Commission Opposed to Repeal of Pro Law

Seek Youth As Ally In Liquor War

(By Associated Press)

CONVENTION HALL HOUSTON, Nov. 15.—A campaign designated to tie a figurative white ribbon around the country was voted today by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union in 56th annual national convention, and the union turned this afternoon to a discussion of some of the the problems of youth, a vast body it hopes to have as an ally in its campaign against alcohol.

President Ella A. Boole's recommendations for a series of 30 or more regional "campaign conferences" next winter, to supplant the usual general national convention; for "educational" work in the public library, the public school and the Sunday school; for a world wide "week of Pentecostal prayer" in the cause of temperance; and for many other incidental activities were approved quickly and unanimously.

Mrs. Louise J. Taft of Colusa, Calif., a national W. C. T. U. lecturer, said "Educators are courageous facing the fact that when young people in elementary and high schools glibly tell them that there is more drinking now than before the passage of the 18th amendment though they cannot remember the saloon. The campaign to break down respect for the 18th amendment and self control has been more thorough and far reaching than the campaign for truth and sobriety."

Hold Martial Law Imminent In Labor Riot

Madrid Food, Water Supply Menaced After Brutal Fighting; Transportation Is at Standstill; Guard Streets

(By Associated Press)

MADRID, Nov. 15.—Puerta Del Sol, the Times Square of Madrid, was dark and deserted tonight except for heavily armed police patrols; transportations services were at a standstill, the city's food and water supplies were menaced and martial law appeared an imminent possibility at the end of two days of labor riots.

This day saw brutal fighting in the streets among police and rioters and by noon a general strike had called out street car and subway crews, workers at power houses and water works, pressmen in the newspaper shops, factory workers and bakers.

Protection Ordered

An emergency cabinet meeting ordered military protection for light, water, gas and food supplies; placed military trucks at disposal of police for transportation of bread, posted soldiers on the streets, and was believed ready to proclaim martial law the moment it should seem necessary.

At least two men have been killed in the past two days, and possibly four. At least a dozen were wounded seriously, a hundred others less seriously injured, and a hundred or more men have been arrested.

Strike Ends Monday

The general strike is due to end Monday, but meantime, strike headquarters have ordered cafes, bars, theaters and all amusement resorts closed all day tomorrow.

All this trouble began Wednesday at the funeral of four building construction workers who were killed in a building collapse.

BURGLARY CHARGED

Two Men Held for Series of Robberies in Lubbock

A burglary charge has been made by city complaint against one of two men arrested by police Friday afternoon in connection with a series of thefts here, according to John Lemond, chief of police.

The other suspect is expected to be charged within the next several days. Both are in the city jail.

Materials to build virtually an entire home had been stolen by the pair, police said. The arrests were believed to have solved half a dozen or more robberies, including theft of materials from the new high school building under construction in the 1900 block of Nineteenth street and from several residences.

Decision Made By Hoover Law GroupSaturday

Actual Writing of Prohibition Report Nearer Than Any Time During the Past Seventeen Months

To Make Report

Four Per Cent Beer Reported Out of Picture But Final Decision on Recommendations Still in Offing

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15. —A decision against repeal of the Eighteenth amendment had been reached today by President Hoover's law enforcement commission, and the actual writing of its prohibition report was nearer than at any time during the past 17 months.

Although a final decision on the recommendations to be included was described as still in the offing, some general agreement has been reached, and not only repeal but four per cent beer or any request for a national prohibition referendum were authoritatively reported out of the picture.

Busy on Figures

Meanwhile those charged with enforcement of prohibition as it now stands were busy on figures to be presented to the house appropriations committee, including among other things the cost of adding 500 additional men to the enforcement personnel.

After a conference late yesterday both prohibition Directors Amos W. W. Woodcock and Attorney General Mitchell today pored over their estimate of future costs.

At the same time, however, Representative Byrns, Democrat, Tennessee, who has supported every prohibition enforcement measure voted by congress in the past decade, made a statement that he would reserve a decision on the present addition of 500 dry workers. He asserted he did not feel there had been "a deep yearning to enforce prohibition."

South Plains Pioneer Dies

Death of "Uncle Ike" Metcalf at Tahoka Marks an End to Colorful Career as Texas Ranger and Indian Fighter

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

TAHOKA, Nov. 15. — I. P. "Uncle Ike" Metcalf, 80, one of the best known South Plains pioneers and a citizen of Lynn county for over twenty-five years, died here at 6:30 this morning at the family residence, one of Tahoka's first houses. He was known as the "Marryin' Justice."

He had been in ill health some time, and had broken considerably since the death of his wife last June 23. Funeral services will be held at the home Sunday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock and the body will be laid to rest beside his wife in the local cemetery.

"Uncle Ike" had one of the most colorful careers of any West Texas citizen. At an early age he was a newsboy on the streets of Chicago. Though born in January 27, 1850, and only a youth when the Civil War broke out, he enlisted in the Union army and was placed in the secret service. He distinguished himself by riding through the Confederate lines to deliver messages and came to know General U. S. Grant personally.

Drifted to Texas

As a sort of soldier of fortune, he drifted to Texas soon after the war and joined the Texas Rangers. As a member of this body of West Texas frontier defenders, he was engaged in a number of Indian fights in central West Texas counties, and killed several of the invaders when they swept down on their marauding expeditions from the Oklahoma reservations. He made his first trip across the South Plains in 1870 after a rumor had been heard by Rangers to the effect that Indians had murdered a group of California immigrants near Big Spring. Metcalf and the rangers, thinking

Young Husband Held For Slaying Estranged Spouse

Youth Takes Bride of Few Months in Arms And Kisses Her After Firing Into Body

(By Associated Press)

LUFKIN, Nov. 15.—While Earl Prince, 20, the accused slayer of his 17-year-old estranged wife of several months, was held in the Huntsville state prison today, a grand jury here indicted him for murder.

Prince fled into the woods near here yesterday after the girl, Edwina Prince, 17, was shot to death in an automobile, authorities were told by Miss Carlos Fuller, one of three young women riding with Mrs. Prince at the time she was slain. He was arrested in the railroad yards here today by Ranger Hardy Purvis.

Women Testify

The four women, officers were advised, stopping at a Lufkin soda fountain, encountered Prince, who insisted on accompanying them to Donovan, a nearby town.

"Edwina," said Miss Fuller, "didn't want him to, but he insisted and got in the back seat with her." Prince suddenly halted the machine, according to the statements, and, in Miss Fuller's words as officers quoted them, "He was sitting on one side of the back seat and another girl was on the other side. Then he drew a pistol and fired three shots in her breast."

"She tried to climb out of the car door, but he pulled her back. He gathered her into his arms and kissed her, then fired two more shots into her side."

"He kicked the car door open and ran toward the woods yelling 'I'm going to kill myself, too'." Prince's family, and that of his slain wife, are well known in this section.

Woman and Man Held Here for Pro Violations

C. S. Colvin, Ida May Colvin Arrested Saturday; Being Held in County Jail in Lieu of Bonds; Whiskey Found

Charges of liquor posession and transportation were filed Saturday against C. S. Colvin, about 45, and a possession count was entered against Ida May Colvin, about 28, before G. R. Scott, justice of the peace, following arrest of the man and woman early Saturday afternoon by county officers.

A charge of carrying a concealed weapon will be filed against Colvin, Sheriff Wade Hardy said, as an automatic pistol was found on the suspect's person when he was arrested in little Juarez, Mexican settlement on the northern edge of the city.

Justice of Peace Scott fixed Colvin's bond at $1,500 and Mrs. Colvin's at $1,000. The two were returned to the county jail in lieu of bail.

A gallon of whiskey was found in Colvin's possession when he was arrested in Little Juarez and seven gallons of liquor were discovered in half-gallon fruit jars in Colvin's home, where Mrs. Colvin was taken into custody, Sheriff Hardy reported.

Connor Given Ten Years for Robbery

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 15. (AP)—J. B. Conner, charged by indictment with robbery by assault with firearms, was found guilty by a jury in 94th district court late today and his punishment was fixed at 10 years in the penitentiary.

He was charged with robbing the Clarence Saunders store on Summit avenue here of $200 May 10. Only one witness was placed on the stand by the defense.

Louis Schlessinger, defense attorney, filed verbal notice for a new trial.

Six armed deputy sheriffs and a uniformed city policeman formed a ring around Conner as the verdict was read to guard against possible demonstration in the courtroom. Threats that Conner was to be freed in a jail delivery at the Bexar county jail were discovered Tuesday by Sheriff Alfonso Newton Jr.

PATROL IS ATTACKED

Martial Law Fails to Prevent Havana Demonstration

HAVANA, Nov. 15. (AP)—The stern force of martial law, in effect since Thursday, failed today to prevent an attack by demonstrators on an armed patrol and the consequent injury of the officer in command.

A belligerent group attacked eight rural guards and their commander, a captain of cavalry, in a disturbance before a cafe in a downtown section this afternoon. They used stones for weapons and with a heavy barrage unseated the officer from his horse. He escaped serious injury. Three men were arrested.

Covey C. Thomas, Unsuccessful Candidate for Supreme Court Post Shoots Himself to Death at Cotulla

(By Associated Press)

COTULLA, Nov. 15. — Former Judge Covey C. Thomas, 60, unsuccessful candidate for chief justice of the supreme court of Texas last summer and one of the best known attorneys and ranch men in Southwest Texas, shot and killed himself here this afternoon.

Several persons saw Mr. Thomas park his automobile in the heart of the business section, walk to the postoffice a block away, return to his automobile and fire a bullet from a .45 caliber revolver into his head. He fell to the sidewalk in front of a fire station, and was dead before assistance could reach him.

Held Many Offices

Mr. Thomas had held many minor political offices, and four years ago was a candidate for judge of the court of civil appeals, but was defeated. He likewise was unsuccessful in a subsequent race for the supreme court.

Several years ago an accident caused amputation of his left leg, but he continued his legal practice. About a month ago, he suffered a nervous breakdown, and since then he had been despondent over ill health.

A brother, Woodlief Thomas, well known ranchman, was in a hospital at Rosenburg suffering with a broken hip at the time of the death. Several other brothers and sisters, in addition to the widow, survived.

Justice of the Peace W. A. Kerr, who happened to be half a block away, was among the first to arrive on the scene of the shooting and took a revolver from Thomas' left hand. He returned a verdict of death caused by a self-inflicted wound.

Negotiations Are Under Way for Leasing T-Bar Ranch Near Tahoka for Proposed Million Dollar Project

Industry Will Be Largest of Kind in Texas If Plans Are Carried Out; Would Spend $1,000,000 on Properties

BY J. SAM LEWIS
Staff Correspondent

TAHOKA, Nov. 15.—What may become one of the largest industries of its kind in Texas may be established in Tahoka if present negotiations for the leasing of 1,200 acres of the Cass Edwards property known as the T-Bar ranch west of town, for the purpose of mining potash, are carried out.

Uel Stephens, of San Antonio, an engineer, with associates, is at work on the leasing proposition. In the event that the contract is signed, the work of developing the area will be started.

Would Employ 200

"We figure it will mean 200 more people employed at the plant, as we proposed to erect a tower at the lakes where the potash is found and flow the potash by gravity into Tahoka where it will be treated," C. C. Williams, secretary of the chamber of commerce said in discussing the report.

Recently Mr. Stephens and his associates began negotiations for a lease on the ranch. The supply of potash is said to be almost inexhaustible there being several hundred acres of potash in each of two lakes.

The lakes are known as Double lake and Double lake No. 2. The first covers 560 acres. The second lake covers 574 acres.

Brine area in Double lake No. 1 is 345 acres and in No. 2, 287 acres, a total of 643 acres. The wells are

Air Enthusiast Makes His 365th Daily Consecutive Flight for a New Record

(By Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 15.—Dr. John G. Brock, 41-year-old air enthusiast, today made his 365th consecutive daily flight, establishing an unofficial record in endurance aviation.

Brock soared for half an hour over Fairfax airport this afternoon, with City Manager H. F. McElroy as a passenger and nine army planes from Leavenworth flying in formation as an escort.

The flying doctor sent his ship down in the presence of civic and military authorities and a large crowd.

Dr. Brock was asked whether he will continue to fly daily.

"Why shouldn't I?" he asked. "I love to fly and every day I have a feeling that I want to take up one of my planes. There isn't money enough to keep me from flying."

Dr. Brook is the wealthy head of an optical company here. He uses his planes for business as well as pleasure.

The record was established with only one plane, which he flew from fifteen minutes to several hours every day since last November 16. Once before he set up a record in daily flying. That was in 1929 when he missed only eleven days between January 1, and November 8.

Too Much Study

Over-study is believed responsible for a nervous breakdown suffered by Miss Evelyn Jahncke of New Orleans, niece of Ernest Lee Jahncke, assistant secretary of the navy, and one of the most brilliant members of the younger social set in New Orleans. Miss Jahncke has a growing reputation as a poet, and the New Orleans Mystic Club recently voted her the most popular debutante in society.

Unemployment Measures Will Come Up First

Relief for Drouth Stricken Farmers Leads Calendar of Approaching Session of Congress; Loan Considered

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Unemployment measures and relief for drouth stricken farmers have taken first place on the calendar of business for the approaching session of congress as a result of a week of conferences between President Hoover and congressional leaders.

The pre-session discussions also have revealed probability no recommendation will be forthcoming from the administration for a continuation of the emergency income tax reduction granted for this year's payments.

Leaders of both parties in the senate have given assurance every effort will be made to dispose of the legislative calendar within the three months of the short session but President Hoover must find a solution for the long pending question of disposition of the Muscle Shoals, Ala., power and nitrate plant before the threat of the Republican independents to force an extra session in the spring is dissipated.

Tentative plans now call for an appropriation of $60,000,000 to be loaned to farmers in 21 drouth stricken states for purchases of seed and fertilizer to plant next year's crops.

Expansion of both the public buildings and federal road construction programs by perhaps an extra $100,000,000 also is contemplated. This appropriation would make $200,000,000 available for this work next year.

Salvation Army in Charge of Army-Navy Game Proceeds

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15. (AP)—An organization whose coffee and doughnuts helped win the war will distribute the proceeds of the Army-Navy game December 13 to the unemployed.

West Point and Annapolis representatives who met here today also agreed the cheapest seat would cost five dollars but how high the price will go and other details were left to the Salvation Army. The Army and Navy men said there would probably be no objection if a squad of New York millionaires wish to take box seats at $1,000, or more, each.

Four-Year-Old Boy Critically Injured by Beast; Victim Is Brought Here for Treatment

Jungle Cat, Previously Thought Gentle, Suddenly Springs on James Evins in Drug Store; Animal Back in Cage and Master Held in Jail; Another Is Injured

(Special to the Avalanche-Journal)

LITTLEFIELD, Nov. 15.—Cruel, savage claws of a giant leopard sought revenge for captivity here today, sinking deep into the flesh of a four-year-old child. The victim, James Evins, was virtually scalped.

As if some savage instinct, motivated by the hereditary call of manhating ancestors, suddenly was unleashed, the beast crouched and sprung on the unsuspecting child shortly before noon today in a local drug store where the animal was being shown as a "pet."

The lad is the son of J. D. Evins, a Littlefield tailor. He was taken to the Lubbock Sanitarium after receiving emergency treatment here. His condition was considered critical. Hospital attaches reported he was conscious only a small part of the time.

Thought Gentle

The leopard, known as "Princess Torca," was the prized possession of the T. J. Tidwell shows, now showing here. It was thought gentle—conquered by the years of captivity and rule by man. Unusual freedom was given the animal by its master who held too highly its outward gentleness.

Tonight the jungle cat again was pacing back and forth in the confines of a cage, its master held in the city jail.

The little boy was on his way to a school building to recover a tiny toy he had mislaid there when he entered the drug store. Leaving his father's shop shortly after 11 o'clock, James was retracing his steps, thinking that the toy might have been lost. As he walked along the street he thoughtfully fingered a coin, apparently wondering what he would buy.

Walks Into Store

With a companion, he walked into a drug store, located between his father's shop and the school, and to danger as sinister as that in the dark glades of a jungle.

Hardly had James entered the building when "Princess Torca" sprang, motivated by jungle instincts which had appeared latent

Father-in-Law Held in Jail on Murder Charge Following Fatal Port Arthur Shooting; Claims Self Defense

(By The Associated Press)

PORT ARTHUR, Nov. 1. —Francis M. Hooper, 38, was shot to death here today, and M. S. Adams, his father-in-law, was placed in jail under charges of murder.

Hooper's wife and his mother-in-law witnessed the shooting in Adam's home, investigators said.

Claims Self-Defense

In a statement to police, who arrested him at his home Adams said he fired in self defense.

"He came over to my house brandishing a revolver, so I grabbed my shotgun and let him have it," Adams told the officers. Hooper lived back of the Adams house on another street.

Detective Davis said he took a .38 calibre revolver from the dead mans' hand. It had not been fired. Adams turned over his shotgun to police. It had been fired once.

Chief of Police M. B. Word said Mrs Adams told him the shooting was a result of a family quarrel between her husband and her son-in-law which began Friday afternoon and was continued today.

Adams, however, denied quarreling with Hooper.

E. R. Crunk of Roswell Meets Instant Death When Auto Overturns Near Bronco on Saturday; Child Injured

E. R. Crunk, about 37, of Roswell, N. M., was killed instantly and a three-year-old child was injured seriously at about 4:30 o'clock Friday afternoon when an automobile in which they were riding overturned on a highway a quarter of a mile west of Bronco, 90 miles southwest of Lubbock. Mrs. Lester B. Lynch, 24, of Roswell, driver of the automobile and mother of the injured child, and her two other small children escaped with minor injuries. Mrs. Lynch and the three children were taken to Lubbock sanitarium in automobiles of passersby.

Grabbed Steering Wheel

Believing that the automobile would collide with another machine, Crunk was said to have grabbed the steering wheel as the car skidded in loose dirt. The automobile was hurtled into a ditch, overturning three times.

Crunk died instantly of a broken neck. His face and head were lacerated severely.

Mrs. Lynch received minor bruises and lacerations and a cut on the leg. The two older children, girls 7 and 5 years old, escaped with minor bruises.

Child Unconscious

The child most seriously injured, a girl 3 years old, still was unconscious six hours after the accident. Hospital attendants reported that extent of her injuries would not be determined before this morning.

Mrs. Lynch and the children, two of whom were asleep in the back seat when the accident occurred, were en route to Lubbock to spend the week-end with relatives. Crunk, a neighbor of the Lynch family, planned to go through Lubbock on his way to Lorenzo on business. He was an employe of the Public Service company at Roswell.

The body was taken from Bronco to Roswell in a Roswell ambulance.

Rollie Burns Reminisces On Buffalo Hunt

Pioneer Of Plains Tells Of Trip To Cedar Lake And Of Killing Wild Buffalo On Scene, 45 Years Ago

Editor's Note: The following article was written by Rollie C. Burns, pioneer Lubbock citizen, who has seen this vast empire of the South Plains emerge from a far great expanse of cattle ranches to its present day of make-up. Mr. Burns recently visited Cedar Lake, near O'Donnell and the visit occasioned the article.

After 45 years and seven months, November 1, 1930, I made my second trip to Cedar Lake with C. H. Park and family. The lake and scrubby growth of brush were no larger than 45 years ago. The stunted cedar may have been six inches taller.

Cedar Lake is about 20 miles southwest of O'Donnell. It is about seven miles long and two miles wide, as level as a table with the exception of five beautiful islands. The smallest island covers about two acres and the largest, ten acres.

