Courthouse dedication honors previous county judges

Robert C. Ferguson of Dalhart, past Sherman County Judge and Millie Hacker, President of Sherman County Historical Commission are shown holding the plaque honoring the first three judges of Sherman County.

The Sherman County courthouse was the site of a dedicating ceremony, honoring all of the previous Sherman County judges, on Sunday October 28.

The ceremony was well attended by approximately 45 people including several from out of town. In attendance were two of the past judges, Robert C. Ferguson of Dalhart and Clyde Hudson of Amarillo.

Sheriff Clois Vaughn acted in the stead of Judge Bill Frizzell and introduced the speakers. Alfred White, minister of the Church of Christ, gave the invocation. After an introduction, Chairperson Millie Hacker gave the history of the project and told some interesting historical facts about each of the judges. She presented the project to the people of Sherman County and expressed gratitude to all who participated or made contributions to the project. She hung the plaque that the Commission had donated in the memory of the first three County judges and presented the project to the people.

Former Judge Ferguson gave a response and told what the project meant to him and expressed gratitude from the judges to the Commission. After the benediction, also given by Alfred White, refreshments were served.

Three Stratford residents present testimony at ICC hearing on railroad service

Three people from Stratford, along with other area residents went to Amarillo Monday night to present testimony before the Interstate Commerce Commission concerning the continuation of service on the Rock Island railroad.

Marilyn Albert, Sherman County Tax Assessor; B.A. Donelson, Vice-President of The First State Bank of Stratford; and R.J. Hill, farmer, Ulysses Pipe Co., and representing the Stratford Chamber of Commerce, all testified before the Commission. The Stratford Chamber headed the effort to have area people respond to the ICC hearings.

Mrs. Albert stressed not only the economic need for the railroad, but told the group of the benefit derived from taxes paid to local taxing entities by the railroad.

Mr. Donelson discussed the economic need and the cost of moving grain by truck versus rail. Mr. Hill also stressed the need for the continued service of the railroad. Also entered into the proceedings was a letter from Don Riffe, President of the Grain Dealers Association, further emphasizing the need for the rail service.

The Commission was asking for comment concerning the need for continued directed service by the KCT and also asked further which line the witnesses felt was best to take over operation of the Rock Island Line. The majority of the group favored Southern Pacific's proposal. One witness preferred Santa Fe, but that was for the Rock Island Line running from Tucumcari to Amarillo, and he further stated that if Santa Fe had the route that runs from Tucumcari to St. Louis that Santa Fe would probably abandon that line.

While the formal hearing was concluded Monday night there is still time to respond by mail. Written testimony will be accepted until November 8. Address letters to the Interstate Commerce Commission, 12th Street and Constitution, Washington, D.C. 20423.

Snow flurries may hurt maize crops

Late Monday night sleet mixed with rain began to fall in the Stratford area. B Late Monday night sleet mixed with rain began to fall in the Stratford area. By early Tuesday morning the sleet turned to snow and by midafternoon the drop in temperatures had resulted in approximately one-half inch of accumulation.

By press time it wasn't known what effect this would have on crops but it was feared some of the maize crops in the area would be lost.

The Stratford High School Marching Band received a first division rating at Region I Marching Contest on Tuesday, October 30. This is the first step towards a Sweepstakes award which is awarded only to the bands receiving a first division in marching, sightreading and concert contests. The sightreading and concert contests will be held next spring.

Congratulations, band, and remember we're with you all the way!

Record 7-0 Elks survive scare - win 15-6

	1	2	3	4	T
Elks	0	3	2	10	15
Stinnett	0	0	6	0	6

The Stratford Elks had their biggest scare of the season in Stinnett Friday night, but rose to the occasion and emerged with a 15-6 victory.

Both teams had fair success in moving the ball in the first quarter, with the Elks controlling the tempo but when the period ended the score was deadlocked at zero.

At one point late in the quarter, Stratford had the ball first down and ten yards to go from the Rattler 33, but were forced to punt after an excellent defensive play led to the loss of five yards on a sweep and a tough pass defense led to an incompletion and a quarterback sack for Stinnett.

