TEXANS ATTACK FAVOR OIL BILL

Twinkles

Dr. R. A. Webb, city health officer, recommends that crude oil or crank-case oil be poured on all water holes now to halt the mosquito menace.

Mosquitoes in the city park are a nuisance right now. Also a couple of flood-lights are needed, as anyone who cares to investigate will shortly learn.

Regarding mosquitoes, and the swatting of same, County Agent Ralph Thomas assures us—and we didn't see him smile—that only the females do the biting and therefore need killing.

But our particular home problem is how to kill out five beds of red ants. We've tried placing the ants on a brick and breaking their heads with a hammer, but two always come back where one was before. What can we do about it?

The meanest person in Pampa right now is the one—more—who pulled up a tree at the city park Sunday. Thirty days on a rock pile would be too mild for anyone caught defacing or destroying what requires years to grow.

Brevitorials

Musings of the moment: Skippy, the family pup, has met the ancient enemies of canines, and come off with the usual result. Skippy made the most noises and the most advances, but one slight blow on the nose sent him legging it home while the neighbor's cat climbed a post. The pup continues to learn rapidly. He is a never-failing alarm clock, climbing a short ladder at 6:30 a. m. every day to demand admittance to the family circle. . . . He consistently declines bacon and prepared dog food; he likes ice cream and simply dotes on raw liver. He cracks and eats pecans much after the fashion of a squirrel.

GENE HOWE'S discussion of the cause of brown tooth stain, which is prevalent in this section, revives an argument which raged in this section ten years ago. Sponsored, as we remember, by the American Dental Society, or at least the Texas branch, was a study of the stain by Dr. C. A. Pierle, professor of chemistry at West Texas State Teachers college. Guinea pigs were used to determine whether the stain could be produced artificially.

ONE STUDENT was assigned to feed the pigs—or feed some well and starve others, it came to pass that the pigs served a deficient diet developed spots on their teeth which were soft enough to absorb any dye applied. The pigs given a full diet of calcium, proteins, and the like retained their perfect dental condition. Maybe the results were not conclusive as to all stains, but the connection between diet and stain was obvious.

STAIN can be caused by water, probably is, because of the chemical content. But children drinking the same water are not similarly affected. Our own investigations while a student gave one clue. Most of the children with pronounced tooth stain said they disliked milk and wouldn't drink it. Most of them were farm-raised students. Our deductions were that nearly everyone is, at some time or another, subjected to water which would stain teeth, but that soft enamel only will absorb and retain the stain. Our interest in the experiment, as we watched it while a college journalist, was in the hope that some way might be found to remove the stain without damaging the teeth. No good way, to our knowledge, has been found.

Incidentally, our observations led us believe that blonds were more affected by stain than brunets.

MENTION of Dr. Pierle causes us to recall an incident which caused him, and us, considerable embarrassment. Dr. Pierle, in the course of an informal literary society, remarked that a man is chemically a rather sorry creature, worth even at the then boom prices less than a dollar. Citing what he said was an old story in scientific circles, he said that a man had a few cents worth of iron—enough to make a few nails—water enough to wash a blanket, phosphorus, calcium, and the like, all of which could be bought at any drug store for about 79 cents.

CATTLE WILL BE BOUGHT IN DROUGHT AREA

BUYING IN PANHANDLE WILL BEGIN BEFORE END OF WEEK

WASHINGTON, June 6. (AP)—The department of agriculture today declared in an official drought report that conditions will "materially affect the national food supply."

"AMARILLO, June 5. (AP)—Buying of cattle as an emergency relief measure in the drought areas of Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico will begin before the end of the week, was determined here today at a conference of relief and agricultural authorities from the three states.

The program will be under the general supervision of Grover B. Hill, of Amarillo, named by the department of agriculture as director for this district. Relief commissions, the extension service departments of the agricultural colleges of the three states and the bureau of animal industry each will have a part in the move designed to bring relief to farmers and ranchers through the purchase of distressed and diseased livestock.

Diseased cattle will be slaughtered on the ground and then judged as fit for consumption will be shipped to concentration points for processing. The cannery plant in Amarillo will be re-opened for the consumption of livestock bought in the Texas Panhandle.

Sixteen Texas counties, four in Oklahoma and eight in New Mexico have been designated as areas in which purchases may be made. Attending the conferences were Dr. O. B. Martin of Texas A. & M. college; Dr. H. L. Kent, president of the New Mexico State college; E. E. Scholl of Oklahoma A. & M. college; Charles B. Braun, assistant director of the Texas relief commission; H. L. Darby, chief of the bureau of animal industry in Texas and approximately 100 county agricultural agents, local relief authorities and cattle association representatives.

Negroes Held in Theft at Store

Two Amarillo negroes are in the city jail in connection with the theft of articles of wearing apparel from the United Dry Goods Stores Inc. yesterday morning. Only two of the stolen articles were recovered up to noon, although one of the negroes admitted that he gave some of the articles to "a couple of gals."

One of the negroes was arrested here an hour after the theft. The other was caught in Amarillo last night when Chief of Police Art Hurst went to Amarillo and with officers of the Potter county sheriff's department raided a house in the negro section.

Fred Penn, manager of the store, did not see the negro leaving the store, but someone saw him drop an article of clothing in the alley and notified police. The second negro was an accomplice, police say.

No arrests have been made in connection with the burglary of the Pampa Fruit and Vegetable market early yesterday morning. Ten sacks of sugar were stolen. City police are still investigating.

Officers late last night received a report that a man had been hijacked and beaten in south Pampa. The officers are investigating the report.

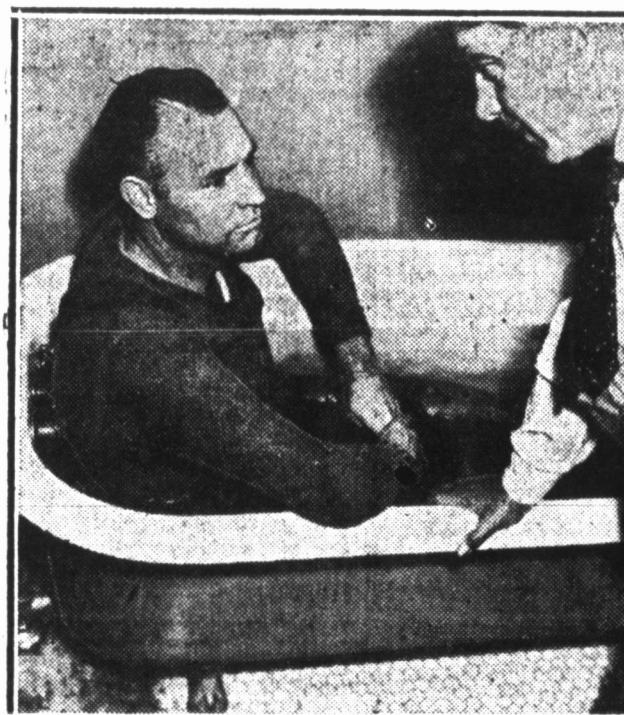

Fletcher Named G. O. P. Chairman

CHICAGO, June 6. (AP)—Henry P. Fletcher of Pennsylvania was elected republican national chairman today to carry on the struggle of the party to regain its place in the political sun after the national committee had published a platform condemning many policies of the democrats and pleading for individual initiative instead of regulated business.

CHICAGO, June 6. (AP)—The republican national committee today at its last annual session today nominated Henry P. Fletcher of Pennsylvania and John D. M. Hamilton of Kansas for chairman and published a party platform which declared that American institutions "are in greater danger than at any time since the foundation of the republic."

They also sent a message to former President Herbert Hoover wishing him long life.

Killer Cleansed of Sin in Tub

Cleansed of his many sins in a bizarre baptism ceremony in a jail bathtub, W. D. May, Texas murderer, mail robber, and dope runner, here is shown after he had voiced repentance for his crimes and had been submerged, grumbling because the water was cold, by the Rev. Almer Kelly. May then was returned to the Fort Worth death house to await execution of his sentence.

Thank You!

ARCHER FULLINGIM.

The following statement, thanking the hundreds of persons who helped make the Pre-Centennial celebration and Pioneers Roundup a success, was made today by Archer Fullingim, general chairman of the celebration:

"Yesterday, I attempted to write an article thanking all the persons who gave special assistance in making the Pre-Centennial possible, but before I was half way through the list I had written two columns. So I decided it would be best to write a blanket note of appreciation, without calling any names.

"In successfully producing the celebration, the cooperation of everyone in the community was necessary, and such assistance was unselfishly and patriotically given by most of the citizenship. Now that our celebration is history, I wish to thank every one who had a part in making the event a great success, on behalf of President Clark.

Merchants Lose Heavily in Forged Check Swindles

Forged checks amounting to more than $500 were cashed by four local merchants Friday afternoon and early Saturday morning, the First National bank here was notified yesterday afternoon. All the checks were on the Continental Oil company and made out to a Ponca City bank.

Information on the eight checks was learned after they had been received at the Ponca City bank and the signatures found to be forgeries. The Oklahoma bank called the First National bank here to be on the look-out for other checks. The eight checks were cleared from the local bank Saturday morning and it is not known whether other checks were sent through Monday morning.

The checks were made out for $80 and $90 and two were cashed at each of the four stores, Hill's department store, J. C. Penney company, Murfee's Inc., and Stein's department store. Two different men operated the swindle.

MAN CONFESSES HOW HE KILLED AND BURIED BOY

Claims Youth Died in Fist Fight Over Wine

PHILADELPHIA, June 6. (AP)—Prosecutor Forrest B. Poling announced today that Lawrence Carroll, 30, after a night of questioning, described how he killed Dale James, 15, in a fist fight and buried the school boy in a hillside cave.

Carroll, a former inmate of the Weston State hospital, and Gordon Blake, 35, were taken into custody shortly after a posse found the body Sunday. A leg protruding from a pile of rocks.

James, who recently was graduated from the eighth grade in school, had been missing since he left home to attend church May 27, the Sunday evening previous.

Poling quoted Carroll as saying he met James at the church, near old Moatsville, and that they went to a nearby hill to "get a drink."

The prisoner is further quoted as saying that after arriving at the hill he urged the boy to go to his grandmother's home and "steal some wine." Carroll said an argument ensued in which the boy said there was no wine at the house and the former insisted there was.

Poling said Carroll told his story as follows:

"He called me a liar and I swung at him and he fell and hit his head on a rock. I went down to a spring and wet my handkerchief and tried to revive him and when I found I couldn't I went home to bed.

"I couldn't sleep. At daylight I went out and picked up the body and carried it to a rocky place and put it in a crevice."

Sergeant H. F. Fullingim, Corporal Dorsey C. Baile and Trooper Paul Thomas of the state police, and Lieutenant Frank Reganauer of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad police questioned Carroll and turned his statements over to Poling. The latter said they would be transcribed and that the prisoner would sign them.

State police said the statements apparently cleared Blake. Both men are residents of this section.

FAMED AUTHOR DIES

MINERAL WELLS, June 6. (AP)—Thomas W. Jackson, humorist and author of the book, "A Slow Train Through Arkansas," was found fatally wounded here today. He died at a hospital a few minutes after he was shot. A bullet entered his temple. Jackson was 67 years old and was born in Tennessee. He came to Texas and located at Sherman when a boy but had lived here 14 years. He had written 12 books.

RAIL KILLS SHEEP

ALPINE, June 6. (AP)—Reports reached here today from Marathon, east of Alpine, that another terrific hail storm struck the Iron Mountain sector north of that town yesterday, killing 1,000 sheep and 23 head of cattle on the Walter Skinner ranch. Flood water after the storm drove the hail drift thru the sheep fences on three sides of the ranch.

TRADE PACTS MAY BE MADE BY ROOSEVELT

EXCHANGE MEASURE TO RELAX SECURITIES ACT OF 1933

WASHINGTON, June 6. (AP)—Congress today completed action on the administration's reciprocal tariff bill with house acceptance of senate amendments. It now goes to the president.

