Ex-Students Reunion Set for August 7-8

Donald Curry, president of the Wellington Ex-Students Association 11 years, declined nomination to that post for another term and Mrs. Bob McAlister was elected to succeed him. The date of the 1964 reunion is Friday and Saturday, Aug. 7 and 8.

The election of officers and new directors was held Friday night, May 5. Mrs. McAlister, the former Gay Reeves, teaches speech in Wellington high school.

Mrs. Hubert Bowen (Ineva Cudd) was re-elected vice president and Miss Bessie Rainer was selected for another term as secretary-treasurer.

Re-elected for three - year terms on the board of directors were Miss Rainer, Mrs. Bowen, Mrs. Velman Warrick (Dora Fern Durfey) and C. A. Crawford. Ed Bawcom was elected a director replacing Horace Small.

Two vacancies on the board were filled, Cal Hurst replaces Richard Bailey, who moved to Sentinel, Okla., while Mrs. McAlister replaces Mrs. Olman Sweat (Louise Fulcher) who moved to Waco. Both terms have one more year to go.

Plans for the reunion were begun Friday evening.

Emphasis will be put on increased attendance by local residents this year, Mrs. McAlister said.

Bishop Makes First Visit to Parish Here

Sunday, June 7, Wellington Catholics were honored by a visit from His Excellency Bishop Lawrence DeFalco, spiritual head of the Amarillo Diocese, of which Wellington is a part. This was his first official visit to Our Mother of Mercy parish.

The occasion was the conferring of the Sacrament of Confirmation by the Bishop on eight of the local children. The ceremony took place at the 9 o'clock Mass at Our Mother of Mercy Church, before a capacity crowd. The Mass was celebrated by the Bishop, assisted by the Vice Chancellor of the Diocese, Monsignor Richard Vaughan, and Father Patrick Burke, parish priest of Wellington.

Receiving the sacrament were Trinidad Cantu Jr., Gabriel Aguirre, Joe Peters, Elana Romo, Fidel Galan, Pedro Garza, Arthur Cantu and Mary Guajardo.

During the Mass the girls' choir, under the direction of Mrs. Tipton Miller, with Mrs. Allen Peters at the organ, sang hymns in honor of the Holy Spirit.

Toward the end of the Mass, eight of the smaller children received their first communion. They were Rosa Guajardo, Juanita Garza, Margarita Garza, Edi Watkins, Estela Galan, Jesse Guajardo, Ann Sosa and Robert Romo.

Jail Construction Near Finish

Completion of the new Collingsworth county jail is due within a few days, and the final inspection and audit acceptance are expected next week.

Joe Brownfield of Waco Construction Company, the contractor, was due in Wellington Wednesday, June 10 to take care of the final details.

A representative of the architect is due Friday.

The final inspection will be made by Gregg Chappel, engineer for Housing and Home Finance Agency, Fort Worth.

Open house is planned when the jail is completed in order that the public may see the new building and immediately after that, Sheriff and Mrs. John Rainey will move into the living quarters.

City State Bank Ups Certified Capital Item

The directors of City State Bank have increased the certified surplus by $25,000, bringing it to $150,000, Zook Thomas, vice president, announced this week.

This certified surplus, along with $50,000 capital, gives City State Bank a total capital of $200,000, Thomas continued.

"By this move, the directors have added strength to the bank in comparison to its liabilities," the bank officer said. "It was our desire to have the strongest and most dependable bank in this part of the country."

Thomas explained that a certified surplus differs from the other surplus item of a bank in that it is permanently designated and cannot be changed or used for any purpose other than that for which it is designated, without approval of the State Banking Commissioner.

"There are a number of tangible benefits, although the customer does not see most of these in his everyday financial dealings," the bank official said.

The decision to increase the certified surplus was made in a meeting of the board of directors Tuesday, June 2.

President of City State Bank is James Doneghy. Jack Aaron is cashier. Directors are Mr. Doneghy, Mr. Thomas, Joe Terry, Sandown Smith and John Nash.

