POT POURRI

There has been a lot of friendly rivalry about the Carlsbad-Artesia game tonight, as well as some harsh words.

One bit of friendly exchange of banter took place Tuesday noon when Carlsbad Rotarian Lawrence Merchant, visiting the Artesia Rotary Club, made an announcement that "the state champion football team" would put on an exhibition match at Carlsbad Friday night, playing "some other team from up country" and that in behalf of the Carlsbad community he was inviting as many Artesians as could to attend the exhibition.

But he left the door open on that one, for an Artesian Rotarian promptly thanked him for the kind invitation, adding that "it not only would be nice for a few Artesians to go down to see the state champs play their exhibition game, but that they would have the added pleasure of watching in action the team that beat the state champions."

We'll have to give Bill Dunn an assist on that one, for it was he who earlier had declared:

"If the Bulldogs beat them and the Cavemen are the champs, we can always say the Bulldogs were the boys who whipped the state champions."

From time to time there have been many wisecracks about the play of words on our nickname, "Pot," and our column head, "Potpourri," which we have split into two words.

Now our old friend, F. E. Schofield, editor of The Edina (MO.) Sentinel, on which we cut our journalistic teeth, is up to his old tricks, one of which is scissors and paste work.

It was he who taught us, among many things, how to scissors-and-paste edit, and we could recognize the old maestro's handwork on an envelope we received through the mail the other day.

Pasted in the center of the envelope was the box head found at the top of this column. And beneath it was pasted the "Artesia, New Mexico," portion of the date-line under the nameplate of The Advocate.

It was promptly thrown to our postoffice box and we had a good chuckle out of it.

Then we opened the envelope and saw that Earl had been using the scissors some more, albeit he did not exactly six words.

Our analysis of his message is that he has been reading these efforts and has noted some of the repartee between us and The Little Argus of The Carlsbad Daily Current-Argus, especially at times when we sounded off somewhat about the oil-field-polish road.

Earl penned, "Correction please" above his pasting, and below it he added, "Wouldn't it be better?" and between the two lines he had pasted up a copy of our box head with additional letters of the same type face added, so as to read:

POT POURRI

But strange as it may seem, in the next mail we received another letter with a trick address on the envelope. It came from our old journalistic, column-writing friend, Will Robinson, of Albuquerque, formerly of the Pecos Valley—all parts. It likewise was promptly placed in our box and read:

Mr. Pot
Advocate Pottery
Artesia, N. M.

It has been brought to our attention that recently in the Harman items in The Advocate, there was an announcement that the artist S.M.U. had formed two circles, in one of which the members were east of the track and in the other of which the members live west of the track.

Naturally the question has arisen, which is the wrong side of the track?

One of our informers tells us that Mrs. Addie Knowles, 84, has recently purchased a piano, after many years, and is having lots of fun with it.

That is the kind of spirit we like, and we hope Mrs. Knowles has many years of fun and music with piano.

We have intercepted another letter addressed to Santa Claus, North Pole. This is from Michael Currier, the son of Mr. and Mrs. (Continued on page six)

Deer Are Still Being Brought In From Hills

Deer are still being brought in every day from the mountains, but not in as great numbers as in some years.

And the parade of hunters will continue through the middle of next week, as the big-game season does not close until sundown Tuesday, Nov. 21.

Few of the hunters are weighing in their deer to compete in the three local contests for prizes, but as there will undoubtedly be a number who will do so later in the season, those in the running at this time will not be listed.

Brainard-Corbin is offering a sleeping bag for the heaviest buck of six points or less, Evans Hardware a sleeping bag for the lightest legal deer, and Baldwin's a hunting and fishing coat for the heaviest legal buck.

A number of hunters who had brought in deer and turkey were listed in the Tuesday issue. The list is continued here, with the hunter's name first, then number of points, actual or estimated weight, and area, in the case of deer, and with turkey indicated for those having killed their Thanksgiving dinners:

Sam Bowman, 6, 126, Dark Canyon; R. A. Southard, 8, Sitting Bull Falls; Albert Schultz, 9, 150, Pinon, and turkey; Weed; Louie Burch, turkey, Sacramento Mountains; LeRoy Cranford, turkey, Sacramento.

John A. Mathis, Jr., 4, 100, Gentry ranch; Joe Mathis, 6, 120 Gentry; Judson Hair, 4, 78, Power Tank, Guadalupe; Ed Havins, 9, 175, Guadalupe; Mrs. Ed Havins, 10, 165, Guadalupe.

James Tittle, 8, 120, Guadalupe; F. B. Chambers, 4, 120, Guadalupe; J. P. Murphy, 8, 155, Guadalupe; Mrs. J. P. Murphy, 4, 115, Guadalupe; Orville Chambers, 4, 120, Guadalupe.

Bill Siegenthaler, turkey, Gentry ranch; Bob Koonce, turkey, Gentry; John Brown, 4, Pinon; Riley Brown, 4, Pinon; F. A. Houston, 4, 79; Jack Burrows, 6, 89.

The list will be continued in the next two issues. Persons having killed deer or turkey, or their friends, are invited to call The Advocate, phone 7, to report. Weights may be estimated, of so desired.

Survivors of War II Men to Be Contacted

J. Hassler Strickland, manager of the Roswell Social Security Administration office, will be in Artesia Tuesday morning, Nov. 21. He may be contacted at the office of the New Mexico State Employment Service, Ward Building, between 11 o'clock and noon.

Because of the new provisions in the Social Security Act affecting veterans, Strickland especially wants to see survivors of World War II servicemen.

"Under the old law," Strickland said, "the time a veteran served in World War II was a complete blank on his Social Security record. Now, however, he will be given $60 per month on his record for every month he was in the service. These additional credits will not only increase the benefits of those already receiving survivors' social security benefits, but will enable other survivors not previously entitled to benefits to become eligible. It makes no difference whether the veteran died in the service or after discharge."

Any survivors contacting Strickland were asked to take with them the veteran's discharge papers or any other evidence they have which shows the time spent in the service.

District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler Visits Elks

He told members that as Elks or as members of civic or other organizations, they should attend meetings. A member, he said, will receive more knowledge each meeting of an organization he attends.

A. L. McKnight, exalted ruler of the Hobbs Elks Lodge, heading a delegation of eight members from there, spoke briefly.

Prior to the meeting, a dinner was served to members and four candidates for initiation in the club dining room.

Chief Cautions Drivers About Carlsbad Trip

Drive carefully; Stay in line! Don't pass other cars!

That was the advice this morning of Artesia Police Chief Earl D. Westfall, to the thousands of fans who will be going to Carlsbad this afternoon and early evening to see the Bulldogs play the Cavemen, and who then will drive home after the game, filled with exuberance over another win—it is hoped.

Chief Westfall said the traffic between the two cities will probably be heaviest between 6 and 8 and 10:30 and 12 o'clock.

Fast driving will accomplish little, the chief said, for it would mean overtaking car after car at the same time endangering the fast drivers and members of their parties and those in other cars.

Although the highway will be patrolled, it will be impossible for officers to be everywhere at once, so it will be up to the individuals to use good sense and thus help avoid any accidents because of the game.

If the cars are spread out a safe distance apart and are all driven at the same rate of speed—not too fast—the Artesia fans will get to and from Carlsbad rapidly enough and with no regrettable accidents, Chief Westfall said.

However, he added, driving slower than the flow of traffic will create a hazard, because other drivers will be tempted, if not forced, to overtake.

Color Pictures Are Shown Wednesday At Lions Meeting

Deer hunting and scenic color pictures were shown Wednesday at the weekly meeting of the Artesia Lions Club by W. F. Hinde and Jack Frost, respectively.

The pictures shown by Hinde were of his recent hunt in Utah, on which he killed two deer.