Went After Cattle

In March 1885, I left the Square and Compass ranch for Cedar Lake, Gaines county, for some cattle that had drifted from the ranch during the winter.

On the third day we neared the lake. Four cowboys were in the lead while I was behind with the chuck wagon. There were eight horses in my mount. My two top horses were named Tallow Eye and Big Foot. I was mounted on Tallow Eye when I heard the report of guns. I saw the boys chasing nine head of grown buffaloes, they were coming, quartering toward me. I ran onto an old cow and with the second shot I killed the last buffalo I ever heard of being killed on the South Plains.

Not The First One

The other boys were disappointed in not getting to kill one, but I had the advantave of them as it was not the first one I had killed.

One day I was riding Tallow Eye, a horse that was swift and not afraid of buffaloes, most horses are afraid of buffaloes and the rider cannot get near one. I killed this buffalo with a Winchester rifle, the first shot entered the shoulder blade and the second one struck behind the shoulder, pierced the heard and killed the big animal.

She was killed on the east side of the lake, about two miles from the north end where there was fresh water. "One-arm" Anderson had a small bunch of cattle there. After the boys had skinned and taken the choicest parts of the animal, I rode on ahead to Anderson's camp and told him I had killed a buffalo.

Was Unpleasant

He spoke in a very unpleasant tone and said: "You have killed one of my tame buffaloes."

Although I informed him that the buffalo I had killed was wild, Mr. Anderson said there had not been any buffaloes there for about a year, until he captured five or six calves, which were yearlings at that time.

When the wagon came up I had the horns and hide taken out, and then Mr. Anderson began to apologize. We soon became chummy and the next morning he gave me one of his yearling buffaloes. As I could not take it with me then I said I would get it some other time but I never did send for it.

Smiths Have 31 Members Of Tribe In Student Body At Texas Tech; Directory Reveals Name Range

The good old fashioned name of Smith may not sound so collegiate but just the same it leads all others in the student body of Texas Technological college, the new college directory recently published reveals. Thirty-one eds and co-eds bear the name.

The "Joneses," usually among the leaders in any collective group of individuals, have slightly fallen behind at the college, the name appearing on the rolls only 11 times. Davis is listed 19 times, while the Williams tribe is marked down 15 times. The Browns come in under the unlucky or lucky 13 classification, closely followed by Jackson and Green listed in an even dozen places each. The Johnsons are represented by nine individuals.

The directory contains nearly two thousand students' names, their year in the college, residence address and telephone number and other valuable information concerning the college. The faculty's names and addresses are listed also as well as other employes of the school. The book also contains the list of officers of the various organizations on the campus.

There are three "Pools" for the four "Fishers" and a "Fryar" to help with the "Fry" after the "Catching." There are also two "Gunns" for the "Hunter" to take the two "Hunts" in the "Woods". There he may go "East" and "West" but "Strange" as it may seem all the game he will find will be a "Byrd" and two "Wolfs."

A "House" has eight "Halls," one "Floore," one "Wall" and also five "Cooks." Three "Hales" and one "Snow" are listed, and such eats as "Rice," "Bean" and "Coffee" are to be found among the names. There are three "Lanes" through which the "Lovers" may stroll. Such expressions as "Au," "Nix" and "Zons" are to be found.

Five colors, "Green," "Brown," "Gray," "Black" and "White" are listed. There is one "Noble" and three "Kings." Although no names are listed beginning with the letter "X", eight begin with "Z."

"Wit" and "Wisdom" are each represented once.

Ben Greet To Bring Players Here For Play

"Hamlet" Is To Be Presented At The Tech Gymnasium On November 21; Cast Has Prominent Actors

Bringing Shakespeare's drama to a Lubbock stage for the first time, Sir Philip Ben Greet and his company of English players will appear at the Tech gymnasium in an evening performance on November 21. The appearance of the players is an extra attraction at the college, not being listed as one of the numbers of the college Artists' course.

"Hamlet" will be the play presented by the players, who with Sir Philip are on their fifth tour of the United States. They returned for this tour after a successful season last year, playing at all of the leading Universities and colleges of the north. They are touring the south this season and all the leading cities of the nation.

Outstanding Actors

Sir Philip Greet is considered one of the most outstanding portrayer of Shakespeare, having presented his plays and the classics to countless thousands in England during the last fifty years. It is undoubtedly this reason which prompted His Majesty, King George, to convey the highest honor an actor can receive in England, a Knighthood, in recognition of his splendid public service.

A cast of eighteen English actors whose first concerns are faultless diction, absolute reverence for the text, and high regard for the prevailing spirit of the story. Included in the list is Russell Thorndyke, brother of Sybil Thorndyke, England's most famous tragedian.

Tickets for the Ben Greet program have been placed on sale by the college officials and already reservations are being made for the evening. The appearance of the players has been hailed as being one of the most popular and beneficial events of the season.

Savings Afforded On Bus Line Fare

Bus fares that are less than two cents per mile, between Fort Worth and Midland, on the Southland-Greyhound stage lines, permit a rate of $4 between Sweetwater and Fort Worth, with corresponding rates to towns in between, " Mr. Bowman said. "Our car leaving Lubbock at 7:30 in the morning connects with a bus at Sweetwater that puts passengers into Fort Worth about 5 o'clock in the evening."

Rates are correspondingly lower from points west of Sweetwater and Big Spring to Midland and intervening points. Round trip rates are double the one way rates.

"These rates are less than two cents a mile. They are effective on all coaches of the Southland-Greyhound lines between Fort Worth and Midland," Mr. Bowman added.

Outline Plans For Conclave Of Older Boys

Dean Gordon of Tech, Other Members of Committee Will Make Three Trips in Interest of Convention

Dean J. M. Gordon, of Texas Tech, and other members of the "promotion of the conference outside Lubbock" committee of the chamber of commerce group making arrangements for the Older Boys' conference, to be held in this city December 5, 6 and 7, have set up a well-oiled machine to carry on the work.

Three trips are planned by members of the committee and others called in to aid in the work while a number of Hi-Y officials over northwest Texas are being assigned the job of covering the immediate territory adjoining their towns.

The three trips to be made from Lubbock will take fifteen men and boys for approximately five hundred miles and nineteen towns will be visited.

Gordon In Charge

Dean Gordon will be in charge of one trip. Arville Elliott and Balton Bradley, Hi-Y boys from Lubbock High school, and Bill Sewell and Cecil Kersey, with the Y. M. C. A. organization at Texas Tech, will accompany Dean Gordon on the trip. They will visit the following towns: Slaton, Wilson, Tahoka, O'Donnell, Lamesa, Brownfield, Meadow and Ropesville.

J. C. Brown, chairman, Chas. O'Neall and Rob O'Hair, Y. M. C. A. members at Texas Tech and two high school boys will make a second trip. They are to visit Idalou, Lorenzo, Ralls, Crosbyton and Petersburg.

Jack Boyd, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at the college is to head a third tour. He will be accompanied by Glenn Rockey and Layton Lawson, Hi-Y boys of the local high school and Garland Smith and Edgar Neal, college students. They will visit Shallowater, Anton, Littlefield, Amherst, Sudan and Muleshoe.

To Attend Banquet

Friday night Dean Gordon, Wayne Castleberry, Martin Hamilton, Gerald Gordon and Cecil Kersey attended the annual Father and Son banquet at the Hilton Hotel in Plainview, which was attended by more than 250 persons. While in Plainview members of the local party made a plea to Plainview boys to attend the conference and make arrangements with George McWhirter, Plainview public school teacher and sponsor of the Hi-Y, to organize committees to visit Quitaque, Turkey, Silverton, Tulia, Dimmitt, Lockney, Floydada, Kress Hale Center and Abernathy.

A number of outstanding Hi-Y leaders in the leading cities of West Texas have been assigned the task of working all the towns within their immediate territories. These workers include the following:

To Make Contacts

On each visit the delegations are to make contacts with boys and adults in charge of various boys organizations in an effort to spread the word of the conference, the purposes of the meeting and the importance of representative boys of the community attending. In this manner, the attendance at the conference is expected to be materially increased.

Twenty-six other towns will send groups to the conference, with from 10 to 50 boys in each group.

Amarillo, according to word from that city, is planning a group of 50, with 10 or 12 from the junior high schools and the rest from the senior school. Amarillo was host last year. Members from that city will be connected with the Hi-Y organizations there.

R. E. Sheperd, former mayor of Wichita Falls and a well-known singer, has been secured to lead the conference music. Mr. Shepherd has sung professionally.

One of the entertainment features for Saturday of the convention will be a basketball tournament, with elimination contests in the afternoon and finals at night. A banner will be presented to the winning team.

Towns that have announced delegations from Hi-Y or other groups include: Abilene, Amarillo, Big Spring, Breckenridge, Brownfield, Borger, Childress, Clarendon, Dalhart, Electra, Floydada, Fort Worth, Graham, Lamesa, Littlefield, Lubbock, Memphis, Olney, Plainview, Pampa, Quannah, San Angelo, Slaton, Sweetwater, Vernon and Wichita Falls.

South Plains Boys Win Eight Of Free Trips To Chicago

Eight of the 19 trips to the International Livestock exposition in Chicago, November 29 to December 6, offered by the Santa Fe railroad to Texas farm boys were won by boys of district 2, including the South Plains area, D. F. Eaton, county agent, whose entry won one of the dairy production trips, says.

In addition a trip offered by Armour and Co. was won by a Swisher county boy, making nearly 50 per cent for the South Plains area.

James Potts Winner.

James Potts, member of the Canyon club, won first place for one of the dairy production trips and George Claude Wells, Tahoka, won the other for Lynn county.

Morris Webb, Plainview, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Webb, won one of the four trips offered for swine production. Morris has had a Hampshire hog project.

Wins On Poultry.

Carl Bostick, who lives six miles south of Lamesa, won one of the three trips on poultry. Carl won his trip with his record for Bronze turkeys, W. W. Evans, county agent, reported. He made a substantial profit on the raising and sale of turkeys for the market and for breeding purposes also.

Howard O'Daniel of Tulia and Harrold Rousser of Kress, Swisher county, won the trips on the South Plains offered for baby beef production. One trip was offered by Armour and Co., and the other by the Santa Fe.

Two trips were offered by the Santa Fe for corn projects. Knox county won one of the two for grain sorghums; Hale one of the four for swine; Lynn and Lubbock the dairy production trips; Stonewall, Dawson and Haskell three of the four poultry trips; Swisher the railroad and the other beef calf trip. There were three trips offered for cotton and one miscellaneous trip.

THE little girl the Tinies met looked at the bunch and said. "I'll bet that all you boys are travelers. Where are you bound for now? Gee. I would like to travel far in train or boat or motor car. But I must go to school and if I left, 'twould start a row."

"Yes, we are travelers," said one. "And, my, we have a lot of fun. We don't know where we're going next. Just any place at all. You see, in any foreign land, the sights we see all look real grand. Before we're through, in lots of other countries we will call.

"However, we all think that you have picked a real wise thing to do. 'Tis best you get your schooling so you'll grow up to be smart. When grown up, you can travel 'round to see what fine things can be found." The Travel Man then said. "I think it's time that we depart.

"There is a grape land right near by and, if we go there, we can try to get some of the wondrous grapes. They're mighty good to eat. They're just as big as they can be. Just wait, and you will shortly see! One great big bunch for each of you will be a welcome treat."

And then they sauntered down the street and shortly heard some music sweet. "Oh, look!" cried Scouty. "There's a band. The players are all boys." And then they found, when 'bout to pass, it was a teacher and his class. Wee boys were blowing hard on horns and my, but they made noise.

The Tinies listened for a spell, then heard one of the youngsters yell, "Come on, you lads, and try your luck. The horns aren't hard to blow." "Oh, thanks," said Coppy. "Sure we will! I'll bet we'll make the notes sound shrill." The Travel Man then laughed and said. "This ought to be a show."

Cocky Ohio Club Defeats Pitt by Fast, Even Play

OHIO STADIUM, COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 15. (AP)—Confidence in its own ability and reliance on the strong right arm of Wesley Fesler earned Ohio state a crushing 16 to 7 victory today over the University of Pittsburgh.

It was a cocksure Ohio team which took the field, confident as a result of its 27 to 0 victory over Navy last week. It stopped two early attempts by Pittsburgh to gain ground, scored a touchdown in nine minutes, led by 16 to 0 early in the third period and then played on its nerve until the final gun. The last thing this inspired Buckeye team did was to hold Pitt's plungers for one yard in four tries on its two yard line in the final minute. The substitutes had to help the exhausted players off the field.

Green Wave Wins Off Georgia, 25-0

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 15. (AP) — With the Georgia Bulldogs sprawled at their feet, beaten 25 to 0, the Tulane Green Wave raised its helmeted head above the football heap as a contender for 1930 Southern conference championship.

The Wave rose to the ultimate pinacle of football in removing the Georgian obstacle and made the best efforts of the Bulldogs seem pitiful. They outplayed Georgia in both offensive and defensive and showed a football strategy that was astonishing.

But the Bulldogs fought and were still fighting at the final whistle in the third quarter Georgia took heart and started a march from the center of the field for what seemed a certain touchdown but they were stopped within the ten yard line and there held on downs. The halt of this march stunned the Bulldogs and never again did they seriously threaten to score.

GRABS GRID TITLE

Maskill Boots 38-Yard Field Goal for Washington State

WASHINGTON STADIUM, SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 15. (AP)—Nosing out a 3 to 0 victory over the University of Washington this afternoon, Washington State college closed its conference season with an undefeated and united record to capture the Pacific coast conference football championship, Kyle Maskill booted a place kick from the 38-yard line for the winning three points.

INVITATION DECLINED

Longhorns Unable to Play New York University

AUSTIN, Nov. 15. (AP) — A full schedule has caused the University of Texas athletic council to decline the invitation of New York University for a football game in New York next season, according to Ed Olle, business manager of the Orange and White. The Violets wanted Texas for a game either October 10 or 17 but Rice will be met on the former date and the University of Oklahoma on the latter.

Recently the University declined an invitation from the University of Kentucky for a game with the Colonels on the Blue Grass state.

Savoldi, Disciplined Due to Marital Difficulties, Not Permitted to Play; Eleven from Des Moines Is Easy

(By Associated Press)

SOUTH BEND, Nov. 15. —The "Southbend Cyclone" swirled on its devastating way today with a farewell gesture to its Notre Dame home by crushing the bristling but outclassed Bulldogs from Drake University by a convenient margin of 28 to 7 before a rain spattered throng of 20,000.

It was a farewell to Notre Dame stadium for nine stars from the ranks of the "Fighting Irish," including that great trio of ground gainers—Frank Carideo, Joe Savoldi, and Marty Brill—a trio already recognized as a match for Notre Dame's great "Four Horsemen" crew of six years ago. They have three more games to play for Notre Dame but will play them on foreign fields.

Savoldi Is Out

There was one disturbing note in the farewell, however, and that was the refusal of Notre Dame to permit Savoldi, star galloper of the backfield crew, to say goodbye with action. Because of his marriage and contemplated divorce, Savoldi was under discipline and was not allowed to compete.

Although Coach Knute Rockne left his team to scout Northwestern's undefeated team, which Notre Dame meets next week, the "Fighting Irish" had little difficulty in extracting the teeth of the Bulldogs.

Kansas-Oklahoma Tie for Laurels

MEMORIAL STADIUM, LAWRENCE, Kans., Nov. 15. (AP)—Kansas revived from its lethargy four minutes before the end of the first half of its football game with Oklahoma today, dominated the play thereafter, won the game, 13 to 0, and went into a tie with Oklahoma for the Big Six conference lead.

Despite their first half superiority, Oklahoma never approached within the Kansas 10-yard line in possession of the ball until fourth period.

In that final drive Oklahoma met resistance Kansas did not display against Nebraska and was thrown back. Kansas drove to another touchdown, with many reserves in the lineup, when the game ended.

ILLINOIS WINS ONE

Chicago Goes Down in Defeat By Score of 28 to 0

CHICAGO, Nov. 15 (AP)—Illinois registered its first victory of the Western conference season today, beating Chicago 28 to 0. The Maroons, beaten three times in conference competition, never threatened and were hopelessly outclassed.

Mustangs Flip Passes to Win Contest, 20-7

Sailors Show Great Strength in Line But Aerialists of Dallas Supreme in Clouds Over Baltimore Grid

(By Associated Press)

BALTIMORE, Nov. 15. —Southern Methodist university made its second foray into the East from Texas today, and at the Baltimore stadium helped turn the Navy football season into a rout by defeating the Middies 20 to 7, but it was not as overwhelming a victory as the score might imply.

The Mustangs passed over and around the Middies for their three touchdowns, one coming in the second period on a beautiful pass and a run good for 80 yards. It was the deceptiveness of the Methodists' air attack that spelled defeat for the Navy, which has scored but one major victory this season and has a meeting with the Army less than a month off.

Navy Back Stars

It fell to a Navy back, little 150-pound Bullet Lou Kirn, to take the individual honors of the day. This human power house drove at the Texans' line exactly 24 times for a total gain of 118 yards. He threw a number of passes, helping to gain 38 yards in this manner, and he was the secondary defense mainstay during the afternoon.

Southern Methodist won a clean cut two-touchdown victory, but the Navy made 12 first downs to the Texan's 15, gained 187 yards by rushing to the visitors' 284 gained one more yard in the passing game, and had a big margin in the return of kicks.

Today's victory was an intersectional vindication for the Texans, who two years ago lost by one point to the Army, and this year lost to Notre Dame, by but one touchdown.

Navy Take Lead

Navy once took a one point lead, but that lead was overcome by the prettiest play of the game.

A Navy drive bogged down inside the scoring zone and on the next play Gilbert passed 20 yards to Travis who raced 60 yards behind interference across the Middle goal line.

The Methodists lost little time in getting under way. With the game five minutes old, Skeeters, Texas tackle, broke through to block Bowstorm's punt on the Navy 30 yard stripe, the first time such a thing has happened to the Tars in two years.

Double Pass Works

A spectacular double forward pass, Travis to Long to Hearon, a substitute back, took the ball to the Middies' four yard line. Hearon made three and Travis, former Amarillo High star, then took it over. The goal was missed.

Two other Texas drivers were halted and then the Navy steamed up. Seven straight times Lou Kirn smashed the visitors' line. At the end of a drive of 77 yards, Gannon passed to Torgerson, on the three yard line and he dragged a Texas tackler over the line. Bowstorm kicked the extra point and Navy led 7 to 6.

Tables Are Turned

The pass and run that overcame that lead soon came. The third Texas touchdown was the result of a 77-yard march. From the Navy's 20 Gilbert passed to Long who raced 15 yards and kicked the extra point.

The Navy attack thereafter threatened twice. The game ended with Kirn on his way again, smashing the Mustang line 52 yards to their 31 as the final whistle blew.

U. S. TEAM WINS

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 15. (AP) — The United States Army polo team defeated the Argentine Army four, 10 goals to 7 here today.

McMurry Indians and Buccaneers of Southwestern Battle to 0-0 Tie as Diminutive Tribe Back Takes Glory

ABILENE, Nov. 15. (AP) McMurry college and Southwestern university battered each other back and forth this afternoon over 100 yards of territory and when their battle was over, the score stood exactly as it did at the beginning, 0 to 0.

The Indians marched 65 yards in the third period, to be turned back on the Southwestern five-yard line. Midway in the final quarter, the Pirates' advance was halted at the same spot, after Green's fumble had given them the ball on the McMurry 12-yard line.

Fulkerson, 150-pound fullback, featured the McMurry attack, which gained 14 first downs. Seamans and Smith took the lead for the Corsairs in collecting eight first downs.

