ROADS RAN HERE

Good county roads were here until five inches of washing rain hit the north part of the county Monday night, May 25. Commissioner Buck Breeding, in the picture at upper left, stands in a hole 15 feet deep at places, and 30 by 40 feet in area where a dirt fill was washed out between the farms of A. F. Wischkaemper and Frank Massey. The fill was put in last year. The undamaged gas line is that owned by J. M. Tindall running from wells near Iola through Dozier and into the Samnorwood area, serving 50 families. The culvert at upper right was moved approximately 15 feet by the heavy rains, and the dirt washed from around it. It is between farms owned by Herbert Massey and Mrs. Erlene Bednorz of Pampa. The tinhorn was installed in March. The picture at lower left shows where a 20-foot wooden bridge washed out, along with the approaches, leaving a 25 foot gap. This is by the Frank Stafford place. The Tindall gas line is in the background, but this is about 10 miles north of the picture above it. A tank dam broke on J. C. Breeding's farm and washed this gap estimated at 60 feet across and from 6 to 8 feet deep. Only a tin-horn was needed at this point, but Breeding and Gene Jenkins, county road administrator, estimate a 30 foot bridge and the approaches built unless a large dam is put back. Pictures were taken by county attorney Paul Spillman.

Downtown Site Set for Free Fair Aug. 28-29

Preliminary plans for the second annual Collingsworth County Free Fair, along with those regarding the fair catalog, were made when Dr. Chas. B. Jones, fair superintendent, met with department chairmen Thursday night, May 28.

This year's Fair will be held in the community building, Dr. Jones said, with some events scheduled tentatively for the American Legion building. Date of the fair is Friday and Satuday, August 28 and 29.

The Youth Project Show will be combined with the fair, and this is the only division in which money prizes will be paid. Ribbons will be awarded in all other divisions.

Mrs. J. L. Alexander was introduced as the new chairman of the women's division, to be in charge the women's work of the county fair.

Outside of the addition of the Youth Project show, there will be little change in other divisions, Dr. Jones said.

Early Arlie Resident Dies Friday Morning

Mrs. J. H. Motley of Hollis, who came to the Dodson-Arlie area in 1892, died in Jackson County Memorial Hospital, Altus, Friday, May 29, at 3 p.m. She had been in ill health and confined to her home for several years.

Funeral services were held at First Methodist Church in Hollis Sunday at 3 p.m. with burial in Fairmont Cemetery by Coley Funeral Home.

Mrs. Motley was born in Montague County March 16, 1886, and was only six years of age when the family came to the Arlie area.

About 15 years ago, following her marriage to Mr. Motley, she moved to Hollis.

Pall bearers were Jake Lawrence, Hugh Painter, Woodrow Shipley, Thomas Prock, Jess Richardson, Paul Pickens, Frank Burns and Flauzy Guest.

Surviving Mrs. Motley are her husband of Hollis; two daughters and four sons: Mrs. Hardy Wright of Wellington, Mrs. Lester Smith of Dallas, Edwin Crowder of Dodson, Hampton Crowder of Hobert, Okla., M-Sgt. Max Crowder of the U.S. Air Force in England, and Medford Crowder of Fort Worth. There are two step daughters and a step son, Mrs. Tom McBrayer, Mrs. Joe Garrison and Arlis Motley, all of Hollis.

Also surviving are 20 grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

To Panhandle Bankers Meet

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bailey represented the Wellington State Bank and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Terry the City State Bank at the 54th annual convention of the Panhandle Bakers Association in Amarillo Tuesday and Wednesday, June 2 and 3.

More than 1,000 bankers and their families attended from 146 banks in Texas New Mexico, Colorado, Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas and Illinois.

Mrs. W. D. Durfey Delivers First Wheat to Open the 1959 Season

Three loads of wheat were delivered in Wellington within a few hours Monday, June 1, to open the 1959 season, with the honor of bringing in the first grain going to a pioneer Loco woman, Mrs. W. D. Durfey.

Her wheat arrived at Warrick Elevator about 4 p.m.

At 7 o'clock, Fred Cox, Jr. of Loco delivered a load to Singley Mill and Elevotor and at 7:30 M. L. Johnson of Dodson brought a load to Warricks. Johnson brought in a second load Tuesday.

Buyers at both elevators said the wheat is unusually good for the first deliveries. All four loads were put in storage to go in the government loan.

While wheat acreage in the county is far short of the allotted acreage, the crop will be much better than was expected before the May rains started.

For the first time since the town of Dodson was established, there will be no wheat market this year.

Abandonment of the railroad left no way for the Farmers Co-op Gin, which has leased the loading equipment several years, to get the grain out, and there is no storage facility.

"It's a blow to the town," Fred Powers of the co-op remarked.

Mrs. Durfey's load tested 62 pounds per bushel two pounds above the government standard. Usually the first wheat here tests from 58 to 60 pounds. The moisture content was ony 13.69 Mrs. Durfey expects her crop to average from 10 to 14 bushels per acre.

Cox wheat tested 60 and had a moisture content of 13.10. Jones Singley reported.

Johnson's test was 62, and the moisture content dropped to 12.93, unusually dry for the first part of the harvest. His field was cutting 14 bushels per acre, he told Earl Keller, Warrick manager.

All three farmers had Early Triumph wheat.

Due to the rains coming late, heads this year are short but the grain is well filled out, buyers report.

Yields this year will vary from wheat barely worth cutting up to around 40 bushels per acre in irrigated land.

Around Dodson, the average should be a 12 to 14 bushel average, Powers said. There will be individaul fields of dryland wheat that cut up to 20 bushels.