Frost's pictures were taken on one of his many trips down the Colorado River through the deep, almost inaccessible canyon.

Plans were discussed for the annual Christmas party given by the Lions Club for needy children. The date is to be decided on next week, it was announced.

Public Service Awards to Be Given at Dinner

Fourteen Pecos Valley division employees of Southwestern Public Service Company will receive long-time service awards at the second annual service award dinner to be held here Wednesday evening, Nov. 22. The dinner, which will be held in the Masonic Temple, will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

Service awards will be given for periods ranging from 35 down to five years and employees so honored will come from Artesia, Carlsbad and Roswell.

Robert F. Entrop, Roswell power plant manager, will receive the 35-year award, a pin bejeweled with two diamonds.

Artesia employees sharing in the awards are James W. Brown, journeyman lineman with 15 years of service, and Robert F. Rehberg, truck driver in the line department, with five years of service.

The awards will be presented by Henry E. Samson, division manager.

Other employees to receive awards and their periods of service are: For 20 years, Roy L. Flood, Roswell and Alton R. Miller and Wathen F. McCollum, Carlsbad.

For 15 years, Eugene M. Benz, Carlsbad.

Jacobs Nominated To 'Who's Who Among Students'

Miss Mary Jo Jacobs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jacobs, is one of seven seniors at Park College, Parkville, Mo., who has been selected to represent the college in the annual publication of "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities."

Nominations for the honor were made by a student-faculty committee.

Miss Jacobs, who is majoring in chemistry in preparation to entering medical school, is an outstanding athlete, has been president of the Women's Athletic Association and has been a member of the Faculty-Student Athletic Council.

She has served as vice president and president of the Cleos, a woman's society at the college.

This year, Miss Jacobs is secretary of the Student Council.

Pictures of Bulldogs Are In Today's Ads

Scattered throughout the "Beat Carlsbad" edition of The Advocate are pictures of many of the Artesia Bulldogs in advertisements in support of the team in the game tonight against the Cavemen at the Cavern City.

In all there are 26 such ads, in every one of which is a picture.

The pictures include individual Bulldogs, Head Football Coach Jack Tinson and a group of the entire team taken early in the season.

Pictures of some of the individual players are duplicated by necessity, because of the great enthusiasm shown and the demand for the ads.

However, The Advocate is now endeavoring to get cuts made of the other Bulldogs for use next week prior to the Artesia-Hobbs Thanksgiving Day game at the Lea County city.

McQuiddy Resigns As Secretary of Oil-Gas Group

Art McQuiddy of Roswell has resigned the position of executive secretary of the New Mexico Oil and Gas Association as a public and Gas Association and has joined the staff of the Western Oil and Gas Association as a public relations field representative, with offices in Los Angeles, it was announced by Emery Carper of Artesia, president of the association.

In a letter to Carper, McQuiddy said: "It is with considerable regret that I leave this association, and want to express my sincere appreciation for the splendid association with the oil industry and the fine men who are a part of it. I want to assure you that I will continue to do everything possible to assist during the transition period when a new executive secretary is taking over the work."

Prior to his position as executive secretary of the New Mexico Oil and Gas Association, McQuiddy was a newspaperman. While serving as executive secretary, his duties frequently brought him to Artesia, where he is well known among the oil and gas operators.

Embezzlement of Property Charged Against Youth

Willard F. Patrick, 19, against whom at least 24 felony warrants have been issued, was picked up Wednesday evening at Buck's Cafe by Artesia police on a local charge of embezzlement of property valued at more than $20.

It is alleged Patrick removed a mortgaged guitar from the Artesia Radio Service from the state.

Artesia police had been watching for Patrick about six weeks, even before the local charge was made, on information from the Reeves County, Texas, sheriff, who (Continued on Page Four)

Exodus of Thousands of Fans Will Start This Afternoon

An exodus from Artesia is expected to start by the middle of this afternoon, as hundreds of fans and backers of the Artesia High School Bulldog football team head for Carlsbad, where the Bulldogs will clash with the Cavemen at 7:30 o'clock tonight as the only two unbeaten, untied "A" teams in New Mexico meet.

A record crowd of more than 11,000 is expected at the game, of whom several thousand will be from Artesia.

Fans pointed out that if more than a thousand Bulldogs fans would drive to Las Cruces to support the team, as they did on Oct. 20, several thousand will drive the 35 miles to Carlsbad to see the traditional rivals fight for what may be the deciding game for the state championship.

Each team will have one more game to play on Thanksgiving, Artesia against Hobbs and Carlsbad against Roswell.

Special plans have been made at Carlsbad for the handling of the enormous crowd expected, both by way of getting cars parked and getting fans into the stadium.

Sheriff Dwight Lee announced some days ago his force and the Carlsbad Police Department were co-operating in the plans for taking care of the traffic. At that time he advised Artesia fans to turn south at Mesa Street as they enter Carlsbad and to progress south until meeting an officer, who will direct them to parking places.

Mesa Street is just west of Rio Vista Courts.

It was understood there was a special meeting in Carlsbad Wednesday night of sheriff's officers, city police, city firemen, and members of the National Guard unit there to perfect plans.

Several Artesia police officers are expected to assist.

General admission tickets are all that are available for the game, as reserved seats and general reserved sections have been sold out a number of days.

The general admission tickets may be purchased at the stadium, but persons not already having tickets and wishing to avoid standing in line this evening may make purchases at the Southwestern Public Service Company and Southern Union Gas Company offices, where some tickets are still available.

They are among 1500 general admission tickets sent to Artesia last week.

In addition, at that time 550 reserved seat tickets and 500 reserved section tickets were received here. They went on sale at 9 o'clock Thursday morning of last week at the high school gymnasium and were gone within 30 minutes.

Although Artesia always has been a football town and fans have gone all out in support of the Bulldogs, there is more enthusiasm this year than ever before, with the perfect record of the team and prospects of the state championship in view.

Likewise, Artesia and Carlsbad are old rivals and the feeling in each city every season is that the team from the other is the team to beat.

However, the Cavemen had the upper hand for 13 years and the Bulldogs did not break their winning streak until last year, when Junie Russell made good a point after touchdown to edge past Carlsbad 7-6.

One Reserved Seat Ticket Needed Badly

Does anyone have an extra reserved seat ticket—preferably in one of the lower rows—for tonight's game which he will dispose of so that a community debt can be paid?

It has been discovered that Mrs. Harlan Johnson, who was a chaperone with the Artesia High School band at the time of the school bus wreck Nov. 12, 1947, and who sustained permanent injuries, has only a general admission ticket for the game.

Unknown to Mrs. Johnson, this appeal is made for a ticket for her, so she not only will not have to stand in line, but so she will be assured of a good seat.

If anyone has an extra ticket, it will be purchased at the original price. Or it will be passed on with the donor's compliments, if anyone is willing to give a ticket.

But one must be had by the middle of the afternoon, so it can be passed on to Mrs. Johnson. One of the Artesia police officers said he will take her to the game and escort her to her seat, if she wishes.

Anyone with an extra reserved seat ticket is asked to call The Advocate, phone 7, as quickly as possible.

The Artesia Pilot Club is sponsoring gifts to be forwarded to patients at the State Tuberculosis Hospital, at Socorro. Boxes have been placed at Williams Furniture Company, Goldstein Book & Stationery Store, E. M. Lovelady Store and Irby Drug.

It has been suggested that small gifts, such as toys and books, that children can play with while in bed, be given.

Other appropriate gifts would be hair ribbons, small combs, mirrors, tooth brushes with a small tube of tooth paste attached for adults and children, games and checkers, and any other suitable articles.

Inexpensive envelopes, tablets of ruled paper, Christmas cards with no printed names on, birthday and other greeting cards, stamped envelopes and sheets of stamps and donations of money, and gift wrapping paper with seals and ribbon were also listed.

