Ten Italian Seaplanes Complete Atlantic Flight

New Flight Mark Set By Girl Fliers

Bobbie Trout And Edna May Cooper Chalk Up Women's Endurance Record; Still Up

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6. — Bobbie Trout, with a new girl flying partner, Edna May Cooper, actress and aviatrix, set a new womens endurance flight record today. At 9:47 a. m. she piloted the "Lady Rolph" an hour past the previous record of 42 hours, 16 minutes, set be herself and Elinor Smith, New York Aviatrix, some months ago.

Soaring on beyond the new feminine mark, the two swung around another milestone in their flight this afternoon. At 2:30 p. m., the trim monoplane had been in the air 48 hours. The girl fliers declared they aimed to crack, if possible, the present men's mark of 645 hours, held by Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brine of St. Louis.

The monotonous round above the municipal airport was abandoned for three hours between today's refueling times as the girls hied themselves in search of new scenes, feasting their eyes on aerial views of Hollywood, Beverly Hills, Santa Monica and the beaches.

Rough air, from a choppy wind which followed last night's inconvenient rainstorm, upset the noon refueling. Miss Cooper got a shower bath of gasoline, and the "Lady Rolph" obtained but 38 gallons of fuel. An emergency refueling was made at midafternoon, when the air was comparatively quiet.

A tasty luncheon of various delicacies was spurned. Instead a pound of chocolates joyously was received.

Tomorrow Miss Trout will celebrate her 25th birthday.

Three Persons Are Murdered Tuesday To Excite New York

Girl, Elderly Business Man And Young Ex-Convict Killed; Foster-Father Admits Slaying Girl With Steel Stool; Motives In Other Deaths Unknown To Officers

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—Three murders—a girl, an elderly business man, and a young ex-convict—excited New York today.

Doris Reiling, a girl in her 'teens, who tended a bakery on Broadway near 179th street, was killed by a blow dealt with such terrific force it crushed her skull. Late today her foster-father, Frederick Reiling, confessed the slaying. He said he struck her down with a steel stool.

That was around 7 a. m. Two hours later, in Brooklyn, Philip Piccataggi, 58, mild of manner and the head of a congenial family, was shot down in front of a shoe shop by two men, one with a shotgun, the other with a pistol. The motive was unknown.

Body Is Found.

Thomas Diorio, only a few weeks out of Elmira reformatory, was done to death apparently for incurring gang displeasure. His body, washed by the steady downpour of the night, lay in a Bronx gutter when found today. A bullet had drilled into the back of the head.

There was still more gunplay during the morning. A closed motor cab pulled up before a Brooklyn lunchroom and from it poured streams of lead into a group of five cab drivers who had just emerged from the lunch room.

The cab drivers dropped to the sidewalk, and the shots went over their bodies. A stray shot, however, struck one of the men in the leg as the carload of gunmen sped away. The cab drivers said they believed the attack was intended for someone else.

Reiling, a man of 40, is 10 years younger than his wife. The dead girl was 18 years old and of frail constitution.

Death Caused By Alcoholism

Body Of Woman Is Found In Car At Pampa; Intoxicants And Exposure Fatal, State Witnesses In Hearing

(By Associated Press)

PAMPA, Jan. 6. — Justice of the Peace James Todd, jr., tonight returned a coroner's verdict holding that Mrs. Carrie Cardwell, 30, whose body was found today in a car parked on a street here, came to her death from alcoholism. He based his findings on the statement of a physician as to her condition.

The sheriff's department here said tonight that the woman, who had been going by the name of Mrs. Carrie Cardwell, was Mrs. Clyde Felker, formerly of Seminole and Three Sands, Okla. Authorities were trying to locate her husband, believed to be an oil field worker.

The mortuary where the body was held telegraphed to Mrs. Flora Maddox of Delhi, Okla., believed to be a sister of the dead woman, and to Jack Jennings of San Jose, Cal., thought to be a brother, but early tonight had received no replies.

Testimony of four witnesses at the corner's hearing indicated that the woman died from exposure and effects of intoxicants. One witness, a man, testified he and the woman attended a dance at Le Fors with another couple and that Mrs. Cardwell, at a late hour, decided to remain in the car, covering herself with a blanket. There she remained until noon today, when employes of a nearby cafe investigated and discovered she was dead.

Last Sad Homage Paid To Joffre

PARIS, Jan. 6 (AP)—France today paid its last sad homage to the still form of Marshall Joffre as it lay banked by flowers on a catafalqua in the chapel of the Ecole Militaire.

Tonight, in a plain oak coffin which never will be opened again, the marshal's body lay in the cathedral of Notre Dame. On the coffin was the simple inscription "Joseph Joffre, Marshal of France, 1852-1931."

Tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock after funeral services in the cathedral, an impressive cortege will escort the body to the Invalides, where it will repose in a vault for several months before being buried in its final resting place at Louveciennes.

Thousands still stood outside the Ecole Militaire, waiting vainly for a last look at the dead hero, when the doors were closed at 8 o'clock tonight and the marshal's body placed in its coffin.

For two years Miss Terry was featured by David Belasco in some of his Broadway successes. Later she appeared under the Shubert, banner, and eventually had her own stock company at Schenectady, N. Y.

HOOVER OPTIMISTIC

Says Auto Industry Future Is Bright With Prospects

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP) — Addressing by telephone the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, President Hoover said "the despondency of some people over the future is not borne out by the statistical evidence or prospect in respect to the automobile industry."

Analyzing the automobile production, road building and gasoline consumption during the last year, the president said the figures indicated "we have been cheerful in the use of our automobiles.

"I do not assume," he added, "they are being used for transportation to the poor house."

The future of the automobile industry, he said, does not warrant any despondency.

Four States Represented At Meeting; Committee Recommends One Central Sales Office At Dallas

Cooperation Asked

Agencies Interested In The Rehabilitation Of Cotton Staple Asked To Make Funds Available To Growers

(By Associated Press)

WACO, Jan. 6. — Reccommendations that as many farmers as can be supplied plant at least 10 to 15 per cent of their cotton this year with Texas state certified pedigreed cotton seed, to be sold, for reasons of economy, from one central sales office at Dallas, were adopted here today by a committe of Texas agricultural and business leaders. Their action came after a meeting sponsored by the Texas Certified Cotton Seed Breeders association, and attended by agricultural and business leaders from Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana.

The recommendations requested cooperation of bankers, business men, cotton men, ginners, service clubs, chambers of commerce and other agencies interested in rehabilitation of the cotton staple in Texas in making available necessary financial assistance to growers who wish to obtain pedigreed foundation cotton seed stocks.

New Plan Sought.

They affected the distribution of 99 1-2 per cent of all the certified pedigreed cotton seed in Texas, which is already mobilized in bonded warehouses over the state. The meeting was called to work out a plan for its distribution.

"We recommend that this seed be utilized by as many farmers as can be supplied, for pedigreed seed blocks in 1931, to the end that farms may be planted to a pure type better staple grain of cotton planted on any farm, in order that sufficient seed to cover the entire farm in 1932 may be produced," the committee's resolution stated.

House Delays Taking Drouth Relief Action

Deaf Ear Turned To Demands For New Federal Food Loans And Mark-Time Order Given To $45,000,000 Fund

Question Validity

Chairman Of Red Cross Joins Administration In Opposition To Government Aid To Feed Hungry Of Nation

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. — Turning a deaf ear to new demands for federal food loans, the house today gave a mark-time order to the $45,000,000 drouth appropriation and its $15,000,000 food provision.

As the calls went up for help to feed hungry lest further demonstrations occur like that in Arkansas last week, the administration position against federal aid was receiving support before the senate appropriations committee by John Barton Payne, chairman of the Red Cross.

Validity Questioned

In another quarter, Secretary Mellon questioned the constitutionality of proposals to suspend foreclosure proceedings by federal land banks in drouth areas.

The house laid aside the drouth appropriation temporarily when Representative Garner of Texas, the Democratic leader, refused to agree to a proposal by Representative Laguardia, Republican, New York, that the food loans be permitted in cities as well as drouth areas. The measure will be brought up under another parliamentary procedure in a day or so if in the meantime the leaders have not incorporated the $45,000,000 fund, minus the food loan provision, in an emergency deficiency bill.

Payne told the senate committee at the opening of hearings into the unemployment and drouth situations that the Red Cross was meeting all calls for help in the drouth area and could continue to meet them from its present emergency fund.

Auto Plants Open.

Auto plants in the Detroit area resumed yesterday with a total reemployment of 22,000. The rest of yesterday's reemployment was accounted for in various rail shops, the Chicago and Northwestern recalling 7,000, the Monon lines between 600 and 700, the Norfolk and Western 2,800, the Missouri Pacific 1,200, the New York Central at East Buffalo and Depew, N. Y., 1,000, and the Southern Pacific 850.

Kidnaper Held For Abduction Of Busch Heir

Charles Abernathy, Negro, Is Arrested And Returned To St. Louis After Surrendering To Reporter Tuesday

(By Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 6.—The negro kidnaper of Adolphus Bush Orthwein, 13-year-old heir of the wealthy Busch family, was in the St. Louis county jail at Clayton tonight, six days after he seized the boy on New Year's eve.

The negro, Charles Y. Abernathy, surrendered today to Harry T. Brundige, reporter for the St. Louis Star, at Kansas City. Brundige turned the negro over to Sheriff Lill of St. Louis county, who was waiting for him near his hiding place in Kansas City.

Placed In Cell.

Abernathy was brought by automobile from Kansas City to the jail where he was booked and placed in a cell. He was smiling as he left the sheriff's office and laughed aloud as he held up a newspaper to shield his face from photographers.

Sheriff Lill gave instructions to allow no one to talk to the negro.

To Ask $50,000 Bail.

Prosecuting Attorney Castlen announced he would insist on a $50,000 bail bond for the kidnaper. Abernathy's father, Pearl Abernathy, and his niece Frieda Robb, both charged with complicity in the kidnaping still are in jail, unable to raise the $30,000 bail bonds demanded for their release.

An attorney for the Busch family said his clients would request their release, as they were convinced the father and niece had no part in the kidnaping.

Planes Reach Brazil In 17 Hours Tuesday

Another Of Twelve Scheduled To Leave On Hop Is Forced Down; Twelfth Is Unable To Rise From Africa Coast

Visitors Welcomed

One Of Most Ambitious Aviation Projects Ever Attempted Completed; Fliers Are Greeted By Big Crowds

(By The Associated Press)

NATAL, Brazil, Jan. 6. (AP)—Ten great Italian seaplanes roared down into the harbor here today between 4:15 and 4:30 o'clock (2:15 and 2:30 p. m. EST.) completing one of the most ambitious aviation projects ever attempted.

