Kraft Phenix Takes Loraine Cheese Output

Beginning with the output of Saturday, August 10, Kraft-Phenix Cheese Company started taking the entire output of the plant of the Loraine Cooperative Association. The present output of the plant is approximately 2000 pounds daily. The contract with Kraft-Phenix will be in force for one year.

For the first four months and a half the output was contracted to Armour & Co. This contract, however, was cancelled by Armour on July 17. The output of the plant was much larger than expected and Armour was not prepared to handle the cheese.

It may sound just a little unreasonable to some but since the Loraine plant started operation the first of March more than 300,000 pounds of cheese have been made and sold which brought approximately $31,000.

The loan from the Houston Bank for Cooperatives is being closed up this week which places the association on a good sound financial footing.

The board of directors and the manager have worked hard to get the association in position to secure the loan and deserve the praise of the entire membership.

Anyone who has, hogs, chickens, guns, stock of any kind from a cat to an elephant, that you would like to have sold on this date get in touch with R. L. Hestes at the depot or J. W. King at the News office, who will be glad to make arrangements to handle your merchandise or what ever you have to sell, protecting you from any loss.

JOHN LINDSEY GETS FREE SUBSCRIPTION

The six months free subscription to The Mitchell County News went to John Lindsey this week for turning in the 25th personal news item.

We wish that more of our readers would either phone in or send in personal news items. For the 25th item turned in each week we offer a free subscription for six months to The News. Turn in a personal next week you may be the winner.

Local news items are the best news we can publish and we want every item we can get. It is not possible for us to get in touch with each of you each week to secure the news you may know. If you will telephone it in or tell us on the street we shall appreciate it.

Mrs. Ada Pierce visited her brother, W. F. Altman, in Arlington Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

Local Boy Plays With Texas Tech

Lubbock, Texas, August 14.—One of the roughest, toughest left guards in the country will be Wilburn Allbright of the Texas Tech Raiders. Allbright, a product of Loraine High School, will be playing his sophomore year with the South Plains school.

Allbright is 5 feet, 11 inches tall and weighs 185. Line coach "Dutchy" Smith of the colorful Red Raiders expects Allbright to blossom into one of the finest guards in the Texas Tech history. The Loraine act is due for a regular starting assignment at left guard when the Raiders open their home season at Lubbock on October 5 against Loyola of the Coast. Allbright will have to fill the shoes of last year's Captain Dixie White one of the best guards in the nation, and the Loraine lad is sure he can turn the trick.

Loraine Amateur Program Friday

Loraine will present the amateur program at Ruddick Park Colorado City for Friday Aug. 16. Mrs. W. R. Martin has arranged the program at the request of the Loraine and Colorado Chamber of Commerce. Harold Bennett will announce the program which is representative of the varieties of talent Loraine has. The Loraine Orchestra will open the program with popular dance selections. Patsy Green will give a picnic number. Mrs. Kirk Taylor with Albert and Pierce Givens will present a string, piano and accordion trio. Jeanine Martin will sing as an Irish lassie. Ruth Ann Hall will read. Betty Marth will sing and dance. Mrs. K. L. Taylor will give piano selections. J. W. King and Douglas Taylor will play a cornet duet with Miss Wennola Martin accompanying. Kent McGowan will offer piano novelties. Mr. Thomas Riden has arranged a quartet group and K. L. Taylor will give a vocal solo. Mrs. Taylor accompanying. The Woman's Choral Club will sing and Mr. Yarbrough's Texas Rounders will present string music. "Bo" Brians will do a popular vocal.

Mrs. Martin wishes to express appreciation for the hearty response received in building this program. Loraine folks have just what it takes to put on a good show. Come out and enjoy the amateur hour!

HOSPITAL NOTES

Medical patients at the hospital this week included the following: Mrs. Oren Lucas, Mrs. Homan Lee, Aileen Hallmark, Mrs. W. E. Clopton, Mrs. M. D. Cheek, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ison, Mrs. C. W. Groom, Mrs. Hiser, Mrs. O. L. Griffin and Mrs. Cledie Hall.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Poe Burleson August 8, a girl. Born to Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Walker August 12 a boy.

Major surgery patients were Doris Foreman, appendicitis, J. D. Robertson, appendicitis.

Lavern and Lanell Henderson had their tonsils removed.

W. B. Robertson received treatment for an injury to his right leg received in a tractor.

Mrs. J. F. Williams was dismissed from the hospital.

BEIGHTS FAMILY ATTENDS REUNION

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Beights and family returned Tuesday from Brownfield where they spent Sunday and Monday attending a reunion of the Atkinson family. Fifty members of the family were present for the occasion which included a barbecue and sleeping under the stars.

More Rains Fall This Week

More than an inch of rain has visited this section during the week. Sunday night's half inch and Wednesday morning's good rain will be sufficient for all needs at the present.

Prospects for a bumper cotton crop are the brightest in years. The stalk is loaded with forms from squares to bolls and unless something strikes it should produce a good drop. Some are reporting leaf worms but with the proper poisoning they can be handled readily enough.

METHODIST LEAGUE HAS PICNIC

At 2 o'clock Tuesday 23 members of the Methodist League met at the church to go to Sweetwater Lake on a picnic. After arriving games were started. Some played table games while others hiked about the lake. At 6 o'clock the lunches were spread. After this large supper the group hiked and for awhile and finally assembled back around the supper tables. A large bon fire was built and the business part of the meeting was discussed. Several hymns were sung by the group, afterwards a circle was formed around the fire and sentence prayers were given. The service was closed with every one repeating the League Benediction. Those attending were: Rev. Shewbert, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Williams and sons, Earlene Brown, Doris Meadows, Ronel Thomas, Jane Meadows, Ruby Jo Marshall, Evelyn Land, Mary Love Walker, Frances Rhodes, Wanda Richey, Gloria Martin, Louise Hallmark, Byron Bennett, Garland Faulkenberry, Royce Mahon, Lynn Hamilton, Vern Preston, and Duane Bruce. Everyone expressed a very enjoyable time.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Browning of Odessa spent Monday night with Mr. and Mrs. John Lindsay.

METHODIST CHURCH

"The Sin Against The Holy Ghost" Rev. Shewberts Subject for Sunday night.

Rev. Shewbert fill preach on the above subject Sunday night at the Methodist Church. Every one is urged to come out and hear this message. There will be good singing and fine spiritual fellowship.

The revivals have closed but all should attend church morning and night.

Brother Shewbert will bring a special message Sunday morning also. Let all be out for this message and also for Sunday School. Sunday School begins at 10 A. M. and church at 10:50 closing at 11:45. Come and worship with us Sunday morning.

Our young peoples groups are going along nicely and will enjoy these meetings. Come out if you are in that group.

Dairy Show To Be Held Here Early This Fall

LORAINÉ GRID TEAM STUDED WITH VETERANS

Beans McCasland, Loraine high school football coach, informed us the other day that he's going to have one of the best Class A teams in the district this fall.

"Everybody at Loraine is talking about winning the district already and it makes it kinda tough. But we are going to be championship threats unless I miss my guess," the towering McCasland reasoned.

Back from last year are eight regulars, most of whom carry enough avoirdupois for Double-A company. The mentor is especially sweet on his tackles. Tough Matthers, 195 pound right tackle got two votes for all-district last year and should be a cinch for a first string post this season, his coach says. On the left side will be an even heavier youngster, Leon Duke, a 215 pounder, who showed a world of improvement in spring training.

The backfield looms as fast and powerful. In the quarterback slot will be Jack Allbright, brother of a Texas Tech guard. Allbright tips the scales at 170 and is the sturdiest of the lot. Royal James, brother of ACC's Bobby and Chubby is slated for fullback duty. Young James handled the signal barking last year and did a swell job. He is expected to be even more effective at full, though his 150 pounds places him in the comparatively lightweight bracket.

Harold Simmons and Gene Baird, both of whom have brothers on the McMurry varsity, should take care of the halves. "Harold is just a bout as fast if not faster than McMurry's Al," McCasland declared. From his 155 pounds he generates plenty of power. Baird is the lightest member of the secondary brigade, weighing only 145. He has profited by last year's experience and is slated to mow down the enemy from his blocking position. "Most of the boys have picked up lots of weight this summer," McCasland said. "Jack Rowland right end, weighed only 135 last season but now is up to 165."

Rowland leaves little to be desired at the wing. At the opposite terminal will be Harold Johnson, another 165 pounder, who did not play football last year but shows promise.

Sidney Meek, 155, is counted on to fill the bill at right guard. Whether James Loftis, 145, or Alvin Brown, 185, will hold forth at right guard, remains to be seen. Brown was due to take over but moved with his family to Stanton during the summer. There is a chance he will return, the coach said.

The center post is a wide open scramble between David Faulkenberry, 195, and Thomas Robertson, 155. Early fall training will determine the starter.

WON IN '37

The Bulldogs won the district title in 1937 under the tutelage of Pinky Brooks, who like McCasland, played his college football at McMurry. The team didn't do so well in '38 and was only so-so last fall.

"If the season had been starting when it ended," the coach confided, we wouldn't have lost more than two games."

