

ON FOREIGN AID

Senate To Decide Bill

By ERNEST R. VACCARO
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee meets today to vote final approval of a $4,326,500,000 foreign aid bill, tailored to fit most of President Kennedy's specifications.

Action on the measure, which includes the full authority Kennedy asked for a five-year, $8.8-billion economic development loan program, was virtually completed in a day-long session Thursday.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he hoped to schedule the measure for debate in the Senate late next week. There it is expected to encounter rough opposition, particularly from those who argue its method of financing means backdoor spending with insufficient congressional control.

Committee Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., conceded Kennedy's battle for the long-term development loan authority which bypasses congressional appropriations committees, is far from won.

He said he would "guess the Senate would accept the borrowing authority, but it might make changes in details and amounts." Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, assistant Democratic leader, said: "There may be some cuts offered on the floor, but I'd say we'll come out of the Senate with a good, strong bill that will please the President and fulfill the aims of the administration."

Acting amid mounting tension over Berlin, the committee cut only $436 million from Kennedy's total requests for $4,326,500,000 in military and economic assistance abroad.

In the chief point of controversy, it overrode Republican protests by identical 10-7 votes and approved:

1. Authority for the President to borrow $300 million from the Treasury this year and $1.6 billion a year for the next four years to establish a revolving fund for low interest or no-interest rate loans to underdeveloped nations. This totals 7.3 billion for five years.

2. Additional presidential authority to reloan money which is paid back by foreign countries from previous U.S. loans. This would provide an additional $287 million this year, and $300 million each of the following four years for a total of $1,487,000,000, thus bringing the development loan fund's total to approximately $8.8 billion.

The committee voted the President authority to allocate $1.8 billion of military assistance funds, to supply arms aid to defense pact allies on the periphery of the Communist bloc. This is $65 million less than he asked.

It also gave him authority to augment this aid by shifting arms and equipment from Defense Department stocks to meet unforeseen emergencies.

But it put a $55 million ceiling on the amount of military assistance the government may provide to all Latin-American countries this year. And it reinstated a requirement that the President himself must approve any military aid to a Latin-American country to bolster its "internal security."

Iraq Premier Faced With Difficulties

Editor's Note—Webb McKinley, Associated Press chief of Middle East services, flew to Baghdad when Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassem laid claim to the oil-rich sheikdom of Kuwait. Now back in Beirut, he gives an unvarnished report of the dilemma facing Kassem.

By WEBB MCKINLEY
BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Premier Abdel Karim Kassem of Iraq has reached a roadblock in his quest for Kuwait.

When Kassem announced on June 25 that Iraq was claiming the enormously wealthy oil sheikdom on its southern border, there were two courses before him.

First, he could send his armor across the border and take Kuwait by force in a few hours presenting to the world an embarrassing fait accompli. Kassem has denied he ever intended to do this and most observers in Baghdad believe him.

Second, he could follow a political path and by winning the support of other Arab nations, possibly gaining his objective.

Kassem may have felt that somehow he could bring enough pressure against the British to keep them on the sidelines. But when British troops were rushed to Kuwait at the ruling sheik's request, that hope was ended.

Any movement of Iraqi troops into Kuwait now would have to contend not only with the British but also with Saudi Arabian and possibly other Arab forces.

The political road also appears blocked. Kassem picked up support from a few Arab states, notably Morocco and Yemen. But most of the Arab League is backing Kuwait.

During the celebrations last week of the third anniversary of Kassem's revolution, his speeches brimmed with anger against the British.

Most newspapers in Baghdad have hammered away on the Kuwait issue for the past three weeks. Baghdad radio several times a day has told the people about the "imperialist menace" and "the justice of Iraq's claim."

He said it may be a month, though, before all city services are back to normal.

United Fuel Gas Co. said 80 homes were so badly damaged by the flood that natural gas service cannot be restored at present. In all, nearly 600 customers were without gas until Thursday night and today.

On one litter-strewn stream bank, Mrs. Enid Rossie recounted her night of horror.

"When the water started swirling down the hollow, I called out to him, 'Pray for us.' But there wasn't time to pray."

Just before dawn, Bob Burgess walked to his car to inspect the damage. He stepped on something slippery.

"I thought it was a cushion," he said, "but it was a woman's body."

In a community where everyone knows everyone, this woman was a stranger. Her body had been swept in by floodwaters.