The vote was 154 to 53. The senate amendments limit to three years the time in which the president may negotiate reciprocal trade agreements and provide for notice to industries of contemplated negotiation of tariff pacts to permit hearings. They place a limit, however, on the length of the trade pacts.

This is generally considered one of the most important of Roosevelt's legislative proposals.

It gives him a free hand to enter foreign trade agreements, and to raise or lower tariff rates fifty per cent. It does not permit the transfer of articles to or from the dutiable lists.

To prevent discrimination against any foreign country, the measure provides that when the president enters into a trade agreement with one nation, the new rates apply to all.

However, the measure is given authority to suspend the rates on articles from countries which discriminate against American commerce.

WASHINGTON, June 6. (AP)—President Roosevelt today signed into law the legislation to tighten federal regulation of stock exchanges and to relax somewhat the requirements of the securities act.

Product of months of controversy the measure, opposed vigorously by officials of the New York stock exchange, was signed by the president in the presence of congressional leaders who handled the legislation.

A new commission is to be formed to regulate the exchanges and administer the securities act.

Advocates of the legislation hoped it would deter bad practices on the exchanges and that the liberalization of the securities regulation act would revive the flow of capital.

County in Plea For Drought Aid

Alex Schneider, chairman of the Gray County relief board, Mrs. W. H. Davis, administrator, and Geo. W. Briggs, manager of the Board of City Development, went to Amarillo this morning to confer on the drought relief situation in the Panhandle. Gray county was left out of the list of eligible counties when the report was made Monday.

The Pampa delegation will meet with O. B. Martin, head of extension work in the state, and C. B. Brown of the Texas Relief commission. They will point out that Gray county has from one to five times as many families on the relief rolls as the counties receiving drought aid. Crops in this county are fair, they will admit, but they are not to be compared with other nearby counties included in the list.

Telegrams have been sent to Senator Tom Connally and Congressman Marvin Jones, who replied that they have presented Gray county's plea to the proper authorities.

Child Struck Down By Car at McLean

Billy John Huffman, 6, of McLean is in a local hospital suffering from injuries received when he was struck by a car yesterday afternoon. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Hoffman.

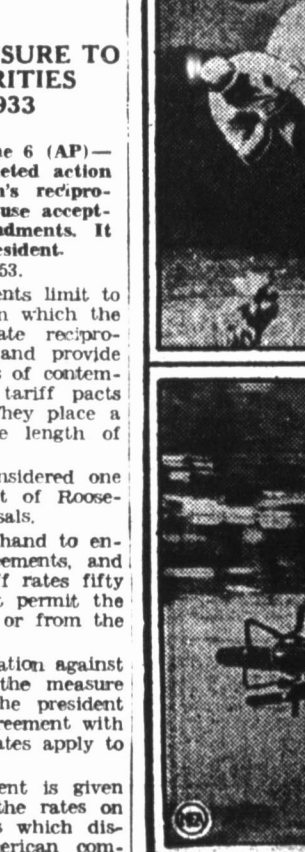

The child was attending an air show at McLean and according to witnesses he stepped from behind a line of cars into the road and was struck by a car.

Attending physicians report him resting as well as could be expected this morning and have hope of complete recovery.

Weather

WEST TEXAS: Partly cloudy to cloudy, probable thundershowers in the Panhandle tonight and Thursday.

Here's Death on Wheels

Grim tragedies of the race track—breath-taking and death-dealing—are recorded in these sensational photographs taken in this country and abroad. A fraction of a second after the picture above was made, George Herzog, participant in a race at Hohokus, N. J., was fatally injured when his skidding car overturned, fell upon and crushed him. Another skid victim was Spaggiari, contestant in Rome's International motorcycle contest, who was caught by the cameraman as he was shot from the saddle of his cycle—and killed.

DEATH SENTENCE AGAINST BARNEY BLACKSHEAR REVERSED A SECOND TIME BY AUSTIN APPEALS COURT

Was Found Guilty of Slaying Brimberry Pair at Arp

AUSTIN, June 6. (AP)—The Texas court of criminal appeals today reversed and remanded the conviction of Barney Blackshear in Smith county in which he was sentenced to death for the slaying of Viola Brimberry. It was the second time a death sentence against Blackshear in this case was reversed by the appellate court.

The bodies of Mrs. Brimberry and her husband, George Brimberry, were found at their cabin home near Arp.

The reversal was ordered because of failure of the trial court to grant Blackshear a change of venue.

The court affirmed a death sentence against June Woolfolk, negro, convicted in San Antonio for the murder of Alma Dell Cabbie, who was beaten to death with a piece of metal pipe. Woolfolk was a yardman at an apartment house where the women's body was found. She had advertised for a job and received a telephone call to come to the apartment where she was killed.

Affirmance also was given a life imprisonment sentence against R. C. Tipton, Comanche county, for the slaying of F. H. (Pink) Milton.

The 45 year imprisonment assessed against W. D. Burkhart by a Williamson county jury for the murder of Henry James, brother of state Representative Jesse James, of Thorndale, was approved. James, 17, was killed and beaten to death. Blackshear's first conviction was reversed because of admission of illegal testimony.

The appeals court commented that each of the special veniremen summoned for Blackshear's second trial testified of having heard or read about the former trial and its results.

"We believe that the record shows this case and the result of a former conviction . . . have been given such publicity, notoriety and extensive discussion by the citizens of Smith county that a change of venue should be granted," the appeals court ruled.

"We are constrained to hold that the record in its entirety leads us to the conclusion that appellant's case had been prejudged to such an extent that it was impossible he could obtain that character of fair and impartial trial contemplated by the constitution."

PLAN CALLED 'TRAGEDY BY' TEXAS SOLON

'MA' FERGUSON FAVORS CONTROL OF OIL INDUSTRY

WASHINGTON, June 6. (AP)—Denouncing before the house interstate commerce committee the Dismal administration-supported oil production control bill today, Rep. Eagle (D., Texas) shouted it was "a tragedy and a disgrace for the secretary of the interior to press this bill on the president."

The Texan contended the president had not had opportunity to know the scope and extent of the measure, which he described as a "monstrosity."

"I will support him (the president) when he is right but I will scrap him if it destroys me when old Ickes tries to press something like this on him," Eagle told the committee.

"The whole position is false, either knowingly or unknowingly," Eagle went on to charge that the secretary "wouldn't know an oil well if he saw it."

He asserted the purpose of the measure was to protect small stripper wells in Pennsylvania and other states at the expense of the huge flush production in Texas, describing the Pennsylvania wells as "little old shirt tail wells."

"Ickes is knowingly or unknowingly, in the interest of the oil monopoly, willing to wreck the people who made the oil business," he shouted.

H. B. Fell, executive vice-president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, asserted to the committee that ninety per cent of the independent operators in the country favored the principles of the bill.

Fell quoted from a wire he said had been sent by Governor Ferguson of Texas to President Roosevelt as follows:

"In this emergency I desire to approve your expressed policy to provide national control of the oil industry and I am in favor of any legislation that you approve."

W. B. Hamilton, a Wichita Falls, Texas, independent operator, who said he spoke also for the West Texas chamber of commerce, told the committee legislation was necessary to protect oil as a natural resource and that "every consumer has a right to expect congress to prevent waste of that resource."

"I saw the great Burk Burnett field in Texas destroyed by a mad race of production," Hamilton said, "and I have seen the same thing in other great fields. In 1926 two great fields were brought in in West Texas, one in Winkler county and one called the Yates field. The Yates operators obeyed proration and that field is flowing today after eight years and will be flowing another fifteen years."

"The Winkler pool, on the other hand, had two who demanded unrestricted production, which is what the opponents of this bill really want. As a result, billions of feet of gas were blown into the air and wasted in the Winkler field. Water came in the wells. Today that field is destroyed. It is producing fifteen barrels of water to one barrel of oil."

Houston Making Strong Bid for 1936 Centennial

AUSTIN, June 6. (AP)—Houston will make a strong bid for the main exposition in 1936 of a century of Texas independence celebration, Harris county members of the advisory board today told the Texas Centennial commission.

Several hundred of the 1,600 members of the advisory board met in joint session with the 36-member commission for a round table discussion of Centennial plans.

Cullen Thomas of Dallas, elected temporary chairman of the commission at an unofficial meeting in March, presided.

Mrs. Roy Arterbury of Houston, advisory board member, declared "we came here to take the Centennial to Houston in 1936," and later Mrs. R. W. Jenkins announced a bond issue at the port city was planned to finance an exposition.

Thomas said the commission likely would make arrangements for the reception of bids for the exposition when it met later. He pointed out the statute enacted by the legislature authorizing the Centennial required the main exposition be held in the city which offered the greatest financial inducement.

WAR DEBTS INVOLVE PRINCIPLES

When Great Britain joined the list of nations defaulting in debts to the United States, the average Pampa probably had a mild shock, since Great Britain has in the past made every effort to pay. And when Britain found it impossible to pay as agreements demanded, she paid a "token" to show that the payment was acknowledged to be owed.

If appears unfortunate that Great Britain should be ranked along with many nations which have made no recent attempts to pay, even in token. When congress took a recent rap at defaulters, she drove Britain into line with the others and precipitated the whole question.

Unfortunately, the debts represent civilization's tremendous cost for the war—a cost measured in part by the debt owed to America. Uncle Sam borrowed from the people generally, issuing bonds to cover his loans. These loans he must repay. If he cannot collect from his recent allies, he must raise the money through higher taxes. A big per cent of the bonds have been bought by wealthy investors. The people least able to pay higher taxes will have to do so in order that those who, in many cases, do not have dire needs can be repaid. But Uncle Sam must keep his reputation clear. He must pay as he agreed.

The defaulting nations have a "side" to the question. They must pay either in gold—or some other accepted money—services, or goods. Most of them cannot pay in gold, for there is not enough gold in the world to pay the war debts and of what there is Uncle Sam and France have the bulk of it. The American working man, already suffering from unemployment, is not willing to approve payment of the war debts in services and goods. The question, then, involves a technical monetary status in which America cannot collect because she is unwilling to accept anything that the defaulting nations have to offer.

It is possible, of course, for most of the nations to pay something. But to resume payments up to full schedule would, as they claim, retard world recovery. Moreover, they payments would place burdens upon foreign people which they would be unwilling to bear. The political consequences of payment would de throne most of the governmental parties involved.

The question arises as to whether debt cancellation would not hasten world recovery and be a benefit to the workers of America. Those of us who believe an honest debt is something not to be canceled as long as the debtor has manhood and health can hardly find it possible to agree on such a course.

Yet there are aspects of war debts to remember. We extended credit. The money we lent was transferred to American manufacturers who supplied the allies with food, clothing, and munitions of war. We sent goods, not money. We are unwilling to take goods in return. Our position, while easily explained, is a bit inconsistent. War business was good. Manufacturers made millions. Workers were paid big salaries. The allies paid inflated prices for the goods. Today's dollar is harder for them to find than was the dollar in 1916-20.

Probably a dozen men in the world understand Einstein's theory of relativity. There isn't a man living who understands why and how world finances move the way they do, and is able to propose a remedy for conditions which develop. And while you can find a man on every corner who will demand that we "make them pay", we still need someone to tell us whether collecting will not be more expensive than cancellation.

Waitress And Postman Among Ticket Holders

NEW YORK, June 6 (AP)—It turned out about six of one and half-a-dozen of the other for Fred Krakenberg, the New York postman who held a ticket on Colombo, the derby favorite who finished third.

He finally sold the ticket to a British syndicate at a reported price of $51,000, after a day of thinking it over. If he had held the ticket he would have won about $50,400.

von Bagen, New York waitress, who held a ticket on Colombo and decided to gamble on the possible chance of winning $152,000—or possibly only the original $2,570 for drawing a horse—plans to use part of her $50,400 seeing America first. Later she says she is going to Europe. Also she is going to buy some new clothes.

