Gusty Winds Lash Cities

By The Associated Press

Pounding rains measuring up to 6.12 inches saturated the Texas coastal area Saturday. Some flooding resulted but damage was surprisingly light.

The torrents descended from a rumbling line of thunderstorms stretching from Houston into the Lower Rio Grande Valley. The rains came in a coastal belt extending 50 to 100 miles inland.

Gusty winds that frequently came with the downpours caused most of the damage. Some windows shattered in the Corpus Christi area and utility concerns had to repair many lines, cables and transformers.

The heaviest rain was at Woodboro, 35 airline miles north of downpour there flooded streets but caused little harm. The Bayside and Bonneyview areas east of Woodsboro and also in Refugio County got soakings measuring from 5 to 5.35 inches.

Portland just north of Corpus Christi got 5 inches. Taft to the west of Portland had 4 to 5.5 inches.

Houston had 3.40 inches of rain that turned some underpasses and streets into ponds for a while. A few trapped motorists were rescued by volunteers in rowboats. High water threatened a few homes but none was ordered emptied.

Heavier rain fell at Columbus, 73 miles west of Houston. The downpour toted up to 5.84 inches.

The Weather Bureau said tornado funnels spun aloft along the coast before dawn, but never touched.

Police closed the Gulf Freeway, U.S. Highway 59 north, also was flooded where it crossed the North Loop.

Corpus Christi had 2.11 inches and there were reports of soft hail nearby, which caused no damage. Numerous cars were stalled temporarily in Corpus Christi. The storm moved in from the northwest there at 4 a.m.

The Weather Bureau said a deep trough of cold air two miles high caused the hard South Texas rains.

The trough was an extension of a cold front that moved slowly across the state and reached a line from Tyler to Austin to Del Rio early in the afternoon.

The same cold front had caused downpours that measured up to 8.53 inches in West Texas at Paducah a day earlier.

It was cloudy over most of Texas Saturday except for patches of fair skies in West Texas. Light rains continued at Waco, College Station and in the vicinity of Lufkin.

Rainfall totals for the 24 hours ending at 6 p.m. Saturday included Victoria 2.31 inches, Galveston 1.86, Austin 1.08, Palacios 1.21, Beeville .01.35, Cotulla 1.26, College Station 1.42, Del Rio 1.44, Harlingen 1.65, Beaumont .61, Waco .74, Kingsville .59, Mineral Wells .15, Dallas .07, Fort Worth .02, and Tyler .14.

Maximum temperatures Saturday afternoon hit 99 at Presidio and 92 at Laredo but generally they were in the 70s and 80s. Amarillo and Lubbock had highs of 66 degrees.

Forecasts promised scattered thunderstorms or showers for all of Texas east of the Pecos Valley Sunday.

SNYDER SPOTLIGHT

By WACIL McNAIR

West Texas weather, an interesting and unpredictable topic any day, kept up its reputation during the past week.

It has been said that if you want cooler weather, schedule something that requires hot temperatures, and if you want rain, slate something that requires dry weather.

The swimming pool in Towle Memorial Park scheduled its opening for Saturday. Typically, Saturday turned out to be a "fall" day.

Up to Saturday Snyder had experienced its share of the week's weather variety, except for one thing: rain. And, according to the weather man, there still was a chance for some of that before the damp spell moved out.

The beginning and ending of a school term means a busy schedule in most communities, and the Scurry County school centers are no exception. Nowadays, schools open and close on a more or less standard schedule, which is different from the practice a few years ago. There was [illegible] all schools, particularly those in rural areas, did not operate on a full nine-months term. Some of them opened in the fall and continued the term only so long as their money held out. In some cases, a term meant seven or eight months, and occasionally during the early thirties only five or six months.

For the second time this spring Snyder is host to a veterans organization's convention. Veterans of Foreign Wars from the eighth district in Texas are in session here this weekend at their annual spring parley. District No. 8, which is commanded by Milton M. Mapes of Snyder, is the largest from the standpoint of membership in the state.

A new organization, or more accurately an "old" one which has been revived, has launched its work here. The Scurry County Tuberculosis Assn. now has its key officers and committees lined up to begin an active program of work. The organization is fortunate to have some funds left over from a previous Christmas Seal sales campaign to get its program going.

Daniel's Tax Plan Faces Showdown

By FRANK N. MANITZAS

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Price Daniel's tax plan to relieve Texas' money crisis faces a showdown Monday.

The question: Are he and administration leaders in the House strong enough to get their way? Or will a deadlock or delay step up the chances for a second special session?

Daniel was optimistic over accomplishments of the special session's first week. When the lawmakers went home Thursday he put the "well-done" label on their work thus far, said there was hope the spending and taxing problem could be worked out in one 30-day session.

At stake Monday is Daniel's suggested one-package 61 million dollar tax bill to pay the state's expenses in 1960-61. It is enough to finance the House-approved general spending bill. It increases appropriations 47 million dollars over present operations.

The House Revenue and Taxation subcommittee is to report Monday. Although early reports indicated it would fatten the tax proposal, the late-late check shows the rewritten bill may raise only 110 million dollars in 1960-61.

"The committee worked under a handicap trying to do something with House Bill 727," a member said. "The House wouldn't take anything. Now it's the governor's turn to try to get the House to approve what he wants."

The regular session's tax effort (HB 727) started at 290 million dollars. It ended providing 77 million dollars or maybe less. No one seemed to care as its death seemed certain in the Senate. It was buried with a shrug.

Daniel seeks a 5 per cent of value tax on gas contracted to purchasers. This is known as a "severance beneficiary" levy. He also wants to reduce the 7 per cent natural gas production tax to 5 per cent. Another request is a 2.3 per cent tax on telephone, telegraph and public utilities gross receipts, an increased corporation franchise tax on interstate businesses. These will raise $82,514,095.

His sales tax proposals are 1 cent more per pack of cigarettes, upping liquor from $1.40 to $2.50 a gallon, a new tax on cigars and other tobacco, plus increasing motor vehicle sales taxes from 1.1 to 1.5 per cent. New sales taxes will total $78,963,868.

SENIORS MAY GET EXTRA COPIES

High School students of this area who wish extra copies of today's issue of The Snyder Daily News, which carries pictures of all graduation candidates in Snyder, Hermleigh, Fluvanna, Ira and Gail, may obtain them at the newspaper office Monday.

Circulation Manager B. L. Davis has saved a limited number of copies of this issue for seniors and their parents who may wish to send copies to relatives or friends.

They may be had by the graduates for only five cents per copy.

Surplus Food Pays For Road In Nepal

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—King Mahendra has opened the first road in Nepal built with money earned by selling donated U.S. surplus food. At the opening ceremony Friday 17 miles south of here, he named it the Kanti Highway after his mother. The $300,000 road runs 60 miles from Katmandu to the southern Nepalese plains. Soldiers and civilians built it.

Child Slain By Pack Of Stray Dogs

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A pack of dogs attacked and killed a small boy in suburban Hazelwood Saturday, touching off a big roundup of stray dogs by angry, gun-wielding citizens.

The body of 2½-year-old Mark D. Draper was found by a neighbor in a vacant field near the child's home.

Sporadic shots were heard as armed volunteers roamed in adjoining communities in northwest St. Louis County. Police warned that someone might be hurt by a stray shot and appealed to people to stay out of the area.

The boy's father, insurance man Douglas G. Draper, said neighborhood pets allowed to run loose in the sparsely settled middle class community were to blame for his son's death.

Mel C. Jones Sr., 51, the neighbor who found the child's body, said the dogs charged him, snarling, until he chased them off with a length of pipe in his hand.

Police and member of the St. Louis County Rabies Control Unit and the County Civil Defense Organization searched for the dogs. They had the unwanted assistance of scores of armed volunteers.

Hazelwood Police Commissioner O. T. McGregor said 15 dogs were killed and two captured in the roundup which ended late Saturday. All were stray mongrels, McGregor said. Five of the dogs which were killed were identified by Jones as members of the pack which attacked the boy.

FBI Recovers Diamond Ring

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—The FBI announced Saturday the recovery of a $250,000 diamond ring taken from Mrs. Vera Krupp in a Nevada robbery six weeks ago.

William G. Simon, FBI special agent, said the 33-carat diamond was recovered with the arrest of three persons.

They are: James George Reves, 31; his wife, Mary Jo Reves, 31, both of Hot Springs, Ark., and Julius Berger, 43, North Bergen.

The Reves were picked up in an Elizabeth motel and charged with interstate transportation and possession of the stolen diamond.

Mrs. Krupp is the former wife of Alfried Krupp of the German munitions and industrial family.

She was bound and gagged April 10 by two men who posed as road contractors to gain entrance to her ranch at Blue Diamond, 45 miles from Las Vegas.

DOT Argues Over Adlai, Sen. Johnson

AUSTIN (AP) — The third statewide annual meeting of the Democrats of Texas teetered on the brink of a Lyndon Johnson vs. Adlai Stevenson-for-president blow-up Saturday.

Fast parliamentary footwork by top labor leaders put off a showdown.

Also postponed at the last minute was a plan to gather feelings of Texas voters on Democratic nominations for president and vice president at the May, 1960, precinct conventions.

The precinct referendum plan was approved Friday night by the DOT's steering committee. However, when the plan came before the approximately 500 delegates, Jerry Holleman, state AFL-CIO president, asked that it be shelved.

"Neither the DOT nor Texas labor has made any committment in the presidential race," Holleman said in apparent reference to numerous previous boosts for Stevenson. He said labor undoubtedly will take a stand later.

"We do not join in the personal opinions that have been expressed here either against or for any of the possible contenders," Holleman said.

VA Activities To Be Divided

WASHINGTON (AP)—The management of the Veterans Administration Hospital and the VA regional office at Waco, Tex., will be separated and the office work placed under a new manager, Rep. W. R. Poage (D-Tex.) was informed today.

Sumner Whittier, VA administrator, told Poage that Dr. George McMahan will remain as manager of the hospital and medical activities, in keeping with McMahan's desire to confine his work to supervision of the medical aspects of the service.

The new regional manager, not yet named, will have charge of the VA regional office, Poage said he hopes this is an indication that the VA will retain the regional activities in Waco permanently.

Libraries In Atlanta Integrated

ATLANTA (AP)— Atlanta has joined a number of major southern cities in quietly integrating its public library system.

The decision was disclosed Saturday, three days after Atlanta library employes were instructed to serve Negro patrons as well as whites.

A few Negroes visited the big downtown public library without attracting attention or causing any disturbance.

A library spokesman said the ruling applied to the downtown library and 14 white branches in the city. There are three Negro branches and one of them has been used by whites for some time.

In effect, the decision opened the entire Atlanta library system to members of both races.

"We found no law prohibiting it," explained the library board chairman, Hix Green. "There has been some demand by Negroes for service, so we decided to go ahead and do it."

The decision was reached at a closed board meeting Tuesday attended by Mayor William B. Hartsfield, police Chief Herbert Jenkins and city Atty. Jack Savage. It was put into effect the next day.

Green said no public announcement was made at the time because the board hoped to get over the integration hurdle with "as little fanfare as possible."

Similar actions have been taken in the past in some major cities in Arkansas, Tennessee, Florida, Kentucky, Louisiana, North Carolina and Virginia.

On the other hand, segregation continues at public libraries in Montgomery, Ala., first capital of the confederacy, and Mobile and Birmingham, Ala., Columbia, S.C., Raleigh, N.C., and at several smaller cities in Tennessee and Florida.

Nuclear Arms For NATO Protested

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union told the United States Saturday that arming of NATO countries with nuclear weapons and missiles "entailed extremely dangerous consequences for peace" and conflicted with the aims of the Geneva Big Four conference.

The news agency Tass said a Soviet note especially singled out the arming of West Germany and expressed hope the United States would refrain from any action "that might increase international tension."

The note to the United States was delivered to the U.S. Charge d'Affaires by Vasily Kuznetsov, Soviet deputy foreign minister. A similar note was handed to the West German ambassador, Hans Kroll.

It earlier had been reported that notes went to all ambassadors of North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries in Moscow, but later advices said notes were sent only to the United States and West Germany.

Tass said it was a reply to U.S. government note of May 8.

"The Soviet government has restated that the measures carried out by the United States to speed up the arming of some NATO countries, and in particular the Federal Republic of Germany, with nuclear weapons and missiles entailed extremely dangerous consequences for peace and were incompatible with the tasks before the conference of the foreign ministers and the summit conference," Tass said.

The note to the United States, Tass went on, "pointed to the aggressive nature of the measures carried out by the United States with respect to some NATO countries, and in particular to the federal German republic."

More Arms For Caribbean Seized By Miama Officers

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Another batch of military equipment apparently destined for use in the uneasy Caribbean area was seized by Miami detectives Saturday.

An automobile loaded with 5,000 rounds of ammunition, machetes and field tents was grabbed and its driver, Aroldo Fernandez Lieges, 23, was jailed. Unconfirmed reports said the raiding officers narrowly missed another car loaded with arms.

The arrests followed a roundup of 13 persons, including the Dominican Republic's consul general, Friday in an alleged plot to arm foes of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro.

Customs agents seized a C47 transport plane being loaded with arms and ammunition at Miami International airport and said the shipment was intended for anti-Castro forces in the Dominican Republic.

The Miami Herald quoted unidentified Cuban sources in Miami as saying Friday's seizure of 13 persons and a C47 transport plane loaded with arms and ammunition may have upset the timetable of a Cuban counter-revolution.

These sources said an attack against Castro had been set for the first part of June but now would be delayed.

The arms taken by customs agents, however, amounted to only a small fraction of the military equipment already put into the hands of the expeditionary force in Santo Domingo, these sources added.

In Havana, Cuba's defense minister said the Miami raids proved that followers of Fulgencio Batista, ousted president of Cuba, are preparing for a counterattack from the Dominican Republic, where Batista lives in exile.

"Every day we are better prepared to defend our revolution at whatever moment we are attacked," said the defense minister, Augusto Martinez Sanchez.

Secret Sessions Expected To Clear Way For Summit Meet

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

GENEVA (AP)—The Big Four were reported virtually agreed Saturday night on beginning a phase of hard, secret bargaining to clear the way for an East-West summit conference.

Some sort of standstill arrangement between the Soviet Union and the West for disputed Berlin appeared to be the minimum price American, British and French foreign ministers will demand for agreeing to set up the top level parley proposed for this summer.

Intensified behind scenes activity the past few days, according to senior Western diplomats here, suggested these further developments may be near:

The statesmen probably will leave their Palace of Nations conference table for a series of informal talks on the grave issues that divide them.

