Army Wings Are Clipped

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson has clipped the sprouting air wings of the Army and forbidden it from operating longer range guided missiles than it now has.

Announcing his action late yesterday, Wilson said the Army and Air Force couldn't agree how they would divide up their duties and areas of control in the expanding guided missile and aviation fields.

His order limited the Army's aviation mission to providing "local mobility" for "small combat units and limited quantities of material."

All other airlift must be provided by the Air Force, which also was given "sole responsibility" for operating land-launched missiles of medium and long ranges.

The Pentagon left no doubt that the aim was to curb the Army's aviation ambitions. Deputy Secretary of Defense Reuben Robertson told newsmen the Army has been "enthusiastic about developing an Air Force of its own."

Asked whether the Army would be permitted to go ahead with previously announced plans for a much larger air arm than it now has, Robertson said: "We are not going to have a separate Air Force within the Army."

Wilson said his decision should end unnecessary duplication of efforts and make for better use of defense money voted by Congress. Robertson said President Eisenhower was generally familiar with the order and approved it without going into specific details.

The new order continued unchanged, despite frequently voiced Army hopes for an upward revision, a weight limit of 5,000 pounds for Army fixed wing aircraft.

The Army was given, for the first time, a 20,000-pound limit for helicopters. It has been working to get heavier helicopters capable of moving more troops.

Wilson told the Army that the Army now has enough airlift to move Army troops over long distances "in the light of currently approved strategic concepts."

The military services have stated that the strategic airlift is now sufficient to move no more than one division, with light equipment over a long distance.

The order specifically forbids the Army from developing or using airplanes capable of bombing or otherwise attacking enemy troops in a battle area. All close support must be provided by the Air Force.

Possibly the heaviest blow dealt by the Wilson order to Army efforts and expectations was contained in the injunction against any Army planning at this time to employ "any other missiles with ranges beyond 200 miles."

The Army, working with the Navy, has developed to an advanced stage the ballistic missile Jupiter which has a planned range of 1,500 miles.

There was some consolation for the Army in the award to it of primary responsibility to operate all antiaircraft guided missiles. But this was tempered by a provision that such Army-operated weapons will have a range of no more than 100 miles.

This will retain Army control over its family of Nike surface-to-air missiles and also the Talos weapon, originally developed by the Navy for shipboard use but adopted last year by the Air Force in what proved to be an abortive effort to organize its own antiaircraft defense.

But the Air Force, under the Wilson ruling, is given unchallenged operational control of longer-ranged antiaircraft missiles, such at the Bomarc, that are designed for protection of large areas.

Scholarship Fund

EUREKA, Calif. (AP) — George Jacobs, a guard on Stanford's first Rose Bowl team in 1902, willed more than $100,000 to a scholarship fund at his school. Jacobs, mayor of Eureka for 10 years, died Wednesday. His estate was about $300,000.

FIREMEN SAVE GIRL FROM DEATH IN MUD— Firemen climax a half-hour battle in a gravel pit mud hole to pull Susan Ellett, 12, to safety at South Bend, Ind. Susan and two boy companions, playing on frozen earth, broke through the thin crust into the sucking mud. The boys scampered to safety and called firemen. Firemen said Susan had sunk to her waist when they arrived. She was taken to the hospital for treatment of exposure.

Commissioners Court Votes To Buy County Airport Land

The Scurry County commissioners court yesterday took a big step in progress on the new east-west runway to be built at Winston Field, the county's airport.

The commissioners, just before noon yesterday, approved unanimously a motion made by T. B. Knight and seconded by Cullen Toombs that the county purchase additional land needed for the runway and secure easements on that needed for clearance purposes, with one exception. That exception was the securing of additional clearance land north of the present north-south runway. The county has already purchased 18 acres north of that runway, and the Civil Aeronautics Administration had recommended acquisition of some additional acreage there. The federal government is furnishing half the funds for airport improvement here.

Two CAA officials met yesterday afternoon with commissioners and a delegation of between 30 and 40 men interested in the runway project. A. E. Dyatt, district CAA engineer, said at the meeting that he could not say for sure whether the CAA's Washington office would approve the project without the additional clearance land on the north but that a recommendation for such woud be sent to that office. With Dyatt was George Garanflo, chief of the CAA airports division for the 11-state Southwest area.

If the plan is approved, the project will be ready to go on to advertising for bids, to be called for possibly in January.

The men appearing before the court pledged their support to the commissioners' action. In a straw vote, the delegation voted unanimously in favor of the commissioners' acquisition of the extra clearance land north of the north-south runway if the CAA does not approve the plans without that land. Dyatt said the CAA may require the county to acquire enough land for a clear zone 1,000 feet wide by 2,700 feet from the end of the north-south runway within the next two or three years either by purchase or easement. The purpose of the additional clearance land is to give the airport trunkline classification. The property the commissioners agreed to acquire includes enough clearance on the south of the north-south runway for clearance and for extending the length of the runway for trunk classification. That runway is not to be extended in this improvement project, however.

The property to be bought by the county is 93 acres, and that which will be easement land is about 72 acres, according to W. W. Greif, engineer for the county on the project. The land to be purchased

Planes Hit In Midair

RAYMONDVILLE (AP)—Two jet training planes collided in flight today about 15 miles north of here, the Navy reported. A Navy spokesman at Corpus Christi said both pilots were believed killed when the planes hurtled to the earth.

A Navy spokesman said the single-engine AD-Skyraiders were flying at 22,000 feet wing to wing in an altitude tactics training flight when the collision occurred.

One plane developed engine trouble and lurched out of control, striking the other, the Navy said.

Both pilots were attached to advanced training unit at Cabiniss Field in Corpus Christi.

Their names were being withheld until kin are notified.

The planes crashed in a field about three quarters of a mile from Highway 77.

The Air Force said a military plane was circling the area and a crash convoy was en route to the scene from Harlingen Air Force Base. Highway Patrolmen and ambulances were en route to the scene.

Braniff Will Add Four More Flights

FORT WORTH (AP)—Braniff Airways said today it would add four flights at Carter Field Dec. 10.

The flights will include a daily round trip to Oklahoma City and Denver and new round trip service to Oklahoma City and Kansas City.

Braniff's 44 passenger Convair aircraft will replace 21 passenger DC3s presently used on a round trip flight to Wichita Falls, Lubbock and Amarillo.

AF Losses Are Claimed

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Maj. Gen. Kenneth Berquist, Air Force operations director, said today the Air Force is suffering personnel losses so great that they are "seriously impairing our ability to get the job done."

Berquist said these losses were due to the "high pressure competition offered by a booming civilian-sponsored Texas Jet Age Conference, first of its kind, Berquist said: "The Air Force is unable to meet the competition of prosperity and the atractiveness of civilian life.

"If we are to be realistic we must offer opportunity to our professional service personnel—that is relative pay, housing, working conditions and family benefits must not be too unfavorable when compared with civilian competition."

L. C. Elliott of Fort Worth, regional administrator of the Civil Aeronautics Administration, said a major CAA problem today is to obtain general acceptance by the public of "a certain tolerance living with the growth of aviation."

Woman Hijacker Really Means It

SAN ANTONIO (AP)— San Antonio's first woman hijacker in several years, an attractive brunette with "green cattish eyes," escaped with a male companion after robbing a service station attendant of more than $75 early today.

Smiling as she warned that "This is no joke," she took bills and a handful of coins from Jack Mosmeyer, 20. She opened her purse displaying what Mosmeyer thought was a pistol.

Attack On Nagy Is Stepped Up

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Hungary's Soviet-controlled government has stepped up its propaganda attack on Ex-Premier Imre Nagy, apparently in a new attempt to discredit anti-Soviet workers demanding Nagy's return to power.

Premier Janos Kadar made a strong personal attack on the ex-Premier, admitting he is in exile in Romania and linking him with counterrevolutionaries" Kadar said now are making "impossible demands" on the Hungarian government.

Kadar conceded Hungary's economy still is crippled and chaotic because of strikes and passive resistance. He said work started yesterday in "almost every section of the country but we cannot say that production is normal. There are still local and very damaging strikes."

Reports from Budapest said there was a general trend toward resumption of work but that many factories were still idle. This was attributed to unrepaired machinery in some cases and to passive resistance by workers in others.

The Budapest Workers' Council was promoting the back-to-work movement, but at the same time it still insisted that the Communist government must meet popular demands for the withdrawal of Russian troops and the return of Nagy.

"The workers have to live," said a council spokesman.

Kadar declared his government does not consider Nagy "permanently exiled."

"But we think it better he remain outside the country for the time being," Kadar said, "because some of the many still-hiding counterrevolutionaries might assassinate him and try to blame our government for it."

He added that his regime planned no "criminal procedure" against Nagy "despite his grave deeds."

Kadar charged Nagy had countenanced the "murderous counterrevolution" — the Russian term for the anti-Soviet rebellion —and said this element was inspiring and supporting the strikes and worker resistance. The counterrevolutionary groups, he declared, were "spreading outrageous reports and making impossible demands" on the government.