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—The treasury announced today subscriptions approximating $7,000,000,000 had been received on its June 15 offering of $800,000,000 in new securities. The $300,000,000 cash bond issue was eight times oversubscribed and the $500,000,000 note issue was nine times oversubscribed.

The Bell Oil and Gas company's number 2 D'Spain in section 52, block 24 Wheeler county is the center of interest and will cause a lot of offsets.

It made 1623 barrels on the first day of its test and was bothered with paraffin during five hours after which the paraffin scraper was run and production increased. Over in block A-8 Wheeler county the Skelly company's number 1, Mary E in section five is drilling in gas at 2,225.

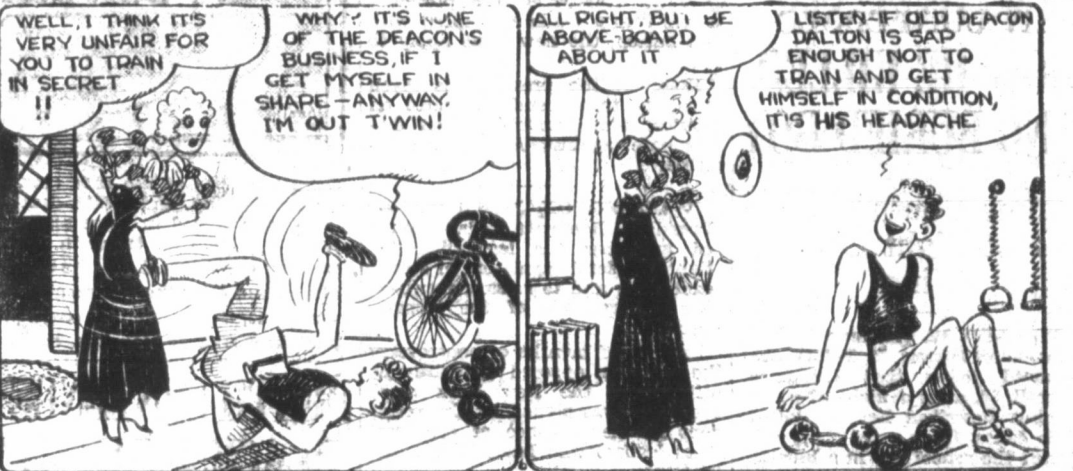

In Gray county just this side of the Wheeler county line the Skelly company is cleaning out its number 8 Webb lease 'A' in section 61, block 25 T&GN after shooting yesterday with 120 quarts from 2243 to 2291. Its number 7 Webb lease 'A' in section 62, block 25 H&GN is shut down at 2507 it is making about 25 barrels.

There are two new locations so far this week, both by the Texas company. In Gray county, Davis number 8 is located 900 east of the west line and 970 south of the north line of the northwest quarter of section 8, block 1, ACH&B survey. In Hutchinson county, number 4 Garner is located 330 feet from the north line and 380 feet from the west line of the north-west corner of the north-west quarter of section 20 block M-21, T&GN Co. survey. The Phillips Petroleum company is going to deepen its Cheatham number 2 in section 38 block Y, A&B survey in Hutchinson county.

FARMER ARRESTED

DALLAS, June 6 (AP)—J. Peirson Contrell, 38, Van Zandt county farmer, charged with the slaying of W. P. Guy, wealthy East Texas recluse, about a year ago, was arrested in southern Oklahoma yesterday and brought here today pending transfer to his home county. Guy disappeared from his country home about a year ago and officers were baffled. Finally they arrested Contrell and he led them to a Wood county secluded spot where the body of Guy was found.

MAYOR PROCLAIMS SHUT-IN DAY NEXT SUNDAY—TO GIVE FLOWERS

The names and addresses can be given the Clayton Floral company, headed by Tom Clayton.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., June 6 (AP)—A movement among American university students to resist army service in time of war was described by Edward A. Hayes, national commander of the American Legion, in an address to Confederate veterans here today as "a disease spreading to destroy the principles of freedom and democracy upon which our nation was founded."

On National Flower Shut-In day, he explained, the florists of America, under the leadership of the Florists Telegraph Delivery association, endeavor to deliver flowers to every permanent shut-in it is possible to reach. It is an entirely altruistic movement and no florist identified with it will sell flowers that are intended for shut-ins on June 10.

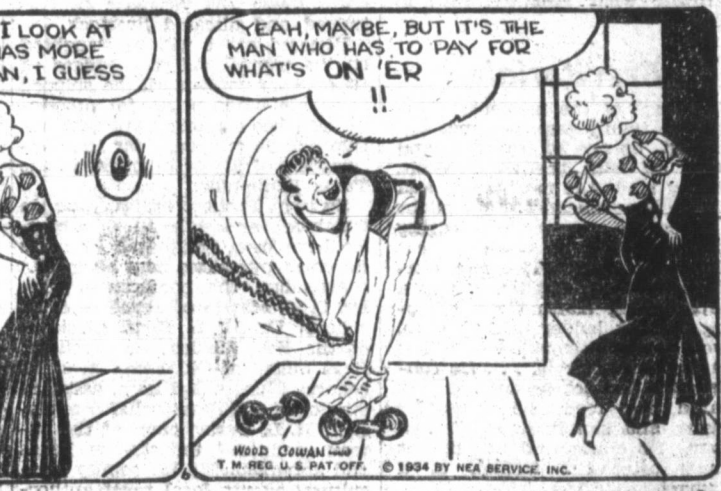

"I hope that every citizen of this city will get behind the movement," said Mayor Bratton in his first Flower Shut-In day statement. "It is a glorious task to deliver flowers to those unfortunates who otherwise would not be able to enjoy the sunshine and fragrance of early June."

"The florists, of course, need the help of the public. I urge you to bring to them the names and addresses of all permanent shut-ins you know, so that none will be overlooked on this great day."

DROUGHT ENDS IN CORN AND WHEAT BELTS

RAINS IN MIDDLE WEST COME TOO LATE TO SAVE WHEAT

By The Associated Press

The drought reached into Maine today as rains put an end to it in the middle America wheat and corn belts.

Agriculturists said the rains were too late to save the wheat crop in northwestern states, but would probably prevent loss of other crops.

At Washington, President Roosevelt withheld his drought message to congress, waiting to learn what benefits the rains have had.

In Ohio, a federal crop expert said that talk of irreparable damage to crops by the drought was "hysteria," and that "a shower a week" would bring many crops thru in fair shape.

CHICAGO, June 6. (P)—New dry spots appeared on the nation's drought map today as rains brought some relief to other hard hit sections.

Spreading eastward, the dry area included states in New England, with crops in Maine threatened by a rainless spell already two weeks old.

Rains spattered dry and dusty fields in many sections of the middle west, but came too late, agriculturists said, to be of benefit to wheat.

Some hope for corn, forage crops and pastures was held out as a result of the rainfalls, especially as the official forecasts indicated "showers and coolers" for much of the drought territory today.

The rains in dry sections ranged from gentle showers to downpours, the latter, ironically enough, falling in territory where crops already had perished.

Agriculture statisticians in northwestern states were almost unanimous in the opinion that the new rain was too late to help wheat much, but would prove invaluable to preserving other crops.

Ohio had rains and expected more to relieve a water shortage in eastern and southern portions of the state. N. W. Baker, federal crop representative, said fear of irreparable damage to crops was "hysteria" and that a fair shower once a week from now on would bring many crops through "in fair shape."

Maine, just beginning to feel the drought, has suffered considerable loss to gardens, pasture land and the hay crop, with the apple yield cut in half by sub-normal temperatures last winter. The situation there was said to require abundant moisture within three days.

Minnesota and upper Michigan did not look for rain, but lower temperatures were indicated. Showers were announced as probable in the Dakotas and were to spread eastward across the dry, parched wheat country.

Relief measures were placed before congress by President Roosevelt who recommended a $525,000,000 drought relief program.

Other more fortunate sections also reported relief efforts. Arkansas, recipient of relief from South Dakota in the disastrous drought, which ravaged the southern state in 1930, offered to repay a part of its debt by shipping three carloads of rice, with southern recipes, to the northern state.

Farmers in northeastern Minnesota offered to throw open thousands of acres of pasture lands, under restrictions, to less fortunate neighbors in other parts of the state. They said it was "worth the risk" to repay people who "aided us during the 1918 forest fires."

Figures Tell Tragic Story of Drouth

A clear picture of the extent and severity of the drought over the middle west may be had by comparing the figures on this map of the stricken region. These figures give, in light face type, the total normal rainfall, averaged over the last 50 years, for the first five months from January to June, as compared with the total rainfall over the same period this year, as shown in black face type. Although the figures cover only the places designated, they represent fairly closely the condition of the surrounding country. In no spot, you will observe, has this year's rainfall approached the normal, while in some places, as at Bismarck, N. D., this year's precipitation has gone as low as 15 per cent of normal.

FARMER SHOT, OFFICER BEATEN WITH PISTOL BY TWO FUGITIVES

WEATHERFORD, June 6 (P)—

Two men, one a fleeing prison farm fugitive, were hunted by scores of officers today after a policeman had been severely beaten with a pistol and a farmer shot on a state highway near here.

One of the men was identified from police photographs as Odell Charles Hughes, one of four desperate criminals who fled from the Harlem state prison farm, in Fort Bend county, Monday. The car which the men abandoned yesterday preceding the attack on the policeman and farmer was identified as one the escaping convicts used to effect their getaway.

George Layman, Weatherford policeman, was recovering from a bruised head, and Grover Cleveland, farmer, from a bullet wound in the thigh, as a result of an attempt to arrest the men. Presence of the men on the highway near their wrecked automobile caused Layman and Police Chief Bert Reynolds to go to the scene. The officers met the men on the highway. They fled but one was captured. Reynolds pursued the other man across a field.

Layman was slugged on the head as he attempted to put the prisoner in his car. The man, grabbing Layman's pistol, fired at Cleveland, who rushed to the car from a nearby field to aid Layman.

Guy Bailey of Fort Worth, happened along and was almost directly in the line of fire but was not struck by bullets. The man, the pistol still in his possession, fled.

Bailey took Layman and Cleveland to Weatherford for medical attention. Neither was critically hurt. The other man eluded Reynolds and made his getaway.

License plates found on the car checked with those of the coupe used by the Harlem convicts to escape under a shower of bullets Monday.

NOT EVEN WRONG NUMBER

PHILADELPHIA—Romeo Riccard, sculptor, dropped three nickels into a pay telephone and didn't even get a wrong number for his money. He tore out the 'phone and was taken before Magistrate James Medway. "I told the druggist about the three nickels, the hot booth, and no service, and he said he wasn't interested," Riccard explained.

A woodcock, banded at Fairho, Ala., in December, 1932, was captured.

CLUB WILL HAVE SECOND ANNUAL TOUR NEXT FRIDAY

WOMEN FROM MIAMI ARE TO JOIN CROWD

LAST IS TO BE AT SAUNDERS LAWN

Women who are planning a garden join presidents of local the Council of Clubs as the Pampa Garden club second annual tour of state Pampa yards Friday.

The crowd will meet in the lovely of Mrs. J. M. Saunders for an of-door breakfast. Mrs. Saunders will furnish coffee, sugar, and jam, and each member is asked to bring a prepared breakfast for two.

After breakfast, the group will leave to see other yards of interest and will close the tour at the W. Purviance home, where cold drinks will be served.

Pampans who have any unusual plants are asked to notify one of the following committee-women: Mrs. F. E. Leech, Mrs. Ray Hagan, Mrs. C. P. Buckler, Mrs. Yealey, and Mrs. Howard Buckingham. Last year the Garden club members became acquainted with a large number of interesting and unusual plants on its tour. The club membership is complete with fifty members.

