

Revision Work On Ordinance Is Completed

Members of the Citizens' Traffic Commission legislative committee Monday night completed a rough draft of a revised city traffic ordinance.

Various parts of the revision will be compiled and typed during the next two weeks by the CTC executive secretary, George Oldham. Then members of the committee will read the ordinance in its entirety, edit and revise the copy, and submit it to the city commission.

Members of the committee met last night at the home of Mrs. Estelle Bristow, chairman. Final meeting on the traffic ordinance revision is slated for Monday, Feb. 22.

Committee members compared the old Big Spring ordinance with those of Midland and the National Safety Council before revision. Another CTC meeting was held Monday at the city hall to discuss plans for the "Youth For Traffic Safety Week," which is to be observed all over the state.

The juvenile drivers' committee, made up of delegates from junior and senior high schools, worked out the "road-o" events to be presented during the week. Gov. Allan Shivers will proclaim the week sometime in February, it was announced by Oldham.

A "father-to-son" and "dad-to-daughter" driving program will be observed during the week, and assembly programs dealing with traffic safety will be held in the schools.

Next meeting of the juvenile drivers' committee will be Monday, Feb. 15, at noon in the High School Cafeteria.

Ticket Sale Starts For C-C Banquet

Members of the Chamber of Commerce have started a ticket selling drive for the organization's annual banquet, which will be held here Feb. 23.

The ticket committee met this morning in the Chamber offices to map out plans for the campaign. Chairman Dick Clifton said that tickets will be sold to members and guests only until Feb. 20, when sales will be thrown open to non-members.

J. B. Thomas, president of the Texas Electric Service Company, will be the after-dinner speaker at the banquet.

Twenty-eight ticket committees will canvass members of the Chamber in an attempt to sell the tickets. Those who wish may make reservations at the Chamber office.

Chamber Manager J. H. Greene said this morning that around 100 reservations have already been made. Clifton pointed out that only 320 people can be served in the banquet hall, and that a full house should easily be obtained.

The tickets sell for $2.50 per person.

Air Force Board Studies Germ War Confession Cases

WASHINGTON (AP)—A board of five Air Force generals is investigating the cases of more than 50 airmen whose conduct while Red prisoners in Korea has been questioned.

The board is under orders either to clear these men, or to recommend their future status with the Air Force and possible action, if justified by "prior acts." Each is being handled separately.

An Air Force spokesman said "prior acts" would be those regarded as detrimental to the United States or to fellow POWs.

Among the cases under study are airmen who falsely confessed to germ warfare. Of the 220 men listed by the Air Force as known prisoners of the Communists, 33 were reported to have made such phony confessions.

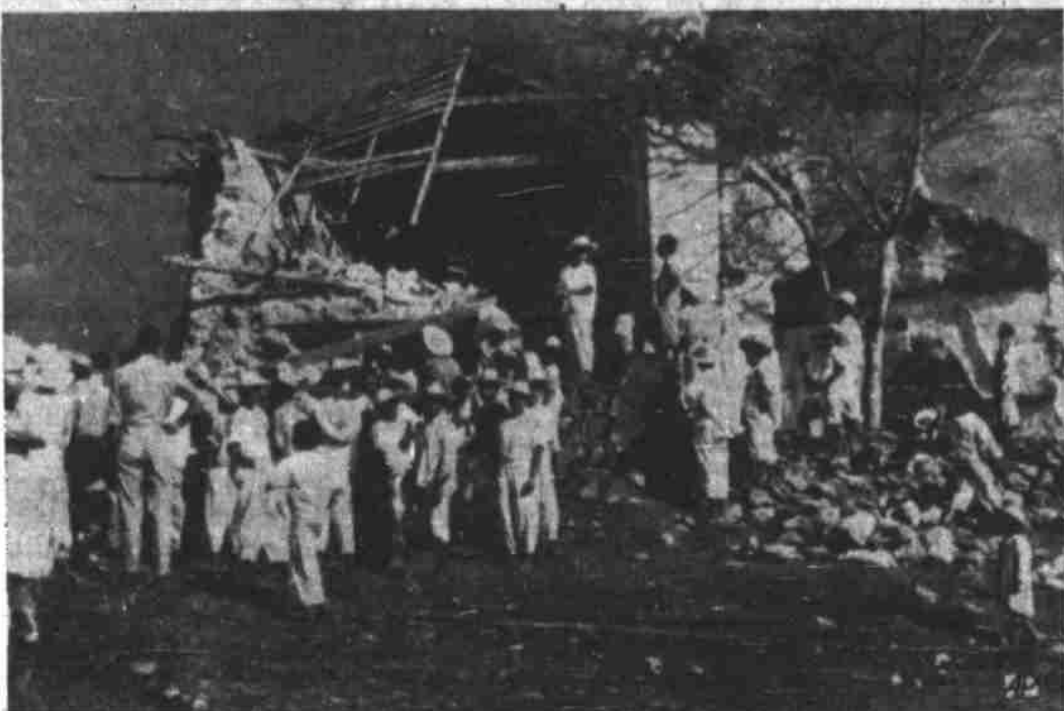

An official announcement last night said the generals—whose names were withheld—will take into consideration the suffering these men may have undergone. Also to be weighed: "responsibilities of military men in war."

Wilson Thinks Win In Indochina Probable

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson said today he thought a military victory, rather than a negotiated peace, "would be perhaps both possible and probable" in the Indochina War.

He was asked at a news conference whether he thought Indochina might become another Korea.

"I see no reason to think it will," Wilson replied. "The war is going along fully as well as we and the French expected it to at this stage."

He was asked whether he thought aid to the French in Indochina would have to be stepped up above the present program.

Wilson replied that he thought it was not necessary to "give aid at any higher level" at this time.

The implication of his remarks, in relation to the question, was that he saw no need for American forces to be sent to Indochina as they were to Korea.

Wilson was asked directly whether there was any intention of sending American pilots there. He said there was not.

This question came against a background of published reports that the French desired American pilots for C119 Flying Boxcar transport planes. It was disclosed last week that substantial numbers of C119s have been lent to the French.

In Hong Kong, an American-owned airline—Civil Air Transport—announced that some of its American pilots would fly the C119s under contract with the French.

Also last week, the Defense Department announced it was sending some B26 bombers and about 200 more Air Force ground technicians to Indochina. Some 125 such technicians were reported to be there already.

Wilson was asked if there was any plan to increase food supplies for Indochina. He replied he did not think that necessary because the French have kept control of the rice fields.

There was a question then as to whether help could include 280 millimeter atomic cannon or tactical atomic bombs.

Wilson said: "That isn't anything I would advocate at this time. I don't think that is the kind of a place to use them and the people there don't know how to use them."

The defense secretary's statement that he believes a military victory "both possible and probable" in Indochina was also in response to a question.

Wilson qualified his statement by noting that of course it "always depends on what the enemy does and who shows up as an enemy."

Did that mean "if Red China moves in," a reporter asked. Wilson replied that such an eventuality could mean "delay and a different problem."

The secretary was asked whether the United States would expect to have any influence in efforts of France to negotiate a truce. He replied:

"Well, they are friends of ours and we are friends of them. We would have a proper influence, but we certainly aren't trying to dominate the business."

The secretary was asked whether Lt. Gen. John W. O'Daniel, now commander of the Army forces, Pacific, would become head of a military assistance advisory group in Indochina.

Wilson said O'Daniel might be sent to replace someone who is there now, but added that is not yet decided.

O'Daniel is in Washington for conferences. Wilson said it is just for a "routine report."

O'Daniel came here after an inspection trip to Indochina.

AT LAOTIAN CAPITAL French Defenders Brace For Attack

SAIGON, Indochina (AP)—French and Laotian defenders of Luang Prabang braced today for an "imminent" attack from the Communist-led Vietminh. The rebel invaders were reported within 25 miles of the royal Laotian capital on the banks of the Mekong River.

French military sources here said small advance units of the Vietminh had probed to within eight miles of the royal seat, but the main rebel body was still several days' march away.

Laos' rheumatic old King Sisavang Vong vowed once more the city of 142,000 would be defended "until the end." He made the same pledge last spring when the Vietminh invaded to within 12 miles of Luang Prabang, then withdrew without a major battle.

This time there was every indication the fight would be joined. The French said they had completed their major defenses against the onslaught.

The Vietminh invaded Laos from the north early last week, sending at least a division through the jungles and down the valleys of the Houei and Suong rivers toward the capital.

As the rebels advanced the French and Laotian forces and many civilians withdrew under the cover of intensive French air bombardment, leaving rice stocks burning behind them in an effort to destroy food the Red fighters need.

Though the Vietminh were reported officially within 25 miles of Luang Prabang, it was possible their advance troops were closer.

Officials said yesterday the invaders had been stopped, at least temporarily, as they tried to force a crossing of the Suong in the area of Pak Seng, 37 miles northeast of Luang Prabang and strategically located at the juncture of the Suong and Seng rivers.

Today military authorities said it appeared likely the French-Laotian forces had abandoned Pak Seng, though there was no confirmation of this. That point is a key to the Suong, which empties into the Mekong, a few miles north of Luang Prabang.

In Luang Prabang all able-bodied men were ordered to dig shelters against mortar fire and build defense works. Government workers were enlisted for civilian defense and firefighting work. The beating of gongs in the sacred pagodas was to be the signal for the danger alert.

The King's son, Prince Savang, in a public statement declared the fall of Luang Prabang to the Communist-led forces "would not only be a national catastrophe but would have enormous repercussions on world opinion."

"In defending Luang Prabang," he added, "we are protecting the gateway to Thailand, Burma and all Southeast Asia."

Meanwhile, most of the city's inhabitants remained calm and went about their business as usual. In Saigon, meanwhile, French Defense Minister Rene Pleven arrived from Paris and said cryptically: "I've come to confer with the military leaders on questions which could lead to rapid solutions."

Many observers have speculated that the Vietminh invasion of Laos is designed to secure the rebels as much territory as possible before the spring rains to bolster the Red high command in any peace negotiations which may develop.

Armed Robbers Get $75 From Grocery Here

Two men pulled a gun on a clerk at B. & B. Food Store late last night, demanded the money in the cash register, and made off with upwards of $75.

The armed robbery occurred around 10:30 p.m.

The clerk, Bud Howerton, told police that the two men came in the store and asked for chewing gum and potato chips. As he turned to show them where the potato chips were located, one of the men pushed a pistol into his back.

He said that the two men, described as being between 25 and 30 years of age, told him to put the money in the cash register into a sack. Exact amount taken is unknown, but it was more than $75.

After the money had been sacked up, the two men took it and walked out the door. It was not until the two men left that Bill Dooley, working behind the meat counter, knew that the store had been robbed.

Dooley had seen the two men but thought that they were making a regular purchase.

Howerton and Dooley told police that one man was short and the other tall. One wore a Navy-type coat, a cap and army pants. They were armed with a small revolver, Howerton said.

Last time the two men were seen was when they disappeared between the houses behind Paul's Liquor Store.

Police were checking all angles today, but officers said there were very few leads to work on. Police Chief E. W. York and Capt. M. L. Kirby spent the night investigating the robbery. Police were called at 10:45 p.m.

School Bond Vote Light

Few voters had written their decision this morning on the Big Spring Independent School District's $500,000 bond proposal.

Election Judge Lawrence Robinson reported that only 144 ballots had been issued up to noon.

