

Referendums on airport called for by Dispatch

The Post Dispatch called today for referendums at both the city and county levels to obtain voter approvals for $16,000 worth of participation by each government unit in the construction of a joint city-county airport.

This newspaper publicly urged the referendum votes after County Attorney Preston Poole was notified by the state attorney general's office that "road and bridge funds may not be used in constructing an airport to be operated by working out state and federal aid," Cornish declared. "It's a real bargain for this area's future."

It is understood the city is prepared to call its referendum on the airport issue just as soon as the county is ready to go.

Cornish proposed the two airport referendums be held the same day.

Tom Gambelin, local attorney who has done much of the legal work and planning as a member of the city-county and the Chamber airport committees, was scheduled to be back on the job today after being in Parkland Hospital at Dallas since Monday undergoing tests.

DEADLINES for the use of state and federal aid funds approved come up this spring, so there is little time to lose in going the referendum route.

The letter from the attorney general's office to County Attorney Poole was written by Wade Anderson, an assistant attorney-general. Anderson wrote that "though it is not an official opinion of this office, we have made a thorough study of your question and have come to the conclusion that road and bridge funds may not be used in constructing an airport to be operated by the City of Post and Garza County for the purpose of matching local funds with federal funds."

Anderson cited a case that money from one constitutional fund cannot be legally transferred to another fund.

Pritchard & Abbott for $20,000

Re-evaluators are hired by county

The Garza County commissioners court by a reported unanimous vote Wednesday afternoon authorized the employment of Odessa tax engineering firm of Pritchard & Abbott at a guaranteed price of $20,000 to equalize and re-evaluate all county real property.

The action came yesterday afternoon after the court had conferred both with R. T. Wier, representing Pritchard & Abbott, and with representatives of the McMorries Evaluation firm of Amarillo.

The Amarillo firm offered to do the re-evaluation and equalization work at the same $20,000 figure.

County Judge J. E. Parker told The Dispatch the Pritchard & Abbott firm was selected "because the court felt it was a little more acquainted with the situation here and because it could accomplish the work in time to get the re-evaluation on the 1966 tax rolls."

Parker said there was some question whether the Amarillo firm could do the work in time for the 1966 tax rolls.

Motion for the employment of Pritchard & Abbott was made by Commissioner Ben Sanchez and seconded by Commissioner Mason Justice.

The county judge said the motion was made with the understanding that both the Post and Southland school districts would make their tax roll property information available to Pritchard & Abbott for the re-evaluation.

Wier emphasized that the detailed information on various properties within the school districts will be used in the project, not the taxable property values themselves.

The county commissioners court met with the Southland school trustees, Monday night and at this session the Southland district trustees passed a resolution to the effect that Garza County might have access to the tax records of the Southland district if a competent re-evaluation engineering firm were employed to do the work.

Post school trustees had voted the same way a week earlier.

Southland trustees also asked that if its tax assessor were required to devote any time or labor to the work that she be reimbursed for her work by the county.

This will be the first county-wide property re-evaluation in over 30 years and would be equalized as to all types of property.

The county is planning to borrow $75,000 from the First National Bank here to see its general fund through the 1966 operating year.

Ainsworth rites are held Friday

Funeral services for Edd Ainsworth, 85, of 504 South Ave. 1, who died last Thursday at the Golden Years Nursing Home after a long illness, were held at 3 p. m. Friday at Mason Funeral Home chapel.

Mr. Ainsworth, who had been a resident of Post and vicinity for more than 50 years, was an old-time cowboy, having worked on a number of ranches in the area.

He was born Nov. 8, 1880, in Cooke County and moved to this vicinity from Borden County. He and his wife, the former Bessie Miller, observed their Golden Wedding anniversary a few years ago. They were married in Post.

Survivors include his wife; two daughters, Mrs. C. H. Palmer of Lovington, N. M., and Mrs. Mary Bagley of San Bernardino, Calif.; three sisters, Mrs. S. W. McCrary of Post, Mrs. Ona Poole of Hillsboro and Mrs. Nellie Wooner of Granite Shoals; two brothers, Roy Ainsworth of Long Beach, Calif.; five grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Carl Cederholm asks re-election

Carl Cederholm has authorized The Dispatch to announce his candidacy for re-election to the office of County and District Clerk of Garza County, subject to the Democratic primary elections.

Cederholm's statement to the voters follows:

"I have been a resident of Garza County since Nov. 16, 1949, and since Jan. 1, 1955. I have served as county and district clerk, to which I am asking you to re-elect me.

"I have made every effort to conduct the affairs of the county and district clerk's office as they should be conducted. If you feel that I have succeeded, I will welcome your support and influence in my candidacy for another term. I thank you for your past support."

Political interest picks up, but—

Poll tax payment pace slow

With candidate filings picking up this week, interest in the coming primary elections is gaining momentum, but there won't be many votes cast in Garza County unless the sale of poll taxes also starts picking up.

Up to 2:30 p. m. yesterday, only 440 poll tax receipts and four exemptions to "first time" voters had been issued at the county tax assessor-collector's office.

Poll tax receipts usually total around 1,800 in an election year, but their sale is going unusually slow this year, with the Jan. 31 deadline only a little more than two weeks away.

Five candidates announced for office this week, with the announcement of three of them assuring contests in two offices.

Number 33

The Dispatch firmly believes that the voters of Post and Garza County must face their future together. That's why this newspaper today is calling publicly for voter referendums at both the city and county levels on the joint airport proposal.

When any area looks to its future we must work together and think positively.

It has been assumed for months by those working on the airport project that the county could provide its share of the airport effort through the use of county equipment and labor.

Federal and state aid—a total of $56,000 worth—has been secured on this premise. County equipment and labor has been used in the past for help to the city, the school district, and to dozens and dozens of individual farmers.

But somebody raised the question in the airport case if this was legal. The county attorney said in his opinion it wasn't but to back up his view an opinion was asked of the attorney-general's office.

This week the attorney-general's office ruled that it wasn't legal to use county road and bridge funds for such a joint airport.