Mme. Lupescu Will Live in France, Report

PARIS, June 6 (AP)—Reports that Mme. Magda Lupescu, red-haired intimate friend of King Carol of Rumania, would take refuge in France from alleged plots on her life persisted today.

George Dimitrescu, former secretary to Carol, came to Paris recently and was said to be preparing Carol's departure, near Dinard, for Mme. Lupescu at the king's instructions.

Rumors said she would come to France in precautionary exile for several months because of hostility against her in Rumania. A large sum of money was reported to have been deposited in a Zurich bank recently, presumably for Mme. Lupescu's use.

Dimitrescu said he was leaving his hotel here for a fortnight in the country near Paris but denied he was going to Bellem.

A group of Rumanian army officers was convicted recently of attempts against the life of Carol, members of the court, and Madame Lupescu.

Mme. Lupescu, daughter of a junk dealer, has had her name coupled with Carol since 1925 when he, then a prince, renounced the throne to be with her.

Miss Stennis Is Graduated From State College

DENTON, June 6.—Miss Jennie Stennis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Stennis of Pampa, received her bachelor of science degree at the thirty-first annual commencement exercises at Texas State College for Women (CIA) June 4. She majored in business administration.

Activities of "senior week" combined with annual homecoming began with the production, "All's Well That Ends Well," traditional Shakespearean play, presented by the senior Little Theater. A tea, and organ recital were also featured among the activities. The Rev. W. R. Hall, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Corsicana, delivered the baccalaureate sermon.

Elimination of a visiting speaker was inaugurated for the first time this year when Dr. L. H. Hubbard, president of the college, delivered commencement address to the graduating seniors.

Ladies' Store To Open Here

Mrs. Behrman of Delmar moved to Pampa to make a home. They have leased the building at the corner of Cuyler and Kingsmill Avenue and repair a ladies ready-to-wear store start within the next few days.

Mrs. Behrman will leave for the markets the latter part of the week. The new store probably open the latter part of the week.

Drake, traveling freight the Fort Worth & Denton, was here today.

For Parties—When Frills Are in Order

The smartest mothers keep their small girls in the simplest of dresses for all practical purposes. But when there's a party afoot, or some special occasion when they are expected to look their adorable best, a frilly frock such as this is the only one that will do.

Your little daughter will become a pretty French doll as soon as she puts on this confection. Make it of mousseline, fine linen, or crepe de chine—and don't spare the hand-work. A frock like this is so simple to make, it will take you very little longer to put hand touches where they will show most. Size 6 requires 2 yards 39-inch material.

Figure 2

FEED AND MULCH.

By a Pampa Irish Farmer.

Hey, Neighbor, You sure are getting rid of that extra fat on your ribs this morning, while you chop those weeds. Whew, a feller gets kinder hot in the collar all right, with this June sun beaming down. Better sit down in the shade and let this hot rest while we blow a spell.

Yes, everything is growing fine, after these good showers, and don't the flowers look good? We got all puffed up last week over them with the visitors paying us so many compliments on Pampa's pretty lawns and flower gardens.

Now what I want to do this week is get everything hoed over good and clean, not leave one weed to sap the ground, and have all the crust broken around every plant, and then put on the top dressing to feed the soil and hold the moisture.

The folks who have the money to buy with will buy some good plant food and use it around each plant, but the feller who has to rustle to get enough food for himself and family, will be getting out to find a farmers old feed stack, or a dump of old rotted manure somewhere.

I like to use some commercial plant food, just a little at a time, and then use the rotted straw, feed stack, or manure to cover the ground with. If I can't buy the plant food, I use the small lumps of unrotted manure from the cow lot, to feed the soil and use the rotted material for the mulch.

These boys who use the plant food will get some wonderful blooms if they use plenty of water. If they go fishing and stay too long, they will have some yellow plants when they get home, unless the neighbor has been on the job for them while they fished.

In placing either plant food we must be careful and not place it too near the stem of the plant. You want the food to be out near the ends of the plant roots, then when the water is applied the roots get it.

It is easy to feed too much at one time, and make your plants sick. Of course, we all know the plant would die at once if planted in manure alone, and we must be careful not to overdo the thing when we feed, regardless of what kind of fertilizer we use.

Our rose specialists tell us to use about a three-inch layer of light manure for covering on the rose bed during the hot summer months, which will keep the rose roots from scalding, and also keep down the weeds. If you have nothing to cover the bed with, hoe, hoe, hoe and never let the ground get hard and crusty around the plants.

The dahlias and canna lilies are such greedy fellows, and will use lots of food and barrels of water. You know we must just remember, when it does not rain often, that we must give plenty of water to any plant that we have given fertilizer, for too much food and not enough drink will cause the plant to look yellow and drop the blooms, and sometimes they just turn up their

Oxygen Tank To Help Breathing Of Quintuplets

CORBEIL, Ont., June 6 (AP)—An oxygen tank was called into use today to stimulate the breathing of the prematurely born Dionne quintuplets.

The tank holds 95 per cent oxygen and 5 per cent carbon dioxide. It will be used daily to treat the 5 little sisters, all of them underweight.

Belief that there would have been six children born to 24-year-old Mrs. Ovidia Dionne instead of five but for some undetermined accident was expressed by Dr. A. R. DeFoe, who attended the mother.

"I believe six embryos formed and one did not mature," he said. Dr. DeFoe said the babies were born at seven months and not eight months, as at first believed.

"Twins are common in the family of Mrs. Dionne, the former Miss Elizabeth Legros.

Miss Floy Starnard left yesterday for Lubbock to resume her studies at Texas Tech, where she is a junior this summer.

I envy that fellow with the fine blue grass lawn, for that is the best mulch he could ask for. Just save the clippings and spread them over the flower beds, when he does not want to leave them on the lawn for a mulch for the grass.

We spade, we rake, we hoe, an hour each day you know, Hi yo, my dearie, and the farmers in the dell.

We water once a week, if it don't rain, you know, Hi yo, my dearie, and the farmers in the dell.

60,000 Persons Attended 'Texas'

AUSTIN, June 6 (AP)—For each 100 people in Texas one has attended its state university, and for each 300 one has received a degree.

Reviewing 51 years of the University of Texas' existence Dr. H. Y. Benedict, president, said 60,000 people were listed as ex-students and 20,000 as holders of degrees from the institution. The state spent, he calculated, $300 for each degree awarded from 1883 to 1917, and $50 more for each one in the last 17 years.

Arts and sciences degrees were the most popular. Seven thousand five hundred sheepskins in that classification. Law degrees ranked next with 2,800, topping 2,500 ranked in engineering, 1,700 in medicine, 1,400 in nursing, 400 in pharmacy and 600 in nursing.

Enrollment in the state's largest college has risen from 200 in 1883 to approximately 7,000 this year, of whom one-tenth received degrees this June.

Value of the university's physical properties was estimated at $13,000,000 in Austin; $2,000,000 in Galveston, location of its medical branch, and $200,000 in Mount Locke, its observatory site in Jeff Davis county. Included in its endowment fund is a $16,000,000 reserve derived from oil production on lands in West Texas.

Plight of Mongrel Trapped in Quarry Worries Chicago

CHICAGO, June 6 (AP)—Attempts to rescue futile, a plan was under consideration today to lower poisoned meat to a mongrel dog trapped 200 feet below surface on a ledge of an abandoned quarry.

The animal was sighted by boys several days ago. Below the ledge is a 60 foot drop to water. The boys tossed food to the dog and notified authorities.

The face of the quarry cuts backwards, making it impossible to lower any one on a rope. The poisoned meat could be swung in to the dog by rope, ending its sufferings.

Upon the plea of representatives of Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin, former professional dancer who operates a dog refuge, the poison meat solution was abandoned pending a final effort at rescue.

STORY TELLING HOUR SOON TO BE SPONSORED

EDWIN MARKHAM CIRCLE MAKING PLANS FOR PROJECT

Edwin Markham circle of the Child Conservation League is going ahead with plans to conduct a children's story telling hour during summer months. Details will be announced later.

Yesterday afternoon the circle met at the home of Mrs. George Mrs. J. R. Vanderburg, vice-president, was chairman. The program topic was Health and Cleanliness.

Discussions were given as follows: Building the Perfect Physical Child, by Mrs. O. L. Bassham; The Menace of Alcohol and Tobacco to Child Life, by Mrs. Nix; Social Education and Responsibility Necessary to Eradicate the White Plague, by Mrs. G. A. Cotten.

The next meeting will be on June 19 with Mrs. W. S. Dixon. It will take the form of a luncheon.

Wearing of Red Is Not Proper For Large Folk

"Red should never be worn by a large person, as it increases one's appearance in size by one-third," said Mrs. Jack Wade in speaking to the McLean Home Demonstration club at her home recently.

Mrs. Wade acted as chairman. Members answered roll call by discussing quilts, bed linens, and handwork each would have ready for the exhibit June 22. These are to be brought to Mrs. Wade's home next meeting, June 20.

The following members attended: Mesdames W. R. Wise, A. E. Stafford, Walter Smith, Leslie Jones, Claude Robinson, and Jack Wade.

The next meeting will be a bread-making demonstration at Mrs. Jack Wade's at 10 a. m. Friday, June 22.

RULING ON COCONUT OIL

Wright Matthews, acting commissioner of internal revenue, has issued the following ruling under section 602½ of the Revenue Act of 1934:

"The processing tax attaches to the processing in the United States of any coconut oil. Processing includes commercial refining, bleaching, neutralization or hydrogenation of coconut oil to produce an oil or other articles intended for sale. If the oil was imported in a processed state as thus defined the tax attaches to the first further processing in the United States after the effective date of the Act. The tax also attaches to the first use, after the enactment of the Act of oil refined in this country prior thereto, in the manufacture of articles intended for sale."

Nineteen games this season gave the University of Alabama the longest baseball schedule of many years.

WOMEN'S LAXATIVE MUST DO THIS

Women, because of certain organic disturbances, need laxatives frequently. Feen-a-mint is the delicious tasting chewing gum laxative that contains a laxative ingredient regularly prescribed by physicians. You chew delicious Feen-a-mint, and this chewing distributes the laxative ingredient more evenly into the intestines, thus giving a "full," more natural action. Non-habit forming Feen-a-mint never shows irritating delicate organs. Don't suffer "laxative dread," take Feen-a-mint the first "dangerous day" that starts waste matter poisoning into the system. Feen-a-mint contains no richness to upset stomach or diet or to get stale. "Delay" is dangerous—chew Feen-a-mint for constipation. 15c and 25c at druggists.

CORONADO'S ARRIVAL IN CANYON SHOWN IN PAINTING IN MUSEUM

CANYON, June 6 (AP)—The Panhandle Plains Historical Society museum here has received two murals painted by Panhandle artists, Ben Carlton Mead of Amarillo, and Harold Bugbee of Clarendon. They were planned and executed under the direction of Dr. John Andeney of Dallas.

Mead's painting represents Coronado's party at the critical moment when its members decided the Indian called "The Turk" was deliberately misleading them and intended to leave them to die of starvation and thirst. The brilliant colors of the canyon at mid-day, the richly caparisoned mount of Coronado, the vivid green of the cedars and masses of clouds make the picture of compelling interest.

On the opposite wall hangs Bugbee's conception of the entrance of Colonel Charles Goodnight and his herd of 1600 cattle into the Palo Duro canyon that day in 1876, so significant to Panhandle history.

A surprise of the picture is the brand on the cattle. The "JA" so long associated with Goodnight and Adair is expected, but instead is seen "PAT". Dave McCormick of San Antonio, the only man living who entered the canyon with Goodnight, and other intimates of the pioneer soon after he came to this part of Texas, vouch for the correctness of the brand. It is not known whose brand it was except that it was a Colorado owner.

Sixteen cattle are shown in the picture, or one for each 100 head in the herd.

In the lead is old Maud, a cow about which many tales are told. Henry Taylor of Clarendon, says she was the mother of 27 calves.