Powers estimated that due to dry weather, growers did not get wheat up on more than 50 per cent of the allotted wheat acreage

Dynamics of Selling Four Day Class Opens Monday

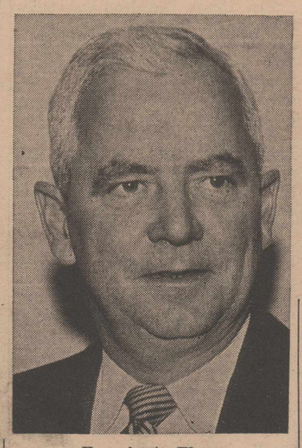

Response to the Chamber of Commerce sales training course by merchants and their employees has been above expections, although the classes do not begin until Monday, June 8.

The course will be taught in the community building at 7 p.m. each evening through Thursday, June 12.

Most of those who have signed up so far have been from Wellington but Deskins Wells, chairman of the wholesale and retail development committee, pointed out that it is for all merchants and their employees of the county.

"The man who operates a country store can pick up some information that is just as valuable to him as the Wellington store owner," Wells declared.

The course is titled "Dynamics of Selling" and will be taught by Francis A. Flynn, retail training specialist from the University of Texas, with a broad experience in retail merchandising and direct selling.

Francis A. Flynn

The course is designed to help experienced personnel to become better salespeople, and many communities throughout the state have found it profitable to business in general as well as profitable to those being served.

Last year was the first time the Chamber of Commerce had sponsored a course for business people here and considerable interest resulted, but the interest so far is well above that last year, and registration in the course is expected to be considerably larger, Wells said.

T. P. Green, Retired Farmer, Dies at 83

T. P. Green, 83-year-old retired Wellington farmer, died in a nursing home at Childress Thursday, May 28, at 8:30 a.m. after a long illness.

He had lived in Wellington 11 years, since retiring from active farming in the Roundup community.

Funeral services for Mr. Green were conducted at the Missionary Baptist Church in Shamrock at 3 p.m. Saturday, with Elder E. J. Norman of Childress, and Elder C. C. Lollar of Shamrock both primitive Baptist ministers, officiating.

Pall bearers were grandsons and included W. L. Green, Donald Green, M. W. Paschal, Walter Green, Elbert Green and Herman Lee Green Jr.

Thomas P. Green was born May 16, 1876, in St. Joseph, Missouri, but came to Somerville County, Texas as a youth with his parents. He lived there until he and Mrs. Green moved to the north part of Collingsworth County in 1921.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mary Green of Wellington; four sons and three daughters, Lewis Green and Ted Green of Wellington; Herman Green, Tommy Green and Mrs. Eva Schoonover of Amarillo; Mrs. Dollie Stinebough of Buyerous, N. ASC to Begin Cotton Measuring Around June 20

Measurement of Cotton under the ASC program is due to begin around June 20, or as soon as the cotton is up to a good stand, Millard Brown, office manager of the county ASC announced this week.

Fourteen reporters will do the measuring, but each farm operator must assist the reporter or have someone there to help, since a steel tape and not a measuring wheel will be used.

Brown emphasized the need for measuring all land that was planted to cotton, although it may have been destroyed by rains and planted to feed.

There will be a charge for checking disposition of excess cotton acreage of $4.00 per farm plus $2.00 for each plot over one.

A charge of $5.00 per farm plus $2.00 for each plot over one has been set for remeasuring acreages where the farmer is dissatisfied with the original measurement, Brown said.

Reporters will attend a four-day school of instruction before measuring begins, conducted by Elsworth Jones of Matador, state performance supervisor.

Reporters hired so far are Worth Shields, Shelton Nunnelley, N. E. Childers, Raymond Barton, William O'Rear, Delbert White, Rudolph Tate. Others will be hired.

Rev. Futch at Trinity

Methodists Return Two Pastors, One New

Two Wellington Methodist pastors were returned here by the Northwest Texas Conference as it closed in Abilene Friday, May 29, one new pastor was named, and members of First Methodist saw the return of a former pastor as district superintendent of the Childress District.

The Rev. Frank Weir is beginning his third year as pastor of ...st Methodist Church. The Rev. ... F. Michael again will be the pastor of the Kelley and Dodson churches, and will continue to make his home in Wellington. Rev. Michael, who retired from regular pastoral work, a year ago, took the Kelley-Dodson assignment at that time, when a pastor could not be found.

New pastor of Trinity Methodist Church is the Rev. James J. Futch, who has been pastor of Forsan Methodist Church, near Big Spring, for two years.

The Rev. C. D. Damron, whom he succeeds, is retiring from the ministry and he and Mrs. Damron have moved to their farm northwest of town.

The new Trinity pastor is married and has three children, Freddy, 14, Ricky, 12, and a four-year-old daughter, Jan. The family is due to move within a few days.

Appointed District superintendent is the Rev. J. Edmund Kirby, who was here about 20 years ago and was one of the most popular pastors the church has had. He has been pastor of a Lubbock church. Since leaving here, he has served as district superintendent at Sweetwater and Pampa, and an interim president of McMurry College.

100 Cases Beer Taken in Biggest Haul in Years

One hundred cases of beer, described as the largest haul here in years, were taken by Sheriff John Rainey and Deputy Kenneth Hodge with the arrest of Sylvester Dave Wilson of Amarillo Thursday, May 29.

The arrest occurred about 9:15 a.m. five miles north of town on highway 83.

Sheriff Rainey said Wilson was en route to Childress to deliver the beer to the Elks Club.

Arraigned before County Judge C. C. Bishop, Wilson pled guilty to a charge of illegal transportation of liquor in a dry territory and paid a fine of $200 plus $27.80 costs.

Sheriff Rainey said officers had information that Wilson sometimes came through the county, but their running onto him near Salt Fork River Thursday was an accident. Wilson was hauling the beer in a 1959 Chevrolet three-quarter ton pickup, with a board cover over the beer.

Unloading the haul at the sheriff's office attracted a crowd of

New C-C Directors Named

Trade Committee Seeks to Spur City Business

Three directors of the Collingsworth County Chamber of Commerce were announced by President John Coleman following a canvass of the election Monday night, June 1, the wholesale and retail development committee met to develop plans to stimulate local business; and additional C-C committees were named to work in conjunction with the Collingsworth County Free Fair Association.