To us, it still remains a question, good and legal, of whether county equipment and labor still can't be used as long as the funds for the cost of that equipment and labor comes from the general fund—and at no increased tax cost.

If voter approval for general funds for equipment and labor use must come from the people, okay, let's vote.

Why can't $16,000 in county bonds, or whatever necessary, be voted by the people, county equipment and labor used and paid into road and bridge funds, and in the next budget the tax funds for road and bridge funds be reduced by the amount the general fund is increased to pay off the bonds.

If this is legal—and we think it is—the county's share of airport participation can be voted without an increase in total amount of (See Postings, page 5)

Plans shaping up for livestock show, sale

Officers and directors of the Garza County Junior Livestock Show, Sale and Fair got well past the preliminary stages in making plans for the March 18-19 show, sale and fair at a meeting Monday night in the district court room.

Many of the plans for this year's first show and sale were made after the local group heard Sid Long and Don Cox of Borden County tell how their county's big junior stock show is operated. Long is vocational agriculture teacher in the Borden County High School at Gail and Cox is secretary of the livestock show association.

Approximately 60 animals are to be exhibited by 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America members in this year's Garza County show, the group was told by County Agent Syd Conner and E. A. Howard Jr., vocational agriculture instructor at Post High School.

Jim Jackson, president of the association said that while 60 animals don't make for a very big show, "we expect it to grow from year to year, and the fewer number of animals will mean better prices in the sale."

The group voted at the meeting to sell the show animals by the head instead of by the pound.

Jackson said local firms and individuals will donate trophies, ribbons and other show prizes.

Plans for the barbecue to be held on the final day of the show also were made at the meeting. Jackson said 1,500 tickets are being printed for the barbecue and will sell at $1 each.

The tickets will be sold by youth groups taking part in the show and fair, including 4-H and FFA members.

The group also voted to require owners to furnish registration papers on breeding stock to be exhibited in the show. None of the breeding stock will be up for sale, it was explained.

Jackson announced that J. B. Potts, president of the First National Bank, will be announcer for the show and sale and that the animals will be auctioned by Ken Bozeman of Lubbock.

It was decided to use one judge for all three divisions—lamb, calf and swine—and Conner and Howard were named by Jackson to secure a judge.

Superintendents of the divisions will be Floy Richardson, lambs; Jerry Thuet, swine, and Arnold Sanderson, calves.

Showing of the animals will begin Friday afternoon, March 18, at the county 4-H building. Final showing of the animals and fair exhibits will be Saturday morning, with the barbecue to be at noon and the sale to follow.

The fair will be under the direction of home demonstration women of Garza County.

Officers of the association besides Jackson are Jerry Thuet, vice president; Frank Blanton, secretary, and Joe Irons, treasurer.

Stock show directors are Arnold Sanderson, Giles Dalby, Bob Macy, Floy Richardson, Mack Terry, Lewis Herron, Dr. Harry A. Tubbs, M. S. Nichols and D. C. Hill Jr.

Fair directors include Mrs. Mack Terry, Mrs. Vernon Scott, Mrs. Thelbert McBride and Mrs. Wilburn Morris.

Other directors are Jo Beth Dillard and Birch Lobban, 4-H and Samuel Sims and Gary D. Donelson, FFA.

Lions will donate trophy, ribbons

The Post Lions Club and one of its members will donate a trophy and ribbons to the first annual Garza County Junior Livestock Show and Fair on March 18-19, it was announced at Tuesday night's meeting.

June Peel in race for Co. Treasurer

June Peel today authorized The Post Dispatch to announce her candidacy for the office of County Treasurer, subject to the Democratic primaries in May and June.

Her statement follows: "This statement is to announce my candidacy for the office of County Treasurer of Garza County. I have lived in Garza County since the age of six years and graduated from Post High School in 1947. My husband owns and operates Peel's Conoco and we have two children, Patti, age 13, and Randy, age 10.

"Over a period of time, I have worked approximately seven years in various county offices, including four years as deputy county clerk; two years as deputy tax assessor-collector; and one year, part-time in each of the offices of county agent, county school superintendent and county judge. The past five years I have been employed as assistant cashier with General Telephone Company of the Southwest. The local office of this firm is being moved to Brownfield, Jan. 29.

"This experience, I feel would be helpful in qualifying me for the office of County Treasurer."

JUNE PEEL

It was also announced at the meeting that the club had purchased eyeglasses for one adult and two children in recent weeks.

Dr. C. H. Bausman and Gordon Lee, a high school teacher here, were introduced as new members of the club.

"We will need your help as well as the help of everyone else in the community in making this first show and sale a success," Jackson told the Lions.

CONFERENCE SCHEDULED

Victor Hudman, chairman of the Chamber airport committee, announced today that a Federal Aviation Authority official and Ralph Douglas of Lubbock, airport engineer, would come to Post next Wednesday morning for a conference on the future of the project. He also announced that the airport site option has been extended until some action can be taken.

The City of Post and Garza County for the purpose of matching local funds with federal funds."

The proposed airport would cost an estimated $88,000 with the state providing $12,000, the federal government $44,000 and the city and county $16,000 each.

THE GARZA County commissioners court yesterday morning during a special session told The Dispatch in referring to the attorney-general's opinion: "Our hands are tied in use of county equipment and labor as our $16,000 share of the project."

The county commissioners and judge said they would favor $16,000 worth of participation in the joint airport proposal if a majority of the people voted in favor of the airport project.

These comments came during a special court session over its proposal for the equalization and re-evaluation of all county taxable property.

The city, which says it cannot provide its share through machinery and labor, already has said it will need a referendum vote to go ahead, although according to Mayor Harold Lucas the $16,000 city's share can be provided without any tax boost.

Warrants could be issued and a paid off from oil revenues, he said.

PUBLISHER Jim Cornish said that "the Chamber, the city and the county have gone too far together to lose this essential project for the area's future."

He emphasized that there never would be another opportunity to obtain an $88,000 airport for a $32,000 local expenditure.

