cables Are Blamed For Quiet Week-End Session

Bearish Domestic Consumption Report By Census Bureau For November Adds To Decline

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 14. (AP)—Cotton experienced an unusually quiet week-end session with the price trend moderately downward owing to weak cables, a somewhat bearish domestic consumption report by the census bureau for November and lack of any sort of buying support. The market was also influenced easier levels by the issue of additional December notices for 1,100 bales.

Opening unchanged to 7 points down the market eased until at the end of the first hour prices were 7 to 8 points under the previous close. Prices ruled steady for a time in the second round but eased off again in the late trading making new lows 10 to 11 points under the previous close and closed at the bottom.

January Declines

January declined from 17.06 to 16.92, down 10 points and closed at that figure, or 10 points net lower for the day. The general market closed steady at net declines of 10 to 11 points.

Liverpool came in 3 to 5 points lower than due and first trades here showed no change to 11 points decline. The market eased in early trading owing to a bearish view of the report giving November domestic consumption as 544,150 bales, the circulation of December notices and realizing. January rated down to 17.01 and March to 17.28 or 7 to 8 points below the previous close.

Cotton Prices Work Lower

NEW YORK, Dec. 14. (AP)—Cotton was very quiet today with prices working lower under week-end liquidation coupled with some southern selling. January contracts declined from 17.07 to 17.02 and closed at that figure, with the general market closing barely steady at a net decline of 6 to 12 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 2 to 4 points in response to relatively easy Liverpool cables. The report of the census bureau placed domestic consumption for November at 544,150 bales. It compared with 611,173 for the same month last year, and had little effect on the immediate market.

Offerings increased somewhat on the decline when there was a little more southern selling as well as local liquidation. December sold off to 16.97 or 7 points net lower, while March declined to 17.30 and May to 17.54. Closing prices were the lowest of the day on most positions.

Tax Reduction

signature was expected. The legislation is the first of the regular session, which began two weeks ago, to complete the congressional circuit.

The long day of debate centered principally on business conditions brought frequent reference to unemployment. Senator Couzens, republican, Michigan, who sponsored an amendment to include also a reduction in the capital gains and loss tax from 12 1-2 to 11 per cent, said he had been reliably informed that unemployment had advanced from 700,000 to more than 3,000,000 men in recent days. He supported the tax cut as a means of diminishing unemployment.

IDALOU MAN DIES

Jake Loveall, 75, Victim Of One-Day Illness

Jake Loveall, 75, died Saturday morning at 3 o'clock at his home near Idalou, following an illness of only one day.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at Idalou, Rev. Montgomery, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating. Burial was in the Idalou cemetery with Rix-Sanders, of this city, in charge of arrangements.

He is survived by his wife and a stepson, J. P. Armstrong, both of Idalou.

Entire Board Present.

"There were 23 officials of the Texas organization present," Mr. Overstreet said, "including the entire board. The meeting was of all directors and officials of every cotton marketing association in the United States."

These cotton associations totalled 15 different organizations. Besides the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton association, there were, the California Cotton Growers association, the Pima Cotton Growers association of Arizona, the Southwestern Irrigated Cotton Growers association of El Paso; the Pecos Valley Cotton Growers of New Mexico, the Oklahoma, Arkansas, Missouri, Tennessee, North and South Carolina, Alabama and Louisiana Cotton Growers associations; the Georgia Farm Bureau Cotton association, the Mississippi Short Staple Growers and Mississippi Delta Long Staple Growers association.

Organization Planned.

An organization, covering 15 states, was planned at this meeting. This organization will be a $50,000,000 corporation for marketing cotton under supervision of the Federal Farm Board, with a manager to be selected by the members of the 15 organizations and to be approved by the Farm Board.

"Immediately after the holidays this organization will be perfected," said Mr. Overstreet. "It is this organization that Mr. Williams is compelled to wait for before he can give us any definite date for his appearance in Lubbock. He is to have two speaking dates in Texas, the other at Dallas."

To Be Three Days.

In telling of plans already formulated for the Texas Tech Short Course, H. J. Bower, of the college, explained Saturday that there will be three days of the event this winter, instead of two as obtained last year.

The first day will be devoted principally to marketing problems. The second day will be devoted to community work and the third day to a general livestock program.

Carl Williams, Farm Board member, will be the principal speaker of the opening day. Bower will be chairman for the morning session; Lynn Stokes, of Ballinger, general manager of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton association, will be in charge of the afternoon program, and Mrs. C. Z. Fine, Lubbock county, in charge of the evening meeting.

The first day's program will include addresses by Williams, R. F. Cook, Amarillo, manager of the Texas Wheat Growers association; Harry Williams, Dallas, manager of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton association; Miss Mary Mims, Baton Rouge, La., community worker of the Louisiana state department of agriculture; Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of Texas Technological college, and other Tech professors.

Dinner Scheduled.

The remainder of the first day's program will be in charge of the Lubbock County Farm Bureau. A dinner is being planned for this first evening, at which food to be served will be products of Lubbock county farms. Tables are to be decorated with wheat and cotton.

D. F. Eaton, Lubbock county agricultural agent, will be chairman for the second morning, with H. G. Lucas, Brownwood, president of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation, in charge of the afternoon program and Sterling C. Evans, district extension agent for Texas A. and M. college in charge for the evening.

The second day will include addresses by Miss Mary Mims, of Louisiana; Sterling C. Evans, and others. The community work will feature this day, the night program to be jointly given by 4-H club workers, Texas A. and M. Extension workers, the Tech Agricultural club.

The general livestock marketing program for the third day will feature cow-testing, on which subject Sterling C. Evans and Prof. K. M. Renner, of the Texas Tech Dairy Products department, will speak, as well as Prof. W. L. Stangel in charge of the Tech department of animal husbandry.

Livestock Trade Marked by Material Price Declines Around Mart Circuit

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 14. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Livestock trade around the 11-market circuit this week was marked by material price declines on most killing classes of cattle, with the exception of choice yearlings. The chief depressing influence was a dull pre-holiday Eastern dressed beef trade. Highly finished yearlings, suitable for the Christmas trade were firm, but slaughter cattle ruled unevenly 25@75c lower. Short fed yearling heifers at some markets showed losses of $1 or more. The decline this week should have a tendency to reduce loadings for the forthcoming week. Demand for replacement stock was slow, with the light to moderate supply selling at values unevenly steady to 25c lower. Receipts at 214,200, a decrease of 10,500 from last week, and 17,500 short of the corresponding period a year ago.

Hogs Uneven

Hogs closing the week unevenly 10@45c higher, some centers on the closing session having lost a good postion of the week's early advance. St. Louis had a late top of $9.65. Offerings 650,900 against 704,882 last week, and 688,370 a year ago.

Fat lambs materially lower the fore part of the week, but a partial recovery was made on late days. Current values were unevenly steady to 25c lower as compared with a week ago. Most markets reported prices unchanged on the mature classes of sheep. The supply approximated 288,700 an increase of 28,00 over last week and 32,000 more than a year ago.

CITY DRESSED UP

Vari-Colored Lights Show Holiday Spirit Here

Again dressed in holiday attire, Lubock streets last night were sparkling in the resplendent lights of many vari-colored globes strung across 15 intersections of the downtown district.

These lights, placed before the 1929 Panhandle South Plains fair, were not been used at night since the close of the exposition in the fall. With the approach of the holidays, however, the city has turned them on again at the request of merchants.

Wheat Prices Are Plunged Downward

Values Tumble Down To 14 Cents Under Level Which Prevailed Two Weeks Ago —Quotations Spineless

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN
Associated Press Market Editor

CHICAGO, Dec. 14. (AP)—Tumbling down of wheat prices here today plunged the market to about 14 cents a bushel under the level which prevailed two weeks ago.

Argentine wheat was reported today as being offered in Europe several cents a bushel than wheat from the United States. Predictions were circulated that export demand for North American wheat would remain slack until after January 1. Selling also was promoted by the fact that a bullish statement which in some quarters had been expected from the federal farm board failed to appear.

Chicago closing prices for wheat were spineless, 2 1-4 to 2 3-4 a bushel lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 5-8 a 3-4 to 1 1-8 down, oats 1-2 to 1 1-8 off, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 15 cents.

Corn and oats were dominated by wheat weakness and by reports that emergency deliveries from cars on tracks here would be arranged to facilitate filling of December corn contracts. Board of trade officials, however, said no request had yet been received for any emergency measures as to corn.

Provisions felt the effect of declines both in hog values and in grain as well.

Stock Market Is Dull But Firm In Saturday Session

Speculative Attention Is Converged Upon The Rail Shares; Turnover Smallest Since August

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 14. (AP)—Speculative attention converged upon the rail shares in a dull but firm Saturday stock market today. Only 1,654,230 shares were traded, the smallest turnover for a two-hour session since last August. Speculative interest appeared to have waned considerably after the convulsions of the past two days, but any new campaigns would normally be deferred until after the week-end recess.

Buying of the rails was based on unconfirmable rumors that the interstate commerce commission may announce its consolidation plan over the week-end, or at least at an early date. Freight car loadings have undergone a marked recession.

Trade Volume Big

Trade reviews and statistical indicators showed a fairly large and satisfactory volume of holiday retail trade, but further recessions in industry. As there is no money market on Saturday, continued requisitions on New York gold by foreign tracted most attention in the credit situation.

Total shipments this week are estimated at around $40,000,000, although bankers have been extremely reluctant to disclose these transactions, undoubtedly fearing possible adverse psychological effects. The first government issue of certificates, which was regarded as highly satisfactory, owing to the experimental character of the offering. The treasury overdraft in connection with the new financing week promises to be small, in keeping with the practicing it begun last September, but credit next week is expected to hold around the recent levels.

Saturday Cattle Supply Is Normal

FORT WORTH, Dec. 14. (AP)—The cattle supply at Port Worth today was about normal; calves scarce. All classes of cattle and calves went to packers at about steady prices, this in effect on Friday.

No rail hogs arrived.

Not enough sheep to test values.

Steers sold at 9.50. Bulls 5.00 to 6.50. Slaughter heifers and yearlings 6.25 to 10.00.

Canner cows 4.00 to 4.50. Cutter Cows 5.00. Butcher cows 5.00. Butcher cows around the $.600 mark. Truck hogs lacked quality and sold up to 8.60, or steady. Some pigs sold at 7.50.

FOUR CONVICTED

SZALNOK, Hungary, Dec. 14. (AP) Four women today were convicted of causing the death by poison of 15 of their near relatives and the authorities pushed investigation into charges that from 70 to 80 other persons had met similar deaths in this vicinity.

R. A. Studhalter, of the biology department, expects to make a trip to the Davis Mountains. M. F. Landwer, of the same department will be in Colorado. J. Q. Sealy, instructor of biology will be in Austin.

M. E. Farris, of the department of mechanical engineering, will also be in Austin. C. C. Perryman, instructor of engineering drawing, will visit in Denton.

Members of the education department who are planning trips include: Dr. R. E. Garlin, who will be in Houston, W. P. Clement, who will visit in Dallas and Waco and J. T. Shaver, who will visit in Temple.

Other members of the faculty of the college will either take their vacation in Lubbock or have not yet made definite plans.

Idalou News

BY MRS J. D. SARGENT
CORRESPONDENT

MR. EVITT DIES

Mr. M. A. Evitt, pioneer of Lubbock, county died last Monday morning at his home here after an illness of several weeks.

Mr. Evitt, who was 74 years old, is survived by his wife and eight children, Mrs. Geneva Boyd, of Idalou; Albert C. Evitt, of Melrose, New Mexico; A. M. Evitt, of Idalou; Lucas Evitt, of Idalou; Easton Evitt, of Garrard, Texas; Mrs. Offie Eubanks, of Idalou; Charley Evitt, and Urny Evitt of Hereford.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at Idalou Church of Christ with Elder Charlie Watkins officiating. The remains were laid to rest in the Idalou cemetery.

A play "Pal o' Mine" under the direction of Miss Irene Holt, coach for girls' basketball, was staged by the Girls' Athletic association last Friday night, December 6, at the Idalou club house.

The cast consisted of ten girls, every girl successfully acting her role. Irene Lee was a sensational hit as Peggy, the leading character. Polly, the pal of Peggy was played by Biddy Holt. Elouise Shepherd as Mother Lacey; Louise Hill as Miss Post; Robbie McCay as Walden and Irene Caldwell as Alma, share equal honors. Other characters of the play having minor roles were: Violet Bratcher and Bertha Rutherford; Pauline Beaty as Ovello Scott; Pauline Boyd as Lillian Sullen; Bill Thompson as Juanita English. Without these characters the play would not have been successful.

Several numbers were rendered between acts which were very interesting.

Everyone seemed to enjoy the play and several seemed to think it the best play ever staged in Idalou.

Miss Mildred Penton arrived last week for a visit with her sister, Mrs. Dan Morgan

Mr. Guy Bratcher, who is a student at Wayland college spent last week-end here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Bratcher.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Barnhart visited last Sunday in O'Donnell with Mr. Barnhart's brother.

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Holt had as their guests last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Holt and Mr. and Mrs. Hardan Holt and little daughter of Lamesa, and Mrs. Russel Taylor of Lubbock.

Mrs. E. T. Daniell, Mrs. J. F. Toler and Miss Pascall attend the address given last Sunday afternoon at the First Baptist church by Dr. B. L. Lockett of Ogbomoso, Nigeria, Africa.

Mr. E. T. Daniell, who is at present living at Cotton Center spent last week-end in Idalou.

Mr. G. M. Sargent, of Lamesa, visited Monday in the home of his son, Mr. J. D. Sargent.

Miss Billie D. Duncan, who is teacher of music and expression in the Acuff school this week accepted a similar position in the school at McClung.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Thornton had as their guests last Sunday Mr. Thornton's nephews, Bill Thornton of Corpus Christi, and Condie Thornton of Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. V. S. Herrington and daughter, Miss Babe Herrington, were called to Weatherford Tuesday by the death of Mr. Herrington's oldest brother's wife.

CLUB HAS STUDY MEETING

The Idalou Civic and Culture club continued their study of Medieval drama Wednesday afternoon when Miss Mary Steele entertained them in the home of Mrs. J. R. Harmon. The rooms were beautifully decorated with the Christmas colors, red and green, and a large Christmas tree centered the dining room table.

"Beginning of French National Drama" was the subject for discussio with Mrs. Roy Coconaugher as leader for the afternoon. Talks were given on "The Story of 'Cinna' and the characters of Amelia and Augustus" by Miss Alyce Littlefield; "Orestes and Hermione," Mrs. Charles Files; "Racines Biblical Dramas", Mrs. Frank Bledsoe, and "Athaliah and Joash" by Mrs. L. F. Swinney.

The president, Mrs. E. T. Daniell, presided for a brief business session, during which plans were completed for an afternoon Christmas party to be given by Mrs. Bailey Guess and Mrs. J. D. Sargent, December 17. At this time the club will have their exchange of gifts.

A dainty salad course was passed to the following members: Mesdames Frnk Bledsoe, W. L. Bradley, E. T. Daniell, G. L. Stokes, Ray Coconaugher, L. F. Swinney, Jess Cannon, S. H. Scott, Charles Files, G. W. Scott, J. D. Sargent, Misses Alyce Littlefield and Ruth Newton. Guests were Mrs. Marvin Caddel and Mrs. Elmer Caddel.

B. Y. P. U. SOCIAL

Mrs. S. H. Scott entertained Thursday evening in her home for the Senior B. Y. P. U. The home had been made attractive with Christmas decorations.

Miss Billie D. Duncan had charge of the program and many lively games and contests were enjoyed.

Refreshments were served at the close of the evening to Misses Maggie Isom, Rose Marie Meeks, Billie D. Duncan, Emily Woods, Mildred Bradford, Irene Lee, Eula Lassiter, Robbie Love, Mary Lucille Turner, Helen Woods; Messrs Truett Coconaugher, Thomas Tarlton, Robert Tarlton, Winfred Dale, Chester Courtney, Virgil Lassiter, Haskell Lassiter, Lloyd Givens, John Davis, Hoyt Gillespie and Mrs. R. Santa Watches Children In Lubbock

Famous Telescope Is Trained On Boys And Girls Of City; Santa Closely Observes Kiddies' Behavior

By CAPT. F. E. KLEINSCHMIDT
Special Correspondent of the Avalanche-Journal and Head of the Expedition to Find the Home Of Santa Claus

SANTA'S CASTLE, North Pole, Dec. 14. (By Wireless)—In a previous dispatch I mentioned the great record rooms in which Santa's gnomes keep the records of the good and bad deeds of the children in the world. How one entire floor was occupied by the territory of the United States. How we found the expedition already recorded there which was sent out by the Avalanche-Journal to discover the home of Santa Claus and the names of the children in Lubbock.

You will recollect how we marveled at this and when Mrs. K. asked Santa how he could obtain such information, Santa promised to show us the great secret of his information about all the boys and girls.

He made good his word.

Easy Time Today

This morning Santa informed us that after our stremuous day with Jack Frost yesterday, he would give us an easier time of it today, and would drive us to his great magic observatory, which is located at the top of an ice mountain not far from the castle.

We left our reindeer at the foot of the mountain and climbed a stairway cut into the sheer wall of ice. It was a long slippery and dangerous climb. We were soon puffing from the exertion, but Santa Claus was neither puffing or panting when we arrived at the top.

Here stood a large dome-shaped building. In its center was a mirror like pool of mercury, out of which rose a great base supporting a huge telescope. A stairway led to an observation platform on one of the telescopes.

I looked from the platform along the range of the telescope, but saw nothing but the vast expanse of ice fields, jagged mountain peaks, miles of tundra and far to the North a long line of icebergs.

Book Is Seen

Near me on the table lay a gigantic book, on which entries of the land were made, the state, town and names of children, and on the margin remarks regarding the behavior and gifts.

"Here is where I spend most of my time during the year, when I am not inventing new toys such as engines, submarines and airplanes" said Santa.

I was of course wondering how it was possible for Santa Claus to see by day or night distant places through this telescope. Santa explained his magic, which after all was no magic at all, but a scientific invention of his own.

He cut in several switches and immediately electric motors began to hum. "Now we will adjust the telescope to spy on your town. What would you be most interested in seeing?" asked Santa. I pondered a moment at this momentous question and what it implied, and then I answered: "Show me the editorial rooms of the Avalanche-Journal. The editor, Mr. Guy, should be at his desk now if he is on his job.

At the end of the telescope was attached a black lined box with a hood screening the light. Santa asked me to step up and look down into the box. On the bottom of the box was a mirrorlike screen. This began to flicker like a screen in a motion picture theatre, then dim images out of focus appeared. Finally the focus adjusted there sat the editor at his desk holding a newspaper in his hand, reading my yesterday's dispatch about our interview with Jack Frost and talking to C. W. Ratliff, a member of his staff.

"Wonderful," was all I could say as I stepped back.

Makes Black Marks

Santa adjusted the telescope again and then he himself watched for many minutes. His jolly face began to grow serious and he seemed worried. He turned over a few leaves in the big book and began to make black marks.

Then he frowned again and with Santa's permission I peered into the book and saw that the name was Johnny Wilson a boy who lives in Tahoka. In fact Johnny's father was a good friend of mine.

"Tut, tut," Santa clicked his teeth in worry. "That boy Johnny is fighting again and he is pounding a smaller boy."

Santa Is Worried

I noticed that Santa was gravely worried. His whiskers were pushed back from his face and the twinkle in his eyes was missing.

I too felt worried, for who could look on Santa's sorrowful face and not share his troubles. Santa again peered through the telescope. He looked again and then slapped his fur coat with his leather mittens.

This time he laughed and the room seemed filled with good cheer. The sound was like music—music one hears and never forgets.

He turned a page of the book and wrote baseball bat and glove. Bill Brown's name was opposite the entry. That's what boys get for being good.

Back To Castle

We returned to the castle just as a heavy coat of darkness was falling over the ice. The old saint was well pleased with the day's work and I then understood how good boys and girls are rewarded for kind deeds while less deserving youths do not win the friendship of old Santa.

A snow white bird, the Ptarmigan, came flying and lit on Santa's shoulder. The Ptarmigan is a Northern bird and belongs to the family of grouse. It looks just like a pigeon. The bird cooed something in Santa's ear and then flew off again.

"That's one of my swiftest messengers, who brings me the special delivery letters children write me just before Christmas.

The United States has more than one-third of all the swine in the world.

Freshmen Of Texas Tech Guests At Gay Apron And Overall Party Here Saturday Night; Program Is Given

College Gymnasium Decorated In Green; Function Is Planned By Twenty-Seven Members Of Class; Truett Brooks, President, In Charge

Climaxing the social events of the term for members of the freshman class of Texas Technological college, was an informal party Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the college gymnasium.

Invitations to the party were green fish attached to a hook and line and bearing the words "Hook for Fish Party." The room was decorated in bright green crepe paper, and guests appeared dressed in aprons and overalls. Punch was served throughout the evening from a hay stack in one corner of the room.

For the program, which was directed by the president, Truett Brooks, guests were seated on the floor and on bales of hay. Walter Gaston entertained with a magician's act. Miss Sophie Bender gave a vocal solo with a ukelele accompaniment, Johnnie Cook played a piano number, and Misses Edna and Wilda Kane gave a vocal duet.

The program was closed with a clever pantomime act, a mock wedding. Truett Brooks was best man, R. V. Willis, bridegroom, Cecil Kersey, minister; Miss Melbia Pirtle, bride and Ileen Graves, bridesmaid.

Lonnie Langston, one of the faculty sponsors, was in charge of stunts and contests for the evening. He also gave a burlesque of "Let Me Call You Sweetheart."

The following committees were introduced to the class: finance, Miss Grace Thompson, chairman, Miss Mary Beth Shelley, Frank Maddox, Rush Crews and Fred Gordan; program: Misses Melbia Pirtle, chairman, Ruth Pirtle, Louise Garrison, Ileen Graves, and Lonnie Langston and Johnnie Cook; decorations: Roy Pryor, chairman, Thomas, Frank Eaton, H. W. Hawk, Gerry Adams, and Misses Evelyn Rutherford, Elizabeth O'Connell and Dorothy Oxsheer; refreshments: Warren Shipp and Burkett; music: Lynn Gray Gordon, Fagan White, Rowley and Miss Ida Belle Templeton; publicity: Cecil Kersey, Frank Maddox, A. W. Crawford and Misses Wilda Kane, Irma Wommac aknd Edna King; reporter, Jesse Cooper.

Dancing was enjoyed later in the evening with Frank Stone's orchestra furnishing the music.

Christmas Theme Favored For Gay Party On Friday

Watson Home Is Scene For Party With Members Of Hi-League Of Methodist Church Guests

One of the prettiest social affairs of the past week was a party given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Watson, 1901 9th street, last Friday evening for members of the Hi-League of the First Methodist church. The entertaining rooms were lovely with their Christmas decorations of wreaths, and bells hanging from doors and chandeliers.

A musical program interspersed with readings was given and games were played during the evening.

Each guest brought a gift which will be taken to the Mexican Methodist church and given to some child there at a program before Christmas.

Refreshments were served to Misses Freddis Adkins, Mary Elizabeth Alexander, Mary Ansley, Margaret Bruckner, Loraine Caldwell, Elizabeth Conner, Edith Earnest, Hazel Forte, Margaret Henson, Lucille McCrummen, Kathleen Payne, Catherine Royalty, Ruth Mildred Rylander, Gwendolyn Thompson, Priscilla Watson, Dollie Clements, Messrs. Baptist Choir To Entertain Tonight

Christmas Cantata Will Be Held At The First Baptist Church; Singing To Begin At Seven Thirty

Under the direction of J. D. Carroll the choir of the First Baptist church presents its annual Christmas cantata this evening at 7:30 o'clock in the new auditorium.

The cantata chosen this year, "The Glory of Bethlehem" by H. W. Petrie, is probably one of the best known in America. It was copyrighted in 1928 and during that season over 18,000 copies were sold.

