Marion Talley To Sing Again, But Not In Grand Opera; Golden Voice To Charm Kiddies And Aged; Goes To Farm

(By NEA Service) CLEVELAND, O., May 9.—Marion Talley hopes to sing again—not before gala crowds of the grand opera, but to aged people and little children who will not have to pay toll to hear her $500,000 soprano voice.

The retiring prima donna and potential farmette confided this desire while here to sing her swan song with the Metropolitan Opera Company.

"When I say I have retired from grand opera, I mean it," she declared. "When I sing again it will be gratis—for the feeble and the children who would not be able to hear me if they had to pay to come in. However, before I can do this, I must fulfill a recording contract which has two more years to run."

"I like freedom, freedom to live where I please and how. Since I made my debut with the Metropolitan, I have had everything I wanted except a farm on which to live. I've dreamed of that farm for years and now my dream is coming true."

Would Adopt Children Marion wants to adopt two blue-eyed, curly-headed little girls and raise them on her dream farm. "But mother objects strenuously," the singer said, "so I guess I'll have to postpone fulfillment of that desire a while. I hope to have them some day."

Riches, success, thundering applause of the opera-goers and volumes of publicity have failed to change this pretty Kansas City girl, who retired from her career at 22. She is still as unsophisticated, as much herself, as the night she made her debut, at 19, the youngest prima donna since 1859, when Adelina Patti sang Lucia.

Never Had Sweetheart Marion Talley never had a sweetheart. And doesn't want one. She doesn't like expensive clothes nor social functions.

Usually she goes to bed at 10 p. m. and arises between 5 and 6 a. m. She never played with dolls or toys when she was a little girl and now she doesn't have time for the dances, parties and amusements of grownups.

She has made a fortune estimated at close to a half million dollars, but she lives comfortably rather than extravagantly.

As she sat in her hotel suite, looking prettier, better dressed, more poised than ever, Miss Talley contemplated her future.

"I can't seem to make people understand that the only reason I'm retiring is that I prefer to live on a farm. I've enjoyed my career. I've had everything I wanted except freedom to live on a farm. And that's where I'll be happiest."

There'll be no model farms, no make believe farming for the Talleys.

Will Boss Her Farm "We plan to live on the farm 12 months a year. I will superintend operation of the farm, but will hire help to do the actual work. The farm will be 160 acres, maybe more."

Marion's mother, father and sister, Florence, are going to live on the farm. They have been planning this together.

And when the golden-throated songbirds of the Metropolitan sing the aria of the opera next season, the "baby prima donna" will be hidden away in her little farm, where she will have separated her love for stinging from that which we call a career.

NOT HAVING TO CREAM

THE SHORTENING:

You don't mind half so much how fast a cake goes... when it's so easy to make as it is with Snowdrift.

As easy to make as this Marble Cake, for instance—

MARBLE CAKE

6 Tablespoons Snowdrift - 3 Eggs
1/2 Cup Sugar - 1/2 Teaspoon Cinnamon
1/2 Teaspoon Cloves - 1/2 Teaspoon Mace
1/2 Teaspoon Salt - 1 1/4 Cups Flour
1 Teaspoon Desired Extract
2 1/2 Teaspoons Baking Powder
1/2 Cup Milk

Stir the Snowdrift and gradually work in the sugar, the eggs well beaten, and the extract. Sift together all dry ingredients, except the spices, add them alternately with the milk to the first mixture, and beat well. Take out one-half of the mixture and add spices to it. Then put the plain and the spiced batter into the greased cake pan in alternating tablespoonfuls and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for forty-five minutes.

Easy, because Snowdrift is already creamed for you... before we pack it in the air-tight cans. Just a few sirs of your spoon, you know, serve to mix it thoroughly with sugar or flour.

Cabinet Action Is Expected On Terms Which Young Gave

Official Statement Looked For From British Regarding Reparations; Subject Dominates Papers

LONDON, May 9.—Cabinet action some sort, probably in an official statement on the floor of the house of Commons, appeared today as the probable result of Hubbio which terms of Owen D. Young's project reparations settlement have been made.

