Bitter Cold Is Blamed For 22 Deaths In Nation

By The Associated Press

Winter's bitter elements embraced wide sections of the country today, and at least 22 deaths were attributed to the weather.

In the northern Midwest and Great Plains states, bone chilling and record-setting cold held an icy grip over communities. International Falls, Minn., had —24 early today.

Winter snow and crippling ice storms raked the Northeast, causing at least 10 deaths in the New England states; with scores of injuries.

Rain fell over the Deep South. At Ocala, Fa., nearly 1¾ inches of precipitation was recorded today. Cape Hatteras, N.C., had more than one inch.

In the cold belt, Bemidji, Minn., had —23. Wichita, Kan., had a record-equalling 4, and Topeka, Kan., also tied a record with 2. At Fargo, N.D., —16 was two degrees under a 77-year record for the date. Alamosa, Colo., had —25.

Snow again fell over parts of New England, where an ice storm Friday crippled transportation and inconvenienced thousands of persons.

The snow had started over parts of the Midwest and Great Plains states Thursday and Friday, and over portions of the eastern sections of the country. Within hours it had spread eastward and southward from the Rockies, covering nearly all the northern third of the country.

Downtown Chicago dug out of nearly 12 inches of snow. Many suburbs of the Windy City reported up to 18 inches of snow. Drifts up to five feet covered wide areas around Chicago.

The storm, with winds up to 44 m.p.h. in the Chicago area Friday disrupted rail, air and highway travel in many areas. Public schools were closed in Chicago for the first time in nearly 26 years. Schools also were closed in some other northern Illinois cities.

Snow tapered off to flurries in the Midwest but continued during the night from upstate New York across sections of New England, with rain and sleet in some areas. Snow amounts measured eight inches in Newport, Vt.

Thousands of persons in New York State and Indiana were without electrical service. In both states several communities were blacked out.

Ice clinging to power lines disrupted electrical service in a wide area from Warsaw to Angola in northeastern Indiana, leaving thousands of persons without light or heat. It was one of the biggest power failures in several years in the area.

At least 25,000 persons in New York State were without electric service as power lines snapped. Snow, freezing rain, sleet and rain storms swept across the state. Ice-coated powerlines and tree limbs were downed in many areas. Much of Hudson Falls was blacked out and a 17-year-old boy was electrocuted when he was struck by a falling power line. Police in Schenectady declared an emergency area because of the downed power lines and trees.

THE IDEA IS THAT THE LITTLE SPRAY CAN is supposed to make big dogs go away and leave the postmen alone. Mail carrier Gerald Walton shows the proper method of spraying the pepper-flavored spray at barking dogs. Experience has shown, however, that the spray needs to be about this close to do any good, and maybe that's just a little too close!

Dogs Here Scornful Of Postal Repellent

Everyone's heard about neither wind nor snow nor sleet nor hail nor black of night staying our mailmen from their appointed rounds.

But that Post Office motto doesn't say anything about dogs. And dogs, over the years, have been a lot more effective in "staying" postmen than the hail and black of night and so on.

Several weeks ago the Post Office Department, knowing that they couldn't do anything about hail or black of night, decided that maybe they could do something about dogs. The Department, on a trial basis, furnished the mail carriers with little pressurized cans of a dog repellent.

Basically the repellent is an essence of pepper — a substance that is designed to make a dog back off and think twice before nipping at the heels of the mailmen.

Snyder postmen, along with postmen over the United States, were each furnished one of these little spray cans, complete with convenient belt hook so that they could draw fast and fire from the hip.

Snyder postmen, however, don't seem to feel that the experiment was an unqualified success.

In the first place, they say, the cans don't hold enough. Three or four squirts and it's all gone. In the second place, they say, the cans put out a spray rather than a stream. You can't aim it if one is shooting into the wind, the shooter gets about as much spray as the shootee. So that wasn't any too good.

The spray is said to have no lasting effect on the dogs. Postmen agree with that. One postman said that he tried it on a big collie dog that was making quite a nusiance of himself. Sure enough he backed off, went over and started licking himself. But by the time the postman had finished that side of the street, and started down the other, here came the collie, ready to go again.

So it looks like it doesn't have any lasting effect — and it also looks like that collie has a short memory.

At least one postman—Earl Edwards, who delivers mail in the Colonial Hill area — hasn't even tried his out yet. He knows he'll be disappointed.

For about two years Edwards had something far better than a squirt can to keep unfriendly dogs away.

Gene Best, who lived at that time near the start of Edwards' Colonial Hill route, had a big black chow — the kind of dog that a person, or a dog, would think twice before antagonizing. Edwards said at first he kept his eye on that big black chow, until Ton - Ton proved that he wasn't unfriendly.

As a matter of fact, in spite of his rather frightening appearance, Ton - Ton was really quite good - natured. Except for one thing. He didn't like other dogs bothering "his" postman.

Ton-Ton would join Edwards at the beginning of his route, and stay with him all the way, always placing himself between the mail carrier and any other dogs.

Some of the neighbors decided that since Ton - Ton looked mean, he must be mean, and finally the Bests had to get rid of Ton-Ton. But nobody missed him any more than did Edwards, and he said that no spray can could ever be as much protection or company as Ton-Ton was.

Nowhere in the Post Office Department's requisition sheet is a place to order Ton-Tons. There's a place to order dog repellent spray cans, but Dawson Moreland, Postmaster here, said that at least as of right now, they had no plans to order any more.

Mariner 4 Given New Commands

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Radioed commands from earth started Mariner 4 today through an intricate maneuver designed to drive it within 8,600 miles of Mars next July 14.

Jet Propulsion Laboratory scientists said it would be several days before they can tell precisely how successful they were in their attempt to change the camera-toting spacecraft's direction from a course that would miss that mysterious planet by 150,000 miles.

Goldstone Tracking Station on the desert 75 miles northwest of here reported the windmill-shaped vehicle apparently was acting out properly a set of commands previously stored in its electronic brain.

The key instruction was to fire a small rocket in its base.

The 20-second burst was expected to increase its speed 30 miles per hour. At that point Mariner 4 would be going 7,019 miles per hour, 1,257,600 miles from earth and 122,496,350 miles from Mars.

4 Dead In Plane Crash

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) —Four persons died and another was injured when their single - engine airplane crashed Friday night while attempting to land at the municipal airport here.

The Federal Aviation Agency said the Cessna 206 was en route from Modesto, Calif., to Fayetteville. It was scheduled to land at Fayetteville.

It was last heard from, the FAA said, when the pilot, Merle Heffner of Modesto, radioed for landing instructions at 7:54 p.m. and said he was making his final approach on instruments.

When the plane failed to land, search parties went out and combed the rugged Ozark Mountain terrain throughout the night. The wreckage was spotted by an airplane this morning.

The only survivor was Mrs. Kenneth Gladden. She was found outside the wreckage beneath a sleeping bag.

WHEN EXCHANGE STUDENT FRANCA GEA goes back to Italy after her year at Snyder High School, one thing sure is that these boots will go along. Miss Gea is shown being fitted Saturday morning for the three-weeks-early Christmas gift by Gene Thompson of Thompson's Shoe Store. A number of members of the American Field Service chapter here which sponsors the exchange student program, came along to chuckle over Miss Gea's first attempts to put on real Texas boots.

Pope Paul's Plane Almost Brushed By Escort Craft

By BENNET M. BOLTON

ROME (AP) — After a close brush with Turkish planes, Pope Paul VI came home today to a tumultous welcome from Bombay saying he hoped his visit to India would have "historic and spiritual consequences."

An Italian airline jet carrying the Pope nonstop set down at Fiumicino Airport after the brush with Turkish planes sent aloft as an honorary escort over Turkey.

Turkish jet fighters, their pilots waving, cruised so close to the airliner that their wings almost brushed. The papal pilot made emergency radio efforts to have the planes withdraw but they stayed alongside until the papal plane entered a cloud bank.

Members of the papal party said the Pope was aware of the Turkish planes but was not perturbed.

Aboard the plane, the Pope conducted a combination audience and news conference and spoke enthusiastically about India.

"We hope that this trip will have historic and spiritual consequences," he told the reporters. He left open the question of further trips abroad.

The Pope looked rested as the plane touched down at 3:49 p.m. to a 21-gun military salute.

Premier Aldo Moro and cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church welcomed the 67-year-old pontiff home.

The Pope's plane had arrived more than half an hour ahead of schedule for the nonstop flight from Bombay over Pakistan, Iran, Turkey, Greece and Italy.

From the heat of Bombay, the Pope stepped out of the plane into Italy's chill 45-degree weather.

An Italian air force band snapped out the Italian and pontifical anthems during the airport ceremonies, while automobiles lined up for the ride into Rome.

More than 25 applications to the Goodfellows for help at Christmastime were received by the organization in their first week of operation here. Many, many more will come in as families realize that Christmas will be a mighty poor day for their children unless somebody helps. And some folks will tell the Goodfellows about families which will have a thin Christmas without the Goodfellows.

The Goodfellows are donating their time, working all day in the drafty building, sorting and assembling the toys, food and clothing that have been donated.

What can you donate to the Goodfellows?

G. N. Richardson, Pioneer, Is Dead

Funeral services are pending at Bell-Seale Funeral Home for Mr. George N. Richardson, 93, of Dunn.

Mr. Richardson died at 11:45 p.m. Friday at Cogdell Hospital following a short illness.

Mr. Richardson was born a few years after the end of the War Between the States, on Oct. 30, 1871, and at the age of 15 left the home of his parents near the present town of Grandbury to seek his fortune in the more westerly reaches of the state. He got as far as Pecos, and hired out as a horse wrangler on a cattle drive to Amarillo.

After completing the drive he returned to Hood County where he was born, and found his parents and married brother preparing to head west themselves.

The family pulled out by wagon train, undecided as to where they would eventually settle, but taking all their cattle and belongings with them into the frontier.

After three months they stopped in southern Scurry County to permit the cattle to graze, their campsite being on Big Sulphur Creek. The date was July 5, 1889.

The following day they learned that the land could be filed on, so the men took advantage of the opportunity and came to Snyder to lay claim. The land on which Mr. Richardson filed is still owned by the family.

He was married to Dona Doss 64 years, during which great - granddaughters.

GEORGE N. RICHARDSON

time he also maintained a relay station for the freight wagon teams which operated between Colorado City and Lubbock. The relay point was necessary since the railroad had not yet found its way to Snyder.

Although officially retired, Mr. Richardson had remained active on the farm until recently. He was a member of the Methodist Church and the Dunn Masonic Lodge.

Mr. Richardson is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Lela Williams of Elk City, Ok. and Mrs. Eula Cary of Pampa; two sons, E. J. (Doc) Richardson of Snyder and Ollie Richardson of Dunn; 14 grandchildren, and 10 great - grandchildren.

Cold Wave Grips Area

The Snyder area was embraced by Saturday's cold belt as the temperature dipped to 19 degrees, equalling the season's low reading here.

Snow flurries moved into the area early Friday evening, but subsided before covering the ground.

The Weather Bureau reported that a mixture of snowflakes and sleet moved eastward during the night from near Cleburne, Wills Point, Hillsboro, Kaufman, Corsicana and Tyler.

Dense fog in the Panhandle Saturday morning brought zero visibility to Dalhart.

Forecasts limited warming for the northern half of the state and continued cold in the south through Sunday.

AN ODESSA MAN received severe facial cuts in this mishap which occurred at Avenue E and Thirty-seventh Street at about 1:30 p.m. Friday. R. P. Huggins, 44, the injured man, was the driver of the 1964 Chevrolet in the background. The 1954 Chevrolet in the foreground was driven by Gumesindo R. Guerrero of Corpus Christi, and was stopped in the middle of the street preparatory to making a left turn onto the dump ground road when struck from behind by the Huggins car. Sgt. A. E. Crowley, pictured, assisted Highway Patrolman Pat King in investigating the mishap.

Penn State's football squad includes 16 seniors.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My daughter came crying to me that her husband mistreated her, so I did what any other mother would do — I told her to leave him. She left him and then she had a nervous breakdown. Then I was blamed and told I shouldn't have "interfered" in my daughter's marriage.

She now goes to a "doctor" and pays him $25 an hour. They sit around and talk about sex for an hour and close with a prayer. (I wonder what they are praying for?) I asked her if he was a medical doctor, and she said, "I don't know and I don't care if he never got past the fifth grade, he is wonderful and he is helping me." Is there anything I can do to save my daughter from this quack?