Builders Club Seeks Additional Medical Doctor for Wellington

The Builders Club has begun action seeking to bring to Wellington another medical doctor, and a progress report was given members in a meeting Monday night, June 8.

In this, the club has the close cooperation of local doctors, dentists and optometrists.

Henry Sullivan, club president, outlined the steps already taken.

Names of a large number of doctors hunting locations have been secured, and those the club's medical care committee feels may meet the high standards required here will be contacted by letter and told of the fine facilities and opportunities Wellington offers.

These include young doctors just completing residences, or who are finishing their military service, or doctors wishing to move from cities into smaller communities, Sullivan explained.

"People here are concerned about our shortage of medical doctors and we are trying to do something about it," he added.

Brochures, giving in some detail the medical facilities of Wellington will be given wide distribution, and the club is advertising in the Journal of the Texas Medical Association.

Members of the medical profession who formerly lived in Wellintgon have been asked to cooperate with the club.

Floyd Teutsch of Dodson heads the medical care committee.

Clean-up and Improvement

Quinton Brewer, chairman of the clean-up committee reported that several local wrecking yard owners are cooperating to move junked cars and it was announced that the county will haul off any old car body free of charge if the owner wants to get rid of it.

This work is being done through personal contact between committee members and property owners.

It was also reported that a vacant building on the west side of the square, having large display windows, will be used for display space by adjacent merchants, giving it a much improved look.

Federal Aid

Sullivan told the group that notice has been given by the Department of Commerce that Collingsworth county is no longer eligible for Area Redevelopment and the program will be terminated in six months. The reason given was the improved labor conditions.

"This is not correct," Sullivan declared, "and it is most important that we take steps to head it off." Material setting this out is being prepared to be sent to ARA headquarters in Washington.

The Urban Renewal program, another federal agency giving towns a tool for improvement through local-federal cooperation, was discussed, and a committee composed of George Henry and Earl Finley, was named to study this further.

The Builders Club is studying the feasibility of two small lakes for recreational purposes, Sullivan said. He emphasized that this is separate from the county-wide water development program of the Water Control and Improvement District, and neither program will have any effect on the other.

Each of these proposed lakes would have approximately 200 surface acres of water. One would be located on Dozier Creek, north of Salt Fork, and the other on Cottonwood Creek which flows into Salt Fork from the south at a point just west of Highway 83.

Sanford Heads Newly-Formed Flight Club

The Wellington Flying Club has completed organization and set up the goal of increased interest in flying for this area.

Jack Sanford is the newly-elected president, while Police Chief Donald Nunnelley is vice president and Jerry Nix is secretary-treasurer.

The club has bought a Piper J-3, a two-place plane, and Cliff Hartman will be flight instructor.

Headquarters for the club will be at Marian Airpark.

While the membership will be limited, it is still open at present, Sanford pointed out.

Members, in addition to the officers and instructor are Bud Seal, Robert Owens, Gerald Summerford, Donald Settle and Phillip Cobb.

There Are Tourist Dollars That Stop in Wellington

This is the travel season, and while we do not think of ourselves as benefitting from tourist dollars, enough of them rub off on Wellington for us to give some attention to them.

Travelers for pleasure, for business, combine crews, etc., see Wellington only for a few minutes car service, or an hour or so for a meal. They do not see our modern stores around the square and the fine new homes.

But they can see each improvement along Highway 83—and they are becoming more numerous. They can feel friendly service and those qualities of hospitality that cannot be bought with dollars, but which are long remembered. Travelers, irregardless of their reason for going, are talkative when it comes to telling friends about a good or bad stop they made and precisely where they made it.

As an example, a number of Wellington people who have traveled to some of our popular tourist spots complain that the residents "aren't friendly like they used to be. The just want your money."

There is another group that comes to see us during vacation, those who used to live here and who return with warm feelings toward their home town and county. These also account for travel dollars in Wellington, sometimes more than we think. They deserve our very best consideration.

Come to think of it, in one form or another, Wellington will get quite few "traveling" dollars this summer.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where our compulse-minded leadership is aiming to cure unemployment by making it compulsory for all kids to stay in school two years longer.