Mitchell Calling For Welfare Laws

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — Secretary of Labor Mitchell said today states should get busy enacting modern worker welfare laws if they want to avoid the federal government stepping in and doing it.

Mitchell said that while the states have taken some steps to improve welfare laws and to enact new ones, they still haven't met standards suggested by President Eisenhower and still have a long way to go.

He called on the states to "throw off complacency and do what needs to be done."

He said in an address prepared for the International Assn. of Governmental Labor Officials, an organization of state officials, that Eisenhower and his administration feel states have responsibility for unemployment compensation, temporary disability insurance, workmen's compensation, safety and other such laws.

But, he added: "I don't think there is any question either that the responsibility of the federal government will tend to increase to the extent that the states neglect their responsibility.

"Until all our states take positive steps to meet the demands of their citizens, the pressures on the federal government to do so will continue and probably grow stronger."

The labor secretary said that if the nation is to stay strong and grow, its manpower must be developed and protected.

"Our nation does not have manpower to waste," Mitchell said. "We have but 6 per cent of the world's population, and as you well know we carry far more than 6 per cent of the responsibility for the world's welfare.

"We cannot afford the terrible waste of discrimination because of race, religion or place of origin. We cannot afford the waste of skils caused by inadequate training and education. We cannot afford the waste of our people caused by inadequate social legislation which fails to give them proper security in time of need and proper restoration when they are injured.

"I say there is a new day ahead but it is a day . . . which could well remain forever in the dim blue horizon — nothing more than a mirage — unless we bestir ourselves and throw off complacency and do what needs to be done. The strength of our nation depends upon it."

Egypt Seeks Crackdown In Middle East Dispute

Claims Buildup By 3 Countries

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)— Egypt today called on the U. N. for a stern crackdown against Britain, France and Israel unless they give definite information as to when they expect to withdraw their forces from Egyptian territory.

Mahmoud Fawzi, Egyptian foreign minister, told the 79-nation General Assembly there was mounting evidence that Britain and France were building up their forces in the Suez Canal area while pretending to pull them out.

He quoted press dispatches reporting the arrival of French tanks and said he himself had information that the invading forces were continuing alleged atrocities in the Port Said area.

"The General Assembly is entitled to know," he said, "it is duty bound to ask when the withdrawal will be completed. And, if no satisfactory reply is forthcoming, it will be duty bound to consider measures against aggression as provided in the charter."

He mentioned specifically the rupture of diplomatic and economic relations and the expulsion of the three countries from the U. N.

Fawzi spoke as revolt spread among U. N. delegates against footing any part of the bill for clearing the Suez Canal.

Spearheaded by Russia, diplomats of varying political hues served notice they saw no reason why bystander nations should clean out the ships and bridges sunk in the waterway by Egypt's invaders or the defending Egyptians.

Some delegates felt Britain, France and Israel should pay the entire bill. Others thought it should be covered by the owners and users of the 103-mile waterway.

The General Assembly approved over Soviet bloc objections a 10-million-dollar grant to pay initial costs of the emergency police force in Egypt.

Crash Of Airplane Kills 25

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — A Venezuelan airliner on a nonstop flight from New York crashed into a cloud-shrouded mountain less than two miles from the Caracas Airport today and all 25 persons aboard were killed.

The wreckage burned.

The plane, a Constellation of the Linea Aeropostal Venezolana, carried 16 adult passengers, 2 infants and a 7-member crew headed by pilot Marcel Combalbert, 34.

Search parties found the blackened ruins high in 6,000 - foot mountains in an area known as Boea Chica, between Galipan and Paaeelon peaks.

The last radio message received from the Constellation, at 8:05 a.m., reported it was about 10 minutes from a landing at the Maiquetia Airport. It had left New York's Idlewild Airport at 10:10 last night and was due in Caracas at 7:30 a.m.

The first report in Caracas was that only 18 persons were aboard —11 passengers and the 7-member crew.

Last June 20 another Venezuelan airliner plunged flaming into the Atlantic Ocean off the New Jersey coast, taking 74 lives in the world's worst disaster on a regular airline flight.

Soviet Influence Feared In Syria

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) —Syria's neighbors are cracking down on subversive elements at home and groping for help from abroad to counter growing fears of pro-Soviet leaders in Damascus.

Many looked to the United States to offset the new Moscow influence.

Tiny Lebanon announced the arrest of 23 persons—only two of them Lebanese — in connection with a spate of small bombings, and said its security forces had found four caches of arms and explosives.

Iraq protested for the second time about bitter anti-Iraqi broadcasts over Damascus radio and appealed for American jet planes and antiaircraft guns for defense.

Jordan, on Syria's western border, was reported turning to the United States for economic aid to supplant British help she is giving up at the demand of Arab Nationalists.

Western - Allied Turkey, after bitter words about "war preparations in Syria," recalled its minister from Israel in a conciliatory gesture toward the Arab States.

The united stand of the Arab world in support of Egyptian President Nasser appeared frayed by the emergence in Syria of a dominant military group of pro-Soviet officers, headed by young Col. Abdul Hamid Saraj.

Although the officers are not themselves Communists, they place a high value on Soviet arms and Soviet political support. They came to power under a declaration of martial law proclaimed the day fighting broke out in Egypt.

The developments concide with the decline of British influence in the Middle East, already worn thin before Britain and France invaded the Suez Canal.

Even inside Syria, there is a hope in some political circles that the United States will supplant Britain as the friend of the Arabs. The extreme leftist elements still carry a torch for the Russians, but other factions who fear communism have been eyeing the possibility of making friends with the United States. This is a far cry from sentiments these same men expressed publicly just a few weeks ago, when it was the fashion to tar the United States with the same imperialist stick used to belabor all the West.

Bank Stock Is Inherited

DALLAS (AP)—Miss Maurine Jacobs, 42, named president yesterday of the National Bank of Commerce of Dallas, was disclosed today to have inherited the bank stock of her predecessor.

The previous president, J. B. Adoue Jr., owned the controlling stock of the bank, which has resources of $15,539,696. Adoue was 72 when he died Nov. 17 of a heart attack.

Of the 1,500 shares outstanding, Adoue owned 557. The will and codicils was filed today. These indicated Adoue had started transferring stock to Miss Jacobs before his death.

Miss Jacobs came to the bank 23 years ago as a secretary. The board named her president, saying it did so "by virtue of her proven leadership as managing officer of this bank for the past several years and her recognition in banking circles. . . ."

The exact value of the inheritance was not made known at once.

To his wife, Adoue left personal property and an income of $30,000 a year. To a son, J. B. Adoue III, he left $10,000 in cash, saying that "I make no other provisions for my son since he already had received inheritances."

United Fund Day Slated

Workers in the Scurry County United Fund campaign will launch a special cleanup drive Wednesday in an effort to put the campaign over the top.

Mayor Harold Bennett has proclaimed Wednesday as "United Fund Goal Day" in Snyder, and campaign leaders and workers will gather at the Hilander at 7 a.m. to start their cleanup drive.

H. A. Johnston Jr., general campaign chairman, today renewed his appeal for workers to attend the meeting. Coffee and doughnuts will be served, and contact cards will be issued to the workers.

Johnson said all workers who have assisted in the campaign so far and any other citizens interested in the United Fund are being urged to attend the meeting. He said enough prospect cards are on hand to put the campaign over the top if all prospects are contacted.

The United Fund, which will support nine agencies in 1957, has a goal of $36,900. At present the campaign is about $6,000 short of its goal. Campaign leaders hope to reach the goal by the end of the week.

CONFESSION MADE

Kidnaping Story Is Checked

HUNTSVILLE (AP)—Officers today checked the story of a man they said admitted a kidnaping and told them he killed two men in Dallas in 1953.

Dist. Atty. W. T. Bennett said the man identified himself as J. W. Barry, 37, of Tulsa. He said Barry signed a statement and charges of kidnaping were filed yesterday.

Dallas detective Capt. Will Fritz said some parts of the man's story were "interesting" and indicated he would send a man here today to question Barry.

Barry was charged with kidnaping Billy Skains, 35, of Houston after hitching a ride.

Bennett said Barry gave this story:

Barry pulled a toy gun as they drove through Huntsville Friday. Near Corsicana, Barry let Skains out of the car and Skains ran. Barry became frightened and ran into the brush.

He was arrested later when he tried to hitch a ride in a highway patrol car.

The statement gave this account of the slayings:

In July or August, 1953, Barry stabbed a man with an ice pick in an apartment house where he was living and burned down the house. Barry said the body of the man was found in the ruins.

Fritz said the body of a man identified as Falvillus Williamson was found in the ruins of a dwelling on South Harwood March 27, 1953. Barry said the house he set afire was on South Harwood.

Barry said several months later, while working as a truck driver in Dallas, he picked up a hitchhiker. Barry said after a few drinks together, he struck the hitchhiker and "threw him in the river."