UPSET

DEAR UPSET: If your daughter doesn't care about her "doctor's" credentials, there is nothing you can do to save her. You must remember that your daughter has been ill, and the chances are she is not yet fully recovered, so don't undermine her confidence in her "therapist" unless you check him out and find that he is indeed a "quack."

CONFIDENTIAL TO ALL TEEN - AGERS: J. Edgar Hoover, the Director of the FBI, set down the following rules, which deserve to be read thoughtfully — and remembered:

1. If any stranger — or even a slight acquaintance — makes improper advances, tell your parents immediately.

Young people are too often kind - hearted about such things — they dislike the idea of getting an offender into "trouble." Just remember that if you DON'T report him, he'll probably get into worse trouble later on — to say nothing of the harm he may cause.

2. If you know of any pornographic pictures or literature being passed around, notify your parents immediately.

Obscene reading matter is a favorite habit of degenerates. If the authorities can run down the source and trace the material, they may be able to rid the community of danger before it starts.

3. Know your date! Don't go out on "blind dates" unless another couple is along — and even then be cautious.

If someone phones and says he's a friend of Jack Jones, tell him you'd be glad to have Jack Jones introduce him.

4. Stay out of lovers' lanes.

It's natural to want to be alone with your date, but experience shows that "Lovers' Lanes" are favorite haunts of sex criminals.

5. Don't wander away from the crowd at picnics and outings. Stay within calling distance.

Sex criminals are easily attracted to any group of young people, and given an opportunity they can strike with frightening speed.

6. Don't ask for trouble — dress sensibly.

Provocative clothing may attract the attention of a potential sex criminal.

7. Be civil to strangers who ask directions, but never go part way with them.

The "directions" trick is a favorite among sex criminals. They count on the natural helpfulness of young people.

8. Be very careful about accepting work from a stranger.

This is another insidious dodge. Always make sure that the person is a respectable businessman.

9. Don't go about the house half-dressed.

This may seem harmless, but it's an invitation to "Peeping Toms" — who may later become something more dangerous.

10. Never, Never hitchhike!

And never, never, pick up a hitchhiker!

Equipment Suppliers Schedule Session

HOUSTON (AP) — Some 30 top executives of firms which manufacture and market petroleum equipment and services throughout the world will gather here Thursday.

The executives will attend a meeting of the international operations committee of the Petroleum Equipment Suppliers Association.

On the agenda will be a forecast of industry conditions world-wide in 1965 and discussions of international manufacturing and marketing matters.

Mishap Reported

The Snyder police department reported a two - vehicle mishap at 10:20 a.m. Saturday at Avenue O and Twenty - fifth Street.

Involved were a 1959 Ford driven by Ralph Wayne Grantham, 205 Twenty - fourth Street, and a pickup truck driven by Portia H. Riley, Box 162. Damage to the Grantham car was estimated at $350 and to the truck at $200. No injuries were reported.

The 160-acre meadowland at Sunnymede was once part of a large estate owned by an American - born woman, Lady Fairhaven. She died in 1939, leaving the historic grounds to the British government.

Opinions Vary At Bracero Hearing

By TOM JOHNSON

DALLAS (AP) — Importing Mexican nationals to do American farm labor was alternately praised and scored Friday as some 300 people jammed a hearing on the practice.

The program, authorized under Public Law 78, expires Dec. 31. But it could in effect be continued if the attorney general decided under other statutes that importation of such labor was not injurous to domestic farm workers.

Two West Texas farmers testified at the Labor Department hearing that they would not plant certain crops next spring unless there was assurance of continued bracero (Mexican) labor. Other farmers also called for perpetuation of the imports.

Labor union spokesmen, two Roman Catholic priests and several domestic workers said it was time the program was stopped.

Growers contend they cannot get enough people to work their fields from the domestic supply.

On the contrary, says the other side, there would be an abundance of domestic workers if the presence of braceros didn't depress the wage market that they can't make a living from field work.

"If you (growers) will guarantee them at least what you guarantee braceros, you'll have an army of people," said Paul Montemajor, a representative of the United Steelworkers Union from Nueces County.

Under a United States-Mexico agreement, braceros are paid a minimum wage of 70 cents an hour in Texas. They also are provided transportation to the work site, housing and insurance.

Leo J. Leo of La Joya, Tex., said some domestic farm workers are paid as little as 45 cents an hour. Others said housing was sub-standard and transportation and insurance inadequate.

Ed Dean of Lubbock, speaking for the 25,000-member Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., said it has become "extremely burdensome and difficult" to find enough domestic workers for farm needs.

Roland Lusk, a sugar beet farmer from La Junta, Colo., said he has raised wages and housing standards in recent years but still cannot secure enough American workers for Chicago Father Ralph Duggan, his farm.

They just don't seem to have a willingness to work in the fields, he said.

A McAllen lawyer, R. P. Sanchez, said the bracero program has caused a "vast array of social and economic chaos" in the lives of American farm workers through displacement and low wages.

A Roman Catholic priest from said domestic workers continue to be "fired and blacklisted at will and without recourse" until the workers are organized in unions. He called for the bracero program's protection under an extension of the national Labor Relations Act.

Federal Farm Regulation Big Issue At Convention

WASHINGTON (AP) — A four-day farm convention opening at Philadelphia Sunday may give some answer to this question.

"Did the strong farm vote given President Johnson in the Nov. 3 election mean that producers want stronger federal farm-aid programs?"

Since the election, there has been much argument over this issue, and the interpretation finally placed on the farm vote could tell influence the way the new Congress deals with farm problems and legislation.

The Philadelphia meeting will be the annual convention of the nation's largest farm organization, the American Farm Bureau Federation. Delegates from every state will participate. The big job of the convention will be the formulation of future Farm Bureau policies relating to federal participation in agriculture.

For many years, the Farm Bureau has been pressing for legislation which would reduce the government's role in the control of farm production and prices. It wants a return to what it calls a free market system to determine prices and patterns of farm production.

The present administration, on the other hand, has been insisting that there is great need for federal assistance in stabilizing agriculture.

Since 1961, the Farm Bureau viewpoint had gained ground among members of Congress and in farm voting on controls. Leaders of the big farm group felt the pendulum of government farm policies was swinging their way.

But then came the November election and the Johnson landslide victory over Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, the Republican presidential nominee. Goldwater held farm policy views that were pretty well in line with past Farm Bureau positions. The election greatly increased the strength of Democrats in Congress and reduced that of Republicans, many of whom had voted the Farm Bureau position in recent years.

How will the Farm Bureau accommodate itself to the election results?

That question will be answered by the convention delegates in the way they vote on policy resolutions. Many of the delegates can be expected to vote as they believe their members are thinking on farm programs.

The Johnson administration has eased the Farm Bureau job to some extent by stating that it has no desire to press for federal production controls on crops and commodities not now covered by them. Rather, spokesmen have said that the administration will seek extension, with some possible minor changes, present programs on cotton, wheat, feed grains, wool and sugar.

In the past the Farm Bureau has opposed the cotton, wheat and feed grain programs. Will it decide to continue this opposition in the face of the election results and the power of the Democrats in Congress?

Farm Bureau President Charles B. Shuman has given his view that the big farm vote for Johnson did not mean that farmers want more government in their business. He said producers were influenced by the same issues that urban voters will be influenced by — peace and prosperity.

The convention will take up other questions of general public interest.

One will be a decision last summer by the Supreme Court regarding apportionment of memberships in state legislatures. The court held that representation must be based on population alone. In most states, one house has been based on population and the other on areas of varying populations.

The Farm Bureau has criticized this opinion and is expected to press for a constitutional amendment nullifying it. The decision will have the effect of greatly reducing voting strength of farmers in state law-making bodies. That's because the rural population has been declining and the urban population increasing.

The convention is expected to act also on a proposal that Farm Bureau members seek to buy a national food chain to strengthen farmers' bargaining power for their products. The Ohio Farm Bureau is urging such action.

Midshipman Reed Slates Addresses

MIDSHIPMAN REED

U. S. Naval Academy Midshipman First Class Michael P. Reed, 21, of Snyder, will address several local organizations during his Christmas leave, as a part of the Academy's "Operation Information" program.

"Operation Information" is designed to present current information on the life of a midshipman through personal appearances of selected midshipmen in their hometown areas. Items covered will include procedures for obtaining an appointment to the Academy, personal fitness of a candidate, the curriculum at Annapolis, and the benefits of a Navy career. Most of the midshipmen will use a color motion presentation in their program.

Midshipman Reed is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Reed of 2500 Westridge Drive. He graduated from Snyder High School in 1961. At Snyder High School he was a member of the golf team, student council, won scholastic achievement awards, and played in the stage band.

At the academy he has participated in varsity golf and has been named to the Superintendent's List. He is a member of the Naval Academy Ten Dance Band.

During his summer cruises he has served in the guided missile destroyer USS Dewey (DIG 14) and on the Plebe Indoctrination Detail.

Upon graduation he will be commissioned an Ensign in the U. S. Navy and will be awarded the bachelor of science degree. He is expected to graduate in June of 1965.

Midshipman Reed will make three addresses in Snyder and two in Lubbock during the holidays. The Lubbock speaking engagements are set for Dec. 16 when he will speak at Monterey High School at 1:15 p.m. and at Lubbock High School at 2:30 p.m.

In Snyder, he will speak to the Snyder Jaycees at noon Dec. 18, to Snyder High School students at 10:30 a.m. Dec. 21, and to the Kiwanis Club of Snyder at noon Dec. 23.

Say Shooting Victim Could Recover

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Air Force doctors expressed optimism today for the recovery of a Dallas airman after what they described as a "history-making operation" for removal of three bullets from his head.

The bullets were removed Friday from Edward Hastings, 19, at Wilford Hall Air Force Hospital. He was flown here Thursday after he was found stumbling about in sub-freezing weather in a pasture near Wichita Falls.

Authorities are investigating the mysterious case.

Hastings is stationed at Sheppard Air Force Base at Wichita Fallas.

Lead Bridge Tourney

DALLAS (AP)—After two of the six sessions in the American Contract Bridge League's Blue Ribbon Pairs competition Friday, Tobias Stone of New York and Robert Wolff of San Antonio led the field with 393½ points.

No world leader before the late President John F. Kennedy has been so widely commemorated in geographical terms.

Belli Claims Jack Ruby Deteriorating

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Melvin Belli wants medical attention provided Jack Ruby in the Dallas County jail before the condemned man deteriorates "so badly we'll all be ashamed of what we have done."

At a news conference Friday, the San Francisco lawyer released a letter he had written Dist. Judge Joe Brown in Dallas.

Belli was chief of defense counsel in Ruby's trial for killing presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald. Ruby was sentenced to death.

The letter had nothing to do with the case, but only with his "feelings as a human being," Belli told newsmen.

Ruby, Belli said, [illegible] "is psychotic and [illegible] medical attention badly. His family won't ask for medical attention and apparently his present lawyers . . . won't ask for it either . . ."

"If this boy isn't given some medical psychiatric attention directly, we're not going to have this tragic figure alive when his case gets through the appellate courts."

"If he was anyone but Jack Ruby, I believe he would have been moved to a mental institution a long time ago.

"If we leave him as he is in the county jail, he's going to deteriorate so badly we'll all be ashamed of what we have done. Or he will have succeeded in his avowed purpose to commit suicide."

It may be too late to help Ruby, Belli's letter said, "but I can't let this Christmas season . . . (approach) and think of Christ's teachings without asking you to do something for this forlorn person who was caught in the tragic events of that tragic weekend."

Belli told reporters he thought FBI Chief J. Edcar Hoover has "outlived any usefulness" and accused Hoover of trying to establish a police state.

Fee To Be 1 Million

By R. GREG NOKES

KANAB, Utah (AP) — An attorney who has been helping Indians with their legal problems almost from the time he left law school says he will receive $1 million from one grateful tribe.

The fee is one of the biggest ever awarded in like circumstances.

The tribal council of the Hopi Tribe in northeast Arizona voted the sum this week for John S. Boyden of Salt Lake City, who helped win an important land case after 26 years of work.

The council said $778,000 was for legal fees and $220,000 was in appreciation for "taking the case when no one else would."

