Trustees Set Radio Rights

By BILL HAMS
Avalanche Staff Writer

BROADCAST rights to Lubbock Westerner home football games were settled for a three-year period last night by action of Lubbock Independent School district board at a regular meeting at district offices.

Radio station KFYO was awarded broadcast rights for the 1948 high school football season when this station was chosen by lot. Station KCBD received broadcast rights for the 1949 season, and Station KSEL was given the rights for the 1950 season.

Bidding Was Opposed

DeWitt Landis, station manager for KFYO, proposed that the board set the price and allow the three competing radio stations to "draw for the broadcast privileges. He said he opposed competitive bidding for the rights.

Joe Bryant, KCBD manager, concurred with Landis, pointing out that in the past he had found broadcast facilities limited at high school stadiums. He said facilities were usually provided for only two stations and that when more were allowed to broadcast there was great inconvenience.

Bryant contended that it was "bad radio" for two stations to handle the same game at the same time, and could not be considered practical.

Drawing Is Held

Clyde Smith, of KSEL, presented an opposing view to the board. Smith said he believed anyone and everyone should have the right to broadcast high school football games. He pointed out that it was "good publicity for the school and put more money in the till." Smith urged the board to "set the price and let everyone

Flood Waters Edge Into Roswell Area

ROSWELL, N. M., June 3. (AP)—Waters from the overflowing Rio Hondo spread tonight across a widening area in west Roswell and started edging into the business district.

The flood was spreading about a foot every 10 minutes, and the crest had not yet arrived.

Residents spent most of the day sandbagging the area. There was no rolling current—just the steady rise of water.

The first crest of the Rio Hondo hit Roswell last night, but the water penetrated only six blocks. The usually quiet stream was swelled by torrential rains in the mountains west of the city.

Downpours in other parts of the state raised the flow in the Pecos and Rio Grande rivers.

This afternoon, the Pecos had a crest of seven and one-half feet at Santa Rosa in the east-central part of the state. The crest of the secondary rise on the Rio Grande was not expected until June 8-9. However, Middle Rio Grande Conservancy district engineers said the continued high stage of the Rio Grande had waterlogged the dikes at several points. An average of 150 men were working around the clock to prevent a break-through.

County Commissioners Board Of Equalization Meets Today

Judge Walter Davies announced last night that county commissioners of the board of equalization would meet at 10 o'clock this morning at the county court house.

He indicated that no action would be taken on the proposed Lubbock to Buffalo Lake road improvements, since no definite word had been received from the State Highway commission concerning the project.

Efforts To End 'War' Are Pushed

Savage Fighting In Palestine Continues

By SARYA SHAPIRO
INS Staff Correspondent

TEL AVIV, June 3.—The Israeli government claimed victories tonight in both northern and southern Palestine.

It announced that Jewish troops have entered Jenin, Arab town some 40 miles northeast of Tel Aviv, and have completely surrounded Egyptian invasion forces in the Isdud area, 22 miles south of the Israeli capital.

Jenin is the northern anchor of the Arab "terror triangle" concentration area in the hills of north central Palestine, and is a railroad town and road junction.

Britain Orders Embargo

Jewish planes were reported to have bombed the triangle's southern anchor, Nablus, scoring a direct hit on the police station. Nablus is 13 miles south of Jenin and some 28 miles north of Jerusalem.

The anouncement followed an Egyptian communique claiming that 400 Jews were killed when Egyptian forces beat off Israeli counter-attacks at Isdud.

Count Folke Bernadotte, the United Nations Palestine mediator, visited Amman and Haifa in his attempt to secure an Arab-Jewish cease-fire agreement, and Great Britain embargoed arms shipments to the entire Middle East in support of the U. N. truce drive.

The Israeli government protested to Count Bernadotte against the British order to block migration to Palestine of Jews of military age now in Cyprus detention camps.

Plane Shot Down

The government asked the U.N. mediator to approach the British government requesting reconsideration of the ban.

Jewish fighter pilots shot down two twin-engined Egyptian bombers south of Tel Aviv after an undisclosed number of Jews were killed in Arab raids on Tel Aviv and its suburbs.

UN efforts to effect a cease-fire for a four weeks' truce apparently were successful in the case of the Trans-Jordan Arab legion besieging Jerusalem.

Count Bernadotte of Sweden, UN mediator flew from Cairo to Amman, where he conferred with

New Attempt To End Strike Fails

Four days of negotiation between representatives of striking bus operators and management of Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma Motor Coaches, Inc., ended in a stalemate late Thursday.

Primary points of disagreement were:

1. The company's rejection of a union proposal to return all striking employes to their jobs, who had not been charged officially with offenses against the company, and submission of the wage increase issue to arbitration.

Plan Is Offered

Under arbitration, as proposed by the union representative, C. H. Smith, of Fort Worth, vice president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, a union and a company representative would meet with a third person chosen by the governor or other suitable official to give a final decision on the wage issue.

2. The company, in a statement to Smith, barred from re-employment 14 men. According to Smith, this figure had been 17. Smith said this presumably included five men formally charged with offenses of violence against the company in Hale and King counties.

But the names of the other nine men were not known nor the charges against them. He said that these men should have a hearing before agreement on that point could be reached.

The company statement indicated that the unnamed operators

Continental Bus System Grants Pay Boosts In Five-State Area

DALLAS, June 3. (AP)—Pay boosts for 1,200 employes of Continental bus system in a five-state area were granted today, ending three months of negotiations between the company and AFL union officials.

The new contract calls for ¼ cent per mile increases for bus operators and 5 cents hourly boosts for all maintenance and terminal employes. The raises are retroactive to May 16, expiration date of the last contract.

The contract, covering company employes in Texas, New Mexico, Colorado, Oklahoma and Louisiana, was signed in Continental headquarters here.

American Claimed Kidnapped By Reds As 'Intended' Outrage

By OMER ANDERSON

BERLIN, June 3—Dr. Harry L. Franklin, an American military government official seized by Russian soldiers in Berlin last night was released today after a 16-hour detention which he angrily declared was an "intended" outrage.

Franklin is deputy chief of the civil administration division. American officials said the case was a plain one of kidnapping. Franklin stated:

"I feel that my detention by the Soviets after my identity was clearly established is an outrage and probably was intended as such."

American officials said it was part of the Soviet "war of nerves" in an effort to make the western allies quit Berlin.

Louis Glaser, Franklin's immediate superior, said "this apparently means that the Russians have extended their practice of kidnapping Germans to the abduction of Americans."

Franklin, a native of Lexington, Ky., and who has lived in Washington, D. C., was U. S. con-

Truman Starts Speaking Tour

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

ABOARD TRUMAN TRAIN EN ROUTE TO CHICAGO, June 3—President Truman started westward tonight to test his election year oratory on an 8,500 mile trip through 18 states.

Mr. Truman swung aboard his special train at Washington and left on the talking tour at 9:47 p. m. (CST).

There had been hints from railway unions that pickets might be on hand at the Washington station. But no pickets were in sight when Mr. Truman went aboard his private car.

Secretary of State Marshall, Secretary of Defense Forrestal, Secretary of Agriculture Brannon and Attorney General Clark saw Mr. Truman off. So did Senator McGrath (R-RI) Democratic national chairman.

Trip "Non-Political"

The White House calls the trip official and non-political. The Republican high command says it is strictly politics.

In any event, Mr. Truman will go on exhibition before countless potential voters on the first transcontinental train journey he has made since entering the White House.

A Democratic leader in a position to have the facts told a reporter:

"You can look for fighting speeches and some strong pokes at Joe Stalin and the Republican party record. Of course, the President doesn't figure on hurting himself politically on this trip."

Major Talks Slated

This party official said Mr. Truman is counting on hammering hard on foreign policy, reciprocal trade with other countries, public power and reclamation, defense, the farm program and other top topics.

The President has billed five major speeches, the first tomorrow night in Chicago, the last in Los Angeles June 14.

The other big speeches will be at Omaha Saturday, Seattle June 10, and Berkeley, Calif., June 12.

Mr. Truman did some last minute revising and arranged to fly over flood areas in Oregon Friday of next week. He had planned to make a train tour of these areas.

After speaking in Seattle next

'Gunpoint' Flight Made To Italy

ROME, June 3 (INS)—Another "flight at gunpoint" from behind the so-called iron curtain occurred today when a Yugoslav plane landed unexpectedly at Bari in southeastern Italy.

The pilot of the Yugoslav plane, carrying 28 passengers and two crewmen, told police that one passenger brandished a gun and forced him to change course.

First From Yugoslavia

This was the first such incident involving a plane from Marshal Tito's country although several planes recently have landed from Czechoslovakia in the U. S. occupation zone of Germany, allegedly at pistol point.

Other planes reaching London also have carried Czechs fleeing their homeland where the Communists seized power last February.

The Yugoslav pilot told police that he was flying from Belgrade to Sarajevo when forced by the gun-toting passenger to continue on to Italy.

Investigation Pending

The pilot was forced to fly 200 miles further and cross the Adriatic sea to reach the Italian port city.

Police interned all the passengers and crewmen pending an investigation.

The flight may touch off another diplomatic quarrel between Italy and Yugoslavia since the latter often has charged Italy and the western allies are hiding "war criminals," some of whom merely are refugees from Communist Yugoslavia.

Solon Offers Plan For Foreign Legion

WASHINGTON, June 3 (AP)—A long-discussed plan for an American foreign legion to boost manpower for defense was formally introduced today as an amendment to the Senate draft bill.

The proposal was made by Senator Lodge (R-Mass) shortly after the House had approved the largest naval appropriation in peacetime history—$3,686,733,250.

Lodge suggested that 50,000 aliens be allowed to enlist in the American armed forces for five years. They would serve only outside the United States and its territories. At the end of that time they could become U. S. citizens.

Chairman Gurney (R-SD) of the Senate Armed Services committee promptly said he would oppose the foreign legion plan. He said it had been studied by his committee and unanimously rejected.

Anti-British Coalition Takes Over South African Government

PRETORIA, June 3 (INS)—Dr. Daniel F. Malan, new South African prime minister, today announced formation of a new nationalist cabinet succeeding that of the defeated pro-British Field Marshal Jan Christiaan Smuts.

All are members of Malan's anti-British party with the exception of N. C. Havenga, new finance minister and head of the allied Afrikander party.

Battle To Restore Funds Looms In House, Senate

House Committee Votes Sharp Slash In Foreign Aid Funds

By ED CREAGH
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 3—A 26.7 per cent slash in this country's multi-billion dollar foreign aid program was voted today by the House Appropriations committee.

The group, headed by Rep. Taber (R-NY), recommended $5,980,710,228 for the global aid program. This is $553,000,000 less than the ceiling fixed earlier by Congress.

Moreover the committee voted to spread the foreign spending over 15 months. It was set up originally as a one-year program. The committee's action would whittle the monthly rate of spending from $417,000,000 to $306,000,000. Thus it amounts to a 26.7 per cent cut.

Hardest hit would be the European recovery program. The committee recommended $4,000,000,000 in 15 months for this 16-nation project. Congress had authorized up to $4,245,000,000 in 12 months.

House Fight Looms

(Congress already has appropriated $1,055,000,000 for foreign aid, nearly all of it for ERP.)

The new appropriations bill now goes to the full House, where backers of the foreign aid program are certain to demand that some or all of the cuts be restored.

The House ordinarily follows the recommendations of the appropriations committee, however. The hardest fight to raise the appropriations again probably will come in the Senate.

Hoffman Hits Cuts

Paul G. Hoffman, head of the European recovery program, said he "certainly hoped" that Congress would restore the cuts.

"The less money we have, the less recovery we can expect to get," he told a news conference.

Besides the general cut, the House group voted to use $20,000,000 for ERP funds for Trieste relief. Congress had approved a separate $20,000,000 for Trieste.

Other cuts recommended by the appropriations committee:

Chinese aid: From $463,000,000 to $400,000,000.

Government and relief in occupied areas: From $1,400,000,000 to $1,250,000,000.

Long Hearings Held

These programs were not cut: International children's fund, $60,000,000, and international refugee organization, $70,710,228.

In a last-minute change, the appropriations group added to its bill a ban against wool purchases from any source except the Commodity Credit corporation so long as the CCC has a surplus.

The appropriations committee, which made its recommendations after lengthy hearings during which many witnesses were closely questioned, said more than the $5,980,710,288 total could not be spent "on an intelligent basis" before July 1, 1949.

It added that the U. S. has spent more than $18,000,000,000 for similar purposes since July 1, 1945—"much of it wasted," the report said.

During hearings on foreign spending, three witnesses said the European recovery program prevented a depression in this country.

Records of the hearings, released today, contained this testimony by Rep. Cannon (D-Mo), Rep. Mahon (D-Tex) and Morris F. Dodd, undersecretary of agriculture.

"I think you would see one of the greatest crashes in the commodity market you have ever seen in the world if this program were cut off," Dodd said.

Judge Enters Formal Judgment Upholding Building Amendment

AUSTIN, June 3. (AP)—District Judge Roy C. Archer today entered formal judgment declaring the $60,000,000 constitutional building amendment legally adopted last August.

The formal judgment, prepared by the state, followed the judge's legal ruling to the same effect which was handed down May 21.

The suit had been brought by C. W. Whiteside, Spencer A. Wells, Homer Maxey, all of Lubbock, and H. E. Speer of Dallas, attacking constitutionality of the method in which the amendment was adopted.

Four Lamesa Residents Are Hurt In Train-Car Wreck

(Special To The Avalanche)

BALLINGER, June 3—Four members of a Lamesa family were injured, three of them seriously, in an automobile-train accident here at 1:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Injured were Erich Henry Kunkel, his wife, Selma, and two daughters, Marjorie Nell, 10, and Audrey Faye, 6.

Mr. and Mrs. Kunkel and Marjorie Nell were admitted to the Bailey clinic here.

Taken To San Angelo

Audrey Faye, who suffered a skull fracture, was taken to a San Angelo hospital by a Newby-Davis ambulance to be treated by a brain specialist.

The accident happened at the North Broadway Santa Fe crossing as the west-bound train No. 73 started to pull into the station. Kunkel, driver of the car, was headed north.

Kunkel said he stopped at the crossing but pulled ahead when he saw another car pass him and cross the tracks. The car stalled on the tracks and was struck broadside on the right side.

Car Is Demolished

The automobile, a 1947 Chevrolet sedan, was pushed and carried 185 feet before Engineer H. L. Denson was able to stop the train with the emergency brakes. The car remained on front of the Diesel-type engine and was removed by passersby before Mrs. Kunkel could be removed from the right front seat. The sedan was totally wrecked.

The two children were riding in the back seat, Audrey Faye on the right side. She suffered a fractured skull and was in critical condition at San Angelo Thursday night.

Mrs. Kunkel sustained a gash over her eyes and an injured hip Kunkel suffered injuries to his chest and right shoulder. Marjorie Nell apparently sustained only scratches and bruises.

The family was en route to Austin to see a son, Herbert Lee Kunkel, who is to finish his first year at Lutheran Concordia college Friday.

Nevada Painter Is 'Sore' About First Tornado In State

(By The Associated Press)

RENO, Nev., June 3—Nevada lost another distinction last night, and Cecil W. Sherwood is sore about it.

Sherwood, 37-year-old Reno painter, was in the midst of things when the state had its first tornado.

The storm lifted an 11 by 16 foot house from its foundation 25 miles east of here and dashed it to pieces against rocks more than 100 feet away. Sherwood, who was painting the inside walls of the cabin when the tornado struck, was carried with the building, but clambered from the wreckage with what hospital reports described as very painful but minor injuries.

Building Codes Revision Seen

By CHARLES STONE
Avalanche Staff Writer

Consideration of ways and means of securing for the city adequate and satisfactory building, electrical and plumbing codes occupied a major part of the attention of the City Planning commission at its regular monthly meeting last night at City Hall.

W. L. Bradshaw, acting as spokesman for a special committee previously set up by the commission to study the need for such codes, presented the report of the committee to the commission.

Codes Out Of Date

The report stated that the present building, electrical and plumbing codes, adopted by the city in 1938, had become inadequate and outdated in several respects. The committee recommended that the commission adopt a resolution recommending to the City commission that it employ a competent individual or agency to study the needs of the city and prepare either a revision of the existing codes or a new code, which would be adopted by the City commission only after review by a competent citizen's committee set up for that purpose.

The Planning commission voted to accept the report of the special committee and to adopt the resolu-

Scientists Dedicate Largest Telescope Amid Dread, Hope

By LYLE ABBOTT

MOUNT PALOMAR, Calif., June 3. — World-famed scientists dedicated the 200-inch telescope atop Mount Palomar today and spoke in mingled dread and hope of discoveries which may be made by it.

The thousand invited guests assembled in the huge revolving dome of the observatory heard that the world's biggest telescope may give "knowledge which, if we choose, we can employ in the insanity of a final war."

Other scientists predicted that the huge sky-gazer will fathom the secrets of the universe, determine the source of stellar energy and the origin of chemical elements, and answer the age-old question:

Does life exist on Mars, Venus and other planets.

Grim reminder that one of man's crowning scientific achievements may bring horror to stagger the imagination came from Raymond B. Fosdick, president of the Rockefeller foundation which poured more than six million dollars into the Palomar project.

He said that the Rockefeller trustees gladly supplied funds for

By HAROLD PATERSON
INS Staff Correspondent

PORTLAND, Ore., June 3. — A new crest rolled down the raging Columbia river tonight as the Army engineers declared the lower river an emergency area for the next 10 days.

The river will begin rising at Portland Sunday and continue at least through Monday.

The prediction was made by Elmer Fisher, river forecaster for the Weather bureau, who said the new increase will result from a six-inch rise in the Snake river of Idaho, one of the Columbia's biggest tributaries.

New Rise Predicted

Fisher's report came as the Fraser river in British Columbia also was rising again and the muddy, swirling flood water of the Columbia not only refused to give ground but began to rise upstream.

Fisher said the Columbia will drop to a stage of 29.2 feet at Vancouver, Wash., Saturday, still more than 14 feet above the banks. He estimated the crest last Tuesday at 31.1 and said he is not sure of the exact record because the flood prevented anybody from seeing the gauge closely enough.

By Monday the Columbia will be back up to 29.5 feet, he said. He thinks it "might rise slowly after Monday."

$100 Million Loss Set

At the same time Fisher expressed belief that the new crest will "not be as bad as the first one unless something unforeseen happens." By "something unforeseen" he said, he meant "100 degree temperatures in the mountains for two or three days."

He based this belief on conviction that "there isn't much more snow left to melt" in the mountains of the upper Columbia basin.

Meanwhile, Brig. Gen. Ensley M. Llewellyn, Washington state adjutant general, estimated the flood loss at $100,000,000. The Weather bureau's Oregon crop bulletin said losses of farm crops, livestock and building will "run in tens of millions."

Strain On Dikes Grows

Union Reverses Labor Law Stand

(By The Associated Press)

The CIO United Farm Equipment and Metal Workers union reversed itself Thursday and decided to comply with the non-Communist provisions of the Taft-Hartley act.

Four members of the union's executive board resigned rather than comply, the union said.

Grant Oakes, union president, said the compliance decision was made "with reluctance and repugnance." A recent rank and file referendum favored the step. The union had decided in February to ignore the provision.

"Scab" Raids Hit

Oakes said union members and officers felt compliance was necessary "to preserve our union against scab raids by the vultures of the labor movement." The union claims 60,000 members.

When union officials sign non-Communist affidavits, the union again will be entitled to the services of the National Labor Relations board.

Recently the union's authority to continue to represent some 18,000 workers at the Caterpillar Tractor company in Peoria was challenged by the management. The union called a strike. The NLRB then held an election to determine a bargaining agent but barred the UFEMW union from the ballot. The CIO United Auto Workers won the election and the UFEMW ended its strike.

Resigning from the union's board were Gerald Fielde, secretary-treasurer; Ajay Martin, a vice president; Milt Burns, organ-

Program To Be Pushed, Official Says

Texan Assumes Post In Fight On Disease

(By The Associated Press)

MEXICO CITY, June 3—Maj. Gen. Harry H. Johnson, a Texan, took over United States representation in the foot and mouth disease commission today.

Gen. Johnson, of Glenflora, Texas, former military governor of Rome, has been sworn in as co-director of the commission although, technically, he does not succeed Dr. M. S. Shahan of the Bureau of Animal industry, until June 15. Gen. Johnson completes his round of official calls on the Mexican government tonight with a visit to Secretary of Agriculture Nazario Ortiz Garza, accompanied by U. S. Ambassador Walter Thurston.

No New Program Seen

The new co-director retains his title of assistant to the U. S. Secretary of Agriculture. The commission's Mexican director, Oscar Flores, is Undersecretary of Agriculture.

Gen. Johnson, in his first news conference, said "I have no new program." He said the commission is "making a scientific approach" toward control of the disease and that the vaccination of cattle will be expanded as quickly as feasible.

Dr. Shahan, with a world wide reputation as an expert on the foot and mouth disease, said about 300,000 cattle have been vaccinated. Mexican refusal to continue the slaughter campaign has converted the fight against the disease into one of control and prevention.

More Vaccine Needed

Vaccine has been imported and laboratories here now are producing about 25,000 doses weekly. Eventually, Gen. Johnson said, the commission expects to vaccinate about 150,000 animals weekly but it will be some time before enough vaccine is ready.

The commission calculates that there are about 20,000,000 cattle, pigs, sheep and other cloven-hooved animals in Mexico and that about 5,000,000 of these may have to be vaccinated. Cattle must be vaccinated every six months.

The hoof and mouth disease which broke out on the gulf coast a year and a half ago, "has burned itself out," Dr. Shahan said, "but like a forest fire, it still smolders."

The disease now has been pushed back from all sides into an area centering roughly around this city. Several affected states have been found clean and an especially rigid quarantine line is sought to be maintained along the north of the disease area to prevent spread of the disease to the United States.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

DENVER, June 3 (INS)—Denver officials of the Commercial Telegraph Union (AFL) protested today against the transfer of about 100 Western Union workers to Kansas City, Mo.

LEXINGTON, Ky., June 3 (AP)—The Lexington woman who said she would pay $10,000 for a husband today had six takers.

The woman's identity still was not disclosed. The Lexington Leader said it had received replies from men willing to take the woman and her $10,000 with requests that they be forwarded to her.

Two of the replies came from Missouri. Oklahoma, Arkansas, Rhode Island and Massachusetts each contributed one.

Most businesslike among the applicants was a Missourian who said: "I would like to have the name of that old gal that is offering $10,000 for a husband man. I sure can fix her up."