Voting was to continue until 7 p.m. at the City Hall Fire Station, and school officials were still hopeful that a substantial turnout of voters would get to the polls before the deadline.

Normally, the voting rate increases substantially during the late afternoon hours.

The bond election was called in response to petitions circulated by tax-paying voters of the school district. If adopted the school board proposes to use the funds to construct new buildings at the Airport and Lakewood schools and to finance additions to North Ward and Washington Elementary school buildings.

CABBIE STEALS $10 AND KISS

HOUSTON (AP)—A taxi driver was being sought by police today on complaint he not only held up a woman passenger and took $10 but also stole a kiss.

The complaint was made last night by Mrs. Sara Delgado, sister of the consul from San Salvador. She said she got into the cab at the Southern Pacific railroad station, en route to the home of her brother, Jose Trabanino.

When the cab was on South Main Street, she continued, the driver stopped, told her he had a gun and demanded her money. She gave him $10, she said, and he then kissed her.

Mrs. Delgado said she jumped out of the cab and the driver sped away.

He said that the two men, described as being between 25 and 30 years of age, told him to put the money in the cash register into a sack. Exact amount taken is unknown, but it was more than $75.

After the money had been sacked up, the two men took it and walked out the door. It was not until the two men left that Bill Dooley, working behind the meat counter, knew that the store had been robbed.

Molotov Talks United Germany

BERLIN (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov told the Western foreign ministers today he would submit to the Big Four conference tomorrow a new proposal on Germany and European security.

BERLIN (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov leveled his big guns on the German unification issue today, dominating the 14th session of the Big Four conference.

Reports from inside the parley chamber indicated the Russian led off the day's talks with a resume of the German situation as Moscow views it. With the necessary translations, it exhausted the best part of two hours.

Whether Molotov had anything new to add to the deadlocked situation could not be ascertained at this time.

While the statements were gradually being translated into German, Austrian Foreign Minister Leopold Figl arrived in Berlin by air to present his nation's case for immediate independence. The Big Four may take up the Austrian state treaty Thursday but in any event have decided to tackle the question not later than Friday.

A Western bid for the Soviet Union to prod Red China into an early Korean peace conference was reported to have received a cool reception from Molotov. Diplomats familiar with yesterday's secret session said the Korean proposition was presented to the Soviet foreign minister then as a possible step toward ending the Indochina War.

Molotov they said, made no promise. Instead he was reported to have stuck to his demand for a big peace conference with Communist China and for a disarmament conference outside the United Nations. Secretary of State Dulles, Britain's Anthony Eden and France's Georges Bidault turned him down in secret as they previously had in public.

The four-hour secret session, first of the two-week-old conference, produced a communique stating the four had agreed to take up the long-stalled Austrian independence treaty by Friday at the latest. Reports today were that this was about the only thing accomplished.

In this respect, Western ministers had looked to the secret talk

Dallas Bank Teller, $24,000 Are Sought

DALLAS (AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation believes a 40-year-old payroll teller at a Dallas bank walked off with $24,000 last week.

The agency issued a fugitive warrant yesterday for James Blaine Sewell after he was charged with embezzling the money from the Texas Bank & Trust Co. here.

The FBI said bank officials told them of the shortage on Feb. 5 when Sewell failed to show up for work. A check at his home disclosed that he left with a suitcase and was last reported seen at Anton Carter Field.

Dallas FBI Chief John K. Mumford said that Sewell may be armed. He said a search of the teller's apartment failed to reveal a pistol the bank employe is known to have bought last fall.

Sewell was described as having brown hair and brown eyes, weighing 170 pounds and being about 5 feet, 10 inches tall.

Arrives In South Texas For Move

BULLETIN
ALICE (AP)—State Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd said the Duval County grand jury should be dismissed because the foreman is a partner of political boss George Parr.

The Attorney General said Jury Foreman J. C. King also is heavily in debt to the San Diego State Bank, of which Parr is president.

He said that he could prove that Parr had been involved in the handling of the Benavides School District funds.

Shepperd said six members of the grand jury besides King are tied up with Parr either in a political or business way.

ALICE (AP)—State Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd flew here today to try to break up the Duval County grand jury that asked him to tell what he knows about law violations in political kinship George Parr's domain.

His plane landed here at 10:40 a.m. and he immediately went into a huddle with six assistants who met him. The group was to go by car to neighboring San Diego, seat of Duval County, where state and federal officers are investigating public finances and officials.

Before leaving Austin, Shepperd said his purpose was to "challenge" the grand jury. He had said in Gladewater last night he would try to have it dismissed.

The six assistants he met here have been working in the investigation in Duval County, bulwark of Parr's long recognized political reign.

The "challenge" was to be presented to 79th District Judge C. Woodrow Laughlin who instructed the grand jury also to look into Duval County's financial affairs after Shepperd disclosed state and federal investigators had been working in the county for nearly a year.

Shepperd named assistants Atty. Gen. Willis Gresham, Frank Pinado, Sam Ratliff and Carter Wheelock as those who will accompany him on his mission.

Shepperd told an audience of 225 persons in Gladewater last night he will try to get Judge Laughlin to dismiss the grand jury to permit a grand jury in another county to take up the investigation.

The purpose, he said, was to "secure immunity of the witnesses."

On Laughlin's instructions, the grand jury last week invited Shepperd to appear before it and tell what he knows about any law violations in the county.

Shepperd refused. He said he didn't intend to tip the hand of his investigators by appearing before the grand jury now.

The attorney general said he was afraid the jury might use his testimony to whitewash accused persons and intimidate state's witnesses.

Shepperd's speech last night was to about 225 persons at the East Texas Schoolmen's Club in Gladewater.

Parr has had no comment on the three-way investigations into affairs of the county where he is known as the big wheel.

The grand jury was scheduled to resume its probe today.

Oscar Carillo, secretary of the Benavides School District; Reyes Ramos, Benavides hardware store owner, and Paul Green at Freer were among those summoned to testify.

In refusing to testify before the grand jury, Shepperd said he feared any information he might give might be twisted into a defense for Judge Laughlin in earlier proceedings now before the State Supreme Court.

A group of South Texas attorneys is trying to have Laughlin tossed off the bench by the court. Dist. Judge D. B. Wood of Georgetown, acting as the court's master in chancery, has recommended that the court remove Judge Laughlin.

Shepperd disclosed eight days ago that coordinated state and federal probes into the affairs of Duval County have been under way since early 1953.

Carpenters Off Of Jobs In City

Union carpenters are off several construction jobs in Big Spring at the present time over a disparity in wage rates.

Floyd (Jack) Jones, business agent for the carpenters local, said there was no official work stoppage.

Among the jobs hampered seriously by shortage of carpenters are the Big Spring State Hospital ward buildings and the City of Big Spring filtration plant.

Apparently the issue between contractors and carpenters in the wage rate. Carpenters are asking $2.37 1/2, the figure they posted Dec. 7 as the new scale for the union. Contractors, on the other hand, contend that they submitted bids for jobs under the old published rate of the carpenters and could not revise their scales to accommodate carpenters without incurring serious losses for themselves.

Most of them had bid in under the $2.12 1/2 rate, they said, although the state hospital job had posted a $2.25 rate.

Jones said that there might be four or five jobs in all affected in Big Spring but that he had no definite or official word.

"We haven't ordered a carpenter off any job yet," he said. "If they didn't show up, that was up to them. They may have been sick."

He granted that the disparity between wages offered and asked might make some of them sick. So far no action has been taken to instruct the carpenters of union discipline if they did work on jobs paying below the $2.37 1/2 per hour wage rate. The executive committee may discuss this at its meeting this evening.

Borden Wildcat Completes For Discovery In Spraberry Trend

A new Spraberry discovery was made Monday in Borden County with the completion of J. E. (Sam) Jones Drilling Company's No. 1 W. L. Miller.

The wildcat, formerly listed as a Blanco and Newman project, made a 24-hour flowing potential of 348 barrels of oil. It is located about 1 1/2 miles southwest of Gall and some four miles north of production in the Good Field.

Fleming Oil Company's No. 8-C Denman, venture in the Itanew East Howard Field, was completed for a pumping potential of 67.43 barrels of oil per day. Texas Pacific Oil and Gas Co. No. 1-C Spencer, outcrop to Luther Southeast Field, had no shows of oil or gas on a core between 9,897 and 9,927 feet.

J. E. (Sam) Jones completed his No. 1 W. L. Miller for a 24-hour flowing potential of 348 barrels of oil. Production is from perforations in the Spraberry between 7,105-15; 7,130-35 and 7,150-55. Gravity of oil is 39 degrees and the gas-oil ratio is 1.27-1. Flow is through a 24-64th inch choke. The perforations were washed with 1,000 gallons of mud acid and fractured with 4,000 gallons of sand oil. This new discovery well was formerly listed as Blanco and Newman No. 2 W. L. Miller. It is located some 1 1/2 miles southwest of Gall in Central Borden County. It is also about four miles north of production in the Good Field. Drilling was 660 from south and 1,856 from west lines, 12-33-4n. T&P survey.

British-American No. 1 H. D. Beal et al, C NE SW, 4-30-3n, T&P survey, is boring below 3,706 feet in lime.

Seaboard No. 1-A Zant, 2,308 from south and 330 from west lines, 19-32-3n, T&P survey, is drilling at 5,439 feet.

Cities Service No. 1 Winford, C SW SE, 3-4-D, Cunninghamham, has a total depth of 7,300 feet, and operator is still fishing.

Seaboard No. 4 M. J. Peterson, C NE NW, 40-34-5n, T&P survey, has a plugged back total depth of 6,896 feet, where operator ran tubing. The well is now shut in while the rig is being moved off before completion.

Fleming Oil Company No. 8-C L. C. Denman, 330 from north and east lines, southwest quarter, 16-30-T&P survey, was completed for a pumping potential of 67.43 barrels of 30 gravity oil per day. There was no water on potential test. Gas-oil ratio measured 140-1, elevation was 2,265, total depth was 2,904, top of pay was 2,700 and the seven-inch oil string went to 2,525 feet.

Russell Maguire No. 1 Chandler, C NW NW, 11-25-H&TC survey, made it down to 2,794 feet in lime. McSpadden, Green and Harris No. 1 Gilliam, C SW SW, 48-32-3n, T&P survey, reached 5,648 feet in lime and shale.

Texas Pacific Coal and Oil No. 1-C Tom Spencer, C SW SE, 11-32-2n, T&P survey, had no shows of oil or gas on a core between 9,897 and 9,927 feet.

Lone Star Drilling Company No. 1 J. O. Haney, C SE SE, 22-32-2n, T&P survey, is reported at 4,450 feet in lime and sand.

Wellman and Texas Crude No. 1-36 Mildred Jones, C NE NE NW, 16-33-3n, T&P survey, has a total depth of 8,272 feet, and operator is waiting on cement for 5 1/2-inch casing set at 8,265 feet.

Pan-American No. 1 W. D. Anderson, C SW NW, 13-31-2n, T&P survey, is building derricks.

Oceanic No. 2 J. F. Winans, 428 from south and 2,013 from west lines, 25-33-3n, T&P survey, is drilling ahead at 5,290 feet in lime and shale.

Oceanic No. 1-A R. D. Anderson, 330 from south and 797.8 from west lines, southeast quarter, 24-33-3n, T&P survey, hit 5,760 feet in shale.