It has been suggested that gifts (Continued on Page Six)

Free Textbook Cost Is Average of $3.33

According to a recent release by State Textbook Director Paul A. Masters, the cost of free textbooks per pupil in average daily attendance for the present year is estimated at $3.33, as compared with $3.50 last year.

This difference is accounted for by the fact that the school enrollment has increased. The appropriation for both years is $450,000 for the purchase of free textbooks for elementary and high schools throughout the state.

These computations indicate that the average daily attendance in schools is approximately 135,000.

Preference in Housing Is Given Veterans

Families of Korean servicemen and World War II veterans and their families are entitled to housing preference, the U.S. housing expediter has pointed out.

This preference is in buying or renting a house that has been completed since June 30, 1947.

Veterans' preference for homes in this category is effective throughout the United States, the District of Columbia and in all U.S. possessions and territories. It will be continued until the end of June of next year.

Public Opinion Expert Criticized By Keen Rafferty

The academic public-opinion expert is criticized by Keen Rafferty, head of the University of New Mexico's journalism department, in an article, "See the Funny People," appearing in the fall issue of the New Mexico Quarterly. Just off the university press.

Rafferty's article questions the findings of another university professor, Dr. Frederick C. Irion, in Irion's book, "Public Opinion and Propaganda."

Rafferty says that some of the pollsters and scholars consider people as statistics rather than as the unpredictable free agents which they really are.

"Your particularist scholar in this field," writes Rafferty, "expects of people something not quite human, not quite real, not quite tortured enough. He wants things down in black and white, in tables and charts, so that the people can no longer betray him. Academically, he does not want Truman elected when the polls . . . say it will be Dewey."

Rafferty's criticisms attribute the Irion conclusions to the imperfections of the scholarly approach to public opinion rather than to any personal failure.

Applauding Dr. Irion's efforts as a fine rewrite job "done with personal honesty and courage," Rafferty explains: "If I have been quarrelsome here, it is not so much with the nature of the group, which always seems to be motivated by a desire to prove that people are funny."

In scolding the people's "pattern" thinking, says Rafferty, the public opinionist appears to have a pattern of his own based upon his essential dislike of popular taste rather than on his essential understanding of people.

"It is fashionable among these experts," he continues, "to state that comic books, for example, are bad things. Irion seems to agree." But some others think that comic books fill a real need for imaginative children, Rafferty says.

It is Rafferty's belief that public opinion is not molded — it molds; and that all the people, including those who think they can mold the masses, spring from the masses and owe everything to them.

"The degree of public acceptance of the opinion of leaders is the ultimate gauge of the importance and validity of these opinions," he says.

Schooling Under GI Bill Is Down From Last Year

Approximately 10 per cent fewer World War II veterans in New Mexico on training in school, on the farm, or on the job under the GI Bill and its companion Public Law 16 for the disabled than last year, Gene A. Robens, manager of the Veterans Administration regional office in Albuquerque, reported.

This decline was considerably under the national average and was not unexpected because of reduced enrollment in colleges in the state for the fall term, Robens said. Registration of veterans in New Mexico colleges is expected to total about 3350 against 4000 last year. Totals for individual schools will not be available until late enrollments are reported.

Estimates of veterans in training, based on actual Oct. 1 figures, show approximately 9000 veterans in training against a total of 10,504 in training at the end of October last year.

Robens announced that subsistence payments to veterans in training are current throughout the state. Processing of registrations was done insupplemental payrolls so that veterans who did not receive their checks Oct. 1 did get them on one of several mailing dates the first 10 days of the month.

A VA survey made shortly before the beginning of the school term shows that 32,379 New Mexican World War II veterans have availed themselves of the educational benefits of the GI Bill.

Of this total 8706 have attended schools of higher learning; 12,638 have studied in schools below the college level; 3473 have taken institutional on-farm training, and 7,612 have trained on the job.

In addition, more than 3000 disabled veterans in New Mexico have availed themselves of vocational rehabilitation courses under Public Law 16.

Many Checks Are Returned To Treasury

Checks for approximately 65,000 veterans or their dependents are delayed or returned to the Treasury Department every month, Veterans Administration said.

These checks are for compensation, pensions or other veterans' benefits administered by VA. These checks are delayed or returned because the veteran or dependents moved and failed to notify VA of their change of address.

Under law, these checks must be returned to the Treasury, and cannot be mailed again until VA supplies a new address.

The remedy is evident—and painless—VA said. The agency urges anyone receiving a cash benefit from the Veterans Administration to make absolutely sure that every change of address is promptly reported to VA.

A change of address form is available at every VA office. If it is inconvenient to get to a VA office, a letter to the nearest VA office will do the trick.

The letter should contain full name and address, the veteran's "C" (for claim) number, the benefit for which the payment is made, and the old and new addresses.

Draft Appeal Is Simplest Thing in World

A great amount of confusion exists relative to taking an appeal from any Selective Service local board action.

Taking an appeal is the simplest thing in the world. All any registrant has to do is to write a letter or a postcard to a local board, saying, "I desire to appeal my classification."

Not only may any registrant appeal but any person who has claimed his deferment, such as an employer or a dependent, may appeal.

However, appeals must be made within 10 days from the date the notice of classification is mailed to the individual. Local boards are authorized to grant an appeal at any time up to the date the registrant is ordered for induction, if the status of the registrant has changed and due proof is presented of the change.

The burden of complying with the Selective Service Law is upon the registrant himself and not upon the local board, and if evidence such as dependency or occupation is not presented, one cannot expect the local board to go out and dig up the evidence, as Selective Service is not an investigative agency.

Life Companies Extend Mortgage Needs in State

New Mexico property owners had $63,438,000 of their mortgage financing needs extended to them by the life insurance companies of the country at the start of this year, the Institute of Life Insurance reports. These real estate loans covered 7620 individual mortgages in the state.

"This mortgage financing extended by the life companies has been an important aid in helping this state and the entire country meet the acute housing and construction need in the years which followed World War II," the institute commented. "Nationally, the total funds loaned by U.S. life companies to property owners in the U.S. under mortgages nearly doubled in the four years and stood at $12,764,870,000 on 1,364,440 mortgages at the start of this year. That was a net increase of more than six billion dollars in the four years. And of this aggregate, more than three-fifths was on housing. About 85 per cent of the total number of mortgages was for housing, in large part relatively small value individual homes."

Of the total mortgages outstanding in this state with the life companies at the start of the year, $21,820,000 was on 1190 farms, $20,539,000 was on 3410 non-farm FHA insured homes, $2,830,000 was on 1200 non-farm mortgages guaranteed by the Veterans Administration and $18,246,000 was on 1820 other non-farm properties. The last included both urban housing directly financed by the companies and commercial properties.

Nationally, the life companies of this country showed $1,131,050,000 extended under 150,850 farm mortgages, $3,449,519,000 under 497,290 non-farm FHA mortgages, $1,222,806,000 under 259,730 non-farm VA mortgages and $6,961,495,000 under 457,030 other non-farm mortgages.

In addition to the real estate loans on these U.S. properties, the life companies of the country had an additional 16,260 mortgages in Canada and other areas where they do business, representing loans of $129,385,000. The aggregate mortgage investment of the life companies at the start of the year was $12,894,255,000 on 1,380,730 mortgages, an average of $9,340.

Vehicles Operated By Oil Industry Low On Accidents

Motor vehicles operated by the petroleum industry in 1949 traveled the equivalent of 75,188 miles each without an accident, figures compiled by the American Petroleum Institute indicate.

The institute's 18th annual survey of motor vehicle accidents in the industry shows the lowest frequency rate in four years and the lowest number of accidents per vehicle operated in three years.