The case involved a dispute with the nearby Navajo Indians over more than 2½ million acres of resource-rich land.

Under a lower court decision upheld last year by the U.S. Supreme Court, the tiny Hopi Tribe of 5,900 members received clear title to 631,000 acres and one-half interest in another two million acres.

Close Call For Plane At Abilene

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — A Trans-Texas Airways plane with 34 passengers aboard circled this West Central Texas city for 30 minutes Friday night because of landing gear trouble.

The trouble was corrected, however, and the Convair 240 made a normal landing. One side of a tricycle landing gear would not lock as the plane arrived.

Another plane was sent from Dallas to carry the passengers on to Albuquerque, N.M.

Airman At Dyess Killed By Auto

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Airman 2.C. William Thrasher, 19, stationed at Dyess Air Force Base here, was struck by a car killed Friday night while walking along Interstate 20 in Abilene. A driver's license gave an Arlington, Tex., address.

An Important Industry

SAYS "THANKS"

IMPORTANT because . . .

. . . the oil well servicing companies represent one of the vital — and major — industries operating in the Permian Basin. By its very size and scope, it contributes substantially to the economic well-being of this community and others like it. A few hard facts can best illustrate the importance of these companies to the Snyder economy . . . an investment of $1,800,000 in well servicing units and rigs manned by more than 130 employees . . . an annual payroll totaling $920,000 plus local purchases of petroleum products, parts, supplies and services. These figures represent only the firms listed below.

THANKS because . . .

. . . a simple "thank you" is our way of expressing appreciation for the recent wage increase for our employees made possible though the acceptance of new contracts by many of the oil producers in this area. Thus far, 45 oil well servicing firms in the Permian Basin have granted, or are in the process of granting, wage increases to their personnel.

The wage increase serves to bring some degree of permanency and stability to the ranks of our labor force and will aid materially in stemming the serious flow of trained and competent personnel to other industries. So a sincere "thanks" is in order for those oil companies who have made possible the wage hike.

The following oil well servicing firms have granted wage raises to their employees . . .

Upstart Tigers Nip Monterey By 67-61

SEMINOLE — Snyder High's upstart Tigers battled highly favored Lubbock Monterey down to the wire and snatched a 67-61 victory in the closing seconds Friday night in the opening game of the Seminole Basketball Tournament.

The Tigers were to face host Seminole, an easy winner over Hereford, for the title Saturday night.

The Snyder team literally outfought the taller Plainsmen in making a spectacular surge in the final quarter to take the victory.

The score was tied at 61-61 with only 35 seconds of playing time remaining in the game — and Monterey had the ball. However Drew Bullard stole the ball and drove for a shot. He was fouled and made two free tosses to put the Tigers ahead 63-61.

Then, with 15 seconds remaining, Monterey missed a shot and Snyder got the rebound. Leslie Brown, the game's top scorer, got off a hurried shot. He made his basket for two points and Monterey was charged with a deliberate fowl, giving Brown a couple of charity tosses. He made both of them and that was the ball game.

Snyder cont - rebounded the Monterey team taking the ball off the boards 38 times, compared to 26 for the Plainsmen. Leslie Anderson was the top rebounder with 8, while Steve Crowell and Brown had 7 each.

Brown accounted for 20 points as the Tigers hit 52 per cent of their shots from the field. They hit 9 of 18 in the first half and 13 of 24 in the second half. Meanwhile Monterey was hitting 16 of 34 in the first half and 10 of 22 in the second for an overall average of 45 per cent.

The Tigers held a 17-16 lead at the end of the first period, but this had vanished and Monterey led by 33-29 at half-time. The Plainsmen still held at 49-44 advantage at the end of the third period and led by as much as 8 points one time in the fourth.

Snyder B Edges Andrews, 64-62

Snyder's B team basketballers edged Andrews in a spine - tingler Saturday morning, 64-62, to move into the consolation finals of their own invitational tournament.

Defending Champion Lubbock Monterey had highlighted Friday's opening action by turning back Brownfield, 43-37.

Big Spring nipped Snyder, 46-43, in the opening round to send the locals into the consolation bracket. Snyder B was scheduled to meet Midland Lee in the consolation finals at 4:30 p.m. Saturday. Midland Lee waxed Brownfield, 91-60, in its second game Friday night. The Midland team had been edged by Seminole, 51-49, in the tournament opener Friday afternoon.

Sandy Wellborn paced Snyder B to victory in its second round game Saturday morning, scoring 20 points. Rob Golden was close behind with 15. In the opener Friday against Big Spring, Golden's 15 points was high, while Bobby Clardy was runnerup with 12.

In the Saturday morning game, Snyder ran up a 39-14 advantage at half - time, but Andrews started hacking away at the margin and by the end of the third period the lead had been cut to 13 points. Andrews then surged to within two points of the locals before the final whistle.

Andrews had gone out of the championship bracket by virtue of a 78-34 loss to Lubbock High in the opening round.

All finals in the tournament were booked for Saturday evening.

Red Hot Chicago Reverses Tactics

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Quick now, which team in the National Football League has completed the most passes this season? The Baltimore Colts? Washington Redskins? Philadelphia Eagles?

No, of course not. It's those free-wheeling, wide-open, helter-skelter Chicago Bears, who had to abandon their traditional grind-'em-out, close-to-the-vest style of play when it all backfired in their dismal beginning this season.

So they started throwing, now have won three straight, have a 5-7 record and a shot at second place in the West, and, of all things, a flock of passing records to take today into their test with the Green Bay Packers.

That sole Saturday game, a nationally televised contest, serves as the preview to Sunday's clash between the Cleveland Browns and St. Louis Cardinals in their struggle for first place in the East.

Other NFL games Sunday are Minnesota at New York, Los Angeles at San Francisco, Detroit at Baltimore, Pittsburgh at Washington and Dallas at Philadelphia.

In the American League, Boston is at Kansas City, New York at San Diego and Buffalo at Oakland, all in Sunday games. Denver and Houston are idle.

The big one is the Browns-Cards battle at St. Louis with Cleveland, 9-2-1, needing only a tie to clinch its first division title since 1957. Should St. Louis, 7-3-2, win, however, the struggle would go down to the last week of the season.

Both teams won last week, the Browns beating Philadelphia 38-24 with Jim Brown adding 133 yards to his rushing total of 1,288 yards, and the Cards coming from behind for a 21-20 edge over Pittsburgh. The Cards and Browns tied 33-33 in their first meeting this year.

The Bears are two games under .500 but still have a shot at the No. 2 position and a place in the Playoff Bowl game between the runners-up in each division. Green Bay, 7-5 and in second place in the West, also is shooting for a spot in the Playoff Bowl and won their first game with Chicago this season 23-12. Neither the Packers nor the Bears have a chance at the top spot, however. Baltimore already has clinched.

Odessa Fires Two Coaches

PAMPA (AP) — Coaching changes are starting in high school ranks.

Otis Holladay resigned at Pampa High School Friday but will remain in the system as a classroom teacher. His team had a 3-7 record.

Coaches Bradley Mills of Odessa, whose team was district champion, and Jim Cashion of Odessa Permian were dismissed by the Ector County School Board Friday.

Their contracts were not renewed because principals of the two schools said fans were dissatisfied with their coaching. The principals recommended dismissal.

12 Teams Vault Into Semifinals

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

Twleve teams rode an upset trail into the semifinals of Texas schoolboy football Friday night but Garland, the only defending champion left in the field, merely indicated that it again was the team to beat.

The Owls hung to the ground most of the way for a 21-7 victory over Fort Worth Paschal to march into the penultimate round, where they will meet the winner of today's Amarillo Tascosa-Ysleta melee at Amarillo.

Galena Park rolled on unbeaten and untied with a 21-0 victory over Houston Jones and San Antonio Highlands rapped McAllen 20-12 in the other two Class AAAA quarterfinal games.

Galena Park and Highlands will clash in the semifinals.

The loudest crash of the season occurred at El Campo where swashbuckling Hull-Daisetta, rated No. 1 all the way, took a 20-8 hammering from Ingleside to throw Class A topsy-turvy.

Other favorites fell in a Friday night of surprises. Clifton, well ranked in Class A, took a 26-14 licking from twice-beaten Archer City. Unbeaten, untied Atlanta was clubbed 20-14 by Marlin in Class AA where Palacios showed fearsome power in a 32-6 triumph over Los Fresnos.

Things went according to form in Class AAA with a 103-yard run proving the sensation. Rox Goodwine of San Marcos did the job—running back an attempted field goal for this distance as he sparked his team to a 7-6 triumph over Kerrville.

Palestine beat Bonham 22-0 and undefeated, untied Vidor rushed over Lamar Consolidated 28-2 in other Class AAA quarterfinal, leaving one place to be filled in the semifinals. Andrews and Wichita Falls Hirschi clash at Abilene today for this spot.

In the semifinals the Andrews-Hirschi winner meets Palestine while Vidor rolls against San Marcos.

Class AA also has three semifinalists determined. Denver City, unbeaten and untied, edged Stamford 6-0 in the snow at Snyder Friday night while Marlin was nudging Atlanta and Palacios was manhandling Los Fresnos.

Taylor and Port Acres clash at Houston tonight to complete the semifinal bracket, in which Denver City plays Marlin and Taylor-Port Acres winner meets Palacios.

Seven Over Par Is Enough For Title

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — Seven-over-par golf was good enough to net Alvin Odom Jr. of Galveston, Tex., the national left-handed championship and $650 top money.

Odom's final round, a two-over-par 73, made his 72-hole total 291 on the 6,606-yard DeSoto Lakes Country Club course Friday.

Thorne Wood of Asheboro, N.C., was runner-up with 295. Howard Brown of Detroit was third at 296.

Denver City Subdues Stubborn Stamford

Denver City's Mustangs, frustrated for 46 minutes and 40 seconds by a stubborn Stamford defense, finally reached the end zone for a touchdown in the dying moments of the ball game and edged the Bulldogs, 6-0, in a high school Class AA quarterfinal football game Friday night in Tiger Stadium.

It was a bruising defensive battle from start to finish as the two teams performed before a crowd of some 4,500 persons in 26 degree weather. Fortunately, swirling snow which descended on the field half an hour before the kickoff disappeared just about the time the two teams took the field to begin the game.

Actually, Denver City didn't need the touchdown. The Mustangs were riding high with the game's only penetration when they came into possession of the football at the Stamford 18 yard line when a Stamford gamble failed to pay off. Stamford Quarterback Rusty Kelly had dropped back to pass on a fourth down and 39 yards to go situation when he was swarmed under at his own 18.

On the next play, Denver City's Jerry Martin started around his own left end on an option play, but spotted Jimmy Young wide open in the end zone and let go with the touchdown toss. Young gathered it in easily.

On the following kickoff, Stamford almost got a reprieve, but it didn't pan out. The ball was "topped" on the kickoff and it dribbled lazily to the Stamford 45 yard line. However, hard charging Denver City lads pounced on the ball and the Mustangs were able to run out the clock without Stamford getting possession again.

The Mustangs made the best sustained drive of the ball game in the second quarter, but were denied a score. The Denver City lads cranked up on their own 20 yard line and punched forward to the Stamford 5. At that point the Mustangs fumbled and the ball bounded into the Stamford end zone. The Bulldogs' Harrison Cole pounced on it for a touchback and Stamford was in business on its own 20. That was the only penetration of the 20 by either team until Denver City got its touchdown.

Stamford's best bid came early in the fourth period on a drive that started from its own 22 late in the third. A 32-yard pass from Rusty Kelly to Marc Lovvorn moved the Bulldogs to the Denver City 24. However, tough Mustangs defense pushed Stamford back to the 33 and a field goal attempt from the 39 on fourth down fell far short.

It was Denver City's second win in two successive engagements in Tiger Stadium. The Mustangs had moved to the quarterfinals by lashing Iowa Park, 26-8 here on Thanksgiving Day.

The Mustangs will face Marlin, which conquered Atlanta Friday night, in the semifinals.

Cappelletti Has Eye On Records

By The Associated Press

Gino Cappelletti, Mr. Versatile of the Boston Patriots, has an excellent chance at two important individual records and his teammates have an outside shot at a second straight divisional title as the American Football League season goes into the windup stages.

The Patriots, with only two games left, take a 9-2-1 record to Kansas City for one of the three league games scheduled Sunday. Boston desperately needs a victory — and help — in its attempt to overtake front-running Buffalo.