During the second quarter, both teams seemed to have more trouble on offense with the first five series ending in punts.

Then with two minutes left to go in the half the Elks drew first blood. Forced to punt from their own two-yard line, Stinnett was only able to get the ball out to their own 34 where Matt Vincent fielded it and returned the ball to the Rattler 14.

Once again the Stinnett defense held tough and the Elks were forced to settle for a 30-yard field goal by Kyle Ingham.

The half ended with the Elks sitting on top of a shaky 3-0 lead.

Stinnett struck back quickly in the third quarter though. After taking the kickoff back to their own 39, the Rattlers abandoned their running attack after two tries and went to four straight passes. A first down and two incompletions later, quarterback Todd Stroud found tailback Tim Harris alone in the right flat. Harris raced 45 yards unmolested for the score and after the extra-point kick failed the Rattlers had taken the lead 6-3.

The Elks scored once with 4:35 left in the quarter, when Stinnett elected to have their punter down the ball for a safety rather than risk kicking out of their own endzone. As the quarter closed the Elks trailed 6-5.

The fourth quarter began with the Elks punting to the Stinnett 18. After the defense held, the Elks took over on their own 34.

Stratford then moved the ball successfully to the Rattler's 18 before two penalties stalled the drive and the Elks once again settled for a field goal by Kyle Ingham, this one from 31 yards out making the score 8-6 in favor of the Elks with 7:15 left to play in the game.

The Elks added an insurance score on their next possession when Billy Powers ran 21 yards for a touchdown making the score 15-6 after the extra point by Ingham.

Stinnett had a chance to draw closer

Halloween in Stratford brings out best and worst

These freaks are Bobby Kirkham and Michael Carter--we think??!!

The Senior Class held its annual Halloween Carnival Saturday, October 27. Festivities began with a stew supper in the high school cafeteria.

At 7 p.m., the Stunt Competition got underway, and at 8 p.m., the Carnival began.

Entertainment was provided by high school students for the Coronation. Seniors Leonard Hawkins and Donna Witcher were crowned King and Queen. Renne Allen and Lloyd Willard, representing the second grade were Prince and Princess.

Crops & Weather

Weather

The high for this week was 92 degrees Saturday, October 27 and the low was 30 degrees Tuesday, October 30. Opinion

The Star Editorial

While studying for my Texas driver's license exam I came across the following regulations which I was unaware of:

1. Turn signals are not necessary in small towns because everyone knows where you are going anyway.
2. Vans and pickup trucks with camper tops must park at intersections so as to block the view of oncoming drivers.
3. Semi-trucks are required to follow cars that are "only" going ten miles-an-hour over the speed limit as closely as possible so as not to take up too much room on the highway.
4. Friends meeting on the road are required to stop their cars and reminisce until at least ten vehicles have been backed up behind each of them.
5. All $200 cars with $800 of excess chrome are required to "burn rubber" at stop signs.

Interesting, but not always quite so funny.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor

This past Saturday nite my family and I participated in the Halloween carnival and coronation. Since we had a child in the coronation we were witnesses to the most disgusting and maddening actions of the kids in the audience from 10-11 years old on up that I have ever witnessed. They hollered, blew horns, shouted names, etc., were so loud that the announcer could not be heard. It was all I could do to set there (my three year old daughter acted better and that is not a compliment). I wanted to get up, grab the mike and tell the little "farts" to get up and go outside if they felt it so necessary to act like "jackasses." I've seen less enthusiasm at pep rallies and ball games.

The coronation is something that "used" to be held in a dignified and "respectful" manner. Now it is nothing but a gross riot.