O'Neill, Zephyr, Davis and Hood No. 1 I. H. Neff, C NW SW, 48-33-3n, T&P survey, is digging below 7,084 feet in lime and shale.

Seaboard No. 1 Parker, 660 from north and east lines, 47-36-1n, T&P survey, has bit turning below 6,015 feet in lime.

Texas No. 1 A R. State, C NE SE, 17-7-University survey, is running logs at 12,251 feet.

Thompson noted today that Texas' actual production as of the week ending Jan. 30 was 2,618,000 barrels per day, 192,000 barrels below the bureau's March forecast.

White Raps Benson Plan As 'Danger'

AUSTIN (AP)—State Agriculture Commissioner John C. White today called Secretary of Agriculture Benson's flexible price supports plan one of the most dangerous threats facing agriculture.

He spoke to the Texas Cooperative Ginners Assn. "If there is ever a time when the grower needs protection in the market place, it is when his commodity is in the excess," declared White. "But, it is at this time, according to Benson, when the farmer should not have the protection of 90 per cent parity, x x x

"In other words, this plan, in actual operation, would take away our protection at the very time we have the greatest need for it and give us our greatest protection when we do not need it."

"What kind of crop support is that?" asked White. "A better term for it would be Benson's 'No Support Plan.'"

The commissioner, a Democrat and a potential candidate for governor, said there are a few holes in Benson's philosophy that his plan will do away with surpluses and encourage the farmer to turn to other crops which are in scarce supply.

The average farmer cannot profitably switch to another crop overnight, or even in a year or two's time, White warned.

White said he is hopeful the present Congress will turn down Benson's program. In that case, a reshaped version would have tough sledding in 1955, White predicted.

"Once the farmers and city dwellers, alike, have had their say at the polls, this November, an Republican farm measure that conflicts with economic security will get a very chilly reception in 1955," he said.

HOUSTON (AP)—A motion for re-consideration of the $50,000 bond set for Johnny G. Navarro, 24, one of the three men charged with a $47,329 hoax bank robbery here, has been denied by Federal Judge T. M. Kennerly.

Navarro also lost a plea yesterday for release on grounds of insufficient evidence.

Kennerly expressed doubt his court had jurisdiction to order the return to Houston of a 1953 Oldsmobile seized Jan. 14 in New Orleans. Federal Bureau of Investigation agents say the auto was the getaway car used by James D. Mitchell, 33, following robbery here New Year's Eve of the Houston National Bank.

Mitchell had asked the court to return the vehicle to Houston. He lost a similar plea for bond reduction Jan. 21 before Kennerly.

Jurisdictional Issue Settlement Drawn Up

By NORMAN WALKER
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A compromise plan for solving union jurisdictional feuds within the AFL was expected to win approval today from the AFL Executive Council.

The plan was worked out last night by a special committee. It reportedly gives AFL unions this choice: submitting scraps to binding arbitration, or leaving them up to previously ineffectual AFL machinery.

The problem has long annoyed employers and contributed to inter-union warfare. It involved rival union claims over what types of work properly belong to particular unions. Employers are often harassed by conflicting union claims over the "right" to perform various jobs.

With rising unemployment AFL unions have indicated more frequently a desire to work out conflicting work claims in an orderly manner and the AFL convention in St. Louis last fall directed the AFL council to make some arrangement.

A special committee headed by AFL President George Meany agreed on a plan for the council's consideration today that half-way meeting problem. It provides that arbitration, or a binding decision by a neutral, will be offered in such disputes but unions can veto arbitrations and submit their troubles to the Executive Council.

In the past such council decisions have often been influenced by politics among council members and the resulting actions have been frequently ignored.

Even with the AFL council's endorsement of the compromise, it will have to be ratified at a meeting of all the AFL union leaders, probably in Washington, in mid-March. It can be put into effect when or checked by the AFL convention next September.

The council was expected to end its winter meeting today after handling the jurisdictional problem and considering a resolution recommending caution among AFL unions in handling union health-welfare trust funds.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) said today new language submitted by Sen. George (D-Ga.) will be studied by administration leaders as a possible compromise for the Bricker constitutional amendment on treaty powers.

One section of George's substitute reads: "An international agreement other than a treaty shall become effective as internal law in the United States only by an act of Congress."

The White House opposed this on grounds that the wording might interfere with the President's war powers and his authority to carry on diplomatic relations with other nations through executive agreements not subject to Senate ratification.

No voting in the Senate is scheduled until next week.

SCHOOL ELECTION ORDERED AT C-CITY
COLORADO CITY — Colorado City school trustees ordered an election on April 3, to fill two schoolboard seats. Dr. J. D. Williams and Abbe Northcutt are members of the school board whose terms expire this year.

The ballot closes at noon on March 15.

Ed E. Williams, superintendent of schools, told board members of a survey to be made by the Texas Association of School Administrators.

The survey, Williams said, was an attempt to determine the kind of teaching job that Texas schools were turning out. He asked for support of the school board in the undertaking, indicating that there might be some expense for paper work. Williams said that he would favor the program if it would help find and eliminate "deficiencies" in the local school system. The board indicated approval but took no official action on the survey.

Sea Scout Unit To Meet Here Tonight
A special meeting of Ship 18 of the Sea Scout will meet tonight at 7:30 p.m. at the Scout Hut, it was announced by Bob Haskell, assistant director.

Parts for the 26-foot sail boat have arrived, and Sea Scouts are to map out plans for assembly of the craft. It will be used for training on Lake J. B. Thomas. All local Sea Scouts are urged to attend.

Terms Of Three Councilmen At C-City Expire

COLORADO CITY — Colorado City's annual city election was set for April 6, by the City Council Monday night. Three council seats will be vacated, with noon, March 6, the deadline for filing for a place on the ballot.

Alton Moore, Walter Grubbs and Jeff Taylor are councilmen whose terms will expire.

Moore stated Monday night that he plans to run again, Grubbs and Taylor were both undecided.

An election judge was to be selected by R. B. Baker, mayor.

The Council also set aside $1,000 for repairs on the buildings at the city swimming pool, after hearing a report from councilmen Jeff and L. J. Taylor on their condition and need for improvement.

Ford Merritt, city finance director, told councilmen that income from the swimming pool in 1953 was $2,494; expenditures were $2,755.

"The pool will just about break even over a period of years," Merritt said.

J. D. Williams, city meat inspector for 17 years and owner of a veterinary hospital, gave a report on his duties as a meat inspector. He told the council that in November and December, he had inspected 344 beefs and 13 hogs. Local slaughterhouses pay Williams 30 cents per head for the former, 20 cents for the latter.

"We test one local dairy herd annually for both Bangs and TB," he said. "This dairy sells raw milk locally. Of course, we have no control over pasteurized milk brought in from out of town."

Williams also suggested a "spring 'stray dog' campaign" to lessen the danger of rabies. "You should begin a drive in March," he added. Williams told councilmen that dogs are disposed of humanely after five days in the pound. Strays are kennelled in the city pound at the Williams Animal Hospital.

In other council action, the council:

(1) Discussed a report prepared by Freese and Nichols on the cost of water. The report indicated that the price charged by the city should not be less than 25 cents per 1,000 gallons to heavy industrial users. Colorado City's industrial contract sets 36 cents per 1,000 for the first 100,000 gallons; 20 cents per thousand gallons for the next 2,900,000; 18 cents for the next 3 million and 16 cents for all over 6 million. The council plans to study the report in order to determine whether industrial rates should be raised.

(2) Bought a tractor and trencher from Costin Brothers of Colorado City for $4,779.

Dr. J. D. Williams called for a meeting to call gin owners Roy Dozier to call gin managers to the next council meeting to discuss the control of cotton dust. "We're having a lot of kicks about it," said Baker.

PORT ARTHUR (AP)—The Port Arthur school board today dismissed John (Bud) Tomlin as high school football coach and athletic director.

A prepared statement from the board said Tomlin's contract was terminated, effective immediately, for lack of cooperation with the school administration. The statement said the remainder of his $7,000 salary for the current school term will be paid.

At least two applications are believed to have been received already for the job. They reportedly were filed by Bill Duncan, now an assistant football coach at Texas A&M and a former coach at Beaumont's French high school, and Ted Dawson, coach at Temple.

Tomlin, in eight years at Port Arthur, compiled a record of 68 victories, 12 defeats and eight ties. His teams twice gained the state semifinals and twice reached the quarterfinals. His teams won the district championships five times.

Youth Center Proposal Is Being Studied At Stanton

STANTON (SC) — The Youth Center Committee of the Martin County Chamber of Commerce met here Monday afternoon and agreed to meet with a group of students from the Stanton School Friday afternoon in an effort to determine the wishes of these students in connection with proposed recreational programs.

It was suggested at the meeting yesterday that a centrally located building in Stanton be rented and fixed up as a Youth Center pending further negotiations with the Humble Oil Company for the purchase of their recreation hall at the west city limits.

The original proposal was that the city purchase this building from Humble for $8,849, and the 18.1 acres of land on which it is located for another $9,750. The plans would also include the removal of the Martin County Show Barn to this location and the construction of a swimming pool. The Humble recreation hall was constructed about two years ago when the company moved a large part of its West Texas operations to Stanton and located a number of families and offices here. This plant has since been abandoned and several of the houses have been moved away. Humble had drilled wells to supply water for the area, but the pumps have since been removed.

It has also been proposed that if the city should buy this property, six acres of it could be sold and still leave enough land for the center and swimming pool facilities.

Members of the committee are Gordon Stone, chairman; O. B. Bryan, Judge James McMorris, Dan Saunders, Mrs. Leo Turner, Mrs. Inez Woody, Mrs. Glenn Brown, Mrs. Phil Berry, S. W. Wheeler and Bob Deavenport.

Appraisal Of Right-Of-Way Land Scheduled

A special board of commissioners is to report Monday on its appraisal of property the county seeks to acquire from H. S. Moss for Fourth Street and freeway construction outside the east city limits.

County Judge R. H. Weaver appointed the commission after condemnation proceedings were started against the property. Some 45 acres of Moss land are needed for the road improvements.

Meanwhile, county commissioners continued a series of discussions with other property owners from whom they must secure land for the highway project. The group talked with J. E. Arnett this morning without reaching an agreement.

An additional conference is slated with Curtis Driver concerning land he owns near the east city limits. Driver was to be in Austin today to request that D. C. Greer, state highway engineer, authorize a change in the proposed grade for fourth street at the point it touches Driver's land.

Driver wants the highway grade lowered to the level of his property—an adjustment of about seven feet.

Commissioners still say they intend to have all right-of-way ready to turn over to the State Highway Department on Mar. 1.

WTCC Convention Planned For March With Angelo Site

SAN ANGELO — The thirty-sixth annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will be held here March 28-29-30, R. Wright Armstrong of Fort Worth, president, has announced.

The convention will be the first general meeting of the 5,000-member regional organization since October, 1952, when at Wichita Falls it was voted to change the convention time from fall to spring.

Convention Chairman Fred Brown of Mineral Wells said that if plans drafted by his committee at its initial meeting last week in the Abilene headquarters of the WTCC can be completed, the program for the event should be of great interest to every West Texan.

In addition to outstanding speakers, the agenda is to include important meetings of all committees, and San Angelo hosts for the presentation of events which should be appealing to wives of members as well as to the business delegates, Brown said.

Results of an election of new officers for the WTCC will be announced at the convention.