He figures Colorado City and Snyder will be the most rugged foes. Also feared is Roscoe which always manages to come up with a strong club despite graduation losses.

Loraine opens the season against Anson Sept. 13 in a warmup bout. Colorado City supplies the opposition Sept. 20 in a traditional game that COUNTS.

The Bulldogs' field has been lighted for the upcoming campaign nocturnal games being the order for Loraine fans for the first time in history. Full training begins Sept. 2.

Loraine Bulldogs Football Schedule for 1940: Anson, Sept. 13, there; Sept. 20, Colorado City, there; Sept. 27, Roby, here; Oct. 4, Snyder, here; Oct. 11, open; Oct. 18, open; Oct. 25, Rotan, here; Nov. 8, Merkel, here; Nov. 15, Roscoe, there; Nov. 21, open; and Nov. 28, open.

Loraine is to have a dairy show this fall according to plans set in motion by the chamber of commerce Monday night. The body voted to put on the biggest show possible for this area and to make it an annual affair.

Dairymen throughout this area, especially that served by the Loraine Cooperative cheese plant, are urged to begin now to prepare their animals for exhibition. Appropriate prizes will be offered.

A committee composed of C. T. Marth, Edward F. Brown and J. W. King was appointed to make arrangements and set a date for the show. The committee will get together as soon as possible and work out the plans.

A free community fair is also dairy show. Tentative plans call for the display of farm products in the various show windows about town.

PICNIC SUPPER AT LONE WOLF MOUNTAIN

Picturesque Lone Wolf Mountain a few miles north of Loraine was the scene of a picnic supper for children and grandchildren of Mrs. M. A. Holley of Sweetwater Sunday.

The group met at the home of Jack Linam and from there went to the mountain for supper. After supper the group remained at the Linam home where they enjoyed games, string music and singing until a late hour.

Those present were: Mrs. M. A. Holley, Mr. and Mrs. Claud Holley, Mr. and Mrs. H. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Bert Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Wayland Kirkpatrick and children, Mr. and Mrs. Volton Beal and Wade Kirkpatrick of Sweetwater, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Vowell of Colorado City, Mrs. Joe Kirkpatrick and Darrell Kirkpatrick of Oklahoma City, Bernard Kirkpatrick of Abilene, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Tillison, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Linam and children, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Tillison Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Chamness and children of Loraine.

Guests were Miss Mary Ruth Rasco of Abilene, Miss Dorothy Ussery and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Kenney of Sweetwater.

CHORAL NOTES

The Womans Choral Club is enjoying a very successful summer session with rehearsal regularly at 7:00 at the M. E. Church. The group will present a number for the Loraine Amateur program and sing for a special program at the Baptist Church Sunday at the Church House. Mrs. Travis Hallmark, accompanist will give instrumental numbers. Miss Ruth Ann Hall will read, Mrs. K. L. Taylor, guest soloist will sing the tenor solo part for the Chorus "Calvary". "The Prayer Perfect" will be sung and Mr. Riden has arranged a quartet group.

The membership for the summer session includes—Sopranos: Mrs. Hubert Thomas, Mrs. Homer Derbyberry, Mrs. Wylie Walker, Mrs. Harold Martin, Misses Ruby Jo Marshall, Lula Mae Roberts, Faye Johnson, Dell Johnson, Ruth Ann Hall, Margaret Jarratt.

Second Sopranos: Mrs. K. L. Taylor and Mrs. Jack Walker.

Altos: Misses Frances Riden, Fern Coon, and Mrs. Stanton Hutchins. Mrs. W. R. Martin directs the group. Membership is always open and if you like to sing, you are most welcome to join us. Membership fee is 25 a month.

MEXICAN WOMAN BURIED THURSDAY

Funeral services for Maria Arebalo, age 86, were held Thursday morning and her body laid to rest in the Loraine cemetery. Deceased was a Mexican woman living on the Bauman farm south of town.

Mrs. Marvin J. Martin was a visitor in Lubbock Sunday.

Fred E. Ison spent part of last week in Dallas markets and attending the Southwest Style Review.

Clubwoman: Wageman Homewoman

SHE'S THE SAME PERSON, when she goes to a store.

At her club meeting, it's kind of fun to hear some radical lecturer "prove" that most manufacturers are slickers, most store cheese is chalk, and most advertising is ballyhoo.

But watch the clubwoman when she starts buying. She wants her money's worth and she gets it. How? By first consulting the advertisements. Then by choosing the products she knows—the trade marked, nationally advertised products that have been on the market for years.

Those trade-marked, advertised articles are the ARISTOCRATS among all the things she buys—or that any of us can buy.

Here are the "Big Four" in the new cabinet of Japan, set up after the resignation of Premier Yonai. Left to right: Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye; Yosuke Matsuoka, foreign minister; Vice Admiral Zengo Yoshida, minister of the navy; and Lieut. General Eiichi Tojo, war minister. This new cabinet is pledged to closer co-operation with the Rome-Berlin axis and has set up its own Monroe Doctrine of the East.

U. S. DEFENSE: War Games

Accent on war came closer to home for hundreds of thousands of American families when they saw 310,000 of their sons, brothers, and fathers march off to the largest peacetime maneuvers in American history.

From coast to coast, border to border, U. S. army regulars, National Guardsmen and organized reserves were mobilized for a 21-day training period that swung them in divisions, corps and armies into simulated battle conditions in a war game around the Canadian border.

Congress

Meanwhile President Roosevelt sent a message asking congress for authority to call the National Guard into training for a year and gave his endorsement to the movement for peacetime conscription. After a favorable committee report the senate readily granted the National Guard authority (71-7) and sent this measure to the house.

Senate military committee approved the modified Burke-Wadsworth conscription bill, but there were predictions the weeks of committee debate are only the prelude of what is ahead on the senate and house floor. Bill now confines registration to men between ages of 21 to 31. Former War Secretary Woodring opposes the measure and urges lowering army enlistment period of one year and raising pay, in order to attract volunteers.

House leaders devoted hours of struggle to excess profits taxes and defense orders, combination of which promises to be tightest bottleneck. Present plan is to permit cost of plant expansions to be deducted from taxable earnings over five-year period, at rate of 20 per cent each year. Manufacturers want to net enough from defense orders to pay for necessary new facilities, definitely do not want to risk paying taxes on worthless property, as many had to do after 1919. U. S. Chamber of Commerce said: "Probabilities of loss are so great... many business men would rather not undertake such business."

Also in Washington:

☐ List of contracts approved revealed the navy had agreed to purchase large number of trawlers to lay submarine nets in principal U. S. harbors.

☐ Alien registration to include 3,600,000 will begin August 27.

☐ Assistant State Secretary Welles holds action by duress comes within the act of Havana.

☐ The house passed and sent to the senate a bill to permit wire-tapping in investigations of espionage, sabotage and treason.

NAMES

... in the news

☐ Running for re-election to the U. S. senate, in the Democratic and Republican primaries, Senator Hiram Johnson of California heard himself labeled by President Roosevelt as "no longer a liberal and certainly not a Progressive Democrat."

☐ J. R. McCarl, former comptroller general, died in Washington.

☐ Lord Beaverbrook, Canadian-born London publisher, was added to England's inner war cabinet and is expected soon to replace Alfred Duff Cooper as minister of information.

☐ Neville Chamberlain, Britain's premier and advocate of appeasement, underwent an operation and may retire from the cabinet.

☐ Harriet Eliot, consumers' member of the National Defense commission, revealed that body would stagger buying for the army and navy to prevent undue pressure on the consumer and consequent price raises.

Boomerangs

CAMPAIGN: The Farmer

Republican candidate, Wendell Willkie, bent an ear to the wheat and corn belt problems when he ended his Colorado vacation by going to Des Moines, Iowa, to meet governors and their representatives from midwestern states. What they told him form the basis for his agricultural utterances in his acceptance speech. But he indicated he will advocate no change in the current farm program.

Efforts of Senator Wheeler (D., Mont.) to learn the Republican candidate's views on the conscription measures failed. Willkie said the President could have his opinion anytime he asked for it. Otherwise they also will first appear in the acceptance speech.

Democratic candidate for vice president, Farm Secretary Henry A. Wallace, changed his mind about staying in office during the campaign. He said he will resign when he accepts the nomination. He also had a little trouble with a "boomerang" (see cut).

BRITAIN'S PROBLEM: Naval Losses

German claims to heavy destruction of British shipping show basis for alarm. Britain started war with 183 destroyers. They admit 29 are sunk and more are laid up for repairs. Less than 100 are believed in operation. Nazis say British loss in merchant ships is larger than in the World war, in excess of 5,000,000 tons.

Ships for Sale

Condition may have reaction in U. S. The United States has 238 destroyers, twice as many as any other two navies. Committee to Defend America by Aiding Allies is agitating for sale of 60 "over-age and unused destroyers" to British. Those favoring sale argue it would be better to put ships to practical use than to allow them to rust in U. S. navy yards.

Agitation was brought into the open when Gen. John J. Pershing, commander of the A. E. F., spoke in favor of the sale. He said it might be the last act America might be able to make "short of war," and said by sending help to the British we "still can hope with confidence to keep the war on the other side of the Atlantic ocean."