The program follows: Opening chorus "His Name be Glorified"; soprano solo, Mrs. Carl Scoggin; quartet, Mrs. I. F. Holland, Mr. Willie D. Watson, Clara Jeffres, and Carroll Atchison; quartet, "Come, Light Divine," Mrs. W. R. White, Mrs. W. P. Clement, W. P. Clement and Carroll Atchison; chorus, "Glory to God"; quartet, Mrs. O. P. Litton, Mrs. O. A. Tyner, Clare Jeffers, and Carroll Atchison; bass solo, "Holy Babe, Sleep On," J. D. Carroll; chorus, "Behold, Bless Ye the Lord," soprano solo, Mrs. Carl Scoggin; alto and tenor duet, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Clement; soprano solo "The Gift of God," Mrs. Carl Scoggin; trio, "Guide Us to Him," Mrs. W. R. White, W. P. Clement, and Carroll Atchison alto solo, "The Glorified City," Mrs. George N. Atchison; soprano obligato, Mrs. R. L. McKnight; "The Lord Shall Reign Forever," bass solo, Carroll Atchison; alto solo, Mrs. Y. W. Rogers; chorus; tenor solo, "The Path of Love," Clare Jeffers; final chorus, "O Come, All Ye Faithful."

Society Is Charitable To New Fashions

By BETSY SCHAYER
NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 15. — For sweet charity's sake all kinds of lovely events are taking place these days, and of course it would not be charitable if participants did not look their best.

Marjorie Kane and Cornelia Prime, chairmen of the Junior Committee for the Southern Women's Educational Alliance benefit opera which will be given at the Metropolitan on December 6, holding conference with their committee over a charming tea at the Barclay, illustrated the changed styles beautifully.

Marjorie wore a lovely little dark blue sleeves, below a drop yoke of the dark and a round yoke of the light blue that dipped in the back like a deep V decolletage, with the light color extending to the high waistline. Cornelia's crepe frock had original little cape sleeves, with the little cape around the upper arm.

At Mrs. Vincent Astor's benefit party for her favorite charity last week, high-waisted, long-skirted frocks were unanimous. There simply are three lengths now and there is no gainsaying it. Morning, afternoon and evening. Mrs. Astor wore black for this event, looking very stunning, for she is one whom the new lines become.

Tweeds rule supreme at sports events. Bright tweeds under fur coats are the rule for football games and tweed suits and top coats have been worn by many smart women at the United Hunts.

One new and supremely practical outfit is the four-piece tweed ensemble, such as Mrs. H. Denny Pierce wore out Long Island the other day. It was grey and green herringbone tweed, with the flaring skirt completed by a tuck-in jersey blouse, banded in tweed. Over this a hip-length jacket fitted and over it all a flaring top coat, collared in lynx. The suit is fine for warmish days, the topcoat mighty handy for steamer or outdoors events. Her hat matched, too, making one of the smartest ensembles I've seen this year.

Tweed Increases Scope

Tweed steps out of its sports wear position frequently now, having developed subtle, soft charm in its texture and color. I met Mrs. William V. C. Ruxton walking briskly up Park Avenue in a very beautiful ruddy tweed suit, with beaver cuffs on the coat and a scarf of self-material. She wore two gardenias, and carried an embroidered purse in her suit's colors.

Off-the-face hats in velvet are much softer and more becoming than felts, it seems to me. Mrs. Winslow M. Lovejoy looks lovely in a black one she has, with one little jeweled ornament. Her black suit, with original scarf collar in breitsc.. antz, emphasized the hat's flaring line.

Dressy oxfords are new and quite tricky looking. Elinor Waters wears them in suedes to match her afternoon costumes, usually with fine trimming of kid the same shde or gold or silver bindings. I hoticed evening oxfords on several women at the Central Park Casino. Also one evening there five women wore baby blue evening gowns. Anita Bradshaw is one debutante who looks stunning in this color.

Purses Are Dressy

Dressy purses are the order of daytime style. Fine colored leathers with monogrammed or decorative motifs or patterned purses are the rule. Mrs. Byrd Douglas carried an envelope purse of tiny diamond shaped designs in autumn tones, with her mink coat. Mrs. John Barry Ryan had a lovely violet pinseal oblong purse with a square gold monogram.

Long sleeves grow imperative in the evening and longer gloves are necessary for daytime. Mildred Dais and Louise Boone wore the 1 button length wrinkled down to their wrists, strolling into Pierre's for lunch.

Cantata Given By Pupils Of School On Friday Evening

Central Ward Children In "Down The Chimney With Santa Claus"; Sponsored By P.-T. A.

"Down the Chimney With Santa Claus", a Christmas cantata, was rendered in the high school auditorium Friday evening by 50 children of the Central Ward school. This program was sponsored by the P.-T. A. of this school, and was directed by Mrs. E. L. Robertson with Mrs. Claxton Draper as accompanist. The first scene was a home group with a reunion of cousins on Christmas Eve.

The program opened with a song "Come Down Our Chimney" sung by the Glee club. The club also sang "Silent Night, Holy Night," with Mary Peek playing accompaniment. Frances Wilson and Joe Davidson played piano solos; Ruth Holland and John Reed read Christmas selections; Joe Jackson Joyce Wheelock, and Grace Ellen Ballew sang "Hush-a-bye", and Nannie Margaret Overton read the Bible story of the first Christmas The mother's role was taken by Marcella Pryar while Thomas Wood Hassell was the baby of the family.

The second scene was laid in the same house after the children had hung up their stockings and retired. Molly Davis appeared in fairy costume bringing winter and the Christmas season. Janette Barnett Macon Skinner, Ada Monroe Williams, and Julia Irene Carroll represented Holly, Mistletoe, Evergreen and Poinsettia. Bobby Robertson and Douglas Blocker represented the Sandman and the Dream-man

A whisitling solo by U. V. Blake was a feature of this scene. The whistling represented the North wind. R. J. Murray, Heishel Maxey and D. W. Fortenberry were Santa's messengers and David Powell, Tech student, took the part of Santa Claus. Solos, duest, and choruser were interspersed throughout the program, Santa brought his usual pack and filled the stockings. The program closed with a rousing chorus "Love Is The Key."

Personal Touch May Be Given Christmas Gifts Through Wrapping And Tying

"The heart alone holds happiness—
The world has plenty for us all,
And wealth or poverty depends
On whether our hearts are large or small."
—Cheerful Cherub

Thus it is at Christmas time. The acceptability of a gift does not depend so much on whether it is expensive or inexpensive. It is the spirit back of the article that really counts, and it is the little personal touches that signify this spirit. Who had not rather have a gift made by the giver himself and carefully wrapped and tied and stuck with pretty Christmas seals than to have a store-bought article delivered in the original wrapper?

Why not give choice canned goods, pudding or homemade candy this year? The expense will be less and the novelty and personal touch will not be lacking? Crystalized orange and grape fruit peeling and salted nuts also make attractive, yet inexpensive gifts.

Miss Louise Baird, county home demonstration agent, tell how to make such gifts unusually lovely by proper wrapping and tying.

"Any type of canned goods," she says, "is more attractive when wrapped in cellafane paper and tied with tinsel cord. The paper should be brought up from the bottom, tied around the neck of the jar with the cord, and stuck on top with a large Christmas sticker. No bows or ribbons should be used. The natural color of the fruit, vegetables or pickles will be visible through the paper.

About the same method of tying may be applied to a basket of Christmas candy. The paper should be tied around the entire basket, including the handle and stuck on top with a pretty sticker.

"Plum pudding also is a bit unusual and makes an acceptable present. The pudding should be place in a crock bowl four or five inches in diameter, and steamed in a pressure cooker with the petcock open. Candied cherries should then be put on top of the pudding and the dish placed in the oven to dry out. Cellafane paper should be tied over the top of the dish, and a lace doily brought up from the bottom and tied with a tinsel cord, making a dainty frings around the top.

"Individuality in Christmas boxes may be achieved by pasting colorful magazine pictures on the boxes and wrapping them with tissue paper. Toys pasted on boxes for the children are especially unique."

Candy Pulling Is Feature Of Party

Business Session Precedes Social Hour Here Friday Evening In Home Of Mrs. J. K. Wester

An old-fashioned candy pulling was the main feature of social hour held Friday evening by members of the Philacurians Sunday school class of the First Baptist church at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Wester, 902 Avenue S. This class is composed of Texas Tech students. A brief business session was held during the evening.

Those attending the party were Misses Myrtle Gibbs, Frances O'Kelley, Alice Tarter, Lula May Martin, Eula Faye Myers, Winnie Hendricks, Virginia Paul, Ruby Dean, Ruth Dean Cowan, Laurel Lee, Katherine Holstead and Katherine Lee.

SONGAN PARTY

Camp Fire Girls Favored In Scales Home Here

The Songan Camp Fire group met Friday evening in the home of Mrs. G. T. Scales for a delightful Christmas party. A Christmas tree loaded with gifts stood in one corner of the entertaining room, and after an hour of games, the gifts were distributed.

Refreshments were passed to Misses Mary Evelyn Stewart, Christine Lane, Mildred Tubbs, Mary Kathryn Rice, Doris Tubbs, Merla Mae Horton, Emma Jean Scales, Dorothy Skelton, Mary Louise Scales, Nancy Ann Hadsell, Louise Howard, Otelia King, and Mesdames D. P. Fox, Olen Stewart, G. T. Scales, C. H. Tubbs, and Miss Dorothy McFarland the guardian.

COLLEGE CLUB

Will Entertain Pledges At Hotel Lubbock Tonight

Members of the College club will entertain their pledges with a six-course dinner this evening at 6 o'clock. The president, Carl Pfluger, will be toast master for the occasion and will be assisted in entertaining by Alton Hutson, Raymond Pfluger and Harold Roberts.

Plans for the dinner were made at a meeting in the home of Harold Roberts and Clarence Wigginton Thursday evening. Fred Jordan, Earl Jones, Bob Jones and John Wulfman were guests for the evening, and entertainment was furnished by the pledges.

LOYALTY CLUB

Ten Attend Meeting Held Friday Afternoon

Those attending the meeting were Mesdames P. T. Fisher, John Haywork, Roche Newton, H. W. Biebel Dan Lacewell, W. E. Blake, Velma Blake, Claudia Chancellor, Ed Greer and Henry Biebel.

Cook county, Georgia, decreased its schools from 30 to 11 in less than a decade, replacing old buildings with consolidated schools.

The WOMAN'S DAY

There's nothing funny about divorces or domestic difficulties, if they happen to involve one personally, but often one can view those of others with detached amusement.

There's no telling what will bring two people together, or what will draw them apart — or what will please a woman, or what will make her angry.

In the late Victorian literature, and in Ibsen plays, women were shrieking to be understood, alas, they were only too well later, and this generation has said much about debunking sex, and learning about life from studying the birds and flowers and animals. Now comes a product of this generation bearing a new grievance.

Mrs. Paul Bartsch, wife of the eminent biologist, resents being treated as a biological specimen, and wants a divorce from her scientific mate.

He, she says, is obsessed with the subject of biology, so much so that he has turned his home into a laboratory, with birds and animals running over the place, and that she herself is nothing more to him than a biological specimen. So sick is she of this state of affairs that freedom is her only solution.

Then there is also the amusing case of the Hackensack man, Horace Bush, who ordered his bride of two months out of the house when he caught her smoking. In court, he said he was willing to support two homes, one for his wife to smoke in and the other for himself, but he would not live in the same house with a woman who smoked.

Asked the judge: "What is the matter with women smoking?"

Said Bush: "Your honor, I have an aversion to tobacco in any form."

The judge, instead of reproving the wife, or suggesting that she change her habits, ordered Bush to make good his offer and maintain the two homes.

One can imagine Bush's surprise.

Educations On Credit

Passing from the problems of the married, to those of the unmarried, it is interesting to see that ambitious women are not afraid to step out and borrow money for their educations.

According to Miss Margaret Gilman, chairman of the scholarship committee of Bryn Mawr College, the modern ways of doing business are reflected on the campus, and girls now borrow money to pay their tuition rather than work and pay their way through college.

"The old-fashioned approval of the college student who worked his way through college," said Miss Gilman, "had its correlative in the horror of debt. Civilization is supported on credit.

"If it is sound economy to buy an automobile by installments, it certainly is sound for the student to buy his education by installments.

Certainly one has great admiration for the girl who can swing both the financing of her education and the acquiring of it at the same time.

But many girls who have worked their way through school have realized they did so at the expense of much college life that was highly desirable, and have over-taxed their strength doing so.

To go in debt for an education seems much more sensible than to go in debt to your health. And it's easier to pay back money than energy.

Proper Make-Up For Modern Siren

BY LUCIEN LELONG
Special Cable to Central Press

The dark woman who seems mysterious and dangerously beautiful has obsessed minds of romancers and playwrights for many centuries. Such a one was the Cleopatra that Shakespeare portrayed. As such we think of devastating beauties as Semiramis and Poppea. Such in modern time was la Belle Otero.

The legend of the siren or "vamp" has flashed in American films of recent years and so often, I may say, overdone, that it is, perhaps a little vulgarized. That is why I hope that the dark woman with pale skin, with long burning eyes and a marvelously graceful figure, will use the utmost discretion in styling herself. I hope that she will avoid the obvious makeup which is the easiest way to dramatize her. You know it well already. Cheeks without a touch of rouge, pale powder, a liberal use of the eye pencil enlongating the already enormous eyes, and what the newspaper novelists describe as a "crimson gash of a mouth." All this may be very melodramatic, but to my mind, it lacks finesse.

Let the siren rather conceal her peculiar gift under a mask made to resemble, as much as possible, that of the other beautiful women. Her particular attractions, the long eyes, the supple but well rounded figure, cannot actually be concealed by any make-up or any clothes. But she is cleverest when she does not force these points upon the beholder with the violence of a bill-board poster.

Dark Powder

She should choose, I think, a powder which is slightly darker than the natural color of her skin. She should use her rouge discreetly over the highest point of her cheek bones. She will, I hope, take care to brush a tiny bit of rouge on the tips of her ears, perhaps even the point of her chin, if she has a strong, prominent jaw. As to her eyes, I hope that, as they are decidedly large and long-lashed, she will not touch them with the eye pencil, at least not in the daytime. I was very diverted the other day finishing lunch with an Italian Comtessa to see her demonstrate a cunning little vanity case and saying, "And here, you see, is the lipstick, and in the other end—but this is only for the frantic sophisticates—the eye pencil. I let it stay there." That, I think, shows the height of discretion. There is no use for a woman whose eyes are already large and striking, to overaccentuate them.

How to Achieve Beauty

BY MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

By MADAME RUBENSTEIN

Ever since I began to preach beauty to American Women, Mrs. Gray has been one of most ardent devotees. The other day she brought her sister to see me—her elder sister, I thought, as I greeted her, for anyone looking at the two women would have judged the sister to be five or six years older.

"I can't tell you how delighted I was when I heard of your return to America," said Mrs. Gray. "My sister is visiting me for the first time in years—she lives on the Pacific coast, and so we don't see much of each other. She was so amazed when she saw me that I had to tell her all about how I do it—keep myself young, I mean."

"Yes," chimed in the sister, "you would never guess to look at us that Dorothy is five years older than I am, would you? I'm sure she looks five years younger!"

"That's because I take intelligent care of my skin," said Dorothy. "Look what you've been doing to your face these last ten years! Why, you wouldn't believe it, but she came all the way to New York with just one cream, and what is worse, when she had used that jar she went into a drug store and bought a different kind—just because the clerk said it was better! When she told me about that, I simply insisted that she come in to see you—and here we are!"

I wasn't quite so amazed or horrified as Mrs. Gray was, because I have known so many women who purchase their beauty preparations without knowing anything about them, except that some clerk has recommended them. I've known othed women who use certain preparations because their best friends use them—completely ignoring the fact that each individual skin is different—that the preparations which are correct for their friends, might be injurious to their own skins.

Because I have studied skin for so long, I was able to tell Mrs. Gray's sister about the creams and lotions that were "just right" for her; to explain the difference in various creams—why one is good for one skin but would not do at all for another skin. And why the skin needs different creams and lotions for different purposes, just as the body needs different kinds of food.

MAKES GOOD RECORD

Spur Vocational Student Has Good Profit

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

SPUR, Dec. 14.—Clark Howell, student of vocational agriculture of Spur high school, paid $150 for a bred Jersey heifer that was sold to him through the chamber of commerce December of last year. Clark kept a complete record of his feed, and the receipts for his whole milk. The total amount expended for feed was $60.60, and the total receipts from products sold was $264; deducting for feed and the cost of the heifer there still showed a profit of $53.50, besides the calf which is well worth $50. This information as to what can be done with high quality dairy animals is shown in this boy's project.

The big things that stand out so prominent in this boy's project are records of feeding costs, utilization of cheap feeds or marketing surplus feeds through livestock, and the demonstration of what can be done with the dairy cow as a factor in a balanced farm program.

SLATON DRESSED UP

Merchants Decorate City In Yuletide Articles

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

SLATON, Dec. 14.—For the first time in Slaton's history, all business firms have cooperated in placing Christmas trees in front of their stores, and a large number have prepared special exterior and interior Christmas decorations. The movement was sponsored by the American Legion Post, working through a committee of which Henry Jarman was chairman.

Lamesa Has Trees

LAMESA, Dec. 14. (Special)—Rows of evergreen trees have made their appearance in the business section of Lamesa during the last few days. Merchants here have placed Christmas trees in the holes in the sidewalk where they usually stick flags. The trees are being sold by boy scouts to increase the funds in their treasuries.

Tulsa, Okla., has added more than 2,000 persons to its population each month this year by annexations.

Annual Christmas Party Is Held By Needle Club Here

Mrs. W. C. Bryan Reelected President For the Ensuing Year; Hour Is Spent In Sewing

Annual Christmas party and election of officers were held by members of the Friday Needle club in the home of M. K. Foster, 2110 16th street, Friday afternoon.

Elaborate decorations, including a lighted Christmas tree, surrounded with gifts, were suggestive of the Yuletide season, at the close of the evening the gifts were distributed to the guests.

During the business session, Mrs. W. C. Bryan was re-elected president, Mrs. F. K. Mitchell was named vice-president, Mrs. Sam Parkinson secretary treasurer, and Mrs. Frazier McCrummen, reporter.

A pleasant hour was spent in sewing, and Mesdames McCrummen and Parkinson entertained with humorous readings.

Dainty salad plates were passed at the close of the evening to Mesdames W. E. Twitty, W. C. Bryan, J. G. Biffle, Y. J. Aiken, Frazier McCrummen, W. A. Childers, J. W. Huff, H. R. Robertson, Arthur Pierce, Louis Murfee, J. M. Davis, Sam Parkinson, E. M. Worthy, Harry Hall, J. M. Denman, F. B. Barclay, J. Newell Bryan, F. K. Mitchell, and M. K. Foster.

Shower Is Given In Mangrum Home

Mrs. Jackson Honoree For Pretty Event On Friday; Christmas Theme Used In Details

Mrs. Forrest E. Mangrum, 2013 10th street, entertained with a surprise shower Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock to compliment Mrs. Walker Jackson.

The Christmas theme was favored in decorations for the entertaining rooms, where a host of pretty gifts were presented in a basket to the honoree by Mrs. W. H. Sims. Clever contests furnished an hour's diversion and red and green balloons were given as favors.

Dainty refreshment plates, and Christmas candies were passed at the close of the afternoon to Mesdames Pat Hawes, Joe Stanton, Fred Sims, Frank Heath, W. C. Rylander, J. H. Beard, Manor, H. W. Sims, J. E. Garrison, J. E. Sims, J. B. Morrisset, Joe Harris, Brownie Beall, J. W. Boyd, George Duval, Pauline Cooney, Webb Duval and Miss Glidewell Mullins.

Bible Class Has Gay Social Here

Three Hostesses To Group In Home Of Mrs. Gordon; Christmas Decorations Are Used

Members and friends of the Stephens' Memorial Bible class of the First Presbyterian church were entertained Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. M. Gordon, 2021 17th street, with their monthly social gathering. Co-hostesses with Mrs. Gordon were Mesdames Y. J. Amick and Ed Ainsworth.

Attractive decorations and refreshments plates in red and green were suggestive of the Yuletide season.

Mrs. G. D. Robinson led an impressive devotional, comparing the Christmas story of St. Matthew and St. Luke, and little Misses Mary Amick and Mary Alice Gordon delighted their mothers' friends with solos on the violin and piano.

Those present were Mesdames F. E. Alverson, Grayson Bell, Bullock, Campbell, E. R. Crews, Ewing, J. E. Garrison, Guion Gregg, J. M. Gordon, Lawrence, G. W. McCleary, S. F. Melton, O. K. Peters, J. A. Pressley, E. L. Reed, G. D. Robinson, R. S. Rodgers, M. B. Sawyer, A. F. Schofield, J. E. Sims, Stephens, J. C. Wayland, Joe Wilson, Bell and Miss Minnie McMillan.

Mrs. William Dingus Will Be Hostess To Group

The Daughters of the American Revolution will meet Saturday, December 21 at 3 o'clock at the home of the president, Mrs. William Dingus, 2502 21st street. Mrs. D. K. Bondurant is to be joint hostess with Mrs. Dingus.

Miss Elizabeth West is to be the principal speaker for the afternoon and will discuss "The Republic of Texas." Miss West is an authority on this subject having done extensive research. Mrs. O. V. Adams will read an article from the D. A. R. magazine.

Y. W. A. MEET

Sisters Will Be Hostesses On Tuesday Evening

The Y. W. A. of the Baptist church meets Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Misses Marie and Ruby Jackson, 2223 17th street. All young women of the church are invited to attend. A social hour will follow the lesson on missions.

Mrs. Lowrey Has Bridge Function

Visitor From Brazil Named Honoree For Gala Event Friday Evening; Yuletide Motif Favored

Mrs. Herbert Lowrey, 1212 Avenue N, was hostess for a prettily planned bridge party Friday evening to compliment Mrs. V. Richard Kershner of Rio de Janeiro Brazil.

The Christmas theme was favored in decorations and tallies, and a Para lace handkerchief went to Mrs. Frances Conley for high score. The honoree also was favored.

Salad plates were served at the close of the game hour to Misses Frances Conley, Blanche Bacon, Irma Pryor, Gladys Pryor and Mesdames Ralph Bedford and E. J. Lowrey.

Agricultural agents are employed by 32 of Montana's 56 counties.

The state flower of Montana is the Bitter Root.

SERENADE HERE

Tech Choral Club Gives Christmas Music

Twenty-five members of the choral club of Texas Technological college, accompanied by their director, Professor W. R. Waghorne, serenaded with Christmas songs Friday evening from 8 to 10, immediately following the out-of-door Christmas program held on the campus.

The group visited the Lubbock sanitarium, the West Texas hospital, and the homes of W. H. Bledsoe, J. M. Gordon, A. H. Leidigh, Dr. Paul W. Horn, Roscoe Wilson and Mrs. Mary W. Doak.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of William A. Whatley and Miss Irene Perry, both of this city, which took place Friday evening at 7 o'clock in the home of the former, 2608 21st street with Dr. John C. Granbery, performing the ceremony.

Those attending were Prof. R. W. Fowler, Miss Lucille Gill, and Mrs. Granbery.

Professor Whatley is a member of the Spanish department at Texas Technological college. Mrs. Whatley has been teaching twenty miles beyond Amherst during the fall months. She is a former Tech student.

The couple left immediately following the wedding on a honeymoon of an announced destination.

Kiddies Revel In City's Toyland

Toy Counters Offer World Of Trinkets Desired For Months; Dolls Still Popular Playthings

Kiddies reign supreme in their families at Christmas time. Mothers and fathers, uncles and aunts are at their mercy.

It is at this time of the year that the little folk are allowed to go from one toy counter to another, examining each cherished article, and are encouraged with a pleasant "Just wait, maybe Santa Claus will bring you that," from their elders.

Wants It Right Now

But such a possibility does not always satisfy, especially if there is some particular article on which a youngster has set his heart. Tired from an afternoon's shopping tour, one little boy decided he must have a popgun "right now."

Now if the child had wanted a balloon, or a doll, or an engine, the fond mother would gladly have satisfied the desire, but a popgun, she said, was much too dangerous for a three-year-old. "You might hit somebody in the eye," she explained. Then she led him by the hand and showed him toy after toy, asking "Don't you want this?" or "Wouldn't you like that?" but each time the answer was the shake of a curly head.

Gets A Popgun

Finally, the mother, becoming impatient, asked, "Then what do you want?" and the young son, quite as exasperated as his parent, repeated "popgun!"—so a popgun he received.

"Children prefer chairs this year," said B. K. Gambill, manager of a variety store. "Some like red ones and some like green ones, some like straight chairs and some like rockers. At any rate, parents are buying chairs for children of all ages.

"Dolls are still favorites of the little girls," said E. B. Burton, manager of another variety store, "and they all naturally choose the more expensive ones. Parents suggest the smaller, less expensive dolls, but the children keep an eye on the big curley haired ones.