Three men, Colonel Goodnight in the prime of manhood, Jud Campbell and Dave McCormick are depicted on the canvas.

The two murals are the first of a series of six which will give a pictorial representation and dramatic events of each era of Panhandle history.

A Ford V-8 "delivered" price is the total cost to you—no extras!

THREE important claims... three important facts. Compare Ford V-8 delivered prices. Consider Ford V-8 mileage per gallon and low cost for parts and service. Look at published records of resale prices. You'll find that the Ford V-8 costs less to buy, less to operate... and brings you more when you turn it in.

The Ford V-8 gives you low cost transportation with "high-priced car" comfort, safety, smartness and speed. The 85 horsepower V-8 engine gives you instant acceleration when you want it. This type of engine holds all speed records on land, sea and in the air.

The Ford V-8 has free action on all four wheels—with the priceless safety of strong axle construction. It gives you the "life insurance" of an all-steel body. No wonder the Ford V-8 is breaking sales records everywhere!

IT WAS a good and to us—new story and we printed it in the college paper under a heading something like: "Dr. Pierle Says a Cousin Is Worth 79 Cents." As we said, it was an ancient story but we saw no local need for saying so. Then a press association correspondent at Fort Worth read the college paper, liked and re-wrote the story under a Canyon dateline as a new and interesting study of the human anatomy. On one Sunday morning, the yarn was first-paged from coast to coast in the big dailies, crediting Dr. Pierle with the experiment.

THE REACTION was immediate. Persons who years before had heard the story immediately wrote to Dr. Pierle, labeling him an impostor, a publicity-seeker. The doctor, a quiet, dignified man of ample girth, blushed profusely and hotly demanded to know if this writer had sent out the story. We hadn't, as investigation disclosed. But the press association declined to send out an explanation. Meanwhile, hundreds of letters, ranging from congratulations to condemnations, continued to reach Dr. Pierle. The yarn was translated into several languages. Clipping bureaus wrote warm letters of commendation and offered to furnish clippings for 25 cents each.

CHURCHES

MANN'S WILL SING

"The Man Nobody Loves" is the subject of a sermon to be preached at the revival at the Central Baptist church today at 8 p. m. by Rev. A. F. Johnson, evangelist of Fort Worth. Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Mann, local singers, will be heard. Raymond Culp will direct the choir and congregational singing.

Rev. Johnson wishes to meet all men of the church and friends whom they wish to bring with them just before the sermon at 7:30. At this hour, Rev. Vernie Pipes will meet all junior children and Mrs. Pipes the women. Mr. Culp is directing meetings at this hour for young people. The children under nine are well cared for by capable people of the church. A great crowd is expected.

The evangelist spoke Tuesday night on "Charging Hell." He said, "Our churches must understand that they are in a battle against evil and its forces. This age has too many slackers in the church."

ALLRED ASKS AUTHORITY TO EXAMINE BANK

STATE FUNDS MAY BE IN JEOPARDY, HE ASSERTS

AUSTIN, June 6 (AP)—Attorney General James V. Allred today asked leave of the supreme court to file an application for mandamus to compel District Judge W. F. Robertson of Travis county to permit George B. Simpson, state auditor and efficiency expert, to examine books of the Security Trust company of Austin.

Simpson alleged he had been denied the permission by Judge Robertson, who ordered the bank into receivership May 30, 1933, and appointed C. F. Gibson of Austin receiver. The state auditor contended examination of the bank's records were necessary in an audit he was making of the state treasury, highway and banking departments.

He alleged that $1,346,543.27 public funds were on deposit in the bank at the time it was placed in receivership, no part of which had been returned to the state. The application for mandamus said Simpson needed information which he believed would be reflected by the bank's records "evidencing numerous transactions going on between the state highway department, banking department, and treasury department, and the Security Trust company with reference to public funds and financial affairs of the state immediately prior to a subsequent to the appointment of C. F. Gibson as receiver."

It was further alleged, "upon reliable information," that "the Security Trust held in trust by the state treasury to secure the state deposits were wholly inadequate at their then market value and are now to reimburse the state for its deposits in event same should be sold at the reasonable market value upon the open market."

Simpson contended he needed to make the investigation to determine if it would be advisable to sell the securities put up for the state's deposits.

Exhibits attached to the application included a letter dated January 15 last conveying a request of Governor Miriam A. Ferguson for the state auditor to examine the bank's records for a report to the governor and the legislature.

Leviathan Back On Ocean Again

NEW YORK, June 6 (AP)—The "Dowager Queen" of the north Atlantic is back in polite society again, hoping to end her days there after a lifetime of ups and downs for which she was not to blame. Proudly, with her house flag flying from the peak, the S. S. Leviathan, America's largest passenger liner, steamed to her harbor early morning mist to her harbor anchorage today, ready to resume her rightful place among queens of the sea.

She returned from Boston, where they have been refitting her, in shining new raiment, and Saturday afternoon she will sail for Cherbourg, once more the flagship of the United States lines.

For the last year she has languished at her Hoboken pier, a fifty-thousand-ton floating palace that was regarded as "too good" to be good enough. In her sporadic periods of service on the north Atlantic run during twenty years she never showed a profit, and when the depression struck the shipping business her present owners obtained a twelve-month suspension in the clause in the contract of sale which stipulated that she must make seven round trips annually. Now times are better and they are going to try again.

On her bridge Saturday will be Capt. Albert B. Randall, commander of the fleet.

Candidate for Rail Body Will Speak in Pampa

John Pundt of Dallas, independent oil operator who is a candidate for state railroad commissioner, was here today while on a tour of the Panhandle oil field.

He will return to the Panhandle June 16 to open his campaign in this section at Amarillo, and will speak in Pampa about June 18, according to Preston Sneed of Dallas, who with Gene Smith of Austin are accompanying the candidate.

It is Pundt's contention that there are enough state laws to control the industry if they were properly enforced. His platform also includes increasing the load limit on trucks to 12,000 pounds, with no increase in size of the trucks and with use of dual wheels. He also advocates rail rate making on a revolution of railroad properties.

COURT HOUSE NOTES

SUSPENDED SENTENCE

Isaac Line received a five-year suspended sentence in 31st district court yesterday. Line, indicted for the theft of oil field equipment from the Gardner Brothers' camp in south Pampa, entered a plea of guilty and waived a jury, electing to be tried before Judge W. R. Ewing, who appointed W. R. Frazier, court reporter, to represent him.

Johnnie Cole and Frank Eads pleaded guilty on three charges of theft each. They also waived a jury trial. Judge Ewing today is studying their case and will pronounce sentence tomorrow.

The grand jury convened this morning for the second time during the term. Eight indictments were returned before the first recess.

Judge Ewing Monday morning excused the jury panel until Thursday morning. Several civil suits have been set for tomorrow.

After numerous fans had asked its removal, the short right field fence at Muehlebach field, Kansas City, was torn down.

last 27 years. He was an officer in the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. He was a native of the Panhandle. Survivors are his wife, mother, one sister and two brothers.

Tire Blow-Out Is Accident Cause

Emory Yount, seriously injured in an automobile accident early Sunday morning, is still in a critical condition in Worley hospital. He received a broken neck and other serious injuries. Mr. Yount is an employee of the Danciger Refineries.

H. A. "Buck" Froelich, driver of the car, said the right rear tire on his car blew out, when he was a block west of Nelson street and the car was hurled into the ditch. Mr. Froelich escaped with minor injuries. Mr. Froelich works at the Forrest E. Gilmore refinery west of Pampa.

The car was badly damaged, the front being smashed and the top bent.

State Centennial Committee Meets To Plan for 1936

AUSTIN, June 6 (AP)—Members of the Texas Centennial commission, created by act of the legislature, met here today officially to organize and begin planning for an exposition in 1936, commemorating Texas' one hundredth anniversary of independence.

Election of officers and election of an executive committee of not more than 15 members to handle finances for the commission were matters directed by statute for action at the initial meeting.

Members of the centennial advisory board, which includes four representatives for each county and officers of patriotic organizations, met with the 36 member commission.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, June 6 (AP)—Oil and metal issues led the gallopers in today's quiet stock market, but a number of the leaders in other groups drifted moderately lower as traders cashed in some of their profits. Most speculators were inclined to await further confirmation of the recent uptrend. The close was irregular. Transfers approximated $65,000 shares.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON
NEW ORLEANS, June 6 (AP)—The market became less active as the morning progressed and prices showed a tendency to sag. At the beginning of the second hour of trading the market rallied slightly on a rather unfavorable weekly weather and crop report.

July traded at 11.98, October at 12.22, and December at 12.32, or 8 to 10 points above yesterday's close. Later, the market eased off, owing to early weakness in wheat and lack of sustained support, and before the offerings were absorbed, July dropped to 11.91, October to 12.11 and December to 12.24, or 7 to 11 points below the earlier highs and one point down to one up compared with the previous close.

Around mid-session prices rallied two or four points from the lows on some recovery in wheat bringing the price level to 3 or 4 points net above yesterday's close.

CHICAGO GRAIN
CHICAGO, June 6 (AP)—Despite word that exporters were aggressive buyers at Winnipeg, wheat values here averaged lower today in a rapidly shifting market.

Crop reports were decidedly mixed, with northwest advices indicating likelihood of recovery of wheat crop even under the most favorable circumstances hereafter would be light. In addition to large export takings at Winnipeg today, it was estimated export business yesterday total 2,000,000 bushel.

Wheat closed weak 1 1/2 to 2 cents under yesterday's finish, July 99-99 1/2, corn 1 1/2-2 1/2 off, oats 1/2 to 1 cent down, and provisions varying from 5 cents decline to a rise of 2 cents.

OIL BILL

senative McFarland (D., Texas) followed him to plead strongly for the bill. McFarland read from a newspaper what he said was a report that the son of "one of our railroad commissioners (the state oil regulatory body) is under bond down there charged with hot oil production."

"I don't know whether it is true," I hope not," McFarland said. "Many people believe that R. D. Parker, chief state proration officer in the East Texas field, will be fired now that the time for filing against Lon A. Smith for re-election is passed."

Thompson Talks.
Rep. Bailey (D., Texas), opponent of the bill, asked and obtained leave to present E. O. Thompson, member of the commission, in connection with McFarland's statement about the arrest of a son of a member of the commission—Smith.

"Shame on the head of a man who would accuse a state body of not doing the job because a son of a member happened to be arrested," Thompson said.

"What greater service could a state official perform than to have his own son arrested by his own agents?"

Thompson also read what he said was a statement from the son involved denying the charges but saying that "even if they were true" they would be no reflection upon his father, who had no knowledge of the son's action.

THANKS

ence Kennedy of the Junior chamber of commerce and the various committees.

"Especially do we appreciate the cooperation of clubs and churches in entering floats. They were truly patriotic. The pageant cast, the directors, the band, the square dancers and all who assisted in production of the pageant deserve special thanks."

"Without the assistance of local oldtimers, the Pioneer Roundup programs couldn't have been as interesting as they were, and we thank the oldtimers for taking the lead and making the programs successful far beyond our dreams."

"We thank those who furnished the telephone, lumber for stage and floats, beavers for the barbecue, horses for parade and pageant cast, the high school for the gym, the merchants for decorating their fronts with flags and for placing displays in their windows."

"We believe that Dale Miller, associate editor of the Texas Weekly, deserves the special thanks of Pampa for the publicity he gave to the Pre-Centennial in an article in the Weekly and in a radio talk over Station WOAI, San Antonio.

The Southwestern Public Service company brought electricity to the stage in the park at considerable expense, and we appreciate that. The local telephone company furnished a telephone for the gym, pioneers headquarters. Mrs. Phoebe A. Worley furnished a beef for the barbecue, and we thank her. Barrett Packing company also furnished beavers for the barbecue. Bo Barrett then provided a white horse for Wayne Hutchens to ride at the head of the parade.