Another of the twelve scheduled to leave Bolama, Portuguese Guinea, early this morning was forced down near St. Paul Rock, off the Brazilian coast, and it was reported the twelfth was unable to rise from the West African coast as the others took off.

(Official sources in Rome announced all twelve planes began the flight, with two forced down at sea and taken in charge by Italian warcraft which lined the route over the South Atlantic.)

Takes 17 Hours

The flight of 1,875 miles was completed in approximately 17 hours, 15 minutes for the first planes which dropped down, as they came in at intervals and flew all the way in the same fashion.

Starting at 2 a. m., GMT. (9 p. m., Monday EST) while darkness still hung over Africa, the Italian squardon lifted anchor and soared out for the long flight across the South Atlantic.

Then, at 3:40 a. m., GMT, they passed the Dariceo, first of the Italian vessels along the route. At 4:37 GMT they passed the Tarigo and 7.06, same time, flew over the Vivaldo.

Thereafter they sped over the tossing ocean and crossed the lonely island of Fernando do Noronha at 2:55 p. m. local time (11:55 a. m. EST), swung straight for St. Paul Rock and finally zipped to a stop on the waters on Natal Harbor at 4:15 p. m.

A great crowd was out to welcome the visitors, people coming from miles around despite heavy rains last night, and it was a thrilling moment not only for the natives, but for the aviators who had completed such a hazardous trip.

By 4:55 p m., all the planes were safely anchored, and General Italo Balbo, who is Italian air minister and commanded the flight, disembarked with his aides to be welcomed by Brazilian officials.

The general naturally was elated, for he had said before the start if half the planes which left Italy December 17 reached Brazil, it would be a remarkable achievement.

After three days here the Itilians will go on to Rio De Janeiro.

FLIGHT STARTED

NEW YORK, Jan. 6. (AP)—Alicia Patterson, flying daughter of J. M. Patterson, publisher, took off today with Elizabeth Chase of Chicago from Sydney, Australia, to fly to Darwin, some 1,900 miles northward.

Christmas Is Observed In Abyssinia And Spain

Blacks Celebrating Differently From Other Nations

(By The Associated Press)

ADDIS ABABA, Jan. 6.—This is Christmas even in Abissinia, in accordance with the special calendar of the land.

And in this strange and barbaric, though christian, country, on which the eyes of the world recently were turned by reason of the coronation of a new king, the celebration is as different from other places in the observance as in the date.

For here the anniversary of the birth of the gentle babe of Bethlehem is signalized by feats at which naked blacks crouch around open fires tearing at raw meat fresh from the kill; by wild dances to the muted beat of tribal drums; and by a game so rough that it might be termed a form of not too modified manslaughter.

Not that the occasion is lacking in religious aspects. Tonight Ras Tafari, the 39-year-old former regent who traces his

Children Find Their Toys In Miniature Stable In Spain

(By The Associated Press)

MADRID, Jan. 6.—The birth of Christ as the occasion for Christmas has lost none of its significance in old Spain, for today Spanish children found their toys in a miniature stable built in the home.

This is Kings' day in Spain, the equivalent of Christmas in other countries. On this date, according to the Spanish version of the New Testament, the three wise men found the new-born king.

In every home, from the wealthiest to the humblest, a manger was placed, and on the straw thrown about it the gifts left by the three sages of the orient.

In the schools and children's hospitals the three kings left an abundance of toys. A great pageant, with men dressed as oriental kings, followed by gorgeous chariots rode through the principal streets of Madrid, going from orphanage to orphanage with gifts.

PRAYER MEETING TONIGHT

Mrs. O. R. Copeland Is Re-Elected President Of Delphian Chapter

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

HAVING nothing else to do, I've been down at the County Library delving into the history of Tennessee. I find that John Sevier was the first governor of Tennessee from 1796 to 1801 and that he was governor again from 1803 to 1809. Sam Houston was not the governor of Tennessee until 1827, I suppose then we can decide that Sevier was the third governor of the state.

Mrs. P. W. Wood called again, anyway, and assured us that Sevier was the third governor and that Houston was the eighth governor. She has a history of the state.

Now, would anyone else like to decide something about the history of some state? It might help with my education as I am probably better informed about Tennessee now than I have ever been before. As a matter of fact, if someone hadn't asked me for some help in learning who the third governor of the state was, I might never have known. As I sit here and ponder now, I am aware that I haven't any idea about the third governor of North Dakota or Kansas and several other states.

Which reminds me of a stunt someone was pulling the other evening, timing us on writing down the names of all of the states in the union. The shortest time it was done in, in my presence was three minutes. Some of them never did get all of the states named. It took me ten minutes to think of them all and then it was a struggle.

RADIATOR COVER

IF YOU place a plain board over the radiator under the window at the same height as window sill you find yourself with an extra table for magazines, sewing materials or whatever you want to use it for. Use wall brackets to hold the board safely in place and paint the board like the woodwork.

FEMININE COURAGE

COURAGE plays no favorites between men and women. Edna May Cooper gave an example of this the other day out at Los Angeles when she and Bobby Trout were seeking the women's endurance record in a monoplane. Her nerve saved the flight from a possible disastrous ending on the first day when she crept along the catwalk to the tail group and untangled a rope that had fouled the controls. The rope had been used to lower the girls' dinner from the refueling plane and when the basket was removed it whipped back, wrapping itself about the tail of the "Lady Rolph," endurance ship.

In my eyes, Miss Cooper did a courageous thing. I don't think I could have crawled out there no matter if the ship would have crashed, otherwise.

BLACK AND WHITE, AGAIN

BLACK velvet or satin relieved by a bunch of white gardenias continues as a popular costume in Washington, according to style notices from "there." When young girls wear the black it is usually trimmed with white fur, but older women prefer the gardenias.

HATPINS ARE BACK

THE HATPIN manufacturers can go back to work. "Hatpins will adorn the newest models of spring millinery", according to some fashion scout in Paris. The new hats are small pancake affairs worn on one side of the head, disclosing a large area of milady's bob, and are held in place by two jewel-studded, six-inch-long hatpins.

One question now arises. What would I pin a hatpin through. I'm afraid I shall have to be out of vogue again. An elastic band under the chin is more in my class.

THE CHARM SCHOOL

BEGINNING this morning, we are going to carry a series of articles on health and charm which have been prepared by Miss Nancy Earle, authority on these subjects, who is going to appear here in a series of lectures in a little more than three weeks. These daily articles are going to discuss such things as corns and bunions and the size of shoe to wear for comfort and beeauty; the secret of relaxation when rest is needed; posture; exercise; reducing; accessories and ornaments in dress; health habits; beauty that comes from within rather than from without—practical questions which every woman has in developing and maintaining her health and charm.

The series will be climaxed with the actual appearance of Miss Earle, who will lecture and answer questions for women who attend her charm school.

We can't all have physical beauty that is perfect but most of us can develop some charm if we are willing to make the effort and few of us have perfect health. Some of the things that Miss Earle will say will not apply to everyone of us but she probably will say some thing of interest to each woman who attends the school. No one is so perfect that she cannot find a channel for improvement.

After attending the school I do not expect to be irrestible and I'm not going to enter any beeauty shows, but I think perhaps I can learn something about charm with which to compensate for my looks.

Real beauty is sometimes an intangible thing. I know many people who are beautiful, in my eyes, whose features are better if they are not analyzed, and I have known people whose beauty was widely acclaimed who appeared homely to me. Personality and charm seem so much more important to me than perfect features. I'm not such an eccentric that I can't appreciate real physical beauty. There are other factors which are of great importance to me.

CHARM CHATS

by Nancy Earle

Noted Authority and Writer on Health, Charm and Beauty.

Miss Earle will be in Lubbock January 26 to 29

Who remembers "way back when" it was considered clever to pipe up during a conversation about shoes with something like, "Well I admit I have a good understanding?"

This sally was usually greeted with shrill adolescent giggles of appreciation for the wit it embodied, and murmurs of adult approval.

The atrocious run is all too frequently widely at variance with fact. A good understanding—a pair of healthy, well formed, strong feet, unmarred with some defect of corn or bunion or weak arches of some kind—is a rarity. A rarity, too, is the individual who has "the understanding" of foot health and foot comfort which would relieve her of those foot ills.

One of the greatest mistakes of which woman kind is guilty is that of wearing shoes that are too small.

And here goes up a cry and hue. Mild persuasive protests of innocence. Vociferous denials. Argumentative frownings. It seems that the damsel does not live who fudges even the tinest bit on the size of her shoe. Oh, dear no!

But ask any shoeman. He will tell you that from here to world's end there are number six feet wearing number five shoes, and number sevens wearing number six. Or at least a half a size too small.

It all comes from the erroneous belief that a small foot is pretty. That is far from the truth. The beauty of the foot is its size in proportion to the body. A size five foot on a woman five feet and six inches tall weighing a hundred and thirty pounds is a monstrosity. It is out of proportion. It amounts almost to disfigurement, as if her ears were the size of a twenty-five cent piece, or her mouth an inch in diameter.

A foot that is crowded into a shoe that is too small is immediately too ugly. It spills out over the top of the shoe. A precipice apepars on top where the vamp ends. The design of the shoe is lost in a knotty bulge. It loses its shape.

The difference between a size six shoe and a six and one-half is not perceptible to the observer. The shoeman has to look at the number of the shoe to note the difference. Yet that much difference in size will make the difference between hurting feet, threatened with corns, bunions, ingrown nails, blisters, a bad disposition—and happy smiling feet that go willingly on their way in comfort and beauty.

Bad disposition? Yes, indeed. Have you ever watched a poor deluded lady with size seven feet and size six shoes? The tortured nerves of the feet, pressed upon, constricted, bruised, told all the rest of the nerves about ho wthey were beeing abused, and the last one of them rebelled! That's how it happened.

And pretty soon the poor dear just HAS to burst out somewhere and her digestion gets bad and then comes the temper.

And all because she would not have that number seven instead of a six and a "B" width instead of the "A".

The Underpass At Monroe

ALMOST as welcome as the paving itself will be the underpass to be constructed at the point south of Monroe where the Santa Fe tracks now cross State Highway No. 9. Motorists who know the highway between here and Monroe and Abernathy, will remember the intersection well. It is almost in front of the Monroe school and the road strikes the tracks in the very center of a perilous "S" curve.

The Monroe crossing has long been one of the most dangerous of its kind on the South Plains and, since the opening of the underpasses on Avenue H and Broadway in Lubbock, has stood supreme—if you can call it that—among the grade crossing threats of Lubbock county.

The curve, upon entering the crossing from the South, is most deceptive. If the driver is not extremely careful, and if his machine is not equipped with the best of brakes, he finds it almost impossible to make the turn without tumbling into a deep ditch to the right of the curve. Many cars have tumbled into the ditch, some have been damaged and others demolished. Whether there have been serious injuries sustained at the curve, The Morning Avalanche, without records, is unable to say. But if there have not been it has been because Providence stood in the way and bridged the gap between health and hurt. The curve and the crossing itself form an indictment to careless mapping of highways and railways.