Boys Like Dolls

"Even the boys like dolls," Mr. Burton said, "but few of them will admit it. "I saw one ten year old boy casting a wistful glance toward the doll counter, but when I suggested that he buy one, he dashed out of the building as though he had been shot.

"Most boys of this age, however, are partial to mechanical toys, and by far the most popular gift is the airplane which can be taken apart and put back together again. Wheel toys, such as tricycles, scooters and wagons are favorites among the younger children.

Watch Reactions

"Most parents try to buy the toys which their children particularly like, and in order to do this, they take their children throughout the entire store, allowing them to go from one counter to another, and watching their reactions to the different articles. If a child is especially fond of a particular toy, he will examine it a little longer than any of the rest, and, after looking at all the other items, will return for a second look.

"Many methods have been devised by parents to purchase favorite toys without allowing the children to know it. Some will return the next day or the next week, but others must buy the same day. Sometimes the mother and father, or, in some instances, two women will accompany a child to the store, and while one is interesting him at one counter, the other will be purchasing choice articles at another counter.

"Children often do not have the patience to wait until Christmas for a gift, so the parents are forced to buy them toys while they are in the store to keep them quiet."

A MILLION DOLLARS RUNNING WILD

We, the tax payers of Lubbock county, the people who carry the burdens of all bonds issued within the county still claim that if we should vote road bonds under present conditions we would be VOTING DOLLARS WILD.

We are very much in earnest about this matter. We are so much in earnest that we refuse to be led into personalities. THIS ISSUE TRANSCENDS PERSONALITIES.

We refuse to resort to a smoke screen that will becloud the REAL issues involved. WE WANT ALL THE PEOPLE TO KNOW THAT THEY ARE BEING ASKED TO VOTE A MILLION DOLLARS WILD—A MILLION DOLLARS TO PACIFY THE WHIMS OF AN OLIGARCHY.

It is a travesty upon the credulity of our solid citizenship to ask that they give aid to such an outrage against our sacred heritage of democratic ideals.

What are we offered in exchange for the bondage of a million dollars? Is there one vestage of assurance offered that we shall receive full value? Do they, the highway commission promise or pledge one tangible return?

BONDAGE IS A SERIOUS MATTER. History is replete with people who sold their birthright and became bonded people, people without individual identity.

THE PRICE WAS TOO HIGH. But even history does not record a bonded people who sold their liberties without even a promise of reward.

WE ARE ASKED TO BOND OURSELVES WITHOUT QUESTION. We are asked to bond ourselves for no reason on earth except that it pleases the whims of a few men who take to themselves the right of dictatorship. They are all supreme; they are the beginning and the end of authority.

YOU VOTE THE BONDS AND WE WILL DO THE REST—OR IS IT—DO YOU.

Credulity, in its many phases is hard of solution. It is a dangerous thing to play on the credulity of a people. It usually ends in a flareback and woe betide him who would mislead his fellow man.

The Children of Israel Were Led Into Bondage That Lasted 40 YEARS

They were promised certain rewards, tangible rewards. THEY WERE FOOLED.

The state highway commission asks us to bond ourselves for forty years. BUT THEY REFUSE TO EVEN OFFER A REWARD IN EXCHANGE FOR OUR BONDAGE.

Therefore the state highway commission seems to think that we are of less intellect than the Israelites. YOUR VOTES NEXT TUESDAY WILL ANSWER THE QUESTION FULLY.

Those amongst us who have forsaken the whispered campaign to yell their tale of woe from the housetops are telling you that they are satisfied to let the highways go any place that suits the highway commission. THEY WANT PAVED ROADS EVEN IF THEY GO IN A CIRCLE.

WILL YOU, THE REAL EVERY DAY CITIZENS OF LUBBOCK COUNTY BE LED LIKE LAMBS TO THE SLAUGHTER BY SUCH PALPABLE SUBTERFUGE? Heaven forbid.

It will never do to leave selection of highways AFTER the bonds are voted. We want to KNOW where they are when we vote bonds. We want to vote intelligently and with a full knowledge that every step of the way is paved with undying principles of right.

WE ARE TRIUMPHANT BECAUSE WE CARRY THE BANNER OF RIGHT AT OUR MASTHEAD.

And those who are asking you to vote a MILLION DOLLARS WILD cannot offer even ONE valid reason for asking.

Six months ago we had designated and accepted highways in Lubbock county that reached the strategic points of the county and everybody was satisfied. Now we do not have a designated highway in the county and everybody who takes time to think of what that means are wholly dissatisfied.

And Yet They Ask You To Vote A Million Dollars Wild To Pave Lubbock County Highways When They Know and Must Admit That We Do Not Have One In The County

If that is not presuming on the credulity of our people, we would like for you to give us a better term.

The state highway commission by employing their high handed, arbitrary methods are bringing discord into many counties of the state and many complaints are being heard. Just at this time is it especially true in Hall county, and even our city of Abernathy does not feel that they got a fair break in the paving that comes into their confines.

DISCORD IS BOUND TO ARISE FROM CENTRALIZED POWER. We, the people feel that we have the right of local self government. We feel that our right to rule is a sacred right and in asking you to defeat this bond issue next Tuesday we ask it by the rule of right and reason and for no other purpose on earth. And we ask you, the property owning tax payers of this county to go to the polls and vote this bond issue down for no other reason except the highest standards of right and we defy any power or principality to prove that there is one other reason, one other cintilla of reason.

Be governed by the rule of right and you cannot go wrong. Be governed by the rule of right and you cannot vote for these bonds under the conditions by which they are pleading for your vote.

A WAIL OF WOE NOW RENDS THE AIR. Those who want bonds at any price are doomed to disappointment and in their hour of woe the pity is on them. THEY HAVE CAST THE DIE. THEIR DOOM IS WRITTEN IN THE SKY. THEY MAY DIE HARD BUT BE NOT DECEIVED. We will get road bonds in due season. But we will get them in a just and equitable way—in the RIGHT way.

Larger Stocks And More Variety Seen As Christmas Buying Gets Under Way

Local Merchants See Good Season For Santa Here

That customers do not know what they want in the way of Christmas gifts when they first enter a store, that staple gifts are gaining in popularity and that the variety of articles from which to choose is greater than ever before is the belief of the majority of merchants of Lubbock.

"Christmas sales are about the same in every respect as they were last year," believes John Halsey, druggist, "Some customers select for beauty and others for utility. There seems to be no particular type of article that is any more popular than any other type. It all depends on the taste of the individual.

Variety Is Larger

"However, it is true that the public has a larger variety of gifts from which to choose. Our stock has increased considerably over what it was last year.

People seldom know what they want the first time they enter the store. They know they want to buy gifts for certain relatives or friends but they want to examine every type of gift for beauty, utility, and suitability before they buy. Ninety per cent of the customers do not know, at first, just what they want. It is because of this that business sometimes seems dull, but after looking over town, many of the customers return and buy an expensive article without hesitation."

Few Shop Early

"There are very few early Christmas shoppers," said E. K. Gambill, manager of a variety store, "but the people now are beginning to buy fast.

"There is a slight increase this year in the size of our stock and in the variety of gift goods offered. People seem to be buying more practical gifts this year. Our staple goods are selling faster than anything else.

J. W. Gamel, manager of a local dry goods store, also is of the belief that the trend this year is toward the more practical gifts. "Customers spend a great deal of time looking at novelties," he said, "but when they get ready to buy, they will select the staple goods. Robes and neckwear are among the most popular gifts for men, and underwear, hose and negligees are selected for ladies.

Buyers Are Frequent

"Customers do not know what they want when they enter the store," Mr. Gamel said "but when they find something they like, they do not hesitate to buy.

"Of course there are a few who simply do not know what they like even when they see it. One man came into the store to buy a dollar tie for his own brother's Christmas present. After spending a great deal of time trying to make up his mind, considering every feature of the article, he went away still undecided. The next day he returned to the store, bringing his wife with him, and the wife bought the tie without hesitation. So it is not always the women who are undecided."

Gifts Are Novel

That people are getting away from the handkerchief and necktie idea of Christmas gifts is the belief of William Levine, dry goods merchant. "They are demanding more novel gifts than ever before," he said. "Before this year we were able to put the articles we had in stock in Christmas boxes and sell them as gifts, but now we are buying goods especially for the purpose.

"People of Lubbock are beginning their Christmas shopping five or six days earlier than those in most towns this size. The majority of places do not so much as decorate their stores until December 15.

"Most local stores have already employed their Christmas salespeople, and at the present time they can spend more time assisting customers in selecting gifts than would be possible nearer Christmas."

Plenty To Spend

E. L. Robertson, druggist, also is of the opinion that people do not know what they want in the way of gifts when they come into a store, but that they are beginning their shopping a little earlier than usual.

"Business depression is a thing of the mind," Mr. Robertson said. "Fundamentally, people have as much money to spend as they had last year, and merchants who were able to see this, bought their goods accordingly.

"The greatest gift problem seems to be the question of what to buy for a man hence the merchants this year are spending more time than previously studying this problem so as to be able to make suitable suggestions."

"Rayon pajama suits seem to be the most popular among gifts for women" said J. J. Seale, dry goods merchant, "but a great deal of underwear, hose and toilet articles also are being bought. There is little difference in the popularity of gifts for men, but shirts, ties, socks and underwear all are being given this year. When people buy articles of this nature, they know what they want to begin with.

"There is a much larger variety of staple goods to choose from this year than ever before."

Gilbert Swan

In New York With Swan

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—The atmosphere of cobwebs and dust which enfolds the old Wendell mansion become more apparent with each passing year.

As Fifth Avenue, which hems it in, grows gayer and more glittering, this mystery spot seems to retreat farther back into the shadows of yesteryear.

The windows are shuttered. Old-fashioned, faded blue blinds are drawn. Most of the windows are curtainless, and if life goes on inside its walls, there is no sign from the outside.

A friend, who has a taste for the curious and the eerie, spent many idle hours watching to see if the blinds would ever be raised or lowered, if the shutters would ever be opened or if light could ever be detected in the windows at night—but finally gave up the game.

A scout reported that on a certain afternoon in late fall, he observed a spiral of smoke coming out of the back yard, as though someone had made a bonfire of leaves. But when he shinned himself upon the high fence which surrounds the place, he was unable to detect a servant at work.

The Wendell mansion, by way of explanation, is the last of the lavender-and-lace period spots to be found in mid New York. Its venerable fence, with rusty wire picketing, blocks it off from Fifth Avenue at a point where that famous shopping thoroughfare takes on its most luxurious and swanky aspects. The value of the land as business property is fabulous—yet the two aged sisters who own it cling to it with a stubborn sentimentality.

Because so little is known of them and their comings and goings, old wives' tales of a nature strange to Fifth Avenue have passed about. There are those who have told of peeps at shawl-covered figures going through the dim and dingy rooms carrying candles. The story also goes about that neither of the sisters has ever ridden in an automobile, and though the street outside is a terrifying crush of traffic no car has ever been seen parked at their door.

On the contrary, a severe old brick stable is at the rear, with a creaking weather-vane swinging about atop it.

I have yet to find a person who ever saw a tradesman's wagon stop at the door or who ever saw anyone leave or enter the premises. The last report—and I doubt if anything except rumored murmurings escape this mansion—was to the effect that one of the sisters had grown so feeble that she had been taken to a country place for her health while the other lives on alone. There are other tales that a couple of loyal old servants live on there, observing the manners and customs of the by-gone Victorian era.

The sisters are very wealthy, quite outside the value of this mansion and they are said to have vowed that as long as they live this landmark will not pass into the hands of commerce. They come from a historic New York family, which included among its members, Oliver Wendell Holmes and Dr. Wendell Phillips.

Meanwhile, ultra-modern French shoppes open all about them and a new sparkle and glitter overtakes "the avenue."

All of which makes the old manse appear more cobwebby and abandoned than ever.

BANK TO CELEBRATE

Spur National To Observe 20th Year In City

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

SPUR, Dec. 14.—The Spur National bank will celebrate next week their 20th anniversary of business in the city. This institution has been one of the greatest exponents of the dairy industry in the South Plains section of the state, and it is through their continued interest that Dickens county is rapidly becoming known as one of the leading counties building toward a balanced farm program for its constituents.

W. B. Lee, active vice-president of the bank has spent much time in assisting his customers in solving their farm problems, and his constant urge is that the farmers of Dickens county make the best selection possible when purchasing farm animals of all kinds, and that they keep constantly culling out unprofitable individuals whether it be dairy cows, beef cattle, swine or poultry.

The policies of the bank have been directed primarily in further development of the agricultural enterprises of the country.

COURTROOM IMPROVED

Renovation Is Given District Courtroom At Crosbyton

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

CROSBYTON, Dec. 14.—S. W. Nickols and company, of Dallas, have completed an excellent repair job on the district court room of the Crosby county court house at Crosbyton. The ceiling was lined with a cane fibre board which gives the room much needed acoustical correction. Additional lighting fixtures were installed, and the roof of the building was repaired. The roof repair job was done by Jim Biffle, contractor of Lubbock. With this work completed the Crosby county court house boasts one of the best district court rooms in West Texas.

TO INSTALL CAFETERIA

SNYDER, Dec. 14. (Special)—The Snyder Parent-Teachers association meeting monthly enjoy a regular attendance of more than 150 mothers and fathers, which is said to be a record. The organization have voted to install a cafeteria in the schools. Mrs. Hugh Taylor is president.

RALLS FIRM ROBBED

Phillips Station Register Is Taken By Burglars

RALLS, Dec. 14.—Burglars entered the Phillips Petroleum company station after midnight Tuesday and made away with a combination cash register and adding machine.

Entrance was gained to the building by breaking a small window light which enabled the burglar to reach in and turn the night lock. The cash register contained only about sixty pennies and was found the following day several miles north of Ralls. Sheriff Elmer Reed of Crosbyton, arrested two suspects in the case, at Floydada Wednesday.

It is with a great amount of pleasure that we announce the readiness of this bigger and better hostelry. It is with a great amount of pride that we throw its doors open on the day announced for your inspection. We have reserved the eleventh floor for a thorough inspection of the rooms, the engine room, laundry, mezzanine floor and our roof from where you can get a good view of our city, will be shown to every visitor during the hours announced.

A modern Drug Store, Barber Shop, Laundry, Coffee Shop, Western Union Office, and headquarters for the A. A. A. are accessible for your immediate needs during your stay. The Coffee Shop is one of the most modern to be found on the South Plains. The management operates this place on the highest possible plane, sanitary, courteous and offers the best food money can buy. All of these services are under the supervision of the management and must be satisfactory to each of our guests.

The personnel of the Greater Hotel Lubbock will greet you from 2 P. M. until 5 P. M. tomorrow afternoon, and from 8 P. M. until 12 Midnight, Monday evening. Members of our staff will, with the assistance of added hostesses and hosts, show you the moderness and magnitude of the HOME-OWNED HOTEL. If there are things you fail to see or know, kindly ask them, they will be happy to serve you.

The Hotel in its completeness represents an enormous expenditure in its investment. No expense has been spared in making it an institution of which Lubbock may be justly proud. The travelling public will find a service that equals any accomodations of their itenerary. More than three hundred rooms, beautifully furnished, comfortable and an ideal place to make your home when in the Hub of the Plains. We are endeavoring to have the best Hotel you will find as we are the largest Hotel between Fort Worth and El Paso. Serving a traveling and commercial public with the determination to please.

Always glad to see YOU,

Meet Mr. Average Lubbock Citizen

Survey Reveals Average Man Interested In Growth Of Lubbock Kiddies Tell Old Saint Nick What They Want

Who is Mr. Average Man? Does he live in Lubbock?

A college professor has doped out from insurance statistics what the average American is like.

According to this college professor the avearge Amercan is 33 years old, is 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighs 152 pounds and has brown hair and eyes. He wears a 38 suit, a 15 collar, 7 1-8 hat and an 8-C shoe.

Interested In Community.

A local survey shows that the average Lubbock citizen is comfortably fixed, that about 65 per cent of them own their own homes, they are fairly well educated and are interested in the progress of Lubbock and their community.

The professor further continues that the average man is married and has two children, a boy and a girl. His home is in the suburbs and his business is in the downtown district of a town of moderate size. He owns his home in theory, because it is either mortgaged or is being paid for on the installment basis.

Owns Own Car.

He owns his own car which took him 15 months to pay, for the car being second hand when he purchased it, and the furniture was purchased on the same basis.

Lubbock citizens, of average means, as a rule purchase their furniture on an installment plan. Not so many of them buy second hand cars but the new ones are paid for by monthly installments.

The average American at 33 is working for someone else, and, according to the statistics of the professor, is either a skilled mechanic or a clerk, both used in the broadest sense, and is content with his position in life as far as to defend it.

Home Comes First.

His first interest in life, is his home and his business is next. He belongs to a lodge and attends it regularly, and he belongs to a church and seldom attends.

Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of Texas Technological college, declared that in his opinion the average Lubbock citizen "believes in his town, belongs to a church, is reasonably independent. He expects to be able to send his children to Texas Tech after their graduation from high school, and believes that we will have a winning football team next year."

Lubbock citizens, as well as other American citizens, spend their Sundays and holidays in doing odd jobs about the house and yards. He very often does odd repair jobs on his car, probably washing and greasing it, and when that is done takes the family for a drive.

Scrupulously Honest.

The average man is not religious in the old-fashioned sense but he is scrupulously honest. He is a conservatist in politics, but is inclined to go into lengthy discussions on this subject.

Statistics show that the average Lubbock citizen is able to afford many small luxuries, he dresses well and he has had at least a year or two in some college, and likes to read a great deal. The reading tastes are varied but all prefer high class magazines which include magazines of business and politics, science and literature.

Mr. Average Man sets great store by common sense and believes he lives by it. He is extremely gullible, falling prey to quack medicines and fraudulent investment salesmen. He is reliable and does his work satisfactorily but is easily flattered. He can be flattered and cajoled into doing almost anything that is contrary to his own wishes or desires and in the end will declare that it was his own idea in the first place.

Just A Different Christmas Carol!

Salvation Army Lassie 'Keeps Pot Boiling' So Poor Of City May Enjoy Yuletide This Season

"How dear to my heart is the old Christmas Kettle
That stand on the sidewalk its story to tell.
And just to attract all good folks to its message
The Salvation Lassie is ringing a bell."

And the smile of the Salvation Lassie greets Lubbock's hurried throngs as she stands patiently on the corner ringing the tiny bell that the helpless and hopeless of the city may find the joy of Christmas in the heaping baskets to be delivered at their door.

Is Familiar Sight

Each year the Christmas Kettle makes its appearance in every city of the United States where are stationed posts of the Salvation Army. Hundreds of unfortunates will benefit through the generosity of Lubbock. Whether its a dollar or a dime—the kettle will resound with answering welcome and the tired smile of the Lassie will become even brighter.

According to officials of the Salvation Army here, large baskets of food, including chickens, potatoes, bread, butter, sugar, coffee, apples, canned goods, etc., will be delivered to every poverty stricken home in Lubbock the day before Christmas. Anyone knowing of such cases are asked to drop the name and address in the kettle that investigation can be made.

To Treat Kiddies

In addition to the baskets the children will be treated—candy, nuts and toys will be theirs and the thrill that comes only at Christmas will belong to those who help the Army make His birthday a real celebration for His poor. A program is being planned for Christmas Day at headquarters of the organization though exact nature of it has not been announced. A kettle will be placed in Slaton this week and baskets will be delivered in that city as well as here.

Officials reported that the first day of its appearance the kettle netted $15.35.

So with the approach of the holidays, the hurry and bustle of tardy shoppers, the spirit that pervades deeply into the hearts of all—Salvation Lassie stands at her kettle, the tiny tinkle of her bell reminding the world of the blessedness of the occasion — His birthday — He, who gave the greatest of gifts—Love for Hate; Peace for War; Hope for Despair; Dedemption for all.

Rights Upheld

Girls Strike As Gum Is Banned

MELBOURNE, Australia, Dec. 14. (AP)—The right to chew gum brought on a strike of 150 girls employed at a shoe facttory here.

Vainly the girls contended that the habit was healthful, solacing and conducive to contentment. The forewoman had fixed ideas upon the subject, contending that the practice had unpleasant consequences, and her view was upheld by the management.

Undaunted, the girls stuck to their guns and gum and, though some had been employed for 20 years and all had been employed for an average of six years, they struck and marched out in a body.

Congratulations To New and Greater

Hotel Lubbock

It is with considerable pride that we join others in extending our best wishes to Hotel Lubbock on this, the occasion of the Official Opening of its Magnificent New Five-Story Addition. We feel that it is a definite illustration of the development of this city and this section, especially since less than four years ago " Lubbock's Crying Need Is A Bigger and Better Hotel," and considerable discussion occured as to whether or not the first six-story structure would be justified.

We Are Proud to Have Had a Part in Furnishing This Fine Structure

This firm feels complimented that it was selected to assist in furnishing the linens, draperies, bedding, etc., both for the original hotel and for this fine new addition. Many of the finest linen items you find in its luxurious rooms were purchased through this store.

Turkey Pool Plan Benefits Growers

Terry Farmers Get Better Price Through Co-Operative Marketing; Price Is Higher Than Average

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

BROWNFIELD, Dec. 14.—The Turkey Pool association, that was organized here a few days ago has sold its turkeys for a flat price of 18 cents based upon weight of 8 and 13, which is one pound under the weight basis heretofore placed by dealers and four cents above previous offers for hens and one cent above market for toms. A total of 2,502 birds were sold, weighing 31,698 and were purchased by the Brownfield Produce company. Other dealers advanced the price to 19 cents and probably handled as many birds as the pool.

Five Carloads Pooled In McCullough County

BRADY, Dec. 14. (AP)—Five carloads of turkeys pooled by the McCulloch county Poultry Co-operative association were sold recently at 20 cents a pound. There were 7,400 turkeys delivered in the Christmas pool.

Hats Given 4-H Club Boys Of Two Towns

SUDAN, Dec. 14—(Special)—A goodly number of Sudan citizens visited in Littlefield last evening guests at the good will meeting tendered to the Lamb county delegation of winners of 4-H club boys. Two of the boys, August Clark of Littlefield, and Forrest Weimhold of Sudan, won state honors for their respective clubs, the honors carrying with them Chicago trips with all expenses paid. At the luncheon in their honor given last evening the young men were presented with splendid hats by their respective citizenships as an evidence of the confidence their towns had in them.

Among prominent Sudan citizens on the evening's program were Misses Taylor ad Runnels with their song hits, and Mrs. S. D. Hay with her splendid story telling. Judge May, Prof. Duckworth and Mr. Wilkins and family were other guests attending from Sudan.

CIRCLE NO. 2, BAPTIST W. M. S.

Circle No. 2 of the Baptist Woman's Missionary society, Mrs. W. L. Pattillo, chairman, met Monday afternoon at the parsonage with Mrs. J. P. Olive hostess. The meeting was devoted to the study of the mission study book, "The Wandering Jew", the book being completed and examinations taken. The following ladies stood the examination: Mesdames W. C. Fry, Emzy Pieratt, J. W. Catching, L. T. Lott, J. P. Olive, W. L. Pattillo, Miss Beva McMurry.

METHODIST W. M. S.

The ladies of the Methodist Woman's Missionary society met Monday afternoon at the parsonage with Mrs. J. W. Thompson as hostess. Mrs. H. C. Pearson had charge of a Missionary Voice program, the subject of which was "Making the Home a Christ Center." The following ladies too part on the program: "A Divine Responsibility," Mrs. J. W. Thompson; "Family Worship", Mrs. H. C. Pearson; "A Rhythm of Living", Mrs. J. M. Baker; "The Christmas Season", Mrs. J. T. Howell.

The ladies planned a Christmas party for their husbands sometime next week at the J. T. Howell home.

COMPLIMENTS VISITOR

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Smith entertained with a five table bridge party on Friday evening complimenting their house guest, Miss Lois Harkey of Crosbyton.

The Christmas motif was effectively used in the decorations of the home and in all other table appointments. High scores in the games went to Miss Dessie Johnson and Payton Powers, their favors being a game bell and ash tray. The honor guest was also prettily favored.

Ice box pudding and coffee was served to Messrs. and Mesdames Tom B. Morrison, Joe Schuler, Cleo Johnson, Payton Powers; Misses Lois Harkey, Pearl Laird, Illene Wampler, Dessie Johnson, Polly Taylor, Louella Woodward; Messrs. Elbert Lott, Hugh Anderson, Buck Stobaugh, Easter Smith; Mrs. Jack Agee.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

Mrs. Floyd Pearson entertained Monday evening with a small dinner party honoring her husband's birthday. Guests for this pleasant occasion were Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Blakemore and daughter, Betty Jo, and Dr. J. F. Crawford, of Fort Worth. After the dinner hour the entire party attended a picture show program at Lubbock.