R. W. Orndorff and his family lived in a house near the mouth of a hollow. They had retired for the evening, but were aroused by noises outside.

They saw what had happened when a torrent of water, led by a flash flood, had already taken 17 lives. They hoped a half-dozen people still listed as missing had escaped.

"It's our worst disaster," the Charleston Mayor, John Shanklin, said sadly. "We won't know for a long time just how bad it is."

One state official estimated property damage alone in West Virginia's capital city would amount to $5 million.

There Is More Wealth In America Than We Realize

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Americans are more affluent than they thought, President Kennedy says the national output has made an unexpectedly big jump.

This will come as a surprise to those Americans whose own incomes haven't gone up any, even if some of their bills have.

It may astonish those who bought a number of glamor stocks and even blue chips at prices well above their current ones.

It will be a matter of wonderment to some 5.6 million Americans who are listed as out of work and one million more who are working part time.

And it may even surprise those merchants and retail dealers who haven't experienced a step up in sales in line with the announced increase in personal incomes.

Just what caused the big jump in national output of goods and services, known as the Gross National Product?

The President says this is now running at an annual rate of $515 billion, a jump of $14 billion from the first three months of 1961.

This "increase" compares with a jump of $16 billion between the first and second quarters of 1959 when the economy was recovering from an earlier recession.

The GNP for all of 1960 was $504.5 billion, up 4.5 per cent from 1959.

Two sizable increases between the April-May-June period and the January-March quarter are easy to spot.

"Government spending has increased."

And about $5 billion of the increase is due to a reversal in business inventory policy. In the first three months of the year businessmen were cutting back their stocks at a rate of $4 billion.

In the following three months they stopped living off stocks on hand and began building up inventories again at a rate of $1 billion. This makes a difference in the GNP of $5 billion.

The recovery getting under way this spring added to the national output by an increase in factory production — although some of these goods went into inventories rather than into final consumer sales.

Pay scales were rising in some industries. Work weeks were lengthened by many companies. Both added to the total of national income.

Government spending is sure to rise. And the Berlin crisis seems likely to add still more to the already increasing outlay for defense.

Most business executives are forecasting better days ahead for their own companies.

AUSTIN (Special)—The 36th Infantry Division will begin its annual active duty training at Fort Hood Sunday (July 23) as part of the 36th (Texas) Infantry Division. Major General Carl L. Phinney, division commander said here this week.

LACK-OF-CHARACTER STUDY

Our Fiftieth State Claims More Than Just Hula Girls

BY INEZ ROBB

The 50th state has been heard from about the Newburgh, N.Y., welfare revision plan, and what Hawaii has to say is based both on experience and hard sense.

In fact, a letter from Mary L. Noonan, director of the Department of Social Services of Hawaii, makes so much sense amid all the confusion caused by Newburgh's program that I am going to violate a self-made rule not to do a column the easy way by quoting at length from letters.

"We in the Department of Social Services of the State of Hawaii read with a great deal of interest your column entitled 'No Substitute for Work' which appeared in the Honolulu Advertiser on July 3," writes Miss Noonan. "Your column referred to the announcement that the city of Newburgh, N.Y., has created a national sensation by announcing that it will require that all able-bodied men on relief put in a 40-hour work week for the city on civic projects."

"We thought you would like to know that in 1941, two decades ago, the Legislature of the then Territory of Hawaii authorized the Territorial Department of Public Welfare to set up work projects whereby unemployed persons could be trained at a trade while working off their welfare payments. These projects were discontinued in 1946.

"In 1951, the Legislature authorized the creation of a Temporary Labor Force that requires physically fit unemployed persons who are eligible for the general assistance program to register for work on public works projects and accept such assignments as might be offered them as a condition of receiving such welfare assistance. This is the program now being administered by the Department of Social Services.

"The purpose of the TLF program is to keep individuals engaged in constructive activities and to enable them to retain full skills or acquire new ones with the goal of returning to gainful employment.

"We have found the work program to be very constructive for the individual in improving and maintaining work habits and as a medium through which many recipients are able to move into permanent positions as openings in county and state departments are available.

"In recent years there has been a steady reduction in the number of individuals assigned to work projects since employment opportunities have increased and continuous efforts are made to move individuals assigned to work projects into part-time or full-time paid employment. Relief recipients on TLF also receive pay at the minimum state rate of $1 a hour."