According to figures obtained from affable, accommodating Guy R. Johnston, resident engineer in charge of hardsurfacing, the underpass will cost in the neighbodhood of $20,000 and will be 25 feet in width. Work has already been begun and the pass, when completed will have a greater clearance than the underpasses in the city. The dangerous "S" curve has been cut down, Engineer Johnston says, to the point where the underpass will be fairly open, giving the driver little trouble in negotiating it and blotting out the threat of a grade crossing smash.

Doubtless there are other improvements in Lubbock county—improvements already made and others to be accomplished—which are as of much importance as the Monroe underpass. The Morning Avalanche believes, however, without fear of contradiction, that there is none more important than this project, which is a step in the right direction.

Practical Health Problems

SPECIAL DIET IS IMPORTANT IN CONTROL OF BRIGHT'S DISEASE

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

The average man is unfortunately of the belief that for every disease there is a special diet which can be handed to him on a slip by the doctor and that thereby his condition can be greatly improved.

The actual facts of the matter are that the influence of diet in disease is usually exaggerated and not generally well understood. The whole purpose of dietary control of disease is to take from organs concerned with digestion, absorption, and assimilation of food, any unnecessary activity so as to give them a chance to overcome the changes brought about in time by disease.

The physician chooses the diet for the individual patient on the basis of his knowledge of the changes that have taken place in the tissues of the patient. Certain principles are fundamental and the considerations here given are not intended in any way to modify the individual instructions given by the physician who is actually in charge of the case. They merely indicate the reason for these instructions when they are given.

Inflammation of the kidney, in the acute stage, means generally a failure of the kidneys to eliminate anything at all. Obviously the important factor in such disease is to withhold food so as to permit less retention of waste products in the body. In subacute forms of inflammation of the kidney, there is serious drainage of protein material from the body and perhaps some retention of salt, but little retention of waste products. Hence the diet in this stage is planned to make good the waste of protein and perhaps to cut down the salt.

In chronic inflammation of the kidney, which is the true Bright's disease, the amount of food, particularly protein, that the patient takes must be adjusted to the ability of the kidney to take care of elimination.

Hence in the acute nephritis or inflammation of the kidney it is generally safe to cut down the patient's diet to a small amount of fruit, fruit juice, sugar and water for at least a few days, eliminating proteins almost entirely and avoiding salt.

In the chronic forms of inflammation of the kidney, various special diets have been developed by experts in this field. They make their decisions on studies of the blood, which indicate whether or not the kidney is properly eliminating protein and waste products, or whether these substances are being retained in the blood.

If there is a retention of such substances, the protein given is generally small in amount. If there is excessive loss of protein, then the diet which is given is planned to contain larger amounts of protein material, such as can be secured from eggs, milk, lean meat and similar substances.

A low protein diet might include, for example, a breakfast of stewed apricots, small amount of cream of wheat or similar cereal, whole wheat bread and a cereal coffee; a luncheon including a cream of celery or tomato soup, apple salad, bread and butter, and a fresh fruit with six ounces of milk; a dinner including one egg, baked potato, some squash and string beans, lettuce salad, orange ice, one slice of bread and some de-caffeinated coffee.

It may be understood that the materials thus recommended are not meant to be the same for every day, but that variations may be made, provided the foods chosen are along the same lines.

Fear Gold Shortage Coming

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—With the lion's share of the world's gold in Uncle Sam's treasury vaults in Washington, a gold shortage may seem like a paradoxical thing for economists to suggest as one of the causes of the business depression.

Nevertheless, some of them do suggest it.

Of course, in doing so, they mean an international shortage—not a shortage in this country or in France, which, like America, has, if anything, a surfeit of the precious metal.

France, to be sure, does not appear to suffer from its plethora, if it be one, but is, instead, tolerably prosperous in the midst of other people's period of adversity. As for the United States, assuming that too much of this particular good thing really amounts to a handicap, it is only rather indirectly so, in the opinion of Chairman Peter Norbeck of the senate committee on banking and currency.

"It doubless follows," he agrees, "from the fact that we have more gold than we need, that our neighbors have too little, and their emparrassment may react on us, to our own disadvantage."

IT IS MORE, however, of the future than of the present that the South Dakota solon speaks with serious anxiety.

And right here let me say that Senator Norbeck emphatically is not an advertiser of himself as a financial expert. As an authority on banking and currency, despite his chairmanship, he often has assured me that he is the ablest well driller in congress. Personally I find him more informative than the leading fiscal specialists. The latter are too profoundly learned for me, at least, to comprehend fully. The South Dakotan employs monetary terms of precisely my mental capacity; one syllable.

(The truth is, he is extraordinarily well posted.)

"FEW FOLK need any reminder," observed Senator Norbeck, "that the war brought a tremendous increase in production costs.

"The manufacturer passed his increase on to the consumer and was none the worse off. The railroads, the rest of the utilities and the entire tribe of middlemen did likewise and broke even, or, better.

"The farmer couldn't imitate them, and was hard hit.

"The miner was similarly situated; his, too, is a basic industry.

"Among miners is the gold miner. The value of his product is not absolutely fixed, to be sure. Gold fluctuates. It will buy, varying, less or more. Still, like farm products, it lacks an equal elasticity with ordinary merchandise.

"WHILE THE miner was digging gold at, say, a 20 per cent profit," continued the senator, "he took what he found, as he uncovered it. When he was abruptly cut down to no profit at all, or a loss, if he stuck to this method, he had to modify it or quit mining.

"He modified it. Every mine has compartively rich seams. The gold miner concentrated on these and left the lower grade ore.

"Today these richer deposits are nearly exhausted.

"Mining pays better now, for the purchasing power of gold has risen lately, but the richest pockets are mostly gone. With the disappearance of the last of them there will be a heavy falling off in the world's gold output.

"And remember—no new fields of importance have been discovered in a generation."

ARE CAPITALISTS aware of this?

Senator Norbeck happens to be exceptionally informed. The Black Hills are in his home state, is a great gold-producing region, and the senator, in connection with his calling as a well driller, is familiar with mining.

But has the average capitalist his technical knowledge?

Probably not; yet the capitalist evidently senses a gold shortage—not yet attributed by him to a shrinking gold output, for thus far, according to the senator, there has been little shrinkage, attributed by him, instead, and, for the present correctly, to the vast growth of business, requiring an ampler circulating medium.

At all events, a grave complaint of the day is that gold automatically is increasing in value (in other words, prices of the things it will buy are decreasing) faster than its owners can make money on it, invested in any commercial or industrial activity. Hence it best pays them to keep it locked up, doing nothing but enhance itself. Naturally this is bad for trade, since it means insufficient cash to conduct transactions, engage in enterprises and pay workmen.

ECONOMISTS ARGUE to the above effect, anyway.

They foresee relief when gold has reached the maximum point which its hoarders consider it likely to attain by the unaided process of automatic accretion. Then, the theorists predict, its owners will begin to produce it from their strong boxes and put it back into circulation, to make it multiply itself.

"Ah," answers Senator Norbeck, "but about that time the fresh output will begin appreciably to dwindle.

"Within 10 years, unless rich new fields are found meanwhile, the world will feel the pinch sharply and a serious state of affairs will ensue—if the nations remain on a gold standard.

"And I admit I have no satisfactory substitute standard to suggest."

In which respect the senator differs from the bimetalists of yore, who most decidedly had a substitute to suggest. As for the South Dakotan, his simply to diagnose; let others prescribe the remedy.

ABRAHAM LEVY SECURED ACQUITTAL FOR MURDER COMMITTED IN COURTROOM:—Mr. Levy's client was Edward Divins, who, on June 27, 1892, shot and killed Max Clerget in the open courtroom during a session of the Court of General Sessions of New York City, to avenge an outrage committed upon his sister. The murder was committed in full view of all the court officers, witnesses and the jury. Divine was placed on trial for murder in the first degree before Recorder Smyth, and a jury, on October 19th, 1892. After deliberating for an hour and twenty minutes the jury returned a verdict of "not guilty", and Divins was discharged by the court. See: "The New York Times" of October 20, 1892, page 9.

Murder At Bridge

NEA FICTION TALK by ANNE AUSTIN author of "THE BLACK PIGEON," "THE AVENGING PARROT" and "MURDER BACKSTAIRS"

©1930 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JUANITA SELIM is murdered at bridge. Replaying the "death hand" casts suspicion on nearly all of her guests and her maid.

DUNDEE, special investigator, is left in the house with Lydia, the maid, after his examination of the guests. In Nita's desk he finds from her checkbook that she paid no rent to her landlord, JUDGE MARSHALL; that she deposited $10,000 since she came, indicating blackmail; and that she paid LYDIA $40 a week. After finding her will, in an envelope sealed and then reopened, he asks the maid why she did not tell him that it was Nita who burned her face so horribly. Lydia admits that Nita was trying to commit suicide over a man and when Lydia tried to stop her, threw the acid in her face.

Lydia swears she did not hold a grudge. She tries to prove she loved Nita, who made every effort to make up for the accident, by showing Dundee presents she gave Nita. One of these is a huge bronze lamp. The bulb is broken, and Dundee thinks that the murderer bumped into it, fleeing toward the back hall. They are interrupted by the sound of a car and the ringing of the bell. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXI

"Hello, Dundee! Awfully glad I caught you before you left," a blithe, familiar voice called as the detective opened the front door. "Is poor Lydia still here?"

"Come in, Mr. Miles," Dundee invited, searching with a puzzled frown the round, blonde face of Tracey Miles. "Yes, Lydia is still here . . . Why "

"Then I'm in luck, and I think Lydia is, too—poor old girl! . . . You see, Dundee," Miles began to explain, as he took off his new straw hat to mop his perspiring forehead, "the crowd all ganged up when our various cars reached Sheridan Road, and by unanimous vote we elected to drive over to the Country Club for a meal in one of the small private dining rooms—to escape the questions of the morbidly curious, you know—"

"Yes. . . What about it?" Dundee interrupted impatiently .

"Well, I admit we were all pretty hungry, in spite of—well, of course we were all fond of Nita, but—" Tracey Miles bundfred on, his blithe voice taking on the hush suitable to a house in which death had so recently occurred.

"What about Lydia?" Dundee cut him short.

"I'm getting to it old boy," Miles protested, with the injured air of an unappreciated small boy. "While we were waiting for our food, somebody said, 'Poor Lydia! What's going to become of her?' And somebody else said that it was harder on her—Nita's death, I mean—than on anybody else, because Nita was all she had in the world, and then Lois—Lois is always practical, you know—ran away to telephone police headquarters to see what had been done with Lydia, and to see if it would be all right for Flora and me to take her home with us—"

"Just a minute, Miles! Whom did Mrs. Dunlap talk to at headquarter?"

