Playwright Is Quizzed On Red Influence

WASHINGTON (AP) — Playwright Arthur Miller told the House committee on un-American activities today "I was never under Communist party discipline."

"As for contributing to front groups I wouldn't deny that—I'm here to tell you the truth," the tall, lanky Miller said.

Miller, whose name has been linked romantically with that of actress Marilyn Monroe, was questioned at length about his activities in 1947 when he received his first passport. The committee is inquiring into possible misuse of American passports to aid international communism.

The committee said Miller's application for a passport in 1954 was turned down by the State Department on the grounds that his travel abroad would not be in the best interests of the United States.

Until now Miller has held his own secret counsel on both subjects, and even long-time personal friends profess ignorance of his political and romantic opinions.

A tall, lanky man of 40, Miller became prominent in 1944 when his play, "All My Sons" was a hit of the Broadway season and won the New York drama critics award as the best drama of the year.

Four years later his "Death of a Salesman" took both the Drama Critics and Pulitzer prizes, and in 1952 "The Crucibel" received another theatrical trophy, the Antoinette Perry award.

The public has seen only two other Miller stage creations—"The Man Who Had All The Luck" in 1954 and "A View From The Bridge" during the past season.

BACK TO EARTH—Shoeless and escorted by two policemen, Norman "Yorky" Hawarth, 63, is led off to jail after spending an hour swinging and cutting capers 400 feet up the 650-foot CKLW television tower in Windsor, Ontario. When he finished his impromptu act he returned to earth unaided and was promptly hurried off to jail.

Ike Carries On Business, Takes Walk

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower left his hospital room today for the first time since his operation June 9.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President walked without support about 40 feet from his hospital bed into a corridor where he sat in a chair for a while before walking back to the bed.

The mid-day medical bulletin issued at Walter Reed Hospital said:

"The President's condition continues to progress very satisfactorily. His temperature, pulse, blood pressure and respiration all continue normal.

"This morning after breakfast the President walked from his room to the ward corridor, a distance of about 40 feet. He sat in a desk chair in the corridor for about 20 minutes and then walked back to his room.

"Later in the morning he conferred about 45 minutes with the assistant to the President (Sherman Adams) and staff members on White House business."

One of the matters of business was formal acceptance with "best wishes" for "health and happiness" of the resignation of Robert B. McLeaish as head of the Farmers Home Administration.

McLeaish quit after Capitol Hill testimony that he was a heavy drinker. He denied the allegation and said he quit for "health reasons" on the suggestion of Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

Among other actions the President signed five bills, sent a number of nominations to the Senate, and signed two Civil Aeronautics Board decisions and an atomic energy agreement between the United States and the Netherlands.

He received a briefing on the morning's Cabinet meeting at the White House—a session at which, Hagerty said, in answer to questions, there was no discussion of politics.

The six army surgeons who have taken turns staying in the President's room around the clock were relieved of that duty late yesterday—a step which Hagerty characterized as further indication Eisenhower's recovery was proceeding "very satisfactorily."

Discovery Of Atom Particle Told By AEC

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission today announced its Los Alamos, N.M., laboratory has found a new atomic particle which may provide a clue to the "glue" that holds atomic nuclei together.

The particle, called a "neutrino," is the second one to be detected in less than a year. The first, identified by the University of California radiation laboratory, is the antiproton. Both had been objects of intensive search by scientists since theoretical physicists reasoned out their probable existence more than 20 years ago.

Dr. Willard F. Libby, acting chairman of the AEC, said in a statement accompanying the announcement that the new discovery "confirms the validity of important aspects of current nuclear theory and opens the way to further understanding of nuclear forces."

In particular, Libby said:

"One of the greatest mysteries facing scientists today is the nature of the 'glue' which holds atomic nuclei together. Discovery of the neutrino should help scientists to gain understanding of this force, which is one of the fundamental properties of matter."

Eleven Unions Ask For Rail Pay Hike

CHICAGO (AP) — Eleven unions have joined in asking railroads for a pay increase of 25 cents an hour.

John Kolanda, secretary-treasurer of the Railway Employes Department of the AFL-CIO, said today the labor organizations have mailed notices of the demand to the railroads.

Contracts can be reopened for wage talks, and under the Railway Labor Act negotiations must start within 30 days of the time the demand is made.

The unions involved include the shop crafts, clerks, signalmen, maintenance-of-way workers, and telegraphers. They are non-operating.

Kolanda estimated that the unions have 900,000 members.

Jury Convicts Negro Of Attempted Murder

ODESSA (AP)— A jury convicted Arthur Jordan, Midland Negro, of assault to murder last night. He was sentenced to 15 years in prison. Jordan was charged with grabbing officer Ben Gay's pistol at Midland June 3, 1955 and shooting him four times. A doctor testified the abdomen and hip wounds would prevent Gay ever from leading a normal life again.

Highway Bill Is Completed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate-House conferees on construction features of the highway bill today completed their work on the compromise $32,900,000,000 measure.

A final session was given over to polishing the language as to decisions previously reached.

Sen. Chavez (D-NM), heading the Senate delegation, called the measure "the greatest public works program in the history of the world."

"It will be a wonderful thing for our economy and it will bring untold benefits to the American people," he said.

Meanwhile, a second set of conferees went to work to try to compose differences between the two branches over tax features of the bill.

Agreement was not expected to be difficult to reach, but Rep. Fallon (D-Md), heading the House conferees on construction features, said he believed it would not be possible for the House to take up the compromise measure before next week. The House is to act first.

The House voted for $14,800,000,000 of additional taxes over 16 years to help finance the big roadbuilding program. The Senate cut 300 millions from this figure by easing a special levy on heavy trucks.

The conferees arrived at the $32,900,000,000 figure — lower than those used by either the House or the Senate—by limiting to three years the bill's application to primary, secondary (farm to market) and urban road programs. The Senate's 37 billion dollar program had projected these for five years. The House, in counting 51½ billions, had estimated a 13-year program.

But the federal money available for these three systems would be increased over the present 700 millions a year. The allotments would total 825 millions in fiscal 1957, 850 millions in 1958, and 875 millions in 1959. Presumably future Congresses would continue them at the 875 million level or higher. These federal funds are matched 50-50 by the states.

The compromise bill includes 27½ millions for the interstate system, 90 per cent of it federal money. This is the key feature to the bill; it envisages a network of superhighways extending into every state.

List Of Sheriff's Candidates Given

Two names were omitted from the list of candidates for sheriff of Scurry County in a story in the Daily News yesterday.

The story showed how the names of various candidates will appear on the ballot for the Democratic primary election July 28.

Members of the county Democratic committee met Monday night and drew names of county and district candidates for placings on the ballot.

Names of candidates for sheriff will appear in this order: Homer Whisnand, R. L. Bolding, E. W. (Red) Green, Earl Abercrombie, and Walter Morgan.

Drive To Increase AF Funds Started

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Democratic drive to increase Air Force funds moves to the Senate floor today with the start of debate on a 35 billion dollar defense money bill.

Some political prestige was at stake for the Democrats, who have contended the Eisnehoewr administration has put budget balancing ahead of defense needs.

Actual voting is not expected to start before next week.

The key issue was whether the Senate would uphold its appropriations committee, which by a 13-12 vote added $1,160,000,000 to President Eisenhower's budget request for more airplanes and the men and bases to handle them.

The committee increased the bill's total to $34,938,000,000 compared with $33,635,000,000 voted by the House and $34,147,000,000 asked by Eisenhower. The amount sets a record for a peacetime defense money bill.

Earlier floor skirmishes this week found Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas urging the billion plus air power boost and Sen. Bridges (R-NH) senior GOP senator, countering with a half billion dollar substitute.

Johnson already has charged Republicans with "throwing in the towel" by first voting against the big increase in Air Force funds and then offering the half-billion dollar substitute.

He asked whether Eisenhower, Secretary of Defense Wilson and the Joint Chiefs of Staff now are supporting the half billion increase.

Bridges replied the Pentagon and White House knew he was offering the substitute but he was not acting as their spokesman.

He also noted that three Democrats, Byrd of Virginia, Ellender of Louisiana and Holland of Florida, are cosponsors of the lesser increase.

Tthey voted with nine Republicans against the Air Force increases in committee. Three Republicans, Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, Young of North Dakota and McCarthy of Wisconsin, voted with Democrats to increase the Eisenhower budget.

Gen. Curtis LeMay, boss of the Global Strategic Air Force, is credited by most senators with obtaining the huge increase for more long-range jet bombers, additional bases and airmen, and more operating and research funds.

LeMay testified that Soviet Russia will surpass this country in long-range jet bombers, capable of surprise nuclear attacks, by 1959-60 unless the United States now steps up its own air power. He asked an additional $3,800,000,000 a year to meet the challenge.

Trial Motion Hearing Set

A hearing has been set for 10 a.m. tomorrow in 132nd District Court here by Judge Sterling Williams on a motion for a new trial in the Charles Everett Taylor murder case.

Taylor, 35, was convicted May 8 here of murder with malice of his former mother-in-law, Mrs. Ruth Nichols, on Jan. 19. The jury set a 35-year penitentiary sentence for Taylor. The nine-day trial was the longest criminal trial ever held here.

Attorneys for Taylor who will appear in court tomorrow will be Dell Barber of Colorado City and C. E. McGaw of Snyder. State's attorneys are Renal B. Rosson, district attorney, and Wayland G. Holt, county attorney.

Should a motion for a new trial be denied, Taylor's next move, if he were to go further, would be an appeal to the court of criminal appeals.

Lobbyist For Natural Gas Bill Tells Of Meeting With Adams

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of an organization that lobbied against the natural gas bill testified today he attempted to sound out the administration's stand on the measure in a talk with Sherman Adams, President Eisenhower's top aide.

J. E. Heyke, president of the Brooklyn (N.Y.) Union Gas Co., said he saw Adams when word got around during Senate dedate on the controversial bill that the Eisenhower administration was supporting it.

Heyke told the special Senate Lobby Investigating Committee that he told Adams if rumors of administration support for the measure were not true, steps should be taken to refute them.

The bill, to free natural gas producers from direct federal regulation, finally was passed by Congress but Eisenhower vetoed it.

Heyke said Adams was friendly and attentive but noncommittal.

"He gave me the impression that it was not an administration-backed bill," Heyke said, but he hastened to add that this was only his impression.

Heyke is chairman of the Council of Local Gas Companies, which he described as an industrywide committee of gas distributing companies formed late in October 1955 to try to defeat the gas bill.

He testified that the council had engaged in lobbying members of the Senate to vote against the bill, but he denied it had done any improper lobbying. He said its expenses come to $27,000, and told the committee he knew of no improperties by organizations on either side of the fight.

Last December, he said, the council registered under the federal lobbying act, as did "its Washington agents," Charles H. Frazier and W. E. Himsworth.

Frazier, secretary of the council, is a vice president of the United Gas Improvement Co. of Philadelphia. Himsworth, assistant vice president of the Brooklyn Union Gas Co., was in charge of the council's Washington office.

"Our work, which lasted until about the middle of February 1956," Heyke said, "was motivated by a sincere desire to accurately inform legislators and the public in general as to our position, which we hoped would result in active opposition to this particular piece of legislation."

The investigating committee previously has received testimony that one organization favoring the bill spent over 1 million dollars in 18 months and another about $215,000. Both groups were financed by oil and gas producing companies.

Dulles Strikes Hard Blow At Red Leaders

Asks Action On Germany

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles made a slashing attack on "Soviet Communist despotism" today, assailing its present leaders as "close collaborators" of the late Joseph Stalin and the beneficiaries of his "sadistic" purges.

The recently disclosed secret speech made by Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev on the abuses of Stalin's rule, Dulles said "is the most damning indictment of despotism ever made by a despot."

"It should, of itself be sufficient," he said, "to make all free peoples shun that type of despotism as they would shun a plague."

At the same time, in a speech prepared for the annual convention meeting of Kiwanis International, Dulles challenged the Soviet rulers to put to the test in Germany their argument that communism will be freely accepted by non-Communist peoples on its merits.

At the summit conference in Geneva last year, he said, Russia's rulers pledged themselves to let the German people — in East as well as West Germany — have free elections. Dulles said that the 17 millions living in East Germany "know communism at first hand" and most other Germans know it from eyewitness reports.

"Yet, he said, since the Geneva meeting the Soviet government has refused to fulfill its promise of free elections because it fears the German people would reject communism and its "so-called social gains" in East Germany.

"Are not the free people entitled to presume," Dulles asked, "that there is something basically wrong about a system that has never been accepted voluntarily by any people and that the Soviet rulers are unwilling to submit to the verdict of the peoples who know it best?"

Dulles said the main point to be drawn by the free world from Khruschev's sensational expose of the Stalin era is that it demonstrates "the inability of the Soviet Communist system to liquidate its own evil leadership."

Many Respond To Snyder's Cleanup Drive

Success of Snyder's annual cleanup campaign has been indicated this week by response of residents in mowing weeds and in calling for special pickup service on trash.