Although official circles have not complete silence hitherto on the entire reparations question, the labor members demanded an explanation of events at Paris, believed to portend a definite government answer.

Editorials Give View The subject dominated the morning newspapers, mostly of which editorial emphasis was given to the fact that Great Britain could not accept a revision of the debt settlement agreed upon at Spa after the World War. On the basis of their overnight dispatches however, some of the papers commented a settlement might be reached after all.

While recognizing that the American delegates to the Paris conference were not appointees of the Washington government some papers argued that the real solution of the difficulty lay with the United States. The Liberal Daily News said: "The main fact is no permanent settlement is possible until the United States reverses its present attitude the sooner or later will have to do so for the alternative is complete chaos."

Assistance was given last year by the British Government to 27,523 persons who wished to leave the British Isles for British North America.

Matadors Drop Fourth Straight As Saints Cop, 3 To 2

St. Louis Browns Go Down, 7 To 3, As Yankees Take Seventh Game In Row

Red Moore Holds St. Edwards Crew To Three Bingles

Breaks Of Game Favor Texas Conference Nine; Tech To Start Series With Hill Billies Today

(Special To The Avalanche) AUSTIN, May 9.—Texas Tech dropped the fourth straight game of its road trip when St. Edwards University defeated the Matadors here today 3 to 2. Red Moore, right handed hurler, pitched wonderful ball, and only allowed the Saints three scattered hits, but breaks went against him, only two balls were hit out of the infield off him by the locals, but one of these accounted for the winning run.

The Matadors had men on bases every inning and looked like Higginbotham's men were going to defeat the Austin boys until a downpour started in the eighth inning and in 5 minutes the diamond was covered with water.

Moore missed a wonderful opportunity to score in the second inning, when Scott over-threw first base. Scott was wild and filled the bases with one out. Moore hit one back at Scott and he knocked it down and threw Taylor out at home. Rigney flew out to short stop.

Taylor was responsible for Tech's first run. Brothers went to second when Scott over-threw first base. In the third, Dewitt flew out to right and Brothers went to third on Marshall's infield out. Taylor singled to right, scoring Brothers.

A double play saved the Saints in the fourth. Burnett and Moore singled after one was out. Rigney walked, filling the bases. Brothers' line drive was straight into Burger's hands, and he doubled Burnett off third.

The Saints got two runs on one hit in their half of the fourth. W. James beat out a bunt, and went to second on Moore's over-throw at first. Jensen walked. J. James tried a squeeze play, but W. James was cut off at the plate. Jensen going to third. Jensen scored on Loran's infield out and J. James scored on Peterson's low throw to first base.

The Saints scored their winning run in the seventh. Loran was hit by a pitched ball, and went to second on an infield out by Scott, after Bomba had popped out to Moore. Rivas scored Loran on a single to center.

The Matadors' second run came in the sixth. Waller walked and went to second when the fourth ball got away from Bomba. Burnett sacrificed Waller to third and Moore scored him on his second hit of the game, a single to right.

Brothers lead off in the seventh with a single to left field and stole second. Dewitt flew out to center. He went to third when St. Ed's infield left the base uncovered on Marshall's pop fly. Taylor walked but Peterson forced Taylor at second.

Coch Higginsbotham said he would probably start Hill against Daniel Baker tomorrow.

The difficulties left behind by the reorganization were reported by the board, the report said, but that because of the difficulties the members were willing to accept any action the convention may take.

Plays Dominoes Moody's Only Game Is Old Fashioned

AUSTIN, May 9 (AP)—Gov. Dan Moody, after nearly three years in the executive mansion, has not lost his penchant for dominoes.