But the Arkansas justice appeared to be the most sincere. He listed his qualifications and expressed an appreciation for "Kentucky womanhood, and this Kentucky woman in particular."

The Oklahoman said he wasn't interested in the woman's $10,000. All he wants, he said, is "to get in touch with her."

General Strike Of Building Service Employes Is Averted

NEW YORK, June 3 (INS)—A general strike in 4,000 apartment houses, offices and loft buildings in New York was averted today when 25,000 AFL building service employes were granted a $5 weekly wage increase.

The new contract contains a unique clause which provides that a possible downward adjustment in wages may be made in December if the landlords fail to win permission to raise rents from rent control authorities.

Many Never Suspect Cause of Backaches

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

U. S. Army Testing Underground Defense Against Heavy Bombing

By MURRAY M. MOLER
United Press Staff Writer

DUGWAY PROVING GROUNDS, Utah, June 3.—Clouds of dust will rise over the Western Utah desert shortly as a token of things to come.

They presage larger clouds of dust that will shoot into the sky as the Army tries to see how much powder—or atomic bombings—it takes to destroy an underground factory.

The Army's corps of engineers and civilian contractors are the men now on "operation underground." Later this summer and fall, explosives and demolition experts will take over with varying charges of TNT ranging up to 320,000 pounds.

The idea of the operation, which has a high rating on the nation's defense parade, is to build simulated factories, foundations and other structures well underground, then try to blow them up.

Heavily Reinforced

The structures — mostly of heavily reinforced concrete with wills of differing thickness—are being put in place on the salt flats, deserts, and limestone cliffs around this remote proving grounds 85 miles southwest of SaltLake City.

Others are being built in sandstone bluffs near Castle Dale in central Utah and in the Granite Mountains south of Grand Junction, Colo.

Those at the "dry clay" site south of Dugway are nearing completion. The clay is so dry that it billows 50 feet in the air as construction equipment bites into it. Workers and observers must, or should, wear safety glasses and respirators.

The actual test firings, with small charges of TNT, will begin soon after June 1. The charges will become increasingly stronger against new targets until at least three, perhaps five, "full-scale" loads of 160 tons of TNT in the form of mines is placed deep in the special holes near the targets.

Experts to Take Over

The first of the "big boys" will go off about Sept. 1; the last about the time snow flies over the western slope of the Rocky Mountains.

When all the shooting is done, a corps of experts — military and civilian—will look over the data and issue secret instructions to designers on how thick walls and foundations will have to be built to withstand the impact of high explosives.

The fact that both targets and explosives are being placed underground is not a coincidence.

Army authorities admit that the idea in the back of their minds in ordering the operation is to see what would happen should a guided missle or a bomb, probably containing an atomic warhead, land near a factory and burrow far into the soil or rock before exploding.

Can Be Calculated

They know the difference between the explosive force of TNT and atomic bombs. So from the TNT-exploded targets, they can calculate the rest.

The project is being directed now by H. O. Plath, in charge of the Salt Lake City field office of the corps of engineers. He reports to Col. Joseph F. Gorlinski, district Army engineer at Sacramento, Cal.

Actually placement of the targets is being done by Morrison-Knudsen Co., Boise, Ida., civilian super - contractors. Instrumentation is being laid out by Engineering Research Associates, a pool of some of the nation's best military and civilian engineering brains.

Dog Confused Over Whether To Chase 'Cat' Or Officer

OCEANSIDE, Cal., June 3. (U.P.)—Police officer Tony Telebar answered a telephone call from an excited woman who reported that her dog had treed a cat near her home.

As Telebar arrived on the scene, the dog left the treed cat and chased the officer. The cat then jumped from the tree and bounded down a canyon. The dog switched back after the cat and again treed the feline. This time the officer turned a flashlight on the tree and saw—not a housecat—but a full grown wildcat.

He fired his service revolver and the animal fell from the tree into a clump of bushes. There were many snarls and growls from the area but Telebar declined to approach the wounded cat.

In the morning there was no sign of either a dead or wounded wildcat.

Atomic Bombing Of Typhoons Proposed

MANILA, June 3. (U.P.)—A Philippine congressman thinks atom bombs might destroy typhoons.

Rep. Francisco Perfector, a provincial coconut planter, has offered a bill which would create an international "anti-typhoon" commission to test his theory that atomic explosions could quell the fiercest storm.

"Something must be done," he said. "Typhoons caused $100,000,000 damage in the Philippines alone last year. In my province half the coconut trees were blown down and the rest were stripped bare like candles."

Under Perfecto's bill, the Philippines government would put up $500,000 for typhoon research. Scientists of all nations would be invited to join.

IT GOES FOR HORSES, TOO

CHILLICOTHE, O. (U.P.)—Ray Grubb, 43, a farmer, was fined $15 and costs by Municipal Judge E. A. Moats. The charge: riding a horse on the left side of the road.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

THEY say a baseball game is twice as much fun if you are seeing it on the company's time.

• • •

POWER OF A WOMAN

DON McNEILL, popular radio emcee, gave some fatherly advice the other day to a girl on her twentieth birthday.

"You are now entering a woman's world," he told her.

"A woman's world?" the young woman asked incredulously.

To which sage McNeill replied: "When a man is born, people ask, "How's the mother?"

When a man marries, people say, "What a lovely bride!"

When a man dies, people ask, "How much did he leave her?"

• • •

HOLD THAT MAN

WRITE your spouse a love letter for a happier life. The Rev. Edward Dowling says it can be a guard against the temporary divorce city living breeds between husband and wife. The break occurs each day when the husband turns to his business, the wife to her children.

Father Dowling, whose home is in St. Louis, Mo., expresses his idea in an article in the current issue of "Action Now," a national Catholic publication of which he is associate editor. He has held more than one hundred conferences for married couples. About four per cent of them practice letter writing.

• • •

FROM wives who say their love letter technique has brought results, Father Dowling relays these rules:

Write when you are alert — usually early in the morning.

Write with a prayer in your heart, offering it as an act to further God's work in your married vocation.

For the first few times, write a preliminary letter you know you will not use. You will feel free to put your real thoughts down. Then write your letter, choosing what you wish from the first one.

Give the letter to your husband as he leaves for work.

The first paragraph should be about the letter itself.

• • •

The second paragraph should be about yourself. Put down your shortcomings. They make a husband feel he is needed. It will make it easier for him to tell you of his own mistakes and failures.

The third paragraph should be about the husband—the things widows usually mention at the funeral parlor.

In the last paragraph ask for what you want.

Don't be surprised if your husband doesn't mention the letter. They are as slow as babies in learning how to talk about what they really think.

Be assured your husband will be as pleased with the letter as you would be if he had written it to you.

MISCELLANY

A GIRL'S class ring bearing the letters BHS and date 1925 and the initials, MLH, was found in the park near Roscoe Wilson school Wednesday afternoon. The owner may have the jewelry by dialing 7066.

A fox terrier is to be given away. His owners are afraid he will get run over and suggest he would make a fine pet for a farm child. Go to 4007 Ave. H, if you are interested.

Publisher Proposes Demos Skip Naming Candidate For President

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 3—The oldest daily newspaper in the United States today proposed that the Democratic national convention should not nominate a candidate for president this year.

The paper is the Alexandria, Va., Gazette, established just across the Potomac before Washington was founded in 1784. Publisher C. C. Carlin, jr., contributed the editorial suggestion which, he argued, should result in a Democratic president after next November's election.

Publisher Outlines Plan

Carlin's idea is that various states and regions should make their own Democratic presidential nominations after the convention has completed its business in Philadelphia in July.

"Let the national convention be held as usual," said Carlin's editorial, "adopt the party's platform and proceed with the customary transaction of the business for which it is called, except that it should not nominate a candidate for president. This would be neither approval nor rejection of the candidacy of President Truman.

"Instead let the convention direct the Democratic organizations in the several states each to nominate a candidate of their choice whose name would be entered upon the state ballot together with the names of the electors."

Carlin makes the point that presidential electors are not bound in any way to cast their votes for a particular candidate even though his name may appear as the nominee upon the ballot cast by the voters. That is a fact not generally realized by the persons who cast the votes.

Carlin wrote that his formula "could and should result in the success of the Democratic candidate." He proposed that the electors of the various states of Democratic persuasion should meet together after the election.

"Let the chairman of the Democratic national committee be empowered to call a meeting of such electors," Carlin continued, "with direction to them to select the candidate for whom all of them would vote in the electoral college always remembering that it is the electors who actually elect the president."

"Formulating their own rules each would indicate his first preference, and then by the process of successively eliminating the name lowest on the list, would arrive at a majority choice, or, in deference to the old two thirds rule, they could make their selection by that requirement. Having entered such a meeting and agreed to abide by its decision, they would return to their states and cast their votes in the electoral college for the candidate agreed upon. The electors would select their candidate and vote for him."

Major Central China Battle Is Reported

NANKING, June 3 (AP)—A big battle was reported raging today on the plains of central China north of Hankow, major government base.

A military spokesman asserted the government had won the first stage of the battle, killing more than 1,000 Reds and routing two divisions.

Press accounts said five government divisions were engaged by 100,000 Communists.

OBSERVE BIRTHDAY

LANSING, Mich., June 3 (AP)—Ransom E. Olds, famed automobile industry pioneer, observed his 84th birthday today, in good health and convinced that "competition will bring about a marked drop in new car prices." Olds, who founded the Reo and Oldsmobile automotive concerns, is no longer active in the industry.

Take Off Ugly Fat With Grape Fruit Juice Recipe

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy — no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of Liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears — how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Forgery Suspect Is Arrested In Ohio

An 84-year-old man who allegedly uses so many names that an Amarillo newspaper has referred to him as "Alias the Alias" was nabbed Wednesday when the arm of John Law reached from Texas to Ohio.

The man is wanted in Lubbock and Potter counties for investigation into forgeries, Sheriff Grady Harrist of Lubbock and Sheriff Bill Adams of Amarillo said. He is held in Ohio.

He, W. R. Hadley, alias Robert J. Miller, alias Ray Miller, alias Ray M. Monroe, alias C. E. Lee, alias Henry Bob Allen, alias H. C. Medley, alias Russell J. Windel, has a criminal record dating back to 1889, Harrist had been informed.

Adams told Harrist in a telephone conversation that the man was captured by police at Jerome, O.

Hold orders immediately were placed by the two Texas sheriffs.

Adams said the man was convicted of forgery in 1941 in Amarillo and sent to Leavenworth, supposedly for 10 years. He is supposed to have served sentences at Joilet, Ill., Nebraska, and possibly in Colorado.

Amarillo investigators said they wanted to question him into a $495 forged check cashed there. It was on a Newark, N. J., firm.

A check for more than $300 earlier had been cashed here.

Adams and Harrist said the man wrote letters to national concerns, obtained letterheads by reply, along with useful signatures, then printed his own checks.

District Attorney Lloyd King of Amarillo said the case there would be turned over to federal authorities for prosecution, if Potter county ever gains custody of the man.

KNOCKED, BUT NOT STIFF

GREENFIELD, O. (U.P.) — Three residents of the nearby hamlet known locally as Knock-'Em-Stiff, O., are thankful the name of their home town doesn't apply always. A car driven by Charles Coppach stalled on a railroad crossing near here. Coppach and his two passengers from Knock-'Em-Stiff escaped shortly before a train ploughed into the automobile, knocking it many feet down the track.

Fort Worth Detective Will Investigate Own Complaint

FORT WORTH, June 3 (U.P.)—The complainant today was W. E. Ruckman and the detective assigned the case bore the same name.

It was no coincidence. They were the same man.

Ruckman reported loss of two saddles, bridles and blankets taken from horses owned by the Acme stables, managed by the officer in his off hours.

The animals were rented by two young men who rode off, stripped them and turned them loose.

Attorney General Daniel Announces For Re'election

AUSTIN, June 3 (AP)—Attorney General Price Daniel today announced for re-election.

Now completing his first term, Daniel said during the summer he would make a complete report to the people concerning the work of his office regardless of whether or not he has any opposition.

So far, no opponents have filed against him.

Daniel said his office has disposed of 1,238 law suits and 1,212 requests for legal opinions since January, 1947. He said some of the most important cases involving the welfare of the state are still pending. These, he said, include the Sweatt case, the tidelands conflict with the federal government, and a large number of anti-trust suits and investigations.

'FREEDOM OF SEAS' URGED

U. S. Rejects Egyptian Defense Of Arab's Palestine Blockade

By GEORGE DURNO
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 3. (INS)—The United States rejected flatly today an Egyptian defense of the Arab blockade of strife-torn Palestine.

Assistant to the Secretary of State Michael J. McDermott, announcing receipt of the Egyptian explanation, declared:

Second Protest Planned

McDermott said a second U. S. protest will be dispatched to Cairo.

Co-blockaders Lebanon and Syria have not answered the first U. S. protest although Lebanon has defended its seizure and interment of 41 American Jews allegedly enroute to the Holy Land to fight.

Text of the Egyptian note was not disclosed but McDermott said Egypt "adhered to its original position."

The United States has insisted on traditional "freedom of the seas."

In Congress, Rep. Klein (D-NY) asserted he will seek to amend the foreign aid bill Friday to prevent allocation of any funds to Great Britain, which he charged is helping the Arab states in their war against the Jews.

Klein announced his action after the House Appropriations committee, in preparing the bill, ignored demands that Britain be barred from using American funds to support the Arabs.

Authorities on international law pointed out that no declared state of war, validating a blockade, exists between the Arab states and the new Jewish state of Israel.

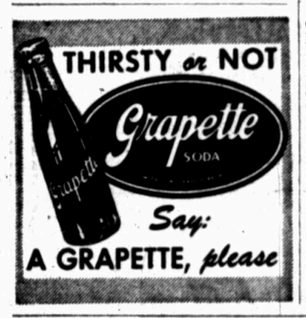

Reports reached the State department that material consigned to Palestine has been removed from several vessels at Alexandria. None of the vessels in question were of American registery.

Meanwhile, the State department was advised by acting U. S. Consul-General William C. Burdett Jr. that the situation in Jerusalem last night was the quietest since May 14, marked only by scattered small arms fire.

The Jewish agency reported general quiet prevailing throughout Palestine.

Anticipating that the United National Security Council may ask for military observers in Palestine during the four-week truce about to be effected, the State department arranged with the Department of Defense to have 21 Army, Navy and Air Force officers in readiness.

A question was raised at the State department whether officials of Zionist organizations in the United States would have to register as agents of a foreign power. McDermott said decision was up to the Justice department.

Police Chief Still Going Strong After 58 Years Of Service

FRANKLIN, Neb., May 27 (U.P.)—E. W. Agnew, 87-year-old police chief of Franklin, claims the honor of having served as a peace officer for a longer period than any man in the United States—58 years.

He is still going strong.

Agnew started his law work in 1888 at the age of 27 in Smith County, Kan., where he was constable for 10 years. He followed that with 15 years as sheriff of Smith County, six years as deputy and in 1920 another two years as sheriff.

Added to his Kansas service is more than 25 years as chief of police at Franklin. While holding this job, Agnew served more than 14 years as deputy sheriff in Franklin County under three sheriffs.

The slender chief still is vigorous and nimble, as has been discovered by men more than 50 years his junior.

Still Has Temper

Agnew's friends say he is a kindly family man and grandfather. He performs his somewhat unpleasant duties with courtesy when possible, but his fiery temper comes to the fore if he is not accorded the same treatment and respect.

The police chief enjoys telling of his experiences in the days of the "hoss thief" and the bank robber gangs. In his long career he has found himself in danger but will tell only of the humorous incidents.

Once, when prohibition was in force, Agnew was pursuing a bootlegger with a carload of liquor over the country roads south of Franklin.

The chase crossed the Kansas border, and Agnew's jurisdiction ceased, but the chase didn't. Knowing the Smith County roads like a book, Agnew took a short-cut and rounded up his man some 10 or 12 miles inside Kansas.

Since the bootlegger raised no objection, he was brought back to Franklin, where he pleaded guilty, lost his automobile, his load of contraband, and paid a heavy fine and costs.

Agnew said he had "considerable" trouble keeping a straight face when the bootlegger complained bitterly: "If I had ever got into Kansas everything would have been all right."

Says Agnew with a grin: "Maybe the arrest was not quite according to the books, but I didn't consider it my business to tell this man where he had been. After all, the way we twisted and turned over those country roads, I might have been mistaken myself."

Freight Rates On Canned Goods Shipped From Area Discussed

Freight rates on canned goods shipped from the South Plains were discussed by area canners and packers with railroad officials Tuesday at a meeting in Plainview Chamber of Commerce offices.

George Bond, director of agricultural activities for the Lubbock chamber, and W. A. Dorman, Lubbock food company head, attended from here.

South Plains food processors contend rates, as they now exist, prevent them from selling to markets in other parts of the U. S. The major item discussed was shipment of blackeyed peas, but the processors pointed out that the discussion would apply to other items which they hoped to can in the future.

The railroads were represented by W. P. Brooks, assistant division freight and passenger agent for Santa Fe lines, Lubbock; Guy C. Victory, general agent Fort Worth and Denver City, Lubbock; W. A. Blank, general freight agent Fort Worth and Denver, Fort Worth; J. G. Roberts, assistant general freight agent, Santa Fe lines, and C. R. Smith, Santa Fe rate clerk, both of Amarillo.

The railroad officials promised to give "serious consideration" to the complaints voiced by the processors.

HOPKINS' PAPERS REVEALS TALKS

U. S. And Britain Mapped War Plans Before Japanese Attack

NEW YORK, June 3 (INS)—The late Harry Hopkins wrote in his secret papers that more than eight months before Pearl Harbor the United States and Britain had drawn up a grand strategy plan for war against Germany and Japan.

This was revealed today in the third installment of the top presidential adviser's papers published by Collier's magazine.

"Marriage" Revealed

In the article Robert E. Sherwood, as Hopkins' official biographer, gives details of the American "common law marriage" with Britain months before the United States entered the war.

Sherwood said that the U. S.-Britain "common law marriage . . . (was) 'not recognized' in such 'jurisdictions' as the Congress, and if the isolationists had known the full extent of it their demands for the impeachment of President Roosevelt would have been a great deal louder."

Hopkins' papers reveal that the first highly-secret American-British staff talks on strategy began in the summer of 1940.

Talks Held Frequently

The talks became more frequent and formal when Germany, Italy and Japan signed their tripartite treaty in Berlin on Sept. 27, 1940.

"These staff talks, and the complete interchange of expert opinions as well as facts that they produced," Sherwood writes, "provided the highest degree of strategic preparedness that the United States or probably any other non-aggressor nation has ever had before entry into war."

Sherwood reports that the Anglo-American collaboration, as of six months before the U. S. entered the war, included the following:

Information Exchanged

First, the exchange of scientific information on many subjects, including atomic energy and radar; second, a pooling of military intelligence; third, the dispatch of a stream of American military and civilian specialists to Britain; fourth, the strengthening of the U. S. Atlantic fleet to ease the pressure on Britain's fleet, and fifth, approval of plans for the occupation by U. S. forces of Greenland, Iceland, the Azores and Martinique.

But "most important of all," Sherwood reports, was the initiation of Anglo-American staff talks and the drawing up of the final grand strategy plan. He said this plan called for "a concentration of force . . . on Germany first, while a containing war of attrition was to be waged against Japan pending Germany's defeat."

Sherwood was a colleague of both Roosevelt and Hopkins. He has had access to the contents of Hopkins' 40 crates of official papers, memoranda and personal notes.

My food soured and it just seemed as if everything was wrong with me. To anyone suffering like I was, I recommend Mertox highly."

Man Who 'Died' Is Awarded $25,000 For Injury In Mishap

FORT WORTH, June 3. (U.P.)—A district court jury today awarded $25,000 personal damages to a Dallas man who "died" in April of 1942.

He is William Clair, who also received $950 for hospital and doctor bills from the Tarrant County Electric co-operative.

Clair was a crew member removing trees for replanting and attempted to lift an electric wire so a truck could pass under it. The shock resulted in amputation of his left arm, he said.

His employer, Walter W. Morrison, sr., testified that Clair "didn't breathe" for 27 minutes.

Clair had asked damages of $100,000.

Candidate's Fee For Railroad Commission Is Paid By Father

AUSTIN, June 3. (AP)—W. J. Murray, sr., of Abilene today paid the $100 filing fee to have the name of his son, Railroad Commissioner William J. Murray, jr., placed on the Democratic ballot.

The commissioner is a candidate for his first elective term to the post to which he was appointed in January, 1947, by Gov. Beauford H. Jester.

Auto Fatalities Show Increase During May

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—Deaths caused by automobile accidents start increasing in May. The increase in fatalities continues through the summer and into the fall months, traffic increase being responsible for a mounting death toll through August. Motor car travel declines in the fall, but fewer hours of daylight contribute to a continued rise in total deaths.

Accident records of various states show that 16-year old drivers, on a mileage basis, are involved in three to nine times as many fatal accidents as middle-aged drivers. Why do youngsters have such a bad accident record? The Automotive Safety Foundation says traffic research experts blame lack of driver training along with three characteristics of youth. The youth characteristics are:

1. Too much energy. This shows up in excessive speed, vigorous braking, engine-racing, wheel-spinning and other forms of energetic driving. These result in more frequent skidding accidents and in-line collisions. 2. Inability to keep attention on driving. Youth finds it difficult to resist distractions. This leads young drivers to participate in entertainment of car companions or to wave at friends. 3. Tendency to "show-off." Expression of the thrill of desire.

Safety authorities say these youth characteristics do not ordinarily appear in the police accident records. They are subject only to change at the hands of qualified educators. The foundation says that Arizona, which has been expanding its high school driving training program since 1944, reports a sharp downtrend in high school age traffic fatalities. These numbered 23 in 1944, 11 in 1945, 6 in 1946, and one to a late date in 1947.

Delaware reports a tremendous improvement in the accident and violation records of trained young drivers in contrast to the untrained youths. The foundation says that while there has been a great increase of public interest in high school driver education, only a fraction of the 25,000 high schools in the country offer adequate instruction.

Lufkin Mother Gives Fifth Son To U.S. Armed Forces

LUFKIN, June 3 (AP)—Mrs. Cora L. Gentry, who lost two sons in World War II, has given her fifth son to the armed services.

Mrs. Gentry signed her approval of the Army enlistment of L. C. Gentry, her youngest son, yesterday and commented:

"This is the fifth son I have given my country, but it is a good country to give our boys to."

She expressed relief, however, that the youth is entering service in peace time.

When the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor, Jesse and Grady Gentry were with the 31st Infantry regiment in the Philippines. Jesse was captured and died in a Japanese prison camp. Grady was killed during the fighting on Japan.