With Mrs. DeLea Vicens, registrar, Mrs. E. A. Shackleton in charge of information, J. A. Pool in charge of hostesses, Mrs. Claude Ledrick in charge of rooms, the oldtimers at the gym had a great time. We thank the oldtimers of this city for their wonderful display of hospitality.

We thank Miss Beatrice O'Keefe for coming from her home in Panhandle to play the role of the Spanish senorita in the pageant.

We sincerely appreciate the aid of Mrs. Chas. L. Hughes who mimeographed a thousand times letters we wrote to oldtimers of the Panhandle inviting them to come.

We all believe that the six best dramatic directors in the Panhandle are Mrs. Julian Barrett, Dick Hughes, Miss Beth Blythe, Ed Daman, John Keller, and Reg Farless. They did their jobs well—better than any paid or imported director could have done.

The high school band under the direction of Viri Ward inspired the audience when it played "Come to Bower," battle song at San Jacinto, and "Dixie" at the pageant. Roy Wallenstein who had to be out of town, spent hours orchestrating the Texas battle song.

There was not a single Jaycee who laid down on his job. Every member worked like a Trojan. We thank the Treble Clef club for the use of their Texas maps, and our special thanks go to the Foxworth-Galbraith Lumber company for use of stage and float lumber. And to the local manager of that company, Mayor W. A. Bratton go more special thanks for inviting James V. Allred and Judge James D. Hamlin to speak here during the celebration.

Finally, here's a genuine "thank you" for all those who gave valuable assistance and who know they deserve to be thanked."

Swanson Orders 23 Ships Built

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—Secretary Swanson today approved plans for 24 ships to be built under the Vinson act authorizing naval construction to treaty strength.

At the same time Swanson told reporters the navy still adhered to the policy of battleships as the backbone of the fleet and believed in maintaining existing ratios.

The plans approved call for 1 fast on short straw and with imperfectly developed heads."

MENARY DISPLEASED
WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—Dissatisfaction with the selection of Henry P. Fletcher of Pennsylvania as the new republican national chairman was expressed to reporters today by Senator McNary of Oregon, the republican leader of the state. He said Fletcher was "a good man but not a brilliant selection," adding he "expected an equally good man farther to the west possessing sane and modern views."

The Vinson measure calls for building 102 vessels by 1939.

Roy Henshaw, Los Angeles south-paw pitcher obtained from the Chicago Cubs, is the smallest on the squad. He is five feet one inch tall.

Weather Prophet Is Pessimistic

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—The weather bureau, in a somewhat pessimistic weekly bulletin, today declared recent rains in the heat-seared belt had failed to break the drought, and that permanent relief was not yet in sight.

"Drought conditions are gradually spreading eastward and southward with the need of rain becoming more pronounced in New York, western Pennsylvania, West Virginia, about half of Tennessee, northern Alabama and parts of Mississippi, northern and western Arkansas and Texas," bureau officials added.

Small grain, especially oats, it was reported, have been "going back at an extremely rapid rate," with considerable spring wheat in the southern portion of the belt "practically beyond help," and much winter wheat in the earlier planting districts "ripening too fast on short straw and with imperfectly developed heads."

Meantime, representatives of the big meat packing concerns asked Hugh S. Johnson for an extension of the work week in their plants to meet an emergency in cattle slaughtering which they attributed to the drought condition.

STATE OIL MEN DIVIDED ON MEASURE

CONTROL PLAN HOLDS CHIEF INTEREST OF OIL WORLD

AUSTIN, June 6. (P)—Maneuvers in congress in connection with a bill to give the federal government increased power to supervise the national oil industry continues to occupy chief attention of the petroleum world although prospective developments in the control situation in Texas has attracted much interest.

Texas oil men entertain widely divergent views on the desirability of more stringent regulation of petroleum activities in the Lone Star state by a central authority in Washington. Many of them are in Washington to present their attitudes to congressional committees. Failure of the bill to be placed on the list of "must" legislation at a conference between President Roosevelt and democratic congressional leaders heartened opponents of the proposal. Despite this, however, Representative Disney of Oklahoma, sponsor of the bill in the house, indicated he would press hard for its passage.

Speculation attended filing of the name of R. D. Parker, chief oil proportion enforcement officer for the Texas railroad commission in the East Texas field, for a place on the July primary ballot as a candidate for the democratic nomination for railroad commissioner in opposition to Lon A. Smith, incumbent chairman.

Parker's name was filed by friends. The state democratic executive committee will meet here next Monday to make up the ballot and Parker must withdraw his name by then or enter the primary. Parker has been quoted as saying he would not consider making the race against Smith.

A new enforcement weapon will be available to regulatory forces at midnight Saturday when a federal tax of one-tenth of one cent per barrel becomes effective. State enforcement agencies will be given access to the tax records of the internal revenue bureau to check production reports with tax payments.

Operators of refineries and natural gasoline plants will be required to register with the revenue collector while purchasers of crude will be required to keep records of purchases and disposal of petroleum coming into their possession. Gasoline refiners must keep a daily record of receipts, stocks and disposition of crude and must list its source.

Another topic of discussion in oil circles is possibility of a special session of the legislature next fall at which replacement of the railroad commission as the natural resources conservation agency would be considered.

'STAR' REPORTER OF KANSAS CITY PAPER VISITS IN TEXAS CAPITAL

AUSTIN, June 6. (P)—A. B. McDonald, "star" reporter of the Kansas City Star, who unraveled the Payne murder case at Amarillo a few years ago and obtained the Pulitzer Journalistic prize, visited Austin recently.

He found his old amigo, Colonel Ernest O. Thompson, member of the Texas railroad commission, who was mayor of Amarillo when the news man went there to "look into" the bomb slaying of a wife and mother. He soon dug up information that caused the arrest of the husband and father as the perpetrator.

Colonel Thompson gave the Pulitzer prize winner a dinner with only capitol newspaper correspondents at the table.

McDonald recounted his experiences not only as the reporter turned detective in the Payne case, but as a staff on the Star for 45 years, except for eight years he was employed by a nationally-known magazine as feature writer.

The reporter told of the sensation he received when he was given official notification of the Pulitzer prize award. He was en route home from an assignment at Hollywood, California, when a porter came through the train paging "Mr. McDonald." A telegram from his managing editor inquired where he would be that night at eight o'clock.

"I wondered what had happened, whether my wife or one of the children was ill," McDonald said. "I could not imagine where there could be a 'story' that would need my attention just then. I worried and worried over the question: 'Where will you be at 8 o'clock to-night?' When the train drew into a station in New Mexico at 8 o'clock that night, I was first off and there on the platform was a messenger boy paging 'Mr. McDonald.' I tore into the envelope frantically and found a brief telegram: 'You have won the Pulitzer prize.' McDonald said he still had the $1,000 cash the award carried.

'Alma Mamay' Is Silent on Money

NEW YORK, June 6. (P)—The one New Yorker who held a ticket on Windsor Lad, the English derby winner, secluded herself today.

She was listed as Alma Mamay, of the Park Crescent hotel, Riverside Drive. The hotel verified the name and address but withheld other information, saying, "she left word not to be disturbed."

Alma's winning ticket will pay approximately $151,200.

Bank Cashier To Get $75,000 Sum

ROCKVILLE, Conn., June 6. (P)—News that his Dublin sweepstakes ticket on Easton had won for approximately $75,000 was received today by Charles N. Squires while he was ill in bed at his home.

A retiring man of about 45 years of age, Squires said he preferred not to discuss his good fortune. He is employed at the Rockville National bank as assistant cashier.

"It's just a gamble anyway. I think I'll let it ride." Squires has been married twice and has several children.

EASTON COMES IN SECOND AND COLOMBO NEXT

MAHARAJA'S HORSE IS QUOTED AT 100 TO NINE

By Bob Cavanaugh.

Associated Press Sports Writer.

PHILADELPHIA, June 6 (AP)—The exciting preliminary firing of Merion's rolling battleground points to a wide-open chase after the 39th national open championship, with any one of numerous stars or darkhorses likely to shoot the crown off Johnny Goodman's head.

By helping Uncle Sam win the Walker cup matches with Great Britain last month, Goodman conceded his challengers a head start in their workouts because of his late return from England. Some of the contestants have been at Merion more than a week, while the 25-year-old Texan didn't check in until late Monday.

As if that were not enough of a handicap, the blond-haired Johnny who topped the field with 287 at Chicago last year, found himself heir to one of the toughest assignments any defending open champion has encountered in many years.

Because of the almost unlimited scoring possibilities this 6,684-yard, par 70 course, offers, at least a half dozen stars are conceded a better chance of coping the crown than Jimmy.

Nine days on an ocean liner and a rushed train ride from Boston have shaken everything but the champion's courage and confidence. Although his tee shots and approaching game are far from reminiscent of his sparkling rounds at North Shore last year, Johnny Goodman still believes in Johnny Goodman and all the par-shattering rounds the pros have been hurrying around Merion haven't intimidated the lad.

Goodman's chief opposition points in the direction of such clever club-wielders as Gene Sarazen, Walter Hagen, Tommy Armour, and Bill Burke, all former titleholders, as well as Paul Runyan, whose winner's big money winner, Denny Shute, the British open king, Ky Laffoon, the Denver champion, Olin Dutra, Willy Cox, Craig Wood, and more than a score of others, including two of his Walker cup mates, W. Lawson Little Jr., British amateur champion, and Gus Moore, the bronzed Texan, who was the second lowest scoring amateur in the 1933 title event.

In addition to that list of luminaries, there is plenty of room for a "dark horse" to step in and steal the show just as Goodman did.

A considerable controversy has developed among the pros in connection with the possibility of lowering the 72-hole open scoring record of 286 held jointly by Sarazen and Chick Evans Jr. Most of the pros feel that it will take 285 to win, while Runyan goes even further, believing the winning total will be 284.

Mobs Demonstrate Against Woolworth Stores in Germany

BERLIN, June 6 (AP)—Angry mobs demonstrated in three cities today against stores of the F. W. Woolworth company, following reports the American firm had joined an anti-German boycott.

Windows of the store at Kassel were smashed, streaks of paint were daubed on the company's store at Bonn, and a chorus of excited voices shouted "don't buy from this anti-German firm" at Ludwigshafen.

These attacks on the American firm were inaugurated yesterday at Kassel.

Woolworth's German representatives vigorously denied reports reaching Germany that the company had joined a boycott on German goods in America.

"As a matter of fact," a spokesman said, "one of our New York buyers is about to sail for Germany. One from Canada was here recently, as was one from England."

"It is nonsense to talk of our joining the boycott. We are doing business with German manufacturers now as always and intend to continue to do so."

Texas League's Leaders Beaten

By The Associated Press.

Oklahoma City, Houston, Beaumont, and Galveston were victorious yesterday in a round of Texas league battles. The three leaders, Dallas, Tulsa, and San Antonio, took it on the chin and had to like it.

Charlie Barnabe started for Dallas in an attempt to win his ninth game this season. He was wild and eventually went to the showers, Vangilder finishing the game.

Manager Carey Selph rained out to give his Houston Buffaloes a 6 to 4 decision over Fort Worth. Selph outpitched three devils, driving in two runs, and scored three himself for five of his club's tallies. He also played a great fielding game.

Slim Bivin made his Galveston debut by beating the San Antonio Missions, 13 to 1. Bivin pitched six-hit ball. He hurled one hit ball through the first five innings but took his shutout in the sixth when Morgan doubled and Purdy strangled.

Closing out a losing streak of 8 consecutive games, Oklahoma City beat Tulsa, 6 to 3.

CHARLESTON, W. Va.—The woman who dances on spindly heeled shoes is really resting, the West Virginia Osteopathic society was told. "When a woman puts on high-heeled slippers and goes out to dance she is giving her feet a beneficial treat," said Dr. H. E. Clybourne of Columbus, Ohio.