Tomorrow will be the major trash pickup day in connection with the campaign, and residents who have trash which cannot be picked up by regular city equipment have been asked to call the Chamber of Commerce office to request special service. There have been calls so numerous that a part of the special pickup program was started today.

Civic clubs, individuals, and city employes tomorrow will make the rounds throughout the city for the special pickup program. Through this week, regular garbage pickup schedules have been maintained by the city. Additional trash ready to be picked up in all parts of the city indicate that residents have responded to the cleanup campaign.

Earnest Sears, general chairman for the cleanup campaign, which is being conducted by the Junior Chamber of Commerce for the health and sanitation committee of the Chamber of Commerce, said all volunteer workers in tomorrow's pickup program, along with equipment to be used, will meet on the lot just west of the city bus terminal at 7:30 a.m. tomorrow. Various civic clubs have been assigned responsibility for definite areas in the city.

Tonight, several civic clubs will start work at the Scurry County Boys Club to paint the interior. The clubs have volunteered to furnish labor for the project, and rooms assigned them include the table tennis-television room to the Jaycees, arts and crafts room to the Evening Lions, billiard and game room to the Kiwanis, bowling alley to the Downtown Lions, and office, lounge, and library to Rotary.

Today, the yard of the Boys Club was being plowed by Bob Womack, a recreation assistant at the club, with a tractor loaned the club by Scurry County Tractor Co.

SUMMER COMES A LITTLE LATE

Summer officially began in the pre-dawn hours today, but as far as Snyder residents are concerned it was here a long time ago.

As long ago as May 7, temperatures were reaching 100 degrees here, and through yesterday the mercury had been over the 100 mark 15 times this year.

There was one period early this month that the temperatures reached highs of more than a 100 during total of 12 out of 15 days, and twice there were periods six days in a row which saw temperatures that high.

The thermometer has measured a high of 109 once this year, while it has hit 108, 106, and 104 once each and 103 more than once. The lowest recorded this month was 63.

As summer approached, the past three days have been cool in comparison with others, with highs of 98, 97, and 99.

Holmes May Get Clue In Bombing

By The Associated Press

J. J. Holmes, candidate for governor, told the Austin Statesman today he has set a definite time and place to meet an informant who claims to know who planted the bomb in a car that injured Sam McCollum III, Brady lawyer and witness in veterans' land trials.

Holmes has offered a $10,000 reward for data leading to a conviction.

The meeting will take place "before midnight Saturday," Holmes said.

The date was set when the informant talked to Holmes by telephone at San Angelo, where he has waited since for the call.

Holmes said the man refused to permit officers or reporters to be present, but had agreed to Holymes' condition that "another person" accompany him at the meeting.

Holmes said he was told that his caller also had telephoned a San Angelo radio station reporter, "more or less threatening him," but did not know details.

Holmes suspended his campaign, after getting several long distance calls from San Angelo and Brady by a person claiming knowledge of the bomber, and went first to Brady, then to San Angelo, to arrange for the meeting.

He will inform authorities, Holmes said.

Tito, Russia Agree To End Differences

LONDON (AP) — President Tito said today he and the leaders of the Soviet Union have "abandoned all that was bad between us," the Moscow radio reported.

The Yugoslav leader spoke on his arrival at Kiev en route home after a triumphant three-week visit to the Soviet Union in which he and the Kremlin bosses agreed to cooperate in the future on the basis of complete equality.

Once an outcast of the Communist family by orders of Stalin, Tito was quoted by the Moscow radio as saying in his Kiev speech, delivered in Russian:

"The most important thing is this job which we have done now with the leaders of your government. We have abandoned all that was bad between us, which was caused neither by the Soviet nor the Yugoslav people. All this should be forgotten.

"We have embarked on a new path. There is no difference between you, the Soviet people, and the Yugoslav people."

His emphasis that the Russian people were not responsible for his ostracism by the Communist world appeared to show that Tito still has not forgotten the role played by some present members of the Soviet government who backed Stalin's actions against him.

Polio Cases Show Smaller Weekly Rise

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Public Health Service today said 180 new polio cases were reported last week, only four more than the preceding week.

"The increase was not as much as could have been expected during this period of seasonal rise," a health service spokesman said.

However, he again declined comment on whether this reflects use of Salk polio vaccine.

The 180 cases last week compared with 263 for the week a year earlier and 294 for the corresponding 1952 week.

As the weekly report on new cases came out, the health service also announced release of 4,170,591 doses of new vaccine.

This pushed June releases to a record monthly total of 10,979,505 doses. The previous record was 9,510,309 in May.

The report showed there had been 1,153 polio cases this desease year, which started about April 1, compared with 2,033 a year ago.

For the calendar year there had been 2,221 cases up through June 16, compared with 3,096.

California had the most cases last week with 37, but that was a decrease of 7 from the preceding week. Texas was next with 33, a decrease of 5.

Rebel Bands Kill 25 Frenchmen

ALGIERS (AP)—Nationalist guerrilas claimed a heavy toll on the French today through raids and ambushes launched in the wake of the execution of two rebels in Algeria Tuesday.

Twenty-five Frenchmen, military or civilians, had been killed in the 24 hours ending at noon and 29 were seriously injured. The dead included four French army officers.

One of the ambushes occurred about 25 miles from Sidi Bel Abbes, the Foreign Legion's storied headquarters. A strong band of nationalists jumped a convoy of about 100 legionnaires and five vehicles yesterday.

The group radioed for help and reinforcements were sent to its rescue. The French reported 10 legionnaires killed and seven wounded in the early hours of the battle, which was still going on this morning. Rebel losses were put at four dead.

Another ambush in the area of Ain Chair, near the Moroccan border, was fatal to nine French enlisted men and two officers. Eleven other soldiers were wounded. The French said 15 rebels were killed there.

A raid last night in Algiers, where attackers sprayed pistol fire into cafes and bars, was fatal to four Europeans. Eleven others were wounded. Troops and police killed two of the attackers and captured two.

The French army reported a clash with some 30 rebels near Aumale, 50 miles southeast of Algiers, killed two rebels. Planes and artillery in the same area inflicted what were described as heavy losses on rebels hidden in the mountains.

In the Oran area, four Arabs suspected of rebel activities were shot down as they tried to escape arrest.

Several acts of sabotage were reported. Near Turenne, raiders damaged some 34,000 vine roots. Donkeys and cattle were burned alive in several farms east of Algiers and crops damaged.

Two forest guards were killed in isolated actions, one near Sidi Bel Abbes and the other in the vicinity of Blida. In both cases, the attackers escaped.

East Germans Blast Woman In Government

BERLIN (AP) — East Germany's Communist rulers announced today they have freed 19,064 prisoners most of them held for political crimes. At the same time the Reds opened a new and violent attack on the woman who put many of the prisoners behind bars, 'Red Hilde" Benjamin.

The blast at 54-year-old Mrs. Benjamin, the grim-faced, heavy-set minister of justice, was the strongest so far from within the party. It could foreshadow a purge of the top woman in the East German government.

Mrs. Benjamin and prosecutor Gen. Ernest Melsheimer were accused of unjustified arrests, illegal activity against the people and too ruthless administration of justice.

The Red regime said it had freed so many prisoners in recent months as a demonstration of its strength and its will to reunify divided Germany.

The announcement followed a general clemency wave throughout the Communist world resulting from the Soviet leadership's drive to lay the blame for previous purges and persecution on Stalin.

The East German government press office said 15,756 of those released were convicted of political crimes, including espionage for the West.

The other 3,308 were German sentenced by Soviet military tribunals for war crimes. Imprisoned in Russia since the war, they were turned over to the East Germans during the winter when other Germans held in the Soviet Union were allowed to come home.

M. Monroe Will Marry Playwright

WASHINGTON (AP)— Playwright Arthur Miller said today he is going to marry film star Marilyn Monroe before July 13.

Miller let the news out in talking with reporters at a short break in a hearing at which he was being questioned by the House Committee on un-American Activities.

The 40-year-old playwright said he had been too busy recently to fix with Miss Monroe the exact date of their marriage, but "I hope to settle it all right soon."

He noted that she is leaving for London July 13 to make a movie, and declared:

"When she goes to London she will go as Mrs. Miller."

Miller said he has filed a passport application and if the passport comes through he will go to London with Miss Monroe.

He has been having passport troubles with the State Department, a matter that came up with the committee hearing today.

The Tokyo metropolitan area has 6,300,000 people.

Youth Admits Killing Two

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (AP)— A 16-year-old reform school inmate has confessed the year-old slaying of two teen-age girls in a park near the University of Maryland, State's Atty. Blair H. Smith of Prince Geoges County reported today.

Smith said the youth, committed to the Maryland Training School for boys several weeks ago for car theft, gave police investigators a detailed account on ambushing the girls in a park with a .22 caliber repeater rifle. The scene is a few miles outside Washington, D. C.

Nancy Marie Shomette, 16, and Michael Ann Ryan, 14, were killed the morning of June 15, 1955, as they walked through the suburban park to get Nancy's report card at Northwestern High School.

First Day Of Summer Is Hot, Dry

By The Associated Press

The first day of summer Thursday showed its toll on the state as showers became fewer and hot, dry air reduced humidity and clouds over Texas.

Summer officially began at 4:24 a.m. Thursday.

Early Thursday, the longest day of the year, a small cloudy area extended from Austin through San Antonio to Junction. Some high clouds floated over far West Texas. Elsewhere, skies were clear.

After heavy showers fell along the Gulf Coast and in the Big Bend country early Wednesday, the Weather Bureau said only one point in the state had reported any rain since Wednesday noon. That was Salt Flat in far West Texas which had .25 of an inch.

The forecast calls for partly cloudy and warm weather Thursday and Friday with some slightly scattered showers in North Central and West Texas.

The Big Bend country held the highest and lowest temperature Presidio had 10a.

Temperatures early Thursday ran from 67 at Lufkin to 80 at Palacios.

Card Fraud Discovered

HOSTON (AP)—A youth who, officers said, set out to make a "financial killing" by selling counterfeit draft cards faced federal charges today.

FBI agents arrested Robert Klozik yeserday at a print shop where he went to pick up 1,000 drafts cards he had ordered.

Klozik told officers he had heard "kids out at my school were printing phony draft cards."

"They were selling them for $15 to $20," he said. "I decided that if I could get 1,000 cards printed up for $15 I could sell them for between $1 and $5 each and make a killing and undercut my competition besides."

Klozik, charged with causing draft certificates to be forged, was held in lieu of $1,500 bond.

Freezer Is Replacing Tin Containers In Many Homes

. .By SANDRA DEFORE . . .

Who was it that once said if a bride lost her can opener, the husband would starve? It might have been true at that time, but it is no longer. What's the answer? Frozen foods and particularly the frozen foods that can be popped into the oven and served.

Because of this new idea in serving and preserving foods, the American housewife has almost every kind of food at her fingertips and the only effort required to prepare these foods is putting the food into the oven and heating it.

Food markets of the nation now offer complete meals that are ready to be put into the oven, heated and served in their container. Food stores in Snyder have as many as eight different and complete dinners. One example is the frozen turkey or chicken dinners. These meals come complete with turkey or chicken, gravy, peas, and sweet potatoes.

No longer do they ask if the bride can bake a cherry pie for now anyone can bake a tasty and delicious pie without any special talent at all. Fruit pies and meat pies are a speciality of the frozen foods industry. Meat pies are of such different meats as turkey, chicken, beef, and tuna. More frozen pies and meat pies are sold than the other frozen pop-into-the-oven foods.

Ever dream of the day when you could bake a cake and the only effort needed will be to put the cake pan into the oven? Well that day is here. Frozen batters are no on the market that may be put into the oven in the container that they were bought in and baked.

If you have really a sweet tooth, the different frozen sweet breads are pust for you. Many different kinds may be selected from.

For the person whose food favorite runs from east west or south of the border, complete Chinese, Mexican, and Italian dinners will be a sure bet. If a person prefers good 'ol American specialities, a fried chicken dinner or bar-be-que dinner may be your choice. Also chilli. tamalies, enchaladas, meat balls, spaghetti and bar-be-que may be chosen from.

Frozen breaded shrimp or shrimp creole may be the choice of the sea foods lover and these dishes are a cinch to fix now.

The wonderful thing about these frozen foods is that they are so simple to prepare and that they save so much time. Even Dad could bring forth a meal fit for a king. Frozen foods mean more time for Mom to spend with the family and these foods are a boon to the working wife that has to rush home and fix an evening meal.

Grocers find that the frozen pop-into-the-oven foods are becoming more and more popular. Since 1948 the sales of these foods has increased 800 per cent. While the younger housewives were the best customers at first, grocer say it is now a toss-up to see who buys more, the young housewives or the older, more expeirenced ones.

As these type foods become more and more popular, what will become of the indispensable can-opener?

'56 Bride Is Budget Wise Mom Can Be Glamor Girl

By DOROTHY ROE
Assaociated Press Women's Editor

TODAY'S BRIDE is smart cookie.