Edward Gentry served 16 months in the Army Finance department at Fort Sam Houston. Ivison Gentry, the fourth brother, served two years in the Navy.

Accord With Russia On Uniform German Currency May Be Sought

LONDON, June 3. (AP)—Responsible diplomatic officials reported today the Western powers plan to seek an accord with Russia soon on establishment of a sound, uniform currency throughout Germany for use in domestic and international trade.

No details were disclosed. Chances for success of the move were seen in the fact both Russia and the Western powers have argued the need for a uniform currency.

Agreement to make a new effort in this direction was reached in a conference of six countries which ended here yesterday.

The countries — the United States, France, Great Britain, Belgium, the Netherlands, and Luxembourg—charted plans for western Germany's political and economic future.

The Russians recently blamed the Western powers—the U. S. in particular—for the breakdown of four-power Berlin talks on German financial reform. Both the U. S. and Britain denied the charge.

Jack Alderson Receives Outstanding Recognition

Represents State In All-Star Tilt

ALDERSON

Jack Alderson, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Alderson, 2222-17th street, has been selected to represent Texas at the National Baseball Festival of the Ozark mountains.

The festival, sponsored by the National Baseball office of Philadelphia, Pa., will be held in Van Buren and Fort Smith, Ark., July 11 through 18. Also sponsoring the festival is the American Legion.

All Around Athlete

Alderson, a 1948 graduate of Lubbock High school, where he was an outstanding athlete in football, basketball and baseball, will receive the title of "junior ambassador from the state of Texas."

The young Lubbock star will play in the outfield on the U.S.A. All-Star nine that will play the Arkansas All-Stars, also teen age boys of outstanding ability. Last year's visiting all-star team was captained by Buddy Parker of Corpus Christi in the games at Baltimore, Md.

Games will be played on July 16, 17 and 18, with possibly such stars at Babe Ruth, Carl Hubbell, Bill Dickey, Lefty Grove and Pepper Martin on hand. Coaches will be veteran baseball men.

Will Receive Uniforms

The uniforms which the visiting All-Star delegation will wear have been bought and are gray, with blue and white trimming. Each player, including Alderson, will receive the uniform, along with a beautiful orange jacket, an exact duplicate of the Texas university color. These jackets also will be given to the players.

The players will be the guests of the NBO and will be given his meals, hotel entertainment, sightseeing tours, transportation to baseball games and adult guide service.

Principally responsible for Alderson's choice as representative of Texas was H. J. McCabe, commander of Allen Brothers Post No. 148, American Legion. The trip will be sponsored by the Legion post and by the state of Texas.

Letter To Governor

In a letter to Gov. Beauford H. Jester, Joseph J. Tomlin, NBO director, said:

"The National Baseball Office of Philadelphia takes pleasure in announcing the selection of Outfielder Jack Alderson as official junior ambassador from the State of Texas to the National Baseball Festival of the Ozark Mountains, Van Buren and Fort Smith, Arkansas, July 11-18, 1948.

"We are thankful to Commander H. J. McCabe, sponsor of Jack's trip, for bringing this fine Texan to our attention and that of the nation. His background is magnificent.

"We request your kind help in making available to young Alderson your state flag, 4 by 6 feet, to present to the State of Arkansas as token of good will from the people of Texas and their illustrious governor."

Neel Sets New Strikeout Mark

Jackie Neel established a new South Plains Softball League strikeout record last night and G. W. Warden hurled a losing no-hit ball game in the two featured games at Jumbo Webster Field.

The Baldridge Bakery beat the Thomas Jewelers in the second contest, 1-0, after the Bluebonnet-Sunbeam nine had taken an 11-1 victory from the Cloverlake Dairy.

Loss A Heartbreaker

Warden's loss was a real heart breaker. The clever, able hurler didn't allow a single hit all night, but got himself into trouble by walking Jim Joe Rieger.

Reiger proceeded to steal second, but the danger still wasn't great with Warden pitching good ball. At this point Billy Kelley, the usually dependable catcher, threw wildly into centerfield and Reiger crossed the plate with the only run of the game.

Only three men reached base off Warden and one of them scored. All were the gainers by walks. Warden faced only 24 batters officially and he fanned 11 men.

Neel Is Magnificent

Loy Hubbard pitched almost equally good ball, allowing only four hits and whiffing five men. His team helped him by playing errorless ball.

Neel was magnificent again tonight, striking out 20 batters for his new record. Cloverlake was held to three hits and they were fortunate to avoid a whitewash.

Meanwhile, the Sunbeamers, who lead the loop, found Cecil Hale's pitching exactly what they wanted and proceeded to bang his deliveries all over the field. The washermen picked up five runs in one inning to cement the game, although they missed scoring in only the third frame.

NEW YORK, June 3. (AP)—Detroit sent Ed Lopat to the showers with a four-run blast in the eleventh inning today as Hal Newhouser curbed the New York Yankees with six hits, 6-2. It was Hal's fourth straight win and his fifth victory of the season.

Two singles, two sacrifices, an error by Lopat, a walk and Eddie Mayo's double added up to four runs and a fifth loss for Lefty Lopat.

Homers by Hoot Evers in the fourth and Viv Wertz in the sixth kept the Tigers in the ball game after the Yanks picked up single scores off Newhouser in the first and third.

District 1-AA Draws Bye In Bi-District Fall Grid Playoffs

AUSTIN, June 3 (AP)—Districts 1-AA and 8-AA will draw byes in Bi-District football playoffs next fall, Roy Bedichek, director of the Interscholastic League, reported today.

Byes for the champions of two districts were necessary because there will be only 14 districts in Class AA competition this year, instead of 16. There will be six Bi-District games and two byes in order to provide eight teams for quarterfinals play.

The byes for the two districts were "drawn out of the hat" by the league's executive committee, Bedichek said.

Teams in District 1-AA are Amarillo, Borger, Brownfield, LUBBOCK, Pampa, and Plainview. Those in District 8-AA are Gladewater, Henderson, Kilgore, Longview, Marshall, Texarkana and Tyler.

Senior Legion Team Today Goes To Big Spring For Practice Game

The Senior American Legion baseball team will travel to Big Spring today for an afternoon game with the Big Spring American Legion nine. It will be an exhibition tilt.

Pirates Edge Braves, 5-3; Cards Win

PITTSBURGH, June 3 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates squeezed a 5-3 triumph out of the Boston Braves today, with Elmer Singleton making a nifty ninth-inning rescue of pitcher Kirby Higbe.

Higbe, who received credit for his fourth win, allowed only four hits and one run in eight innings, but weakened in the final frame and was replaced by Singleton with the bases loaded and none out.

Jeff Heath opened Boston's hot ninth with a triple and Earl Torgeson immediately followed with a double Higbe issued two passes and Singleton took over Tommy Holmes hit into a force play, scoring Torgeson for Boston's third run, before Singleton squashed the rally.

Odessa Elks Visit Webster Field For Saturday Tilt With Bakers

The strong Odessa Elks of the Texas Softball League will visit Jumbo Webster Field Saturday night for a doubleheader against the equally-potent Baldridge Bakery nine.

The visitors rate a slight edge on their pitching strength, boasting "Stringbean" Pope and Pete Garrison, two of the best hurlers in the league.

Against them the Bakers will throw Loy Hubbard and Bill Kizer, also two of the better chuckers in the league. The first game will begin at 8 p. m.

ADAMSON TAKES CROWN

DALLAS, June 3 (AP)—Adamson High school of Dallas handed Beaumont a 12-2 licking here tonight to win its third unofficial state high school baseball championship, while Longview turned back Hondo 6-5 to win third place in the tournament.

Pampa Rolls Over Hubbers 17-1 To Win First Of Six-Game Set

Bass Limits Team To Four Tiny Hits

PAMPA, June 3 (Special)—Righthander Howard Bass, a wintertime schoolteacher, taught the Lubbock Hubbers a few lessons here tonight and behind his four-hit hurling the Pampa Oilers raged to a 17-1 victory.

And Bass, hanging up his third victory against two defeats, might have had a shutout except for Harriman's error in the sixth, when Lubbock scored.

Scarborough Scores

Wilcox grounded out to open the inning, but Scarborough was safe on the error. He went to third on Sullivan's short double and scored when Richardson grounded out to the first baseman.

That was the closest the Hubbers, who have been held to 14 hits in the last three games, came to doing any scoring as Bass pitched masterful ball.

Not a single Hubber hurler did any good against the rampant Oilers, who served notice that they intend to remain in first place.

Legion Diamond Games Close

The Cardinals beat the White Sox 14-9 in the Pee Wee League and the ABC nine licked the Jaycees 7-6 in the American Legion's South League in games at the Lubbock Boys club yesterday afternoon.

Two batters led the way for the Cardinals in piling up a decisive victory. Wary had a single and a triple in four trips to the plate, while Bill Nicholson had two singles in as many trips as Wary.

Fawcett Pitches Win

Dean Fawcett pitched creditable ball in gaining the win, although touched for a three-run triple by Wade Wolfe in the sixth inning. This blow highlighted the White Sox attack.

In the ABC-Jaycee game, Truman Jones had a pair of singles for a perfect day at the plate and Bobby Tollison equalled him on a double and single in two trips.

Carol Walker had a triple and single in three plate appearances for the Jaycees, while Karl Ince, the losing hurler, tried to help his own cause with a home run in the first inning.

Win Game In Seventh

The winning run crossed the plate in the last of the seventh, as the ABC's eked out the victory. Each team had six hits, but Truman Jones, the winning hurler, struckout 15 men and kept the hits pretty well scattered. Dan Heard was his catcher for the victors, while Donny Presley did the receiving for the Jaycees.

This afternoon at 3 the Red Sox will play the Yankees in the Pee Wee League and the Methodist Men will oppose the Exchange Club nine at 5:30. Both games will be played at the Boys club.

Lamesa Home To Take 5-3 Win Over Sox

LAMESA, June 3 (Special)—Home looked good to the Lamesa Loboes, so good that they proceeded to break a six-game losing streak with a 5-3 victory over the Abilene Blue Sox here tonight.

Veteran Chris Haskins pitched his usual fine game in chalking up his fifth triumph against three defeats and his mates hit well behind him.

Eddie Skrabacz helped matters off to a good start with a three-run homer in the first, his 11th of the year.

Abilene tied the game up in the seventh, but Lamesa quickly won it in their half, Tony Fiarito scoring the winning run on a bad throw by the third baseman attempting to get him at home.

Duel Of Champions Seen In Track Meet

Thompson, Parker Head SWC Group

DALLAS, June 3. (AP) — Track stars from the Big Seven and Southwest conferences match strides here tomorrow night in the second annual "duel of champions."

Twelve of 15 meet records are in danger as 11 defending champions head the picked field of 73 performers.

Most of the 40-man Big Seven team arrived here today, with the Southwest conference's 33-man team due in early tomorrow.

The Southwest conference group, headed by Jerry Thompson and Charley Parker of Texas and Clyde Scott of Arkansas, is a heavy favorite to repeat last year's victory. The Southwest won the first meet, 69-62, on the last event of the program—the mile relay.

Big Rollin Prather of Kansas State heads the Big Seven group. He won both the discus and shot put last year and is expected to repeat easily.

Texans After Records

Parker, Thompson and Scott will be after two records each.

The mighty little mite of Southwest conference track, Thompson, won both the mile and two-mile last year.

Parker is defending champion in the 220-yard dash and is top choice to take the 100-yard dash. Scott, who edged the Texas ace in the Southwest conference century race, is concentrating on the two hurdles events and the javelin throw. He is defending champion in the 120-yard high hurdles.

On the basis of comparative times in conference meets, 12 marks should be bettered.

The Big Seven's chances at an upset victory were enhanced when seven Southwest athletes who placed in the conference meet withdrew.

Four A. and M. performers decided to attend commencement exercises the same night.

Wayne Hansen, Texas, who finished fourth in the 880-yard run in the conference meet, is the only Southwest entry in this event.

Big Seven performers are expected to dominate field events in all except the javelin throw, where Frank Guess of Texas has the top pitch in college competition this year.

The Big Seven's second and third place winners in the broad jump and pole vault bettered Southwest conference winning performances and Tom Scofield of Kansas is defending co-champion in the high jump.

Reeves E. Peters, executive secretary of the Big Seven, is acting as team manager for his group.

Big Seven — Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado, Kansas State, Nebraska and Iowa State.

Southwest conference — Texas, Texas A. and M., Arkansas, and Southern Methodist.

Black Hubbers Meet Cardinals Tonight

The Lubbock Black Hubbers expected to play the Odessa Black Oilers last night at Rosenthal Field and so did a big crowd that showed up.

That was more than the Black Oilers did. One carload of baseball players arrived, but when the other players did not show up after more than an hour, the customer's money was returned and the ball game was cancelled.

Manager James Roy Lewis immediately contacted Stamford and the Texas Cardinals from that city will be here tonight for a game at 8:30 p. m. at Rosenthal Field.

Manager Lewis said last night that he regretted the failure of the Odessa nine to appear as advertised, but guaranteed that the Stamford crew would be here.

He said that his lineup would remain unchanged, with Alexander Johns the probable pitcher. Behind the plate will be one of the most colorful players in Negro baseball, Jack "Rocking Chair" Brown.

Brown, a catcher of outstanding ability and a natural comedian, actually catches from a rocking chair. He is adept at picking up all deliveries from the pitcher and can make accurate throws to any base from the chair. He consistently has thrown out base runners attempting to steal.

SEEREY IS TRADED

CLEVELAND, June 3 (AP)—Fat Pat Seerey, who could hit a ball a mile but couldn't hit it often, climbed down the American League ladder today from first-place Cleveland to last-place Chicago. No key players and no cash were involved in the deal by which the Indians sent Outfielder Seerey and Righthander Al Gettel, a relief pitcher, to the White Sox in exchange for tall Bob Kennedy, a 28-year-old third baseman turned outfielder.

Suggs Captures Amateur Crown In British Open

ST. ANNE'S, Eng., June 3 (INS)—Louise Suggs, of Atlanta, Ga., came roaring back through the rain today to beat Jean Donald, of Scotland, one up on the 36th hole and win the British Women's amateur golf championship.

Hers was the second important American golf victory in Britain within a week.

Frank Stranahan, of Toledo, O., succeeded Willie Turnesa, of White Plains, N. Y., as the men's champion only last Saturday.

Miss Suggs played through a drenching, driving gale to take over the trophy which Mrs Mildred Babe Zaharias, of Denver, won last year in scoring the first victory for the United States in the women's event. The triumph also made her the world's queen of golf. She already held the United States title.

The long-driving, hard-fighting little 24 year old player was forced to come from behind against a stubborn foe and under nearly impossible playing conditions.

Shot Gains Eagle

Miss Donald held a three up lead through the seventh hole, but was only one up after nine and she was down for the first time at the 13th, where Miss Suggs holed out a wizard's 140-yard iron shot for an eagle two.

Miss Suggs went on from there to lead by three up after the morning round and to be still one up through the 27th.

Then they fought it out down to the very last hole, where Miss Suggs was bunkered and played a five, one over par, but where, also, Miss Donald three-putted for a six and blew the championship.

Miss Suggs thus played a role in women's golf which once was so ably filled for the men by a fellow-townsman, Bobby Jones.

Neither she nor Miss Donald was able to really play championship golf under conditions which reduced the gallery to a mere handful who braved the gale to watch the payoff round.

Against a par of 35-38—73, Miss Suggs shot a forenoon 42-40—82 and Miss Donald a 41-44—85.

For the final round, Miss Suggs carded 41-44—85 and Miss Donald 38-45—83.

THE BAMBINO'S BACK—Greatly improved in health, and wearing a cream-colored camel's hair coat and habitual cap to match, Babe Ruth, greatest of the Yankees, waves to the crowd at the stadium he made possible. The Babe, convalescing from a recent operation is back at his old stand and is probably keeping a weather eye out for the home team. A recent announcement says that Ruth's old number 3 jersey will soon be retired, along with the shirts of the other baseball greats.

Two SWC Stars Have Signed With Majors

DALLAS, Tex., June 3 (AP) — Two Southwest Conference baseball stars today announced they had signed contracts with National League teams and would report to the Big League clubs' farm organizations Saturday.

Danny Lynch, Southern Methodist university shortstop for the past two years, was signed by the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Rickey Rowe, a right-handed pitcher for Baylor university, said he had signed a contract with the New York Giants and was ordered to report to Fort Smith of the Western association Saturday.

Both still had two years of conference eligibility left.

Rowe, who pitched Sunset high school of Dallas to the state title in 1945, had lettered two years at Baylor and was the mainstay of the Bruin mound corps. He is 18, weighs 170 pounds and stands six feet in height. He represented Texas in the Brooklyn-against-the-world baseball game three years ago.

Atlanta Prepares Welcome For Winner Of British Tournament

ATLANTA, June 3. (INS)—The city of Atlanta tonight is celebrating the third British amateur golf triumph by one of its citizens.

Diminutive Louise Suggs, who scored a one-up, 36-hole triumph over Scotland's Jean Donald, follows in the footsteps of Robert Tyre "Bobby" Jones and Charles Yates.

An all-out welcome for the 115-pound, 5 foot, three inches of feminine golf talent is being planned in Atlanta's executive Capital City club and her hometown club at Carrollton, Ga.

Sanders Softball Nine Whips Auto Team For League Lead

Sanders Motor company's softball team won its fourth straight victory yesterday at the expense of the Lubbock Auto nine, turning in a 4-2 victory that ousted the losers from first place in the Industrial League.

A. A. Fralin stole home in the fifth inning with the run that decided the game and Bob Sanders hit a homer in the sixth to clinch the contest. Earlier, Walter Bumpass slammed a four-master to help him to his victory.

Bumpass allowed the losers only two hits, while the winners picked up five off Raymond Hintze. The victory allowed Sanders to move into first place with a four and one record.

King Ranch's Better Self Will Be Starter In Yankee Handicap

BOSTON, June 3 (AP)—King Ranch's Better Self, third in the recent Withers Mile at Belmont, today was assigned top weight of 122 pounds among six three year olds listed as probable starters in the 12th running of the $50,000 Yankee Handicap Saturday at Suffolk Downs.

PIRATES SIGN SMU STAR

PITTSBURGH, June 3 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates today said they had signed M. Danny Lynch, Southern Methodist baseball star, and optioned the 21-year-old prospect to Waco, Texas, of the Big State league. A right-hander, Lynch played two years at S.M.U., where he also played basketball. He saw army service as a paratrooper.

Demaret Leading In 1st Round Of Duke City Open

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., June 3. (AP)—Putting and approaching with near perfection, jaunty Jimmy Demaret scorched out a seven-under-par 65 to lead the way in today's first round of the Albuquerque Open golf tournament.

Right on his heels were George Schneiter, the PGA's little tournament chairman from Ogden, Utah, with a 66, and powerful Clayton Heafner, from Charlotte, N. C., with a 67.

Altogether, 18 pros and three amateurs beat par in their first swing about the mile-high University of New Mexico course.

Standard figures for the 6,813-yard layout are 35-37—72.

One Short Of Record

Demaret, from Ojai, Calif., put together an assortment of shots to card a 31-34, just one blow short of the course record hung up in the inaugural tournament here last year.

The black-haired Schneiter shot a 34-32. Heafner had a 33-34 and would have tied for second but for a one over par four on the 405-yard eighth hole.

Three strokes back of the leader were E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, of Little Rock, Ark., and Stewart (Skip) Alexander, of Lexington, N. C., both with 34-34—68.

Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, defending champion here and the year's top money winner, was bunched with four others at 69. Deadlocked with him for sixth were Herman Keiser, Arkon, O., Marty Furgol, Utica, N. Y., and Lee Griffith, Albuquerque—low scorer among the 35 amateurs competing.

Earl R. Jacobson, Kenedy, Tex., 33-37—70.

Charles B. Klein, Amarillo, Tex., 36-37—73.

A—Don McCormick, Amarillo, Tex., 40-43—83.

A—Harry Phillips, Fort Worth, Tex., 41-44—85.

Iverson Martin, Graham, Tex., 33-37—70.

Milton Ward, Corpus Christi, Tex., 33-37—70.

ASBURY TEAM WINS

The Asbury Methodist church softball team rolled to an easy 16-2 victory over the Salvation Army yesterday afternoon at West Wagner Park, with Doug Galey pitching and Verdell Turner catching. Jeffcoat was the losing hurler.

First Methodist Softball Team Turns In Victory Over Barbers

The First Methodist softball team took a 14-9 win over the Barber College team yesterday afternoon in a Church League softball game.

Doyle Lane was the winning pitcher for the Methodists and Ben Cowling and Glenn Williamson helped the victory with one curcuit clout apiece.

Presbyterians Lick Levines Nine In Church Softball League

The First Presbyterian church softball team turned in an 11-10 victory over the Levine nine yesterday afternoon in a Church League game.

DeWitt outpitched Mills to win, although the church team spotted the losers seven runs in the first half of the first inning. The Presbyterians came back to tie up the tilt in the third and win it in the fourth.

Are The Red Sox Washed Up?

Joltin Joe DiMaggio Says Sox Need Pitchers; Indians Tough

NEW YORK, June 3 (INS)—It seems everybody has given up on the Red Sox except the Yanks—and perhaps the Red Sox themselves—as the following dugout interview with Joe DiMaggio indicates.

Reporter: What's this we hear about the Red Sox being all washed up?

Joe: Don't let anybody kid you about that. They still have what it takes. They just haven't got going yet.

Rep.: What's been their trouble?

Joe: Pitching. They've got everything else. And they're sure to get good throwing in time. Don't forget there are more than 100 games left to play.

Rep.: Don't you give the Tigers and Athletics a chance?

Joe: Sure. Both teams have great pitching.

Rep.: Well, then why don't they figure to be just as dangerous as the Red Sox or Indians?

Joe: They could be but the Tigers seem to have some holes in their infield and the A's can't afford to lose anybody.

Rep.: How about the A's chances of finishing in the first division?

Joe: Oh, I think they should do that all right.

Rep.: Then which one of the big four do you think they will oust from the first division?

Joe: Maybe Detroit.

Rep.: What about the Indians?

Joe: Awful tough. They seem to have everything.

Rep.: And the Yanks?

Floods Threaten Oregon Again

dikes there.

As the engineers pronounced the 16-day emergency, they warned the some 60,000 refugees not to attempt to return to their homes during this critical period.

Meanwhile, they maintained careful watch over the 100-mile sandbagged river front where serious boils are developing.

The waterlogged fronts were holding back the churning river but the strain on the dikes was growing hourly.