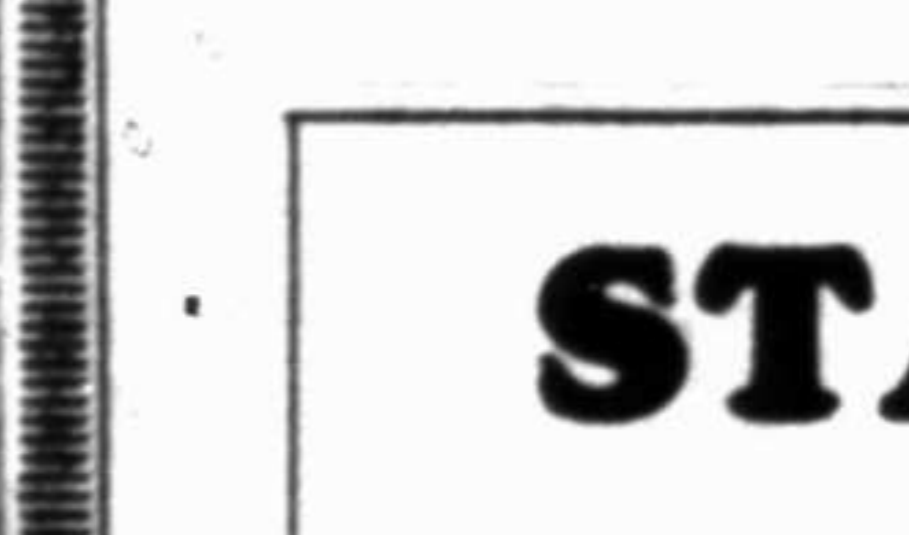

As a country boy-lawyer in Williamson county he whiled away his spare time with his associates shuffling the rocks. As governor he never gets too busy for a domino game and invites his cronies to the executive mansion two or three nights a week for a contest.

Occasionally he drifts into the House of Representatives and takes a hand at the press table with some of the legislators while the law-making machinery is idle.

He does not play bridge and admits he would not know which end of a putter to use. He confesses, also, that he would like to take a bicycle ride occasionally.

Administration Is Worried Over Vote

Democratic-Republican Upset Of First Test Of Farm Bill May Interfere With Writing Tariff Bill

By FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON Associated Press Staff Writer WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—Senate administration leaders were wondering today whether the democratic-republican independent combination which yesterday upset the apparently stalwart republican majority in the first test of strength on the farm bill would stand together and write the tariff measure.

Despite a margin of 18 votes on paper, the forces of Herbert Hoover in the Senate were shy three votes yesterday on the export debenture roll call which the President and party leaders had made an administration issue.

The vote was one of the largest recorded in Senate history, only four of the 95 members not answering to the roll call. Of the four not voting, all were on record, however. The line-up showed 13 republicans, all but four of the 39 democrats, and the lone farmer-labor senator standing together for a majority.

No Condition Seen Both democratic and republican independent leaders declared today the farm relief vote yesterday did not represent a coalition but that it was merely voluntary combination in which the republican insurgents voted their "convictions" and the democrats did likewise.

There was no understanding whatever," said Senator Norris, of Nebraska, one of the republican independent leaders. "The republicans who voted for the export debenture were merely voting their convictions."

Norris said it was too early to look ahead to the tariff. Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the democratic leader, said his party was working independently in its preparation for the tariff contest.

Republican leaders are already beginning to look ahead to reshaping their ranks, but it is admitted that the intensity of the export debenture contest may leave some wounds which cannot be quickly healed.

I am so happy

that the last pimple is gone

EVERY evening thousands enjoy themselves at dinner-parties, dances, theatres, games, clubs. Many thousands more are denied the joy of such merriment and happiness.

Maybe this denial is due to a skin trouble. First impressions cannot be good without a clear skin—first impressions are a quickly made and are not soon forgotten. Old friends may excuse pimples and secretly sympathize, but new acquaintances may not be so charitable. Skin blemishes are not inviting. Neither can they be covered up. They embarrass. Hold people back. Steal away joy and happiness.

A lovely-clear skin—is within the reach of all. To those who have lost it, hope is offered. You, too, may have a beautiful skin, rose-petal in texture, pretty as a picture and without a single pimple.