In these exchanges the Western powers intend calling on Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko to clarify his ideas about the sort of temporary solution he foresees for Berlin penting an East-West agreement to reunite all Germany.

At some point in the coming week or two the Western ministers, for their part, are likely to submit a counterproposition of their own for a stopgap Berlin arrangement.

Gromyko also will be asked to spell out the West's package of proposals on Berlin, all-Germany and a European security system.

An itemized list of negotiable issues, agreed by East and West, then could form the basis for a separate and careful new study to narrow differences in preparation for the summit.

Gromyko for his part is expected to call openly for transferring to the summit work program current American-British-Soviet negotiations for a pact to end nuclear weapon testing.

The British delegation has spread word that American Secretary of State Christian A. Herter may act Monday to obtain suspension—or a series of suspensions—of formal conference proceedings.

OIL ROUNDUP

Millions Made At Tulsa's Oil Show

By MAX B. SKELTON

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—History was mixed with million dollar deals as the 14th International Petroleum Exposition

Many exhibitors at the industrial shows paid tribute in some form to Col. Edwin Drake, the New Haven, Conn., businessman who drilled the world's first commercial oil well.

Drake found oil at 69½ feet on Aug. 27, 1859, at Titusville, Pa.

Equipment sales completed at the 10-day show ran into the millions of dollars. Most of the deals dwarfed the total cost of Drake's discovery well—an estimated $1.00.

Items inspected by thousands of visitors at the exposition included pipe valves costing five times as much as the Drake well.

Drake paid $4 each for his drill bits. Oilmen of today pay from $100 to $1,500.

Two men who aided Drake at Titusville received a combined salary of $2.50 a day. The average pay of the modern oil field workers is $2.81 an hour.

Drake's drilling equipment was crude and made by hand. The tools suppliers displayed here have carried the modern driller to depths over 364 times that of 1859.

Titusville. The record is 25,340 feet.

Oilman of today envies Drake on one point. Crude from the first commercial producer sold at $20 a barrel. The current average price for domestic crude is $3.04.

Dr. Paul Giddens, former curator of the Drake Museum in Titusville, says the $5,000 estimate for the well that made history 100 years ago includes Drake's salary of $1,000 a year and other sums advanced him by Seneca Oil Co.

Giddens was the principal speaker at exposition ceremonies honoring the oil pioneer.

He said the Drake well proved that oil lay beneath the earth's surface.

"It was the first oil well to be drilled, not dug, for the specific purpose of obtaining petroleum," he said. "It immediately set in motion the forces that created a new industry, one that was to have a revolutionary effect upon society, here and abroad."

The Drake well produced about 2,000 barrels in 1859.

But the $20 price for crude did not hold.

Prices dropped to $2 a barrel in 1860 and them plunged to 10 cents in 1861.

Borden Wildcat, Fisher Prospector

Santiago Oil & Gas Corp. will drill a 9,000-foot Ellenburger wildcat in Borden County, 6½ miles northeast of Gail and two miles south southeast of the Rafter Cross Ellenburger and lower Strawn field. It is the No. 1 Clayton & Johnson.

Location, on a 640-acre lease, is 1,980 feet from the north and 660 feet from the east lines of 13-30-5n-T&P.

Cities Service Oil Co., Wichita Falls, will drill a 6,300-foot Ellenburger wildcat in extreme northeast Fisher County, three miles north of Hamlin, as the No. 1 W. J. Bryan.

Location, on a 320-acre lease, is 1,980 feet from the south and 660 feet from the east lines of 13-Austin & Williams survey No. 349.

82 Movies Turned Down

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Information Agency has turned down 82 recent Hollywood movies for use in its overseas film program because it feels they are not in the best interests of the United States.

The list includes mostly movies about juvenile delinquency and gangsterism with a few horror pictures and an occasional western thrown in.

Also earning USIA disapproval are the movies "Baby Doll," about a child bride in the South; "Rebel Without a Cause," one of the late James Dean's pictures, and "The James Dean Story."

The list was given by USIA to a House subcommittee on appropriations at a recent hearing on the information agency's forthcoming budget.

The USIA overseas film program is designed to protect distributors of overseas movies from losses in converting local currencies into dollars. The agency makes up any such losses.

Failure to include the 82 movies in the program does not mean the producers are barred from showing their films in those countries. They just don't have their dollar earnings guaranteed by the U.S. government.

Girl Driver Acts Quickly

LYNCHBURG, Va. (AP) — A quick thinking 17-year-old high school bus driver saved 35 children from possible injury or death Saturday when the brakes failed while the bus was coming down a steep hill in a line of traffic.

With only seconds to act, Charles Baber, a substitute driver wrenched the gear shift into low and swerved the bus to the right. It shot into a driveway leading to a tourist home and into a narrow niche in the rocky, wooded cliff beside the highway.

None of the youngsters was injured although most were shaken up and scared.

They are pupils at Buckingham Central High School, about 60 miles west of Richmond, and were en route to a dance party in their honor at a Lynchburg radio-television station. After the bus came to a halt they danced beside the road while waiting for another bus to pick them up.

Sailor Saved From Drowning In Tub

BRUNSBUETTELKOOG, Germany (AP)—A sailor was rescued from drowning Saturday in the bathtub of a local druggist. The sailor had been making the rounds of the bars in this North Sea town, apparently climbed into the bathroom by a ladder, lay down in the tub, turned on the water, and fell asleep. He was saved when the druggist noted the overflow from the tub.

Policeman Is Accused Of Raping Girl

NEW YORK (AP) — A 43-year-old policeman, married and the father of two children, was accused Saturday of raping a 17-year-old immigrant girl.

Patrolman Joseph Andres, of Queens, was charged with rape in the same Brooklyn precinct station where he was assigned to duty. He automatically was suspended from the force.

His accuser is Alma Shaschnik, a knitting mill worker. She came to New York from Germany two years ago.

Andres admitted to his superiors that he had toured several bars after finishing his duties at midnight but maintained he remembered nothing until he woke up bloodied about 5 a.m. in his car alongside a road in Valley Stream, N.Y.

Blonde, blue-eyed Miss Shashnik under treatment for shock at Kings County Hospital, told police she was sitting in a car parked near Highland Park in Brooklyn about 4:20 a.m. Saturday.

With her was her boy friend, Jakob Sehne, 22, construction worker, and his friend, Ernest Stumpfes, 0, a butcher.

She told police they were sipping beer when Andres flashed a light into the automobile. He ordered the girl out of the car for questioning and walked her into the park about 100 yards away.

There he knocked her down, assaulted her and tore off her clothes, she said.

She screamed, neighbors called police, and her two companions came running. Andres got away in his car but left behind his uniform cap, with his shield number on it.

J. C. Mintz, charged with aggravated assault, was fined $123.50. He had been charged with assaulting his wife and stepdaughter.

A charge of aggravated assault was also filed against Aaron Hartfield, who had not yet been arrested.

Three Hurt By Rocket

FT. SILL, Okla. (AP)—Two soldiers and a Lawton, Okla., high school boy were injured Saturday afternoon when a homemade rocket exploded on a launching pad at the Army artillery and missile center here.

The two-stage rocket exploded as the three were preparing to launch it. About 60 persons were watching from nearby bunkers on Ft. Sill's east range.

The injured were John Mehew, 17, Lawton; Capt. Richard S. Miller, launching officer, and PFC G. Nelson.

Officials at the base hospital said they were treated for burns about the face and hands, and undetermined injuries to their eyes.

Capt. Wallace Hitchcock, public information officer, said safety checks had been made on the rocket. He quoted officers as saying they could not understand what went wrong.

Ft. Sill has carried on a program of assisting student rocketeers for more than a year.

Service Held For Snyderite's Brother

Funeral services were held at Hawley yesterday for Elba Carmon (Abe) Crutchfield, 70, brother of Mrs. Nina Jones of Snyder.

Mr. Crutchfield was killed at 1:40 p.m. Thursday when his car crashed into a bridge 11.6 miles north of San Angelo after a tire had blown out.

A cattle buyer, he was also known as a fiddler and played a fiddle at the annual Cowboy's Christmas Ball as Anson for many years.

Other survivors include another sister, Mrs. Leota Bradford of Baytown; three nephews, Harvey Blair, and W. H. Blair, both of Abilene, and A. N. Blair of Corpus Christi, and one niece, Mrs. Manila Farquhar of Brownwood.

R. E. Smith of Houston, operator of the Sharon Ridge Unit here, will be main speaker Tuesday evening at promotional exercises for the eighth grade class at the Snyder Junior High School.

A total of 255 students will be promoted into high school in the exercises, which will be at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the high school auditorium.

Heading the class as valedictorian is Glenda White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pete White, Route 3, who had a grade average of 99.25, and salutatorian is Stuart Long, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Long, 2305 Forty-second Street, with a grade average of 98.50. The grade averages were computed on the four solid required subjects in junior high.

Ralph Laswell, junior high principal, will preside at the program and diplomas will be awarded by M. E. Stanfield, assistant school superintendent.

Phillip Smartt, president of the high school student council, will give a welcome address into high school to the students and response will be by Miss White. Long will give the benediction.

The junior high girls ensemble directed by Mrs. Nan Lee, will sing for the program, as will a soloist, Nan Hill a member of the promoting class. Mary Bowlin will play the processional. Ushers will be seventh grade students.

JERRY WALKER

Snyderite Will Attend Seminar

A Snyder High School junior has been named among Texas students to attend a mathematics seminar this summer at Southern Methodist University, Dallas.

He is Jerry Walker, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Walker, La mesa highway.

Walker is one of 30 students in Texas chosen from among about 500 applicants to attend the seminar which will be held for five weeks from June 7 to July 10.

The National Science Foundation is paying expenses of students in the seminar, which is held to encourage scientific and mathematic interest of students in secondary schools of high ability and to give them an opportunity to work with experienced scientists and mathematicians.

Miss Virginia Grove, Walker's math teacher here, recommended Walker, who also wrote a paper which was submitted with his applications. Those and his class record and high intelligence quotient were among points considered in choosing Walker for the seminar.

Officials Pleased With Road Progress

AUSTIN (AP)—State officials said Saturday they are well pleased with progress on the Texas interstate highway system, which now covers 467 miles.

Ultimately Texas will have 3,033 miles of these express highways, with the federal government paying 90 per cent.

"The vast bulk of land is being acquired at fairly reasonable prices," said Atty. Gen. Will Wilson.

J. C. Dingwall, assistant state highway engineers, said of 7,195 parcels of land under negotiation for right of way, only 1,071 have been turned over to the attorney general for condemnation.

Lobbyists Make Report On Expenses

AUSTIN (AP) — Lobbyists reported spending an average $8 per day for each legislator during April, official reports showed Saturday.

Persons having "direct communication" with lawmakers on pending legislation in 17 April work days reported spending $24,802. It was the largest monthly amount reported to date.

George Clarke of Austin, representing the Dairy Products Institute of Texas, reported spending $283 "plus speaker's appreciation fund $100."

He said the $100 was for the appreciation day held for Speaker Waggoner Carr. It is normally held each session.

"It's my first experience with it," Clarke said. "I put it down as coming under legislative matters. I thought it should be listed separately at the advice of counsel. I don't know what the others did."

Carr received numerous gifts on speaker's day. Most were given in the names of employes. Others were given by representatives who said their constituents presented them.

Lobbyists reported spending more than $75,000 through April. May spending reports are due by June 15.

Most industries, professional groups, organized labor and natural resources producers have many persons registered as representing them before the Legislature.

Alaska Girl Wins Contest

MADISONVILLE, Tex. (AP)—A miss who wants to come to Texas "to find out what all these Alaska residing Texans are braggin' about" won this year's Madisonville Sidewalk Cattlemen's Assn. letter writing contest.

She is Miss Jeanne Miller, 25, of Anchorage, Alaska. She works for Elmendorf Air Force Base there.

The association is a group of Madisonville residents who grade cowboys by boots.

Owner of two head of cattle can wear boots. Owner of three head can stuff the right pants leg in. A six-cow owner can wear spurs.

This year's letter writing contest was on "Why I Am Living In Alaska."

After lauding the 49th state, Miss Miller declared, "If all our citizens became representatives of the Chamber of Commerce as all Texans are, then we might become as famous as Texas."

The association is sending her a plane ticket to Texas and will meet her in Houston June 3. They will outfit her in boots and cowgirl garb and bring her to Madisonville.

CRMWD Sets Board Session

The board of directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District has been convoked for a June 11 meeting.

Notices dispatched Thursday said that the meeting at the Settles Hotel in Big Spring would be the occasion for election of officers and the installation of new board members.

E. V. Spence, general manager, said that there also would be further discussion of the projected second lake on the upper Colorado River. The CRMWD has been making extensive studies on feasibility of a dam across the Colorado River near the southern Mitchell County boundary. The presentation under which these investigations have been made expires at the end of August and the district may make application for a permit prior to that time.

AFL-CIO Blasts Labor Bill; Plans Full Battle In House

By GARDNER L. BRIDGE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The AFL-CIO blasted the Senate labor bill Saturday as a mess and a monstrosity, and said it will battle the measure in the House.

Following up its executive council's declaration of war last Wednesday, the big labor federation issued a 4,000-word critique of the legislation it supported in its original form and said "a more detailed analysis of the weakness and dangers in the bill" will follow.

The AFL-CIO statement aimed its fire at what it called "many hastily drafted and ill considered provisions" written into the bill during the nine days of Senate floor debate last month.

"Under the guise of 'labor reform,' the bill would seriously weaken the labor movement and hamper it in many ways from acting as an effective collective bargaining instrumentality in dealing with employes," the critique said.

"Virtually ignored in the bill are the many instances of improper conduct by employers, their 'middlemen' and of their associates in participation in instances of corrupt behavior on the part of some labor officers and employes which the McClellan committee and other congressional investigations have brought to light."

The AFL-CIO repeated its support for legislation which would curb dishonest trade union practices and the elimination of corruption in labor-management affairs. But it said the bill passed by the Senate April 25 is aimed primarily at union regulation in burdensome and harassing detail.

It denounced a toned-down bill of rights proposal sponsored by Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.), chairman of the Senate committee that has been probers, as an invitation to disgruntled union members to file suits and destroy unions.

The bill's definition of employes who may be admitted to union membership, the statement said, opens the way to "Communists, agents-provocateurs, company spies working for employers or employer 'middlemen,' instigators of 'wildcat' strikes and dual unionists."

A provision to ban organizational picketing where the union has lost an election in the last nine months or where the employer has recognized another union also came under fire. Declaring its opposition to any effort to extend restrictions on peaceful picketing, the AFL-CIO said this section "could serve to protect racketeers by encouraging and protecting collusive deals between corrupt employers and racketeers preying upon the union movement."