Money Wants To Go Home

CINCINNATI, AP—Where is home on the range?"

Officials of the Hamilton County Probate Court would like to know. They have some money to give to it.

It's a $500 bequest by John J. O'Hara, retired Norwood machinist, who died last October. In his will, O'Hara said the money should be used "for purpose the home deems necessary."

He mentioned no address. And now, as one court clerk put it, "we can sing it, but we can't find it."

Dreams Don't Always Do To Tell

By HAL ROYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—I dreamed the other night that my wife remarried — this time to an elephant.

It's not too hard to figure out why an ordinary husband would have a dream like this.

One of the most vexing things about most wives to most husbands is their inordinate memory. No machine, fed endless information on tape, can match the total recall born in wives. The many incidents of ordinary living that don't register at all in a husband's mind—and others that he wisely chooses to forget and forget—stay in a wife's mind at her immortal beck and call.

A wife cannot simply forget to remember.

Well, anyway, I had this odd dream the other night. I had passed on to the remembrance of a grateful posterity. My wife, after counting the insurance and a suitable period of quiet jubilation, married an elephant.

Many of her friends thought this was rather an unusual choice as elephants wasn't, as elephants go, an outstanding character. But, those who best knew Frances, my wife, realized the reason—the elephant to her bore a sentimental resemblance to her first husband. And he had an added virtue. He didn't drink martinis.

The best husband you did, Jumbo," said Frances, pausing in her knitting, "was before those 10,679 fans in Omaha on August 12. It was such a hot night. You were simply magnificent. And I was so proud of you."

Reaching boredly out for another peanut, Jumbo replied: "You have it all wrong, kid. The best husband I did was in Kansas City on August 1 before 12,435 people."

"Incidentally, we played in Omaha on August 13—not August 12—before a lousy crowd of 3,819. My foot slipped and I fell on my back, and it rained that day and the highest temperatures was 67 degrees."

"Can't you get anything straight?"

"Sorry, dear, said Frances. So it went, night after night. Elephants in winter quarters like to recall the previous season. But every time Frances tactfully attempted to bolster Jumbo's ego with some remembrance he would say: "It didn't happen that way—it happened this way. Can't you get anything straight? What's the matter with your mind?"

Finally, one evening, Frances broke into tears and said: "Livewith a husband with a perfect memory is just too much for a woman. I wish I had my first husband back."

"Well, kid," sneered Jumbo, with an air of mock sympathy as he reached out with his trunk and patted her on the shoulder, "it's a little bit late to be thinking of that, isn't it?"

Right about then my dream ended. Blinking in the morning sunlight, I awoke and looked across at my wife.

"You got home rather late last night," said Frances. "Just where were you?"

"I forget," I mumbled.

"You forget awfully easily," she said. "Sometimes I wish I had married an elephant. They never forget."

If you want to cook fish fillets in a very hot 350 degrees oven, dip them in egg then in bread crumbs, so the insides will be tender and not dried out.

Moreland Blanks Abilene; Colt Series All Square

Snyder's Colt All-Stars rained behind the steady four-hit hill job of righthander Keith Moreland here Thursday night to blank the Abilene Stars by 2-0. The victory, a "must" as far as the Snyder team was concerned, evened up the best-of-three game series at one-all, as the Abileneans had previously edged out the local nine by 4-3 in action of Tuesday.

The showdown battle will be played here on the Towle Park diamond tonight beginning at 8 o'clock, with the winner of that contest earning the right to advance in the playoff picture against the winner of a similar series currently being waged by Lovington, New Mexico and Juarez, Mexico.

Moreland was master of the situation throughout, as he set the visitors down on the aforementioned four hits—all singles—and allowed no runner to advance as far as third base. In only the fifth inning did Abilene manage to cluster more than one bingle, when consecutive base knocks by Mike Thrush and losing hurler Pat

Bill Ashton singled in the sixth for the only other local hit of the game. Kenneth Wright, who was Abilene's winning hurler Tuesday, paced that team in the hitting department with a pair of one-base blows.

Texans Take Lead In Milwaukee Open Golf
MILWAUKEE (AP) — Texans Don Massengale and Fred Hawkins shared a one-stroke lead starting today's second round in the 72-hole $30,000 Milwaukee Open Golf Tournament.