Records of 138 companies showed that the 57,373 vehicles covered experienced only 1.33 accidents every 100,000 miles. The vehicles traveled a total of 948,187,453 miles, which figured to an industry average of 75,188 miles with out an accident. The 1949 rate compares with 1.48 accidents per 100,000 miles in 1948, 1.58 in 1947 and 1.50 in 1946.

One hundred eighty companies, operating 70,774 vehicles, reported 20.5 accidents per 100 vehicles during 1949. This compares with 22.1 per 100 in 1948 and 22 in 1947.

Of significant interest is the reduction in the number of accidents despite an increase in the number of vehicles. With 5573 more vehicles than were reported in 1948, there were 1112 fewer accidents than would have been the case if the 1948 rate per 100 vehicles had continued.

The 1949 survey covered 32 more companies than that of the previous year. Of the total 180 reporting, 42 maintained no mileage records and so were not covered in the accident frequency figures.

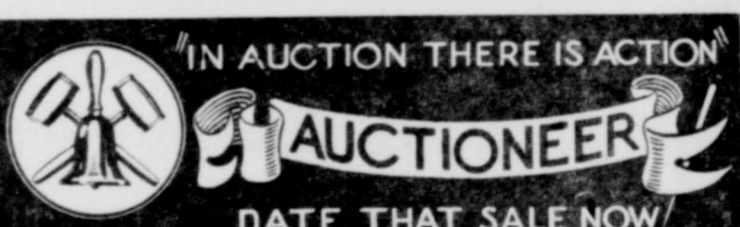

Copies of the report are available from F. G. Wilson, Department of Safety, American Petroleum Institute, 50 West 50th Street, New York 20, N. Y.

"New Mexico's business activity in August continued its upward trend, showing improvement over last year," according to "New Mexico Business," a publication of the University Bureau of Business Research.

Prof. Ralph L. Edgel, director of the bureau, said in the bulletin: "Business improvement was fairly well distributed over the state. Only in District Three, embracing Colfax, Union and Harding Counties, did retail trade fall below the level of a year ago."

The retail business decline in Colfax County was 6 per cent. Largest gains were in Torrance, Bernalillo and Valencia Counties grouped as a district. Most of the gain in this district was in food stores, automobile dealers and furniture and appliance retailers.

The 176 per cent increase in sales of building materials in District

Two, Rio Arriba, Santa Fe and Sandoval Counties, is partially attributed to the construction work on the Jemez Canyon dam, the report said.

Volume of wage employment in non-agricultural establishments increased 5.7 per cent, with construction and mining leading. Mine production in metallics showed remarkable gains, reflecting the effect of the Korean hostilities. Even coal production, weak in the New Mexico mining industry, showed substantial gains in August over July, the bulletin added.

Employment in metals mining, which in 1949 dropped from 3300 in June to 2600 in July and has since been around 2300, picked up to 2950 in August of this year. Most of this increase was in Grant and Socorro Counties.

Construction employment increased more than 10 per cent over August, 1949, and sales of building materials were running more than 28 per cent ahead of a year earlier.

Retail sales during August gained over July, setting an all-time record for the state at 410.5 per cent above the monthly average for 1929. With sales at a level of 735.9 index points above the 1939 average, the furniture and appliance stores were leading all retail groups in their gain over prewar levels.

A Bureau of Agricultural Economics report indicates estimated production of corn in the state will approximate 65 per cent of last year, wheat 89 per cent, oats 96, dry beans 37, sorghums for grain 39, broom corn 37, potatoes 65, peanuts 95, commercial apples 24, and peaches 23 per cent.

Counties showing a retail sales loss in August over July were Harding, Quay, Grant, Colfax, Lincoln, Chavez and Dona Ana. All lost less than 10 per cent except Harding, which declined 21 per cent.

Counties showing less than a 10 per cent gain were Curry, Santa Fe, McKinley, San Miguel, Torrance, Sierra, Socorro and Taos. Those with at least 10 but less than 30 per cent gain were Lea, Otero, Guadalupe, Rio Arriba, Roosevelt, Eddy, Catron, Hidalgo, Mora and Union.

Charles E. Currier. And here we thought all along his name was just plain Mike. But we presume Michael is the more correct form, used only in formal correspondence. At any rate, Michael wrote: "I am fine I have been a good boy all year I wish you would bring me a black Accordion with 100 and eleven white bases in the large size please. Thank you, Michael Currier."

As a parting shot, may the better team win tonight—the Artesia Bulldogs, that is!—A.L.B.

Exchange Lecture Program Awards Are Available

New Mexico scholars may participate in an exchange lecture program with universities in 17 countries it was announced by the University of New Mexico Graduate School.

Under the Fulbright Act more than 300 awards are being made to U.S. citizens — college professors, research scholars, and specialists in history, political science, and law — to lecture and study in foreign countries. Funds for the program come from the sale by the government of surplus property abroad.

Successful applications for the awards may study medieval history in Belgium, the Near East in Egypt, or classical history in Greece. Lecturers on various aspects of American law are in demand in Egypt, Italy, the Netherlands and the United Kingdom, while Norway, New Zealand, and the Philippines ask for American experts in political science and American history.

Three Scottish universities have asked to sponsor jointly a course

Mauled Battle-Weary Bulldogs Face Cavemen's Crushing Power

Crucial Game to Start
At 7:30 O'Clock Tonight

An ailing Bulldog, scarred by bruises, cuts and gigantic body-shaking impact in 10 battles, will have again to take on even more punishment as he enters the arena at 7:30 o'clock tonight to confront the skill, speed and crushing power of a Caveman.

Aware of the might of his opponent, the Bulldog realizes it will take everything he has to win. The Artesia High School football team respects the strength of its opponent, Carlsbad High School, twice state champs, and roaring along the track like a transcontinental express toward the goal of another state crown.

The Bulldogs took a terrific pounding last Thursday when they narrowly edged by Eunice 13-0 and the injury list is long, including such aces as Doyle Cole, the grid-wise and speedy back, and Ivan Clay, courageous, rugged lineman.

Crowd for the classic has been estimated at from 10,000 to 15,000. A record number from Artesia is expected to attend to back their team.

Time of the game is 7:30 o'clock, not 8, as was incorrectly stated in a story in Tuesday's issue. Place will be Cavemen Field in Carlsbad.

Win or lose, the Bulldogs have another game to play to complete their exhausting 12-game schedule, but the Bulldogs are taking the games as they come, one at a time.

Tendency of some fans to concentrate on the Thanksgiving Day tilt with Hobbs is not the way the team is thinking for the Carlsbad game comes first and Carlsbad will be double-tough.

It's Carlsbad the Bulldogs play tonight, not Hobbs, and the team isn't forgetting that fact.

Cavemen 1950 Record
The Carlsbad team is unbeaten and untied in eight games, has amassed 231 points to their opponents 40, an average of almost 29 points a game for the Cavemen.

Artesia-Hobbs Rivalry Also Keen in 1949

History repeats in 1950. A headline in the Nov. 22, 1949 issue of The Artesia Advocate says:

"Artesia may be Stumbling Block for Champ Contenders."

The story with the headline quoted above, however, concerns the Artesia-Hobbs game of that year and reads in part:

A record crowd is expected at Morris Field at 2 o'clock Thanksgiving afternoon, when the Artesia Bulldogs will face the Hobbs Eagles, leaders for the mythical state grid championship, in the annual homecoming game in a clash which some dopesters figure may upset the visitors and dethrone them.

Since the Bulldogs upset the Carlsbad Cavemen 7-6 Friday night Hobbs fans admit the feeling in the Lea County city is more than ever to the effect that "Artesia is the team to beat."

Artesia citizens who have been in Hobbs since the Carlsbad-Artesia game said followers of the Eagles declare they are not coming to Artesia with any idea of a push-over, but rather that the Eagles will be humble and fighting to hold the mythical crown which they won last year and which they hope to keep this season.