Plant In Danger

The water stood at 29.45 feet at Portland this noon—only half a foot below the top crest this week.

Col. Walsh said vessels may be permitted on the river again starting Saturday, but added that they will have to travel slowly.

The Portland seawall counted on to guard rich business areas on the west front apparently was standing up to its biggest test since it's building 20 years ago.

However, north and east of the city, rich industrial areas including the $43,000,000 aluminum plant of the Reynolds Corp. were still in danger and 600 replacements were called for weary dike workers.

Vanport Safe Raised

Two thousand were thrown out of work when the plant closed today along with the big M & M woodworking plant.

During the brief lull, grim crews began digging in the watery wreckage of Vanport.

First to be raised was a safe containing $60,000 in Vanport people's savings at the Vanport postoffice.

It was found by Harold Makin, Portland diver. The second time down he landed on top of the safe. It was hauled dripping to the main postoffice where the contents will be returned to survivors.

No Bodies Found

No bodies had been sighted after four days, and Red Cross disaster veterans began to express the hope that a miracle had occurred among the water-surprised housing project's 18,000 persons.

Many of the buildings have been scattered. They will all be towed to a central salvage area.

First reports of the Vanport death toll, if any, will come within 48 hours.

Colin Herrle, national disaster chief for the Red Cross, who is on the scene, said a new system of registering Vanport families and publishing the list of missing should give an accurate count. Thus far persons have been listed as missing if only one query is received.

Herrle said he is encouraged by the lack of inquiries.

Dike Overwashed

All dikes held in Portland and downstream areas. Only one dike at Clatskanie, Ore., halfway to the sea, was overwashed during the night as a stiff wind whipped waves 3 feet high one inch over the dike. The dike top held.

Fisher predicted flood stage at Portland would last two to three weeks compared with the 57 days of the great flood of 1894 when the Columbia and Willamette rushed to the sea simultaneously.

Damage this year is believed far greater but no official estimate was forthcoming until the waters recede. Estimates are expected to be high over a $100,000,000 figure. Countless small Columbia towns, such as Rainier, Ore., with a population of 1,200 have suffered a million dollars' damage.

Property loss when Vanport was wiped off the map is estimated by the housing project's director at $21,400,000 alone.

The toll of dead, outside the Vanport disaster, stands at 24 in the four northwest states.

Cranes tonight were hoisting a truck from a hole in a north Portland dike believed to contain the body of Mike Skaggs, a Portland General Electric company employe.

The crest of the Columbia flood of 1948, which may be only the first of two or three, is due to pass out of the river mouth today sul in Berlin from 1929 to 1931.

Franklin entered a photographic shop on Alexanderplatz in the Soviet sector of Berlin last evening to get his movie camera repaired.

"I had hardly entered the shop," Franklin said, "when a Russian patrol consisting of a captain and five tommygun-armed soldiers asked to check the ownership of my car parked outside."

Franklin said this check did not satisfy the soldiers who then took him to Soviet headquarters and questioned him some more.

They refused to allow him to telephone his home or office, and Franklin spent the night sleeping on a table. He said he received no food until after his release at noon today.

Protest Planned

An unidentified German, apparently in the photographic shop at the time, tipped off American officials that Franklin had been seized.

Officials said they plan a protest, but it is obvious that they do not expect satisfaction.

Under a four-power agreement the movement of the allied nationals in all zones of Berlin is supposed to be unrestricted. Franklin said:

"I believe the Russians are trying to do everything possible to discourage Americans from entering the Soviet sector and are discouraging Germans from having any contact with the western nationals."

London Newsman To Speak At Meeting

DALLAS, June 3 (AP)—Gavin Astor, assistant to the publisher of the London Times, will address the Texas Press association at its 1948 convention in San Antonio June 17-19.

Vernon Sanford, manager, identified the visiting executive as the son of Colonel John Jacob Astor, chairman of the Times Publishing company's board.

The British publisher will speak at the Saturday luncheon preceding the election of officers and presentation of awards.

Texas newspapermen participating in discussions include association president Paul M. Fulks; Barnes H. Union To Comply zation director, and Pope Huff, board member at large.

Elsewhere along the labor front there were these developments:

Railroads: Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said that if the rail labor dispute is not settled, Senate leaders will consider an investigation. He said he would confer with railroad presidents before placing the union leaders' request for an investigation before the Senate Republican policy committee. The government is operating the roads it seized May 11 to avert a strike.

Wage Offer Rejected

Coal: L. Ebersole Gaines, president of the National Coal association, asked Congress to outlaw pension strikes and to curb the power of labor unions. Gaines testified before a joint congressional committee on management-labor relations. Judge T. Alan Goldsborough will rule Friday whether to issue an order requiring John L. Lewis to bargain with the Southern Coal Producers association.

Atomic: AFL Atomic Workers at the Oak Ridge, Tenn., plant rejected by a 771 to 26 vote a company offer of a 10 cents an hour wage boost. The union, which seeks 26 cents, called a meeting for Sunday to consider its next move. The Atomic Energy commission rejected a union demand that the commission step into the dispute. A strike could be called legally next week. An 80-day no-strike injunction expires June 7.

Shipping Board Set Up

Negotiations continued involving 40,000 shipyard workers in nine East coast plants and 125,000 workers in General Electric company plants.

In Washington, President Truman created a fact finding board under the Taft-Hartley act to investigate a dispute which threatens to tie up the nation's shipping June 15. Six maritime unions—five CIO and one AFL—are threatening to strike June 15 if they do not get a new contract with higher wages and the right to conduct hiring halls to supply sailors and stevedores to shipowners.

In Chicago, however, the U. S. Conciliation service said that Standard Oil Co., of Indiana—one of 13 involved in the dispute—had reached an agreement with the CIO Maritime union. The terms were not disclosed.

Truman Starts Tour

Thursday night, Mr. Truman will make his aerial inspection, landing at Salem, Ore., and driving to Portland for a brief speech sponsored by the Red Cross. He will re-board his train at Brookland, Ore., for the trip to Berkeley.

As he packed for his travels, Mr. Truman still had not sewed up the Democratic presidential nomination next Monday. He has 597 delegates pledged or claimed for him by state party leaders. That is 21 shy of the 618 needed to clinch the nomination.

Railway unions are threatening to picket at every stop. There will be visits to Sun Valley, Idaho, a Portland, Ore., rose festival, and a reunion with World War I buddies of the 35th division at Omaha.

Accompanying the Chief Executive will be what White House officials said is the biggest crew of reporters and photographers ever to make a presidential trip. Sixty-five have signed up to start, with others coming aboard along the route.

No party officials are listed among Mr. Truman's traveling companions.

Holy Land Fighting

King Abdullah. Then he flew to Haifa tonight and talked with Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Shertok.

Ship Claimed Sunk

An Egyptian communique said Egyptian naval forces sank one Jewish ship and scored direct hits on port installations in an attack on Caesarea, 30 miles north of Tel Aviv.

The same distance south of Tel Aviv the Jews were reported counter-attacking to try to prevent an Egyptian attempt to strike eastward from the coast and cut off the Negev desert area which forms more than half of the 5,500-square-mile Israeli state.

Unconfirmed Arab broadcasts said that an Egyptian column striking eastward from Al Majdal on the coast had penetrated 28 miles to Beit Jibrin, which is only 12 miles west of Hebron, base for another Egyptian column.

The Jews were reported counter-attacking at Negba, five miles east of Al Majdal, and also at Isdud, eight miles north of Al Majdal.

Isdud, 22 miles south of Tel Aviv, is the tip of an Egyptian spearhead pointed at the Jewish capital.

Strong Conditions Seen

Although the Arabs were said to have accepted the UN truce plan dispatches from various Arab capitals quoted some officials as demanding abolition of the Jewish state of Israel as a main condition before Arab guns are silenced.

An official Jewish announcement said the Egyptian plane was shot down over Rehovoth, Jewish town 11 miles southeast of Tel Aviv.

Several persons were reported killed in the Tel Aviv suburb of Rishon Lezion, within five miles of the Jewish capital.

Jerusalem was quiet—at least in the forenoon—after 187 days of violence beginning with the original UN partition plan declaration last November.

The Jews have suffered approximately 1,450 casualties, including 100 killed, since the Arab legion began shelling Jerusalem two weeks ago.

The Jews issued their order because of a misunderstanding. They thought the UN deadline for receiving replies on the truce demand was also the hour set for a cease-fire. One official commented "we shall take our revenge."

Neither Jewish nor Arab officials confirmed a Cairo newspaper report that Egyptian artillery units had rolled within three miles of Tel Aviv.

The newspaper Al Balagh claimed that a column from Isdud, 22 miles south of Tel Aviv, had made a flanking movement east of Rehovoth and Rischon Lezion and is "now almost at the gateway to Tel Aviv."

tion which it submitted.

The commission rejected a petition from W. Z. Butler and others asking that property south of Thirty-fourth street and on the west side of Avenue Q be changed from a temporary "A" zone to a business zone. K. N. Clapp, chairman of the commission, pointed out to the property owners present that the commission was extremely reluctant to zone property for business since "Lubbock already has three times as much business property as the population of the city warrants."

A petition presented to the commission by Glenn Ivy for a zone change for lots 1, 2 and 3 of the Maddox addition to allow building of tennis courts and a tennis club on the corner of North Fourth street and Madison avenue was referred to the zoning committee for further study.

General discussion on a proposed extension of East Avenue A from Thirty-eighth street through to Forty-second street was conduced, with several interested parties outside the commission taking part.

C. A. Tubbs, representing the county, stated that his primary concern was in having a right-of-way set soon in order that construction might be started.

The board of directors of Lubbock Independent School district is also interested in the situation since the proposed street would run adjacent to Chris Harwell school.

Property owners in the neighborhood were also present at the meeting last night, more interested in finding out what solution to the problem would be offered than in attempting to influence the decision of the commission.

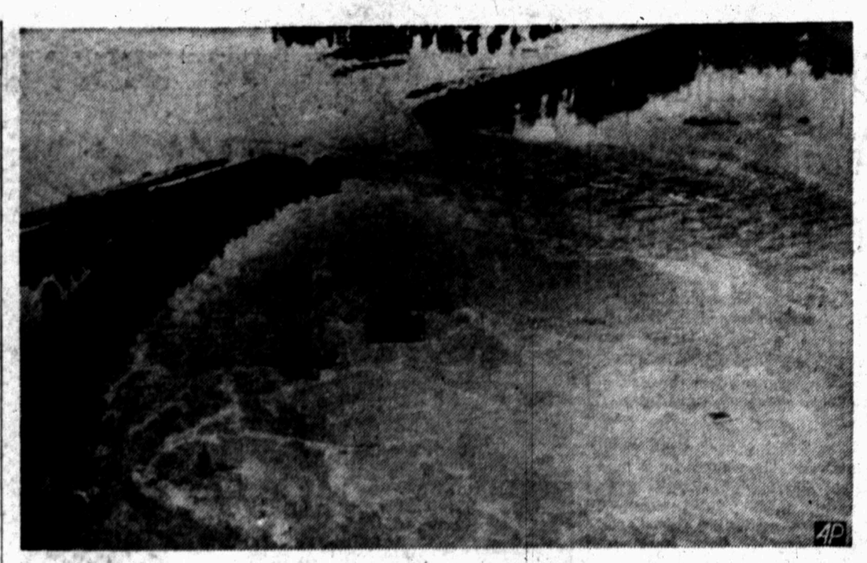

The Planning commission referred the situation to the platting committee for comprehensive study of the most equitable solution, and in the interest of the county which wishes to proceed with construction as soon as possible, authorized the platting committee to approve whatever plat of the area it deemed best. Otherwise, approval of the plat would be held up until next month's meeting of the commission.

On petition from Roscoe Parks and others for changing the south 130 feet of block 10, Robert & McWhorter addition, from a "C" to a business zone, the commission voted to approve the change but to make the change effect property beyond the 130 feet and extending to the east-west alley.

Blocks 7 and 8 and the north one-half of blocks 11 and 12, Morning Side addition, were changed from an "F" to a "J" zone.

A plat of Country Club heights, adjoining the country club on the north and the Plainview highway on the east, was aproved. Also approved was a plat of Locklar subdivision of lot 2, block 18 of the Crumn addition at Forty-second and Avenue U.

Members of the Planning commission present at last night's meeting were K. N. Clapp, Homer D. Grant, W. L. Bradshaw, J. H. Murdough, Marlin R. Smith and John P. Ruhmann. Members absent were Chas. A. Guy, J. D. Hassell and J. T. Krueger.

Outcome Of Jap War Trials Is Awaited

TOKYO, June 3. (INS) — The outcome of the major Japanese war crimes cases was a main topic of speculation in Tokyo today.

The verdicts in the trial of "Pearl Harbor" premier" Hideki Tojo and 24 other co-defendants are now being prepared by the Allied Far East tribunal.

An official closely connected with the trial which lasted two years recently told newsmen:

"Watch those decisions because there will be dynamite in them."

Discussion has been widespread in the Japanese capital whether the Allied prosecution had proved a "legal case" to the satisfaction of all the 11 judges on the international tribunal. This has led to the belief in some quarters that not all the judges will vote for the death penalty for Tojo.

The whole war crimes concept on which the trial was based has been opposed by some American military leaders. They hold that Tojo and his militarist co-defendants merely carried out their duty to their nation.

It is understood that General MacArthur, the Supreme Allied commander, preferred a simpler concept by which Tojo, his whole cabinet and the Japanese army and navy leaders would have been tried for murder only.

Under this concept the Japanese leaders would have gone on trial for the killing of American servicemen and civilians at Pearl Harbor "without the authorization to kill which comes only through a declaration of war."

were accused of wrongdoing such as threats against or abuse of employes of the company.

Smith and Hart Willis, of the firm of Willis and Lewis of Dallas, said that the union was willing to exclude from re-employment those men against whom charges of offenses were proven.

On the matter of re-employment, the company in a statement from Jess C. Levens, vice president, proposed to return approximately 20 men to work immediately. The others, excluding those charged with improper conduct toward the company, would be put on a list and given an opportunity to work at a later date.

Levens had no comment last night to make on the negotiations.

Members of the union were notified late yesterday, according to Smith, that the company would put part of the striking operators back to work. But that this would be done without impartial arbitration of the wage issue, and with the company maintaining the choice of rehiring the remaining 24 drivers.

Smith said that at a meeting of the union membership it was voted that all men were to be returned to work or that the strike would continue.

Smith said he would make a broadcast at 6:30 p. m. tonight over Station KFYO concerning the dispute.

take it that wanted it."

C. H. Hamilton made a motion that broadcast rights be set at $50 for each home game and that numbers be placed in a hat for broadcast rights to be drawn in order for 1948, 1949 and 1950, with stations having the right to negotiate with other stations to handle game broadcasts if unavoidable program conflicts developed. The motion was amended to require that the broadcast fee be paid in advance for the season.

The motion was adopted unanimously.

To Accept Bids

The board, in three separate actions, planned to add to school facilities. First, the trustees announced that they would receive bids at 7:30 p. m. June 29 at the school district offices on the addition to the Senior High school building.

A purchase order for steel to be used in the new physical education and gymnasium to be located at Chapman field placed by the building committee was approved by the board. The contract previously had been awarded to Capital Steel Co., Oklahoma City, on a low bid of approximately $29,000.

A building committee effort to secure a number of surplus Army buildings for use as temporary school buildings to alleviate crowded conditions, in several school areas was approved. It was pointed out that extra classrooms are needed especially at the East Broadway school and in the northwest section of the city, and that the Exceptional Children's school, now housed in Hub Homes rented quarters, must be vacated before fall.

A proposed school calendar for the 1948-49 year submitted by Supt. R. W. Matthews was approved. Under the plan the fall session will open Monday, Sept. 6 with a general faculty meeting. New students will be enrolled during the afternoon of that day with classroom work starting the following day.

Holidays the first semester will be two half days off during the Panhandle-South Plains fair; two days for Thanksgiving vacation, Nov. 25 and 26; Christmas holidays to begin Friday, Dec. 17 and to close Monday, Jan. 3, 1949. An Armistice Day holiday, Nov. 11 was held open for future consideration by the board.

The calendar allowed a two-day holiday at Easter, April 15 and 18 with schools to close Friday, May 27, 1949.

The board, at G. C. Dowell's suggestion, voted to place all Dunbar school athletics under the school athletic department. Dowell pointed out that heretofore the Dunbar program had operated "on its own" but should be included as a part of the entire district program.

Resignations Announced

Resignation of five teachers was accepted. Those resigning were Mrs. Winnie Englert, George K. Hunt school; Mrs. Audrey Quest, McWhorter school; Lewis L. Stoelzing, Senior High school band; Omer R. Bantz, Senior High school, distributive education teacher, and Dorothy Hilliard Johnson, Central Ward summer school.

The board in turn elected four teachers. They were Genevieve Sewell, primary; Mrs. Alice V. Ward, primary; Nelva J. Halbert, primary, and J. H. Penn, Senior High school orchestra and A Capella choir director and coordinator of instrumental music.

The assignment of A. B. Reese, presently serving as an English teacher, to distributive education, Senior High school, was approved.

Plains Clinic was awarded a contract to supply medical service to the schools for the coming year, and the board voted to employ a second school nurse.

Bids on cafeteria equipment for two new elementary schools, 36th street and Woodlawn, will be received by the board on June 15, it was announced.

A. C. Jackson, business manager, was authorized to investigate cost of lighting the baseball ground at Chapman field and if not found to be excessive to go ahead and secure the facilities as soon as possible.

Jackson reported to the board that cafeterias operated under the school lunch program had completed the year with a gross profit of $1,343.

Attending the session were Clyde G. Tatum, president, G. C. Dowell, M. M. Ewing, Glenn Woody and C. H. Hamilton, board members, and R. W. Matthews and A. C. Jackson.

Probe Continued In Area Theft Ring

South Plains officers continued investigation yesterday of theft reports of recent months following discovery Monday by Brownfield officers of approximately $2,000 worth of stolen goods in Yoakum county.

Three men had been charged in Lubbock and at Brownfield and Plains. The property, including considerable building material, was found on their adjacent farms near the Terry and Yoakum county line.

Yesterday, H. C. Ellis, of Abernathy, identified building materials taken from his farm two miles west of Abernathy March 29. It was valued at $140. Brownfield officers had previously reported that most of the property had been identified by owners from there and from Lubbock, Tahoka, and Plains.

Paraguay's President Is Forced To Resign

BUENOS AIRES, June 3 (INS)—President Gen. Higinio Morinigo's five-year dictatorship in Paraguay apparently ended at 3 a. m. today when a powerful group of army and political leaders forced his resignation.

Dispatches to the Argentine government said it was a bloodless "palace revolution" in which Morinigo's Colorado party remains in power, but the president himself is ousted.

No essential policy change is expected.

Former GOP Leader Says Dewey To Get Bid

BY FREDERIC TUTTLE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 3 — Former GOP National Chairman Herbert Brownell, Jr., Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's campaign manager, predicted today that the New Yorker will win the Republican presidential nomination on an early ballot without a convention deadlock.

Brownell said he was convinced the convention will not be forced to select a "dark horse" standard bearer because of a deadlock among Dewey, Ohio Sen. Robert A. Taft and Harold E. Stassen, the three leading aspirants.

He told a news conference that Dewey's recent Oregon primary victory "has convinced many unpledged delegates that he is the ablest, best informed campaigner in the field."

The former GOP chieftain said that he would "not rule out the possibility that the Governor may win on the first ballot."

Brownell came to Washington accompanied by Dewey's two other campaign aides, former GOP national committeeman from New York Russell Sprague, and Ed Jaeckle, powerful in New York Republican circles.

Claims Most Delegates

Dewey's chances of upsetting tradition and recapturing the GOP nomination were described by Brownell as "growing every day, every hour." Brownell said:

"We will come to the convention in Philadelphia June 21 with more delegates than anyone else.

"I will not estimate the number of delegates we will have—we will simply have more than any other candidate."

The key Dewey strategist said that Oregon, where Dewey captured all 12 delegates after a prolonged campaign against Stassen, started a "new Dewey trend that will end in victory for the governor."

He added that Dewey's smash triumph in Oregon had won him strength among southern delegates, most of whom are currently considered as backing Taft.

Brownell forecast that Dewey would win the support of the 29-member Indiana delegation, which is pledged to vote for House GOP leader Halleck, of Indiana, on the first ballot. The Indiana primary is June 1.

MINNESOTAN STILL CONFIDENT

Stassen Is Claimed Backed By Majority Of Iowa Delegates

DES MOINES, June 3. (INS)—Iowa backers of Harold E. Stassen for the Republican presidential nomination today claimed 14 or 15 of the state's 23 delegates, following a Stassen appearance in Des Moines.

The assertion was made by the Minnesotan's supporters after the candidate lunched with 33 of the 46 delegates and alternates.

Stassen made no attempt to pledge any of the delegates to support him, and national committeeman Harrison Spangler said the situation is "fluid" as far as the state delegation is concerned.

Say Race Still Open

The GOP hopeful declared the presidential race is "still wide open," with no candidate having enough votes to be nominated on the first ballot in Philadelphia.

Stassen expressed his own high regard for Senator Arthur Vandenberg, considered a darkhorse contender in the Republican sweepstakes, and denied he had found any indications of a coalition between Taft and Dewey in a "stop Stassen" movement.

The GOP campaigner said he considered his support in the Midwest a strong recommendation.

Counting up his possible Midwest vote at the convention, Stassen arrived at a total of 94 on the first ballot, with a "few" more to come from Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado and Indiana.

Stassen left Des Moines by plane for California, where he will "talk over the situation" with favorite son candidate Earl Warren. His plans call for a Cheyenne, Wyo., meeting tonight, and a breakfast session with Nevada delegates tomorrow.

24 Airlines Honored For Completing Year Without Fatality

CHICAGO, June 3. (AP) — Two hundred and eighty thousand times around the globe without a fatal accident.

That, in effect, is the combined safety record compiled by 23 airlines through last year, figures released by the National Safety Council showed today. The lines completed more than seven billion passenger miles without a single fatality to a passenger or crew member.

A 24th airline—Pan American Airways, Inc.—was honored for completing 1,443,699,000 passenger miles between Aug. 3, 1945 and June 19, 1947, without a fatality.

15 Hold Excellent Records

Fifteen of the 24 winners of the council's 1947 aviation safety awards not only went through 1947 without an accidental death, but completed fatality-free records ranging from two to 18 years.