Massengale, 24-year-old from Texas Christian, and Hawkins, 38-year-old El Paso pro, matched brilliant five under par 65s Thursday to pace 132 pros and 11 amateurs at the North Hills Country Club.

One stroke off the pace with 66s were Canadian Open champion Jacky Cupit of Longview, Tex., and former Wisconsin Open title Tommy Veach.

Bunched at 67 were former U.S. Open champion Tommy Bolt, Paul Harney, Canadian veteran Stan Leonard and Ohio State's Jack Nicklaus.

KEITH MORELAND

Four Hits, No Runs

Gray and two were out in the inning placed runners on first and second. Moreland buckled down to force Ted Willis to fly out to end the inning, however, and quell the near-panic.

Both Moreland and Gray went the distance for their respective teams, the former striking out four and walking only one and the latter whiffing three and passing two.

Snyder got down to brass tacks in a hurry as the game got underway. Barry Hughes, the first man to come to bat in the home half of the first, dropped a single into right, eventually made his way to third, and scored on a well-executed sacrifice squeeze bunt as laid down by Kenny Wellborn.

Abilene fielded bobbles figured prominently in the scoring of the second and final Snyder run. With one out in the third, Larry Randolph drew into an error by second baseman Milton McQuinn, advanced on still another error by Gray, and then pitched home to up the count to 2-0.

Hughes led the Snyder Stars at the plate with two singles, while

BOWDEN'S BAT DECISIVE

Nationals Roar To 8-2 Victory

Murderous Murry Bowden, a handy man with the hickory, clothed a first inning three-run circuit to lead his Little League National All-Stars "off and running" as they went on to defeat the American nine by 8-2.

That victory placed the Nationals in the winner's bracket of play, and they will now meet the Rotan-Hamlin winner in Rotan tonight beginning at 7:30 in search of their second conquest in as many nights. Prior to that, the Snyder American will take on the Rotan-Hamlin loser in a consolation contest on the same site beginning at 8 o'clock.

Bowden, the stocky National backstop and his loop's home run leader with six for the season, had quite a night of it. American hurler Robert Golden, who toiled until he was shelled from the box in the sixth, started the contest by whiffing Tommy Bullard. Tommy Sinclair followed by slapping a single to deep short, then Bill Greif laced another to the same area, on which shortstop Ted Winters failed to find a handle, the miscue allowing Greif to reach first safely and Sinclair to pull up at second.

The next hitter up — Bowden — picked on the first delivery as offered up by Golden and sent it careening over the centerfield fence for three big runs. He later batted in another run on an infield out during a four-run National sixth to account for four for the night.

The big hit of the sixth inning uprising was lent by pinch hitter Robert Jones, who sent a screamer past short that found the pocket in left center and was good for two bases, driving in the first run of the inning in the process. Also garnering hits during that frame were Steve Moffett, who laid down a bunt single, and Tommy Bullard, who also collected an infield single.

Greif, who went the distance for the win, hurled creditable four-hit ball, with the only extra base blow off him being a leadoff sixth inning roundtripper off the bat of Gus Tovar, who slammed the first pitch over the left field barricade.

Greif found himself in hot water through much of the game, however, and retired the side in order in only one inning — the third. Golden was strongest in the middle stages of the contest, also, as he set the Nationals down 1-2-3 in both the third and fourth frames.

The fielding gem of the night was credited to Bullard, who reached up to spear a Jerry Smedley liner to right center while on a dead run to help snuff out the glimmering American hopes.

Smedley and National second sacker Don Jones also showed up well defensively, both scooping up potential base hit grounders during the course of the contest.

Greif powered out the other extra-baser in addition to the two four-baggers and Robert Jones' double. He bounced a shot over the center field fence in the second for a ground rules double.

Anemic Mound Corps 'Hurts'

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer
What's wrong with Cincinnati? Look to the pitching.

The Reds' staff—the biggest "if" in any hopes for their first National League pennant in 21 years—has given up more runs in five games than it had in two weeks. And Cincinnati's once rosy six-game bulge suddenly is a black-and-blue 14-game edge. Joey Jay, Bob Purkey, Ken Hunt and Jim O'Toole, the Reds' top starters, all have been beaten in the five-game slump—Cincinnati's longest losing string since late April, when the Reds plunged from top to bottom.

The second place Los Angeles Dodgers, after beating Purkey Wednesday night, went to work on Jay Thursday night and hammered four home runs for a 10-1 romp and a sweep of the two-game series.