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, in a speech to the anti-war rally at Chicago, warned that in the future America "may have to deal with a Europe dominated by Germany," and advocated "non-interference by America with affairs in Europe." For these remarks the "lone eagle" was branded as "the chief of the fifth column in this country," by Senator Pepper of Florida. This statement resulted in some bitter debate on the floor of the senate.

MISCELLANY: Disappointment

The duke and duchess of Windsor frustrated the hopes of many expectant dowagers when they decided not to come to America, en route to the former king's new job, governor general of the Bahamas. His royal highness changed plans, decided to disembark at Bermuda. There have been rumors, however, that his Pennsylvania-born, Baltimore-bred wife soon may visit America for a plastic operation, details unannounced.

When reserve army officers of the medical corps were called to Carlisle barracks, Pennsylvania, for training, the major course was tropical and semi-tropical diseases.

A death sentence was voted by a French court for the rebel Gen. Charles de Galle, who fled to England when the armistice was signed and has since organized French forces for further resistance. Still to hear their fate are Former Premiers Edouard Daladier and Leon Blum and Marshal Maurice Gamelin. De Galle and Blum still are not in French hands.

Only Time Can Test 'Advantages' Of Havana Conference Agreement

Pan-American Plan for Colonies Enlarges the Scope of Famous Monroe Doctrine and Assures Enforcement Of Its Provisions.

By WILLIAM BRUCKART
WNU Service, National Press Bldg., Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON. — Although copybooks long since have disappeared and the school systems seem to have omitted the "R" from reading, writing and arithmetic, the truth of the copy lines remains indisputable. One line, "time brings changes," continues to be basic fact and it applies to nations as well as individuals. If proof were needed as to the truth of the adage, recent developments at Havana, Cuba, surely can be used.

The conference at Havana, in which the United States and 20 other American republics participated, brought into being an agreement whereby all of the nations in North and South America, excepting Canada and the possessions of European nations, will work together in defense, military or otherwise. It was a meeting that must be placed in large print in history because it told the whole world that the Monroe Doctrine still exists and will be enforced.

The Havana conference was notable and historical in another way. It established for the first time, as a policy of the United States, a de-

Value of Agreement Is Highly Controversial

There are many objections possible of statement respecting this new treaty arrangement. None can foretell whether those objections have merit or not. Nor can anyone in this day say with certainty that the program will guarantee either peace or war. In most arguments that we hear in Washington discussions, claims that appear sound are advanced both for and against the value and general merit of the Havana treaty. The thing will have to be studied and will have to be in operation for a time, I believe, before anyone can make an unequivocal statement whether its advantages outweigh its disadvantages, or whether the reverse is true.

To get back to the copybook line that "time brings changes," it may be pointed out properly that the United States has bound itself to defend all of South and Central America. It may be said, moreover, that the Havana treaty expands the Monroe Doctrine beyond any of the original meaning of the statement made by President James Monroe. Or, it offers ground for argument that the United States is taking upon itself the guardianship of all of the Americas, since it is a fact that the United States navy is the only navy worthy of a name in all of the Western hemisphere.

Fate of Small Republics Has Become Very Important

These changes have taken place. Of that, there can be little doubt. But there remains the condition that confronts all of the nations of North and South America. We do not know in this country what influences are operative in South and Central America. Of course, it is known that subversive agents—Hitler and Mussolini and Stalin—are busy in Mexico. We can see various signs of the boring-from-within that is taking place in other nations. But the truth is that we have no real knowledge of how much progress has been made or whether the parasites that are within the body politic of the Latin countries have left only a shell of solidarity on the surface for us to see.

These things, if they do exist, are highly dangerous to the United States. How dangerous they are, time alone will tell, but time has brought the changes that force the United States to build something in the nature of protective fence. The question is whether that fence shall be on our frontier with Mexico and Canada, or whether it shall be a fence along the shores of the Atlantic and the Pacific, and whether the United States can build a fence at all to make trespassers keep out.

It was only a few years ago that the Washington government was sort of letting the South American republics hold their elections with gunfire and thinking nothing of it. Now, those elections are important to us. The United States cannot go down there and supervise the elections. That would be the surest way to disrupt the relations of a more or less peaceful character that exist between the various republics. Yet, anything that is done by any of those governments now, anything that affects their status in relation to any other nation in the New world, becomes a matter paramount in importance.

U. S. Must Bear Burden Of War in Americas

Obviously, the Havana convention will come in for some very harsh criticism. It likely will be said by some, for instance, that it is another step in the direction of war and that its terms will result in American troops being used all over South America at some time in the future. To the extent that the United States must fight—if war comes to this side of the Atlantic—the Havana treaty will send our troops south of the border. It may be that such a result would have to come, anyway, whether the United States was aligned with its sister republics or not.

If war comes our way—and I see no reason for it to come over here—the United States is going to have to carry the burden. The United States has the great stake and it must defend that stake. So, the question turns on whether it is wise to take in so much territory by a written agreement, or whether to persist in following the doctrine of President Monroe as is now a tradition, dealing with the problems as they arise.

As I said, none can tell yet how the Havana treaty is going to work out. If it works out as planned, it has plenty of meritorious phases. If some of the South American republics kick over the traces, as they have been known to do, the Havana treaty will be just another scrap of paper. For the time being, however, the agreement is an excellent talking point, in any event. It is notice that any foreign nation had better consider the consequences before attempting to decide the fate of European possessions here.

His policy has become a tradition.

STAGE SCREEN RADIO

By VIRGINIA VALE

(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

THERE'S never a dull moment at Big Bear, Calif., these days. No sooner did 20th Century-Fox's "Brigham Young" troupe finish work on location near there than Monogram's "Queen of the Yukon" moved in.

The town has just one important street, and it's jammed nightly with bearded extras (whose beards earn a living for them) and members of the cast. Irene Rich, Charles Bickford, Melvin Lang, Dave O'Brien, and June Carlson are in the lineup.

Melvin Lang and Dave O'Brien had to stage a fight the other day; in preparation, Bickford spent several days teaching O'Brien how to avoid injuries. But—when Director Phil Rosen called "Cut!" O'Brien fell to the ground, and the company doctor found that he had a broken rib. He'd been too much excited to remember Bickford's instructions.

When young players in Hollywood get discouraged they remind themselves—and anyone who'll listen—that it takes just one good picture to make a star.

"Look at Pat O'Brien in 'Front Page,'" they'll say. "Look at Cary Grant in 'Topper'—Shirley Temple in "Little Miss Marker"—Errol Flynn in "Captain Blood"—May Robyn in "Lady for a Day."

Another name has been added to the "Look" list—it's that of Ida Lupino, who did a nice job in "The Light That Failed" and has won her spurs as a result of her "mad" scenes in Warner Brothers' "They Drive By Night." She'll co-star with John Garfield in "East of the River."

We may have another Rogers-Astaire picture, if RKO can find the right story for it. Fred Astaire is free-lancing at present, and Ginger is booked for three pictures, one of them being a picturization of the very popular novel, "Kitty Foyle." But some time next year they may be dancing together again.

Herbert Moulton has a new idea for screen entertainment, and he hopes you're going to like it. After six months of hard work he has finished an abridged version of "Love Me Tonight," starring Maurice Chevalier, Jeanette MacDonald and Myrna Loy, and originally released in 1932. It will run just 45 minutes.

Other old-time successes being considered for streamlining are "Design for Living," "The Lives of a Bengal Lancer," "Night After Night," and "One Hour With You."

Betty Field left the stage for Hollywood a year ago; in that time she's played four big parts, so different from each other that she's the envy of all the other young actresses. In "What a Life!" she was the nice high school girl who was Jackie Cooper's sweetheart; in "Of Mice and Men" she was the sultry, amorous young woman who attracted Lon Chaney Jr. in "Seventeen," she was a giddy young siren, and in "Victory," her latest picture, she's warm, tender, understanding.

Three years ago Ralph Edwards hitch-hiked from his home in Oakland, Calif., to New York for a job. A couple of weeks ago he returned to his home in a plane. These days he's so busy that, when he decided to take a six-week vacation, five other announcers had to be called in to sub for him.

Hidden Ways

By FREDERIC F. VAN DE WATER

SYNOPSIS

David Mallory, in search of newspaper work in New York, is forced to accept a job as switchboard operator in a swank apartment house, managed by officious Timothy Higgins. There David meets Miss Agatha Paget, a crippled old lady, and her charming niece, Allegra. One day, talking with Higgins in the lobby, David is alarmed by a piercing scream. David finds the scream came from the Ferriter apartment, not far from the Pagets'. The Ferriters include Lyon and Everett, and their sister, Jane. Everett, a genealogist, is helping Agatha Paget write a book about her blue-blooded ancestors. Inside the apartment they find a black-bearded man—dead. No weapon can be found.

CHAPTER II—Continued

Hoyt had brought down a thick-shouldered person with an unlighted cigar clamped in his jaws who advanced and tapped Higgins on the shoulder so that the superintendent jumped.

"Higgins?" his accoster asked. "C'm on. Captain wants you."