Bodies Seen Near Border

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Hungarians escaping to Austria saw the bodies of 20 refugees in the woods near the border, the Austrian Press Agency reported today. They had been shot, the agency said.

The Austrian Cabinet was informed that 2,562 more refugees escaped into this little country last night, bringing the total close to 90,000 since Hungary's freedom revolt began.

Austrian newspapers predicted the total would climb to 100,000—more than one out of every 100 of Hungary's population.

The Austrian Press Agency, in reporting the shooting of those seeking to escape, quoted refugees as saying the Russians refused to permit the burial of the 20 bodies seen in the woods. The Russians apparently hoped the sight would frighten other refugees and cause them to turn back from the border.

AIRPORT

will be at $250 per acre, and easement land will be $100 per acre. The property is owned by Harrie Winston and Mr. and Mrs. Wade Winston.

The present North-South runway is 4,800 feet long and 100 feet wide. The county has already purchased 18 acres of clearance land north of that runway which reaches 2,000 feet from the end of the runway. The property to be acquired from the Winstons will give an additional 1,000 feet of space for any needed future extension of that runway and 2,700 more feet of clear zone. The new east-west runway will be 4,200 feet long and 100 feet wide and will have clearance of 1,000 feet at each end. A new northeast-southwest taxiway will be 2,650 feet long and 40 feet wide. Light planes will be able to use that for a runway. The court moved the taxiway on plan and saved about 10 acres of land which would have been required.

The easement land will be acquired probably on a 99-year lease basis.

Dyatt said the CAA recommended the longer clear zones on the north-south runway because they would put that runway on trunk line classification. He added that the CAA feels that Snyder will need an airport of trunk classification in future years. The CAA has authorization to participate in acquisition of clear zones by paying 50 per cent of costs until 1959.

The runway is one of three projects authorized by taxpayers of the county in a bond election last spring.

In other business yesterday, the commissioners court employed John Morgan to grub brush off the site of the new county park to be developed just south of Thirty-seventh Street and at the south end of Avenue M. Morgan contracted the job at $25 per acre and estimated he will have it completed by Feb. 1. He was instructed to clear off the north part of the 16-acre site first, since the baseball field will be built on that part and will probably take longer for construction than any other facility. A small swimming pool is to be included in the park.

Local Students To Compete In Abilene

Ten band students and ten choir students from Snyder High School will go to Abilene Saturday to compete for places in the all-state high school band and choir.

The band students will also be trying out for places on the all-region band. Their is no all-region choir. The group will be on the McMurry College campus Saturday morning for their auditions and then will go to Graham for the Snyder-Graham bi-district football game. The all-region band will be in concert at Abilene Saturday night, but Snyder students selected to that band will not remain for the concert.

There will be a total of 109 students chosen for the all-region band. Region II covers an area bounded by Snyder, Throckmorton, Mineral Wells, Brady, and Sonora.

Of the 109 chosen for the all-region band, seven will be picked to represent the region in the all-state band, and there will be alternates chosen for each. The all-state band will also have 109 pieces.

A total of 24 students from the region will be chosen for the all-state choir, which will have 365 voices.

Students chosen for the all-state organizations will go to Dallas for four days in February to participate in activities of those groups during the annual convention of the Texas Music Educators Association. Both the all-state band and choir will be presented in concert during that convention.

Melvin Montgomery, school instrumental music director, and Bob Clinton, school choral music director, will be among those accompanying the students to Abilene Saturday. A band can take 10 per cent of its members, a choir 20 per cent of its main group.

Five of the 10 band students going to Abilene Saturday were members of the all-region band previously, and four of them have been in the all-state band.

Karleen Roberts, a senior cornet player, has been all-state three years, while Jane atterson, senior alto clarinetist, was all-state two years. Lynn Tankersley, senior trombonist, and Karen Crooks, senior flutist, were both all-state last year. Marjorie Norton, senior who plays the oboe and English horn, was in the all-region band band last year. Others going to Abilene as band representatives are Steve Melton, junior, snare drum; Phillip Smart, freshman, alto saxaphone; Wilda Livingston, junior, tenor sax; Delbert Lloyd, sophomore, clarinet; and Bill Smallwod, senior, bassoon.

Jimmy Pior, a senior tenor, is the only choir member going to the Saturday trials who has been all-state previously. Others going will be Davie Floyd, senior, bass; Roe Lashaway, senior, bass; Dottie Dugus, junior, alto; Sue Crook, senior, alto; Sue Clark, senior, soprano; Dana Scarborough, junior, soprano; Joyce Shoemake, senior, soprano; Roberta Selman, junior, soprano; and Billie Ramsey, senior, soprano.

Baby Burial Is Admitted

ST. PAUL (AP)—A nervous Air Force sergeant told deputies yesterday he disposed of the bodies of three premature infants born to his daughter out of wedlock in California.

Changing an earlier story, Sgt. Jack Ubel of North St. Paul, a lanky former professional wrestler, told deputy Sheriff T. R. Egan that Ubel's wife and daughter had nothing to do with the deaths.

Ubel wrote several letters to authorities here and in Bakersfield, Calif., while stationed in Japan, accusing his wife, Virginia, 40, and his daughter, Marlys, 20, of killing the three infants.

Near Bakersfield, officers found the body of an infant buried nearly three feet deep and wrapped in a 1955 issue of "Personal Romances" magazine.

Ubel, his wife and daughter awaited arrival today of Bakersfield officers, who said they would try to return all three to California on murder warrants.

Marlys Ubel told Egan her father had sired two of the babies and that a serviceman fathered the other.

Ubel told Egan he "might have been the father of two of the babies." Egan quoted the airman as saying that "as far as he knew" the babies were born dead.

Police Force Chief Will Shift Office

CAIRO (AP)—The commander of the U.N. police force made plans today to shift his headquarters close to the cease-fire line and to move his troops from their overcrowded camp in the Suez Canal zone.

But Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, Canadian commander of the U.N. Emergency Force, said he had no immediate plans to move any more troops into Port Said, seat of the British-French occupation of the northern 27 miles of the Suez Canal zone.

The Royal Canadian Air Force began ferrying U.N. men from Italy today, taking over the job from chartered planes of Swissair.

The British in Port Said announced that their clearing operations in the northern portion of the Suez Canal had freed the first of 13 ships trapped in the waterway.

The Egyptian government denied a British Foreign Office report that 13,000 British nationals and 5,000 holders of French passports would be expelled from Egypt. The British and French nationals had been "put under restricted residence for a time" to safeguard them from angry Egyptians, and that they were "being allowed to leave Egypt if they wish to," it said.

The French hospital ship Marseillaise loaded 187 refugees at Port Said for France. A French official said 153 were Jewish.

Gen. Burns refused to discuss any plans for deploying U.N. troops into the Sinai Peninsula, seized by Israel. He said the force was not yet adequate for that and questions concerning such a move were being discussed at U.N. headquarters in New York.

But Israel tightened its hold on Gaza by naming a mayor and a seven-member City Council for Gaza City to replace the Egyptian -appointed administration.

Coats Get Fur Frost

Neighborhood dry cleaners are now equipped to clean heavy pile coats such a O'llegro, Borgana, Glenara and Cloud No. 9, popular new piles that have heretofore been cleaned by furriers. The new "fur frost" process eliminates matting and tufting of the heavy pile that occurs during normal dry cleaning. It relusterizes orlon-dynel fibers to their original state and glazes at the same time.

Five Meals Per Day Is Now Common

This country is becoming four- and five-meal nation, if the rapid trend toward snacks is an indication. From the coffee break through to the bedtime lunch, fractional meals are added to the sometimes not-so-square three meals a day.

If you have adopted the American Plan and want your snack to be a real treat, see that it adds its share of proteins, vitamins, and minerals toward your daily needs — just as do your breakfast, lunch, and dinner. Snacks may play tricks and appear as an unwelcome bulge at the waistline, if you fail to count the calories as part of your total food intake.

These fourth and fifth meals of the day are almost a necessity for youngsters, if they are to have enough energy and nutrients for growth and development. Studies conducted by a midwest college showed that from 13 to 17 percent of calories consumed by children each day is in the form of snacks. The snack is a delightful way, too, for grown-ups to bridge the gap between one meal and the next.

To select your snack, take a cue from the seven basic food groups which include milk, meat or eggs, fruits or vegetables, enriched bread or cereals. When you combine several of these foods in a favorite sandwich, you benefit from the share of nutrients that each food contributes.

Since snacks are part of the American scene, see that they play their roles in good form. If you have been skiing or swimming, your snack might consist of a sandwich made with enriched bread and a beverage, but if your activities have been limited to a cozy seat in front of TV, you had better cut your order to toast sticks and a glass of fruit juice.

DATE DATA

By BEVERLY BRANDOW

Ever think how important an item a telephone is? Without it dating would certainly be slowed down because most dates are made over the telephone. If a boy had to make a special trip to a girl's house to ask her if she had Saturday night free, I wonder how many boys would do it—especially if the boy were asking for a first date?