Many thousands have regained their strength and charm by taking S.S.S. It is Nature's own blood tonic for raising the body's power of resistance to disease, improving the appetite, building firm flesh, and clearing the skin.

S.S.S. is made from fresh vegetable drugs and has a successful record of over 100 years back of it.

ANOTHER CRYING NEED LUBBOCK county and the Plains, generally are turning more attention to this highly profitable business of dairying.

Dairying is a boon to this section. There is no doubt but that it is rapidly forming one of the foundation stones upon which is being built a great agricultural structure on this vast domain of ours.

While dairying has made, and is continuing to make vast strides forward we must not forget to look to the future. What are we going to do for marketing facilities? What are we going to do to create a demand for raw milk—a demand which will increase apace with the activities of dairying in our territory?

As the situation now stands, the raw milk demand in Lubbock and the surrounding territory is well nigh met, and in dairying, raw milk demand is the keynote of success in the industry.

More consumption of raw milk is another crying need of this section.

PROBLEM OF THE JOBLESS The American Statistical Association wants the census bureau in the 1930 census to include in its enumeration exhaustive data on unemployment.

Authentic data on the extent of unemployment over the United States as a whole, in cities, states and rural districts and in each industry can become available for the first time if the 1930 census incorporates this recommendation.

Distressful unemployment conditions were exposed to public attention last fall by former Governor Smith and so forcefully that Mr. Hoover felt constrained to promise he would concern himself with the problem if elected.

There has been much talk in recent years of relief for the jobless, but little of a substantial nature has been done. The facts are that little is known about unemployment.

Census information would furnish a basis on which future programs for relief of unemployment could be based. The starting point for any systematic study in this field must be accurate statistics, which can only be obtained through the census enumeration.

PUBLIC PAYS FOR THE VOTES The Hoover press makes much ado about what it terms early samples of what may be expected from the Hoover administration in the way of economy.

These miniature manifestations of thrift were proclaimed by Republican newspapers with all the fluff and flare of a Roman holiday.

Yessir, Mr. Hoover is heart and soul bent on saving the taxpayers money. He is a fiend for fishing, but thinks yachting the bunk, so the Mayflower was put out of commission.

Soon after entering the white house the president noticed some men in the braid of the army and navy decorating the president's palace by their presence rather than by their labors.

These are the best samples yet produced of Hoover's economy. Here is a sample of what may be expected of him in the opposite direction.

With all the seriousness and solemnity of a sage he announces that in as much as he promised in his campaign farm relief for the farm vote, Boulder Dam for the South-west vote, flood control for the Mississippi valley vote and cruiser construction for the coast vote the nation at large must forego tax reduction.

When it covered up the masculine calf or absence of calf the French revolution took much of the ugliness out of life.

HAUGEN DECLARES FARMERS MUST CO-OPERATE BY CHARLES F. STEWART

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon, lent his name to the McNary-Haugen plan of farm relief, even as Representative Gilbert N. Haugen of Iowa, gave his.

Yes, in McNary's case it was a "loan" in Haugen's a "gift." The plan never was more than a hand-child to Chairman McNary of the senate committee on agriculture. It was his own beloved offspring to Chairman Haugen of the equivalent committee in the house of representatives.

After President Coolidge had vetoed the McNary-Haugen farm relief measure through its vitals the second time and the new administration folk had introduced the "Hoover plan" in congress in its place, Senator McNary immediately waxed as enthusiastic over it as he had been for its predecessor.

Representative Haugen mourns for the lost relief scheme. He has his very evident doubts concerning the "Hoover plan's" promise for a satisfactory future, and I'm darned if I don't believe he has hopes of resurrecting the original McNary-Haugen proposition yet—though certainly not with the Oregon senator's monicker attached to it again, after the way he has played horse with it of late.

To explain the defunct—or at least dormant—McNary-Haugen and the present Hoover farm relief bill in any detail would take two large volumes, even if I understood them very well myself.