The mighty Bills, 10-1, have three games remaining, including Sunday's match with the Raiders at Oakland. New York 5-5-1, is at San Diego, 7-3-1, in the only other game scheduled. Denver and Houston are idle.

In the National Football League, Green Bay is at Chicago in a Saturday game, while the Sunday schedule has Cleveland at St. Louis, Minnesota at New York, Los Angeles at San Francisco, Detroit at Baltimore, Pittsburgh at Washington and Dallas at Philadelphia.

The Patriots get lots of help from Cappelletti, but need some from an outside source if they're to win their second straight Eastern Division title. Even if they win their two remaining games — including the regular season finale with Buffalo — someone else must at least tie the Bills to force a playoff game.

Serving double duty as a regular pass-catching end and placekicking specialist, Cappelletti now has 142 points for the season, just five short of his own league record of 147. And he has kicked 24 field goals, three short of the record 27 by Denver's Gene Mingo.

Buffalo can clinch with two victories in three games, regardless what Boston does. Oakland, however, could cause trouble. The Raiders, off to a dreary start and only 3-7-2 for the season, apparently have found themselves, winning two and tying one in their last three outings. Clem Daniels is one big reason, coming on strong in the last three games and now third in the league in rushing with 623 yards.

Buffalo, which put together a 27-24 comeback against San Diego in its outing, will rely strongly on controversial Cookie Gilchrist, who is within 162 yards of another 1,000 yard season.

Razorbacks Dominate Dream Team

DALLAS (AP) — Arkansas landed nine players, six of them on the defensive unit, on the All-Southwest Conference football team selected for the Dallas Times Herald by the players.

Ballots went to 176 players — the top 22 on each of the eight conference schools. They were not permitted to vote for members of their own team.

Texas came up with five places, Texas Christian three and Baylor, Rice, Texas Tech, Southern Methodist and Texas A&M one each.

Donny Anderson, Texas Tech halfback, received 145 of the possible 154 votes to come nearest to unanimous selection.

He also was named back of the year.

Tommy Nobis of Texas made the team both as offensive guard and linebacker and also was voted lineman of the year.

Terry Southall, Baylor quarterback, was picked as sophomore back of the year.

Loyd Phillips, Arkansas tackle, was named sophomore lineman of the year.

The All-conference team selected by the players:

Offense

Ends—Lawrence Elkins, Baylor, and Jerry Lamb, Arkansas.

Tackles — Glen Ray Hines, Arkansas, and Norman Evans, Texas Christian.

Guards—Tommy Nobis, Texas, and Steve Garmon, Texas Christian.

Center — Malcolm Walker, Rice.

Quarterback — Fred Marshall, Arkansas.

Halfbacks — Donny Anderson, Texas Tech, and Jim Fauver, Texas Christian.

Fullback — Harold Philipp, Texas.

Defense

Ends—Knox Nunnally, Texas, and Jim Finch, Arkansas.

Tackles—Loyd Phillips, Arkansas, and Ray Gene Hinze, Texas A&M.

Guards — Jim Johnson, Arkansas, and John LaGrone, Southern Methodist.

Linebackers — Ronny Caveness, Arkansas, and Tommy Nobis, Texas.

Halfbacks—Ken Hatfield, Arkansas; Bill Gray, Arkansas, and Joe Dixon, Texas.

NAIA Title Game Is Set

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Sam Houston State and Concordia (Minn.) College clash here next Saturday for the football championship of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

It is called the Champion Bowl and matches teams that emerged from an elimination.

Sam Houston won the Eastern NAIA playoff by beating Findlay (Ohio) College 32-21.

Corcordia, rated No. 1 by the NAIA, whipped Linfield (Ore.) College 28-6 in the Western NAIA playoff.

Sam Houston has a 9-2 record, Concordia 10-0.

Both teams have outstanding ground attacks with Sam Houston scoring 207 points to 93 for its opponents. Concordia rolled up 287 points to 58.

Yankee second baseman Bobby Richardson set a World Series record by making 13 hits.

Deep South Tilts End Grid Season

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The College football season bows out with a rebel yell in New Orleans and Oxford, Miss., today while three bowl games get the annual post-season parade into step.

Florida visits Sugar Bowl-bound Louisiana State and Mississippi, en route to the Blue-bonnet Bowl despite a frustrating season, entertains arch-rival Mississippi State in Southeastern Conference games that wind up the regular campaign.

Florida A&M and Grambling, La., College match speed and bulk in the Orange Blossom Classic at Miami, with the mythical Negro college championship at stake. Service foes Ft. Eustis, Va., and Ft. Benning, Ga., meet in the Missile Bowl at Orlando, Fla., and Sul Ross, Tex., State tackles East Central Oklahoma State in the All-Sports Bowl at Oklahoma City.

LSU, ranked No. 7 in the final Associated Press poll and the injury-depleted Gators will be vying for second place in the SEC — behind national champion Alabama — in a night game originally scheduled for last Oct. 3 but set back by a hurricane.

Florida, 6-3 on the season, will start senior Tom Shannon at quarterback in place of injured Steve Spurrier. LSU flanker-place kicker Doug Moreau needs five points to overtake Alabama's David Ray and capture the conference scoring title. His 11 field goals also put him within two of the national season record, set by Auburn's Ed Dyas in 1960.

Win or lose, the Tigers have a Sugar Bowl date with Syracuse New Year's Day.

Mississippi, rated No. 1 in the country in pre-season polls, will meet Tulsa in the Bluebonnet Bowl at Houston, Dec. 26, but a loss to Mississippi State would mean a lost season for the Rebels.

They own a 5-3-1 mark, having been beaten by LSU, Florida and Kentucky and tied by Vanderbilt. But they haven't lost to the Maroons, 3-6, since 1946 and will be solid favorites in the traditional finale. Mississippi State is crippled by injuries while the Rebels have a formidable pass-run punch in quarterback Jim Weatherly and halfback Mike Dennis.

The game will be televised nationally by NBC.

Bob Hayes, the Olympic sprint champion, leads a strong and fast Florida A&M club, 8-1, against an even bigger Grambling team bulwarked by 248-pound tackle Alphonse "Frankenstein" Dodson. The Louisiana team, 9-1, averages 230 pounds from end to end while A&M has its own behemoth in 6-7, 280-pound Moose Cornish.

Hayes, Dodson and six others — three from each school — have been drafted by professional clubs.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

MEXICO CITY — A fellow from Illinois wrote asking if the Lady from Puebla has a name and says how does she put up with me? Now this will take a lot of answering.

Her complete legal name is Maria Luisa Josefina de los Sagrados Corazones de Jesus y Gomez Daza Abney. Which is the chief reason I refer to her as the Lady from Puebla.

And mostly, she doesn't put up with me. At least not very well. She has a gall bladder and a liver and prostrations which she claims are all my fault.

For instance, I fail to notice the time when I go out to play chess some nights and get home around 4 or 5 a.m. This starts a malfunction of the gall bladder and liver and she makes speeches that give you the impression Lincoln's Gettysburg Address was a short oration by a kindergarten student.

And I tell her something like, "Gee, you had it easy lying here in bed while I was having lousy booze forced down my throat and dancing with unknown ladies all night."

This brings on apoplexy.

Of course there are several cures for these types of illnesses. Like I tell her, "How about let's go out to dinner tonight?" and right away she leaps out of bed and begins putting on her face and getting in the circus tent material girdle.

Sometimes during the hours of waiting, I start the machinery going and work on a sapphire. A little chopping here and there and maybe a star shows. So when I see a star appearing in a sapphire I am not about to stop even for the late TV show.

So she comes down with her war paint on and says she is ready and I have to tell her, "Aw, I thought you said no and I started this sapphire. If you stop working a sapphire right in the middle they explode from a strange inner pressure."

Then she explodes from her strange inner pressure.

And she will put the arm on me for some money for the kids' clothes or their school. And when I tell her, "My goodness, I dropped every cent I had on John Alius' horse at the track yesterday," she goes purple which is the sign of ulcers.

She shouts, "You told me you wouldn't feed Alius' horse to a dog much less bet on it!"

And I say, "Alius wouldn't let me feed his horse to a dog. He is very fond of the horse. It stays in the house with him and they go to the movies together. Anyhow, he told me it was running against a herd of goats and carrying long odds."

Of course I am only jesting because I would not bet on Mr. Alius' glue bag if it was running alone. This animal stops to graze along the way around the track and sometimes doesn't come in until Wednesday.

Anyhow, I am generally good for the money and I take her to dinner but she doesn't think my excuses are funny. She just plain doesn't have a sense of humor which is the basis of the whole problem.

You really can't expect any more from a person with a name like hers. And with "Abney" hung on the end of what she was already carrying around — well, how ridiculous can you get?

Gas Processors Schedule Meeting

The Permian Basin Chapter, Natural Gas Processors Association, will hold it's first winter meeting at the Ranchland Hills Country Club, Midland, Tuesday.

Joe L. Brown, manager, Gas Pipeline Development for Shell Oil Company's Midland area and President of the Del-Mex Gas Corporation, will speak on "The Del-Mex Gas Corporation and its Objectives." Del-Mex is jointly - owned by the Pure Oil Company and Shell Oil Company.

Brown has 31 years of service with Shell and has been located in Midland since 1948. He is a native of Mississippi and a graduate of Louisiana State University.

A social hour will begin at 6:30 p.m. with dinner at 7:30 p.m.

Even under Communist rule, restaurants in Peking have extravagantly flowery names — "Unbounded Virtue and Happiness," for example, and "Accumulated Virtue."

'Today' Unique In TV Industry

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Each working day — and many holidays — during the year, a hardy band of television performers and technicians arises at 4:30 a.m. and by assorted methods of transporation reaches a midtown Manhattan studio.

There, from 7 to 9, is produced a potpourri of news, features, entertainment and, of course, commercials called "Today." In one form or another, this has been going on profitably for almost 13 years and is a unique television institution.

For the first 10 years, Dave Garroway smoothly presided over the two-hour television eye-opener. Then, for a while, John Chancellor took over. Since September 1962, Hugh Downs has been the head man, at least on camera.

"No show on television has changed so completely and quietly," said Al Morgan, "Today" producer who took over at about the time Downs joined the program. "The public really names its shows, and during Dave's years, they called it 'the Garroway show.' Then, John Chancellor turned it into what was really a two-hour hard news show. I came in at the end of the Chancellor period and attempted to rebuild the show with Downs accenting other values, particularly feature stories and entertainment."

Although it seems to run along smoothly day after day, "Today" isn't the easiest show in the world to put together, partly because of the character of its viewers, partly because its format is so completely flexible.

"We figure that the average viewer catches 19 or 20 minutes of the program," Morgan said. "And we believe, logically, that we have a large women's audience. And I know that we have a huge 'lost' audience that can never be measured by the ratings services. They are men who are staying at hotels. You walk down any hotel corridor in the morning and you'll hear that just about every TV set is tuned in to our show."

Bedrock on which Morgan builds his daily two hours is news — four national newscasts in the two hours. The show also keeps up with new books, plays, moton pictures, art and even architecture.

It is a show, of course, to be treasured. Where else in television can one find intelligent discussions of cancer care, modern art, travel, marionettes — and sometimes all crowded into one show.

"That's the idea," said Morgan. "If you tune us in daily, you should be up to date when you tune us out."

Stunt Man Has Talent Of Own

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Says Charlton Heston: "Ask any four men who was the greatest prize-fighter, and you're liable to get four different answers. The same is true in any discussion of the greatest author, football player, film director.

"But ask any stunt man who was the greatest in the stunt business and you will get only one answer: Yakima Canutt. He is also the greatest of the action directors for the simple reason that he wrote the book."

Heston should know. It was Canutt who directed the chariot race in "Ben-Hur" and the battles in "El Cid." Now Joe Canutt, son of the stunt master, is directing action scenes for Heston's latest epic, "The War Lord."

Not that Yakima, just turned 69, is ready for pasture. Far from it. He was getting ready for another long and strenuous film location, "Khartoum," starring Burt Lancaster. Already he is devising massacres, native charges and desert battles for the Africa-localed film.

He isn't from Yakima at all. He was born on his family's ranch at Colfax, Wash., where he learned early how to handle any kind of horse. His nickname came later when he was a rodeo champion and one day was photographed falling from a bronc.