Alabama Fan

One of the most ardent football fans in the entire country is Dr. George H. Denny, above, president of the University of Alabama. Dr. Denny never misses a practice session of the Crimson Tide and always cheers like an undergraduate at the home games. Several times, "Mike," as he is known to the student body, has ventured too close to the scrimmages and has been spilled by the players. His glasses were broken to bits several years ago when he was tumbled by Riggs Stephenson, Chicago Cub outfielder and former Alabama fullback.

Country Club Scene of Golf Tourney Today

Local Golfers to Meet at 2 O'Clock at Country Club Course; Three Prizes to Be Awarded Winners

The third of a series of Sunday tournaments will be held over the Lubbock Country Club course this afternoon, with all local golfers invited to take part. The tournament will consist of an 18-hole handicap meet, with handicaps issued by W. J. Byrnes, professional at the club.

Three prizes will be awarded the winner and runners-up after the tournament today. First prize, which will go to the player who comes closest to his handicap mark, will consist of a pair of leather gloves. Three first class golf balls of the latest model will be awarded to the winner of second place, and a pair of golf sox will go to the third place winner.

In two previous meets, thirty-three local golfers have competed for prizes and a growing interest in the tournaments is evident in the city. Unpleasant weather conditions last Sunday failed to cancel the scheduled tourney, and nearly 20 men took part. The tournament committee of the local club plan to sponsor tournaments each Sunday as long as weather permits. Today's playing will begin promptly at 2 o'clock.

NIGHT PLAY PROFITABLE

Southwestern Comes Out of Small Gate Games in Plan

AUSTIN, Nov. 15. (AP) — Night football has proved extremely profitable at Southwestern University. Due to small financial returns on daylight encounters, the university faced a serious situation this fall. Then the fad for playing in the moonlight developed.

The athletic directors installed floodlights on the Pirate field and sat back calmly to watch the results. They came to the etxent of a 500 per cent increase in attendance and now the outlook is extremely bright for the future.

A large protion of the increase attendance came from Austin and surrounding cities, several hundred fans journeying to Georgetown to see games at night who could not leave their work to witness the day clashes.

LONG GALLOP WINS

Wheeler's 45 Yard Sprint Is Michigan's Savior, 7-0

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 15 (AP)—A 45-yard run of the return of a punt by Jack Wheeler in the first period today gave Michigan a 7-0 victory over Minnesota and made almost certain their securing of at least a tie for the Big Ten football title. Although outplayed by a wide margin in the first period, the Gophers bucked up thereafter and seriously threatened the Michigan goal in the final period, being turned back only at the eight yard line.

IN THE REALM OF SPORT

With Collier Parris

Greer Frizell, star tackle on the Lubbock High school Westerner team for the past several seasons, is seeking admittance to Tech college. He has not been in school this term and may not be able to get in until the second semester begins after Christmas. But he says he has "worn out the old plow and prospects for a good crop are bright" and he wants back in school. From what we can learn he is a good student and a fine athlete. We met him the other day out at the Tech gymnasium and thought it strange that such a gentlemanly and apparently powerful figure should be off of somebody's football team. If he gets in Tech, he is due to make a great lineman for the Matadors, perhaps next season, provided his credits next fall acclaim him a sophomore.

Mina Watkins, fullback and co-captain of the Lubbock High team, has recently been selected as the "best all-round" male student of the local institution, and has been awarded a scholarship prize. All of which goes to show that a football player is not necessarily dumb. On the Tech varsity is a man, McAdams, who attained the highest degree of scholarship at the college last year, and is well on his way toward taking the honor for the second time. Watkins, we feel, fully deserves the compliment, and we doff our hat to him, and to McAdams.

The Westerners swing into action again this week by entertaining the Vernon High Lions in a conference battle on the Texas Tech field. After a week-end of idleness the Frnkamen should be in good condition for the game, and practice this week will be of a heavy nature. The Westerners have not been in the best of shape for the past two weeks due to injuries. Captain Mina Watkins has been on the injured list and unable to workout consistently last week. Milton McGehee, star guard, ripped a leg on a barbed wire fence early last week and was held up a day or two, and Moody Smith, regular half, was taken out of the Amarillo game with injuries and has not been able to practice regularly. Carrell McCasland, regular tackle, has also been subject to physician's care for several days, his injury dating back to the Electra game. It is thought that all of them will be ready to go at the end of this week, however.

"Of all the Armistice Day grid battles, the Texas Tech-A. C. C. affair was the biggest upset", says Bruce M. Francis, Brownwood scribe. "Feature Tech downing the Wildcats, 53 to 7. The result of the game can mean only one of two things—Tech is far stronger than most fans believe, or the Wildcats were experiencing an off-day of the 'steenth degree, and we are inother inclined to believe that all was not well with the Abilene outfit. But that, when a team registers such a decisive victory, it surely has something besides weak opposition, and we are fully inclined to believe that the coaching of Pete Cawthon is just beginning to show desired results. Suffice it to say that any team able to beat Bugs Morris and his Wildcats by such a margin is to be given due and deliberate consideration ere encountered on the field of battle.

• • •

"All of which means that Howard Payne is not likely to have a set-up when the Jackets clash with the Tech outfit here next Wednesday", Francis continues. "Fact is, the two time champs may have to put out everything they have and then some more to stop the Matadors. It's a certainey that Pete Cawthon while at Austin College, took several lickings from the Jackets and will prime his charges for next week's tilt here—yep, the Bull Fighters will come here battling and determined to win."

If there is still any doubt in Bruce's mind as to which one of two things caused the Matadors to whip the Wildcats all over the lot, we should like to set him aright by suggesting that the fault of A. C. C.'s failure in making a better showing here lies directly with the Tech Matadors. It was Tech's game from the first, though the score might not have been so great had the Wildcats been in their best shape. They came out of previous games with several injuries and had played a hard game with T. C. U. little more than a week previous. But even so had

The high school teams of Littlefield, Spur and Slaton were officially recognized and designated as football champions of sub-districts one, three and four, respectively, in District Two of Class B schools by the executive committee of the district at an all-day meeting here yesterday. By common consent, though by no official action, Paducah was recognized as champion of sub-district 2.

In one of the most hectic meetings of several seasons, if not of all time, the executive committee and other representatives of schools throughout the section parleyed through seven hours of business, protests, and debates. The discussions, almost resulting in violence at times, had to do with protests filed by three schools, none of which schools were declared champions.

Spur Wins Protest Fight

Featuring the program was a long drawn out presentation of testimony and evidence by supporters of the Floydada and Spur High schools. Floydada had instigated charges against Spur and set about to prove that five of Spur's outstanding players were ineligible. With Superintendent Patty of the Floydada schools pushing the charges and Sams Hall, superintendent of Spur schools seeking to show sufficient evidence to the contrary, more than half the time was taken up with the protest. In executive and private session, the committe, composed of representatives from Ralls, Lockney, and Lamesa for the special protest, decided in favor of Spur, ruling that four of the players were eligible, as proven by the facts submitted by Hall, and that one player was ineligible, but since he had not participated in any game, Spur lost nothing by the decision.

Three Other Protests Filed

Following this "trial", for which A. B. Sanders, Ralls, chairman of the executive committee, served as judge and the three committeemen as a jury, a representative from Spring Lake entered a protest against a player on the Littlefield team, charging the player with entering a game yesterday, which won the championship of the sub-division, twice in the same half, going in the second time under an assumed number. The committee acted in favor of the Littlefield team, charging that the official of the game should have found the mistake and exacted the necessary penalty while the game was being played. The committee suggested that Littlefield's coach and the official be "severely criticized and reprimanded" for the act.

Lockney, Floydada Out

Superintendent Patty of Floydada then entered a protest against Lockney, who had been previously declared by the committee as champions of sub-district 2 by virtue of having defeated Floydada for the title last Tuesday. In rebuttal, Coach Biggers of Lockney filed a protest against a Floydada player. Both players were charged with playing without having been legally transferred to the teams. The committee declared both players ineligible, which means that all games in which these players have appeared are to be forfeited. That being the case, Paducah, the only other team in the division, takes the championship. Mr. Patty inferred that he would appeal the case to the state committee, which meets in Austin Monday night. If he is upheld, Floydada will be declared the title holders, having passed an undefeated season in the division.

RALLS YOUTH INJURED

In the process of revamping his pitching staff for the 1931 season, Manager Rogers Hornsby of the Chicago Cubs acquired Ed Baecht, above, righthander from the Los Angeles club of the Coast League. (By Associated Press)

PRINCETON, N. J. Nov. 15—Out of the wreckage of a dismal season, Princeton's down-trodden football team fought its way to the threshold of glory this afternoon only to be turned back by the narrow margin of 10 to 7, in the 54th annual game with Yale.

While 60,000 enthusiastic spectators stood in amazement and howled themselves hoarse, this Princeton team which has not won a major game in two seasons outgained and outplayed the Elis, Albie Booth and all, throughout most of the game.

Smashing down through the mist and rain of a dreary day, the inspired Tigers led by the sensational back, Trix Bennett, tore off 74 yards in a great march in the final moments of play. But the touchdown that would have produced perhaps the greatest upset in the history of Yale-Princeton football, was averted when Bennett's plunge on fourth down was checked on the Eli two yard line, a few inches short of a first down.

Yale won by the narrow margin of a field goal, drop kicked in the first period by Booth as he stood on the Tiger 20-yard line.

Utah Wins Third Conference Flag

BOULDER, Colo., Nov. 15. (AP)—The University of Utah won the Rocky Mountain conference football championship for the third time in as many years by defeating the University of Colorado here today, 34 to 0.

Held to 14 points for three periods, the powerful Utes made three touchdowns in rapid order in the final quarter to continue their string of one sided victories. It was the 21st consecutive win for Utah since the season of 1927.

Longhorns Pull Another Last Half Assault to Shove TCU Aside in March Down Lane to Conference Title

By GAYLE TALBOT, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

FORT WORTH, Nov. 15. — The University of Texas' great golden juggernaut, crashed down another football playhouse today as it swept headlong, unswervingly toward its goal, the Southwest conference title.

Texas Christian University's record of not having been beaten in two years, was snapped as the Longhorns, ponderous and slow to arouse, gathered themselves in the second half and swept to a 7 to 0 victory before some 20,000 spectators. Completely outplayed for the first half, the mighty Steers came back in the third and fourth periods to defeat the defending champions in convincing manner.

Third Steer Win

Today's victory was the third for the Longhorns in as many weeks over a major conference opponent. Although the setback did not necessarily knock the Texas Christian eleven out of a second straight title, it promised to cramp their style. They faced the prospect of having to defeat both Baylor and Southern Methodist university to repeat.

Ernie Koy, husky sophomore halfback, started the Longhorns on their 75-yard victory march midway of the third period, when he plied around his left end for 29 yards and planted the ball on the Horned Frogs 36-yard line. Two passes to Peterson, lanky end, carried to the six-yard mark just as the third period ended and in the opening play of the final period, Harrison Stafford, another sophomore brilliant, sifted off tackle and over the Christian goal line for the winning touchdown. "Ox" Blanton kicked the extra point, but it was not needed.

T. C. U. Threatens

The Texas Christian eleven that had performed so well during the first half, thrice threatened the Longhorn goal, seemed exhausted from its efforts after the rest period and could not hold its own when the Steers applied the power. In the final minutes of play the Longhorns threatened to score repeatedly, time and again going deep into their opponents' territory and the closing gun found the ball on the Christians' five-yard mark. Craig, reserve Texas halfback, was running the Frogs ragged toward the end.

Cy Leland, speed boy of the champions' backfield and the game's individual threat, left the contest in the second quarter after a series of hard bumps had made him groggy. Although he played good football, making several fine punt returns and slicing the tackles for some nice yardage, the illustrious Cy was not able to get loose for any touchdown runs as he did against Texas a year ago.

No Big Stars

There were, as usual, no bright particular stars on the winning eleven. It was the same machine that had smashed its way to victory over Southern Methodist, Baylor and Oklahoma university. It played cautiously for a half, content to let its opponent set the pace and wear itself down. Then, when the time came, the Orange brigade threw on the pressure and went places. Koy, Stafford, Elkins and Shelley were the same rampaging quartet, passing and running with devastating effect, and the Longhorn line had its accustomed power. That was enough to stop the Frogs, hard as they fought.

A summary of first downs gives an accurate picture of the way the battle went. At the half the Frogs had chalked up 6, the Longhorns 2. At the close the Longhorns had 12, the Christians 8. The Longhorns did not complete a pass during the first half. During the second, they completed five, all but one for long gains. The winners gained scarcely at all during the first thirty minutes of play, but at the close they had piled up 389 yards from scrimmage, against 240 for the Horned Frogs.

Frogs Start Well

Practically the entire first half was played in Texas territory once the Frogs, employing a short passing attack, penetrated as far as the Longhorn seven-yard line but Leland didn't gain a foot in two thrusts from there and the ball was passed over the goal line on fourth down. Again they got far as the 17-yard stripe, but the half gun stopped them there. During that time the Longhorns had not once gotten the ball past midfield.

Texas made its first real scoring gesture soon after the third period opened. Starting from their 20-yard line, the Longhorns passed and drove 60-yards before they were stopped, Blanton finally trying a field goal from the 30-yard line. It

Tigers of Old Mizzou Claw Huskers In Scoreless Tie; Breaks of Tight Battle Aid Bengals to Stem Defeat

LINCOLN, Neb. Nov. 15 (AP) — Flashing a determined defensive that was not to be denied, Missouri and Nebraska battled on even terms to a scoreless tie today.

Although the contest was even up insofar as victory was concerned, Nebraska displayed its superiority in ground gaining with 13 earned first downs to three for the Tigers and with a total of 196 yards for the Huskers from scrimmage to 65 for Gwinn Henry's pupils.

Via the air, however, the margin went to the Huskers by a mere eight yard. In 16 tries the 1929 Big Six titleholders completed four for a net gain of 58 yards, while Missouri drew credit for 50 yards in completing four out of the fourteen attempts.

Baylor Slices Porkers, 22-7; Rice Wins From Aggies

Arkansas Sees Hopes Fade as Bears Triumph

Last Period Drive Gives Mix to Baptists in Rush Which Nets Two Touchdowns and a Field Goal for Victors

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Nov. 15.—Little Jake Wilson and Big Edwin McElreath combined their running and passing talent to blot Arkansas out of the Southwest conference picture and give Baylor University a 22 to 7 victory here today.

For three full periods, the Razorbacks staged a stampede at Baylor's expense, leading them 7 to 6, but a determined charge in the final moments of play turned defeat into victory.

The Bears twice crossed Arkansas' goal line, once sending the oval over the uprights perfectly for a field goal.

Porkers Start Early

Arkansas started with a rush, as when the Porkers humbled Rice and the Texas Aggies, with "Cowboy" Kyle running wild. The Razorbacks took the ball on the kick-off and marched down the field with Kyle leading the attack. Baylor stiffened near its goal line and held for down.

The Razorbacks started another offensive when, with the ball on their own 28-yard line, a double pass behind the line of scrimmage was made from Holmes to Creighton, the latter giving the ball to Kyle, who raced 70 yards for a touchdown. Dale kicked goal.

Wilson evened the count in the second period when he returned a punt from his own 30-yard line to the Porker's 45-yard stripe. Wilson then took a 20-yard pass that set the stage for Smith to plunge over. Buckalew blocked Wilson's try for the extra point.

Arkansas was robbed of a possible touchdown late in the period, when Uptmoor intercepted a Baylor pass on the Texans' five-yard line. The gun sounded before the Porkers could put the ball into play.

The third quarter found the Razorbacks backed to their own goal posts. Twice they repulsed the Baylor charge on their own one-yard line.

Wilson's punting in this period was sensational, one sailing for 70 yards before it spiralled out of bounds on the Porkers' two-yard line. A high wind at his back aided his booting.

Alford opened a passing attack toward the close of the period, with three quick tosses to Kathkart and Runnels, placing the ball on Arkansas' ten-yard line as the period ended.

Then the crafty Wilson allowed himself to be tackled for a ten-yard loss directly in front of the Lewter to kick a perfect field goal.

Once ahead, the Bears were never stopped. Arkansas hurled her best timber, Dale, Kyle, Ledbetter and Uptmoor against a line that would not budge.

Paradeaux paved the way for Baylor's second touchdown when he intercepted Holmes' pass on Arkansas' 37-yard line. A long pass, Alford to Runnels, put the ball on the Porkers' one-yard line and McElreath ran over for a touchdown. Lewter failed to kick goal.

After returning Uptmoor's punt to Arkansas' 25-yard line, Wilson tossed a long heave to McElreath behind the goal line, for Baylor's last touchdown. Lewter kicked goal.

TIAA Facing Crucial Tests

"Make or Break" Games on Schedule During Next Two Weeks; Denton and Huntsville Tied in Lead

(By Associated Press)

SAN MARCOS, Nov. 15. — A crucial situation confronts the four leading football teams of the Texas Intercollegiate Athletic Association. Into the stretch, the finish just 15 days away, all four will engage in "make or break" games.

The situation probably is tenser for the 1,000 per centers. Sam Houston of Huntsville and North Texas of Denton, which meet in Huntsville Monday.

Should Sam Houston beat North Texas it will have attained a very strategic point in its 1930 schedule. Only Stephen F. Austin Teachers College, which has dropped four straight games, would stand between Sam Houston and a championship.

Should North Texas win, only the 1929 champs, the San Marcos Bobcats, whom they meet in Denton on November 27, would block the way.

While Sam Houston and North Texas are battling it out for the lead, the San Marcos Teachers college Bobcats will be pitted against the Daniel Baker Hillbillies, at Brownwood. That, too, is a crucial affair for Coach Oscar Stranan's Bobcats. The Bobcats went back into the title fight Tuesday, when they slipped and slid to a 13 to 0 win over the Sul Ross Lobos of Alpine.

While the Bobcats were climbing at the expense of the Loboes, McMurry College's Indians kept clicking along as they have for more than a month and picked up another game, beating Daniel Baker 15 to 7. The loss left the Billies with few title hopes.

Although the finish is looming, the T. I. A. A.'s grid horizon still is cluttered with teams who have, on paper, not been eliminated from the race. North Texas, Sam Houston, West Texas, Southwest Texas or McMurry could take the title should things pan out just right. Schedule advantages may tell the tale. Sam Houston plays its two final games in Huntsville. Denton travels for one, stays at home for the other.

West Texas also plays its final games in Canyon. San Marcos travels away from home to meet both Daniel Baker and North Texas and McMurry finishes away from home.

Standing of the Leaders:

| Team | W. | L. | T. | Pct. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Denton | 3 | 0 | 0 | 1.000 |
| Huntsville | 2 | 0 | 0 | 1.000 |
| Canyon | 3 | 0 | 4 | .833 |
| San Marcos | 3 | 0 | 1 | .750 |
| McMurry | 3 | 1 | 1 | .700 |

Picadors Bow To New Mexico Soldiers, 44-7

Freshmen Hold In First Half To Tally Once

Odom, Colling, Price Star for Picadors; Two Runs of 90 Yards and Touchdowns Feature Game

(Special to The Avalanche-Journal)

ROSWELL, N. M., Nov. 15.—The New Mexico Military Institute Soldiers, led by the Foley Brothers, Arthur and Marshall, had a tough battle on their hands today for more than half the game when they entertained the Texas Tech Picadors, freshmen proteges of Coach Dutchey Smith. In the third quarter, however, the frosh weakened, and the more powerful and experienced Cadets ran wild to score a 44 to 7 victory.