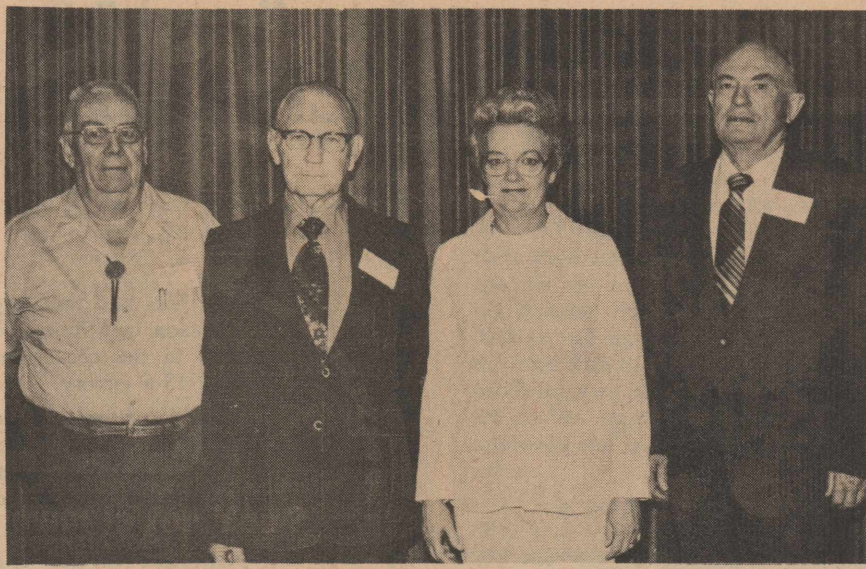

The parents (Where were You?) #1 ought to know a little more about how their kids act. Some of you (parents) would be surprised, or maybe you don't give a (s---) rip about what they do, so long as they are not in your hair. I was raised to believe that their training started at home. It should.

#2 the teachers, principals, superintendents, class sponsors neglected their duties too. It is truly a shame they should have to do anything, but obviously they should have at least tried. I saw no one come up there or get up to do something about the harrassment. The dang monkey always seems to fall on someone.

I felt truly sorry for Deena Wells-trying to talk above all the "braying." I admire her for not throwing in the towel. Where were the class sponsors that should have been there to help her.

Another thing, the kids making the biggest "fools" of themselves were from some of the "best" and most respected families in town. Parents, get off your lazy butts and find out how your kids are acting in public. You might be grossly surprised! I was! Your "little darlins" just might be the little "jackasses" I'm talking about. I certainly hope and pray that if I ever get so lax, somebody kicks my lazy butt and wakes me up. We were given our children to raise in the best manner possible. Some are not doing a very good job.

Chamber Chatter

by Pinky Plunk

Stratford merchants really put on a show Thursday for the annual Halloween Spooktastic Sale. Cut Rate Grocery had costume contests for young and old along with Blue Light specials every few minutes. Leland Lewis has a mustache (home-grown?) for the occasion and reminded us of The Frito Bandito. There were a couple of gals out there that were closely related to Dolly Parton that the Chamber Manager kept trying to pick up. There was also a mummy, the Jolly Green Giant, a clown and other spooks roaming the store.

Over at Ellison Floral we got a treat and a trick. They had a club-footed carpenter that had driven a nail right through its finger accompanied by two sweet little gypsies. Downtown we encountered Dracula at Two's Company. He was so scary that he won first place in the Retail Merchants Costume Contest. He seemed to be the favorite with the kids and we figured they knew more about Halloween than we did since they are pretty scary sometimes themselves.

At the Elk Pharmacy, our local Pharmacist had sprouted horns and looked surprisingly like the Devil. A cute little Rag Doll was up front taking money from unsuspecting passersby.

Our vote for the cutest couple had to go to Mickey and Minnie Mouse at Something Special. They were something to see and even did a little song and dance. They did mention that the ears were pretty uncomfortable though. The Buckle and Bow had two unsightly characters in residence. It didn't seem to scare off the customers even though Rose looked as though she'd gained a little weight.

Second place prize went to the creature locked up in the window at The Male Box. We aren't sure what he was--something from outer space or the black lagoon. Again this was another favorite of the younger set.

At J.A.'s a devil complete with trap door was entertaining along with a gypsy and an "old witch?". The witch said she had been asked to advertise for local cosmetic companies and beauty salons. Next stop was Stratford Printing where we ran into a spook with thick glasses and a very high forehead. Ronnie was in the process of remodeling his business and we figure the person in costume was really the Job Boss.