San Francisco clung to third place with a 10-6 victory at St. Louis, ending the Cards' winning string at five, while fourth-place Pittsburgh beat the Chicago Cubs 4-0 behind the four-hit pitching of southpaw Joe Gibbon. Milwaukee defeated Philadelphia 3-1.

In the American League, Detroit crushed Baltimore 15-8 and regained first place by one percentage point over idle New York Cleveland out-slugged Boston 12-11 in the only other AL game scheduled.

Duke Snider, Willie Davis, Wally Moon and Norm Larker, all left-handed swingers, did the thumping for the Dodgers against Jay (13-5). Singles by Maury Wills and Moon, who drove in three runs, and Snider's homer wrapped it up in a four-run third inning. Southpaw Sandy Koufax (12-6) was the winner.

San Francisco blew a 6-0 lead when Bill White's three-run double tied it for the Cards in the sixth inning. But the Giants then broke loose for four runs in the eighth on Harvey Kuenn's tie-breaking double and Willie Mays' 28th homer. That hung the defeat on reliever Lindy McDaniel (6-4). Rookie Dick LeMay (2-2) won it in relief.

Jerry Kindall had two of the Cubs' hits, both doubles, off Gibbon (8-4), who gave up three walks but struck out nine for his first major league shutout. Dick Stuart doubled home a first-inning run for the Pirates, and they added two more in the fourth on Bill Mazeroski's single off losing lefty Jack Curtis (6-4).

Joe Adcock hit his 20th home run and also had one of the Braves' three singles in a three-run first inning that beat Chris Short (3-2). Rookie Bob Hendley (3-2), a left-hander, shut out the Phils after Don Demeter homered in the first inning.

Both the AFL and the NBA were in doubt as to what the ruling could mean to them.

The NFL contract granted CBS exclusive rights to televise all regular season games played by the 14 NFL teams, with each team sharing equally in the television income.

The shift from the old federal-approved NFL TV program, which permitted each team to negotiate its own TV contract, came after the new American Football League had operated in its first season last year under an exclusive, share-and-share alike contract with ABC without a legal challenge.

Pony Stars Fall To Lubbock, 6-3

LUBBOCK — Snyder's Pony League All-Stars hit some tough sledding here Thursday in their Area 11 playoff opener, as they were felled by the Southwest All-Stars of Lubbock, 6-3, in the first of a best-of-three game series.

Other tournament action saw the Southern Stars bombing the Dixie stars by 15-4 in their series opener. Both of those teams are Lubbock delegations.

The schedule for today will see Snyder taking on Southwest again at 7 p.m., and Southern and Dixie meeting at 9 p.m. both games on the Kuykendall - Bennett Field site.

Snyder's "hour of glory" was realized in the fifth inning of Thursday's loss, when three runs were scored to temporarily knot the count at 3-3. Larry Jones led off by grounding out, then John Flynn lit the spark by singling to center and advancing on an error.

Jay Williamson next singled sharply to platter Flynn, after which Corky Fox blasted a homer to center for the final two Snyder runs of the game.

Leslie Brown, who stepped down during the Southwest go-ahead surge in the bottom of the fifth, was the losing hurler. Jerry Owens came on at that point to finish out the game.

Flynn, with a pair of doubles and the aforementioned single, paced the Snyder nine at the plate.

Charles Whitt went the distance for the victory.

You're Safe In Jail
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ex-gambler Mickey Cohen, under 15-year sentence, lost his bid for a new trial on income tax evasion charges Thursday and heard a prosecutor insist "the only safe place for Cohen is in jail." U.S. Judge George H. Boldt took under submission Cohen's request for freedom on $100,000 bail pending appeal after dismissing a motion for a new trial.

In the other scheduled game of the night, R. E. Smith forfeited to Von Roeder Seed Farms.

Church Of Nazarene

The annual Vacation Bible School closed today with two special features capping it off: a picnic in Towle Park and the Demonstration School of Sunday morning.

The V. B. S. closed sessions this morning, but the picnic in Towle Park was the climax of a contest, "Traveling For Jesus," which was conducted during the entire ten day school. Boys and girls could travel a mile for Jesus in four ways: by inviting another, by bringing another, by bringing an offering for the V. B. S. missionary project, and by praying daily for the church's missionaries. The department traveling the most miles for Jesus will receive a special treat at the picnic.