A. Foley, McCoomus, Star

Lengthy runs by Arthur Foley, Cadet left half, McCoomus, right half, and Binelli, Soldier fullback, featured the contest. In the second quarter, Foley took the ball on a play at the line and raced 90 yards for a touchdown, running behind perfect interference until he was well on his way and then sprinting ahead of Tech pursuers the rest of the way. In the third quarter, McCoomus took a kick-off on his 10-yard line and went the rest of the way, 90 yards, for a touchdown. A few minutes later Binelli snagged a short pass from Arthur Foley and raced 55 yards for a touchdown. The Cadets scored early in the game when Odom, Picador halfback, was caught behind his goal line with a fumble.

The lone Tech counter came early in the game when a series of runs by Odom, Nichols and Colling, featured by a 20-yard sprint by Odom, placed the ball on the 2-yard line. Lefty Sollis, replacing Colling, took it over for a touchdown on the first plunge. The Picadors played good football early in the game, but the breaks that went against them together with a broken morale in the closing periods proved too much to overcome. Twice they were penalized, once for 25 yards and again for 15, each time the ball going to their 2 yard line, from where the powerful Soldier backs went over for touchdowns.

ARIZONANS BEST SOONERS

TUCSON, Ariz., Nov. 15. (AP)—On a slippery rain soaked field the University of Arizona Wildcats completed their conquest of the University of Oklahoma polo team here today by winning the second and final game 9-4.

Buckeye Star

"Bad Bill" Edwards, above, center and twice captain of the Wittenberg college eleven at Springfield, O., may not make any all-American teams, but there are those who believe he deserves it. Bill's fine leadership and defensive play have made him an outstanding man in Ohio intercollegiate circles. He had a big hand in Wittenberg's 7-to-7 tie with W. and J.

Slaton Tigers To Meet 'Dogs

Paul Wright's Men Champs in Sub-District 4 by Downing Brownfield Cubs; Game May Be Played Here

(Special to The Avalanche-Journal)

SLATON, Tex., Nov. 15.—By defeating the Brownfield High Cubs, 31 to 0, and the Lamesa High Tornadoes, 12 to 0 during the past week, the Slaton High Tigers now have four conference victories under their belts, giving them the championship of division four, District Two, Class B, and places them in the semi-final battles next week with three other teams of the district.

Slaton will meet Spur next Friday, the later having won in division three. Lockney is the winner in division two, and Littlefield is expected to represent division one.

Slaton Does Well

Besides defeating Brownfield and Lamesa, Slaton won over Idalou, 34 to 0, and downed Tahoka by the came score. Four non conference games have been played by the Slaton eleven, those with Spur, Colorado City, Snyder and Lockney. The first three were lost, and the Tigers won over Lockney, 12 to 0.

Although losing decisively to Spur early in the season, the Tigers are rated as much better team now than they were then, and are conceded a chance to defeat Spur next Friday, although they will go into the melee as the under dogs.

May Play Here

There is a possibility that the game between Spur and Slaton for bi-sub-district honors will be played at Lubbock, according to rumors. Both coaches, Paul Wright of Slaton and Gene Taylor of Spur, have agreed that Lubbock would be a suitable site for the contest, provided the Tech field may be procured. Nothing definite has been decided about the matter as yet.

Third Quarter End Run Gives Game to Birds

Bert Meuller Pushes Farmers Further Downward as Stock of Owls Takes Hike; A&M's Victory Column Empty

(By Associated Press)

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 15.—A 37-yard end run by Bert Mueller, flashy Owl halfback, gave the scrapping Rice Institute grid team a 7 to 0 victory today over the Texas Aggies in a fast game on Kyle field.

The victory was the first in history by a Rice eleven on Kyle field and the fourth Rice victory over A. and M. in the history of their football relations.

Mueller's run came in the middle of the third quarter, after he had carried the ball without assistance from his own 35-yard line to the A. and M. 37-yard line. On the play preceeding the touchdown, he skirted the end for a 20-yard gain. Tom Driscoll drop-kicked the extra point.

Hard Fought Game

The game was bitterly contested from the start, Squyres, for Rice, and McFadden for A. and M. engaging in a punting duel. The Aggies punter booted eight times for an average of 44 yards, while Squyres punted eleven times for a 43-yard average. On one occasion, Squyers kicked 75 yards to the Aggies five-yard line, only to have McFadden boot the ball 67 yards to the other end of the field.

Coach Matty Bell sent in six fresh substitutes near the close of the half, placing Harry Stiteler, probably the outstanding A. and M. back in the game, at quarter. Thereafter the Aggies marched down the field to the Owls 14-yards line, where Squyres snatched an Aggie pass out of the air, to save the day.

A. and M. totaled 10 first downs, to five for Rice. The Owls tried only one pass, which was incomplete, while A. and M. completed seven out of 19 for a 12-yard average.

The lineup:

| A. AND M. | Pos. | RICE |
|---|---|---|
| Tracy | L. E. | McCorkle |
| Magruil | L. T. | Conklin |
| Van Zandt | L. G. | Morgan |

Greetings to People of Lubbock And Vicinity

I am happy to announce to you that I have been able to procure for the Lyric Theatre, through the medium of second run, the best pictures made, following first run pictures from sixty to ninety days. From two to three changes on the first five days of the week at a price within reach of all. On Fridays and Saturdays we will continue our first run policy of talking Westerns with Buck Jones, Bob Steel and other western stars. At the Rex I am running silent Western pictures at the popular price of 10 and 20 cents.

I am very proud of the fine line of pictures that I have to offer my patrons for the coming year. As an independent exhibiter, I am soliciting the patronage of Lubbock and vacinity. I am giving you the best at a reasonable price. "LIVE AND LET LIVE" is my policy. I love my work and my people. I solicit your criticisms and cooperation in my work. Come to our theatres! You are welcome! Make our Theatres your place of entertainment. Make yourself at home there!

Last May I bought the H. and H. circuit, one-half interest in the Lyric and Rex Theatres, and installed Deforest Sound Equipment in the Lyric Theatre. It is one of the best sounds on the market, and raised my investment from fifteen thousand dollars to thirty-five thousand dollars. Last year I grossed forty-nine thousand, six hundred and thirty-two dollars in the Lyric and Rex Theatres. Using organized labor, my payroll was nine thousand two hundred and sixty-four dollars. I wish the good people of Lubbock to know that I give them credit. Their loyalty has made it possible for me to rank as one of the few successful women exhibitors of the State of Texas, an honor that I am very proud of. For Christmas I am bringing to you "KING OF KINGS" in sound, the first time in sound in Lubbock. Don't miss it! We welcome you now and always! # Taxes-A Burden? Just Take A Glance At This

Santa Fe Pays More Taxes Than Entire Kimble County; Lubbock Hotel Digs Up $10.63 Daily; And Others—

By BOB McCALL
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

There are taxes infinite in their variety.

Some piqued gentleman once described it all as "the burden of taxation" and another made things miserable for a king by mouthing about "taxation without representation."

Then there was the Boston tea party. Even that serious slice of comedy would be missing from American history had there been no taxes. The red coats came and went, worse for the wear, and representation rode in with the change.

Have You Wondered

Have you ever in your mental squirmings wondered what the taxes were on some of Lubbock's principal buildings and other facilities? How many dime tips a bellboy would need to pay taxes on the hotel for a day? Or how many miles you could travel in a pullman to pay the railroad's taxes for even an hour?

Perhaps, the ice water arrived at your hotel room long after you asked for it and you snorted some fib about waiting for it half a day.

He Might Have

Had the uniformed "hop" been more informed than diplomatic he might have set you thinking with:

"So you waited half a day? Maybe so, mister. We have our worries, though. The Hilton have paid more than four bucks in taxes while you were waiting."

And as a parting shot: "In fact, we pay about eight dollars and twenty-nine cents in taxes every day of the year." That would be county and state taxes, not including city and school assessments.

Lubbock Pays $10.63

For the Lubbock hotel, it's $10.63-plus a day. Yearly, the Hilton's total county and state assessment is $3,025.86 and the Lubbock's is $3,880.48.

As you commented cryptically on "woman's lack of sales resistance," did you know that the $9.26 the wife paid for a bargain-hat at Hemphill-Wells department store would pay taxes on fixtures and stock of the place alone for only a week? Hemphill-Wells' taxes on the contents are $481.52 annually. Now put the assessment on the building on top of that.

And now, class in statistics, lets turn to some other notes on taxes paid in Lubbock, as collected at the office of the county assessor.

A couple of theaters—taxes on fixtures only—should prove interesting. The Palace pays $100.20 a year, or more than $1.92 1-2 cents a week—nearly four fifty-cent admissions. An assessment of $84.60 annually, or $1.62-plus weekly, is made on the Lindsey, sister flicker house across the street. Taxes on the buildings also whittle the box receipts.

$5 Every Day

Imagine digging up a five-spot every day for Old Man Taxes. You would need almost all of that, about $4.83 to be more exact, to pay taxes on the Myrick building for a single 24 hours. That's on the structure alone and amounts to $1,762.50 a year. Or by the month, just $146.87 1-2—a good salary for a lot of persons, including a share of those in the Myrick building.

Southwestern Bell Telephone in Lubbock pays $2,643.18 a year, or $7.24-plus a day. To put it another way, you could call Chicago once this morning and once tonight, station-to-station, gab for three minutes each time, and out of that $7.24 still have $1.49 for the next fire sale.

Lot Of Words That

Western Union must send a $3.81 message every day to pay its taxes—a lot of words that. Annual assessment by county and state on the telegraph company in Lubbock is $198.06.

Remember the story of the little boy who gained fulfillment of a wish that he always would have a penny in his pocket? How he'd dig for the Santa Fe railroad here. He'd need more than three coppers a minute, more than 190 an hour. A gum dispensing machine in a station on the night of a special train doesn't work fast enough for that.

More Than County

The Santa Fe pays $16,653.83 in taxes here annually more than Kimble county's total tax collections for a year. Every day taxes of the Santa Fe in this county alone amount to almost $45.63, including days when the conductor has time to learn the histories of half the passengers.

Annual taxes on the Fort Worth and Denver City railway here are $4,233.94, or about $11.60 a day—enough for a ticket to Fort Worth if you have 8 cents to spare besides.

Would you be satisfied with a savings account of $1,643.93 at the end of the first year? So would we. The First National bank of Lubbock is assessed that by county and state each year. Lubbock National, $890; Citizens National, $1,032.23.

A. B. C. Program Is Varied Friday

Hailed as one of the most interesting and snappy programs ever presented, members of the American Business club, in session Friday noon at the Hilton Hotel, were entertained by several visiting artists and also by a feature battle-royal.

Miss Adeline Edwards and Mrs. John Mallory were also present as guests of the club and Mrs. Mallory played and sang several popular numbers, each of them enthusiastically applauded.

Climax of the day's entertainment came with entrance into an improvised ring of four husky dark-skinned pugilists who slugged lustily for several minutes until only one remained as the winner. The fight was referred by Victor Bennet, who, upon inspection of the fighters' gloves, discovered a long razor carefully tucked in one pair.

The meeting was in charge of Vice President L. H. Beall in absence from the city of President C. A. Sheffield.

Potash Mines

located seven or eight miles northwest of Tahoka.

Million Dollar Project

Tentative estimates indicate that a million dollars will be spent in the development of the properties, depending on the type of plant and the size to be used. Construction of a 1,000 ton a day plant, handling that amount of brine would cost nearly $800,000, it is expected with around $400,000 more for other equipment, working capital, etc. A 500 ton plant would require around $700,000.

About ten years ago C. C. Meigs, H. P. Bassett and G. B. Slaughter, of the bureau of economic geology and technology division of economic geology, University of Texas, made a detailed study and survey of the Lynn county lakes, their reports was covered in a bulletin published September, 1922 but not released until in 1929.

Several hundred wells were put down in Double lake No. 1 and in lake No. 2. Depths varied from eight to over 30 feet. Records of 107 of these wells have been filed in a report issued by the state university.

Lynn county has three lakes. Lake Tahoka eight miles northeast of the county seat and Dougle lakes. Lake Tahoka has an area of several hundred acres but only about 125 acres of pumping area.

Potash Discovered

In Lake Tahoka several veins of potash in blue shale were discovered. The flow was not strong although the "value was quite big. According to C. A. Maxwell, who made an investigation, the 125 acres could support about 100 wells. These would have a flow of approximately .2 of a gallon per minute.

In Double Lake No. 1, the north lake, veins were struck at three levels, four feet, nine feet and bottom of wells. "Brine flowing from all wells tested the same strength and the same potash strength," Dr. Basset said in his report.

In Double Lake No. 2 almost the entire pumping area has a strong flow. Brine averages from 15 to 20 degrees Baume.

"In either of these lakes we are assured of ten gallons per minute or better and no doubt could furnish 2,000 tons of concentrated brine per 24 hours." Dr. Basset said in a report.

"The amount of brine is without doubt inexhaustible for a plant using 2,000 tons of brine per day," he added.

Potassium content of these lakes is "approximately one and one half per cent referred to the brine, the remaining solids being salts such as sodium chloride, sodium sulphate, magnesium chloride, ect." says the report.

Besides the Tahoka group there are four other lakes in the South Plains in which potash and salt are found. These are, Silver lake, Yellow lake, Illusion lake and a part of Coyote lake, located in Hockley, Lamb, Bailey and Cochran counties.

Lamesa Minister Owns Bible Picked Up On Battlefield Of Bunker Hill In 1775; Tells Story Of Ancient Book

Reverend J. Thomas Barr, formerly a Lamesa minister, is owner of a Bible that he prizes very much. It was given him by Mrs. Nanie Gober, who died and was buried with her husband in the Lamesa cemetery. The book itself is a historical relic of the Revolutionary War this country participated in to gain its freedom and independence is 1775.

Here is Reverend Barr's own story of how he acquired the Bible.

A little over a year ago while living in Lamesa I was told by a friend of a lady who had been ill for some time and who insisted that my wife and I visit her. Being one of the ministers of the city we were rather expected to visit the sick from time to time.

Visited Sick Woman

She was an elderly lady and the doctors stated that she could not live long. We called at her bedside and after visiting with her for some 40 or 50 minutes and singing for her we took our leave to repeat the visit many times thereafter. The friend referred to had made several visits to see her before inviting us to visit. On one occasion this friend told us of an old Bible that the sick lady had in her possession and insisted that we might speak to her about it that we might have the privilege of seeing it. On making a visit at another time this friend happened to be present and insisted that we be permitted to see this old relic. She consented to let us see it and it was brought out for our inspection. It was an old book picked up at the battle of Bunker Hill, and here is the story she related to us in her feeble way.

"In the days of the Revolutionary War, one of my ancestors fought in that fight for independence. He was in many battles but in particular the battle of Bunker Hill with which this incident and the book are connected. The Americans fought desperately but finally the command was given to retreat. Many of the boys were killed and wounded but many more of the British.

Found Book On Hill

"As the retreat began its course a young man came to the foot of the hill, found a book that had been smeared with blood from the wound of some soldier either killed or wounded in the battle. He put the book in his knapsack and carried it with him. After examining the book it was found to be the New Testament of the Bible. Written in the front of the book was 'James Rusk, June.' No. one, I suppose knows the history of the writing, only it was written in the book when found. Perhaps it was written there by the owner of the book, I do not know.

Treasures Gift

"After serving through the war, he brought the book home to his wife, and it has been handed down from generation to generation until it came into my hands and I have kept it ever since I married. I have been asked by many of my friends for the book, but I refused them because I wanted to keep it. The blood on its sacred pages is sacred blood for me, shed by one of our American soldiers for our freedom. I have kept it and read it since it was handed down to me. Its print is easily read only where the blood has blurred its pages."

The above story is one related to me by Mrs. Gober of the old book found on the battlefield known as Bunker Hill. It was given to my wife and I later. We prize it very highly. We feel that it is among our best gifts given in token of appreciation for the many visits and songs for the old lady before she departed this life. We did not ask for the book but her husband brought up the subject one day that she intended to give the book away when she died. "Why not give it to Brother and Sister Barr, you think so much of them?" he said. She said she knew of no one she would rather have it. The book was given to us with a brief history pasted in the back.

A few of my friends have seen the book and have discussed the name written in it before it was found. But recently one who examined the writing called my attention to the fact that the fluid used to do the writing resembled blood stain on the pages. I do not know but it is reasonable to think it is. At least it is possible. No one knows the history of the writing only it was there when the book was found. However, it is reasonable that the one who owned it was in the battle and was wounded, perhaps mortally, and was making an attempt to write and having no other fluid to write with, used his own blood as it flowed from his wounds.

The battle being fought on the 17th day of June, 1775, he wrote, James Rusk, June"—thus the name and the month. He could go no further with the writing and died. Therefore the history of the writing was sealed to never be revealed until judgment. Perhaps, the name was his or that of a relative. No one knows.

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

POST, Nov. 15—After being out from Friday morning the jury in the case of Mrs. H. G. Wade of Southland vs. John T. Herd, Post, growing out of the closing last December of the Southland bank, reported to Judge Gordon B. McGuire that it was unable to agree.

Leopard Attack

Her huge spotted body hurtled atop the bewildered child, bared fangs and claws tearing hair and flesh.

Blood soaked with his scalp hanging in shreds to touch his shoulders, the small boy staggered from the store and into the arms of his father who had been attracted by excited cries of spectators.

Another Injured

A. C. Roper, of Littlefield, standing nearby when the ferocious cat leaped upon the child, entered the melee and pulled the leopard from her human prey, receiving a badly lacerated hand for his courage.

The four-year-old boy was severely lacerated and gashed by the dangerous claws and fangs of "Princess Torca" and bruised by her mauling paws.

Physicians at Lubbock sanitarium Saturday night regarded the child's condition as critical although they indicated that hope of recovery was held. Loss of blood and danger of complications made the outlook grave.

Lubbock County's Ginnings 27,158

In spite of the continued bad weather during the past week, cotton ginning totals in Lubbock continued to advance, the total for the season standing at 27,158 bales, reports to the Avalanche-Journal reveal. Gin men, farmers and cotton men estimated that fully seventy-five per cent of the crop had been gathered and that the next three weeks would see most of it ginned, providing the weather is fair.

Lubbock's seven gins had a total of 7,617 bales to be closely followed by Shallowater with 4,036 bales. Slaton reported 2,718 while Wolfarth has 1,960. Idalou's total stood at 1,528 just ahead of County Line with 1,208. Acuff's two gins turned in well over the thousand mark. Hurlwood reported 940 bales ginned this season while the Canyon plant had turned out 782 bales.

Union, Posey and McClung continued to turn out steady ginnings and put the total for the Slaton area well above the 4,000-bale figure.

Cotton Moderate Trading In Cotton Market — Livestock Livestock Trade Marked by Drops — Grain Prices Are Higher On Ft. Worth Mart

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 15. (AP)—The short Saturday session developed only moderate trading in the cotton market here and prices fluctuated within a moderate range and without definite trend.

The market opened unchanged to a couple of points down but eased off right after the start on week end realizing, declining 5 to 7 points with December down to 10.92. The market soon rallied however on covering and fair trade buying, advancing 8 to 13 points with December at 11.05 and January at 11.21.

There was the usual liquidation for over the week-end at the close and prices eased off 4 points and closed very steady with the general market showing net unchanged to 4 points up.

Liverpool came in 1 to 3 points worse than due and private cables said there was hedge selling and local liquidation.

Manchester cabled there was fair cloth trade for home use and to South America but smaller sales to China. After the steady opening prices eased off on week end liquidation but soon rallied on a bullish view of a broker's rumor that the farm loan board would cease its activities in stabilizing prices, but which was denied by Chairman Legge.