His rodeo fame drew attention from the movies and he began an acting career 40 years ago. "I was a pretty lousy actor," he admitted, "but I did star in 48 five-reelers that went pretty well."

When work as a straight actor grew scarce he turned to stunt work.

Observed Heston: "Before, stunt men were a disorganized bunch who would take a chance on anything. A lot of them got killed that way. Yakima came along and reduced stunt work to a science. He could do greater stunts than anyone else because he developed ways of doing them safely."

Today's stunt men speak in reverent awe of Canutt's achievements. He was the first to perfect the riding of a horse off a high cliff into water. In "Stagecoach" he not only doubled for John Wayne but played the Indian who leaped on top of the racing team, then fell between the wheels of the coach.

When Yakima snapped both ankles in a fall from a wagon for a Roy Rogers movie, he figured it was time to quit. He turned to directing, first in serials, then in low-budget Westerns and finally to director of action sequences for big-budget epics.

Houston Man Named Bishop

HOUSTON (AP) — The very Rev. James M. Richardson, 51, dean of Houston's Christ Church Cathedral is the presiding bishop-elect of the Episcopal Diocese of Texas.

He succeeds the Rt. Rev. John E. Hines, who was chosen bishop-elect of the Episcopal Church, U. S., last October.

Dean Richardson's election came on the fifth ballot cast Friday by the 502 lay and clergy delegates representing the 57 counties of the diocese.

The choice is subject to confirmation by the national house of bishops. If approval is granted, Bishop-elect Richardson likely will be consecrated in January.

His gentle but articulate Southern Georgia drawl rang through the 117-year-old downtown sanctuary of Christ Church Cathedral as Dean Richardson pledged his best and asked the same from fellow churchmen.

Dean Richardson shared top honors on the first ballot of the council when he and two suffragen bishops — the Rt. Rev. Scott Bailey of Houston and the Rt. Rev. Percy Goddard of Tyler—became the prime contenders.

Fifteen priests from over the nation were nominated on the first ballot.

Nike Unit Enlistments Are Open

Captain David C. Weaver, Commanding Officer of the U. S. Army Recruiting Main Station, Abilene, has announced that the Army will accept young men for enlistment in the Nike Hercules Missile Unit stationed in Abilene. Under this limited enlistment option men who enlist for the Abilene Unit will be assigned there directly after basic training.

"This is a wonderful opportunity for young men interested in Military Service", the Captain said. "They will gain technical training in the unit, as well as fulfilling their military obligation at the same time".

If they wish they may continue their civilian education during off duty hours under the Army's educational program at one of Abilene's three colleges.

"The importance of enlisting for the Abilene unit is that the individual will serve right here, near his home, Captain Weaver said. I am sure there are many young men who would like to serve in the Abilene Missile Unit, and play an important part in the security and defense of the Abilene area". Those who are interested may contact local Army Recruiter Sgt. Joe Welch at 1825 Twenty - fifth Street, or call collect HI 3-9675 or HI 3-9934.

TRAVEL TALK

By Hulin Fowler

EDITOR'S NOTE: For answers to your travel questions, write to Mr. Fowler in care of this newspaper.

* * *

There is a beautiful exotic foreign land just 3½ jet hours from Dallas where English is spoken exclusively, and which uses U.S. money as well as its own.

The place is New Providence, a 21-mile-long island of the Bahamas, better known for its lovely capital city, Nassau. The Bahamas consist of nearly 700 lush, tropical islands scattered over more than 70,000 square miles of the sea. Yet they lie almost at the doorstep of the United States, just 60 miles east of Palm Beach, Florida.

Columbus discovered the islands, set like crown jewels in the Atlantic, over 470 years ago. Ever since, tourists have been wondering why the old discoverer left the island paradise to go on and discover America.

The powdery, soft - hued beaches of the Bahamas are famous as the cleanest and most beautiful in the entire world, and the sapphire wafers surrounding the islands are without doubt the most crystal clear to be found anywhere. In fact, the irridescent waters have brought on one of the islands' most interesting tourist attractions, a trip in a glass - bottomed boat which offers an excellent view of coral, fish and other sea life deep in the sea.

Nassau, quaint tropical British city of about 50,000 people, is a cosmopolitan vacation center noted for its smart shops, restaurants and fine air - conditioned hotels. The weather at about this time of year is brisk and pleasant, with the temperature averaging about 75 degrees.

Nassau is well known for its rythmic steel bands which turn out delightful Latin - type music on instruments which seem to be made, in the main, of old gasoline drums. The fine shops in the city offer all types of luxury items but the most popular seem to be the delightful straw articles, mostly hats, which can be bought for a song in thousands of shapes, sizes and fashions. Visitors can bring back up to $100 in gifts duty-free.

Although Nassau offers all types of water sports, the world's finest fishing and excellent night life, the island is esentially a place to relax, to get away from the cares of the world.

One of the most relaxing pleasures of the island is a leisurely drive in one of the quaint fringe - topped, horse-drawn surreys. As the soft clop-clop of the horses' feet lulls the tourist into quiet reflection, he passes through the typically tropical city and goes on to see incredibly colorful tropic scenery — graceful green - leaved palms, bougainvillea, delicate pink and white fragipani, jasmine and gay scarlet poinciana.

Nassau has a buccaneer history and your trip will doubtless take you to the old forts, including Fort Charlotte with its eerie dungeons, Blackbeard's Tower, and Queen's Staircase, a flight of 66 steps hand-hewn from solid rock.

The British, who have controlled the islands since 1718, make it easy for tourists to visit their tourist paradise. All you need is proof of citizenship — even a poll tax receipt will do — a reasonable amount of finances for living expenses and a desire to relax for a few days or weeks.

PFC Hall In Exercises

Army PFC Clifford J. Hall, 21, son of Mrs. Vera R. Hall, 409 Thirtieth Street, Snyder, and other members of the 7th Infantry Division participated in Exercise "Flying Tackle," a four - day field training exercise held recently in Korea.

Frontier Cures Were Often Much Less Than Perfect

By BOB KERR
Amarillo News-Globe Writer
Written for The Associated Press

CANYON, Tex. (AP) — In frontier medicine, the cure was just about as bad as the sickness. And although many of the Western films had Old Doc as a central figure, he actually was a rarity.

C. Boone McClure, director of Panhandle - Plains Historical Museum, has studied treatments and cures of frontier sicknesses for years.

McClure says that because of the wooly frontier atmosphere, young doctors trained in the more genteel climate of the East did not often choose the wide open spaces.

What medical treatments were available were often based on material at hand and were administered many times by the patients themselves.

McClure's years of study disclosed fascinating treatments:

—For fevers, one of the most common sicknesses, the best cure included "eating a lot of chili and burying yourself in warm dry sand overnight."

The sand would draw poison from the system and "recovery would be immediate."

—For ant bite McClure said pioneers recommended an "application of bluing, soda and vinegar mixed." Also suggested was a mud pack, a pack made of barnyard manure, or washing with a strong salt water solution.

—Arrow wounds, though not common, had a treatment spelled out.

First, fill the wound with pepper berries. Then cover with a prickly pear poultice. This prickly pear poultice is very effective any time a poultice is needed. It is prepared by burning off the spines, splitting the pears open, heating them and applying them, still hot, to the wound.

—Aid, as today, there was asthma. But instead of the battery of sprays and bottled medicines, the frontier patients would drink a tea brewed of the jimson weed, with a mixture of honey and sulphur, sumac tea, or a concoction made from buttercups.

Or even more drastic — go down to the river before morning and catch a frog. The Asthma patient would then blow his breath in the frog's mouth. The frog dies before sundown and the asthma is cured for life.

—"Bunions were cured by tying a piece of salt pork over them each night for a week," McClure added.

—Several cold remedies existed.

Coal oil (Kerosene) and sugar was one. And some people preferred taking whole red chili pepers like pills. Eathing a lot of raw onions, or cooked onions, helped.

One Texas governor of the period went on record as saying "who the hell would want a better remedy than whiskey!"

—McClure found that about the only treatment for cramps was to turn the patient's shoes upside down under the bed.

—A permanent cure for diabetes was a tea made from the leaves or blossoms of the palo verde, a native weed. This was supposed to eliminate the sugar content of the blood.

—For an earache, simply blow the juice of a daisy was considered a sure cure.

—Fever blisters were treated by rubbing behind an ear, then rubbing the lip with the same finger. If the blister was in an advanced stage, a little ear wax worked wonders.

—Daily washing with buttermilk removed freckles, just as a vigorous rubbing with sliced cucumbers would.

—For headaches a mustard plaster on the back of the neck, along with one under each foot for five minutes was a cure. The Mexican cowboys wore fresh mesquite leaves under their sombreros to combat headaches.

Some of these cures carried over into the 20th Century, McClure said.

But today McClure personally recommends aspirins for mild headaches.

Anything more serious?

"Consult a doctor," McClure advises.

COOKIES LEND themselves conveniently to warm hospitality! They are always ready to serve guests —whether the guests are your children's playmates or your neighbor. The ever-full cookie jar is a pleasure to the family, too, inviting them to "snitch" delightful snacks.

Chocolate Chip Mixes Can Make Easy Work For Mom

Bar cookies are favorites with "cookie snitchers," and now they are so easy to make with a mix. Ever - popular Brownies, fudgy and good, are now better with the addition of chocolate chips! Chocolate Chip Fudge Brownie Mix comes with a package of Hershey Dainties in the box.

Another sure favorite is rich, chewy, golden Butterscotch Brownies with chocolate chips. The old - fashioned butterscotch flavor is delightful combined with semisweet chocolate pieces.

Keep your cookie jar filled the good and easy way with these delicious cookies and your kitchen will be a popular place.

Cookies are so welcome in lunch boxes, after school, for evening snacks and desserts. They are nourishing and welcome at all times. Lunches that go off to school and work each day are better with a few flavorful, satisfying cookies to sweeten the day. And they are even better with a few extra cookies included to share with a friend.

Peanut Brittle Chocolate Chip Cookies are delightfully crisp, so they really "go with milk." Their old - fashioned butterscotch flavor combines with sweet miniature marshmallows, crunchy salted peanuts and semisweet chocolate chips to make a whole new taste treat. These tempting cookies are made with a mix — Chocolate Chip Butterscotch Brownie Mix. All you add are the marshmallows and nuts.

Please the lunchbox carriers in your family some day soon with Peanut Brittle Chocolate Chip Cookies. Here is the recipe.

PEANUT BRITTLE CHOCOLATE CHIP COOKIES

Heat oven to 375 degrees. Prepare Chocolate Chip Butterscotch Brownie Mix as directed on pkg. except — omit water and add ½ cup miniature marshmallows and ½ cup salted peanuts to mixture. Blend well. Shape into balls, 1¼"; roll in confectioners' sugar. Place 2" apart on ungreased baking sheet. Bake 10 to 12 min. Remove immediately from pan. Makes 2½ to 3 doz. cookies.

Architect To Meet With Women's Club

A special called meeting of the membership of the Martha Ann Woman's Club will be held Monday, Dec. 7 at the clubhouse.

Ralph Spencer, Lubbock architect, will meet with the club members. He will be available to answer questions concerning the building itself.

Mrs. Claudine Atwood, president of the Woman's Club, urged all clubs to have a representative at this meeting. She further said that it was important that as many members as possibly could attend.

Newspaper Grows With Country

OLDER THAN THE NATION. The Story of the Hartford Courant. By John Bard McNulty.

This is the two - century history of the newspaper that carries on its editorial page the heading, "Established 1765 — The Oldest Newspaper of Continuous Publication in America."

As a chronicle in journalism, it is a detailed study of the long, illuminating progress from a little hand - printed sheet dating from shortly after the French and Indian Wars to the modern daily.

Incidental to the main story is a view of local and national history, as reflected in the Courant's coverage of wars, disasters, politics, social changes and modern trends.

Among the personalities who appear in these pages are several interesting editors — Charles Dudley Warner, who became nationally known as an author; Charles Hopkins Clark, a major figure in the journalistic world, and Emile Graveau, whose tenure was somewhat abbreviated because of his unorthodox approach to the handling of news.

For many readers the most engaging episodes will be those in the Courant's earliest days. It reported the Boston Tea Party in 1773 in one mocking sentence. It became a major voice of colonial resistance under the guidance of a widow with five children. It's proprietors brought out in 1783 a Noah Webster speller that eventually set a record for an American book at 100 million copies.