"The change to high-heeled slippers changes the muscular pull of all the muscles and gives the feet a rest."

The University of Alabama baseball team will lose only three of its regular players this season by graduation.

GREAT BATTLE INDICATED IN OPEN TOURNEY

MANY STARS AND DARK HORSES ARE AFTER GOODMAN TITLE

By The Associated Press.

Windsor Lad, an outsider in the betting today, was the 156th runner of the English derby, Easton, second choice in the wagering, was second and Colombo, the favorite, third.

Windsor Lad, quoted at 100 to 8, carried the silks of the Maharaja of Rajpala while Easton represented Lord Wellington. Colombo, imbedded in nine previous races, carried the silks of Lord Grately. Colombo, which beat Easton by a length in the two thousand guineas, went to the post the choice at 6 to 4 of the crowd of 250,000, including the king and queen, Easton was sold for the race for two thousand guineas by Ralph Strassburger of Philadelphia to Lord Woolavington for $75,000.

Tiberius, running for Sir Abe Bailey, was fourth to finish the one and one-half mile journey while William Woodward's Bonshman, the only American-owned horse in the field, was unplaced.

Windsor Lad, ridden by J. Smith, finished a length in front of Easton while a neck separated the latter from the fast closing Colombo.

Windsor Lad was sired by the famous English horse, Blandford. After a mild rush in the first quarter of a mile, Medieval Knight took the lead from Colombo and Bonshman. At famous Tienham corner, Tiberius was leading, but Smith had rushed Windsor Lad into second place with Medieval Knight and Colombo close behind. In the long homestretch, the Maharaja's colt proved the game as he held command in a driving finish.

The official odds quoted Windsor Lad at 10 to 2, Easton at 100 to 8 and Colombo at the short price of 11 to 8. In view of Colombo's dominance in the betting there was a special pool in which Windsor Lad was held at 13 to 8.

Windsor Lad, although owned by an Indian potentate, was bred in England as a two-year-old he was able to win only one of his starts. He accounted for the new market stakes early this season.

Colombo, considered unbeatable, upset all of the racing dogs. Although close up in the early stages of the race, he was never in front. John Johnston, had the colt within striking distance of the leaders at the mile post as Medieval Knight continued to set the pace.

In the final drive, however, Colombo found the distance too long, just as many turfmen said he would. Bonshman, also well up with the leader to the mile post faded in the final half-mile.

Coming into the home stretch, Colombo went wide as Charley Smirke brought Windsor Lad from off the pace to take command. Windsor Lad was followed by Easton, both passing Colombo, while Medieval Knight dropped back rapidly.

Windsor Lad was timed in 2:34 over a lightning fast track to equal the mark for the Epsom course made by Epsom in winning the event last year.

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, June 6 (AP)—Windsor Lad, who won the English Derby at Epsom Downs, today tossed $604,800 into the laps of United States citizens.

Four tickets in the Irish hospital sweepstakes on Windsor Lad were drawn by Americans.

The tickets on Windsor Lad held by Americans were issued to: "A. G. E. G. M. C. D. C." 35 Agilman St., Nashua, (state not given but probably New Hampshire).

"Alma Murray" Park Crescent hotel, Riverside Drive, New York. H. Gillman, 830 Montrose St., South Pasadena, California.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamill, 166 Ellis Ave., Irvington, N. Y.

Each one of the holders of a ticket on the winning horse will be paid $30,000 or about $15,200 at the present rate of exchange.

The American holders of tickets on Easton are: A. O. Russell, 1935 Ryder Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Charles M. Squires, Rockville, Conn. P. Rotovnik, 307 East 6th St., New York.

O. T. McCarter, 63 West 108th St., New York.

Colombo, who came in third, was named on tickets held by two Americans, each of whom wins $10,000.

They are: F. H. Krakenberg, 33-26 26th St., Long Island City, New York. And Mrs. Alla von Bargen, 405 5th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Gordon said he had no particular plans for spending the money but said one thing he would do would be to attend the national convention of the American Legion at Miami, Fla. He is married, but has no children.

Twenty-two million fish were planted in Montana lakes and streams in 1933.

'THE BARON' SAYS CARNERA HAS WORN OUT 8 CAMERAMEN

Munchausen Relates How He Won Championships; 'Vas You Dere Sharlie?'

By Jack (Baron Munchausen) Pearl (Written for The Associated Press).

FORRESTON LAKES, N. J., June 6 (AP)—Sharlie, after I see Coss Griffin in training here with a great big man three times his size, I tell you it still take a good man, better maybe than Max Baer, to win the championship away from him and so I tell my people.

I am very good about prize fights. I was vance a prize fighter myself, Sharlie. So you don't drink so, eh? Vas you dere, Sharlie?

No? Vell den I vas vance a prize fighter myself. I vas down as Kid Scipider, nether fought, nether vun. Nether should I batt out. I fite suggestive knockouts I had, Sharlie. Just imagine it, fite suggestive knockouts. Yes, yes. Fite times I vas knocked out.

So I find outd effery tink vor mine pebble, I boxed one round with Carnera, Sharlie. I find outd, and not Griffin. So I hit him the first punch and I hit him the third punch and for twenty minutes in between nothing happens. That was when he hit me the second punch, Sharlie.

Primo waves his hands to run sparrik partner and says "come on, eddy," and like a fool he vent. He vent outd all right, hee, hee. Carnera is in great shape. He wears out eight cameramen just taking his pictures and fite men it takes to put on him his gluffs. He takes to go on Thursday I go down by Baer's camp in Aubury Park to tell my people about him, too.

So far I am sure that Baer tips his hat better than Carnera. He obens do-ors better. When the wedder is vet and a lady has to walk across the street, he will take off his coat and say:

"My deer lady, you can now pass over my shoulders won't get wet. You remember Sir Walter Raleigh? Sir Walter Raleigh Baer? Vell, I'm him."

Do't out Max. If it is a contest for stage, screen or radio, Max would win mit a mile and no dialect. But it is a contest in risk. Many stories could I tell you Sharlie from my own condense in the risk. But you don't believe me.

Tell me, vas you dere, Sharlie? No? So I run all the championships from flyweights to heavyweights. Now I go see Baer.

LANSING, Mich.—Phenomenal outputs of coal by short term prisoners has brought charges of a "parole" racket in the Kansas penitentiary. Convicts who dig more than a stipulated amount of coal are given time off on their sentences. When some of the prisoners began putting out unusually large piles each day, prison officials investigated and found the short termers had been paying life termers for part of their output. Currency used was credit slips issued by the prison commissary.

Night track events were scheduled for the first time in Kansas high school competition at the 1934 state meet.

PHILLIES WIN DOUBLEHEADER FROM DODGERS

By Hugh S. Fullerton.

Associated Press Sports Writer.

One of the best of this year's crop of baseball yarns concerns the fan who watched the Phillies as they lost their seventh successive game at the start of the season and toward the end loudly addressed Manager Jimmy Wilson: "You ask for it, Jimmy; now you're getting it."

After a long trial, however, it begins to appear that the Phils aren't quite as bad as they have been painted. They showed plenty of power yesterday as they trimmed the Brooklyn Dodgers in both ends of a double header, 11-10 and 5-4. They made it look as if they might begin to go somewhere if they could only round up a little more reliable pitching.

Philadelphia's double victory couldn't change the league standing but the first-place St. Louis Cardinals took care of that part of the day's activities by trimming Chicago 6 to 3 to knock the Cubs out of the three-way virtual tie for the lead. The New York Giants kept their place six points behind the Cards by making effective use of 16 hits, including three home runs, to beat Boston 13 to 4.

The Pittsburgh-Cincinnati game was rained out.

The Boston Red Sox made the only real forward step in the American league when they turned back the pace-setting Yankees 8 to 3 while all the other clubs divided double bills. Timely clouting against Russ Van Alta plus Wes Ferrell's two-hit relief pitching turned the trick.

The Detroit Tigers barely failed to capture the lead from the Yankees. They equaled the season's high scoring record in the first game against Cleveland by slamming out 21 hits and a 20 to 2 victory but lost out in the nightcap when Bill Knickerbocker's triple in the ninth brought a 5-4 decision for the Indians.

The Athletics and Senators tied to go ten innings in each game to split their bill. Philadelphia won the first 8 to 7 with a three-run rally off Al Crowder. Washington took the second 4 to 3 with a couple of tenth inning walks off Joe Casarella and Johnny Stone's single doing the damage.

Sad Sam Jones limited the fourth place St. Louis Browns to six hits to give Chicago an 8 to 2 victory but three fingers, starting with Les Tieble, couldn't check the second game hitting and St. Louis won 10 to 3 despite Zeke Oshur's fourteenth homer.

MARBAUGH IS IN LINEUP OF ROADRUNNERS

PROMISING HURLER IS ALSO LIKELY TO PLAY AT FIRST

By The Associated Press.

Miles "Gomez" Marbaugh, well known Pampa athlete, will appear in a Pampa Roadrunner uniform Saturday afternoon when the Roadrunners meet the Wilcox Oilers of Oklahoma City. Marbaugh started to work for the Danziger Refineries yesterday.

Manager George Bulla says that "Gomez" is a promising hurler and might also be a good first baseman. Bulla will take the elongated pitcher under his wing so to speak; and teach him all about the mound work. Marbaugh was discovered by C. O. Busby, manager and sponsor of the Pampa Indians, a team composed of high school and former high school and former high school boys. Marbaugh started out to be a first baseman but Busby saw that he had possibilities as a pitcher and last season sent him to the mound.

Marbaugh was a sensational football player for the Pampa Harvesters in 1932 and 1933. Last season his trusty left arm hurled passes to all directions and to all points of the field. Marbaugh is 6 feet 4 inches tall and is fast for his size. He is a hard worker and will make Danziger a real "thunder."

The Roadrunners will need to be on their toes when they tangle with the Oklahomaans Saturday and Sunday afternoons. The Oilers have won 11 out of the 14 games they have played this season. The team is leading the Oklahoma City Petroleum baseball league. Earl Johnson, centerfielder, is manager of the team. He writes that the Oilers will arrive in Pampa Friday night.

The Oilers attack is led by Parker Brewer, big leftfielder, who is batting .415 in 14 games. He has collected four home runs and six triples. Manager Johnson is also near the top of the heap in batting. Chick Lake, other outfielder also has been hitting the ball hard and often.

The infield includes Lou McCarty, first base; Charlie Morrie, second base; Gene Nance, shortstop; and Speck Peddick, third base and leadoff man. Red Roberts, Harold Nance, Nordie Hunter, and Red Alford are the Oiler hurlers. Odie Strain is the first string receiver and Bob Hyde is his understudy. Hardy Buff plays the utility role on the team.

Manager Bulla does not anticipate any immediate change in the Roadrunner lineup. Aaron Ward, former

PORT ARTHUR WILL ATTEMPT TO HOLD GRID TEAM BY RUSE

Another Year Is Added to Customary Eleven; School Now Has Twelve Grades.

Football comes to the fore again, this time in the heat of baseball. The pigskin rumpus now has developed away down on the Gulf where Port Arthur is located. It will be remembered that Port Arthur didn't get far with Greenville in the state finals and also that the city made threats that something was going to happen.

Well, it has happened. Port Arthur figured that if she could in the future have some of their stars back after they were through under the present school system, they could win some football titles.

A simple solution to the case would be available to all schools, but Port Arthur was the only one to think about it. They petitioned the school board and other officials to add another year of school to the customary eleven years and presto—Port Arthur football players will have another year of competition. Of course the eight-semester rule must be evaded but that can be worked by making the eighth grade a junior high unit and all athletes will have to pass the twelfth grade before they can graduate.

The prospective athletes will get their ground work in the eighth grade and then have four years of competition because usually players in their freshman year cannot make the team.

Pampa coaches, school officials, and fans are wondering if Port Arthur can "get away with" the big idea.