Other billion mile class winners besides Pan American were American Airlines, Inc., and Northwest Airlines, Inc. American traveled one year and 1,502,499,000 passenger miles since its last fatal accident Dec. 28, 1946. Northwest traveled five years and 1,288,604,000 passenger miles since its last fatal accident May 12, 1942.

Other winners, their no-accident passenger miles record and date of their last fatal accident before 1947 include:

Mid Continent Airlines, Inc. (Kansas City)—282,622,000; Nov. 15, 1934.

RETONGA TERMED "GRAND MEDICINE" BY MOTHER OF FIVE

MRS. ROBERTA HUGHES

"It's Easy To Understand Why So Many People Are Praising Retonga," Says California Woman Who Once Suffered Severely From Gas On Stomach.

"I didn't know what to do or where to turn for relief until I discovered Retonga," says Mrs. Roberta Hughes, who resides with her husband at their home at 8932 San Juan Ave., South Gate, Cal. They formerly lived in Los Angeles for 24 years. Mrs. Hughes, mother of five children, is a member of Eastern Star and attends the Methodist church.

"In describing her experience, Mrs. Hughes gratefully states: "For years I suffered agonies from acid indigestion and all the miseries that go with it. It seemed as though I couldn't eat anything without paying a price in sour stomach and severe gas pains. I found it hard even to get a good night's sleep. My bowels were very irregular and I guess that's what caused me to suffer severe headaches. I felt so run-down and worn-out that I couldn't get through my housework. I didn't know what to do or where to turn for relief.

"Then a neighbor told me about Retonga. And, oh, what blessed relief it brought me! Today I eat heartily without any fear of unpleasant after effects. I sleep soundly, and my lost strength has returned to where I can do all my housework without tiring. My stubborn bowels have been relieved and the headaches don't bother me now. It's easy to understand now why so many people praise Retonga. It's truly a grand medicine."

The active ingredients of Retonga are purely herbal, combined with Vitamin B-1. Retonga is intended to relieve distress due to insufficient flow of digestive juices in the stomach, loss of appetite, borderline Vitamin B-1 deficiency, and constipation. Accept no substitute—insist on the original. You can get Retonga at all good drug stores, including Mark Halsey Drug Stores. Adv.

Drugless Health

REGARDLESS of how long you have been a sufferer, and how many medicines you have tried before you can now hope for relief if you try GEO-MINERAL, the wonderful mineral aid. Feel and enjoy the results one week after you start taking it. GEO-MINERAL comes from the earth —. Nature's laboratory. Contains NO dope, NO alcohol, NO oil. ONLY nature's minerals—the oldest, most reliable remedy for rheumatism, arthritis, kidney and stomach ailments.

FOR THOUSANDS of years ever since Hipocrates was the father of medicine, minerals and other natural medicines were a reliable remedy for most of our common ailments. GEO-MINERAL will enrich your blood, help to make you strong, full of pep, life and energy. If you suffer from anemia, nervousness, lack of vitality and energy, see what GEO-MINERAL will do for you.

Wonder Minerals

MEDICAL records show 65% of men and women over 35 suffer from nutritional mineral-iron anemia. When you feel nervous, dull, tired, lazy, have dizzy spells, no ambition to work or play, a poor appetite, when your eyes lack that bright spark, and your mind brilliance, when headaches get the best of you, and you feel old before your time, when the sexual powers weaken, and life seems not worth living, with worry wearing you down—it may be simply lack of minerals in your blood. GEO-MINERAL is then what you need.

RHEUMATISM, arthritis are dreadful diseases. Acid condition in the blood is often their cause. What could be the remedy? For thousands of years, minerals have been used to relieve the pain of these ills. Doctors send people to mineral springs to find cure or relief. The late President Roosevelt used to go to Warm Springs in Georgia. He was helped or would not have gone there twice a year.

Amazing Results

YEAR after year, people rush to mineral springs and spas, to drink and bathe in their miraculous water. We have all heard of the wondrous springs of Lourdes, France, and famous Thronion in ancient Greece where, according to legend, Hercules, the god of eternal strength and youth, drank its waters and bathed to be forever young.

GEO-MINERAL contains minerals you get at the world's best springs. Watch your elimination from your bowels a day or two after using it. The waste, black as the color of your shoes, will start to break away, and you will SEE it! Also examine your urine. You may see impurities—poisonous waste—coming out of your kidneys, relieving you. And then realize its value.

GEO-MINERAL is not a physic, and does not interfere with the foods in the stomach. It cleans and purifies the intestines thoroughly, relieving gas, toxins, acids, and bloating. After these poisons are out of the system, and the kidneys purified, we begin to feel the arthritis and rheumatism leaving, and Nature starting to complete the recovery.

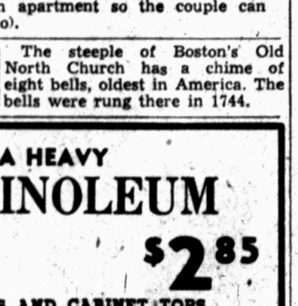

WE URGE everyone to try GEO-MINERAL. Do not hesitate one moment. Come to this drug store now. Get one bottle. Use it one week. If you are not 100 per cent satisfied, we will refund your money.

Worker Urged To Find Position For Which He Is Best Qualified

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
INS Staff Correspondent

The continuance of high level total employment provides career builders with an opportunity to get well adjusted in the national economy.

With employment opportunities still bountiful, there is still an opportunity for the maladjusted worker to shift readily to another job which better fits his need.

Accordingly, this is the time for self analysis by all the 58,000,000 gainfully occupied to make sure that they have found an harmonious niche for themselves.

It will be too late to count on such flexibility when if and as total employment opportunities should worsen during any severe postwar readjustment.

At interludes of recession, employers take the initiative and tend to weed out the less efficient.

Personnel Training Underway

At such times, the employed worker is more concerned with holding on to what he has than with improving himself.

Accordingly, now is the golden moment for the square peg in the round hole to undertake to correct the situation.

To fail to act now may be a serious matter in missing timing.

For its part, management is at work retraining personnel.

It is trying to restore prewar efficiency and prewar job enthusiasm.

Eddie Rickenbacker, president of Eastern Air lines, told me that he regards this as the prime task of management this year.

While the armed forces were picking the cream of the crop, private employers in many instances had to scrape the bottom of the personnel basket, and numerous misfits crept into the labor market.

With the return of competitive conditions, this is gradually changing.

Management which treats the customer well a little before the time that it is absolutely necessary to do so builds good will.

There is a growing demand for employes who are customer-minded, and who bring the spirit of genuine friendliness into the business relationship.

Customer Another Worker

Much remains to be done in educating retail clerks, transportation ticket agents, and service people generally about the ramifications of their job.

Too many have missed the point that the customer, on whom the job depends, is another worker, and that rudeness and inhumanity toward the customer represents mistreating another worker.

Much more needs to be done in making workers aware of the uses of the products and services which they sell.

A good pattern for on-the-job training has been worked out by the wine institute, which developed a mail order course in terminology for wines and their proper uses.

With all the vogue for adult education, it would be constructive to relate the impulse to the tasks at hand.

Repeat Business Important

If a worker understood all the ramifications of making and transporting the product which he handles, he would have a good comprehension of national economics. But instead of relating adult education to the challenge of modern living, there has been a tendency to give it escapist aspects, and to divert audiences with remote and faraway cultural abstractions.

A film on selling put forth the sound concept that selling is the art of helping others to buy. The good salesman, who builds good will which brings repeat business, undertakes to provide the buyer with what he wants and needs, rather than high pressure him into something else.

Kiwanis Club Hears Program Of Music

Highlights of the Kiwanis club luncheon Monday at Hotel Lubbock were a musical program directed by Bill Harrod and announcements concerning the Lubbock Boys club rodeo here next week and formal dedication of the Girl Scout camp at Buffalo Lakes Sunday.

The musical program featured cornet numbers by Ted Creager, with George Moore at the piano, violin numbers by Harrod, and piano solos by Moore, introduced by Harrod as both pianist and violinist who is to replace Lewis Stoelzing as concert master with the Lubbock Symphony orchestra. Stoelzing has accepted a position with West Texas State Teachers college at Canyon, effective this fall.

Two Girl Scouts, Sylvia Ann Dietering and Jo Ann Turnbow brought thanks from their organization for help by the club in Girl Scout work, and announced formal dedication ceremonies of the girls' camp, to be held Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

J. Ray Dickey, of the American Business club, principal sponsor of the Gene Autry rodeo scheduled here June 9-12 asked Kiwanis help in today's booster trip north and east of here on behalf of the rodeo, and Sam Leifeste was named by President L. E. Davis to head the group.

31 Safe After Crash Landing

EL MORRO, N. M., June 3 (U.P.)—A Viking airlines pilot belly-landed a crippled plane on a sagebrush desert near here today and the 28 passengers aboard escaped without a scratch.

The DC-3 ripped off a wing and skidded sideways to a stop one mile west of the El Morro airport.

Capt. Ray Chesley of Burbank, Cal., pilot of the plane, said cylinder trouble in the left engine forced him to make an emergency landing. He had taken off from Prescott, Ariz., shortly before enroute to Amarillo.

Notified Airport

Chesley said he notified the El Morro airport that he would attempt a crash landing. He could not see the earth below, and left the landing gear up rather than risk a normal landing with wheels.

The right wing of the plane was ripped off when the plane struck a ridge.

Aboard the plane were 26 adult passengers, two babies and a crew of three. One of the children, two-year-old Robin Petty, slept through the bumpy landing.

Chesley said the plane was traveling at about 90 miles per hour and was losing altitude rapidly when he dropped down for the landing.

Passengers said the stewardess had the door of the plane opened seconds after the ship stopped moving.

E. of Lubbock; two daughters, Mrs. Steve Hyatt of Sherman, and Mrs. Cortis Stephenson of Lubbock; one brother, Bill Weaks of Mentone; four sisters, Mrs. Wylie Gaines of Lamesa, Mrs. John Temple of Weatherford, Mrs. Bill Treweek of Lubbock and Mrs. Florence Aston of Fort Worth.

Burt Lancaster To Take Part Of Attorney For Change Of Pace In Latest Production

By DOROTHY MANNERS
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, June 3—Burt Lancaster and his independent production partner, Harold Hecht, have bought John Galsworthy's "The First and The Last." The role of the brilliant attorney gives Burt his best chance to be an out and out hero and get away from the heavies.

You can't blame him for wanting a change of pace, but I hope he doesn't forget a certain party named Clark Gable, who has scored his biggest hits as a delightful heel, and who is never so good when too much virtue sets in.

It is interesting that Leonardo Bercovici makes his bow as a director on "The First and The Last," as well as writing the screenplay on this Norma production (named after Burt's wife).

Autry To Use Plane

Gene Autry is going to make a movie without his hoss, Champ—to take to airplanes in his next for Columbia, "Wings Westward." He knows he is taking a chance with his fans, but he is so completely sold on this yarn, it is worth the risk.

Hold on—the villian of the piece is a moth—the Tussock moth that is killing acres of the forests of Idaho, Montana and California. Gene plays the leader of an airplane squadron setting out to spray the trees with an insecticide from the air.

Gene will fly his own plane—in fact, he owns all the 12 ships that will be used in the movie.

Gets Director's Job

If either Ginger Rogers or Jean Arthur accepts "House of Cards," she will get an Academy Award winner for a director. No, I don't mean Elia Kazan, who oscared for "Gentleman's Agreement."

Francis "Pete" Lyon, who garnered the laurels for cutting "Body And Soul," has been given a chance at a director's post by Lester Cutler and he is set to make his debut with this Clarence Buddington Kelland comedy.

In a final round-up of New York, LOP writes:

"Just before I got on the boat, I talked with Oleg Cassini. He says the young lady who was dancing with him at El Morocco is a friend of Prince and Princess Hohenlore and is being married in Canada Saturday. Oleg and the girl were in the same party with the Prince and Princess (who are associated with him in his new wholesale dress company).

"He says the reason he rushed out when he saw me is that he was called to the telephone, and when he came back, I had left—and that is the reason he didn't speak to me. If I did him wrong, I am sorry.

"Jeanne Crain is knocking everybody cold with the smart clothes she is wearing. In Hollywood she goes for the ingenue styles, but she looks like a model here.

"Saw Linda Darnell at the Stork showing everyone pictures of her adopted baby, and is so proud and can hardly wait to get back home when she finishes her scenes in the 20th movie."

Rooney Busy Again

Hollywood in shorts: Mickey Rooney, who made a point of stagging it until his wife filed her divorce suit, is now stepping around with Joy Lansing—a joy to look at, I might add.

Unless Marilyn Maxwell conquers a serious attack of laryngitis, she won't be able to take off with the Jack Benny troupe for Detroit Sunday.

Both Joan Bennett and Walter Wanger have now pulled out of Diana productions, leaving Fritz Lang holding down that company alone.

New Ticket Booths For Rodeo Set Up

Five additional downtown booths for sale of tickets to the American Business club-sponsored Gene Autry rodeo here next week were set up yesterday afternoon, and will be open during business hours until opening day of the rodeo next Wednesday, it was announced last night.

Mrs. Hugh Anderson, president of the ABC Dames, ladies auxiliary of the civic club, is in supervision of the booths, and teams of women have been selected to operate the booths.

The additional booths, set up as a convenience to those wishing tickets and as auxiliary projects to the main headquarters booth in the lobby of the Hilton hotel, will be located at the Citizens National bank, Sears, Mark Halsey No. 1, Wylie's Drug, and Dunlaps, the announcement said.

Funeral Services Will Be Held For Mrs. Gertrude Jackson, 75

Funeral services for Mrs. Gertrude M. Jackson, 75, a resident of the Lubbock area for 38 years, will be conducted today at 2 p. m., in the Bryan McDonald & Son Funeral home chapel.

Mrs. Jackson died yesterday about 10:30 a. m. in Lubbock Memorial hospital after a two weeks illness.

Burial will be in Lubbock cemetery.

Survivors include one son, A. L. Jackson of Lubbock; three brothers, Tom Williams of San Angelo, Duff Williams of Gorman and Jess Williams of California; one sister, Mrs. Laura Raney of Corpus Christi, and one sister-in-law, Mrs. Minnie Williams of Brady.

When trying to give your food budget a little nudge downward . . . frequent use of ground beef is a good start in the right direction. Mrs. R. C. Rheil, Fort Smith, Arkansas, shows the way to a luxurious meal despite its thrifty beginning. Proving a penny saved is a penny earned . . . we've sent Mrs. R. 1,000 of them for this recipe:

PORCUPINES

1 lb. ground beef
1 No. 2 can tomatoes
Salt and pepper
1 cup raw rice
1 medium onion, chopped
1 tablespoon MRS. TUCKER'S SHORTENING

Mix the beef, seasonings and rice, adding tomato juice if necessary to moisten. Form lightly into balls 1 in. in diameter. Cook onion in hot MRS. TUCKER'S SHORTENING until done, not browned, then add tomatoes and cook 5 minutes. Pour over meat balls in a greased casserole. Cover and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 1 to 1¼ hrs. Serves 4 generously.

NOTE: Chopped green pepper may be added to sauce, if desired. Cook it with the onion before adding the tomatoes.

If the "after" of cooked fresh asparagus bears little resemblance to the whole, attractive spears of the "before", try the $10 asparagus tip from Mrs. Hazel Williamson, Denver, Colorado:

Cut both ends out of a No. 2 or 2½ tin can. Carefully insert the asparagus, handling altogether by the stem ends. Stand upright in a tall kettle, stem ends down in the water, and cook. When done, slide the asparagus spears out on the serving dish and season as desired. Hmm . . . very pretty!

Are you always playing hide-and-seek with the belts to your dresses? Well, you needn't be "it" any more, thanks to Mrs. Lee York, Tatum, Texas. Here's an idea that found $10 and accounts for fewer losses of temper!

Screw cup hooks (from the five-and-ten) into the bottom rod of a wooden coat hanger. Hang the belts on the hooks by their buckles. Add a cheerful note of color by painting the hanger to match or contrast with the color scheme of the room.

Meat Industry Leaders Believe Short Supplies Will Continue

CHICAGO, June 3 (INS)—An International News Service survey among meat industry leaders indicated today that meat will remain in short supply and high-priced the rest of this year and perhaps part of next.

Industry spokesmen hold out little hope for an early victory by housewives in the fight to lower the cost of the family food budget.

An official of one of the "Big Four" packers said the high price of meat simply is a matter of supply and demand.

Not Near Demand

He explained that more meat is being produced than before the war but that packers are "nowhere near catching up with the demand." He added:

"Until we do you can't look for lower meat prices."

Production of meat in federally inspected plants is estimated at 14 1-3 billion pounds this year, or about 10 per cent less than the 1947 production, but 12 per cent greater than the pwerwar average.

The "Big Four" spokesman said that the high production is insufficient because with employment at an all-time peak "people who couldn't afford to eat meat regularly before now eat it frequently."

Norman Draper, an official of the American Meat Institute, said meat will be in the shortest supply during July, August and September—three months during which meat slaughtering traditionally slows up.

He said that meat supplies will be more plentiful in the last three months of the year when farmers start sending to market animals they have been feeding in the summer.

However, Herman M. Conway, analyst for the National Livestock Producers' association, said that there will be fewer animals going to market than last year because of the corn shortage, adding:

"Naturally you can expect higher prices."

He said two big corn crops are needed to bring about a substantial increase in livestock production.

A spokesman for the National Association of Retail Meat dealers said prices already are so high that meat is out of reach for many low income families.

An official of the CIO United Packinghouse Workers union, also predicted that meat prices will remain high and blamed the packing industry.

This spokesman declared that supply and demand does not tell the whole story. He said:

Bank Leaves Doors Open Overnight

HOUSTON, June 2. (U.P.)—A Houston bank left its doors open last night, but no one bothered to even peek inside.

J. W. Culpepper entered the Port City State bank today, as was his daily custom. The doors were open but no one was inside.

Then he remembered it was Jefferson Davis' birthday. The bank wasn't supposed to be open at all. He reported the incident to police.

"I didn't notice any sign on the door," Culpepper was quick to tell the officers. "I just pushed open the door and walked in."

Meanwhile, Henry Etter, vice president of the bank, told police he had no idea why the bank was left unlocked last night.

"It was a slight oversight," Etter said. "Nothing is wrong but it won't happen again."

Candidate For Governor Hits Jester's First Term Policies

FREDERICKSBURG, June 3 (AP)—Holmes A. May, announced candidate for governor, asserted in a speech prepared for radio delivery here tonight that Governor Beauford Jester had failed during his first term of office on all three points of his election platform.

May, who resides here and in Houston, said Jester did not fulfill his campaign pledges calling for farm-to-market roads, higher pay for school teachers and increased old-age assistance.

The speech was aired over radio station KNAF here.

The candidate proposed the establishment of a state recreational board to establish properly supervised playgrounds.

May, a native of Orange, Tex., was a newspaperman in Port Arthur and Orange 11 years. He established the May Ice station in Houston, which he sold a month ago, and built a block community center in Houston.

Texas A. & M. Cadet Corps Receives Superior Rating

COLLEGE STATION, June 3 (AP)—General Thomas T. Handy announced tonight that the Texas A. & M. cadet corps has received the highest rating the Army can award an ROTC unit—superior.

The commander of the Fourth Army, presenting reserve commissions as second lieutenants to about 150 cadets, said the rating was made after the annual federal inspection this year.

General Handy congratulated the corps, its commandant, Col. Guy S. Meloy, Jr., and A. and M. President Gibb Gilchrist. He praised Meloy's "outstanding ability and leadership," and said Gilchrist "has spared no effort to make the military department (of the college) strong and successful."

"The nation needs you as much today as it did in time of war to help guide its leadership in maintaining peace in the world," General Handy told the cadet corps.

"Your training and fitness are the basis for success in either military or civilian life."

PROGRAM ON LAKE PLACID HIT

Solon Says Broadcast Beamed To Latins Was Objectionable

WASHINGTON, June 3 (INS)—Senate investigators raked government-financed "Voice of America" broadcasts with new fire today, taking as their fresh target a Latin-American program featuring a "girls, girls, girls" motif.

The investigators, headed by Sen. Ferguson (R) Mich., heard testimony that a broadcast on life at Lake Placid, beamed south of the Rio Grande, was "objectionable."

Stanley P. Richardson, in charge of the National Broadcasting company international section, said that the script, prepared by Rene Borgia, author of the "Know Your America" series, was "irresponsible."

Money Said Wasted

Latest developments in the inquiry came as the special Ferguson committee turned its attention to determining just how many people abroad actually listen to the programs. A source close to the committee explained:

"One of the excuses being given for these programs is that nobody ever listens to them anyway.

"If that is true public money has been wasted and the committee wants to know what efforts have been made to determine the value of these programs."

Officials of NBC, which prepared the programs under contract to the State department, told the Ferguson committee that there is no way of telling how many people listen in Latin-America.

NBC Vice President Charles R. Denny testified that only 14 letters were received from listeners to the Borgia series.

Broadcast Is Described

The Lake Placid broadcast began with the narrator instructing the listeners not to worry for "you are going to have a good time." The narrator continued:

"Lake Placid has such girls that it makes quinine feel feverish."

The voice asked "What are we going to see—clothes?" A second voice said:

"What do you mean clothes? Do you know what you are talking about?" The first voice:

"If this were summer, it would be tempting. But in winter! It's true that there are such girls, but they are dressed up to here." Narrator:

"Then you are not interested in skins, right?" Voice:

"Yes indeed, but not animals skins."

Richardson testified that Borgia "deliberately injected objectionable material" into the Lake Placid script because those remarks were not in the original Portugese script which Borgia converted into Spanish.

Ferguson asked whether Richardson would call Borgia's activities "sabotage." Richardson replied:

"I attribute it to irresponsibility, lack of trustworthiness and lack of a proper approach to a job."

Richardson added, however, that NBC must take full responsibility for Borgia's programs.

The NBC official explained that he did not know that the State department was not checking the scripts but he assumed full responsibility.

A 99th district petit jury returned an answer to one special issue at 5:20 p. m. Thursday in the $745.29 debt action of Clark Wood and Dee H. Bradford, doing business as Wood and Bradford Insurance service, against C. A. Stokes. It answered "no" to the issue, which read: "Do you find from a preponderance of the evidence that Stokes agreed before payments of premiums were made, if they were made, to repay Wood and Bradford the premiums upon the policies of insurance issued to Stokes?" It was expected that Charles Cobb, member of the law firm of McWhorter, Howard and Cobb, counsel for Stokes, will move for judgment. The jury answer was signed by G. F. Hill as foreman. Judge G. V. Pardue presided. It required four days to try the case.