Saying the various enforcement devices "conflict, overlap and duplicate each other," the statement said the bill is "an administrative monstrosity."

"From the standpoint of a public official seeking to administer the bill, it is a mess," it said. "From the standpoint of unions and union officials covered by it, its cumulative effects could be tyrannous."

The statement said AFL-CIO President George Meany will present more detailed objections when he testifies before the House Labor Committee June 3.

Plant Rocked By Explosion

JACKSONVILLE, Tex. (AP) — An unexplained explosion Saturday wrecked the two furnaces of the Lone Star Charcoal Co. plant and killed the plant manager.

The explosion cut J. P. Dopson, 38, the plant manager, in two at the waist, smashed his face and hurled him 150 feet.

Newburn Durrett, 23, who had gone with Dopson to check the plant, was not injured.

Durrett said he remained behind Dopson and the explosion occurred as Dopson approached one of the two furnaces, which turned hardwood into charcoal by firing with gas.

Durrett ran to a house to summon police and an ambulance and then returned to the plant. Dopson died a few minutes later. He leaves his wife and four children, 2 to 12.

Bolivian Socialist Arrested In Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Chilean police arrested Enrique Acha, a leading member of the Bolivian Socialist Falange party, Saturday at the request of the Bolivian government.

A Bolivian note said Acha has been accused of murdering Falangist chief Oscar Unzaga de la Vega, who died shortly after the failure of the April 19 revolt in La Paz.

Van Doren Gives Up Circus

By CHARLES MERCER
AP Radio-Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Charles Van Doren had a close call recently. He nearly ran away with the Cristiani Brothers Circus.

Being wise, however—as surely every television viewer knows—he reflected on his loves and responsibilities, wife, child, family, a new house and at least three separate careers running simultaneously. So he came home from Sarasota, Fla., instead of running away with the circus.

With him and an NBC-TV camera crew he brought a taped program of the risks and rewards of circus life, "Roll Out the Sky," which he will present on "NBC Kaleidoscope" Sunday.

"What sets circus people apart from others," he said, "is the pride they have in themselves and their profession. There are lots of worthwhile professions, but I know of none in which people have the complete pride that circus performers do.

"It even shows in the way they walk. They walk beautifully, with perfect balance and complete confidence that this is the life. They feel that people who don't run away and join the circus are somehow sick."

Van Doren's role as host on "NBC Kaleidoscope" is only a part of what surely is one of the most intensively occupied lives anywhere. He also appears regularly on Dave Garroway's "Today" program over NBC-TV.

In fact, he is just due back from a week with Garroway and a "Today" crew in Paris where they taped the morning program each day and sent it home by jet.

Ironically, a lack of peaceful atmosphere caused a stoppage of the Today show from Paris when NBC union technicians in New York refused to handle the tape sent by air from France. They charged that some nonunion technicians had been used in Paris. NBC called it an "unauthorized walkout."

After he won a pot of money on the quiz show, "Twenty-one," and received an NBC contract to participate in the area of news and public affairs, Van Doren insisted on earning his money.

People in the NBC news and public affairs department found with pleasure that Van Doren is an asset. He, in turn, has found great pleasure in his work there.

Meanwhile, Van Doren has maintained a full schedule teaching literature at Columbia and recently completed his doctorate dissertation on the 18th century poet William Cowper. He expects to receive his Ph. D. degree this month or next.

He recently published an excellent anthology, "Letters to Mother," and plans to write a novel this summer.

Does he ever sleep?

"Six hours a night," he said. "It's all you need when you're truly interested in what you're doing."

Gobel Is Off American TV Until Fall

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Lonesome George Gobel, lowkey comedy, guitar and all, is off American TV until fall. Then he'll return to alternate weekly with Jack Benny.

But pint-sized George won't vegetate over the summer; he'll keep in professional shape with plenty of roadwork.

From a stay in Las Vegas, Gobel recently opened at the Waldorf-Astoria's Empire Room. After a month here, he takes off for England to do a couple of TV shows for its commercial network.

Gobel's scrapbooks are full of critical raves about his supper club act. But he isn't kidding when he says he's worrying about how the British are going to take his very special brand of comedy.

"Every place is different," he fumes. "Every audience is different. There's a lot of difference, for instance, between playing in a great big room with a big stage in Las Vegas and in a supper club in New York. There's a whoop-it-up spirit in Las Vegas—everyone out there is out for a good time. You get bigger laughs; you feel right away that people are going to laugh loud.

"In New York here the laughs aren't so big — people chuckle. They're quieter, perhaps more appreciative, and it's a much easier place to set a ballad. I think I like an intimate room with a quieter crowd.

"But it's the evocation of laughter in the nation's living room that gives the comedians their ulcers.

"The same type of material I use in a night club goes on television." Gobel continued earnestly. "Except that until you do it until it's gone—you don't know whether it is any good or not, and then it's too late. In Las Vegas, for instance, you can work with your materials for a week or so and get everything straightened out — the jokes and the timing. But on TV you only get one run with them.

"The TV studio audience is, Gobel is absolutely essential to the comedian.

"Those audiences change from week to week, too," he says. "But they are there to help the performers, not to cue the—hot audience that it's time to laugh. We'd never get anywhere if we were playing to a big vacuum. And you know right away whether you've got a good show or not."

"AMER SWEATER GIRL Lana Turner plays her most glamorous screen role to date in "Imitation of Life," which also stars John Gavin, Sandra Dee, Susan Kohner, Dan O'Herlihy and Juanita Moore. She wears a wardrobe valued at $78,000 in the new film, as well as $250,000 worth of jewelry.

Mrs. Truman Reported Making Progress

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Mrs. Harry S. Truman was reported by her physician to be "progressing very well" today as recovery from removal of a benign breast tumor.

A spokesman for Research Hospital where she underwent surgery Monday said the doctor at various times today for a total of about 45 minutes.

ect. V. Tishman, executive vice president of Tishman Realty & Construction Co., Inc.

Tishman said Saturday 40 stories has become pretty much the upper limit on "economical structures" "those not built by a single institution such as a bank.

"The higher you go," Tishman said, "the greater the proportionate increase in the cost of labor and materials."

It costs almost twice as much to build the 50th floor of a typical New York office building as the second floor, he added.

Brando Finals Film

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Marlan Brando is finally finishing the movie he began six months ago.

This appears to be something of a record for modern Hollywood times. In the old days, a Charlie Chaplin or an Erich von Stroheim might have spent a year on an artistic venture, but costs were considerably different then.

More recently, MGM took 8½ months to shoot "Ben-Hur" in Italy, sometimes employing three to four thousand extras. The picture will cost $15 million. This will be our modern record holder in Hollywood. At least it is at Paramount, where he has been shooting.

Brando expects to reach about 140 days with a 100-day shooting schedule and finish his directorial chore next week. If there is any pause about his overtime, the Paramount brass don't show it. "We've got the Brando name in a class Western," a spokesman said. "We feel that is worth the extra money." The picture will cost $4 to 4½ million. This will be our blockbuster of 1960.

BANGKOK (AP) — The young man dipped his toothbrush into the canal and brushed his teeth vigorously.

Within a space of a few yards the canal was being used as a sewer, toilet, bathtub, garbage disposal, water fountain, swimming pool and a watery thoroughfare for small boats hawking merchandise.

The young man symbolizes the problem of awakening Asia. He knows there is a better life than the one he lives. He wants it. He is trying to get it. But even in the simple matter of personal hygiene his environment prevents him from achieving it.

Worse still, the prospects are none too good for him to improve his situation in the future.

Does this mean that he will look to the Chinese Communists and their methods as the answer to his problem?

Forces pull at him from opposite directions.

A top American diplomat said that Red China's advance toward the nations around her border has been stopped for the last two years. With each day, Asians and their governments — many of whom have known freedom only since the end of World War II — are learning more about the harsh, brutalizing tactics of the Chinese Reds.

The rebellion in Tibet underlined these tactics, particularly in the bloody way it was suppressed.

The other side of the picture pivots on one word—opportunity.

In the Far East, the way of life has changed little in hundreds of years. Today, Asian youth is no longer satisfied with it.

Ironically, Western aid, particularly in education and communication, is spreading dissatisfaction at an ever-increasing pace.

In the propaganda war with communism, the United States has spent millions in telling Asia of the Western way of life. Movies point up the higher standard of living. Newspapers and radios, aided with American money, hammer away on the point that there is a better way of life and everyone should enjoy it.

Students go to the United States to see for themselves and convincing them is not difficult. But improving conditions on their home grounds is quite a different problem.

Singapore, former British naval base, a major commercial center, gateway to an empire of rubber and tin, is an object example.

On May 30, Singapore will become a free state, governed by a city election. The population is predominantly Chinese. Singapore is probably the best administered area in Southeast Asia. It has less visible poverty, a higher level of education, an efficient police force, and other advantages not found to the same degree in most Asian cities.

Yet the betting is that a left wing group, the Political Action Party, will win the May 30 election.

Why, in view of the relatively better conditions in Singapore, would a Red-tinged party appear to have the best chance of winning the coming elections?

Because of that same factor, opportunity.

The young people, although they come from middle class families seem to see more hope in the arguments of the left wing groups. Red cells have been organized in the schools. They have made an impression. The promises of the Chinese Communists for a better future have more appeal than the cold lack of opportunity at home.

Elsewhere in southeast Asia, the number of youths who get a higher education is a trickle. The trickle will soon be a flood, however, as more postwar educational programs take effect. There is no indication that industrial growth will keep pace, creating purchasing power to achieve higher living standards, providing the opportunities so eagerly sought. The young Asian today has a better knowledge of conditions in other parts of the world. He demands more than his father, and certainly his grandfather, demanded.

Only in industrialized Japan is the economic growth likely to provide a pattern that will meet these demands.

Aggravating this new problem is an older one—population.

Asia already is overcrowded as a result of a tremendous birth rate which shows no signs of slackening. The problem becomes more dangerous by the minute because of the success of another Western - sponsored program, world health and hygiene.

People are living longer and the death rate among children is falling.

Thus there are more people who want more, millions seeking to fulfill greater desires in an economy that cannot support the present population, let along provide for the future.

The United States is pouring millions into economic aid, but the results are slow, even slight, in improving conditions. By the same token American information and communication programs have whetted the aspirations of the younger Asian. This is a key to the discontent in Asia.

What happens when the young man brushing his teeth in the canal is joined by many others as the populations rise? What will they think and say to each other if garbage and excrement still float past in the water?

Will they wait for the situation to "evolve" or will they look elsewhere, perhaps toward China and undertake more drastic solutions?

Mother Has Son Jailed

HOUSTON (AP)—A mother had her son, 21, jailed Saturday on a charge of robbery by assault.

Mrs. Delores Fuller, 38, filed the charge against George Mills.

Mrs. Fuller charged that her son punched her in the face, beat her to her knees, kicked her in the face and stomach, and took $45 from her purse.

Mills is an unemployed male nurse.

"I tried to help him learn a trade and be somebody," Mrs. Fuller said. "He just didn't seem to appreciate it. It's not right for a boy to treat his mother that way."

Mills asserted he acted in self defense.

"I took her money so she wouldn't do anything foolish with it," he said.

Eight Texans Are Listed On 200-Man Capitol Cop Force

By TEX EASLEY
Associated Press Special Service

WASHINGTON, — The 200-man police force which patrols the Capitol and adjacent office building contains eight Texans.

The Capitol cops, not connected with the Washington Metropolitan police force, seldom have occasion to handle crime. The men pack pistols and are ready for trouble but their jobs largely is one of directing tourists.

Chet Coutant, originally from New York but now a legal resident of Corsicana, holds down an information desk in the House wing of the Capitol.

"We're asked every question imaginable," he commented. "Many want to know where they can find the President's office. After telling them the President seldom comes up to the Capitol, we mention that they can take guided tours of the building."

At present one of the most common questions is why the big east front of the Capitol has been torn down.

"It's been in the newspapers all over the country that the front is being extended," he added, "but for some reason an awful lot of people never heard of it."

Many foreigners ask how laws are made, he said, and the English are fond of comparing their parliament to Congress. Most all tourists like to mention their home state, and Texans seem to take extra pride in it, he added.

Coutant is married to the former Jean Delahey, who was born and reared in Corsicana and has just returned from a visit there to undergo an operation. They have a son, Paul Edward, 5.

Jim Wheeler of Glenwood, near Gilmer, is another Texan holding down a spot in the Capitol where tourists continually cluster.

He has worked the Senate side for years, and now is stationed outside the Senate disbursing office near the old Supreme Court Chamber. He has a son named Lyndon, after — who else? — Sen Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.)

Stationed outside the House Sergeant-at-Arms office, the "bank" for all House members and employes, is John Keesee of Sonora. On the force since 1942, he is nearing retirement.

Oldest of all the Texans is Archie S. (Buck) Rodgers, 76, a native of Wood County. He could retire but doesn't want to.

Buck gained some fame a few years ago when a group of Puerto Ricans fired shots in the House Chamber and wounded some congressmen. As the Puerto Ricans fled Rodgers pursued and caught two of them.

Newest among the Texans on the force is Jack Elliott of Galveston, 21. He also is from George Washington University. He helps patrol automobile traffic in front of the Capitol and does what he can to placate unhappy tourists unable to find parking places.

A prime requirement for a capitol hill cop is to know how to deal with families or friends of congressmen who may expect special treatment.

About half the force is composed of young men studying law, medicine and other professions. At least two are studying for the ministry at Episcopal Seminary in nearby Alexandria, Va.

Juan Ramirez of Tioga is studying at Georgetown University. Other Texans on the force are Clark Eubank Sinks, Dallas, and Jimmy Gose, Denton.

Knife Slayer Arraignment Set Monday

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Harold W. McLaughlin, admitted knife slayer of little Ben Wagner, will be arraigned Monday at Port Washington on a charge of first degree murder.

"I want to take my medicine... I want to get it over with," McLaughlin said Friday when the way was cleared to try him in Ozaukee County on the murder charge.

The 28-year-old Milwaukeean, illiterate and once adjudged a high grade moron, had been an inmate at Central State Hospital for the Criminal Insane. He was committed on the basis of a disorderly conduct warrant accusing him of attempting to molest another small boy.

In District Court in Milwaukee, the disorderly conduct charge was dismissed at the request of Milwaukee County Dist. Atty. William McCauley. The prosecutor said it was the quickest way to get McLaughlin to trial on the murder charge which carries, upon conviction, a mandatory penalty of life in prison.

