Curfew Is Clamped On Algiers After Raid By Terrorists

ALGIERS (AP) — Masked gunners set fire to a huge French garage in a terrorist raid in the heart of this Algerian metropolis today.

In western Algeria guerrillas staged massive sabotage of communications. That recalled tactics used by the Communist-led Vietminh against the French in Indochina.

The French put a midnight to 5 a.m. curfew in Algiers and sent troops scurrying over the countryside in search of the saboteurs.

The gunners seized the garage just before 2 a.m., held off watchmen, poured gasoline over the floor and set it ablaze.

The raiders made their escape as the blaze swept through the garage, located below a big French apartment house. The fire destroyed more than 100 cars.

French families in the apartment house fled when a young French soldier spotted the flames and gave the alarm.

The raid, most sensational terrorist outburst in Algiers of the 16-month-old revolt, came only a few hours after the French Parliament in Paris gave Premier Mollet's government the final goahead for an all-out fight to smash the rebellion.

The two Moslem watchmen at the garage were unable to identify the raiders. Police assumed they were rebels but did not exclude the possibility they might have been French counterterrorists seeking to provoke stronger government action against the nationalists.

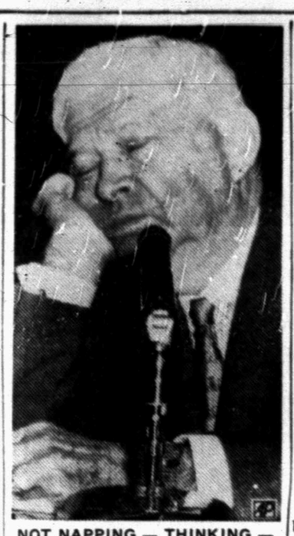
Such counterterrorists were active in French Morocco before France granted that protectorate freedom.

Robert Lacoste, France's minister for Algerian affairs, was due to fly here from Paris tomorrow to begin putting the government's new emergency powers into effect.

Moslem terrorists shot down one European in the Bougi region and carried out other harrassing attacks around Bone. French troops fought a running battle with 80 rebels north of Lafayette, killing 20 of them. One French soldier was reported killed.

In Western Algeria near the Moroccan border the rebels carried out one of their most massive acts of sabotage, cutting the key Tlemcen - Oujda road at three places.

Copying the tactics used by the Vietminh in Indochina, the rebels massed scores of laborers and dug trenches across the highway during the night. They ripped up asphalt surfaces and destroyed the gravel beds beneath.



NOT NAPPING — THINKING — Secretary of Defense Wilson isn't napping at the Senate subcommittee disarmament hearing, he just closed his eyes, pondering a reply to another question. Wilson said no safe atomic disarmament control plan is "in immediate prospect," and that "technical problems" in control of nuclear weapons "must be apppreciated." (AP Wirephoto)

Cut In State's Oil Allowable For April Asked By Officials

Vote Planned On Farm Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fatigued but still full of fight, the Senate meets today for a session which leaders said should bring passage of the politically hot election-year farm bill.

Both Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Republican Leader Knowland of California urged senators to stay nearby, ready to vote and complete action.

A 12-hour session yesterday reshaped several sections of the omnibus bill but still left a thick stack of proposed amendments undecided.

Both Sen. Ellender (D-La), floor manager for the bill, and Sen. Aiken (R-Vt), who usually speaks for the administration on it, said they expect to wind up action sometime tonight.

The highly controversial measure—already containing features the administration opposes and others it did not ask—then moves to the House, which voted last year for a two-year restoration of mandatory rigid supports on basic crops. The Senate voted instead, by close margins, to stick with President Eisenhower's system of flexible and lower supports.

Eisenhower lost a round yesterday, however, as the Senate voted 45-44 to retain a "dual parity" system for determining the price support levels of wheat, cotton, corn, peanuts and other crops eligible for the price props.

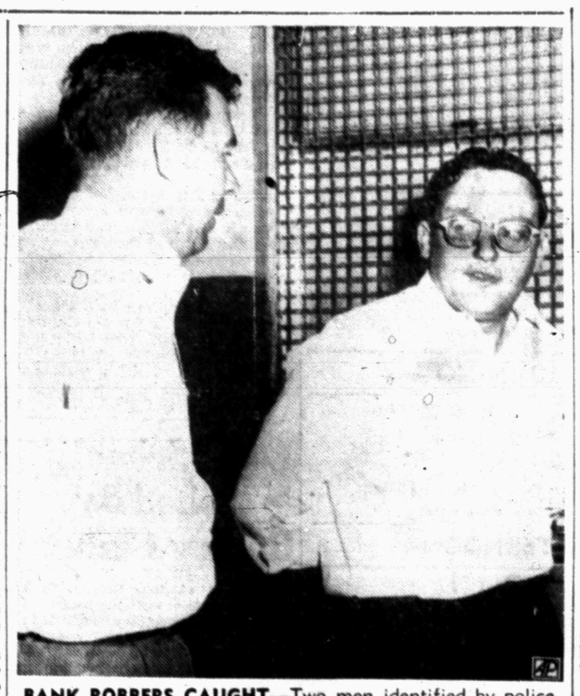
Under "dual parity," farmers can use the higher of old or new systems for computing a fair exchange value on their crops. Converted from a few cents a bushel or pound onto existing price supports, the differences could mean hundreds of millions of dollars on crops this campaign year.

Sen Anderson (D-NM), former secretary of agriculture who has opposed high-level supports, said "dual parity could cost up to a billion dollars in all."

Other senators thought it might mean between 300 to 400 million dollars more to farmers or in government farm costs.

If the final farm bill includes this, Anderson said, "I think the President will be inclined not to sign it."

Just before quitting last night, the Senate by voice vote added 100 million dollars to the soil bank plan in a move led by Sen. Allott R-Colo). That raised the authorized total to $1,200,000,000.



BANK ROBBERS CAUGHT—Two men identified by police as Patrick Calvin Jones, 39, a transient, left, and H. B. Wood, 27, of Fort Worth, are shown at police headquarters in Fort Worth after their arrest in connection with the robbery of the University State Bank of almost $5,000. The pair were arrested only a half-hour after the robbery.

16 Days Of Flow Granted

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Railroad Commission today ordered a cut of 64,159 barrels per day in the Texas oil allowable for April, dropping the permissive flow to 3,356,857 barrels per day.

The cutback from a current record allowable will result from granting one less day of production for April than for March statewide and in the East Texas field.

This will mean 16 days of flow, in line with recommendations of six purchasers testifying at today's statewide proration hearing.

Five purchasers proposed only 15 days production, which would have meant a 210,000 barrel per day slash under the current allowable.

Prior to setting the allowable, the commission also heard from top executives of 22 companies concerning their views on desirable levels of national stocks, how much they are importing and the outlook for increased demand in 1956.

The concensus was that stocks of gasoline are excessive but those of crude oil and other products are about right. Most of the purchasers foresaw a four to five per cent increase in domestic demand for petroleum this year.

Lehman Sets Off Segregation Row

WASHINGTON (AP)—The segregation issue flared up again in the Senate today when Sen. Lehman (D-NY) called for President Eisenhower to "assume the responsibility" for enforcement of the Supreme Court's school integration decree.

"I can not stand above the battle, like President Eisenhower, and say with fine impartiality that both sides must show restraint," Lehman said.

Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore) chimed in with a renewal of his suggestion that President Eisenhower call a White House conference on racial problems.

He said that "it is incumbent on the President, whose office represents the acme of national leadership, to exercise that leadership in a national crisis as grave and as far-reaching as this one."

"The sooner the President does so," Neuberger said, "the better are the chances to head off further deterioration of our country's strength at home and abroad."

Neuberger said it was "inconsistent" for the President to call for patience and moderation while asking for a congressional commission which Neuberger said would have no "powers of compulsion."

Eisenhower suggested Jan. 5 the creation of a congressional commission to make a continuing study of racial tensions. He has said such a body would have greater powers than any commission he appointed since it could be given the congressional authority to subpoena witneses.

Lehman quoted the President as having advocated moderation and as having warned against "the extremists" at his news conference Wednesday.

"Does he (Eisenhower) picture himself as a mediator between two contending factions, the rights and merits of whose respective positions he is unable to assess?" Lehman asked.

"In this situation, is he a neutralist?"

Lehman said the manifesto filed in the Senate Monday, signed by most Southern congressmen, "would be absurd, if it were not so deadly serious and so highly dangerous." That document pledged the signers to oppose by all lawful means the ending of race segregation in public schools.

Lehman said the "manifesto" was not inflammatory in tone, but that its effect was to support a doctrine of nullification which he said "has been enunciated in one form or another" by the legislatures of Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, South Carolina and Virginia.

"I only ask that the law be enforced in a lawful manner, and in such a graduated fashion as the courts themselves shall find feasible and practical," Lehman said.

He said he asked Eisenhower to "fulfill the obligations of his oath of office" by seeing that the laws "are faithfully executed."

Reports are that several men are in this area contacting farmers concerning adjustment of wages paid to Mexican laborers for cotton harvest last fall.

Some residents reported that men, representing themselves as employes of the Texas Employment Commission, were attempting to collect sums from farmers who used Mexican laborers because of underpayment.

Farmers here have been requested to use caution in contact with any persns concerning this, since there appears to be posibility that someone is is fraudulently representing himself as one of those who is in this area making wage surveys.

The last official report concerning the wages paid Mexican laborers was that cotton farmers in 16 counties of this area are being surveyed by the government to see if they owe more money to Mexican contract workers.

The prevailing wage, set in surveys made last fall, was $1.75 per 100 pounds of cotton, while the minimum for hiring a bracero under the U. S. - Mexico agreement was $1.55. Farmers who paid the $1.55 minimum will be required to pay 20 cents more per 100 pounds of cotton pulled by alien workers, and the money will be turned over to the Mexican Foreign Ministry.

Scurry, Borden, Fisher, Dawson, Howard, Nolan, and other counties are included in this survey.

Industrial Foundation To Be Studied By Local Committee

Use of an industrial foundation as a means to expansion of local industries and attraction of new ones was discussed yesterday afternoon by the industrial committee of the Chamber of Commerce in its first meeting of the chamber work year.