Sports writers over the state are pointing to the Hobbs-Artesia clash as the prep game of the week—perhaps the game of the season.

Although Hobbs is only one of five teams undefeated in state play, the Eagles have had the edge in the weekly poll by sports writers. The others are Albuquerque, Tucumcari, Deming, and Dawson. The Eagles turned in a 21-13 victory over Kermit, Texas, Friday.

Mentor

RALPH BOWYER

Two state championships in seven years is the excellent record achieved by Carlsbad High School football teams under the leadership of Coach Ralph Bowyer. The Carlsbad Mentor is a former University of New Mexico gridiron star, also was on Lobo track and basketball teams. Bowyer-coached Carlsbad teams won the state crown in 1945 and 1946. They are making a vigorous bid to repeat this season, have won all eight games played. Photo courtesy The Daily Current-Argus of Carlsbad.

Here's How Bulldogs Won One Year Ago

Junie Russell's educated toe broke a 13-year jinx Friday night at Carlsbad and gave the Artesia Bulldogs the necessary point to down the Cavemen 7-6 in the third quarter after Joe Harbert had intercepted a pass from Caveman Jimmy Miller to set Artesia up for a touchdown on the Carlsbad six-yard line.

That was the way it happened in 1949 as revealed in the lead of the story on the game published in the Nov. 22 issue of The Artesia Advocate.

The game that year as this was in Carlsbad. And history repeats for the streamer reads "Bulldogs Set to Meet Hobbs Eagles in Turkey Day Clash."

The Artesia-Hobbs game that year, however, was on Morris Field and was Artesia's homecoming. This year Artesia again plays Hobbs on Thanksgiving Day but at Hobbs, winding up the Bulldogs 12-game 1950 schedule.

How Artesia Won

Excerpts from the story on the 1949 Artesia-Carlsbad game:

"More than 1500 Artesia fans followed the Bulldogs to Carlsbad to spur them on against the Bulldogs ancient rivals."

"The Cavemen lost their third consecutive game in their defeat to Artesia after a good start in the 1949 season and a rating high on the list of teams favored for the mythical state championship."

"The Carlsbad touchdown was scored near the end of the first quarter when Juan Mendez went over on an off-tackle smash from the one-yard line on the next play after he had returned a punt by Bulldog A. L. Terpening from the Artesia 41."

"Porky Leyva's place kick for the extra point went wide."

"The only other time Artesia was seriously threatened was at the end of the first half when the Cavemen marched from their own 15 to the Artesia 13 on three consecutive plays and first downs only to bog down on the next four plays which netted them a gain of only two yards. Artesia was in possession when the half ended two plays later."