My employer cast a look of appeal over his shoulder as he was marched away. It puzzled me. I could not imagine him a murderer, yet he had asked me for an alibi.

An elderly young man in a Chesterfield overcoat, with a cane hooked over his arm and glasses tethered to a black cord, approached the policeman at the door, stood for some minutes, not in argument but conversation with the sentinel, and then pushed past him, undeterred.

Something in his cocksure swagger irked me and woke foggy recollection. As he spoke, I recognized him. He had strolled through the anteroom of the Sphere's offices that noon while I had waited for the scornful office boy to tell me once again that Lomax, the city editor, could not see me.

"Evening," said the intruder briskly. "I'm from the Sphere, Duke. Larry Duke."

It was childish to vent my grievance against Lomax upon his reporter, but my nerves were jangled and I had had no lunch, thanks to my fruitless journey to the Sphere's office.

"Yes?" I said.

Duke leaned against the switchboard and lit a cigarette. That made me angrier. I needed one so. "Had a little killing upstairs, eh?" he asked. "Know anything about it?"

"Plenty," I told him. "I found the body."

That shook him up. He jerked so that his eyeglasses fell off. He hauled copy paper from his pocket. "Ain't," he grinned, "ain't this sompin? First, let's get your name right."

I gave it to him. He printed it carefully at the top of the page.

"Now," he gloated, "tell me all about it. How did you know there'd been a killing? When did it happen?"

"Easy," I said. "I'm not working for the Sphere."

He put on his glasses again and stared at me.

"I don't get you," he said at last. "Sure you don't," I told him and I loved it. I was landing a punch at last after being hammered all over the ring. "You don't get me—or a word out of me."

He looked at me harder.

"Now wait," he wheedled. "Don't be that way. If you can give this to me exclusive, there'll be a piece of change in it for you."

"I can," I said, "but I won't, and I'll tell you why."

It felt so good to get a little of my own back that I wanted more. And besides I never saw a man with a black tie-robe to his glasses whom I liked. In my mind I combined Duke and his boss, Lomax, retaining the worst features of both.

"Believe it or not," I told the reporter, "I used to be a newspaper man myself. I came to this town with a letter to Lomax from Doc Gilchrist. When Lomax didn't have two nickels to rub together, Doc gave him a job and taught him all he knows. I sent in the letter. Lomax was busy; come back in a week. In a week he was still busy. And the week after and the week after that."

"Boy," said Duke, "there are a lot better newspaper men than you'll ever be looking for work in this town and not finding any."

"Maybe," I granted. "If you knew the story I could write at present, you'd change your mind. Not getting a job isn't what grieves. Your boss is too important even to give old Doc Gilchrist's friend a handshake and wish him luck. Doc read me his letter to Lomax. Which is one of the reasons why I say hell with him and with you."

The thick man stood beside me; he had chewed an inch off his cigar since I had seen him last.

"Hi, Larry," he said to Duke and turning to me:

"If you've finished the lecture, mug, the Captain wants you upstairs. As a matter of fact, he wants you anyway. On your feet."

"Hey listen, Jake," the reporter begged, "give me a steer, will you? What's going on? Is it big?"

"Colossal," the other replied, pushing me toward the elevator. "Shannon'll see you boys later. I can't stop now."

He glared at me all the way upstairs. I glared back. I felt better somehow. They had cops like him in my own town and besides, for the first time since I reached New York, I felt I was important to somebody.

CHAPTER III

The patrolman still stood before the Ferriter door. It was open and I could hear men inside talking and furniture being moved and I saw the short white glare of a flashlight. Jake pushed me off the elevator and I kept from asking him how he'd like a sock in the nose, remembering just in time that this wasn't my town.

"Whoa," he said as I turned toward the open door. "Not there, sap. In here."

He jerked his head toward the Paget apartment, turned the door-knob and waved me in before him.

It was dark by now and all the lights were on in the workroom. Three men were there. The emerald head, who I learned was Captain Malachi Shannon of the Homicide Squad, kept walking, up and down before Higgins who sat and sweated in a chair by the desk where a greasy little dick took shorthand. In the corner, calmly alert, Miss Paget occupied her wheel chair. She seemed more out of place, yet even more wholly enjoying herself, than a bishop in a crap game.

I must have showed what I thought for in the moment's silence, while Shannon walked up and down the rug again and Higgins perspired more, the old lady said:

"The Captain's associates are still busy in the Ferriter flat, David. So I put my own at his service."

The grin, that lent her withered face youth, heartened me. Shannon

"I came East for work I didn't get."

turned on Higgins again, started to speak, but his lip, rumpled his hair and said at last:

"All right. You can go. But not far. I may want you later."

"Yes, sir," Higgins grunted, heaving himself up. The chair I took was warm from the superintendent's stewing. Jake stood in the doorway, and chewed his cigar. Shannon rumbled his hair some more and then wheeled on me.

"Now get this," he stormed, "I want the truth out of you."

Partly, it was the presence of the old lady; partly, it was because I hadn't liked being pushed around by Jake. My squabble with Duke had boosted my morale, too.

"And get this," I told Shannon and he gaped: "I'll tell you just as much more if you don't yell."

His eyes were clever for all the Irish obstinacy of his freckled face.

"Tough, eh?" he asked at last.

"With tough guys."

I thought I saw traces of amusement on his face. I did not know whether Miss Agatha coughed or snorted. Shannon hesitated. I said:

"To save us both time, my name is David Mallory, twenty-nine, employed since last Saturday as a hall-man here, living in the superintendent's flat in the cellar."

"Ah," Shannon purred, looking at me hard, "one of these wise birds?"

"I passed for one," I replied, "in my home town. Even the cops said so."

"Cops knew quite a lot about you, eh?" the Captain asked politely.

"They did," I admitted. "I was a reporter on the News, in Omaha. You can check up on that, though I'd rather you wouldn't."

"I see," said Shannon in a deceptively mild voice, "then what are you doing on a job like this?"

"I have a yen for food," I answered and wished that Miss Paget were somewhere else. "I just can't get along without it. I came East for work I didn't get. I ran into Eddie Hoyt—he's on the elevator—last week. His father had worked for mine. Eddie got me this job. We were kids together."

"And if you were so hard up as that," the Captain went on and I felt something tense behind his pleasant manner, "why didn't you go back to Omaha?"

I drew a breath.

"I'll make this," I said, trying to be jaunty about it, "as short and as cheerful as I can. Hunter, who was city editor of the Sphere, liked my work. He sent for me to come on. Hunter was canned the day I'd planned to come and a so-and-so named Lomax took his place."

"I know him," Shannon nodded.

"It's nothing to boast about. They gave me a farewell dinner on the News and a gold watch. I haven't either of them now. My boss in Omaha, Gilchrist, raised Lomax from a pup, but not very far. Gilchrist gave me a letter. He was certain it would get me the job Hunter had promised. Well, it didn't. Or it hadn't up to noon today, which was the last time I called at the Sphere office."

"I won't crawl back home, whipped. That's why I'm in this handsome, second-hand uniform. It lets me stay alive here, and I make the rounds of the papers in my spare time. Every office boy in town now looks the city room door when he sees me coming."

I hated the shaky quality of my laugh.

"You can check up," I invited, "through the Omaha chief or the News—but you can see why I'd rather you didn't."

He nodded, thought a minute and then sat down with a sigh.

"All right, fella," he said with the comradeship cops can always show when they need newspaper help.

"Here's what we know so far."

He rattled through a catalogue of unrelated details:

Blackbeard had been stabbed through the heart. No one knew how he got into the Morello, for there was no entrance to this main building except the foyer or by elevator from the basement. No identification had been found in his clothes, though there was money in his pocket. No one knew whether the Ferriters knew him. Ione was still too hysterical to be questioned. Neither of her brothers had come in. Everett had gone out at four o'clock. No one had seen Lyon, the older brother, since he left the apartment house that morning.

"That," said Shannon, "is as far as we've gone. What have you got to add?"

I was so slow in answering that his eyes grew hard again. Astonishment silenced me. In the confusion before and after the finding of the dead man, I had forgotten that last telephone call from the Ferriter flat. Memory of it, flashing back now, blew my mind about.

"Sorry," I told the Captain and gave a weak grin. "I just remembered something. I took a phone call from Three B a half-hour—maybe twenty minutes—before Miss Ferriter began her screaming. Perhaps I heard the man killed."

Even the only little stenographer stared at me.

"What time was this?" Shannon asked hoarsely.

"Just before Miss Paget's chair broke down. That made me forget."

I told of the phone call from the Ferriter flat, of the comment in a thick, foreign tongue, apparently to someone else in the apartment and of the muffled thump that followed.

"What number was it?" Shannon asked.

I shrugged.

"Spring—something. It's on the pad downstairs."

"Jake," the Captain snapped. The detective clumped down the hall. Shannon ran fingers through his hair again and squinted at nothing.

"Know anything about these Ferriters?" he asked suddenly.

"No. I've been here only a week."

"Never heard why the three of them came here?"

Miss Paget cleared her throat and then spoke precisely.