"The Chamber airport committee has done a tremendous job in

Gins top 20,000 bale mark today

Garza County's seven gins were scheduled to pass the 20,000-bale mark around noon today on the county's 1965 cotton crop.

The Dispatch's weekly gin report, made at 8 a. m. today, showed 19,867 bales ginned to date, 270 more bales stacked on the gin yards, and at least 1,450 more bales estimated still in the fields.

This would bring Garza's 1965 crop estimate to 21,887 bales, and counting cotton ginned outside the county which won't show up until final figures out of Lubbock, the total probably will wind up around 23,000 bales or better.

Two of the seven gins—Storie and Basinger—couldn't be reached by phone at 8 a. m. Each reported pretty well cleaned up a week ago. Last week's figures were used for both.

Graham tops the Garza ginnings now with 4,086 bales after working round the clock all week in perfect weather. There are another 160 bales on the yard and possibly 600 more still in area fields.

Pleasant Valley reports 2,003 bales ginned, 10 on yard, and 100 in area. Hackberry Gin has ginned 7,455 Lynn and Garza cotton, or only 50 per cent—or 3,728 bales—is figured as Garza cotton. It has a clean yard and no more than 20 bales in the area.

Manter's Gin is still going about 100 bales daily with 2,360 bales stacked, 200 stacked on the yard and an estimated 400 more bales in its area. Manager Dick Schuch commented: "I don't know how they're getting it, but it's coming."

These City Gin is practically cleaned up with 3,870 bales ginned, yard clean, and no estimate of amount still in area, but believed very small.

A. C. COOKE

Cooke announces for county judge

A. C. Cooke, an attorney-at-law here for the last six years, today authorized The Post Dispatch to announce his candidacy for County Judge of Garza County, subject to the Democratic primary elections May 7 and June 4.

Mr. Cooke's statement to the voters follows:

"I made this same race four years ago, but am coming back now with four additional years of experience, new determination, and a lot more friends asking that I again seek election to the office."

"I not only want the office of County Judge—I need it."

"As to my qualifications for this important office, I wish to remind you that a man is required to have only 10 years experience in the practice of law to be qualified to serve on the Supreme Court of (See A. C. Cooke, page 5)

County salaries fixed for 1966

The Garza County Commissioners Court fixed salaries for county officials and employees for 1966 at its January meeting Monday, approving but two increases and these both were recommended by the state.

The county agent and the home demonstration agent will each receive $150 more annually. Travel expense for the HD agent also was boosted, but other state recommendations were not approved.

The court, faced with a virtual empty general fund, voted to borrow $40,000 immediately through the issuance of time warrants of the $75,000 which it proposes to borrow to get the general fund through 1966.

Pay rates for judges, assistant judges, and clerks of special and general elections for 1966 were set at $12, $10 and $8.

In another annual move, the court also fixed the terms for the Garza County court through 1966.

Post office here stays first class

The post office here will remain first class on the basis of postal receipts for 1965. Postmaster A. J. McAlister said today.

The postal receipts last year totaled $58,159, a drop of $763 from 1964 receipts of $58,921, the postmaster said.

The post office here became first class last year for the first time.

The postmaster also announced that the post office has discontinued the writing of money orders Saturday mornings, in keeping with the Post Office Department's directive to conserve man-hours.

Roy Teaff began duties at the post office Jan. 3 as a substitute carrier. Postmaster McAlister said. Roy Josey, a full-time mail carrier, has been off work for about four weeks because of a leg ailment. He recently underwent surgery in a Lubbock hospital and has been returned to his home here.

Our choice for 'Man of Year'

Post doesn't have any official "Man of the Year" awards nowadays as it formerly did when the Chamber of Commerce presented a plaque at its annual banquet in February to the one selected by an impartial committee.

So we here at The Dispatch figure it's an open field. This newspaper will name its own.

We do not take this approach lightly, just to give one individual a well-deserved slap on the proverbial back. Instead, we are naming ours to seriously call to this community's attention how well a very mean and thankless job has been accomplished.

Americans generally are "future prone" and do not spend any great amount of time looking back into the most recent history. Consequently, it would be very easy for us to push ahead into 1966 without a moment's thought as to who helped this community clear one of its highest hurdles of a busy decade and emphasizing the lessons we learned together in 1965.

Our editorial "Man of the Year" is Bill Shiver, our superintendent of schools, who combined a lot of Churchill's "blood, sweat and tears" with a very large amount of determination and integrity when he accepted the professional helm of Post's school system in a time of dark financial adversity early last year.

His accomplishments over these last 12 months—from this newspaper's close sideline advantage point—have been tremendous.

It was Bill's first superintendency. And if there ever was a meaner assignment, we are hard pressed to think of one.

The financial solution was not easy. The "climate" was to say the least foreboding. For week, his job virtually went around the clock and right on across innumerable weekends.

Bill knew he had to learn his job as he went along as well as accomplish all the hard financial things which had to be done. We could almost see his mind at work, saying every decision has to be right. There is no more room for a single mistake.

He not only had to help solve the district's pressing financial problems, but he had to see that an improved school system did not lose its thrust and that the professional staff did not lose its confidence in the administration.

On both these major fronts, he has been highly successful. Our school situation has stabilized.

Bill accepted the superintendency with no real thought that this was professional advancement. He took it because it was a tough job which had to be done and he was the only one available at that time and place to do it.

He didn't take any shortcuts. He and the board of school trustees tackled it all hand in hand.

This is not saying he did it alone. School trustees, as other groups faced with adversity, became welded together almost in an uncommon bond to see the situation through.

The board as individuals and as a group deserves equally high praise. They united and step by step, working together with their new superintendent, worked out of the problems. As the immediate financial problem was solved, safeguards were set up to see that it would never happen again.

Today our school system is a far more coordinated unit where the policy making joins the professional administration.

Those painful months must not be quickly forgotten. If we all keep them vividly in mind, our schools this year, next year, and in the years to come will be the better for it.

Bill Shiver brought to the schools' superintendency last year remarkably different credentials than do most school administrators. He had to learn the administering job as he went along. What he brought to the office was probably the best background in curriculum training of any superintendent in a Class AA school system, as least in this part of Texas.