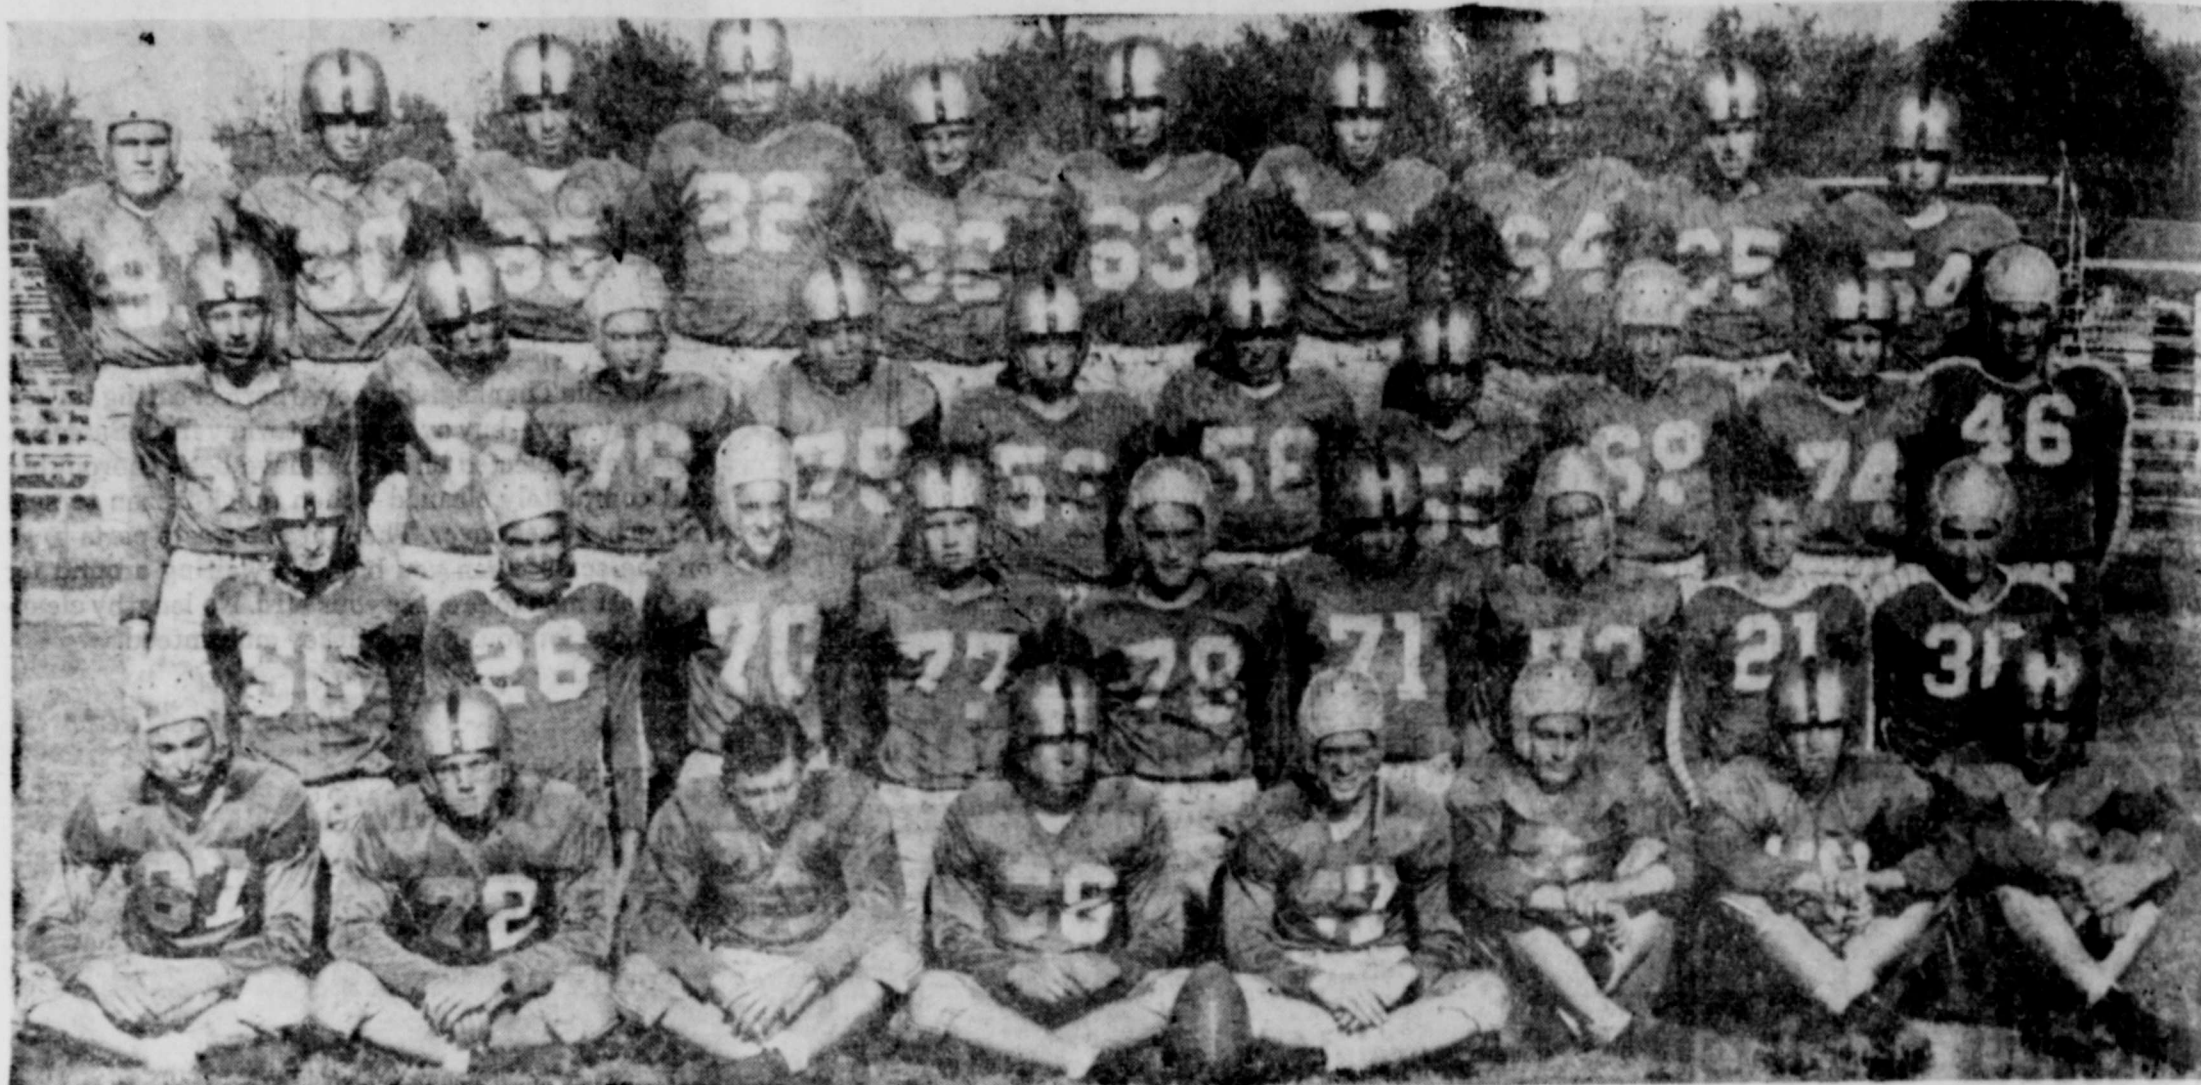

"Although the Bulldogs gave a good accounting of themselves during the first half they barely penetrated Carlsbad territory."

The story then says, "but in the second half they hit their stride," providing a parallel to some of the games the Bulldogs have played this season.

"After Harbert intercepted Miller's pass on the Carlsbad 30 and returned it to the one, Ronald Dublin plunged to the two-inch line and then Doyle Cole failed to put it over and Dublin scored the next play on a quarterback sneak."

Miners in Fine Shape for Game With Easterners

Texas Western's Miners began preparations Wednesday for their Nov. 25 encounter with West Virginia University.

With two crippled halfbacks in the line-up, the Miners purred with great efficiency last Saturday to hand the highly favored Hardin-Simmons Cowboys a 21-20 lacing.

Happy over the return to form of the Miners, Coach Mike Brumbelow declared a two days recess of practice as Texas Western has its first open date of the season set for this week.

The Miners used a hard-charging defensive line and a powerful ground attack to overcome a 13 point Hardin-Simmons lead and go on to win late in the fourth quarter. It was a replay in thrills and sensational football of the 1948 meeting between the two Border Conference rivals which ended in a 27-27 tie.

Texas Western, El Paso, now holding down third place in conference standings, has won five games while losing three. Victims of a rash of mid-season injuries, the Miners dropped two in a row after four consecutive victories.

After being host to the West Virginia Mountaineers on Nov. 25,

Texas Western Opens $250,000 Athletes Lodge

Formal opening of Texas Western College's new athletic dormitory was held this week. The dormitory, constructed at a cost of $250,000, will house 78 athletes.

Mike Brumbelow, head coach and athletic director, termed the new dormitory one of the finest in the nation.

Officially named Miners Hall, the three story building is located on the main campus in El Paso just north of Worrell Hall. It will house football, basketball, track men and other Texas Western athletes. Construction began last April and was completed last week.

The dormitory has its own kitchen and dining room. In addition to room for the athletes, it contains offices for members of the coaching staff and rooms for football movies and skull practices. Roland (Tuffy) Nabors, football line coach, occupies a four-room apartment in the building with his family.

John Paul Jones after the Revolution served as rear-admiral in the Russian navy.

The Miners travel to Honolulu for a Dec. 2 game with Hawaii University.

Motorists' Taxes This Year Will Jump $2,544,000

Special state taxes collected each year from New Mexico motorists will jump by at least $2,544,000 because of the 1950 increase in motor vehicle ownership, Fred Linn, executive secretary of the New Mexico Petroleum Industries Committee, said.

His computation is based on preliminary estimates of 1950 car, bus, and truck registrations recently released by the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads.

"Without any increase in present tax rates, the increase in vehicle ownership expected during 1950 should mean a 14 per cent increase in registration fee collections and a minimum increase of $1,900,000 in gasoline tax revenues to New Mexico. Increased use of motor vehicles and new registrations in future years will further increase state highway-user tax collections," he said.

The Bureau of Public Roads estimated that New Mexico will have 228,000 registered motor vehicles at the beginning of 1951, compared with 200,339 at the start of 1950.

In the course of this year, the New Mexico motorist will pay an average of about $123 in state and federal levies (the highest in the nation) just because he owns and operates a car or truck. And gov-

Farm Agency Tells Of Cotton Purchase

Eddy County farmers were advised today by N. W. Stiver, Carlsbad, administrative assistant, that the production and marketing administration of the agriculture department has announced an offer of the Commodity Credit Corporation to buy and stockpile limited quantities of American-Egyptian cottonseed of the Amsack and Pima 32 varieties.

This action is being taken in order to safeguard the supply of such cottonseed for future planting purposes and thereby be in position to increase the domestic supplies of extra long-staple cotton on short notice if the need should arise in the interest of national security.

Purchases will be made only in Arizona, California, New Mexico, and Texas, and will be restricted to areas that have been determined to be suitable for the growth of American-Egyptian cotton.

The program provides for the purchase of (1) all registered and certified Amsack and Pima-32 varieties of cottonseed that may be offered, and approximately 3000 short tons of cottonseed of these varieties but which will not quite meet the standards for registered and certified seed.

The purchase rates for registered and certified seed will be $60 per ton above the gin-yard price to producers and the rates for other cottonseed will be $45 per ton above the gin-yard price.

The gin-yard prices for Arizona and California will be computed upon the basis of current prices being paid by oil mills in Phoenix, and for New Mexico and Texas upon the basis of current oil mill prices at El Paso.

The premium over the gin-yard prices is the minimum amount considered necessary to obtain the seed in view of the additional costs incurred in preparing and delivering the cottonseed for seed purposes.

Roy Johnson, No. 25, is only a freshman and there's plenty of games ahead of this 178-pound player, whose weight adds to Bulldog power.

All cottonseed purchases must be tested for moisture and germination, sacked and delivered to approved storage. The cottonseed shall have a moisture content not to exceed 10 per cent and the germination shall not be less than 80 per cent.

The State PMA Committees will determine the gin-yard prices. Other detailed information will be available during the purchase period from PMA state and county committees.

Quarterback Club To Choose Officers

Officers of Artesia Quarterback Club are to be nominated by a committee report to be turned in at the club's next meeting at 6:30 o'clock Monday night in the high school cafeteria.