"It was through me, Captain. Everett Ferriter, as I told you, is a genealogist of some reputation. He has been helping me with a book I'm compiling. When Mrs. Reynolds wished to rent her apartment, I told Everett about it. They are apparently gentlefolk, if that means anything."

"Not much, begging your pardon," Shannon retorted.

Miss Agatha nodded. "I quite agree," she said.

Amusement puckered the Captain's eyelids. He turned to me.

"When did this other one, this Lyon Ferriter, go out?"

I thought and shook my head.

"I haven't seen him today at all. The others on the hall—"

Shannon's angry grunt cut me short.

"They didn't see Blackbeard come in; they didn't see this Lyon go out. Yet he is out. And Blackbeard is across the hall. And you say someone made a phone call from that apartment and, unless he was talking to himself, there was another guy with him."

He rumbled his hair further. I asked Miss Agatha:

"Are the Ferriters foreign born?"

She shook her head.

"I believe not. They speak excellent English."

"Then," I went on, "it was Blackbeard who telephoned. A thick voice that sounded as though it might be German."

Jake entered with the call sheet. The half-devoured cigar wobbled in his mouth and his finger shook as he handed the page to his chief and pointed.

The Captain said no word but looked for a long minute before he held the paper out to me with his thumbnail indenting its margin.

"That the call?" he asked in a voice I felt he kept so mild by great effort.

"Yes," I said. "At three-thirty by the clock on the switchboard. I don't know whether it was completed or not. I plugged in and then—"

Go-to-School Headwear Will Include Chic Matched Turbans

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

IT'S high time to be tackling the go-to-school wardrobe problem. So far as millinery is concerned, thanks to the charming fashion of wearing bewitching little match turbans, such as have been so tremendously popular of late, the college girls' plan of action is made perfectly clear. Just keep in mind the slogan "a matching turban with every frock or blouse or suit." Sounds like a big order, doesn't it, but truth is it's as simple a way to get rid of the hat question as we know.

Not that new fall turbans are going to repeat summer versions. Indeed not! Just watch and see what happens when the fall style parade is in full swing. You are going to see the most captivating, unusual little pompadour concoctions enroll under the turban regime, that fancy can picture.

Designers are bending their efforts to create turbans that take kindly to the idea of being posed back of the new pompadour hairdo. So when you take a piece of your dress goods to match up a turban to go with your new fall frock be sure the model you select is the kind that will set off your flattering pompadour curls to perfection. Note the turban shown in the oval below to the left. Here a bright red drape is brought through a golden ring in a way that gives the exotic far east caste to the picture. It tells you that turbans that tilt forward go fifty-fifty with the very new pompadour types.

Assuming that you will be getting together a whole collection of turbans to match (with each dress a self-fabric headpiece) we especially cite the "chignon" turban as a must have in the group. The turban with a chignon or with a bandanna tie at the nape of the neck is sure news that is news. You can carry out the idea as extreme as you please. Knotted and tied, the ends will stream down to the waistline at the back or stop at the shoulders. You can get in the better shops a clever little chignon type such as Lillie Dache interprets via a red, white and black silk scarf manipulated as you see above to the left in the oval. Note the saucy chignon frill at the back and see the impudent bow to the fore designed to accent your widow's peak to the utmost. This type turban also adapts itself to the new pompadour hairdress.

If you like bright stripes, tell the world this fall via a stylish peaked turban together with a gigantic matching envelope bag of red, white, yellow and blue striped fabric as worn by the smartly clad young woman pictured to the right.

It adds to the glamour of the new jersey frocks that the majority of them are accompanied with turbans or toques made of the identical jersey. The figure centered in the picture demonstrates how interestingly the alliance of a striped jersey frock and a matching striped jersey draped turban work out. Here a reefer of dusty rose flannel over a navy and white striped jersey dress, navy shoes with dusty rose quilted bag and gloves add a definite style touch, the cabochon twist of the matched jersey turban supplying the final touch of chic. See how flatteringly it reveals the pompadour, which, as said before, is the characteristic feature of the newer turbans.

The vogue for matched fabric hats is expressed not only in turbans for this fall but we will see many brimmed sports hats made of tweeds to match suits and coats to which add a shopping bag of the same and behold a perfect ensemble for travel and town wear.

Pompadour Felt

Whether the hat be wide of brim, a tiny toque, a draped turban or a dramatic beret, milliners are tempering them to the new pompadour hairdo. The model pictured accents sophisticated simplicity which is so important just now. Its lavish brim with neat grosgrain ribbon band and short streamers at the back are eminently style-right.

Suede for Sports Is Coming for Fall

Soft glove suede is being used by Voris, a West coast designer, in a collection of sports dresses for fall. One dress of suede, in a pottery pink shade, is collarless and has soft, unpressed pleats in the skirt. The belt is just a wide sash of brown suede. Another dress of beige suede has a fly-front closing, a perfectly straight skirt and deep, saddle-stitched pockets on either hip.

Fashion Hints for The College Girl

While the dress of the college girl must assume a casual look, yet in reality it must observe most meticulous detail that insures for it style distinction.

You will thrill with delight at the sight of the new featherweight jersey dresses styled in classic simplicity but spectacular at that because of the fringed shawl of the self-jersey that is thrown nonchalantly about one's shoulders.

And then there are the newest-of-the-new pinafore frocks. Can imagination go beyond this—a navy dress with a bright red pinafore of sheer wool with pleated apron skirt and a jumper top all carried out in demure little girl fashion yet skillfully tuned to teen age wear? You will want to include one of the new and clever drawstring models done in jersey. They are fitted to waist with drawstrings that tie in front. Another suggestion is a plaid skirt with suede shirt in bright monotone.

Color Contrast in Fall Wool Suits

Two-piece jacket-suits dramatize color contrasts and blends more eye appealingly than ever. Some of the new color contrast suggestions offered are olive green with mauve, brown with pale blue, plum with pale blue, dark brown with toffee tan, red with hunter's green and so on and on with the color spectrum fashion will make merry this fall.

The schemes are worked out with monotone tweeds coupled with plaids and stripes. Lots of plaid is on the way for fall. It will be tailored into long coats, into separate jackets and for the costume entire.

Cool and Delightful New Shirtwaister

PERFECT to put on and wear right now in flat crepe, silk print or spun rayon, this beautifully cut shirtwaister fashion will be a cool delight on the hottest days of summer. No. 8727 will look so crisp and fresh, in striped linen, polka dot silk or brilliant white sharkskin. And it will feel comfortable and unhampering, because the lines are so simple and free. The bodice can be fastened with three buttons and turned back in narrow, deep revers or buttoned almost to the throat, with shallow revers.

Why not have it both ways, since it's so very easy to make? There's practically no detailing to it—just a few gathers beneath the yoke and darts at the waistline. The circular skirt has a lovely, youthful swing.

Pattern No. 8727 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 4½ yards of 39-inch material without nap.

The dairy industry in this part of the country is fast becoming a major industry. And in order to give all the encouragement and assistance and the Lorraine Chamber of Commerce has decided to stage a dairy show here this fall.

The chamber of commerce is planning to hold a show each fall hereafter and set the dates as nearly as possible at the same time each year. The show may start off on a small scale but hopes for the enlargement from time to time are held. It may be that within a few years the show will grow to such proportions as to require show barns.

It has been a thought of mine for a long time that the Lorraine Cooperative Association should handle eggs and poultry in connection with its other business. A market on which eggs and poultry will really be bought by grade entirely. Such a market, in our opinion, would be one of the best drawing cards for Lorraine.

CONSERVATION EMPHASIZED IN '41 AAA PROGRAM

College Station August 14—Next year's AAA program will continue emphasis on soil conservation give increased opportunity for adapting the program to fit individual farm requirements and provide features that strengthen the Ever-Normal Granary program of balanced abundance and production.

Those were the recommendations of the National AAA Conference held in Washington, D. C., according to George Slaughter, chairman of the state AAA committee, who attended the conference as one of the Texas representatives.

It was pointed out at the conference that former recommendations for strengthening the Ever-Normal Granary and for more conservation are an important contribution for the national defense, the chairman declared.

Several new soil-building practices have been recommended, he continued, and expansion of the grant-aid plan, under which farmers receive advances of lime, superphosphate and other materials necessary for conservation against payments earned under the program, was endorsed. Recommendations also were made to extend special wind erosion control programs to a larger area in the Southern Great Plains.

Special suggestions were outlined for improving the handling and storing of crops in the Ever-Normal Granary.

Specific recommendations of importance to Texas included the following:

Allotments: (1) That no payments be made on "new farm" cotton allotments, (2) That allotments on farms consisting of newly-developed or cleared land be limited by state committees to make them relatively small.

Texans Meet at N. Y. World's Fair

By means of the first television telephone on record, Col. Paul Wakefield, Secretary of the Texas World's Fair Commission, is shown as he tells a theatre audience in the General Motors Highways and Horizons exhibit, of the opening at the Fair of "A Cavalcade of Texas," technicolor motion picture dramatizing the Lone Star State. Shown with Col. Wakefield is Miss Allie Angell, popular Texas girl, who is an employee of the General Motors Fair show. Representing Jesse Jones, Chairman of the Texas Fair Commission and Karl Hoblitzelle, Vice-Chairman, Col. Wakefield was host recently to former Texans now living in New York for a premiere of "A Cavalcade of Texas," which is to be a feature at the World's Fair until its closing on October 27.