However, in substance—The McNary-Haugen plan's mainpring was the "equalization fee," designed to force American farmers into a system of co-operative marketing through the government, in a fashion to insure them the benefits supposed to accrue under a high protective tariff—but a tariff applied, for this particular purpose, with a kind of reverse English, because farmers are exporters and a straight protective tariff can not possibly do them any good.

The Hoover plan knocks out the compulsory co-operation feature but it does assume that farmers will co-operate voluntarily; it provides what is known as a "revolving fund" of half a billion dollars to finance them in doing so; it also creates a farm board, to be appointed by the president, to manage the "revolving fund" and boss the job of marketing and to do pretty much anything else under heaven it sees fit—no board ever was heard of before with such almost unlimited powers as this one is to possess.

First I tried to see Senator McNary for the sake of a comparison between the merits of the old plan and the new one but Senator McNary was otherwise engaged.

He had just been making a speech in the senate describing how ideal the Hoover idea is and why McNary-Haugenism never could have given the desired results even if President Coolidge had not vetoed it twice, and Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, was trying to get him to explain why he had told it precisely the other way when boosting for the McNary-Haugen plan.

It was obvious that this debate would take the Oregonian some time; so I sought out Representative Haugen.

The representative is an interesting old Iowa in himself—a fine, white-haired, weathered veteran of the prairie, but turned 70 a few days ago. He has also served longer in congress than any other representative but one—Representative Henry Allen Cooper of Wisconsin. And Representative Cooper has had a break in his succession of terms: Representative Haugen not one—30 years straight-away.

He is a loyal soul. As a party regular, he voted for the Hoover plan.

And "I am sure the president will give us a good board," he said. "It will have ample power. It ought to be able to solve the problem—"

A long pause. "If it can get the farmers to co-operate," The McNary-Haugen bill furnished a plan which guaranteed co-operation.

"It will pay our farmers to co-operate voluntarily. They ought to do it. If most of them co-operate and only a few stay out, it will be all right. But in only a few co-operate most of them simply take advantage of the higher co-operative prices, but sell independently—"

"Well, that leaves all the expenses of the co-operative machinery on the few co-operatives, the revolving fund will be wiped out directly, and—"

The representative shrugged. "You would hardly," I suggested, "have devoted years to the 'equalization fee' if you had thought some other plan would work just as well?"

"Oh, this will work," rejoined the congressman, "depending on the president, the board—and the farmers. If not, we shall hear more about it after the next crop."

"Take this speech of mine with you," he added as I started to leave. "It contains some figures that may interest you.

He handed it to me, neatly sealed, in an official envelope. "Doubtless a eulogy of the Hoover form of farm aid," I thought, as I slit it open, outside. It was a speech delivered in 1926—in red hot advocacy of the McNary-Haugen plan.

WEDDING RINGS ARE FINE THINGS BUT THEY DON'T CURE STYES BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEN

Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

In many parts of Great Britain it is commonly believed that a sty can be cured by rubbing it with a tomcat's tail. In many other places the belief that a sty can be cured by a gold ring is common.

RICH GIRL - POOR GIRL BY RUTH DEWEY GROVES

THIS HAS HAPPENED MILDRED LAWRENCE, stenographer at the Judson Hotel, has her fur stolen from her in a crowd but STEPHEN ARMITAGE catches the thief and returns the scarf.

His evening is spoiled when PAMELA JUDSON, daughter of her employer, phones Mildred to return to duty. Stephen escorts her to the hotel where Pamela recognizes her as the salesman who had sold her a make him jealous by accepting Huck's ever-ready attentions.

With Harold he had made all the progress he needed, but with Pamela he had been getting practically nowhere until she decided to use him to inflame Stephen.

But it was neither Pamela nor any jealousy of Huck that prevented Stephen from keeping his date with Mildred. At the last minute a "hot prospect" had loomed up on his business horizon and he dared not let go," as he explained to her.

Mildred was as cheerful about it as she could be under the circumstances. Stephen himself was terribly disappointed, especially as he was unable to suggest that they make it the next day instead. He'd promised to play golf with Pamela Judson on Sunday.