Wood Coleman of Dozier was named director from that area, succeeding W. R. Breeding; Carl Wischkaemper of Quail was re-elected to represent the southwest part of the county on the board, and Orville Vaughan was elected to succeed Ed Crowder from the Dodson area. Each will serve a two-year-term.

The wholesale and retail development committee, headed by Deskins Wells, discussed holidays on which Wellington businesses would be closed, and made plans to contact merchants within the next week or so on which dates they prefer.

There has been considerable complaint among merchants and also among people living in the rural areas regarding the closing of businesses on certain holidays, especially when these come on the week end.

Plans were set in the motion to enlarge Wellington's Dollar Day program.

The committee voted to offer full support to Paul Spillman's committee on the Salt Fork Dam. "Although the members we realize it is his committee's responsibility so far as the Chamber of Commerce work is concerned, any of our ten members will be willing to work in any capacity assigned at any time he calls on us," Wells said.

Committee members serving with Wells are Fred Saied, Henry Sullivan, Jimmie Cochran, Steve Owens, Jones Singley, Luther Sullivan, Billy Hatch, Sam Adams, Herman Harris, Zook Thomas, Billy Joe Langford and Hershel Tyler.

Two committees were set up to help with the Fair. Raising funds for premium money for the Youth Project Show division was turned over to Charles Allen, chairman and Gene Martin, co-chairman. They will select other members as they need them.

Henry Sullivan was named chairman of a committee to organize a booster trip for the fair.

Condition of Mrs. Gray Improved

Mrs. A. C. Gray has been in St. Joseph's Hospital since Monday, May 25, when she fell while standing in the yard at the home of her sister, Mrs. Z. T. Lowrie, next door to the Gray home.

Her condition early this week was much improved, an attending doctor said.

Here since Mrs. Gray was injured were a daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Parker and two of their children, Stanley and Yates and a granddaughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dayland Bollinger and two small children of Dalhart.

Kid Baseball Play Starts

League baseball play in all three divisions is due to start by Tuesday, June 9, and will be played on Tuesday and Thursday of each week.

All boys who are interested in playing in the summer baseball program, along with their fathers, are invited to meet at Marian Airpark Diamond Thursday June 4, at 6 p.m., according to the Rev. Frank Weir, who is helping with the program.

All boys 8 through 14 years of age are eligible to play, and they will be organized into Peewee, Little League and Pony League teams.

The playing schedule will be announced within a short time.

Youth Revival at City Church

A youth revival will open at the Full Grospel Church Sunday night, June 7, at 8 p.m., the Rev. T. T. Noe, pastor, has announced.

Doing the preaching will be two 16-year-old youths, Clyde Causly and Garry McSpadden. There will be special song services.

The church is in the 400 block of El Paso Street, and the public is invited, Rev. Noe said.

Ready for Emergency Use

Firemen Need More Money for Resuscitator for Area

Approximately $100 has been contributed to the Wellington Volunteer Fire Department toward the purchase of a resuscitator, to be used throughout this area if needed for saving lives.

"Although it is still on display in downtown Wellington it is now ready for any emergency, and we'll be glad to pull it out any time anyone needs it," Richard Bailey, drive chairman, announced.

"We could have used one several times during the past year, as they are especially helpful to certain types of asthma," he continued. "And even at prairie fires the firemen have been hampered by smoke could have gotten back to working quicker if the resuscitator had been available.

"We have been fortunate to have no drownings, but should that occasion ever arise a resuscitator could save one or more lives."

The company from whom the resuscitator is being bought will leave it here for the Wellington Fire Department to use until the funds are raised.

Should they fail to raise the money, the machine will be picked up with no charge to the fire department for any use that may have been made of it.

Cost of the machine complete with the extension line and second mask, so that it may be used on two persons at once, is $625.

The resuscitator will continue to be on display in business firms around the square until all interested have had an opportunity to see it.

All Day Service

Assembly of God Homecoming Sunday Observes Debt Payment

A homecoming, which also will celebrate the final payment of church bonds, will be held at the Assembly of God Sunday, June 7, with three services scheduled during the day and dinner at Ellison Park.

The Rev. Austin Jolliff, who supervised construction of the church in 1952, and who returned as pastor last fall, will preside at each of the services.

Three guest speakers, two of them former pastors, will preach during the day.

Following Sunday School, the morning service will begin at 11 a.m., with the Rev. J. A. Thomas, Lubbock, superintendent of the West Texas District of the Assemblies of God, preaching the sermon.

The afternoon session starts at 2:30 p.m. and the Rev. Walter Lane, Lubbock, pastor who was here about 11 years ago, will be the speaker. The closing service, at 7:30 p.m., will have the Rev. Joe Calabrese of Elk City as preacher. He was pastor here several years immediately preceding Rev. Jolliff. There will be special singing at each of the services.

Bonds in the amount of $5,000 were issued in June 1952 to pay for the church, supplemented by much volunteer labor. Several local business men were among the bond buyers.

The final payment of $726 was made in April of this year, one year before the planned maturity date.

Rev. Jolliff, along with leaders in the church, made the plans that led to removal of the church from the old location on El Paso Street to the present site on West Eighth Street in 1952 and construction of the new church, one of the finest Assembly of God churches in this area.

Rev. Jolliff left in 1953 then following pastorates in New Mexico, Idaho and California, he returned with his family last year, and immediately set to work raising funds to pay off the remainder of the indebtedness.

The public is invited to attend the services Sunday.