"Why, Captain Strawn, of course. He told Lois that you were still out here, questioning Lydia again, and that it was all right with him, whatever you decided. So as soon as I had finished eating, I drove over—"

"Is Mrs. Miles with you?" Dundee interrupted again.

"Well, no," Miles admitted uncomfortably. "You see, the girls felt a little squeamish about coming back, even on an errand of mercy—"

Dundee grinned. He had no doubt that Flora Miles had emphatically refused the possibility of another gruelling interview.

"Why do you and Mrs. Miles want to take Lydia home with you?" he asked.

"To give her a home and a job," Miles answered promptly. "She knows us, we're used to her poor old scarred face, and the youngsters, Tom and Betty, are not a bit afraid of her. In fact, Betty pats that scarred cheek and says, over and over, 'Poo Lyddy! Poo Lyddy! Betty 'oves Lyddy!" and Tam—he's T. A. Miles, junior, you know, and we call him Tam, from the initials, because he hates being called Junior and two Traceys are a nuisance—"

"I gather that you want to hire Lydia as a nurse for the children?" Dundee interrupted the fond father's verbose explanations.

"Right, old man! You see, our nurse left us yesterday—"

"Wait here, Miles. I'll speak to Lydia. She's in Mrs. Selim's bedroom. . . By the way, Miles, since you and your wife are kind enough to want to take Lydia in and give her a home and a job, I think it only fair to tell you that it is highly improbable that Lydia Carr will take any job at all."

"You mean—?" Miles gasped, his ruddy face turning pale. "I say, Dundee, it's absurd to think for a minute that good old faithful Lydia had a thing to do with Nita's murder—"

"I rather think you're right about that, Miles," Dundee interrupted. "Now will you excuse me?"

He found Lydia where he had left her—in her dead mistress' bedroom. The tall, gaunt woman was crouching beside the chaise longue, her arms outstretched to encircle a little pile of the gifts she claimed to have given Nita Selim to prove that she bore no grudge for the terribly injury her mistress had done her. At Dundee's entrance she flung up

Posey Farmer To Trundle School Head To Slaton In Wheelbarrow In Wager

(Special to The Avalanche)

SLATON, Jan. 6.—As a result of a freak wager on estimates of size of the cotton harvest at a Posey farm, Paul G. Meading will trundle E. Henderson from Posey to Slaton in a wheelbarrow.

Meading is a Posey farmer living six miles northwest of Slaton and Henderson is principal of the Posey public school. They expect to arrive at the public square here at 11 o'clock Saturday morning.

Early this fall, Meading and Henderson differed over their estimates of how much cotton would be harvested from the farm of Jack Johnson, one of Meading's neighbors in the Posey community. They agreed to wager a wheelbarrow ride from Posey to Slaton, over the concrete paving, in order to settle the matter. Meading claimed Johnson would make less than 25 bales of cotton. Henderson said he would harvest 25 or more. Johnson has harvested his twenty-sixth bale.

The "take-off" at Posey is scheduled for about eight o'clock Saturday morning, and the time required for the trip is estimated at about three hours for the five and one-half miles. A local committee, consisting of Chief of Police Tom J. Abel, Mayor T. N. George, W. H. Smith, chamber of commerce president, and A. J. Payne, the new secretary of the Slaton chamber, is making tentative plans to greet the party officially when they reach the city limits here. Mr. Meading is known as the "mayor" of Posey, while Mr. Henderson, the principal of the Posey school, is known here as an outstanding school man of this county.

TO HAVE SPECIAL SECTION

Members of the 1931 class in the college will be seated in a body in a section especially set apart for them at convocation this morning at 11 o'clock in the college gym. The meeting will be the first general assembly of the student body for the winter term.

A special welcome address by President Paul W. Horn will be the main feature of the program and special music is being arranged. The Tech band will play several selections also.

PLACED ON FEED

One hundred twenty lambs have been placed on feed by the animal husbandry department of the college. The lambs are divided into six lots, each lot receiving a mixture of milo maize heads and cottonseed meal. The lots vary, however, in accordance to the amount of roughage fed.

The experiment was started early in December and will continue for approximately 60 days more. A similar feeding experiment was conducted last year by the department.

Profr. W. L. Stangel is head of the animal husbandry department.

COMMENCEMENT ANNOUNCED

Two commencement exercises will be held for the 1931 class according to a recent ruling of the administrative council. These exercises will be held in June and August, and only those seniors completing their work by June will be allowed to wear caps and gowns for the first exercise. Those finishing in August will wear the caps and gowns for the August exercise.

In recent years the June exercise was the only one held and all seniors participated in it whether they finished in June or in August. Presentation of the diplomas was the only formality gone through in August.

Members of the 1931 class are working on plans for the graduating ceremonies and already have chosen the designs for the announcements. Senior rings were ordered early in the fall.

MANY MORE REGISTER

Following yesterday's registration it is probable that few more students will enroll in the college for the winter term. Regular enrollment dates were Friday and Saturday, but many registered this week.

A late enrollment fee of $2.00 was charged those signing up late and double cuts were counted against them for absence from class.

TO SERVE LUNCHES

Beginning Tuesday, January 13, the large cookery class in the home economic school will inaugurate a luncheon service in the home economic tea room. Luncheons will be served on Tuesdays and Thursdays of this term at 35 cents each.

The meals will be prepared and served by the large quanity cookery class taught by Miss Mamye Twyford, instructor in the home economic school.

VINZANT NAMED COACH

Dennis Vinzant, Lamesa, has been selected as coach for the aggie intramural football team. He will be assisted by Milton Moffett, of Stanton. Vinzant was regular end on the varsity last fall and has played four years on the Tech team. He is a senior in the agricultural school.

Moffett is a sophomore in the college and has played one year with the varsity squad. He is due to see at least two more seasons with the Matadors.

Practice began Monday for the aggies and more than 30 are out for the squad. The squad is fast rounding into shape for the first intramural contests which probably will take place next week.

GIN PURE SEED

Only pure seed will be planted on the Tech farms from now on, according to H. J. Bower, head of the Tech agronomy department. During the holidays Bower and Hersal Bell, superintendent on the Tech farms, set up and put in operation a 20-saw gin and ginned two bales of cotton, saving the pure seed from the lint.

Professor Bower states that the small gin which is owned by the Tech farms will gin two bales per day. It is to be used to gin the pure seed for planting purposes.

OFFER NEW COURSE

"Private Life of the Romans" is the title of the new culture course offered this term by the Tech Latin department. The course is open to juniors and seniors in the college and the three hours credit may be counted as either history or Latin credit.

The course is taught by Mrs. William Dingus, head of the department, and no knowledge of Latin is required for students signing up in the class.

NIGHT CLASSES STARTED

Special night classes in chemistry 142 and geology 143 were organized this week and laboratory periods will be held each week. Regular college credit is being given upon completition of the courses.

The labs will be held on Monday and Tuesday nights.

Word has been received here of the marriage of W. O. Hayter, jr., former student in Tech, to Miss Elizabeth Dillingham, both of Abilene.

The wedding took place on New Year's eve.

Scout Leaders Plan To Meet

Meeting Of Southern District Officials Of South Plains Area Council To Be Held At Tahoka On Thursday

A meeting of Boy Scout leaders in southern district of the South Plains Area council will be held Thursday night at Tahoka to organize a district committee, according to D. T. Jennings, area executive, of Lubbock.

Towns in the southern district are Slaton, Post, Wilson, Tahoka, O'Donnell and Lamesa.

To Meet Sunday

A northwest district organization meeting will be held Sunday afternoon, January 25, at Littlefield, the area scout chieftian announced. Decision to hold the northwest meeting was reached Monday afternoon at a meeting of the local scout committee of Littlefield.

F. G. Sadler was re-elected as chairman of the Littlefield group and asked to notify other scout leaders in the northwest sector of the district gathering.

The Littlefield committee on scouting was reorganized for 1931 at Monday's meeting and began formulation of plans to provide closer supervision and more help for Littlefield troops.

Towns in the northwest district are Littlefield, Amherst, Sudan, Anton, Shallowater and Levelland.

To Hold School

A first aid and civics school for Lubbock Boy Scouts will be conducted at 7:30 o'clock Saturday at scout headquarters in city hall, Area Executive Jennings said. Instruction will be given in civics for merit badges advancement and in first and second class and merit badge first aid.

WAR ON DOGS STARTS

Steps To Lower Possibility Of Hydrophobia Taken

Impressed by the number of persons who were inoculated here in 1930 as a result of contact with animals suspected of having rabies, city health officials hae announced that immediate steps will be taken to lower possibility of hydrophobia in Lubbock.

Every dog owner in the City of Lubbock must have the animal vaccinated immediately, according to officials. A city license must also be obtained at the city hall and both tags must be attached to the dog's collar.

Officers stated this morning that all dogs not having tags attached to collars by January 15 will be destroyed.

"We do not want to destroy any one's dog," officers said, but for the safety of the general public we must require this procedure. We want to urge that all owners attend to the matter at once."

Three-Day-Old C. C. Hart Recognized First Baby Boy Born Here This Year

Three-day-old C. C. Hart gained recognition at an early age. The tiny son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hart, of 2416 Broadway, gained by being the first baby boy born here in 1931.

Bobby Daniel Beaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Beaver, of 1612 Avenue O, first had been regarded as Lubbock's first 1931 boy, but later reports showed that Old Man Stork had winged his way to the Hart before home delivering Bobby Daniel.

The claim of Baby Marilyn Cederholm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Cederholm, 906 Avenue K, has not, however, been contested. She is not only the first of her sex to be born in the city during the new year but by arriving on the scene at 9:49 New Year's morning she thus far holds a clear title to the honor, as well as to numerous prizes offered the first baby of the year by Lubbock merchants.

Time Difference Slight

Calculations through Monday night indicated that Bobby Daniel Beaver was first boy, he having tipped beam at eight pounds and four ounces when greeted at the Beaver residence at 8:30 o'clock Sunday morning by Dr. J. P. Lattimore, attending physician. Later figures, however, show Master Hart, weighing seven and three-quarters pounds and introduced to the world by Dr. Chris Mansell, preceded Master Beaver. The Hart baby, born at his parents' home, arrived at 6:05 Sunday morning.

As far as physicians are concerned, Dr. O. W. English thus far has scored his second New Year's triumph in a row, he having greeted Miss Cederholm this year, as well as the first baby of 1930 in the contest held under 'Baby Editor' Guy R. Hughes' direction last year.