After advancing 8 to 13 points from the lows prices eased off 4 points on the active positions owing to week-end realizing but the close of the market was very steady with active months showing slight net gains of 3 points on December and 1 on March while January closed net unchanged.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Nov. 15. (AP)—Trading in cotton was comparatively quiet today, with early declines influenced by relatively easy Liverpool cables followed by rallies on trade buying and covering. Advances met some southern selling and realizing, however, and after selling up from 11.38 to 11.50, March closed at 11.43 compared with 11.45 at the close of the previous day. The general market closed steady net 5 points lower to 1 point higher, all the more active months being lower except October which was 1 point higher.

Early offerings were not heavy, and appeared to be quite readily absorbed by the trade or shorts around 10.92 for new December and 11.64 for May.

Rallies Follow Drop

This decline was followed by rallies during the middle of the morning on trade buying, particularly in the spring months and covering by recent sellers for over the weekend.

Liverpool cables said hedging and liquidation had been absorbed by trade calling on the decline in that market and reported a fair cloth turnover for the British home trade and Argentine hot cereal sales at Shanghai auctions.

Weekend reviews of the domestic goods market suggested that there had been something of a lull in business as compared with the previous week. The amount of cotton on shipboard at U. S. ports awaiting clearance was estimated at 195,000 last year.

Stock Market Closes Week of Advance With Continued Gain; Recover Losses

By JOHN L. COOLEY,
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 15. (AP)—The stock market today closed this week of improvement with further gains. Realizing sales kept the advances to nominal size in a number of active issues, but a few closed 4 points higher and advances of one to two were numerous. Sales of 1,710,340 shares represented an active Saturday.

The market has now recovered nearly 12 points of the 50 points it lost between September 10 and the year's lows of last Monday. In view of the sustained advance beginning Tuesday a technical reaction in the week-end session would not have been surprising; hence the showing today was regarded as encouraging.

News was largely constructive—and the market's hunger for good news has been convincingly demonstrated in the last few days.

Opening Irregular

The market opened irregular and drifted lower during the first half hour when losses of about a point developed in representative industrials and utilities.

Coppers, which had led the marsh out of the slump, offered less resistance and reacted, largely under realizing. National lead was the leader of the metals, rising nearly 10 points.

Wheat was heavy and futures finished as much as 2 cents lower in sympathy with a break in Winnipeg. Large offerings in corn put that grain 2 to 3 cents down. Active cotton months, with the exception of October, which was a point up, closed slightly off.

The general strike in Madrid unsettled the Spanish peseta to the extent of a dozen points. European exchanges eased slightly.

Duncan Writes Of Group Work In Education

City Superintendent Declares Teacher Should Teach Boys And Girls Instead Of Textbooks Of Curricula

Editor's Note: Below is an article written by M. H. Duncan, superintendent of the Lubbock City schools and explaining modern methods of teaching in high school. Mr. Duncan is highly in favor of the learn to do by doing plan of education.

• • •

The slogan in the schools today is that the teacher should teach boys and girls instead of books. The aim in modern education is the growth and development of the child rather than the accumulation of information. The Lubbock public schools have adopted this viewpoint and are planning their work in a way to help the boys and girls discover and develop their resources.

There is one phase of the work of our schools where some especially good results are being obtained and that is in the older boys' and girls' groups. At the beginning of this school year, we asked each one of the students of the Senior High school to select a teacher as his sponsor for the year, with whom he was to work in the solution of his problems—the boys to select the men teachers and the girls the lady teachers. By such a plan, the students of the Senior High school divided themselves into about thirty nearly equal groups.

Meet Every Two Weeks

These groups meet every two weeks during a regular period of the day—one time the boys meet together in the auditorium for a general lecture and the girls in small groups with their sponsors, and the next time the girls meet for the general lecture and the boys in groups with their sponsors. For the general meetings we have been using speakers from our own people and up to the present time we have had some very inspiring talks and many favorable responses from the students. In both group and general meetings the programs have been arranged to meet the needs of the students.

We are trying to make all the meetings thoroughly democratic—of, by, and for the students. We want the boys and girls to feel that the meetings are theirs, conduced for their good and that the aim is to help them solve their many problems. We have asked both boys and girls to write out questions on any subject that they would like to have discussed. Hundreds of these questions have been handed in on all kinds of subjects, and it is our purpose during the year in the group and general meetings to answer them the best we can. Many boys and girls go astray because they do not know the truth, and it is our purpose to give them the truth as much as we can.

While our teachers have been trained for a different kind of service, they have all expressed a willingness to do their best in this work. They have been trained to teach subjects instead of boys and girls and, in some cases, it is difficult for them to fit into the new program. However, they have shown a willingness to do their best and many of them are getting some excellent results. With the many problems confronting the modern high school youth, our teachers are seeing the need of a new viewpoint of education. They are seeing the importance of teacher training institutions doing a different kind of work from that which they have done in the past.

The teachers' colleges must make the child to be educated the center of gravity in their training and give every teacher in training opportunity to learn how to deal with him. The laboratory method must prevail, and those in training for teaching must be given actual opportunity to gain skill in the solution of the problems of childhood. The child must be made the center of gravity in the teacher training situation, just as he is in the public schools, and teachers must become experts in child training rather than in subject-matter. They must know children and how to deal with them for their greatest good rather than Latin, Greek, ancient history, and such subjects. They must learn to use the subject in every case for the development of the child.

MIDDLEWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 15. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Livestock trade around the eleven market circuit was marked by sharp price declines on killing classes of cattle, hogs and fat lambs. Hogs dropped to new low price levels for the season with declines of 50-75. Chicago and St. Louis had a closing top of 8.75. Offerings of hogs were around 333,300.

With indications pointing to a liberal movement of fed lambs out of corn belt feed lots during November and December, packers were bearish on fat lambs and broke price 50-1.25. The late top was 7.50. The supply approximated 130,000.

Cattle receipts were estimated at 328,700. Killing classes were unevenly 25-1.00 lower with instances of more decline at some markets on weighty steers. Finished yearlings were scarce and showed the minimum loss.

Chest Work Is Showing Gains In Many Areas

Total Pledges Are Seven And One-Tenth Per Cent Higher And Over Two And 3-10 Per Cent Over Goals Set

Twenty-three community chests which have held campaigns this fall have made a gain in total pledges of seven and one-tenth per cent over the amount raised by these chests one year ago, and a gain of two and three-tenths per cent over the amount sought for this fall.

An analysis of these campaigns just completed at the office of the National Association of Community Chests and Councils, in New York, was received today by Mr. E. L. Klett, president of the Community Chest. This analysis indicates that not only have the results in larger cities been encouraging, but those in smaller cities have been, as well. Lewiston, Idaho, for example, reports that the campaign just held, and which yielded $15,000, was the first one in three years to reach its full objective.

Each Shows Gain

With the exception of five, these twenty-three chests each made a substantial gain over last year. Of these five, Albany asked for less than last year because of an increase in income from endowments which reduced the demands on the chest, and Lima, Ohio raised an amount equal to last year.

Kenosha, Wis., made the largest gain in per cent, namely fifty-one per cent. Richmond, Ind., with 40 per cent, Lewiston, Idaho with 38 per cent, Shreveport with 28 per cent, and Indianapolis with 18 per cent follow.

Milwaukee Gains

A gain of 10 per cent in Milwaukee is considered especially significant by Allen T. Burns, executive director of the Association of Community Chests and Councils, as it applies to a fund in excess of one million dollars and represents $112,908 over last year's amount.

"Recent endorsement of chest campaigns, among other efforts in the field of local philanthropy by both President Hoover, and Col. Arthur Woods, executive of the President's Emergency committee on unemployment, as of initial and prime importance in meeting the human needs which have developed because of unemployment is highly gratifying," said Mr. Burns. "These statements add substantially to the impetus back of the chest campaigns still being waged during November and December for a total of $45,000,000. Among these are a number of the largest cities, raising the greatest amounts; for example, Cleveland, $8,400,000; Philadelphia, $3,862,555; and Los Angeles, $3,200,000.

Grain

FORT WORTH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Nov. 15. (AP)—Fair demand at slightly higher values was reported for sorghums on the cash grain market today as the week. Other grains were very slow with prices largely nominal.

Estimated receipts Saturday: Wheat, 2 cars; corn, 2 and oats, 1.

No. 1 hard wheat of any protein was probably worth 78 1-2 A 79 1-2 C, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid.

Prices on coarse grains ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Corn. No. 2 mixed 78 A 80; No. 2 white 84 A 85 C; No. 2 yellow 83 1-2 A 84 1-2.

Oats, No. 2 red 46 1-2 A 47 1-2; No. 3 white delivered Texas group one 42 3-4 A 43 1-2.

Sorghums, No. 2 milo per 100 pounds nominally 1.32 A 1.35; No. 2 kaffir 1.17 A 1.20.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 15. (AP)—Despite an exciting collapse of prices at Winnipeg, tremendous buying kept the Chicago market for December delivery of wheat as steady as Gibraltar. The buying here was ascribed to United States government sponsored agencies, whereas official support of the Winnipeg market appeared at least temporarily to consist of "notices of proposed new measures for price stabilization." Meanwhile, deliveries of wheat in Chicago other than December were without any adequate prop, and responding to word of augmented pressure of supplies both in Canada and Europe, Chicago May and July wheat contracts registered new low-price records.

Chicago closing quotations on wheat were irregular, varying from but 1-8c decline to a drop of 3c, as compared with yesterday's finish. Corn closed 2-2 1-8c down, oats 1-4, 1 1-2c off, and provisions showing 12-27c setback.

All sorts of rumors were afloat as to the significance of the huge volume of purchasing of Chicago December wheat contracts recently. The big buying of December wheat here which started as soon as the market opened, remained in full swing right up to the closing gong. As a result, the entire extent of December wheat price fluctuation in Chicago was held within 1-4c a bushel.

Gas Is Added To 13 Towns In This Area

Seagraves, Seminole, Petersburg To Be Served By End Of Year; 250 Miles Of Pipe Line Are Laid

Thirteen towns over the South Plains will have received gas service during 1930—from the West Texas Gas company, R. F. Hinchey, vice-president of the company, said in announcing that his concern had gained over 1,600 new customers during the year.

Seagraves, Seminole and Petersburg will be served before the end of the year unless unexpected delays are met up with, Mr. Hinchey said, Muleshoe also will have gas this year.

Lay 250 Miles Pipe.

Something like 250 miles of pipe line was built by the South Plains Pipe Line company, or will be built to connect these towns.

The line is now under construction from Brownfield to Seagraves and then Seminole will be added. Both town plants have been finished. Work will start on the laying of the line when the ditching machine working between Tuco and Petersburg has completed its job there.

To Connect Loop.

Meantime the line connecting Farwell and Muleshoe is being built and then it will be built into Sudan to connect there, making a loop from Canyon to Lubbock by way of Farwell as well as direct by way of Plainview.

Towns included in the 1930 program were: Anton, Amherst, Bovina, Dimmitt, Friona, Levelland, Littlefield, Muleshoe, Petersburg, Seagraves, Seminole, Shallowater and Sudan.

Number of customers for the company now exceeds 17,115, a gain of 1,619 over the number at the beginning of 1930 when there were 15,496 meter connections, Mr. Hinchey said.

Three-fourths of the distribution system at Muleshoe is finished. It will be ready within 10 days, it is believed.

Benefit Fete Will Be Given

One-Act Comedy Is Feature Of Program Which Will Be Fostered By High School Girl Reserves

In order to raise money to send delegates to the National Girl Reserves conference next spring, members of the Lubbock High School Girl Reserves are to stage a Variety Show next Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the school auditorium.

There is to be a marionette show, "Espaminondas"; a one-act play, "Yes, We Have No Baking Powder"; a tumbling act by Hayden Morgan and a rope-jumping act by J. W. McMurray.

Miss Ethel Lawson, one of the Girl Reserves sponsors, is coaching the play, which is set at the present time. Christy Carruth plays the part of Bob Baker, who is ill, and Ruth Armeling has the part of his wife. The role of Dr. Chargit is played by Tom Cammack with Eleanor Simmons taking the part of his wife.

Other numbers on the program for the evening are a group of songs by George Slover and music by the High School Girls quartet, of which Mrs. L. J. Von Tungeln is director. U. V. Blake's orchestra is to furnish music during the evening and there will be sleight of hand performances by a professional and a special mystery number by members of the High school faculty.

Country Club Is Scene For Gay Occasion

Patronesses And Husbands And Friends Of Members Are Guests Saturday Of College Club

LAS Vivarachas club members entertained Saturday evening at the Country Club with one of the gala events of the week-end. Fifteen tables were arranged for games of bridge and dancing was enjoyed at intervals during the evening by the guests, who included friends of the members, the club patronesses and their husbands.

Early in the evening, the club members and their dates met at the home of Miss Genevieve Deckert and started for the Country Club in a group. About every half mile the cars were stopped and the young women progressed to the next car, thus changing escorts every few minutes.

In Seasonal Motif

Halls of the club were effectively decorated using the Thanksgiving motif and clever tallies and score pads were used in table appointments.

Refreshments were served after the bridge and high cut favors were given to men and women guests and to a club member.

Club members who attended this party and their escorts were Miss Milbria Pirtle and Cecil Kersey, Miss Genevieve Deckert and Otis Taylor, Miss Maxine Gwin and Jimmy Anthony, Miss Kathleen Conrad and Robert Maxey, Miss Eileen Graves and Raymond Pfluger, Miss Sue Brown and Lewis Pirtle, Miss Lorsine Gable and Howard Hopkins, Miss Ada Ruth May and Harrison Thomas.

Other guests included Misses Tina Alexander, Harriett Swain, Monna Gowan, Harriett Roach, Ruth Serman, Josephine Caraway, Lorene Fryar, Temple Boone, Mary Evelyn Woodson, Louise Garrison, Lallah Wright, Messrs. and Mesdames Harry N. Roberts, D. Z. Dobyns, T. A. Mills, J. E. Vickers, Roscoe Wilson, B. B. Pirtle, E. B. Adcock, Miss D'Laurel Bevill and Messrs. Bob Bristole, Jimmy Roberts, Harold Ammons, Wayne Grear, Wendal Poole, Clyde Thompson, Harvey Dunn, Fred Wall, Lynn Grey Gordon, Willie Lisman and Don Leach.

During the evening fortunes of the guests were told by Miss Roam, adding to the entertainment.

Two Entertain On Friday With Fete

Forty-two was played Friday afternoon when Mesdames C. M. Mitchell and T. V. McKinney entertained members of the 1930 Friendship club in their home at 2312 16th street. Chrysanthemums and dahlias were used in floral decorations.

Those who attended were Mesdames M. A. Welch, A. G. Odom, E. B. Harris, Joe Hess, Jesse Cox, W. L. Stringer, Erle Thompson, A. H. Crawford, Minnie Jackson, C. E. Love, Reeves Catt, Pebble Talley, Fred Adkins, F. W. Osborne, A. W. Evans, B. F. Hodges and Ethridge Eagan.

Ceylon now has a total elephant population of 2800, according to recent census. Of these 1000 are still in a wild state.

New York Benefit Events Are Pageants Of Late Fashions; Society Women Appear As Mannequins

White Is Modish For Evening; Post-Debs Are Models

BY BETSY SCHUYLER
NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—These are days when debs are benefiting by all kinds of parties in their honor, and post-debs are benefiting others by modeling at fashion shows and helping out at various and sundry other undertakings for sweet charity's sake.

The supper dance at Pierre's for the benefit of the Henry Street Settlement stands out as one of the smartest of such occasions, with stunning Bonwit Teller clothes. For perfectly beautiful hostess pajamas, the suit Mary Pierrepont modeled just couldn't be beaten: cerise colored flat crepe for the one-piece suit, with flaring trousers and the most regal gold and cerise lame for the trailing jacket with angel sleeves.

The light-upper-and-dark-lower dinner gown has a place in the sun, judging from the stunning black lace and bois de rose lace gown Mrs. Walter P. Jacob showed. It had tiny cap sleeves and a double peplum and a belt of the black lace and was stunning. Necklines on evening things grow more graceful and svelte. On a white chiffon gown, with trailing clouds of glory in the form of little spangled stars sprinkled all over it, the cowl neckline was used most effectively.

White Has Formal Vogue.

The vogue for white for evening things has caused some of the season's brides to go in for a bit of color for their wedding gowns. Virginia Luke's wedding gown was a perfectly beautiful pale blue transparent velvet gown, made in quaint Moyen Age style, with sleeves tight to the elbow and then winging their way to width and length. The long train was scalloped all around. Her veil was matching blue tulle with a little shirred cap effect and the ubiquitous orange blossoms caught at the back. A rope belt of small pearls added the final perfect touch to her costume.

Capes for coats is a new foible of fashion, I met Isabel Morrell strolling down Park Avenue the other day with a smart little leopard capelet with scarf collar and tiny muff to match, worn over a cloth frock in the season's ruby red. A fur jacket with a smart cutaway closing and a scarf collar that forms wide revers is the new acquisition of Mrs. Arthur Cowan. It is black Persian lamb and looks mighty smart indeed, especially when she pins a couple of gardenias on one shoulder and wears a sleek little fur turban with a jewelled clip in the front of it.

With the days colder, a brisk walk down the avenue to give one's pets an airing is the order of the morning. Sybil Whigham is one who frequently escorts her two Cairn terriors on an outing. She is apt to wear one of those little fur jackets, of nutria, with a tweed frock and felt hat of sports cut.

Checks are growing smarter and smarter—in inverse ratio, you might say—to stocks and bonds. Frances Maher wore an outfit to the football game last week of long fitted checked woolen coat and a turban to match. The coat has a draped huge double half-shawl collar of fox, with an elbow band of fur on the sleeves. There was a smart little black feather and a little white

Classes Will Be Conducted On Problems

Educators Are To Appear On General Programs During The Week; Exhibits To Be Of Interest

THE several hundred women and men of Lubbock who are affiliated with Parent-Teacher associations are expecting to be represented this week at the twenty-second annual convention of the Texas Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher associations.

Opening Monday, the congress is to be in session for five days in San Angelo and hundreds of Texas women are expected to be in attendance. "Parent Education" is the theme.

Mrs. T. A. White, who is recording secretary for the fourteenth district, of which Lubbock is a part, is planning to attend the sessions. Mrs. N. L. Peters, president of the Dupre Parent-Teacher association, has been elected delegate from that organization and is to attend the meeting. Mrs. E. P. Earhart, secretary of the K. Carter association is to attend from that society.

Mrs. A. E. Davies has been elected delegate by the Sanders Parent-Teacher association, of which she is president.

A car of women probably will leave here to attend sessions of the convention, Mrs. W. W. Royalty, president of the City P.-T. A. Council has announced.

Notes On Program

Notes on the program for the convention have been sent to the press of the state by Mrs. Will T. Decherd, state publicity director. These are as follows:

For the first time in the twenty one years of the organization's existence there will be regular classes in program-making each day of the convention. The importance of the right kind of programs for parent-teacher associations can not be overestimated, according to Mrs. Noyes Darling Smith, state president of the congress, for from the programs in the general meetings of the associations comes the opening of the parents' minds to the fact that there are many problems connected with rearing children for the solving of which, study and discussion will help. Thus the idea is to have such meetings as will inspire the parents to form study groups. To do this the programs must not only be interesting, but must fit the needs of the community and of the particular group of parents, whether they are parents of grade school children, of rural communities, of high school, college, or city groups. These classes, which are scheduled from 8 to 9:30 every morning of the San Angelo convention, will be conducted by people who have had practical experience in forming programs for the groups assigned them.