The author, a professor at Trinity College, has presented a thorough - going resume of how a vigorous newspaper has grown with its city and its nation.

Avocado-Orange Sherbet

2 eggs
¾ cup each sugar and light corn syrup
2 cups buttermilk
1 can (6 ounces) frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed
2 medium avocados

In a large bowl, beat the eggs well; gradually beat in the sugar, then the corn syrup. Mix in buttermilk and undiluted orange concentrate. Turn into a metal pan; freeze until almost firm — about 1 hour. Turn into large mixer bowl; break into small pieces; quickly mash avocado (to make 1 cup) and add; beat until smooth. Return to pan or serving dishes; freeze until firm — about 3 hours. Makes 2 quart.

When you turn out a butter cake on a wire rack, it's a good idea to use another rack to turn the cake right side up. If you don't do this, the top of the cake may stick to the rack.

Nice for lunch: a rich cheese sauce served over crisp toast and garnished with broiled mushrooms, sardines, broiled tomato halves and bacon strips or hot asparagus spears.

MRS. REGINALD SCARBOROUGH

A. Edmiston, R. Scarborough Wed In Weatherford Church

WEATHERFORD — Texas Tech students Miss Anita Jean Edmiston and Mr. Reginald Lee Scarborough repeated wedding vows at 8 p.m. on Saturday, November 28th, in the First Baptist Church. The Rev. Stanley O. White officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Edmiston and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Scarborough, 2207 Thirty - second Street, Snyder.

Sisters Attend Bride

Bridal attendants were Miss Janie Edmiston and Mrs. Larry Tipton, sisters of the bride, maid of honor and matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Sheila Helbing of Richardson and Miss Mary Adele Wilson of Sonora. Mrs. Jack Jackson was bridesmatron. The attendants wore white peau de soie metallic brocade dresses with overblouses and full - length bell skirts. Their headpieces were metallic gold brocade pillboxes with illusion veils. They carried white carnations with metallic gold candles.

Best man was Charles Gladson of Snyder. Groomsmen were David Rankin of Midland, Pat Campbell of Levelland, Tommy Doyle of Lamesa, C. C. Willis of Bay City and Stan Collier of Lubbock.

Guests were seated by Kent Hance of Lubbock, Bob Black of Dallas, Barry Rogers of Lubbock and Larry Tipton of Grand Prairie.

Candles Lighted

Deborah Harrison, Stacy and Faye Scarborough of Denver City were candleleighters and flower girls.

Organist Mrs. Dan Owen accompanied soloist Mrs. Lewis Whitson, sister of the groom.

The bride's father presented her in marriage. She wore a white brocade peau de soie full-length dress with long sleeves and a detachable train on the bell skirt. Her tiered veil was attached to a pillbox covered in white brocade peau de soie. The bridal bouquet was an orchid with carnations.

The bride's travel ensemble was a kelly green two - piece suit with brown accessories. The couple honeymooned in Dallas.

Mrs. Scarborough is a candidate for graduation in June from Tech. She is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha social sorority.

Scarborough is a senior at Tech and will attend the University of Houston school of pharmacy. He is a member of the Red Raider football team and Delta Tau Delta social fraternity.

Butter Cream Frosting

1 package (6 ounces) semi - sweet chocolate pieces
¼ cup boiling water or coffee
¼ cup confectioners sugar
4 egg yolks
½ cup soft butter
2 tablespoons rum, if desired

Blend the chocolate, covered, on high speed of electric blender for 6 seconds. Turn blender off and with a spatula scrape away chocolate from sides of container. Add boiling water; cover and blend on high speed for 6 seconds. Add sugar, egg yolks, butter and, if used, the rum. Cover and blend for 15 seconds longer, or until frosting is smooth. Chill, if necessary, until frosting is a good spreading consistency.

Early TOPS Celebrates

The Snyder Early TOPS celebrated its first anniversary with a special program Tuesday at the Scurry County Boys' Club. The Snyder Early TOPS was formed in December of 1963.

Highlight of the special program was a skit, "This Is the Life of A TOPS Club Member." Also, there was a "big dress" parade by members of the club who wore the dresses they had worn before losing weight.

The following awards were presented: Queen of the year, Faye Bond, losing 46¾ pounds; six - months queen, Faye Bond; queen for month of November, Faye Bond; top weekly loser, Mildred Clark, losing 4½ pound "Mrs. Congeniality" award, Mildred Clark, first runnerup, Jo Cotton, second runnerup, Jean Howell and JuNelle Lee; "Mrs. Most Improved" award, Jo Cotton, first runnerup, Marie Aaron, second runnerup, JuNelle Lee.

Guests were present from the Rotan TOPS Club and the Snyder Toperettes.

Coffee was served to members and guests following the program.

Library Notes

For nearly 2000 years man has met each anniversary of Christ's birth with expressions of reverence and joy. The treasures of the talented and traditions of the humble through out the ages are gathered together in many volumes already on the Scurry County Library's shelves. Several new books as well as recordings have been added only recently in an effort to enrich the holiday season for all Scurry countians.

Beginning Monday, Dec. 7th Christmas records will be checked for one week only to allow more people to take advantage of the library's supply of seasonal music selections. Many church groups use these records for special occasions. Schools scout groups and local families enjoy them as well.

Among new books being added this year is a treasury of Christmas literature beautifully illustrated. This group includes three volumes published by Life and accompanied by a long playing high fidelity recording.

In the first volume, "The Glory of Christmas," the story of the Nativity recalls the first Christmas in text and illustrated by magnificent reproductions of the great paintings, sculptures and mosaics of the life of Christ. All illustrations are represented in true full color.

Volume I, "The Pageantry of Christmas," traces traditions of the Yuletide observance from the earliest years to the present time. It shows how traditions developed and how these have changed throughout the Christian world. This edition begins with the pagans who adapted their ancient rites to a new religion and traces the Yule observances through the Medeval spectacle when knights celebrated with Christmas tourneys, the Victorian era with its splendor, to present day customs echoing from the distant past. This volume tells how the first Christmas cards, trees and the idea of Santa Claus originated.

"The Merriment of Christmas," the last volume of this group, is for those wishing to plan special Christmas programs, parties or family get - togethers during the holiday season. It has gathered the best recipes — some very old but adapted for today's cooking — from roast goose to the wassail bowl for serving guests holiday beverages. It gives ideas for the handsomest tree, home decorating and giftwrapping. This volume also suggests interesting games for special parties that will be enjoyed by all age groups.

The Record, "Christmas Music," has a collection of 18 songs. This was recently recorded by chorus and orchestra under the direction of Lehman Engel, featuring the Boy Choristers of the Church of the Transfiguration of New York. Included are the most beloved carols, as well as some not so familiar numbers such as the tender Czech "Rocking Carol," the 17th century French "Pâtapan," and a Gregorian chant for Christmas vespers.

An album of songs performed by the Salt Lake City Tabernacle Choir is also new. This album titled, "The Mormon Tabernacle Choir Sings Christmas Carols," records a significant portion of the first Christmas story, and includes 13 of the season's best known carols and songs. Christmas music is essentially joyous, but Christ The Nativity theme with its emotional uplift and grandeur has persuaded the world's greatest composers to write in larger forms than that of the simple carol. Such music is best enjoyed when performed by trained, organized singers and instrumentalists. The Mormon choir album contains both types of Christmas music.

A new recording by Tennessee Ernie Ford was put into circulation this week by the library. Ford sings his Christmas favorites on this record. It richly reflects the Christmas of the Tennessee schoolboy, the church choir leader, and the mature performer. Ernie has chosen carols that are re - born each Christmas in many lands. Carols belonging to the American Christmas are sung by this man of deep religious feeling, sung as honestly as Tennessee Ernie Ford learned them and as honestly as they were written. Ford has recorded 14 of his favorite carols.

Two books new to the youth section of the library will be of interest to adults as well as the younger groups. "Let's Make Presents," by Esther Hautzig shows how to make 100 gifts for less than one dollar each. All the gifts described are easy to make and can be constructed from inexpensive materials that are readily available. Step - by - step directions are given for making aprons, candy, Christmas tree decorations, cuff links, belts, cookies and many other appealing and practical presents. Clear diagrams supplement the directions, and there are illustrations for each finished article. These gifts can be made by one person or a whole family. The book can be used by parents and teachers in schools, church groups and scout organizations.

A beautifully illustrated book, "Pat's Journey to the Holy Land," by Sven Gillsater can be enjoyed by children of all ages and grownups too. An internationally known Swedish photographer tells of a fascinating trip with his daughter through the lands of the Bible. They traveled through the land, now divided into Israel and Jordan, visiting Jerusalem and Nazareth, the Jordan River and the Sea of Galilee. The lovely full color photographs and the simply told story provide delightful reading and viewing for both children and adults on this contemporary journey to ancient places. The text was translated from the Swedish by Annabelle MacMillan.

Tucked away between the covers of many books in the Scurry County library are stories and factual information covering all away from the hurry and scurry aspects of the Christmas season that the present day celebrations. These books will entertain, bring cheer, enlighten and delight all who take to heart the written word, pictorial representations, seek their closely held information. To brighten and heighten and the beautiful music of the the joyous season, and to get into the season.

Phyl's Apple Betty

8 pounds McIntosh apples
1 cup packaged graham cracker crumbs
½ cup sugar
¼ pound butter
Vanilla ice cream

Peel and core apples; halve and slice thin. In a buttered baking dish (about 11 by 7 by 2 inches) arrange a layer of the apples, sugar and crumbs; dot with butter. Repeat layers making three in all. Cover with foil. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven for 1 hour; remove foil 10 minutes before end of baking time. Serve warm topped with ice cream. Makes 8 servings.

Behind The Story

I CAN TELL IT NOW. Edited by David Brown and W. Richard Bruner.

In the last 25 years of turbulent history, and nation's top-ranking journalists often have found themselves observing and recording scenes and events that were obscured or supressed in the heat of day's events.

Now we can catch up with a great many of these background tales. What we have here is a collection of articles by 38 members of the Overseas Press Club of America. Some of their stories contain first - told secrets, many of them throw a new illumination on recent history.

The volume is arranged chronologically, beginning with Louis P. Lochner's story of a 1939 Nazi propaganda trick that backfired, and Mary Welch Hemingway's memoir of the 1940 blitz on London.

For each of the 25 years there is one, or more, views of the major news events of the time. The bare labels are clues to the themes — Guadalcanal, Normandy, liberated Paris, FDR's death, Hitler's last hours, Mindszenty, Churchill, Ghandi, the start of the Korean war, the coronation of Elizabeth II, Stalin, the Supreme Court's school decision, Peron, Kadar, Khrushchev's rise, the U-2 flights, Castro - Laos, astronaut John Glenn, Pope John, the hot line to Moscow, the Kennedy assassination, the Johnson succession.

Variety in both theme and style is the keynote to this volume. There are observations, interpretations, impressions, anecdotes reminiscances and sometimes a glimpse of indicents that once had been smothered in censorship. The collection, as a whole, constitutes an intriguing commentary on the past quarter - century.

Gingerbread Cupcakes Make Hit With Children

Children love parties — especially birthday parties. And successful parties require planning! What decorations shall we use? What games shall we play? And what refreshments shall we serve?

A happy answer to the question about refreshments is Gingerbread Man Cupcakes. The spicy - good cupcakes with yummy white frosting hold jolly standup gingerbread men. These can be decorated with currant eyes, "red hot" noses and the name of each guest written in frosting. The birthday child gets an extra cupcake with candles to blow out. These gay cookie cupcakes are really decorations and refreshments in one. Serve with pink lemonade and ice cream for a wonderful party.

What fun to watch the smiles of Eric, Pat and Rudolph as they find their own "personalized" gingerbread men. And both the cupcakes and gingerbread men are as easily made as you please from gingerbread mix, with the cookie cutter packed in each specially marked box.

Here is the recipe:

Gingerbread Man Cupcakes

Prepare 1 pkg. Gingerbread Mix as directed on pkg. except — fill paper - lined muffin cups ½ full. Bakes 18 to 20 min. Cool. With second pkg. Gingerbread Mix, bake Gingerbread Men as directed on pkg. using enclosed gingerbread man cookie cutter. Move legs into running positions before baking. Cool.