"Why don't you call up Harold and make a date with him?" Connie asked. "I'll bet nothing would stand in his way."

"Perhaps not," Mildred agreed; "but he and Stephen are different in that respect. Stephen can't afford to do as he pleases."

"Well, better half a man than no joy ride at all," Connie chirped. "Go on, call him up. Want me to do it for you?"

"No, you've been in school all week, and you've been a good kid. I'll stay in and you can get some tennis."

Connie considered. "Well, if you'll promise to go out tomorrow. Now where in... time... do you suppose my racket is?"

"It's up in mother's closet. I found it there the other day when I was cleaning."

Connie went for it. Soon she was back sitting her bad luck. The old cat's last tie with earth has parted," she said dolefully, holding up the racket to show Mildred the snapped strings.

"That's too bad," Mildred sympathized. "I'm afraid you can't have a new one, Connie."

"I'll get one of the boys at school to fix it," Connie said, "but since I can't play today, why don't you go ahead and call Harold? You can save the day yet and that will give me time to fix myself up for tomorrow."

Mildred shook her head, but later when she was putting the sandwiches in the refrigerator, it came to her that she might as well see Harold if she could and have the talk that her mother's accident had put off.

She reached him at the hotel just as he was leaving for Westchester. He was a tickle pink," he said, to stop for her.

guess who is at the bottom of this... She paused and Harold flashed her a quick, uneasy glance.

"That it is Huck Connor," she went on steadily, "you would tell me more."

Harold paled even beneath his unhalcyon pallor. He started two or three times to speak and each time stopped himself. Finally, "Well," he admitted, "I am worried about Huck. He—he's paying too much attention to Pamela."

"Oh," Mildred breathed easier. She believed that Pamela was better able to take care of herself than her young brother was.

"This past week," Harold went on, "you've been away from the hotel, of course, else you'd have known about it. They've been everywhere together. And I can't bear to see Pamela with him. She's a little fool, selfish and hard as nails, but I think a lot of her, Mildred."

"Can't you stop it? Can't you call your father?"

"No, I don't dare. I mean... He stopped in confusion, and Mildred saw that haunted look of dead, grey again in his eyes. Then he turned upon her, almost in anger. "See what your meddling has done?" he cried. "Let it alone, will you? I tell you I can't talk. I can't interfere."

Mildred looked at him as though he had turned into an utter stranger before her eyes.

"Pam would... make me pay for it," he said lamely and Mildred knew that he lied.

She felt so sorry for him her heart ached. Don't worry so much," she said haltingly. "Pamela can look after herself."

"You don't know Huck Connor," Harold replied and his hands at the steering wheel showed white as bones at the knuckles. Mildred could guess that he gripped it so to still their trembling.

She changed the subject, then, tried to take his mind off Huck and Pamela. Something must be done for him, though, she would think it over until Monday. Then, if she thought best, she would go to Mr. Dazel.

But by Monday she was uncertain as to the best course to follow. Harold had called her a meddler. She didn't like that. Perhaps she would only make things harder for him if she asked someone else to interfere.

"She came to work still undecided and wondering if there was the slightest possibility that a talk with Huck Connor would do any good. She doubted it. Pamela would get to hear about it, too, and Mildred knew what interference with Pamela's affairs would lead to. Besides, it was not altogether on his sister's account that Harold was worried.

She stopped in confusion, and Mildred saw that haunted look of dead, grey again in his eyes. Then he turned upon her, almost in anger. "See what your meddling has done?" he cried. "Let it alone, will you? I tell you I can't talk. I can't interfere."

Credit Impasse Breaks On Stock Market Thursday

NEW YORK, May 9. (AP) — The credit impasse under which the stock exchange had been laboring all this week broke today with call money dropping from 14 per cent to 10, but nervousness over the federal reserve directors meeting after the close prevented any substantial recovery, and most important issues were 1 to 3 points lower at the close.