The Demonstration School will be featured in a unified service Sunday morning beginning at 9:45. This service will be climaxed with a message by the pastor stressing the importance of the church and home working together to implant Christian principles in children.

A welcome is extended to all friends to see what the boys and girls have learned, experienced and accomplished during the ten sessions. Each age group will share songs, scriptures, and creative activity with those attending. The entire school will sing the school song, "In Orbit With God," and give the pledge of allegiance to the flag of the United States, the Christian flag and the Bible. Beauty Congress In California

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—With all 33 delegates now assembled, the International Beauty Congress is officially under way.

Contestants from Europe, the Middle East and South America checked in Thursday and were greeted at plane side by the early arrivals—beauties from the Far East and the Pacific.

Also on hand was Jo Anne Marie Dyer, 22, of Lima, Ohio, who represents the United States.

Today's big event—one of several preliminaries—is a fashion show luncheon. The winner will be crowned July 28 after four days of judging.

Adviser Honored

MOSCOW (AP)—Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko gave a reception Thursday for John J. McCloy, President Kennedy's special adviser on disarmament. Tass news agency said McCloy is in Moscow for talks on reopening East-West disarmament negotiations.

Baptist Group Well-Received

"Project Understanding" has to do with a group of college students from Texas who have been touring the Orient this summer.

This group left the United States on May 26 and is scheduled to return to the mainland July 31. There are 14 in the choir and three others who are traveling with the group.

Many Texas colleges are represented in the assemblage, which is sponsored by the Baptist Student Union of Texas.

Among those taking part are two students from this area—Mr. Jim Phaffin, from Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene and Karen Carpenter, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. O. D. Carpenter of the Avenue D Baptist Church here in Snyder.

Miss Carpenter is a student in Howard Payne College in Brownwood.

Reports have been received in the Division of Student Work concerning the work of the Project Understanding mission group, which is in Okinawa now. These reports reflect their visits in Hong Kong, Manila, and Taiwan. Representative of the reception which they are receiving on their Far Eastern jaunt are the following comments as were written by K. C. Harvey, standard Macao correspondent, and which appeared in a Hong Kong newspaper:

"At the invitation of the Hong Kong Baptist College, I attended their Graduation Concert. The occasion honored the visit to the Colony of the Texas Student College Choir, under their director, Dan Pratt."

"Hidden within a lengthy programme were items by the choir. Your critic heard insufficient of the Texans to form an aesthetic opinion of their singing, but the little that was performed was pleasant enough."

"The Texans combined with the Baptists for 'The Heavens Are Telling.' Beethoven's 'fortress of dedication' and in the final item, the Baptist College Song."

"The highlight of three consecutive items by the Texans was the selection from Gershwin's 'Porgy and Bess,' where in members of the choir featured as soloists."

"Then followed the Texas Cowboy Song, 'Tumbling Tumbleweeds.' A neat and crisp arrangement, which found the singers well attuned in their respective harmonies."

"Stephen Foster's melodic 'Swanee' was distinguished by plucked strings of the banjo, simulated by male voices. As an encore, the choir sang 'The Carol of the Drums' (The Little Drummer Boy), in which the drum was simulated by the basses, with telling effect."

"Taking into account that this was a Graduation Concert of the Hong Kong Baptist College, the fact remains that insufficient was heard of the visiting Texans, to my regret."

"This is a complete nightmare," said a fireman.

Traffic on adjacent U.S. Highway 101 was backed up for miles. Police cars with loudspeakers tried to disperse spectators.

"Leave the area, leave the area, it is unsafe," the loudspeakers warned.

A water main broke and flooded a portion of the fire at the cave-in. But hydrants became useless and firemen had to pump water from nearby swimming pools.

The cave-in was about 100 feet long and 30 feet wide. Firemen, hampered by spectators and the loss of water, could do little more than guard the northern and southern entrances of the tunnel and wet down tinder dry hillsides around the blaze.

A Northwestern Pacific employee, Frank Gladwin, discovered the blaze on a routine inspection tour. He found three small fires at the south end and the large one at the opposite end. He said timbers were soaked with creosote, and rags and sticks had been used to start the blaze.

Police questioned youths helping fight the fire. The boys said three other juveniles had set the blazes.

Early estimates put the property damage in excess of $100,000.