Leaders To Teach

Study program making for the one, two, or three teacher school is under the direction of Mrs. M. A. Taylor, Bonham, president of second district; for that pre-school associations under the direction of Mrs. Virginia Sharborough of the University, who has been conducting study classes for the parents of pre-school children in all parts of the state during the past month; that for the grade school associations under the direction of Mrs. Stephen Chamfess, Austin, executive secretary; High School associations, Mrs. Jack Little, Dallas, past president of Dallas Council Associations, Mrs. J. M. Green, Edinburg; and of the Mexican associations,

College Is To Offer Extension Sewing To Women Of Lubbock

The Woman's Angle

* * *

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

IN OUR efforts to provide employment for students in Texas Technological college and give them the advantage of an education, we are often inclined to overlook the high school youngster. He lives at home, we think, and is provided for, but there are a lot of orphans up there who need some help, according to J. C. Brown, who is dean of men.

* * *

A visit from one of these boys yesterday, who brought his problems with him, sent Mr. Brown down this morning to see if I could be of any help to him in finding employment for some of them.

* * *

It isn't easy for an adolescent to discuss his troubles with anyone and when one does go to Mr. Brown it usually means that he is feeling rather desperate over his situation. However, the boys do recognize that they have problems. Something of this has been revealed this fall in questionnaires that have been sent to the boys through the sponsor's organization in the school—a system which makes each man teacher in the ninth, tenth and eleventh grades a "big brother" to a group of boys. It has been brought out, too, in other ways.

* * *

For instance, during last week, Tom Garrard spoke to the young men on some timely subject and on that occasion each one was asked to suggest a topic for another speaker. With one exception, and there are 360 boys in the three grades, the answers were in a serious tone and they suggested everything from manners to assistance in the choosing of a career.

* * *

The fellow who came to Mr. Brown yesterday is in need of a job that will pay his board. His mother is dead; his father has remarried and the boy and his stepmother aren't very compatible so that he is finding it more and more of a problem to remain at home and attempt to attend school.

* * *

Some of the boys simply find that their families are not able to send them to school and the youngsters are out seeking work in order that they may pay their room and board during nine months of the year. These young men range in age from 14 to 18 years and they are willing to do practically anything, Mr. Brown says. They will even assist women in their housework and do any odd jobs about places for the remuneration.

* * *

INDICATES INTEREST

INDICATIVE of the interest that club women in this section of the state have in the invitation that Lubbock has extended to the Texas Federation of Women's clubs to meet here in 1931 is a note in the Borger Daily Herald, written by Mrs. G. Gordon McBride, woman's editor. "If the convention is called to Lubbock" she says, "it will offer a great opportunity to West Texas club women to attend a State Federation meet and learn how club work is handled on a large scale. Such an opportunity is seldom given to small cities, and only a few from any club ever attend as delegates."

* * *

FOR EXAMPLE

IN SPITE of the campaign for women's rights that I am continually waging, we're being discriminated against right here in our office. This morning we discovered a humidor on a reporter's desk and on top of it he had pasted a label on which he had plainly typed: "For Gentlemen of the Press; To Stimulate Thought, Exhilarate Feeling and Expedite Accomplishment."

* * *

SOME MORE ODDITIES

THESE flowers are doing some queer things around Lubbock this fall. Mrs. T. V. McKinney showed me a chrysanthemum stalk out at her house the other day that is bearing flowers in two colors. Part of the blossoms are red, a maroon hue, and others are of delicate orchid that shades into the palest pink. All of the blossoms are of normal size and well formed.

* * *

I went out to look at the blossoms and Mrs. McKinney gave me an armful of flowers to carry home. Whether or not she will do that for everyone who goes out to see this phenomenon, I can't say, but I'm glad I got there first as I got to carry off some of the orchid and maroon blossoms, too.

* * *

RESULTS COUNT, ANYWAY

IN SATURDAY'S paper I devoted some space to a discussion of National Book week. After the article was written, I talked to several members of the Parent-Teacher association and learned that book week was observed by them last week, November 10-16. The Lubbock County librarian, Miss Rue Eubanks, had told me, I thought, that the week of November 16 to 22 is the designated time for observance so I went back to her to verify the dates. She said again that the national observance has been set for this coming week.

* * *

It isn't the dates, however, that make the difference. The things that are accomplished by the observance are the things most worthwhile and talks which were made last week at parent-teacher meetings on books as companions for children during out-of-school hours were fully as useful and timely then as they would have been on any other date.

MENDING HINTS

If your son wears the knees of his knickers out too fast, put a big patch of heavy material on the wrong side across the knees before he wears the new pants. This reenforces them beautifully and gives you something to darn to.

Business And Home Women Asked To Join

Problems In Sewing Usually Encountered By Women Are To Be Emphasized In Extension Classes

THE first of a proposed series of extension classes in home economics for townswomen are to be offered this week at Texas Technological college, according to announcements that have been made.

Business women and home women are expected to be interested in these classes. Two units will be started this week, one group meeting on Friday afternoon from 2 until 4 o'clock, and the other meeting from 7 until 9 o'clock on Thursday evening. Each group will meet for 10 2-hour classes and the tuition fee is to be $3 for each one who enrolls.

To Offer Other Units

Additional units will be offered after Christmas by departments in the school of home economics, according to Miss Margaret Weeks, the dean, and she suggests units on making children's garments or the construction and renovation of home furnishings; easy guest meals or buffet meals; the use of color in the home or personality in dress.

A child's coat will be the problem of the class which meets Friday afternoon from 2 until 4 o'clock in Room 104 of the home economics building at the college. An old garment may be renovated or new and old materials may be combined, but the instruction will include tailored finishes, bound and worked buttonholes, set-in pockets and appropriate trimmings and linings for various materials.

To Make Dresses

The construction of a silk or cotton dress will be stressed in the class which meets on Thursday evening from 7 until 9 o'clock in the same room. The suitability of dress to individuals will be emphasized and the course will include tailored finishes, as well as those suitable for less tailored dresses.

Mrs. Estelle Shepard Lytal is to teach the classes. She is a graduate of Texas Technological college, where she completed requirements for the Smith Hughes Home Economics certificate, and she has received special training for work in adult education at the Colorado State Agricultural college under the direction of Mrs. Mildred Weigley Wood, a nationally known authority in this field. She has taught several years, also.

Regular meeting times will be chosen at the meetings this week.

Fashion Display

In the Wedding March

The black-white style motif stands pre-eminently the most popular combination this winter. Lunching at the Colony Club the other day, Mrs. Lawrence Copely Thaw wore an elegant little black outfit, of flat crepe frock cut with a deep rounding neckline, and the blouse fastened at the side of the neck with two black and white buttons. A two-inch fitted yoke of white filled in the neckline and the same effect decorated the cuffs. She wore a handsome double fox fur with it and a black velvet beret.

Even at weddings black and white is the important style note. A number of guests chose this for the wedding of Margary Jarvis to William Henry Ferris in Saint Bartholomew's Church. Strawberry pink and spring green were the decorations and the maid of honor's costume, too. The bridesmaids wore green crepe frocks trailing to the floor, topped by fishermen's hats of green velvet.

Evening purses are as varied this year as gowns, and must do something for the whole costume or they should be checked with your outer wraps. Mrs. Franklyn Hutton carries a flat black satin envelope with the most exquisite diamond ornament, when she wears a black gown. Mrs. Joseph Earle Stevens carried a jade green bead purse which matched her slippers and her chiffon handkerchief the other evening at the opera. The frame of the purse was old gold which matched perfectly her gown of old gold brocade.

Charm School Is Held Here

Tech YWCA Sponsors Second Meeting And Conversation Clothes, Cosmetics Form Program

The second class in a Charm School which is conducted for women of Texas Technological college under the sponsorship of the Young Woman's Christian association, was held at the First Presbyterian church Thursday evening.

"Three C's," conversation, cosby Mrs. I. C. Enochs and Miss Mabel by Mrs. I. C. Enochs and Miss Babel Erwin. Guests registered in a book presided over by Miss Corene Ratliff.

A period style show was staged with costumes modeled in newspapers. Queen Elizabeth and Sir Walter Raleigh costumes were given first place; a dress of 1860, second and the modern dress won third place.

An Attractive, Comfortable Corner Is Woman's Place

* * *

BY JULIA BLANSHARD
NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—From time immemorial the man of the house has deserved and usually gotten his cozy corner, a spot where he could read or smoke in peace, sure that no one else would occupy his chair.

It is modern today for the woman of the house to have her niche. Even if she has to make it for herself, and of course she usually does.

It need not be an expensively furnished cozy nook. But it must be comfortable, have within reach of things she is likely to want when resting, and be attractive enough to make her crave a certain amount of leisure each day.

Since winter is the leisure time of the year, the season when staying-in is often the most desirable way of spending one's time, it is the logical time to build up this cozy nook.

Chair Is First Requirement

To begin with, you need a comfortable chair. If you want a chaise lounge, so much the better. Nothing equals the chaise lounge for relaxing comfort. But you may have neither the space nor the money for a chaise lounge. Any cozy arm chair will do. Re-cover it to suit your leisure moods and there you are.

A slip cover for an old arm chair is not so hard to make. You can get patterns for slip chairs and enlarge them or cut them down to fit your own. But make sure that your cozy chair is pretty and cheerful. It is no place to use up drab material you have on hand.

Quite ideal for a slip cover for a cozy chair for winter is one that has some gold tones in it, or rust red, or a rich, royal blue combined with gold. One with cheery red flowers and some traceries of lots of other colors is ideal, for it brings summer time and outdoors into the winter home.

Along with the cozy chair, you should have a footstool. Most women are more comfortable using one, whether wooden or upholstered. But it never should be moved from in front of your chair. One of the most appealing things about a cozy corner for the woman of the house should be its unfailing readiness to take her into it for a rest.

Instead of just a table for magazines or books, have a table with a lift lid and a place inside it for a little sewing. Many times you may feel like resting, but not reading. Having a little sewing handy may rest your mind and relax your nerves.

Of course you must have a light near at hand. A bridge lamp that can be adjusted to high light for reading or low light for sewing is the best kind. Have one with a feminine-looking shade, for this corner should be a little dressy.

Wall Shelf for Books

And you should have a book shelf near at hand. A wall shelf conserves space and is decorative as well. Here you should have the latest detective story or novel and a couple of entertaining magazines. Paint it the color of the background of your chair and then it will seem an intimate part of the nook's composition.

For the woman of the house, a cozy arm chair such as the one shown here is covered with hand-blocked, dull-surfaced material, in a flower-pot design of ruddy rust and green tones. The rug is red and beige and the table, foot-stool and wall book-case are painted the rust red.

Stephens Memorial Class Members Are Entertained Friday Afternoon At Party Given In J. H. Howze Home

Four members of the Stephens Memorial class of the First Presbyterian church entertained other class members Friday afternoon with a party in the home of Mrs. J. H. Howze, 1107 19th street.

The hostesses were Mesdames Howze, M. D. Blue, Grayson Bell and G. D. Robison.

This was a regular monthly business and social meeting of the class.

Those who attended were Mesdames H. G. Payne, Guion Gregg, Eva Waddill, R. W. Amick, J. A. Phipps, F. D. Stockbridge, Lizzie Wayland, P. C. Chenault, Temple Ellis, Joe Wilson, Ed Ainsworth, A. H. Leidigh, Mattie Hanna, S. E. Melton, Miss Lena Patton and Miss Virginia McLean.

New Books Are Received At County Library, Observing Children's Book Week Here

Late Copies Of Favorites Are Placed On The Shelves Of Lubbock County Library By Miss Eubank

Children's Book Week which is being observed throughout the nation, November 16-22, will be met with delight by the many boys and girls in Lubbock and the surrounding territory who swarm the county library searching for reading material with an appeal.

Miss Rue Eubank, recently appointed librarian, has ordered several copies of new books and restocked shelves with old ones in preparation for this event which has become an American institution.

The purpose of the special week is to make children more book-conscious and give them an incentive for wider reading.

One of the books which will be on display at the county library this week is a new edition of one of the most popular books ever written for children, namely, "Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland." The copy is bound in a bright blue cover and profusely illustrated.

Has Colored Plates

An edition of "The Pied Piper of Hamlin" (Robert Browning) is illustrated in colored plates, suggestive of the old-world, by Hope Dunlap.

"Gay Neck," the story of a pigeon in India, will meet with the approval of boys. This book, which was written by Boris Artzybasheff, won the John Newberry medal in May of 1928 as one of the outstanding books of the year.

A "Book of Magic" will be a source of endless delight to those of the adolescent age who revel in trickery. The authors are given as Professor Paradise and Joseph Leeming.

That humorist, Mark Twain, will be represented on the shelves in a bright new red copy of "Tom Sawyer" and "Lorna Doone," by Blackmore, is to be there in an unusually attractive edition with many illustrated pages.

Book On Gliders

Amateur aviators will be interested in "Book of Gliders" by Teale, and "Kidnapped Campers on the Road" will catch the eye of many. This latter book is by Flavia A. Canfield.

Other books recently received by Miss Eubank include "Loyal Mary Garland," by Brady; "Twilight Town," by Mary Frances Blaisdell, and two copies of "Nursery Rhymes" and "Tale of Curly Tail" (Smith).

"We ordered several other editions which were to have arrived for book week," said Miss Eubank, "and they may come within the next few days."

These are: "The Boy With the Parrott", (Coatsworth); "The Town Crier of Gevrey" (Cox); "The Boys and Sally" (Knox); "Kelpies Run Away" (Blaisdell); "Chaucer's Canterbury Tales for Children" (Farjean); "Bold Dragoon" (Washington Irving); "Luisa in Mexico" (James); "Emil and the Detective" (Kester); "Indian Twins" (Perkins); "Children's Version of Beowulf."

These books will be exhibited at district meeting and the best two sent on to the state chairman who will select the best eight to send to the National convention in Hot Springs, Arkansas, next spring for the National publicity exhibit. All books sent to Staate next spring, including those that go to National, will be exhibited next fall at the state convention, just as this year in San Angelo all such books are to be on exhibit.

Banks And Progress

TO people unacquainted with the inside workings of banking it appears that the bank, as far as progress is concerned, stands still. Change within the structure, of course, can take place but gradually, and for this reason it seems to many that the bank of today is pretty much the same in its essential characteristics and methods as the bank with which the great-grandfathers of this generation did business. The American bank, however, could not have stood still. Its importance in the economic scheme of the nation has forced it to grow with the country.

There are evidences that American banking is approaching an era of great improvement. Constructive banking movements now under way throughout the country promise to make stronger banks, more efficient banks, banks offering a wider service, better understanding of banking both in and out of the cage, closer alliances between banks and public, greater respect for the banking profession and wiser spending and more systematic saving.

Communities are vitally interested in bigger and better banks. The old-fashioned, tradition-bound bank that refuses to adjust itself to changed conditions not only throttles its own development but that of the territory it professes to serve. An efficient, progressive, helpful banking institution reflects itself in a prosperous and industrious community.

The fact that the United States and its thousands of cities and towns have prospered and made progress is the best proof that its banks have not stod still. To no small extent is the development of the country traceable to the functions ably assumed by its providers of credit. Bankers must keep step with progress, and usually do.

FOUR MILLION CAPITALISTS

Joseph S. McCoy, United States treasury actuary, estimates at 4,000,000 the "legion of capitalists" in the United States. One out of every 30 persons is the owner of corporate securities or bonds.

The number of stockholders has increased materially since the World war. Businesses have encouraged employes to buy stock in the concerns they work for on the theory that stockholders take a greatr interest in the business. National prosperity has also accounted for the growth of the "legion of capitalists."

American stockholders are not all millionaires. Less than 7 per cent of the outstanding corporation stocks are held by millionaires, although 95 per cent of the wealthy obtain their income from stock dividends. There are some 100,000 widows solely dependent on stock dividends, and many orphans are cared for in the same manner.

The character and psychology of the two classes is reflected in the preference of the city dweller for stocks and of the rural resident for government bonds. The one is ever progressive and the other conservative in all things.

On the face of these figures and facts it is not surprising that labor troubles have been reduced to a minimum here. As long as American workers are privileged to share twice—through wages and dividends—in the earnings of their labor they will leave communism and socialism to dreaming drones.

GAME PROTECTION

When hunters go forth in legal season and find that the game they have protected and propagated has been killed out of season or slaughtered by poachers not content with a legal catch, they come to their first full realization of the magnitude of the job of those charged with the protection of our game.

Protectors recently captured a pot-hunter's boat equipped with a triple-barreled swivel gun capable of killing from 75 to 100 ducks at a discharge. Pot-hunters, most despised of all racketeers, are largely responsible for the steady reduction of game birds, especially migratory waterfowl. They are not easy to capture and are able to make the illegal and unsportsmanlike business profitable because of the demand from clubs and restaurants for game birds.

Fewer men would violate the game laws if they stopped to consider that they are injuring the sportsmen whose money and good sportsmanship have preserved for all what little good hunting there is. They are not merely violating some rule of that abstract thing called the government.

A WARY GOOSE

The gasoline tax was originally adopted to supplement funds available for highway construction and maintenance. As such it became very popular—as taxes go—furnishing money for road improvements that otherwise would be impossible. Every state now levies a tax on gasoline for the benfit of its highway department. A considerable share of the cost involved in building and maintaining highways is thereby charged directly against those who use the roads. This is equitable and fair.

So easily is this tax collected and so great has been the revenue it has produced that public officials are constantly tempted to increase the tax and divert part of the funds to purposes other than highway.

This would be impossible in those states where the legislature has no power to impose a special tax upon a part of the people for the benefit of the whole. It would be grossly unfair to make the motorist pay more than his proportionate share of the cost of government.

But wouldn't such diversion of gasoline tax revenue be killing the goose that laid the golden egg? Immediately state governments begin overlooking that willing beast of burden, the automobile owner, the gasoline tax will cease being a popular levy and will become oppressive in the eyes of those who must pay it. And where is there a legislator who would dare refuse the whims and wishes of the motoring vote?

Money For Public Works

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—While making no direct answer to the quoted statement of Governor-Elect Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania that he would urge a special session of congress upon the president to provide unemployment relief, Mr. Hoover has announced he will ask congress for an emergency appropriation for public projects.

It is believed in administration circles that nothing could be gained by calling congress a week or two earlier than its regular session in December.

In so far as the federal government is concerned, greatly increased sums already were provided for public works by the last congress, as the president points out.

Evidently Colonel Arthur Woods' employment committee, not yet having co-ordinated state, county and municipal relief, reluctantly has advised still greater federal expenditures. Last year's reduction in the income tax, in all probability, cannot be retained. (But this undoubtedly does not worry the man out of work).

Speaking academically, men active in connection with Colonel Woods' relief program (there is an understandable disinclination on their part to be quoted to the purport that anything more could be done than they are doing) admit that congress could find employment for almost unlimited numbers by authorizing and financing a correspondingly extensive scheme of public improvements or by a sufficient acceleration of those already provided for but lagging.

There is an evident impression that such a broadening and speeding up of operations would give a war-time character to the campaign—that is that haste would tend toward extravagance and carelessness.

Nevertheless, it is agreed that enough money would solve the unemployment problem immediately.

It is pointed out that such expenditures would increase taxes just as immediately—to war-time proportions, some say, though they add that the higher level probably would not have to be long continued. A stabilization of labor conditions could reasonably be expected speedily to follow renewed buying by a large number of workers, following their transfer from the ranks of idleness to jobs at normal wages.