My vastly-compulsed neighbor says he likes the part of this program which lays it on the government to pay all of the expenses called for by this extra schooling.

Says maybe this will lead to the governing bodies finally doing right by us people, by paying the costs of all the actions which they make compulsory, such as when they compulse us to buy surplus channels on our TV sets, and when they compulse us to pay taxes.

News is that Fidel Castro claims the USA has been using balloons to scatter germs in Cuba.

But my TV-educated neighbor says if there were any balloons at all, it was probably just part of some US scientific tests to find a pesticide that will work on Communists but which will be harmless to people.

Says if we ever get a reliable spray that will attack according to an individual's Communist quotient, it would be interesting to spread some of the stuff around Washington and see who gets sick.

I see where 149 draft-age inhabitants of the USA went to the expense of running an advertisement in a New York newspaper to say they are refusing to do any soldiering in Viet Nam.

My Puritainted neighbor says he knows just how these boys must feel, on account of he is bothered with cold feet, too, when there is a fight to be fit.

But he reckons he never will be able to adjust fully to up-to-date sociey, because he has got a Proud streak in his psyche which makes him try to hide it when he's chicken, instead of advertising it in the newspaper.

I see where top status people like school teachers and doctors in some places have been going on strike to get themselves better pay and better working conditions.

Which you might say Progresses the activity of Striking and puts it away up on the social scale, along with golf playing and backyard cooking and Appreciating modern art.

And maybe this development will even make it stylish for Congressmen to go on strike and picket themselves until they get that pay raise they have been trying to sneak through.

History Lives in Nacogdoches

Choose Your Type of Holiday, You'll Still Be in Texas

It has been said that you may spend your holiday in any type surroundings that suit your fancy—and still be in Texas. If you prefer forests, then East Texas is for you.

Here you drive through gently rolling country, along highways that tunnel through deep woodland. In the spring, thousands of dogwood trees in full bloom add to the beauty of the landscape.

In making a tour of East Texas, you will find it worthwhile to visit Nacogdoches, where history and progress join hands. The Spanish founded a mission in Nacogdoches in 1716 and the site has been a settlement since that time.

Motorists can travel to Nacogdoches on U.S. highways 59 and 259, or on State highways 7 and 21.

There remain a number of historical sites and buildings in the town's history. Among these are the Old Stone Fort, a restoration of one of the oldest buildings in the state; and Hoya Memorial Library and Museum, a home built by Adolphus Sterne in 1834.

There's Old Nacogdoches University, the only building still standing from an educational institution chartered by the Republic of Texas.

Nacogdoches is also the site of Stephen F. Austin State College and the Stagecoach Inn. The Inn dates back to the 1840s and at one time housed Sam Houston and other early Texans.

The Old Stone Fort Museum is located on the campus of Stephen F. Austin State College. The original building was erected by Antonio Gil Y'Barbo in 1779. Over its walls have flown eight flags. The museum is open daily from 9 to 12 a.m. and 1 to 5 p.m. except Sunday mornings. There is no charge.

Nacogdoches University, a non-sectarian school was founded in 1845 by the Republic of Texas. The old building on Washington Square was completed in January, 1859. The University continued to function under different auspices until 1904 when the property was sold to the Nacogdoches Independent School District.

Old North Church was constructed in 1838 and was used by a union church for Protestants but later became the property of the Missionary Baptists. It is said to be the first Protestant church in Texas. The present building replaced the original in 1852.

In Oak Grove Cemetery may be found the graves of many early settlers who played a prominent role in Texas' colorful history. Among these are the graves of four signers of the Texas Declaration of Independence. The State of Texas has placed granite markers at these graves.

Texas' first producing oil well was drilled in Nacogdoches county in 1866 by Confederate veteran Lynis T. Barrett. The well was completed in the "oil spring" region of the county. Site of the well has been cleared and plans are underway to develop the area as a park.

For a pleasant overnight stop, the community-owned Hotel Fredonia offers excellent accommodations in a beautifully landscaped setting.

It's the Water Depth that Counts

The pressure of water on a vertical wall depends only on the depth of the water and not on the distance the water extends away from the wall.