Flowers, Plants Referred To In Scripture Passages

By JULES LOH

AP Staff Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"I am Rose of Sharon, and the lily of the valleys," says the Song of Solomon. Sounds plain enough.

Would anyone suspect the Biblical passage actually means "the tulip and the hyacinth?"

Harry King Named To Ford Post

The appointment of Harry B. King as Southwestern regional sales manager of Ford Division of Ford Motor Company, with offices in Dallas, was announced today by M. S. McLaughlin, general sales manager.

Mr. King succeeds R. R. Anfin, who retired this month after 36 years with Ford Motor Company.

The regional sales office directs sales and service activities of Ford Division through 921 dealers in Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas and part of Tennessee. Under supervision of the regional manager are district sales offices in Dallas, Houston, New Orleans, Memphis and Oklahoma City.

A native of Atlanta, Ga., Mr. King joined Ford in 1934 as a clerk in the Jacksonville, Fla., sales office. A series of promotions led to his appointment there as assistant district sales manager and, in 1954, to sales manager of Atlanta District. He returned to Jacksonville in 1957 as district sales manager.

Since February of this year, Mr. King had been sales manager of the Philadelphia (Pa.) District.

Mr. Anfin, who will continue to reside in Dallas, established the Southwestern regional sales office in 1954. A native of Bancroft, Neb., he joined Ford at Omaha in 1925 and served in executive capacities at Detroit, Philadelphia and Cleveland before moving to Dallas.

Mr. King, in his new position, will become a member of the Dallas Community Relations Committee of Ford Motor Company. Mr. Anfin will continue with the committee as a lifetime member.

The scriptures abound with references to flowers, but the Bible authors described many of them in such vague terms translators and botanists don't always agree on the identity.

John Asch, New York author, horticulturist and Bible scholar, has settled at least some of the controversies after extensive study and plant exploration for the Hebrew University in Jerusalem. His findings, plus those of other modern researchers, appear in the current issue of the Journal of the American Museum of Natural History.

Asch found, for example, that the Hebrew word "shushan," once translated as lily, or lilies of the field, refers instead to the anemone or windflower.

Another Biblical "lily" often means the iris, or yellow flag; and the "rose" of the Bible refers to the narcissus in some passages, the oleander in others.

The Rose of Sharon, as noted, refers to the tulip; and the lily of the valley, says Asch, is believed to be the hyacinth. Another flower mentioned in the Song of Solomon, Tirzah, Asch identifies as the crocus.

A great deal of controversy remains, however, over the hundreds of references in the Bible to trees.

The sycamore, mentioned several times, according to Asch's research is in reality the sycamore fig, a tall evergreen with aromatic leaves. Its fruit is small, spotted, not particularly tasty, and not to be confused with the cherished common fig.

True identities of other evergreens remain in doubt.

Asch's research is valuable not only for its contribution to accuracy in translation, but also for the clues plants offer about the way the people of Bible lands lived.

We learn, for example, the ordinary diet was of vegetables—cucumbers, broad beans, leeks, onions, garlic; that the early Israelites baked bread daily, flavored it with olive oil; made wafers flavored with honey; carried raisins and parched grain with them into the field, or on their travels; and ate meat only rarely.

Water was scarce, but the vine wasn't, and wine was a common drink. So was goat's milk, which also provided butter and cheese. Clothing fabrics came from goat hair, coarse flax, hemp, papyrus and even almond stalks. Wool clothing was strictly for the wealthy, linen for royalty and priests.

The olive, of course, was the most important oil-yielding plant. In fact, Moses referred to the land of Canaan as a "land of olive oil."

Another oil-yielding plant was the gourd, mentioned in Jonah 4:6. What was it?

"The common castor oil plant," says researcher Asch.

Of Genius, Kites and Satellites...

One of the marvels of man is his capacity to invent, to create, and to build. Yet, genius in these fields is limited to a mere handful of the world's people. How to make the products of this creative and inventive genius available to all the people is a problem which faces every industrial nation. If a solution is not found . . . the nation will not prosper.

The United States now enjoys one of the highest standards of living in the world because it has been able to spread the fruits of its genius into every corner of the nation. How was the problem solved? Largely, through advertising.

Advertising takes the inventor's dream out of his shop and places it in your home. The automatic range . . . television . . . the ball point pen . . . all those things that make life easier and give us more time for progress. Without advertising to acquaint consumers with the availability of these products, and stimulate a desire for them, they would now be but a pile of material and tubes and wires and blueprints upon the inventor's bench. Benjamin Franklin's kite would have flown for nothing.