She knows that she must count her pennies, and she understands also the importance of being glamorous.

When she selects her lingerie trousseau she has two things in mind: It must be dainty, feminine and easy to care for, and it also must be priced within her budget. Many maufacturers are turning out lovely, sheer, romantic-looking gowns, negligees and underthings these days, priced to fit the purse of the budget bride. The over-all favorite in the lingerie lineup is, of course, sheer nylon tricot, which can be permanently pleated, trimmed with elaborate lace frills and still be as easy to wash as a pair of stockings.

The days when a girl started at age of 10 sewing dainty things for her hope chest are long gone. When Grandma was a girl she bought yards upon yards of fine lawn and batiste and stitched up lacy petticoats and beruffled nightgowns by hand. The time she spent making them plus the time it took to launder them would appall any modern miss.

Life is easier today. The most fragile-looking confessions of tiny pleats and delicate lace which looks as gauzy as cobwebs, are made of sturdy nylon which can be dunked in the washbowl at night, hung to dry and be ready to wear next morning with every pleat and ruffle beautifully in place.

The usual trousseau lingerie is available in a range of pastels and white, with the beige suntan tones growing more popular.

One manufacturer offers a seven-piece lingerie trousseau consisting of short nightie, slip, petticoat, pajamas, night shirt, waltz length gown and matching peignori. Individual items range from about $6 to about $11.

Other makers have similar items in approximately the same price range, widely available at shops throughout the country.

Take Care Of Handbag

The bigger the handbag, the more surface there is to pick up soil and smudges! Since this is the year of the really big handbag, it pays to know how to take proper care of your bags, whether made of fabric or leather.

Soil and spots can be removed from leather with stiff "dry" soap or detergent suds, applied with a cloth or soft brush. Rinse and wipe promptly, so no excess moisture will linger to dry leather's natural oils.

Fabric bags may also be spot-cleaned with thick suds, taking care to apply the suds quickly and with a rotary motion to prevent rings.

Have you learned to wash your hands properly? Look to your towel for the answer. A soiled towel is proof that the user relied on it to do part of the cleaning—instead of plenty of soap, water and "elbow grease."

How To Vacation

Some thoughts for a vacationer:

Choose a nice, shady, airconditioned lodge near some good town not more than 200 miles away. Going and coming, choose the early morning hours for cooler weather and looser highway traffic.

Have the car thoroughly checked and conditioned before starting for safety's sake and to avoid troubles on the road. Drive at a safe speed, and let all the fools who want to, pass you by. You're in no hurry.

Lay in a supply of good reading matter for the long haul. It is a time for fiction and adventure stuff, exploration and humorous pieces. Remember you're resting, so leave the heavy stuff behind.

Take a little spin every morning to see the surrounding countryside, but don't go too far from base. Eat lightly out of respect to the season, and get plenty of sleep. People who spend their vacations running hither and yon, dancing to all hours of the morning, drinking eating and making merry, will come home the worse for the wear and tear. Be your age.

Try not to think of business or professional matters while you're away. Trust those you leave in charge to carry on; ninety-nine times out of a hundred you can depend on them.

The hardest thing about vacationing is having to return to the old job and try to fit yourself back into the routine again, but we suspect too many people worry too much about this. Depart in a blithesome spirit, relax and enjoy yourself, and let the problems of the return take care of themselves. They always do.

Leave the hullabaloo and the back-breaking "have a good time'" routine to the youngsters. Your object is not a good time but a good rest, which for people past middle age can be one and the same thing.

Stop the milk and the daily paper from being delivered in your absence; piling them up invites buglarious persons. Have your favorite daily newspaper follow you, or simply ask the circulation depart to save it up against your return. Cheers and bon voyage.

The Daily Newspaper

The rise of the entertainment mediums of radio and television has had no visible effect on people's interest in the daily newspaper as a sure and dependable source of news and advertising.

Newspapers readership today stands at an all-time high throughout the world, as the United Nations Education, Scientific and Cultural Organization recently pointed out. UNESCO estimates the world daily newspaper circulation at 255 million copies. The United States has the largest share, 55,000,000 daily circulation. In a population, of 165 million, that means one-third of the total population subscribes to or buys a daily newspaper. The total readership is more than that, for each copy has a potential readership of three persons.

In addition to the 255 million daily copies in the world, there are 25 million readers of weekly newspapers.

Largest increase percentagewise in newspaper reading has been in economically under-developed countries, such as India, Indochina, Brazil, Mexico, Guatemala and the nations of the Middle East. Even the Gold Coast of Africa, where illiteracy is high, now has 11 daily and nine weekly newspapers. There have ben heavy gains in Japan, West Germany and the Communist mainland of China.

This heightened interest in newspapers has been contemporaneous with the saturation of radio and the rise of television. Far from undermining the newspaper's longtime role of No. 1 information medium', the newer media have simply whetted people's appetite for more information and they turned instinctively to the one medium, that gives them the most information on the most subjects in a form that can be read and reread and if desired put away for future reference.

So great has been the rise of daily newspaper circulation in the U. S. that the industry faces two new crises: how to find enough newsprint to supply the demand, and how and where to find enough young men and women to maintain adequate staffs of editorial and other workers.

This latter problem is a real headache, and sooner or later the press must find an answer or find itself frustrated.

Despite Tighter Money, Bankers Are Not Turning Down Their Regular Customers

By SAM DAWSON

DES MOINES (AP) —The big debate over whether money should be tight or easy can be brought out of the oratorical clouds and down to earth here. Can the Iowa farmer, builder, businessman borrow the money he needs at a cost he can afford?

The bankers say: Money is tighter and interest rates are up, as elsewhere, but they aren't turning away the regular customers with good credit records. They are more choosy about the poor risk, the speculative builder, the marginal farmer than they were back in the flush days before hog prices broke.

Would-be borrowers divide on that.

Those with established credit and good financial statements haven't had any trouble in getting needed loans, although they report bankers ask more interest. The fight over the Federal Reserve Board's tight money policy leaves them cold so far.

Marginal farm operatirs, some badly hit by drought as well as falling farm priduct prices, and many housing development builders think differently. They complain that money is really tight and the bankers have a fishy eye.

Some bankers complain, too about their own situation.

One, a president of a small bank in the northern part of the state, says the Federal Reserve's policy of letting money tighten up is "hurting all right—especially because it has forced the price of U. S. bonds down." This bank has a conservative policy of keeping part of its funds in governments maturing in the next two or three years. But many of these are now off in price as much as $5.

The bank president asks: "How can we afford to sell these bonds to get funds to lend to our customers?"

Iowa's department of banking notes the country banks recently have begun asking for funds from the city banks, indicating a tightening of credit in the agricultural districts. But executives agree with most bankers that only the shaky farmers are being turned away. It's the "speculative home builder who isn't finding the easy credit this year," one official says.

LITERARY GUIDEPOST

I LOOKED RIGHT. By Elizabeth Denham. Doubleday.

When the BBC broadcast an appeal for small boats to take off Britishers at Dunkerque, Mrs. Denham crossed the Channel, brought back soldiers, and got herself in real trouble. Thousands of other English fighting men had beaten their way to Bordeaux, and they must be rescued, too. She knew the Bordeaux shore, so the government sent her.

She ran across Mame, rich Arkansas woman whose French husband stayed in Paris with a mistress while she picked up refugees from the front or downed fliers. She also met Jon, an Englishman, Raoul, a French helper, and Germans.

A lifetime in England, where traffic keeps left, led her once when she stepped off the curb to look in the wrong direction and betrayed her. A German questioned her, broke her fingers with a brutal swing of his ruler, threw her in a cell—you read the rest in this extraordinary adventure story.

You wonder why this was written so long after the event, why the husband is mentioned so little, how a couple of the incidents in occupied France could possible have been managed.

But if you forget these questions, here is a remarkable story of a woman 21 or 22 on extremely dangerous missions. She was terrified of the dark, prone to seasickness, hated to get her feet wet, and above all she was scared to go. But she was more scared to admit it. Her wits didn't desert her then, her wit is marvelously with her now as she writes. This is a story of indomitable courage, told with bounce and spirit by a fraid-cat who was a heroine of World War II.

Public Needs F ull Text Of Two Important Stories

By INEZ ROBB

The newspapers recently have been brimful of reading of utmost interest and historic importance to John Q. Public, both in his current life and in his hope for survival not only for himself but for his children's children's children.

Two such stories, the Khrushchev denunciation of Stalin and the "Report on the Biological Effects of Atomic Radiation" by the National Academy of Sciences, grew out of documents so lengthy that probably only a handful of American newspapers were able to print them in full.

Excellent as were the news resumes of these two documents, each extradinary in its own way, John Q. Public, nonetheless, should be able to get his mitts on the full text of two such fateful pronouncements.

It seems to me that it would be to the benefit of Uncle Sam and to the everlasting credit of one of the great philanthropic foundations if either or both could print each of these documents in pamphlet form and make it available to all citizens, and particularly to schools, at 10 to 25 cents per copy.

Nikita Khrushchev's denunciation of Stalin runs to 25,000 words in the verson obtained abroad by boys. This ghoulish diatribe reads with all the horrid fascination of the shilling shockers that now pass for detective fiction in this era.

And for every sickening revelation that Krushchev lays bare about Stalin, he unconsciously discloses two about himself and his associates who now run the USSR and about Communism itself. The document could well be christened one's slip is showing.

It is "must" reading for every citizen who is trying to get a half nelson on or some clue to the world we live in. It ought to be made available as quickly as possible to a wide public.

The same is true of the fine report on biological man and the the atom just completed by six committees of eminent scientists in behalf of the National Academy of Sciences.

How many of us ever dreamed, before this report was issued, that no matter how small the dose of atomic radiation even dental X-rays it does some harm not only to the individual receiving it but to his children's children's children?

This sober report certainly should be available to John . The scientists' report to the public is written so simply that even those of us to whom science is perpetually baffling can understand it, if only we can get out hands on it.

In a grim way, the Khrushchev diatribe and scientists' report on man and the atom complement each other.

The first gives us a bloody glimpse of the totalitarian power in possession of the hydrogen bomb, and the second gives us a long look at man and his future, if any, were the world laid waste by the H-bomb.

World Communists Finding It Difficult To Get Straight On Latest Soviet Line

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—The world's Communists — particularly in this country, Italy and France — have been having a time trying to get straight on the new line laid down by Moscow.

That line was given by Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev last February in Moscow in the same speech in which he attacked Stalin as a maniacal murderer.

He said Reds in the non-communist countries should shift tactics; they didn't need to try civil war if they could take over peacefully, through parliamentary means, by forming united fronts with Socialists and others.

Violence, he said, would still be necessary where united front tactics failed. And he told them, in effect, that if they wanted to gain support from non-Reds in their own countries they'd have to show some independence of Moscow.

The way he put it was that Communism could be achieved in various countries in various ways. That meant they would sometimes find it expedient not to appear to be following the Moscow line.

This sounded simple. But he had actually put Red leaders in the non-Communist world over a barrel by his revelations about Stalin's monstrosities, because during the lifetime of Stalin, they had been Stalin's blind, dumb and obedient yes-men.

How could their judgment be trusted any more? How could they now convince anyone to form a united front with them? In the end the answer may be—to give the various parties a new look — that the present leaders may have to step down.

They took time thinking it over. A month after Khrushchev's speech the American Communist party leadership at a secret meeting decided to shift tactics, seek a united front, and try to give the appearance of independence of Moscow by criticizing the Russians from time to time.

The program was outlined by the real party boss, Eugene Dennis, who had been a 100 per cent Stalinist. But John Gates, editor of the party's newspaper, the Daily Worker, apparently got his signals crossed.

On June 6—after a 25,000-word portion of Khrushchev's speech had been printed in the American press — Gates, also an absolute Stalinist, wrote an editorial which blasted Stalin but also challenged Khrushchev and Stalin's other heirs to explain how Stalin's crimes occurred while they were around him.

It is reliably understood that the party leadership jumped on Gates' neck for going too far. This wasn't the kind of criticism they had in mind. Meanwhile, Dennis put in writing, now published, the American party's new look.

And on June 16 the Italian Communists were heard from but only after, it seems, their losses in the Italian elections last month had shocked them into a realization they had better start talking.

The talking was done by their boss, Palmiro Togliatti, also a complete Stalinist. He praised the new Russian leaders but challenged them, as Gates did in the Daily Worker, to explain their own roles in the period of Stalin's "errors."

Then, following Khrushchev's line, he said Communist parties in the future would have to be their own bosses. This is the same impression the American Communists are trying to give.

But the French Communists were even slower talking than the Americans and Italisn. They finally opened up on June 18, two days after Togliatti.

They must still be confused on what to do or say. They issued a statement saying they really couldn't say very much because they hadn't been given the full text of Khrushchev's speech.

'Going Steady' Is A Big Problem For Teenagers

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) Sidewalk reflections of a pavement Plato:

Do you feel hopelessly immature in th presence of the younger generation

Many older people do today. Particularly parents. They feel their children are outgrowing them too fast.