Well, all that is mere speculation because today we do have access to that marvelous little instrument, the telephone.

However, dating life could be a lot smoother if we'd all use Mr. Bell's gadget more often when it is wise to do so.

Sometimes curfews simply can't be met. Regardless of the old jokes, people sometimes do run out of gasoline, and couples have been known to have a flat tire just as they were hurrying home to meet a date with the girl's deadline.

Other things, like a party that hasn't begun to break up yet or having to taxi another couple home who are otherwise without transportation, constitute genuine excuses for being home later than expected.

On occasions like these, for goodness sake, find a telephone and use it.

At least three fourths of the punishments given for breaking curfew are not because "something came up" and Mom and Dad were without understanding, but because you had them pacing the floor and worried sick.

The same is true for you boys who find yourselves running late on date night because your sister scorched your only clean shirt. Phone your girl friend and tell her you'll be there half an hour later than you'd planned.

She'll understand. But I won't guarantee the understanding of a girl who has been pacing the floor in her party dress and wondering if she's been stood up.

Yes sir. Mr. Bell did a wonderful thing for the American teenager when he bequeathed them the telephone. For goodness sakes use it. It can save so much worry and fear and anger.

Why get yourself into the dog house when wise use of it can so often keep you out?

(Have you a date problem? Another viewpoint may help. Write Beverly Brandow in care of this newspaper. Enclosing a 3c stamp insures an answer.)

The Christmas Season

Even the weather has cooperated to some extent in helping build up that old Christmassy feeling, though it is still as dry—at least as this was written—as the joke about the Scotchman and the Irishman. It seems these lads went into a pub for a drink, and the Irishman ran his hand in his pocket and found he didn't have a penny. It is called "The Driest Joke in the World."

The weather got coolish rather early and downright cold before November was well under way, and several of our recent Christmases have approached without benefit of anything but hot, dry sunshine. We remember one Christmas when the flowers were blooming away, on the other hand we remember one Fourth of July when everybody had to wear overcoats and hook up the gas heating system to keep from freezing.

The stores, which launched their Christmas shopping season along with turkey and dressing, have prepared a glittering feast for gift-seekers. The show windows, the show cases, the shelves and the aisles are full of merchandise of a variety and splendor to gladden the hearts of the shopping populace. Somewhat longer hours and extra salespeople will make it easier for the shoppers, we hope.

Incidently, do your shopping early in the season, early in the week, and early in the day.

Do your Christmas mailing early in the season and early in the day. Be sure your packages are securely wrapped and properly and legibly addressed. Print the names in block letters, and don't omit your return address.

If you plan on having a tree, don't wait till the last minute to buy it. And what is Christmas without a tree where there are small children? Be careful in placing the tree and in lighting it. Be sure the cords are in good condition, and set the tree for from any possible open gas stove or fireplace.

Most salespeople are experienced and courteous, but a lot of extra help must be hired for the Christmas season that may not be too experienced or too attentive. Be patient with them, and be considerate of the salespeople generally.

Christmas goods are irresistible, and the urge to spend sometimes overtakes and overwhelms an otherwise cautious person. It isn't the cost or the gloss of a present that makes a hit; it is the spirit in which it is given. Don't go off the deep end. Remember your creditors should have a whack at you too.

Some merchants are so anxious to avoid questioning the honesty of a shopper that they sometimes cash worthless checks. Hundreds of millions of dollars are thrown away in that fashion every year. Special care is needed at Christmas time.

Christmas comes on Tuesday this year. You have exactly four weeks to complete your shopping.

Period Of Danger

With a little more than a month to go 1956 promises to establish a new record for traffic fatalities. Due to weather conditions, a shorter period of daylight, an increase in holiday driving and drinking and a general letdown in caution attendant upon a period of celebration, December is going to be especially dangerous for riders and walkers.

Last year, in which 37,800 persons died in traffic, a total of 46,500 vehicles figured in fatal accidents. It is interesting to note that 96.3 percent of these vehicles were apparently in good condition, mechanically. The number of vehicles in non-fatal accidents stood at 2,339,960, of which, 97.6 percent were apparently in good condition.

The conculsion to be drawn from these statistics is plain: human, not mechanical, failure produced that gory record. And human error of carelessness must inevitably have figured in the small percentage of accidents traceable to poor condition of motor vehicles.

So the burden of safety lies squarely on the shoulders of motor vehicle operators. No matter how perfect the condition of the car, no matter how many safety devices with which it is equipped, no matter how well-engineered the highway or street, an accident results from driver-failure, with one possible exception: in case of pedestrian deaths.

No part of the responsibility may lie on the operator of the car in which the fatality occurs. The blameless driver may lie dead by the roadside, along with all or some of his passengers, while the guilty party escapes unscathed.

Several Nations Now Witnessing Failure Of Their Policies In Middle-East Region

By WALTER LIPPMANN

In these days those whose business it is to explain and to comment on the news are having it impressed upon them, if they did not know it before, how big is the difference between making declarations and working out a policy. For a great power like the United States it is always a question, to be weighed with great care in each specific case, how far it should go in making declarations which express sentiments but are not to be followed by actions that correspond to the sentiments.

There are two schools of thought on this question. The one holds that a declaration by the United States has great influence on world opinion, and that world opinion has a great influence on the actions of governments. The other school, while not denying that this is true, is a believer in verbal austerity. It holds that the declarations lose their value, like printing press money, if they are made too often and too easily and with too much resounding rhetoric. This school adheres to the Theodore Roosevelt maxim that it is best to speak softly and to carry a big stick.

Commentators are likely to be impressed also these days with the stubborn and varied difficulty of things, and to feel a bit shy about calling upon the government to step forward with new bold imaginative policies. I say this as one who has long felt that what the Eisenhower administration has been calling peace was an excessively complacent reliance upon truces which avoided fighting but settled nothing.

In the Middle East we are living now amidst the ruins of that policy. But it is not only the American policy that is in ruins. So too is the British policy. So too, also, is the United Nations policy as it existed up to the time the fighting broke out. And so too, I believe, is Nasser's policy as he conceived it and planned it before the British, the French and the Israelis struck.

What we have in the Middle East is not the failure of the policy of one government but a general failure in which all the great powers individually and the United Nations collectively have great responsibility. As a consequence of the general and all around failure the mold of things is broken and the pieces can never again be put together as they were before.

• • •

Provided we see things clearly and not with self-righteous eyes, we shall not be surprised, indeed we may be glad, that a new and comprehensive policy has not as yet been improvised and declared to the world. Though Washington made a bad start with its first actions in the U.N., it has since then recovered its poise, and it has make, I think, three sound decisions. It has warned the Soviets effectively against military intervention. It is giving full support effectively against military intervention. It is giving full support to the U.N.'s police force. And it has announced its readiness to cooperate in dealing with the coming oil shortage, treating Western Europe as one economic community.

This is a long way from anything like a Middle Eastern settlement. But that settlement is far off and will be reached over a long and rough road. It is something that after the debacle of policy we have gotten our feet on the right road.

LITERARY GUIDEPOST

A PILGRIM'S VOW. By Pierre van Paassen. Dial.

Near the end of World War I, working as an army engineer at the front in France, van Paassen and a dozen other men tunneling into a hill were trapped by a fall of rock, and rescued what seemed like ages later after van Paassen vowed to walk through the Holy Land if he lived.

In a few years he went on from a newspaper job in Europe abroad a rickety old ship, the Lotus, disembarked at Jaffa and, sometimes with a lift from friends, he visited Bethlehem, the shores of Galilee, the valley of the Jordan, and Jerusalem.

He was attacked at Nablue; he could testify to Arab atrocities visited on the Jews in the temple at Hebron; he found the thousands of migrating storks in the headwaters of the Jordan a nostalgic reminder of his native Netherlands, where they spent the warmer weather; he is impressed by the great progress made by Israel — there is recent first-hand testimony as well as the souvenir of his first visit in the mid-20s, and he has no sympathy with those who regard modern roads and cement factories as a desecreation of the Holy Land. The commercial touch of the midway and the fair taints the holiest places, he says, but he still found the settings, the costumes and often the atmosphere as they must have been 1900 years ago.

He is a devout but not a bullible pilgrim, worshipful and witty, too; and his relevant account of what Israel was and what it is could not have come at a time when we'd appreciate it, or need it, more than now.

Want To Make 500 Gallons Of Burgoo?

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — Numbers pose no problems for Mrs. Jouett Shouse, well-known hostess — that is, if squirrels are in season.

She's been known to feed as many as 2,000 guests at her Shouse country place, Wolf Trap Farm, in nearby Fairfax County, Va.

Burgoo is the dish she serves. Made from a recipe for a famed Kentucky specialty usually served at political rallies, squirrels are one of the main ingredients, along with chickens, soup meat and vegtables. To feed 2,000 hungry people, Mrs. Shouse prescribes 500 gallons of burgoo.