Prepare 1 pkg. Fluffy White Frosting Mix. Reserve 1 cup for Decorator Icing (below.) Frost cupcakes. With a decorator tube and reserved frosting, write names on Gingerbread Men. (A decorator tube may be made by cutting a tiny corner off an envelope. Fill envelope with frosting and squeeze through opening.) Press one leg of Gingerbread Man into center of cupcake in standing position. Makes 18 cupcakes.

Decorator Icing: Blend 1 to 1½ cups sifted confectioners' sugar into the 1 cup reserved frosting until stiff enough to hold shape. Blend in 1 tbsp. soft butter and dash of salt. If desired, divide icing in thirds; tint green, yellow and pink.

Life expectancy for Americans has increased from 47.3 years in 1900 to about 70 today.

Gardener's Corner

BY EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

A CONNECTICUT gardener reported recently that he had used with good results a synthetic soil formula I had described but he lost the recipe. After I relayed it to him (Vermiculite, sphagnum peat moss plus limestone, superphosphate and 5-10-5) John H. Robinson graciously described his venture.

Backfill with only an inch of dirt surrounds Robinson's long, low dwelling and the only way to grow grass is to feed and water frequently.

Last spring, his son wanted to raise cantaloupes and he wanted tomatoes, but because the available soil would not sustain much, he tried the formula, with 25-12-10 fertilizer.

In a 12-foot-long flower box in full sun, he planted petunia plants, mostly white. ("And when I wasn't looking my son put in a few dwart marigold seeds.")

The box was filled with synthetic soil and below it for ground planting. Robinson dug small holes which he filled with soil. The mass of red petunia plants, marigolds and zinnia were closer than recomended but they were fed soluble fertilizer every two weeks and watered daily.

"The result was a gratifying mass of color," Robinson related.

For the tomato plants, he dug holes a foot square and two feet deep, and filled them with synthetic soil. He watered as he did with the flowers (The summer was extremely dry.)

The procedure for cantaloupes was the same, except that they were grown from seeds. Six plants provided 14 cantaloupes, four between 4-5 pounds each.

To prepare fall beds for spring bulbs, Robinson dug down a foot, sifting and removing stones and lined the bed with sod. Holes large enough for tulips and other bulbs were filled with synthetic soil to which he added his favorite fertilizer and bone meal.

"We will see what comes next spring," said the cheerful gardener.

Raspberry Jam Cake

1½ cups sifted cake flour
½ teaspoon each baking soda and salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
½ cup buttermilk
½ cup seedless black raspberry jam
½ cup each fine - cut dates, flaked coconut and fine - cut walnuts

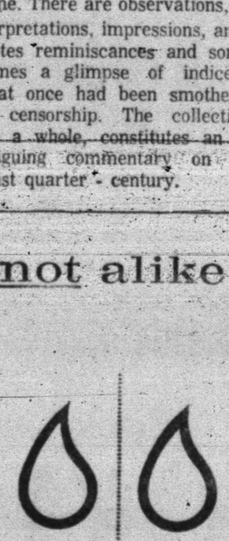

Sift together the flour, soda, salt and cinnamon. Cream butter and sugar; thoroughly beat in eggs, one at a time. Stir in sifted dry ingredients alternately with buttermilk and jam; fold in dates, coconut and walnuts with last of flour. Turn into two round 8-inch layer cake pans whose bottoms have been greased and lined with wax paper. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven for 35 to 40 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Turn out on wire racks; remove paper; cool; fill and cover with white frosting.

Olive-Walnut Sandwiches

¾ cup finely chopped and ¼ cup slivered ripe olives
½ cup finely chopped walnuts
¼ cup mayonnaise
8 thin slices whole wheat bread

Use a sharp knife to finely chop the olives and walnuts. Thoroughly mix together the chopped olives, slivered olives, walnuts and mayonnaise; there should be about 1 cup of the mixture, packed down. Use ¼ cup of the filling for each of four sandwiches made from the bread; cut each sandwich into two triangles. Serve at once. Makes 4 servngs.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES LEE BOWEN

Dianne Parmer, James Bowen Exchange Wedding Vows

Miss Dianne Parmer became the bride of Mr. James Lee Bowen of El Paso, in double ring rites held November 27th, at 7 p.m. in the home of the bridegroom's parents. Rev. John Duke, pastor of Northside Baptist Church officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Parmer, 218 Twenty - ninth Street, and Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Gregory, 3104 Avenue B, Snyder.

Baskets of pink gladioli and carnations were used in the home decor.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a beige cotton brocade dress with scoop neckline, elbow length sleeves and street - length skirt. For something old, a wedding ring given to the bridegroom's mother by his father, Johnnie N. Bowen, 27 years ago; something new, her dress; something borrowed, double strand of pearls; something blue, a garter. She wore a pink carnation corsage.

Mrs. Glen Crank of Attica, Kansas attended her sister as matron of honor. She wore a pink wool two - piece dress with a white carnation corsage.

Robert Little of Big Spring was best man.

A reception was held in the home with the refreshment table laid with white linen, centered with an arrangement of pink carnations. Mrs. Patsy Martin presided at the three - tiered wedding cake which was topped by wedding bells. Judy Moore, cousin of the bridegroom, served punch and registered guests.

The couple left immediately for a wedding trip in New Mexico. They will make their home in El Paso.

The bride is a 1962 graduate of Snyder High School and was formerly employed by Snyder Savings & Loan. The groom is a 1957 graduate of Snyder High School, 1961 graduate of Texas A&M, and served three years in the U. S. Army. He is an accountant at Main Lafrentz and Co., in El Paso.

Out-of-town guests were from Attica, Kansas, Dallas, Big Spring, Earth and Sweetwater.

Martin Says Bosses Are Still Here

THE BOSSES. By Ralph G. Martin.

The reader who thinks political bossism died when such figures as Mark Hanna of Ohio, James Curley of Boston and Frank Hague of Jersey City were laid to rest is in for some surprises form this lively book.

Without a political boss being at work, Martin suggests, Connecticut would not have changed from a bastion of rock-ribbed Republicanism to a state which elects Democrats with clock - like regularity. He cites similar situations in other areas.

Martin, a former Newsweek editor and member of Adlai E. Stevenson's presidential campaign staffs, begins by tracing the development of the political bosses in America and advances some convincing arguments as to why they were for many years unique to U. S. politics.

He winds up with an interesting look at the current Democratic national chairman, John Bailey of Connecticut, and some comments on how and why the political boss has changed down through the years — but has remained very much a part of American political life.

In between Martin devotes the major part of the 340-page, indexed book to a series of profiles of some of the best-known political bosses.

Students of history and political science will find familiar the portraits of such figures as:

—Mark Hanna, the kingmaker who put politics on a national basis and whose influence still is felt — and argued — more than 60 years after the day he sat in the train bearing the body of the assassinated President William McKinley back to Ohio and said of President Theadore Roosevelt, "Now look, that damned cowboy is President of the United States."

—William M. Tweed, whose infamous Tweed Ring accumulated loot estimated as high as $200 million during its despotic reign in New York.

—James Curley, whose decades of politicking in Boston made him nationally known and an apt candidate for the title of the nation's most controversial and colorful politician.

Frank Hague, who said confidently, "I am the law in Jersey City," and denied to his dying day that he and his city were incredibly corrupt.

ON THE HOUSE

AP Newsfeatures

Filling cracks and holes in plaster walls and ceilings requires little more than a knowledge of the standard procedures. It is not one of those do-it-yourself chores that has to be done several times before you get the hang of it. You can get excellent results the first time you try it if you remember certain fundamentals.

Modern patching materials which need only the addition of water to make them workable have made this possible. While there are many brands and varieties of these materials, they generally fall into two categories: a spackling - type compound used mostly for small openings, and a patching plaster for larger gaps. With the first of these, the mixture stays pliable for two or three hours, which means that you usually can mix enough for the entire job. With the second — that used for sizable openings — the drying time is considerably less and you should mix only enough which can be used quickly. Fundamental number one, therefore, is to read the directions on the container to determine whether it is a slow or fast - drying material.

Cracks under one - eighth of an inch and holes of the size left by nails or screws can be repaired quickly. Apply the mixture with a putty knife or similar tool AFTER you have dampened the openings. Smooth the patch level with the surrounding surface and that's that. If you're going to repaint the entire wall or ceiling, dab the patches with a little of the paint you're going to use for the final coat. When the spots are dry, go ahead with the paint job. (To get Andy Lang's booklet, "Paint Your House Inside and Out," send 25 cents and a long, stamped, envelope to Know - How, P. O. Box 954, Jamaica, N. Y. 11431.)

With larger openings, remove any pieces of old plaster that tend to come loose with a little prying. Then undercut the edges, which is making the edges of the plaster slant inward so that the patching plaster will remain in place. Brush out all chips and dust, then wet down the entire opening. Then, and not until then, mix the patching plaster. Using a putty knife, work the mixture into the crack or hole, but don't fill it entirely. Allow it to set for a few hours, wet it down and fill in the remainder of the area with newly mixed patching plaster. Level it off, smooth down any irregularities with fine sandpaper and brush off any dust or grit. While some professional painters merely dab the patches with paint, just as described above for the small openings, others use a primer or a sealer, such as shellac. The purpose of the extra coating it to prevent the new plaster from absorbing some of the top coat and thus leaving an outline on the wall or ceiling.

QUESTION: We are negotiating for the purchase of an old house. We thought the outside was ordinary brick, painted white. But the owner says the bricks are not painted; that the really are white bricks, which we never heard of. Is this type of brick as good as the regular brick?

ANSWER: Yes. In fact, it often costs more than building or common brick and usually is used in luxury construction, especially on the fronts of apartment buildings. It also is used frequently at seashore resorts. As you undoubtedly know, when the lime content of brick comes to the surface, it forms a whitish coating known as efflorescence. When this occurs with white brick, the stain is hardly noticeable.

QUESTION: When we finished our house several years ago, we used a type of lacquer on the woodwork. We now want to do it over, but this time would like to use varnish. Can it be applied over the lacquer?

ANSWER: Yes, varnish can be applied over lacquer, although the opposite is not recommended. But be sure that the varnish is not applied over a glossy, dirty surface. First, clean the old woodwork thoroughly, then steel wool or sand down any glossy areas. Wipe off the steel wool particles or grit, then apply the varnish. Most hardware and paint stores carry a liquid which can be brushed on a glossy surface if you wish to eliminate the steel wooling or sanding.

African History May Call Rescue Mission 'Treachery'

By LYNN HEINZERLING

LONDON (AP) — In most African history books, the Belgian-American rescue mission to the Congo will be called an aggressive imperialist plot and an act of treachery by Moise Tshombe against the African people.

The simplified lexicon of African nationalism makes Patrice Lumumba a martyred hero and Premier Tshombe is an enemy. Belgian and American efforts to put the Congo on its feet are judged rampant imperialism.

President Charles de Gaulle will make no new friends in Africa by receiving Tshombe as he did in Paris this week. Among such African leaders as Ahmed Ben Bella of Algeria, Kwame Nkruman of Ghana and Abdel Gamal Nasser of Egypt there can be no redemption for Moise Tshombe.

These are the leaders whose voices are heard loudest and clearest in the organiation of African unity. Not many African leaders dare speak against them in the organization.

Many Africans blame Tshombe for Lumumba's death in 1961. He was deposed as the Congo premier, arrested and sent to Katanga province, where Tshombe was leading a secessionist movement. The facts about Lumumba's death have never been satisfactorily explained.

African nationalists also hold it against Tshombe that he has always maintained close relations with the so-called imperialist bloc — with the Belgians, with Roy Welensky of Rhodesia and in recent months with the United States.

In the supercharged atmosphere of Africa, it is not politically defensible to work in hand with the so-called imperialists.

When Tshombe authorized the Belgian and American governments to make their rescue attempt at Stanleyville he joined the imperialists as far as most African leaders are concerned.

The fact that the Stanleyville "People's Republic" of Christophe Gbenye was receiving modest assistance and guidance from Red China would not be a factor of any importance in nationalist eyes.

Gbenye, as a proclaimed disciple of Lumumba and an opponent of Tshombe, could accept aid from any quarter and be on the right path.