One reason is the widespread custom of earlier weddings. Marriage at 18 and 19 is becoming commonplace.

"But the worst thing is they start going steady so young," one father moaned to me. "Girls only 12 years old seem to think they should have a steady boy friend. And if you raise a holler they say you're old-fashioned. They say all their girl friends the same age are starting to go steady, so why can't they"

Kids that age, of course, are only aping the high school teenagers, among whom the custom of "going steady" is now a nationwide problem.

Some educators see it as only a passing fad, such as the wearing of denim pants or pony tail hairdos. Others think it is senseless, dangerous and should be discouraged as much as possible.

Parents are as mixed up as the educators. Fathers generally are opposed to daughters in their tender mid-teens having a single beau. They have to restrain an urge to boot the young scalawag down the front steps everytime he whistles at the front door or walks in without knocking.

Mothers are more tolerant.

"I'd rather have my daughter go steady with a boy who I knew was a good boy," said one, 'than to date half a dozen, all of whom I couldn't be sure of."

The high school proms, as remembered by most middle-aged folk, are now a thing of the past.

"There is hardly any cutting-in any more," a mother said. "The couples that are going steady dance with each other all evening. There isn't much changing of partners."

That, of course, makes it pretty tough on the kids who don't go steady. They feel as out of place as an old maid at a party where everybody else is married.

Somehow this custom of teenagers going steady doesn't seem as alarming to me as it does depressing. Adolescence is a time when lifelong emotions are excited, but is it the time when they should be set in an adult pattern.

Priest's Invention Big Aid To Candy Industry

NORTH LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 20 (AP) A greying priest is tinkering with a gadget today that may bring about a minor revolution tomorrow in the candy industry.

He is the Rev. Gregory Harding Keller, 61, pastor of St. Patrick's a church and elementary school—and an inventer by hobby.

His hobby, which "pays more in one day than I make in a mouth of preaching," has already paid off handsomely for a multi-million-dollar candy manufacturing firm in Georgia.

The Catholic clergyman emphasizes that his first business is his parish of some 1,200 souls, and school of about 175 youngsters.

"I have to keep telling my brother-in-law that I didn't study for the priesthood to become an inventor," Father Keller says. "Inventing is just a hobby."

Father Keller's brother-in-law is Robert E. McCormack, presidentof Bobs Candy & Peanut Co. of Albany, Ga. The priest's major invention so far is a machine he has placed at the exclusive use of the Bobs company.

Until Father Keller worked it out about 10 years ago, the only way to achieve the barber pole effect in peppermint stick candy was by hand. The process of cutting the cane at the proper length and kinking it to look like a walking stick also was a manual operation.

With Father Keller's invention, Bobs turned out 2½ million dollars in peppermint stick candy last year, at a big saving in material, manpower, and, of course, money.

Other devices on which he holds patents include a machine for the manufacture of cracker sandwiches made with peanut butter and an automatic bag feeder for peanuts.

"Ideas just come to me," says Father Keller.

"The best come while I am driving alone for long periods of time. Then they torment and worry me until I get them on paper."

Father Keller estimates that it takes from 1½ to 2 years to perfect an idea, working a couple of hours a day.

Philippine Women Show Handicrafts At Bazaar

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — Covering bazaars and rummage sales constitutes an occupational hazard for me. I come away with my story all right, but with an empty pocketbook, too.

Such was the case when I went to the bazaar put on by the Philippine—American Women's Club. One purpose of this fair is to raise funds, for Manila's Settlement House for Orphans, for American charities and for Washington's National Symphony. A more important factor, the ladies say, is that the bazaar is a good way to introduce Philippine handicrafts and culture to the United States. The bazaar is accompanied by a showing of Philippine fashions, folk songs and dances and a tea where Philippine women and Americans can get better acquainted.

Mrs. Constance V. Batoon, wife of the assistant cultural attache of the Philippine Embassy explained: "We price our items so they are within the reach of the average shopper. We want everybody, expecially tourists here at bazaar time, to take Filipino-made products home with them."

Among the things I took home with me were several pairs of exquisitely made scuffs, handwoven of pineapple fiber in luscious colors and embroidered with sequins; a frothy, hand-loomed white silk stole; large, flat envelope type purses of palmstraw, and beautifully embroidered little bags of pineapple cloth over satin.

Mrs. Carmen Guevara, wife of a retired U. S. Army colonel, is president of the group. It is made up of about 75 women who either are of Philippine origin or relationship or have lived in the islands.

The organization was founded by Mrs. Benito Legarda and Mrs. Carlos Romulo, wife of the Philippine ambassador, in 1947 to "further closer cultural, social and educational relationships."

Pretty Mrs. Armando M. Sisson, chairman of the bazaar and wife of a Filipino doctor with the Veterans Administration, has lived in Washington 11 years without once returning to her homeland. She wishes she could divide her time between the countries for which she has equal affection.

Mrs. Freeman suffered a dislocated right leg, and Mrs. Olson received chest and rib injuries as well as a fractured hip. Johnson escaped injury.

RADIO-TV REPORT

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — An open lett to Steve Allen:

Dear Steve:..

Word comes to this department that you're planning to book Elvis Presley, the hysterical shouter of rock 'n' roll, for your second regular weekly NBC-TV show Sunday evening, July 1. Why?

Until now I've refrained from joining in the chorus of public and critical condemnation of Presley's primitive exhibition on the Milton Berle show a couple of weeks ago. My theory is that characters like Presley thrive on a bad press. The more they're condemned, the more people are aroused to watch and listen to them.

Obviously, however, my thinking that something unpleasant would go away if ignored was wishful and foolish. For now, so soon, you apparently plan to bring Elvis the Pelvis back to a national television network to titillate teenage girls and cause numbskull boys to imitate him.

I'm not taking a moral stand in this case. Better watchdogs than I already have bayed a warning and the patrols are out.

My purpose in asking why you're booking Presley has another basis. Your television career has been marked by a high sense of humor and a great respect for talent. Presley certainly is not funny—though that is not my complaint against him. My argument against his appearance is simply lack of talent. I can't for the life of me see why you want to have such an untalented buy on your program.

A very small but very noisy minority of the immature have been infected in recent years by the digga-boom convulsions known as rock 'n' roll. There is no talent involved in their rigorous efforts at self-torture.

Possibly you feel that Presley should put on one of his performances on your program because he is somehow an "American phenomenon." There are lots of American phenomena. One, for example, is Niagara Falls. You could train TV cameras on the Falls for five minutes and you'd have a phenomenon all right—but you wouldn't have much of an audience left. Because the Falls, for television purposes, are untalented and noisy and all wet.

IT'S AIR WAR AGAINST MEDFLY—A twin-engine spray plane flies over a residential area in South Florida spreading insecticide from the air as war against the Mediterranean Fruit Fly is stepped up. Fighters hope to wipe out the fly before it becomes a serious threat to Florida's citrus crop. Every automobile in areas covered by the spray will have to be washed or the spray used will spot them in hours.

'IT'S UNSANITARY'

Harry Refuses To Kiss Baby

OXFORD, England (AP) — Harry Truman refused to kiss a baby today because he said it wasn't sanitary.

The baby was thrust into the arms of the former U. S. president after he had addressed 90 American students studying at Oxford University as Rhodes scholars.

"Kiss him, Mr. President," said someone in the group of students surrounding Truman.

"Oh, no!" he replied. "It's not sanitary . . . I mean it's not sanitary from the baby's point of view."

Later Truman explained the child belonged to a Rhodes scholar whose name he did not catch.

The ex-president said as a candidate for office back home he had never done any baby-kissing, "not even when I needed votes desperately."

"I don't mind it," he continued, "but the babies can't talk and how do I know they wouldn't object. Besides it's downright unsanitary."

To two of the Rhodes men in dinner jackets from university parties that had ended after dawn, Truman said, "I am highly complimented that some of you came here instead of going to bed."

Truman said he heard that some of the scholars were frustrated politicians.

"Of course," he went on, "if you are a frustrated politician you must be a Republican." In more serious vein, Truman called last night for a "new Magna Charta" to include "economic well-being, . . . health, education and decent living standards among our inalienable rights."

The former U.S. president made an appeal for a better life for underprivileged people in a speech last night before 400 graduates of Oxford's Christ Church College. Earlier yesterday the ancient British university conferred an honorary doctorate of civil law on him.

"Every man should have the benefit of the best in medicine, he continued, and every boy and girl the highest educational training from which they can profit. The aged, he added, should be free of economic worries in their declining years.

"In short, we must declare in a new magna carta, in a new Declaration of Independence, that henceforth economic well being and security, that health and education and decent living standards are among our inalienadle rights," Truman declared.

The nations of the West, he said, must extend the benefits of their democracy and abundant ways of life to the rest of the world. Then in an obvious reference to the American Negro, he added:

"In my country, to our sorrow, there are those who are still denied full citizenship in some of our states, and denied full stature as human beings by some of our citizens still living in an intellectual and moral dark age."

Nehru Begins State Visits

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru flew to Damascus today on the first lap of a month-long trip slated to take him to London, Washington and other Capitals.

Nehru planned a night stopover at the Syrian capital before pushing onto the London meeting of British commonwealth prime ministers.

The Indian leader is scheduled to visit in Washington with President Eisenhower July 7-10, but there has been speculation the President's illness may force a change in plans.

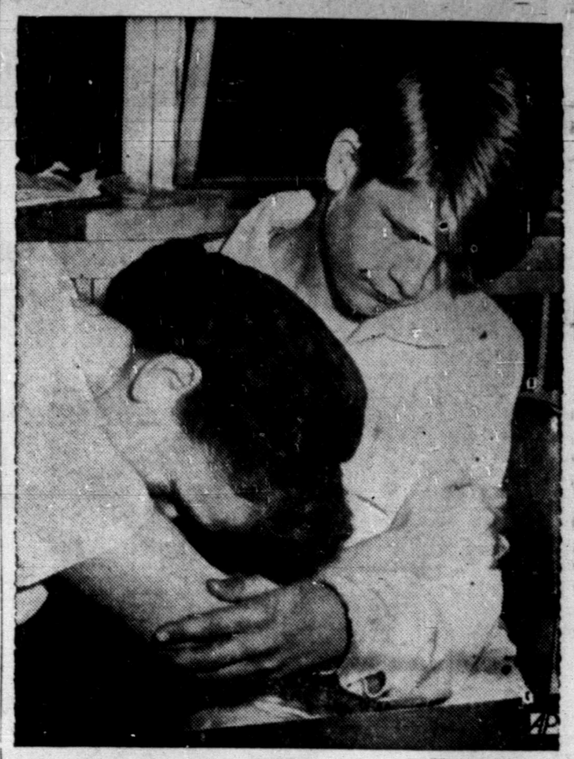
Nehru's itinerary also includes stops at Frankfurt, Haburg and Bonn in Germany, and visits to Paris; Brioni, Yugoslavia; Cairo, and Beirut, Lebanon.

Fishermen Want Air-Conditioning

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—In Oklahome even the fishermen demand the comfort of air conditioning.

The state's Planning and Resources Board says anglers have refused to stay in the state's new 20-room fishing lodge at Lake Texoma because it is not air conditioned.

A nearby million-dollar lodge, completely air conditioned, is booked up solid.



GRIEVING MOTHER COLLAPSES—Mrs. Carmi Meske collapses sobbing into the arms of her 12-year-old son, Ray John Barker, in a dramatic meeting at Seattle following the boy's arrest in connection with the slaying of a 4½-year-old neighbor girl, Kathryn Ruoff. Police said the youth signed a statement in which he admitted the slaying.

Korean Fighters Are Honored

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief U.S. delegate to the U.N. today said the existence of the U. N. depends on the willingness of its members to back up words by deeds and the blood of their sons.

Lodge spoke briefly at the unveiling of a plaque honoring the men of U. N. member countries who died in Korea fighting the Communist forces. Among those present for the ceremony in the public lobby of the U. N. Assembly building was Vice Adm. Arthur D. Struble, member of the U. N. military staff committee who commanded the naval forces in the Inchon landing operation during the Korean War.

Speaking on some of the 16 U.N. members who sent troops to Korea—Australia, Belgium, Canada, Colombia, Ethiopia, France, Greece, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, New Zealand, the Philippines, Thailand, Turkey, South Africa, Britian and the United States—Lodge said that men of those countries plus those of the Republic of Korea sustained the losses and won a victory in Korea.

The U. S. delegate, in his prepared talk, said the passage of time since the men died in Korea "has made it all the clearer that this victory was worth winning." He said they preserved "for us the chance to go forward."

"For the future," he said, "let the memories of our U. N. dead inspire us with the thought that the very existence of the U. N. must always depend on the willingness of the members to back up words by deeds—in some cases by the blood of our sons."

Foreign Policy Talk Scheduled By Dulles

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —Secretary of State John Foster Dulles makes a major foreign policy address before 7,000 delegates of Kiwanis International today.

Half an hour later Dulles will take part in ceremonies at the War Memorial Opera House dedicating a plaque commemorating the signing of the Japanese peace treaty there. The U.N. charter also was signed in that building.