As a general proposition there is no question that the administration favors an elastic system public works to be contracted in times of prosperity and expanded in times of economical stringency, but it does not want it left to the federal government to be solely responsible for it. Rather, it would shift a share (and much the larger share of the total) upon state, county and city governments and private industries. In fact, this is what Colonel Woods is trying to accomplish, but it is difficult for even the colonel's aids to deny that federal officialdom was caught in the present jam before it fairly realized the jam's existence—and then delayed, hoping for a natural improvement.

A great deal of preparation had in reality been made, and Colonel Woods undoubtedly is right in saying that the situation would have been worse otherwise.

Still it was inadequate preparation for the unexpected proportions of the calamity.

As far as it goes it takes the form of public improvements.

What congress can do, either in special or regular session, is to vote more of the same thing and continue voting more until all unemployed absorbed.

But the federal government still expects local governments to shoulder a great part of the burden.

Practical Health Problems

Still the most fashionable idea about diet in arthritis is to eliminate meat. It goes back at least as far as Dr. Alexander Harg's celebrated and once popular book, "Uric Acid". The idea has been completely exploded as a scientific theory. But its soul goes marching on. One of the worst cases of arthritis I ever saw was in the person of a woman who had always been a militant vegetarian. Her father had written a book on vegetarianism and from her cradle she had been compelled to forego the pleasures of a meaty diet. On the other hand, dogs, who eat almost nothing but meat, seldom have arthritis.

The most complete recent studies of the nutrition of patients with arthritis have been made by Pemberton of Philadelphia. He believes the changes in the joints can be explained on the basis of chemical changes. He found the general rate of nutrition (basal metabolism) was lowered, as well as the local rate of nutrition in and around the joints.

Pemberton's plan for diet in arthritis is to cut down on the starches and sugars. As protein is converted into sugar 50 per cent he also reduces that. A typical day's diet as advocated by him is:

Today's One-Minute Sermon

Take, my brethren, the prophets, who have spoken in the name of the Lord, for an example of suffering, affliction, and of patience.

Behold, we count them happy which endure. Ye have heard of the patience of Job, and have seen the end of the Lord; and the Lord is very pitiful, and of tender mercy.—James, v, 10, 11.

Celia offends her grandmother and the elderly Mrs. Mitchell feigns illness and departs for a rest. The girl goes to Mrs. Parsons' Long Island home for a lengthy visit. Jordan calls there frequently.

Mrs. Parsons lunches with Mitchell and he tells her he has investigated Jordan's past and that the young man is a gambler. She does not pass this news on to Celia. Next day Celia, Lisi and Jordan attend the races and Celia's eye is attracted by a familiar figure.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXVII

THE young man's back was certainly familiar. It was the way he carried his broad shoulders which first caught Celia's attention. Her heart seemed to stop beating. She leaned forward, craning her neck to see more clearly.

He did not turn around. There was something about that gray tweed back that brought a quick rush of memories. If only he would turn his head! But no—of course, she must be mistaken. It was just some stranger who held his shoulders in the same alert way as Barney Shields.

"Look, Celia, look—there's that cute jockey! The one in red. See him?"

Lisi Duncan had grabbed Celia's arm and was pointing out a boyish youth in scarlet satin, boots and broad-visored cap who, with other jockies, was crossing in front of the stands.

"Isn't he adorable?" Lisi chirped. "Why, Celia, you weren't looking at all!"

"Yes, I was, Lisi. I saw him."

It would be several minutes before there would be another race. The crowd all about them had begun moving. Tod Jordan, handsome in white linen suit and orange tie which set off his dark good looks, turned toward the two girls.

"Want to take a look at the horses?" he said. "I think I'll go down to the paddock and see if I can pick up a tip."

"I don't want tips," said Lisi glibly. "I've already picked my horse. It's the one that cute jockey in red is going to ride. See, here's his name! And the horse is 'Family Row.' There's a hunch for you. That horse ought to win me money!"

Celia shook her head.

"You go on, Tod," she said. "We'll wait for you."

"See you later!"

Jordan disappeared in the milling crowd. Lisi was turning and twisting, trying to take in everything around her.

"If there isn't Jimmie Webster. Over there—see? And, my Lord, it's Kate with him! Well, of all things!"

Celia followed Lisi's excited gesturing to the seats a few rows above where Webster and Kate Duncan were sitting. Lisi whirled about quickly.

"Don't look!" she insisted. "Don't even let them know we saw them. Kate'll be sure to tattle."

* * *

THE young man in gray down in front had turned. Celia caught a quick glimpse of sunburned cheek, eyes squinting against the sunshine—beyond a doubt Barney Shields!

"Listen, Celia, let's move over to the other side where Kate can't see us." Lisi had taken the other girl's arm.

"Oh, but we can't now. How'd we find Tod?" She had to make excuses quickly, keeping one eye on Barney. Celia's heart was pounding. Suppose Barney should leave before she could get to him.

Lisi was silent for a few moments. Then she said:

"I'll tell you. You stay and wait for Tod and I'll go across and find some seats for all of us. When he comes back you two come over. Even if Kate does see you it's all right. Oh, boy—I'd like to put something over on that old girl. The way she treated me last night!"

Celia agreed. She was only too eager to be alone. When Lisi was out of sight she rose and walked down the aisle of steps. Barney had turned again and was facing the track.

She was just behind him now. Celia tried to appear casual, but her cheeks were hot. She felt as though the eyes of everyone in the huge gathering were turned upon her.

Shyly she touched his arm.

"Hello, Barney," the girl said.

"Why—hello! Say, this is a surprise!" Barney Shields whipped off his straw hat. His face was one ruddy, delighted grin. He grabbed her hand, crushed it in his own. "Is it really you, Celia? I can hardly believe it!"

"It's me, all right," she told him, smiling. "I saw you from where I was sitting. At first I wasn't sure, but then you turned around. Barney, I'm awfully glad to see you."

"Never so glad to see anybody in my life!" the young man said emphatically. He was still holding her hand.

"But how did you happen to be—" she began.

frills about the throat and brief.

"Oh, it's a long story! I'll tell you all about it, kid. Right now all I can do is think how sweet you're looking! Say, you look like a million dollars, Celia!"

Blushes deepened her color. The girl did look attractive. Her thin green frock had flattering white sleeves. She wore white slippers and a broad white straw with drooping brim. Flattery, that most artful of cosmetics, had done its work. Celia's eyes were shining.

"Do you really think so?" she asked softly.

"I'll say I do!"

"But you didn't answer my letters."

"Letters? I only got one. Did you send any more? That's part of all I've got to tell you. Just wait until you hear! I've had some good luck, Celia!"

"You look as though you had. Still, I don't see why you couldn't write to me. You said you would, Barney!"

"Yes, I know. But you won't care about that after you hear what's happened."

Men and women around them had begun returning to their seats. It was nearly time for the next race. Celia noticed that Barney had a camera at his side.

"Oh—are you making pictures?" she asked.

"Yes, worse luck! I'll have to be moving in a minute. Listen, when am I going to have a chance to talk to you? I've got a lot of things I want to tell you, Celia. What are you doing tonight?"

"I couldn't see you tonight," she said. "Oh, dear, let's see—"

"Can I call you at your father's house?"

* * *

THE girl shook her head.

"I'm not staying there any more," she said. "I'm living out on Long Island with a friend of father's. Mrs. Parsons her name is. You'd better let me telephone you. Where can I reach you?"

"Apex Picture Service." He gave

Last Of Wild Horses In West Texas Is Conquered By Rope After Chase Of Three Days And Nights; Is Big Bay

Gilbert Swan

SAN ANGELO, Nov. 15. (AP)—The king of the stallions, the last of the wild horses in western Texas, has a rope around his neck for the first time in his fifteen years of life.

The giant bay, the only animal in the 120-section pasture of J. H. Tippett in Culberson county, at the foot of El Capitan mountain, the highest peak in Texas, gave up this week after five cowboys had trailed him in relays for three days and three nights. Riding day and night, the cowboys finally got him.

The first time he was roped he bit the rope in two but the second time it looped around his neck he gave up only after a struggle that covered half the mountain side.

J. H. Tippett, owner of the ranch and of rich oil production in the Yates field, had chased the horse many times. The animal has teeth an inch and a half long.

In New York With Swan

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Never again can we refer facetiously to Sauk Center. Somehow, the name of this town seemed to echo the suggestion of rurality.

But henceforth it must become something of a shrine for literary pilgrims, since it's the home port of our one and only Nobel prize winner—Sinclair "Red" Lewis.

It's typically American, and certainly typical of the man who has but lately achieved the peak of writing honors, that Lewis will go on being called "Red" by those who know him well. Even as dignified wires and cables were coming in from every quarter of the nation and globe, local telephones were bringing such messages as "Glad to hear it, Red," and "Bully boy, Red."

* * *

AND since we have a Nobel prize author in our midst, here are a few sidelights:

He's one of the most difficult persons in the world to get started on an interview. Lewis was, as you all know, a newspaperman once himself. Whenever a reporter sits down to question him, Lewis spends five minutes explaining how silly it seems.

"It's all I can do to keep a straight face," he told me once. "One newspaperman being interviewed by another always seems to me a pretty impossible task."

"I've seen Lewis start on an idea a dozen times, only to halt himself in the middle of a sentence and nervously cry out that it sounded silly and he'd be hanged if he'd go on with it.

* * *

THE day after his award was announced Lewis was invited to sit in on 25 "private" sessions of the Thanatopsis Literary and Inside Straight Club, a group of columnists, playwrights and Manhattan celebs who dally at poker.

The name, it seems, was adapted from one used by Lewis in Main Street.

The poker players decided that now that Lewis was certain of getting $50,000 in prize money, he might be considered an eligible "victim."

* * *

IT is almost 10 years to the day, by the way, since Lewis walked in upon George Horace Lorimer and announced that he was through with writing "pop stuff."

He had, he said, mastered the formula for magazine stories and he was going to be an "honest man" for a time. The result of his revolt was "Main Street."

* * *

MRS. LEWIS, a former newspaper correspondent in European realms — Dorothy Thompson — was asked by someone if she had been doing any creative work also.

"Creative," she laughed. "What do you want? I had a baby only four months ago."

* * *

LEWIS has a definite and deep love of the land, bred as a child in his Minnesota farm home. His honeymoon was spent in a rickety caravan, vagabonding about sections of Europe. When he returned to America it was to take a "gentleman's farm" in the Vermont Hills, among the rural New Englanders. But with cold weather, he found it lonesome out there. He wanted some of his fellows to chat with, and so moved to a country spot just outside of Westport, Conn., where there is a large literary and artis's' colony.

He can stand the city just so long, and then "likes to feel his legs under him." He writes nervously and under pressure, dictating variously to records and to a secretary who understands his many little nervous eccentricities.

Lamb County Stresses Feeding Of Cattle This Season

Around 3,000 Head Are Fed For Marketing

Some Fifteen Hundred Head Of Lambs Also Being Fattened In Lots; Landlords Stocking Tenants

AMHERST, Nov. 15.—(Special)—More than 3,000 tons of grain sorghum heads and 300,000 bundles of roughness, grown in Lamb county will find its way to market on the hoof, D. A. Adam, county agent, said today in announcing that approximately 3,000 head of cattle and 1,500 head of lambs, are in the feed lots.

"Possibly another thousand or so head of cattle will go into the feed lots before the first of the year," Mr. Adams stated.

Furnishes 300 Head

One landlord in the county has furnished 300 head of calves to three of his tenants. He is P. E. Boesen, of Sudan, a well to do land owner.

Bankers of Lamb county, who sponsored several months ago a farmer's short course, are backing the feeding program. All five bankers, two in Littlefield and one each in Amherst, Sudan and Olton, are united in the program. Some 200 farmers attended the short course and many of them arranged, in the event of a surplus feed crop, to feed calves instead of selling the surplus.

Crop Is Short

However, the short crop prevented a number of the farmers from doing much in the way of feeding.

"Any farmer who has feedstuff should send it to market through livestock. J. C. Hilburn, president of the First National bank at Littlefield and also president of the Lamb County Bankers association, declared. "Feeding of livestock is one program that can fit into any farm program in Lamb county."

Only two commercial feeders have animals in their feed lots at this time. They are the Whaley Grain and Feed company of Sudan with 500 three year olds and the Furneaux Feeding company, 600 calves.

Some of the farmers of the county who have reported to the county agent their feeding programs are: Boesen and Lumpkin, 140 cows and 50 calves; Boesen and Fowler, 120 calves; Boesen and Kent, 300 yearlings; R. L. Byers, Littlefield, 140 calves; George C. Hughes, 75 calves; W. T. Jungman, 75 calves; Ellis Foust, Littlefield, 60 cows; Pennington and Nix, Amherst, 80 cows and calves.

Forty head of calves are being fed out by 4-H club boys, with prospects of a score more head being on the lots. It is planned to show these calves at the First West Texas Calf and Pig Show at Lubbock late in March, 1931.

Boys feeding calves include: John Hanks, Littlefield, 16 calves; Elmer Johnston, Sudan, 15 calves; Eugene Pickrell, Fieldton, six calves and Cecil Galloway, Olton, three calves. R. D. Robinett, Earth, also has one calf.

Besides the cattle, John Gerick and John Strangel of Pep, have 1,500 head of lambs in their pen.

It is understood that 1,200 more head are to be fed in and around Littlefield.

A. J Harmon, Ellis Foust and G. W. Benton are reported among the farmers who are planning to feed more cattle.

County Line Club Boy Makes Profit Of $207.69 On Hens

One of the outstanding records in poultry work in Lubbock county is that of Clay Bethel, a member of the County Line 4-H club, who made a profit of $207.69 from his flock of hens.

Starting last spring with 12 hens, he bought 200 baby chicks for $36.60. Of the chicks hatched by the hens, 47 were saved. Clay has 12 old hens, 76 pullets and five roosters, a total of 93.

Receipts were: 90 pullets sold, $36.88; 47 1-2 dozen eggs $17.34; hatching eggs, 24 dozen, $11.52. He has on hand five males, valued at $12.50; 76 pullets valued at $152 and equipment valued at $40 including three houses and a pen. Total value was $274.24.

Expenses included: 200 baby chicks, $30.60; one male bird, $2.50; labor, $9.70; feed, 379 pounds of mash, $15.05; 1,280 pounds of grain, $8.70; total, $66.55. The balance is $207.69. Clay also has his original flock of 12 hens.

Four Car Loads Of Cows Brought In

LAMESA, Nov. 15—(Special)—As further evidence of the growth of the dairy industry in Dawson county, a shipment of four car loads of good dairy cows has just been unloaded here, and placed with farmers who are patronizing the powdered milk plant. Added to other car loads recently shipped here, 126 head of good cows have been placed in the county this fall. This, in addition to the hundreds of cows already in the territory, brings the total well up to 1,000 head of dairy cows in this county.

Farmers are finding it profitable in their dairy program, to patronize the milk plant here, as they find their returns from milk products are considerably more than from other sources. It has also been proven that a better market for feeds can be obtained through this method of marketing dairy products.

Two 4-H Club Boys Set Outstanding Records In Hog Projects This Year

BY J. SAM LEWIS
Staff Writer

Two 4-H club boys of Lubbock county have made outstanding records with their hog projects the past year and D. F. Eaton, county agent, has sent their records and a summary to the Texas A. and M. college at College station.

The boys are G. W. Williamson, of the County Line club, in the north part of the county and Hiram Nance, a member of the Liberty Club.

Kept Standard Records

Both of the boys kept standard records of their work, including feed costs, gains, receipts from the sale of animals, etc.

Mr. Eaton pointed out that the records of the boys indicate possibilities for farmers and others engaged in hog feeding.

Williamson made a profit of $106.16 from his hogs and Nance $149.78 from his litter.

Record Follows

The Williamson project record was as follows; began with a sow and seven pigs, weighing 350 pounds. The animals gained 1,943 pounds and the seven were sold for $220.13. Prizes won added $28.75, making total receipts $248.88. Feed costs were $90.16 and total costs $132.72, leaving a net profit of $106.16.

Feed items included, 1,090 pounds hegira, $12.25; 2,635 pounds of wheat, $21.75; 1,040 pounds of milo maize, $10; 8,56 pounds of milk, $33.49; 209 pounds protein supplement, $7; 100 pounds of shorts, $1.65; 30 day pasture at $4.20.

Won Several Prizes

George has a sow and eight pigs left, with which he has begun a second project. His prizes were; first, fat pig, $10; second in pig litter, $12.50; one fourth of county litter prize, $6.25; total $28.75 from the South Plains Panhandle fair.

"Average weight of the pigs when sold was 328 and the gain for the 134 feeding days was two and 1-16 pounds a day at a cost of less than six cents per pound," Mr. Eaton pointed out.

Made $149.78 Net

The other project showed receipts $304.95, including $28.25 prize money, expenses of $155.17, leaving a net profit of $149.78.

Feed cists were $105.17, as follows; 1,440 ponds hegira, $16.56; 624 gallons of milk, $25.96; 2,200 pounds of wheat, $27.50; 900 pounds milo maize, $16.55; 400 pounds corn, $9.60; 250 pounds protein supplement $9.

The litter of eight valued at $40, weighed 280 pounds. Gain was 1,810 pounds, or a pound and a half per day for the 120 days at a little over five cents a pound. The animals brought $276.70. Prizes were: first in litter, $15; second in junior, $7 and one fourth of county litter, $6.25, a total of $28.75.

Deep Plowing Is Being Advocated In Gaines Area

By Staff Correspondent)

SEMINOLE, Nov. 15.—Deep plowing is being tried out with marked success by a number of Gaines county farmers, R. F. McFatridge, county agent, reported today.

"Increased yields are being made by those who haev tried deep plowing," Mr. McFatridge said. "Several farmers said that they had corn on deep plowed land that made good averages to the acre while corn on ordinarily plowed land did not show any yield at all."

Feed Much Taller

O. L. Berry has the largest acreage of this type of land, some 90 acres. Mr. Berry reports that his bundle feed is much taller on the deep plowed land than on the other kind and also that the stalks are larger. He began his work in 1928 and has done the work three years.

A. G. Sawyer, who has 75 acres, started deep plowing last spring. His corn averages 27 bushels for the deep plowed land to 16 for the other. Also he reports cotton yielding one third to half a bale per acre.

Raises Good Crop

C. H. Westcott, who first plowed in 1929, has a good acreage also. He says that in on ecorn field that for four or five years no crop was possible because of its blowing out, he raised a good crop this year. He began plowing in 1929.

Other farmers who are averaging from 10 to 25 acres or more in deep plowing include; J. E. Woodward, W. S. Wharton, J. I. McCullough and E. Bennett.

Mr. Woodward planted corn in July and averaged 10 to 12 bushels. He also had over 400 bundles of kafir corn to the acre from his land.

"There will be more deep plowed land next spring than ever, I believe," Mr. McPatridge reported. "Farmers are finding that from 10 to 18 inches makes a good depth for their work."

Bankers Of Dawson County Promote Dairying Industry Through Cow-Finance Plan

West Texas Milk Products Plant Is Expected To Be Salvation Of County; Many Cattle Shipped In

By Staff Correspondent

LAMESA, Nov. 15.—Bankers of Dawson county are promoting the securing of more dairy cattle for the county by means of a finance plan, William A. Wilson, secretary of the chamber of commerce, reports.

"We have a cow finance plan by which within the next year we hope to add a thousand head of dairy cattle to Dawson county herds," Mr. Wilson explained. We work through the banks and there will be available around $80,000 for the purchase of new stock.

Shipped In 96 Head

"Just recently we shipped in 96 head of cattle, or three car loads. They came from McKinney, Texas, and were mostly grade Jerseys. There were a few registered cattle."