Down at True Value, Carroll came close to winning the contest until we found out he wasn't wearing a costume. He sure was scary though.

Those of you who did not or could not attend the sale really missed a fun time. These merchants go to lots of trouble getting "freaked up" in addition to offering savings to shoppers. It is worth your time and trouble to come to town and support your local merchants. Don't miss it again next year.

Don't Forget The Newcomers Party on Tuesday, November 6, at 7:30 p.m. in the County Barn. The Women's Division has worked long and hard so come out and meet all your new neighbors and enjoy a fine program. Let's show these new people that we are glad they picked Stratford for their new home.

More and more are cleaning up their property each week in conjunction with the Clean-Up Campaign. Have you done your part?

'Roughweek' for football entrants

It was a rough week for football forecasters, but when the dust from the gridiron finally settled, Frank Vaughn had emerged from a four-way tie to win this week's football contest and a free 1-year subscription to the Star.

Vaughn, who along with three others missed four games this week, predicted that Stratford would beat Stinnett by a score of 26-18. Just one point off the actual winning margin of nine points.

T.J. Carter took second place with a 26-7 prediction, while Robbie Bullock finished third with a 28-6 prediction. They will receive checks of $3 and $1 respectively for their efforts.

Unlike last week, District 1-A games proved to be the toughest for the contestants, with all thirty-three entries missing the Phillips upset of Gruver and all but two entries missing Sunray's win over Sanford-Fritch.

Other troublesome games were Friona's loss to Morton (missed by 30), Kress' win over Vega (missed by 25), Wellington's win over Shamrock (missed by 21) and Dumas' second win of the season over Levelland (missed by 20).

Only one contestant missed the New Deal win over Petersburg and only two were wrong in Panhandle's mauling of Memphis. Once again no one was incorrect in predicting the Stratford game, but the victory margins were generally much higher than the actual score.

Three ELKS share 'player of the week'

Don Reed, Billy Powers and Darrell White all shared the honors as "Player of the Week" for their performances in Friday night's 15-6 victory over Stinnett.

White was named offensive player of the week after grading out to an excellent rating on the game films. White was credited with 10 excellent blocks on the night.

Reed and Powers shared the defensive honors with Reed making 15 tackles (three behind the line of scrimmage) and Powers making 17 stops (four behind the line). Powers was also credited with one blocked pass.

It was White's first time as "Player of the Week." Both Reed and Powers are repeat winners.

Library board holds meeting Oct. 29

The Sherman County Library Board held a meeting Monday, October 29, for the purpose of hiring a new librarian.

Mrs. Jessie Hodges, who has served our community for the past 20 years in the capacity of Sherman County Librarian, is retiring this year.

The new librarian, Beverly Grimes, is the wife of Jerry Grimes of Stratford. Jerry and Beverly have two children, Brent and Kelly.

The Library Board would like to thank Mrs. Hodges for her many years of dedication and service.

Elks take seventh straight on their final drive but had a 7-yard touchdown wiped out by a penalty and then failed to score on the final play of the game.

The Elks were helped out greatly by their special teams all night and punter Tommy Guthrie was instrumental in keeping the Elks in good field possession most of the game with seven clutch boots, one of 74 yards at a crucial point of the game.

For the Elks it was their second straight district win and their seventh victory in as many outings.

Here Is The Path...

"Thou wilt shew me the path of life:
in thy presence in fulness of joy..."
PSALM 16:11

The church is for the benefit of its members and the outreach to the community. The members should benefit from the church in helping them be more what God's will is for their lives. Doing that the person brings glory to God as is intended in God's will for his people.

Paul in I Thessalonians 2:11-12 gives as word as to the work of the church and the purpose of such. Verse 11 gives Paul's work to the Christians at Thessalonica. He exhorted (encouraged), comforted (strengthened or helped) and charged (instructed) them. Then in verse 12 he tells why he did such. To cause them to walk worthy of God, who hath called them unto his kingdom and glory.

Peter in II Peter 3:18 exhorted the Christians to "grow" in grace and knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. To be a follower of Jesus is to be a "becomer" of what God's will is for us. None are perfect, all need forgiveness and must continue to grow if we are to enjoy "being in Christ".