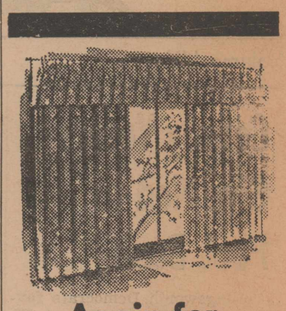

Thus the pressure on the dam of an acre lake is the same as that on the dam of a 500 acre lake if the water is the same depth in the two bodies.

Boys State Activity Under Way at Austin

AUSTIN.—The American Legion Boys State is under way with 718 high school boys from throughout the state present, Attorney General Waggoner Carr, chairman of the youth program, has announced.

Among those registering from Collingsworth county are Noah Lloyd Stice, Richard Dale Morris, William Paul Spillman Jr. and Ronald C. Hurst, who are sponsored by the local American Legion Post, Rotary and Kiwanis and Lions Clubs.

Upon arrival at the University of Texas campus, each citizen was assigned to one of two political parties — the Longhorn or Pioneer. Each citizen then functions as a member of his party; he attends its conventions, caucuses and votes in its primary.

In Boys State, the American Legion provides the type of program where the young citizen has the opportunity to learn for himself that his government is just what he makes it. The boy "learns to do by doing."

Highlight of Boys State was a trip to the Capitol on Wednesday evening.

Outstanding speakers appearing on the program are Department Commander John E. McKelvey, Electra; Dr. Harry Ransom, chancellor, University of Texas; Zollie Steakley, Associate Justice, Supreme Court of Texas; American Legion Auxiliary President, Mrs. Harold J. Cooper, Beaumont; National Vice Commander of the American Legion, Harry Wright, Mexico City; Robert W. Calvert, Chief Justice, Supreme Court of Texas; and Dave Shanks, Austin American Statesman.

Boys State enrollment this year brings the total to 10,406 junior high school boys who have attended since 1940, when Boys State was first inaugurated in Texas.

Largest dinosaur known from fossil remains was a 130,000 lb. brachiosaurus whose leg bone was recently found in Colorado.

Teenagers Need Training in $$ Management

COLLEGE STATION.—Many Texas teenagers don't know how to use money wisely. And many parents fail to provide an opportunity for young people to learn money management.

Recent research conducted in the Blackland area of the state has revealed a "lack of perspective or understanding on the part of parents concerning money as a training instrument." What training occurred was often incidental and not planned, says Patsy Reynolds, Extension specialist in family life education at Texas A&M University.

Dr. Bardin Nelson, who presently is on leave from the A&M Agricultural Economics and Sociology department to assist with the establishment of an agricultural university in Syria, conducted the research.

Three-fourths of the parents of 15- and 16-year-olds studied by Dr. Nelson followed a system of doles or dictated method of providing their children with money. Even with limited allowances, parents should provide the child with a bit more money than is absolutely necessary, so there is an opportunity to make choices about spending money, points out Miss Reynolds.

Many parents supervise their children's use of money closely in order to prevent mistakes. However, people learn from mistakes, and a misspent dime may teach a lesson which may prevent a misspent dollar, the Extension specialist says.

Just as a child must have planned systematic training to learn to read or write, he should have planned opportunities to learn to use money wisely. Boys enter military service at 17, and both girls and boys go away to school or to work at this age. Young people need to learn money management before they are "on their own," Miss Reynolds emphasizes.

Moseley Tells of Cancer Society Memorial Gifts

Memorial gifts to the American Cancer Society as a means of paying tribute to deceased friends or relatives, were suggested this week by Billy Moseley, chairman of the Collingsworth County Cancer Crusade.

He has given the following explanation of these living memorials:

In the sorrow that follows a loss, there is the wish to honor the departed. There is also the deep need to strike back at this disease—to do something so that others may be spared.

During such a time, many find solace in dedication of a Memorial Gift to the American Cancer Society. This contribution provides a way to perpetuate the memory of a life that has been lost. It offers a way to prevent the further suffering of others.