About the Constitution

► A Letter from Congressman Walter Rogers

The mail has been bringing in numerous letters with relation to the recent decision of the Supreme Court concerning a case decided in Baltimore, Maryland. The case is Frank vs Maryland, in which the Supreme Court decided that the owner of property could be fined under a Baltimore ordinance for refusal to admit a health inspector, even though the inspector had no search warrant. It is indeed encouraging to see the people becoming deeply concerned about their constitutional rights. My only wish is that this concern had been evidenced at a much earlier time. I have long protested the encroachments and invasions of rights of the individual American. You can call them states rights, personal rights, constitutional rights, or individual rights, but under any name they mean the same thing. The term "states rights" has been maligned throughout the country simply by associating it with civil rights, racial prejudice, and any other term that might cast reflection on it. The fact is that if you have certain rights under the laws of the State in which you live and the Federal Government moves in, usurps the field, and destroys these rights, you have actually lost some individual rights. I say that I am happy to see the people becoming concerned about this problem, because I was afraid that many people in this country had been lulled into a false sense of security and would accept the destruction of these rights simply as a matter of course. In many parts of the country that could well be the case.

Other Dangerous Decisions

My fear was generated wholly by the general reaction to some past decisions of the Supreme Court which were as serious, in my opinion, as the recent decision in the Frank vs Maryland case.

Space will not permit me to discuss all of these, but there are two I want to make brief reference to. One of these was the case of Berman Executors vs Parker, decided in October, 1954, in which the Supreme Court held that an agency of the Federal Government could take private property under the right of eminent domain and redevelop it for private, not public purposes. In other words, the government condemned a department store that was located in an area which the agency determined needed to be redeveloped, even though the department store, the building and the land were in good order, were not slum housing, and the property was not to be put to public use. The key reasoning supporting this decision was the sentence: "if owner after owner were permitted to resist these redevelopment programs on the ground that his particular property was not being used against the public interest, integrated plans for redevelopment would suffer greatly." They also said: "The rights of the property owners were satisfied when they received that just compensation which the 5th Amendment exacts as the price of the taking."

This decision did not stir up much concern at the time it was rendered in 1954, although I referred to it on numerous occasions as being destructive of the basic rights of ownership of property. Under this decision a redevelopment agency could determine that the section of town in which you live should be redeveloped, and could come in and take your property by condemnation and permit the redevelopment of the entire area for private profit even though you did not want to part with your home or other property.

Another decision of consequence is a recent decision in the case of Abbate vs. The United States. In that case it was held that a defendant could be tried twice for the same identical offense—once by the State and once by the Federal government—although the Constitution states in clear and unequivocal terms "nor shall any person be subject for the some offense to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb."

Amendment Needed

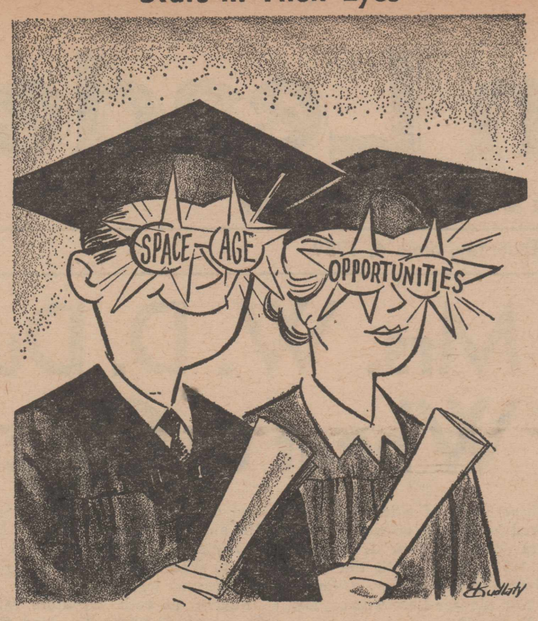

I also wrote a newsletter several years ago and made numerous speeches with relation to the separation of powers as constituted in our government. I pointed out the basic history of the powers of the Supreme Court. I again point out that under the separation of powers theory of government, the general powers of the Supreme Court cannot be curtailed by the Congress. I know there are many arguments pro and con on this subject, but the fact remains that the Supreme Court has the power to determine the constitutionality of any act passed by Congress. Hence, the proper and effective procedure to be pursued, if the people of this country desire a curtailment of the powers of the Supreme Court, is by amendment to the Constitution of the United States. This can be done under the Constitution, as specifically provided in the Constitution, as follows:

> "The Congress, whenever two thirds of both Houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose Amendments to this Constitution, or, on the Application of the Legislatures of two thirds of the several States, shall call an Convention for proposing Amendments, which, in either case, shall be valid to all Intents and Purposes, as Part of this Constitution, when ratified by the Legislatures of three fourths of the several States, or by Conventions in three fourths thereof, as the one or the other Mode of Ratification may be proposed by the Congress."

It is my present feeling that if a curtailing amendment to the Constitution is desired by the electorate, it will need to come from the several states. I do not think that two thirds of the Congress at the present time would approve such an amendment.

I repeat that I have long deplored the manner in which the basic constitutional rights of the people of this country have been circumvented, invaded and destroyed, and I shall continue my efforts to stem this tide and to correct it.

CROSSROADS ★ REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where our U.S. Senators have sobered up from their economy jag long enough to vote $150,000 for wall-to-wall carpet in their new 25 million office building.

This is on account of they are afraid some of their office girls may slip on the slick rubber tile and fall and break something.

But my tax-groggy neighbor says it don't look to him like there would be much danger of a well-poised, healthy young woman skidding on a rubber floor unless somebody was chasing her.

* * *

I see where a pack of night crawlers in Mississippi took a man out and lynched him here a while back and the FBI has turned over a lot of chips to find which one they have been hiding under.

My off-beam neighbor says the deep federal interest in this matter is maybe because Washington is running short of Grade A bureaucrat material and figures these boys would fit right in.

On account of even without holding government jobs the lynchers show they have aptitude and temperament to judge and execute on fellow citizens without wasting time with old slow-triggered juries.