Attend church and benefit from its ministry to you so you can more bring glory to God, our Heavenly Father.

Wells - 'Woman of the Year'

Lynn Wells of Kerrick was named Dallam County Extension Homemakers "Woman of the Year" at a luncheon held Oct. 16 at K-Bobs in Dalhart. Among the five women nominated for the honor was Jeanette Artho of the Conlen Club.

Presenting the silver engraved tray to Mrs. Wells was last year's recipient, Linda Clements, Conlen Club. Other nominees for the honor were Mrs. Helen Newman, Bunkerhill; Mrs. Becky Mitchell, Chamberlain; Mrs. Mary Barker, Rita Blanca.

Lynn is the wife of Kenneth Wells who farms in the Kerrick Community. They are parents of four, Paul who also farms at Kerrick, Jan Testerman of near San Marcus, and Mark and Jennifer who are still at home. They have one grandson, Derrek. She has been active in extension and community work since she was a bride. Lynn has worked with Stratford Girl Scouts for 16 years. The family attends First United Methodist Church.

Entertainment was provided by Larry Russell, Music Director, First Baptist Church of Dalhart. Mrs. Barker was emcee for the day. Mrs. Clements gave the invocation.

An informative and entertaining report of the September State TEHA in Fort Worth was given by Mrs. Artho who attended as a delegate.

Introduction of Past Women of the Year was made by Janet Reinhart. Those present included Mesdames Tom Denman, Fred McDaniel, J.A. Burrows, Roy Davis, Phares Durr, Bob Enns, Hank Rogers, George Reeves, Ralph Hampton, Bill Wedel, Charles Harruff, Louie Baker, Ted Irbeck, Billy Moore, Franny Taylor, Edythe Dixon and Linda Clements.

The closing song, "Ever Onward", was led by Marylou McDaniel.

Kerrick Club members present were Minnie Hampton, Franny Taylor, Mabel Rogers, Joyce Irbeck, Marylou McDaniel and former member, Polly Durr of Fritch.

Ammendments discussed by Council

Editor's Note--The following is the second part of a two part feature prepared by the Texas Legislative Council as an aid to voters in determining the merits of the three proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution that will be voted on Nov. 6.

This is intended as an impartial analysis and not as any type of editorial comment.

AMENDMENT NO. 3--S.J.R. NO. 13
(Proposing a constitutional amendment authorizing the legislature to provide for the guarantee of loans for purchase of farm and ranch real estate for qualified borrowers by the sale of general obligation bonds of the State of Texas.)

This proposed constitutional amendment would add Section 50c to Article III of the Texas Constitution, authorizing the legislature to establish a program of state guaranteed loans to be used for the purchase of farm or ranch land.

The amendment would authorize $10 million in general obligation bonds, the proceeds of which would be administered by the commissioner of agriculture without appropriation for the purpose of:

- (1) guaranteeing loans made by private lenders to individuals for the purchase of farm or ranch land;
- (2) acquiring mortgages or deeds of trust on lands purchased under a guaranteed loan; and

- (3) advancing to the borrower a percentage of the principal and interest due on a guaranteed loan.

The amendment would require that any advances made to a borrower bear interest at the rate of six percent. The amendment would also provide for investment of the bond proceeds and would place a first call on the treasury for repayment of the bonds.

BACKGROUND

The constitution's prohibition on pledging the credit of the state prevents the state from establishing a guaranteed loan program or issuing bonds for that purpose without constitutional amendment.

The proposed amendment would authorize the program established under House Bill 304 enacted by the 66th Legislature, which takes effect only on adoption of the amendment. Under that program, loans made by private lenders to eligible borrowers for the purchase of farm or ranch land would be guaranteed by the state. If the borrower defaults, the state would purchase the mortgage or deed of trust from the lender for an amount equal to 90 percent of all sums due at the time of default. Following all appeals, the state would sell the property in a manner similar to term of the loan, the borrower would begin to repay the state the amount paid to the lender in his or her behalf plus six percent simple interest. All applications for payment adjustments would be approved by the advisory council.