Memorial contributions to the American Cancer Society help in many ways: They support cancer research in hospitals, laboratories and clinics; they provide fellowships for doctors and scientists; they help train the manpower needed to carry out future research.

When a Memorial Gift is made, the family of the deceased is notified with a Memorial Card. This card carries the name of the person in whose memory the funds have been given and the name of the person who made the gift. The names of all persons in whose names a Memorial has been given will be entered in a permanent Memorial Book of the Texas Division. The donor receives an official receipt.

Memorial gifts may be sent to Billy Moseley, chairman of the Collingsworth County Cancer Crusade.

PATTERNS FOR PROGRESS

What makes a community grow?

Our recent PATTERNS FOR PROGRESS ads have summarized basic economic development factors. The series continues as we advance to community development, which is made possible by sound economic development.

The West Texas community of Ballinger is a shining example. With organization, teamwork and sound planning, Ballinger has developed a $400,000 Memorial Hospital (pictured above) . . . 17 new commercial buildings . . . modernization of 16 others . . . 21 new businesses . . . a new community center . . . major park improvements . . . a frontier museum . . . and the adoption of a new city charter.

Ballinger is an outstanding PATTERN FOR PROGRESS.

When such a community spirit seeks new industry, even more growth comes. National studies show payrolls from 100 basic new jobs increase local personal income by $660,000 . . . bank deposits by $229,000 . . . annual retail sales by $331,000 . . . add three new retail outlets . . . increase population by 359 including 91 school children . . . add 100 new homes . . . 97 more car registrations . . . and create 65 new non-maunfacturing jobs.

WTU's area representatives will assist growth-conscious communities in planning for community development programs and activities. This service is available on request through your WTU local manager.

Annual Dress Revue for 4-H Club Girls Announced for July Sixth

The Collingsworth County 4-H Club Dress Revue will be held Monday, Judy 6, Mrs. Kathryn Barjenbruch, home demonstration agent, announced this week. Plans for the revue will be made in a meeting with 4-H leaders next week, she added.

Mrs. Barjenbruch explained that the purpose of the revue and clothing program is to give 4-H girls self confidence and poise. This is achieved through understanding themselves in order to select and make clothing that is becoming and which expresses their personality.

"It gives them skills necessary to plan, select and make clothing for different occasions, and the ability to select suitable and becoming accessories," Mrs. Barjenbruch continued.

Other skills are the ability to model the garments they have made and to help the girls to develop grace, good posture and habits of good grooming.

"There is another new clothing program for 4-H club members that is held in the spring in connection with the spring contests," Mrs. Barjenbruch said. "It is the clothing information program. There is no construction involved, just information leading to a better consumer and how to care for clothing and like articles, which includes also good grooming. This is an individual contest, in which one person can work up the presentation."

LOOKING AHEAD

by Dr. George S. Benson

THE NEW LOOK AT RUSSIA

What should be our current attitude toward the Soviet Union? Should we rush in to bail Mr. Khrushchev out of trouble, so that he (or someone else) can keep that corrupt system in force?

Or would it present better prospects to let his regime fall of its own weight, in hopes that reforms and changes might be wrought? If eventually a collapse would bring changes for the better, then perhaps the moral thing to do would be to allow the regime to fall.

During the present thaw, however, rumor has it that Mr. K. would be highly pleased to have a big loan and guaranteed credits from the U.S.

This seems an appropriate time for our people to be told not only that the Communist regime is a failure but that the U.S. government has no interest in preserving in power (nor in imitating) a dictatorship that holds millions of political prisoners, that proposes to conquer the world, and that promotes riot and bloodshed and revolution everywhere it can.

This is a Marxist regime that everywhere would replace freedom of action with state decisions and make every man a pawn to some Castro, Tito, or Ulbricht.

The political nature of the planned world that the socialists see ahead has been revealed occasionally by American planners, not all of whom are Reds. Naturally, U.S. Communist Party officials have spoken freely of the future in store for this nation, but they have had plenty of help from various persuaders who ride the fringes of liberal politics, ready to start the revolution at the very earliest opportunity.