More than allotments on nearby "old farms" where substantial adjustments are being made by old growers.

Crop classification: That fall down oats in areas subject to serious water erosion during the winter cover crops be classified as a non soil depleting crop.

Orchards: That three practices be adopted, featuring maintenance of permanent cover in irrigated orchards and vineyards, contour irrigation on sloping vineyards and orchards, contour planting of fruit and nut trees.

Commercial vegetables: That, as in 1940, commercial vegetable allotments be established in counties designated as commercial counties. That this designation apply to counties in which more than 400 acres of commercial vegetables are normally grown on farms producing more than three acres. Upon recommendation of the state committee the allotment may be omitted in the state and a vegetable limit placed on farms having other crop allotments. In such areas, no payment would be made directly on vegetables. Commercial vegetables would include perennial as well as annual vegetables, with processed crops classified as vegetables under the program unless it is determined that they are not in competition with fresh vegetables.

Crop insurance: That the crop insurance program be extended to other commodities, such as corn, cotton and tobacco, as soon as the necessary actuarial data and legislative authority are available.

DRIVING COURSES FOR TEXAS HIGH SCHOOLS

AUSTIN, August 14—Driver training courses for instruction of Texas high school students in traffic safety will be offered next September with one-half credit allowed toward graduation, it has been announced by the Texas Safety Association.

Incorporation of safety education in the school curriculum recently was approved by the State Education Committee on Accreditation and successfully climaxed the efforts of the Texas Safety Association, the public safety department, and the state education department to secure its adoption.

The course will be an elective one designed for students approximating the legal driving age of sixteen who will receive driver's licenses upon passing it. Unique among driver training courses of other states is the home project feature of the Texas course which will permit behind-the-wheel instruction in driver operation under the supervision of the pupil's parents.

"The need for training youngsters in the principles of safe and sane driving has long been recognized," said George Clarke, executive secretary of the association. "Not only are these youngsters the drivers of tomorrow, they are to a most important extent the drivers of today."

"Statistics of the public safety department reveal that youthful drivers constitute 30 per cent of all drivers involved in fatal traffic accidents and 26 per cent of the total number of drivers involved in non-fatal accidents."

"The driver training course will not only teach the mechanics of operating a motor vehicle safely but of equal importance will indoctrinate the student with the safety concept that his driving rights are secondary to his driving responsibilities."

Although graduation credit will be allowed for the course in 1,214 accredited high schools, it will be necessary for the boards of those schools to approve inauguration of the course in each school. The Texas Safety Association through affiliated safety councils and cooperating organizations such as the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers will seek early approval of the school boards.

The safety committee of the Texas State Teachers Association and the school education committee of the Texas Safety Association are assisting the state departments of education and public safety in preparing the text of the course.

COTTON INSECT CONTROL
By
L.W. Bramblett
THE MITCHELL COUNTY NEWS
Sweetwater Cotton Oil Co.

Perhaps the cheapest control of the leaf worm, alone is lead arsenate used as a spray at the rate of four pounds to fifty gallons of water. The principal objection to large volume of water required. Considering the labor and water dusting is the more desirable method of poisoning the leaf worm. Calcium arsenate as a dust will also kill adult flea hoppers that may be present along with the leaf worms. There are cases where the addition of 7 or 8 pounds of paris green to 100 pounds of calcium arsenate may be beneficial. Such instances occur when rains prevent poisoning of the worms or when rains prevent the poison from remaining on the cotton for more than a few hours. The amount of calcium arsenate dust to be used depends on the extent of infestation and the size of the stalk. Under average conditions 5 pounds per acre is recommended. The time to dust is when the air is calm.

BAPTISTS CLOSE SUCCESSFUL REVIVAL

The First Baptist Church of Lorraine closed its week-long summer revival Sunday with Dr. I. L. Yearby, pastor of the First Baptist Church in El Paso conducting the services. The services were held in the open space at the north of the building. Eighteen new members were added to the church during the revival, fifteen by Baptism and three by letter.

Bro. Godfrey is conducting a revival meeting at Mesquite, south of Roscoe this week.

On The Barrelhead

A third of the total crop acreage in the cotton belt is planted in cotton. Approximately one-half of the total cash income from crops in the cotton belt comes from cotton. Second only to corn in its money worth to the nation, cotton does not stay on the farm; it moves to market, generating a tremendous commerce when it moves. Cotton's cash is money on the barrelhead to every business house in the belt.

Be your butcher, baker, or candlestick maker take cash proceeds from each year's cotton crop make your own "crop" of consumer dollars, the most important of the crops your business harvests.

But it is a crop that needs the constant careful cultivation of your own individual cotton purchases. For it is your cotton purchases which must chop into and thin out the choosing surplus. It is your cotton purchases which must pile up cotton cash on the barrelhead.

Texas Queen in Hollywood Love Scene

Louise Foote of Abilene, the Texas Queen of Queens of 1939, is shown in a love scene with Don Castle of Houston, who has played in such MGM pictures as "Rich Man Poor Girl," "Love Finds Andy Hardy," "Thunder Alley," "West Passage," and others. Miss Foote, who was awarded the movie test as the Queen of Queens, was directed by the test by Fred Wilcox.

The 1940 Queen of Queens, to be selected at the State Fair of Texas, will also be awarded a trip to Hollywood and a screen test.

WILL TRAP MORE DEER

AUSTIN, TEXAS, Aug. 14.—Trapping and distributing of wild deer by the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission next winter is expected to keep apace with other progressive moves by the Department. A total of 100 deer traps have been ordered built. Twenty-two were constructed and used with great success last winter in the Hill Country.

The Department, despite a late start with the new traps, captured more than 100 deer and transported ed them to regions depleted of big game. With a total of 122 traps operating next winter the Department hopes to trap and transplant several hundred deer.

Few deer were trapped in past years due to the lack of a trap which operated successfully. However, the trap now being used, which catches one deer at a time, was developed.

The executive secretary of the Department, highly pleased with the way the traps operated last winter, ordered the additional 100.

In the past many of the deer distributed have been tame or semi-tame deer which were picked up by ranchers as fawns. Those will still be collected and distributed, but the executive secretary has high hopes of far more rapid and successful restocking due to both the increase in number of animals trapped and to the fact that they will be wild deer, better adapted for restocking purposes.

RABBITS BATTLE SNAKE

Many times the statement, "Truth is stranger than fiction" has been used in connection with many fact stories. "Believe it or not" is the phrase that should be used in this story even though this incident is truly stranger than fiction.

Mr. Odel Morris, acting relief pumper for the city of Comanche at Lake Eanes, was standing in the door of the pump station recently when he noticed a small rabbit about one third grown hopping along near the station. Suddenly a snake grabbed the small rabbit and he began to squall. Here the old snake got a big surprise, because there appeared two full grown cotton tail rabbits and jumped on the snake and forced him to release the baby rabbit. Papa, mama and baby rabbit went off in a hurry, while the old snake took off to a lumber pile nearby for cover.

This story was confirmed by Elbert Stewart, regular pumper who witnessed the odd occurrence.

JUNIOR CLUB BIG AID

The Beaumont Junior Rod and Reel Club is another organization in Texas through which boys are aiding in the conservation of wildlife. It is reported to the Game Department by N. E. LeBlanc, secretary of the Gulf Coast Rod and Reel Club of Beaumont, sponsor of the junior organization.

Among the projects being handled by the more than fifty members of the junior club is the policing of Twin Lakes near Beaumont. Formerly, boys seined and used nets in the lake, destroyed many small fish and did other damage. Now the lake is patrolled by members of the junior club and the fish supply has increased, it is reported.

The Gulf Coast Rod and Reel Club is another of the many organizations in the state which are backing the attempts of the Game Department to obtain a universal license and regulatory powers.

SPOTTED JAVELINA SPOTTED

There have been a few instances of Albino javelinas being captured and there have been some reports of spotted javelinas. The latest is a white-spotted pecary reported by a Cowboy on the Crane Ranch nine miles from Pearsall.

PHEASANTS DO NOT THRIVE

Pheasants will not do well in Texas except in captivity and occasional reports that the birds are spreading are minimized by the Game Department Records show that in few sections of the state will the birds do well in the wild. For example, approximately 50 pheasants remain out of the 152 young birds liberated in the spring of 1938 on a large tract of land in Colorado County. At least seven broods were reared in 1939 and pheasant eggs were found this year in March. Some of the pheasants have roamed as far as five miles from the point of release.

GARDENS MULTIPLY

College Station, Aug. 14.—Judging from preliminary reports of AAA supervisors who have checked compliance in 49 Texas counties, there are more gardens on Texas farms and ranches this year than ever before.

Figures compiled as of June 25 by county AAA officers and county home demonstration agents for Jennie Camp, specialist in home production planning for the A. and M. College Extension Service, reveal that 80,616 home gardens in these 49 counties will qualify for soil building payments under the 1940 agricultural conservation program. The number varies from 100 in Lynn County on the South Plains to 4,757 in Navarro County in the Central Texas Blacklands, with an average of 1,641 gardens for these 49 counties.