Forrest Sears, chairman of the committee, told the committee about a recent trip he made to Tyler to investigate a working industrial foundation and its results.

An industrial foundation is a nonprofit institution which many times secures property and constructs buildings to specifications, leasing the buildings to small industries on a 10-year payout basis to help those smaller industries get their start or to expand. Such means, to any city which has an industrial foundation which is successful, more families moving to town, larger payrolls, and resultant growing economic power of a city.

Sears told the committee that soon after World War II, Tyler had a growth which resulted from industries connected with East-Texas oilfields. Camp Fannin had been at Tyler during the war and citizens realized that the close of the war would mean that the camp's personnel, about 25,000 men, would be moved.

Many of the city's businessmen decided something should be done to add to the city's payroll, since the moving of 25,000 soldiers would probably mean the moving of many businesses. A mass citizens meeting was called, and a proposal was presented that an industrial foundation be organized to help bring new industries to Tyler. The foundation would be operated on the nonprofit basis, and those who put money into it would never get it back directly but would benefit by the increased business new industries would bring, by enhanced property values, and other benefits.

Selling stock at 50 cents per share in the foundation, the citizens went out to raise $100,000 to start the foundation. The $100,000 came so easily, however, that the drive continued until there was $200,000 in the fund by 1946. In 1953, another $75,000 was added.

No loans were made by the foundation, which aided industries only through property and construction of buildings. At last report, the Tyler foundation's fund had grown to more than a million dollars after the foundation had operated 10 years. Payouts of the leases made by the foundation were made at six per cent interest.

For an illustration of the type work done by the foundation at Tyler, Sears told of a mattress maker in that city, the only one there, who had proved his ability and business good. He had been employing two or three people, and he wanted to expand but did not have the capital to do so. He went to the industrial foundation, told the board that if he had a good building for expansion, he could get enough machinery. He was thoroughly screened by the foundation's board, which found his business financially sound and his business know-how good. The foundation secured property and constructed a building to the mattress maker's specifications, and he took the building on a 10 - year lease-purchase basis at six per cent interest annually. Today that business is employing some 50 persons, which means that in about 10 years that business alone has added some 47 or 48 families to Tyler.

The Tyler foundation has helped with expansion and establishment of between 20 and 30 industries. It does not help industries which wish to move to Tyler in competition with already-existing industries there, but it does not discourage those industries' coming into town.

Tyler businessmen experienced with work of the foundation said they would much rather have 10 industries which employe 10 persons each than one which employes 100. One large plant could close down and give the town a big economic loss at one time.

Sears was told by the Tyler foundation that funds put into that foundation by businessmen were tax-deductible. Once the money is put into such a foundation, the only way it can be removed from the foundation is by liquidation of the foundation and the donation of all its money to charity.

Although the Tyler foundation works chiefly with smaller industries, its work has resulted in the establishment of several large industries there.

The Tyler foundation works closely with the Chamber of Commerce there, and good prospects are sent by the chamber's industrial committee to the foundation for further screening.

Its success might be partly seen in the foundation's receiving some 10 letters monthly from throughout the U. S. inquiring as to how it works. Tyler now has a population of about 52,000.

The report on the Tyler foundation and possibility of a similar organization here appeared to meet with favor of most of the industrial committee here. Sears asked committeemen to think about the matter and determine what other questions might arise before the industrial committee's next meeting, and further discussion will be held then.

Members of the committee attending yesterday's meeting were Dr. John Battenfield, H. W. Cargile, Claude McCormick, O. A. McAlester, W. R. McMennamy, J. E. Blakey, and C. L. Callaway.

Wormy Cigarettes Are Reported In Lansing

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—The State Agriculture Department is sorry, but it can't do anything about wormy cigarettes.

Both planes were from Webb AFB, Big Spring.

The three pilots who parachuted to safety were taken by car to a Sweetwater Hospital.

Snyder Girls Arrested On Shop-Lifting

Police arrested four members of what is thought to be a gang of juvenile girls on charges of shop-lifting yesterday.

Travis L. Steele, police chief, said the four girls, all in the 13 to 15 year age bracket, were taken home and that their parents were informed of what the police knew of the girls activities in the gang.

Some of the loot which has been taken from local store was recovered by the police, Steele said.

He said the loot included costume jewelry and other samll items.

"Apparently the girls are associated with a boy's gang which was rounded up by police a few months ago." Steele said.

He added that there is presently no evidence of the boys' of the gang having resumed their vandalism since the police action was taken.

Steele said that the girls usually worked their shop-lifting jobs in groups of three or four girls with part of the girls acting as decoys to occupy the attention of the store personnel while the other girls pilfered the items they wished to take.

"It is the hope of the police department that parents of the children will take action to solve this problem and break up the gang," he said.

Secret Talk On Stalin May Be Released Soon By Soviets

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times said today that Nikita S. Khrushchev gave the recent Soviet Communist Party Congress a secret explanation of the desanctifying of Joseph Stalin that made public criticisms of the late dictator during the Congress sound "like milk and water."

The Times report was written by the paper's former Moscow correspondent, Harrison E. Salisbury, who said his information came from diplomatic reports reaching the United States from Moscow. He said the Moscow censorship had prevented correspondents there from cabling rumors about the Khrushchev speech circulating in the Soviet capital.

According to Salisbury:

Khrushchev, the Soviet party's first secretary, made his sensational speech at a closed Congress session Feb. 24 from which delegates from foreign Communist parties were barred. The "comprehensive and forthright" address touched on events surrounding Lenin's death in 1924, the great purges of the 1930s, and Stalin's last years.

The party's present boss pictured his predecessor as "not himself" in his latter years. Stalin, he said, through much of his career was subject to phobias about the supposed treachery of his associates.

Khrushchev described Moscow in the late Stalin years as a capital "ridden by plots, counterplots and intrigue, in which no one knew who might be the next victim . . . Many of Stalin's closest associates were unaware of the fate of intimate friends and collaborators . . . Even the members of Stalin's Politburo (the top party command) were often kept in ignorance of what was happening."

Khrushchev asserted that the treason charges on which Marshal Mikhail Tukhachevsky and seven other top Red army leaders were excuted in 1937 were fabricated and a "terrible mistake." Because this deprived Russia of its top military leadership, Khrushchev said, the Red army was almost overwhelmed by Germany's invasion in 1941.

Salisbury wrote that party delegates "are now spreading by word-of-mouth around the country the essence of Mr. Khrushchev's remarks."

"Some experts," he continued, "suggested that after Soviet public opinion had been prepared for the full shock, the whole case against Stalin might be made public."

Crackdown Ordered In Cyprus Dispute

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Gov. Sir John Harding today ordered 10 families uprooted and 20 business establishments closed as collective punishment for Nicosia murders.

Nine British servicemen have been killed in the heart of Nicosia — all by shots in the back — in a terrorist campaign for union of this British colony with Greece. Nine others have been slain elsewhere on this East Mediterranean island since the campaign was launched last August.

Martin Clements, the british commissioner for Nicosia, announced Harding's order at a dramatic outdoor court where 75 residents were compulsorily assembled.

A crackdown came also at the Cypriot port of Limassol. British troops isolated the town with a curfew.

The order confining Limassol's 25,000 citizens to their homes said the curfew would continue until "further notice."

British officials said the port 38 miles southwest of Nicosia "has always been a bad trouble spot" and that terrorist incidents had increased there. Authorities launched an intensive search of the city for fugitive terrorists.

The village of Cato Zodhi, near Paphos, also was put under a strick curfew after a stone-throwing incident.

Communist leaders of the biggest labor union called for an end to the general strike protesting the deportation of Archbishop Makarios, leader of the island's movement for union with Greece. But Greek shopkeepers, laborers and clerks so far ignored the union appeal and continued their shutdown, now in its fifth day. Gasoline and fuel oil shortages were reported from some sections of the island.

The spontaneous work stoppage has paralyzed most business activity in the island since Monday and halted contruction work at big British military projects. Labor leaders said the walkout may end by Tuesday. Sunday and Monday are religious holidays.

Pro-Greek terrorists continued their bitter fight against British control. A Royal Air Force man was wounded outside an army barracks here. Two policemen were injured in an exchange of gunfire.

Local School Is Visited By Rotary Club

Members of the Rotary Club here yesterday visited parts of the West Elementary School in connection with a program on Public School Week.

The club visited the school's new speech arts - physical education room, its expanded cafeteria, a music room, second grade rooms, and the room to be used as a library next year. Silas Devenport, principal of the school, conducted the tour.

Bob Clinton, president of the club, presented the program, discussing before members went to the school how the new speech arts physical education rooms will be used.

Clinton said the new rooms will mean much to the community during the next few years. They are unique in education, and several far-reaching ideas went into their construction and planned use.

The speech arts section of such a room is a small auditorium, although it is not equipped like a high school auditorium. It includes a stage and church pew seats for the children. Children can learn expression and audience participation through use of the rooms. They will also be used when teachers find they do not have enough room in the classroom for certain projects in learning. The other end of such a room is a small gymnasium with a basketball court, shuffleboard courts and can be used for many things, such as tumbling, rhythm games, badminton, volleyball and others.

The rooms are considered teaching stations, not auditoriums or gymnasiums.

For too many years, Clinton said, schools throughout the country have been taking students with natural ability and developing them. The need is to work with all students, developing in them abilities according to their capacities.

Walton's Paint And Gift Shop Sets Formal Opening Saturday

Formal opening of the new Walton's Paint & Gift Shop, 2206 Twenty-fifth Street, will be held tomorrow.

The new store is owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Walton, long-time residents of Snyder.

Walton is a native of Snyder, and has been employed in local lumber and supply firms here, and was manager of a lumber yard in Morton, Tex., just prior to moving back to Snyder to open the new store here.

Mrs. Walton is the former Miss Ornetha Inman of Tahoka.

Pittsburgh paints of all kinds and allied painting needs and supplies will be featured in the paint department of the store.

Many unusual gift items of all types, but surprisingly reasonably priced, are featured in the gift department. Price of the gift items ranges from 50 cents up to a few dollars.

"We are featuring gift items which have not formerly been available in this area, and we will confine our purchases to only one or two of each item to offer our customers exclusiveness in their gifts," Mrs. Walton said.