Girl's Foot Hurt In Fall From Truck

Sharon Starr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Starr of Forsan, was hospitalized here Monday evening after she fell from a pickup truck and the vehicle rolled over her foot.

Attendants at Cowper Hospital said this morning that Miss Starr's foot is not fractured, but that it is badly bruised. She is resting well, it was reported.

The pickup in which she was riding was being driven by her brother, Tony Starr. She fell out when the door became unfastened. The mishap occurred near Forsan.

Automobile accidents were reported to Big Spring police early Monday evening and early this morning.

This morning's accident occurred at 1st and Scurry streets about 7:02 a.m. L. H. Manley, 502 Austin, and Decidero M. Carmina were operators of the vehicles.

John Edward Seeds, 1206 Main, and Jettie Brunster, route 2, were drivers of vehicles involved in a collision at 4th and Scurry streets about 6:05 p.m. Monday.

Woman Is Beaten

A woman was taken to Malone and Hogan hospital Monday evening by police officers after she had been beaten by her husband. Police described the hearing as "family affair" and turned the investigation over to the County Attorney.

Attorneys Argue Garlington Case

Twenty-eight special issues were submitted to the jury in the Garlington case this morning. Lawyers started their arguments immediately, and the jury probably will start its deliberations late today or Wednesday.

The case involves title to 2,560 acres of land in northeastern Howard County. J. S. Garlington and others filed trespass to try title suit against A. L. Wasson and N. H. Reed, seeking to void Reed's title on the grounds that Garlington was of unsound mind when he lost the property.

Wasson purchased the land at a deed of trust sale when Garlington was foreclosed in 1940. Wasson later sold the land to Reed.

Trial of the case started Jan. 25.

White Raps Benson Plan As 'Danger'

AUSTIN (AP)—State Agriculture Commissioner John C. White today called Secretary of Agriculture Benson's flexible price supports plan one of the most dangerous threats facing agriculture.

He spoke to the Texas Cooperative Ginners Assn. "If there is ever a time when the grower needs protection in the market place, it is when his commodity is in the excess," declared White. "But, it is at this time, according to Benson, when the farmer should not have the protection of 90 per cent parity, x x x

"In other words, this plan, in actual operation, would take away our protection at the very time we have the greatest need for it and give us our greatest protection when we do not need it."

"What kind of crop support is that?" asked White. "A better term for it would be Benson's 'No Support Plan.'"

The commissioner, a Democrat and a potential candidate for governor, said there are a few holes in Benson's philosophy that his plan will do away with surpluses and encourage the farmer to turn to other crops which are in scarce supply.

The average farmer cannot profitably switch to another crop overnight, or even in a year or two's time, White warned.

White said he is hopeful the present Congress will turn down Benson's program. In that case, a reshaped version would have tough sledding in 1955, White predicted.

"Once the farmers and city dwellers, alike, have had their say at the polls, this November, an Republican farm measure that conflicts with economic security will get a very chilly reception in 1955," he said.

George Prepares New Compromise On Treaty Curbs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) said today new language submitted by Sen. George (D-Ga.) will be studied by administration leaders as a possible compromise for the Bricker constitutional amendment on treaty powers.

One section of George's substitute reads: "An international agreement other than a treaty shall become effective as internal law in the United States only by an act of Congress."

The White House opposed this on grounds that the wording might interfere with the President's war powers and his authority to carry on diplomatic relations with other nations through executive agreements not subject to Senate ratification.

No voting in the Senate is scheduled until next week.

School Election Ordered At C-City

COLORADO CITY — Colorado City school trustees ordered an election on April 3, to fill two schoolboard seats. Dr. J. D. Williams and Abbe Northcutt are members of the school board whose terms expire this year.

The ballot closes at noon on March 15.

Ed E. Williams, superintendent of schools, told board members of a survey to be made by the Texas Association of School Administrators.

The survey, Williams said, was an attempt to determine the kind of teaching job that Texas schools were turning out. He asked for support of the school board in the undertaking, indicating that there might be some expense for paper work. Williams said that he would favor the program if it would help find and eliminate "deficiencies" in the local school system. The board indicated approval but took no official action on the survey.

Sea Scout Unit To Meet Here Tonight

A special meeting of Ship 18 of the Sea Scout will meet tonight at 7:30 p.m. at the Scout Hut, it was announced by Bob Haskell, assistant director.

Parts for the 26-foot sail boat have arrived, and Sea Scouts are to map out plans for assembly of the craft. It will be used for training on Lake J. B. Thomas. All local Sea Scouts are urged to attend.

Sen. McCarthy Poses Criteria On Aid, China Trade For Solons

ABERDEEN, S. D. (AP) — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) is calling for the defeat next fall of any Senate and House candidates approving American aid for countries trading with Communist China.

Addressing a Lincoln Day dinner here Monday night, the Wisconsin senator framed for the 1,500 guests this question he said they should pose for all congressional aspirants:

"If we send you to Washington, will you continue to vote our money to allies who are using that money to strengthen our mortal enemy, Red China?"

McCarthy said negative answers by the candidates "would give America an opportunity to curb communism that would be more effective than a blockade of the China coast."

As he has in the past, he cited Great Britain as a prime example of nations accepting U. S. dollars and yet trading with the Chinese. He said he anticipated that some would interpret his opposition to such trade as being anti-Eisenhower.

"But I am not fighting the President," he declared. "The President has done a good, over-all job in the year and a month he has been in Washington. But he is only one man and needs the help of all senators and representatives. Being so honest himself, he cannot conceive of traitors in government, or of being double-crossed."

Earlier, at a press conference, McCarthy said he had wired Secretary of the Army Robert Stevens asking that court-martial proceedings be started against every subversive in the armed forces. He said he told the secretary that "20 years of coddling of the military" have ended.

McCarthy, chairman of a Senate investigating subcommittee, said also that he would press for a contempt citation against Dr. Wendell Furry, Harvard University scientist who appeared before his group late in 1953.

"The true test of reformed Communists is whether they will disclose party tactics and brethren to investigators," the senator said. "Furry admitted before our group that he worked on secret radar material but would not reveal who worked with him."

"Furry will be cited for contempt if the Senate will go along with us, and I think it will."

McCarthy said the Benson program for aiding farm price supports was "unrealistic." He said he thought supports should not go below 75 points and that for every point they dipped below 90, they should go a corresponding degree above 100.

Widow Who Claims Bilking Charged With Murder Try

WACO (AP)—A widow who says she was bilked of $10,000 was under assault to murder charges here today and a used car dealer was in a local hospital with a minor gunshot wound.

The accused swindler, Stephen Welch alias Horace Vickers, was charged with swindling.

The widow, a mother of two boys, was Mrs. Angelen Dicurte, Perry liquor store operator who said she shot Appell Marchbanks, about 45, because he would not tell her Vickers' whereabouts.

Officers first learned of the shooting and alleged swindle when they were called to the hospital after Marchbanks appeared there for treatment of the wound. He said he didn't know who shot him.

But Mrs. Dicurte appeared at police headquarters and told officers she shot Marchbanks. The widow told officers she borrowed $9,000 from a bank and added a $1,000 to it to pay for an oil lease. Vickers, she said, had promised her $30,000 for the lease.

Vickers disappeared and the shooting followed.

Texas Vicksburg Memorial Is Set

VICKSBURG, Miss. (AP)—When Mrs. A. W. Baxley of Nacogdoches, Tex., toured Vicksburg National Military Park a year ago she was amazed when she found no memorial to Texas troops who fought in the Battle of Vicksburg.

Told how Texas soldiers plugged the only break in Confederate lines during the 47-day siege, she thought their bravery should be memorialized.

A few weeks ago, Mrs. Baxley sent a bag of Texas bluebonnet seed and asked that they be planted near the spot where the Texans fought. The job's been done and, if nature does her part, there will at last be a Texas memorial.

officials who also opposed the program, was dropped suddenly when the U. S. Comptroller General ruled that federal funds could not be spent to recruit Mexican farm laborers unless under a joint U. S.-Mexican agreement.

Mason said there "is no urgent immediate demand" for Mexican farm laborers—a view quite different from that expressed by farm operator spokesmen during testimony last week.

He urged that a new agreement with Mexico provide:

When the U. S.-Mexican labor agreement died recently, the State and Labor departments set up a program for processing Mexicans who came across the border looking for farm work, even though the Mexicans did so against their own country's regulations.

The Mexican government has refused to renew the agreement, contending the United States should guarantee Mexican nationals a fixed wage rather than the prevailing wages of communities or areas where they are employed.

AFL Joins CIO In Urging Bracero Plan Be Defeated

WASHINGTON (AP)—The AFL called today for defeat of a proposal to recruit Mexican farm laborers for jobs in this country, whether or not Mexico approves of the program.

Walter J. Mason, a member of the AFL's national legislative committee, said in a statement prepared for the House Agriculture Committee that the measure "would legalize the illegal unilateral program abandoned last week by this government."

When the U. S.-Mexican labor agreement died recently, the State and Labor departments set up a program for processing Mexicans who came across the border looking for farm work, even though the Mexicans did so against their own country's regulations.

SWITCH TO MOLOTOV

U.S. May Be Ready To Give Up Panmunjom Talks Efforts

By WARREN ROGERS JR. WASHINGTON (U)—Secretary of State Dulles apparently has switched to negotiations with Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov at Berlin in a new approach to a peace settlement in Korea.

Four foreign ministers meeting in Berlin. He and the other Western ministers, Anthony Eden of Britain and Georges Bidault of France, are reported united in opposing any meeting with Red China except on Asian questions. And even for such talks, they are said to be insisting on a prior show of good faith by Red China, such as cooperation in settling Korea's future.

More Testimony Due In Bromfield Model Farm Case

WICHITA FALLS (U)—Testimony was due to continue here today in the civil damage suit in which the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce seeks $50,000 and a farm from author-farmer Louis Bromfield and two associates.

The State Department has consistently backed up Dean, who was Dulles' personal choice as a special ambassador, and said yesterday: "There is no basis in fact for the report that Ambassador Arthur H. Dean is being withdrawn from his assignment."

Rape-Slaying Case Evidence Will Go To Dallas Jurors

DALLAS (U)—Dist. Atty. Henry Wade says all evidence against Tommy Lee Walker, 19-year-old Negro charged in the rape-slaying of Mrs. H. C. Parker, will go to the grand jury tomorrow.

Evidence introduced yesterday after a jury was picked from a 46-man venire consisted of deeds and documents. Defendants besides Bromfield are Robert W. Hugs and R. F. Culler.

A spokesman said the statement meant that, if anybody goes to Panmunjom, it will be Dean. Thus there was left the possibility that the issues might be taken up elsewhere.

U.S. Oil Average Production Is Up

TULSA, Okla. (U)—Daily average domestic production of crude oil and condensate during the week ended Feb. 6 increased by 14,150 barrels to 6,284,450 barrels, the Oil and Gas Journal's survey showed today.

The chamber seeks to regain title to the 411-acre Malabar farm and in its petition said the land had been deeded to Bromfield with the understanding that he develop it into a model farm.

The statement was read to newsmen who inquired about a dispatch in the New York Herald Tribune which said Dean will be replaced on the grounds that (1) he showed bad judgment in breaking off the talks and (2) he suggested the United States might recognize Red China at some future date.

Ben Hecht, Ex-Wife To Bury Bodenheim

NEW YORK (U)—An old friend and a former wife today made arrangements for the burial of Maxwell Bodenheim, slain writer who flourished as a poet and novelist in the 1920s and then floundered in drink and poverty.

here to Miami, Fla., to be on the watch for scar-faced Harold Weinberg, 25.