"We make it two, or three days ahead and let it simmer for hours and hours," she told me after whipping up enough burgoo to serve some 500 people at a pre-election rally at Wolf Trap Farm, 15 miles from the Capital. "My biggest problem was cutting the usual burgoo recipe in fouths. The recipe I've used for years is calculated to serve at least 2,000 guests."

The hostess, long prominent in political affairs, was the first woman ever appointed to the Democratic National Committee from Massachusetts. She also has been prominently active in civic and international programs. In 1954 she received an award from the German government and the U. S. Army for her work assisting the Armed Services Reorientation Program for German Youth.

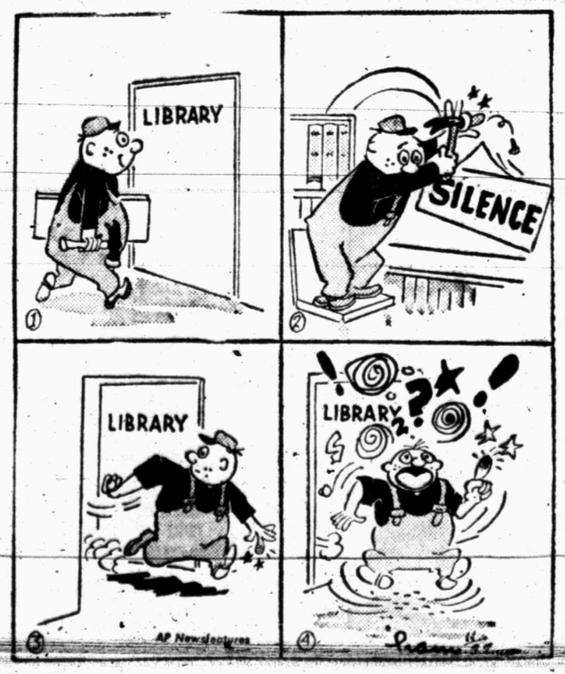

Shouse, a two-term member of Congress from Virginia, was a former chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

Want to make burgoo for 2,000? Here's the recipe for 500 gallons:

250 pounds lean soup meat; 2 five or six-pound hens, or roosters; four 100-pound sacks of potatoes; 18 one-gallon cans of tomatoes; three one-gallon cans of puree of tomatoes; two pounds of onions; 50 pounds cabbage; two cases of No. 2 canned corn; three one-gallon cans of carrots, 24 squirrels.

Pepper and salt to suit taste. Put one-fourth bottle Worcestershire sauce in 10 gallons. Cook meat and chickens three hours, then add other ingredients and cook at least eight hours, slowly.

Tito Managing To Outscore Commies In The Kremlin With Game Of Double-Talk

By ED CREAGH
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Marshal Tito is feeling his oats.

First the Yugoslav president hurled at the Kremlin the label "Stalinist"—a swear word in the Communist world today. At the same time he called on the Russians to grant all the satellites the sort of freedom Yugoslavia years ago won for itself.

Then Tito accused the Kremlin of kidnaping ex-Premier Imre Nagy of Hungary. Nagy and a group of officials were snatched by Russians as they left the Yugoslav Embassy in Budapest.

And what was the Kremlin's reaction to this tough talk from its off-again, on-again friend Tito? The usual name calling and threats of reprisal?

Not Quite. They took six pages of Pravda to defend themselves on the Stalinism and satellite charges. They did ask Tito to lower his voice lest he play into the hands of "imperialist and fascist elements."

And then, most interestingly, they accused Tito—though in fairly mild language — of spreading the idea that "Yugoslavia's path to socialism is the only true and even the only possible path for socialist development in almost all countries."

How times change.

This is just what Tito was charging the Russians with doing when he broke with them during the Stalin regime. Only he was complaining, of course, that it was the Kremlin which was taking the our-way-is-the-only-way line.

Tito himself came up with some interesting thoughts.

He said the Russians were wrong to intervene in the Hungarian revolt. But he adds in the next breath: "If with their intervention they saved socialism in Hungary, it was necessary and all this will one day become positive."

In other words: You shouldn't have done it but if it turns out all right for our side you did the right thing.

Tito was talking about the first clashes in Hungary, at a time when one Communist regime or another would have held power no matter who won.

He holds the Kremlin was dead right, though, in slaughtering Hungarians by the thousands when it looked as if "reactionaries" were moving in.

You can see his reasoning there, even though you deplore it: If Hungary can get away with dethroning a Communist government what's to stop other countries from doing it, too? Yugoslavia, for example.

Unquestionably there's a rift between Belgrade and Moscow.

Associated Press correspondent Harold Milks reported from Moscow last night that the Nagy affair may have widened the rift "beyond the possibility of immediate reconciliation."

Tito fired a ship-sharp protest to Budapest over Nagy's disappearance.

He sent an almost identical one to Moscow saying he expects the Kremlin to do "everything necessary" to get the safe conduct agreement carried out.

Moscow hasn't replied yet but her answer can hardly be anything other than some form of: Who, me? Tito has made it plain he means: Yes, you. He isn't buying for a minute the Budapest legend that Nagy and his friends scotted off to Romania of their own volition. Outside the ranks of Kremlin supporters, nobody else is buying it, either.

Peaceful Integration In Louisville Is A Surprise

By BEM PRICE

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 27 (AP)—Everybody, it seems, was surprised by the peaceful integration of the public schools here this fall except Louisvillians.

"As far as we were concerned," says Norman Isaacs, managing editor of the Louisville Times, "we were just adding to the school reporter's beat."

Louisville and surrounding Jefferson County went about integrating its white and Negro schools against a background of racial violence over the same issue in Clay and Sturgis, Ky., Clinton, Tenn., and Mansfield and Texarkana, Tex.

But long ago two strong newspapers, some extraordinary mayors and a rare set of civic leaders, white and Negro, had foreseen the current racial crisis and had acted to anticipate it.

This is not to say that the process of integration is complete here. There still is segregation in the theaters, hotels and restaurants, though the barriers are breaking in the last two.

There are two striking facets to the Louisville story:

1. The moves to improve the Negroes' lot were led on the white side almost exclusively by people who call themselves Southerners and who are descendants of Confederates.

2. The Negro apparently has never felt any need to agitate, and thus there has been no hardening of racial prejudices in the community.

Until the mid-1930s Louisville was a placid town, proud of its blooded horses, beautiful women and bourbon whisky.

It was a town in which about 98 per cent of the population was native born.

It was a place where people could erect a statue to Abraham Lincoln and one to Confederate dead—and honor both. Generally, though, on race relations Louisville faced South.

Then two things happened. The Ohio River flooded, and Mark Foster Etheridge came to town.

In the wake of the disastrous 1937 flood Louisville seemed to take on a new and more aggressive look. The necessity for cooperation in rebuilding the stricken city bred a strong sense of civic duty which still flourishes.

Etheridge, a native of Meridian, Miss., now publisher of the Louisville Courier-Journal and Louisville Times, arrived in 1936. He brought with him, as he said in an interview, "a strong procivil rights bias inherited from my father."

Etheridge recalls that he wrote his first Louisville editorial on the need to help the Negro in 1937. "The initial reaction," he said dryly, "was unfavorable."

Yet today, a great many prominent citizens in Louisville ascribe to Etheridge the major role in creating a climate of opinion which could lead to the gradual integration of the Negro into Louisville's civic life.

The newspapers' stand for a fair shake for Negroes was sharpened by the advent of World War II and the bloody struggle against Hitler's fascism and doctrines of racial superiority.

Real Drive For Christmas Business Starts In Nation

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The Christmas season opens officially today in the nation's stores.

In the next four weeks they should do about one fourth of their entire year's business — it's the season that makes or breaks the year for most of them.

The real drive starts today. Shoppers will have to show more of a buying spirit than they have in the last four weeks if the hopes for a record sales volume are realized. Unseasonably warm weather in November got the blame in many cities for sluggish sales.

The rather slow start worries some merchants who have loaded up with large stocks in expectation of record sales.

They have other problems. Finding extra clerical help is harder this year — with the nation's total employment already at a record.

Some retailers have foreign purchases tied up by the dock strike, although in most cases the imports started arriving in volume in October. Importers count upon this being the largest Christmas season for foreign goods.

Another worry is what effect the recurring war scares will have on consumers' buying tendencies. Still another is the reaction to higher prices this year on many items.

But most merchants count heavily on the plus factors this season. Disposable income after taxes is at a record high. Some previously depressed areas are humming again. Example: many auto plants are now on a six-day week. Some 6,800 financial institutions are paying nearly 13 million members of Christmas clubs a record $1,187,000,000. Merchants think at least 294 million of that will be spent on gifts.

The seasonal industries are optimistic. Toy makers expect sales to set a record. Christmas card printers expect two billion greetings to crowd the mails next month.

Makers of giftwrappings and trimmings expect sales to hit a record 120 million dollars.

A 10 per cent increase in Christmas lighting is foreseen by that industry. Glolite Corp. of Chicago says display sales will reach 100 million dollars this year. The electric utilities expect December to set another record.