Six-year-old Ben, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Wagner, was lured into a car the night of April 4 as he went to a store to get his sisters some ice cream. His body was found the next day in an Ozaukee County ditch not far from the Milwaukee County line. McLaughlin admitted he sexually molested the lad before killing him.

Pastor To Students Steps Down

By DAVE CHEAVENS

AUSTIN (AP)—The holder of the longest Methodist pastorate in the South, Dr. Edmund Heinsohn, stepped out of its pulpit Sunday with no regrets.

"If I had another 25 years in the ministry, I would want to spend it with the University Methodist Church in Austin," said Dr. Heinsohn.

The pastor, kindly but plain-spoken, scholarly and human, has been the spiritual counselor of thousands of University of Texas students during a rich quarter century.

Dr. Heinsohn will continue with the church as pastor emeritus. Its members say he has no intention of slowing down in giving devoted service to his successor and to his fellowmen, as always.

For the second time in his career here, Dr. Heinsohn will be the baccalaureate speaker at the University of Texas commencement in June.

During what is officially called "retirement," he hopes to have more time for writing, for preaching wherever he is called, for reading, and perhaps some more travel. To the keen eyed, rangy and vigorous Dr. Heinsohn, retirement looms as a challenge to broaden his scope of service.

He will be 70 on July 17. He entered the Methodist ministry after 11 successful years of practicing law because of a compulsion to serve God and man that could not be denied.

Dr. Heinsohn began his ministry as a three-church circuit rider at Red Oak in the North Central Texas blacklands. He also held pastorates in Fort Worth, Georgetown and San Angelo before he came to Austin in 1934.

Khrushchev Makes Conciliatory Talk

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev has told Soviet writers to show life as it is under communism. But he says it is time to forgive some past errors.

Writer Ilya Ehrenberg reported this in talking with correspondents at a cocktail party Friday night, saying the remarks were in a speech Khrushchev made earlier in the day at the Third Soviet Writers' Congress. He said it was "a little more conciliatory."

The weeklong Congress ended today.

Moscow radio said the final session adopted a resolution on "the tasks of Soviet literature in Communist construction." It reported the Central Committee of the Soviet Communist Party messaged the writers that the party "will continue to show constant care for the development of Soviet literature and art." The quoted message said the party's frank criticism of artists who "made mistakes" had yielded positive results.

The first meeting, the only one open to Western correspondents, laid down the guiding line that writers must help people understand the current seven-year plan for achieving communism. Later some speakers took this line while others appealed for greater individuality.

Ehrenberg told the correspondents Soviet writers "don't get out enough—they don't know life." He said, as have leaders of the Congress, that Soviet writers stick too close to home.

"I think American writers know their country perhaps better than many young Soviet writers," said Ehrenberg, who has traveled in the United States. He said many young Soviet writers, successful with their first books, thereafter sit around Moscow writing what they think, not what they experience.

Pasture Is Meager But Blue Panic Is Plush On Key Place

Native pastures have limited cattle grazing in a wide area of West Texas even two years after the long drought here ended, but some ranchers and stockfarmers are now relying more on seeded perennial grasses while pastures are rested.

And by far the most popular of the grasses in use here is blue panic.

On stockfarming operation which is now making extensive use of blue panic grass is that of Leroy Key, Marvin Key, and Weldon Key.

The Keys, who recently purchased land from Frank Strom in the Knapp area, have the largest total planting of blue panic grass in this area with more than 1,000 acres.

The blue panic land in the Knapp area is divided into three patches, fenced so grazing can be rotated. One of the largest patches — 460 acres — was seeded two and three years ago, while another patch which has 400 acres of blue panic and 80 acres of perennial sweet sudan is two years old. The third is 181 acres to the south of the two larger patches, seeded a few days ago.

Leroy Key, who said the Keys had used native pasture and winter feeding for cattle previously on another place four and one - half miles south of that purchased from Strom, said the blue panic makes all the feed the cattle need now.

The herd now grazing the blue panic was bought by the Keys as coming yearlings last fall and moved 300 head onto blue panic foliage just after the first frost last November. With a little cake added by the Keys, the blue panic furnished grazing all winter for the calves.

They were kept on the 460-acre patch until after the first of year, when the herd was moved to the 480 acre patch of grass. Three weeks ago the Keys moved the herd, which now has 430 head, back onto the patch which furnished the winter grazing. Even after that much grazing the grass is keeping well up on its growth. Most of it is 12 to 14 inches tall.

In the patch which was grazed until three weeks ago, the blue panic grass has grown to waist high and is heading out. The grass is expected to be the full diet of the herd for the summer, Key said, some of it may be cut to dry to give the calves a partial diet of dry feed.

With almost a head of cattle to the acre in the blue panic, Key said the blue panic can furnish more than adequate grazing while the one and one-half sections of pastureland owned by the Keys is rested. On pasture at this time in this part of the country, a stockfarmer is lucky to run one head to 10 or 15 acres of land.

"The way I see it the blue panic beats anything we have had for grazing," Key said, adding that the partnership will have enough experience after a full year with blue panic to know what it will do.

Blue panic puts out earlier in the year than most other grasses. Two weeks after the late April 12 killing frost here, the grass was putting on a vigorous growth. In comparison, the 80 acres of perennial sweet sudan did not come back well this year, Key said.

On another place near Fluvanna, the Keys had more than 30 acres of blue panic planted last year which was used for grazing last summer, and it was increased to more than 100 acres this spring.

One big advantage in use of blue panic in this area, Key said, is its capability to grow during drought. Strom planted much of the blue panic now in use by the Keys during the drought. While Johnson grass grows in the same field near terraces where water stands after rains, it does not do well in the middle of the field, the same area where blue panic is making good growth.

BLUE PANIC GRASS is furnishing plenty of grazing in both summer and winter for a partnership of Leroy Key, Marvin Key and Weldon Key. They run calves on the grass at the rate of almost a head per acre. (Staff photograph)

Crop Growth At Fast Pace

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Warm temperatures over most of Texas during the past week have kept crop growth and field work moving at a rapid pace, after a slow start, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service said Saturday.

Cotton, corn, grain sorghum and truck crops in the eastern, central and southern regions of the state are catching up fast and farming operations on the plains are moving normal," said director John Hutchison, after a report from district agricultural agents.

Moisture conditions are generally favorable for plant growth, he added, except west of the Pecos River, parts of the Edwards Plateau, isolated sections of the Plains, and in South Texas were ranges are beginning to show a need for rain.

The open weather has been very favorable for field work in South Texas. Field operations are progressing fast in the coastal area after a wet delay. Rain east of the Pecos helped, but hail damaged crops. Some cotton not up must be replanted.

Ranges and pastures are in generally good shape, varying with the amount of rain. Hay baling is commonplace now. Many fields are being baled for hay as grain crop is so poor in North and northeast Texas.

Livestock is in good shape. Screwworm damage has ranchers treating their cattle in South Texas. About 75 per cent of the shearing of sheep has been completed around San Angelo.

Cotton ranges in growth from squaring in South Central Texas to three to four leaf stage in East Texas. Most cotton in the South Plains has been planted with some up enough for its first light cultivation.

U. S. Contributing To 'Filled' Milk

Associated Press Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Uncle Sam is contributing to th manufacture and consumption in the Philippine Islands of a food product which he declares by law to be injurious to health.

This odd situation sets up what could be a serious threat to American dairy producers.

The product is one which the American dairy industry long has fought—and with a high degree of success in this country. It is "filled" evaporated milk.

Filled milk is made by using nonfat dry milk and coconut oil to produce a blended product. It is evaporated and canned in a manner similar to that of regular evaporated milk. In other words, the higher-priced dairy fat is replaced with cheaper vegetable fat or oil.

The new product is sweeping the Philippines, where it is being hailed as "the milk for the masses." It retails from 28 to 35 per cent less than regular milk.

This development threatens to stir up a new battle between the fats—dairy versus vegetable—that could make the old butter-versus-margarine hassle a polite contest by comparison.

The Philippine government is sponsoring the development of this product and its American manufacturing firms are advertising it there as a product equal in value to regular milk, even for infant feeding.

All this is at odds with the theory of an act Congress passed in 1923 and subsequently reaffirmed, outlawing the filled milk product in this country. Most of the states also have laws prohibiting its sale.

This congressional act declares filled milk to be an "adulterated article of food injurious to the public health." Its sale was said to constitute "a fraud upon the public." Federal courts have upheld the validity of the act.

In 1957, the Agriculture Department agreed to sell the Philippines surplus nonfat dried milk at less than cost. The sales were made through private U.S. firms. One was a big West Coast dairy cooperative.

Under the sales arrangement, these cooperatives and a dairy corporation set up plants in the Philippines for the manufacture of filled milk, using the surplus American dry nonfat milk and Philippine coconut oil.

What worries many leaders of dairy producers in the possibility that a drive may be started to repeal the Filled Milk Act in this country so as to permit sale and distribution of the product here in competition with fluid milk and evaporated milk.

Ban On Photos May Be Relaxed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Bar Assn. has taken a cautious step that could lead to relaxing its ban on news photography or radio and TV broadcasting of courtroom trials.

Representatives of the association and the newspaper, radio and television industries met Friday. They agreed tentatively to see if a study can be arranged by an objective organization, expert in collecting and analyzing facts.

Even this preliminary step, however, must be ratified by the governing bodies of the organizations represented. Financing for the proposed study would be sought from a foundation.

The Bar's courtroom rule, known as Canon 35, stems back to the Lindbergh kidnaping trial of 1935. Then it was said that flashbulbs and bulky photographic equipment turned the trial into a disorderly confusion.

Canon 35 was adopted formally as part of court rules in about 20 jurisdictions and informally in others. But in most courts the decision rests with the judge. About 200 trial court judges...it was estimated recently...now allow photography or broadcasting in their courtrooms.

A joint statement after the Friday meeting said:

"There was a full and frank discussion of the respective viewpoints of the legal profession and the media on the question of possible changes in the canon.

"The Bar committee stated that in the opinion of the committee most members of the Bar favored the present canon because they believed that the presence of photographic or broadcasting apparatus in the court rooms would have an adverse effect on fair trails.

"Representatives of the media expressed the view that, because of technological advances, the media could now reproduce events in a court room unobtrusively and that the mere fact of presence would not affect the fairness of trials."

Two Men Die In Collision

DALLAS (AP)—Two men were killed around 3:30 p.m. Friday at Belt Line and Trig Roads in Northwest Dallas County in the head-on collision of two cars.

They were R. L. Haley, 47, of Irving, who was dead on arrival at Parkland Hospital, and Claude Lowery, 48, of Roanoke, who died at 7:07 p.m. Friday at Parkland.

A third man involved in the Dallas County collision, Earl W. Cochran, 50, of Argyle, was in "poor" condition at Parkland Saturday with head and chest injuries.

Officers said Haley was driving north on Belt Line Rd. when he apparently hit the brakes and swerved across the center stripe into the path of a car driven south on Belt Line by Cochran. The vehicles crash head on.

Lowery was a passenger in the car driven by Cochran, said Deputy Sheriff Paul Johnson.

The wreck about three miles north of the Irving city limits.

Gas Office Will Be Closed On Saturdays

The Lone Star Gas Company's local commercial office will close on Saturdays, beginning May 30, Manager C. L. Callaway announced.

Even though the commercial office will be closed all day Saturday, Callaway emphasized that the company will continue to render the same service on customers' premises that has been the custom in the past. This service can be initiated by telephone.

Dropository facilities make it possible for customers to pay their bills at night and on holidays if they so desire.

The Saturday closing policy is being put into effect throughout the Lone Star distribution system.

TOP MEMBERS of the eighth grade class which was promoted into high school last week at Fluvanna are LaRue Reeder, left, valedictorian, and Robyn Beaver, salutatorian.

Eleanor Browning To Get Degree At ACC

Eleanor Browning, Abilene Christian College senior from Snyder, has been named a candidate for the Bachelor of Science degree in Home Economics, to be conferred Monday in ACC commencement exercises.

Miss Browning is the daughter of Buford Browning of 1910 Coleman, Snyder. She was a 1955 graduate of Snyder High School. At ACC, Miss Browning was a member of the Ellen H. Richards Club, the Melpomenean Players, Alpha Psi Omega, Alpha Chi, and the W Club, and the Campus Service Organization.

Rockefeller Drums Sound

NEW YORK (AP) — The first rumble of a move to draft Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for the Republican presidential nomination was heard Friday. Rockefeller has disavowed White House intentions.

Rep. Stuyvesant Wainwright (R-NY) said he and other Rockefeller supporters in Congress have agreed to enter the governor's name in the New Hampshire presidential primary. The primary will be held March 8, 1960.

Wainwright said Rockefeller had no knowledge of the move. "Actually," said Wainwright, "this is a true draft movement. In fact, my guess is the governor will disavow it."

Rockefeller did just that through a spokesman, who reported that the governor stood on his previous position, that he is concentrating on the job of being governor and has no presidential ambitions.

Wainright said Rockefeller supporters in Congress agreed to have Rep. Chester E. Merrow (R-NH) place the governor's name on the New Hampshire ballot.

Under New Hampshire law, a petition with 100 signers is sufficient to enter a name on the ballot. Within 10 days, however, the proposed candidate can have the printing of his name on the ballot stopped at his own request.

Demo Bills Face Veto Threat

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional Democrats apparently are heading toward a collision with presidential vetoes that could snarl up housing, airport and depressed areas legislation for many weeks.

A Senate-House conference committee, meeting next week, is likely to agree on a compromise housing bill that President Eisenhower may fire back at Congress with a veto.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Senate Republican leader, said he can't forecast what the President will do. But Dirksen said if Eisenhower wants to dramatize his campaign to hold down spending, he will find widespread support for a veto.

Democrats will attempt to override such a veto and enact the bill into law. But the odds appear now to be against their mustering the required two-thirds of those voting in both houses.

If an attempt to override fails, Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill) said he will urge his Democratic colleagues not to compromise.

"I'm for standing firm," Douglas said in an interview.

"Let the builders come to us. The President is trying to use them against us now in an effort to kill off a small amount of public housing and urban renewal."

Dirksen said that "If there is no housing bill, the Democrats will have to take the responsibility."

Eisenhower asked Congress for an additional six billion dollars in authority for the Federal Housing Administration to insure mortgage loans. The agency is scraping the bottom of the barrel now, with a consequent threat to the nation's home building program.

But Eisenhower has opposed provisions of the bill passed by the House on Thursday which would authorize a three-year, 1½-billion-dollar urban renewal or slum clearance program, 400 million dollars for college housing and 100 million for rental dwellings for elderly persons.