MERRY BIDDERS NIGHT CLUB

The true Christmas spirit was evidenced in every detail of the party given Tuesday evening for members of the Merry Bidders club in the home of Mrs. Roy Terrell in west Lorenzo, with Mrs. E. Smith joint hostess. Red and green were favored in decorations and at refresment time game tables were centered with poinsettia pot plants and Christmas plate favors were given.

In games of progressive forty-two Mrs. Jones Goode and R. G. O'Rear won high score. Plum pudding and coffee was served to Messrs and Mesdames W. M. Blakemore, R. G. O'Rear, Joe Schuler, Roy Abell, Cleo Johnson, R. L. Bowman, J. T. Howell, H. F. Pearson, Jones Goode, John Gentry, Dr. J. F. Crawford and J. S. Garmon.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PARTY

Tuesday evening Mesdames W. L. Pattillo and Ernest Williams entertained the boys and girls of the junior department of the Baptist Sunday school with an evening of fun at the Pattillo home on Van Buren avenue. Games of all sorts were enjoyed and hot chocolate and cookies were served at the close of the social to Mary Vesta Stancil, Mary Olive, Helen Ieratt, Margie Nell Anderson, Marguerite Olive, James Feazel, Aubrey Snider, John David Lattimer, Roy Eaves, Floyd Williams, Powers Anderson, Clifton Hughes.

"HOME BEAUTIFUL" TEA GIVEN

The ladies of the Woman's Missionary society of the Methodist church sponsored a "Home Beautiful" tea on Wednesday at the attractive home of Mrs. H. F. Pearson in west Lorenzo. The hours were from ten to five and during the day over fifty guests called. Sandwiches and tea, presided over by Mrs. J. T. Howell, were served throughout the hours, and from three to four a program of readings and choruses was given by Misses Madge Huckabay, Edna Mae Dillard, May Tom Howell, Jeane Suitz and Bonnie Lawrence, among which was a reading, "Wait till my ship comes in" by Madge Huckabay, which was dedicated to the W. M. S.

Bazaar articles were on display in the living room with Mrs. Roy Terrell in charge. Mrs. E. Smith was hostess in the dining room where articles suitable for that room were sold. Mrs. A. B. Terrell had charge of the bed room where boudoir accessories were on display. Mrs. Floyd Pearson sold bath room necessities from that room and Mrs. T. G. Hendric conducted a bakery sale and sale of kitchen utensils from the kitchen. The proceeds from the combined sales of all the rooms netted about sixty dollars, which will be spent on improving the parsonage.

Out-of-town guests and guests from other local churches included Mesdames C. R. and C. E. Westerman of Robertson; T. M. Johnson and Percy Lamar, of Crosbyton; Roy Cooper and Carl D. Lewis of Ralls; Mesdames H. L. Stancil, J. P. Feazel, W. W. Anderson, W. P. Fullingim, J. R. Duncan, W. L. Pattillo, Payton Powers, L. N. Stevens, H. A. Bozeman, Joe Schuler, E. Simmons Smith, Misses Pearl Laird, Bonnie Lawrence, Edna Mae Dillard, Madge Huckabay.

Howell, H. F. Pearson, J. L. Suits, Tom Ellis and Earl Jean Suits, May Tom Howell, Terrell Bowman.

McMillan Builds Many Structures During Stay Here

During his three years as an independent contractor, W. G. McMillan, of this city, who contracted for general construction of the five additional floors to the Hotel Lubbock, has played a vital part in the phenomenal building era of Lubbock and the South Plains.

Prior to coming to this city Mr. McMillan worked for the J. E. Johnson construction company, of Waco and while there he worked on some of the largest construction jobs in the state.

Graduated From A. and M.

Majoring in architecture, he was graduated from Texas A. and M. in 1922. While at Aggieland he played three years with the Farmer football squad, alternating at quarter and halfback positions on the varsity eleven.

Still a lover of the gridiron sport he has officiated at many college and high school football games within recent years.

Other buildings constructed under McMillan's direction are the $225,000 Lubbock Poultry and Egg plant; practice house at Texas Technological college; $27,000 Bayless & Hungate warehouse, Lubbock; $25,000 wholesale distribution plant of Continental Oil company, Lubbock; store building occupied by Carnett Electric company; $20,000 Redwine school building near Tahoka; new $30,000 hotel at Levelland.

AND NOW WOODEN FLOWERS

PARIS, (AP)—Buttonhole flowers of birch wood to match polished wooden handbags are sport novelties shown here. The wooden flowers are formed of thin birch veneer on silk. Petals are combined in contrasting shades of natural wood colorings.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Mrs. William Howard Taft is an accomplished pianist and holds a diploma entitling her to teach.

Letters To Good Old Santa Claus

Lubbock Kiddies Tell Old Saint Nick Wrat They Want For Christmas; Many Different Wishes Expressed

Dear Old Santa:
I would be glad to get anything you have for me but I sure want a baby doll and buggy and of course it won't be Christmas if you leave out the sweets and nuts.
I have two brothers and one sister. Don't forget them. My baby brother is only six months old and has never seen a Santa. I am seven years old and go to school. I try to be a good girl, so please remember me.
Your little friend,
Lorene Gentry, Slaton.

Dear Santa:
I am a boy six years of age. If you come by our house please leave me a coaster wagon and some sparklers. I have a little baby brother six months old. Please bring him some little rattlers and playthings. Don't forget the nuts, fruit and candy. Thank you.
Charles Gentry, Slaton.

Dear Santa:
I am a girl eight years old. I am in the second grade and love my teacher very much. Please don't forget her, dear Santa, for she is so nice to us children. I want a wagon to haul coal and kindling in for mother, a 19 inch baby doll and anything else you can find for me. I want to be good and help mother and father and care for my baby sister who is two years old. Oh, yes, Santa, my grandmother lives with us. Don't forget to bring her a new cape and I have another grandma and grandpa who haven't forgotten about how nice you were to them when they were little like me. So don't forget them or mother and father. Everyone is looking for you, Santa, so please don't pass anybody. I must close now so bring all the fruits, nuts and sweets you have for baby and me. I sure thank you, Santa, from Lillie Gentry, Slaton.

Good Old Santa:
Please bring me a baby doll, some little dishes and everything for good little girls. I am four years old and help mother do little things. Don't forget any of the little children.
Baby Ruth Gentry, Slaton.

Dear Santa:
Please excuse me for waiting so long before writing you this letter, but I have been very busy.
Santa, I want to tell you what I want for Christmas. I want a bicycle of some kind, and I will just leave it to you to bring me the kind you want me to have, if you think I ought to have one. And I want a little tractor, one that climbs. And I want a little cop suit. And a football. And if you think I have been a good boy you can bring me anything else that you think I should have. I have tried to be a good boy and help mother every time I see something I think should be done.
My little sister's name is Beverly Ann, and she iv wanting a little doll bed and a little table with chairs so we can eat our dinners together. She sure is a sweet little girl, her ears are hurting tonight.
Well Santa I hope you are well and can make your trip down here alright.
Oh, yes! Santa I nearly forgot I want you to bring my things to Grandpapa's house for I will be there Christmas. We all will be there.
Well Goodby Santa,
Jack Giles, 1916 Dixie Drive.

Dear Santa Claus:
Please bring me, if I am a nice boy, a pair of little red-top boots, size 10 1-2 and a strong rubber-tired tricycle any color. I also want a little train with a round track, that winds up. Also some candy, nuts, fruit and coconuts. I am a good boy.
J. A.

Dear Santa Claus:
I am eight years old and in the third grade, I think I have been a good little girl this year. I want a pair of little pink house shoes, a china set, a set of knives, forks and spoons, a little by-lo doll with bootees on. Also some fruit, candy and nuts. My stocking is not going to be dirty this year. I want a chemistry set. I might be at Mother Brown's for Christmas. With love,
Billie Ruth McClung.
P. S. An electric movie. Thank you. I want you to send some poor children everything I get.

Dear Santa Claus:
I see in the paper where you are going to the North Pole after presents for the little folks. I hope you have a nice trip. I heard you was married and your wife wouldn't let you give away any presents but I know that is not so. So I will be looking for you. I want two bicycle wheels. I already have most of my bicycle. And I want some boxing gloves, fruit, candy and nuts. And now, Dear Santa, please don't forget me for I live at 412 Avenue D.
Amos.

Dear Santa Claus: I want a doll, a new dress, new hat, doll buggy, a sled, a ball, some candy and nuts, apples, oranges and lots of good things to eat. I am going to hang up my stocking so please fill it full. Bring my mother and dady lots of things, too. I want a pair of beads, a mesh bag, a doll chair, a doll table, books, a little cook set, a cook apron, a doll bed and a picture. That's all. I hope you get here all right so all the little boys and girls have a nice Christmas.
Yours truly,
Virginia Bondurant,
1917 16th Street.

Dear Santa Claus:
I want a fire wagon, a cowboy suit, gun, belt, kerchief, bathrobe, cowboy hat, book and school supplies, book-satchel, car, airplane, new suit, a bank that will hold my money, a picture of Jesus, watch and train. I hope you get here Christmas Eve so all the little boys and girls will have a nice Christmas.
Yours truly,
Clarkie Bondurant,
1917 16th Street.

Dear Santa Claus:
We are in a hurry for you to come to see us. We have been very good girls all the year. We want some chairs big enough to sit in and a little horse apiece, a pretty doll, some cooking pans. We want some pretty balls and cars. We have a little brother and he needs a rattler and a few pretty playthings because he doesn't have anything to play with.
Walta Jean wants a tablet and pencil. We both want some fruit and candy. I am Frances. I am seven years old. Walta Jean is three years old. We want a ukulele and a story book. We love you.
Frances and Walta Jean Workman
1419 Texas Avenue.

Dear Santa Claus:
I am four years old and I live with my Uncle George Moore. I want a walking doll, a Shetland pony and saddle, also a sheep. You might put some candy and fruit in my stocking. Lots of love to Santa.
Georgia Ella Rhodes.
North of City.

Dear Santa:
Please bring me a bicycle.
Thank you Santa.
Garrett Fox.
1907 Avenue S.

Dear Sant Claus:
I want a long-legged doll with pretty black hair, please. Santa do you think I have been a bad girl? Santa I have been practicing hard and I love my music very much. I will sleep late Christmas morning if you will bring me a lot of toys but do not bring me too much because I have been fussy with my mother. I want a little grandfather clock. I also want some doll shoes for Ann, my big doll, Santa Claus. I want you to fill my stocking good and full. Last year you gave me a ring, pair of silk stockings. Please stop and give all the rest of the children something.
Elizabeth Ann Love.

Dear Santa Claus:
Will you please bring me a little doll, painting set, big bouncing ball, a story book, water set, Bible, Eversharp pencil, fruit, nuts and some fireworks. With love,
Juanita Tapp.

ABERNATHY NEWS

BY MRS. W. A. RICHTER

PRESS MOVED TO HALE CENTER

The printing press belonging to the Abernathy Review has been moved to Hale Center. We regret to lose this but the editor, Mr. J. C. Hurst, makes plans to give us a better paper. Mr. Hurst owns the printing plant at Hale Center and now combining the two plants. He will have all the machinery necessary to print a better paper. His family will move to Hale Center about the first of the year. Abernathy was without a paper last week, owing to the machinery being out of order getting it ready for moving.

STORE CLOSING OUT

Lloyd Dry Goods Co., formerly Barrier Bros., began a closing-out sale on the 12th. This concern has been operating here since in the early summer and has been quite successful. It is owned by the Lloyd Dry Goods Co., of Snyder, they having purchased it from Barrier Bros.

The store has been under the management of Horace Mullens of Snyder and Mr. Mullens has made many friends while here. Miss Ruby Daniels, former bookkeeper of Seales & Co., has been employed by the Lloyd Dry Goods Co. since their coming here.

Mat Johnson, employe of the Santa Fe depot here visited relatives at Amherst this week.

FIRE DAMAGES CAR

The Chevrolet coach belonging to J. J. Vineyard was damaged by fire here Tuesday, when it caught on fire as a result of a short in the wiring. The top and seats were destroyed. It will cost a considerable amount to get it repaired. Mr. Vineyard lives on the Thomas place, four miles north of town.

RETURN FROM TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Goebel and children and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Smith and little son have returned from Burnet county where they had been visiting relatives and enjoying the hunting season. Mr. Goebel was lucky ad brought home some venison.

LEAVES FOR ARIZONA

Bill Fields left Tuesday for Arizona. Mr. Fields has been operating the tailor shop owned by the Field Bros., which they sold to E. E. Crow last week.

ENTERTAIN WITH DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Goebel were charming hosts this week when they entertained with a venison dinner. This was some of the venison that Mr. Goebel killed while away on a hunting trip.

Those attending were Mrs. M. Goebel and daughter, Miss Elizabeth, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Rantz and children, Mr. and Mrs. N. N. Goebel and little daughter, Myrtle, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Smith and little son and Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Goebel and two sons.

RETURN FROM VISIT

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Reno who have been away visiting relatives at Pecan Gap for several weeks returned home this week.

MOVE TO SLATON

W. O. Cleveland and family left this week for Slaton where they will make their home. The Clevelands have been residents of Abernathy for the past several years. They have a son and daughter who are married and live at Slaton.

LEAVE ON TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Richter left Wednesday morning for a ten days' business trip south. While away they will visit at Johnson City, San Antonio and on down to the Gulf of Mexico. Mrs. Richter's parents live at Johnson City.

MISS YOUNG ILL

Miss Ethel Young who owns and operates the millinery store in the balcony of the Struve Mercantile Co., has been sick for the past several days. She has been taking treatment in Lubbock for some time but does not show much sign of improvement. Mrs. Welcome Ragland has been taking care of the millinery shop.

Mrs. W. H. Ragland is in Plainview this week visiting her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ragland.

Miss Lottie Struve, of Amarillo, and Miss Lorena Frieze, of Canyon, were here this week visiting Miss Struve's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Struve.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rucker and little son, of Wisconsin, are here this week as the guest of Mrs. Rucker's uncle and family, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Zeman.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY

On Monday evening the members of the Methodist Missionary society met at a regular meeting at the Methodist church. This was regular program afternoon and an interesting program was given.

Those attending were Mesdames C. A. Sheborn, C. B. Gray, J. D. Norman, Mamie St. Clair, E. B. Lindsey, Leonard Harral, J. U. Peel, J. D. Anderson, John Wheeler, George Ragland, Ebb Coffman, J. E. Jones, T. B. Stone and J. D. Adkisson.

ELLERD-BRIGGS

This week Miss Essie Ellerd of Lakeview, became the bride of Carl Briggs of Becton.

Mrs. Briggs is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Ellerd of Lakeview.

Mr. Briggs is a son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Briggs of the Becton community.

BUSKE-WEBB

Miss Lois Buske, a charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Buske of this city became the bride of Mr. Millard Webb of Lubbock. They were married at Lamesa, where they will live as Mr. Webb is teaching near Lamesa.

Mrs. Webb is an attractive and accomplished young lady and has lived in this community part of her life and is loved by all who know her. She has been employed by the Lloyd Dry Goods Co. here for some time.

Mr. Webb is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Webb and a likeable young man and has a host of friends here.

ROAD COMPLETED

On Tuesday the highway department, which has been working so faithfully for the past six months, completed four miles of pavement and reached the Lubbock county line. This will be the last of the work on the highway here until the early spring. The highway department has been having a great deal of trouble getting this much of the road completed owing to the cold and freezing weather.

The road will not be opened to the public for perhaps thirty days. All of the men are leaving town, except a few, who will stay here and look after and take care of all the road machinery.

MR. WILLIAMS WORSE

D. L. Williams who has been sick at his home here for the past five weeks is reported as worse. Mr. Williams has been suffering with throat trouble and has been taking treatment at a sanitarium in Lubbock. He was carried to Lubbock Tuesday afternoon and will probably remain there for several days.

SHOP NEAR COMPLETION

The new machine shop being built by Anton Zeman on his property on Main street just north of the Methodist church is nearing completion. This will be a modern and well equipped machine shop and is located on the pavement. The building is about eighty feet long and is built of tile with a brick front.

Mr. Zeman was formerly in the garage business here having sold his building to Crow-Harral Motor Co., a few months back.

Mrs. Henry von Struve and little son, Henry Clay, have been visiting relatives at Hale Center this week.

On Monday afternoon the members of the Baptist Ladies Aid met at a regular meeting in the local Baptist church. A splendid program was given. Also a box was packed for Buckners' Orphans Home and a cash collection of $10 will also be sent. Plans for a Christmas tree were discussed and a Lottie Moon Christmas offering was given. Observe Week of Prayer program was given. Those taking part were Mesdames J. M. Fields, Anna Wilson, J. W. Pool, R. M. Hardesty, M. Z. Holland, Wesley Hardesty, W. R. Evans, Edwin Hardesty, Roy Anderson, C. Benn, J. R. Gould, Jim Harral, Bill Harral, C. C. Griffiths, John Webb, Otto Ashton and Ava Brown.

LEAVES FOR KANSAS CITY

J. B. Brown left Wednesday morning for Kansas City where he will take up civil service work in the Kansas City post office. Mrs. Brown will remain here some time yet before going there.

The different stores are trying to do their very best this year on the attractive decoration of their Christmas windows. Beaton Pharmacy and Pinson Drug each have their windows fixed very attractive to advertise their line of Christmas goods, Stambaugh & Co., Struve Mercantile, Hardesty & Co., and Lloyd Dry Goods Co., have very beautiful Christmas windows and with every line of goods they carry well advertised. The different grocery stores, McAlister Bros., Williams Grocery, Kelly and Schroeter and Struve Grocery have a full line of Christmas candies, fruit and etc., arranged in their show windows and looks very inviting to the public.

GOES TO OKLAHOMA

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Rea left the first of the week for Oklahoma City on business. Mr. Rea is in the milling business here, having been operating the Rea Milling Co. here for the past four or five years.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Donnell and little son have been in Brownfield for the past ten days, where Mr. Donnell has several jobs of painting. Mrs. Donnell is visiting relatives while there.

Joan Hurst, of Hale Center, was a business visitor here Tuesday morning. Miss Hurst is assisting her brother, J. C. Hurst in operating the newspaper at Hale Center.

ATTEND SINGING SCHOOL

Those going from Abernathy to Monroe Tuesday evening to attend the singing school were Mr. and Mrs. Brad Seals, Misses Bill Johnston, Ruby Daniels, Oneta Peel, Essie, Ruby and Thelda Kelly and Iwilla Settles; Messrs. J. U. Peel, Tom Kelly, Charley Taylor, Horace Mullens, Robert Garvin, Horace Gilliland, Herman Peel, Joe Craig and Edwin Adams.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Douglas and daughter left Tuesday morning for Henderson county where they will visit Mrs. Douglas' relatives.

Mrs. F. Clausen and Mrs. Leonard Harral left the last of the week for Fort Worth where they will visit relatives during the holidays.

GOSPEL SERVICES

At the Church of Christ this week there is a series of gospel services being held, the local pastor, Rev. M. M. Young, doing the preaching. Rev. Young has been pastor of the Church of Christ here for the past five years. They built their church since his coming here and the church has grown greatly in membership.

COLLEGE REVUE

Christmas spirit is in the air everywhere about the campus. Not only have students continued to sing Christmas carols in various places about the campus but they have started decorating halls and classrooms. In a remote corner of the administration building is hanging a small sprig of mistletoe. The Christmas tree from Friday's program is situated so that it can be seen through the rotunda of the main building. The evidence extends farther than the campus, too. College Inn has had Christmas decorations up for several days.

But nothing could take the minds of the freshmen away from the apron and overall party at the gymnasium last night. They have been wearing green fishes every since the tickets first went on sale. They were so pepped up that two of them couldn't resist dancing in the halls yesterday morning.

PRE-MEDS RECIEVE SWEATERS

Black sweaters carrying the crossbones and skull emblem of the Premed club made their appearance on the campus yesterday. The emblem is of solid white. The decision to buy the sweaters was made by the club at its meeting.

TO ATTEND MEETING

Hal Lary, editor of the Toreador, school newspaper, and Warren Huff, president of the Tech Y. M. C. A. chapter will attend a meeting of the Hollister planning committee in Dallas December 30 and 31st. They will meet with 10 other students, representatives from Oklahoma, Missouri, Arkansas and Mississippi. Plans will be made for the entire program of the annual summer conference of Christian associations held during the first two weeks of June at Hollister, Missouri.

SOPH CORDS ARRIVE

"By their clothes you shall know them." And every one on the campus can now recognize the men of the sophomore class. The adoption of the uniform was made at the last regular meeting. Members of the class assert that the adoption of the spit will start a tradition on the campus for all sophomore classes of the future.

PI GAMMA MU HEARS REPORT

Dr. J. O. Ellsworth, head of the department of agricultural economics lectured to the regular meeting of Pi Gamma Mu, national science fraternity Friday night. He discussed the condition of the working women in Lubbock as was disclosed in the results of a survey conducted this term by the students in his classes in cooperation with a sociology class under Dr. J. C. Granbery, head of the department of history. The tabulating and analysis of the results of this survey were completed recently.

CERISTMAS CARDS FROM PRESIDENT

The following letter has been sent out from the office of the president of the college and is of interest to all students:

"To All Students:

"The president of the college desires to give every student in the Texas Technological college a little card of Christmas greeting. He is preparing to give these out through the courtesy of the members of the faculty in English at the time of examinations in English are being held. It is therefore requested that all students in English classes will ask for these greetings at the time of examination.

"Any students in the college who are not taking English this term are requested to call at the office of the president for these Christmas cards.

"The president wishes to each and every student a Merry Christmas and a Prosperous New Year.

"Yours very truly,
"P. W. Horn, President."

RALLS NEWS

BY MRS. W. F. TAYLOR

SENIOR CLASS PARTY

Last Friday evening the senior class were delightfully entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Chance. Interesting games were enjoyed until a late hour after which hot chocolate and sandwiches were served to about thirty five guests including the class sponsor, Mrs. M. L. Penn, Mr. Penn and Miss Lora Nelson.

MRS. DEBOLT HOSTESS

The 1922 club met at the home of Mrs. J. M. DeBolt Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock. Christmas decorations were used throughout the entertaining rooms and the Christmas idea used in the talley cards. Several games of progressive forty-two were enjoyed in which Mrs. E. H. Moore scored high.

After lovely refreshment plates were passed to the guests. A short business session was had. Mrs. Dollie M. Ralls gave a very pleasing report of the state federation meeting which she attended at Mineral Wells. The club gave her a vote of thanks for same. The club voted to meet at 2:30 during the winter months. It was decided there would be no night meeting this month but that it would be the first Thursday night in January at the home of Mrs. W. F. Taylor with Mrs. F. L. Robbins and Mrs. Taylor as hostesses. Those enjoying this pleasant afternoon were Mesdames Winfrey Wicks, Sowell, P. B. Ralls, E. H Moore, Robbins, McClure, Rankins, Dollie M. Ralls, Mitchell Taylor and Miss Eula Detwiler.

W. M. S. HAVE MEETING

The Missionary Society of the Baptist church met at the church Monday afternoon. A very interesting lesson on the Second Book of Samuel was led by Miss Eula Detwiler. Next Monday the ladies will study the First Book of Kings. Those present Monday afternoon were Mesdames Houser, Francis Moses, Payne, Reed, Taylor, Day Mayes, Oliver Taylor and Miss Eula Detwiler.

SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHERS MEETING

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Sanders opened their pretty new home on east Tilford to the teachers of the Baptist Sunday school Monday evening and a very profitable meeting was had. Plans for having an A-1 Sunday school were discussed, they are lacking in only a few points in this. Talks were had from several present on subjects pretaining to the betterment of the Sunday school in general. Hot chocolate and cake were served at the close of the meeting to Mesdames Gleaton, Francis, Robbins, Shell, Day, Penn; Messrs. Drumheller, Lovvorn, Cannon, McElroy, Hale and Misses Detwiler, Hale, Porter, and Port.