Party Investigated

Youth Dies As Result Of Police Shooting

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., May 9. (AP) — The story of an alleged drinking party last Sunday night was being pieced together today by police investigating the death of J. W. Kendrick, 17, Emory and Henry college student, shot when, it is claimed, police fired on an automobile in which Kendrick and two other students were riding.

Wasn't Able To Do Her Houswork

Takes Orgatone And Now Feels Like A New Person — Can Do Her Own Houswork

The remarkable merits being obtained by the use of Orgatone is further evidenced in the case of Mrs. Alice Welch, of 1616 Ninth Street, Lubbock, Texas, who in recently telling the story of her recovery from a serious complication of trouble, said:

"A little over two years ago I began having trouble with my stomach and would get so tired and fagged out, I couldn't get through with my housework, without having to stop and lie down to rest. Everything I ate, disagreed with me, and what I did eat would lie in my stomach undigested and formed gas and my heart would palpitate like it would jump out of my body. I had liver trouble, too, and had severe pains in my back and side, and I felt tired and sluggish and the least excitement would upset me. I was badly constipated and was so nervous I could hardly sleep and many a time I lay awake all night long suffering and worrying about my condition. I was getting so pale and thin, all of my neighbors, was noticing it. I was tired and worried all the time and never felt like doing a thing and was just losing interest in everything.

"Orgatone had helped so many local people I decided to try it, and I honestly, feel like a new person, and can do all my housework without the slightest trouble. I noticed an improvement right after I began taking it. I eat anything I want, and have been relieved of that burning sensation in my stomach, gas has stopped forming and the pressure has been relieved so my heart does not palpitate as it did. My nerves are quiet and my sleep is delightfully refreshing. I am so much better and stronger that I can do all my housework, without getting tired and fagged out, and don't have to stop and rest as I did. I am now convinced all my troubles was caused from a disordered stomach, and Orgatone has done me more good than anything I have ever taken and my relief is due to nothing else but this great medicine—Orgatone."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific treatment containing no alcohol or other false stimulating drugs and is sold in Lubbock exclusively by the Bowers Drug Store, under the personal direction of a special Orgatone representative. Out of town customers are being supplied by mail upon receipt of $1.25 for one bottle or $6.25 for six bottles. Adv.

News Conflicts Cause Cotton To Stagger Slightly

NEW YORK, May 9. (AP) — Conflicting features in the news were reflected by rather nervous and irregular fluctuations in cotton today. Early declines were followed by rallies, but the market eased again in late trading with July selling off from 18.67 to 18.46 under liquidation and western selling prompted by prospects for clearing weather in the western belt and weakness in the grain market.

Texas Livestock Has Fair Supply

FORT WORTH, May 9. (AP) — A fair supply of cattle was on hand here today but stockers made up a good portion of the supply. Steers formed a majority of the cars in the classes of cattle available for slaughter purposes. All classes of cattle showed steady to declining prices.

West Texas Rains Have Influence On Cotton In Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, May 9. (AP) — Early declines were followed by moderate rallies in the cotton market today due to failure of reported rains in drought sections of the belt to be confirmed. Prices worked lower again, however, on favorable noon weather reports and unfavorable reparations news. July contracts after advancing from 18.42 to 18.63 eased off again and closed at 18.51, or 6 points net lower.

West Texas Rains Lacked Official Confirmation

As the West Texas rains lacked official confirmation, early sellers covered and there was more or less trade buying on official reports of rather too much rain elsewhere in the belt. On the subsequent advance July sold up to 18.63, October 18.59 and December 18.70, or 17 21 points above the lows and 3 to 6 points above yesterday's close.

Report Of Labor Need Here False

An impression indicated by several applicants that the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce had advertised in a Texas daily for 500 workers was branded as false Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Jewell Hall, secretary of the organization.

"The local chamber of commerce positively has not advertised for workers," she said. "There is an ample number of laborers in the city for all needs at this time."

Applicants for work are calling at the offices of the chamber of commerce each day, it was learned, although the local organization does not maintain an employment bureau.

A federal employment bureau is established each year in the chamber of commerce office during the harvest season, but the service is rendered only four or five months each year.