The expenditure price tag put on the House bill was $2,100,000,000. The Senate bill passed earlier would cost a half billion more. Neither of these figures takes into account the FHA's insurance authority, since it involves no direct Treasury payment. FHA is self-supporting.

Both Senate and House bills envision outlays so far in excess of Eisenhower's requests that a veto seems inevitable.

There have been indications that Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) and Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas would have preferred cutting back the amounts in the hope of avoiding a veto.

But other Democrats who want to challenge the President are pushing for passage of not only the housing bill but an airport aid measure approved by both houses and a Senate-passed depressed areas bill.

These Democrats maintain that vetoes of such measures would lend weight to their contention that the administration is more interested in balancing the budget than in meeting what they regard as the needs of the country.

There obviously will be housing legislation of some sort enacted before Congress quits. Neither party can afford to let it be said that the economic recovery was jolted by a slump in housing construction because of a failure of Congress and the President to get together.

The fate of vetoed airport and depressed areas bills would be less clear.

Grain Futures List Declines

CHICAGO (AP)—Several grain futures contracts which only a few weeks ago were near high prices for the season finished this week closer to their season lows.

The entire list declined this week with wheat and rye leading the setbacks, all over two cents a bushel. July rye was down four cents and wheat more than three.

The steadiest grain was corn, as it has been for the past several weeks. Corn declined mostly minor fractions as did the new crop soybeans.

The weakness was ascribed mainly to crop and weather reports, both increasingly bearish near the end of the week. But there also was a notable slackening of both domestic and export buying.

Comprehensive private surveys showed small grain crops to be generally in excellent condition even before reports of good rainfall over most of the Great Plains.

Wheat futures closed the week 2⅜-3¼ cents a bushel lower, July $1.83⅜-⅝; corn ⅛-⅝ lower, July $1.26⅛-¼; oats ⅝-1⅜ lower, July old type contract 63⅝-½; rye 2½-4¼ lower, July $1.22¼-22; soybeans ⅛-1 cent lower, July $2.28¾.

Service Pipe Line Building Started

A new district headquarters plant is now under construction here for Service Pipe Line Co., C. E. Wilson, division manager, has announced.

The one-story brick office and masonry warehouse buildings are located on Avenue K between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Streets and are scheduled to be completed Aug. 1.

V. T. Tracy of Snyder is district superintendent for Service Pipe Line here, which is leasing the site for the new headquarters from Raymond Taylor of Albany. Taylor is also constructing the new facility for Service.

The Snyder district includes gathering areas of Irion, Hulldale, Cope, Tulpa, Coleman, Ballinger, Kelley, Snyder, Reinecke, East Vealmoor, Eldorado, Hobo, Strawn, Von Roeder and Cogdell fields.

The new district headquarters office and maintenance crew employes 30 persons at Snyder and a total of 56 in the district.

At present the company's Snyder district headquarters is eight miles south of town on State Highway 208. Service has operated from here since 1950.

Service Pipe Line Co. gathers more than 40,000 barrels of oil daily in the Snyder area. The bulk of the crude is transported southeast to the Houston refining area.

In Texas, one-third of the Service Pipe Line system, 5,000 miles, serves some 16,000 producing wells.

The more than 275,000 barrels of oil Service gathers daily in Texas accounts for 45 per cent of the company's gatherings. About 150,000 barrels of Texas production is pumped out of the state each day to refineries in Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana and Michigan.

Four Killed, Seven Hurt In Collision

MONMOUTH, Ill. (AP)—Four persons were killed and seven injured, early today when a man driving home from work with his family collided with a car loaded with high school graduation celebrants on U.S. 67.

The dead, hurled as far as 25 feet from the crash scene, included the mother, two of her children and one of the students who had been driving a car he received as a graduation gift.

Dead in a car driven by Duard Logsdon Sr., 57, were his wife, Mandy, 35, and two of his children, Duard, 8, and Robin, 1 months. Dead in the other auto was the driver, Larry Bean Earp, 18, of Little York.

Three persons were in critical condition in Monmouth Hospital. They were Bernard Brown, 18, and Charles Lee, 18, both of rural Monmouth, and Jerry Perrin, 19, of Little York. Brown was a passenger in the Logsdon car.

Earp and Lee had been graduated from Little York High School Friday night.

Also hospitalized were Logsdon and another son, Stanley, 11, and Dean Talbott, 18, and Billy Tempero, 15, of Little York.

State police said Earp's car, traveling south at a high rate of speed on U.S. 67, smashed head-on into Logsdon's auto. Logsdon had just made a turn from a dirt road into the northbound lane of the highway.

Earp was a distant cousin of the famed western hero, Wyatt Earp.

Stock Market Has Irregular Gains

By ED MORSE
A PBusiness News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market churned irregularly to another gain this week amid signs that it was tiring.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks touched a new record of $230.20 on the final session and had a net gain of $1.00 on the week despite a couple of losing sessions.

But the week's volume slipped to 15,969,910 shares compared with the previous week's 18,115,455 and was the lowest in six weeks.

A selling squall slashed the huge gains of space age stocks. Tobaccos were hit by a new lung cancer scare. Sugars declined on news of the agrarian reform program in Cuba. Drugs were upset by a brokerage house advisory.

Rails, however, staged their biggest one-day rally since October 1957. Industrials showed selective strength.

Wall Street technicians noted that for several weeks there has been a tendency for volume to diminish on upward moves and to increase while prices are falling. Some brokers report a considerable number of customers with large credit balances, meaning that they are largely out of the market, possibly until such time as a decline makes stock prices attractive to them again.

The U.S. government bond market posted its first advance in seven weeks this week but corporates continued to slide lower for the eighth straight week.

Observers called the government market's slight rise a technical adjustment rather than a rally.

Troy Dean Williamson To Graduate At H-SU

Troy Dean Williamson, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Williamson of 3701 Avondale, Snyder, is a candidate for the bachelor of Arts degree at Hardin-Simmons University. Baccalaureate will be held Sunday, May 31, and commencement will be held Monday June 1, both at the First Baptist Church of Abilene. Approximately 167 H-SU students are degree candidates this spring.

Dr. Arthur E. Travis, H-SU graduate and pastor of Gambrell Street Baptist Church in Fort Worth, will be the speaker for the baccalaureate services at 10:55 a.m. Sunday.

Speaker for commencement exercises at 10 a.m. Monday will be Dr. James L. Sullivan, former pastor of First Baptist Church and now executive secretary-treasurer of the Sunday School Board of the Southern Baptist Convention.

Soviets Give Title

GENEVA (AP) —The Soviets at the Big Four foreign ministers' conference have given French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville an English title. Their interpreter invariably refers to him as Sir Couve de Murville. Sir is a British handle for knights and baronets.

More Schools Are Planned In Russia

LONDON (AP) —Moscow radio said Saturday the Soviet government has authorized the building of boarding schools for 2½ million more pupils by 1965. Fewer than 200,000 Soviet students now are believed to be in such schools.

The broadcast made no mention of the snob appeal boarding schools have in many Western countries. It said they "have become very popular with the Soviet working people" and proved to be the most successful method of education for building a Communist society.

Harilyn Ward Will Get Degree At ACC

Harilyn Ward is a candidate for the Bachelor of Science degree at the Abilene Christian College commencement exercises on May 25.

A 1956 graduate of Snyder High School, she is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harry W. Ward, 2103 Thirty-seventh St., Snyder.

Miss Ward is a candidate for the Bachelor of Science degree with a major in chemistry. At ACC she was a member of Delta Theta Social Club, the Campus Service Organization and the W Club, women's honor group.

Chicago U. Changing Again

CHICAGO (AP) —The University of Chicago, which rocked the collegiate world when it dropped football and granted degrees after two years of study, again is making major changes.

The current revisions, however, will bring it more into line with other universities:

1. The 2-year degree plan is being junked.

2. Athletics are on the upgrade.

Switching from a 2-year to a 4-year degree plan is pretty much a formality. The system was abandoned in effect six years ago when the school announced that the undergraduate school would join four of the graduate schools in awarding 4-year bachelor's degrees in liberal arts and sciences.

And although stimulation of athletics has been under way for the last two years, there isn't enough brawn in sight to develop football teams comparable to the squads turned out in the hallowed days of Amos Alonzo Stagg.

Walter Hass, who took over as athletic director two years ago, said there isn't enough time or money left over from the academic program to spend on major college football.

New tennis courts are under construction, however, and the basketball team has improved enough that Chicago has scheduled Army, John Hopkins and Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Alan Simpson, who became dean of the university Wednesday, announced the junking of the 2-year degree program.

"The ordinary American boy (can girl) who wants a husband who will only make a million in as well as a diploma, are as well later life, and the ordinary American here as the quiz kid."

Big Ten Modifies Rose Set-Up

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Policy-making faculty representatives of the Big Ten Saturday modified the surprising free-for-all Rose Bowl setup they approved Friday.

The current Rose Bowl contract which expires with the 1960 game was dropped in a stalemated 5-5 vote. By the same standoff ballot the faculty representatives refused to remove from their regulations a clause which authorizes Rose Bowl football competition. In effect, this would allow any Big Ten team to accept a Rose Bowl invitation on its own without any conference strings attached.

Saturday, the faculty group ordered athletic directors to create a committee to devise controls for the new Rose Bowl arrangement, and appointed a faculty committee to study methods of breaking a tie vote such as caused Tuesday's complications.

Marcus Plant of Michigan explained that both the proponents and opponents of Rose Bowl play wanted to prevent a single conference school from becoming an overly consistent Rose Bowl visitor. More important, he said, they wanted to prevent any single school from "walking home with all the booty."

At present, the visiting team's Rose Bowl share of more than $400,000 is split 12 ways within the Big Ten.

Intentionally Wins Belmont

NEW YORK (AP) —Intentionally, a black colt owned by the Brookfield Farms of Harry Isaacs, Baltimore sportsman, overtook the pace-setting Crafty Skipper on the turn for home Saturday and went on to capture the $90,650 Withers Mile at Belmont Park by three lengths.

Emil Dolce's Manassa Mauler, who upset First Landing in the Wood Memorial at Jamaica last month, finished second. Howard F. Keck's Bagdad, an invader from California tracks, came up from far back to collect third money, four and a half lengths back of Manassa Mauler. The Charfran Stable's Crafty Skipper, the favorite of the crowd of 37,337, finished seventh after setting the early pace.

Manuel Ycaza, the Panamanian jockey who replaced the suspended Bill Hartack, rode Intentionally. It was his third victory in six races on the program.

Thirteen 3-year-olds started in the 84th running of the Withers.

Ycaza, when sent Intentionally around Crafty Skipper turning for home with about a quarter of a mile to travel. The speedy son of Intent-My Recipe, by Discovery, drew off to win in a snappy 1:35 3-5, making this the fastest Withers ever run. Count Fleet set the track record of 1:34 4-5 as a 2-year-old in 1942. It was equalled by Blesshill in 1956.

The winner paid $7.50, $4.40 and $3.60.

Senators Bomb Red Sox, 10-4

BOSTON (AP) — Washington paraded 6 runs across the plate in the 11th inning Saturday, 2 of them on Jim Lemon's line drive homer, for a 10-4 victory over Boston.

Murray Wall, who had been untouchable since relieving Frank Sullivan in the eighth, was the victim of the Washington outburst which halted a Senators' losing streak at five.

Red Sox shortstop Don Buddin hit a solo homer with one out in the last of the ninth to prolong the contest.

Bob Allison, who had hit his ninth homer in the fourth inning, opened the 11th with a single. Harmon Killebrew followed with a single but Ted Williams threw Allison out at second.

Then it was a Lemon homer, back to back doubles by Julio Becquer and Marv Throneberry and a walk to Ron Samford before Mike Fornieles replaced Wall with just one hit.

Ed Fitzgerald promptly doubled, winning pitcher Truman Clevenger tagged a sacrifice fly and Reno Bertoia singled before Allison struck out.

Tigers End Season As Rams Win Finale, 9-3

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

MINERAL WELLS, May 23 — The Snyder Tiger baseball season came to an abrupt halt here Friday when the Mineral Wells Mountaineers captured the third and deciding game of the bi-district series, 9-3.

As was the case in their opening triumph of the series here Tuesday, the Rams took advantage of [illegible] wildness for Friday's [illegible].

Tim Roberts, still bothered by his finger blister, checked the Mountaineers on three hits but gave up seven bases on balls, one hit batsman, one balk and he wild pitched two Ram baserunners home.

The game was just about decided in the first inning. The Tigers [illegible] to a 3-0 lead in the first [illegible] when Kenny Drake pounded a [illegible] homer over the right [illegible] with Steve Free and [illegible] had singled ahead [illegible].

The lead was short-lived as the Rams bounced back to take the lead with a five-run rally, four scoring on a homerun over the left field wall by catcher Mike Teichman.

Bill Eubanks had opened the Ram scoring when he was hit by a pitch with one away and moved around to third on an error and balk from there he scored on a single by Jackie Ingle. Charles Davis popped out for the second out and then the Rams loaded the bases when Martin Daugherty and John Picard drew free tickets to first.

This set the stage for Teichman's grandslamfifter.

The Tigers had only one other opportunity to get back in the game — that coming in the third. Still trailing by 5-3 the Bengals loaded the bases with one away on singles by Free and Jerry Fleming and Spencer Dyer's walk.

But Ram pitcher Ingle escaped further damage by getting Keith Moffett and Mike Moffett on strikes, both coming on 3-2 pitches.

Only one Tiger got on base after the third. Johnny Drake singled with two away in the fourth and stole second but that's as far as he got.

The Rams scored a single tally in the third without a hit, combined two walks and a single for another in the fifth and then wound up the scoring in the sixth with two tallies without a hit. Two walks, two errors and a wild pitch led to the two Ram runs in the sixth.

The Tigers outhit the Rams 6-3 but the Rams proved opportunists once again for the victory.

Coach Speedy Moffett's Tigers ended their season with a 16-15 record.

Four Tigers wound up their schoolboy athletic careers in Friday's game. Senior members of the team are Kenny and Johnny Drake, Jerry Fleming and Tim Roberts. Terry Lee, who pitched the Tigers to victory in the second game of the series, is the only other senior on the Tiger squad.

Mineral Wells, who will now meet Odessa Ector in the regional series next week, is 11-8 for the season.

Ector defeated Levelland in two straight games for the bi-district title in Districts 1-2, the latter being an 8-7 decision Friday at Levelland. Earlier Ector had clobbered Levelland, 17-3, Tuesday at Odessa.

LITTLE LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Cards, Yanks In Close Victories

The Rotary Cardinals and Legion Yankees registered close one-run victories Friday night in Little League play.