No school system is ever clear of financial problems, and certainly the Post system today has not put all of those behind it by any means. As a representative for a tax evaluation firm told the county commissioners' court last week, about 75 per cent or more of Texas school systems last year had to raise taxes because of the burden of supporting their educational system in the face of dwindling amounts of tax dollars and the need for even more.

We will have more of such problems this spring, next spring—and the next.

But the intensity at least will not be as great nor the pressure as heavy as it was last spring. Post's school system today is now moving into the area of trying to adjust its need for quality education with all the sound financial practice and penny pinching it can muster.

We can't lose sight of the fact that the bigger the school system, usually the better quality education it offers to its students and its community.

We must hold our gains and through Bill Shiver's sound experience in curriculum move forward and not stand still. But we now all realize that we can accomplish this only as we can trim off all the frills and spend our school dollars only for solid classroom returns.

Our superintendent and our school trustees, working closer together than any board and administrator we have watched in our years of school board news coverage extending back over 25 years, face a new and different challenge in 1966.

Together, with the support of all of us, they must weld together rock-ribbed school economy with quality education, not losing sight of one for the benefit of the other.

It is the problem of the tight-rope facing all Texas school systems which aspire to something better. It is no easy problem. To help accomplish it, The Dispatch pledges as complete news coverage of school problems in 1966 as it is possible for this news staff to render.

To do your part, Dispatch readers, you must keep abreast of the problems as they appear and help develop "community consensus" in support as we move together down this new tight-rope.

All the tough decisions which the tight-rope involves for the 1966-67 school year must be made this spring together.—JC

THIS IS THE time of year when we are constantly being reminded of something, and I've noticed that it usually starts when you receive your income tax forms through the mail on or about the first of the year. That little reminder from the Internal Revenue Service helps set you to thinking about a number of other things—such as poll tax, auto inspection, new license plates, etc.

The man up the street says before criticizing your wife's faults, remember that it may have been those very defects which prevented her from catching a better husband.

THIS JANUARY more than likely will go down in the record books as the month when the fat was in the fire for the Post Antelope and Post Doe basketball teams, for by the time the month is over, we'll pretty well know whether Coach Will Bigott's boys and Coach Jiggs King's girls are going to win their district championships.

It all starts this Friday night when the Slaton Tigers and Tigerettes come to Post for district openers, and it'll be a big help to the home teams to have a big crowd of fans on hand. On Jan. 21, the Antelopes go to Morton for another conference game, then host the Denver City Mustangs on Jan. 25, before closing out the month at Frenship. After Friday night's Slaton contest, the Does have only one more district game this month, going to Frenship Jan. 28, since Morton and Denver City do not have girls' teams.

I'M STICKING with both Post teams for district championships, in spite of the fact that the Slaton and Denver City boys and Frenship girls have been setting the basketball woods on fire the last few weeks. I hope to see you at the Slaton games Friday night.

I'd always thought I'd like to have a notary public commission as a means of making a few extra half-dollars along, but not anymore—no after reading about Addie F. Miller, the postmaster at Russell Spring, Ky.

Postmaster Miller figures it has cost him about $17.50 to perform as a notary public for the past 39 years. He has paid $2 every four years to renew his license. That's a total of $18.

As for income, back in 1943, a man handed him 25 cents for legalizing some papers and that was his entire return until recently. Miller notarized papers for another man and was given a 15-cent package of chewing tobacco. Which brings Miller's income for 36 years to about 40 cents.

I'VE JUST READ that college professors can generally tell the status of a student by the answers he gives. But, read for yourself: Freshman: "I don't know." Sophomore: "I'm not prepared." Junior: "I don't remember." Senior: "I don't believe I can add anything constructive to what has already been said."

Do you know how many times a high school cheer leader claps her hands or jumps off the floor or how many cheers she leads? T. C. Anderson of Topeka, Kan., does. He missed seeing the basketball game between Lawrence and Hayden high schools recently, but is happy to report one cheerleader clapped her hands 2,672 times and jumped off the floor 303 times while leading 144 cheers.

Anderson was collecting material for a feature article for the Topeka State Journal.

Crane harvest extremely low LUBBOCK — West Texas sportsmen had approximately 290,000 sandhill cranes milling overhead all season long but bagged only 1,315 of the crafty birds, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

The gawky but running cranes, labeled by sportsmen as Texas' trickiest game bird target, tormented stalkers by staying out of range the 30-day season. Crane concentrations as high as 60,000 birds were reported in many West Texas areas. Sportsmen harvested a little more than one-half of one per cent of the total sandhill crane population. The 1964 combined bag was estimated at 1,249, slightly less than in 1963.

CANYON — Sportsmen participating in the third annual Palo Duro Canyon aoudad sheep hunt bagged 16 aoudad sheep during the three-day December hunt, according to Phil Evans, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologist. Eight rams and eight ewes were killed during the hunt. The largest ram weighed 225 pounds field-dressed.

In the first aoudad hunt in 1963, 42 permits (either sex) were issued and 38 were utilized. The combined bag of six rams and three ewes aggregated a 25 per cent success.

Sound Advice

Never use drugs left over from a serious illness for self-treatment of a similar ailment. You see, modern drugs are highly potent—that's why we dispense them only when your physician prescribes. If you dose yourself with leftovers, you may do serious damage. It's a good idea to pour the remains of old prescriptions down the drain and destroy the bottles.

Miss Ballentine becomes bride of Ray Crispin in church rites

Miss Judith Ballentine became the bride of Winfred Ray Crispin Sunday, Jan. 9, at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon in the chapel of the First Methodist Church.

Arrangements of white mums, palm leaves and white tapers were used throughout the chapel to enhance the scene as the Rev. Clarence Stephens, pastor of the church, read the double ring vows. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Ballentine and Mrs. Edith Crispin of Post and Mrs. Crispin of Kermit.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of brocaded peau de soie fashioned with an Empire bodice, A-line skirt, and long sleeves tapering to points over the wrist. Her veil was attached to a satin crown featuring pearls and sequins. She wore a string of pearls a gift from the maid of honor's mother, Mrs. Bill Orr, and carried a bouquet of white carnations atop white Bible.