There are two sad notes. The National Premium Research Institute says businessmen are trimming their business gift lists to save about nine million dollars. Wall Street says brokers Christmas bonuses may be off because until lately trading volume was running 15 per cent behind a year ago.

Number Of Cars, Phones Grows Faster Than People

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't read his mail—and browse in old bookstores:

That the number of both cars and telephones in the United States is increasing faster than the number of people.

That four million persons born in the Southern states moved to other sections of America between 1950 and 1955.

That about 92 per cent of American girls get married and about 85 per cent of them land a man before they are 26.

That a colleague of ours — Charlie Rice, columnist on the Missouri State Penitentiary's monthly paper—observes, "A man all wrapped up in himself makes a small package!"

That Jacqueline Cochran, who runs a cosmetics firm and became a top airplane speed pilot, was an orphan who went to work in a beauty parlor at 14.

That Larry Mack, youthful head of a slenderizing firm that has caused U.S. gals to shed five million pounds of fat, says Italian woman have the world's worst figures.

That tiny Elaine Malbin, the opera star—she's only a half inch over five feet—keeps in trim by lying on her back and doing bicycle exercises with 10-pound lead weights built into her shoes.

That the biggest objection many women have to pipe-smoking men is, "They spend so much time trying to keep their pipe lit they have no time left to talk." Whatever happened to the pipe-puffing fad among the ladies? Haven't seen one all year.

That only a third of the 70 million Americans licensed to drive cars are women. It only seems like there are more.

That more than 500,000 U.S. children now ride to school regularly in autos. Maybe that's why leather manufacturers complain teen-agers no longer do enough walking to wear out their shoes.

Although the average American is "eating higher on the hog," more than half of the 161 pounds of meat he consumed last year was beef. Most of the rest was pork.

RADIO-TV REPORT

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—George Bassman has a mild and legitimate complaint. Why, he wonders, is the television work of men like George Bassman so widely ignored?

Bassman is the musical director for "Producers' Showcase" (NBC-TV). That means he is both a composer and conductor as well as general arbiter on all matters musical.

Many people are unaware that a major live television show has specially composed live music as background or dramatically spotted in the program.

"The author is well aware of the composer's role in the play," says Bassman. "There are often specific indications where the author wants music to bring his scene to a climax, to heighten a word, and certainly to set a mood. A full orchestra of 70 men is often employed to do this, but rarely, if ever, have the critics noticed it. They notice the camera work, the lighting, the directing and acting —but never the music.

'People in television always expect miracles," Bassman said. "The truth is that it takes just as long to write a bar of music in 1956 as it did in the days of Bach. You don't begin writing music until a show is in rehearsal —and then it's only tentative. The actual writing begins five days before telecast time, and then you find what is really needed."

In the recent production of Somerset Maugham's 'The Letter," Bassman engaged in extensive research in oriental music. His final orchestration, which you may recall was extraordinarily effective, was achieved with a Chinese krotale (which is a set of bells), tiny Chinese drums with tuneable heads and another curious combination of Western instruments.

He sought an oriental instrument which he had heard recorded — its name unknown. Finally he achieved the effect by employing a single violin slurring notes in unison with a clarinet and a piccolo playing two octs higher.

Death Of Florida Beauty Is Mystery

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The death of pretty Mrs. Eddy Smith Parkhill remained an official mystery today despite seven hours of charges and counter-charges at a coroner's inquest yesterday.

Following instructions of Peace Justice W. Marion Hendry the coroner's jury reported the 38-year-old former Miss Tampa beauty queen died of "a blow on the head from an undetermined source by parties unknown."

Hendry said it was the only possible verdict from testimony which he described as "innuendoes, hearsay and telephone conversations" which would not stand up in a higher court.

John Parkhill, 45-year-old husband of the victim, testified she told him a family friend, Fred Bender, beat her at a motel the night of Oct. 22 and robbed her of $100. Several other witnesses said she told them the same story.

Bender, about 40, denied beating or robbing Mrs. Parkhill. He said he intervened in a violent argument between the Parkhills and at Mrs. Parkhill's request took her to a motel. He said she gave him the $100 for safekeeping and it was returned to her later.

Miss Evelyn Shoun said Mrs. Parkhill told her Parkhill knocked her across a room at the Parkhill home the night of Oct. 21 and that she lost consciousness. Miss Shoun added that Mrs. Parkhill never told her Bender beat her.

No charges have been filed in the case.

State Atty. James M. McEwen said he would not take any further action.

Mrs. Parkhill died Nov. 11.

Parkhill is a member of one of Tampa's most prominent families and one of central Florida's leading criminal law attorneys. Bender, an insurance investigator, is a former policeman.

Ag Students Quizzed On Poaching

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Twelve Texas A&M students were under investigation today in two deer poaching cases.

Sheriff J. W. Hamilton and Warden J. D. Robertson gave this account of one case:

Four students drove to a ranch on the Navasota River and shot a deer which was blinded by their car's headlights Friday night. Two of them stayed behind to dress the deer while the other two drove away, planning to return later.

One of the ranch owners, Mickey Trant of Baytown, had been watching for poachers and chased the car. One student left the car at the bridge over the Navasota. The other wrecked the car when he missed a turn in the road in Brazos County. He is in the A&M hospital. One student was picked up at the bridge and the other two got a farmer to drive them to A&M.

No charges have been filed.

Meanwhile, Robertson was working on the other case involving eight students who are accused of shooting a buck and a doe on Highway 6 between College Station and Navasota.

They are accused of taking the deer to a dormitory, dressing them under a shower and storing the meat in a refrigerator. But the refrigerator wouldn't hold all the meat so they deposited the head and forequarters in a garbage can.

A security officer, M. A. Maddox, found a piece of paper with a student's name on it stuck to the carcass.

Oil Output Is Increased

TULSA (AP)—Daily average oil production rose 14,700 barrels to 7,174,300 during the week ended Nov. 24, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

The states counted losses but the decline was offset by substantial rises in Oklahoma, 14,000 barrels to 600,300, and by Louisiana, up 12,000 to 843,950.

The Journal estimated 1956 production at 2,344,939,750 barrels compared with 2,221,027,088 a year ago.

Other increases were reported in Colorado, up 5,100 barrels to 155,800, and Arkansas, up 1,400 to 79,500.

New Mexico was off 900 to 249,835. Production was unchanged in Texas at 3,006,100.

IT WAS A LONG RIDE—Lt. Col. Allen Ballard of Kinston, N. C., points to the Baltimore, Md., area as he and Lt. Col. Marcus Hill of Cisco, Tex., view a map in Baltimore on which is marked their route on a 16,000-mile, 31½-hour flight. Hill is the aircraft commander and Ballard the navigator of a B-52 bomber which took off from Castle Air Force Base, Merced, Calif. During the long flight the plane passed over the North Pole and such widely separated U. S. cities as Los Angeles and Miami.

Cold Strikes Wide Area Of Country

By The Associated Press

Cold weather prevailed over broad areas of the Eastern half of the country today.

Generally clear skies were the outlook in the Western two-thirds of the nation but snow flurries and rain showers were reported in sections of the Northeast.

During the night snow flurries fell from the Great Lakes southward to Tennessee and Virginia and eastward through New York. Rain showers sprinkled areas in Vermont and Eastward to the coast. Light snow and freezing rain fell in sections of the Far Northwest.

The cold air mass extended from New Mexico and Texas to the Great Lakes and eastward to the Atlantic Coast. Biggest drops in temperatures were reported in Oklahoma and Arkansas southward through Texas and Louisiana. Readings were about 12 degrees lower than yesterday morning.

The cold air was expected to cover the Atlantic Coast states during the day. Snow and snow flurries were predicted from Maine southward through West Virginia.

There was a warming trend from the Northern Plains through the Central Mountain States. A little warmer weather also was in prospect from Texas to Mississippi and northward to the western Great Lakes region.

Little change in temperatures was expected in the western third of the country, with fairly pleasant weather for this time of year.

Government Spending On Health Hit

SEATTLE (AP)—There is a trend to spend more government money on health and medical matters "because it is good politics," the president of the American Medical Assn. declared today.

Dr. Dwight Murray of Napa, Calif., told the house of delegates of the AMA:

"Apparently many Americans still want to see government in the role of a big broher, dishing out so-called gifts and bargains under the guise of benevolent economic planning.

"We do not deny that there is an area of legitimate concern by the government for the health and welfare of the people. But each year government seems to extend that area. We get some idea of this expansion from the new federal medical budget.

"This year the average family will be paying $54.61 for the U.S. government's health and medical activities. And the total expenditures this year, [illegible] billion dollars—290 million more than last year . . . It is a billion dollars more than the cost of running the Commerce Department, half a billion more than the Agriculture Department and six times more than the Interior Department's budget."

The Duchess of Windsor reveals that when she was a young girl her nickname was "Skinny."

EMPLOYER . . . provides good jobs for 64 of your neighbors who earn $239,457 a year — and spend most of it here in Snyder.