The Cardinals broke a 1-1 tie in the sixth inning for a 2-1 victory over the Kiwanis Braves while the Yankees came from behind with a three-run sixth inning rally for a 6-5 decision over the Von Roeder Seed Indians.

Albert Williams' infield hit scored Lynn Bratton with the winning run for the Cardinals in the top of the sixth. Bratton got aboard on an error and stole second to set the stage for Williams' hit.

The first Cardinal run came in the first when David Black, Kenneth Dieke and Jerry Owens hit successive singles to load the bases and Black scored on a sacrifice fly by Ray Kizer.

The Braves' lone marker came in the third when Jay Williamson scored on a passed ball.

Kizer hurled a 4-hitter and struck out 11 in pitching the Cardinal victory.

In the second game of Friday's twinbill, the Yankees erupted for three runs in top of the sixth to edge past the Indians. The Yankees trailed 4-3 going into the final frame and after taking a 6-4 lead, the Indians threatened in the bottom of the sixth when they scored one run and had the tying run on third before running out of gas.

A two-run single by Leslie Brown put the Yanks ahead in top of the sixth, 5-4. Brown later scored on an error and what turned out to be the winning run.

Jackie Rice doubled and Richie Smedley singled for an Indian run in the bottom of the sixth. Smedley worked his way around to third but got no further.

Johnny Nokes, who pitched the last two innings, gained credit for the victory.

Two more kid baseball leagues will swing into action here tomorrow night.

Season openers in the Pony League and Graduate Pony League are on tap tomorrow night at the northwest diamond in Towle Park.

A brief ceremony will usher in the season for the two Pony Leagues prior to the first game tomorrow. The special cermony will begin at 6:15 with the first game slated for 6:30 p.m.

The Scurry Butane Dodgers and the Von Roeder Red Sox of the Pony League will clash in the first game. Meeting in the second game will be the Walter Hale's Buffs and Furr Food Yankees of the Graduate Pony League.

Mayor Harold Bennett and County Judge J. Ray Martin will participate in Monday's opening night ceremonies.

C. Dale Brooks, minister of the Thirty-seventh Street Church of Christ, will give the invocation.

Presidents of the two leagues, Bill Zimmerman of the Pony League and W. F. McMenamy of the Graduate Pony League, will introduce the managers and sponsors of their respective leagues.

The Pony League takes up where Little League leaves off and the Graduate Pony League takes up where the Pony League leaves off. Ages for the Pony League are 13-14 and the ages for the GPL are 15-16.

Also to be recognized will be Mrs. H. F. Franks, president of the Pony and GPL Auxiliary.

Mrs. Franks heads a group of mothers who'll operate the concession stands this season.

Zimmerman, in a note to the fathers, asks that those men be available for umpiring bases the night their wives are working in the concession stands.

Following is the schedule of the two Pony Leagues. Each team will play 15 games.

Leading Braves Bow To Phils, 4-2

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Anemic hitting Jim Hegan drove in 3 runs and Jim Owens scattered 5 hits today to give cellar dwelling Philadelphia a 4-2 win over the National League leading Milwaukee Braves.

Hegan, batting only .133 before Saturday's game, doubled home Willie Jones and Sparky Anderson in the second inning after both had walked. Then Anderson, Jones and Hegan singled in succession in the fourth for the third and winning run.

The Phillies wrapped it up in the fifth on Ed Bouchee's double and Harry Anderson's single.

Milwaukee led only once, on Johnny Logan's solo home run, his fourth of the year, in the top of the second. The other Braves score came in the second on Eddy Bruton's single, Ed Mathews' double and a fielder's choice by Hank Aaron.

Cardinals Rap Cubs Behind Jackson, 5-4

CHICAGO (AP) — Larry Jackson effectively tied up the Chicago Cubs on four hits Saturday in steering the St. Louis Cardinals to a 5-1 victory.

Ken Boyer contributed his ninth home run of the year, a blast to the left field catwalk, with Stan Musial aboard to give the Cards a 2-0 lead in the fourth.

It was the Cardinals sixth win in the last seven games.

Loser Dave Hillman took his third setback in five games. It was Jackson's third win in 5 games.

The Cardinals clobbered Bob Porterfield, Hillman's successor, for three more runs in the sixth.

Irv Noren stroked the Cubs first extra base hit in 29 consecutive innings, a two-out double in the sixth. Noren then scored on Ernie Banks' single.

Yankees Snap Slump, 13-5

BALTIMORE (AP) — The slumbering World Champion New York Yankees issued an ominous warning from the American League basement Saturday in crushing the Baltimore Orioles 13-5 behind a 16-hit barrage.

After skipping pre-game batting practice for the first time this season, New York looked like the bomber of old with five doubles and homers by Bill Skowron and Mickey Mantle included in the attack.

The Yanks chased Oriole starter Milt Pappas with a 7-run first inning rally and whacked Jack Harshman for 7 more runs in the next 2 frames for an 11-0 lead.

The Orioles trailed 13-0 before rookie Willie Tasby hit the first of his two homers off winning pitcher Don Larsen in the fifth inning. Tasby belted another homer—his fifth of the year—after Joe Ginsberg singled in the seventh.

Larsen upped his unbeaten record for the season to 4-0 as he scored his 11th straight victory over Baltimore.

Larsen, Mantle and Elston Howard led the persistent attack with three hits each and each drove in a pair of runs. Skowron, Tony Kubek and Yogi Berra each had two hits.

Tigers Homers Too Much For Indians, 6-4

CLEVELAND (AP) — Jim Bunning gave up only 6 hits and was backed by 4 home runs as the Detroit Tigers defeated the Cleveland Indians 6-4 Saturday.

Lou Berberet, Frank Bolling, Al Kaline and Rocky Bridges hit homers to help Bunning to his fifth victory against three defeats. The 27-year-old right hander struck out 6 batters and walked 2. The blasts by Kaline and Bridges each came with a man on base.

Jim Baxes, who reported to the Indians Saturday, Ray Spokane and Minnie Minoso hit home runs for Cleveland.

Cal McLish, the first of four Cleveland pitchers, was the victim of the Tigers' home run barrage and lost his first game in six decisions. He was lifted with no outs in the sixth inning after Detroit had scored four runs.

Paul Jorgensen To Meet Tommy Tibbs

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — Paul Jorgensen, ninth-ranked featherweight, will meet Tommy Tibbs of Boston in a 10-round fight here June 2.

Tibbs, is New England lightweight champion and has fought 50 professional bouts. He holds three decisions over Harold Gomes, who won over Jorgensen several months ago.

Hill Signs Contract

CHICAGO (AP) — King Hill, former All-America quarterback at Rice who was the Chicago Cardinals bonus choice in 1958, has signed his second contract with the club, Managing Director Walter Wolfner announced Saturday.

Hill suffered a groin injury that sidelined him most of the 1958 National Football League season.

Veech Clings To Slim Lead At Memphis

By BILL CRIDER

MEMPHIS (AP) — Tom Veech, the rookie pro from Milwaukee, clung to the lead in the $25,000 Memphis Open Golf Tournament Saturday with a clutch 1-under-par 69 for a 36-hole total of 132.

The 265-pound 3-time winner of the Wisconsin Open kept the gallery tense with a birdie-bogie style that saw him in and out of traps and rough and barely able to summon up those crucial putts.

Veech, 29, toured the 6,501-yard, 34-36—70 Colonial Country Club course in 34-35, erasing 5 birdies with 5 bogies but rallying for another bird on the 16th. He 3-putted the 18th to miss a seventh bird.

Veech had seized the lead in the first round with a 7-under-par 63 that equaled the course record. He was on the 18th green and lying 4-under par Friday when a rainstorm washed out all scores.

Cajun Jay Herbert of Lafayette, La., hung in second place, one stroke off the pace. He added a neat 34-34—68 to his first round 66 for 133.

More Olympic Prospects From Lone Star State Loom Ahead

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS (AP) — Texas looked for its sprinters to be coming up with more Olympic prospects than ever before.

There are three potentials, two of them, Bobby Morrow already has been to the Games and everything he tried and is aiming at a return.

The other two are the freshman sensation, Sidney Garton of East Texas State, and squat Bill Woodhouse of Abilene Christian, who has included such greats as Morrow among his victims.

Garton, the tall young antelope of the cinders, already has run the fastest 220 yards in history—19.6. He can't have a record though, because it was run with a 6- to 12-miles-per-hour favoring wind.

Delmer Brown, coach of East Texas who was himself a great sprinter in the late thirties, believes Garton will become the greatest 220 man in history. Garton isn't yet a fast starter, thus isn't as good in the 100 as the 220. But he ran the century in :9.4 without the benefit of the wind. He did 20.5 in the 220.

Woodhouse ran a 19.9 220 with a favoring wind and 20.7 without it. He did 9.4 in the 100 with the wind aiding 9.3 without it. Every time the little, Abilene Christian star steps on the track a 45 is to be expected and he's always under 20 in the 220.

Woodhouse graduates from college in June will spend the summer at his MacCoy, Ga., home and return to Abilene where he will have a job in the fall. He will be working all this time for a spot on the United States Olympic team. He plans some indoor running next winter.

Morrow, the former Abilene Christian ace, is living in Abilene and working for a return to the Games where he won both the 100 and 200 meters and ran on the championship sprint relay team in 1956.

Morrow this spring beat Dave Sime of Duke, the sprinter who had given him the most trouble, in world's 100-yard record at :9.3. He has the 100 in :9.35 in doing so although he had favoring wind in Morrow also avenged a defeat at open distance the hands of Ray Norton of San Jose State when he beat the tacks but the fact remains that Morrow is the fastest man in the world over the 100 and 220 at the present time.

Junior Editors Quiz on CUSTOMS

QUESTION: Why did Indians build totem poles?

* * *

ANSWER: The Indians and other primitive people worshiped many different things. To the Indians, these things were totems. A totem might be a bird, a fish, an animal or some other thing. Each tribe or family had its own totem often regarded as an ancestor.

Along the Northwest coast lived tribes that carved totem figures on poles. When a totem pole was finished and erected, there was a great celebration, just as modern people sometimes celebrate after erecting a statue. These totem poles are becoming more and more scarce and valuable.

* * *

FOR YOU TO DO: The American Museum of Natural History in New York and the Chicago Natural History Museum have excellent totem pole collections which you should visit if you have a chance. You can make your own totem pole, using as your guide a picture in an encyclopedia, by covering a stick with modeling clay and carving the design.

Ancient Log Cabin Is Moved By Rail

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Antique collector Hal Clayburne won't be stumped by distance. He moved his 200-year-old log cabin here from Virginia.

The cabin, still sound after a cross-country trip by rail serves as a living home for Clayburne and his family.

Clayburne learned about the old log cabin during visits with friends in the Shenandoah Valley. Later, hearing it was about to be razed, he made a hurried trip east.

A San Antonio contractor found the dwelling in a sad state of repairs. Its owner was happy to take $65 for it and Clayburne figured it could be fixed up.

Most of the massive yellow pine, walnut and oak logs in the two-storied, five-room house were sound. He had it dismantled and turned it over to the railroads.

Once here, Clayburne took liberties with the original floor plan when remodeling. He placed the downstairs flooring upstairs, replacing old handmade floor nails with wooden pegs.

Three of the old mantels are still in use. Six fireplaces keep the cabin warm.

"We heat almost entirely by wood. I'm sorry to say," Mrs. Clayburne told Shirley Denney writing for the Houston Chronicle.

"Taking out ashes is a nuisance. When my husband empties them, ashes settle all over the house."

Clayburne's concessions to modern times are a wall sink and refrigerator, electricity and indoor plumbing. These he installed. A front door lock, which came from an old Texas jail. The key weighs a pound.

More than 300 antique clocks line the walls in Clayburne's office. His wife displays part of her pressed glass collection on shelves above the kitchen fireplace.

A split-rail fence of Virginia chestnut encircles the home. Clayburne's daughter, Pam, 13, says it makes a dandy hitching rail for her sorrel horse.

Winston On Panels Of Association

Hartie Winston, prominent Snyder cattleman, will serve as a member of the "Cattleman" magazine and soil conservation committees of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, president Norman Moser, DeKalb, has announced.

Winston will work with Roy Parks, Midland, who heads the Cattleman Magazine committee, W. G. Swenson, Stamford, chairman of the soil conservation committee.

The 10,000-member TSCRA is the oldest and largest industry group of its kind in the U.S. Organized in 1877 to prevent cattle rustling, the Association now has 20 standing committees which finance and conduct research programs on every phase of the Southwest's vast cattle industry, ranging from animal health legislative programs to beef promotion.

Cattle and calves are Texas' largest and most valuable agricultural crop. The U. S. Department of Agriculture estimates that Texas' current beef cattle population of 8,510,000 is worth $1,106,000,000.

COQUILHATVILLE, Belgian Congo (AP) — A Belgian Congo court this week confirmed a life sentence against an African who killed a woman of another tribe and ate her flesh in a ritual ceremony.

Panel Urges More Stress On Science

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON (AP)—A lacking up of the entire American educational system, with new emphasis on science, was urged by the White House Saturday to help maintain the security of the free world.

Proposed financial outlay by the nation: at least 30 billion dollars a year—or double the present annual expenditure for education.

The call was made by President Eisenhower's Science Advisory Committee in an 18,000-word report entitled "Education for the Age of Science." It was made public with a approving statement by Eisenhower.

The specific recommendations ranged from one urging do-it-yourself science experiments in the home by students after school hours to a suggestion for caravans of science—that is, mobile museums transported by trailer trucks to bring the story of science to the hinterlands.

In advocating new stress on science, the committee said: "We emphasize that we are not urging that other fields of intellectual importance be reduced or diminished, but only that a proper balance be maintained in our educational offerings. We fear that in the past there has been inadquate emphasis on mathematics and science."

Eisenhower's statement said: "This report makes clear that the strengthening of science and engineering education requires the strengthening of all education. As an excellent statement of educational goals and needs, I hope it will be widely read and that it will stimulate a wider understanding of the importance of excellence in our educational system."

Asserting that the American educational system, "fine as it is in many respects, can be, and as a whole should be, substantially improved," the report offered these five major conclusions:

1. Americans should attach greater value to intellectual excellence.

2. Every school and college should re-examine its curriculum to make sure that it is giving adequate challenge to the intellectual capacities of its students.

3. The nation's people should do far more to enhance the prestige of the teacher and to provide him with more effective support.

4. The country should move much further toward adapting educational programs to the widely varying competence of students, and seek especially to meet the needs of the most gifted students.