Miss Melinda Carter, a student at West Texas State University, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Sherry McAfee of Lubbock and Miss Shirley Doggett. They wore street-length dresses of blue brocaded peau de soie, and wrist-length gloves. Their hats of matching fabric featured short veils. Each carried a single white mum with white satin streamers.

Tom Campbell served as best man. Mrs. Jimmy Baker, sister of the bride, lighted the candles.

Mrs. Mack Terry, sister of the bride, was organist, and accompanied Jack Ballentine of Lubbock, brother of the bride, as he sang, "Oh Promise Me" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Mrs. George Thomas Rogers of Dallas, sister of the bridegroom, registered the guests at the reception following in Fellowship Hall. The bride's chosen colors of blue and white were carried out in the scorchions.

For a short trip to Odessa the bride wore a winter white wool suit with black accessories.

The couple is at home at 310 1/2 Ave. S Both are graduates of St. High School and both are employed in Post. Mrs. Crispin attended Merriman's Business College in Lubbock.

Families and close friends of the couple attended the wedding, including out-of-town guests, Mr. and Mrs. Rogers and Rhonda of Ralls,

H. R. Crispin of Odessa, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ballentine and children of Lubbock, Alvin West of Glen Rose and the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Roy Crispin of Kermit.

Woman's Culture Club topic is on 'North Central States'

The "North Central States," sometimes known as the Great Plains States, was the study topic at the Jan. 5 meeting of the Woman's Culture Club in the home of Mrs. C. I. Dickinson with Mrs. Oscar Smith as co-hostess.

Mrs. Fred Byerly was program chairman and gave general information on this group of states located north of Ohio and west of the Mississippi River. Mrs. Byerly said that wheat, oats, tulips and flax flourish in these states; hogs, sheep and turkeys are the animal products, and they are also rich in mining, forests and manufacturing — especially that of automobiles and machinery.

Mrs. J. F. Storie was moderator of a panel discussion on the history, customs, and religion of the area. She explained how the history of these states was influenced by the Indians, French, English, and other nationalities represented there in the early days. "The War of 1812, French and Indian War, Civil War and Black Hawk War, all, in some way, touched upon the history of the Great Plains States," Mrs. Storie commented.

Mrs. C. R. Thaxton spoke on the customs and traditions and how they became a "melting pot" for the customs of the great northwest as we know it today. Mrs. J. H. Haire informed club members that the Roman Catholic denomination is the strongest in numbers, followed by Lutheran, Methodist and Episcopalian.

Members added interesting bits of information, and Mrs. R. L. Marks told of the background for the composing of patriotic songs. "The Star Spangled Banner," "America," and "Yankee Doodle."

During the business session, a nominating committee, composed of Mrs. D. C. Williams, Mrs. E. A. Warren and Mrs. Tillman Jones, was elected to select a slate of officers for the next club year for approval of the club at the first meeting in February.

Mrs. D. C. Williams, federation counselor, told of the workshop to be held in Plainview, Jan. 14. Several members plan to attend. The sewing project has been revived.

A reception will follow in the church parlor.

Chapter hears talk on art by Mrs. Robinson

Mrs. Juanice Robinson was guest speaker at the Monday night meeting of Mu Alpha chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority at the Community Room.

She spoke on the different types of art and explained what to look for when purchasing paintings: (1) Originality; (2) Investment purposes; (3) Personal enjoyment. As regards investments in art, Mrs. Robinson pointed out that it is wise to buy pictures at low prices of promising artists with the thought that they will increase in value as time passes.

Several paintings of local artists, including those of the speaker, Mrs. Johnnie Rogers and Mrs. N. C. Outlaw, were on display, as well as paintings by Mrs. Olivia Thompson of Lubbock.

Mrs. Robinson's talk followed the introduction of the program topic, "The Connoisseur," by Mrs. Glen Barley in which she gave a short history of pottery and china. Mrs. Jerry Conoly told what to look for in selecting china.

Mrs. Darrel York and Mrs. Pete Maddox were co-hostesses. Sandwiches and Cokes were served to the following:

A TRUE CONFESSION (Or How To Renew a Habit Without Trying)

Once upon a time, a year ago in September of 1964 to be exact, there was a female who blabbed it to the world in general via a newspaper column that she had stopped smoking.

She admitted that she had been a shrew for a week or so, especially since her family hadn't even noticed that she had given up a 20-year or more habit.

Well, things went beautifully for the first year and she wondered why people thought it was so hard to give up smoking, and made so much about it.

She refused to admit that one felt a bit better by not smoking, to dispel the ridiculous statements she had heard concerning food tasting better, waking up feeling more refreshed to meet the world, etc.

All went well with this person except for gaining about 15 pounds. This was one 'ridiculous' comment that seemed to have a bit of truth in it. It wasn't that the food tasted better, it was just that she was hungry all the time, she said.

About a year to the day that she stopped smoking she was invited to a wedding and reception of a daughter of a special friend, and it was such a happy occasion she decided to celebrate and have a cigarette.

This she did and she suffered no ill consequences. (Such as getting the habit.) But, this gave her a sense of superiority as to her ability to have an occasional cigarette, and this she smugly did.

Against the firm advice of a friend who had been through this, she continued to indulge.

Then one day, things got a bit hectic at the office when her "boss" was out of the office for a few days slightly incapacitated with a "bad back." If ever she needed a cigarette (or two, or three, or more) this was it, she said as she scurried about at a running pace.

This was the beginning of her downfall, and she did really fall down.

However, this person didn't feel like the lack of will power had anything to do with it. First, she blamed it on her friend's daughter for getting married; second, she blamed it on her husband; and third, she decided to blame it on the rest of the workers in her office as they all smoke, and temptation was always there.

But, and this surprised her no end, she found out that one does feel better if one does not smoke, food does taste better and getting up in the morning with phlegm in your throat does slow one down a bit.