Figurine pin-ups, lamps, pottery, glass, china, brass, and wrought iron wall, table, and home decorations are featured. Lamps are also featured in the gift department.

Mr. and Mrs. Walton are the parents of three children, Keitha, 12, in junior high school; Jackie, 9, and Gary Dale, 7, both in central Primary School.

They are members of the First Baptist Church here. He was a member of the Snyder Lions Club before moving to Morton three years ago.

"We custom mix all paints for our customers, and will offer a complete order service on wall papers," Walton said.

The owners of the new store invite everyone to visit the store during its grand opening from 9 to 5 o'clock tomorrow.

A drawing with three free prizes will be held at 5 o'clock. First prize in the drawing will be $15 worth of paint, the second prize will be a table lamp, and third prize will be a lazy Suzan. Bubble gum, baloons and candy will be given to children visiting the store.

EDITORIALS

The Subtle Approach

An astonishing amount of rather astonishing material flows into any newspaper office from the far corners of the earth—mostly from peole trying to wrangle a few paragraphs of space in behalf of this or that cause, or product or whatever. Some of this stuff naturally sifts down to this dark corner where the editorials are ground out, and once in a very great while we find it useful as idea material.

Recently for instance, from a New York operator in one branch of the cosmetics industry, came a lot of material on Leap Year. It required twelve cents in air mail stamps to bring this palpitating blurb into our office, and it seems a waste of opportunity not to make some use of it.

It was from one of those directors of public relations who seem to multiply like a tapeworm, and the amount of ingenuity and energy these people put in to trap newspaper people into giving them free space is worthy a better cause. We suppose newspapers do occasionally fall into these traps to mulct them of their space—most of them seem to come from national advertisers who concentrate most of their advertising money on radio and television. We can be as generous as the next fellow, and we'll be generous with the free space grabbers—that is, we'll donate them as much of our space as radio and television donate of their time, which is nil. Newspapers live off space, and the other two principal mediums of communication off time; space and time are commodities, the same as sugar beets and mixed concrete.

The coy approach is standard operating procedure with free space-and-time grabbers. This particular grab starts off: "Editors and editorial writers, in particular, usually see every day as days of decision and indecision." (What kind of grammar is that?)

That is the intimate touch, the subtle approach that is supposed to engage our attention and soften our stony heart. But alas this designing young lady spoiled her pitch for us by dragging in that worn-out, frazzled cliche, "Believe you me," which happens to be our pet aversion.

Try again, sister; we ain't feeling generous this morning.

French Act Sensibly

The French Parliament this week showed the first common-sensible unity it has displayed in a long time when on four fast-moving votes of confidence in the Guy Mollet government it gave overwhelming approval to Mollet's plan for bringing an end to civil disorders and open rebellion in Algeria.

Algeria, which is an autonomous division of France itself; and not a colony in the strict meaning of the word, is divided into two main camps: native Moslems, who want either a larger hand in their own governance under the French flag, or outright independence; and French "colons," Frenchmen who settled in Algeria, who oppose both the native objectives and especially the French government's proposal to break up large French-held estates for redistribution among the natives.

The program which the Assembly approved consists of two main immediate objectives: 1. To put down with force the existing rebellion; 2. working out economic, administrative and military problems within the area which have brought on the troubles.

Even the strong Communist bloc went along with the government in the confidence vote, to the surprise of everyone else. Only hold-outs, barring a few individuals here and there, were the free-wheeling, unpredictable Poujadist bloc, a fly-by-night, anti-tax group washed ashore by the latest general election. It was the most lop-sided government victory in years, and it suggests that Frenchmen, like deathbed repentants, have come to realize at last how near dissolution their country was.

The military program in Algeria will take still more French troops out of the mother country, and therefore out of NATO usefulness. Perhaps this is why the Communists went along on these measures. The British, too, have had to redistribute their troops due to trouble in Cyprus and elsewhere, and while no British troops pledged to NATO may be involved in these shiftings, the fact remains that so-called "colonial" troubles have notably weakened both Britain and France in fulfilling their NATO obligations, and in keeping secure the West European countries.

State Department Has Its Foot-In-Mouth Troubles, No Matter Who Is In Charge

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has foot - in - mouth trouble again, an ailment which afflicts it just as readily when Under secretary Hoover is in charge as when Secretary of State Dulles is here.

It has just tried to please both the Greeks and British in their dispute over the island of Cyprus, a British colony whose inhabitants, mostly of Greek descent, want self-government and union with Greece. The Greek government backs them.

The State Department made two tries and wound up making the British and Greeks both mad and glad, but not at the same time.

Dulles, who sometimes seems carried away with the possibilities of the English language, has made statements which caused him to spend a lot of time afterwards trying to explain, or explain away.

Examples: his promise President Eisenhower would cause "quiet" revolutions in the Russian satellites and that the "captive" people "can count on us"; his warnings of "massive retaliation"; his "brink of war" soliloquy in an interview with Life magazine.

But repeatedly, with Dulles either out of town or out of the country, the State Department under Hoover has managed to embarrass itself.

Last spring, when Dulles was on vacation, Hoover quickly rejected a Red Chinese call for U.S. and Red China talks to ease Far East tensions. This got a sour world reacion. Dulles quickly reversed it when he returned.

A few weeks ago, with Dulles vacationing in the Bahamas, the government without any public announcement was shipping tanks to Saudi Arabia although turning a deaf ear to the plea of Israel for arms as defense against the Arabs.

The story became public, and in headlines. At once Hoover ordered the shipment halted. He had Eisenhower's approval for this. Forty-eight hours later he let the tanks go.

Now Dulles is touring Southern Asia. Last week, after months of trying to stop the terrorism of the Greek Cypriots, Britain suddenly exiled their political and spiritual leader, Archbishop Makarios of the Rreek Orthodox Church.

On Cyprus there were shootings and a general strike. The Greek government asked the United States to intervene.

In Athens American Ambassador Cannon talked to the Greek government.

He expressed this country's "sympathetic concern" over the Cyprus dispute and he praised the "dignity and statesmanship" of ment when the Greeks have the British in a fury by their support of the Greek Cypriots.

The British protested. After hurried conferences the department came up with a statement. It said the United States was not taking sides. But it couldn't afford, because of Greek reaction, to back away altogether from what Cannon said.

So it repeated what Cannon said but appeared to try to make it look more diplomatic. It said: "We view past problems with diplomatic concern." The British cooled off. But the Greeks got hot.

RADIO-TV REPORT

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Art Carney is a gentleman of acute hearing who is slightly troubled because he has been hearing crickets these past winter nights outside his home in suburban Yonkers.

He also is troubled by things like how do people who lived all their lives beside the roar of New York elevated train lines feel now that the lines have been torn down?

But nothing personal troubles him.

Tonight he dons top-hat and tails to play a dramatic comedy role in a French farce on Star Stage (NBC-TV). Since he regularly plays the role of a sewer worker as Ed Norton on Jackie Gleason's The Honeymooners (CBS-TV, Saturday evenings), this would appear to be quite a switch.

Actually Carney defies all easy journalistic angles, He's that rare specimen, an authentic comic genius who doesn't want to play Hamlet—and isn't even looking for his own TV show. Among other attributes, he combines wit with lucky timing.

When a luncheon inquisitor asked him rather earnestly whether he believed he ever could play the role of a real villain, Carney said, "Oh, sure. Just ask my wife."

A few minutes later when the earnest inquisitor asked Carney whether he'd ever analyzed exactly what he does that makes people laugh, he paused thoughtfully, fork suspended. At that moment, with miraculous timing, a waiter overturned a tray of dishes with a deafening crash and the restaurant suddenly was silent. "Thanks," Carney said to the waiter. And to the inquisitor: "That's what I do. Overturn a tray and make everybody look at me."

Now that The Honeymooners is on film, Carney enjoys sitting at home with his wife and three children and watching it. "I think it's a real funny show," he says. "I sit there and laugh and laugh as though I never heard the lines before."

But he frankly faces the fact of some dissent in the family. His youngest son Paul, 3, is mad at Gleason because he hollers at Carney. "Paw," he cries, that man yells at you. I don't like him." Carney remonstrates, "It's all in fun. See, Gleason is real nice.

Now about those crickets. Carney knows there are no crickets around here in winter. But he's equally convinced he's not going nuts.

"There's an explanation somewhere,' he says. "I'll find it yet."

Retailers Hope Americans Will Go On 'Living It Up'

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Retailers hope the Federal Reserve Board is right in its finding that Americans plan to go on living it up this year.

Retail sales, taken as a whole, have been running behind the fast pace set in the closing months of last year. Retail inventories, taken as a whole, have been rising.

If the Easter trade doesn't come up to expectations and if the public doesn't loosen its purse strings generously, price cutting could become a significant part of the merchandising scene later on. The food chains have shown the way with some tempting bargains in recent weeks—and the public has responded appreciatively.

The real test of consumer spending is yet to come. Right now the emphasis is largely on spring apparel. Women are expected to dash into the stores between snow flurries and buy new spring outfits for themselves and their children and—if there's any money left over—maybe a new tie or hat for their husbands to sport in the Easter parade on April Fool's Day.

The official arrival of spring next week—and its real arrival somewhat later—is counted upon to increase the yen for a new car, a house in the suburbs, and all manner of furnishings, durable or soft, for present homes.

The federal reserve's survey of the public's spending mood, conducted annually for it by the Survey Research Center of the University of Michigan, indicates that about as many persons this year as last plan to indulge themselves in car, house and appliance purchases.

For the retailer, particularly for those who sell their goods on time, the cheerful part of the survey is that the majority of consumers "are optimstic about their own income prospects and are very optimistic about prospects for general business conditions."

It is out of this optimism that retail sales, particularly installment plan sales, are born.

Views Of Army Experts Indicate Humanity Is Hurtling Rapidly Toward 'One World'

By JOHN B. KNOX

CAMBRIDGE, Ma. (AP) — The problem of creating "One World" now is hurtling toward humanity on the wings of the approaching intercontinental guided missile.

That's the conclusion a reader draws from views of Army experts in a new, and as yet unpublished book—the first of its kind, entitled "Guided Missiles in War and Peace."