Shirley Hagar, president, announced at the club's supper Wednesday night that election of officers previously had been held at the beginning of the football season but it was thought a better way was to elect officers for the coming year in advance.

The nominating committee is headed by Clarence Connor.

Members of the A and B football squads were guests at the supper, held two days prior to the classic of the year, the Artesia-Carlsbad game to be played there tonight.

Dr. Marshall Dyke, owner, and Stubby Greer, manager, of Artesia's new pro baseball team, were introduced.

Principal speaker was Coach Jack Tinson who reviewed the Eunice game and outlined prospects for the crucial battle with Carlsbad.

State Seed Lab Has Busy Time During 1949-50

The State Seed Laboratory at New Mexico A & M College had a busy time of it during the 1949-50 fiscal year, according to the annual report issued recently by Miss Elizabeth McSwain, seed analyst at the laboratory.

From July, 1949, through June, 1950, state seed inspectors made 429 visits, inspected 972 lots of seed consisting of 37,334 bags, and drew 610 samples to be tested in the laboratory. Besides these regulatory samples, 1492 samples were received from farmers and dealers in 28 counties, and 120 samples were tested for experiment stations or as referee tests, making a total of 2222 samples requiring 3707 tests for purity and germination.

Only 86 per cent of the lots of seed tested, however, were correctly labeled in accordance with the state seed law, Miss McSwain says.

The annual report contains complete information for correct labeling of seed samples, as well as other data about testing requirements, and the percentages of samples which had been correctly labeled by seedmen in New Mexico and other states.

In the report, Miss McSwain points out that:

There is no excuse for selling or buying seed which is not properly labeled according to law.

Seed tests protect both buyer and seller, if the tests are made on truly representative samples.

Many seedmen are still careless about the method and meaning of seed labeling.

With the latest methods of seed handling — cleaning, testing, and labeling there's no reason why buyers should accept poor quality seed.

Copies of the report may be obtained from the State Seed Laboratory, State College.

Artificial Light Boosts Output

One among many means of increasing winter egg production is artificial lighting. The laying hen belongs to no season, but her working day is over when sunlight no longer filters into the laying house. She's ready for her roots, then, and the production of her next egg will have to wait until tomorrow's daylight. To offset the effect of short fall and winter days, many poultrymen resort to the use of light, turning them on either early in the morning or at dusk or both. Enough morning or evening lighting to account for a 13-hour day is considered about right by most raisers of poultry.

Lighting is an important factor because it helps maintain proper body weight, tends to hasten maturity for late-hatched pullets and has the effect of bringing breeders back into production—all these in addition to lengthening the daily feeding and egg-laying period.

If hot weather retards food consumption among early-hatched pullets that begin laying in June or July, use lights to prevent the loss of body weight if weight cannot be maintained by any known feeding method. Usually by mid-October lighting should be started on birds that have been in production for some time.

Ask your feed dealer what your birds are going to need to keep in high production. See that your flock has plenty of the right kind of nourishment. Make sure there is enough room at the feeders so that each bird can have an adequate ration. Don't skimp on grit and oyster shell. Above all, look after the health of your chickens—a well managed flock will usually be in good condition and their appetites will be on a scale that guarantees good production.

Child Labor Provisions Are Tightened

When Congress amended the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act in 1949, the coverage of the child-labor provisions was greatly extended, County Agent Dallas Rier-son pointed out today. These parts of the new law now apply in all agriculture during school hours. The county agent emphasized that it is particularly important for farmers and ranchers to be aware of these new provisions of the law.

It is illegal to employ children under 16 years of age in agriculture during school hours. This applies to migratory children as well as local resident children working on their parents' farm or farms.

The farmer is responsible for finding out the correct age of the young worker. He will be protected if a certificate of age issued or accepted by the U.S. Department of Labor is obtained, which shows the young person to be at least 16 years of age.

A farmer is responsible for every under-age child working on his farm. This includes children hired either individually or as a part of a family group by labor contractors, processors, or others.

The act provides, in case of willful violation, a fine up to $10,000. For second offense, committed after conviction for a similar offense, a fine of not more than $10,000 or imprisonment of not more than six months, or both, may be imposed. The secretary of labor may ask a federal district court to restrain future violations of the child-labor provisions of the act by injunctions.

Copies of the U.S. Department of Labor leaflet, "What Farmers Should Know About Child-Labor Provisions," may be obtained at the county extension office in Carlsbad.

Economist Tells Why Farmers May Go Broke

Want to know why young farmers "go on the rocks"? C. R. Keaten, associate economist at New Mexico A & M College, came up with answers to that question. Keaten attributes the failures of most young farmers to any one or all of the following reasons:

Too small a farm business.
Too little capital.
Too much debt.
The high level of farm real estate prices, compared to long-time expected income.

Too much capital invested in machinery.
Too little capital invested in Unsuitability of the farm to produce a kind of product that is in demand—or failure of the operator to convert the farm to the right product.

Poor marketing facilities.
Lack of familiarity with the area in which the farm is located, including the crops that are adapted to that area.
Lack of farm training and managerial ability.
What to do about it? Keaten says that young farmers should examine themselves on each of these ten-points. Careful consideration of each point will prevent many young farmers from failing, the economist believes.

Good Turnout Expected for Woman Speaker

A large gathering is expected when Miss Burn-Perry addresses the next meeting of the Knife and Fork Club which will be held at Masonic Temple on Nov. 18, according to Rev. R. L. Willingham the local president.

Miss Burn-Perry had a Scotch father, which accounts for her fluent English and her knowledge and understanding of ways that are of the West, and her Hindu mother can be credited for her exotic charm and very appealing manner which in some ways makes her as Indian as the Taj Mahal itself.

She is a very well educated woman, having studied at Darjeeling and she was secretary to the C.O. of the first contingent of American troops to make their headquarters in her native Calcutta.

Later she flew the "Hump" to accompany an advance force of U.S. troops into China and was the confidential aide to the commanding officer of this unit as well. Afterwards she was transferred back to Calcutta again and became the secretary of the new army base which was set up in that city.

Miss Burn-Perry comes to the local club because of its connection with the Associated Clubs, Inc. This nation-wide organization with its vast power of mass-purchasing is able to bring its member groups the best of public speakers at a fraction of their individual-date costs, and its well-oiled machinery functions in a manner to obviate most of the problems of the occasional lecture-buyer even before they have reason to arise.

But Miss Burn-Perry is not going to recall her war experiences—hers is a much more timeless and universal topic than that. Before she finishes with her remarks it will be discovered that modern, well-educated women are much the same whether they hail from Kansas or Calcutta.

Her viewpoint, however, is that of an Eastern woman and many of the things she has to say will prove stimulating and enlightening to those who are listening to her.

The lecture is sure to be enjoyed by both the ladies and the gentlemen. What she has to say is often daring and always gives pause for thought. She is a unique individual. She never follows any well-defined path in her lecture but makes her points by bringing her contrasts sharply into focus.

Confidence in Youth

WE DON'T KNOW JUST HOW LONG it is going to take us to realize that the youth of today are no worse than those of yesterday. We don't know how long it is going to take us to realize that these boys and girls are capable, they are able, they can think, and they can make decisions.

We don't know how long it is going to take to realize if there is some juvenile delinquency that we, the parents, the Sunday school teachers, the public school teachers, and the public are to blame for this—just as much to blame, maybe more so, than the youngsters.

We seek to halt their thinking; we seek to discredit their ability; we attempt to prove they are not able to make decisions for themselves. We refuse to go along with them; to give any time to them; to help them. We refuse to accept the responsibilities which parenthood imposes on us. We even refuse as teachers to co-operate with them.

Despite the fact we have accepted duties and responsibilities and been trained supposedly in educational fields, we still haven't learned that it is the parent or the teacher or the citizen who goes along with boys and girls when they want to do something who are able to have these same boys and girls go along with them when they want the youngsters to do something.