Mrs. W. P. McKinley, operating the Lubbock Poster company, has filed a $2,365 damage suit against the Plains Funeral Home. Mrs. McKinley alleges that the funeral home has failed to comply with the terms of a contract for the painting, installation and upkeep of seven bulletins for three years, beginning July 19, 1946.

Ballinger Man Given 99 Years In Slaying

BALLINGER, June 3 (AP)—Cliff Clary, 49, was convicted at 7:30 p. m. here tonight in the death Jan. 1 of his wife, Odella, 56, when flames swept their ranch home 15 miles northwest of here.

A jury in 119th district court fixed Clary's punishment at 99 years in prison.

The jury began deliberations at 5:47 p. m.

Clary testified during the trial, which began May 25, that gas fumes ignited in the house and that he tried to save his wife.

Dr. O. H. Chandler of Ballinger testified that the woman had died of strangulation.

Her death was first attributed to accidental causes, but the body was later exhumed and an autopsy held.

INVASION ANNIVERSARY JUNE 6

Four Years After Invasion-- World Prepares For New War

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, June 3. — Four years ago, just at this time, a lot of Americans alive today—and a lot of dead ones, too—trudged or rode through the south and east of bright, green England and wondered how long they had to live.

"The word" had come after months and years of training, and many of them must have thought of the endless nights in the bleakness that was Iceland, the enternity of time in Northern Ireland, the long wait in the glum camps of England. But all of them thought of home and wondered if, now, they would see it again.

Moved To Ships

They moved by night and day from great concentration areas to medium sized ones to smaller ones and then to little cleared places where they picked up the last of their equipment and were assigned to an exact ship at an exact time and exact place.

They were the human cogs in a plan that was already old in September of 1943 when the British showed some of us an operation they called "Harlequin"—so named because they were only pretending to be prying open the second front. They were cogs, and tools, too. A few men had sat around a table in Teheran and a man with a mustache, named Joe, had overcome the bitter objections of a stout man named Winston, who wanted them to strike at Germany through what he called the "soft underbelly" of Europe.

But the "soft underbelly" was made up of countries already earmarked by Joe as part of his country's future sphere of influence in Europe. They must be liberated by Joe's men . . . not by the men who now waited and wondered what lay across the channel on such beaches as the one named "Omaha."

Attack Finally Started

Their nerves and the nerves of the world drew taut and snapped on June 4, two days before they shoved off, when a false report went out from London that the invasion was underway. But it was a girl, playing with a teletype machine, who sent out the report—the company said. And the long hours of waiting dragged on, atrophied.

The ships wallowed at their moorings, the little ones nuzzling against roughly paved beaches which the British called "hards." All of that part of England seemed to dilate with the weight of forbiddingly silent armor, and the breathing of men.

And then in the dark of early morning, June 6, the iron jaws of the little island opened and from them emerged a force never before beheld by Mars . . .

Whether they were to die, or be forced to live in shattered bodies, or escape unscratched was the only thing in life. It was a greater thing, then, than whether they'd win or lose. And there could not have been a man among them who foresaw that four short years later, almost to the hour, their country would be rushing its greatest defense program against the threat of still another war.

Strike Was Banned

The threatened strike of atomic-energy workers at Oak Ridge recalls to mind that during the years the plant worked in ghostly secrecy on material for the A-bomb and thought of a strike would have been considered preposterous. And would have been dealt with summarily.

In fact, it was next to impossible to resign a job at Oak Ridge. Incompetents were kept on the payroll for fear that—once free of the security of security officers—they would talk.

Only once did the officials make the mistake of firing a scientist or, rather, in only one instance did they accept a resignation among the scientists who—appalled by the work they were in—asked to be relieved.

He spilled his story to a friend who told it to a radio broadcaster who, in turn, shouted it over a national hookup . . . A year before the first bomb was tested. They never made the same mistake.

A strike at Oak Ridge, though harmful, would not be a critical loss to the U. S. defense program. Oak Ridge is mainly concerned with the separation of Uranium-235 from Uranium-238. Plutonium, produced at the Hanford, Wash., plant, has replaced U-235 as preferred material in A-bombs.

A new record of some kind, for blending Democracy with old world culture, was turned in at a recent meeting of the Overseas Press club. The guest of honor was King Peter of Yugoslavia. OPC Member Elsa Maxwell confronted the monarch and promptly subsided into a fine old curtsey. The King accepted it with aplomb, apparently unconcerned by the fact that all this was taking place in Al Schacht's saloon.

JOAN DAVIS GETS BIG SPARKLER—Comedienne Joan Davis of the screen and radio displays her new diamond engagement ring which is "so big I'll have to put my arm in a sling to wear it." She got the seven carat dazzler from Danny Elman, former Chicago businessman. They haven't set the wedding date as yet. (AP Wirephoto).

Soviets Protest Against Items By U. S. Newsmen In Jap Papers

TOKYO, June 4 (Friday) (INS)—A Soviet protest against articles written by American newsmen and published in Japanese papers was delivered to Gen. Douglas MacArthur today by Maj. Gen. A. P. Kislenko, Russia's representative on the Allied Council for Japan.

The protest called the articles Anti-Soviet propaganda and demanded that "prompt measures be taken to stop similar occurrences."

Interview Also Assailed

Kislenko charged that the May 17 issue of Newsweek distributed in Japan "propagates a new war against the Soviet Union" in a story headed "White Star versus Red."

The Soviet official also cited an interview by United Press Correspondent Ernest Hoberecht with Toshio Urabe, who represents the Japanese central government on Japan's most northerly island of Hokkaido. Kislenko complained:

"This official spokesman of the Japanese government slanderously asserted that the U.S.S.R. is allegedly landing on Hokkaido and other Japanese islands Russian agents, Mongolians and other Asiatics to gather information on American military activities in Japan."

The Russian said Urabe was quoted as saying such landings were being affected from islands in the Kuriles chain just north of Hokkaido. Red Army troops occupied the Kuriles in the closing days of the Pacific war.

A copy of the Soviet protest was delivered to William J. Sebald, MacArthur's chief deputy on the Allied council. Sebald told International News Service:

"You can say we have got the protest under consideration but no answer has yet been given."

Other American sources in Tokyo doubted whether MacArthur would answer the protest. They considered it "a routine diplomatic maneuver."

Kislenko declared:

"Newsweek's anti-Soviet, slanderous article, frankly advocating a new war, was fully reprinted by the Japanese newspaper Mainichi on May 19th."

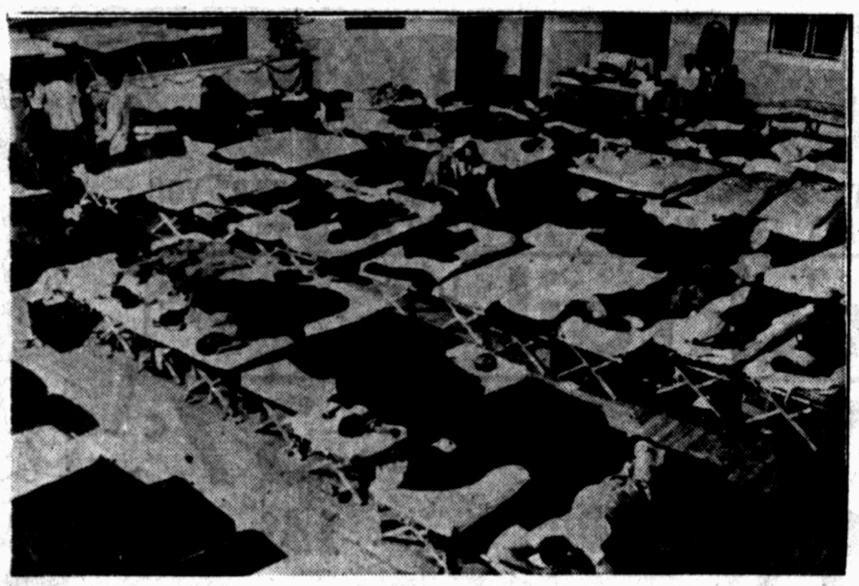

He charged that the Newsweek story was written "with a view to bringing home to the reader the idea of inevitability or probability of attack against the United States by the U.S.S.R."

The Russian protest also took notice of Newsweek's declaration that the Soviets are operating German warplane plants for the Red Air Force. Kislenko called this libelous.

TYPHOID HITS GERMANS

MUNICH, June 3 (AP)—Six hundred Germans have been stricken with typhoid in several towns about 50 miles northeast of Munich, the U. S. armed forces network said tonight. Twelve have died in the last three weeks.

Super-speed X-ray movies which take pictures faster than you can blink an eye have been demonstrated to physicists.

HOMELESS VICTIMS FIND REST—Homeless victims of the flooded city of Vanport, Ore., spend the night on cots set up in Portland's American Legion hall. Welfare agencies in the Portland area have found it necessary to make provision for some 30,000 persons who have been made homeless by the rising waters of the Pacific northwest. (NEA Telephoto).

Loot Taken In Robbery Found

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 3 (AP)—Postal money orders, certificates and government bonds with a potential value of $621,700 were uncovered in a Bethany, Okla., back yard today.

The supplies were part of the loot taken in a robbery of the Prairie Grove, Ark., post office Feb. 8.

Postal inspectors said that Frank Chester Collins, 46, of Bethany, Okla., is being held in Oklahoma County jail on a charge of illegal possession of government property. He pleaded innocent to the charge yesterday before the United States commissioner.

Of stamps taken, $800 worth was recovered from a man arrested at Dallas, Guthrie said.

Two men and a woman were arrested in Dallas.

Mine Official Is Attack Victim

HARLAN, Ky., June 3 (INS)—A 50-year-old mine superintendent was attacked by a group of 12 men today in Harlan county but saved from a possible severe beating by a courageous wife who opened fire on the attackers with a revolver.

Kentucky highway patrolmen said the mine official was W. D. Cohelia, who was hired by the Harlan-Wallins company as mine superintendent at Verna this week. More than 400 miners walked off the job Tuesday at mines one and six after a protest by a United Mine Workers committee failed to obtain Cohelia's discharge.

Road Is Blocked

The story told the highway patrol today was that Cohelia started to drive to work in his automobile and was in sight of his home when a car coming from the opposite direction swerved across the highway and blocked the road.

Several men emerged from the car and others came from behind Cohelia's car to surround the superintendent.

Cohelia was struck in the mouth and on the side of the head. It was then that Mrs. Cohelia saw her husband's plight and opened fire with a pistol in the general direction of the group.

The highway patrolmen were told that the men holding Cohelia opened fire in return and a dozen or more shots were fired at the woman. One bullet struck the house near her but she escaped injury.

One man was arrested by state patrolmen and held for questioning but no charge was placed against him. Cohelia said he did not recognize any of his attackers.

Fire At Alice Causes Over $100,000 Loss

ALICE, June 3 (AP)—Fire which destroyed several downtown business buildings here today caused damage estimated at $100,000 to $150,000.

The fire started in the bus station with a semi-explosion and spread extremely fast.

HST Holds Lead As 1948 Choice Among Demo Voters In Survey

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., June 3—Although a good many Democrats in the South and elsewhere have come out against the nomination of President Truman, no other leader in the party has developed widespread popular following as a possible nominee.

As a result, the latest test of rank and file sentiment shows President Truman far in the lead as the 1948 choice with Democratic voters. Second most popular choice among Democrats is Secretary of State George C. Marshall, with former Senator James F. Byrnes of South Carolina third and Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia next.

With the Democratic convention due to begin in a little over a month, Democratic voters in the poll were shown a list of Democraitc leaders who have at one time or another been mentioned prominently as presidential material. Voters were asked:

"Will you look over all these possible candidates and tell me which one you would like to see elected President of the United States in 1948?"

The vote among Democrats:

Truman	76%
Marshall	10
Byrnes	3
Byrd	2
Forrestal	1
Farley	1
Douglas	1
No choice	6

General Dwight D. Eisenhower's name was not included in the list since he has persistently and pointedly refused to countenance any movement in the Democratic party on his behalf. However, many Democrats feel that he would run if nominated, and the possibility of an Eisenhower boom at the convention cannot be ruled out.

In spite of many fluctuations in his popularity since he took office, President Truman has held the lead since 1945 as the choice for 1948.

In an Institute survey in May, 1946 he polled 61 per cent with Henry A. Wallace the next strongest contender. That, of course, was before Wallace bolted the Democratic party to set up his own third party.

By December 1946 Truman's popularity as the next nominee had fallen to 48 per cent, but was still ahead of anyone else, with Wallace next and General Marshall third. In July of last year the President was the choice of 71 per cent of Democrats for 1948.

While today's figure of 76 per cent is substantial it is a good deal below that of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt prior to the 1944 nomination. Early in 1944 he was the choice of 84 per cent of Democrats for the nomination and just before the convention opened in July, 1944 the figure rose to 92 per cent.

Dallas Police Work Up File Of Nicknames

DALLAS, June 3 (INS)—The Dallas police department has a new file which might be entitled "what's in a Name?"

It's a file for future reference, compiled entirely from nicknames.

For example there's Kokoma, whose case went to the grand jury under that title and the defendant was exonerated on a murder. Police are still looking for him to tell him he's not wanted any more.

Other "Names" Listed

Then there's Baby Brother, whose record shows he's been handled for robbery, but it doesn't show how he got that name. Running down the list, there's a group of lads "positively identified by homicide witnesses" as Flaky White, Guyboo, Jabo, Moonglow, Moto, Big Hand and Black Rider.

In the negro files there are Parkside, Lost World, Preacher Tim, Poro, Stalling Johnny, Snookums, Station Wagon, and Train.

It's easy, the detectives say, to get a nickname from witnesses. But linking it with a real name is something else. That's the problem the new file is supposed to solve.

Dunlap Company Purchases Department Store At Pecos

Retha R. Martin, president of the Dunlap company, announced Thursday the purchase of Sisk Department store at Pecos as the 28th store in the Dunlap group.

The store, formerly the Pecos Mercantile company, is one of the oldest department stores in the western part of the state. Established as the Pecos Mercantile company in 1900, the store in earlier days was one of the few of its kind between Fort Worth and El Paso, and served a large portion of that part of the state.

The purchase was effective Wednesday, when the new owners took possession. The consideration was approximately $150,000, Martin said.

The purchase brings to 28 the number of stores in the Dunlap group, located in four states—Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, and California. Martin said there would be no material shift in personnel to handle the new store.

Thieves Do Bangup Job On Nebraskan's New 1948 Car

FALLS CITY, Neb., June 3. (U.P.)—Dean Niemann had a pretty new Ford automobile, 1948 model. He had driven it 2,000 miles.

Then thieves took over. They got five wheels, five tires, front and rear bumpers, sun visors, windshield wipers, radio, aerial, seat covers, headlights, battery, generator, carburetor, spark plugs and coils.

Disabled Veterans Win Praise Of California Art Lovers

LONG BEACH, Cal., June 3. (U.P.)—Paintings produced by disabled veterans taking art therapy at Birmingham Veterans Administration Hospital here are arousing enthusiastic comments from southern California art lovers.

"Each of the paintings produced represents the courage of a veteran to overcome a disability," said Dr. C. C. Troenseguard, chief of the rehabilitation program. "Their painters are the boys who took the gaff and weren't content to stay on the salvage heap."

Among the pictures arousing comment are three water colors by Eugene Luff, who is paralyzed from the neck down. So he can paint, a brush is tied to his paralyzed fingers. His landscapes are painted entirely from memory.

Hale County Oil Play Gets Boost

New Wildcat Will Be Drilled

(Special To The Avalanche)

HALE CENTER, June 3—Contract has been completed for a 7,000-foot wildcat oil prospector five miles southwest of Hale Center, it was announced here late today, as plans for giving Hale County's oil play a major boost were revealed.

C. E. Cooper, widely known Texas oil man, and Charles F. Hemphill of Beverly Hills, Calif., have opened offices in Hale Center and have purchased oil leases on a solid block of 12,474 acres of land known as the Nick Alley block, located five miles southwest of this city for the new development, according to information to Tom Rambo, editor of the Hale Center American.

Pioneer In Business

Drilling operations will get underway "as soon as practicable," it was announced by Cooper and Hemphill to Rambo.

Alley, president of the First National bank of Hale Center, helped organized the block of land in which 42 different land owners are included.

All transactions in the development were on a cash basis, Alley said.

The new development is centrally located between the Lee Irish field in southwest Hale county and the Lutrick producer in the Abernathy area, Rambo said.

Cooper, Rambo said, will be remembered as the same Cooper who brought in the famous Discovery well in the Breckenridge Field in 1920. He will be remembered for locating in Stephens county in 1919 when he assembled a large block of oil and gas leases around Breckenridge in an area where 29 dry holes had been drilled.

Many Wells Completed

On Feb. 3, 1920, he brought in the Discovery well and later completed 42 successful wells before hitting a dry hole.

Until recently, Hemphill was associated in the financing and real estate field in Beverly Hills and is a past president of the Beverly Hills Realty Board, Rambo said.

The two men have set up offices and living quarters in a new building in Hale Center and plan longtime operations, according to information given Rambo.

In connection with plans for the new development, it was announced that Hale county now has 72 producing wells and 18 being drilled.

The entire southern portion of the county for 30 miles from the Southwest Irish field to the Petersburg pool in the southeast has now been proven, it was said.

Dixie Pays Little Notice Of Holiday

MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 3 (INS)—Dixie paused only briefly today to honor the birthday of Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy.

Legal holidays were in effect in Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Georgia but observances were confined mainly to closing state offices.

No speeches or demonstrations took place in Alabama, Mississippi or Louisiana. Savannah, Ga., held brief observance ceremonies.

Some Alabama citizens came to Montgomery to pay their respects to the president of the Confederacy's memory.

The Mississippi State Building commission took the opportunity to hear a request that the monument to Davis, which stands in Vicksburg's National cemetery, be rebuilt. Officials of the United Daughters of the Confederacy reported that the monument is falling apart.

Mississippi Lieutenant-Governor Sam Lumpkin referred the UDC's request for funds to the commission. He pointed out that the statue was constructed by a Connecticut firm. Lumpkin quipped:

"It must have been a plot of those damn-Yankees."

Press Associations Deny Subsidies Asked

House Group Votes Foreign News Fund

WASHINGTON, June 3. (INS)—The House Appropriations committee today approved an allotment of 10 million dollars to enable American newspapers, magazines, motion picture firms and press associations to get some U. S. dollars for disseminating information in foreign nations.

The fund would be administered by the Economic Cooperation Administration headed by Paul G. Hoffman. The Economic administration had requested an appropriation of 15 million dollars.

Would Absorb Losses

The Army and the State department joined the ECA in asking the fund. State department officials explained it would be used to absorb currency exchange losses which may be suffered by the American firms and to unfreeze blocked funds in occupied Germany. Many American firms have been operating abroad at a loss because they could not be paid in dollars.

Opposition to such a fund was promptly voiced by some congressmen. It stirred up a controversy at a meeting of the rules committee where Rep. Taber (R) N. Y., appropriations committee chairman, was explaining the entire foreign aid bill.

Rep. Harness hinted that he might offer an amendment to the foreign Aid appropriation eliminating the 10 million dollar item.

Rep. Allen (R) Ill., rules committee chairman charged that "it's ten million dollars for propaganda and subsidies. It's a payoff . . ."

Allen also charged that the list of publications which would be eligible under the fund does not include any midwestern or southern newspapers. He specifically pointed to the omission of the Chicago Tribune.

Not Propaganda

Taber responded to Allen that he "would not fight" an amendment to strike the 10 million dollars from the foreign aid bill. He also told Harness he would "not get excited" if the Indiana Republican offers such a proposal on the House floor tomorrow.

Harness told Taber he had heard that the press associations were included in the program to take the sting off of publications which "propagandized for the Marshall plan."

He asked Taber whether he thought the press associations had propagandized for the Marshall plan.

Taber replied:

"I don't think they were propagandizing for anything. I have never known the International News service, the Associated Press and the United Press to propagandize for anything."

NEWS SERVICES SHOW SURPRISE AT LATEST MOVE

NEW YORK, June 3. (INS)—The three American news agencies— Associated Press, United Press, and International News Service — expressed surprise today at the inclusion of their names among various information media listed as eligible for dollar "subsidies" to unfreeze blocked funds in occupied Germany.

The list was revealed in Washington as having been compiled by the State department in connection with the Marshall plan.

The Associated Press made the following statement:

"The AP directly serves newspapers and radio stations abroad and has no connection with any 'foreign information' program. The AP has made no inquiry as respects currency exchange provisions of the foreign aid bill."

United Press said:

"The UP never accepts government subsidies. At the request of the State department, UP furnished an estimate of the amount of frozen marks which it is currently accumulating in occupied Germany."

International News Service said:

"INS has never accepted a government subsidy in its entire history and does not intend to do so now."

SCIENCE IS WONDERFUL

LORAIN, O. (U.P.)—The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad has a new mechanical marvel that picks up 70-ton coal cars and dumps them aboard ship at the rate of one a minute. B. & O. engineers say the electrically-operated dock needs only a penny's worth of current to dump five tons of coal.

Employment Setup Aided

Contiuuing to show a steady increase since February, job placements through the local office of the Texas Employment commission during May totaled 713, according to a report on the month's activities by James E. Marshall, manager.

The figure compares with 438 in February. The number of contacts by persons seeking employment during the month was 3,943, job openings cleared through the office numbered 856, and new applicants for employment totaled 587, the report showed.

As employment increased during May, the number of unemployment compensation and servicemen's readjustment claims declined. The report showed that a large number of final payments were made during the month in the cases of veterans who have drawn all unemployment compensation and self-employment benefits due them under the servicemen's readjustment act.

Analyzed industrially, 147 of the placements during May were in contract construction, 139 in retail trades, 84 in wholesale trades, 34 in food and kindred products, 31 in transportation and allied industries, 61 in service institutions, and 18 in government establishments.

By occupational groupings, the placements were 101 in clerical and sales group, four in professional and managerial, 147 in service occupations, 65 skilled, 82 semi-skilled, and 276 unskilled.

Marshall's report shows a current estimate of 3,053 firms in Lubbock with total employment of 24,962. Retail trades rank first as to number of people employed, estimated at 6,542, and service institutions are in second place with 3,684.

Medical and other professional services account for 2,586 of the total employed, and other estimates are 1,788 in wholesale trade, 1,650 in construction, 1,490 in transportation and allied industries, 1,093 in government establishments, and 1,200 in manufacture of food and kindred products.

TEXANS STAYING IN STATE

Average Of 43 Families Move To City A Month, Study Shows

Lubbock is growing at the rate of 1.4323308 new families each day. According to reliable information received here Monday from a statistician, that means about one and a half families are moving to the city each day, or in a long range view, about 43 families each month.