Contest Extended

Because many Lubbock doctors are not observing the statutes by reporting births as early as they should after a child's arrival, Baby Editor Hughes Monday morning extended the time for claims. The contest was to have closed at noon Tuesday but in order to give all new parents a chance, Hughes will accept entries at the Avalanche-Journal offices up to 6 o'clock Wednesday evening. That will be the final deadline, he said.

The first baby born in the New Year will be recipient of many prizes and cash awards, offered by business people. The first boy baby will also be remembered in various ways, Hughes stated. In order to be eligible, any infant entered must have been born within the corporate limits of the City of Lubbock.

NIGHT FLIGHT MADE

Commercial Pilots Here Add Equipment To Plane

Wayne Martin and Jimmy Moore, commercial pilots operating at municipal airport, have equipped their Waco-10-plane for night flying and Monday night made the initial night flight in the ship.

Residents saw the lighted plane, which at times climbed until those looking upward described it as resembling a large fire-fly. Passengers will be taken on night flights when weather permits, Martin and Moore have announced.

Some germs will live in ice or intense cold. Sufficient heat alone will destroy germs of all kinds.

Should Get Prize For Best Excuse

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 —(AP)— The prize for original excuses should go to James Folke, 20, who was in jail at Jamaca today.

"I was on the way to a drug store to get medicine for my sick wife," he was quoted as saying. "A guy jumps out, pokes a gun at me and takes every cent I had.

"Then he throws the gun over to me as he disappears, and yells, 'if you want to get your money back, take this and hold up somebody else.'"

So, police allege, Folke attempted to rob a woman to find that her handbag was empty.

Texas Farmers Well Divided

Farm Board Is Endorsed At Series Of Co-Op Meetings; Board Condemned By Mass Meeting Last Week

DALLAS, Jan. 6. (AP) — Texas Farmers were pretty well divided in their estimation of the efficacy of the Federal Farm Board, it was indicated today, after 1,500 farmers and business men yesterday attended a series of meetings under auspices of the Texas cotton cooperative association to commend the board.

Chairman Legge and his colleagues on the board had been severely condemned by a state-wide mass meeting of farmers held in Dallas last week.

Sympathy Shown

State headquarters of the cooperative here said the audiences at each of the meetings held in several sections of Texas pledged were "in whole-hearted sympathy with the co-operative movement," several passing resolutions endorsing the co-operatives and the farm board.

J. H. Greene, secretary of the chamber of commerce at Colorado, wired headquarters that 230 attended a meeting in his town and 89 per cent voted for and none against a resolution endorsing the farm board and the co-operatives. J. B. Magee wired from Robstown that 140 meeting there signed a petition to congress asking it not to amend the present marketing act except to give it more strength.

Similar expressions were voted at meetings in Kaufman, Tahoka, Waxahachie, Sherman, Memphis, Lubbock, Levelland and Madisonville. Meetings were held today at Bonham, Wills Point, Crockett and Abilene; tomorrow at Athens, Paris, Brownfield, Childress, O'Donnell, Calvert, Hillsboro, Lockhart, Snyder and Seymour. Similar gatherings will be held next week.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—The storm brewing over the heavyweights for the past six months broke in, a crash of verbal thunder today as the New York State Athletic commission stripped Max Schmeling of his championship and drove another title fight into outer pastures.

Rising in all its might to stand off the logic of Joe Jacobs, manager of the Teuton, of Bill Carey, president of Madison Square Garden, and the combined attack of sports writers and fight critics, the commission ruled Schmeling null and void for refusing to sign immediately for a return match with Jack Sharkey. Then in the same breath, the fistic fathers declared they would accept as champion the winner of a match between Sharkey and Young Stribling, the pride of Georgia, although they had refused up to this point to consider Stribling as a fit opponent for Sharkey in a match to determine an outstanding challenger for Schmeling.

May Fight In Chicago

So, following the precedent of 1926 when Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney were forced to Philadelphia to fight for the heavyweight crown because of commission objections, Schmeling will take his title claims either to Chicago, Detroit, Jersey City or Philadelphia in June and defend them against the assaults of Young Stribling.

Although four bidders already are in the field for thet match, Nate Lewis, matchmaker at the Chicago Stadium which controls Soldier Field and its seating capacity of 100,000, has the inside trick with a $500,000 bid for Der Maxie's services as well as an option on Stribling. Lewis and Sidney Strotz, president of the Chicago Stadium corporation, arrived here today for further conference with Jacobs.

"Pa" Will Fight Der Maxie

Jacobs has all but formally accepted the Chicago offer, and in Miami today, "Pa" Stribling announced he had come to terms definitely with Lewis and Stortz for a title fight with Schmeling at Soldier Field in June. Stribling declared he was not interested in matching his son with Sharkey, either in New York or elsewhere.

Meanwhile, it appeared negotiations for Stribling to fight Primo Carnera, the big Italian, in Miami next month, or for any heavyweight match in Florida, were very much up in the air as a result of today's development. It was understood Stribling, assured of a Schmeling match, was disinclined to risk any other venture in the meantime.

Lubbock Westerners Meet Old Rivals When Floydada Team Comes Here For Game At Tech Gym Tomorrow Night

The week's basketball card opens tomorrow night in Lubbock when the Lubbock High school Westerners meet the Floydada Whirlwinds on the Tech gymnasium court. The contest is slated as a practice game for the Westerners, but a keen interest has developed at the high school and among the townspeople since the announcement of the game was made.

It appears that an intense rivalry exists between athletic teams of Lubbock and Floydada, and with the announcement that the teams would play here Thursday night a wild hubbub let loose among the local high school students. The rivalry is of years standing, and began when Floydada knocked over a Lubbock team in an athletic contest several years ago. The teams have not played regularly since that time, and the coming of the Whirlwinds to Lubbock means much to close followers of the Westerners.

Already nearly every high school student and faculty member has purchased a ticket for the fray. The girls' pep squad will canvas the business district today and tomorrow selling tickets for the game, and thereby hangs a tale. The ticket will not be dated, and if it is inconvenient for the bearer to see the Lubbock-Floydada game, the ducat will admit him to any other game during the season.

Spudders Retain W. Carl Williams

(By Associated Press)

WICHITA FALLS, Jan. 6. (AP) — W. Carl Williams will start his fourth season as manager of the 1931 Spudders, it was announced here today by Pres. William E. Huff. Retention of Williams as manager of the Wichita Falls club has been taken for granted here for several weeks, but formal announcement of his appointment was not made until today.

Williams came to the Spudders as a pitcher in 1925 and has been connected with the organization in various capacities since that time.

Would It Be So Easy To Knock Off His Crown?

BY WILLIAM BRAUCHER
NEA Sports Editor

Max Schmeling is coming back for the mere formality of being decrowned.

Anybody Max fights, from Midget Wolgast up to (or down to, as you prefer) Jack Sharkey, will slay the Hammer of Hamburg in cold blood.

The world's heavyweight champion by foul can't fight a lick.

Mickey Walker would murder him.

Willie Stribling would punch him cold in a round.

Primo Carnera would mash him into the earth.

Probably the only guy who couldn't knock him out in the first round is One-Eye Connolly.

Probably never before in prize ring history was such an enthusiastic anvil chorus raised as a greeting to a heavyweight champion.

Why? Because Max Adolf Otto Siegfried Schmeling, after taking a lacing for three rounds at the hands of Jack Sharkey, suddenly succumbed to a wild low punch, sat on the canvas and took unto himself the same diadem for which Sullivan and Corbett fought so valiantly.

"He could have got up!" shouts Jim Farley, of the New York boxing commission. And around the world the cry is echoed and re-echoed, "He could have got up!"

Maybe he could have arisen. But taking the facts as they stand and giving Beelzebub all that is coming to him, why should he?

Suppose for a minute that the Sharkey-Schmeling bout, rather than coming as an intolerable climax after a series of disguising ring exhibitions, had been the first foul fight of the year?

You have for consideration the fact that Schmeling was facing in Sharkey probably the most notorious front runner in the ring today. Of Sharkey it was said by Jack Dempsey:

"He gets panicky as soon as the fear hits him that he is losing. He is licked just as soon as he begins to doubt that he is winning. Just another front-runner."

Obviously the foul that brought Schmeling low was a punch struck in panic. That's giving Sharkey the benefit of doubt between panic and deliberation.

The raw young Schmeling, crude as he was, had been absorbing with relish every punch the Boston sailor was throwing his way. With a half grin he kept on coming, never faltering.

Well, what about it?

The raw young Schmeling may or may not be pushed over by the first palooka he steps in there with. In all of his American engagements, the German has proved himself a remarkable recoverer. Every time he has come from behind. In every bout—with Sekyra, Risko, Paulino—he has withstood the hardest wallops that his foe could hand him. And he has rallied to win.

Sharkey knew that.

Schmeling looked very bad against Sharkey that night in Yankee stadium. His boxing was crude. He was easy to hit and he hadn't even bruised his opponent. But he had looked just as bad in his other fights. Risko was ahead of him on points when the German finally popped him on the chin. Through the early rounds of the Paulino fight, he took a lacing, then flared up brilliantly toward the end to win the decision.

Do you suppose Jack Sharkey got sick and tried of his bargain?

Yale, Harvard, Princeton Rule No Longer On Grid But Influence Felt

Triumvirate Broken But East Still Looks To Them

(NOTE: This is another of the series of stories based on an Associated Press survey of college athletic conditions, trends and problems, dealing particularly with football.)

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 6. — The old eastern "Big Three" isn't what it used to be in the days of its bewhiskered, heavily padded football giants. Competitively, Harvard, Yale and Princton no longer dominate the east, let alone any other section of athletic activity, but their influence, nevertheless, remains potent in the intercollegiate world. They are among the leaders now in widely-discussed plans for football reforms.

The old triple agreement, involving one of the strictest athletic codes in effect anywhere in the country, was broken up more than four years ago when Harvard and Princeton severed relations, but its provisions still are effective through the dual agreements made by Yale with its two old rivals. Nevertheless, Yale was the only member of the ancient triumvirate given a "purity" rating a year ago by the famous bulletin 23 of the Carnegie Foundation.

Was First to Oppose Scouting.

Yale was among the first major colleges to seek the removal of scouting as a by-product of college football, but the support for this, especially at Harvard, disappeared after a brief trial.

The trio long have restricted the start of fall football practice to September 15, although there was some agitation for the removal of this restriction last season. Since then, leaders of the three institutions have favored its retention, along with the abolishment altogether of spring practice.

The Associated Press survey now had disclosed a definite move on the part of these leaders gradually to reduce the length of football schedules as part of the move to eliminate gridiron over-emphasis.

Princeton Favors Reduction.

Yale has not yet committed itself, but Dr. Charles W. Kennedy of Princeton, has gone on record as favoring a reduction in the number of games. Harvard is understood to be considering pruning its competition from eight to seven games in 1932 and probably to six by 1933. Princeton already is on a seven-game basis. Harvard's president, Dr. A. Lawrence Lowell, has gone so far as to suggest it would be ideal for Harvard to play one major football game a season, with Yale.