TAXPAYER . . . pays $11,722 a year in local taxes alone — enough to cover the cost of educating 47 Texas grade school children for a year.

BUYER . . . buys thousands of dollars worth of supplies and services from Snyder firms.

In just ten years, telephone growth has created 51 good, new jobs for Snyder people — and greatly increased all our contributions to Snyder's welfare and prosperity.

TRUMAN BLACK, Manager

A telephone is valuable only because it keeps you in touch with other people. The more people you can reach with a local telephone call, the more valuable your service.

Today, you can reach more than seven times as many telephones in Snyder homes and businesses as you could just ten years ago.

This is largely due to Snyder's growth, of course. But one reason for the bigger value you get today is the fact that more families today want and can afford telephone service. Ten years ago, only 3 out of every 10 families here had telephones. Today 6 out of 10 have telephone service – pretty conclusive evidence that it's a good bargain.

A lot of work and planning go into the job of making telephone service a bargain – and a lot of money, too. That's why a sound, healthy telephone company is important to practically everyone in Snyder. A company that can be confident of earning a fair profit can afford to plan and build ahead to give you more and more for your money.

FANS UP ELLINWOOD, Kan. way certainly think highly of Tiger football coach, John Conley.

It was from Ellinwood, you'll recall, that Snyder High School got Conley.

John was head coach at Ellinwood for five years before coming to Snyder.

A close follower of the Ellinwood football team was pinned a letter our way. Before going any further, here is what the fellow had to say:

Dear Sir.

As reporter-statistician for our football team, I am sending you our summary sheet. We have one outstanding record marked in red on the sheet and we are wondering if any high school 11 man Texas team has a similar record. There are none in Kansas.

A close friend and I subscribe to your paper so we can keep up with your great coach, John Conley. John was here at Ellinwood 5 years and we really think he's the finest coach Kansas ever had. Our coach now, Myron Rodee, served as assistant under John and it looks like John did a mighty fine job of teaching him too.

We have a plane chartered to come down and see the Tigers game with Lamesa this week and weather permitting we'll be on the sidelines rooting for you. We come down at least once each year.

Since Kansas does not have title playoffs, we have to be satisfied with newspapers' ratings and Ellinwood was rated No. 2 of Kansas Class A teams (enrollment 200-450). We have an enrollment of 255 and nearly every team we play is larger in size.

We'd appreciate it if you would carry the inquiry about scoring at least one touchdown in every quarter of every game. If we make it to Lamesa (it's snowing hard here now) perhaps we'll have the pleasure of meeting you. We sure are enjoying reading your sports pages.

Sincerely,
(s) Fred W. Meyer

Scoring Feat Almost Unbelievable

We doubt that the record that Mr. Meyer had circled in red ink, that of the 1956 Ellinwood football team scored at least once in every quarter in every game the team played this season, can be matched in Texas.

A record of that sort is almost unbelievable. It's a pretty safe bet that no team in the country, high school or college, can match that feat, either.

Meyer made it down to Lamesa, all right, and was thrilled over the Tigers winning the game and Ellinwood played 8 games and scored 342 points for an average of 42.7 points per game. This mark, however, can probably be topped in the Lone Star State. Ellinwood gave up 38 points and, of course, the Tigers can better this mark. The Bengals yielded 32 points in 10 games.

Tigers Have A Distinction, Too

Snyder may hold some distinction that will be difficult for any team to equal. That is the Bengals went through nine games without an opponent scoring a touchdown in the first half.

When Lamesa scored late in the first quarter last Friday night, she became the first team to tally against the Bengals before the third quarter. Twenty of the 32 points scored by the Tiger opposition this season occurred in the final period and, for the most part, the opposition points came when several subs were in the lineup.

It was nice hearing from Mr. Meyer. Snyder's feeling toward Conley are just as high as that of Ellinwood fans.

Dodd Rumor Proves False

AUSTIN (AP)—The Austin Statesman said yesterday Bobby Dodd of Georgia Tech was the top prospect for athletic director and head football coach at the University of Texas.

Dodd and Texas officials immediately threw cold water.

"I assure you that I shall be at Georgia Tech next year and for some time thereafter unless I get fired," Dodd said.

O. B. Wiliams, chairman of the Texas Athletic Council, said "neither Bobby Dodd nor anyone else has been offered the position of athletic director and head football coach.

Tom Sealy of Midland, chairman of the Board of Regents, said "This same rumor was being circulated in Dallas and other Texas cities last week. It belongs in the category with the rumor that Frank Leahy had already been employed and was to come to Austin to sign the contract a few days ago.

The Statesman said it could not reveal its source, but said it was an official close to the athletic scene at the university.

Saturday Sam Houston meets Middle Tennessee in the Refrigerator Bowl at Evansville, Ind.

Dec. 8 finds three Texas teams in post-season games. Kilgore Junior College will play Pearl River, Miss., Junior College in the Hospitality Bowl at Gulfport, Miss.; Arlington State meets Compton in the Junior Rose Bowl at Pasadena, and Fort Hood will clash with Bolling Air Force in the Shrimp Bowl at Galveston.

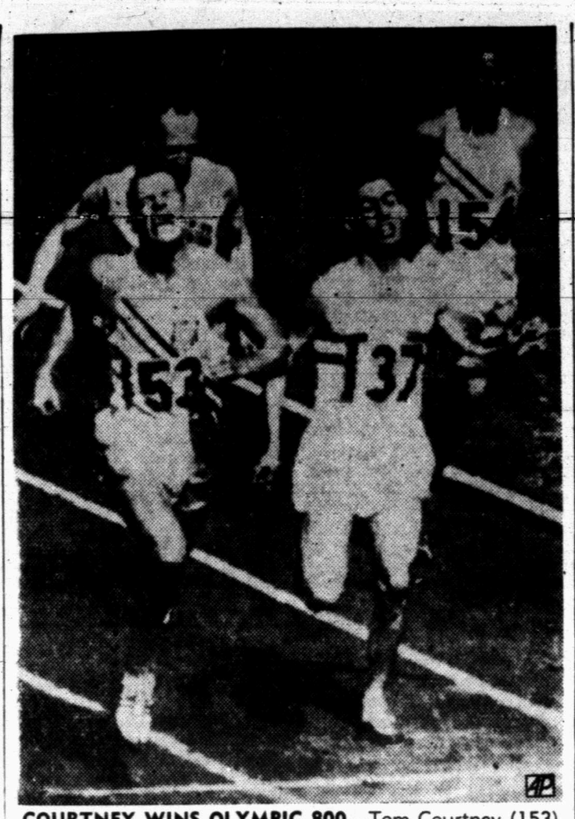

Dec. 15 Kerrville's Notre Dame Institute will play in the Milk Bowl at San Antonio, meeting McKeesport, Pa.

Jan. 1 Texas Western plays George Washington in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, West Texas State meets Mississippi Southern at Orlando, Fla., in the Tangerine Bowl; TCU will play a still unnamed opponent in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas and Prairie View will play an opponent yet to be selected in the Prairie View Bowl at Houston.

Baylor is a strong contender for either the Sugar or Gator Bowls.

Oregon State Gets Official Invite

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—The Pacific Coast Conference has made official what everyone expected, the selection of Oregon State's Beavers to represent the West against Iowa's Hawkeyes in the Rose Bowl New Year's Day.

COURTNEY WINS OLYMPIC 800—Tom Courtney (153) of Livingston, N.J., hits the tape the winner in the Olympic 800 meters with a new Olympic record of 1:47.7, outlegging Britain's Derek Johnson (137) in Melbourne, Australia. Auden Boysen, partly hidden by Courtney, of Norway, was third. Courtney's teammate, Arnie Sowell (154) of Pittsburgh, Pa., was fourth, (AP Wirephoto by radio from Melbourne).

Morrow 1st Double Winner Since '36

MELBOURNE (AP)—Fleet Bobby Morrow scored the first Olympic sprint double since Jesse Owens in 1936 today as Uncle Sam's athletes surged to five more gold medals in another smashing display of land and sea power.

Morrow, the Abilene Christian flash from San Benito, Tex., who had won the 100-meters Saturday, led an American sweep in the 200-meters with a record-smashing performance matched by Al Oerter of New Hyde Park, N.Y. and his two teammates in the discus. Oerter broke the old standard to inspire another American 1-2-3 finish.

While the track and field forces excited another capacity crowd of 100,000 at Olympic Stadium, Yale's stout-hearted eight-man crew set the pace for America's finest rowing day at nearby Ballarat.

Beaten in shocking fashion in the first round, Yale climaxed a brilliant comeback by beating the same crews that had whipped them earlier after earning another chance in the repechage.

Yale's triumph, the eighth straight for the U.S. in the eights since 1920, ended a glorious day at Lake Wendouree where Americans also took the pairs with coxswain and pairs without coxswain. Silver second-place medals went to Uncle Sam's double sculls and four-oared crew without coxswain.