The book, with a foreword by Commanding Gen. John E. Dahlquist of the Continental Army Command, is authored by Maj. Nels A. Parson, USA. Parson is a writer on guided missiles in military journals, former instructor in guided missile tactics, and now is chief of Review and Analysis Branch, Combat Developments, Headquarters, Continental Army Command. The book will be published in mid-March by The Harvard University Press.

In his foreword, Gen. Dahlquist says: This nation lives under a real threat of devastating aggression. The tempo of warfare has vastly increased and our statesmen are filled with a sense of urgency to find a pattern of lasting peace . . . Guided missiles, especially when atomic armed, represent the most radical changes in weapon systems since the invention of gunpowder. . . ."

Maj. Parson tells you: "The most powerful destructive force in military operations is the nuclear warhead and . . . the most potent carrier is the guided missile. The atomic guided missile is a most deadly weapon, and all military operations will be radically influenced by it . . .

"The so-called 'ultimate' weapon in air warfare is the long-range surface-to-surface missile capable of spanning the oceans and directly attacking a nation's heartland . . . "

In the meantime, Maj. Parson indicates, "By using seaborne launchers, the Navy will ultimately be able to reach any target area on the surface of the earth.

"Air Force surface-to-surface missiles will eventually have intercontinental range.

"Successful surface to air and air-to-air missile development has also been announced. Army surface-to-air missiles have proved their ability to knock down targets and are ready for combat use."

Human ingenuity in the United States, in the Soviet Union and in other nations, now has been focused for years upon still-unsolved problems of "flying the robot weapon thousands of miles accurately to the target."

Builders of long-range high altitude missiles face obstacles of terrific temperature ranges at varying altitudes, the effects of ultraviolet radiation; the penetration of cosmic rays; meteors whizzing into our atmosphere like ultra high-speed bullets; unexpected speeding up or slowing down of the missile or drift, caused by atmospheric forces; up and down vertical winds of perhaps 250 miles an hour; plus creation of extremely sensitive mechanisms to control the missile under possible violent vibration.

Maj. Parson outlines defense measures and says, "The situation is not utterly hopeless. Naval launchers and their supply lines can be attacked. Many of the same passive defenses used against bombers can be employed. Homing type missiles can be 'confused.' Methods can be employed for destroying launching sites and destroying attack missiles in flight."

Boomnig Business Guides Politics In Connecticut

By RELMAN MORIN

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—A zooming graph of business activity, not President Eisenhower's cardiogram, appears to be the overriding political factor in Connecticut today.

For many people, present high levels of employment and income in the state more than balance any uncertainties arising from Eisenhower's heart attack. The man on the street seems prepared to let Eisenhower judge his own capabilities. Meanwhile, everybody likes prosperity.

As Joseph Pane, a Danbury machine designer, put it:

"We've had four good years. I go on the theory Ike will last another four, so I'm for the same ticket."

Or Joseph Krzys, Thompsonville factory safety supervisor and a Democrat:

"I voted for Ike in '52, and what I do this year depends on who the Democrats nominate, not on Eisenhower's health. I think he's been good for us."

Samplings of opinion you get today may wholly change before November's election day.

But these factors look significant now:

1. Democrats talk more about shrinking Eisenhower's 1952 Connecticut margin — 130,000 — and capturing a seat in the U.S. Senate than or carrying the state for their presidential candidate.

2. Republicans are so confident that they are beginning to caution each other against apathy and overconfidence.

Connecticut is a good place to watch both parties because it fits no particular political mold.

It is strongly oriented toward New York, yet it also feels the pull of New England. It is one of the nation's great workshops, yet politicians say it is basically Republican.

But it has a Democratic governor, personable Abraham Ribicoff, who seems more popular today than when he was elected, and a GOP House.

In short, voters tend to be independent, tough-minded. They are ingrained with the town meeting tradition.

Here is what they have been saying to this reporter on major aspects of the coming election:

Eisenhower plus prosperity seems, to Republicans, to mean a sure victory in the fall with at least as great a majority as he had in 1952, maybe bigger. They don't believe his illness will be a drawback.

Said John F. Sweeney, a Rockville advertising man:

"I think he'll live longer than if he hadn't had that attack. Anyway, businessmen here were certainly pleased with his announcement."

The Democratic city clerk of Rockville, E. Fenton Burke, said, however:

"His illness is going to cost him votes. Yes, the prosperity angle is important, but even so, a lot of independent votes will come to us — not to the Republican vice president."

Mostly, however, Democrats say they hope to cut down Eisenhower's margin, perhaps by half. If so, they say, they have a good chance of electing Rep. Thomas Dodd to the Senate seat now held by Prescott Bush.

As for the Democratic presidential candidate, the situation in Connecticut is best described as "fluid." Adlai Stevenson has his admirers here, but so has Sen. Estes Kefauver. In 1952, Stevenson was unable to carry a single county.

Fairly recently, Gov. Ribicoff declared his support for Stevenson.

Now the question of Republican candidate for vice president — of more than usual interest this year.

So far as Connecticut is concerned, it seems to be Richard M. Nixon. You get that not only from GOP party heads but from the man on the street.

State Chairman Clarence Baldwin, to be sure, said he would not take a position on the question at this time. But he added, "I have a great deal of respect for Nixon's ability and I think he has been an outstanding vice president."

Man Does Everything To Prove Darwin Was Right

By INEZ ROBB

Dear Me! Whatever became of the "eternal verities"? Changeless truth is a fickle wench, circa 1956, and Russian history isn't the only revealed truth that changes every hour on the hour.

Now, just as man at long last has knuckled under to the once-controversial fact that he is descended from the apes, along come modern anthropologists and say it ain't necessarily so. Fossils discovered in an Italian coalpit lead these scientists to believe man up-graded himself from a "humanoid" rather than a simian ancestor.

Well, let me tell you, the modern anthropologist has probably bitten off more than he can chew! The weight of evidence is against him if he hopes to disprove the now accepted ape thesis of the late Charles Robert Darwin, who raised merry hob among our Victorain ancestors with his monkey business.

Darwin may have made a monkey out of man in the first place. But ever since, and particularly in my lifetime, man has done everything in his power to prove that Darwin was right.

One has only to read the daily papers to be convinced that Darwin was on the right track when he insisted that man evolved from the apes, if the apes will pardon the insinuation.

Twentieth century man, aided by unparalleled inventive genius and scientific discovery, has succeeded in creating in this best of all possible worlds not a living paradise but a murky, torturous purgatory that threatens, at any moment, to turn into a flaming hell.

Man everywhere is at the throat of his brother, neighbor contends with neighbor and men of good will are despised.

Darwin may have begun the job, but man has confirmed it. And, furthermore, it is my honest opinion that if apes went into court and sued for libel, they could collect hands down.

Are apes engaged in a life and death struggle with one another? Are they dedicated to civil strife and internecine warfare? Are they plotting to fire the powderkegs, pull down the jungle and destroy themselves in the process?

No, no, a thousand time NO! As man plays out the rope to hang himself, the happy apes skip through the jungle, organize cocoanut hunts and live and let live.

Even though the Italian fossils indicate that man was well along the evolutionary process as much as 10 million years ago and that he was then a human-like rather than an ape - like creature, anthropologists are still looking for the missing link.

Okay, then. Let the scientists take a good, long look at modern man. There are days when I am convinced that all his links are mising.

Even so, I am not willing yet to concede the battle to the fundamentalists and the late William Jennings Bryan. In any contest between modern man vs monkey, the smart money still would be on Jocko.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Group Of Housewives Are Seeking Support

WASHINGTON - A group of Washington women, who organized four years ago to watch bills in Congress that effect the housewife's pocketbook, is seeking the support of other housewives across the nation.

The group known as Housewives United, national, nonpartisan and nonprofit, believes that "Housewives working together-trying to learn and trying to be fair - can help one another, and their congressman as well."

Members who describe themselves simply as "homemakers conscious of the privileges and the responsibility of citizenship in a democratic country," have watched bills in Congress since 1952 and have become, when necessary a housewives' lobby. Mrs. Louis Wright, wife of the director of the Folger Shakespeare library was one of the founders.

"The women had been concerned about special interest groups around the Capitol, pressing Congress for laws in favor of its own interest - often at the expense of the rest of the country," Mrs. Wright explained.

Housewives United has a national board in Washington, she says, which after careful study, takes action on matters its members feel require approval, or disapproval, on a national scale.

By means of a little mimeographed newsletter sent out four times a year, the Washington group passes on its findings to members in the states, asks for advice and suggestions from them, and in turn, suggests to them ways in which they might to able to help themselves and other housewives of the nation.

"Members in the states are encouraged to make known their legislative views to their own congressmen," says Mrs. Wright, "and to make known their housekeep needs (such as the need for durable materials and efficient appliances) to business. But members may do as much or as little as they wish."

Applications for membership in the organization may be sent to Housewives United, 2915 Foxhall Road, N.W., Washington 16, D. C.

Mrs. Wright, an energetic 5 foot 2, says she had never been the "least bit politically-minded," before starting the group with another Washington woman, Mrs. Donald Detwiler.

"Both of us were interested in our husbands and homes. Our children had absorbed most of our time and interest" she said.

LITERARY GUIDEPOST

LETTERS FROM MADAME LA MARQUISE DE SEVIGNE, selected, translated and edited by Violet Hammersley, preface by W. Somerset Maughm. Harcourt, Brace.

The Marquise de Sevigne was born in 1626, married in 1644, and the mother of Francoise Marguerite in 1646; this daughter, at 22 years old, became the wife of the Count de Grignan. She was promptly whisked off from the de Sevigne estates in Brittany to the opposite corner of France, in Aix-en Provence.

The Marquise, "the most loving mother in the world," was driven to desperation by this separation and so picked up her quill and in a quarter-century, wrote one of the finest sets of letters in literature.

Her solicitude for the Countess is little short of unhealthy—is she well, will she please not travel across flooding rivers, must she gamble, cannot her husband let more time lapse between her pregnancies?

But as she lived in a larger setting, she writes on a broader canvas. Writing under two Louis's, XII and XIV, she has access to the court, she knew the kings and their mistresses, she could gossip saltily about the men who were good lovers and the men who were not.