She is now awaiting that psychological moment when she will wake up some morning and tell herself that she has had it and break the habit once again.

Why the confession? Because complete strangers come up to her in stores and accusingly say: "You're smoking again." So it is not something she can do and really enjoy because of having to hang her head in shame.

Having made my public confession, will you all please get off my back until I've convinced myself that I am stronger than a package of cigarettes, and we'll live happily ever after, I said as I took a drag from my cigarette, which was laying in a filled ash tray.

Recent bride is shower honoree

Mrs. Ray Crispin, the former Miss Judy Ballentine, was complimented with a bridal shower Friday night before her marriage Sunday afternoon.

The bride's chosen colors of blue and white were carried out at the serving table which was covered in white net. An arrangement of blue carnations and white chrysanthemums centered the table. Crystal and silver appointments were used to serve cookies, hot punch and coffee.

Mrs. Mack Terry, sisiter of the honoree, served.

Mull Over These Words of Whizdom

Many times we don't think about the words we use every day. Words can provide hours and hours of entertainment. The English language contains thousands and thousands of words that can provide much enjoyment if you will only think about them a little.

Here are a few questions for you to think about:
If athletes get athlete's foot, can astronauts get mistletoe?
Can a nervous frog give you worry warts?

What did Geronimo say when he parachuted out of an airplane?
If you hit the nail on the head, would it be the Taming of the Screw?

Do you turn your nose up at plastic surgery?
When a sheep punishes her lambs, is she lickin' her chops?

Capt. Blair, a former football and track star at Tahoka and West Texas State University, is also survived by two children and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Blair of Canyon.

Posters, reports made on Egypt

By Fritz Gerner

Mrs. Raphael's 6th grade social studies classes have recently completed a study of the African continent.

As a climax to the unit, travel posters and reports were made. Films and pictures showing recent excavations made in Egypt for the Aswan Dam, including the moving of the Temple of Rameses II at Abu Simbel, were shown, as well as other tourist attractions, including King Tut's tomb, the Pyramids, the Sphinx and artifacts in the museum at Cairo, Egypt.

Students used their imagination and designed travel posters to "interest" people visiting Egypt. One of the more original posters advertised the Sahara Desert — "Come play in our sand box—the Great Sahara." Others advertised attractions along the Blue Nile, the Pyramids, at Cheops, the statue of Rameses II and the varied artifacts in the Cairo museum.

Vandals use rocks and BB's to bust out bus windows

Rock and BB gun vandalism against school bus windows is proving expensive, School Supt. Bill Shiver said this week, in calling for public support in efforts to stop it.

He said that unknown rock throwers bombarded the small school bus, parked behind the gym, over the Christmas holidays breaking out five windows and a headlight.

The cost of replacing the glass will be $150 or more, he said.

Shiver also reported that apparently somebody has been using the windows of parked school buses for BB gun target practice.

A school bus body works repair man has reported to the superintendent that many of the cracked windows in the larger school buses have been caused by BB pellets and not normal wear and tear.

Shiver said such cracked windows will cost about $45 each to replace.

"We can't guard our buses," Shiver said. "The public must help us in preventing such vandalism by stepping in to stop it or reporting it to us when observed."

Sadler will run again for land commissioner

Veteran political campaigner Jerry Sadler said in Corpus Christi last week he will run this year for a fourth term as Texas land commissioner.

Sadler, a Texas legislator from Palestine from 1954 to 1960, was elected to the state land office in 1960 in an upset over incumbent Bill Allcorn in the Democratic primary.

Sadler also was elected railroad commissioner in 1938, and made unsuccessful races for governor in 1940 and 1946.

Instead of heating their swimming pools, Arizonans install equipment.

These qualities are essential to good citizens both presently and in adult life.

CONGRATULATIONS, DAISY SMITH! ARTHUR TORRES, 7th grade Citizen of the Month for January. Merits for Arthur are many. He arrives in class on time, listens attentively to instruction, enters into discussion groups, completes assignments, makes good grades, is polite and nice to his classmates and teachers.

Students of this type really understand that education is necessary!

JAN PETERS, 6th grade Citizen of the Month, seems to radiate cheerfulness and goodwill. She seems to thoroughly enjoy all aspects of school life. A frown is never seen on this citizen's face and a complaint is never heard from her.

Jan is a child who knows how to turn liabilities into assets. She works zealously and is a real joy to teachers with her rapt attention in class. All her work is done with care and precision. She is neat with her work as well as with her personal appearance.

Congratulations, Jan, for your achievements and for the inspiration you give others.

How to Make it From the Bus to the House With a Great Dane in the Way

By Jimmy Kemp

This can turn out to be a real chore, which you know if you have a pet Great Dane.

First, you cross your fingers as the school bus stops. Then you dash out of the bus and dodge from left to right.

If he is still going to catch you, grab the dog's nearest plaything and throw it. If he doesn't chase it, or there is nothing handy, you call your smaller dog to come play with him.

If this doesn't work, or you don't have a smaller dog, scream for help. If there is no one home, it's time to panic.

There isn't anything more dangerous than a playful Great Dane. When you cool off, talk gently to the dog and if he stops, run like your pants are on fire. If you don't make it, that's too bad for you.

This isn't necessary if the Great Dane isn't home.

taxes paid by the county.

A city referendum already is required although the mayor points out that city approval would mean no increase in taxes if oil revenues of the city are used over the next few years to pay back the city's $16,000 share.

The Dispatch feels the airport is an essential need to this area's future. Now that state and federal aid have been secured to the tune of $56,000 it would be penny-foolish indeed to turn our backs on the airport need and the $36,000 merely because the referendum route must be taken.

This community right now needs a shot in the brain of some positive thinking, and it needs a project which is good for this area future to rally behind and work together for accomplishment.

Certainly, there is no better project for positive thinking and action than the airport.

If we want an airport, we can have it without any boost in tax funds. All we have to do is pull together and work together. City and county referendums can be called and carried.