Author Ben Hecht yesterday offered to pay expenses for Bodenheim's funeral.

A police bulletin yesterday said Weinberg, a fast-talker and an apparent ne'er-do-well with a police record as a vagrant and thief, was wanted for questioning in the double murder.

The dead man's first wife Minna last night arranged for him to be buried in a family plot at Cedar Park Cemetery, near Oradell, N.J.

The bodies of the Bodenheims were found Sunday in a 35-a-week furnished room rented by Weinberg, who had been washing dishes in Greenwich Village restaurants. Weinberg, police indicated, apparently had given the Bodenheims a roof a few days ago to spare them sleeping in hallways and stairways.

No one has claimed the body of Bodenheim's third wife, the former Ruth Fagan, who was found slain with the destitute poet.

Yesterday a truck driver in Charlottesville, Va., reported giving a lift to a man who gave his name as Weinberg. The driver said his description fitted that of the dishwasher.

Draft Calls On Decline Here

Draft calls for the local selective service board have been considerably smaller since the first of the year. Louise Nuckolls, clerk, pointed out that only three registrants are scheduled for induction this month.

New York police surmised that Weinberg, who was said to have been seen here last Saturday night, about the time the Bodenheims were slain, may be heading for Florida.

The call will come on Feb. 23, she said. The March call, for only two men, will be on March 19. There will also be 10 people sent to Abilene for physical examinations in March.

There were reports that Weinberg had shown some attention toward the 35-year-old Mrs. Bodenheim despite objections by the 58-year-old poet.

The recent abolishment of the Agriculture Mobilization Committee will affect operations here little if any, Mrs. Nuckolls said. The committee formerly determined who would be deferred because of farm work.

President's Conference On Road Safety Can Produce Much Good

The first President's Highway Conference was held in 1946, at a time when American life and limb were exposed to 85 million motor vehicles. Today, motor vehicles number 54 million, and the population has increased by about 10 million. Also complicating the traffic safety problem is the fact that cars are being made more powerful and faster these days, while the nation's basic highway network has not kept pace with the times. Indeed, many of the country's cardinal transcontinental routes have deteriorated alarmingly. So this year's White House Conference on Highway Safety, set by President Eisenhower for Feb. 17-19, will have to grapple with problems that have been intensified and enlarged since the first such meeting was called by former President Truman eight years ago. All governors have been asked to attend, and to name representatives of agriculture, business, labor, women, public officials, media of public information, and organizations. As one of 22 delegates from Texas, Governor Shivers has named Mrs. L. E. Dudley of Abilene, president of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs. Purpose of this gathering is to rally support in behalf of traffic safety at the local community level. The point is made that safety organizations and public officials have long since learned how to reduce accidents. The conference purpose is to translate this knowledge into results by means of vigorous, continuing public support. Obviously, that is a tremendous job. Education, enforcement and engineering are the three main ingredients of successful traffic safety promotion. All units of government, particularly on the municipal and state levels, spend most of their time and money enforcing traffic rules, and very little on promoting the idea of traffic safety. That is left largely to private groups of various kinds. Enforcement and engineering are important, and between them they absorb most of the money set aside for traffic. Perhaps if more funds were made available for education better results would soon begin to show. We trust the President's Conference on Highway Safety will consider this.

Quiet Action Exerts Far Greater Pressure Than Sabre Rattling

The Army's quiet announcement that it is sending another battery of atomic cannons to Europe to augment the six sent there last fall wasn't the kind of "rattling the atomic bomb" deplored by Defense Secretary Wilson a day earlier. It was more in line with the calm, steady course President Eisenhower referred to in his press conference Thursday—the calm, steady course that begins to make the enemy tremble and wonder what you are going to do. Exact time of dispatching the six new guns to supplement the half dozen already based in Europe, and their location, is a military secret. But the mere fact that Western defenses in Europe are to be backed up by a dozen atomic weapons capable of wiping out whole divisions of the enemy will impress Moscow more than millions of words of tough talk and blatant threats. Speaking from the depths of his experience, and in answer to a question whether new weapons and air power could be a deterrent to war if "the enemy gets the idea we will not use them," the President said he didn't think that big and bombastic talk is the thing that makes other people afraid. He could not recall that in any of his campaigns in World War II he had issued a single statement that we are big and strong and mighty and tough and are going to beat somebody's brains out. It does not baffle a great nation to bluster, boast and beat its gums. In the weeks preceding Pearl Harbor millions of Americans, and not a few admirals, were sure the U. S. Navy could make mincemeat of the Japanese Navy in two or three weeks. It is quite possible this type of sword-rattling helped the Japs to make up their minds to create "the day of infamy." Our enemies know our strength quite as well as we do. The knowledge that two batteries of A-cannon in strategic bases in Europe are on the job, and that we are capable of putting more of them there in great numbers, will have more effect on the masterminds of the Kremlin than any amount of "rattling the atomic bomb" in the halls of Congress, the coffeehouses, and the political forums. If we really have the strength we do not have to boast. If we boast, the enemy may get the idea we don't have the strength—just as the Japs did.

Those Who Oppose The Bricker Proposal Not Real Republicans

A great issue does not die; it may be postponed only to reappear in another and perhaps exaggerated form. The Bricker Amendment is a fundamental issue in American affairs which may now be diverted from the floors of Congress to the hustings of the 1954 election. It can become a challenge to the Eisenhower administration in every state. The issue is this: Shall the President of the United States be permitted to use executive agreements to bypass the Constitutional provision with regard to treaties? Shall the President be permitted to sign treaties or agreements which legislate for the American people? Shall treaties and executive agreements change the laws of the states without the consent of the state legislatures? Shall international bodies, in any manner, replace Congress as the legislative agency of the American government? After the American experience with the Quebec, Moscow, Teheran, Yalta, Potsdam and San Francisco Conferences, it is the consensus of American opinion that something needs to be done. On the other hand, few wish to embarrass President Eisenhower and to give the world the impression that his judgment is not trusted. Actually, it is the conduct of Roosevelt and Truman that has aroused distrust, but the issue arises while Eisenhower is in the White House. The error of the Eisenhower administration was to become involved in the matter at all. The Constitution does not provide that the President should have any voice in Constitutional amendments; that is the function of the Congress and the state legislatures. On the other hand, President Eisenhower is asserting leadership of the Republican Party and as such a leader, he is entitled to coordinate the policy of his party between the White House and the Congress. This can only be done by conferences; it can never be done by dictation. It was once said to me that the President can take the Republicans for granted because they are so stupid.

Government Figures On Unemployment Good Way Of Checking Nation's Health

WASHINGTON (AP)—One of the best thermometers for showing the state of the nation's economy is the government's figures on the number of people employed and jobs. Every month the government produces a fresh batch of figures. How does it get them? They're collected by two government agencies: the Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) and the Census Bureau. The BLS does it by mail and the Census Bureau by knocking on doors. The two agencies work independently of each other. The BLS covers less ground. Its surveys don't include farmers, domestic workers, the self-employed and unpaid family workers. The Census Bureau takes in practically everybody. The BLS has an arrangement with about 155,000 employers who send in every month a report on the number of people on their payrolls. Comparing this with previous months' figures shows whether employment is up or down. These reporting employers range from steel mills, auto plants, mines, banks, insurance companies, railroads, gas and electric companies, street car lines and even beauty parlors to the government itself, a big employer. Once a month, in the week containing the eighth day of the month, the Census Bureau sends 300 paid people around to 25,000 homes in 68 counties, including the country's 21 largest metropolitan areas. These census-takers—called enumerators—go out with a prepared list of questions and cover an estimated 48,000 individuals 14 years or older living in the 25,000 homes. If that seems a small number of homes and individuals on which to draw conclusions about total employment and unemployment in a country the size of this, the Census Bureau says: When unemployment reaches around two million, for example, its estimate on the total number of people employed and jobs is about 59,778,000. The figures were: employed 60,800,000; unemployed, 1,500,000. If you do some subtraction on those figures you'll find that while the total number of people employed in January 1954 is 1,022,000 fewer than a year ago, the total number of unemployed has increased only 459,000. The Census Bureau's explanation: a number of people who were employed a year ago but aren't now are not looking for jobs now so they can't be considered unemployed. The enumerators ask questions like these: Who's working in the home? Anyone looking for work? If so, how long has he been looking? Anyone doing part-time work? And so on. The government doesn't have the means of making a check on every individual every month. But both agencies have a guide or measuring stick—economists call it a benchmark—for checking the accuracy of their estimates. This means that at some time in the past they had actual figures covering individuals nationwide. The last time BLS made a benchmark was in the first quarter of 1951 when it got what it considers a complete count on employment and unemployment from social security and unemployment insurance records for workers covered by its survey. BLS is now making a similar check on the first quarter of 1953. The last time the Census Bureau made a benchmark, or head-by-head count, was when it took it so, how long has he been looking? Anyone doing part-time work? And so on. The government doesn't have the means of making a check on every individual every month. But both agencies have a guide or measuring stick—economists call it a benchmark—for checking the accuracy of their estimates. ### Neither Super-Optimists Nor Doom Prophets Worth Hearing

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald.—Editor's Note. In Sunday's El Paso Times there was an editorial that is well worth reading again. Under the title of "Use Our Intelligence" the Times said: "It is true that saying, 'we are not going to have a business recession,' will not keep us from having such a recession, but, on the other hand, it is entirely possible to talk ourselves into things we don't want. It would be foolhardy to try to say now that business has not slumped some. It has, and we all know it. "But, business conditions of today as compared to those of 1933-34, which were considered good years, are almost fantastic. "It is probable that American businessmen and the American people generally have grown to expect too much of a free economy. That is what we learned in the 30's and what we can never afford to forget. These principles, though they are fundamental, do not govern the ups and downs—that is to say the short run—of the business cycle. The principles that are needed for the short run of the business cycle are not in fact in conflict with the principles for the long run. They are supplementary. The tendency to regard them as conflicting is, however, a deep danger in the free world and especially in the American part of it. "We are all right. Let's use our own judgment and our own intelligence. We don't need either the slap-happy super-optimists or the long-faced prophets of doom to guide our thinking and actions. "Maybe that editorial from the Times is worth reading the second time, the third or even the fourth." —FRANKLIN REYNOLDS