* * *

I see where some hospital workers went on strike the other day in New York, but a bunch of outsiders crossed their picket lines and took over their jobs.

And because these strike-breakers butted in, none of the sick folks in the hospitals died for want of care, which seriously weakened the educational impact of the strike.

My union rights neighbor says it's time for Congress or the Supreme Court to pass a law against strike-breakers, so the Army and the FBI can help shoot them and beat them up and dynamite their dens.

* * *

I see where some folks say they wouldn't vote for a Catholic for President because they think his first loyalty might be to his church instead of to his country.

My sectless Christian neighbor says this don't seem so bad, on account of the U.S. normally stands second of worse in the affections of its pubic servants.

Says, in fact, the nation might be better off playing second fiddle to a church than taking the loyalty leavings of political wire-pullers, business and labor bosses, Karl Marx and congressmen's families.

* * *

I see where Congress has got a committee which is going to study out how to reduce tax rates without cutting down on revenue.

My people-wise neighbor says they can get this result with no strain, by cutting income tax rates in half and publishing each taxpayer's reported income in his home town paper.

Says at this reduced rate, a man could impress his neighbors by paying a little extra tax, and not have to go in debt for a boat or a big car or a fancy house in order to up his social standing.

* * *

I see where a prominent Senator finds one of the main things for folks to worry about is juvenile delinquency.

Which my worrying expert neighbor says is a good subject to practice on, but to make a Master Worrier the Senator needs to cross wrinkles with some of the real problems the country has got on its hands.

Says if he'd look he could find enough material right there in Washington to keep an army of journeyman worriers busy for years, just on the subjects of legislative, executive and judicial delinquency.

VALUE-RATE the ROCKET

The man who knows value goes Olds!

More and more medium-priced car buyers who want the most for their money are joining the swing to Olds.

Why? Because they figure up all the extra quality features and conveniences Olds has as standard equipment. They carefully consider the economy of the Rocket Engine . . . the low-cost maintenance of an Olds . . . its higher resale value. But most of all they ask themselves,

"Is this the kind of car my family and I will be proud to own . . . one that will give us the full measure of fun and comfort we want . . . is this the car whose style will stay in style?"

The Draft and You

(Editor's note: The draft has been extended for four years, until July 1, 1963. This means the nation's young men will continue the expectation to serve in the armed forces. This series of articles, based on an interview with Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, outlines the basic responsibilities and rights of young men under the draft law.)

Classification

Some time after he has registered, each man will receive a questionaire from his local board. The answers provide the basic information which the local board will use to decide whether a man should be deferred or exempt, or whether he should be considered as available for induction for two years of service.

The local board also considers information from other sources such as employers, dependents, government agencies and other legitimate sources. But fundamentally, the law imposes on the registrant the responsibility for keeping the local board informed of anything in his personal situation which might affect his classification.

Every classification must be made on the basis of individual status. There are no group classifications.

No classification is permanent, and in some cases, expiration dates are set. A man classified as available for service may find his individual situation so changed that the local board may defer him. And a man who is deferred or exempt may not remain in that class after the conditions on which the exemption or deferment is based cease to exist.

The classification assigned by the local board determines, basically, whether a man will enter service in his turn or remain temporarily in civilian life. The local boards are made up of unpaid, volunteer citizens of the community. They may not be members of the military service.

The local board may require a registrant to appear before it and has the authority to subpoena witnesses. Every registrant is required to submit to the board any information requested of him.

Most business men take an annual inventory of their business, wfarmers should take an annual inventory of soil fertility.

"The Case Of The Invisible Ear" Is Solved By Perry Mason

Erle Stanley Gardner was one of the first to discover what a tremendous advantage in both comfort and clarity "Target Hearing" brings to an active person. "I can't begin to tell you how much satisfaction I get out of it", he says.

Like Mr. Gardner, you'll be amazed at the ease and clarity with which Otarion's exclusive, patented "Target Hearing" lets you hear where you look. You'll be amazed, too, when you discover that with "Target Hearing" even your best friends may not know you're wearing a hearing aid unless you tell them. Hopper Count Indicates Light Infestation Here

Heavy rains have drowned much of the first heavy hatch of grasshoppers in the Collingsworth area, according to Forrest Preston of Childress, entomologist with the United States Department of Agriculture for the eastern Panhandle.

Preston has made several surveys here during the spring trying to determine the infestation. The first hatch, a few weeks ago, was quite heavy, he told County Agent Bob Lynch, but the count now is low and not alarming.

"We think there will not be near the problem this year as last," Lynch said.

"There could be different spots where the infestation is heavy, but the over-all picture looks good," he continuel.

Most of the breeding places to the north that were sprayed last year have only light infestations, Preston said, pointing out that much of this county's trouble comes from hoppers that have migrated from the north.

Miss Messer plans to continue her college work in Abilene.

Lice Trouble Poultry Flocks

Poultry raisers are having considerable trouble with lice and bugs this spring, and this will cut down on egg production, County Agent Bob Lynch reported.

"In hunting for lice, look especially around the vent, where most lice are found, and at the base of the feathers for lice eggs," Lynch said. "If infestation is heavy, dust each chicken individually with sodium flouride dust, then spray the inside of the hen house with 1 per cent malithion spray or three per cent malathion perch paint or roost paint."

As bluebugs stay on chickens only at night, a three per cent malathion spray should be used in the house and on the roost, being careful to get it in all cracks and crevices, for that is where bluebugs multiply, the county agent explained.

As most malathion comes in a 50 per cent emulsion concentrate, Lynch recommended mixing one pint of this with two gallons of water.

"This is the only insecticide A&M college recommends for killing buebugs," the county agent said.

HURRY! LAST WEEK! IN WIN $50 GROCERIES!
IN OUR LOCAL GULF GULFTANE LP-GAS BUTANE PROPANE
WATER HEATING CONTEST
Just write down one number—Nothing to buy!