Produce Plant Gets A Real Bargain Egg

EREKA, Calif. (AP) Someone's hen laid a real bargain egg—one with four yolks.

It turned up yesterday at the Poultry Producers of Northern California plant here the first in more than 270 million eggs candled there in 30 years. Manager Frank Eggerer said he's seen lots of double yolks and an occasional triple.

The quadruple yolker wasn't much larger than a normal egg.

Atomic Power Fuel To Be Sold By U. S.

WASHINGTON — (AP) The United States has agreed to sell Australis 1,100 pounds and France 88 pounds of U235 to fuel atom power plants.

Love Birds Must Part But Visiting Allowed

DALLAS (AP)—The only property Mr. and Mrs. George Spencer had to divide when they were divorced yesterday was a pair of love birds.

Judge Dallas A. Blankenship awarded the male bird to Spencer and the female to Mrs. Spencer.

Mrs. Spencer pointed out that this is the mating season and to separate the birds would be a cruel injustice.

The judge amended his order to provide that "reasonable visitation periods are granted for the male bird to visit the female bird during the mating season."

Brazil To Get Milk

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — The United Nations will ship five million pounds of dried milk from this port to Brazil within the next few weeks. The milk, for needy children in Brazil, was purchased from U. S. Surplus stocks.

SHHHHHHH—Mrs. Neva Sims, who only recently began to regain normal hearing after a lifetime of partial deafness, has to remind her husband, Darrell, that she can now hear people who speak in normal tones. Mrs. Sims underwent two operations on her ears about four months ago. Now she hears, for the first time, such sounds as whispers and the singing of birds.

THANKS TO OPERATION

World Of Sound Revealed

By SANDRA DeFORE
And SHIRLEY BROWNLOW

Mrs. Darrell Sims, Route 2, is now hearing many of the sounds of life for the first time. Each day she hears a new and startling sound. It may be a dish as it slides across the table or it may be a book as it falls from a desk.

Neva Sims, who has been practically deaf all her life, underwent an operation on her ears about four months ago that opened up this new world of sound to her. She cannot recall ever being able to hear sounds before the operation unless they were extremely loud.

"I feel as if I'm on the edge of sound," Mrs. Sims said. "Before now I had never actually heard voices. Now that I am beginning to hear sounds that are common to the person with normal hearing, I must train myself to be accustomed to them. Even people's voices are strange to me."

Mrs. Sims was born in Roby and lived there most of her life. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Hughs of Roby, in an effort to correct her hearing difficulty, took her to be examined by doctors and ear specialists throughout West Texas. The answer was always the same. The doctors could do nothin, and hearing aids were of no help. Many doctors that her hearing had been impaired when she fell off a refrigerator when she was about five years old.

Not being able to hear was a handicap that Mrs. Sims never let worry her. She taught herself to read lips, and became very good at it. She sang in the choir at church. She spent two years at McMurry College in Abilene, where she got through mostly on her lip reading ability.

"Now that I can hear, my lip reading is almost lost to me. I use it so little that I get more and more out of practice. I am having to learn to hear through my ears, and it is a strange experience. After hearing through my eyes for 26 years, I found the change rather difficult."

Six years ago Mrs. Sims met Darrell Sims, who was teaching agriculture in the Hobbs school system. They were married, there were children, and Mrs. Sims didn't have time to worry about her hearing.

As her three daughters grew older, Mrs. Sims wanted more than ever to be able to hear normally. With this in mind, her husband took her to Methodist Hospital in Lubbock with the hope of fitting her for a new-type hearing aid.

An ear specialist examined Mrs. Sims and diagnosed her hearing trouble as "otoscelorosis." He said it might be cured by a new operation, stapes mobilization.

Otoscelorosis is a condition of the ear, in which hearing is imparied because the tiny stapes, a stirup-shaped bone in the middle ear, has become stationery and fails to vibrate. This failure to vibrate makes it impossible for sound waves to be carried to the inner ear, and thence to the brain.

Stapes mobilization is an operation which has only been used by the medical profession for about two years. Through this operation doctors are able to enter the middle ear and make the stapes vibrate again.

"The operation itself is painless," Mrs. Sims said. "If I had it all to do over again, I wouldn't hesitate a minute."

The scar left by the incision is so small it is hardly visible. Mrs. Sims underwent two operations, one in each ear. Each operation lasted about three hours. Twenty-four hours after the operation, she was out of the hospital.

Mrs. Sims heard words spoken in a normal tone of voice for the first time when she came from under the anesthetic too soon after the first operation. She heard the surgeon speaking to her, and she realized that she was hearing.

At home later, Mrs. Sims found her world suddenly alive with sounds. She could hear the birds, the whisper of her youngest daughter, a telephone ringing in another room and all the small, ordinary sounds of life that most people take for granted. These things she had never even imagined before.

"Having Neva's hearing restored has been like a God-given miracle to us," Sims said. "Her hearing grows progressively better and better, and we are told many people have completely regained their normal hearing. We are so happy over our good fortune that we are eager to have others learn about this new operation. We are always more than willing to talk to people who think they may be suffering from the same trouble and woulk like for them to contact us if they are interested."

Peace Terms With Israel Is Ruled Out

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Premier Said Mufti says Jordan's new government will never conclude peace with Israel.

The new government chief told Parliament he would seek the return to their former homes in Israel of the Arab Palestine refugees, nearly half a million of whom live in Jordan.

He also told the legislators he would work for anti-Israeli military alliances with other Arab nations similar to those Jordan recently concluded with Syria and Egypt.

The intent, he said, is to encircle "the usurped part of the Arab world" with a ring of bases.

Said Mufti reiterated that he intends to seek revision of Jordan's 1948 treaty with Britain, which gives the British right to military bases in this country in exchange for subsidizing Jordan's army.

The British Foreign Office said May 2 that Jordan wants the subsidy, which has averaged some 30 million dollars a year, paid directly to its treasury rather than to a military bank account in London whose use has been supervised by British officers attached to the Jordan forces.

The Premier added that his government welcomed offers of financial aid from Egypt, Syria, and Sau Arabia, who have military alliances under Egyptian command. The three nations want to supplant the British subsidy entirely, but so far Jordan has declined to give it up.

In Jerusalem, a spokesman for the Israel, Foreign Ministry said Israel has accused Syria and Jordan of issuing "threats' 'against the Jewish state which violates "the spirit and letter of The General armistice agreement."

Rape Charge Filed

BUCKIN' THE LINE

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

..PROSPECTS FOR A VERY fine City Golf Tournament is good at the moment what with more than 40 entries already recorded with three big days left to qualify.

Tourney officials were hoping for 48 entries which would make three complete flights. But it looks like the entry list is going to surpass this figure and that another flight will be added.

Adding another flight, of course, will be welcomed by the tourney officials since "the more the merrier."

There'll be a flight for everyone from the 70 shotters on past the 100 mark.

A city tournament, actually, is the best tournament for amateur golfers.

In the first place, the golfer doesn't have to leave home to compete.

Secondly, the golfer doesn't have to take off from his work to compete. A week's time will be given to play each match and most everyone can figure out a time to play without neglecting his job.

Thirdly, every city tournament is the home town golfers own tournament and he can help make it a success by participating therein.

There are more reasons why a city tournament is advantageous to the home town golfer but these perhaps are the main ones.

Local Course Shaping Up

If you haven't played the local course, recently, you'd be surprised at all the improvements that are being made on the CC layout.

The water lines recently installed on the fairways are going full blast everyday now which will hurry up the process of getting grass on our fairways.

The fairways have been seeded and by pumping the water to to the seeded areas, grass will be popping up any day now.

Many of the out-of-town golfers who have played the course here say that Snyder already has the top greens in West Texas. If these same golfers come back next spring then they may be saying Snyder also has be best fairways.

It takes time, to be sure, to sod an area as large as the Country Club course but give Shanty Hogan and his crew time and Snyder will have a golf course that we can be justly proud.

Diamond Terms Confusing At Times

Baseball language can stump fans young and old alike.

The term "unearned run" had one of our Little Leaguers puzzled the other day. We used this term in reporting the Legion Yan-Monday night, saying both both Yankee runs in the game were unearned.

A member of the Yankee team called us the following day and said:

"You said the two runs the Yankees scored were unearned. Who told you the runs were unearned, the umpires?

Well, the kid thought the runs didn't count by saying they were unearned.

Unearned runs, however, count just as much as an earned run. Unearned runs are those that are scored as result of errors but they still count.

One of our collegues here in the office, Dalt Walton, passed along a story concerning an elderly person over a game last season.

It seems that Dale reported that some kid, whose name we do not know, had stolen some bases during a game.

To which the grandmother of this kid in question called and said:

"You're wrong about my grandson. He doesn't steal things."

TCU, Bears Early SWC Favorites

...By HAROLD V. RATLIFF .
... The Associated Press .....

More losses than usual through ineligibility hit Southwest Conference football squads this year. Few appear vital so prospects are bright for one of the better campaigns next fall.

Baylor was hurt most through loss of two top guards, Willie Froebel and Gilbert Pelton. It left the Bears thin in experienced men at the positions. Baylor has 24 lettermen, including 4 from previous years, and hopes to start this campaign with everybody sound particularly Quarterback Doyle Traylor, who missed one season and part of another with injuries. The loss of Traylor hurt because the offensive plans had been built around him in each instance.

TCU sees some ominous signs. Everybody is going to pick the Frogs to win, justifiably so, and TCU can just remember what happened to the last team that got such a high pre-season rating. Texas in 1954 was the most overwhelming choice in conference history but wound up winning 4, losing 5 and tying 1. It's happened like that a lot of times although the favorite wasn't as pronounced.

Of course TCU has everything it takes for of its finest teams. Even its coaches aren't trying to play the Frogs down. The coaches realize it's no use and the best thing to do is to tell the team it is supposed to win and to not let them down.

Which is the hungriest team in the conference? It might be Baylor, which hasn't won a championship in 32 years. Baylor has the best looking prospects since 1951. Baylor had the best team in the conference that year but ran into TCU on a day when the Frogs were hungry and when most everything they tried clicked.

TCU has 21 lettermen from 1955 and 4 lettermen from 1954, including its great fullback of that year, Buddy Dike. So good is the material at TCU that Dike will have a tough time making the ball club . TCU lost men through scholastic ineligibility but they were freshmen and neither was counted upon to play much this fall anyway.

Texas A&M, a few wails from Aggieland to the contrary, should have a better team than last year's. The Aggies might not do as well. They won't be slipping up on anybody this time. The opposition generally looks stronger. There are 21 lettermen at A&M. The Aggies lost one fine back, Bill Dandy, but had plenty of backs to begin with. The Aggies fear a weakness at end, discovered in late season by the opposition, will continue. Bear Bryant also says he needs a quarterback.

Texas looks like the team for the big shots to be worried about. Only 15 lettermen are back but Texas still has potentially one of the best offenses in the country, only more so through acquisition of talented passer, Vince Matthews. The Longhorns ought to have a much stronger defense. Texas will be rated about fourth but it could win the title with no great surprise. Look for the Longhorns to give Oklahoma a better fight than usual. They just might topple the Big Red.

Arkansas has 21 lettermen and a lot of talent. This is another team for the top-ranked outfits to give serious thought. The big trouble is that Arkansas meets TCU in the first conference game of the season and could be knocked out before the championship race has started to shape up.

Rice and SMU don't look capable of beating anybody much but they at least don't have to bear the cross of favoritism and anything they may accomplish will be so much velvet.

Campanella In Dumps Over Slump

BROOKLYN (AP)—A troubled Roy Campanella admitted today he was deeply concerned over "the worst batting slump of my career," 'but brushed off any thoughts he might be through as a top flight performer or that age is rapidly rushing up on him.

At the same time, the star Brooklyn catcher declared he had switched to dozens of bats other than his own and had tried countless different stances at the plate without much success.

Campenella said his main trouble has been overswinging. He has promised himself on many occasions he would swing easy, just meeting the ball. But when the pitch comes in, he forgets his vow and tries to overpower the ball. He has gotten to the point where he's pressing, thereby burying himself deeper in the slump.

After enjoying a banner year in 1955 when he batted .318, slammed 32 home runs and drove in 107 runs to earn the National League's MVP title for the third time, Campy went into a batting decline practically from the start of this season. His current batting average is a microscopic .207. He has hit only six home runs in 47 games with 25 rbis.

Big Gathering At AAU Track

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) — A tremendous gathering of athletes, estimated at around 550, crowded into Bakersfield today for the annual National AAU Track and Field championships this weekend.

At stake are AAU gold medals, a chance to break records on a track claimed to be one of the fastest in the world, and most of all, a shot at a qualifying berth in the Olympic tryouts at Los Angeles next weekend.

Many in the AAU competition have already earned an opportunity to qualify for the U.S. Olympic team by their performances last week in the National Colelgiates at Berkeley and the interservice meet at Los Angeles.