Another shipment is expected in shortly, according to Mr. Wilson. The farmers and dairymen are supporting the plan.

"By next spring this milk plant we have here will be the salvation of this county," Mr. Wilson continued. "The farmers are going to find that it is a good thing for them."

Dawson county has around 10,000 or more head of dairy cattle. Farmers who supply the West Texas Milk Products company plant have about 6,500 cows. There are a number of farmers with large herds, but the majority of the 260 dairymen who furnish milk to the plant have only small herds.

In the past few years Dawson county has made rapid strides in the dairy industry. The greater portion of the herds have good grade cows or registered animals, mostly of the Jersey breed.

Average Of 260 Farmers Supplying Plant Daily

By Staff Correspondent

LAMESA, Nov. 15.—An average of 260 farmers and dairymen are supplying around 6,500 pounds of milk per day to the West Texas Milk Product company's plant here, C. M. Anderson, the new manager, announces. Total receipts are around 200,000 pounds of milk per month.

The plant makes three grades of milk powder out of sweet milk and one buttermilk powder. The grades are No. 1, No. X and No. XX. The latter has a premium over other grades.

At present the plant has about 250 barrels of powdered milk on hand. It has shipped several carloads of butter in car load lots besides daily shipments to surrounding towns. There is a steady increase in demand for the butter.

RUSSIA TODAY—IN TERMS OF HUMAN INTEREST

"Black Bread and Red Coffins," by Negley Farson, is one of the best books on present-day Russia. Mr. Farson, an American newspaperman, presents an extended series of brief word-pictures of Russian life. He tells how the people there live, what they eat, how they work and play, what the revolution has meant to the ordinary man in the essentials of life—and makes a fascinating book out of it.

By turns Mr. Farson makes you amazed at the fact that the Russian people put up with what they have to put up with—and then he convinces you that the Communist regime has the firm support of the masses and will last a long time, despite its defects. He attempts no judgments, and seeks to draw no morals. He is not an economist and not a historian—just a reporter, interested in human values. "Black Bread and Red Coffins," is highly illuminating and extremely readable.

It is published by the Century Co.

MISS OSTENSO WRITES ANOTHER FINE NOVEL

Getting away from reportorial accounts of moving accidents and hair-breadth chances, we come to "The Waters Under the Earth," by Martha Ostenso. This novel is in the same key as Miss Ostenso's well-known "Wild Geese," but it is a better novel.

Miss Ostenso studies the tyranny which a God-fearing middle westerner exercises over the members of his family. Pious and well-intentioned, Matt Welland compels each member of his family to conform to the groove he has set. The result, in each case but one, is disaster. And at the bottom of it all lies fear; Matt Welland's fear of the strange paths that his children wish to follow, and their fear of his displeasure if they do follow them.

The book has power, in the midst of its gloom. Miss Ostenso is decidedly a writer worth following. "The Waters Under the Earth" is put out by Dodd, Mead and Co.

A SENSIBLE DISCUSSION OF THE VICTORIANS

In "Those Earnest Victorians," Esme Wingfield-Stratford takes a look at the age of our grandfathers and finds that we haven't nearly as much right to snicker at it as we have supposed. He grants that their was a good deal of prudery, hypocrisy and dullness in that era, but he reminds us that we have wilfully exaggerated most of it, and have likewise failed to see the virtues that did, after all, lift the age out of the ordinary.

But he does level one criticism at the Victorian age—a criticism that really means something. The Victorians, he points out, presided at the birth of the machine age—and failed, or refused, to face its true implication. They did not solve the problems it brought. They merely shut their eyes to them, and handed them along to us, inflated far beyond their original dimensions. This, and not their smugness, their pretense and their rigidity, was their great fault.

It makes an interesting and stimulating book. The publisher is William Morrow and Co.

Pass Your Dollar Along!

This matter of spending is a "round robin" in which the dollar or its equivalent in wages, profit, value or gratified desire returns to the original spender. But when one of us breaks the chain by keeping the dollar in his pocket and refuses to pass it along it only influences others to do the same thing and it leaves the next in line totally without means to continue the chain.

"Keeping money in circulation" implies just what it says — the circulating of money. When you buy, the merchant requires more goods to replace what you have taken away. He draws on the manufacturer; the manufacturer increases production and employs more labor; as the laborer earns more, he buys more of clothes, food, furniture, amusement — the commodities which you sell or produce and hence the dollar you spend comes back to you.

We've started on to greater Prosperity now. A noted economist said in convention in Chicago the other day, "Americans today are consuming more goods than are being made up for replacement at present." This is the fore-runner of increased production and increased money for everybody.

Continue spending and the wheels of commerce and industry will soon be humming in a higher key, but it's the degree in which you circulate your dollars that will determine the tempo of your prosperity.

'MUD AND GLORY'

SYNOPSIS

Terry Malone and Red Thomas, freshmen, both aspire to Princeton's football crown and the love of Margot Blair, young society girl. Red, a bully, breaks Terry's arm causing him to leave college. A year later he returns. Red, now a sophomore, is Princeton's hope. He is suspended for six months and Terry is substituted on the team. His playing makes him a national hero. Margot loves Terry, but, realizes he is no matrimonial catch from a financial standpoint. She decides to give him up.

Terry and Red, striving for the captaincy of the Junior team, control their dislike for one another.

CHAPTER XX

The coach wanted Terry Malone to know when to punt, when not to forward pass, not to use the center of the line plays and all the broad principles of zone play which blend into good leadership. And after a time, Terry could be given any situation, no matter how involved, and like a flash tell just what should be done. He had, by constant practice, developed the ability to make his decisions subconsciously. He didn't have to even think through a maze of rules to pick the right play in a game.

In his second year on the varsity, Terry always remembered, from experience, that there were twenty-two men on the field, that the strength and position of his opponents dictated his game, and that he had to be on the alert for an opportunity to gain an advantage over the opposition. One of his tricks was to shoot a play through an opponent after he had made an error. In nine out of ten cases, the player was too angry at himself to be of any use in stopping the play. Terry had the ability to select the best plays with an uncanny knack of finding his way out of tight situations. He was never impressed with one play and to him there was never a rule that shouldn't be broken under certain circumstances. The coach believed in him and built up in the minds of other players the idea that he was infallible. Even Red Thomas submissively followed Terry's orders. They got on fairly well at the start of the season. But Red was never an easy man to work with in the backfield.

The coach sensed this immediately. He had studied the squad and knew the dispositions and temperaments of every player in order to get the best out of them. Encouragement and a pat on the back worked with some players, others had to be treated like common laborers and some had to be flattered. The coach had seen too many promising men ruined by wrong handling and he did not want to lose Red.

With his job assured on the backfield, Red bummed on getting down the field, failed to tackle with his usual viciousness and messed up plays with such consistency that the coach, badly in need of him, shunted him to the bench and then put him off the varsity squad for two days, forcing him to play with the scrubs.

But Red didn't mind. The big games were still ahead and he was sure of his ability to play great football when he was pressed. That afternoon, with the linemen, who had been working with coaches, lined up with the backfield. Jim Nichols complained of a bruised shoulder. Red had been called back to the first varsity and as Nichols trotted to the showers, the coach touched Thomas's vulnerable spot.

"Red, I want to talk with you," said the coach, talking in his usual crisp manner. "The captain needs a rest for a few days and the team needs a real leader. Can you take Jim's place and lead this varsity as it should be led?"

"You're damned right, coach," cried Red, taking on a new lease of life. "You just watch me go!"

With his foot on the ladder that led to the captaincy the next fall, Red shrewdly conveyed the impression of intense loyalty to the team, to the coach and college. He always used "we" instead of "I" and his rah-rah attitude toward Princeton had a discordant ring of insincerity before Jim Nichols returned to the squad. Red thrived on popularity, flattery and blandly fancied that everybody admired him. Unhampered by inhibitions of modesty or self-effacement, his swashbuckling manner on the field inspired the adulation of some students but disgusted Terry, who judged his limitations with precision.

Princeton played a small Pennsylvania college eleven in one of the preliminary games of the season, using all members of the varsity squad in a series of shifts.

Princeton's goal line was never threatened and they swept through the opposition for easy gains, with only one man causing any trouble. He was a hard bitten tackle, a relic of the old tramp athletes who spent their youth traveling from one college to another for the remuneration of "three meals and a flop". But he did know line play and if there were any spectacular tackles made, the hard boiled tackle made them.

"Say, whose the president of your college this year," asked Terry, suspecting the scholarly inclinations of the lineman.

"I don't know whose running this seminary," retorted the mercenary warrior, "but that's none of my business. I'm out here to stop any of you flat foots who come through my side of the line—that's what I'm getting my dough for."

In the third period, Red Thomas came running out for a light workout. Somewhat annoyed that he had to get into a game with the straggling eleven, he reported to the referee. Lining up, the brawny tackle, who looked as though he could chew a marlin spike for breakfast, bellowed. "Hey, red head, what's your name?"

Excited and surprised that they had never even heard of him, Red shouted his name. The opposing eleven doubled up with laughter and ridiculed Red unmercifully. He was so upset by their jibes that he fumbled the first ball, with the mercenary tackle recovering it. He laughed at Red, mocked him.

"Never mind, big fellow," said Red. "You'll get yours when I get my hands on the ball again. Just wait, that's all."

"All right with me, red head," grinned the tackle. "Come right ahead. I'll be waiting."

When Princeton recovered the ball, Red Thomas came out of the huddle, straightened up and yelled. "We will now have the famous Red Thomas cutting through that tackle." pointing to the burley lineman. "Here she goes!"

The tackle faced the ball runner, arms swinging to meet the charging interference, with Red Thomas sweeping wide of him, cutting for the sidelines, and down the field in and out of scattered players for a touchdown.

Later in the period, he again came out of the huddle, straightened up and cried, "We will now have the famous Red Thomas cutting through that lousy tackle," and with the ball under his arm he sliced right through the line, pushing the tackle in the face, twisting forward to the clear field and romped across the line for a second touchdown.

"I guess that guy will go back to the sticks and tell the yokels he met the famous Red Thomas," chuckled Red, hurling a blanket over his shoulders as he hurried to the showers. "I'll show 'em who Red Thomas is!"

Terry would rather not have heard Red's parting remarks. It spoiled the great playing of the game, took the whole thrill out of it.

When the team came into the dressing room, Red Thomas was stretched out on a rubbing taule, an attendant working on him. Gloating over his success, he loved to hear his voice booming above the buzz of teammates and gave the impression that the success of the eleven rested on his broad shoulders. "I guess I looked pretty good out there today," he beamed. "Just wait until I hit that Yale line. I'll rip it apart."

That afternoon as Terry walked up from the field with Sonny Drayton, the subject of Red came up.

"That fellow sure gets under my skin," said Terry. "He'll tell you he's the greatest line plunger of them all, that he'll go out and make ten first downs in a game."

"And the hell of it is," laughed Sonny, "that he's right. He can do everything he says he can. He's the best ball carrier I've ever seen—better, I'll bet than Ted Coy or Heston."

Terry had no false ideas about modesty or self-effacement. His picture splashed on sport pages was more satisfying than grape fruit and coffee in the morning. But he was irritated by the manner in which Red gloated over his press notices.

Red always amused Sonny. He was a character not uncommon among ball players, football men and soldiers; bragging blustering men always complaining and yet enjoying their job. Sonny possessed the type of mind that skimmed over personalities not pleasing to himself.

Modesty, reasoned Sonny, was pretty much of a sham with most of humanity. And even Terry admitted that in a certain fundamental sense the braggart is more honest than the socalled blushing violet. When a man paints a great picture, writes a good book or plays a great game he cannot help but know it, with his name in headlines and his pictures everywhere. But self-praise is no praise at all.

"I hate like hell to have Red remind me how good he is day in and day out," said Terry.

"What if he is a blowhard," retorted Sonny. Look at John L. Sullivan, Muggsy McGraw and all the other Irishmen gifted with the art of self-glorification. George Bernard Shaw, George M. Cohan. You don't find them blushing in a corner. No sir!

"If they're modest so is Cyrano and Babe Ruth and Napoleon. Yeah, Napoleon. Never heard him going around the streets of Paris telling the crowds that his Grand Army did the dirty work. It was the great I am."

"There is such a thing as offensive conceit, 'Sonny,'" said Terry. "And I'll admit the truly modest man is never very attractive. I can't say I'm modest, or humble. I've a certain amount of self-confidence but Red goes over the bounds of discretion, that's all. I'll admit that I'm just the same sort but he's so damned crude and blunt about his football ability that it just makes me sick."

Sonny laughed at him and tactfully changed the subject.

AMHERST, Nov. 15, (Special)—Four high schools in Lamb county are giving vocational agriculture instruction to 121 boys, R. E. Duckworth, local vocational instructor, says.

Boys are divided as follows: Amherst, 28; Litlefield, 30; Olton, 28 and Sudan 35. Between 1,200 and 1,300 acres are being cultivated by these boys, as follows: grain sorghums, 832 acres; cotton, 406 acres; corn, 30 acres; sudan, 35 acres; broom corn, 10 acres; watermelons, 3 acres; beans, 5 acres and one acre of garden.

In addition they have 1,690 laying hens, 750 baby chicks, 120 capons; three turkeys, 23 baby beeves, 39 brood sows, 190 pork hogs and 48 dairy cows.

These boys are preparing themselves for the occupation of farmers by taking home projects in the different farm enterprises that will be found on the kind of farm that they would like to own themselves," Mr. Duckworth said.

"Each boy is required to take three projects and, in addition, to do nine or ten hobs in other farm enterprises that will give him training in farming, for example, culling poultry or treating hogs for stomach worms."

Mystery after mystery, surprise after surprise, follow each other in rapid-fire order to make this a truly Arabian-Night-like show of a thousand thrills and a million laughs.

A part of the program is devoted to art. Mr. Henry presents his original cartoons and quick sketches with chalk, and also his famed Sand Pictures, in which the entire world has no equal. The "Mandalay" rendered in chalk, and the "House by the Side of the Road" rendered in sand, both with special musical setting and lighting effects, are his two most popular creations.

"Barney! You mean you're working there! In New York?"

"Sure!" he said exultantly. "That's part of what I've got to tell you."

Celia stood in the aisle, half turned. She glanced up and saw Tod Jordan moving toward the place where she and Lisi had been sitting. A wave of apprehension passed over the girl. Barney must not see Tod. She had been so excited at finding him here she had forgotten about Jordan.

"Say," the young man beside her drawled, "you're not alone here, are you?"

"No. I guess I'd better be getting back to my friends. You have to go anyhow now, don't you? What's the best time to call, Barney?"

"About the same, I guess. All times equally bad. But they're careful about taking messages in the office. If I'm not there, leave word. I'll get it all right."

"I'll telephone in the morning. Oh, I'm so glad to have seen you!"

"Believe me, I am, too. Well, so long!"

Celia gave him a quick smile and then mounted the steps. Her heart was singing. All the bitter thoughts that had come when Barney failed to write were banished. There must be an explanation. Anyhow, he certainly had seemed glad to see her. Sight of Shields had resurrected memories of home.

"Oh, there you are! Wondered what had become of you. Where's Lisi?" Jordan greeted her.

"She's over on the other side. Saw her sister up above and didn't want to be seen. Lisi's saving seats for us. Shall we go?"

"It's more comfortable here than it will be over there."

"But she's waiting for us, Tod."

"Oh, all right."

It was a struggle making their way through the crowded aisles. Celia caught sight of Lisi's blue handkerchief waving at them. Manfully she was guarding a seat on either side of her. At last Celia and Jordan reached her.

"I'm playing 'Family Row' straight," Lisi told them gaily. "Did you get any tips, Tod?"

"Yes. A couple. Highest odds in the race are on your horse. Did you notice that?"

"I don't care. After seeing Kate here I know 'Family Row's' going to win!"

• • •

JORDAN laughed. Invariably he found Lisi Duncan amusing. Of course she wasn't the sort of girl he personally admired, but he liked to hear her talk.

The horses were appearing on the track. A few minutes more and everything was forgotten except the race. Celia with the others was on her feet, waving and cheering frantically as the flying line shot around the last curve. Nearer and nearer! Through clouds of dust one straining animal passed another. Deafening roars filled the air. Nearer and nearer! Suddenly pandemonium broke loose. The black horse had defeated the favorite.

Lisi was jumping up and down, squealing happily.

"But it wasn't the horse you bet on," Celia reminded her.

"No, but what a race! My dear, I haven't been so thrilled for days!"

Jordan was chuckling. "Well, my tip was good!" he declared. "Ought to pay pretty well, too."

Celia had begun to wonder what Barney Shields had to tell her. It was going to be a problem to meet Barney. For some curious reason she did not want to confide in Mrs. Parsons. It was probably because Evelyn had so frequently praised Tod Jordan. Celia had not yet thought through the complications that were to arise with Barney's arrival.

They stayed for two more races, but neither proved as exciting as the last. Jordan was in excellent spirits when he came away from cashing his winnings.

Lisi opened her purse and held up a single dollar bill.

"They all got wings!" she murmured mournfully.

On the drive back to Larchwood Celia was quiet. The other girl's chatter kept this from being noticed. When they arrived Lisi changed into her own clothes and departed. Jordan remained to dine with Evelyn and Celia.

They spent the evening on the veranda just as they had often before. Celia was aware of a feeling of restraint when she was alone with Jordan, but she let him kiss her good night.

"I think I'll go to bed at once," she told Evelyn after he had gone. "Feeling sleepy."

"Then you'd better go along. Good night."

Celia went to her room. She undressed, turned out the light and got into bed, but she could not sleep. An hour later Celia had reached a decision.

Turkey, Deer Plentiful In State-Tucker

State Game Commissioner Says Game In Abundance And So Will Be Hunters; Law Is Quoted

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Nov. 15—A plentiful supply of deer and turkey will be on hand for the opening, Sunday of the season on this game, W. J. Tucker, executive secretary of the game, fish and oyster commission, said today. Tucker said the number of hunters seeking game also would be plentiful and that he looked for an increase in the army of nimrods taking the field, due partially to the unemployment.

Tucker said more game wardens would be in the field than before. The law permits the killing of two buck deer and three turkeys. The season on bear also will open Sunday and the bag limit is one.

The season for black tail deer, west of the Pecos, also will open Sunday and will close December 1. The season on white tail deer, turkeys and bear will be open until December 31 Tucker said.

WORK IS REORGANIZED

Another Carrier Is To Be Added To Lamesa Service

LAMESA, Nov. 15—(Special)—Due to the large amount of mail handled by city carriers here, it has been necessary to reorganize the two routes, according to J. D. Dyer, postmaster. After keeping count for a week of the number of pieces of mail handled by each of the carriers, the local office submitted a report to the Department, and received authorization to reorganize the routes and to promote one of the auxiliary carriers, a regular carrier, affective November 16th.

"Harbor Lights," presented on the WJZ chain Sunday nights, has run continuously for nearly two years.

A chartered training school for nurses is conducted in connection with the sanitarium.

Again a Holiday season approaches and as in years past the last few days will see a hectic rush to find just the right gift for Auntie, for Cousin Sue or Uncle John.

The mails will be crowded far beyond capacity and thousands of packages will reach their destination after Christmas Day.

Thousands of employees will be forced to work overtime their nerves and muscles strained to capacity and overtaxed by extra work. Yet how easily all this could be avoided, simply by shopping early.

It is to avoid this emergency work with its consequent poorer service that the Texas Utilities Co. maps out its course of work establishing a definite program years in advance of the growth of the community. And as we grow with the growth of this community, we ask in the interest of better business that this year you shop early