The leading nationalists of Africa simply do not accept Tshombe as the legal head of the Congolese government although he was installed formally and legally under the Congo's new constitution by President Joseph Kasavubu. They accept Kasavubu but not Tshombe.

The Congo is one of the most strategically placed nations in Africa in the Organiation of African Unity's campaign against white rule in southern Africa.

It will be urgently needed if this campaign ever gets off the ground. The leaders of this campaign do not see in Tshombe an African leader who will stand with them to the bitter end in such a campaign.

Tshombe, by African standards, is politically smart, sophisticated and untouched by the xenophobia which now prevails in some African countries. If he succeeds in destroying the Gbenye regime and the rebel movement — and the Belgian-American operation was undoubtedly a lift toward that end — he will be an important African political figure.

Nasser, Nkrumah and others wanted to impose Antoine Gizenga on the Congo after Lumumba. Gizenga was a Congolese politician with practically no following. He reigned briefly in Stanleyville, but finally realized that he would not prevail.

Not all African leaders oppose Tshombe with the same bitterness as Nkrumah, Ben Bella and Nasser.

President Philibert Tsiranana of the Malagasy Republic (Madagascar) supported him when he was a secessionist and supports him today. Nigeria does not go all the way with the extremists. A few other African leaders pay only lip service to the campaign against Tshombe.

But the really vocal leaders, who set the tone for sessions of the Organization of African Unity, have been able to make their way to the fore. They want a Congo amenable to their plans and political inclinations whatever this may do to nation's economy and the social well-being.

It appears that Tshombe, Kasavubu and particularly the powerful head of the Congolese national army, Gen. Joseph Mobutu, do not want that kind of Congo.

Meanwhile, foreign military advisers, military equipment, planes and ammunition are scattered throughout Africa — French, German, British, Chinese and Russian. But in the Congo they mean "imperialism"

Berlin Street Said Saddest In World

By JOHN O. KOEHLER

BERLIN (AP) — They stare back at you with dead eyes — the bricked-up windows of the high apartment houses. Behind their wooden doors there is silence, only rats scurry over the floors where once children played.

Beneath the windows on the sidewalk are small wooden crosses. Men and women fell or jumped to their death here to escape communism.

This is Bernauerstrasse — 1.2 miles long in West Berlin. It's the saddest street in the world.

The roadway and both sidewalks of Bernauerstrasse are in West Berlin. But the buildings on the street's east side mark the border of the Communist world.

Neighbors, friends and relatives were torn apart when the Reds started in August 1961 to build the Berlin wall to stop the mass escape of refugees.

The Communists began with bricking up the doorways and the ground-floor apartment windows.

It dawned on the people in the houses on Eastern side that the Communists were building a virtual prison. They began to escape.

The first fugitives knocked bricks out of the ground-floor windows. They tossed their most precious belongings into the street, then jumped or climbed to freedom.

The East German regime took further steps, bricking up the windows of the upper floors. Still people escaped. Men, women and children, young and old, slid down ropes and jumped into the nets of firemen. Some 200 made it safely.

Finally all the windows were sealed off and Red guards ran barbed wire along the roofs.

The Communists evacuated all the houses, moving the remaining 2,000 residents to other parts of East Berlin.

Since then hair-raising escapes through tunnels and gun battles have kept Bernauerstrasse on front pages. It has become a major tourist sight.

Junior Editors Quiz on DOLLS

QUESTION: Who were the first to enjoy playing with dolls?

* * *

ANSWER: You will be interested to know that the word "doll" was only originated around 1750; it came from the name Dorothy. In colonial America, dolls were called puppets, babies or little ladies. But the idea of playing with dolls is so old that we can't say just who played with them first. Perhaps it was the Egyptians who had dolls shaped like paddles 3,000 years ago. Greek and Roman girls loved their dolls so much they played with them almost to the time they got married. Letitia Penn, brought to America by William Penn in 1699, is thought to be America's oldest doll—but many settlers made corncob dolls for their children, such as the one to Letitia's right. Famous collectors of dolls were (though it is hard to believe) the Aztec Emperor Montezuma and the English Victoria, before she became queen. Countries all over the world have had their special dolls, like the cute Japanese one. But no other dolls will have the appeal of your own special ones. Dolls seem like people—but very special little people—which belong to you only, and which you can love and care for as if they were your own children.

FESTIVITY in the form of family gatherings and parties is part of the celebration of Christmas. These festivities call for refreshments which are often traditional delicacies made from recipes handed down through generations of homemakers. Here are two unusual recipes.

Try French Cookies For Christmas

In France, Christmas is often an elaborate and formal celebration both in church and at home. On St. Nicholas Day, December 6, Papa Noel fills the children's shoes which have been placed by the chimney. The main Christmas meal, 'le reveillion,' is usually eaten after midnight services and may last until dawn.

In contrast, desserts are often simple and may consist of fruit and cheese and perhaps cookies such as Antoinettes or Filled Fried Cookies.

Antoinettes are rich butter cookies made with a cookie press. Baked strips of dough are put together with red raspberry jam and decorated with thin chocolate icing. The unusual combination of flavors is delightful for dessert or coffee.

Filled Fried Cookies are tender morsels of rich, sherry - flavored, pastry - like dough which enclose spicy mincemeat or tangy marmalade. They may be served warm or cold, sprinkled with confectioners' sugar. What a treat to serve your family or friends for their holiday enjoyment!

French Filled Fried Cookies

2 egg yolks
2 tbsp. butter or margarine, melted
3 tbsp. sugar
¼ tsp. salt
2 tsp. sherry flavoring
¼ cup water
1¾ cups flour
1-3 cup mincemeat, marmalade or preserves

In mixing bowl, beat well egg yolks, butter, sugar and salt. Stir in sherry flavoring and water; with a spoon and hands, work in the flour completely until dough rounds into a ball. Roll out half of dough at a time on floured cloth - covered board thinly as for pie crust. Cut into rounds, about 2½" in diameter. Place about ½ tsp. mincemeat or other filling on each round; fold over and moisten edge; seal firmly on both sides, top and bottom with a fork. In deep ½" hot fat (375 degrees) about ½ min. on each side or until golden brown. Drain and sprinkle with confectioners' sugar. Serve warm or cold. Makes about 32 cookies.

French Antoinettes

1 cup soft butter
2-3 cup sugar
3 egg yolks
1 tsp. vanilla
2½ cups flour
raspberry preserves
Thin Chocolate Icing (below)

Heat oven to 400 degrees. Mix butter, sugar, egg yolks and vanilla thoroughly. Work flour in with hands. Use a cookie press with wide fluted opening to make long strips of dough on ungreased baking sheet. Cut strips into 2" lengths. They will separate easily when baked. Bake 7 to 10 min., until set but not brown. Immediately remove from baking sheet. Cool on racks. Shortly before serving, spread the flat side of half the cookies with raspberry preserves. Place another cookie on top of each. Frost top with thin chocolate icing. Makes 4 doz. cookies.

Thin Chocolate Icing: Melt over hot water in top part of double boiler, 2 tbsp. shortening and 1 sq. semisweet chocolate (1 oz.). Remove from heat and blend in 1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar and 2 tbsp. boiling water. Beat until smooth. Icing may be made ahead of time and thinned over hot water. If icing is too thick to spread easily, add a few drops of hot water.

'Right To Know' Is Summarized

FREEDOM OR SECRECY. By James Russell Wiggins.

First published in 1956, this book now is reissued in a revised and updated edition. Its central theme is the effort to retain (in the midst of modern social and governmental dilemmas) open and unobstructed access to the facts about government, as a bulwark to the rights of the governed.

The author is well qualified, not only as editor and vice president of the Washington Post, but also as a longtime advocate in journalistic councils of the principle now summed up in the phrase Freedom of Information.

In a meticulous, but tersely composed text, he sums up the public's "right to know" in legislative, judiciary, executive and military fields; he gives an incisive view of the practical problems of printing or broadcasting without prior restraint (a form of censorship), and of the relevant questions of ready access to the physical means of communication.

He places these problems in the perspective of history and shows how new problems have arisen in the field of electronic journalism. His work is scholarly, in the better sense of the word, without being academically esoteric.

He spells out such dangers as closed sessions of the courts, legislature and legislative committee; the danger of excesses in the rule - making bodies of the executive branch, and the perils of bureaucratic attempts to infringe upon the ready flow of information.

Fall Festival Set Sunday

St. Elizabeth's Altar Society will hold its Fall Festival between the hours of 4 p.m. and 6 p.m. Sunday at the Katherine Ryan School Cafetorium.

Each member of the altar society has been asked to dress a doll, bring one item for the country store and make an article for the needlework booth so that an interest variety of articles may be offered for sale.

Hot Dogs and soft drinks will be served in the kitchen, and the public is invited to attend.

Mrs. Waylen Holder is general chairman for the festival. The planning committee assisting her is composed of Mrs. James McCaleb, Mrs. Don Ginbey, Mrs. Jack Plymell and Mrs. Bob Hood.

Mrs. William Mapes is chairman of the needlework booth. Mrs. H. J. Schulze is chairman of the country store. Mrs. Don Ginbey is chairman of the doll booth. Barbara Zalman is chairman of the fish pond. Mrs. Bob Hood is chairman of the refreshment stand and Mrs. Mildred Ward is in charge of the ceramics booth.

Each chairman will be assisted by other members of the altar society.

Spiced Prune Cake

1¾ cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
¾ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon each nutmeg and cloves
¾ cup granulated sugar
¾ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
½ cup soft butter or margarine
¾ cup milk
1 teaspoon cider vinegar
2 eggs
½ cup chopped pitted soaked prunes

Sift together the flour, baking soda, spices and granulated sugar; add brown sugar and butter. Add combined milk and vinegar. Beat for 2 minutes. Add eggs, beat well for another 2 minutes or until smooth. Stir in prunes. Turn into two 8-inch round layer cake pans whose bottoms have been lined with greased waxed paper. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 30 to 35 minutes. Fill and cover with Penuche Frosting.

Company dessert: marinated drained canned peach slices in orange liqueur and serve with vanilla ice cream.

Baked Chicken

6 large pieces of frying chicken
1-3 cup flour
1 teaspoon each paprika and garlic salt
2 tablespoons each oil and butter
6 medium - thick slices tomato
2 tablespoons minced onion
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ cup each white wine and chicken broth
Avacado slices

Coat chicken with a mixture of the flour, paprika and garlic salt. Heat the oil and butter in a large skillet and brown the chicken slowly and well in it. Arrange chicken pieces close together in a shallow baking pan; sprinkle with any flour mixture left from coating. Place tomato over chicken; sprinkle with onion and lemon juice; add the mixed wine and broth. Cover and bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven until tender — 30 to 40 minutes. Garnish with avocado. Makes 6 servings.

Drain canned apricots, and serve them with a soft custard sauce for a lovely dessert.

Pilgrims' Story Made To Live

ONE SMALL CANDLE. By Thomas J. Fleming.

For most of us, the story of the Pilgrims' first year in America has faded into a familiar cliche, resting in a forgotten textbook of the elementary school years.

Fleming has resuscitated this tired tale and turned it into a graphic, harrowing adventure story. His method is simple. He gives the narrative a swift pace and like a stage director he focuses on personalities and incidents that are striking. His terse style is the exact opposite of the historians' musty word - weaving.

He begins in London and Leydek with the preparations for the voyage, pointedly reminding us that the irreligious strangers recruited in London outnumbered the religious folk who were seeking a new home.

The terrors of the off - season voyage, the sickness, the bad food, are chronicled in detail. The company's desperate, stumbling search around Cape Cod for a habitable spot, the nick-of-time decision to settle at Plymouth, the fear of wandering Indians, the epidemics of the first winter, all build into a thriller.

But Fleming illuminates more fundamental matters - the motivation behind the Mayflower Compact, the tenacious insistence on separation of church and state, and later the transfer of leadership from the elder to the younger generation. We all remember vaguely a friendly Indian named Squanto, but Fleming goes further by delineating the colonists' gradually expanding overtures to the surrounding tribes.

One interesting aspect of Fleming's book is the spotlight he turns on "the vital part that the personality and courage of the master of the Mayflower (Christopher Jones) played in the founding of Plymouth."

We should have more examples of popularized history of this caliber.

If you fry fish fillets at low temperature, you'll find that they are cooked in 10 to 15 minutes; the fish may be rolled in seasoned flour and fried in a skillet in about ¼-inch fat.