Those of us who have neither the ability nor the time to build our own television sets . . . electric ranges or satellites . . . owe a debt of gratitude to advertising, and the many forms of wealth it provides us all.

Junior Editors Quiz on NATURE

QUESTION: What causes lightning?

ANSWER: On a warm day, heated air rises from the ground, carrying moisture, and forms clouds. When the huge clouds called "thunderheads" are formed, large drops of moisture will be made by many smaller ones being joined together. Since there is electricity in the small drops, the large ones get highly charged with it and soon the cloud has more electricity than it can hold. Electricity is of two kinds, positive and negative, and these opposites always attract each other. There will be both positive and negative charges in a thunder cloud and when all this electricity has piled up to a certain extent, it spills over or "discharges." The positive rushes to join a negative or the other way around. These sudden joinings result in bolts of lightning. They may shoot back and forth inside the cloud, or, since the earth may hold both negative and positive charges, some of the bolts may be between earth and cloud.

FOR YOU TO DO: Memorize these safety rules: In thunderstorms, keep away from high places and water. It is dangerous to stand by a large tree. Safe places to be are in cars, airplanes, or in your own home.

It Doesn't Take Eyesight To Have Business Sense

By ROBBIE JUREK
AUSTIN (AP)—That's a $20 bill, the man said, pushing it across the counter.
"Yeah, I can feel it," joked the cashier, but she could not see it.
Business sense and braille help Mrs. W. M. Freedy, 36, run the coffee shop in the basement of the Capitol. She has been blind since 1919.
A blind cashier does not always have honest customers.

Freddy lost almost $25 at the start of the legislature this year. Some creatures would hand her $1 and tell her it was a five or more.
That soon stopped. Freddy began checking with other employees on the value of a bill.
"You can't fool me on a coin," she says. She recognizes each by touch. As a precaution she takes the money in one hand and transfers it to the other before giving customers change. She checks her arithmetic that way.
She likes to meet the people and hear their voices.
"I can tell which ones are sad or glad or feeling bad or good just by the tone of their voices," she says.
She keeps books in braille.
When Freddy was very young her mother placed her in an orphanage, along with a brother and two sisters. Her strictest normal. Measles struck the little girl and centered in her eyes. She put herself through a special course at East Texas State College in Commerce by teaching voice and piano.

They Had A Brandy Celebration

By THOMAS A. REEDY
JERUSALEM (AP)—Adolf Eichmann admitted today he joined his Gestapo bosses in three rounds of brandy after they drew up the plan to exterminate Europe's Jews.
The admission was extracted by Judge Imhak Ravah as the former SS officer neared the end of his testimony in his trial for major responsibility in the Nazi slaughter of the Jews.
Ravah, one of the three Israeli justices who will decide if Eichmann hangs, reminded the defendant of the Wannsee (Berlin) Conference of Jan. 20, 1942, at which Reinhard Heydrich, chief of the Gestapo and security police, spelled out the doom of the Jews as instructed by Hitler.
The judge noted that after the meeting, Heydrich, SS Gen. Heinrich Mueller and Eichmann remained behind.
"Why were you drawn into that as the third man? Why was Eichmann there?" the judge asked.
"I had to write the minutes of the meeting," Eichmann replied.
"Oh, no, that came later," Ravah said.
"We sat around the fireplace and I had a brandy, no, two, no three brandies," the defendant said in a faltering voice.

Freddy taught music in public school, and then ran a food concession in the courthouse at Beaumont. She was there 23 years.
Blind people like Freddy run concessions in 106 locations in the state, supervised by the State Commission for the Blind. Last year gross sales of the concessions totaled $1.75 million.

Maybe He Was A Little Fresh, But . . .
ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—And what could you expect from a crow that lived on dog food?
Stanley, the pet crow of Jim Maley, 16, became a nuisance as the neighbors were concerned. But to Jim he was just a friendly bird.
Jim found Stanley alone in a nest 45 days ago and raised him on a diet of dog food, berries and bugs.
Ruth Nesius, 26, complained Thursday that Stanley had pecked the back of her neck two days in a row while she waited for a bus. That was the end of Stanley.
Police told Jim to get rid of him. And Stanley was shipped off to the home of a friend in suburban Henneville.