An LP-Gas water heater will deliver much more hot water than an electric. How many gallons more in 30 days —that is the contest question.

SEND IN YOUR ESTIMATE
YOU MAY WIN!

Wonder why we have a contest like this? To prove what some folks don't know—that Gulftane beats electricity in providing plenty of hot water 24 hours a day at low, low cost.

It's a dramatic way of saying that if you aren't using Gulftane for water heating, you're probably getting too little and paying too much!

What IS Gulftane? It's a high quality LP-Gas, also known as bottled gas, propane or butane. It is gas compressed into concentrated liquid form, so that we can deliver Gulftane to you easily and economically. Here's what it will give you:

HOME HEATING—clean, automatic heating with Gulftane for only pennies a day.

COOKING—the modern way, with fast, clean, automatically controlled Gulftane flame.

TRACTOR FUEL—clean-burning Gulftane cuts maintenance costs up to 50%... costs less too.

MANY, MANY OTHER FARM AND HOME USES!

FACTS TO HELP YOU WIN!

An average 30-gallon LP-Gas water heater is able to deliver between 13,600 and 17,900 gallons of 160° hot water per month... an average 52-gallon electric water heater between 3,950 and 5,250 gallons per month. But the total gallons of hot water each produces in 30 days, operating 24 hours a day will vary one way or the other between these totals, depending on operating conditions.

Your Gulftane distributor has an ENTRY BLANK which contains all the test details and gives you plenty of additional information to help you win. To get your Entry Blank, phone, write, or drop in at the address below, or mail your estimate by using the coupon below. By calculating how much each will deliver, you can estimate how many more gallons you can get from an LP-Gas water heater. Your calculation may win the contest and bring you the prize.

United States Testing Company, Inc. will test two new water heaters —one LP-Gas, one electric. These will be average home-size water heaters picked at random from stock. The test will measure how much 160° hot water (normal clothes washing temperature) each will deliver over a 30-day period operating at full capacity, 24 hours a day. The certified results of this test will determine the contest winner.

Here are the easy rules

1. Phone, write or visit your Gulftane distributor and ask him for your entry blank—or use the coupon below.
2. Fill in your estimate of how many more gallons of 160° water the LP-Gas heater will deliver over the 30-day period. Don't forget to add your name and address and that of your Gulftane distributor. Type, or print in ink. Incomplete or illegible entries will not be considered. Mail to Water Heating Contest at the address below. Entries must be postmarked no later than June 12, 1959.
3. The Contest is subject to all Federal, state and local laws and is open to any adult resident of the continental United States except those employed by, or who are members of the families of employees of Warren Petroleum Corporation, its branded distributors, or its advertising agencies. More than one entry from an individual or a family will not be considered.
4. For each local contest area, the estimate determined by the judges to be closest to the actual, official test result and bearing the earliest postmark wins the prize. Judges' decisions are final.
5. The prize is a certificate worth $50.00 in groceries at a food market selected by the local Gulftane distributor.
6. Your Gulftane distributor will display the official test result June 27, 1959 at the address below. Keep a record of your estimate—compare it with the official result. Winners will be notified by July 15, 1959 and will receive their certificate shortly thereafter from their local Gulftane distributor.

Even the ducks feel at home. R. T. Savage was on his mail route northwest of town the other day and came to a puddle about a block long across the road. As he approached, five teal flew up.

Both Richard Bailey and Jack Aaron said their banks would be closed Wednesday, June 3, but both had to think a minute why. It was Jefferson Davis' birthday.

On the recent Wellington senior trip to Galveston, sponsor Gay McAlister caught the biggest fish, which she and bride-to-be Linda Brantley cooked.

Rusty Henard recently had surgery on both eyes at the same time. A few days later he was back downtown, eyes bandaged, for his regular mid-morning coffee. He remarked that he lay on the operating table and watched the operation. His friends hooted. "I did, too. I'll admit it was a little bleary, but I watched," he insisted.

Twenty-one Samnorwood seniors took along 11 parents and sponsors on their trip to Colorado—little better than a 2-to-1 ratio. Karon Breeding was asked if they objected to so much adult supervision. "Oh, no," she replied, "we asked them to go." Norwood seniors have no restrictions placed on their trip, except their usual good behavior, but they know if they do misbehave, next year's seniors will get no trip.

Several of the young May and June brides this year are getting as their wedding trip the long treck north with the wheat harvest.

Betty Belew Langford got her passport the other day and will be leaving soon to join her husband Jimmy in Germany. Betty is doing her shopping for this trip right here in Wellington. She'll fly.

While the chamber of commerce should continue it's search for industry, it is well to remember we already have an invaluable drawing card—Wellington's medical facilities. Just last week Clyde Andrews, McLean business man, was down for dental work, as were the Bill McCarvers, Ann and Judy from Hereford. And Dick Cooke of Clarendon came over to get a stubborn case of Larngytis treated. Dick is a friend of many years and ex-newspaperman (UP-INS) and this is the first time we've ever seen him speechless over anything, much less everything. He came on the recommendation of a county official several towns away.

Bill McCarver, deputy sheriff of Deaf Smith County, remarked that they now have between 7.000 and 10,000 migrant workers in the vegetable fields, most of them Mexican, Fillipino and Japenese. And if this in itself is not problem enough, a little marijuana appearing is an added headache.

I don't know if it were Lanny or Johnny Ford who remarked this to a group, but there was boyish longing in the voice: "I've asked five times for a pet skunk and my folks won't get it for me."

Mrs. Alex Shields returned to Wellington recently after an extended visit with relatives in several states. She was away about three months, visiting with brothers and sisters in Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas, Colorado and California. Mrs. Shields is planning to make her home in Odessa, where she also has a sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Kutin and children. The Jett family of which Mrs. Shields is a member, plan to have a family reunion in Lubbock July 4. There are 13 brothers and sisters.