Big Squabble May Develop Over Direction Of First Tax Relief

A person looking for signs of things to come might well pay attention to the dialogue, which took place last week before the Joint Committee on the Economic Report, between Sen. Fulbright and Mr. Martin, the Chairman of the Board of the Federal Reserve System. They were talking about tax reductions. The Senator wanted to know about two kinds of the chairman preferred. Did he favor increasing the incentive to investment and production by tax concessions to liberalize depreciation allowances and to reduce double taxation of dividends? Or would he prefer to increase the personal exemption to $3,000, and to grant a 10% leave more spending money in the hands of the mass of consumers? The first kind of reduction is advocated by the Administration. The second is advocated by most of the Democrats. Here in a nutshell are the seeds of a controversy which may grow up to something very big in this session of Congress and in the election campaign next autumn. It turns on genuine issues of policy, principle, and of fact. Yet it is set up for political demagoguery. For the concessions would be about the same—say $2,000,000,000 either tax plan. But the immediate beneficiaries under the Administration proposal would be the relatively small number of taxpayers in the upper brackets. Under the other proposal the beneficiaries would be the very much larger number in the lower brackets. There is obviously a great deal of political dynamite in an issue of that kind, especially if there is to be a shrinkage of incomes due to shorter hours in industry and to the troubles of agriculture. Sen. Fulbright has the honor of being as clear of demagoguery as a successful and effective public man can be. His questions manifestly were not designed to create a partisan issue but to open the way to an understanding of the issue—which might prevent it from being exploited by the demagogue. And Chairman Martin has a critical, though by no means the whole, responsibility for navigating in the choppy waters and squally weather through which we are passing. When the Senator asked Mr. Martin which tax policy he preferred, we may take it that Mr. Fulbright was thinking not of the long run but of the very near future during the present readjustment. That, as I read it, is the way Mr. Martin understood the question. His answer was that "at this juncture," at this point in the course of readjustment, he would still put the emphasis on the "production side," rather than to emphasize an increase of consumer purchasing power. He did not, however, say what he would favor at a later "juncture." He did not come anywhere near saying that at a later juncture the tax reduction which Mr. Fulbright favors might not be called for. Mr. Fulbright had asked him which he would prefer NOW—given the mildness of the recession and the fact that the readjustment might be concluded successfully in the next few months. Mr. Martin did not close and lock any doors against what it might be expedient to do, say by April or May. The Administration's tax program reflects their fundamental economic doctrine. It is that expansion is a continuing political and social necessity in a free and

Bodenheim Death Shows Greenwich Village Change

NEW YORK (AP)—The slaying of Maxwell Bodenheim, a futile poet and novelist, is a flamboyant epitaph to a Greenwich Village that is gone. It is a kind of mortal farewell to a Bohemianism that died long ago, and for almost 25 years has become to the outsider a Manhattan tourist attraction. The tourists still feel they have to see Greenwich Village just as they used to visit Grant's Tomb. The passing of poor Max Bodenheim is only the irony of the death, of a symbol. He came here out of the Chicago literary school, as did his arch rival, Ben Hecht, who co-authored "The Front Page," with Charles MacArthur, another Chicago newspaperman. At one time they all were regarded as midwestern Bohemians. Then the roads went different ways. MacArthur married Helen Hayes after, so the legend, goes winning her heart by holding out some peanuts and saying, "I wish they were emeralds." But both MacArthur and Hecht went on to hit the literary jackpot. Bodenheim never became popular. His life revolved itself, according to many critics, into a victory of alcoholism over a fine talent. Greenwich Village today is one of the nicest residential communities for some of the most solidly respectable people in America. It has a few of the finest restaurants in the land. It also has a few cheap tawdry night clubs that are a disgrace to it and the people who come there looking for "atmosphere." They are tearing down Mark Twain's old home to put up a big apartment house. New York University, where Thomas Wolfe taught English by day and brooded and wrote by night, is gradually ringing Washington Square, the heart of Greenwich Village, and some oldtimers fear, turning it into a campus. Real estate men say that one out of three young, eager, ambitious people who come to New York want to settle first in Greenwich Village. They seek inspiration and atmosphere, and being young, they think they can find it where other people they have heard of found these things before them. But, accepting Greenwich Village as a symbol, did Maxwell Bodenheim ever find it, although he came here, lived here and died here? He became a Greenwich Village character for the tourists while

This Day In Texas

By CURTIS BISHOP

Born on this day in 1861 in West Virginia was Joseph Jefferson Mansfield, who was to become a prominent Texas statesman and to be remembered by one of the most imposing monuments to any Texas statesman, the Mansfield Dam. At the age of 20 Mansfield came to Alleyton, Texas. He followed several occupations for a while—working on a farm, a nursery and for a railroad—then began the practice of law at Eagle Lake. There he became city attorney and editor of the town's first newspaper. During World War I he organized two companies of the Texas Volunteer Guards and was appointed adjutant of the 4th Texas Regiment with the rank of captain. As early as 1916 Mansfield represented the Ninth Texas Congressional District in Congress. That congressional service lasted 31 years, during which time Mansfield headed the Merchant Marine Committee and the House Rivers and Harbors Committee. Paralyzed in 1920, Mansfield reported to his committee assignments in a wheelchair. The Congressman was Grand Master of Texas Masons in 1912. He also participated actively in church work, serving as an Episcopal vestryman for 20 years. He died July 20, 1947 and was buried at Eagle Lake. Another hero to his long years of congressional service is the Mansfield Memorial Library at Columbus.

Found in archives in this northern French city was the report that on a November night, "was seen in the sky a brilliant object somewhat like an iron bar, long and large as half the moon. It was clearly seen for 15 minutes then suddenly the strange object began to rise in spirals, to twist and writhe like a watch spring and disappear in the sky." The report was written in 1461.

Albino Eel Is Pet

ANNVILLE, Pa. (AP)—An Albino Lamprey set named Mabel is the pet of Dr. Francis H. Wilson, professor of biology at Lehigh Valley college here. He has written a scientific paper "An Albino Lamprey," Wilson says Mabel is the first Albino Lamprey ever reported. The Lamprey is a parasite and not a true fish. It feeds itself by drawing the blood out of fish it attaches to by means of suction cup mouth. The normal color of Lampreys is blue-black and has big black eyes. Mabel has pink eyes and no coloring pigment. If the country and the Eisenhower Administration become involved in a destructive brawl over tax reduction, it will be because the unreconstructed extremists take charge and make the pace. That would be very much to be feared if the "bold step," which the President has been talking about, should need to be taken.

Tons Of Blood Pumped In A Day

All day long, and through the night, your heart beats and beats. You never see it, but you know it is there, and is doing its work. The heart has been called a pump, and it really does pump blood around and around. Fresh blood passes away from the heart in arteries, and "used" blood goes back toward the heart through veins. Each beat marks another action of the pump. A scientist has figured out the amount of blood which the heart sends around the body. In 24 hours, he states, the heart pumps 10 tons of blood through the body of an adult of average size! To a large extent, the same blood is pumped around and around. The blood is freshened during its journey, but we hardly can describe it as "new blood." The heart (like the lungs) is guarded by the ribs and the breastbone. The heart needs to be well guarded; if it is cut, death usually follows. The heart has walls of muscle, and by their power the blood is sent around the body. The right side of the heart takes in blood which has come back from the cells, and sends the blood to the lungs. After getting a fresh supply of oxygen from the lungs, the blood passes to the left side of the heart. From there it is squeezed out with such force that it travels through a long series of arteries and veins to all parts of the body. Two small chambers exist on each side of the heart, making four in all. The upper chamber on each side empties into the lower chamber on that side. A baby's heart pumps about 120 times a minute. A child's heart usually pumps, or beats, between 80 and 100 times per minute, but the rate goes down as the child grows older. When a person becomes an adult, the heart is likely to beat between 65 and 85 times per minute. The average for adults is about 72 beats a minute. Many persons above the age of 50 get along well with a pulse rate of 90 or more. Tomorrow: Work of the Lungs.

Valentine's Day Is Almost Upon You

Attention boys! Cupid's day is fast approaching and any fellow who wants to rate with his girl friend had better not forget it. "Women!" Some boys exclaim. "You can't get along without them, and you can't get along with them." This isn't true. Some boys goof around girls because they rate zero in the know how department. The feminine gender can be made to swoon when you pass. With girls it's little things that count the most. If you've got your wallet stuffed with lettuce and drive a fancy car that's all yours, well and good. Certainly no girl will turn you down because of it, but if you're just plain John Doe with a little over a buck in your pocket, and you get around on shoe leather, you can be every bit as much of a "dreamboat" as Cashinova.

Valentine's Day will make or break the romantic chances of lots of fellows. February 14 may be "just another day" to you, but if your girl is an average female with feminine emotions and reasoning power, you may take my word for it: it's a red letter day to her. Girls think about Valentine's Day and talk about it to their girlfriends for two or three weeks beforehand, and they browse through the stores looking at the luscious chocolates in heart-shaped boxes covered in beautiful pastel satins with ribbons and rosebuds. "Do you think Freddy or Alex might come through with something like this?" they ask each other. "Oh wouldn't Catherine Stanton's eyes be green with envy?" they gloat. A pretty card, especially if it says you don't have much spending money, will do the trick just as well. But here's a hint, fellows. Buying the most expensive card on the place won't, in itself, assure you of making a hit. Mainly the girls judge the verse. If the sentiment is sweet and somehow fits, you're in. If the verse doesn't come within a country mile of being "meant for her" she suspiciously will be obligated to get it and grabbed the first one you saw.

You don't have to be a millionaire to win her over; just wise. An expensive gift will thrill her, but so will a five cent card with an appropriate verse and a trinket from the dime store if you give it to her with an admiring smile and say something like, "If my allowance were equal to the way I feel, it would take a truck to bring your gift."

Chinese-Americans Studied By GA's

Members of the Sally Grimm Junior GA of Hillcrest Baptist Church studied the Chinese-Americans in El Paso at a mission study program Monday at the church. Their text was "Chatting With the Chees."

Pal To Pachyderms? Here's Job For You

Attention girls! There may be an opening for you in far-away Kenya if you have a friendly feeling toward elephants and if you are handy with a slingshot. The qualifications were among those laid down in an advertisement placed in Kenya newspapers by the Treetops Hotel, famous jungle resort where Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh stopped while touring Africa. The advertisement set out these requirements for the hostess sought by the hotel: "Qualifications—similar to those required of an air hostess (including tact and personality). In addition, there must be a friendly feeling toward elephant, rhino, buffalo and other game, ability to climb a tree quickly if necessary; sufficient skill with a catapult to hit at 10 yards monkeys trying to enter treetops for tea; general knowledge of game; fluent Swahili."

Hospitable Hostess Checks Guest Room

The hospitable hostess will check her guest room thoroughly before her guest arrives to make sure that everything is in order. Here are some reminders: Are there enough coat hangers? Any extra pillows, blankets, towels available? Are there ash trays and matches for smokers? Is there a sewing kit with thread, scissors, needles for spare buttons? Is there a wastebasket near the vanity table and is there a mirror above the table, a box of tissues, cotton balls and emergency make-up such as powder, lipstick, etc? Do you have a good reading light in the lamp, a water pitcher, alarm clock and perhaps even a small spare radio within easy reach.

E. 4th WMS Has Royal Service

Cano, pastor of Northside Latin-American Baptist Church, was guest speaker. Mrs. M. O. Roberts spoke on "Our Neighbor's Helper" and Mrs. Clay Benton gave, "Who Are Migrants?" Mrs. Ray Nichols' subject was "Missionaries to the Migrants." Mrs. Wilson discussed "The Plight of Little Children." Mrs. Lillian Patton's topic was "Low Wages and Insecurity." Mrs. Wes White talked on "Industrial Migrant" and Mrs. A. L. Cooper's topic was "What Has Been Done and the Task Ahead." Mrs. Jones gave the devotion from Luke 10. Prayers were offered by Mrs. Huey Rogers, Mrs. B. D. Rice and Mrs. Rufus Davidson with Mrs. O. B. Warren giving the closing prayer. Kate Morrison Circle served refreshments to 41 members and two visitors.