BANQUET BIG SUCCESS

One of the nicest social affairs of the season was the Jackrabbit banquet sponsored by the local chamber of commerce and served by the ladies of the Methodist Missionary society at the auditorium Tuesday evening. Promptly at 7:30 one hundred guests were seated around the banquet table made attractive with minature Christmas trees and pretty red Christmas candles. Poinsettas were used as plate favors. The plate consisted of turkey, dressing, gravy, mashed potatoes, cream peas, celery, cranberry sauce, buns, slaw, cherry pie with whipped cream and coffee, mints and cigars were passed after the dinner. L. A. Wicks was the pleasing toast master of the evening and with his wit and enthusiasm gave zest to the evenings program. Those appearing on the program were A. B. Sanders superintendent of the Ralls school, Coach Finis Vaucher of Crosbyton, Coach Jack Agee of Lovvorn, Coach Jones of Floydada, Coach Proppe Lovvorn and Assistant Coach H. H. Rumph, of Ralls, Olin Perriman, captain of the football team made a speech in which he thanked the citizenship of Ralls for the hearty support which they have given te team, without which he declared they would have been unable to have attained the successes they have had.

J. M. Rankins had the honor of presenting to Coach Lovvorn a check for the amount of three hundred and fifty dollars as an expression of appreciation and esteem from the citizenship of Ralls and a check for fifty dollars to Assistant Coach Rumph from the same source.

Audie Bryan was elected captain of the football squad for 1930 and he expressed his appreciation of the honor conferred on him. The Jackrabbit banquet is an annual affair and proves to the Rabbits that the citizenship of the town is behind them.

LITTLE RUBY LEE WRIGHT DIES

Ruby Lee, the eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Wright, died at the family residence in north Ralls Wednesday evening after a very short illness. The child had been at school all day Wednesday but was suffering from hoarseness during the day. At 8:30 in the evening she was seized with a severe attack of croup and was dead in about two hours. The funeral was conducted by Rev. T. F. Suttle of Levelland and the body laid to rest in the Ralls cemetery. The third grade of the grammar school was dismissed and they together with their teacher attended the funeral. Ruby Lee was a member of that grade. Many beautiful floral offerings were in evidence. She is survived by a sister and her father and mother.

Mesdames Roy Cooper and Carl Lewis attended a bazaar and tea at Lorenzo Wednesday evening which was a benefit affair sponsored by the Methodist ladies of that city.

Mr. and Mrs. John Earl Francis and Mrs. Beatty of Lorenzo were guests of his brother, A. L. Francis last Sunday.

Just Like Birds

Airplanes Follow The Swallow

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 14. (AP)—Like birds, many airplanes migrate to the south in winter.

They are drawn by the winter colonies of Florida and other places in the south where business is booming during the winter season. Aviation activities here are two or three times as great in winter as in summer, many companies and individuals taking planes there for the season.

One operating company plans to bring 10 planes to Florida for the coming season and is busy now obtaining passengers to fly from New York to the southern resorts.

Tahoka News

BY MRS. FRANK BILL

METHODIST HOLD MEETING

More than half a hundred Methodist preachers and stewards gathered here Tuesday for an all-day business session in the auditorium of the Methodist church. There are 31 pastoral charges in the Lubbock district and all the pastors except three were present. There were also at least twenty-five laymen here.

The purpose of the meeting was to plan the work of the Lubbock district for the ensuing year. Evangelism, missions, and finances, were the subjects discussed and considered.

Quite a number of the visitors arrived Monday afternoon and a service was held Monday night, Rev. I. A. Smith, the new pastor at Slaton, preached an able sermon, which was followed by an inspiring and helpfull address by Rev. J. W. Watson, of Lubbock who is the conference Sunday school superintendent.

In addition to the main institute the stewards held a meeting of their own Tuesday, one of the chief items of business being to get the salary of the presiding elder.

Rev. C. A. Bickley, who recently came to Lubbock as the presiding elder of this district, presided at all the meetings.

At the noon hour Tuesday, the ladies of the local church served a veritable feast to the visiting brethern.

MRS. BRIDGES ENTERTAINS

Mrs. M. I. Bridges entertained the Junior Bridge club Tuesday afternoon in her home. Two tables of bridge were arranged and Mrs. Marshall Swan scored high in the games.

The hostess served sandwiches, hot chocolate and cake to the following. Mesdames Oscar Roberts A. P. Edward, George Hogan, jr., Bill Burleson, Marshall Swan, Shorty Woods and Frank Larkin.

PREACHES FARWELL SERMON

Elder and Mrs. W. A. Kercheville moved to Post this week, where Brother Kercheville has accepted the pastorage of the Church of Christ. He will preach his farewell sermon at the church here Sunday.

During the comparatively brief time that Elder Kercheville has been the pastor here, the church has grown wonderfully. He is an interesting speaker and has greatly endeared himself to his congregation. Mrs. Kercheville is a most accomplished lady and she has made many warm friends here. The people of Tahoka regret that these good people are leaving.

L. C. Young visited his parents in Abilene the past week.

PRIMARY ORCHESTRA

The Primary School Orchestra or Rhythmic Band, made its first appearance on Wednesday afternoon, December 11, in a chapel program at Central Ward school.

Twenty-eight members compose the orchestra. They are second grade pupils and are trained by Mrs. W. I. Henderson.

The musical instruments used are five tambourines, four triangles, cymbols, jingle bells, double clappers and drums.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Connolly went to Dallas Sunday returning Tuesday night.

L. A. Robinson of Wichita Falls and Mrs. Jas. R. Robinson of Lubbock were here last week visiting Mr. and Mrs. Hall Robinson.

Onid Luallin went to Dallas for an operation. He expects to remain there ten days or longer. He is reported doing nicely.

A. L. Dunagan underwent an operation for gall stones in a sanitarium at Lubbock Monday. He is reported to be improving nicely.

Barney Davis, Paul Howell and Jack Hannah visited Carlsbad, New Mexico, Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Spence of Pampa, are visiting relatives and friends here. They resided here for many years and their friends are glad to see them back.

Sam Sessum and his sister left for their home in Hill county Wednesday, after having spent a couple of months here. They are brother and sister of Jim Sessum, who resides a few miles north of Tahoka.

Charles F. Shook bought the George Small home on Main street. Mr. Small will continue to occupy the building for the time being. This is one of the most attractive and commodious homes in the city.

'Keep Credit Good' Warning Issued

Those Who Would Play Santa Claus Without Putting Up Cash Must Have Good Record With Association

THE rush of Christmas buying has started—just "charge and deliver it." The old, old phrase of "charge it" makes it so easy and just one thing there is to detract from the pleasantness of such a procedure—"Please remit" at the end of the month.

"Please charge and deliver" verifies the first movement in a dramatic symphony for:

—the prospective bride of the well-to-doer.

—the housewife who needs curtains.

—the poor working girl who needs an automobile.

—the hungry.

—the woman who doesn't pay.

Lubbock citizens may have almost anything charged these days, including the gas and oil, dental fillings and sets of teeth, an operation, their pledge to the Community Chest, church assessments, college education—all may be bought and paid for later.

Purses Are Ornaments

Where purses in other days were symbols of money, they now serve merely as an ornament or to carry lip sticks. Even canaries are sold on credit and there's always a way to get what you want if your c is good. But—keeping your good is like going on an 18-day

Many think they have been careful about such details but the first of each month they alize they are of the few who used too much credit and the bank account has taken a dec slump.

At this time the Lubbock Re Merchants association steps into light. Protection of their memb services that are confidential yet valuable form the basis of this ganization.

Cards On File

Thousands of cards are kept file with a complete story of the son who failed to meet his bills also the one more prompt. His tecedent, occupation, resources, he bought a home, automobile, dio, how much he is paying on and just how he takes care of open accounts.

All such information is gathe from court house records, daily pers, clearing references and che ing through members. Informa on new arrivals are obtained their former places of abode.

The Retail Merchants asso tion issues a warning to all to "k their credit good" during the days that they may have it through the remainder of the

Substantial Increase Expected In Tech Enrollment

Addition Of 250 Or More Students Is Predicted Now

Information Of Winter Registration Is Given Out By Officials; New Courses To Be Added

WITH THE close of the fall term of Texas Technological college, next week comes the announcement of the registration plans for the winter term of 1930. Predictions from the registrar's office are that the enrollment for the college will be increased by about 250 students which is equal to the increase gained at the same time last year.

Professor R. A. Studehalter, head of the curricula committee has listed the following changes in the school curricula that was printed for use during fall registration. Changes are divided into two groups, those not printed on the schedule and the additional courses added to those already planned.

A list of the new courses follows: Math, finance and insurance; Botany 239, plant anatomy; Government 131, trailer section of American government; Latin 330, private life of the Romans; Math 134, course designed for Agricultural students; Physics, 341, elementary light; Spanish 231, trailer section offering study in grammar, reading, conversation and composition; Agronomy 438, cotton, grain sorghum genetics.

Additional Sections Made

Additional sections will be offered in the following: Architect, 122, object drawing; Government 132 American government, there will be four additional sections of this subject; Mathamatics 2321, analytical geometry; Clothing 131, elementary clothing construction; Clothing 132, principals of dress selection; Foods 131, elementary food preparations; Foods 132, elementary food preparations. According to an announcement from Miss Margaret Weeks, dean of the school of Home Economics the class in foods 131 will be open to students of the School of Liberal Arts as well as to those of the Home Economics.

Must Have Grade Books

E. L. Dohoney, registrar, has announced that grade books will not be given to the students until January 2, when it will be necessary to have them before registering. Grades will be mailed to the parents the last of December.

The following is a schedule that has been arranged for new and old students:

For students enrolled in the fall term: Time: 8-12 a. m. and 1:30-5:30 p. m. To avoid delay, students will please report in alphabetical order according to the first letter of their family name as follow: 8-9 L-M; 9-10, N-O-P-Q-R; 10-11, S-T-U-V; 11-12, W-X-Y-Z; 1:30-2:30, A-B; 2:30-3:30, C-D; 3:30-4:30, E-F-G; 4:30-5:30, H-I-J-K.

Texas Sheriff Tells Graphic Tale Of Travel In Returning Temple Prisoner

John Bigham And His Prey, A. B. Crouch, Return Home

EDITOR'S NOTE:—The following article is taken from a recent issue of the Temple Telegram and is being reproduced for West Texas consumption by the Avalanche-Journal for the many former Bell county and Central Texas people now residing here and because it is an epic in Texas official history.)

BY W. E. BRIGHTWELL

John Bigham, at the end of a 100-day, 17,000-mile trip to the end of the world to "get his man," finds himself one of the most talked of and talked "to" sheriffs in the country.

On his way from his home to his office Monday morning, Bigham bucked a heavy line of friends, awaiting an opportunity to greet him and hear a word of his travels.

Even after safely reaching his office, the word "private" meant nothing. His friends could not be denied and the reporter soon found a full house helping him pop questions to the genial sheriff, upon whom the salt sea breezes of the Pacific and the languorous atmosphere of the South Sea Islands seem to have had a happy effect.

He describes his emotions as those of "a country boy who has just completed the most wonderful trip of his life."

"How did the country look where you have been, John?" asked one of his farmer friends Monday. "Mighty wet," answered the sheriff smiling. "I used to read in the geography when I was a school boy that the earth was three parts water and one part land. I couldn't believe it then but I am convinced that it is true."

Saw Lots of Water

The sheriff says he reckons he saw about as much water as Noah did during the flood. You can only see as far as your eyes will let you," he explained, "and I had 40 days and nights of it."

"I don't ever want to get so far away anymore though," added Bigham, "that it takes 30 days to get a letter from home."

"If a man could make this trip without any business worries, it would be a wonderful trip indeed," said Bigham as he launched upon a review of his travels.

Sheriff Bigham left Belton on Sept. 1, sailing from Los Angeles Sept. 4 aboard the "Monganui." His was a practically direct route by way of Tahiti, a French island, to Wellington, New Zealand. From there he went to Aukland by train arriving there on the 26th.

Gets on Job Quickly

With two detectives of Aukland, Bigham drove to Helensville and found A. B. Crouch, whom he had known for 35 years, in his land office. He made the arrest and returned to Aukland with his prisoner the same day he arrived.

The next day Crouch was taken before the master who remanded him to jail, without bail, for a week. The New Zealand courts function by weeks in such matters. The second week bail in the amount of 6,000 pounds (about $30,000) was arranged for Crouch.

Bail was refused on the third week and attorneys for Crouch carried the issue to the supreme court which upheld the lower court's decision.

The extradition papers arrived from Washington Oct. 22. The next day Crouch was again remanded to jail until Oct. 30 when the final hearing was had and the extradition granted.

In keeping with the treaty between New Zealand and the United States, the prisoner was allowed 15 days' respite in which to prepare habeas corpus proceedings or make personal arrangements for departure. No plea for habeas corpus proceedings was entered.

Returns Another Way

Sheriff Bigham and his prisoner then waited four days to catch a boat, sailing Nov. 19 on the "Orangi" a ship bound for Vancouver.

The return trip was by way of the Fiji Islands, the sheriff and his party spending a half day at Suva. There they enjoyed an automobile trip around the island, a distance of 80 miles.

Suva was three days' journey from Aukland and Honolulu was eight days from Suva. Here the party spent two nights and a day, leaving the Vancouver boat and embarking upon the "City of Honolulu" for Los Angeles. During their stay at Honolulu they made a 100-mile drive over the island.

Bigham describes it as a beautiful city and a progressive country. Pineapples and sugar cane are grown in profusion. The natives are dark like the rest of the islanders.

Natives Have Easy Life

He says the inhabitants of most of these islands have an easy life. They work very little. It means a big time when a boat lands. They get a day or two of work then, unloading and loading the vessels.

New Zealand, a British province, lying to the southeast of Australia is described by Bigham as a very progressive little country but he declares that it is the very brink of civilization.

The island is some 600 miles long and from 10 to 150 miles wide. From Aukland, New Zeland, to Sidney, Australia, is a distance of 1,200 miles.

The chief industries of New Zealand are sheep raising and dairying. There are millions of head of sheep on the hillsides, much larger than the types seen in Texas and bearing a longer staple wool. Mutton, frozen and shipped on refrigerator boats, is one of the chief exports.

The New Zealand dairymen clear the brush from the hillsides and valleys and plant improved grasses. They fertilize the grass land every two years and a farmer with 50 acres of good grass land will have 50 head of good cows on it. He says the butter they make is the finest he ever tasted.

Christmas in Summer Time

The people of New Zealand are as far south of the equator as we are north. The climate is mild and more stable than ours. There is little ice except in the extreme southern portion. The flowers are very beautiful, he says, and the hills picturesque.

Bigham arrived there in the springtime which has now merged into summer. Christmas come right in the heart of the summer season.

The population is made up of British, Scotch and Irish and the native Maoris. The country has not been settled as long as Texas. The Maoris were driven out and subdued

Tech Officials At Work On New Farming Project

Texas Committee On Study Of Electricity For Farm Considering New Experimental Farm

BY RAY CULP
Avalanche-Jurnal Staff

THE ESTABLISHMENT of an electrical test farm in the vicinity of Lubbock within the next year for research work in connection with the application of electricity and electrical appliances to dairy and poultry farming, is under consideration by the Texas committee on Relations of Electricity and Agriculture, say Deans William J. Miller, of the School of Engineering and A. H. Leidigh of the School of Agriculture of Texas Tech college.

Dean Leidigh and Dean Miller have just returned from a meeting of the committee in Dallas where the plans were discussed. This committee has 32 designated farms over the different sections of Texas which have been equipped with electricity through the cooperation of farmers, power and light companies and colleges of the state. Each of the cooperative industries have an equal number of representatives on the committee and have a full time research engineer, P. T. Montfort, at Texas A. and M. college, who is general supervisor of the work.

Deans To Supervise

The local test farm, when established, will be under the direct supervision of Deans Miller and Leidigh and the equipment will be installed upon a privately owned farm near a power line, through the cooperation of the power company, the farmer, and the local college men.

With the great era of development that is being experienced on the Plains by poultry and dairy farms, a test farm of this sort will be of great benefit in experimental work with the application of electricity to these phases of the farming industry. Miller and Leidigh believe. They believe that the equipment of farms, especially dairy and poultry farms, of this section with electrical conveniences will not only prove profitable from an economic standpoint but will make farm life more attractive.

There are about 6,000 farms in Texas now supplied with electrical equipment at practically the same cost as it is supplied to city homes, according to a recent report of Mr. Montfort, the research engineer of the committee. Electricity is used in the farm homes for heating, lighting, cooking, etc., in connection with the dairies for power milking, milk refrigeration and cooling; and for lighting and heating poultry houses for increased egg production.

"It is Better to Have it and Not Need It Than to Need It and Not Have It"

The Citizenship of Lubbock have again demonstrated that spirit by which "Cities are Made" in so wonderfully taking care of the needs of its charitable institutions.

And it brings forcefully to mink the duty one owes to their families to provide in ADVANCE OF NEED a last resting place to those near and dear to them in a quiet, dignified PERPETUALLY CARED FOR cemetery.

MEMORIAL BURIAL PARK offers for a limited time at prices never before duplicated in a cemetery of this character four burial estates as low as seventy-five Dollars, these prices will never again be available to you and an early choice assures you the best selection as to location.

Call our office for appointment. We will take pleasure in showing you Memorial Park. Our cars are at your service with no obligation. Or see our Mr. Brodie at the Park office.

Amarillo Builder Relates Experience

"Orgatone Has Helped Me To Get Over The 'Flu' And I Feel Fine Now," Says Cantrell

"Remarkable indeed," was the statement made by B. A. Cantrell of 317 N. Rusk, Amarillo, Texas, while at home talking with the Orgatone representative.

"I was tired and run-down all the time," he continued, "and never had any pep or energy at all. I suffered with a very chronic case of constipation and never found anything that would do me any good, and I was forced to take strong laxatives all the time. I was nervous and restless, and would have dizzy spells at times. I was in a very run-down condition, and knew that I needed something to build me up."

"And in this condition I took the 'flu' and everyone was talking about Orgatone and I read so much about it, I decided to take a bottle and see how it would work in my case. It certainly did what they said it would. Before taking Orgatone I hated to get up in the mornings because I was just as tired and worn out as when I went to bed, but now I wake up feeling refreshed and ready for a good day's work. My constipation is a thing of the past now, and I am gaining and getting stronger every day. It has helped me to get on my feet and to get rid of the flu effects. Orgatone has certainly toned my entire system. I think it is a fine medicine and I shall always speak a good word for it."

Genuine Orgatone may be obtained in Lubbock at Bowen's Drug Store. Adv.

Women Help Select Automobile Styles; Committee Of Noted Feminine Artists Gives Body Designers New Viewpoint On Latest Style Trends In Motor Cars

By ISRAEL KLEIN
Science Editor, NEA Service

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Realizing that women today are buying most of the automobiles in America, one of the largest automobile manufacturers has turned to women to ascertain exactly what they want in motor cars.

Present Studebaker models, as a consequence, bear the marks of the feminine touch of six distinguished women artists, designers and decorators.

They served as a style committee to develop and pass judgment on color harmonies, appointment styles, upholstery fabrics and general body design and co-operated with the regular designing department of the company.

Leaders in Design

The committee consisted of: Helen Dryden, artist, interior decorator and designer; Neysa McMein, artist and illustrator; Marjon Taylor, style consultant and merchandise counsellor; Rose O'Neill, originator of the "Kewpie" doll, author and sculptor; Marjorie Oelrichs, society's consultant on interior decoration; and Mrs. Lee Simonson, internationally known artist and designer.

Miss Taylor, who has years of experience in discovering what women want in style and color, probably expresses the view of the committee in detailing the woman's point of view toward motor cars.

"There is no one general type of design for an automobile that could be said to be uppermost in the minds of women," she says, "most likely because women themselves are divided into two major groups. There is the sophisticated city woman, as opposed to the rest of the field.

Eye for Town Car

"By the sophisticated city woman I mean not only the New Yorker, but any woman who feels at home just as much in San Francisco and New Orleans as she would on Broadway. Yet this woman's taste runs to two types of automobiles. These are the smart town car and the sports car for the country.

"I have observed that the town car is becoming more and more conservative. It has today an elegance that ends to hark back to the old coach days. It is simple in design and its color is apt to be dark blue, or dark green, or even a rich wine color, as well as black.

"What makes the town car elegant in appearance is its line and its finish. The town car doesn't change in style, either. The only changes that can be made in it are in its details, its appointments. Correctness is a necessity in this type."

Miss Taylor is discussing the preferences of the well-to-do sophisticated city woman, who can afford a high priced town car as only part of her automotive "stable." But she also explains that as this particular type of woman goes, so goes the general field of womanhood.

"The woman who isn't wealthy enough to own a town car," she said, "wants whatever type of car she can afford to buy to look as much like the town car as possible."

When the sophisticated woman drives out into the country, however, she must have a car that will conform with her mood and dress as she goes out to golf or to the races.

"Then, the smart woman wears bright colors," Miss Taylor explains. "She puts on a gay tweed dress, wears brogues and jams her hat down smartly on her head. In that mood, therefore, she wants a car to suit her—one that has swank and dash and is quite the opposite of the sedate town car."

A NEW SUPER-AUTOMATIC KELVINATOR

A Small Down Sum

No further payments until April 1 delivers Kelvinator for Christmas

Here's the greatest surprise and convenience of all. For a modest down payment—merely enough to cover cost of installation—you may begin to enjoy Kelvinator's priceless advantages on Christmas Day.

And your first monthly payment will not be due until April 1, 1930. You have probably planned to own a new Super-Automatic Kelvinator in the Spring. Why not decide to own it now, and solve, at the same time, the most perplexing of your Christmas problems?

That all-embracing gift you have sought for your family—one that brings health, happiness and good cheer the year around—is now on display at our showrooms.

Brilliant new product of the oldest experience in electric refrigeration, the new Super-Automatic Kelvinator entirely revises all previous standards of automatic refrigerating service.

Three amazing conveniences in one—the world's fastest automatic freezing of ice cubes and desserts, separately controlled cold for food compartments—and in larger models, a cold storage chamber where perishable foods can be kept indefinitely.

No electric refrigerator has ever before offered this correct balance of perfect automatic refrigeration. And Kelvinator embodies this service in all-metal cabinets of surpassing beauty, with porcelain-lined interiors and massive hardware of artistic design.

With all their improvements in fully-automatic operation, record fast freezing and far finer cabinet construction, the new Kelvinators are most moderately priced. Twelve sizes and types from which to choose, many with new electrically lighted interiors. See them today and compare their exclusive features with any electric refrigerator you have ever known.

Why You Should Vote For Paving Bonds. Read the Facts. Vote Dec. 17

Lubbock County will vote for Paved Roads next Tuesday. We will take our rightful place in the ranks of other leading counties. The only opposition, headed by M. G. Abernathy, is based on the desire to get a State Highway running through some 700 acres of land owned by the Abernathy interests. In his advertisement he stated that he was willing to support the Bonds if the Routing was left up in the air! We all know that he would be out working for the Bonds if the Highway ran through his lands!

The Lubbock County Good Roads Association is not actuated by any personal gain. We are not trying to butter Mr. Abernathy's bread, neither are we trying to take anything from him. We have in mind only the Greatest Good to all the people. We ask every voter to take this same attitude.

Every Newspaper in Lubbock County is for the Bonds!
Practically every Bank in Lubbock County is for the Bonds!
Nearly every Merchant and Successful Farmer is for the Bonds!
We ask you to read the following Facts, ponder well and Vote Wisely.
DO THIS AND LUBBOCK COUNTY IS FOREVER OUT OF THE MUD!
Read each Question and Answer:

Every Bank In Lubbock County Endorse The Bonds!

The Slaton Banks, represented by J. H. Brewer, President of First State and W. E. Olive, V. President of Slaton State Bank in a joint statement say: "We heartily endorse present Good Roads Bonds. We think the proposel plan is a well balanced one for the entire county and we are especially pleased with the fact that the Bond Petition provided specifically that the Highways shall be paved by Idalou, Woodrow and Slaton. The Highways all center in Lubbock the center of the county. This plan guarantees that the roads, when paved will serve all the towns of the county as they do at present.

We are highly pleased with the fact that the average farmer will not pay over $5.76 a year on a 160 acre farm. We confidently believe the Bonds will carry in Slaton by 3 to 1.

Respectfully,

J. H. Brewer, Pres. 1st State Bank
W. E. Olive, V-Pres. Slaton State Bank

C. E. Maedgen,

of the Lubbodk National Bank

I have read the advertisement in the Avalanche stating the objections of Mr. Abernathy and others, and feel that it is the duty of every citizen of Lubbock county, who has the real interest of the entire county at heart to carefully weigh both sides of the Bond Issue.