Six athletes qualified from the NCAA and three from the armed forces. Six more, in addition to these, will bid for a chance to compete at Los Angeles.

Thus some of the stars will shift about from their favorite events —some to keep in trim, such as Bobby Seaman of UCLA, who probably will run in the 800 meters instead of the 1,500.

Event assignments will be decided for certain tomorrow, but Bobby Morrow, the nation's top sprinter from Abilene Christian, has indicated he will run only has indicated he will run only in the 100-meter dash.

Morrow captured both the 100 and 200-meter dashes in the NCAA and is assured of an Olympic tryout position.

But he may take a flier at the world record of 10.2, originally set by the great Jesse Owens and since tied by five others.

CONGRESSIONAL COLLISION—Democrat Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota charges in to score in the fifth inning, colliding head-on with Republician Catcher Tom Curtis of Missouri who drops the ball in this bruising action at the climax of the annual congressional baseball game at Griffith stadium in Washington, D. C. Curtis was carried from the field on a stretcher and taken to Bethesda hospital with a dislocated left shoulder. But the House Republicans won, 8-7.

'Survival Night' In Kid Baseball

It will be "survival night" in the Snyder kid baseball ranks tonight.

All three league leaders will sit out tonight's activity while other teams fight for survival in the 1956 pennant races.

Second place Scurry Butane Dodgers in the Pony League will take in the winless Hermleigh Cardinals in one-half of tonight's twinbill, meeting in the second game at 9. In the first game, the Von Roeder Red Sox take on the Line and Line Yankees of Ira at 7.

The Dodgers, by winning tonight, can keep their pennant hopes alive. The Court House Tigers lead the league with a 11-0 mark as compared to the Dodgers' 8-2 record.

The second place teams in both Little Leagues will see action tonight. Meeting in the first game will be the Kiwanis Braves and Quarterback Club Giants in a National League contest at 7. The Braves are in the runnerup position in the National Loop and need to win tonight to retain their chances of overtaking league leading Lions Club Cubs.

The same holds true for the Holder Construction Indians of the American League in the second game. The Indians will meet the Trinity Methodist White Sox at 7. The Tribe currently rates second to the Legion Yankees.

Braves Take Over Lead In Wacky National League Race

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

What is it with Fred Haney? He takes over from Charlie Grimm, who resigned as Milwaukee manager under fire after losing 12 of 17 to tumble from first to fifth, and four days later the Braves are leading the National League again.

The Braves haven't lost since Haney, who never finished better than last in three other shots as a NL skipper, reluctantly took over in Brooklyn last Saturday night. They made it five in a row last night, completing a sweep of three from the plunging Pittsburgh Pirates 7-3 to move back into the top spot as last place Philadelphia junked Cincinnati's hold on the lead 3-2.

That caused yet another revision in the hectic NL standings, giving Milwaukee a 13-point edge over the Brooklyn Dodgers, who snapped a three-game losing streak with a 4-2 decision over St. Louis. The Cards hold fourth, 2 points back of the Redlegs, who in turn are 2 points behind the Brooks.

The Pirates, with five straight defeats, are fifth, but still very much in contention only one game behind the Braves.

New York's Giants reclaimed sixth place from Chicago, beating the Cubs 4-1.

In the American League, the New York Yankees made it seven-in-a-row as Mickey Mantle jolted his 26th and 27th homeruns in a 4-1 verdict over Detroit. The Chicago White Sox held second, 5½ games behind, with a 12-8 decision over Baltimore. Cleveland ended a third place tie with Boston by topping the Red Sox 5-4 in 10 innings. Washington came from behind to beat Kansas City 5-4.

The Braves have been playing like most folks figured they could since Haney took charge. Question is, why? He's the same type of "nice guy" manager as was Grimm—and in his 15 years as a pilot, he's had only two pennant winners Hollywood in the Pacific Coast League in 1942 and 1952.

In the majors he was last in three tries with the Pirates, who released him after last season, and was no better than sixth in three years as field boss of the old St. Louis Browns in the AL.

Haney, 58, hasn't juggled the Braves' lineup or junked Grimm's pitching order, but he's had results. Gene Conley, for instance, pitched his first complete game since last July 10 for his second victory last night while Danny O'Connell and Bobby Thomson each batted in a pair of runs as the Braves scored five in the fifth to beat Vern Law.

Curt Simmons, winning his third choked off the homer-socking Redlegs on seven singles while the Phils, with just six hits, beat Art Flower on Stan Lopata's 12th home run.

The Dodgers scored three in the third with Carl Farillo lining a two-run double to beat the Cards and Wilmer Mizell, third lefty to start against the Brooks this season and first to start against them in Ebbets Field since last August 26. Roger Craig won his sixth, with Clem Labine relieving in the ninth. Second baseman Charley Neal turned Stan Musial's hard bases-loaded smash into a force out in the ninth to end it.

Hank Thompson swatted his first 1956 home run with two on to beat the Cubs and Don Kaiser wehil Al Worthington won his third.

Mantle, batting righthanded for both his shots off southpaw Billy Heft, sent the two homers on 400-foot-plus rides to go 18 games up on Babe Ruth's 60-homer pace of 1927. Andy Carey smacked a two-run homer in the sixth for the deciding runs after Hoeft had retired the first 15 men he faced. Johnny Kucks won his ninth with Whitey Ford, sidelined with a wrenched back, coming back to pitch the last 1 1-3 innings.

Al Rosen's single drove in the big run for the Indians to beat reliefer Tom Hurd. Gene Woodling had tied it with a solo homer in the eighth. Jackie Jensen homered with one on in the first off Tribe lefty Herb Score, who fanned 10 in his six innings. Don Mossi won it in relief.

Chicago used five pitchers and the Orioles seven—two short of the AL's two-team record — and the White Sox iced it with four runs in the sixth. Chicago had 15 hits, Baltimore 14.

Washington put together an error, two walks and a sacrifice fly in the ninth to beat the A's who fell into the cellar with their 19th defeat in 25 home games this season.

Mickey Powders Hoeft's Change-Ups

By DAVE DILES

DETROIT (AP)—One of the American League's best southpaws decided to let Mickey Mantle supply his own power, and the magnetic Yankee slugger responded with dramatic suddenness and had power to burn.

Billy Hoeft, the Detroit Tigers' leading pitcher, fed the New York Yankee centerfielder two change-up pitches in last night's game before 47,756 enthusiastic fans at Briggs Stadium.

The 24-year-old Mantle, who has exhausted every superlative with his home run feats, churned both pitches far over the stadium fences to lead the pace-setting bombers to a 4-1 victory.

They were his 26th and 27th home runs and put him comfortably ahead of the pace set by Babe Ruth when he clubbed a record 60 home runs in 1927. Ruth did not hit No. 27 until July 8.

The heir-apparent to Ruth's title of the Sultan of Swat hit the home runs right handed. Only six of his 27 round trippers have been hit from that side of the plate.

Mantle, who had driven a fast ball out of the park two days earlier, went hitless in his first two trips last night. But both times he hit the ball solidly, grounding out to third and lining to centerfield.

After Andy Carey's two-run blast in the sixth, Mantle stroked one of Hoeft's change-ups high and deep into the upper stands in left centerfield.

Both drives carried well over the 400-foot mark.

When Mantle returned to centerfield after his second home run, a pair of young boys leaped over the high fence in centerfield and raced to meet him. M naeltsohok raced to meet him. Mantle shook hands with each of them before they were chased.

In the ninth inning, dozens of fans caught on and poured out from all areas of the spacious stadium and onto the plyaing field. He shook as many hands as he could in the few moments that elapsed before park attendants and umpires could restore order.

Quick-thinking groundskeepers averted a more serious display after the game when they turned on the vast sprinkling system.

School Bill Ready For Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — The way was open today for the House to vote, probably next week, on a four-year federal aid school construction program amounting to $1,600,000,000.

The legislation cleared the House Rules Committee yesterday. It had been bottled up there for several months because of the effect it might have on public school segregation.

Southerners on the committee have opposed the bill for one reason: Rep. Powell (D-NY) has said he will propose an amendment on the House floor that would forbid federal grants to schools which maintain segregation.

Such an amendment would be bound to touch off a major fight. If the amendment were approved and the bill got to the Senate, its chances would be slim in the face of a southern filibuster.

There has been a feeling in recent weeks among House leaders, however, that sentiment for the Powell amendment has cooled.

With this in mind, hope was expressed that a majority of members would favor sidetracking such an amendment in order to get the measure through.

The legislation calls for federal grants for school construction at the rate of 400 million dollars a year for four years. In addition, a revolving fund of not more than 750 million dollars would be set up to buy local school bonds if these couldn't be disposed of in the market at reasonable interest rates.

The measure is a Democratic substitute for proposals by President Eisenhower. He suggested federal grants at the rate of 250 million dollars a year for five years.

Paralytic Gets Jail Sentence

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — William L Forster, 40, of Somerville, paralyzed from the waist down and unable to walk, was sentenced yesterday to seven to 10 years in state prison for a series of house breaks last month.

While sitting in a wheel chair, Forster pleaded guilty to charges of breaking and entering and thefts from homes.

He admitted sitting in a car while a colleague, Robert Masterson, 20, acting on his directions committed the actual crimes. Masterson also pleaded guilty and was sentenced to four to six years.

Forster was shot and paralyzed by a police bullet during an attempted liquor store robbery in 1955. His condition won him a parole last December.

Hot Weather Forecast In Mid-Continent

By The Associated Press

More hot and humid weather was in prospect for the Mid-continent today, the first day of the summer season, with no indication of an early general breakup.

Warmer weather also was the outlook for most other parts of the country, including the Northeast, which had a brief cooling. Generally fair and mild weather prevailed along the West Coast and the Great Basin area. It continued hot over the Southwest.

Temperatures across most of the area from the Rockies to the Appalachians climbed into the 80s or 90s yesterday. They were up to 100 in the Southwest and in the Plains northward into Kansas.

Warming was reported this morning from the eastern Great Lakes region eastward through the New England States and southward from New England through the Carolinas.

Cooler air spread eastward over the Northern Rockies and in parts of the Central Rockies.

There were widespread areas of showers and thunderstorms from the Mississippi River eastward to the Atlantic Coast. Rain also fell in sections of the Rockies.

Killed In Collision

GROESBECK (AP)—Fred Shugart, 14, was killed yesterday in a collision of his motorbike and a Southern Pacific freight train.

One estimate is that 27,650,000 Americans play some kind of musical instrument.

OMELET IS PERHAPS MOST FAMOUS OF ALL FINE FRENCH COOKING

Flavor Of French Cooking Is Justification Of Extra Work

The Frenchman treats all foods with respect; but poultry, with reverence.

We asked Louis Vaudable, proprietor of the world-famous Maxim's of Paris to give Americans some of the French chef's secrets. Here is his advice: Learn to roast chicken as the French housewife does, for undreamed - of flavor. First, she chooses two small chickens rather than a single large one, each weighing not more than 3 pounds (broiler-fryers).

Next, she rubs the birds all over gently with soft, sweet butter, and sprinkles them with salt. She doesn't stuff them. She doesn't want outside flavors to compete with the bird's own. She simply ties the legs together, and the wings close to the body.

Clear Juices

The birds, arranged in a shallow pan, go into a preheated oven (450 degrees) to bake just one hour, or until the juices run out clear — not pinkish. They are brushed occasionally with more soft or melted sweet butter.

When done, they are golden brown and the skin is crisp and buttery. Serve on a platter, binding strings removed and surrounded with watercress.

French Sauce

Of course, there's a sauce. Like "love and marriage," the French sauce and the French dish to together. No hasty, last minute choice, but a carefully thought out decision.

A bland sauce, of a white stock base? Or a sharper sauce, mustard-flavored with just a suspicion of tarragon?

Whichever she chooses, she will simmer it long and slow, and finally add some of the cooking juices of the fowl.

Sauce Champagne

The French sauce is usually thinner than the American. If you wish to thicken yours with flour, be sure to allow the flour to cook into the flavor of the sauce.

At Maxim's, Sauce Champagne, is often served with roast chicken. Sauce Diable is tangier, the classic sharp sauce. It is versatile and takes nicely to the addition of curry, parsley flakes and other seasoning.

With the poulets is served a crisp green salad, crusty French bread, and succulent fruit for dessert. It's a meal that's just as much at home in American as it is in France.

BROILING IS FAVORITE FOR COOKING OF FISH

The French are masters of fish cookery.

Mr. Vaudable says that broiling is a favorite way of cooking fish in France. Because fish is already tender when it come from the water, it needs only enough cooking to develop flavor.

Season the fish, whole or split, with salt, a bit of thyme or parsley. Brush with olive oil if it is not naturally fat, then run under a preheated broiler (about 500 degrees F.) for a very few minutes, depending on its thickness. When it begins to brown, turn, season and oil if necessary, and broil until it flakes easily when tested with a fork. That's all. Longer cooking will make it tough and dry. Serve immediately.

A more sophisticated way of cooking fish, one whose flavor justifies the extra work, is this Fish Mousse.