If we are willing to let $56,000 in state and federal airport funds go by default when an airport is a No. 1 essential to any future area growth, then the town and area is doomed to decay by default, by public inertia, and it is deserving of no better.

We are not talking about tax increases. We are simply talking about getting together and getting some action.

The First National Bank on page 8 today is announcing a boost in its interest rates paid on savings accounts and certificates of deposit. For the small saver the interest has been increased to four per cent, compounded semi-annually. On certificates of deposit with a $10,000 minimum and a one-year maturity the new rate is 4½ per cent, and on certificates of deposits with a $20,000 minimum and a two-year maturity the new rate is a full five per cent.

The local bank with its new rates is strictly competitive. No bank in the area is offering more. It's a solid and good, selfish reason to save at home where your money also can be put to local use helping farmers, merchants and everybody in the area. The bank paid $150,000 in interest on savings in 1965—and don't think that isn't a real help to this area's economy.

Postings today wants to welcome a new family to Post—the R. C. Bullocks, who have purchased the Rocket Motel and moved here from the Floydada area. Mr. and Mrs. Bullock will operate the 19-unit motel themselves. Moving here with them are their son, Robert, 12, and daughter, Jan, 14. Mr. Bullock told us that motel operations will be a new experience for them. He has farmed and ranched in Floyd County near Floydada since 1925.

He also told us that they had looked long, far, and wide at motels but decided Post was just the kind of a friendly town in which they would like to live. So let's make the Bullock family welcome and justify their faith in their new hometown. You'll note their announcement ad on their motel purchase on page 7 and their invitation to you to call them when "you need a spare room for visiting relatives or friends."

Texas, and since I have practiced law for more than 30 years, I feel I am well qualified to serve as your County Judge.

"I am one of those who believes that a man should be a lawyer before he is allowed to serve as county judge, and it isn't only because I myself am a lawyer that I believe this. Every day he serves, a county judge is called upon to make legal decisions that affect many citizens of the county."

"The present law that a man does not have to be a lawyer to be elected county judge in Texas dates back more than 100 years—back to the time when population was sparse and many counties did not have a lawyer within 100 miles of their county seat. Those times have changed, but this horse-and-buggy law remains the same."

"The increase of population and county business makes it practically imperative today that a county judge must be a lawyer to serve the people of the county as they should be served in this important office."

"If you see fit to elect me as County Judge, I promise to conduct the affairs of the office in such a manner that everyone who voted for me will be glad they did, and those who didn't vote for me will be glad I was elected. I won't be mad at anyone for not voting for me."

"My intentions are to see each and every voter between now and the election. In the meantime, I earnestly solicit your vote and influence."

The Post Antelopes and Doe's open their bids for District 4-A championships against the Slaton Tigers and Tigerettes here Friday night, with the girls' game scheduled to start at 6:30 p.m. to open the evening's action.

One of the largest crowds ever to attend a game in the local gymnasium is expected to be on hand for the contests, including a large delegation of Slaton fans.

Post's only setback this season has been at the hands of the Tigers, who scored a 55-52 win over the Antelopes in the championship game of the Idalou Tournament. The Tigers also have lost only one game, that to Crosbyton, who they defeated in a return match.

Jack Mason is the top scorer for Coach Tommy Lacey's Tigers, and gets big help from Orin Smith, John Henry, Johnson, Richard Washington and Victor Cristian.

Slaton is strong on the boards, with Smith and Johnson their top rebounders, and their out-rebounding of Post was mainly responsible for their win over the Antelopes at Idalou.

On the basis of comparative scores this season, Coach Jiggs King's Doe team rates an edge over the Slaton Tigerettes, who are defending district champions. Comparative scores usually count for little, however, when Post and Slaton tangle.

Jane Tefertiller, Peggy Kirksey and Deborah Scott are the starting forwards for the Tigerettes, and Vicki Roche, Nancy Lucero and Linda Guelker are the front-line guards.

With the exception of Jimmy Bartlett, who will be unable to play because of a football knee injury, the Antelopes will be at full strength for Friday night's game, Coach Will Bigott said.

Coach King said following Tuesday night's Wilson game that he feels his Doe team is "ready" both physically and mentally for their conference opener Friday night.

Both Post teams will have open dates Tuesday night, Jan. 18, because of mid-term examinations, but will resume action Friday night, Jan. 21, with the boys going to Morton for a district contest and the girls playing a non-conference game at Tahoka.

Jay Bird's calf was the only one sold at the show. The other calves shown at Odessa will be taken to Fort Worth the end of this month for the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show.

Adults accompanying the 4-H members to Odessa were Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Bird, Mr. and Mrs. Wagoner Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Syd Conner.

Chancellor of Corpus Christi, a former Post resident, was pinned in the cab for two hours, with winch trucks being used to extricate him from the wreckage. —(Snyder Daily News photo)

First accidents of year occur

City police investigated two minor traffic accidents Wednesday of last week, the first of the new year.

A Reoto, Calif., driver was given a ticket for leaving the scene of an accident after his automobile struck John Nichols' parked auto on West Main Street. Only minor damage resulted from the accident, according to the police report.

Two cars collided on East Main Street at 12:22 p. m. as they were being backed out by their drivers, one from the curb and one from the center of the street. Drivers of the automobiles were Mrs. Riley Miller and Mrs. Della G. Johnson of Clairmont.

Mrs. Johnson's automobile was damaged an estimated $85, according to the police report.

ATTENDS FUNERAL

Mrs. W. C. Kiker attended funeral services for Mrs. H. P. Bishop Monday morning at the Monterey Baptist Church in Lubbock. Mrs. Bishop was the mother of the Rev. Shelby Bishop, former pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church.

It's the Law...

MOVIES IN THE COURTROOM

The jurors were duly impressed when the attractive young plaintiff described the leg injuries she had suffered in an auto accident. She was so crippled, she said, that she was forced to wear low heeled shoes at all times.

In short order, the opposing attorney called for the courtroom to be darkened for a movie. Taken secretly, the movie neatly punctuated the plaintiff's claim by showing her arriving at a party—wearing extra-high heels.