We are all agreed that Lubbock county needs Paved Roads. These roads cannot run by every farm in the county. Their location is in the hands of the state highway department and we know that the Department will locate them to the best advantage possible of the citizens of this county.

The State Highway Engineer has figured that Paved Roads in Lubbock county will cost not more than $2.10 per square yard. The Hale county contracts were let at $1.95 and $2.00 per square yard. We have a possible saving of $0.15 per square yard. This proves that the Bond Issue has a margin of safety.

Lubbock county is getting State and Federal aid, or $2.00 for each $1.00 we vote, on approximately 75 miles of highway. We get dollar fir dollar on the remeander. This means that we get around $2,500,000 of highways for the small sum of $991,000. I do not believe that we can make a mistake in accepting this situation and voting the Bonds.

I have studied the bond proposition from every angle and wish to inform my friends that I shall vote for the Bonds, believing that in so doing that I am doing the best for Lubbock county as a whole.

Yours very truly,

C. E. MAEDGEN,
President Lubbock National Bank.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q. How much is the Bond Issue?
A. $991,000.00
Q. Is this enough money?
A. Yes. Our Roads are figured at a cost of $2.10 per square yard. This is for Concrete Highways. The Roads in Hale County were let on bids of $1.95 and $2.00 per square yard. We should have money left over.
Q. What part of the cost does Lubbock County Pay?
A. One-third on Highways 7 and 9 and 53 East, and one-half on 53 West. We get approximately $2,700,000 of Roads for our $991,000. This is a bargain and is due to fact that Federal aid is given.
Q. Which Roads will be paved?
A. No's 7, 9 and 53 entirely through the County. Almost 100 miles.
Q. Will Highways go to Slaton, Idalou, Woodrow?
A. Yes. Petition and Bonds call for all these Points.
Q. Will Highway No. 53 go out Broadway to Idalou or out through North Ave. H to Idalou?
A. This is for the Highway Department to decide. WE DO NOT CARE WHICH WAY IT GOES. WE PROPOSE TO PAVE IT TO IDALOU REGARDLESS OF ITS ROUTING. Property owners on these Routes are still FREE to try to get Road on either way.
Q. How much will the Bonds cost in Additional Taxes?
A. Thirty cents per $100. of assessed value. This is the Maximum.
Q. How much will it cost a Farmer owning a 160 acre Farm?
A. Most Farms are assessed at $12.00 per acre. Total $1,920. for 160 acres. TOTAL ADDITIONAL TAX WILL BE $5.76.
Q. How much will it cost a Home owner in Towns?
A. If the Home is assessed at say $1,500. it will cost such Home Owner the TOTAL SUM OF $4.50 per year.
Q. Is it wiser to Vote Bonds now or wait for the State to Build?
A. IT IS MUCH WISER TO VOTE THEM NOW. Reasons are—When the State begins to build at its sole cost, EVERY COUNTY in Texas will be crying for Pavement. Lubbock County could not hope to get THREE paved roads in a reasonable time, if ever. By voting the Bonds now, we get the roads and then when the State is ready they will take over our Roads, repay our money and we can retire our Bonds.
Q. Does each part of Lubbock County get a Fair Deal?
A. Yes, half of the Roads are in the East and Half in the West part of the county.
Q. Do the Citizens of Lubbock City pay a fair part of the Cost?
A. Yes—the City of Lubbock pays 65 per cent of all county taxes. The city will pay off two-thirds of the Cost of the Roads. You must admit this is fair.
Q. Who is entitled to vote on December 17?
A. Any Citizen who holds a 1928 Poll Tax and is a property owner. Or a person over 60 years of age (exempt) or any young person who became 21 years old since January 1, 1928, is also exempt from Poll Tax receipt.
Q. Must a Voter be a Taxpayer and Property owner?
A. Voter must own some kind of Property-Real Estate, Notes, Musical Instruments, Jewelry or Household Goods. These need not be assessed now or later. Ownership qualifies the voter.
Q. Do the County Commissioners favor this Bond Issue?
A. The Commissioners' Court Voted unanimously for the Bond Election. Leading business men of Idalou, Slaton, Shallowater, Woodrow and Lubbock are working in perfect Harmony for the passage of the Bonds.
Q. How much will Paved Roads save a Motorist over Dirt Roads?
A. The Iowa State College, an authority, says that the Total savings is 3 and 3-10 cents per mile. Counting every cost. If you travel as little as 2,000 miles a year on our Paved Roads you will save the sum of $6.60. We have shown that the cost to the Farmer is $5.76 and to Home Owner is $4.50. You can readily see that such owners will have a profit on the road bonds out of savings. Then think of the convenience of Paved Roads and the additional value to the County. These are almost beyond estimating.

Read What The Bankers Think Of These Bonds!

The Idalou Banker Says:

I want to add my endorsement to the Good Roads Bond program as sponsored by the Good Road's Association. We, who live in Ialou are anxious for Paved Roads, and since this bond issue provides and the County Commissioners assure that Idalou is geing served. we are heartily for these bonds and hope to see them carry. We are not particularly interested in the routes from Lubbock to Idalou.

W. L. BRADLEY, President,
Security State Bank, Idalou, Texas.

O. L. Slaton

President, First National Bank, Lubbock

Shall we vote $991,000 for paving three important highways through Lubbock county? That is the question that interests every tax payer in this county. It is a qcestion that I am often asked. I want to say to my friends, that I have given the subject, costs and benefits, considerable study and that I am of the firm opinion that these Bonds are for the best interest of Lubbock county and I shall vote for them.

Every citizen should keep in mind that we are getting almost 100 miles of Paved Highways at a cost of around $10,000 per mile. That is a rare bargain in our county and is possible by reason of the fact that the State and Federal Governments pay two-thirds of the cost on about 75 miles.

I hope to see the Bonds carry by a large majority.

Q. L. SLATON,
President First National Bank.

W. O. Stevens

Vice President Citizens National, Lubbock

On next Tuesday, the voters of Lubbock county will vote for or against a Paving Bond of $991,000 for three highways, nearly 100 miles, for Lubbock county, Texas.

I have been asked by many friends as to how I will vote on the subject.

I have carefully studied the Bond benefits, have considered the cost and it gives me a great deal of pleasure to state that I will vote for the Bonds. It is my opinion that their passage will be for the very best interest of Lubbock county.

Of course the location of some of the roads will not please every one. No Bond election was ever unanimous, but it seems to me that the present bond issue is the fairest, cheapest and best that we have ever had.

W. O. STEVENS,
Vice President, Citizens National Bank.

Mr. Voter—we have tried to give you all the facts. We are not actuated by any desire of personal gain. We have no desire to mislead or befog. These Bonds are for the BEST INTEREST OF LUBBOCK COUNTY AS A WHOLE. The cost is nominal.

WE URGE EVERY LOYAL, PROGRESSIVE CITIZEN TO VOTE YES ON DECEMBER 17. Not only Vote—but see that your neighbor Votes.

RMEMBER THE DATE DEC. 17 AND VOTE FOR THE BONDS.

"Why Bring That Up," With Two Black Crows, Starts Today

Comedy Pair Will Make Film Debut With New Talkie

Moran And Mack At Best On Screen Here Today

MORAN and Mack, the Two Black Crows, now add to their phonograph and radio fame by making their first screen appearance in Paramount's all talking comedy "Why Bring That Up?" a rapid fire story of the vaudeville stage introducing many of the numbers that they have recorded. In addition to these they present many new Moranisms and Mackites.

"Why Bring That Up" is from an original story by Octavus Roy Cohen, the famous author of negro stories.

In the picture you see Moran meeting Mack, the forming of the famous team—their struggle for recognition and you climb with them to success. They show you just how they make up their funny patter and best of all you see them in real life as well as black face, doing their rib-cracking dialect.

Moran and Mack, the two Black Crows, have the backing of an elaborate musical show, in the final scenes of their opus. A dazzling array of stage talent! "Why Bring That up?" is real, you fairly feel every situation and they are all of such character, just like their records that a child of eight years can fully understand.

"Why Bring That Up," is the all talking feature at the Lindsey Theatre, starting today. In the cast are also Evelyn Brent and Harry Green.

Tuning in on the Talkies

WILL this "glorifying" never end? The obliging ladies of the chorus having gone the limit on external disclosures, "The Heart of a Follies Girl" is now on view.

"Hold Your Horses" was filmed in an era when there were horses to hold.

"Love, Honor and Behave" exacts more than the usual "one thing at a time" the average man is able to accomplish.

Jacqueline Logan

"The Crash" may often be attributed to "The Careless Age."

"The Lady Who Lied" has been preserved in film records for the benefit of posterity.

While horses, dogs, wives and moustaches are barred from West Point, Rin Tin Tin crashes the gate because he is an actor.

"Heaven on Earth" has finally been attained. But it is only in a film title.

Here's some bad news for "Peeping Toms." "Lady Godiva" was filmed before screen queens bobbed their hair.

For "Double Feature" Day
"Eve's Leaves."
"Hold Everything."

Making allowance for good intentions, the music of some theme songs is not as bad as it sounds.

Joan Bennett, daughter of Richard Bennett, star of "The Home Towners," has followed her father into Warner Bros.' pictures. She is leading woman for George Arliss in "Disraeli."

"Obey Your Husband" is the title of a dumb picture, made in other days.

When "The Big Butter and Egg Man" falls victim to "Gold Diggers of Broadway" sympathy retires to the side lines.

"The Divine Lady" need not of necessity be a minister's wife.

"The Isle of Escape" is that home daze in the middle of the street where leaping pedestrians are supposed to be safe.

"Man's Plaything" is that mechanical toy Dad has arranged with Santa Claus to bring to "Sonny Boy."

Evelyn Brent To Be Seen Here In 'Darkened Rooms'

Picture Is Taken From Serial Of Philip Gibbs

Evelyn Brent, one of the best-known actresses on the talking screen, has been elevated to stardom by Paramount, and her first picture under her new glorification "Darkened Rooms," will be seen and heard at the Palace Theatre today for a four-day run.

"Darkened Rooms" is based on the Cosmopolitan Magazine serial of the same name by Sir Philip Gibbs. It deal with the evils resulting from fake spiritualistic practises.

Miss Brent appears in the dramatic role of the medium for Neil Hamilton, practician in the occult. She sees the hypocrisy of his "game" and tries to persuade him to give up this false life. Hamilton is resolved to continue his "racket" with its choice reeenues gained by fleecing wealthy clients. Miss Brent, however, by some neat trickery of her own, manages to bring him to his senses.

Gripping Mystery

The picture is filled with gripping mystery and there are many tense and exciting moments.

Excellent support is given Miss Brent by Hamilton, David Newell and Doris Hill.

Miss Brent has well deserved her rise to the heights of stardom. She has reached achievement through hard work and an undying ambition to be at the top. Among her earlier silent films are "Love 'Em and Leave 'Em," "The Last Command" (in support of Emil Jannings), and "Underworld." Her all-talking successes were "Interference," "Why Bring That Up?" "Fast Company" and "Woman Trap."

'Nobody' Respected

Property Is Held For Owner

LONDON, Dec. 14. (AP)—"Nobody" has property rights that are respected in England.

Every now and then the efforts of county authorities to acquire a piece of land for public purposes disclose that the land is owned by "nobody."

Two plots near Hampton Court recently were discovered to be such "no man's land" when the Surrey county council tried to buy them, and similar cases have turned up in the older and poorer parts of London.

The usual procedure is to have such land valued by a disinterested person and the money paid into court by the county council or incorporated town. Then if "nobody" ever shows up he can collect his money, knowing that his rights were looked after while he was gone.

Clive Brook Will Show As Sherlock Holmes At Palace

Man-Hunt Picture To Start Here On Thursday

A notable cast has been selected to present Sherlock Holmes, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's famous fiction detective, to the motion picture public in the all-talking feature, "The Return of Sherlock Holmes," at the Palace theatre, starting Thursday.

Clive Brook has the role of Sherlock Holmes, master man-hunter of all time. H. Reeves-Smith plays the part of Dr. Watson, his faithful confident. Prof. Moriarty will be seen in the person of Harry T. Morey well known for past villainry. Sergeant Gripper will be faithfully portrayed by Hubert Druce. And then there are a host of other characters well known to the readers of these popular stories.

Brings to Justice

"The Return of Sherlock Holmes" brings this famous sleuth to the United States for the first time. The reason for his leaving the retired life, is the murder of his faithful friend, Captain Longmore on the eve of his son's wedding to the daughter of Dr. Watson. Holmes tracks the fiends to New York and succeeds in bringing them to justice after a series of the most thrilling adventures he has ever encountered.

Lon Chaney Will Be Seen At Lyric

"Where East Is East" Starts Here Today

Grim jungle wilderesses, desperate adventure and battles with wild beasts, the exotic and bizarre surroundings of an Oriental Paradise—these are the background for "Where East Is East, starting today at the Lyric Theatre, one of the most remarkable adventure-mystery dramas in Lon Chaney's career.

In this new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, Chaney departs radically from his usual type of role. He plays an adventurer, a fellow harmless enough himself, though engaged in the most dangerous business one could imagine, but who, when faced by necessity, turns to one of the deadliest menaces a screen character has ever portrayed. There is much of human psychology in his story of "Tiger" Haynes—and it is terrible drama, from the moment the safety of his daughter's happiness goads him to a fantastic murder. But that's telling the plot—and it's too good to tell before it's seen on the screen.

Chaney's role is that of an adventurous jungle trapper of elephants, tigers and leopards. He is covered with scars from desperate encounters, and lives in a little paradise in the wilderness, with his half native daughter, a role played with fiery intensity by Lupe Velez.

'Conquest' Shows Monte Blue Star Of Polar Flight

Exploration Film Starts Thursday At Lindsey

Intent upon picturing one of the most startling of current daredevil exploits—South Pole exploration—Warner Bros. concentrated a copious share of their energy upon making the aviation special, "Conquest," which comes to the Lindsey Theatre next Thursday.

"Conquest" is a romantic modern story which has the aerial exploration of the wastes surrounding the South Pole as its background. Its production at the time when two separate air explorations of this area are actually under way gives "Conquest" a timely note that promises a really tremendous film production.

Cast Remarkable

Warner Bros. have assembled a remarkable cast for "Conquest"—Monte Blue starring, H. B. Warner featured, Lois Wilson playing the leading feminine role and Edmund Breese and Tully Marshall appearing prominently. Blue and Warner are cast as aviators who make two daring attempts to reach the South Pole—their love for the same girl injecting bitter personal conflict.

Albatross, the largest monoplane in the United States, and the ship which twice attempted to set endurance marks, is used for the air scenes. The ship was fitted for her part in the film under the supervision of Lieutenant James E. Dyer, U. S. N., who has been retained as technical adviser by Warner Bros.

The brilliant special production "Conquest" is based on "The Candle in the Wind" by Mary Imlay Taylor. Eve Unsell did the adaptation and C. Graham Baker the scenario. Roy Del Ruth directed.

"Boy, I'll bet you wasn't the Head Man in 'at show!"

It's a safe bet, though, that both of them are the Head Men in this, their first All-Talking, All-Laughing comedy-drama.

You've heard them on Radio and Phonograph—now you'll SEE and HEAR them on the screen. In a play that was written by Octavus Roy Cohen—a play that has everything! High-tension plot, gayety, romance, fun, pathos, and new tunes that you'll whistle whenever you remember this big thrill.

ONE MINUTE PULPIT

So he came near where I stood: and when he came, I was afraid, and fell upon my face; but he said unto me, Understand, O son of man; for at the time of the end shall be the vision.—Daniel viii, 17.

CITY PLANS AND POCKETBOOKS

ECONOMY in the use of the tax dollar is a fundamental virtue of good city planning.

The city going more or less hit-and-miss, with all sorts of agencies affecting its layout and improvements, is bound, at some time to make mistakes in size, location or type of public improvements. This can be no fault of any official or any administration. Each administration is elected to administer the town during the time they are in office; and with slight variation officials do a right good job. But their work for which they are elected is running the machinery placed in their hands; work largely in administrative duties. Even should one administration undertake to work out good plans for the future, the political complexion might change and all the effort and value in these plans be discarded.

A city plan, thoroughly worked out and officially adopted is a community guide to future development. Because it is studied, because it is inclusive, giving consideration to all phases of civic development at once and co-ordinating that development, it is a far more balanced, basically sound program than can be worked out piecemeal.

Lubbock's drive toward a sound city plan is a drive toward better use of the tax dollar spent in public improvements; is the best obtainable guarantee that funds put into improvements will be giving full value over a long time; and such a plan will be one of the best tools obtainable by good public officials in their efforts to keep Lubbock pushing ahead in sound, progressive channels.

TREES FOR TOMORROW

"Who plants a tree, loves posterity."

The trees we see about us were not planted by this generation, but by the unselfish ones who lived and wrought yesterday. They did not live to enjoy the shades of the trees they planted; they looked ahead to the days to come when some one else would be thankful for another's thoughtfulness. They planted trees that would bless some other pilgrim on life's dusty highway.

It is a compensation that comes with maturity that people are not so much interested in demanding immediate results as from the long look that comes at the top of the hill. Contentment comes with placing a bench here and there along the way for the tired wayfarer, or planting a tree to bring comfort and delight to posterity.

Human nature, after all, is a lovable thing, and in its development are some of the beauties that are akin to divinity.

The season is late for planting trees, but the spirit that prompts this arboreal giving can be given full play in the exchange of the season's greetings, for are not Christmas cards and gifts mediums for the expression of kindly sentiments and for the conveyance of happiness to others?

CZARING UP AMERICA

America has the "czar fever."

There are now in the United States more "czars" than in the long succession of Russian czars. The movies started it about seven years ago when Will Hays was coaxed out of the Harding cabinet by the offer of a $100,000 salary. Then came baseball's "czar," Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis. "Big Bill" Edwards is professional football's "czar." The "czar" of prohibition enforcement has his place in Washington. The textile industry has its "czar" and the oil industry is hunting one to stop wild-catting and overproduction.

It won't be long until the American people are divided into "czars" and "non-czars." There may have to be a national association of "super-czars," with a "czarist" lobby and an interstate "czar" committee to control "czarism." Then when any trouble comes it will only be necessary to "tell it to the czar."

Perhaps, if the lobbyist had had a "czar" of their own they could have avoided the unpleasant publicity recently given their activities by the senate. "Czar" Hays did it for the movies. This suggests a "czar" for the United States senate. An excellent suggestion!

"WORK"

President Hoover made a fine gospel of a grand word recently. To overcome the effects of the recent collapse of security values, to upbuild on solid lines, to achieve the right national psychology, in the national sense to be healthy, wealthy and wise—work!

Before and audience made up of business leaders from every part of the country and from every walk of life, Mr. Hoover had no desire to preach. But he thrust that "good old word" at them with splendid emphasis—work!

There are in it means to drown unhappy memories; stimulants to new achievements in fields new and fields old; sharp recall from easy roads to easy money; an entire recessional from an era of living too high on too little earned. If all work and no play make Jack a dull boy, all play and no work soon finds Jack broke. It is the sound and timely note—work!

An amateur steeple jack in the East has passed on. Next to lion taming, we can't think of a place where mediocrity shows up any quicker than steple jacking.

JAPANESE DELEGATION WILL BE MOST PEACEFUL AT NAVAL CONFERENCE

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—The Japanese delegation will be the most peaceful influence at the naval limitation conference in London next month.

All the diplomats and technical experts in Washington agree on that.

Perish the idea that the Americans and British will prove to be suspicious of one another. Still, it will be hard for them to avoid pretty frequent comparisons between their respective war fleets.

Italy is almost openly jealous of France, and, to some extent, vice versa.

The tendency on the part of these four powers' representatives will be to fix a limit that at least three of their nations will have to build up to.

Britain, being already the strongest of the four (although on a nominal parity with America) may be satisfied with her present status.

However, even that is not certain. If a race develops between the French and Italians, John Bull will have to amplify his calculations accordingly. The London admiralty never will allow itself to be outclassed in the Mediterranean.

Should England's hand be forced by Paris' fears and Rome's ambitions, Uncle Sam's hand will be forced, in turn, by British necessities.

The freedom of the seas issue may crop up at any minute as a disturbing equation. Washington diplomacy is doing its best to soft pedal it, but it will not be able to continue doing so unless the proceedings progress very harmoniously. The first suggestion of a marked increase in activity by British navy yards will start a hubbub about it.

The American, English, French and Italian conferees, then, will be doing well if they arrive at an understanding against any considerable expansion of their various sea establishments.

But the Japanese would like to see every navy in the world cut down.

It is true that her admirals admit intending to ask for a 10-10-7 naval basis instead of the existing 5-5-3 ratio; that is to say, an index figure of seven for the mikado versus ten for Great Britain and the United States, or a slightly larger proportion than was assigned to Nippon at the 1921-'22 conference in Washington.

Nevertheless, Japan is favorable to all-'round reduction; not mere limitation. She does not care if it goes far enough to make long range warfare impossible.

Of course, it would be most ungracious to imply that anything but unadulterated peace is what the Japanese are thinking about in urging this general maritime disarmament.

Just the same, anyone who will take a look at a map of the Asiatic coast, between the thirtieth and fiftieth parallels north latitude, cannot help being struck by another explanation which might weigh with them, supposing them to be actuated by motives other than those of the highest altruism.

Without a navy and a whale of a big one, how could anyone except the Japanese, the Chinese and the Russians, get into Manchuria?—this investigator would be bound to ask himself.

We have heard a good deal about Manchuria lately—and the trouble between Russia and China concerning it—and of their obvious unwillingness to get ito a real war concerning it, lest Japan jump into the rumpus and take it away from both of them.

No military man on earth doubts that the Japanese could do it—from either or both of them, put together.

They licked the Russians when they were stronger than they are now and Japan was not so strong. They licked the Chinese without half trying when the Chinese were at least as strong as they are today and not quarreling among themselves, either.

Furthermore, no one questions that the mikado wants Manchuria; also Mongolia, to the west of it—a total area a quarter as big as the United States and a large part of it mighty valuable country in spite of the Gobi desert.

Diet and Health

Medical Adviser for Central Press and The Avalanche-Journal.

DON'T SMOKE IF NURSING YOUNG BABY

Answers to Mothers

God could not be everywhere; therefore He made mothers.—Jewish Proverb.

DEAR DOCTOR: During the eighth month of my pregnancy, I had hemorrhages which came from my mouth, and my doctor seemed to think it was from my lung, but after the baby was six months old, I had an X-ray taken which showed my lungs to be sound and healthy. I was a heavy smoker before the baby came, but after the baby came I never touched a cigarette until now. Do you think I should quit smoking? The doctor says I have a bad throat, and I spit blood often. MRS. K."

You certainly were a foolish girl, Mrs. K., to start the smoking habit after stopping it for so long. Most certainly you should stop it again!

Smoking does irritate the throat, markedly, irrespective of what the ads say, and it is bad enough for those whose throats are not affected.

You are nursing your baby now, too. Another reason why you shouldn't smoke. And you shouldn't have smoked while carrying your baby, either. Although it is absurdly untrue that the babies of smoking mothers never live, there is the possibility of harm to them as well as to the mothers.

Cancer of the lip and throat is a grave thing to contemplate. Irritation from tobacco may cause it in those who are susceptible to nicotine. (Most people are, more or less.)

We have an article on the Tabocco Habit which you may have.

Mrs. DeM.—You and your husband stop worrying. Send for our article on Diet During Pregnancy and Nursing and for the list of books for mothers. Put yourself under the care of maternity doctor (obstetrician.)

Visits should be made to the physician about every three weeks up to the last month, and then every two weeks. In the meantime, should any unusual symptom arise, such as bleeding, vomiting, severe headache or pain, a report should be made to the doctor at once. Failure to notify the physician of symptoms such as these may cause the patient much unnecessary suffering, and in some cases may result in the loss of the mother or the child. (Brodhead.)

Mrs. T.—You are about 50 pounds underweight, according to the rule of allowing 110 pounds for 5 feet in height (in stocking feet) and 5 1-2 pounds for each inch over that. You must either have some condition that is sapping your strength or else you are on a very deficient diet. If the doctors have said there is no reason that they can find for your frequent miscarriages, it seems to me they might be due to your very deficient diet. We know that experimentally animals on deficient diets will have frequent miscarriages.

I do sympathize with you very much in your grief at losing your babies, and in your desire for another. I suggest you send for our pamphlet on Reducing and Gaining and follow the gaining instructions. You will also find advice that will benefit you, in our pamphlet on the Hygiene of Women and in our article on Balanced Diet.