"I fear boredom more even than death," she wrote, and it is wonderful how she never was bored, and never lets her readers be, either, whether she talks about the immortal chef who gave his life for a dish, or the water cure, or de Montespan's costume, or the young man's wounds inflicted just where she may not ask to see them. Despite a couple of grisly execution scenes, and an old-fashioned callousness, you are pleased to read some one who herself was so pleased to read, and you envy her her ordered days: mass, walk, food, conversation, reading, praying, writing letters. This is of course a small part of the correspondence, but a more than fair sample of the unique original.

Girl Wins One Round In Fight Against Handicaping Diabetes

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter

WASHINGTON (AP)—This is the story of my 16-year-old daughter Barbara, who won a $500 scholarship prize today—the same day she took her 1,561st daily shot of insulin.

She didn't get the prize for taking the insulin; rather, you might say, she got it in spite of it.

She won the prize in a competitive examination—the fourth award of various kinds she has won in three years.

Naturally, her mother, her two sisters and I are proud. We are especially proud because Barbara is a diabetic.

She has jabbed herself with a needle every morning since Dec. 6, 1951, the day after we found out she was ill. She has to do it; otherwise she would die.

I'm telling her story because it occurred to her mother and me that it might be encouraging to other juvenile diabetics, and to their parents, or to any child with a handicaping illness.

My wife and I thought the bottom had dropped out of the world that day, almost 4½ years ago, when a doctor gave us the verdict.

And I'll never forget his telling Barbara—then a child of 12—that unless scientists came up with something else, she'd probably have to stick that needle into herself every day for the rest of her life.

She took the verdict without a whimper, and she hasn't whimpered since.

We knew that, compared to some illnesses, diabetes is not a major tragedy. Still, there was the plaguing thought of that daily injection...the possiblity of insulin "reactions"...

We were afraid her illness might have a bad psychological effect upon her. We were afraid that the daily need for insulin, and for adhering closely to a sugar-free diet, might tend to make her feel different from her friends—perhaps leading her to retire into a shell.

How wrong we were!

After she was graduated from our parish grammar school, St. Thomas More in Arlington, Va., she entered Holy Cross Academy in Washington—an hour's bus ride (with two changes) from our house.

She became active in debating, in working for her school newspaper and in dramatics and glee club.

As a sophomore, she won a scholarship to take a summer journalism course at the Catholic University of America. Last year, she won the District of Columbia oratorical contest sponsored by the American Legion. A few weeks ago, she won the poetry section of an essay contest conducted by the Washington Evening Star.

Today's award—the $500 one—was for winning second honors among District of Columbia high school girls in the Betty Crocker "Home Maker of Tomorrow" examination sponsored by General Mills, Inc.

An honor student scholastically, she has a happy social life too. She loves to dance, is a good swimmer, and is not bad at tennis.

She even jokes about her "jabber"—saying she's "probably the only diabetic ever to take a hypo to a formal dance." (She carried the needle in the pocket of her mother's fur jacket one night when she planned to stay overnight at a friend's house after a school prom.)

So, that's the story of my Barbara, and I hope it may help someone with the same or a similar "handicap."

Barbara herself is going to try to help people in another way; she's planning to be a nurse.

Sen. Daniel Says Mail Will Determine Plans For Future

DALLAS (AP)—Sen. Price Daniel (D-Tex) says that he is going to be "completely honest" with the people of Texas as to the result of replies to his statewide broadcast and that the mailbags will determine whether he will run for governor or finish his term in the Senate.

And if he does make the race and wins the Democratic nomination for governor, Daniel says he has no intention of resigning his Senate seat until after the primaries.

As to interposition, which Allan Shivers and other Southern governors have urged, Daniel said he has not yet explored all of the legal angles involved to reach a decision on its posible effectiveness.

The junior senator from Texas, who arrived in Dallas by plane from Washington at midnight, held a brief press conference at Love Field with newsmen early today. He spent the night here and today goes to Howard Payne College in Brownwood, where he will make an address and receive an honorary degree.

Daniel, traveling alone, told newsmen and Dallas Democratic leaders who met his plane that he was "mighty pleased" with the response to his Monday night state-wide TV and radio broadcast in which he said he was willing to run for governor but wanted to hear from at least 25,000 Texans before mking a definite decision.

"When I left Washington (early last night), we had received at least 3,000 regular letters in addition to the telegrams and air-mail letters which came in earlier," he said. "The regular letters are just starting to come in and we are expecting even more in the next few days."

Daniel said that while the results of yesterday's mail had not been completely tabulated when he left Washington, the great majority of the replies received to date urged him to run for governor.

Asked if he was going to make the exact results of the tabulations public, Daniel said he was going to be completely honest as to the results of the poll and that the replies he received would determine whether he served out the remaining two years of his Senate term or make the race for governor.

Earlier yesterday in Washington he told newsmen he had received about 1,000 telegrams signed by 1,850 persons and more than 2,000 air mail letters. He said that 95 per cent of these urged him to run for governor.

He said the letters brought cash and checks totaling $1,686 for expenses of his proposed campaign and payment of his Monday radio and television expenses. Most of the contributions were small, many of them dollar bills. The largest contribution was a $250 check. Daniel declined to identify the donor.

Mayor In Camden Has Parking Ticket Problem

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP)—A group of college students complained to Mayor George Brunner at a meeting he was addressing that they often got tickets for illegal parking while attending classes.

What, they asked, could be done.

Brunner replied that it was too bad, but after all police were only doing their duty.

Then he left the meeting—to find his car had been tagged for parking in a restricted area.

Rebels Claim Following Of Peron Falls

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Juan D. Peron says he still is the big man in Argentina but the rebels who booted him out just six months ago today declare the ex-dictator's following has "declined enormously."

"This nation is well on the road to restoration of democratic life," Provisional President Pedro Aramburu asserted in an interview marking the half-year anniversary of the revolt which blew Peron off the pinnacle of power he had held for a decade.

Aramburu said he was confident Peron's reign "will serve as a lesson" to prevent Argentina from ever again falling into the hands of a dictator.

The Provisional President's statements coincided with publication in Santiago, Chile, of the memoirs Peron has written while in exile in Panama, "Force Is the Right of Beasts." Publication was in the magazine Vea (See), which had close contact with Peron in the past.

Peron wrote that if free elections were held now in Argentina, his forces would take at least 70 per cent of the vote.

Couple Heads For New Home After Tragedy

EAST MEADOW, N.Y. (AP)—The Gerald Dammans head for a new home in Iowa today, sad but desperately hopeful that someday some clue will disclose what happened to their missing 3-year-old son.

Gerald, 26, and his wife Marilyn, 22, packed with tears in their eyes yesterday as 2-year-old Pamela, their other child, romped around amid shipping crates.

The couple's little boy Steven disappeared here last Oct. 31 from in front of a supermarket. His mother had left him outside for a few minutes with Pamela, who was in a baby carriage.

Damman has been stationed with the Air Force at nearby mitchel Field. His four-year enlistment was up three months ago, but he has been getting 30-day extensions in the hope some word would be received concerning Steven.

Last February a brief flicker of hope turned to despair when a young boy was found in New Mexico. The child was not Steven.

The family is going by car to Newton, Iowa, and will live on a farm belonging to Damman's father.

Mrs. Damman told newsmen: "It's just like leaving part of yourself behind. I don't believe we'll ever see Steven again, but we can never adjust our lives without him.

Racket In Bicycles Reported By Police

DAILY CITY, Calif. (AP)—Every time one of his fifth-grade friends admired his bicycle, an 11-year-old boy at Woodrow Wilson School would give it to the admirer.

Roy Beecher, a police lieutenant, said that "we figure he gave away 15 bikes."

The catch was, said Beecher, that all 15 had been stolen.

Police took the boy to Hillcrest Juvenile Detention Home and then started checking parents of the youngsters who got the bikes.

"You know, not one had made any report or made their kids return those bikes," Beecher noted. "Some of the fathers even helped the kids paint 'em different colors."

PROMOTED—Gov. Alan Shivers and Mrs. Paul Wakefield pin the two star insignia on the blouse of Paul L. Wakefield as he was promoted to the rank of Major General in the Texas National Guard at a ceremony held in Austin.

NEW JET CARRIER—The U.S.S. Forrestal, first aircraft carrier built since World War II, designed to accomodate the latest types of jet aircraft. The 1,036 foot flight deck, features an angled deck, two-runway system and four launching catapults for increased flexibility and speed of air operations. She is shown underway on her shakedown cruse in the Caribbean.

Court Drops U.S. Claim For Shot Down Airplane

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP)—The International Court of Justice has dropped two U.S. claims totaling almost two million dollars for military planes shot down by the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia.

The court explained the two Communist nations refused to accept the tribunal's jurisdiction.

The United States asked $1,620,295 for a B29 bomber and its eight-man crew shot down in the sea by two Russian planes off northern Japan Oct. 7, 1952. The Americans claimed $271,384 from Czechoslovakia for an F84 Thunderjet fighter show down by MIG15s near the West German-Czechoslovak border March 10, 1953. The U.S. pilot, Lt. Warren G. Brown of Henderson, Colo., parachuted to safety.

Woman Filed Divorce Suit For Fourth Time

CHICAGO (AP) — For the fourth time since 1950, Mrs. Dorothy J. Powell, 35, has filed suit for divorce from the same man.

"This is it, I really mean it this time," Mrs. Powell said as she filed the suit in Superior Court against her husband William, 29, a metal worker. She said this time there would be no reconciliation.

Her latest action, she said, came after her husband "mangled" her arm in a door and then went home to his mother.

Large Negro Vote For GOP Expected

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa), chairman of the GOP Congressional Campaign Committee, today predicted a big upswing in the northern Negro vote for Republicans this year.

Simpson and two Democratic congressional campaign committee members, Representatives Madden (Ind) and Bennett (Fla), disagreed with a statement by Rep. Powell (D-NY) that there is "a distinct possibility" a new political party will result from the bitter battle over segregation.

Powell, one of three Negro House members, told a news conference yesterday "many Negroes will desert" the Democratic party unless it returns to what he called the stronger civil rights policies of former President Truman.

Powell said President Eisenhower has not been as affirmative in favor of civil rights as he was earlier in his term, and added:

"If President Eisenhower goes back to where he left off two years ago on civil rights — and (Adlai) Stevenson or other Democratic candidates continue to stand in the middle of the road (on civil rights)—I'd probably vote Republican" this year.