5. As a nation, "we should improve our scientific education at all levels, attempting to give better understanding of science to the nonscientists as well as to discover and stimulate more individuals who have the talents to become scientists and engineers."

Eisenhower, referring to the section devoted to teachers, declared: "Higher salaries are a first requirement, but we need also to recognize the great importance of what teachers do and to accord them the encouragement, understanding, and recognition which will help to make the teaching profession attractive to increasing numbers of first rate people."

Manhunt For Teen-Ager Called Off

GREENCASTLE, Ind. (AP)—A manhunt for an armed teen-age escapee from the Indiana State Penal Farm, who boasted he'd "never be taken alive," was called off today.

"We've lost all track of him," said 1st Sgt. C. H. Miller of the state police. "He could have gotten away. There was a report of a stolen car in Greencastle during the night."

Sgt. Miller said the penal farm had "spotters" alerted to report any signs that would warrant a resumption of the search in the heavily wooded central Indiana hill country south of Putnamville.

James V. Calvert Jr., 10, Indianapolis, broke into a farm home two miles south of nearby Putnamville Friday night and left behind a note addressed to his pursuers.

In it, he admitted breaking into another farm home Thursday night and stealing a shotgun, rifle, ammunition and television set. The rifle and TV set were found in a cabin from which the youth fled.

Calvert hinted that he had seen the dozens of men combing the country for him. The search party included some 35 state police, Putnam County sheriff's deputies, and guards from the Indiana State Penal Farm.

Calvert was sentenced to the penal farm March 20 to serve six months on a conviction of assault and battery with intent to rape. He walked away from a work detail Wednesday.

Cubs Move Up At Hermleigh

HERMLEIGH — Cub Scout Pack No. 77 of Hermleigh honored seven cubs with a surprise promotion party at a recent regular pack meeting.

The seven cubs from Den 1 who were promoted to Boy Scouts were David Creswell, Johnny Mays, Danny Sturdivant, Larry Farr, Mike Peterson, Mike Smith and Britt Paty.

The Lions Club, sponsor of the pack, presented each boy with a Scout Handbook. The mothers of the seven cubs presented them with Scout slides, and the pack presented each boy with a Scout neckerchief.

David Creswell, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Bob Creswell, was presented a Scout knife by the Lions Club for being honor cub of the year. He had earned his Lion patch and three arrows this year.

Britt Paty, Mike Smith, and Danny Sturdivant were unable to attend and were presented their gifts the next morning.

Frank Barnes, Scoutmaster, welcomed the seven to join his troop in the main address of the evening.

A four-tiered birthday cake, decorated in the Cub colors of blue and gold, was served to those present.

Five From Area To Graduate At Tech

Five students from the Snyder area are among those who will be awarded degrees at Texas Tech in commencement exercises June 1.

More than 800 will be graduated in the commencement program at Tech.

William Millard Brownfield of Snyder will receive a bachelor of business administration degree.

A bachelor of arts degree will go to Mary Ann Barton of Snyder.

Jackie Doyle Nachlinger of Hermleigh is to receive a bachelor of science degree in agriculture.

Going to Connie Estelle Williamson and Joe W. Devenport, both of Snyder, will be bachelor of science degrees in education.

At Least Nine SHS Seniors To Receive Scholarships

At least nine members of the 959 graduating class of Snyder high School have so far been named for scholarships.

A number of scholarships go to Snyder students annually. Many scholarships, especially those to music students, athletes, and agriculture students, are not awarded until summer.

Top graduate of this year's class is Dan Bohannan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bohannan, 3008 Austin Avenue, who was valedictorian with a grade average of 96.57. Bohannan, who is eligible for a tuition scholarship as valedictorian, plans to attend Baylor University to enter pre-law studies.

Salutatorian with an average only a fraction behind that of Bohannan is Jimmy Guy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Guy, 3012 Avenue V. His grade average is 96.32. Guy has been named by the Diamond M Foundation for a four-year scholarship to the school of his choice. He is reportedly planning to study engineering at Texas A & M College.

A one-year scholarship has been awarded by the Snyder Classroom Teachers Association to a future teacher, Nancy Wiman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Wiman, 1508 Twenty-seventh Street, who plans to attend Baylor University.

Delbert Lloyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Lloyd, 2400 Avenue I, was chosen by the East Elementary Parent-Teacher Association for a $150 scholarship. He plans to attend Sam Houston State College, Huntsville.

A $200 scholarship has been awarded by the High School Parent Teacher Association to Thelma Christianson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emory P. Christianson. She reportedly plans to attend Texas Tech College, Lubbock.

Janice Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Young, 3103 Thirty eighth Street, will receive a $200 scholarship from the Women's Auxiliary to the Canyon Reef Medical Society. She is planning to become a nurse, and the scholarship is to any accredited school of nursing of her choice.

Three athletes so far have accepted offers of football scholarships. Mickey McGrew, who played guard and back for the Snyder Tigers, will attend Texas A & M College. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. K. McGrew, 3105 Avenue Y.

Texas Tech College signed Richard Mahan, Snyder Tiger back, for a football scholarship there. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Mahan, 3002 Fortieth Street.

Ronnie Giles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Jenkins, 2401 Avenue N, will attend McMurry College, Abilene, on a football scholarship. He played tackle for the Snyder Tigers.

A number of other Snyder students are expected to receive scholarships within the next one to two months.

Two students will be given the National Arion Foundation awards during the Monday commencement program, one the outstanding band student of the year and one of the outstanding choir student. The foundation awards are not scholarships, but winners of the awards are usually offered scholarships by schools of music.

Paint Industry In State Increases

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas paint manufacturing industry increased 40 per cent in five years, the Bureau of Business Research said Saturday.

Houston, Dallas and El Paso set the pace for the rapidly expanding industry, the University of Texas bureau said. With 56 plants in 1954, Texas counts 78 this year.

He is valedictorian of the class. At right is Jimmy Guy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Guy, 3012 Avenue V, salutatorian, who had a grade average of 96.32. Jimmy also was selected as winner of the slide rule awarded to a graduate each year by the Snyder section of the Petroleum Engineers Society of the American Institute of Mining & Metallurgical Engineers.

Seniors' Diplomas Mark Big Step In Life

Stuart Long, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Long, 2304 Forty-second Street, is Snyder Junior High School's salutatorian this year. He had a grade average of 98.50 for his four basic subjects during his junior high years. Nurses Caps To Be Given

A capping ceremony will be held for student licensed vocational nurses training here at 8 o'clock the night of June 8, in the First Baptist Church.

Following the capping ceremony the student nurses will begin actual work in Cogdell Memorial Hospital where they will complete their requirements for vocational nurses licenses.

The students to receive caps are: Elaine Armstrong, Nelda Bills, Jonnie Butler, Pearl Coffey, Dorothy Cox, Clellia Flournoy, Martha Floyd, Joy Green, Maurine King, Margaret Kruger, Jane Kuss, Gail Landers, Maggie Palmer, Dian Pate, Shirley Price, Vivian Renfro, Margaret Ridley, Ruth Rodgers, Dixie Rogers, Jewel Smith, Opal Stoltz, Marjorie Tyler and Hazel White.

A flavor note: Buttermilk acidity increases during storage. Use it as soon as possible after purchase. Buttermilk should be kept refrigerated to preserve its flavor.

Versatility is buttermilk's "other" name. It enhances the flavor of many dishes, breads, and cakes, waffles and pancakes, salad dressings, coolers, even sauces. Try a buttermilk recipe soon for a real flavor treat.

MCCLELLAND-HARRISON — Nancy Sue McClelland, 1902 Coleman Street, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. McClelland of Borger, was married to N. J. Harrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Harrison Sr., 2201 Twenty-first Street on May 10. The wedding was held at 1 o'clock that afternoon with the Rev. Floyd Marker officiating in the double-ring ceremony. Library To Close For Inventory

The Scurry County Library will be closed all day May 28 and May 29 for inventory, as well as Memorial Day, May 30.

Mrs. Mary Nell Smith, librarian, said the library board and staff regretted that it was necessary to close for inventory so soon after the library has been opened, but that such action is necessary because books are being removed from the library without being charged out to patrons.

Two reference books, which are never to be checked from the library building and numerous other valuable volumes have been taken from the library, said Mrs. Smith.

Consequently, the inventory has been scheduled to determine the extent of this practice, and if necessary to arrange further steps for the custodianship of the county property.

The many, many patrons who care for books as if they belonged to them personally, and in fact they do belong to Scurry Countians since the library is tax-financed, would be astounded to know of the mutilation of library books by a few of its patrons, Mrs. Smith said.

How many would expect to find a page torn from the new set of Encyclopedia Britannica — yet this has been done, Mrs. Smith said.

A book checked from the youth room has been defaced with language which necessitates its removal from circulation. Most books returned that have suffered accidental damage, such as dog chewed spines, water marks, etc., are voluntarily acknowledged by the patrons and they are anxious to pay for repair or replacement; however, some are sent in by other persons and the expense must at least for the present be borne by the county.

"The very small minority which necessitates the withdrawal of library service to the county for this two day period are urged to stop and think that when the county property is damaged or stolen it is their property — purchased with tax money — to which they are giving such small consideration," Mrs. Smith reminded.

No fines will be charged for the days the library is closed. Books that would have been due on those dates are being dated for June 1. The Scurry County Library will resume its regular schedule of service on that date.

Here's how to bring out the full flavor of walnuts, pecans and almonds: Spread about four cups of nuts in a shallow pan, dot with ¼ cup butter and sprinkle with salt. Bake at 350 degrees for about 20 minutes and serve.

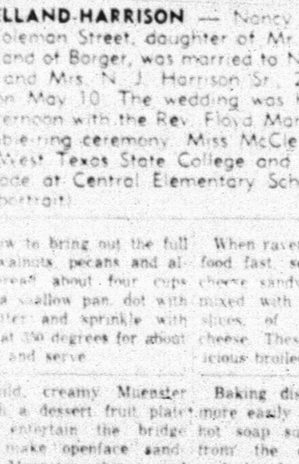

Serve mild, creamy Muenster cheese with a dessert fruit plate when you entertain the bridge club . . . or make openface sandwiches of Muenster cheese and brown bread.

When ravenous appetites demand food fast, serve Ham and Swiss cheese sandwiches. Chopped ham, mixed with salad dressing, tops slices of nutty-flavored Swiss cheese. These sandwiches are delicious broiled and served hot, too.

Baking dishes will come clean more easily if they are shaked in hot soap suds while still warm from the oven. For stubborn cooked-on-food, use a stiff brush when doing the dishes.

Daniel Hopes Task Will End In 30 Days

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Price Daniel says House action yesterday "gives added hope the Legislature can complete its work in the 30-day session."

"I commend the House of Representatives for the fast action it has taken toward eliminating the Deficit," Daniel said.

"In fact, if the House and its revenue and taxation committee continue such expeditious action on the main tax bill and escheat bill, I predict that the Legislature will complete the task now before it without a second called session."

Junior High School P-TA Unit Ends School Year

The Junior High School Band directed by Tim Dennis presented the final program of the school's Parent-Teacher's Association unit for this school year last Monday night.

Sixth-grade pupil's parents were guests of the unit. They were welcomed by the president, Mrs. Fred Beaty. Ralph Laswell, principal, gave the invocation.

Bill Hartsfield, chairman of the auditing committee reported the treasurer's books were correct and in good order. The audit report showed that on May 5, 1958, the balance was $63.37; that deposits to the fund during the year totaled $1,167.20; and that disbursments totaled $2,832.76, leaving a balance on May 3, 1959, of $1,334.44.

Laswell and Bob Smith, assistant principal, accepted two pictures for the school library presented by the P-TA unit in memory of Mrs. E. N. Baker, a past president of the unit.

Mrs. W. M. Womack was presented a life membership in the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers by the unit.

Other life memberships given this year were to Ralph Laswell, Bob Smith, and Mrs. H. H. Beardon.

The president reported that the unit had 118 members representing 86 families.

Lone Star's Application Postponed

AUSTIN (AP) — Lone Star Gas Co.'s application for a rate increase has been postponed for a third time, until July 6.

Railroad Commission examiner S. C. McIntosh granted the postponement yesterday at the request of cities fighting the hike.

Lone Star has asked for a 10 cent boost to 40 cents per 1,000 cubic feet of gas sold to its distributing companies in 308 cities and towns in Texas.

"We are not in a position to procede with our case and will not be able to do so for a few weeks," said Henry Kucera, Dallas city attorney.

Warren Collins, general counsel for Lone Star, said the cities have had suffient time to prepare their case.

"Each day this case is continued amounts to a loss to Lone Star's transmission division of $20,300. This loss already exceeds $2,400,000 and Lone Star stands to lose another one million dollars if a continuance is granted," Collins stated.

How Paris Designs Reach U. S. Homes

EVERY WOMAN who knows couturier today how to sew can wear dresses designed by world-famous Paris your own Paris originals these days than to shop for high-priced imports. And the results usually fit better, too.

PARIS ORIGINAL—Designer Guy La Roche puts finishing touches to new design in his Paris salon. This is the dress which is to be translated to patterns, for home sewing.

This new era of home sewing in America has been brought about by pattern companies who bring the newest Paris styles to the home seamstress each season in pattern envelopes with detailed instructions for making them.

Here's how a Paris original reaches the American home sewing fan. As an example we will take one of this season's most popular styles, a blouse-back sheath of sheer checked wool designed by Guy LaRoche, now available to home seamstresses as a Vogue pattern.

The same envelope contains a pattern for a deep-yoked full coat.

Work began last January to bring this Paris design to American seamstresses. The scene is the La Roche salon, the occasion the opening of his spring collection. Perched on gilt chairs around the salon are American buyers, press and the designer for the pattern company which has a contract with M. La Roche.

The designer spots the slim sheath as a style ideally suited to the tastes of the American woman and simple enough to be translated into a home-sewing pattern. After the showing she starts negotiations with M. La Roche, and places her order.

A few weeks later the pattern workrooms in New York receive from the La Roche salon a muslin duplicate of the chosen dress complete in every detail, including inner belts, buttonholes, linnings, facings, hems and trimmings. In addition there is a complete set of pattern pieces, also in muslin, made up in the Paris salon, with intricate markings showing construction details.

The muslin replica and pattern pieces, carefully guarded and expensively bonded, now are turned over to designers and cutters in the pattern workrooms. Since the proportions of the French figure are different from that of the average American, a new muslin is made to conform to American measurements. Every piece of the original Paris pattern is reproportioned, and the new muslin is made as carefully as the original.

Then the master pattern is cut of flexible cardboard. Experts check every notch, every line, to be sure of complete accuracy. Finally the tissue pattern is cut, detailed directions with cutting guides are printed, the envelope is printed, giving yardages and fabric suggestions and the patterns go on sale to the American public.