Mrs. C.—Night terrors in children may be an indication of some physical impairment somewhere, so you should take your little girl to a baby specialist or clinic for a thorough examination. The rings under her eyes may be due to her disturbed sleep or to the physical impairment that is causing the night terrors.

The 1929 Yule Log

Today's Poem

"TRUTH DOTH TRUTH RESERVE"
(From "The Arcadia")

Who doth desire that chaste his wife should be,
First be he true, for truth doth truth deserve:
Then such be he as she his worth
may see,
And one man still credit with her preserve.
Not toying kind, nor causelessly
unkind;
Not stirring thoughts, nor yet denying right;
Not spying faults nor in plain errors blind;
Never hard hand, nor ever reins too light.
As far from want, as far from vain expense
(The one doth force; the latter doth entice);
Allow good company, but keep from thence
All filthy mouths that glory in their vice.
This done, thou hast no more, but leave the rest
To virtue, fortune, time and woman's breast.
—Phillip Sydney (1554-1586)

CLIMBS HILL

One of the most impressive hill climbing performances we have seen recently was turned in by a Hupmobile light six last week, driven by S. D. Hunter, local agent. Driving a light six sedan, the Hupmobile dealer started the machine at the foot of the canyon hill east of the city in high, held the car at five miles an hour and topped the hill without an effort. Not only did the car demonstrate power to burn but its handling ease is remarkable. A ride in one of these cars is a revelation to one who is not acquainted with the ability of a Hupmobile.

On the Fence with The Seer

The fable about the hen that laid the Golden Egg must have originated about Christmas time.

The dentist who paved his garage walk with extracted teeth did something gnashingly clever, you might say.

The rumor that Chicago mothers send their children to bed with the remark, "Now dear, go in and shoot your father good night," could apply it to the country as a whole.

They say you can buy a set of French dishes for three cents. Rather nice for the high-tempered wives.

It is reported that thousands of dog skins have been shipped from China this year. They must have skinned some of those rebellious generals.

* * *

The Seer notices where some fellow in Colorado grew an onion weighing four pounds. A person coulud cry himself to death over a thing like that.

CATCH GERMAN AIR THIEF

BERLIN, (AP)—The man who is believed to have stolen paintings valued at $25,000 from an art dealer at Leipzig recently has been arrested here. In his possession was found one of the missing Rubens and a Tischbein portrait. Another of the stolen Rubens and a painting by Feuerbach have not been recovered.

GREEK ARMY CALLS EMIGRES

NASSAU, Bahamas, (AP)—The Greek consul here, J. T. Mangos, has issued an imperative order received from the legation de Grece, notifying all Greek naval recruits belonging to the first section of the 1929 conscription that they must join their colors not later than November 10.

One juror went on a hunger strike and others protested at prospect of being locked up for a week, in Atlanta, Ga. A mistrial was declared.

The Avenging Parrot

©1929 by NEA Service, Inc.

By Anna Austin, author of "The Black Pigeon," "Rival Wives" etc.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

MRS EMMA HOGARTH, who lived in MRS RHODES' boarding house, is strangled to death between 11:45 and 12:15 Saturday night, June 29. Assisting LIEUT. STRAWN in the investigation is BONNIE DUNDEE, "cub" detective. EMIL SEVIER, former boarder, whom Mrs. Hogarth accused of trying to rob her, is sought.

CORA BARKER, theater pianist, thought to have had an affair with Sevier, is arrested as a material witness. Other boarder suspects are: HENRY DOWD, NORMA PAIGE, WALTER STYLES, who had quarreled with Mrs. Hogarth; BERT MAGNUS, amateur scenario writer, and DAISY SHEPHERD.

Bonnie learns from papers in Mrs. Hogarth's trunk that the SALLY GRAVES who wrote her once a month was her daughter, and that she lived in dread of being found by DAN GRIFFIN, Sally's husband. Recalling the mysterious details of Sally's murder in New York, June 2, Dundee concludes Griffin murdered both women and that he is now or has been a boarder in the Rhodes house.

Dundee is excited over his find of an old envelope with Dowd's name on it, which had contained a rail ticket, showing he left New York June 3. Sevier, captured by police, insists he did not murder Mrs. Hogarth and implicates Cora. Dundee goes for Cora who is to confront Sevier. His rap at her door is followed by a sinister silence.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXVII

"Steady, boy!" Police Commissioner O'Brien warned, as his white-faced nephew opened the door to him and Sergeant Turner 10 minutes later, then stood clinging to the knob, his body swaying drunkenly. "Can't have you keeling over before Dr. Price gets here. He's on the way. This is tough on you, I know—but all in a day's work for a detective."

"I know." Dundee wiped a new string of icy sweat beads from his forehead and stood aside, to let the newcomers see the ghastly sight upon which his own eyes had rested when he had forced his way into Cora Barker's room.

"Have you touched the body?" Sergeant Turner demanded briskly.

"No." Dundee pressed his knuckles against his mouth to still the quivering of his lips. "I wanted to lift her back into her bed, but—Payne reminded me. She's just as we found her."

"Good!" Turner, followed by O'Brien, stepped to the cast window of the room and knelt beside the huddled body on the floor. "Good Lord! Strangled with her own braids! That's a new one on me . . . Pretty clever! There'll be no fingerprints on her throat. Sevier's a handy bird, isn't he? Doesn't take the trouble to provide a weapon in advance; just uses anything that will serve the purpose . . . . Poor old girl!"

Sergeant Turner's casual sympathy made Bonnie Dundee clench his fists in boyish rage. Poor old girl, indeed! Why, that was Cora Barker there on the floor! Cora whom he had eaten with, to whose playing he had danced; Cora whose face a few hours before had seen light up with the glory of triumphant love. Poor, passionate, love-greedy Cora. And poor Bert Magnus! A new wave of nausea swept over Dundee when he thought of Bert's being told. The one beautiful thing that had come out of the Hogarth tragedy—the drawing together of Bert and Cora in a love founded on sympathy and faith—was murdered now, too.

Sergeant Turner rose and stepped aside, and again Dundee's eyes took in the whole horrible picture before he could wrench them away. Cora had gone to the window—and to her death—clad only in a thin yellow silk nightgown. Undoubtedly her murderer had called her to the widow, and she had sprung from her bed—which had been slept in—without taking time to drape herself in the kimono which hung on a chair. Had gone to that window with her long braids of black hair swinging over her shoulders. Had her murderer counted on that very thing? Had he known that Cora would come to him, unconsciously offering a perfect means of strangulation? Or had the murder been unpremeditated?

At any event the long braids had been crossed in the back, drawn around and tied beneath her chin in a single knot. The wiriness of the hair had loosened the knot now, but the hands of the murderer had held fast to the ends of the braids until life had been extinguished.

Dundee drew a shuddering breath. He was glad the poor, discolored face was bowed down upon the grotesquely sprawled knees, so that he could not see it in all its horror.

"She's been dead for hours," he heard Sergeant Turner saying to Commissioner O'Brien. "Rigor mortis has already set in. I think it will be better for us to get the body to the morgue before we rouse the whole house, don't you, Commissioner?"

"Yes, by all means. Warn the boys to keep a sharp watch over the boarders' rooms, but not to answer any questions. You've got three men on the grounds, haven't you?"

"Four," Turer answered. "Routine precaution. They won't find anything, unless it's another Cuban cigaret stub. We've got our man already. I guess Patrolman Callahan will rate a promotion out of this night's work, Commissioner."

He left the room, carefully and noiselessly closing the door behind him, to give the necessary instructions to the silent men posted in the downstairs and upstairs halls. In the brief moment while the door was open there was no sound of any disturbance. Apparently none of the sleeping boarders had been aroused by the quiet entry of the police upon the scene of the new tragedy.

When he returned Dr. Price, the coroner, was with him.

"Nobody's awake yet, but Mrs. Rhodes, and I aroused her myself to break the news," Sergeant Turner announced in a low voice. "You came on the ambulance, didn't you, Doctor?"

"Yes. You want to get the body away as soon as possible, I suppose," the coroner answered, as he knelt beside the body of Cora Barker.

As if through a deafening fog Dundee heard the doctor's brisk comments as he made his examination:

"Death due to strangulation . . . No fingerprints on the throat . . Marks where the braids cut into the skin . . . It was no weakling that tied this knot, Commissioner."

"How long has she been dead?" Turner asked.

"Hmm. A little hard to tell. Rigor mortis has set in, but in some cases that happens more quickly than in others. But—at least three or four hours, I should say. I'll try to give you a more exact answer after I perform the autopsy — condition of stomach contents, etc. I'll call the boys now. I've arranged a signal, to keep things as quiet as possible," and he went to the front window, stepped out upon the porch, and waved his handkerchief to the waiting ambulance below.

"This seems to be a pretty decent bunch of people, and since it's your home, temporarily at least, I want to spare the house as much of the horror as I can," O'Brien explained to his nephew.

"That's decent of you, Uncle Pat," Bonnie Dundee thanked him.

As silently as if they were paying tribute to the dead, the ambulance attendants came up the stairs and entered the room, carrying the stretcher on which Cora's body would be borne away. Sergeant Turner listened anxiously at the door, but the house was still sleeping apparently.

"Let me help!" Dundee begged, as the white-jacketed men bent over the dead woman. For suddenly he could not bear the thought that only uncaring, alien hands should touch her. He sprang to the chair across which her kimona hung, then rejected the garment when he saw that it was an old slightly soiled one. Cora would have a better one, he knew—and he found it in her closet.

There were tears in his eyes as he draped the pretty negligee of orchid chiffon and ostrich feathers about the poor, rigid shoulders. And regardless of onlookers he stooped and laid his lips lightly against the stiffening, thin, dry-skinned hand which had aroused his compassion when Cora Barker was alive. He stood aside then as the body was lifted to the stretcher, and was about to turn his face away when his eyes telegraphed an amazing message to his brain.

"Look, Dr. Price!" he called urgently. "Did you notice this? Her mouth is bruised. . . Please may I?" and he gently lifted the discolored upper lip, turned it back till it touched the nose. "Dr. Price, her lips have been pressed so hard against her teeth that the print shows plainly. See?"

"You're right," Dr. Price said slowly, as he bent to examine both lips. "But I don't quite understand—"

"I do!" Dundee cried in a choking voice. "Don't you see—Uncle Pat, Sergeant Turner? Cora Barker was killed with a kiss!"

"What do you mean?" Sergeant Turner demanded incredulously.

"Oh, can't you see? I thought it was odd that she could be strangled to death without making sufficient outcry to awaken anyone. Bert Magnus' room is the nearest, and yet he evidently heard nothing, or he would have investigated, and—and found her like this. I'm glad he didn't. Thank God for that, at least. He was in love with her—was going to marry her, I think, when the Hogarth case was settled."

"Steady, boy!" O'Brien warned. "You're getting as hysterical as a woman. Tell us quietly just what you mean."

"I mean," Dundee forced himself to speak in a calmer, lower voice, "that whoever murdered Cora Barker strangled her while she was being kissed. The man pressed his mouth so tightly against hers that she could not cry out when he tied the braids of her hair . . Can't you see it all? He was so well known to Cora that when he called to her from the porch in a low voice she came instantly, recognizing him, of course.

"Maybe they talked a bit first—I don't know, but he certainly made love to her, played with her hair. Maybe he remarked on how long the braids were. I can hear him saying: "Why, they come clear to your waist, even when they're crossed in the back,' and he crossed them in the back to prove it. Crossed them to make strangulation possible. Then he brought the crossed braids over her shoulders, and, while kissing her, suddenly tied them and drew the ends so tightly that she was strangled—his lips still on hers."

"My God!" Commissioner O'Brien breathed, and turned sharply away.

"What a newspaper story this is going to make!" Sergeant Turner commented with morbid satisfaction. "Emil Sevier will sure go down in history as the most cold-blooded murdered this state has ever had . . . Still want him to have plenty of ice water and an electric fan, Dundee—instead of the had old third degree?" he added tauntingly.

The boy whitened to the lips, then he hung up his head. "I suppose you're right, and I was a credulous fool, Sergeant Turner. But if Sevier did this I'd like to put the thumb screws on him myself."

"Good boy!" Turner applauded heartily. "Run along and do it. I'll handle the case from this end—nothing much to do anyway, I suppose, but listen to how sound asleep everybody was when Cora was being strangled. . . . What a fiend that fiddler turned out to be. Croaked her because he thought she'd told us a lot more than she had—"

"Oh possibly because he got cold feet and beat it before the money was found. Maybe she'd promised to send his share to him—" Commissioner O'Brien began to speculate, then shrugged. "Get the truth out of him this time, Bonnie lad. You've got plenty to work on, fortunately. According to Dr. Price, the woman has been dead three or four hours, which means that Sevier probably killed her just before he was picked up. He was nabbed between here and police headquarters, you know, a few minutes after 2."

"I know," Dundee agreed grimly.

So this was the solution of the Hogarth case. "And Cora had to die to convince me that I was on the wrong trail," he told himself bitterly. "Me and my 'bad penny' . . . Well, Sevier is certainly a bad enough penny. . . But why, why did Mrs. Hogarth greet a fiend like Emil Sevier in that joking way? Why didn't she scream? She wasn't killed with a kiss."

He preceded the slow-moving stretcher through the door and was halfway down the stairs when he heard a door open, then Bert Magnus' voice:

"Is anything wrong? . . . What's that? Not—oh, my God! Not Cora! Wait! For God's sake, tell me—let me see her!"

Almost in a frenzy himself, Bonnie Dundee tore on down the stairs, jerked open the door and plunged out into the gray of dawn.

Walter E. Taylor, Lubbock Man, Pens Story Of Thrilling Reconstuction Days In Texas

"The Knight Of The Dixie Wilds" Is Of Old South

RELATING his actual experiences, for the most of it, Walter E. Taylor, Lubbock man, is the author of a thrilling Texas reconstruction story, "The Knight Of The Dixie Wilds" which was just issued during the past week from the Meador Press.

Mr. Taylor, making Lubbock his home, has been at work on the book for the past several years along with two others which he will publish soon.

The author was born near Pearl River, Mississippi, before the war of '61-65.

There, in the deep forest where virgin nature smiled and sang in the spring-time; where the woodbine, wild rose and magnolia blossoms, interspersed with dark green foliage, formed one vast bouquet of the wild woods; there were Negro melodies resounded in the cotton fields from morn 'til night, he passed his early life.

Moved To Texas

From this environment and while still a boy, he moved to East Texas in 1865. Here, for four years, he served as a scout and guide for the K. K. K. in their struggle against Free-Negro domination and military-law oppression, during the dark days of Reconstruction.

He spent the next thirty years on the thinly settled borders, hunting big game and fighting cattle rustlers and other bands of outlaws.

Later he became an acknowledged authority on the unwritten history of Reconstruction in the South, and a master in hunting and woodcraft.

Gives Truth

From these back-grounds, from a wealth of experience and a fulness of life, he wrote "The Knight of the Dixie Wilds." Mr. Taylor gives the truth of Reconstruction in the form of an adventure-romantic true story from the facts as he experienced them in his most extraordinary life.

"The Knight of the Dixie Wilds" will make for a better understanding between the States where improvement is possible; it sets forth high ideals which will help make better citizens; it provides the most entertaining and best written romance that has appeared in a generation, and serves up the most thrilling and exciting adventures—all the more gripping and thrilling because they are the true experiences of the author.

Pays Tribute To Dr. Hall

Paying tribute to a life-long friend, Mr. Taylor dedicated this book to the late Dr. R. J. Hall, pioneer Lubbock physician. His dedication reads:

TO MY FRIEND

who, as a boy, defied adversity, struggled through college and reached the meridian of his profession; the son of a Confederate soldier, with unshakable patriotism for his country and reverence for Christianity; my congenial and invaluable comrade in many camp hunts in the wild woods; he, whose assistance and encouragement made it possible for me to write and publish this story; to him, Doctor R. J. Hall, and the other children of Dixie, I dedicate this book.

Through a glass, blurred by the mists of time, we see the rank and file of the Northern army marching from the Southern battle fields to home and loved ones, singing songs of victory. Those left standing, are the low class of soldiers of the same army who have no welcome in their former homes and are remaining in the broken South for the purpose of adventure and plunder. Now we see them accepting commissions as military officers to lead hords of free Negro soldiers to force Southern white people into social equality with the negroes.

Lead Negro Soldiers

Later we see them leading thousands of negro soldiers wild in their first flush of freedom; see them bedecked in uniforms with brass buttons sparkling in the sunlight, marching grandly through the country, forcing defenseless white women to entertain black bestial negro men in their homes.

The scene changes. Dimly in the distance, we see crouching white forms, moving noiselessly in the semi-darkness, through the forest to meet their comrades at an appointed place, then on to destroy the black conscienceless despoilers of their wives and daughters.

Scene Changes

Again the scene changes. We see dire destitution in palatial Southern homes. Old slave lords broken in fortune and in spirit with bowed heads low in grief; sad-faced women, raised in silk robes, now scantily attired in ragged clothing, laboring at menial tasks with their tender hands.

This turn of the scroll reveals trains of ox-drawn covered wagons struggling on rugged roads, bearing ex-slave owners and their families to the unsettled forests of East Texas where they hope to escape the black scourge and the tyranny of military law. Now, appear rough log cabin in the Texas woods, occupied by the travel-worn poverty stricken refuges. The men and boys are clearing land while the women are weaving cloth and knitting socks. All are cheered with a feeling of safety and the hope of peace.

Renew Persecution

Six months later. We see that the Negro soldiers, led by white military officers have followed the unfortunate whites and renewed their persecution. The refuges hold a secret council and resolve to defend themselves at whatever cost. Now, bloody forest wars spring up, with the Boy-Knight of the Dixie Wilds leading the home-defenders.

For three years, we see the Boy-Knight scouting and routing, racing and chasing, fighting, retreating, ambushing and fighting again. We see him in his lonely camp in the Blue Jungles where he has been driven and cornered by the Negro soldiers. He escapes and we see him winning strategy and by playing on the superstition of the Negroes. He is wounded in battle, but recovers and like an unexpected storm, suddenly appears again in battle.

Finds Pretty Girl

While scouting in the swamp early one morning, he accidentally finds a pretty girl who has been chased into the Jungle by two designing Negro men and become lost. He vanquishes her pursuers, rescues the girl and sends her home to her people. Late in the afternoon, one month later, we see him in the forest with a beautiful, strange young woman who has been employed by the military officers to lure him into capture. He partly falls for her charms. Three days later, she meets him in the woods. With one arm around his neck she slyly signals with the other to a company of Negro soldiers who have been placed in ambush. They endeavor to surround him. He discovers their approach, fights his way through their lines and escapes into the Blue Jungles.

A large reward is offered by the military for his capture, alive or dead. He is betrayed by a pretended friend and captured but makes his escape before the day set for his execution.

Misled by false charges made against him by his enemies, the girl he loves throws him over. He goes west to start life over. Here, he prospers and saves money. One year later, he learns through a letter from his mother, that the girl has found out that the charges against him are false and she is pining for his return and forgiveness.

He then returns to home and happiness.

"The Knight of the Dixie Wilds" contains 280 pages, and is handsomely bound in cloth with gold lettering, $2.00.

Natives Liked to Fight

The natives are a dark hued race of large stature, but very intelligent and adaptable. Once conquered they were easily reconciled to civilization. They make progressive citizens.

They were fighters by birth and inclination. It is said that the chiefs would send out their challenges and arrange their schedules for wars like the colleges here fix their football dates.

The story is told that a tribe of Maoris allowed a British ammunition train to pass unmolested during one of the campaigns of the British government to subdue them. When asked why they failed to attack the train the chief said that they were afraid the British would not have anything to fight with if they destroyed the ammunition. They didn't want to work themselves out of a job.

The Maoris used to trench warfare similar to that of the World war in their last stand against British invasion, Sheriff Bigham saw the remains of the old trenches. The trenches would often end up in a forest and when the natives were about to be defeated they would slip off into the forest and escape.

Laws Very Strict

New Zealand was once the place of banishment of the political enemies of the British government. But despite the fact that it may have been first partially settled by criminals and political objectors the country is very peaceful now and strong on law and order.

"There are not as many murders in all New Zealand as there are in Bell county," said Sheriff Bigham. There is lots of drinking there and many get drunk. The bars called "pubs" are all connected with hotels and in some of them maids attend bar.

It is a great race horse country. The gray haired women play the races, place their bets and seem to get more kick than anybody out of the sport.

The traffic laws are very strict. You drive to the left there. The sheriff had to take out a license to drive a car and when asked if he had had his lesson, he told the clerk that he had 20 years experience. The clerk asked if he had been given the official lesson in that country. But for the intervention of the head of the department with whom Bigham had already struck up a friendship, he would have been forced to take lessons in car driving before receiving his license.

The detective making the arrest files his own case and presents it in Masters' court which corresponds in jurisdiction to our county court. No lawyer is used to prosecute before the master.

A man convicted of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor—and it's up to you to prove your innocence—has his license revoked, is given a fine of 50 pounds and a light jail sentence.

Facts About the Country

Other facts about New Zealand as reported by Sheriff Bigham are:

The government is building a system of tarvia topped, gravel roads.

Aukland is a city a little larger than Waco, but it has no tall buildings because of frequent earthquakes.

Helensville is a little town of not more than 1,500 population. It is a health resort.

Sheriff Bigham visited Rotorua, which is the playground of New Zealand; famous for its hot wells and geysers.

He also visited a famous cave through which a river flows and in portions of which the glow worms illuminate the ceilings.

Although it was his first sea voyage Bigham avers that he was never sea sick for a moment, not even during a 12-hour storm on the down trip.

He says he quit smoking cigars while there as they range from 35 cents upward, but the cost of living is no higher than here.

At least three-fourths of the cars are of American make. There are few women drivers.

The principal diet is potatoes, cabbage, carrots, fish and mutton.

The people use English money and English accent.

Return As Friends

Reared in neighboring communities, recognition was mutual when Sheriff John Bigham stepped into the real estate office of A. B. Crouch, alias John Grey, one bright morning in September.

It was not fully acknowledged, of course, until after the extradition issue had been settled but the two returned home more as friends than as sheriff and prisoner.

Sheriff Bigham referred to Crouch as a good prisoner who gave him not a moment of uneasiness. He was allowed the privileges of a passenger and all the members of the party joined in the games and sports on board, and at the Island stops and all enjoyed the trip as much as was possible under the circumstances. The public knew nothing of the adventure or romance that was being enacted.

Lives Of Quartet Unraveled In New Bottome Writing

"Windlestraws" Is Fast Moving Novel.

"Windlestraws," by Phyllis Bottome; Houghton Miffin Co.

A BEAUTIFUL woman may be sure of her power. But seldom does she deliberately set obstacles for her beauty to overcome. Seldom does she try to find her husband a mistress, her lover a wife, certain that her power will hold regardless.

Lady Beatrice, gorgeous, frigid, unrelenting mistress of the English estate "Windlestraws," from which Phyllis Bottome's new book takes its title, does exactly that.

Plays Like A Game

Beatrice plays life like a game. She is certain of winning. So she seeks every danger possible to make it more interesting. Other people's lives don't matter. That's just part of the game. She isn't happy. That doesn't matter, either. Or, with the subtle, delicious game of power.

Into this vortex of emotion comes Jean as private secretary to Reggie Beatrice's husband. Jean is young, intelligent and amazingly clearheaded. She likes Beatrice at once, and she quickly senses the situation at this beautiful country estate.

Loathes Husband

Beatrice loathes her husband and loves Ian passionately. Ian, Reggie's best friend, loves her in the same way Beatrice will not divorce Reggie for Ian; Ian will not betray Reggie for Beatrice. For ten years it has gone on in this nerve-racking way.

Through a maze of subtle schemes these four people wander, struggle and get caught in the traps of life. They are mostly traps set by Beatrice but really traps that are greater than herself.

Style Is Finish

Phyllis Bottome's style is finished. It is perfectly assured. With cool ease she handles her material—clear to the end of the mounting, intense drama. Her writing is subtle, restrained, remarkably certain.

"Windlestraws" is a sweepingly beautiful book. Its beauty is far more than mere excellence of style. The development, the inner searching, the breakdown, the suffering of human characters are the very core of it. This master craftsman, Phyllis Bottome, expertly unfolds the throbbing, undulating lives of four people.