Simpson said the Negro vote in big Northern cities ran about 4-1 in favor of the Democrats in 1952, but now is swinging "very definitely toward the Republicans."

By election time this fall, he said, it should be evenly split between the two parties and should help swing into the GOP column some contested congressional seats. He specifically mentioned Philadelphia and St. Louis.

He declared the Negores "appreciate" what he termed civil rights gains under the Eisenhower administration.

"I don't think there is any room in the country for a third party," Simpson added.

Madden, chairman of the executive committee for the Democratic campaign group, said he too doubts the segregation dispute will lead to a third party. And he said he doesn't think it will cost the Democrats votes either.

The Negroes, Madden said, know that "the Democratic party with the exception of the Southern leaders has been leading the fight for civil rights."

Warm Trend Is Expected

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A general warm-up this weekend in Texas was predicted Friday in the wake of an early morning freeze that covered the northern half of the state.

Heavy clouds that brought a light snow in the Panhandle and sprinkles elsewhere Thursday had almost completely disappeared before dawn Friday.

Early morning readings ranged from 15 degrees at Dalhart to 57 at Brownsville. Amarillo had 19, Lubbock 20, Childress 22, Wichita Falls and Midland 28, Abilene 27, Salt Flat and Mineral Wells 30, Junction and San Angelo 31, and Fort Worth 32.

Warmer weather was predicted for West Texas and North Central Texas Friday and over the rest of the state Saturday. The Weather Bureau said there was no overnight precipitation in the state.

Reds Listen To Americans At Services

MOSCOW (AP)—More than 2,500 Russians jammed Moscow's small Baptist church last night to hear a sermon and talks by visiting American church leaders.

Most of the Russians appeared to be in their 50s. They wiped tears from their eyes as the "Amen" repeatedly and nodded vigorous assent as the messages were translated.

As each American was introduced, the congregation rose to chorus "Welcome" in Russian.

The 10-man American delegation is here for conferences with Russian churchmen in an effort to better understanding between American and Russian religious groups.

The speakers last night included Dr. Eugene C. Blake of Philadelphia, president of the National Council of Churches; Dr. Franklin C. Fry of New Rochelle, N. Y., president of the United Lutheran Church of America; Bishop D. Ward Nichols of New York, presiding bishop of the African Methodist Episcopal Church; and Vassili Zhidhoff, president of the Council of Evangelical Baptist Churches of the Soviet Union.

Dr. Blake said he brought greetings from the Christians of the United States, who "feel warm, Christian love for you."

Bishop Nichols told the Russians the Negro's life in America "is like that of any other people."

Dulles Visits With Chiang

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State Dulles and President Chiang Kai-shek conferred here today on joint defense of Nationalist China against Communist aggression.

Continuing his Far Eastern tour, Dulles arrived from Manila and soon after was driven to the generalissimo's home in the suburbs of Taipei. The two leaders talked there for more than an an hour.

Later Dulles and his party returned for a formal dinner given for them by Chiang and his wife.

Dulles in an airport statement on his arrival described this meeting with the Nationalist President as another consultative one provided for in the mutual defense treaty between their two governments. The treaty is concerned mainly with American protection of Formosa.

Chiang was assumed to have urged that the United States give an open commitment to protect the Nationalist-held offshore islands of Quemoy and the Matsus. There was no indication, however, that this plea had scored with Dulles.

ST. JOHN'S Catholic Church at Hermleigh, among the oldest churches in the county, constructed this building in the late 1930s. Until recent years, this was the only Catholic church in the county. (Lee Watson photograph)

Hermleigh Catholic Church Started With Settlement

(Thirty-second of a series on Snyder and area churches.)

Among the oldest of churches in Scurry County is St. John's Catholic Church, which dates back to the days when the Hermleigh area was being settled.

Many of the early settlers of the Hermleigh area were immigrants from some of the old European countries, such as Germany, Austria, and Czechoslavakia and they were included among early Catholic leaders.

At first Catholics of that area arranged for priests to come into the area and say mass in their homes. In about 1914, the Catholics had their first resident priest. After a few years, however, demands for priests were great in other populated areas, so the Hermleigh area was served by non-resident priests.

A church building and rectory had already been built by that time. The church building was used until the present brick building at the southeast edge of Hermleigh was constructed in 1937. The present rectory was built in 1950. Seating capacity of the church is about 250.

From about 1925 until 1947, Claretians, mostly from Spain, served the church, but they were handicapped to a certain extent because of lack of sufficient knowledge of the English language. From 1947 until 1950, the parish was served by an Oblate from Sweetwater.

In 1950 the church again secured a resident priest, the Rev. Edward Chrisman. In November, 1952, he was succeeded by the Rev. James Sonderman, formerly of Dumas, the present parish priest. and Rev. Chrisman became priest of the newly - organized St. Elizabeth's parish in Snyder.

There are now about 55 families in the Hermleigh parish. It was much larger at one time, and it included the Snyder area. Boom growth of Snyder, with the moving here of many more Catholics, caused the establishment of the new parish in Snyder. The present Hermleigh parish extends for about five miles into each county outside Scurry in every direction except toward Snyder. The boundary between the Hermleigh and Snyder parishes is about halfway between the two towns.

Now, as in the past, the Hermleigh parish is made up predominately of farmers, and the prolonged drought here has made a difference in operation of the church, Rev. Sonderman said.

Wardens of the church are Rudy Kubala, Frank Kubala, Tony Freytag, Edwin Kuss, and John Roemisch, Jr.

The church has a men's organization, St. John's Club. Its officers include Winford Light president, and Ben Seidenberger, secretary-treasurer. It has about 15 active members.

The women are also organized, with a membership of about 25 in the St. Mary's Alter Society. Mrs. Bill Weaver is president, Mrs. Eldon Kuss vice-president, and Mrs. John Roemisch secretary - treasurer.

Eternal Life — Now? Later?

". . . HE THAT HEARETH MY WORD, AND BELIEVETH . . ., HATH EVERLASTING LIFE,. . . ." (JNO. 5:24). It is argued that since the believer "hath" everlasting life, it is impossible for him to be lost it is well to remember that souls are immortal—they can never die; still it is possible for a soul to be lost. Also, eternal life is like God—it existed before any person ever possessed it; it will continue after it is lost by many!

IN ONE SENSE CHRISTIANS HAVE ETERNAL LIFE IN THIS WORLD. Christ is called eternal life (1 John 1:1-3). The Christian is in Christ (Gal. 3:26,27; 2 Cor. 5:17). Christ dwells in the Christian (Col. 1:27). But dwelling in Christ is conditional upon the faithfulness of the Christian (Heb. 3:12; 1 John 2:24). Christ is eternal life. The Christian abides in Christ, and Christ in him, but since the Christian's abiding in Christ is conditional, eternal life is spoken of as a promise.

IN ANOTHER SENSE ETERNAL LIFE IS A PROMISE (1 JOHN 2:25). The Christian lives in hope of eternal life (Titus 1:1,2). He does not hope for that which he already possesses (Rom. 8:24,25). Eternal life is received in "the end" (Rom. 6:22,23). The Christian is admonished to "lay hold on eternal life" (1 Tim. 6:12). The Christian "seeks" for eternal life (Rom. 2:6, 7). Eternal life will be given in "the world to come." Matt. 10:29,30). It is the final reward of the saints (Matt. 25:46). Passages which speak of eternal life as a present possession must not be made to contradict all these plain statements of God's holy word! "Wherefore let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall." (1 Cor .10:12).

"THE CHURCHES OF CHRIST SALUTE YOU." (ROM. 16:16). Nineteen hundred years ago, the church you read about in the New Testament was established! Today, she has the same name, worship, organization, doctrine, and life.

TUNE IN KSNY ON TUESDAYS AND THURSDAYS at 7:15 p.m. and hear C. Dale Brooks.

By BUCK FRANCIS

A record field is assured for the 4th annual Canyon Reef Relays to be unreeled tomorrow at Tiger Stadium.

Thirty-six teams will bid for championship honors in the Relays tomorrow whose rosters total 540 athletes.

Activity will get underway at 8:30 a.m. tomorrow with the pole vault kicking off festivities and except for an hour or so off for lunch, there'll be something going on at Tiger Stadium until 4 p.m.

The running events will get underway at 9 a.m. with preliminary races. The 120-yard high hurdles and 100-yard dash will start the ball rolling in the preliminary races, both to be run off simultaneously.

This was brought about by the huge entry field. In order to complete the preliminaries before noon, it became necessary to run off two of the running events at the same time.

The high hurdles will be run off on the West track and the 100-yard dash on the East track. All other races, both in the preliminary and finals, will finish on the West track.

The finals will start at 1:30 p.m.

The Midland Bulldogs, last year's champions, will be back to defend their title. Midland edged Amarillo by 3¼ points last year, 30½ to 27¼. Lubbock was third with 16. All three are returning this year.

The 440-yard dash has the biggest entry field with 71. Nine heats will be run off in the quarter-mile with the contestants running against time. Since only eitht can qualify for the finals, at least one heat winner will not qualify for the afternoon finals. There will be no semi-finals in the 440-yard dash.

The next biggest entry field is in the broad jump where 67 boys are entered. Following are the events that will be run tomorrow and the number of entries:

Pole vault, 41; Discus, 50; Shot Put, 53; high Jump, 53; high hurdles, 32; 100-yard dash, 55; 880-yard relay, 15; 180-yard low hurdles, 51; mile run, 53; sprint relay, 26; 220-yard dash, 55; mile relay, 24; and sprint medlay relay, 20. Coach Jack Dillon of the Tigers announced his entries for the Canyon Reef as follows:

Mile relay—John Ward, Tommy Gary, Dwaine Merritt and Bobby Pollard.

440-yard relay—Bud Morgan, Pollard, Gary, Isreal Hinojos or Jack Spikes or Powell Berry.

440-yard dash — Ward, Merritt, Gary, Mickey Craig.

Spring medle relay—Dean Staton, 880; Gary, 440; Berry and Hinojos, 220.

Mile run—George Jennings, Larry Mullins, and Stephen John.

Low hurdles—Morgan.

High hurdles—Berry and Ward.

100-yard dash—Pollard, Hinojos and Spikes.

High jump—Ward.

Broad jump—Berry.