"If each of these gardens is minimum size of one-half acre and the vegetables are planted in rows three feet apart, then the total number of feet in these 80,616 gardens would be 585,272,160. This would measure 110,847 miles or four and one-half times around the earth at the equator.

Over most the state in the season has been unusually good, and vegetable production abundant. An increase in the number of varieties planted was also reported by the compliance supervisors.

Estimating the monetary value of each garden as $50, the aggregate worth to Texas farm families would be $4,030,800. Miss Camp adds that the value to farm families "in improved health cannot be estimated in dollars and cents."

Austin, Texas, August 14.—The Texas range is witnessing a hard pressed cattle industry, a leveled off production of hogs, large gains in milk cows, and a phenomenal increase in sheep. This picture of the State's live stock industry comes from a 20 year survey just published by the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

Since 1920 more than a million head of cattle have vanished—at least the 1940 herd of 6,677,000 head is that much smaller than the one of 1920, though there have been wide fluctuations from one year to the next during the last two decades.

Low point of the twenty years was in 1928, when there were only 5,950,000 head of cattle in the State. The peak was reached in 1934 with 8,410,000 head.

It is possible, declares Dr. F. A. Buechel, the Bureau's livestock expert, that the decline in cattle since 1937 is simply a "dip that may curve upward again in the next few years."

Cattle marketings for the last fifteen years have ranged between 1,819,775 head in 1932 and 2,817,208 in 1939. Average annual marketings for the 15 year period were estimated at 2,298,509.

Dairy cattle, however, have been on a steady upgrade with only two years of retardation—both slight in effect—1925 and 1935. The number of milk cows has increased from 930,000 head in 1920 to 1,443,000 head in 1940.

The swine industry for the last two decades has experienced succession of surges and recessions with the number declining from 2,580,000 head in 1920 to 2,293,000 in 1940. The droves increased almost a hundred thousand head in 1921, but the following year started a slump that carried them to only 1,460,000 head in 1926. Improvement in 1927 and 1928 was followed by another decline for several years. By 1933 the number had risen to 2,260,000 dropping almost immediately to a new low of 1,399,000 head in 1935. Since then gains have been fairly regular. Average annual market disappearance of hogs has been 1,401,527 head.

Sheep raising, however, is apparently the "White hope" of the livestock industry in Texas—with flocks tripling in the last two years.

BIRTH CERTIFICATE REQUESTS

TAX HEALTH DEPARTMENT

Austin, Texas, August 14.—"Patience should be exercised by those who have made application to the State Department of Health for a certified copy of their birth certificate, and have not yet received them", states Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"The Bureau of Vital Statistics is receiving an average of five hundred applications for birth certificate copies daily and the number of personnel available in the Health Department to handle this of requests is grossly inadequate to meet the demands made. The files must be searched for each individual record and when it is found it is photostated for the applicant."

"The reason for this great increase in applications for birth certificate copies can be found to be due, in part, to the gravity of the international situation. Army and Navy recruits must have a certified copy of their birth certificates to be eligible to enter military service. All persons connected with the radio broadcasting stations must have a copy of their birth certificate. Since a birth certificate is in reality the first citizenship paper of a baby born in these United States, thousands are applying for this personal record as legal proof of citizenship", Dr. Cox continues.

Some other important uses of are:

- (1) To prove that a child has reached school age.
- (2) To prove legal age to enter a profession or employment.
- (3) To prove legal age to marry without parental consent.
- (4) To determine the parents' liability for certain acts of their children.
- (5) As evidence in criminal cases involving age of consent.
- (6) As evidence to determine relations of guardians and wards.
- (7) To obtain passports and similar documents.
- (8) As evidence in the administration of estates, and in settlement of insurance and pensions.
- (9) As evidence in connection with jury service.
- (10) To prove age in determining the validity of contracts.
- (11) To prove or disprove consanguinity or kinship.
- (12) To secure old age pensions.

(13) To prove age as qualifications for voting and holding public office.

These are only a few of the valuable uses of birth certificates and it is small wonder that the citizenship is flooding the Health Department with requests for certified copies of this vitally important record. With the continued patient cooperation if those who are requesting certified copies, the State Health Department will furnish this service with the greatest possible dispatch", concluded Dr. Geo. W. Cox.

The "Sunday School Lesson" published each week in this newspaper has been adopted by thousands of church instructors throughout the United States as a regular part of their weekly work.

It is a review and exposition of the international lesson for each week, prepared by Dean Harold L. Lundquist of the Moody Bible Institute at Chicago, a recognized leader in the nation's church work. Dean Lundquist has been active in teaching youthful groups for years, thereby acquiring an insight into the needs of these people for understandable explanations of Bible passages.

In view of his accomplishments in church work, it is not surprising that Dean Lundquist's exposition of the weekly Sunday School lesson is being used in almost every community of the nation. As teacher or student you will find it extremely helpful.

No Other Lad Has a Heritage of 164 Years of Freedom!

No other boy in 5,000 years of human history has ever been so rich materially, culturally, or in opportunity as is yours. And all this has come about because no other flag symbolizing human liberty has ever flown so long or championed the rights of the individual to such an extent as has your flag.

Under the conditions of free enterprise, which have encouraged individual initiative in our citizens, millions of boys have made and will make great futures for themselves by making more things and supplying more services for more people at less cost—enriching others automatically while building great futures for themselves.

The United States uses 1/3 of the world's electricity. 91% of that electricity is generated and distributed by privately financed and operated free enterprises such as Texas Electric Service Company. And this achievement is the accomplishment of boys like yours—beginning with Tom Edison—who enriched the world while making unfettered development of their own talents in the typical American way.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D.
Dean of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for August 18

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

GOD'S CARE OF HIS PEOPLE

LESSON TEXT—Psalm 23.
GOLDEN TEXT—The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want.—Psalm 23:1.

Confidence, contentment, assurance, safety, security—all words expressing the deep desires of the human heart—fittingly characterize the blessed and beautiful Shepherd Psalm which is our lesson next Sunday.

Here the soul meets God in personal, intimate fellowship—in the promise of provision for every need, deliverance from every danger, the assurance of both present and ultimate blessing. It has become the best known of all psalms and perhaps the favorite scripture of most Christians.

Familiarity may cause us to miss the blessing of such a scripture passage. To help us to make a fresh approach to this Twenty-third Psalm, let us follow the suggestion of Dr. W. E. Barnes and think of it as describing the journey of life. We find that we can go forth

I. In the Care of a Sure Guide (vv. 1, 2).

Nothing is more important in traversing an unfamiliar land than to have a competent guide. The journey of life is a pilgrimage through a land unknown to us, with its many pleasant places, but also its howling wildernesses, its pitfalls and its enemies in ambush.

"The Lord is my shepherd." If I am in His flock He will guide me, care for me and give me the joy of green pastures and still waters.

The expression "maketh me to lie down" (v. 2) is worthy of special comment—that all too often we become too busy or too important to take the rest we should have, and the Good Shepherd has to "bend the knee" of the sheep and make him lie down, sometimes even by the force of sickness, or of trying circumstance. Why do we make it necessary for our Shepherd to thus deal with us?

II. With Every Need Provided (vv. 3-5).

We are a needy people, constantly dependent on the loving provision of our God. Dr. J. H. Jowett says that man has three enemies: (1) The sin of yesterday, from which he cannot get away; (2) the temptation of today, made more powerful by the pressure of the clever and insidious seducer, Satan; and (3) the fear of death which awaits him tomorrow. Good Shepherd, wilt Thou meet these mine enemies for me? "Yes," comes His answer through the psalmist.

For the sin of yesterday there is the restoring of the soul. Everywhere the power of God is evident, restoring that which has been destroyed or broken down, healing the wound; but nowhere is it more evident or blessed than in His restorative ministries to the soul. He cleanses from sin, gives peace through His Word, joy through a hymn or a bit of poetry, comfort in the fellowship of a friend.

For today—"He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake." The world offers many by-paths, and makes them seem to be the right way, but my heavenly Guide will lead me in the way of righteousness. This He does, not because of any merit in me, but for His own dear name's sake—for "the praise of the glory of his grace" (Eph. 1:6). That cares for the need of today.

But tomorrow, or on some tomorrow, I must go the way of all flesh and (unless Jesus comes) I must "walk through the valley of the shadow of death." Even there I need "fear no evil." The Good Shepherd is as much with me in the dark and swelling waters of that valley as He was with me "beside the still waters." Little wonder that this psalm has been the comfort of tens of thousands of believers in Christ as they have passed through that valley. Why will anyone do without this Christ, who is the Good Shepherd (John 10:11)?

Every need finds its full satisfaction: enemies are discomfited, the oil of gladness anoints our heads, and our cups run over as we go on

III. To a Destination Certain and Blessed (v. 6).

Not all who set out upon a journey reach their goal, but the Lord has never lost one of those entrusted to His care (John 17:12). Goodness and mercy through all the days of our lives would lead only to ultimate disappointment if they did not bring us to the Father's house.