Lubbock is getting 1.4323308 new families each day, Mathematicians say that means about one and a half new families are moving to the city each day, or in more comprehensible terms to eliminate family arguments over the "half," about 43 new families each month.

At least that's what figures compiled by Mrs. Allie M. Dyer, Lubbock's city hostess, would seem to indicate. The figures, which include the period from Sept. 1, 1947, to May 23, 1948, would seem to indicate several other trends. (1) That Texans seem to like to stay in Texas, (2) That Texans seem to like to live in Lubbock and (3) that most of our new out-of-state neighbors are from Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arkansas and Kansas.

Of the 361 new families visited here by Mrs. Dyer during the 266-day period, 284 came from Texas, 94 from other states and three from foreign countries. During the period, the city has gained residents from 21 states other than Texas.

Arkansas 12, California 4, Colorado 2, Florida 1, Kansas 9, Kentucky 2, Louisiana 7, Michigan 1, Mississippi 3, Missouri 1, Nebraska 2, New Jersey 2, New Mexico 16, North Dakota 1, Ohio 2, Oklahoma 17, Oregon 5, Texas 284, Utah 1, Virginia 4, Washington 2, Wyoming 1, Austria 1, Hawaii 1, Alaska 1. Total 361.

Decision On Move To Drop Interurban Line Delayed

DALLAS, June 3 (AP)—A decision on the petition of the Texas Electric railway company to abandon its Waco-Dallas-Denison interurban line is not expected until early fall.

Hearing examiner Jerome K. Lyle of the Interstate Commerce commission said today that legal steps available to both parties will require at least two or three months before the final ICC ruling is handed down.

Hearings on the petition ended here yesterday.

Meanwhile at Hillsboro, the Southwestern Greyhound bus lines was opposing the application of the proposed Texas Electric bus line from starting the Dallas-Waco service. The application is being heard before the Texas Railroad commission.

Break-In Of Shop Fails

R. L. Burdett reported that a barber shop at 1112 Ave. L had been visited by thieves who failed to gain entrance. A lock on the front door had been tampered with, and several pieces of wire were stuffed into the lock.

Probe Is Underway

Juliano Hernandez, 43, of that address was admitted to West Texas hospital for wounds in the right chest. His condition was not considered serious. Full investigation of the attack had not been completed.

Police said that Robert C. Wilson, 19, of 1954 Ave. H, pleaded guilty to three traffic charges and was fined $50. The charges were negligent collision, failure to leave information at the scene of an accident, and having no operator's license on his person.

Suffered Deep Cut

Patrolman Jerry Hoover's official report said Frank Everest Brians, 46, of 1628 Fifth, suffered a deep cut of the left knee cap and bruises of the left shin when his car was struck by another, which allegedly drove off without leaving information as to identity of the driver.

The arrest followed his information, Hoover said.

According to Brians, the victim had a flat tire and was attempting to change it, when another car, a pickup, backed across the street, struck his car, knocked it off a jack and caused the bumper to strike him.

Brians, police said, indicated he did not wish to file a felony complaint.

D. W. Robertson, justice of peace, dismissed a forgery charge naming Albert D. Mercer, 22, upon motion of District Attorney Lloyd Croslin, who said he had been informed that a check that was basis for the complaint admittedly had been written by another person, who signed his true name.

Lawrence Bost, 23, was fined $1 and county court costs upon a plea of guilty of misdemeanor check law violation and, the county attorney's department said, made restitution on the check and paid his fine. It had been made payable to Mercer, officials said.

John F. Mullins, 47, was fined $200 and costs on a charge of check law violation after pleading guilty, according to county court records.

Approximately 88 cases of beer were brought to the court house at 7 p. m. Thursday, as the result of a raid by members of the liquor control board in the 500 block of Thirty-fifth. A charge was expected to be filed in connection with the case today, according to Charley Fuller, deputy district supervisor.

U. S. Army In Germany Admits Americans In Black Market

FRANKFURT, Germany, June 3(U.P.)—The American military government considered black marketing in Germany a "recognized way of life" early in the occupation, an official history of the first year's activities here revealed.

Efforts to destroy it, the black market, the report said, were complicated by its expansive nature, the re-deployment of American troops and the inefficiency of the German police.

The reference to re-deployment, indicating that American controls might have been relaxed because of the cut in quantity and quality of American troops here, was one of three slight references to American involvement in black market operations.

American Goods Involved

One of the other two references noted the sudden appearance on the black market of American goods stolen or otherwise obtained from stocks held at signal corps, engineer, ordinance and quartermaster depots. The report also mentioned "items * * * procured in many instances from American troops."

The reference to U. S. participation in the black market involved the establishment of "barter marts." They were organized exchange shops where Germans could swap their old silver, Meissen china, expensive cameras and Persian rugs for the cigarettes, soap and other American luxuries which the Germans considered necessities.

The history just released does not include a report of what happened to the black market when U. S. authorities banned further import of cigarettes and tobacco, theretofore brought in by the case for "bartering" purposes.

The acceptance of the black bourse as a way of life stemmed not only from the dire economic straits in which the Germans found themselves after the war, the report said.

Germans Learned How

German veterans of the Nazi occupation of other European countries remembered the harassing effect of the black market on their administration and calmly went about the task of creating the same effect in the American military government.

The history credited the displaced persons reported always to have been a source of difficulty in maintaining security in occupied Germany, with much of the responsibility for black market operations. Their constant comings and goings, crossing borders, moving from one place to another, were a natural vehicle for black marketing. Sometimes, the army report said, Germans would go so far as to masquerade as displaced persons, simply to discredit that group.

The army history has closely correlated the problems of police security, displaced persons and the black market.

The report included references to the arrest of a black marketeer in Munich who was found to have 4,500 pounds sterling and 300,000 marks worth of jewels in his possession. It also mentioned the creation of a special "price police" force, charged with keeping the lid on Germany's economy by a local version of the OPA.

Woman Has More Than Her Share Of Accidents, But Survives

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 3 (U.P.)—Mrs. Thelma Ruth Pafford has almost a charmed life. Eleven years ago when she was 18 she leaned against the door of an automobile and fell out.

During the war a ton of rubber and cloth matting slid from a carrier crane. Mrs. Pafford was partly buried, suffering a leg injury.

Three years ago Mrs. Pafford was in an automobile accident in which the car was demolished. And now Mrs. Pafford is recovering from another accident—she fell out of a taxicab.

Texas Inventor Perfects Poison Gas Gun For Cow

GRAND PRAIRIE, June 3. (INS)—Mabel the cow, is probably the first bovine in the nation to carry her own poison gas sprayer.

The automatic fly-proofer was designed by her owner, Albert C. Blevins of Grand Prairie. The fly killer is a round appliance about three and one-half inches in diameter. Between two composition layers is an absorbent felt pad, saturated with insecticide. The pad is glued lightly to the hair on a cow's hide. It works like this. Every time Mabel flicks her tail it hits the pad. The poisonous fumes exuded by the pad are transferred to the tail and thence to the fly or to a spot on her body.

Company's Assets Outstrip Capacity Of Adding Machine

FRANKLIN, Ind., June 3. (U.P.)—The board of directors of the Mutual Building and Loan Association happily acknowledged after months of waiting that the firm's assets had passed the $1,000,000 mark.

Secretary A P. Butz had a clerical problem, however. He told the directors they must order a new adding machine at once.

American Teacher Amazed At British Customs And Ideas

PORT ARTHUR, June 3 (INS)—The British don't understand Americans any better than we understand them.

That's the opinion of Mrs. E. F. McLaughlin, who last year served as an exchange teacher in England.

The English, she said, think of Texas as roving cowboys and of New York as a city of gangsters. Particularly noticeable to an American, she said, is the lack of super markets, refrigeration, and school supplies.

Meats are displayed on counters, for handling, she said. Mrs. McLaughlin said when she expressed amazement, she met with the typical English answer: "Oh, you Americans, are so germ conscious."

School supplies are scarce, she said, so that one class uses pencils and they are then taken up and passed on to the next group of children. There are no drinking fountains in English schools, Mrs. McLaughlin said.

Finally, she said, the English have an idea that all Americans are rich.

"That," Mrs. McLaughlin quips, "is an unusual experience for a school teacher."

State Official Outlines Scope Of Texas School Lunch Program

AUSTIN, June 3 (INS)—Texas school kids partook of some 37,000,000 lunches provided under the National School Lunch program during the past school year, according to State School Superintendent L. A. Woods.

Approximately 260,000 Texas school children in 2,448 schools participated in the program, he said.

Dr. Woods pointed out that even with the high cost of food, most of the schools, through proper management, were able ot break even financially on the 15-to-25 cent meals.

The school children paid an average of 21 cents per meal during the past year.

USDA Aids Program

The amount of money local sponsors have spent for food during the school term is $6,900,000. All went to local farmers and merchants. The U. S. Department of Agriculture's share of the food bill is $3,333,157, the remainder coming from local sources, according to the state superintendent.

In addition to money, the United States Department of Agriculture Produciton and Marketing administration also distributed to schools the foods bought from farmers under price support and surplus removal programs.

The Production and Marketing administration also uses part of the national school lunch appropriation to purchase foods needed to round out wholesome lunches, and they need not be in surplus supply. These include cheese, peanut butter, canned tomatoes, tomato juice, dry milk, and concentrated orange juice.

Amarillo Company Buys Carbon Plant At Sunray From WAA

DALLAS, June 3 (AP)—Sale of two Southwestern war plants to private concerns was announced in Dallas by the War Assets administration today.

Sold to the Continental Carbon co. of Amarillo, for $1,100,000, was the government-owned carbon black plant located at Sunray, in the Panhandle. The plant originally cost the government $2,177,741.

The Continental Oil co. of Ponca City, Okla., bought the government toluene plant at Ponca City for $175,000.

WASHINGTON, June 3 (AP) — The Communications commission today authorized Hopkins County Broadcasting Co., operating KSST at Sulphur Springs, Tex., to transfer control from Howard S. Archbishop Refuses To Bless New Hotel With Rivera Mural

MEXICO CITY, June 3. (U.P.)—The Prado hotel planned to hang a curtain today over Diego Rivera's much-disputed mural containing the words, "God does not exist," but Mexico's painters promised to fight the attempt in the courts.

The mural, "Sunday Afternoon in the Alameda," became a national issue when the archbishop of Mexico refused to bless the new $8,000,000 hotel after it was discovered that Rivera had painted the offensive words into the scene.

Hotel Manager Luis Osio said Rivera had promised to erase the words, but failed to do so. As a temporary measure, Osio said he would hang a curtain over the mural, but this was not expected to change Archbishop Luis M. Martinez' determination not to enter the building as long as the words remained.

"If they try to hang a curtain over the mural, we will make a legal fight," Isquieros said. He also said the commission would not permit "any change in the mural."

Rivera earlier proposed that the archbishop go ahead and bless the building but damn his painting.

Former Pilot For President Will Join Commercial Line

FORT WORTH, June 3 (U.P.)—Capt. Henry T. Myers, former personal pilot for President Truman and the late President Roosevelt, will return to commercial aviation tomorrow as a pilot for American airlines.

He will be at the controls when a San Francisco-bound American airlines DC-6 flagship leaves here at 9:15 a. m.

Myers, 39, was with American airlines 10 years before World War II.

Wichita Falls Man Is Shot To Death, Wife Is Wounded

WICHITA FALLS, June 3 (AP)—John L. (Blacky) Gibson died in a hospital here today of a bullet wound above his temple. His wife, Mrs. Emma Gibson, 53, shot in the abdomen and chest, was given a fair chance to recover.

Both were shot yesterday afternoon at their home here. There were no witnesses, but a neighbor told officers Mrs. Gibson ran to her home and said she had been shot twice.

The wounded woman told officers at the hospital she and her husband had been arguing about a divorce.

Cong. Mahon Urges Possible Use Of Surplus Horses In Aid Setup

WASHINGTON, June 3 (AP)—The famed Missouri mule, described as "the most indestructible farm implement ever devised," and the great Plains horse may go to Europe to aid in economic recovery of war-torn nations.

During a House Appropriations subcommittee hearing on foreign aid funds for the year beginning next July 1, Rep. Mahon (D-Texas) told Paul G. Hoffman, Economic Co-operation administrator:

"You have taken up a lot of time talking about farm machinery and tractors.

Mahon Urges Horse Use

"I would like to have you make, and I think it is your duty to have a special study made to ascertain whether or not there is some way to utilize these surplus horses and livestock on the great farms and ranches of the west in this (foreign aid) program as a substitute for tractors wherever that might be feasible."

Hoffman replied he would be glad to make the study.

"We have had some question about mules from Missouri," Hoffman added, "so we will put that in, too."

"The most indestructible farm implement ever devised," commented Rep. Cannon (D-Mo), ranking minority member of the committee.

JUDGE APPROVES Court Prophecy Made By Witness

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 3 (INS) — Mrs. Mable C. Dodge, a leader of the Church of Jesus, Inc., testified during an account suit in Providence today that she is a prophet—and she convinced the judge.

"What do you prophesy will happen in this case?" Judge Alberic A. Archambault asked the witness.

Mrs. Dodge closed her eyes, raised an arm heavenward, and replied:

"God will do as he wishes."

"That's all right with me," said the judge. "Proceed with the case."

Recruiting Offices To Process Navy Air Training Applicants

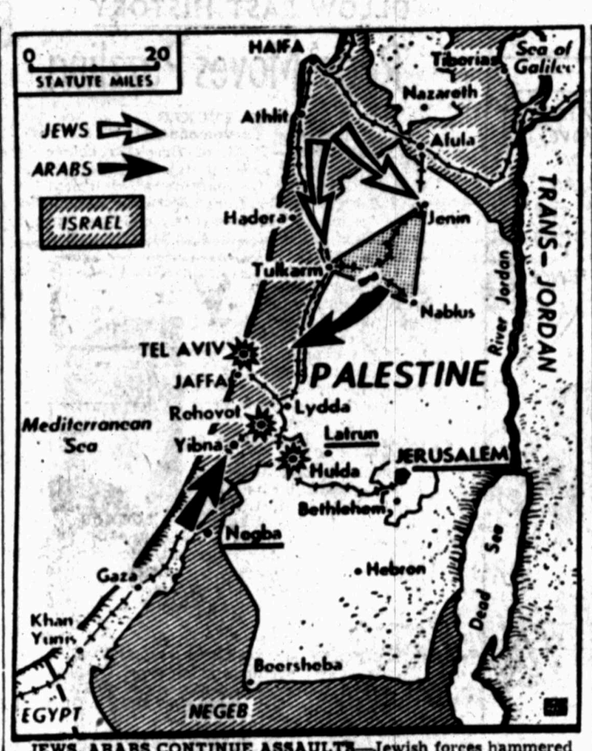

The local U. S. Navy recruiting office recently announced that the bureau of naval personnel has now set the policy of processing applicants for aircrewman training at recruiting stations instead of officer procurement offices as it was done formerly.

Young men who meet the physical and mental standards may enlist as apprentice seaman (aircrewman) and upon completion of recruit training will be assigned to aviation fundamentals schools and upon completion of fundamentals schools will be assigned to aviation school leading to a rating which is eligible for aircrew training.

Unmarried men between the ages of 17 and 27 who pass mental and physical standards may now enter training in much less time than was formerly necessary to qualify men for this assignment.

There are numerous openings in the aeronautic organization of the navy, and young men are urged to investigate the opportunities of 50 per cent extra pay and many other advantages open in this field of navy training.

The Navy recruiting office is located in room 206 of the post office building.

JEWS, ARABS CONTINUE ASSAULTS—Jewish forces hammered at Jenin and Tulkarm in the strong Arab Jenin-Tulkarm-Nablus triangle. Arab sources said their troops in that area were aimed at Tel Aviv. Egyptian forces were but 14 miles south of Tel Aviv and a battle was reported at Yibna. Rehovot and Hulda were reported shelled and bombed. Egyptians said their bombers made "concentrated raids" on Tel Aviv. Jews claimed penetration of Latrun while Arabs attacked Negba and beat off attacks on three gates of the old city of Jerusalem. Rape Charges Filed Against Three Bowie County Youths

TEXARKANA, Tex., June 3 (AP)—Rape charges were filed today against three Bowie County, Tex., youths in connection with a series of attacks on a 35-year-old Eylau woman.

The three are Paul Floyd, 18, Eylau; Stanley Ray Norton, 20, of Nash, and Robert Tiller, 22, Eylau.

District Attorney Maxwell Welch said the three will be returned immediately to Cass county by Sheriff Bill Knight. The woman said two of three youths attacked her repeatedly during a wild all-night ride through Cass, Marion and Harrison counties. She said she and her escort, Odrew Mann of Prescott, left a Texarkana cafe in the company of the three but that the three put Mann out of the car near Atlanta, Tex.

Lions' Attendance Winners Named

Two winners of attendance prizes of $250 each, posted by the Lubbock Lions club for perfect attendance during the past year, were announced yesterday by J. Wm. Davis, club president.

Named as winners were Ralph Dorsett and Bob Garner. Payment of the prizes is conditioned on attendance by winners at the convention of Lions International, to be held this year in New York City July 25 to 28.

Two alternates are chosen for each winner, and in event the winner cannot make the trip, the first alternate has the opportunity. If he cannot go, then second alternate gets the call.

Only those with perfect attendance records during the year participate.

Named as alternates to Dorsett, in order of succession, were Carroll Thompson, and Seth Bertram. Alternates to Garner were Wilson Holden, and B. G. Ripley.

'Ape Man' Is Hunted After Woman Killed

NEW YORK, June 3 (INS)—A man described as "ape-like" strangled and robbed a middle-aged German, refugee woman in upper Manhattan early today, and in a matter of hours hundreds of police were combing the area for the killer.

Authorities said the "ape man" has been attacking women in the neighborhood over a period of several months.

They described him as a negro, over six feet tall, with sloping shoulders and unnaturally long, powerful arms.

Extra police were assigned to the Washington Heights neighborhood after the latest victim, Mrs. Ferda Frank, a German refugee who arrived in New York about six months ago, was found dying early this morning.

Medical examiners attributed her death to strangulation and a skull fracture. Police said Mrs. Frank's purse was missing when she was found in the vestibule of her apartment house by another tenant.

Authorities said the description they have of Mrs. Frank's apparent killer is the same as that given by about a half dozen other women who have been assaulted and robbed in the district.

A STATE CONCERN

Texans In Congress

WHEN the voters of any district ballot to select a man to represent them in Congress, their first concern, of course, is their own interests and those of their particular area.

But their responsibility does not end there. They have a responsibility, too, to the rest of the people living in their state.

This is especially true in Texas, and it is particularly true at this time.

The Texas delegation in the national House of Representatives is one of the strongest. Until two years ago, it was the most powerful and the ablest of all the delegations. This fact was freely admitted in Washington.

But in the last several years, some of the stalwarts of the delegation have left Congress. Doughty Hatton Sumners, the Dallas veteran, retired to private life. R. Ewing Thomason, of El Paso, another very able man, left Congress to go on the federal bench. Joe Manfield, of Columbus, dean of the House, died. Fritz Lanham, of Fort Worth, retired, and Dick Kleberg, of Corpus Christi, was defeated.

By and large, the men chosen to succeed these very able and importantly placed men have been good. They will become better, and stronger, as their seniority increases. But every Texas voter must remember that if our House delegation is ever again to be as powerful, as able and as highly respected as it was during the period between 1933 and 1946, extreme care must be exercised in selecting the various Congressmen from this state.

• • •

THERE is a case in point in the far-flung 16th Texas district this year, which embraces that great sea of territory stretching from Midland to El Paso and the Big Bend area along the border. In that district a red hot race is shaping up between the incumbent, Congressman Ken Regan, of Midland, and W. W. Bean, variously of El Paso, Sierra Blanca and another point or two near the Rio Grande.

Both Messrs. Regan and Bean are former members of the Texas legislature, Mr. Regan having served in the Senate, Mr. Bean in the House. Mr. Regan defeated Mr. Bean in a special election last Summer, but it was a close race and Mr. Bean—taking advantage of Mr. Regan's staying on the job in Washington—is hoping to unseat his rival by way of a loud and prolonged campaign.

The records and personalities of these two men are at direct variance. Mr. Regan is a sound, thoughtful man who has made a success of his own business and who has conducted himself commendably in his brief service in Washington. Mr. Bean is a whoop-'em-up showman whose legislative record shows him frequently running off at tangents; the sort of individual who may always be expected to "jump on his horse and ride off in all directions."

• • •

BECAUSE Mr. Bean is a much better noise-maker than Mr. Regan, there is a chance he may be able to confuse enough voters to win this year's election. If he does, the voters of the 16th district will have the most to lose.

But the trouble is, not only would the voters of the 16th district lose sound representation in the election of Mr. Bean. The rest of us in Texas would lose something, too, because we all have a stake in the quality of the Congressional delegation as a whole.

The Morning Avalanche hopes the voters of the 16th Texas district will survive the drum-beating, the tight-rope walking and the fancy juggling of the Bean campaign and, when voting time rolls around, will exhibit the same, sane judgment they exhibited in the special election of last year.

That will be best for them, as well as for all of Texas.

(THE STORY: Patience Mond goes to London three times a week to attend dressmaking school. It is the only freedom allowed her by the two old-fashioned aunts who have brought her up and with whom she lives in the country. On the commuting train she meets Paul Taylor, who lives in a neighboring village and who finds himself attracted to the prim young girl. They date secretly, fall in love. The aunts find out, force Patience to promise not to see Paul again. Paul, meeting Patience as usual on the train, can't understand why she doesn't stand up to them. "Tell your Aunt Helen you're breaking that promise," he admonishes her. "Tell her you're engaged to me and you want to marry me."

VIII

PATIENCE stared at Paul. Her breath caught in her throat. "But I'm not engaged to you—"

"I want you to be."

"I — I couldn't possibly do anything like that without first asking my aunts' permission."

"Holy mackerel!"

"And under the circumstances," she went on desperately, "what chance is there of them giving it?"

"The trouble with you is you're conventional and a prig."

Her eyes flashed.

"I'm not. But marriage is a very serious matter."

"The devil it is! Don't worry. I'm already sorry I suggested it."

"Well, I didn't accept you."

"You've not got the guts. No," he shook his head, "It's all right. We'll call it a day. We wouldn't get on, I can see now. I like a girl with more spirit. Look, I think we've said all there is to say, don't you? If it's all the same to you, I'm going to return to the carriage and read my evening paper."