Bratten Adds Hearing Aid Service

L. B. Bratten of Bratten's Jewelry stated that his establishment had recently been made the outlet for the Otarion Listener Eyeglass Hearing Aid.

Mr. Bratten said that in serving the need of the hard of hearing in this area, they would have the complete cooperation of Mr. Geo. A. Grey, Otarion Distributor for this area.

Appointments for a hearing test and hearing aid fittings will be booked at the store. If a customer so wished he may have his hearing test made in his own home. Lenses for the Listerner are always through arrangements with the optical specialist of the client's choosing.

Mr. Bratten said that since the Listener was introduced just five years ago it has revolutionized the entire hearing aid undustry. He explained that in "The Listener" the hearing mechanism is ingeniously concealed in the "temples" of smart eyeglasses. The mechanism incorporates transistors the size of a grain of wheat to achieve almost incredible power and charity.

Regarding the Proposed Jail Matter

The Wellington Leader in its issue of May 11th reported the intention of the Hon. Commissioners Court to create a $60,000.00 debt on the County without a vote of the people to build and equip a New Jail, the debt to bear 4% interest and to run no longer than 20 years.

Regardless of how badly our Group realizes the need for Jail facilities, we are against any such method as the above indicates.

Reason No. 1 We are absolutely against the creation of any long term County Debt at any time for any purpose without a vote of the Taxpayers who, along with their children and children's children, would have to pay. The record of the Hon. Court on this very matter for the past ten years forces this position.

Reason No. 2 We are also against any debt, even if voted, that would run beyond the year 1970 (approximately 11 years from now). The present county obligations will all be paid off by then and we see no reason to modify that goal.

Reason No. 3 We think an expenditure of $60,000.00 entirely too high. We know that there has been discussion among some of the individuals that were members of the old Committee of 22 that satisfactory Jail accommodations could be had for half as much as the $60,000.00 figure — possibly even less than half; and with certain economies added to the cash balance now on hand there may be no need for further debt at all, yet still secure adequate Jail facilities.

Solution:

Again call on the Commissioners Own Committee of 22 for advice and discussion on this important matter. This Committee of 22 accomplished wonders before, and under its guidance results were secured that the Hon. Commissioners had all reported to be impossible. This Committee might be able to work out a solution to the Jail problem, too.

Why not try this approach?

56 Farmers Sign New Soil Bank Contracts

Farmers in Collingsworth County have signed 56 additional contracts to take 6,045 acres of land out of crop production and devote it to grass, according to Travis McGuire, chairman of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. These new contracts, plus 149 modified contracts signed since last fall, cover 18,449 acres of cropland that will be in the program for the first time in 1959.

The conservation reserve is a program under whichfarmers voluntarily sign contracts for periods of up to 10 years to shift land from crop production to conservation uses.

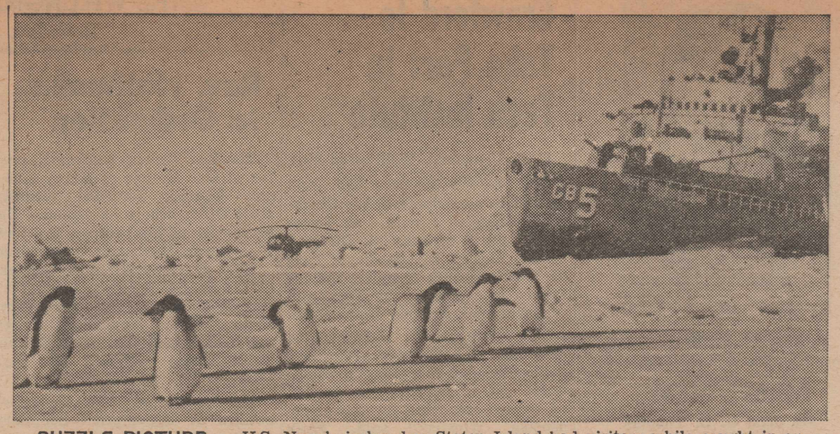

After farmers filed applications for contracts last fall, the cropland included in each approved application was inspected by representatives of the County ASC committee to determine:

1. That the land was eligible for the program;
2. The exact acreage of the land; and
3. That the land offered was of average quality for the farm.

All the work related to approving land for the 1959 contracts has now been completed and the newly signed contracts are in effect.

The crop acreage in Collingsworth County on which Conservation Reserve contracts are in effect for the current crop season now totals 64,487 acres including the land covered by contracts signed in 1956, 1957, and 1958, as well as 1959, and is covered by a total of 510 contracts.

McIlhany
Reports from Austin

(Editor's Note: This report is prepared especially for The Wellington Leader by Grainger McIlhany, representative from the 87th District comprising Colingsworth, Wheeler and Gray Counties.)

The House this week passed an Omnibus Tax Bill which would collect an estimated $18,000,000 more annually through a "severance beneficiary" tax on natural gas; $12,000,000 under a new formula of franchise taxes upon interstate corporation; $11,800,000 by new taxes on cigars and other tobacco; $10,500,000 by boosting cigarette taxes one cent a package; $18,000,000 on utilities gross receipts; $7,500,000 on motor vehicle sales; and $8,000,000 on liquor and wine.

An extra $600,000 a year is expected to come from collecting taxes on special motor fuel through wholesalers instead of retailers. This bill reduced taxes on sulphur production by an estimated $900,000 annually. This bill will now go to the Senate for public hearings.

The Governor last week signed the bill for Senator Andy Rogers which creates a Red River Authority.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

Congressman Walter Rogers has been writing some splendid articles about the Frank vs Maryland case in which the Supreme Court ruled that a health inspector could enter a home without a search warrent. Rogers says: "I have long protested the enroachment and invasion of the rights of the individual American." That statement is O. K. Walter, but what the folks around here would like to know is why you have not taken some action about it in the halls of Congress.

As a matter of fairness and in order that our readers may know, we are publishing Congressman Walter Rogers letter of May 14 on this weeks issue of The Wellington Leader.