The size of athletic receipts, which at Yale and Harvard have reached the million dollar class in recent years, is not "viewed with alarm" by the old Big Three. During the year ending last June 30, Harvard took in almost $700,000 from football but paid out more than $1,000,000 to maintain all its sports, replace and repair buildings and condition the playing fields.

Yale's income and outlay were slightly larger for a similar period, due to the bigger "gates" possible in the Eli Bowl.

Coaches Named As Intramural Season Begins

Football Practice To Start Today; Boxing, Wrestling To Be Included On Extensive Intramural Program

Standard football equipment will be issued today to candidates for the four intramural grid teams at Texas Tech today and actual practice will begin this afternoon. A number of the players have already practiced together, though today is the official opening date for rehearsals.

The playing season does not begin until January 23. Until that time the teams will practice on the as many well prepared practice fields north of the gymnasium. A fifth team, composed of members of the various social organizations of the college, to be known as the Independents, failed to materialize, and a scheduel has been arranged for four teams.

Nearly 300 Men Enrolled

An intramural program which will be participated in by nearly 300 boys of the college has been planned. In addition to football, other sports such as boxing, wrestling and perhaps fencing will be exemplified in an intramural program. Nearly 200 boys are coming out for football, and the equipment supply has been taxed.

Coaches of the college are highly pleased with the great amount of interest that is displayed. The intramural fever has spread over the campus to a great degree, and it bodes well for the institution. It is thought that the intramural games will be witnessed by great crowds of college and town folk.

Small Fee Charged

The Tech Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the intramural program, and a charge of ten cents will be made for football games to take care of the inevitable expenses connected with putting on an athletic program of this type.

Del Morgan, assistant varsity mentor, has direct charge of the intramural activities and will oversee the entire proceedings. Coaches and assastants have been chosen from the varsity grid team.

Coaches Are Varsity Men

Bill McWilliams and Lawrence France will coach the Engineers, Red Waller, Buddy Brothers and Ross Ayers will drill the Aggies, Floyd Wooldridge, Bill Teal, and Jack Durham have been selected to administer to the Liberal Artists, and Rip Vinzant and Speed Moffett are to coach the Aggies.

Next Tuesday evening the Tech gymnasium will be the scene of "open house" entertainment for men of the college and of Lubbock. No women are invited to this first monthly "men's night," at which time a program of entertainment will be given by the coaches of Tech and their student assistants. Boxing, wrestling, "rough house," tugs of war, and other interesting events will transpire. The Tech band will be on hand to furnish music, and several negro song and dance numbers will feature the hour.

CAMPOLO TO MEET K. O.

Argentine Heavyweight Matched With K. O. Christner

BUENOS AIRES, Argentine, Jan. 6. (AP)—Victorio Campolo, Argentine heavyweight, announced today he had accepted a match with K. O. Christner of Akron, O., here in March. Campolo said he intended to return to the United States and continue his title quest immediately after the match.

Alfred Stobe, Oklahoma A. and M. cadet, scored 388 out of a possible 400 targets from four positions.

Popular Lubbock High School Grid Stars Enroll At Texas Tech As New Semester Opens; Others May Enroll

Tech Gets Them

Mina Watkins, above, and Greer Frizell, below, former Lubbock High school students and athletes of the first water who have enrolled at Texas Tech. See story at left.

Mina Watkins, co-captain and fullback for the Westerners of Lubbock High school in the recent season, and Greer Frizell, all-District 1 high school tackle from Lubbock High in 1929, have enrolled at Texas Tech for the winter and spring terms.

Watkins completed his work for a high school diploma before Christmas, and will be graduated with his class in June. He was one of the most consistent performers in District 1 through the 1930 race, and was barely nosed out of all-district honors. He played as much as any other member of the Westerner team, and gained practically as many yards as any other individual. His work in the Westerner backfield was one of the reasons why Lubbock won seven of its nine games, dropping one by a very narrow margin and tying the other.

Watkins An Honor Student

Last fall Watkins was selected by his high school mates as the most outstanding and most typical boy of the school. He is an A student.

Frizzell did not attend school last fall, but his enrollment at Tech is acclaimed with great welcome. He is big, a lover of the game, and his record at Lubbock High proclaims him as one of the outstanding tackles of his time. In a recent ex-Westerner or all-star game, Frizzell was back at his old post and going strong. Due to correspondence work, he may be eligible for varsity competition next fall.

Malcolm Martin, regular end on the Westerner team last season, and Dub Lawson, regular quarterback and all-District halfback, are expected to enter Texas Tech at an early date, both having finished their high school requirements for graduation. They have been outstanding athletes at the local high school for the past few seasons.

PROGRESSIVE YEAR

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 6. (AP)—That the Texas Laundry Owners' association experienced a progressive year in spite of the depression was the gist of the keynote speech delivered by J. W. Pittman, secretary-treasurer of the association, in the opening session of the organization's three-day convention.

TRIAL IS SET

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 6. (AP)—Four indictments against Kenneth Wimer, former head of the Wimer, Richardson and company, investment bankers, charged with swindling, theft, theft by bailee and embezzlement were set for trial February 16 by District Judge McCrory in 94th district court today. Sixteen indictments were returned against Wimer.

Two Men Are Held In Disappearance

RUMSON, N. J., Jan. 6. (AP)—Two men were held today as witnesses in the disappearance of Ray Wardell, whose cries for help were heard last night by two policemen at the height of a rainstorm.

The policemen, standing near the banks of the North Shrewsbury river, heard cries from a small island near the river's mouth. They found James Bailey and Louis Parker, who said Wardell started out with them on a clamming trip, and fell overboard and drowned when a heavy wave struck the boat.

Police believed Wardell to be a relative of the Chief of police of Bowling Green, Ky.

Notre Dame Is Given Erskine Silver Trophy

Mayor Jimmy Walker Presents Cup To Ramblers; Emblematic Of National Grid Champions Elected By Scribes

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 6. — Mayor James J. Walker today presented to the Notre Dame team the Albert Russell Erskine award, a large silver trophy emblematic of the national intercollegiate football championship. The trophy was received on behalf of the team by Frank Carideo, quarterback.

At the same time in accordance with the conditions of the award, Knute K. Rockne, famed Notre Dame coach, was presented with an automobile as well as with a scroll which set forth that he had set up the "noble ideal of victory with honor."

The trophy is awarded annually by a jury of award consisting of 275 sports writers from all sections of the country.

WARNING IS ISSUED

Beware Of False Solicitors, City Officials Warn

Beware of false solicitors and swindlers.

City officials issued that warning Tuesday, saying that although no marked increase in such persons had been reported here that their appearance in other cities led to a belief that they would miss no opportunities here or elsewhere.

"In many cities of this state the names of prominent organizations have been used by men and women to make false solicitations," officials stated. "To date no instance has been reported in Lubbock but a warning should be made to citizens to make a thorough investigation of any 'proposition' before donating money to it. All solicitors should have proper credentials and if they are working for a worthy cause, they will have these credentials."

With a great number of unemployed throughout the country officers declared that such "rackets" were becoming more prevalent and that the honest citizen should be increasingly on guard.

GOODFELLOWS BUSY

POST, Jan. 6. (Special) — The Post Goodfellows, a local group that has been raising funds and supplies of clothing for the needy of Post, will continue the work. Mrs. W. L. Davis, who has been giving her basement for the committee, announces there is a need for more clothing or food, as well as bedding.

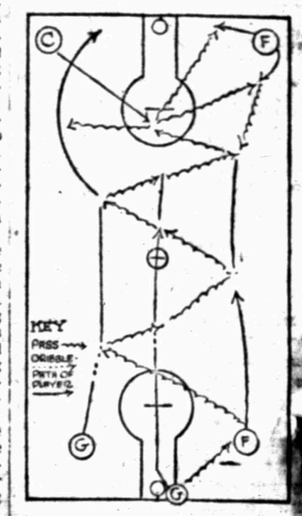

BASKETBALL PLAYS and PLAYERS

When Lon Jourdet, former advisory basketball coach at Pennsylvania, took over the active coaching duties this year, he declared that his team would feature a fast passing attack with very little dribbling.

This style of offense is very effective and much harder to stop than one featured by the dribble. Good passing tends to get the defense out of position and encourages a five-man offense as compared with the trend to individualism in the dribbling attack.

Joie Schaaf, high scorer of the Eastern Intercollegiate conference two years ago, was one of the main cogs in the offense diagramed here. The offense consists of fast passing by three men out in front who pass in to two men who have penetrated the defense. Fast accurate passing to men meeting the ball and cutting for basket describe this attack.

The Pennsylvania team has one of the finest playing floors in the country. The Palestra seats several thousand people and is a perfect example of basketball playing conditions.

Do MOTOR BUSSES promote SAFETY?

In numerous ways.

1. By reducing the number of private carriers who are poorly equipped and irresponsible in many cases, thereby freezing the highways of surplus traffic and placing the hauling of passengers in the hands of men trained for the work and provided with first-class, safe equipment.

2. By exercising great caution in driving, both in town and out. Certain regulations of the Railroad Commission, which regulates motor busses, pertaining to safety must be obeyed if the companies are to retain their permit; and many companies have additional and more stringent rules for their drivers to promote safety in every way possible.

Taking his seat on the chaise ngue, Dundee explained gently t briefly the offer which Tracey iles had just made.

"No, I don't think you killed your istress, Lydia, but I think, if you ould, you could help me find out ho did." Dundee assured her avely, "No, wait!" and he drew om his pocket the envelop inscribd: "To Be Opened in Case of My eath—Juanita Leigh Selim."

"Do you recognise this handwritg, Lydia?"

"It was wrote by her own hand," e maid answered, her voice husky ith tears. "Is that the message, r?"

"You never saw it before?" Dune asked sharply.

"No, no! I didn't know my poor rl was thinking about death," dia moaned. "I thought she was appy here. She was tickled to ieces over being taken up by all hem society people and on the go ay and night—"

"Lydia, this is Mrs. Selim's last ill and testament," Dundee interupted, withdrawing the sheets owly and unfolding them. "It was ritten yesterday, and it begins:

" 'Knowing that any of us may ie any time, and that I, Juanita eigh Selim, have good cause to ear that my own life hangs by a hread that may break any minte—' "

"What did my poor girl mean?" dia Carr cried out vehemently. he wasn't sick, ever—"

"I think, Lydia, that she feared actly what happened today—murr! And I want you to tell me who was she feared. For I believe you ow!"

The woman shrank from him. For long minute she did not attempt answer.

"—don't—know," she said dully. hen, with vehement emphasis: "I on't know! If I did, I'd kill him ith my own hands!"