Courtroom movies have found their greatest use in deflating injury claims that are either false or exaggerated. However, they have also proved useful in establishing claims that are valid—for instance, by clarifying the conditions that led to an accident, or by demonstrating the effects of an injury.

In fact, movies are so revealing that, though offered by one side of a lawsuit, they may aid the other side even more.

For example, in disputing the claim of an injured boy, the defense showed movies of him playing baseball to demonstrate that he was still able to take part in sports. But the movies also showed, more poignantly than words, the handicaps he did suffer in chasing fly balls and running bases.

Of course, the law's concern is not which side is helped but whether justice is served. There is real danger in the very fact that movies are so persuasive, for they may influence a jury beyond fair limits.

With that danger in mind, the law insists on careful conformity to the rules of evidence. Authenticity and accuracy of the films must be proven. Relevancy to the issues must be established. The trial judge may, at his discretion, rule out films that don't meet these tests.

In one case, a film of a stretch of highway was offered to show that the injured pedestrian should have been able to see the oncoming car.

However, it turned out that the picture was made in the winter, when intervening trees were bare of foliage. Since the accident happened in the summertime, when the trees were in full bloom, the film was excluded by the judge.

But with legal safeguards, movies have an important role to play in the courtroom. Like many other scientific developments, they open new paths in the law's search for truth.

Former coach and wife visit area

By MRS. EDMUND WILKE
Hello to each of you. Another week has gone by, and let me tell you this, it was a very hectic week for me. I just hope that this one is going to be a lot better, and I am sure that it will be. I have kinda been on the puny list, and when we don't feel well, things just don't look very bright, do they?
Mr. and Mrs. Tom Buchanan of Canyon ate dinner with the Jack Hargroves recently. I haven't seen Tom and Ann in a year and I would have liked to have seen them. Tom was our coach here for a couple of years and we liked him very much.
Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Gary of Lubbock also visited the Jack Hargroves recently.
Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Stolle of Corpus Christi visited in this community and at Wilson with relatives from Monday until Wednesday of last week. They took her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Steinhauer of Wilson, back to Corpus Christi with them for a visit.
Mrs. Pauline Siewert fell a week ago last Sunday and broke her arm as she was leaving the house for church. We wish for her a speedy recovery.
Mr. and Mrs. Arno Albrecht of Corpus Christi visited the L. o.

Stolles recently. Other guests of the Stolles were Mr. and Mrs. Winifred Hallman and children of Lubbock and their daughter, Mrs. Kendall Holcomb and baby of Odessa.
Mrs. Arthur Stolle underwent major surgery at Slaton Mercy Hospital Saturday morning. May God grant her a speedy recovery.
We would like to extend our deepest sympathies to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wartes and family as his mother died and was buried Sunday.
Cpl. and Mrs. James Dupless-chain and twin sons of Camp Pendleton, Calif., visited her aunt, Mrs. Nellie Mathis, last Thursday after spending the night in Slaton Wednesday with the Walter Kel-lums.
We would like to extend our sincere sympathy to Mrs. Lena Lieske and her family. Her sister, a Mrs. Anderson of San Angelo, passed away Saturday and funeral services were held here at the Southland Cemetery Monday.
MR. AND MRS. Cecil Cummings of Buchanan Lake visited Mr. and Mrs. Ed Cummings last week. Cecil used to be a barber at Post and he retired and they moved to the lake. Mrs. Cummings said they just love it there. They said the fishing was real good right now. So how's about it—let's all get our fishing poles out of moth balls and go down and do a little fishing. Wouldn't that be nice?
Speaking of fishing, I talked to the Clark Bartons this afternoon and they were talking about going fishing pretty soon. At least they were wanting to go, and goodness sakes, I hope they get to. Wish I could go with them!
Mrs. Lucille Myers called this morning and it was so good to talk to her once again. She has more or less been out of circulation since Ned had his terrible truck accident. She said he is getting along pretty good now, but still has a long way to go. He was able to go to church Sunday. Their plans now are that Ned and family will move to Southland while he is recuperating.
The Jack Myers had all their family home Sunday. Also visiting were Mr. and Mrs. Alex Fry of Spur.
Mrs. Irby Boyd, Mrs. Ronnie Ragland and Mrs. Jack Myers honored Mrs. Sharon Ragland with a bridal luncheon Saturday at Youngblood's at Lubbock. Twenty-one guests attended.
Mr. and Mrs. Dee Hodges went to Anson Sunday to visit Carolyn Sue's father, Tom Kasinger.
Mrs. Herbert Dunn and Dayneen, Mrs. Earl Lancaster, Mrs. Jack Hargrove and Mrs. Weldon Callaway attended a bridal shower for Miss Wynanza Windham, bride-elect of Robert Mock and also visited the Hub Haires in their new home.
Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hargrove and family went to Crosbyton last Tuesday to visit Mrs. Lillie Hargrove and the Leslie and Joe Hargrove families.
Joe Neil Hargrove left Sunday for his home in Los Angeles, Calif. after a three week visit. I know that Jack and Jean are sure going to miss him.
The Bill Pendergrass family of Brownfield visited with Pastor and Mrs. Tommy Wilson Sunday and attended services before going on to Lubbock to attend a birthday party for their granddaughter.
The Winston Lester family will be leaving for their new home Friday.
Dahonna Winterrowd, a freshman at South Plains College at Levelland, spent the weekend at home with her parents, the Paul Winterrowds.
SAY, HAVE you heard about the fantastic score that our high school boys made in their basketball game at New Deal Friday night. They made 100 points! How about that? I didn't get to go to the game but Edmund, Sherri and Darrell came home on cloud nine. It has been a long time since this school made a score like that. Several boys got banged up a bit! David Dabbs had to have four stitches over one eye and I think there were a few scraped knees and sore ribs. The girls didn't do as well, they lost their game. Last Tuesday they both won games at Wilson. Our Junior High boys and girls will be playing in a tournament at Roosevelt the last of the week. Good luck.
Hope to be around with more news next week. Please call me your news. 996-3423.