Chop 1 pound of fish very fine or put it through a fine grinder. Then pound it in a mortar if you have one, or work it in a bowl with a wooden spoon until it is as fine as you can make it. Now, place the bowl in a larger one filled with cracked ice. Gradually beat in three egg whites using a wire whisk or wooden spoon, until the egg whites are absorbed and the mixture is smooth. Then gradually stir in 1 cup heavy cream until completely absorbed. Add some salt, a sprinkle of pepper, a pinch of nutmeg, and if desired a dash of cayenne or pinch of finely chopped fresh dill. Keep on ice one hour. Then butter a fish mold. Stir the fish mixture well to blend. Pour it into the mold. Cover ith waxed paper and place in a pan containing one inch of hot water.

Bake at 350 degrees F. 25 minutes or until set.

Serve it with a sauce that compliments the flavor of the fish but which does not compete with it Sauce Ile de France, with its veal-and-vermouth base, is sheer flattery for the superb mousse. Sauce Armoricaine, with the slightly stronger flavor of lobster, is also good company.

Whatever sauce you choose, be sure to allow the time needed to make it. If you use one of the frozen sauces, heat it while the mousse bakes.

FLEXIBLE HAND SECRET FOR FAMOUS OMELETS

Not all French dishes require long, patient cooking.

Take the omelet: A few simple ingredients, a flexible hand, a little careful timing, and presto, you have one of the best and most famous of French dishes.

First, the eggs. The French housewife believes that small brown eggs make tastier omelets.

Next, the pan. Every French housewife has her special omelet pan which never goes near the dishwater. Used only for omelets, it is cleaned by rubbing with salt and paper while still hot, never washed with water. Consequently, the omelets never stick.

For three people, use six eggs and a pan proportionate to the number of eggs. In the pan over medium heat, melt three tablespoonsfuls of butter until golden and no longer frothy; reduce heat slightly. Meanwhile, break the eggs into a bowl; season them with salt and freshly ground black pepper and add a teaspoonful of water. Beat lightly with a fork or wire whisk (not a rotary beater) until large bubbles form on top—about half a minute. Don't overbeat.

Pour the egg mixture into the pan. Then with fork or spatula, begin loosening the edges of the omelet all all around and lift once or twice in the middle so that the uncooked mixture will flow into the empty spaces. Work toward the middle. This will take about two minutes. Then, if you wish to add such things as grated cheese, jelly, chopped ham or seafood, or heated frozen Sauce Armoricaine (a delicate concentrate of lobster), quickly pour or spoon it onto the omelet, more or less along the line on which the omelet will be folded. Gently fold one-half the omelet over the other. Your omelet will be golden brown on the outside, soft and wet—"Baveuse" — inside; in other words, perfection. Slide it onto a hot plate, and brush quickly with a little soft butter for a glaze. Then if it was filled, top it with more of the same filling.

DESIRE COMES FIRST FOR FRENCH EXCELLENCE

All the French share a love for fine food. Since love of good eating is common to Americans, too, there is no reason why Americans cannot enjoy the same delicious cooking as their friends across the sea.

First, you must have the desire. Then, you need the right recipe. Buy new cookbooks to find new ideas. Swap recipes with food-loving friends. Sample the specialties of good restaurants.

Now you need the ingredients. Can you do as the French housewife does?

In Person

She goes about her marketing in person, picking our the potato, the leek, the egg, the cheese that will make the dish taste the way she wants. With your fabulous supermarkets, you should have no trouble finding the right ingredients. Try to shop in person.

You must allow the time that a dish deserves to be given if it is to be at its best. Don't attempt a dish until you have the time to do it right.

Marchand de Vin sauce is an example of what time and the extra ingredients do for a dish. Maxim's chefs take 18 hours to prepare this sauce. It wouldn't taste the same if it were made in a hurry.

Flavor Marriage

Here's how you should use your sauces as the French do: Prepare the sauce, taking the time needed for that "marriage" of flavors; or buy a gourment sauce, already made and frozen to keep its flavor intact.

Then remember that good as it is, it will be even better by some cooking with the food with which it is to be served. So blend it with the pan juices or the marinade or some of the liquid in which the food has been cooked. Let it simmer a while. Taste; taste again, and simmer until the point of perfection is reached.

Then, and then only, serve it proudly, knowing that you have mastered one of the elements of French cookery.

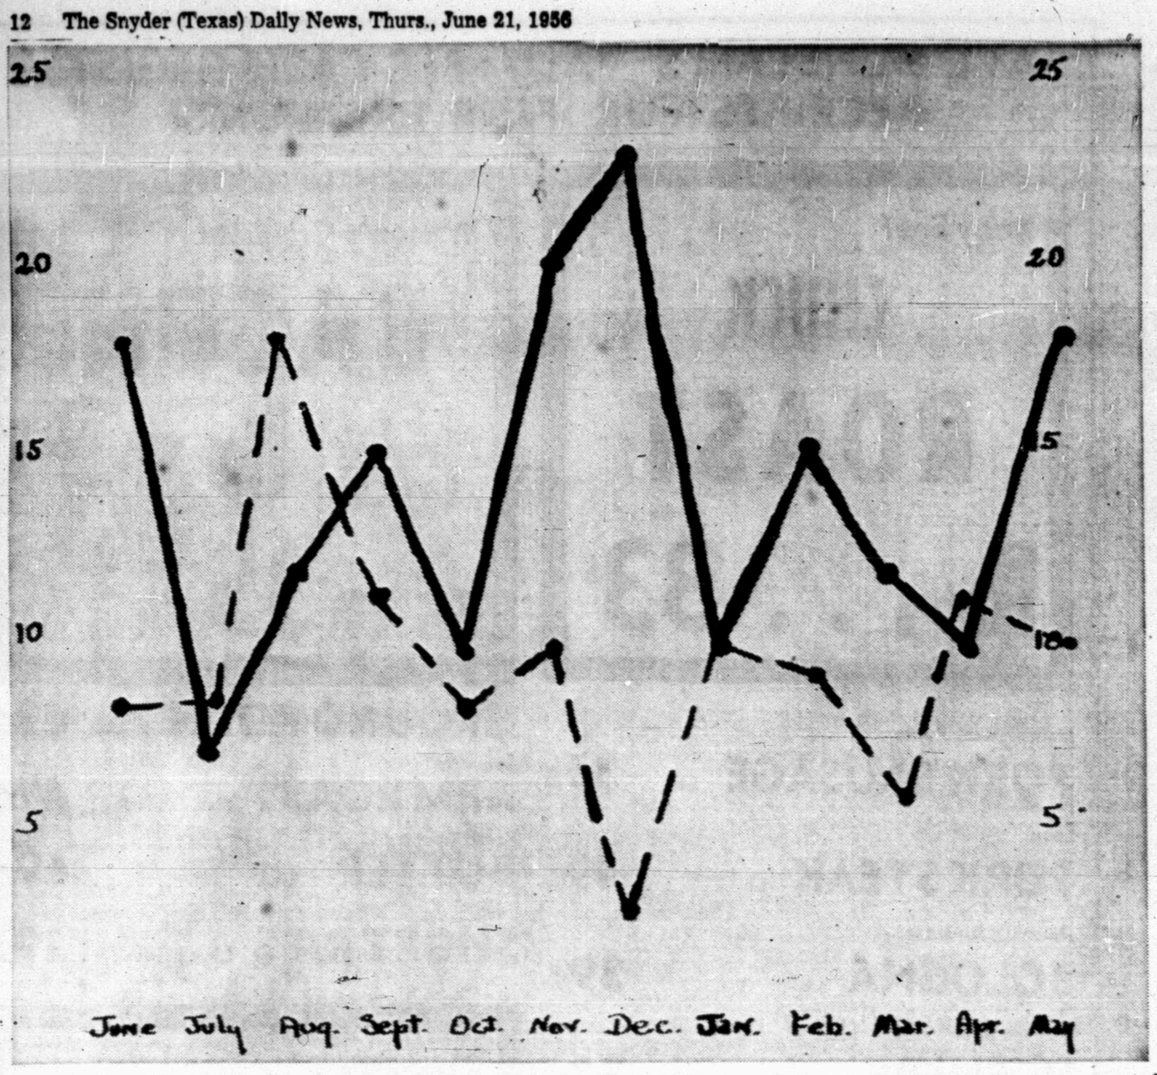
Newlyweds May Be Getting Younger



ALMOST as many persons want to get divorced today as want to get married, if records for the past year here are any indication. During the last 12-month period, there were 171 marriage licenses issued here and 110 divorce cases filed. During some months, there are more divorce cases filed than marriage licenses secured, as is shown in the graph above. The heavy line indicates the number of marriage license, by months, from June, 1955, to May, 1956, while the broken line indicates the number of divorce cases during the same months.

By DALE WALTON

What people are saying these days about brides and bridegrooms getting younger by the year is probably true, although it is hard to prove in Scurry County.

In checking over marriage license records in the county clerk's office here, a person will acquire the impression that plenty of teenagers are getting married these days. But it is next to impossible to determine by the record whether the average parents of these newlyweds were older when they were married. It was not long ago that marriage license records did not state definitely how old a person was when the license was issued. It only required that a person be either of legal age to secure a license or have his parents' written consent if he was not.

Now a definite age is given by each person involved when a marriage license is issued. A person under 14 years of age cannot secure a marriage license in Texas, so you won't find any 12-year-olds in the books. These, if they are are married, either falsify their ages or get married in another state which does not care.

It may not be true that women are younger, on the average, when they are married now. Many persons can tell you now that their mothers were 15 to 18 when married. It is fairly apparent, however that the bridegrooms are getting youngers.

Marriage license records here for the past 12 months reveal that 34 per cent of the bridegrooms who apply for marriage licenses are not of legal age and must have parental consent to be married. The legal age for men is 21. In numbers, there were 58 out of 171 men who applied who were under 21. For the same period, there were 45 women of the 171 who were under the legal age of 18, or a percentage of 16.1.

At the same time, it may be possible that more older people are getting married now than once did. Women over 30 are generally considered less likely to be married than those younger, yet 16 of the 171 licenses went to women over 30, or 9.3 per cent. There were were nine men during the period who were over 40, or 5. 3 percent.

Another thing a person can hear occasionally is that it will not take long before there are as many divorces every month as there are marriages.

It may be closer to that than some think here. While there were 171 marriage licenses being issued during the past year, a total of 110 divorce cases were being filed in district court here. That does not necessarily give a true picture, however, since a large number of divorce cases are dropped before they go to trial.

There was only one girl of 14 who was among applicants for marriage licenses here during the past year, but there were as many as six who were 15. The youngest on the male side of the new partnerships was 17, and licenses went to four of that age.

While newlyweds may be getting younger, there is a hint in the records of a trend toward wedlock of the older couples. Men's ages in the license books run up to 78, while those of women are as high as 65.

The average marriage age in Scurry County during the past year was 22.6 years. Broken down, the averages are 24.6 for men and 20.8 for women.

The average difference between the ages of newlyweds during that year here was 3.8, although there were cases of men being as much as 14 years older than their brides and women being as much as 12 years older than the grooms. The youngest marriage during the year as a couple joined a boy of 17 and a girl of 15.

Most of those who secure marriage licenses here are local couples, or at least one is local. There were during the past, year, however, several marriages of strictly out-of-town couples. The signs in the books indicate that many times these marriages are of couples who might be considered too young by their neighbors or those who might be considered getting fairly old for marriage. There have been couples getting licenses here who gave their residences as such neighboring cities as Loraine, Rotan, Roby, Colorado City, Big Spring, Sweetwater, and Post, and such farther away places as Houston, Denton, Irving, and others.

June has always been known as the big marriage month, but during the past 12 months and during many of the past few years June takes a place farther down the line. Last December, there were 23 marriage licenses issued here, while November ranked second with 20 and June, 1955, tied with May, 1956 with 18. By the halfway mark this month, there had been only 10 licenses issued.

It is also interesting to observe that, while December takes thd front row in marriages, it is the low month for divorce cases. There were only three divorce cases filed here during last December, the lowest of all the past 12 months. The largest number of divorce cases filed in one month was 18 in August.

While the county clerk's office issues an average of 14.2 marriage licenses here monthly, an average of 10.1 divorce cases are filed monthly in the district clerk's office.

Divorces grow more numerous by the year, and they have played a major part in crowding many court dockets. During the past 12 months, a total of 255 civil cases of all kinds were filed in district court. Of those, 110 were divorce cases. That is 43.1 per cent of the entire civil docket.

It comes as no surprise to anyone that women file more divorce cases than do men. Of the 110 cases here during the past year, 87 were filed by women and 23 by men.

Texas has several safeguards in its marriage laws. The first, as mentioned previously, prevents issuance of licenses to anyone under 14 years of age. Another provides issuance to those under legal age only with written parental consent.

Another, which is a fairly new law in Texas, requires a blood test for both parties before a marriage license can be issued. This blood test must be taken at a state-approved labratory, of which Snyder has two, and it is good for only 15 days, as is the license. If the time limit runs out before the marriage takes place, the couple must take the test over again and get another license.