Patterns of Paris originals cost more than ordinary patterns and usually are more complicated to make. Many women planning their first Paris home-sewing project go for help to local sewing centers, to be sure of professional work. But with the detailed directions on the pattern, most women experienced in sewing can soon learn to turn out Paris copies which can fool the experts.

First Picnic May Bring Sunburn

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.
AP Newsfeatures

A HOLIDAY is coming up. Let's go out into the country. It's been a long winter, but finally spring is here. Dad has the day off, the children don't have to go to school, let's have fun.

So the Pattersons make big plans. They will get up early, go to a wonderful place they know on the edge of a lake where the kids can play baseball.

"It will be too cold for swimming," warns mother.

"I'm going to take my swimming suit, anyway," says Carol, "just in case, besides, we can wade, it won't be too cold for that."

The day turns out warm and beautiful. The trip is a great success. The family comes home at night, tired, happy and with renewed family solidarity. But that night Carol wakes up crying. Mother goes into her room. The child is as red as a lobster, her body is hot and dry and she hurts all over.

Dangerous Sunburn

The child has a severe case of sunburn, so severe that Mrs. Patterson is afraid to wait until morning to call the doctor. The doctor comes about 11 p.m. Carol is by then in a state of shock. She has to be taken to the hospital and treated as though she had been in a fire. She has second degree burns over her shoulders and back and first degree on her thighs and legs. She is in the hospital for two weeks.

She did wear her swimming suit. She had it on for hours all during the middle of the day. The warm sun had fe' good on her winter-white skin. Neither she nor her mother realized what that pleasant warm sunshine was doing to the child.

Every Memorial Day this happens to hundreds, maybe' thousands, of children.

It is not only that children's skins are winter white in the early spring. It is that the sun's rays are much stronger than most people believe.

Powerful Sun

The sun is closest to the earth on June 21. It is on this day, at noon, that the sun is more powerful than at any other time in the whole year.

Some women when dressed continue to fidget with their clothing and hair until friends are ready to jump out a window. Actually, this fussing attracts more attention to what may be a poor hairdo than the hair itself. Apply cosmetics and dress carefully before going out and then forget about yourself in public.

Now that the children are home for vacation, mother knows how much noise they can really make. A good investment for indoor play floors is a sound deadener, perhaps rubber tile. Look for flooring materials that resist mud, ink, spill and food stains and clean easily.

OUR VIEW

The Lucky Graduates

High School seniors are concluding their public school careers, and once again there may be those who are tempted to say that this year's graduating classes are doing their "commencing" during a period unmatched for confusion.

On a world-wide scale, the East-West struggle endures. Foreign ministers of the so-called "great" powers are conferring, even as the seniors receive their diplomas.

The State of Texas, along with several other states has a financial crisis which has pulled the legislature into Austin for a special session.

Those seniors who plan to attend college are reminded by some powers-that-be that they may be lucky—some classes to follow in the future will have difficulty in gaining entrance to over-crowded colleges and universities.

A slightly brighter picture may exist on the surface at least, for those who intend to start to work immediately in the business world. Experts say business and industrial growth is likely to continue at a fairly good pace we ate next year.

On the whole, however, we doubt that the confusion in the world today is any greater than it was during some previous years. Take the great depression, for example. Graduating classes faced a dismal future in the thirties. Some of them probably would have been happy to have an opportunity to tackle some of the present-day problems.

During that era, those who could, went to college, and many of those who couldn't wished for a chance to do so.

Today, there is an air of excitement, even in the confusion. The "space age" is upon us, and while it may well add to the confusion, it hints strongly of more opportunities for more people to live full lives and be of service to mankind.

The seniors this year may be the first of a long line who are far luckier than many of their predecessors.

Coal Prosperity Fading Rapidly

By JULES LOH
AP Newsfeatures

In the Year 1868 a man named George Shoemaker of Pottsville, Pa., hauled nine wagonloads of coal to Philadelphia.

He sold two loads. The other seven he had to give away.

In the next century and a half the pendulum of coal prosperity made its arc, and in this generation began its downward swing.

And the problem of George Shoemaker 150 years ago is today the basic problem underlying the prolonged and bitter dispute in Eastern Kentucky.

There simply is a shrinking demand for coal.

Ten years ago truck mine operators in Eastern Kentucky got $4.50 per ton for their coal. The United Mine Workers contract called for a daily wage of $15.60 for the men who mined it.

Today the average price per ton is $3.50, and the UMW contract asks a daily wage of $24.25.

Refusal of mine operators to sign the contract has led to bloodshed, death, thousands of dollars property damage, and sores of the type that don't heal readily — the type inflicted when brother turns against brother, father against son.

Many feel the short life of coal's prosperity is the fault of the industry — through failure to exploit the market to its fullest.

George Shoemaker of Pottsville had only one selling point. This black stuff burns, it will heat a house.

Modern technology found that coal and its derivatives could be used to make everything from baking powder to phonograph records, from aspirin to cyanide, from perfume to laughing gas, from linoleum to nylon hose, moth balls to DDT.

"There is still money to be made in coal," said F. F. Schulte, for whom coal has provided a livelihood for 58 of his 70 years.

Schulte ran away from his home in Calumet, Mich., when he was 12, and followed the bituminous seams from Iowa to Whitesburg, Ky., where he is now retired.

There are few jobs Schulte has not done in the coal mines.

"A good coal miner is worth his hire," Schulte said.

"That's why neither side is completely wrong in this strike."

"I have seen good mines ruined because the operator did not invest enough of the profits in it," he said. "I know, because I have operated a truck mine.

"The price of coal is not as good as it used to be, sure. But it is still high enough for a man to make a good profit and pay good wages, — if he operates his mine right.

"He can't take everything out and put nothing back.

"A miner making $10 a day for loading about 10 tons of coal people never say tons is not going to take the time to clean the coal properly.

"He shoots it with too much powder and gets too much ash, and the operator gets a low price for the coal.

"A moderate sized truck mine will produce about 100 tons per day.

"Out of each ton the operator's chief expenses, other than labor, are the trucker to haul the coal to the loading ramp, and the 40 cents he pays the UMW toward its welfare fund — this instead of providing hospitalization and retirement benefits of his own.

"Naturally there are other costs to operating a mine.

"Most of the operators lease their mines, so there is a 25 cent royalty on each ton for the owner, and there are tool depreciation expenses, explosives, timber and other costs.

"Schulte's point is there should be enough for a higher wage than the approximately $10 a day now being paid.

"Probably the union's demand is too steep," he said.

"John L. Lewis has done a lot for the coal miner. It was terrible here before John came. But it could be that he's asking too much."

Greece Requests Sculpture Return

By PETER GROSE

ADVANCE, LONDON (AP) — Greece wants Britain to return priceless marble sculptures that were carted away to England from the Parthenon, the ruined temple embodying the glories of ancient Greece.

The stone fragments, depicting the heroic deeds of Greek warriors in the centuries before Christ, have been lodged in the British Museum for nearly 150 years.

And Britain appears eager to hang on to them — if possible.

The Parthenon, proudly looking down on Athens from heights of the rocky Acropolis, surrendered its treasures to the English noble Lord Elgin in 1801. He brought them to Britain, where they were promptly dubbed the "Elgin Marbles."

Now the Greeks want them back in the surroundings that inspired their creation.

"It is about time our plundered ancestral treasures were returned to us," says Education Minister George Voyadzis, who supervises archeological affairs in Greece.

He also called for the return through an international body — presumably UNESCO — of the Venus de Milo and the Winged Victory in the Paris Louvre and the Mausoleum of Halicarnassus in the Berlin Museum.

"Their proper places is here, under the diaphanous sky of Greece," Voyadzis argued.

Away from their natural setting, they lose their sheen and aesthetic worth and degenerate into mere antiques."

The whole story started 2,300 years ago.

The Parthenon was built in the 5th Century before Christ. In its stone the greatest names in Athenian sculpture recorded for the ages battles of gods and giants, Greeks and Amazons, the birth of Athena and her contest with Poseidon for the land of Attica.

In successive centuries the Greek temple became a Christian church — after some of the pagan sculptures had been removed — and then a Turkish mosque, with a minaret added on top.

When the Venetians bombarded Athens in 1687, the Turks used the Parthenon as a powder magazine and much of the building was destroyed in an explosion.

In 1801 the Earl of Elgin, British envoy in Constantinople and a long-time art lover, collected all the chipped and eroded sculptures lying on the ground and removed remains from the sections still standing.

The great works of classical art he said would eventually be destroyed forever unless someone took action to preserve them.

As he brought the marbles to Britain, Elgin was bitterly accused of vandalism. Lord Byron, the romantic poet, wrote a scathing denunciation.

Finally in 1816 Parliament grudgingly voted to buy the fragments — but for less than half what Elgin had spent of his own money to rescue them.

A spokesman for the British Museum stated firmly that the fragments are not suffering from dampness as charged by the Greek education minister, and that their condition is constantly being checked.

Dallas Banker Has Nose For Figures

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charles E. Walker, 38 and a Dallas banker, has a financial background which should be enhanced by his new role as an assistant to the Secretary of the Treasury.

He holds a Ph.D. in economics, has been an instructor in finance at the University of Texas and University of Pennsylvania, and is the author of numerous articles such as one entitled "Monetary Policy and Economic Stability."

He came here last month on leave from his job as vice president and economic adviser of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas to be an adviser to Secretary of the Treasury Robert Anderson, a fellow Texan—a man he had known for years but never met until March.

With that sort of record, Walker might be expected to be one who keeps his nose pointed toward long columns of figures.

Nothing could be further from the truth.

He's a six footer with an athletic build. He's a pretty good golfer. A crew cut somehow makes his thinning hair look less bald.

"Actually," he said, "I don't have much to do with figures.

"My job is one of dealing with people, trying to look ahead and tell what they will be thinking and doing in economic matters months ahead."

A particular field in which he will advise Anderson is that of management of the national debt, so that issuance of bonds and other acts will have a beneficial, not a disturbing, effect on the economy.

The national debt is at an all time high of 287 billion dollars and the deficit for the year ending June 30 will be a record peacetime high of 13 billions, but Walker is optimistic.

"I think we have a very strong economic situation," he said. "We've erased the recession and are now moving along on a broad front."

The matter of reducing the national debt is one for the policy makers to decide on, he says, but adds that it can be done.

Born in Graham, Walker attended schools there and entered the university in 1940.

After two years there he entered the Air Force and was a bomber pilot instructor during World War II.

Baking A Cake Can Be As Easy As Pie

IF A KITCHEN godmother should grant you one wish, and ou do not have a heat-control range, you might consider asking for this comforting piece of equipment.

Pay special attention to our advise if you have a worry-bird's temperament. Some cooks may be able to bake popovers and angelfood cakes in a range minus heat control without damaging their psyches. But after two experiences with such outmoded equipment — one stint in a small city apartment, and one in a summer country house — we know that disposition can be determentally affected by an old-fashioned stove's whims. There's a wonderful feeling of security in putting a souffle in a heat-control oven, turning on a timer and at its ring finding your creation high, puffy and perfectly baked.

Any range needs care. It's always startling to find women who wouldn't dream of neglecting their refrigerators calmly letting grime and grease accumulate on top burners and ovens. Don't ask us the why of this phenomenon. Perhaps these cooks do not realize that keeping a range clean helps it cook and bake well.

Never, never, never use a heat-control oven to heat a kitchen; such use can ruin a thermostat.

In preheating an oven, don't put the dial at a higher temperature than the one needed to bake by; this maneuver won't help matters at all. With the dial set at the required temperature, the thermostat's valve will automatically reduce the flow of gas in its own good due time.

CAKE BAKING

Every cooking contest we've ever attended has shown that women need to learn how to bake perfect cakes. Presuming you have prepared the cake batter by carefully following a reliable recipe, here are baking tips:

Prepare the pans appropriately. Use unsalted shortening for greasing their bottoms. You may, if you wish, also grease the sides of the pans. Research has shown that if just the bottoms are greased, cakes are slightly higher than if the sides are also treated. On the other hand, greasing the sides help prevent raggedness — a blessing when applying frosting. Take your choice.

Then dust the pans with flour or line with waxed paper. Some cooks like also to grease the waxed paper. If parchment paper is on hand, you may leave the pans ungreased and line the bottoms with it.

Use cake pans with straight sides; they produce cakes with better volume and texture than those baked in pans with flaring sides.

The batter should be in fair proportion to the depth of the pan. If the pan is too big for the amount of batter, the cake will not rise or brown properly, and it will peak. If pan is too small for the amount of batter, the texture will be coarse, the crust may probably overflow before it sets.

Homeowners are finding they can hold old walls together with wall coverings. Decorative vinyl plastic, for example, goes on over cracks and makes an attractive new surface. It does double duty by being washable.

Hula Artist, 87, Views Statehood

By CLAUDE BURGETT

HONOLULU (AP) — Last March 12 when Congress voted statehood to Hawaii and this city exploded in celebration, the noise of whistles and horns stirred little enthusiasm in the aging breast of Kini Kapahuhulaokamamalu Kuulalani.

The Hawaiian name means "The ageless political observer" and it belongs to an 87-year-old woman most people call Aunt Jennie Wilson.

She is one of the few links left with the Hawaiian monarchy which once ruled the Islands. At 16, she became the favorite hula dancer of King Kamehameha, the last Hawaiian king before the Islands were annexed by the United States. He was her first hula teacher.

What does she think of the transition to statehood?

"I remember the day the Hawaiian flag came down," she says by way of an answer. "It was 1899. My mother and I were sitting on the veranda of our home. No yelling or anything.

"Annexation didn't change Hawaii much. Just more houses, more taxes, more crowded.

"I never thought I would live to see the day the monarchy would be overthrown," she chuckled.

"I never thought we would get statehood. No, never.

"I once knew every person on this island. Now I look and can't find them. This is not Hawaii anymore, only the name. It is America.

"The spirit of Hawaii has changed. Poor old Waikiki. Sometimes I go down to the beaches in front of the new stores and just look. When I was a little girl there were no houses at all. Once a month King Kalakaua called the people for a hukilau (a community fishing party). Plenty of fish at Waikiki then. The king asked each family, 'How many children?' Give them so many fish."

Does she wish it could still be that way?

"No can help. So why kick. I'm not kicking. I'm just telling about it."

Aunt Jennie is the widow of Honolulu's most beloved mayor, John Henry Wilson. She still hoods the respect of Hawaii, especially its politicians. The Hawaiian Legislature has named her the Islands' honorary first lady.