Peter Rabbit Will Appeal To Adults

If you like fun, fairy tales and laughter—and who doesn't—you will love "Peter Rabbit," the musical stage show coming to Big Spring on Friday at 7:30 p.m. sponsored by Central Ward P-T-A. This play, presented by Penthouse Productions of New York, is a finished performance given by professional actors. For that reason it should appeal to grown-ups as much as the mischief of Peter will delight the youngsters. Penthouse Productions are the creators of musical stage shows for the smaller fry and their parents. For many years, this well-known company has been successfully presenting fairy tales all over the United States and Canada. Tickets, which are 50 cents for children and 75 cents for adults will be on sale at the High School auditorium Friday evening. There will be no reserved seats.

Baptists Have 12th Birthday Banquet

It wasn't the biggest, but First Baptist members declared their 12th annual birthday banquet Monday evening one of their best. The traditional "12 banquets in 1" drew more than 300, and the total would have been higher if a greater number could have been accommodated. As it was, the high school cafeteria would not accommodate all and two tables had to be set up in the home economics department. As usual tables groaned under loads of good food furnished by women at the various tables. The various tables were decorated to carry out the theme of the month—a scarecrow, rainbow, valentine, flags, etc. The September and May tables had to be moved to the homecoming quarters, but members for all months moved to the auditorium for the evening's program. For the first time in several years the program was one other than developed by Mrs. Helen Mahoney, whose schedule wouldn't permit her handling the chore this time. As it was, however, the crowd roared at the pantomiming of Nell Echols, 16-year old Lamesa High School lad, who fronted for a series of dialogue records. Among them were "It's in the Book," "Grandma's Lye Soap," "Dance of the Hours," "None but the Lonely Heart," "They Call it Football." He was accompanied here by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Echols. The Fencepost Quartet from the Big Spring high school group were presented in several numbers by their director, Harry Lee Plumley. They were Jimmie Smith, Ronnie Smith, John Campbell and Lynn Laws. Visitors were present from half a dozen cities in this area and from several churches in Big Spring. At the banquet, each person ate at the table of the month in which he was born. Table captains were: January, Mrs. F. D. O'Brien; February, Mrs. Inez Lewis; March, Mrs. Ross Boykin; April, Mrs. Billy Smith; May, Mrs. Loy House; June, Mrs. J. R. Hale; July, Mrs. Merril Creighton; August, Mrs. Grady Stevens; September, Mrs. Ross Bartlett; October, Mrs. Jess Slaughter; November, Mrs. C. T. Clay; December, Mrs. H. G. Agee. There were 14 attending who have been at all 11 of the banquets.

THIS IS GOOD EATING QUICK TOMATO SAUCE

Ingredients: 2 tablespoons olive or peanut oil, 1 pound ground beef, 1/2 cup finely diced onion, one can (1 pound and 13 ounces) tomato puree, one can (6 to 7 ounces) tomato paste, 1/2 cup water, 3 teaspoons salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon dried crushed oregano, 1/4 teaspoon dried crushed marjoram or basil, 1/4 teaspoon gravy coloring sauce, 1 clove garlic (crushed). Method: Heat oil in 12-inch skillet; add beef and onion; mash with kitchen fork over moderate heat until meat loses its red color. Add remaining ingredients; stir well. Simmer, covered, about 30 minutes; stir occasionally. Makes about 1 1/2 quarts thick sauce. Use as much as needed and refrigerate rest. Serve over spaghetti and sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Serve with the menu below.

MISTER BREGER

Herd Meets Lamesa, HC Hosts Picadors

The athletic spotlight here tonight will be on the High School Gymnasium, in which three basketball games will be unrolled.

At 6 p.m., the Big Spring High School B team takes the court against the Lamesa reserves. At 7:30 o'clock, the A teams of the two schools square away in a District 1-AAA donkeybrook.

At 8:45 p.m., Howard County Junior College seeks revenge in a contest with the Texas Tech Freshmen. Both Lamesa and Big Spring are out of the running for the conference crown but the rivalry between the two schools is always spirited.

Lamesa's attack is built around Robert Weaver, Lloyd Poe and Sherrod Dunn. Big Spring will counter with an offensive built around Charley Clark, Al Kloven and Wiley Brown. A win by Big Spring tonight would enable them to pull away from both Vernon and Breckenridge in the scrap for the cellar position. Each of those three clubs has now won two games. Big Spring's wins came at the expense of Vernon and Snyder.

HCJC, which has experienced rough going of late, will try to return to winning ways against a team that beat the Hawks by ten points last month.

The game will mark the first home appearance of Jack Williams, a fine jump-shot artist who joined the Hawks at mid-term. Williams attended Sayre, Okla., JC the first semester.

Sayre, incidentally, has cancelled out its Saturday night game with HCJC here but the Hawks will see action. Coach Harold Davis has booked Webb Air Base's Dusters for that night.

Buffaloes Win At Westbrook

WESTBROOK (SC) — The Forgan Buffaloes trounced Westbrook, 88-43, in a practice basketball game played here Monday night.

Albert Oglesby scored 18 points for the Buffs. Johnny Baum had 13 and Johnny Sken ten.

Two 13-point quarters turned the trick for the Buffs, who wind up their season's play in a District 2-B game at Sterling City tonight.

Westbrook won the girls' game, 43-32. The Westbrook team trailed by five points at the end of the first period and was still one point back of the visitors at half time but found the range after that.

Mary Anne Green had 16 points for Forgan.

Lakeview Wins Over Lamesa

The Lakeview Lions wound up their season's basketball play by defeating Lamesa, 29-27, in the Junior High School Gymnasium here Monday night.

Cornelius Price roped 11 points for the Lions. Ernest Byrd had eight, Willie Miles five and Alvin King four and William Toles one.

For Lamesa, Hunter had ten, Sain six and Gibson six. The score was tied at half time, 11-11. The win was the third of the season for Big Springs.

The Lakeview girls lost, 21-17. Kay Frances Henry scored ten points for the locals. Mary Gilbert had six and Joyce Evans two. Jackson and Fleming each scored seven for the visitors.

The Lakeview junior boys also lost, 18-17, after trailing at half time, 12-8. Robert Johnson scored seven points, Willie Roy English five, Hubert McCoy three and Billy Weatherall two for Big Spring.

For Lamesa, Pennington had 12 and Dowers six.

VIC Teams Win Over Snyder

The VIC basketball team of Big Spring is looking for new worlds to conquer, after having vanquished Snyder here last weekend, 54-11.

Bobby McCarthy paced the local quintet with 18 points. Robert Brroughton, Robert Rogers and Ronald Young each had eight for the locals. Don Glacier, Arthur Sunday, Bob McDonald, Wayne Johnson, Bobby Howell and Billy Wig were also performers for Big Spring.

A girls' volleyball team representing the Big Spring VIC also won, defeating a Snyder contingent, 45-25. Patsy Gray, Alice Boyer, Esther Stutville, Claudia O'Donnell, Bebe Hobbs and Jean Buchanan performed for Big Spring.

Seventh Grade Team Winner Monday Night

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The Big Spring Seventh Grade basketball team alone emerged victorious in three basketball games involving Yearling quintets played here Monday night.

Darrell Flynn's Seventh Graders chalked up their tenth straight victory at the expense of the Colorado City Eighth Grade reserves, 30-16.

Jackie Phillips and Jerry White each scored nine points for the Yearlings.

The Big Springers widened the gap in the last half after leading by only two points at half time.

The Colorado City Eighth Grade A team nosed out the Big Spring Eighth Grade, 25-24, and the resident Ninth Graders won over the Big Spring Ninth Graders, 42-35, in other games.

In the Eighth Grade game, Jan Shuren scored eight field goals for the Yearlings. The game was nip and tuck to the wire.

The games ended the season for the Big Spring Seventh and Eighth Grade clubs.

In the Big Spring 8 Colorado City 12.

Two of the Big Spring Country Club members took a cross-country hop last week—Charles Long in his 170-B Cessna and Obie Brink in his 205 HP Lincoln Cessna.

About the only trouble reported on the trip was Obie being warned about flying too low at Stillwater, Okla., and missing the runway at Mineral Wells.

Long reported that, if he made many trips with Obie, he would have to get a faster plane. He didn't like to have Obie waiting for him at each stop.

His first stop was in Ardmore, Okla., where they played Dutch Harrison's home course. From there, the two went to Oklahoma City and a round with ex-United States Amateur Champion Charles Coe and Judge Ogden, who is a candidate for the governorship of Oklahoma.

Long reported that Coe was off his game but Obie straightened him out before he left. The next and last stop after leaving Mineral Wells, where they played the Country Club.

One of the better shots reported at the Country Club last few days was by Speedy Nugent on the tough No. 6, when he found the cup for a three from about 30 yards out.

Kent Morgan had his best round Sunday, with a 39 on his second nine holes. He was three-under-par on his first four holes, which is quite a feat for any linkster.

Some scores reported at the Country Club over the weekend: J. E. Foote, 75; Kent Morgan, 84; Earl Reynolds, 74; Lillard Hart, 75; Bob Hodges, 79; Judge H. Weaver, 79; Thomas Hutto, 78, with a fine 25 on the second nine; Dr. J. E. Hogan, 81.

A sight to see at the C-C: 11-year-old Emmett Kent Morgan hitting the ball with man size clubs for about 175 yards.

Ladies who have been on the course during the warm weather include Libby Saunders, Marjorie Hatch, Lois Hodges, Edith Liles, Christine Coughlin, Ginny Hutto, Jane Halter, Mildred Rule, Minnie DeWen, Billy Dillon, Evelyn Belew, Jody Sabatto, and Faye Morgan.

The teen-ager with one of the best golf swings is Mary Ann Nugent, very active recently. James Underwood, one of the state's best high school golfers, has also been touring the Country Club.

Charles Long III is sporting a new club, bag and golf cart. Early morning players at the Country Club included Bob Satterwhite and James Edwards (with his brother from Odessa).

H. S. Gray recently played the C-C for the first time since taking out membership.

Look for big improvements in the Country Club in the next year or two. Plans are being made to make the club more enjoyable for all members that are interested in golf, swimming or social activities.

Bear Bryant Warns Aggies Of Tough Job Facing Them

COLLEGE STATION (SC) — Paul (Bear) Bryant, doctor of ailing football teams, told six thousand cheering Texas Aggies last night: "We must be realistic. We have a tough job. By hard work, arm in arm and working as a team, we can get the job done."

Bryant spoke at a giant rally a few minutes after his arrival to take over as head coach and athletic director at Texas A&M. The job to be done, obviously, was to rebuild Texas Aggie football fortunes, as Bryant did Kentucky's.

The big coach's welcome here turned into a tumultuous occasion of mutual admiration, with the 6-foot, 3 1/2-inch Bryant on one side and the fans on the other.

"I do proclaim Bear Bryant Night," declared head yell leader, Monty Montgomery of Abilene, Tex. "We've got us a man here who is going to get the roots."

The Aggie fans, assembled in The Grove, meeting place for A&M's famed yell practices, screamed. They yelled and chanted a full half-hour before the grinning Bryant, untired despite an 11-hour trip from Kentucky, got a chance to speak.

"We're on the road to victory," yelled Cheer Leader Jim Tyree. Then the 220-pound Bryant stepped forward. Apparently tipped off, he went through a traditional Aggie yell night routine—stripped off his hat and coat, threw them to the floor, rolled up his sleeves, and stepped forward. The Aggies made the night ring with their cheers.

"I don't know about you, but I'm ready to play tonight," said Bryant. From there on, his sentences were separated by sustained applause.