EUROPEAN NATIONS LINE UP TO FORCE U. S. HAND ON DEBTS

ENGLISH BRING ISSUE TO HEAD IN DEFAULTING

FINAL SETTLEMENT IS GOAL OF GREAT BRITAIN

By The Associated Press.
The capitals of Europe were lined up today against America on the war debts question for the first time today.

"It's up to Washington," was the consensus.
As cheers rang out—almost everywhere except in the United States—for Great Britain's decision to default, the sentiment was general that the complicated issue had been brought to a head and that America's hand was forced.

A conference for a full and final settlement of the issue was England's goal.

France, happy to find Britain a bedfellow in default, and a logical leader in moves for settlement, turned to its task of borrowing nearly $200,000,000 to pay for a military preparedness program.

Italy, it was indicated, would follow in London's footsteps.
The development encouraged Germany to hope that its foreign creditors would now be more lenient.

Newspaper comment generally said world recovery and international amity would be greatly forwarded if an end to the question should be reached.

The house of commons and the English public gave enthusiastic endorsement of the government's step.
One note of warning, however, was raised by the London Times, which said "many will be apprehensive lest it weaken respect, already gravely impaired, for the sanctity of contracts."

"The next step lies with America," said the Morning Post. "If something is preferable to nothing in her eyes, she knows quite well how to get it."

The Paris Temps asserted Americans "will have to realize that their unyielding policy leaves them with empty hands. Any kind of settlement would have been better for them."

Held as Killer

A Mississippi convict who was freed for submitting to infection in an infantile paralysis test is held as slayer of Lieut. Comm. S. J. Trowbridge, U. S. N., above, whose body was found in a ditch near Greensboro, Kan. Police say Leo Hudgins, below, admitted killing the naval man with a hammer after Hudgins had been given a lift in Trowbridge's auto.

Faulty Tires in Summer Dangerous

Treadless tires that are worn to the danger line, making them susceptible to sudden blowouts, punctures and deflations from cuts should be a warning signal to motorists in summer.

In the opinion of Jack Baker, local Goodyear dealer, figures on accidents last year show that of the cars involved, a major proportion had badly worn tires which likely accounted for a lot of the difficulties.

"That is why," he said it is good sound safety policy for car owners to take the step of making their cars safe from the tire standpoint as well as to have good brakes, good lights and to drive carefully.

"Thousands more cars are plying the highways today so that having tires that are in good condition is not only a matter of playing fair with oneself but with the rest of the motoring public on the highways as well."

Furthermore, higher speeds maintained by cars on the highways today mean that equipment must be in better condition to avoid disastrous accidents.

Murder at MOCKING HOUSE

BY WALTER C. BROWN

SYNOPSIS: Sergeant Harper believes that the murderer of the stranger and the policeman found dead in Pierre Dufresne's house is someone connected with the household. But he has no case until he can identify the stranger and prove how the murderer escaped without leaving tracks in the snow. Harper and Lafferty are eating luncheon in the Dufresne house.

Chapter 35

MRS. CROYDEN

"This luncheon is Mrs. Croyden's kindness, not Dufresne's," Harper explained.

"Lafferty put down his empty cup and looked at his companion meaningly. 'Well, Mrs. Croyden may be very gracious and I'll go bail that she's certainly not hard to look at, but Bob Johnson told me that she leads her husband a merry chase. And come to think of it, Croyden does have a sort of pained and worried expression. That's what comes of marrying money. When two persons marry, there should only be one bankroll and that should be in the pants' pocket.'"

Harper frowned. "Jack, you sound like an old gossip at a tea fight. Mrs. Croyden is the only one in this house who has shown us any co-operation at all. If she hadn't acted as a buffer, we'd probably have come to an open breach with Dufresne before this."

"O.K.," said Lafferty, with an impish twinkle in his eye. "I was only passing on what was told to me. I forget you have a soft spot for the ladies of the house."

Luncheon over, they lingered at the table, smoking and talking over the amazing feat of the murderer in escaping from the house without leaving a mark in the snow. It was a problem that gnawed and bit at Harper's mind, presenting a bold challenge to his wits and ingenuity. While they were still at it, Mrs. Croyden appeared in the doorway. "Oh, I'm sorry," he said quickly, as both men rose to their feet. "I had no intention of interrupting you."

"Not at all, Mrs. Croyden," Harper rejoined. "We finished some time ago. Thank you for your kindness. We enjoyed the luncheon very much."

As Mrs. Croyden graciously disavowed the necessity for their thanks, Lafferty left the breakfast room. Mrs. Croyden advanced into the room, glancing about curiously. "How is the case progressing?" she inquired.

Harper shrugged. "Slowly, perhaps," he confessed, "but that's the order of nature."

The bright hair of the lady shone with a rich golden gleam as she crossed the bright shaft of winter sunlight coming through the windows. She glanced curiously at the photographs scattered across Harper's table.

"The detective noted her interest and held out several for her inspection. 'Those are the fingerprints of our unnamed victim,' he explained, 'taken from the liquor glass found on the table. They're greatly enlarged, of course. Here are the ones taken from his gun—not quite as clear, you will notice.'"

"But how do you tell one from the other?" Mrs. Croyden asked. "Why, the world must be literally covered with fingerprints!"

"No, for not all substances or surfaces will retain a print," he explained. "A smooth, hard, polished surface, like a mirror, or a table top, or polished metal, make the ideal contact. Let me show you how it's done."

Harper went to the luncheon table and carefully lifted the goblet of water that stood by his plate. "You see this? To the casual eye it is clear, unmarked glass."

The detective took the incriminator and prayed the body of the goblet with a dark powder. When it was sufficiently coated he tapped the rim evenly with the dull edge of a knife. The looser grains of fine powder fell and the remaining ones settled more firmly in place. Harper held it at eye level against the light, where three prints of Andrews' fingers were plainly revealed.

Mrs. Croyden stood by the detective's shoulder and looked at the glass. "That's very mysterious, and rather terrifying," she murmured. "But were there any strange fingerprints in that room, besides those of—that man?"

"Not one, I am sorry to say. Other signs of this visit, yet, but no fingerprints."

The lady turned to him with serious mien. "Mr. Harper," she said earnestly, "are you sure that your deductions are correct? Are you positively, absolutely certain there was a third person in this house last night? Otherwise you have made a very serious charge. This is a terrible thing—the suspicion that some one in this house is a murderer. Just these few hours has made such a frightful change in every one. I don't pretend to understand police affairs and this one seems hopelessly complicated. It is so far from our custom of everyday living that we all feel there must be some error."

Harper heard the emotional catch in her voice and lowered his gaze from the lifted glass to meet her wide-eyed scrutiny. "Mrs. Croyden," he replied in a voice equally grave, "there is now no room for doubt. We are always loath to believe that any person within our own circle could deliberately take human life. We run against the feeling in every case. But it happens. Last year there were nearly five hundred homicide cases in New York City alone. According to the law of averages, out of every hundred thousand persons now alive about a dozen will die within the next twelve months—murdered!"

The clear, wide eyes clouded. "Please!" she cried. "I hate such statistics. They are so sordid and hopeless. Is there any real hope of a solution, or are we all to go about under a stigma the rest of our lives? This worthless criminal who came into this house to die has more power to harm us now than when he was alive and threatening only one!"

Here was the same wild plea voiced again, even as Dufresne had blazed forth. "Yes, I have been told before that this unknown man's life was worthless, depraved and criminal," Harper countered drily, "and I have also been told that he is an absolute stranger to every one in this house. I find the two statements rather inconsistent."

Aline Croyden turned pale, and her hands clenched as she took a step backwards. Fright and terror stared out of her eyes with the realization of the detective's warning. "We have no fear of what you imply," she declared, "if the facts are dealt with honestly and I trust you to do that."

"Thank you," he returned gravely, and looked again at the dark smudges on the goblet, using his magnifying lens through force of habit. That thumb mark, with its central ridge breaking across the central whorl—that was familiar, surely? Then the answer flashed into his mind and such a startled look came over his face that Mrs.

Croyden stared from his transformed features to the goblet and back again. "What is it, Mr. Harper?" she breathed. The detective flashed her a look as if he had entirely forgotten her presence. "Just a small point, but a curious one," he replied guardedly, placing the goblet far back on his work-table. "Now Mrs. Croyden, I'd like to ask a few questions, if I may, Will you sit down?"

"First to make our records complete, will you please tell me how you and Mr. Croyden spent last evening, say from six o'clock on?"

"We are required, you know, not to exempt any one in a case like this." "Well, I think you will be quite satisfied with our alibi. It consists of about two thousand witnesses. Last evening Mr. Croyden and Hugo Palese, the cellist, gave a joint recital at Orpheus Hall."

"We had dinner at the Savoy, rather early, as there had been a last-minute substitution in the program and Richard wanted a little extra time for rehearsal. The concert began at 8:45, and was over about 10:30. We had just reached home and Mr. Croyden was foraging in the refrigerator for a late snack when Mr. Dufresne's call came through."

"Our house is just around the corner, you know, on Cypress Lane. In fact, you can see a corner of the back of it from these very windows."

As Mrs. Croyden raised her arm to indicate the position of the house, the sunlight struck points of fire from an unusually beautiful ring she wore on the same finger with her wedding ring, catching and flashing back the brilliance of two exceptionally fine cut diamonds, a pure blue-white and a canary stone, both perfectly cut and matched and set diagonally.

The detective returned to his questions. "You were in the audience, of course? In a box seat?"

"Oh, no. That would be the worst possible place to sit. I always choose an aisle seat on the lower floor."

"Do you always attend your husband's recitals, Mrs. Croyden?"

"Of course. I never have missed one. Even when he goes on tour I travel with him."

Mitchell Will Open Gym Class

Tired, big-tummed, squeaky-jointed Pampa business men, office men, and other classifications of citizens will be able to "take exercise, lose weight and girth, and become young again, maybe." Odus Mitchell, high school athletic coach, will open a gym class here next week in the high school gymnasium.

Enrollment will begin Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock. Classes will get under way Monday afternoon at 8:30 o'clock, with a second class at 7:30 o'clock. Two classes will be conducted three days a week, unless the enrollment is large enough to have classes every day. The coach will have one series on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday afternoons and evenings, and the other classes Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday afternoons and evenings.

The charge for three classes a week will be only $2 a month. Those taking the work will have to supply their own gym suits and rubber-soled shoes. Included in the course will be physical culture, mat work, bars, hand ball, volley ball, basketball and maybe boxing, etc.

When registering, persons are urged to be ready to designate whether they prefer to attend afternoon or evening class. Hot showers will be available after each class.

Experience of Camel smokers is now Explained

From a famous research laboratory in New York comes a basic discovery that throws new light on our past knowledge about cigarettes. It embodies an "energizing effect" ... a harmless restoration of the flow of natural body energy... a delightful relief from fatigue and irritability. When you smoke a Camel you enjoy an increase in your flow of energy. And this benefit you get from smoking Camels can be enjoyed all through the day... without upsetting your nerves.

YOUR ENERGY VARIES DURING THE DAY

Let CAMELS increase Your Flow of ENERGY

Tired? Light a Camel. And as you enjoy its cool, pleasing fragrance, you feel a new flow of energy... a cheering "lift"... a quick and delightful "energizing" effect.

tired, "all in," smoke a Camel and see what happens. That tired feeling slips away. You're ready again for work and fun. Camels have helped your own body to help itself and bring you back in "pep" and energy.

IT'S YOUR OWN NATURAL ENERGY RELEASED

You've probably noticed this yourself and have wondered why, and how it happened. The "lift" you get from Camels is a release of your own natural energy... your latent energy made easily and harmlessly available. So when you're feeling run-down,

AND CAMELS NEVER JANGLE YOUR NERVES!

You can smoke just as many of these delightful Camels as you want. You can increase your flow of energy over and over again. And you need never worry about your nerves. For remember: Camel's costlier tobaccos never get on your nerves.