Book News Notes For This Week

Loves 'Em

I AM in love with the Navajos," says Oliver LaFarge, author of the new novel of the Southwest, "Laughing Boy," just published by Houghton Mifflin company. "They are the best Indians I have ever dealt with. They have robbed me, cheated me and lied to me. Yet they have fed me, given me presents, guided and cared for me and my horses and, in a year of drought, enabled me to pass where I would through their country. With a speaking knowledge of Navajo, a dark tan and a pair of moccasins, I finally reached a point at which Indians of other tribes thought I was a Navajo, while Navajos themselves used to ride up and ask me in puzzled tones just what I was."

Book Popular

Librarians and other sleuth hounds who ferret out anonymous authors and delight to identify famous personages masquerading in fiction, will be interested to know that Lucretia P. Hale, the gifted author of "The Peterkin Papers", which has proved one of the most popular humorous books ever written for children, is the original of Leonora Heath in "A Little Girl of Long Ago" by Eliza Orne White (Houghton Mifflin company).

Breaks Up Suit

In his life of "Ethan Allen" (Houghton Mifflin Company) John Pell tells how Ethan nearly broke up one of the law suits in which he was perpetually engaged by marching into the court room in full military regalia with a sword of fabulous dimensions swinging at his side, waved his cocked hat to demand silence, and turning to the prosecuting attorney roared out, "I would have the young gentleman to know that, with my logic and reasoning from the eternal fitness of things, I can upset his Blackstones, his white stones, his grave stones and brimstones." No wonder General Washington called him an original character.

A Variety

"A Variety of People," Don Marquis calls his latest collection of short stories (published by Doubleday, Doran & Co. at $2). You may have read a good many of them in the magazines; I have; but I enjoyed reading them again. They seem to me the best collection Marquis has put out in a book.

Doubtless that is because the stories do make a variety. The Old Soak appears, of course, with some of his curious transmutations of Bible tales. So does Tim O'Meara, whose ancestor, Tim O'Meara, appears this time as the greatest diplomat of all Ireland in an intrigue which involved two red-headed women, Queen Elizabeth and Mary Queen of Scots.

Here Marquis has tried his hand at the hardest thing a short-story writer can try: Writing the articulate story of the inarticulate. He succeeds.

"Queen Of Hell"

"If you marry General Allen," said a Vermont tavern keeper to the woman who was later to become his second wife, "you will be queen of a new state." To which she replied, "If I should marry the devil, I'd be queen of hell." From "Ethan Allen" by John Pell (Houghton Miffin company).

Pioneer

That Henry F. Hoyt was a pioneer in more senses than one can be gleaned from the pages of his "Frontier Doctor," just issued by Houghton Mifflin company. He was the first doctor to locate and practice his profession in the Texas Panhandle; he was a passenger on the first stage-coach to be run by the Northwestern Transportation company from Bismark to Deadwood in the Dakota Territory; he opened the first drug store in Bernalillo, New Mexico; he was the only chief surgeon wounded in the battlefield during the Spanish American War; and was the first person to utilize Chinese coolies as litter bearers in the United States Army.

Excellent Book

An excellent book to read is "Bourro, Soldier of France," by Jean des Vignes Rouges.

This book, written by a French soldier before the close of the war, and reprinted now by E. P. Dutton and Co., takes a high rank among the realistic war books. Its approach is gentle, so to speak; it was written, remember, in a day when it was the custom to look on war as a great adventure, a romantic interlude in a prosaic world, and the author, one gathers, had to lead his readers up to the horror gradually.

He does it effectively, however.

The book also emphasizes, in a way few other war books have emphasized, the tremendous, unbelievable heroism of the common soldier. Every man who served in the trenches was, supremely, a hero. "Bourru" makes you see why.

Peru has such a diversity of elevations and climatic peculiarities as to be able to grow almost any product that is known to man.

Physician Sticks With Oldsmobile

Doctor In Egypt Bridges Automotive Improvements Of Nearly Three Decades In Single Jump

Dr. Chorlian, a physician in Alexandria, Egypt, is enjoying the greatest experience a motorist could wish for. He has bridged in a single jump the automotive improvements of nearly three decades, changing from driving one of the pioneer one cylinder Oldsmobiles to a new six cylinder car of the same make.

The Oldsmobile previously owned by Dr. Chorlian is a product of the early years of the present century. After being driven in this country for some time it was taken to Egypt where it was purchased by the physician in 1911. Day after day he drove it making his professional calls, and on Sundays it carried his family of seven on outings in the country.

Traveled 25,000 Miles

It is estimated that the Oldsmobile traveled a total of 225,000 miles before it was turned in on the new Oldsmobile Six. Dr. Chorlian attributes its wonderful durability to the excellence of manufacture, and this mact had much to do with his selection of another Oldsmobile when he finally decided to purchase a new car.

During the more than a quarter of a century of active life, the Oldsmobile had three new distributor chains, new piston rings, the top was renewed and the camshaft and a few gears were replaced. Notwithstanding this normal wear and replacements, the car was economical. A set of tires averaged four years.

Tool Grinding Of Buick Important

Tucked away in one section of the transmission plant of the Buick Motor Company in Flint, Michigan, is a department which, though it produces no parts for either Buick or Marquette cars, plays an important role in maintaining production schedules. It is the tool grinding department which keeps the thousands of machines throughout the Buick plants supplied with equipment.

Though there are but 57 employes in this department it is a highly important division of the factory. Each employe has had a broad experience in tool making. Observing these men at their work we find that precision is their watchword, that each tool they turn out must measure up to critical standards in order that it may efficiently do the task for which it is intended.

Tools Repaired

Much of the work done in this department consists of repairing tools and fixtures for the many machines utilized in manufacturing Buick automobiles. Also many special tools are made for the engineering department from blueprints supplied by the engineers.

Tons of tools are turned out weekly and the men who comprise the personnel of the department are proud of the fact that never since it was organized has this division caused any machinery to stand idle for lack of tools.

Dodge Will Equip Busses With Radio

Radio equipment for motor coaches in urban service, bringing the programs of the most popular broadcasting stations to passengers while the are being whisked between their homes and offices, is announced by the motor coach division of Dodge Brothers. A Transitone receiving set, designed especially for bus use, has been perfected, introduced in the de luxe parlor coach service on Woodward avenue, Detroit, and will be installed in all current production buses and motor coaches everywhere as the demand for this innovation in city transportation becomes more general.

The special bus type radio receiving set has three stages of radio frequency with power detection and amplification to secure sufficient reception for two magnetic speakers, one located in front of the coach, directly above the windshield and the other in the rear next to the roof.

To provide satisfactory tone and carrying qualities for conditions peculiar to the large size and passenger carrying capacity of the motor coach, some difficult problems in design and installation had to be solved.

De Soto Disproves "Off Buying" Time

Trainload shipments of automobiles in December establish another exceptional record in the history of De Soto. On three occasions in less than three weeks' time special solid trainload shipments, in addition to the regular deliveries, were made from the factory in Detroit to supply the demand of new-car buyers. These special trainload shipments indicate public realization of the qualities of the automobile, rather than the season of the year, as the real determining factor, and that this is an advantageous time of year to purchase a new car.

In making the first trainload shipment, what is believed to be a record in point of time was made. This was a train of thirty freight cars, moving from Detroit to the De Soto dealer in Los Angeles. The running time was approximately six and one-half days. Following this were two other trainload shipments to other sections of the country, made up of twenty and twenty-three freight cars each. The total value of the automobiles moved in these deliveries is over a quarter of a million dollars.

New Studies May Solve Grade Crossing Problem By Construction Of Over And Under Passes By Roads

ATLANTIC CITY, Dec. 14. (AP)—Ways to surmount the major obstacle to elimination of grade crossings—prohibitive cost—may be found at the twenty-seventh annual convention of the American Road Builders' association here.

New studies of low cost structures, which would enable railroads to run above or under highways, will be reviewed before the nation's largest gathering of road builders.

For a year a select committee has investigated practical solution of crossing problems, centering the study on means of reducing the cost of crossing elimination.

The burden of such elimination, if included by the railroads in general betterment programs, surveys have shown in the past, would be so great in many instances that the cost of removal would exceed the value of the railway system.

Proper placement of roads will be delegated to a location committee, to be organized at the convention, to investigate location with regard to factors of economy and safety.

Another departure from usual highway research will be reviewed in a year's study, by the committee on sub-grades and pavement bases, of soil composition, drainage and erosion.

The investigation will show that pavements must be laid with strict regard to the soil underlying a highway, a factor now neglected but found to be highly important to the permanence of a road.

More than 30,000 people, including engineers, contractors, diplomats, leaders in legislative and federal departments, and road workers, are expected to attend the convention, which will be January 11-18.

F. A. Reimer East Orange, N. J. president, will be official host. W. A. Van Duzer, Harrisburg, Pa., vice president, is the nominating committee's selection for next president.

In the time of Queen Elizabeth a law was made that no new building should be erected within three miles of London of Westminster.

Chryslers Break Four New Records

Four Chrysler cars have lowered existing records of three transcontinental runs and a dirt Speedway mark, according to word received by J. W. Frazer, general sales manager of the Chrysler Corporation.

A Chrysler Imperial recently broke the record between Perth and Sydney, Australia. Two weeks later on the same continent, another Chrysler set a new record for the 576-mile run from Melbourne to Sydney. The record from Johannesburg to Nairobi, South Africa, fell to a third Chrysler, while the same type of car set a new mark for stock cars over the 100-mile Ak-Sar-Ben dirt track at Omaha, Nebraska.

On leaving a steamer that took him from Europe to Australia, Dr. Garnet Manning, a Sydney specialist, found he was urgently needed in Sydney. Accompanied by his wife and a third passenger in his Imperial sedan, Dr. Manning took the open road straight from the ship. In three days, 23 hours and 27 minutes they arrived in Sydney, 24 hours ahead of the fastest train, and 11 hours and 16 minutes faster than the previous record. The run of 2,577 miles was made over tortuous roads and trackless wastes.

To Eat Buffalo

Unique Steaks To Be Offered

MISSOULA, Mont., Dec. 14. (AP)—Holiday markets will have a supply of buffalo steaks.

One hundred animals will be culled from the herd of 375 on the federal bison ranch north of here, to be butchered and sold. The reserve is overloaded.

The animals, according to United States biological survey, Maj., E. A. Goldman of the United States biological survey, are fat and in excellent condition.

Engines "Lazy" In Humid Atmosphere

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14. (AP)—Like human beings, automobile engines are inclined to loaf on the job when the weather is humid or "muggy."

The bureau of standards has completed humidity tests with a well known type of automobile engine. The loss of power the bureau found to be directly proportional to the amount of moisture contained in the air.

"This does not necessarily mean that the engine has less power when it is raining," the bureau explained, "as it is quite possible to have more moisture in the atmosphere on a hot 'muggy' day with no rain than on a cooler rainy day. In other words, the loss of power is proportional, not to the relative but to the absolute humidity."

Power losses between a very dry day and a very humid day, it was said, may be as large as 10 per cent.

Other effects of high humidity noted by the bureau are decreased detonation, enriched mixture, and, in effect, retarded spark. These effects, it was pointed out, tend to make the automobile operate more smoothly.

Lamesa To Have City Health Board

LAMESA, Dec. 14. (Special)—An ordinance passed recently during a meeting of the city commissioners provides for a city health board for Lamesa. The board will be composed of a paid food inspector, two doctors and Mayor E. B. Warren. An office is to be secured for the food inspector and he is to make rulings on pure food served and sold in Lamesa stores and restaurants.

The South American capybara is the largest rodent in the world. It sometimes attains the weight of 150 pounds.

Tax Collections Here Are Climbing With Six Weeks Yet Left Before 10 Percent Penalty Comes, Clark Says

Fifty Percent More Funds Collected This Year So Far; County Officer Is Feeling Optimistic

"JUST a month and a half yet remains for Lubbock county tax payers to pay their taxes for the year 1929 before the penalty of 10 per cent goes into effect," according to an announcement yesterday from the office of County Tax Collector A. J. Clark.

"Though the figure collected to date seems small," said Mr Clark, "it is approximately 50 per cent better than for the same period of 1928. This fact we attribute to the early cotton this year. Farmers were able to gather their crops about one month earlier than before, paid off their debts and consequently had some tax money left. We feel that collections for the year will be better than for the period preceding."

Collections Are Good

Taxes become due and payable on October 1 of each year and the collection total for the first two months of the 1929 era stand at $15,474.41. Collections in October, the first month, were $5,773.89 while in November they were $9,700.53.

"This is the first year," Mr. Clark said, "that we have been able to pay the tax assessor ou tof the first month's money and still have a substantial check to send to the state."

On October 1 of this year there were on the tax rolls of the county, taxes in the sum of $372,695.79 as compared with $363,212.27 for the same period a year ago. An increase was recorded of $9,483.42.

Period Ends Jan. 31.

The given period for collection for this year will end at midnight on January 31, and Mr. Clark stated that he would be in his office until that time. On the morning of February 1, all unpaid taxes will take a 10 per cent penalty and no poll taxes for the coming year will be issued. Property owners, after that date, have 60 days in which to pay at the increased figure. On April 1, 1930, in addition to the 10 per cent penalty, the taxes will take a 6 per cent annual interest and costs. They will at that time be classed as delinquent.

No suits for taxes are filed until a year following when all unpaid accounts are placed in the hands of the attorney for collection, Mr. Clark reported that very few suits are pending from the 1928 rolls and that even less are expected for 1929.

State Tax Up

The 1928 tax rate was $1.44 on the $100 valuation, of which the state received 64 cents while the county received 80 cents. The 1929 rate, while lowered to the tax payer one cent, was increased by the state 5 cents and lokered by the county 4 cents. Rate for this year is $1.43, of which the state will get 68 cents while the county gets 75 cents.

"I believe that if the tax payers understood that the longer they delay, the greater their taxes will be, they would try and make arangements to get them paid within the prescribed time," Mr. Clark explained. "If they delay until the last an increase is put on them amounting to about 17 per cent."

Is Big Problem

Familiarity In The Movie Opposed

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 14. (AP)—Luxurious movie theaters, with their great audiences, have set the illuminating engineer numerous problems besides lighting the silver screen.

"Sufficient light should be provided so as to discourage undue familiarity," says a report to the Illuminating Engineering society by Frank Cambria and Francis M. Falge of the Publix Theaters corporation.

"But," they add, "at the same not so much that patrons are distracted by the movements of others. Sufficient light should be provided so people may easily locate seats, and to eliminate accidents."

Viking Cylinder Block Featured

Looking backward over the automotive achievements made during the year now ending, the designing of the one-piece, V-type cylinder block introduced in the Viking Eight is considered one of the outstanding advancements of the industry. Prior to the Viking, a monoblock V-type engine was considered impossible.

Heretofore V-type engines have been cast in three separate units—two blocks of cylinder bores and another block for the crankcase. These were assembled together.

Engineers realized that a single block, similar to those used on other type engines, persented advantages, but for years it was believed to be impossible to successfully cast a block of this character. Oldsmobile Six engineers, who designed and built the Viking, working in cooperation with General Motors research engineers, succeeded in accomplishing this seeming impossibility.

Plymouth Spirit Shown By Record

"One name in American history that brings most forcibly to mind qualities of ruggedness, simplicity, stalwart independence and intelligent economy is Plymouth," said A. Van DerZee, general sales manager of the Plymouth Motor Corporation. "Pioneers in a new land, the Pilgrim Fathers quickly established themselves in their new field of endeavor. They were strict observers of sound principles of organization and faith in their performance. They have left a heritage of high ideals to America.

"The quaint records of Plymouth Colony speak eloquently of these qualities.

Pertinent Facts About Automobiles By Israel Klein, Science Editor For NEA Service

As an aid to proper cooling thru cold weather, a radiator shutter is found highly useful and economical. The radiator at this time of the year has so high a cooling efficiency that it is difficult to bring the temperature of the engine up to its best operating point. The shutter helps this.

By keeping the shutter closed until the temperature of the engine has risen to its most effective mark, much gasoline will be saved and dilution of the crankcase oil will be prevented. Choking of the carburetor feed will be limited and all the fuel going into the combustion chambers will have a good chance of burning rather than flowing down the cylinder walls.

Once the engine is warm enough, the shutter may be opened just enough to keep the solution in the cooling system from cooling down too quickly.

If you have a radiator shutter that is thermostatically controlled, the thermostat will take care of that. But in the case of a mechanically or hand-controlled shutter, it is up to the driver to watch a motormeter or judge the point at which the temperature of the engine can be kept at its proper operating level.

With the shutter keeping the engine up to the right heat and the anti-freeze mixture preventing trouble from cold weather, motoring in winter should be a pleasure.

But the combination of shutter and anti-freeze is sometimes a difficult one to handle. It is sometimes misleading. If glycerine or ethylene glycol is used, waiting for the red line in the thermometer to rise to the "operating temperature" mark would be waiting too long and the engine would be overheated at that point. If alcohol is used, the red reaches the operating temperature line much too soon.

The reason for this difference in operation lies in the fact that the thermometer registers the temperature of the air above the solution in the radiator, which is colder than the liquid when glycerine is the anti-freeze, but which is heated up sooner by the use of alcohol.

If the shutter is thermostatically-controlled, the thermostat itself will cause it to open when the proper operating temperature of the cooling solution is reached.

Motors are designed to work most efficiently when the water jacket temperature is between 160 and 180 degrees Fahrenheit. When the outside temperature is just above the freezing point, and there's glycerine in the cooling system, the water jacket heat will reach the point of best efficiency with the red in the thermometer showing only one-third of the way up. The shutter should then be opened wide.

At zero temperature, the red will barely show when the cooling solution temperature is just right.

If alcohol is the anti-freeze, it will cause the cooling solution to reach a high temperature more quickly than glycerine will. Therefore it will cause the thermometer to reach the operating point even before the motor has reached it.

Despite this, however, the motorist should not permit the thermometer to go beyond the operating level, or the alcohol in the solution will boil out, destroy the lacquer cap and reduce the amount of anti-freeze in the solution.

Once glycerine is added to the cooling system, there is no need to replenish it—provided, of course, there is no leak. Water might have to be added to the system from time to time, but not glycerine.

Alcohol, however, requires replenishing, since it boils away easily. Service station attendants can tell you whether you need more alcohol, by testing the solution with special hydrometers. Such a test should be made frequently.

FRENCH AUTO DEATHS MOUNT

PARIS (AP)—Last year 2941 persons were killed in automobile accidents on French roads. Figures for this year threaten to be higher. Fifty-three per cent of the accidents due to violation of traffic regulations, twenty-four per cent to recklessness of pedestrians and the rest to miscellaneous reasons.

DOWNPATRICK, Ireland (AP)—Mrs. Eliza Jane McKee, sister of John Hughes, who found a gold nugget of 19 pounds in California and sold it for $15,000, died here at the age of 103. She willed an imitation of the nugget to her sisters in County Down.

Policemen Favor New Buick Model

Probably the most extraordinary exhibition of confidence ever shown in one make of car was given in New York recently when 17 out of 22 policemen and firemen who had won cars in a popularity contest selected Buicks. Winners were given their choice of any of the 15 makes of cars in the price class in which Buick appears. Three others who have not yet selected their cars have stated that they expect to choose Buicks.

The contest, which was conducted by the New York Evening Journal, extended over a period of three months. The two winners who had polled the greatest number of votes were permitted to select cars at $3,000.

With no regulation as to the length of time they could take before making their respective selections, the winners took several weeks in which to make comparisons of the various makes of cars; to arrange demonstrations and to consult other users. The inherent value of Buick; its superb qualities of performance and luxurious comfort were the impelling factors in determining the choices.

An ounce of radium, carried in a man's hip pocket, would kill him in ten hours by destroying his bones and tissues.

ON AUTO ROW

USED CARS OFFERED

Unusual efforts on the part of Lubbock automobile dealers to reduce their stock of used cars was in evidence on auto row last week and as a result some rare values were being offered. The approaching new year is the immediate cause for this trend as the majority of agents are trying to cut their stock to the minimum as 1930 draws near.

KUYKENDALL STAGES SALE

A concentrated effort 10-day used car sale is under way at Kuykendall Motor company, where an imposing array of light cars that have been previous service are on the block. G. P. Kuykendall, manager of the Chevrolet house, describes the sale as being on "the cleanest stock of used cars that I have had on hand in five years."

OFFERS 1930 LICENSE

One of the unusual features of the sale is 1930 license plate that is furnished with each used car. Starting last Thursday, the sale will last through Dec. 23.

SALES PICK UP

Sale of new cars has picked up considerably within the last week due possibly to warmer weather. Several concerns have already delivered as many new machines as were sold during the entire month of November.

TEN DAYS ACTIVE

During the first ten days of December, Scoggin-Dickey, local Oakland-Pontiac distributors, retailed six new cars and seven used machines. The total retail sales for November was nine new cars.

BONUS IS OFFERED

The $25 cash bonus contest at Scoggin-Dickey's is in full swing and will be wound up on the night of Dec. 21. As an incentive for its salesmen, the concern is offering the prize to the salesman making the best record during the period.

BUYS NEW HUPMOBILE

A physician from Lovington, N. M., Dr. Deardoff, took delivery on his ninth Hupmobile last week from the West Texas Motor company here. This time it was a Hupmobile Six coupe. The local Hupmobile concern also announced the sale of a Hupmobile Eight sedan to T. B. Sowell of Portales, N. M.

KEEPING PACE

Caprock Motor company, distributors of the De Soto and Whippet, has kept pace with the leading automobile agencies in the city during the past ten days. Five new cars have been delivered by this concern since the first day of December. W. D. Carel, of Hale Center, has purchased a Whippet coach. Frank P. Bell, of Lubbock, was delivered a De Soto sedan; E. W. Herman, of Littlefield, is driving a new De Soto coupe; Felix Summers, a De Soto coach and H. E. Adkins, of Littlefield, a De Soto coupe.

FEW DOCTORS IN ANATOLIA

CONSTANTINOPLE. (AP)—The government is trying to double the number of students in the state medical school here. Doctors are so scarce in Anatolia that when 1,000 lives were taken in the quakes, floods and fires at Rizeh, there was only one physician to administer to the town of 5,000 inhabitants.

NAME TO AIRPORT

OLATHE, Kas. (AP)—Olathe's new 80-acre airport is to be named after Charles (Buddy) Rogers, movie actor and town idol in Olathe, his birthplace. The field is to be located on a farm in which Rogers bought a half interest while playing a trombone on a chautauqua circuit.

Millard Fillmore was the only United States president who made no inaugural address.

Studebaker Puts Busses In Action

Two big Studebaker busses which will serve as traveling service schools, and which are fitted with the most up to date types of specialized service tools and machinery have been placed in service by The Studebaker Corporation. The busses are designed to establish closer contact between factory and dealer in service matters. They will aid in establishing an even higher standard of service for Studebaker owners throughout the country.

The busses are fitted with specially constructed bodies containing work benches and a wide variety of interesting tools and equipment which permit Studebaker dealers to offer a specialized type of service not to be found other than in an authorized Studebaker-Erskine service station.

Many of the tools were designed by factory specialists in Studebaker's general service department. They permit mechanics trained in their use to do not only more satisfactory work on the cars they were designed for, but also permit material reductions in service time and charges to Studebaker owners.

Salmon eggs for hatching purposes numbering 73,588,700 were taken from the Columbia river this year.

GOOD BUSINESS FOR 1930

If business is good in Lubbock in 1930—one of the contributing items will be our 1929 cotton crop. The estimate for 1929 is 46,000 bales in Lubbock county, while a week ago the total number ginned was 40,512 bales. This is considerable of a gain over 1928, and is an indication that people on the farms will generally be in better shape than last year. The 46,000 bales of cotton—(item for Santa's Sleigh)—means greater prosperity for business men and farmers alike, for it is upon agriculture, at last, that we all depend. The outlook for 1930 is better than ever before.

never before such a radio... because never before such a Zenith

This new Zenith was built, first, to startle your ears with its epoch-making realism; secondly to startle your eyes with its superb beauty; thirdly, to startle your pocketbook with a price half what you think it should be.

You won't believe your ears. You can't, at first. Because the new Zenith doesn't sound like radio, like any radio. It sounds exactly like the singer, the speaker, the instrument, the orchestra... even when the volume is great enough to shake the house, there is no distortion. There can be none...for Zenith now has a specially designed screen-grid circuit...developed by Zenith for Zeniths. No radio but Zenith can have this... plus power detection...plus double push-pull ...plus the syntonic-dynamic type speaker of over-size proportions...to make the finest radio still finer...plus genuine automatic tuning.

Hear this new Zenith, side by side with all the other claimants of superiority. Just hear it once. And here we rest our case.