Dundee had no choice but to take er word. There was no use, either, torturing this woman now with is earlier conviction: that Nita lim had lived in terror of Lydia arr's smoldering hatred for the inry she had done her.

* * *

"You said there was a message r me," Lydia reminded him. "This the 'message,' " Dundee said ietly, lifting the sheets again: "I am herewith setting down my s will and testament, in my own ndwriting. I do here and now mnly will and bequeath to my faithful and beloved maid, Lydia Carr, all property, including all moneys, stocks and personal belongings of which I die possessed.' "

"To—me?" Lydia whispered. "To me?"

"To you, Lydia," Dundee assured her gravely, watching her intently. "Then I can have all her pretty clothes to keep always?"

"And her money, to do as you like with, if the court accepts this will for probate—as I think it will, regardless of the fact that it is very informal and was not witnessed."

"But—she didn't have any money," Lydia protested. "Nothing but what Mrs. Dunlap paid her in advance for the work she was going to do—"

"Lydia, your mistress died possessed of nearly $10,000! Ten thousand dollars! All of which she got right here in Hamilton! And I want you to tell me how she got it!"

"But—I don't know! I don't believe she had it!"

Dundee shrugged. Either this woman would perjure her soul to protect her mistress' name from scandal, or she really knew nothing.

"That is all of the will itself, Lydia," he went on finally, "except her command that her body be cremated without funeral services of any kind, and that nobody be alloweed to accompany the remains lowed to accompany the remains and Mrs. Peter Dunlap, in case her death takes place in Hamilton—"

"She did love Mrs. Dunlap," Lydia sobbed. "Oh, my poor little girl—"

"And there is also a note for you, which I took the liberty of reading, in which Mrs. Selim minutely describes the clothes in which she wishes to be cremated, as well as the fashion in which her hair is to be dressed—"

"Let me see it!" Lydia lunged forward on her knees and snatched at the papers he held. "For God's sake, let me see!"

rgotane Has Been A Great Benefit To My Wife and I and We Both Feel Fine, Says Abilene Man.

Mr. W. M. Wheeler, a well known local man, a farmer, living on rural route 3 is enthusiastic in his praise of Argotane, the new medicine, because he and his wife have received benefits and relief from troubles of years standing.

"It's true," he continued, "both my wife and I have been bothered with stomach trouble for quite awhile. It seemed that none of the food we ate digested properly, invariable after meals gas would form and we would experience severe pains and cramps in the pit of our stomach. We took a lot of medicine but just couldn't get to the point where we could eat what we wanted without suffering afterwards. My wife suffered terribly from gas, forming on her stomach and would have a full bloated-up feeling. I had a bad case of constipation.

"Argotane was advertised so highly we decided to try it. Well, we certainly are greatly improved in every respect since taking Argotane. We both, have a fine appetite now, and our food digests properly and we aren't bothered with cramping or pains afterwards. My wife isn't bothered with gas forming any more, in fact, it has done both of us more good than anything we have ever taken and we feel better than we have in several months. Argotane is a wonderful medicine and has been a great benefit to both of us.

Genuine Argotane may be purchased in Lubbock at the Bowen Drug Store. Adv.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 6. (AP)—Cotton was somewhat more active today and after an early decline of about 50 cents a bale, rallied fully a dollar and a half a bale but reacted at the end. The demand broadened in late trading owing to more active covering by shorts and some price fixing, prices making new highs 27 to 29 points above the lows. About 13 points of this gain was lost at the end on realizing, and the general market closed steady at net gains for the day of 4-6 points.

Port receipts 19,538; for week 66,482; for season 7,099,711; last season 7,015,635. Exports 23,816; for week 98,598; for season 3,991,318; last season 4,259,445. Port stocks 4,214,812; last year 2,665,021. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 110,072; last year 121,274. Spot sales at southern markets 12,037; last year 17,116.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6. (AP)—Rather sharp rallies from an opening decline in cotton today were attributed to covering combined with some trade buying, but the market lost most of its gains in late trading under a renewal of realizing or liquidation and some southern selling. March, after selling up from 10.01@10.29, closed at 10.14; compared with 10.10 at the close of the previous day. The general market closed barely steady at a net advance of 2 to 4 points on all months except old January which was nominally 1 point lower.

Except for the reports of smaller spot offerings in the South and the comparative scarcity of contracts which developed after the early selling had run its course, no particular factors were generally discussed in connection with the rally during the middle of the day and much of the day's trading was attributed to technical readjustments which included considerable switching from near to late months.

GOOD RESPONSE MADE

Signs Being Removed From Sidewalks By Merchants

Response to a request made last week by the city that signs on sidewalks and in street parking space owned by the city be removed has for the most part been good, City Manager J. Bryan Miller said Tuesday.

Seventy-nine business firms having such signs last week were notified that such location of advertising media was in violation of city ordinace.

To be lawful, signs must be "attached to buildings, or on property owned by the proprietor, or leased." Signs supported by buildings are not encroachments, it was said officially.

Stock Market Makes Steady Progress With Only Setback In Tuesday Mart

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6. (AP) — With the exception of one setback which scarcely lasted through the first hour, the stock market made steady progress today.

It was a slow advance, but it gained momentum during the afternoon, and the favorite industrials were up a point or two net. Rails made a better showing, and there was group strength in such other subdivisions as the foods, coppers, tobaccos, motion pictures and chemicals. Activity increased slightly on the rally, although sales totaled only 1,906,610 shares.

An unusually large number of preferred stocks sold, mostly in 10-share lots, and prices in many instances rallied 2 to 3 points or more. This obvious investment buying, coupled with firmness of bonds, suggested confidence was being restored.

News Colorless.

Aside from new lows in silver bullion at New York and London, the day's news was largely colorless. Coppers ignored the reduction in Cerro de Pasco's dividend, and Calumet and Arizona, Kennecott, American Smelting and Anaconda were up a point or two. The move in chemical shares was more vigorous, allied rising 3, Union Carbide 1 and United Carbon about 2.

Fifty million dollars went unloaned in the money market, where funds were offered unofficially at one per cent. Bank loans on securities, as well as commercial borrowings, rose rather nominally in the last week, but the former item showed a decline of $490,000,000 for the calendar year. Commercial loans shrank $895,000,000 during 1930, reflecting the stagnation of trade.

MIDDLEWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 6. (AP)—Cattle trade around the eleven market circuit was featured by a fairly broad demand for better fed steers and yearlings at firm to slightly higher prices. Medium short feds continued to meet a rather indifferent demand, and difficulty was encountered in maintaining steady values. Demand at eastern dressed bef markets was rather slow. Chicago had a top of 13.25 on medium weight steers and realized 12.25 on 1,441 lb. beeves. Bulk short fed steers are selling downward from 1,050 with common bogies as low as 5.75. Stocker and feeder classes were in limited supply with prices little changed. Aggregate receipts estimated at 33,600 were 2,500 less than a week ago and 4,300 short of the corresponding day last year.

Hogs were active at prices unevenly steady to 25 higher. Late trade had an especially good tone with packers purchasing freely in medium weight and heavy butchers. Chicago had a top of 8.25 on 130-160 weights. Total offerings were around 119,000 as compared with 123,854 last Tuesday and 124,002 a year ago.

Highway Meet

court house.

"The first purpose of the association is to obtain state designation on the undesignated part of the road," Hankins stated in opening the meeting. "The second purpose is to stir up enthusiasm for paving."

A. H. Dennison of Odessa, representing the Odessa Chamber of Commerce reported that Odessa and Ector county citizens were greatly interested in the outcome of the Andrews county election Thursday, as it will be hard surfacing of an important link in the north-south highway. Dennison reported that 80 miles of the south end of Highway Number 137 from the north Ector county line to McCamey is now hard surfaced.

Speakers went into detail regarding the benefits to the derived from paved roads, in comparison with the costs.

Waste Pointed Out

Speakers pointed out the waste in trying to maintain dirt roads, and pointed out the big savings to counties that vote bonds and thereby forever turn over to the state the obligation of maintaining the highways.

R. W. Pittman, of Seminole, former Gaines county judge, spoke at length, telling of the development of that section of the Plains country and expressing his belief that a greater development is in store, dependent in a large measure upon the building of permanent roads.

R. M. Means, president of Andrews Chamber of Commerce, was the principal speaker from the home city. He admitted that they had planned to have no welcome address, because people at a road meeting in "West Texas don't need any welcome address."

Urges Bond Passage

He urged his fellow citizens to go to the polls Thursday and pass the bond issue in order that Andrews county might have a hard surfaced road north and south through the county. He explained that the county was getting an unusual bargain with the state of Texas, in view of the fact that the state has agreed to building the road provided the county votes the $200,000 bond issue. Estimated cost of the road is from $500,000 to $600,000. The special concession was made to Andrews county by the State Highway Department on account of the unusually large amount of university lands in the county that have heretofore been untaxed. Since the agreement from the department, a law has been passed which will enable the county to likewise tax the university lands.

Means called attention to the ever increasing wealth in the county which will lower the burden of the bond issue to the present tax payers. He called attention to the new provision for taxing university lands, for taxing a pipeline company that has made a $2,000,000 investment in the county, the quarter of a million dollar improvement in the city of Andrews, of three new producing oil wells, of royalties and other properties that are rapidly being added to the assessed valuations.

Others who spoke included D. E. Shelton, secretary of the Brownfield Chamber of Commerce; Jay Barret, county judge and W. A. Hinson, G. M. Thomason and L. L. Brock, county commissioners of Terry county; J. J. Kendrick, county judge; and J. W. Childers, county commissioner of Gaines county at Seminole; L. E. Johnson, county commissioner of Ector county at Odessa, F. S. Wilson, secretary of the chamber of commerce, J. D. Mathes, county judge and W. L. White, county commissioner, Andrews county.

Grain

FORT WORTH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Jan. 6. (AP)—Increased demand and better tone were reported on the Fort Worth cash grain market Tuesday following the price advances in both cash grain and contracts on the big markets. Higher prices were quoted here and offerings were well absorbed. Number 1 hard wheat was probably worth 79@81c, basis delivered Texas common points. Estimated receipts: Wheat, 4 cars; corn, 11; oats, 1, and sorghums, 3.

Quotations on coarse grains ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Corn—No. 2 mixed 77@78c; No. 2 white 80 1-2@82 1-2c; No. 2 yellow 80@82c.

Oats—No. 2 red 45@46c.

Barley—No. 2, 58@60c.

Sorghums—No. 2 milo per 100 pounds 1.28@1.30; No. 2 kafir 1.25@1.27.

No. 3 white oats, from the north, were quoted delivered Texas group one at 44@44 1-2c, to which add one cent for delivery group three.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Jan. 6. (AP)—With corn receipts the smallest in many months, grain prices jumped today.