In fairness to Congressman Rogers it might also be mentioned that his constituents in this part of the Panhandle feel fairly comfortable about his voting on legislation concerning racketeering labor unions, but when they read about Jimmy Hoffa and others of his ilk, they would like for him to become vociferous in his opposition to this evil that has brough and can increase a form of tyranny that our forefathers never dreamed about.

This is to remind you again of the Dynamics of Selling Course that will be held at the Community Building next week from Monday evening through Thursday evening. It is something that every alert merchant should attend while encouraging his key employees to go to and perhaps study and take notes.

The Retail Committee of the Chamber of Commerce meet Monday and decided on a few matters. Some of these are a uniform program of closing dates for holidays, an increased expansion of the dollar day event, 100 per cent cooperation with Paul Spillman water conservation committee if full speed ahead of the promotion of the Salt Fork Dam and several other matters that will be publicized later.

The attitude of the committee on holidays will meet with hostility and criticism from quite a number of the employees of the city hall, the court house, and various Fedderal agencies. It was the stand of the committee that four holidays at least should be recognized and publicized in advance and all business firms in Wellington would be given a chance to either reject or confirm to the practice. These would be Memorial Day, July 4, Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Here is the part of the committee's report that will antagonize all the extra holiday loving people who wax fat on public funds. It was the opinion of the committe that when the four holidays fell on Sunday that SUNDAY would be the holiday. There would be none of this business of closing on Saturday or on Monday just so a bunch of people could have a three holiday week end. Now that is going to make some people angry and irritated, for they have been running this holiday business with a iron hand without a glove on it.

They will put the blame on Mame, for I am the chairman of the committee that will try to bring an orderly observance of the major holidays without penalizing the business of Wellington too much. However, if you wish to read the full list of the committee you will find it in the Chamber of Commerce story that starts on the first page of this issue.

Tribute Paid Hightower

The diploma which Bynum Hightower, Dodson mayor, would have received from Clarendon College the day following his death, was presented to his wife at the close of the graduation exercises of Dodson high school Tuesday, May 26. Oliver J. Able, dean of the college, made the presentation.

Mrs. Hightower is a teacher in Dodson high school.

In making the presentation, Mr. Able said in part:

"Our faculty and students remember Bynum at his best. He completed his year of college work with honors. He was loyal, cooperative and thoughtful of others before self. His last day in College was spent contacting and expressing his gratitude to everyone who had shared in his labors toward graduation.

"He displayed everyday evidence of three very important elements of maturity. He knew God, he accepted his role in the community and duties as a citizen, and exercised his God-given intelligence and mental powers to serve his companion and family. These three qualities add up to spiritual, social and mental competence."

Mrs. Hightower and her two children will remain in Dodson this summer.

Graham to Tech Counseling and Guidance Institute

LUBBOCK — Methods of identifying and assisting gifted high school students will be emphasized at a Counseling and Guidance Institute that will open Monday (June 1) at Texas Tech.

The Tech institute — one of 50 being held throughout the nation — is sponsored under a $30,000 National Defense Education Act grant.

Thirty certified secondary school counselors have been invited to participate in the six-week program conducted by Tech's departments of psychology and education. Among these is Louis Graham, member of the junior high faculty.

"The chief purpose of this year's institute is to upgrade the skills of counselors already certified by the state. Next year's program will be designed for school counselors yet to be certified," said Dr. Beatrice Cobb, institute director from Tech.

Thirty gifted children from 15 area schools will be tested by the institute participants for study and demonstration purposes, she added.

A major aim of the program is to help school personnel identify and give guidance to students with superior intellects and to assure their obtaining an opportunity for higher education.

Each of the institute participants will earn six hours of graduate credit in psychology and education with the West Texas School Study Council underwriting credit expenses. The participants also will receive $75 a week during the institute plus $15 a week for each legal dependent from funds made available under the National Defense Act.

Rev. Curtis Halfmann was ordained in St. Boniface Church by the Most Rev. John Morkovsky, Bishop of the Amarillo Diocesen and celebrated his first Solemn Mass in the church a few days later.

He completed his thological studies at Assumption Seminary in San Antonio.

He is serving as chaplain at Sanitorium through June, then will be at Our Mother of Mercy Church here two weeks in July, receiving his permanent assignment in August.

This was the first ordination ever held in St. Boniface Church, where the family of the two priests has lived for three generations. The present pastor is the Rev. Charles Knapp, priest here for ten years until last fall.

National Science Scholarship to Norwood Teacher

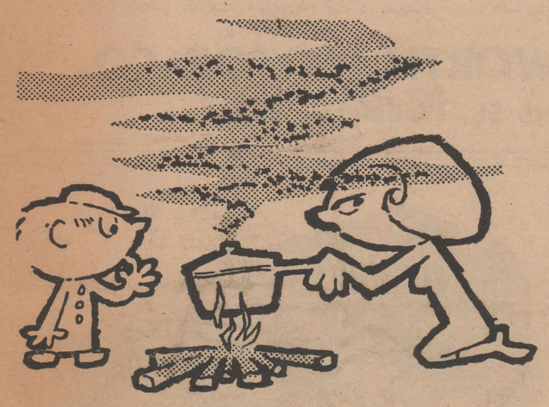

Deylon Johnson, math and science instructor at Samnorwood for three years, has received a National Science Foundation Scholarship to Baylor University, Waco, for the summer term.

This is in the field of math and science and Johnson will study specifically physics and topics of high school science teaching.

Johnson recently resigned from the Samnorwood faculty to become science and math teacher at Boys Ranch. He will move there in late August, at the end of the Baylor summer term.

Mrs. Johnson and their two sons, Larry and Danny, will be in Waco with him this summer. Their home town is Shamrock.

The family will vacation at Kingston, on Possum Kingdom lake, for a few days before going to Waco.