Mr. Khrushchev has said: "We shall never forego our ideological principles. We are fighting and will fight implacably for Marxist-Leninist ideology, for the triumph of the lofty ideals of Communism." He has some determined helpers on these shores.

A group of liberal egg-heads recently sent a memorandum to President Johnson projecting their ideas about the new automated society ahead, with its non-workers and its state planners. Among the signers were H. Stuart Hughes, Harvard professor of history, Gunnar Myrdal, Swedish economist and Gerard Piel, publisher of Scientific American. The memorandum hailed an economy of abundance which would replace the economy of scarcity it says we have had up to now, proposing that people's views toward work and toward money would be radically altered. The present economic system, in other words, would have to be junked.

Junked in favor of what? Who will control and pay for an economy of abundance whose products are turned out largely by machines? Why, the government. The government should take over, period.

The proposal therefore turns out to be a plan for collectivism: a government do-all projection that resembles the Soviet system in everything but name. The crisis that lures these liberals to such a government take-over is merely the prospect of an increasing unemployment rate. What a dismaying lack of faith in our own patterns of freedom!

Contrary to these dire predictions, automation may bring more jobs instead of fewer—as it always has in the past. But the point is that anything that looks like crisis is enough to set our native socialists off on a binge to imitate the Soviets. They must have massive public works, more public housing, big public power, and billions of federal spending.

Where the billions would come from, they do not say. But their position is that when we face crisis (manufactured or not) the government must act and provide the remedy.

The real crisis is one they are unable to see: the American Way of Life is in danger because of this brand of thinking.

This kind of economic planning brings political dictatorship, simply because it takes away the freedom of individual decision and the freedom of the market.

Who can deny that our economic system is superior to that of Russia? It has produced for us living standards the whole world envies. Abundance is a daily phenomenon.

How can we become more friendly toward the Communists, or even think of imitating their failures and mistakes? It is beyond comprehension. This Communist land is the same Godless, anti-freedom, Marxist state that she has always been for the past 47 years.

And now some of our would-be statesmen are asking that America warm up to Soviet Communism: We must find the strength never to be so foolish, because we might never recover from the consequences.

Lamb county in the Texas Panhandle is almost square, as it measures 30 miles from east to west and 34 miles from north to south.

Gov. Loans to Small Business Come Easier

The very small businessmen —chiefly operators of retail shops or service establishments —many of whom have had a hard time obtaining financing in the past—will now find it much easier to qualify for a government loan, Jack Teddlie, Lubbock branch manager of the Small Business Administration, said today.

The SBA's new small loan program reflects a new emphasis on helping the very small businesses, Teddlie said.

SBA Administrator Eugene Foley has frequently expressed the view that the Agency in the past has not done as much as it should to help the businessman at the lower end of the small business scale. Yet they are often the businessmen most in need of financial help, and those who have the most difficulty in obtaining it.

The new small loan program was designed to meet this need, Teddlie said. Under this program SBA will make loans to small firms up to a maximum of $15,000 for as long as six years under greatly liberalized terms.

Primary emphasis will be on the character of the applicant and his past record of meeting obligations, and no application will be turned away merely because he lacks collateral to pledge as security for the loan.

"SBA believes that you have to take a chance on people," Teddlie said, "and we will take a calculated risk in cases where we believe the applicant has a favorable earnings potential sufficient to repay the loan.

"We have simplified our procedures and requirements for these loans. We believe it is important to help the many thousands of struggling small firms as a means of creating new jobs, and stimulating the nation's economy."

"It is clear," Teddlie said, "that the SBA will have an important role in President Johnson's war against poverty. More and more it is becoming apparent that a thriving small business community can do much toward taking up the slack in unemployment."

Rites June 1 at Roswell for C. Hendricks

Clement L. Hendricks, 61, a prominent southeastern New Mexico rancher and former Wellington resident, died Friday, May 29 in El Paso where he and Mrs. Hendricks were staying temporarily. His death was apparently from a heart attack.

The family home was the Flying H Ranch, in the Roswell, N.M., area.

Mr. Hendricks and his father, the late A. C. Hendricks, operated the telephone exchange here for a number of years and in 1929 moved to New Mexico and bought the Flying H in the eastern foothills of the Sacramento Mountains.