Pole vault—Harold Hooks, Arnold Dorman and James Vincent.

Discus—Spikes.

Shot Put—Jim Russell, Jennings, Rinehart, Williamson.

Don-UCLA Tilt Is NCAA Feature

By RIP WATSON

Can the Stuffer outscore the Whale? Are the Big Ten champions big enough to slow down the nation's biggest scorers? And how many more of the nation's collegiate basketball powers will be washed overboard by a wave of upsets?

These and other cage questions will be answered over the weekend in the three big postseason college tournaments — National Collegiate Championship, National Invitation Tournament and NAIA.

The far-flung NCAA tourney, with double-headers tonight in Philadelphia, Lawrence, Kan., Iowa City and Corvallis, Ore., gets most of the attention. Tonight's winners meet in the same cities tomorrow night, and the winners of those games converge on Evanston, Ill., next Thursday for the big windup.

The NAIA, after a strenuous week, goes into the semifinals tonight in Kansas City and McNeese State meeting Pittsburg (Kan.) and Texas Southern playing Wheaton.

The NIT gets going with double-headers tomorrow afternoon and night in Madison Square Garden, New York.

Getting back to the unanswered questions, the big one is posed at Corvallis. That's where All America Bill Russell of San Francisco, named The Stuffer for continuously ramming the ball down the basket, again runs afoul of UCLA's Willie (The Whale) Naulls. Russell won the last time they met, in New York's Holiday Festival in December, but since then has lost the help of guard K. C. Jones, a second-team All America ineligible for the NCAA Tournament.

Both San Francisco, No. 1 in the nation in the final Associated Press poll with a 25-0 record, and UCLA, No. 8 with 21-5, boast long winning streaks. UCLA has won 17 straight since the December loss to USF, while the Dons boast the all-time major college winning streak of 51.

The somewhat overshadowed second game at Corvallis matches Utah, champion of the Skyline Conference at 22-5, against Seattle (17-8).

Tonight little Morehead of Kentucky will meet Iowa, champions of the Big Ten for the second successive year. Morehead was the nation's highest scoring major team during the regular season with 96 points a game.

The other game at Iowa City also is a David and Goliath affair with little Wayne (Mich.), 17-1 during the regular season and surprise victor over DePaul in the first round, taking on mighty Kentucky.

Southern Methodist, which barely missed being extinguished by the upset wave in the NCAA first round against Texas Tech, puts its 23-2 record and No. 7 national ranking against Houston's 17-5 mark in one game at Lawrence.

Kansas State (16-7), Big Seven titlist, meets perennial NCAA at-large entry Oklahoma City (19-6) in the other game.

At Philadelphia, Temple, 23-3 after knocking off Holy Cross; meets Connecticut (17-9) and Canisius (18-6) plays Dartmouth (17-10). Canisius pulled the upset of the tourney thus far by knocking off North Carolina State, No. 2 in the nation, in the first round Monday.

Pro Track Meets Looms In Future—Mathias

DALLAS (AP) — Bob Mathias, Olympic decathlon great, says he believes the day will come when there will be professional track events.

Here to help the Dallas Public Library to promote reading among youths, the Marine Corps lieutenant said "Some of us have toyed with the idea of starting pro track and field meets, but nothing definite has been done about it."

He said he thought such a venture "might go" because Wes Santee would be available and Mal Whitfield probably would be available in a couple of years.

Welter Bout In Garden

NEW YORK (AP)—Two fast-rising young welterweights, Cub's Isaac (Kid) Logart and Mexico's Gaspar (Indian) Ortego, put their victory-studded records on the line tonight in the 10-round main event at Madison Square Garden.

Logart, 22-year-old sensation from Camaguey, Cuba, which sent former champion Kid Gavilan to the top of the welters, has a record of 41 victories, 5 defeats and 5 draws in 51 outings. Eighteen of his triumphs were knockouts. He has won his last four, including a Feb. 10 triumph over Ramon Fuentes.

Fifteen knockouts show on Ortega's record of 32 wins and 5 defeats. The 20-year-old Mexican boxer earned a main event shot by his spectacular performances in recent semi-windups. The night Logart whipped Fuentes, Ortego scored an impressive victory over Tex Gonzales, a tough lightweight, in the semifinal.

The bout will be televised and broadcast (NBC) at 10 p.m. (EST)

Hersh Freeman, Cincinnati relief pitcher, had a 1955 earned run mark of 2.15 runs per nine-inning game.

Rain Mars Play In Gulf Coast Tourney

GULFPORT, Miss. (AP)—The rain-plagued $5,000 Gulf Coast Invitational Golf Tournament opened today with a stepped-up schedule and the weatherman playing major roles.

Nearly one half of the 150 entries had started play when the mid-morning downpour swept across the Great Southern Country Club course yesterday. Tournament officials watched rain-laden skies for more than one hour before calling a halt and postponing opening play.

There was a possibility of more rain today.

Tournament Chairman Charles Stewart and other officials scheduled 18 holes for today's opening round and another 18 tomorrow. A field trimmed to the 60 low scorers will battle for the title in Sunday's arduous 36-hole schedule.

Slender Tommy Morrow of Shreveport, La., who won the tournament title in his first try in professional competition last year, escaped yesterday's soaking. He and pre-tournament favorites were scheduled to start late. Only six golfers managed to finish 18 holes, but the downpour washed out their scores.

Tiger 9 Meets Big Spring In Non-Loop Tilt

The Tiger baseballers are in Big Spring today to contest the Big Spring Steers in a non-district game.

Alan Snead was scheduled to start on the mound for the Tigers.

It will be the second game of the season for the Tigers, the Black and Golders having dropped a 15-1 decision to Midland at Midland Wednesday.

Coach Speedy Moffett sent the Tigers through an extensive 3-hour drill yesterday. Thursday's workout was only the second workout for the Tigers this season as the Tiger diamonders only reported this week following spring football training.

Monday's workout which was to have opened the Tiger training session was called off because of cold weather. The Tigers thus went into the Midland game Wednesday with only one workout behind them.

The remainder of the starting Tiger lineup today will likely be Pat Fowler, catching; Ronnie Baker, first base; Joe Reaves, second base; Neal Boyd, third base; Tommy Prichard, short stop; Gary Vice, Milton Ham, Jerry Taylor or Mickey McGrew or Tom Falls in the outfield.

After today's game, the Tigers will journey to Odessa next Tuesday to meet the Odessa Broncs.

Midwestern Bows, 85-82

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Texas Southern, a Negro team, is in the semi-finals of the National Intercollegiate Basketball Tournament to the delight of the crowd. Texas Southern is the major attraction as the nation's small colleges decide their cage kings for the season.

Especially is loose-jointed, long-armed Bennie Swain something to watch. This prospect for the Harlem Globe Trotters does tricks with a basketball that even that famed expert, Goose Tatum, might watch with interest.

The Globe Trotters, noted touring Negro basketball team, already have taken one star from Texas Southern—Woodrow Saulsbery.

Swain, a sophomore is 6 feet 8 inches tall and his arms are so long they almost reach to his knees. His hamlike hands pretty well cover the basketball.

Swain pases and bats the ball around so cleverly it's difficult to keep up with it. He'll pass it back or between his legs, or just hold it above his head and dare somebody to get it. He does what might be termed a reverse hook shot. That is, he moves one way on the hook shot but swings around and hooks it from the other direction. He also is a tip-in artist. And he averages more than 20 rebounds per game, has gotten as high as 36 in a single game. He averages 23.2 points per game in scoring.

Texas Southern, which defeated Midwestern of Wichita Falls, Tex., 85-82, last night, reached the NAIA tournament with a 28-3 season record. It got to the big meet because it won the District 29 championship. District 29 takes in all of the 46 Negro colleges that are members of the NAIA.

Queens Reach AAU Finals

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP)—Wayland College of Plainview, Tex., hasn't been stopped in 74 consecutive basketball games but unseeded Nashville (Tenn) Business College has high hopes of scoring its third straight upset to grab the Women's National AAU title tonight.

The Wayland Flying Queens had little trouble in beating fourth-seeded Iowa Wesleyan of Mount Pleasant, Iowa, 55-31 in the semi-finals last night.

Nashville knocked off second-seeded Omaha Commercial Extension 34-26.

If Wayland continues its victory skein through tonight it will become the second team in the 28-year history of the tournament to have won the title three straight years. Tulsa (Okla) Business College turned the trick in 1934-35-36.

The first thoroughbred meeting at Laurel in Maryland was opened on Oct. 2, 1911.

BUCKIN' THE LINE

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

A HEARTY WELCOME to the high school teams and their coaches who'll be competing in the 4th annual Canyon Reef Relays tomorrow at Tiger Stadium.

It certainly looks like this may be the top meet of 'em all. Almost every event record on the card is in danger of being broken tomorrow as the more than 500 athletes gather for the biggest track attraction of the year here.

Everything is all set to get the show underway tomorrow. Officials of the meet got their final briefing in a special meeting last night on their individaul duties.

John Conley, meet director, and his aides are going to make every effort to run off each event on time. This is going to be a big task since several of the events have more than 50 entries and to get each of these events run off on time it's going to take the cooperation of one and all.

Conley pointed out yesterday that the fans can help out a lot to keep things going on schedule by staying off the field and in the stands.

So, unless you have official business on the field, you are asked to remain behind the fence that separates the track from the grandstands.

There'll be approximately 600 athletes, coaches and officials on the field at all times anyway so you can see why any addiditonal personnel would make it extremely difficult to keep things rolling on schedule.

Weather Man Cooperating, So Far

Fans attending the Relays tomorrow are asked to use the West entrance at the stadium. All final races will be finished on the West side. This is contrary to the situation in the past when most of the races finished on the East side.

Only the East and West gates will be open tomorrow with the East gates being open primarily for the competing athletes to get to and from the high school cafeteria where most will eat lunch.

It's to your benefit to come in the West gate if you are a fan as you'll have a much better view of the proceedings in the West stands.

The weather man is even cooperating with us "so far." He has promised warm weather tomorrow for the track meet. If he keeps his promise the cinder meet should not only be the best from a participant standpoint but from the spectator standpoint as well.

Providing all teams show that have cast entry blacks, the meet has already topped all previous record for total entries at 540.