We have been perfectly willing for a good many young men of this nation of high school age to fight our fight in Korea. There are many white crosses marking the final resting place of some of those who made the supreme sacrifice—marking the graves of young men of high school age.

We had confidence in their fighting ability; in their thinking; in their decisions when they were defending us.

But those we have at home and even these when they get back home aren't capable, so we say, of making decisions. If we let them do certain things then they will soon be running over us. They will be taking advantage of us and be imposing on us.

Quite a change in our attitude, isn't it? It is all in the viewpoint because when they want to do something which may take a little of our time and our energy and our effort—well, we employ an excuse of getting out of accepting a duty and a responsibility which is ours.

We better give a few more thoughts to our young people and a few less to ourselves if we really and truly want to help our young people and want to reduce juvenile delinquency.—O.E.P.

Then Why Buy It?

THERE IS AN AWFUL LOT OF PEOPLE who frequently want to know just what good it does to buy insurance when it requires plenty of effort, a threat of a law suit or a law suit to collect the insurance after it has been bought and paid for.

And they ask this question because of various cases that come along when this occurs. Scores of claims are paid, of course, without too many questions being asked. But there are other claims which have to be paid even after a court fight.

But just why it is necessary to go to court in order to get something which has been bought and paid for is a little difficult to understand.

There is no question about the value of insurance. In our own state a half-hearted effort has been made to require all drivers of motor vehicles to carry public liability insurance. There are no teeth in the law, of course, and many do operate on the highways without insurance.

Business firms and business concerns, however, operating motor vehicles do buy and pay for public liability insurance for their own protection. They expect claims to be paid if and when there is reason to believe they are responsible for the accident.

It is not pleasant for them to be sued and for the insurance firms with which they do business to be sued in order for some individuals to collect a claim.

As a rule when the threat of a suit is filed the claim is paid. We know one insurance firm operating in America which tried to settle a claim for about $250 but eventually paid $650—paid it to keep out of court. But if they owed it, were afraid they would lose in court, why didn't they pay it?

The same is true about others. We are convinced that most people should have insurance for their protection and the protection of the public, but we also are firmly convinced those firms which refuse to pay claims and which fail to provide the protection which the individual believes he has bought and paid for should be required to pay their claims.

And there are a number of companies which do everything in the world to try to get out of paying a claim.—O.E.P.

Any individual with a reasonable amount of business training knows and realizes that our government has to learn to live within its income just as individuals must do.

Many are beginning to wonder whether the old adage of "the power to tax is the power to destroy" isn't going to come true in our own nation.

Remember away back when wars were so far apart you could start a story with "During the war," and your audience would instantly know which war you meant?—Pathfinder.

The best definition of domestic disaster is a 2-year-old getting hold of mother's fingernail polish.

In an Eastern college the girls take fencing lessons between the morning and afternoon classes. Their lunge hour.

Men love to cook — provided there's a good woman around to wash up after them.

Scientists announce that red-haired women are impulsive, quick tempered and changeable in affairs of the heart. Funny—blondes and brunets are the same way.

Advertising is wonderful when it is properly used. It is necessary, however, that you invest your advertising money wisely, not squander it in a haphazard fashion.

Each girl told why she wanted to be a Brownie, gave the promise and salute, and the group sang the "Brownie Smile Song." Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. S. P. Yates, Mrs. Frank Livingston, and Mrs. Donald Kennedy. The table was arranged with a wine-colored tablecloth centered with a horn of plenty, with streamers of ribbon running from candles to the centerpiece. Mints, cookies, and spiced tea were served the group. The girls sang a grace and closed the meeting with "Goodnight Brownies."

Mrs. Gates' troop worked on their "sit-upons" and practiced the investiture ceremony.

These discoveries are right in line with some of the earlier ones made by this research group. Years ago they found it possible to keep cars cool with much less ice, at a saving not only of ice but in cost of transporting excess ice across the country. Then, not quite so long ago, they found that shippers of California oranges could save on refrigeration in transit by opening the car ventilators to the cold air as the trains

USDA Finds Ways To Cut Costs on Fruit Shipping

Research on storage and transportation of fruits and vegetables, as carried on by the Plant Industry Station of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, has been notable for discoveries resulting in economies in the use of various materials and equipment. The studies of these scientists during the last year or so have brought out what might be called protective savings for shippers.

One study has to do with the gases given off by many fruits in storage or transit that hasten ripening. Devices had been put on the market to free the air of these gaseous by-products. But tests by the department scientists showed that, at least with apples and pears, the purifier did little more than remove odors. The fruits kept as well without as with.

The investigators recently have tried out heater-refrigerator cars with built-in heating systems, but temperatures were no better than when fans and portable charcoal heaters were used according to the present common practice.

These discoveries are right in line with some of the earlier ones made by this research group. Then, not quite so long ago, they found that shippers of California oranges could save on refrigeration in transit by opening the car ventilators to the cold air as the trains pulling into the mountains at the start of the trip east.

What the newer discoveries mean is indicated by the results of these two earlier ones. Cutting down on the ice used in refrigeration rates on such shipments by 22 per cent. By cooling the orange cars with mountain air according to new regulations that resulted from tests, the growers are saved about $40 on each car.

Former Artesian To Be Official At Road Program

Otis Evans, formerly of Artesia and one of the pioneers in the irrigation development 87 miles east of El Paso at Dell City, Texas, is one of the officials in charge of the dedication program for the new paved highway leading from the Carlsbad highway to Dell City on Sunday, Nov. 19.

Evans is chairman of the committee on decorations for the day-long program to which the public and high officials from throughout the Southwest have been invited.

Features of the program include a free barbecue, square dancing, quarter horse racing, and calf roping.

The highway runs south from the Carlsbad highway at a point 75 miles east of El Paso. It will be completed this week at a cost of $68,000 under the Texas farm-to-market program.

A total of 12,000 acres are now in cultivation at the Dell City project, which has been termed by George Hall, Western division manager for Western Cotton Oil, as one of the best irrigation developments in the Southwest. Fifty-seven wells draw water from the Guadalupe Basin's underground reservoir, discovered four years ago.

ENJOY YOURSELF —

it's saner than you think

Look at the Typical Delivered Prices
ON 1950 BUICKS

MODEL 46D—Buick SPECIAL 6-pass. Sedan with de luxe trim.....	$2262.00
MODEL 41D (Illustrated)—Buick SPECIAL 6-pass. 4-door Sedan with de luxe trim	$2324.00
MODEL 56R—Buick SUPER 6-pass. 2-door Riviera.....	$2445.00
MODEL 72R—Buick ROADMASTER 6-pass. 4-door Riviera Sedan.....	$3171.70

Optional equipment, state and local taxes, if any, additional. Prices may vary slightly in adjoining communities due to shipping charges. All prices subject to change without notice.

It would be easy to let the breath-taking power, the luxurious ride and the gleaming good looks of a Buick sweep you off your feet.

And once you've sampled the sweet response of Dynaflo Drive*—you feel a big lack in anything else.

But let's be practical about all this.

What does it cost to buy—and to own—
this star performer?

The first answer is a look at delivered prices—and most people still are surprised to find that a car which offers so much actually costs so little.

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER and SPECIAL models.

That's true, whether you put the SPECIAL,
the SUPER or the superb ROADMASTER against other cars of comparable dimensions. They certainly shine on a first-cost basis.

But this is only half the story, as you'll soon find out on any used-car lot.

Year in, year out, the resale prices of Buicks stay much closer to first cost than the prices of cars with lesser merit.

And among recent models, Buicks with

Dynaflo Drive command such a premium that you can almost figure you get this dream drive for free.

So why not let yourself go? Why not walk right into your Buick dealer's now and say, put me down for one of those!

There's no time like the present for showing your good judgment.