Mrs. Hendricks is the former Pearl Boverie, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Boverie, who were pioneer Collingsworth settlers.

After the death of his father, Mr. Hendricks took over the management of the Flying H and at the time of his death was in partnership with his son and daughter, Leland Hendricks of the Ranch and Mrs. Bill Brainerd of Roswell.

In 1958 and 1959, Mr. Hendricks won the Sheridan Park Hotel trophy for his grand championship in the California Wool Show, marking the only times a trophy has been given for range fleece.

He was a past regent of the New Mexico State University and had carried out sheep breeding research in conjunction with the university to develop high grade wool. He raised cattle also and had 700 acres of irrigated land on which he grew feed and apples.

Mr. Hendricks was a member of the Catholic Church, Knights of Columbus, New Mexico Wool Growers Association and New Mexico Cattlemen's Assocation.

He was born Oct. 10, 1902 in Oklahoma and raised near Dimmitt. He reecived his education at Memphis, Tenn.

Funeral services were conducted at 10 a.m. Monday, June 1 at St. Peter's Catholic Church, Roswell, where a requiem high mass was celebrated with the Rev. Father Joyce Finnigan, OFM, rector of the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church of Dexter as celebrant.

Burial was in South Park Cemetery.

Surviving Mr. Hendricks are his wife; the son and daughter; his mother, Mrs. A. C. Hendricks of Flying H Ranch; and a sister, Mrs. Cleo Duggar of Carrizozo, N.M.

"Challenge of the Cross" Theme of Service as WSCS Installs Officers

Officers of the Wesleyan Service Guild of First Methodist Church for the coming year were installed Monday evening, June 1. Mrs. G. B. Hopper was hostess.

Mrs. Jennie Holcomb, installing officer, used as her theme "The Challenge of the Cross." The gold-draped worship center was on three levels, with the cross at the top. On the middle level was the emblem of the Wesleyan Service Guild, and on the lower, a globe of the world.

The officers to be installed formed a circle around this setting, and a cross, attached to a long ribbon, was handed from woman to woman. Acceptance of the cross by each officer was symbolic of her acceptance of the Challenge of the Cross. Through service in the Wesleyan Service Guild, members will encircle the world for God they were told.

A duet, "Take Up Thy Cross," was sung by Mrs. E. F. Bartlett and Mrs. F. E. Anderson.

Mrs. G. L. Jones was installed for a second term as president, and other officers are Mrs. David Baumgardner, vice president; Mrs. Holcomb, secretary; and Mrs. Barney Jones, treasurer.

Appointive officers are Mrs. G. B. Hopper, secretary of Christian social relation; Mrs. Anderson, secretary of spiritual life; Mrs. Gorman Owens, secretary of missionary education; Mrs. Guy Owens, secretary of literature and publications; Mrs. W. C. Reeves, supply; Mrs. Lloyd Wooldridge, promotion secretary; and Mrs. Joe Thompson and Mrs. Fred Watkins, telephone committee.

The bride wore a gown of white imported silk organza over peau de soie. The scoop neck was deeply encircled with Alencon lace and the sleeves came to points over her hands. Two deep bands of lace were set on the slender bell shaped skirt, while fullness was given the sides and back by the chapel train attached at the waist by soft pleats and accented with a bow. Miss Jan Alexander of Sterling, Oklahoma was the maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Charla Cunningham of Hollis and Miss Patsy McCauley of Vernon. They wore powder blue organza dresses with scoop necklines and bell skirts. Their headpieces of blue roses held short tulle veils and each carried a long-stemmed pink rose.

Everybody benefits

when food is fresher... more plentiful

—thanks to America's Rural Electrics

Rural power is a wellspring of America's food abundance.

Thanks to his consumer-owned rural electric system, America's farmer does his work faster and more efficiently.

Electricity helps him feed and water more cattle and hogs, hatch and care for more chickens, milk more cows. It lights his barns, cools milk and cream, and keeps food fresh and safe. The end result is fresher, healthier food on your table. And it takes less of your family budget than ever before.