80 Counties Eligible For Lower Rail Rates

AUSTIN (AP)—Eighty Texas counties now are eligible for reduced rail rates in shipping cattle to outside pasturage.

Gov. Allan Shivers said Tuesday the Western Traffic Assn. had approved his request for extension of the benefits to all designated drought-affected counties of Texas.

The governor said he will ask the railroads to extend these rates to all counties later designated for emergency drought relief.

Under the program, the usual freight rates are assessed on shipments of cattle from drought affected areas to outside pasturage but the cattle are returned free of charge.

Results Of Polio Vaccine Uncertain

With the coming of summer, there also comes a frightful disease, polio. While this disease may strike people during any time of the year, its most active season is the summer time. This year medical doctors will heave a sigh and hope to see a decrease in the number of cases because of the use of the Salk Vaccine.

The large cities of the nation are reporting fewer cases this year than last. Experts attribute this to the Salk Vaccine.

Since Snyder each year has a varied number of cases, it is hard to judge the effectiveness of the vaccine here. In 1951 the number of polio cases reported was 4 and in 1952 the number increased to 8. In 1953 the number dropped to 2. In 1954 the number increased to 9 cases.

In 1955, the same year that the Salk Vaccine came out, the number of cases reported was one. The vaccine may have already been making a difference in the number of cases in Snyder.

In the fall of 1955, 950 first and second graders of Snyder were vaccinated with the Salk Vaccine, under the direction of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Of those 950 children who took the first shot, 765 completed the series by taking a second shot.

The third shot, the booster shot, was left up to the parents of the children to decide who would give the shot. The shots could be given by a family doctor or if the family could not meet the expense the shots could be taken at the Health Center. There were 44 booster shots given by the Health Center to these school children.

Few records are available on exactly how many children have been given the shots in Snyder. Most doctors judge this by how much of the vaccine they have used.

The Health Center has given second shots this year. These shots were given only to children under 20 and to expectant mothers.

According to the compiled figures given by the hospitals and some of the city's doctors, it may be extimated that 1600 injections have been given of the Salk Vaccine this year.

Few of these shots have been given to adults unless they were expectant mothers. Because the supply of the vaccine has not always been to abundant, the vaccine has been limited to children, but a few adults have been given shots. Now that the supply is becoming more abundant, some of the doctors feel that they may start giving the shots to more adults.

It is felt by some doctors that the number of people who have bene given the vaccine represents a good turn out but others feel that there should be more.

With the hot summer days ahead, the threat of polio will be more and more imminent. By the use of the Salk vaccine, it is hoped that the threat will soon disappear.

LEGAL NOTICE

LEGAL ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS

Sealed bids for the construction of approximately 5.861 Miles of Grading, Drainage, Base and Asphaltic Surface Treatment in Precinct 2, 3 miles North from U.S. Highway 180, and 3 miles East to State Highway 1609, in Scurry County, Texas, addressed to the Scurry County Commissioners Court will be received at the office of the County Judge in Snyder, Texas until 10:00 A.M., June 28, 1956, and then publicly opened and read.

All proposals shall be accompanied by a chashier's check or bid bond acceptable to the Court in the amount of ten (10) per cent of the bid price payable without recourse to the Commissioners Court of Scurry County as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into contract and execute performance bond within ten (10) days after notice of award of contract to him. The notice of award of contract will be given by the Owner, or his representative, within ten (10) days following the opening of bids. The bid security must be enclosed in the same envelope with the bid. Bids without check or bid bond will not be considered.

The right is reserved, as the interest of the Owner may require, to reject any or all bids.

Plans, specifications and bidding documents may be secured from the office of the Engineer, W. W. Greif & Associates, at 1713 25th Street in Snyder, Texas, upon a deposit of twenty dollars ($20.00) per set, which sum so deposited will be refunded provided the Contractor submits a bonafide bid and all documents are returned to him within 48 hours following the opening of bids.

Plans and specifications are on file and may be examined at the office of the County Judge or the County Clerk's office at the Courthouse in Snyder, Texas.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas
A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

RIGHT TO BAIL

In the United States a defendant in a criminal action is presumed to be innocent until his guilt or innocence is established at his trial — not when he is arrested.

With this concept in mind it is not hard to see why the right to bail in criminal cases is guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States, with the exception of capital cases. A capital crime is one which the punishment may be death. In Texas murder, treason, rape and robbery with firearms are capital offenses.

All prisoners are bailable in Texas except where the proof is evident that a capital offense has been committed and it is probable that a jury will asses the death penalty.

An officer making an arrest is required by law to take the accused promptly before a magistrate. It is the duty of the magistrate to examine into the truth of the accusation made. He determines whether the accused should be discharged or bailed or held without bail. If bail is set for the defendant, the magistrate must determine the amount. The Law provides a procedure for reviewing these decisions before the Court of Criminal Appeals.

When an accused is on bail when his trial commences he has the right to remain on bail during the trial of his case. Where the punishment of a defendant has been assessed at confinement in the penitentiary for fifteen years or less the defendant has the right to remain on bail pending the appeal of his case. If the penalty is more than fifteen years the defendant is kept in custody from the moment the jury returns its verdict.

The Constitution also says that bail may not be set in excessive amount. What is considered a reasonable amount depends largely upon the circumstances and the risk involved. Bail must be set high enough to assure the court and the state that the person will not run away, but will return and submit to trial on the date set.

The judge usually will ask the prosecuting attorney for a recommendation as to the amount of bail. The accused's attorney may then ask that the amount recommended be reduced, giving his reasons. The judge will settle on an amount he believes reasonable to assure the accused's presence at the trial.

Occasionally we read of someone "skipping bail". This means that he failed to show up in court at the required time. In such cases the court can order his bail forfeited. The person is still subject to re-arrest and prosecution, however.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts, because the facts may change the application of the law.)

In 1900 7½ million Americans owned their homes compared with 25 million today.

Brady Case, Hillbilly Band Spark State Campaigns

By The Associated Press

One candidate for governor sought to solve the Brady bombing case and another picked up a hillbilly band as they stumped Texas Wednesday.

J. J. Holmes, with a tape recorder attached to his telephone, waited in his hotel room at San Angelo for a call from a mysterious informant who promised data on the bombing of Brady attorney Sam McCollum III June 8.

Holmes waited for hours beside his telephone saying he thought the informant was in San Angelo. He said he was sure the bombing was connected with the veterans' land scandals. McCollum had been a key witness in the conviction of former state Land Commissioner Bascom Giles for theft in the veterans' land program.

Ralph Yarborough, candidate for governor, picked up a hillbilly band, "The Cass County Coon Hunters," at Vernon for a tour through the Red River Valley area. Former Gov. Lee O'Daniel has had his "Hillbilly Boys" on the road with him since he started his campaign.

Yarborough, speaking at Vernon, repeated his pledge to "restore honesty, integrity and dignity to the state government."

At Iowa Park, Yarborough emphasized the necessity of keeping the "Democratic party machinery in the hands of Democrats, so that Democratic ideals will become Democratic laws."

He urged all Democrats to vote July 28 and attend precinct meetings the same day.

Sen. Price Daniel predicted at a Texarkana rally Wednesday night he would win the governor's office in the first primary "if we get out and work."

Daniel said that if each of the 35,000 persons who wrote him urging him to seek the nomination would "bring 20 other people to the polls, I think there's a very good chance to win this election in the first primary."

He said the Supreme Court "wrongfully overruled" the lower courts on the segregation issue, "just like I think the Supreme Court has been wrong on so many of its decisions."

"We're going to have to rely on the local school districts to handle these problems," he said.

"I think there are ways to maintain separate but equal schools and I think the problem can be solved by people of good will. I hope you approve of that stand."

Reuben Senterfitt said at Palestine that if elected governor, he will call a constitutional convention to reorganize the state departments. Senterfitt said there are 180 of these, 6 of which deal with insurance. He said a reorganization would reduce the department heads and make it possible to pin down responsibility.

O'Daniel campaigned in his fire truck at Rosenburg, Wharton, Freeport and Bay City Wednesday. The caravan was scheduled for El Campo, Edna, Port Lavaca and Victoria today.

Evetts Haley, the cowboy-historian candidate for governor, was at his home in Canyon Wednesday. He is to speak tonight at a barbecue in Amarillo.

John Smith of Lubbock, candidate for lieutenant governor, said in a radio broadcast at Center that "corrupt officeholders and certain conniving lobbyists" have victimized Texans of millions of dollars. He was to spend Thursday and Friday in Nacogdoches, Lufkin and Crockett. Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey was busy at his Austin headquarters. Seeking the same office, C. T. Johnson told a breakfast in Fort Worth the state should shoulder the responsibility in a long-range water saving program.

LAREDO (AP)—Ballots in the July 28 primary election in Zapata County were ordered impounded yesterday by Judge R. D. Wright. He acted on a motion by Dist. Atty. James Kazen who said he took the action to guarantee "a fair, honest, impartial, secret election."

White Paints Bleak Picture Of Drought-Stricken Areas

By BILL GIBSON

PHARR (AP)— A bleak drought picture of the South Texas area was reported yesterday by state Agricultural Commissioner John White.

"The area from Austin to Alice was the worst drought disaster area I've been in during my four years as commissioner," White said. He is on a four-day inspection tour.

He described the section hardest hit by drought on a line starting in Williamson County north of Austin, down through Beeville and Austin and over to Laredo and including everything westward to the High Plains of West Texas.

"The fields were as still as death," White said of the area through which he passed.

He said there wasn't a single tractor or man working in the fields.

"I saw miles and miles of pasture yesterday where there wasn't a single sprig of grass," White said. He saw acres of cotton fields from San Marcos to Alice that didn't look as though they would make a sack full of cotton, and grain sorghum fields that would never see a harvester, he said.

The area got progressively worse from Austin to Alice, White said. The worst part was south of San Antonio.

"In Live Oak County," White said, "I don't believe a single farmer is making a living off of farming."

About one-third of the farm families in Live Oak County and almost half the farm families in Karnes County were receiving surplus food relief, he said.

White said it was impossible to tell about the miles of devastation. "You just have to see it," he said, "and you don't have to be a farm expert to understand what bad shape the farmers are in.

"Many farm families in the drought area need the necessities of life like bacon and beans," White said, "and I haven't run into a farmer yet who didn't want to work."

The commissioner said he wants the Legislature to set up a program through some state agency to help the farmer.

"Why couldn't we concentrate public works programs, such as road paving, to the disaster areas during a drought and provide jobs for the people who want to work?"

Going through George West the commissioner ran into a hard rain. He said water covered the road but that the earth was packed so hard that the water just ran off.

From what he had seen of the Lower Rio Grande Valley, he said, the cotton crop there might equal last year's 392,000 bales despite dry weather. He said "lack of adequate rain is a grave problem especially for citrus growers and vegetable producers, but cotton harvesting is on schedule."

Estimate On Regular Army Given

Within another year, seven out of every ten men in the Army will be members of the Regular Army or will be volunteers.

That estimate has been made by Major General Donald P. Booth, Assistant Deputy Chief of Staff for personnel, Washington, D. C., who points out that the Army is moving steadily toward its goal of being a 100 percent volunteer unit.

Colonel Garlen R. Bryant, Commanding Officer of the Southwestern Recruiting District, which covers the five-state Fourth Army area, cites the unusual advantages offered men who enlist voluntarily for Army service and increasing rate of reenlistments by Army personnel as the contributing factors in the estimate made by the Department of Army spokesman.

"A high school graduate can find tremendous advantages in an Army career, a chance to develop his leadership traits in the combat arms, or a chance to become a technician through the Army's technical training program," said Colonel Bryant. "A young man can map his own career, choosing his branch before actual enlistment. Being able to select a branch makes a happier soldier than is provided by the general assignments following selective service inductions."

"The fact that the Army's reenlistment rate leads the other services, and that large numbers of men with prior Army service are now returning to the service after a short time in civilian life, proves an Army career is both satisfying and rewarding," Colonel Bryant added.

Complete information on an enlistment in the U. S. Army may be obtained from the local Army recruiter, M - Sgt. Don Spencer, whose office is at Court-House, Snyder, Texas.

Draftees Of Future May Get Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Draftees in the future will get a hearing if they wish before they are rejected for induction on security grounds.

Secretary of Defense Wilson yesterday called for instructions to guide personnel officers in reaching "common sense" decisions relating to the acceptance or retention of people against whom security information might be filed.

Students To Return

MORELIA, Mexico (AP)— Student strikers who damaged buildings and stoned officials in riots Tuesday have agreed to return to classes today. They were protesting the government's refusal to grant more educational benefits. Thousands of students struck recently in Mexico City, 150 miles southeast.

Polio In Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — Mrs. Estheer Lloyd and her daughter, Judith, 13, were reported as non-paralytic polio patients yesterday by the city health department. Four deaths and 70 cases of polio have cropped up in the metropolitan area this year, compared to 105 cases and 2 deaths last year.