The $10 million in bond proceeds, authorized under the amendment and House Bill 304, is estimated to be sufficient to guarantee loans totaling $100 million. The loan guarantee program is patterned after a program established in Minnesota in 1976. Through February 8, 1979, the Minnesota program had guaranteed 109 loans with no defaults. A bill to establish the program in Texas was first introduced in the 65th Legislature in 1977 but failed to be enacted.

ARGUMENTS

FOR:

1. The family farm makes an important contribution to the health and economic well-being of the state, but the average age of Texas farmers is reaching 55. This proposed amendment would aid young men and women who have been unable to begin in the farm and ranch business because of the high price of land and the extremely high down payment required on the land (now averaging 20 percent) by making affordable loans available.

2. Because of safeguards concerning who is eligible for loans, the risks to the foreclosure.

Eligibility for a guaranteed loan would be limited to Texas residents who:

- (1) have the necessary education in the type of farming or ranching they wish to pursue;
- (2) have, with spouse and dependents, a net worth of less than $100,000, excluding the value of a residential homestead; and
- (3) intend to purchase the land for use by the applicant and family for farming or ranching purposes.

A nine-member advisory council, composed of persons representing the finance and agriculture industries and appointed by the governor, would review all applications for loan guarantees and make recommendations to the commissioner of agriculture on those applications.

In each year of a loan that does not exceed a 20-year term, the commissioner of agriculture would be authorized to pay to the lender on behalf of the borrower an amount equal to four percent of the outstanding balance of the loan. This "payment adjustment" would have the effect of reducing the payments made by the borrower to the lender and would be, in effect, a loan to the borrower from the state. At the end of 10 years, or, if approved for additional payment adjustments, at the end of the state from defaults are minimal and land speculators and large corporations will not benefit. Furthermore, in case of a default, the state would be able to resell the land with the possibility of making a profit because of the initial requirements for a fair appraisal before a loan is approved and because of increasing land values.

3. The proposal has been modeled after a successful Minnesota program, and that state's experience shows that the loan security program is a viable way to encourage young farmers and ranchers.

4. Large corporations are gaining control of more and more agricultural land in the state, and this loan program enables individuals to begin to operate economically efficient and competitive farms or ranches.

AGAINST:

1. A state guaranteed loan program financed by bonds means that the state is, with borrowed money, assuming the risk of default for loans made by private lenders. Not only is this government interference with the traditionally free marketplace, but it is also an unreasonable assumption of risk without tangible benefit to the state as a whole. If the presently unstable economic conditions were to worsen, the taxpayers would bear the cost of the defaulted loans. The potential for that default is reflected in current interest rates and down payment requirements; without that potential, state guarantees would not be needed to encourage private lenders to make loans.

2. Even with no or few defaults, the program is not without cost to the taxpayer. Under the enabling legislation, the costs of administering the program through the commissioner of agriculture are paid from appropriated funds. In addition, the guarantees may tend to create higher land prices and add to the inflation rate.

3. Although the number of individual farms and ranches has dropped by 50 percent since 1940, there are no proven ill effects from the decline which justify a guaranteed loan program. Farms have become fewer, larger, and more expensive to operate, but have also become far more productive.

4. The "payment adjustments" provided for under the proposed amendment and the enabling legislation are, in effect, loans to the individual borrowers. The state, therefore, is not only assuming the risk of a private lender on the purchase money loan, but it is also assuming the risk of making an indirect loan to the borrower.

Two Stratford girls become members of WTSU group

Two West Texas State University students from Stratford are members of the WTSU Student Foundation, a group devoted to promoting the general welfare of WTSU and to supporting its policies.

The two students are Tamra Cameron, a senior, and Brenda Baker, a sophomore.

The group, sponsored by Gene Alice Sherman, wife of WTSU President Max Sherman, plans to have 58 members by the spring semester of 1980.

WTSU Student Foundation began with 10 former Campus Services students who had been trained in the Director of Development office to conduct campus tours and to serve as hosts and hostesses for the university. They each nominated one student and other were invited to apply.