Consumer-owned rural electric systems—in most cases cooperatives—help guarantee that America's farmers will be able to meet all of this nation's growing demands for food. These rural electrics were built with the help of Rural Electrification Administration loans—and they are owned and directed by the people they serve.

As farmers use more and more electricity to produce more and better food, REA loans continue to help the rural electrics keep pace with the growing demand—and everybody benefits.

That item in this space one week ago about the 30-day weather map showing June would be wetter and cooler than normal has turned out to be the exact opposite of the truth; but that is what the maps in the daily papers and farm magazines did indicate. In fact the weather charts at the two local banks still indicate wetter and cooler weather provided they haven't turned them face to the wall.

Sunday the temperature was 106 degrees and this morning at 6 o'clock it stood at an even 80 so there is no telling what it will be before the week is out. The sudden change from the cool days has been making some people ill. People who work outdoors seem to be faring better than those who work in air conditioned offices and go out in the heat. The golfers who played in the 106 degree temperatures Sunday actually came out better than some of us who sat in a refrigerated room and watched baseball.

There was an item in this mornings' Amarillo News from Collingsworth saying that the wheat was 10% out and the cotton was 75% planted. That must have been sent in several days ago and they just got around to printing it, or maybe it was a typographical error for the reports from the other counties seemed to be in line with the facts. Grain dealers say the wheat is about 90% harvested and that includes the fields north of Salt Fork. Dodson reports the harvest as completed with the exception of Hugh Painter who sometimes does not cut his wheat until August. Cotton is 95% planted and much of it is up to a good stand.

It is never too late to learn. Had coffee with that champion fisherman, Sandown Smith, the other morning. He told me that he never started fishing until two years ago; but he has been making up for lost time in those two years. He doesn't go fishing hoping to catch just any old fish or as an excuse to drink beer like some of us. He goes fishing for bass and he catches bass. He studies the temperature of the water at certain depths, the wind, the location and the habits of the bass at certain seasons of the year. He is not interested in crappie, catfish or trout. He goes out to get bass and he brings back bass. No wonder he is a champion.

There is a surplus of beef in the United States and a serious scarcity in Western Europe and eforts are being made to sell some of our surplus. There are difficulties in making such a transaction. One is transportation. It costs $1.73 per hundred weight to ship Irish beef to New York; but it costs $3.33 to get American beef to Europe. New rates will have to be negotiated. Another difficulty is the taste of the Europeans. They are accustomed to eating veal from bull calves of dairy herds and bulls and older cows. Choice grade steaks and roasts are almost unknown over there. Meanwhile low grade beef from Australia, Argentina, etc., continues to pile up in the United States to the tune of a billion pounds a year.

The Childress City Council has passed an ordinance restricting the sale of imported meat unless it is so labeled and showing the country of its origin. This would apply to pork and mutton as well as beef.

MORE DEER HUNTING URGED FOR '64 SEASON

Wheat Discount Rate Explained

Discounts on the price of this year's wheat crop can arise from several factors in addition to too high a moisture content, Millard Brown of the ASC office has explained. Among these are damaged kernels, low sedimentation value and low protein content.

Damaged Kernels

Discounts for total damaged kernels, other than heat damage, range from 1 cent per bushel for 7.1 to 8 per cent total damage, No. 3 wheat, up to 10 cents per bushel discount for No. 5, 15 per cent total damaged kernels.

The ASCS scale goes on up to 45 cents discount per bushel on wheat that is 30.1 per cent or above total damage.

Sedimentation

Sedimentation value of 22 or below will draw a discount of 6 cents per bushel discount, up to neither premium or discount for wheat with sedimentation value of 38 to 42 per cent.

As the scale rises, the premium increases up to 5 cents per bushel for 55-57 sedimentation and 9 cents for that of 67 or above.

Protein

There is a discount of 4 cents for wheat with protein content of 9.4 or below, up to the base price for wheat with protein content of 11 to 11.9 per cent. Premiums on protein content begin there and range up to 5 cents for 14-14.4 per cent premium content and up to 12 cents premium for 17.5 per cent protein content.