In that house there are "many mansions" or abiding places (John 14:2) prepared for us by our Lord. We know we shall come to that blessed journey's end with safety, because He will bring us there, to go in and out no more forever.

To study such a lesson is to create the desire in one's heart that all men should know about this Good Shepherd, to be brought into His flock. Reader, do you know Christ as your Saviour and the Shepherd of your soul? If not, will you not come to Him now by faith?

SUMMER SALADS
(Recipes Below.)

Salads, in summer, are as important as swimming or tennis, or golf! Nothing tastes quite so good as a cool, crisp mixture of fresh greens, or fruits, or vegetables, served with just the proper dressing. The very word is refreshing—like a drink of cold, sparkling spring water after a long and dusty hike.

Very light salads may be served as an appetizer first course, if desired. Dinner salads, too, are light; they may be served as a separate course, or with the main course of the meal. For luncheon, salads may be somewhat heavier, because the main luncheon dish is likely to be light. Many times, a luncheon salad is a whole meal in itself, served with bread or crisp rolls, a beverage, and dessert. And there are many times in informal luncheons and dinners, when salads do duty for dessert.

What makes a good salad? Plenty of crisp, fresh greens, a blend of fruits or vegetables or fish, a zesty dressing and a dash of color, say the experts. To make salads appetizing and refreshing, as they should be, everything must be fresh, crisp, and well chilled. Greens are freshened in ice water for half an hour, well drained in a salad basket or bag, and left in the refrigerator to chill. To prepare head lettuce for salads, cut out the core or stem with a pointed knife, and let cold water from the faucet run into this opening. The water forces the leaves apart and cleans them.

Use other greens besides lettuce for garnishing salads, and in mixed green salads, as well. Watercress, tender inside leaves of raw spinach, endive, escarole and romaine are good for variety. Add cubed, leftover meats to green salad, for a hearty main dish. And for hot days, plan fruit salad plates for lunch or supper.

Peel oranges, sliced and served with fresh, whole berries, with lettuce, watercress or endive for a garnish, make an attractive and refreshing meal.

Crab Apple Salads.

(Serves 6)

- 6 eggs
- Pink pure food color
- 12 cloves
- 6 tiny sprigs of green
- 1 head lettuce
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise

Place eggs in saucepan, cover with boiling water and simmer gently until eggs are hard cooked (about 15 minutes). Remove shells while eggs are very hot, then while holding egg under hot water, flatten both ends of the egg until it takes on the shape of a small crab apple. Paint a tint of pink on each egg with pink liquid color; place a clove at the stem end of the egg and another at the blossom end. Add a tiny sprig of green at the stem end and the "crab apple" will be complete. Arrange lettuce cups on individual salad plates; place one egg on each plate and serve with mayonnaise.

Fruit Salad.

Toss lightly together in salad bowl one cup watermelon balls, one cup muskmelon balls, one cup honey dew melon balls, one cup seeded red cherries, and 1 cup diced celery. Add french dressing in sufficient quantity to thoroughly coat all fruits. Serve in bowl lined with chilled greens.

Golden Fruit Salad.

(Serves 6)

- 1 tablespoon gelatin
- 2 tablespoons cold water
- 1 cup juice from canned pineapple (hot)
- 1/4 cup sugar
- Few grains salt
- 1/2 cup orange juice
- 1/4 cup vinegar
- 1 orange (cut in pieces)
- 1 cup raw carrot (coarsely grated)
- 1 1/2 cup crushed pineapple

Soak gelatin in cold water and dissolve in hot pineapple juice. Add sugar, salt, orange juice and vinegar. Cool, and when beginning to stiffen, add remaining ingredients. Turn into wet mold and chill until firm. Unmold on lettuce. Serve with mayonnaise or fruit salad dressing.

Fruit Salad Dressing.

2 egg yolks

1/2 cup strained honey

Juice 1 lemon

Dash salt

1 cup whipping cream

Place egg yolks, honey, lemon juice and salt in top of double boiler and cook 1/2 hour. Remove from flame, beat with Dover egg beater and cool. Whip cream and then pour the chilled honey mixture into the whipped cream—beating entire mixture with Dover egg beater. Serve with any kind of fruit salad.

Appetizers.

Cut the crusts from slices of very fresh bread. Spread bread with cream cheese generously mixed with paprika. Roll as for a jelly roll and slice in very thin slices. Brush with melted butter, toast lightly, and serve immediately.

French Dressing.

(Makes 1 1/2 cups)

1/2 clove garlic

(grated)

4 lumps sugar

1 tablespoon salt

1 tablespoon paprika

1 cup oil

1/2 cup vinegar

Grate garlic on lump sugar, and let stand before using, for several hours. When ready to mix, place all ingredients in order listed in jar. Shake vigorously and serve.

Tomato Jelly Rings With Salmon.

(Serves 5 to 6)

1 tablespoon gelatin (unflavored)

1/4 cup cold water

2 cups tomato juice

1 tablespoon sugar

1/2 teaspoon salt

Dash pepper

1 bay leaf

1 teaspoon onion (minced)

1/2 cup celery (chopped)

2 teaspoons lemon juice

1 pound can salmon

Watercress or lettuce

Salad dressing

Soak gelatin in cold water. Combine tomato juice, sugar, salt, pepper and bay leaf, and bring to a boil. Strain. Dissolve softened gelatin in the hot liquid. Allow to cool until the mixture begins to thicken. Fold in onion, celery and lemon juice and pour into individual ring molds. Chill until firm; just before serving unmold on beds of watercress or lettuce. Fill centers of salad rings with large flakes of salmon. Serve with salad dressing.

Tasty Cases.

Green peppers, cut in halves and simmered for 10 minutes, make tasty cases for creamed or scalloped fish. After the peppers have been filled put them in the oven for five minutes or so to brown the tops.

Clothes Space.

For additional clothes space in the closet fasten a bird-cage hook to the top of the closet door. This will hold six or eight hangers and will keep long dresses up from the floor.

HOW TO SEW

by Ruth Wyeth Spears

WHEN we last heard of Marty and Bill the curved bottom shelf of that old buffet had not been used. Well, Bill made it into a cornice board for the bathroom window, and painted it blue. Then Marty went into action on curtains to match. Grandmother is an expert at doing old-fashioned candle wicking.

so together they made the tufted curtains illustrated. They used plain white muslin marked off diagonally in three-inch squares. They found the blue they wanted for the tufting in a soft string type of cotton yarn. The sketch tells you the rest. The dipping is what really turned the clipped stitches into tufts; then the curtains were stretched into shape to dry but were not ironed.

NOTE: Many other old-time stitches have modern uses. Sewing Book 2 contains directions for 42 of these stitches with suggestions for their use in your home. To get a copy send order to:

"WE'RE IN THE SWIM"

WITH MIGHTY MILD, MELLOW 'MAKIN'S' SMOKES!

Ray Olson and Ralph Rivers know the tobacco for cool pleasure—and speedy rolling!

I CAN ROLL 'EM FASTER AND TRIMMER WITH PRINCE ALBERT! THAT CRIMP CUT LAYS RIGHT—SO EVEN, NO BUMPS

AND P.A. IS BETTER TOBACCO—RICHER-TASTING, FRAGRANT AROMA—AND NO HARSHNESS

Rollin' along with P.A. Ray Olson (right), who wins prizes for singing, is telling what Ralph Rivers (left) already knows. "Give me Prince Albert for smooth, easy-rolling, smokes that are cool on the tongue—and stay lit!" Those are Ralph's sentiments, too—and notice how Miss Julie Laird (seated) and her friend smile an O.K. on that swell P.A. aroma! (No other tobacco like Prince Albert for pipes, either!)

In recent laboratory "smoking bowl" tests, Prince Albert burned

86 DEGREES COOLER than the average of the 30 other of the largest-selling brands tested...coolest of all!

At a home county rally held last week McLennan County went on record for its native son, Judge James P. Alexander, candidate for the office of Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Texas. The farmers, labor, the professional and business men were all represented on the program.

A past president of the Waco Trades Council told of Judge Alexander's unending fairness toward the laboring classes and their problems.

A former district judge, H. M. Richey, reviewed Judge Alexander's career as a judge, stressing his service of four years as county judge, four years as district judge, 14 years in the private practice of law, and 10 years as an Associate Justice of the Court of Civil Appeals.

"In those ten years, Judge Alexander has made a record that should be the envy of every man on an appellate court," said Judge Richey.

Dr. J. T. Harrington, for many years a member of the board of Trustees of Baylor University, where for twenty years Judge Alexander has taught a class in law at off hours, declared that for years he was a close and warm friend of the late O. S. Lattimore, Justice of the Court of Criminal Appeals, now deceased, but that in this race he recognized Alexander was the best qualified man for the Supreme Court.

"Judicial greatness is not inherited. It is only achieved through laborious work, and James P. Alexander has attained his outstanding place in judicial circles through long years of diligent effort. The people should not confuse Judge Alexander's opponent with Justice O. S. Lattimore," he declared. "That great man has long since passed to his just reward."

In McLennan County in the first primary Alexander received nearly 15,000 votes while his opponent received only 2200.