Speculative buying of corn future deliveries broadened and the market rose 3 1-8 cents over the day's bottom figures. Commission house trade was larger than for some time past.

Corn closed strong 1 7-8 to 2 1-2 cents higher, wheat unchanged to 1 1-4 up, oats 1 to 1 5-8 advanced, and provisions showing 5 to 20 cents gain.

New upturns in corn followed fluctuations of 1 1-2 to 4 cents every day for more than a week. Commission houses said that for the present corn furnished an ideal trading market, and they made much of the persistent falling off shown in the movement of corn from farms.

Compared to corn, wheat was sluggish, but finally scored sharp rallies. Unfavorable harvest conditions in Argentina and Australia were reported, and dearth of moisture for winter wheat from Central Kansas through Missouri to extensive areas east of the Mississippi, some towns resorting to winter rations.

Provisions advanced with cereals and hogs.

spective properties here.

Both divisions of the Employment Promotion committee expect to complete their canvassing and report results by Thursday noon.

A group of 63 women attended an early morning meeting Tuesday at the Hilton hotel and subsequently went out to canvass the residential sections. About twice that many women have enlisted in the campaign to alleviate unemployment.

Thirteen Teams Represented

There are thirteen women's teams represented in the campaign, including groups from the following clubs of the city: Daleth Delphian, Senior high P. T. A., Business and Professional women, American Association of University Women, Dupre P. T. A., New Era, Lou Beta Delphian, Music club, K. Carter P. T. A., City Federation, Geo. M. Hunt P. T. A., Twentieth Century and the Junior Twentieth Century.

Mayor J. J. Clements and H. L. Allen, chairman of the Women's Employment Promotion committee, were the principal speakers at the morning session. Mayor Clements explained the problem which is facing the citizens of Lubbock and urged the hearty cooperation of the women of the city in relieving the situation. Mr. Allen spoke briefly and assigned territories for each of the teams.

Unemployment Taken Up At Lions Meet

"If the county and city will have all of the needed work done now, it will take care of all of our unemployed," said W. D. Girand, federal referee in bankruptcy, before the Lions club Tuesday noon.

The city needs improvements, its streets and vacant lots need cleaning, Mr. Girand said. If it should be necessary to create a deficiency, the city should do so to have the work done now, Mr. Girand said. Property owners should be required to clean their lots, he declared.

Suggests Improvement.

County road improvement, lateral county roads, and other possibilitie were suggested by Mr. Girand, who said that the county commissioners court should negotiate for such work to alleviate unemployment.

Use of farm labor was advocated by Mr. Girand, who added that many of the jobless did not want to work.

E. L. Pitts, county judge, suggested that each Lion and members of his family deny themselves luxuries to which they had been accustomed, discharge all financial obligations, and take other steps to make every dollar count.

City Manager Talks.

Characterizing unemployment in part as a seasonal problem, City Manager J. Bryan Miller said that Lubbock was attempting to deal with the present unemployment situation here so that it would not reoccur. There are 200 men out of work here who ordinarily have jobs, the city manager said.

Investigations by the city indicated that there was no direct relation between increased unemployment and the increase in robberies here, according to Mr. Miller.

Dr. S. S. McKay, president, presided at the Lions luncheon, which was held at the Hilton hotel. Benjamin Kucera was program chairman.

Officials Urge Local Persons Come First

In their commendable efforts to provide jobs for the unemployed, Lubbock residents should exercise care to employ persons living here, rather than transcients or other out-of-towners, a city official pointed out Tuesday.

"Ask the applicant where he is from, and be sure that he is a resident of Lubbock and has been here a reasonable length of time, before you employ him," was the city official's advice.

descent from King Solomon and the queen of Sheba and who recently was crowned Emperor Haile Selassie, Raz of Razzes, Lord Lord King of Kings of Tthiopia, Conquering Lion of the Tribe of Judah, the Elect of God and the Light of the World, went to church.

All night he stayed there, in prayer and meditation, confession his sins, taking the sacrament, assisting in a solemn high mass at midnight. As he bowed in adoration priests in swaying robes sang in their strange tongue and danced with slow rhythm before pictures representing the nativity.

The natives mostly stayed in their homes, but there was little sleep. The dark hours were passed in fantastic rejoicing, dancing, singing, the musicians of each family playing on primitive drums, beaten with the fingers instead of sticks. And tonight was cooked the meat—beef, sheep or chicken, according to the family wealth—for the feats on Christmas day, which is known here as "ledat," word meaning "birth."

Early on Christmas morning a volley is fired to herald the day. Then the emperor goes back to his palace from the church and the natives troop off to church.

The afternoon is given over to a game called "Ganna," a form of hockey played in the streets. There is no special purpose to the game, no goal, no differentiated teams. The only object is to hit the ball and sticks fly free and fast.

In a sort of mad exhilration the players whack away, striking each other more often than the ball, but no one is disqualified for wounding an opponent. Every year there are many injuries and even deaths as a result of the strenuous play.

Charitable Activities Take Upturn In First Colored Baptist Church Last Week As 72 Meals Furnished

Charitable activities of the First Colored Baptist church, located in the negro section of the city, took a decided upturn last week when 72 meals were furnished needy negroes between the days of Monday and Saturday.

S. H. Winston, pastor of the church, said yesterday that last week's meals were served on one schedule, the free counter sponsored by the church remaining open from 12:30 to 3 p. m. daily. This week, however, the counter is serving two schedules, 12 noon to 1:30 p. m., and 5:30 to 6:30 p. m., and the service will continue throughout the month unless more employment can be found for negroes in the city.

During last week employment was found for one negress, Winston said, and transportation out of the city where jobs awaited was furnished two others. The United Charities started aiding the move last Saturday but the work thus far has been mainly carried on by the negroes themselves.

Among others whose names or initials were not known by Winston, the negro pastor named the following negroes as contributors to the unemployment aid:

Rosa Johnson, W. H. Owens, H. Lewis, George Stewart, Alice Thomas, Guy Cephus, A. Z. Williams and Ida Stafford. Winston has been the largest personal contributor thus far, last week donating 20 per cent of his earnings.

HEAD "WHIRLED" NERVES UPSET

Texas Lady Took Cardui for Middle Life Troubles and Says She Got Better.

Kemp, Texas.—Mrs. Mat Howard, who lives near here, tells about her use of Cardui, in middle life:

"About twenty years ago, my health was very bad. I was passing through a critical time in my life, and I suffered a great deal.

"I was not at all strong and my nerves got all upset.

"I had hot flashes, and sometimes would get suddenly so faint I could not stand up. My head would whirl, and I could not see a thing. I would have to lie down for hours at a time. I felt mighty bad.

"One day I was reading about a lady who had suffered like I was, and how she had been helped. So I made up my mind to give Cardui a trial.

"I improved so much, after I had taken Cardui for a while. I continued the medicine for some months until I had passed the critical period.

"I have recommended Cardui to a great many people since I first took it. I never hesitate to tell any woman about it."

Rail Service Here Bettered

Second Morning Delivery To Lubbock From Fort Worth And Dallas Announced By Santa Fe Railroad

Improved freight service providing second morning delivery to Lubbock merchants of goods shipped from Fort Worth and Dallas on the Santa Fe railroad has been announced as effective Tuesday.

Equal service is offered for all branches out of Lubbock and Slaton, according to E. Kancher, divisional freight agent, who announced the improved freight service following a statement from Tom B. Gallaher, general freight and passenger agent, of Amarillo.

"Lubbock and the South Plains will have the benefit of the new 29-hour service to Lubbock," Mr. Kancher said. "Mr. Gallaher has been at work on this revision for about a year. He says that the service required extensive changes on the part of the G. C. and S. F., which were just recently made."

Arrive At 11:45 P. M.

Under the new plan all freight shipments leaving Dallas or Fort Worth at 6 p. m. will arrive at Lubbock at 11:45 p. m. the following night. Arrival at Slaton is 9:45, permitting freight for Tahoka and Lamesa to be unloaded there and loaded in cars for the morning local out of Slaton for those towns.

On arrival in Lubbock before midnight, the freight will be unloaded at the Lubbock docks and freight for towns on the Seagraves, Crosbyton and Bledsoe branches loaded into cars for movement out early in the morning.

"We should have freight for towns as far away as Bledsoe or Seagraves at those points before noon," Mr. Kancher added.

Caverns Highway Group Will Meet

Ceremonies marking completion of the El Paso section of federal highway No. 62, known as the Carlsbad Cavern route, may be attended today at Carlsbad, N. M., by Paul Shoup, president of the Southern Pacific railroad, of San Francisco.

J. H. Hankins, president of Carlsbad Cavern Highway association, of Lubbock, has been advised that Shoup is expected to attend the highway program and with his party to go through the caverns Thursday with Thomas L. Boles, superintendent as guide.

Officials of the Rock Island, Missouri Pacific and Texas and Pacific have been invited also, as well as New Mexico state officials and others, to attend the trip. The El Paso Chamber of Commerce first advised the Carlsbad chamber of the date of the Shoup visit to that town.

Tripped by a dog, Jane Young of London, died soon afterward, according to the official report, "from pneumonia caused through having to lie in bed."

Marriage License Business Booms In New Mexico As Texans Escape Law

(Special To The Avalanche)

CLOVIS, N. M., Jan. 6. — Curry county is a real Gretna Green for Texas couples who want to escape the stricter marriage license laws of the Lone Star state, says George H. Barrows, county clerk here.

"Clovis is the most popular town in New Mexico for marriages," he adds, in reporting a total of 1,417 licenses issued up to Dec. 31, 1930, for that year.

"Most of these licenses are for Texas couples," Mr. Barrows explained. "License fees for the county in 1930 came to $2,125. I expect that ministers and justices who perform ceremonies received over $7,000 in fees." This figure is an average of $5 per couple to the officiating minister.

It is estimated that couples, in addition to the fee and the ministerial fee, spend as much more in Clovis. This would bring to the city an income of around $15,000 a year. Most of this would not come here were it not for the strict Texas laws, officials believe.

ROSWELL, N. M., Jan. 6. (Spec.) Nearly one marriage license a day was issued in Chaves county during 1930, according to a report by the county clerk who announced 361 licenses were issued last year. The number is 66 less than in 1931, when 295 license were issued.

More than 100 of the couples who were issued licenses gave their addresses as in Texas. They traveled the 100 miles from the Texas state line in addition to the distance from their home town to the New Mexico line in order to obtain the licenses and be married without giving a three-day notice of intentions or submitting to a physical examination by a doctor and having his certificate.

OLTON MAN HURT

OLTON, Jan. 6. (Special)—W. J. Sherley of this city received a broken collar bone when a truck upon which he was riding was driven into the barpit at the side of the road to avoid collision with another car. The accident occured near Elmdale.