"From what I'm seeing this is the reason I'm thankful that I'm an Aggie. I assure you that I'll do everything in my power to contribute to a good athletic program."

Bryant, whose six-year A&M contract at $15,000 a year also calls for him to serve as athletic director, hesitated only a minute when registering at the Student Union.

Then he wrote "College Station" as his home town. "I want to log in with the boss," he announced. But Dr. David H. Morgan, Texas A&M president, was out of the city on a speaking engagement.

At a news conference, Bryant asked for more time before speaking out on the makeup of his coaching staff, spring training plans, etc. He did say, "I'm sure we'll run a variation of the Split T," which will be nothing new in Aggieland.

He said he wants to check Southwest Conference rules, see all the football movies, get acquainted with Aggie football material, and talk to the present assistant coaches.

"I'm not ready to announce my staff," he said. "When it has been decided, I'll announce it all at once."

From the man who built Kentucky from a weak team to Southeast Conference champion and a national power, Aggieland was willing to wait.

Billy Peacock Is TKO'ed By 20-Year-Old Collegian

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK (SC)—Nate Brooks, a 20-year-old college sophomore with only nine pro fights since he won the Olympic title, has joined Floyd Patterson as a stand-out pro.

The talented Brooks, who never before fought more than six rounds won the North American bantam-weight championship last night on a technical knockout at the end of eight rounds. Brooks weighed 115 1/2, Peacock 117.

Brooks showed a flashy left that blinded Peacock in the early rounds and then drove home the finishers with his right although it had been injured in the first round.

The 1952 Olympic flyweight titleholder soaked his swollen right hand in a bucket of ice water after the fight. He won't know until X-rays are taken today in Cleveland when he'll be able to fight again.

The club offered to do what it could in an unofficial capacity toward the sale of season tickets.

Brooks is aiming at the world title, held by Australian Jimmy Carruth.

"If I keep on going like this, I ought to win the championship before I get out of law school," said Brooks, now a pre-law student at Ohio State University.

Brooks cut Peacock's right eye in the first and closed his left to a narrow slit midway in the fight. It was after a solid right by Peacock in the eighth that he opened up. A right to the head dropped Peacock for a four-count and another right sent him spinning at the bell. Referee Percy Scalzo stopped the fight between rounds on the advice of Dr. Samuel Swetnick of the New York State Athletic Commission.

Jim White, of San Angelo, district game warden, told Mitchell County sportsmen that, "Foxes, wild housecats and the drought are largely responsible for your game shortage. There's nothing wrong with your game conditions that a good rain won't cure."

Jim Worthington, district game warden of Sweetwater, was present, as were J. B. Dalton, Mutt Frederick, and Benny Henry, of Abilene. The Abilene sportsmen showed two wildlife movies.

The Mitchell County group also voted to affiliate with the State Federation of Wild Life.

Duquesne Dukes Near Wildcats In AP Poll

By BEN PHLEGAR
NEW YORK (SC)—Kentucky continued to win games by 40 points or more but the Wildcat's first-place margin over Duquesne in the Associated Press basketball poll is getting smaller and smaller.

This week the 97 experts who participated virtually admitted they couldn't choose between the two. Kentucky got the nod 757 to 751 on the basis of 10 points for a first-place vote, 9 for second and on down the line.

Forty-nine of the voters named Kentucky first or second whereas Duquesne drew 12 first-place votes and 25 for second. Five ballots skipped Kentucky altogether. Only two omitted Duquesne.

Duquesne has won 18 games against college competition and two against service teams without a loss. Kentucky won its 17th straight last night, 97-55 over Florida.

Indiana's defending national champions continued the grip on third place that they have maintained since suffering their only loss—to Oregon State in the week before Christmas. The Hoosiers polled 887 votes, almost 150 ahead of fourth-place Oklahoma A&M.

Western Kentucky gave up its No. 4 spot to the Aggies after suffering its first loss but slipped only as far as fifth. Rounding out the top 10 were Notre Dame, La Salle, Seattle, Holy Cross and George Washington. All except GW were in the select group last week.

GW, 11th a week ago, moved up by beating Duke Saturday night. This decision tumbled Duke from the No. 8 spot to 15th.

The leading teams on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis (first-place votes in parentheses) are:

1. Kentucky (29) .....
2. Duquesne (12) .....
3. Indiana (10) .....
4. Oklahoma A&M (7) .....
5. Western Kentucky (4) .....
6. Notre Dame (2) .....
7. La Salle (4) .....
8. Seattle (5) .....
9. Holy Cross (5) .....
10. George Washington (11) .....
11. Maryland (5) .....
12. Minnesota (12) .....
13. Oklahoma City (6) .....
14. California (5) .....
15. Duke (1) .....
16. Navy .....
17. Louisiana State .....
18. Wichita .....
19. N. C. State .....
20. Kansas .....

Y Cage Play Ends Tonight

Regular season's play in the YMCA City Basketball League will end tonight.

Phil-Serv 66 is booked to play Coca-Cola in the 7 p.m. opener but chances are Coca-Cola will receive a forfeit in that one. Phil-Serv has forfeited its last two games.

The second go, down for 8 o'clock, pits Clark's against the Draginats. At 9 o'clock, Tennessee Milk plays Hardisty's Drug.

Tennessee Milk now paces the circuit but must defeat the Draginats in order to remain on top.

The Shughessy playoffs get under way Thursday night. All games tonight are booked for the Junior High Gymnasium.

Martin Appears Before JayCees

Bobby (Pepper) Martin outlined his plans to field a professional baseball club here this season in an appearance before the Big Spring Junior Chamber of Commerce at noon Monday.

Martin told the members he was making progress in his move to field a strong team and said he felt the entire league had a promising future, if each club respected the salary limit.

The club offered to do what it could in an unofficial capacity toward the sale of season tickets.

Armory Now Depends Upon Guard Board

Although all local arrangements have been made to clear the way for construction of a National Guard armory here, such a building in Big Spring is still not definite.

Chamber of Commerce Manager J. H. Greene, who was in conference with General Carl Phinney in Dallas last weekend, stated that the building of an armory depends on approval of the National Guard Armory Board in Texas and Washington.

However, Greene returned from Dallas with virtual assurance that an armory would be constructed here.

City and county officials have agreed to do all the things which Gen. Phinney said would be necessary before federal funds could be asked for the armory. Utilities and sewer facilities will be furnished, and a title guaranty policy will be made available by the Chamber. The State Parks Board has furnished the armory site.

Phinney was on the way to Washington last weekend when Greene talked to him. Indications were that the general would discuss armory construction plans with Federal Government authorities while in the Capitol city.

Information gained here is that $134,000 will be asked by the Armory board for the Big Spring building. Location of the building, if constructed, will be about 800 feet east of Webb Air Force Base on a five-acre tract.

Dates Changed For State C-C Week

Chamber of Commerce week in Texas is slated for May 2-8. It was announced today by Big Spring Chamber Manager J. H. Greene.

Formerly the meeting was scheduled for April 18-25, but the date was changed at a weekend meeting of the Texas Chamber of Commerce Managers Association in Dallas.

Greene said that he will ask Texas Governor Alan Shivers to sign a proclamation designating the May week as a time to observe Chambers of Commerce operation.

Six Rescued Airmen Tell Of Experiences In Alaska

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—What is it like to be hurled into space and marooned on the snowy wastes of Alaska?

Six airmen who were catapulted into the air last Friday when an Air Force C47 "disintegrated" in flight told last night of their experience.

They were among 16 men on the plane. Searchers have found the bodies of three men. Seven were still missing and hopes they would be found alive were very dim.

Among the missing were Lt. Col. W. West-Watson of the British Joint Military Services Mission on the U. S. Army staff at Washington, D. C.; and Capt. James Hill of the Army field forces at Ft. Benning, Ga.

A ground party which battled deep snow 15 miles to the scene of the crash from the little town of Curry, 75 miles northeast of here, last night reported it had found three bodies.

The six rescued men talked freely with newsmen at nearby Elmendorf Air Force Base. They were hospitalized at the 5005th Air Force Hospital at Elmendorf after being flown to safety.

All six were suffering exposure, shock and various cuts and bruises. None of them could explain the accident, which happened on a flight from Elmendorf to Ladd AFB, Fairbanks, 275 miles to the northeast.

But to all six, the first indication of trouble was a terrific down draft that tossed the plane as if it was a feather. Two said they heard an explosion afterward.

Here is what the six had to tell newsmen:

Airman I.C. Edward J. Fox, 22, West Utica, N. Y., who was lying on a pile of baggage when disaster struck:

"We seemed to hit a down draft and the next thing I knew I found myself in the air. I looked down and saw the plane and some of the other guys flying underneath me. I pulled the cord on my parachute and landed."

As Airman I.C. Eli Laduke, 20, Au Sable Forks, N. Y., remembered it:

"A heavy turbulence just seemed to tear the plane apart. I remember hurtling through space and pulling my chute cord. When the chute opened I was fairly close to the ground."

Airman S.C. Rupert C. Pratt, 20, Salt Rock, W. Va.:

"There was a terrific down draft and then an explosion at one side and the plane seemed to open up. Then I found myself flying through the air."

Airman C.C. Huey Montgomery, 20, Eldridge, Ala., who was also sitting on a pile of baggage about level with a window:

"All of a sudden the plane dropped hard and then came back up again. I heard an explosion and found myself in the air."

Airman S.C. Edward W. Olson, 20, Elkader, Iowa, who was dozing at the time, said he awoke to find himself sailing through the air.

Airman I.C. Bobby Sallis, 21, West Helena, Ark., said he found himself projected suddenly into the air after "the plane just disintegrated."

Past Rulers Are Honored By Elks

Glenn E. Gale, immediate past exalted ruler, will conduct tonight's meeting of the Big Spring Elks Lodge as the local lodge observes "Past Exalted Ruler's Month."

All past exalted rulers of the lodge have been urged to attend the session.

On Monday night, the ritualistic team from the Big Spring Lodge went to Midland for a joint initiation. Included in the class initiated was Dr. K. L. Brady of Big Spring. The class was dedicated to the past exalted rulers of the Midland and Big Spring lodges.

The Midland ritualistic team is scheduled to come here April 13 to install officers for the Big Spring lodge.

Benson Reports Consumers Resent Present Farm Plan

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson said today the nation needs a new farm program because "the resentment of 140 million non-farm consumers is mounting against the expensive, wasteful and ineffective program of rigid price supports."

He urged farmer backing for a new farm plan featuring variable price supports which was advanced last month by President Eisenhower.

"The surest way for any group in this country to commit suicide is to forget the ultimate consumer," Benson said in a speech prepared for an Agricultural Day program at Oklahoma A. and M. College. A successful farm program, he added, must be one that both urban and rural people can understand, approve and support.

He said the present program has resulted in the piling up of costly surpluses.

"Farm programs cannot be legislated by congressmen from rural areas alone," he said. "They must be supported by legislators representing urban areas as well."

"The program represented by President Eisenhower is not based on political expediency. It represents the best thinking of the nation's farmers."

Benson said the administration's program "won't be killed, because it's right—and more and more the people of this country are convinced it's right."

Benson said that under the administration program these things would happen: Food would fill stomachs, not government storage; foreign markets would be expanded; farm prices would be protected against serious declines; farmers would have more freedom to adjust production in line with good management practices; the need for production controls would decrease; consumers would be able to buy farm products at prices which more nearly reflect available supplies; and more attention would be given to the needs of the small farmer.