He went, leaving her standing there alone in the corridor. Tears blinded her eyes. She tried to fight against them but they poured down her cheeks. She didn't go back to the carriage. She stood there in the corridor through the entire journey. As the train drew nearer to Oakley she thought: "He won't let me go like this. He can't if he really loves me." But the station came and he made no move to speak any further to her.

She got out and walked slowly down the platform. She took her bicycle from the shed and rode home knowing that now it was really over. She didn't know quite what it was she'd expected, what she'd hoped might possibly happen. But she'd not dreamed it would be quite like this. That they'd quarrel the way they had.

She opened the front door and went into the sitting room. There sat her aunts, one either side of the fireplace.

"I thought I'd just let you know I was back, Aunt Helen."

"Did you have an interesting day at the academy, dear?"

"Yes, thank you, Aunt Helen."

"Very well."

That was all. No mention of Paul. The subject was now closed, never to be reopened.

• • •

THE Easter holiday came and for a month Patience didn't go to London. She told herself she was thankful. She was spared the agony of that journey back in the evenings. Knowing Paul was on the train. Sometimes catching a glimpse of him. Having him walk past her with just a curt nod as if she were the veriest stranger.

And then the term started once more. Once more there were the early morning breakfasts. Aunt Alice getting up to see her off. Waving to her from the gate as she bicycled down the lane. Once more there were those return journeys.

The weather now was warmer. Spring was in full glory. The trees were in leaf, the birds sang, wild flowers peeped from the hedgerows. Patience hated it. She wished it were winter with chill dark evenings. Or autumn with the trees each day growing barer. This was a time for happiness and her heart was heavy.

She raced for the train one evening, thinking she was going to lose it. Usually she was punctual, but she'd been kept late by Madame Girard. By Madame Girard surprisingly complimenting her on the progress she'd been making.

Her mind still occupied with the nice things the headmistress had said to her, Patience flung herself into the first available carriage. People shifted to make room for her. She squeezed in between a fat old lady with a Pekinese and a burly middle-aged soldier.

"Thank you."

"Paul, darling, don't you think a little air would be a good idea?"

Patience glanced up involuntarily. Her heart seemed to stop beating. Paul was sitting opposite her, and next to him—very, very close to him—was a blonde girl with blue eyes, their blue seeming even deeper since they were fringed with darkened lashes. She was a very pretty girl, Patience thought grudgingly. She wore too much make-up in her opinion, but maybe some men liked it.

"That too much for anybody," he asked the carriage at large.

"Not for me," said the soldier. "It's blinkin' hot today and it's no good saying it isn't."

"How about you," Paul asked, looking at Patience. But not as if he knew her. Not as if he'd ever held her in his arms and kissed her.

The guard's whistle sounded. Doors slammed down the train. It began to move slowly out of the station.

The blonde girl settled down in her corner and smiled at Paul, a slow intimate smile that told Patience, who didn't mean to keep looking at her, but somehow couldn't prevent herself, exactly the way she felt about him.

Looking At Life - - By Erich Brandeis

THEY had graduation exercises at the Baby Sitters' association of America last week and 50 girls between 18 and 55 received diplomas certifying them as "scientifically trained child attendants."

For some reason this baby-sitting business is rather comical to me. I don't seem to be able to take it very seriously, particularly the scientific part of it.

So, before I tell you some more about the very dignified and impressive graduation exercises at the BSAA (see opening paragraph), let me first report an incident that, according to one of the news services, happened in Johnson City, N. Y.

BRANDEIS

According to the story, a 13-year-old girl has given up baby-sitting as too hazardous.

She resigned after the obstreperous four-year old son of a neighbor left in her charge wrapped a golf club around her head.

Magistrate Anna M. Kross, a member of the United States Attorney General's committee on juvenile delinquency, addresesd the graduates.

She praised the five-week course they had just completed as "the begining of recognition of the importance of training both children and parents in scientific child care."

There must be among my readers some people who are so old as I am and remember the days when every young child was not looked upon as a potential juvenile delinquent.

You folks of that vintage must surely remember those pioneer days when the problems of child rearing were not aproached from the prosecuting attorney's point of view, but when love, common sense and a parental sense of duty were the prime factors in raising children.

• • •

It further seems to me that this business of juvenile delinquency is growing with the growth of scientific child raising.

I say "it seems to me." I don't say "I know."

But, as I look around me and see men like Bernard Baruch and General Eisenhower, and as I think back to fellows like Thomas Edison and Henry Ford, I wonder how much "scientific child care" they had and whether any of them enjoyed the benefits of institute-trained baby-sitters.

• • •

HERE are a few of the rules those graduates were taught:

No male or female companions allowed while on assignment.

Strangers shall not be admitted to the house, and medical aid never shall be administered to the child.

By the way, in case you want to start a baby-sitters' college or union, here is something else: Graduates are paid 75 cents an hour on a job. Fifteen cents goes back to the institute or association. The sitters must be paid for at least four hours' work on each assignment. Sitters have $50,000 liability insurance, employers $5,000 worth of property damage insurance.

Kids are getting to be big business, aren't they?

Reds' Moves Puzzling

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—R. S. of Brooklyn chides the writer for a recent statement that our greatest difficulty in reaching a settlement with Russia derives from Moscow's ineradicable "suspicion" of foreigners, and the Red leaders' refusal to negotiate on fair, frank and friendly terms.

"Don't you think," she asks, "that you are unfair, and that it is this sort of newspaper writing and political orating which tends to embitter relations between the two countries? Isn't it a national characteristic for the powerful peoples of the world to be suspicious of outsiders? Look at the present row between the United States and England over Palestine."

TUCKER

Answer: I think that Russia's historical behavior, which may be justified in view of her geographical position and the numerous invasions of ser soil, supoprts my earlier statement. However, I have a new and on-the-spot witness in John Steinbeck, whose recently published "Russian Journal" describes his experiences on a 1948 tour of the Soviet.

• • •

SUSPICIOUS: Mr. Steinbeck reports that, on one of his last evenings in Moscow, his host, an American newspaper correspondent, took down a volume from his shelves and read the following paragraphs:

"The Russians of Moscow are highly suspicious of foreigners, who are constantly watched by the secret police. Every move is noticed and sent into central headquarters. A guard is placed on all foreigners. Furthermore, Russians do not receive foreigners in their houses and they seem afraid even to talk to them very much.

"A message sent to a member of the government usually remains unanswered, and a further message is also unanswered. If one is importunate, one is told that this official has left the city or is sick. Foreigners are permitted to travel in Russia only after great difficulty and during their travels they are very closely watched. Because of this general coldness and suspicion, foreigners visiting in Moscow are forced to associate with each other exclusively."

• • •

COMPLAINTS: When the host's guests warned him that he would never be able to send such a dispatch through the censor to the United States, he replied:

"But this was written in 1634. It is from a book called Voyages in Moscovy, Tartary and Persia, by a man named Adam Olearius."

Next the newspaperman read from a book which made almost the same criticism of Russian diplomatic tactics that has been voiced by such eminent contemporaries as Cordell Hull, James F. Byrnes and Secretary George C. Marshall. It said:

"Diplomatically the Russians are very difficult to get along with. If one submits a plan, they counter it with another plan. Their diplimats are not trained in the large world, but are mostly people who have never left Russia. Indeed, a Russian who has lived in France is considered a Frenchman; one who has lived in Germany is considered a German, and these are not trusted at home.

"The Rusisans cannot go diplomatically in a straight line. They never get to the point, they argue in circles. Words are picked up and bandied and tossed, until in the end a general confusion is the result of any conference."

Although this excerpt almost paraphrases the complaints of every diplomat who has tried to negotiate with Stalin in the last two years, it was written in 1661 by Austin Baron de Mayerburg, a French representative.

Perhaps Henry A. Wallace would have better luck with his Moscow pals, as he insists, but it is doubtful.

• • •

OPTIMISTIC: A. S. of Oakland, Cal., asks why Wall Street has shown such a buoyant mood in the face of war talk, heavy expenditures for rearmament and the Marshall Plan and the threat of strikes.

Answer: I don't profess to be a financial expert, but the authorities seem to have lost the spirit of pessimism that animated them only a few months ago. The likelihood of a serious business depression in 1948 has been discounted in recent days by E. G. Nourse, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, Emil Schram, head of the New York Stock Exchange and the current letter of the National City Bank of New York City.

The basic reason for their good tidings is that, barring an actual outbreak of hostilities or another round of strikes in major industries—steel, coal, automobile etc.—prices should not show any sharp rise within the next year. They may be whistling in a graveyard, but if they are, they are putting on a good act. It is doubtful, however, if they would jeopardize their reputations by going so far out on an economic limb.

INCREASE: "The $5,300,000,000 for the first installment on E.R.P. and the proposed outlay of $15,000,000,000 for national defense may be necessary," concedes W. D. of Columbus, O., "but I do not see how we can afford that huge sum without wrecking ourselves."

Answer: Many people share W.D.'s concern, but the men who ought to know insist that we can survive these expenditures for a while at least. They do not think the Army-Navy-Air bill will crush us for the reason that we have been spending about two-thirds of that sum in the so-called peaceful years since V-J Day. The increase amounts to only a small percentage of our annual production of goods and services.

Most important of all, only a comparatively small portion of the money will be spent in the next few years. And it is the dollars which the Treasury pours into the money stream in the form of wages and purchase of materials that counts, not the initial appropriations or authorizations.

• • •

RULES: On the basis of these and similar queries, I asked one of the nation's best known economists to give, in A-B-C language, his advice on how everybody—government, management, labor, consumers—could cooperate to prevent inflation, depression and hardship. He gave four simple rules:

(1) The government should pare all ordinary expenditures, and, above all, avoid going into the red. He praised in particular Senator Taft's demand for a $200,000,000 cut in the War Department's non-military appropriations (rivers, harbors etc.) as an example of necessary economy, adding that these improvements should be deferred until the present crisis ends.

(2) Management should follow the example of several firms—U. S. Steel, General Electric, Westinghouse—in reducing retail costs on essential goods.

(3) The public should buy carefully, although not sparingly. He says that it is a good time to pay off debts and lay aside some money, if possible.

(4) Labor should keep new wage demands to a minimum, and, most important of all, should not stop work during negotiations, for greater production is still the strongest safeguard against higher prices and other inflationary dangers.

Believe It Or Not-By Robert Ripley

GOP PROGRAM UNDER FIRE

HST Has Ammunition For Trip

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — No frontier town bursting with original sin at every crevice ever offered the wandering evangelist a better text than the 80th Congress provides for President Truman for his tour across the country to talk with the folks.

Sins of omission and commission are plentiful.

The President will see lots of people who are struggling to make even good wage bridge the gap caused by inflation. Congress has done nothing effective about that, and doesn't intend to. He will see lots of people who have no decent place to live, including many war veterans and their families. Yet, as the President starts out, the Taft-Ellender-Wagner long range housing bill, which could begin to do something about that, is hogtied in a House committee by consent of an adamant Republican House leadership which won't even let the supposed representatives of the people vote on it.

STOKES

Numerous Bills Stalled

And so on down the line with other measures to improve conditions among people with whom the President will visit. They are all apparently hopelessly stranded — the bills for federal aid to education in poorer communities where the local tax yield is insufficient to provide proper facilities; for increasing the minimum wave of hundreds of thousands of white collar workers not protected by unions; for increasing the pensions of old people who can not get by with present meager allowances, for assistance to local health programs. And others long pending.

Lots of people the President will see are interested in a peaceful world where trade can move freely among nations, and such free movement of trade means cheaper goods for all of us as well as being an incentive to peace. Yet the house recently passed a bill that virtually wrecks the reciprocal tariff program designed to promote trade, and in such form that it is going to be extremely difficult, if not impossible, for the Senate to rescue in workable form a policy established for 14 years.

There are two things today that impress the long-time observer of this city and its government. One is the callous spirit in Congress, the hard-boiled, don't-care attitude toward the public interest. The other is the brazen spirit and cockiness of big special interests whose representatives, commonly called lobbyists, are here in such numbers now as not since the twenties, reveling in the friendly atmosphere and exploiting the lack of interest in the public welfare. They are getting what they want, which in some cases means stopping what they don't want.

The public generally seems apathetic to all this. This is perhaps natural and typical of the yearning for "normalcy" after a great emotional upheaval such as the second World War. It was that way after the first World War. There are plenty of jobs and so much loose money around, though it takes more and more every week for the grocer. It is hard always, too, for the public to follow the sleight of hand in Congress by which legislation is doctored up or made to disappear in committee pigeonholes, especially when the man out front who is supposed to be a sort of master of ceremonies for the public, meaning the President, is not very clever at explaining how the tricks are done.

He is now going to devote himself to explaining.

• • •

Faces Heavy Odds

He starts out on his tour to try to revive interest in himself and his policies with his fortunes at a very low ebb. The polls indicate the threat that he may be yanked from the wings.

And, as he begins his missionary work with the folks, every one of fifty newspaper correspondents here polled by Newsweek magazine are of the opinion that he can't be re-elected.

• • •

That, of course, accounts for the callousness in Congress about doing lots of things that ought to be done, and the cocksureness of the Republican party managers.

It is hoped that he will be successful enough on his tour to indicate he can offer healthy competition, at least. Otherwise this callousness and cockiness may induce the Republican convention at Philadelphia to nominate a mediocre, manageable figure who, according to predictions now, would be the next President of the United States in most critical years for our nation and the world.

That would be a major tragedy.

MARKET IN SHARP SETBACK

NEW YORK, June 3. (AP)—The stock market took its worst beating of the week today.

Losses of fractions to more than a point studded the price list. Closing quotations were a shade above the lows of the day in many cases.

Although declines were widespread, there was no sign of aggressive selling. Volume of 1,300,000 shares were about even with yesterday's 1,290,000.

The opinion was still prevalent downtown that the market was entitled to a decline after the spring advance which culminated with mid-May buying spree.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined .2 of a point at 70.9, which put the general level of prices back where it ended Monday.

Down a point or more were Youngstown Sheet at 80¼, Goodrich 60¼, J. I. Case 50⅞, Douglas Aircraft 57, Consolidated Natural Gas 46, Owens-Illinois 63, Union Pacific 186¾, Pacific Western Oil 56, and Mission Corp. 68.

A number of issues managed to strike against the trend and hit new highs for the year or longer.

Celanese Corp., helped along by an increased dividend announced on Wednesday, added ¾. Hayes Industries inched ahead. Also higher were General Motors, Packard, Sears Roebuck, American Telephone, Anaconda Copper, and U. S. Gypsum.

In the curb Cities Service continued its recent gains. Declines were posted for Ashland Oil, Pantepec Oil and Claude Neon. Volume of 350,000 compared with 430,000 yesterday.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, June 3 (AP) — Cotton futures turned easy today, following earlier steadiness. Scattered liquidation was stimulated by a Washington report that the House appropriations committee wants to cut funds for European aid by one fourth for the 15-month period ending June 30, 1949. It was feared that this might reduce the volume of foreign cotton buying.

Cotton futures dipped sharply into new low ground for the day towards the close on further nervous liquidation, influenced by the fear of a slash in foreign aid funds by Congress and threats of curtailments in textile industry unless buyers re-entered that market soon.

Futures closed $1.45 to $1.85 a bale lower than the previous close.

Request On Rural Aid Withdrawn

AUSTIN, June 3 (INS)—A request for the attorney general to rule on the legality of banks under writing teachers' payroll warrants in rural aid schools was withdrawn today.

The request was made by Rusk County Attorney Robert M. Allen.

Allen wanted to know three things:

(1) Do common school districts have authority to contract to pay interest on warrants while held by banks; (2) Can common school district trustees issue warrants on a deficiency basis, and (3) Can the legislature appropriate money to pay off the warrants?

Plan Already Approved

The problem arose when more schools than anticipated qualified under the 50th legislature rural school aid law. The appropriation failed to cover teacher pay needs and threatened to close many schools early.

Gov. Beauford Jester and other officials worked out a plan whereby the teachers' salary warrants can be cashed at par as a loan to the individual school districts affected by the $2,225,000 shortage.

The governor has promised to request extra money from the 51st legislature as an emergency to pay off the loans. Otherwise another nine million dollar shortage could be expected next year.

Salt Water Tank Explosion Near Borger Fatal To Two

BORGER, June 3. (AP)—An unexplained explosion in a Phillips Petroleum company salt water tank killed two men today and left another injured. The blast occurred at the "Old Alamo" refinery about two miles northeast of here.

Earl O. Linn, 19, Oklahoma City, and Herbert Haun, 26, Meeker, Okla., were found lying on the ground near the tank, which they had been cleaning by sand-blasting.

Tom Goodner, 18, Clarendon, was hospitalized with burns.

Linn was on a ladder just below the tank, which stands about 90 feet in the air. Haun was on top and Goodner inside. Apparently Linn and Haun were blown into the air by the blast. Goodner crawled from inside the tank after witnesses arrived.

The force of the explosion knocked the lid off the tank and was heard a mile away. One of the first to arrive at the scene was a worker who came from about a mile downriver after hearing the explosion.

Guam's Future May Hang On U. S. Scientist's Search For Snail-Eater In African Jungles

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Somewhere in the steaming thickness of the African jungles is a forlorn American scientist—hell-bent on a mighty mission.

This man is assigned to find a snail-eater, preferably an awful hungry one. And if he's lucky and succeeds, he's to take the critter to Guam by the fastest route.

Story Brought To Light

This unusual story has just come to light. It's told in the hearings before a House Appropriations subcommittee in connection with the Navy appropriation bill.

The authority is one Capt. W. F. Jennings, assistant chief of naval operations for island governments. He appeared before the committee's secret hearings.

It was like this:

The Japs are a snail-eating clan. And when they took over Guam during the war they brought their lunch along. Those snails. Well, the Nips, as you may recollect, later deserted the island in kind of a hurry, leaving a lot of things, including their lunch basket, behind.

American Marines and GI's, with all those cans of beans and delicious spam in their kits, had little appetite for snails. So what happened! The snails, with nobody to eat 'em, started producing little snails by the millions.

Snails Swarm On Island

"They're about to take over the island," cried Capt. Jennings.

"How big is he?" asked Rep. Al Thomas of Texas, referring, of course, to the snail.

"About four to six inches long," replied the Navy man. "He weighs about a pound to a pound and a quarter."

"And the Japanese eat him?" Thomas inqured.

"Yes, sir. That's what they carted 'em to Guam for."

The captain said those doggone snails are about to eat the Navy out of business on the island. There are 11,000 arable acres on Guam; good for raising corn, potatoes, peas, melons and sugar—without any mischief-making from the snails.

Navy Yelled For Help

When the situation got out of hand, the Navy yelped for help. The National Research council and the Department of Agriculture answered. They lend-leased a crew of snail specialists to sit down and think hard about what to do. The crew included our man who went on a one-man search for snail-eaters in Africa. (The offending snail happens to be a giant African one which the Japs somehow imported.)

Capt. Jennings woke the committee to attention when he dropped a remark that we may not be too safe from this snail in San Diego, Waterloo or Norfolk.

"Let me tell you what happened just the other day," he said.

"What they would do to vegetation in the United States, we can only guess," remarked the captain.

Rep. Noble J. Johnson of Indiana thought it was about time to change the subject, since it was near lunch time and he doesn't have much of a yen for snail steak.

"Does this African snail kick along as slow as our fine American snail?" he wanted to know.

"The snails on Guam," the captain answered, "are somewhat swifter. They'd lick our snails going away—on a fast track."

GETS COMMITTEE POST

WASHINGTON, June 3 (AP)—Senator Chavez (D-NM) said today he has been assigned to the appropriations subcommittees on interior, military, government corporations, deficiencies and legislative to replace the late Senator Overton (D-La).

France Fears Reds May Go To War To Halt German Program

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The delegates of the six western powers have agreed on political and economic integration of western Germany into the European recovery program and the "stop Communism" campaign, but there is some doubt whether the French chamber of deputies will approve.

France apparently does not feel as sure as do Britain and the United States that Russia will not start a war in retaliation for any move which tends to freeze her completely out of western Germany.

France Feels Insecure

This feeling of French insecurity in the face of growing Russian power in eastern Europe has grown up to complicate the traditional fear of a revived Germany. France not only doubts allied ability to prevent German rearmament if heavy industry and central government is restored. She fears revival of the economic hegemony over much of Europe which made Germany's wars possible.

Britain and the United States went far toward allaying these fears when they agreed to international control of the Ruhr and to its indefinite military occupation. Paris also knows that occupation of all western Germany will continue as long as there are Russian troops in Europe.

Soviet Retaliation Feared

The United States takes the position that the mere presence of American troops in Germany is sufficient guarantee against aggression, on the theory that Russian doesn't want war.

France, on the other hand, worries over the possibility that mobilization of Germany for the cold war may goad the Russians into some desperate retaliation. They figure the Russians might count on getting away with something during the U. S. political campaign.

But the British and Americans don't share the view that this is more than a mere possibility. They don't think the Russians are so poorly informed about the determination of American foreign policy. The British urged the French to compromise regarding western Germany on the grounds that, after all, the recovery program, linked as it is to the effectiveness of the recently-formed western European alliance, represents the first line of defense.

Delegates Hesitate

The French delegates in London finally agreed, but their very hesitancy naturally strengthens the opposing faction back in Paris. The French government already is being heckled seriously in the chamber over internal affairs. It is a particularly unfortunate time to serve up the German stew, but the allies feel it must be done.

If the United States could make her attitude plain both to parliament and people it might help. There is much sympathy for the French position. I have found American officials decidedly enthusiastic over the economic accomplishments of the French government since the war, despite early fears due to its socialization program. Only a feeling of urgent need would cause the U. S. to try to make Paris swallow any bad medicine now. But Washington feels that this is a time for great firmness toward Russia, rather than handcuffing prudence.

Midland Man Is Given Prison Sentence Of 15 Years In Slaying

MIDLAND, June 3 (AP)—A district court jury today convicted Armo Spears of murder. District Judge G. C. Olsen sentenced the 42-year-old former cafe and liquor store owner to 15 years in the state penitentiary.

Spears was charged in the fatal shooting last October 2 of Robert L. Wallace, 30, a cafe cook. The defendant had testified he shot Wallace when he found him in Mrs. Spears' home, although he and Mrs. Spears were then divorced.

Spears, who re-married Mrs. Spears some time after the shooting, also testified he shot Wallace because he was afraid of him.

BIRTH RATE STAYING HIGH

NEW YORK (U.P.)—No downward trend in the United States birth rate is expected before the year 2000, according to William C. Osborn, president of the Children's Aid Society. That is in contrast to estimates, made before the war which envisaged a declining birth rate after 1950.