Numerous Grid Stars In Cinder Meet Here

Several football stars will be competing in the Canyon Reef meet tomorrow.

We'll miss some, of course, but the ones we can think of off hand are Wahoo McDaniel, the all-stater from Midland; Ed Strickland, the all-District 1-AAAA tackle from Pampa; Mike McClellan, all-stater from Stamford; Bob Way, all-District 1-AAAA tackle from Amarillo; Jackie Webb, all-stater from Phillips; and Harroll Hobbs, of Sweetwater and Jack Spikes of Snyder, all-District 1-AAA backs last fall.

You could certainly pick out a top-notch football squad out of the athletes who'll be competing here tomorrow not to mention the selection of an A-1 track team.

For the benefit of you fans, especially the gals, each of the Canyon Reef contestants will be numbered and the numbers will be contained in the program that will be available at tomorrow's meet.

Teen age fans of the fairer sex can spot their heroes by obtaining a program.

We've already had one gal to volunteer her services to work the finish lines at tomorrow's races, her idea being that she could catch some of the more exhausted runners who cross the finish lines with open arms and depend on some one grabbing them before they bite the dust.

Toler To Seagoville

TERRELL, Tex. (AP) — L. E. (Rick) Toler, former backfield coach and head basketball coach at Terrell, has been signed as head football coach at Seagoville.

Mannie Seaman, former trainer for Joe Louis, plans to enter politics in New York City.

Bears Edge Frogs In Non-Loop Tilt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nasty weather almost ruined the Southwest Conference baseball schedule Thursday. Only Baylor and TCU were able to play. And Baylor won 14-10. It was a non-conference game.

A game scheduled between Oklahoma and Southern Methodist was cancelled. A scheduled College Station game between Texas A&M and Texas Lutheran was postponed until Tuesday.

Friday, Oklahoma meets the University of Texas in the first of a two-game series at Austin. Southern Methodist goes to Huntsville for a two-game series with Sam Houston State. Baylor meets the University of Houston at Waco.

British Play Is Slated For State Showing

DALLAS (AP)—Willie Gillie was a queer one, that's what he was. Always interfering in people's lives, giving advice and bossing them around.

He was a stubborn man, too. Wouldn't take advice from any man. And for all his meddling with other people, Mr. Gillie was a failure himself.

He wrote a couple of novels. One of them was published and sold a few hundred copies. Then Gillie got a job as a school headmaster in a wee Scottish village, but he didn't have a liking for it. And folks didn't care much for the way he taught their children, with his interfering and unsettling the young people.

About such a contrary-minded character the late successful British playwright, James Bridie, wrote the play "Mr. Gillie." It had a long and prosperous London run in 1950 and is now having its American premiere at the Margo Jones Theater '56. London called it "Bridie at his Best."

Surprisingly, under the direction of James MacAllen, Theater '56 associate director, "Mr. Bridie" is an unsatisfactory production, more weighed down by words than sparkling and provocative. It can't make up its mind whether to be a tongue-in-cheek caricature or something more profound about the worth of art and literature and of man who devotes his life to opening the doors of people's cages.

Only the veteran stage, radio and television actress Ruth Amos, who is new to the company, captures the spirit of her role. She plays the part of Mrs. Gillie, a conventional person who can't understand her husband's ways but is practical enough and loves him enough to encourage him to be himself.

Edwin Whitner seems miscast in the role of Mr. Gillie. But then this reviewer can't think of any member of the theater's regular company who would be right in the role.

Egypt Postpones Work On Its Dam To Divert Water Of Nile

WASHINGTON (AP) — Egypt has switched signals on the West and postponed the start of work on the Aswan Dam.

Officials who reported this today said Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser decided not to launch the $1,300,000,000 project until he reaches agreement with neighboring Sudan on how to divide the Nile River waters affected.

They said they are convinced Nasser still wants to build the dam and do it with American, British and World Bank financing.

Nasser and Eugene Black, president of the World Bank, announced in Cairo Feb. 9 they had reached "substantial agreement" on financing the irrigation-power dam, designed as the world's biggest structure, on the Upper Nile.

The announcement was widely hailed in the West as a diplomatic victory. Russia, moving into the Middle East with offers of military and economic aid, had made a bid to help finance the dam.

The Aswan project was divided into two phases. Work was ordered begun immediately on the first phase. This contemplated that Egypt would put up 900 million dollars in the form of labor and materials, and that the United States would put up 56 millions and Great Britain 14 millions in no-strings-attached grants.

After this first phase of preparatory work had been completed in an estimated five years, Phase 2 was to begin. For this, the major construction, the World Bank had agreed to lend Egypt 200 million dollars, with the United States and Britain together putting up an alditional 130 million dollars.

The World Bank urged, however, that Egypt first reach an agreement with the Sudan on how the dam's waters would be shared between them. No such precondition was stipulated by the United States and Britain.

But now Egypt has decided to try to reach agreement with the Sudan before turning a shovel. The stated reason for this change of heart, officials said, is that the Sudan responded rather sharply to Egypt's initial overtures. They said this led Nasser to feel he had better nail down a Sudan accord before investing too heavily.

While U.S. officials have accepted this explanation, they concede the situation raises two grave possibilities:

1. That Nasser has agreed with Western words of caution that his economy is not strong enough to support both the Aswan Dam and his 85-million-dollar arms buying deal with Communist Czechoslovakia, and that he has chosen the arms.

2. That Russia has threatened to cut off the flow of weapons if he goes through with the Aswan Dam deal. This would bear out Allied concern that the arms deal hooks Nasser into the Soviet camp.

Issues Cited In New York Election Year

NEW YORK, March 16 (AP)—The Israeli and segregation questions may be potent factors in the fight for New York's 45 electoral votes.

A sampling of public opinion by this reporter indicated these issues may bring some voting switches.

A Negro upswing in the Republican voting column appears a possibility.

Democrats contend they will make gains among Israel's supporters here.

The survey, following President Eisenhower's announcement for a second term, covered roughly a 150-mile area. It included New York City and Albany, both ordinarily Democratic, and the usually Republican Hudson River Valley and Westchester County.

Harlem, populous Negro center regarded as Democratic since New Deal days, is smarting over racial incidents in Democratic Southern states.

Some of its residents say the Republicans are doing more for the Negro than the Democrats and that there will be an increase in the Harlem Republican vote.

On Israel, Democrats voice belief the Republicans have lost ground.

They say there is dissatisfaction among Israeli's friends over administration policy in the Middle East. They cite the sending of tanks to the Arabs when Israel is asking arms.

"The trouble is," commented one Democrat, "whenever the administration does anything that causes criticism, the average person blames the Cabinet officer involved and not Ike."

While not commenting on the Israel or segregation issues, Republican State Chairman L. Judson Morhouse and his Democratic counterpart, Michael Prendergast, both saw victory in the November election.

Morhouse said Eisenhower's popularity is such he may exceed his 1952 plurality of 850,000. He said more young Republicans than ever before will be working for Eisenhower's election.

Prendergast retorts that Democrat Averell Harriman wiped out this big majority and was elected governor by about 12,000 votes in 1954. He contends the Democrats can win again this year.

The President's announcement he will seek a second term quickly divided his followers and opponents on sharp lines on the possible influence of his heart attack.

"There isn't a person," said a New York City Republican worker, "who doesn't know of somebody who had a heart attack and lived to be 92 years old. Sure, Ike could get a heart attack during a second term, but so could anybody else holding the office of president. The health issue won't hurt Ike."

"Ike was presured into it," said an Albany Democrat. "He's foolish to run—and I'd say that whether he was a Republican or a Democrat. Look at what happened to Roosevelt. Health is bound to be an issue in this campaign."

Kitchen Faucett Runs Out Pure Corn Liquor

DETROIT (AP) — Two men were held for investigation today because their kitchen faucet didn't run water. It ran pure corn liquor, sheriff's deputies said.

The deputies said they found two 600-gallon stills running in a chicken coop outside a home in suburban Sumpter Township. Serving as a "coil," they said was a pipe leading through subfreezing weather to a kitchen tap.

Capt. Clayton Johnson, of the sheriff's road patrol, said 91 gallons were seized, along with Earl Arms, 34, and Edward McAmis, 35.

Youth Submits Bid On Real Fire Engine

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — A 10-year-old boy whose big ambition was to own a real fire engine made an unsuccessful attempt today to bid on one offered for sale by the city.

The bid of $25 was made by Ned Sterling 2d, who wrote his offer with pencil on a sheet of paper and submitted to City Controller George L. Diehl.

The youngster's bid was the first opened today but offers of $150 and $250 were submitted by antique collectors.

Ned's parents said they were aware of the boy's interest in acquiring a fire engine but didn't take the project seriously.

EXPELLED FROM UNIVERSITY—Lennard Wilson, 20-year-old University of Alabama sophomore from Selma, Ala., was expelled from the University in action stemming from student rioting against Autherine Lucy, the school's first Negro student. Wilson, a heated advocate of segregation, is shown as he spoke to students at the University last month. University trustees said he was expelled for his part in leading rioting and for "unwarranted and outrageous public attacks" on school officials.

Economical performance is the big reason why Ford's the V-8 leader!

It takes a FORD to squeeze maximum power out of today's gasoline

Only Ford gives you modern Short Stroke power—V-8 or Six—in every truck! Short Stroke design means up to 53% more power with no increase in engine size

Just one kind of engine can give you all the mileage built into today's gas. And that's a modern Short Stroke engine—the new kind of truck power pioneered by Ford.

Short Stroke engines develop the kind of power that used to be possible only with much bigger engines. And Short Stroke engines do it on less gas! The shorter stroke means less piston travel, which means less friction to waste power and gas, and less wear, too. You get more usable power also—power that works for you at the rear wheels!

New Ford Trucks save you money when you buy! Ford is America's lowest-priced line of V-8 trucks.* And right now your Ford Dealer is offering attractive terms for spring. Call him today and find out what a sweet deal you can get!

Prefer a SIX?

Ford is the only manufacturer who gives you a Short Stroke Six in the light-duty field. It's the most modern, most efficient Six because it gives you more horsepower per cubic inch than any other Six. And in a Ford Six you get integral valve guides, free-turn intake and exhaust valves—plus a deep-skirt crankcase for longer, smoother engine operation.