Failure of Jack Kelly, Jr., brother of Princess Grace of Monaco, to follow in his father's footsteps in the single sculls was the major U.S. disappointment in rowing. Kelly finished third in his last try to match his dad's Olympic victory of 1920.

Russia won two gold medals in rowing, the double and single sculls, but failed in track and field. At the end of the day, Russia trailed the U.S. by more than 100 points.

An unofficial point table showed the United States way out front with 262 points to 149½ points for Russia.

The United States has a total of 16 gold medals to Russia's six and had won nine of 13 events in men's track and field.

Adhemar Ferreira da Silva of Brazil set a new Olympic record in winning the hop, step and jump although Bill Sharpe of Philadelphia surprised with a fourth-place leap of 52 feet 1½ inches, probable the best ever by an American. The Brazilian covered 53 feet 5¾ inches breaking his own mark set in 1952 at Helsinki.

Although Poland's Ezbieta Krzesinska broke the Olympic mark and tied her own world record by taking the women's broad jump with a leap of 20 feet 9¾ inches, America's Willie White of Breenwood, Miss., exceeded all expectations by finishing second in 19 feet 11¾ inches.

The sweep in the 200-meters and the discus were the second and third of the current Olympics for Uncle Sam, which already had finished 1-2-3 in the 400-meters hurdles.

Another strong American performance is expected Wednesday in both the discus and the 110-meter hurdles in which all three U.S. men won their heats — Jack Davis of Glendale, Calif., Lee Calhoun of Gary, Ind. and Joel Shankle of Durham, N.C. Parry O'Brien who sets a world record almost every time he appears is considered a cinch to repeat his 1952 winning performance in the shot put.

Morrow established himself as the top of the list of the world's best sprinters by taking the 200-meters. He will have a chance to make it three gold medals in the 400-meter relay event Saturday. Andy Stanfield of Jersey City, N.J., winner of the 200 and a member of the winning relay team in 1952, tied Owen's record of 20.7 while finishing a stride behind Morrow. Thane Baker of Elkhart, Kan., who will run with Morrow, Stanfield and Leamon King of Delano, Calif., in the relay, was third in the 200.

Oerter, a student at the University of Kansas, shattered the Olympic discus record with a throw of 184 feet 11 inches, followed by Fortune Gordien of Brightwood, Ore., who was fourth in 1952 and third in the 1948 Olympics. Desmond Koch, an Air Force man from Shelton, Wash. took third to complete the sweep.

Morrow's Parents In San Benito Thrilled

SAN BENITO, Tex. (AP) — The parents of Bobby Morrow, double winner in the Olympics, had just one word for it today: "Wonderful."

They already knew about Morrow winning the 200 meters and setting an Olympic record. But they were eager for details of how their son had performed a feat that hadn't been done since Jesse Owens swept the sprints in 1936.

"It is the most wonderful thing that ever happened," said Floyd Morrow, father of Bobby.

"We have kept up with the Olympics by short wave," said Floyd Morrow. "My youngest son, Troy, rigged it up. But we didn't get all the details of his victory and the time he set."

When told that Bobby had shattered the Olympic record set by Owens with his 20.6 in the 200 meters, Morrow said that really made it complete.

Then he reminded that Bobby has another race yet to run. He will be a member of the 400-meter relay team Saturday. Morrow wondered if he could win a gold medal in that race, too.

GRAHAM TICKETS ON SALE TONIGHT

Tickets to the Tiger-Graham game Saturday will go on sale at the high school gymnasium ticket office tonight at 7.

Nearly 2,000 tickets will be sold, about half of which are for the north end zone.

School business manager Art Nicholas says that the 975 reserved seat tickets for the East stand (Snyder's side) will be sold first and then the 990 tickets for the end zone will be distributed.

Ticket price is $1.75. A limit of 2 tickets to each purchaser has been set.

Nicholas passes along the word that if everyone will have the right change tonight it will speed things along. Also, those who will be buying tickets by check, it will help if they have their checks written out ahead of time.

San Benito Kid Glad It's Over

MELBOURNE (AP) — Bobby Morrow, describing himself as "a cotton farmer from Texas," said today it was a great thrill to become the first man in 20 years to score a double in the Olympic sprints.

"I sure am glad this day is over, though," he added. "It has been a terrific strain."

Morrow, 21, speedster from Abilene Christian College who won the 100-meter dash Saturday, today led a 1-2-3 American sweep in the 200-meters — wining in the Olympic record time of 20.6 seconds.

That made him the first double-meter standard, did it in the 1936 games at Berlin.

"Now I'm going for No. 3," Bobby said, smiling broadly. "We begin training tomorrow for the 400-meter relay."

Morrow, who pulled a groin muscle in capturing the 100, said he wasn't troubled by the injury. "I didn't feel it," he said. "I didn't have any pain at all."

The lean Texan said he caught Andy Stanfield, the defending 200-meters champion going around the first bend, but feared the veteran from Jersey City until he hit the wire.

"I was always afraid Andy would move up and get me," Bobby said. "He had looked very good and I was afraid of him from the start."

Stanfield finished second in 20.7 with Thane Baker of Elkhart, Kan., third in 20.9.

Baker, who was second in the 100 and who was second to Stanfield at Helsinki four years ago, was disappointed.

"I had both my ankles taped," he said. "Tendon trouble. They bothered me but nothing should detract from Bobby's win. He was great.

"I just didn't see why I had to get the eighth lane — the worst lane of the lot — just as I did at Helsinki. I thought it was tough luck."

Morrow said he was lucky to get the third lane, which he regarded as favorable. He added "the track was soft but fine, and the weather was wonderful. I felt I could breathe."

The new Olympic sprint king said he wasn't sure of future plans.

"Dad has a 600-acre cotton farm at Rangerville, Tex. If I'm called into service after I get out of school, I probably will try for the 1960 Olympics at Rome. If not I probably will get down to farming."

His personal coach, Oliver Jackson, was on hand today and Bobby said "I owe Oliver a lot. He taught me how to relax, and relaxation is the secret of my running."

Morrow's wife of two years, Joanne, who also is a studen at Abilene, is not here and Bobby said he didn't plan to phone her because "it is night there now and she would shoot me."

Sooners Keep No. 1 Spot; Aggies 5th

By DON WEISS
The Associated Press

The Oklahoma Sooners, if they need an excuse for winning, will have a two-fold goal Saturday in their windup game against state-rival Oklahoma A&M.

One more victory gives Oklahoma its 40th in succession and clear-cut title to the all-time record of consecutive victories. The Aggie game also is the last in which the Sooners—and the nation's other collegiate powers—can hope to impress the writers and sportscasters who participate in the weekly Associated Press poll.

Oklahoma won the poll, symbolic of the national championship last year and can retire the current trophy by repeating.

They're in a good position to do it, having received another vote of confidence from the participants in the next-to-last poll announced last night.

The Sooners drew 81 first place ballots and 1,448 points in the nationwide accounting to hold the lead by 95 points over Tennessee. The Volunteers, who made it nine straight by defeating Kentucky 20-7 last saturday, had 49 first place votes and 1,353 total points on the basis of 10 points for first, 9 for second, 8 for third, etc.

Iowa, which has closed its best season in 34 years and is all set for the Rose Bowl, held third place with 12 first and 1144 points followed by Georgia Tech, Texas A&M, Miami (Fla), Michigan, Syracuse, Michigan State and Minnesota.

The leading teams with first place votes and won-lost records in parentheses (points on 10-9-8-7-7-5-4-3-2-1 basis):

Prichard Zooms To Top In Tiger Rushing Yardage

Tommy Prichard's amazing performance against Lamesa last weekend pulled him to the front in the Tiger rushing figures, according to the Daily News statistics.

Prichard netted 181 yards against Lamesa to bring his season total to 514 yards in 78 carries for a 6.6 yards per carry.

Quarterback Powell Berry passed the 1,000 mark in total offense. Berry is second in rushing with 487 yards and he tops the Bengals in passing yardage with 591. His passing and rushing yardages combined gives Berry a total offense of 1,078 yards.

End Milton Ham pulled further ahead in pass receiving with 24 catches for 453 yards and 10 touchdowns.

Ham is also the top scorer with 63 points.

Israel Hinojos is the leading punt returner and Bobby Joines the No. 1 kickoff returner.

The punting averages remained the same as the Tigers were not forced to punt against Lamesa. Berry continues to lead the Tiger punters with an average of 40.5 on 23 kicks.

Following are the 10-game Tiger individual offensive figures:

Graham Steers Are Loaded With Beef

The Graham Steers, Snyder High School's bi-district foe Saturday, will outweigh the Tigers by about eight pounds per man in the line and about 20-pounds per man in the backfield.

Graham is believed to have the "beefiest" team in Texas High School football.

The Steer line, headed by 235-pound tackle Freddy Thigpen, averages 186 pounds per man. The Tiger forward wall averages 178.

The Graham backfield averages 171 pounds per player. Guy Gibbs, 6-6 quarterback, is the beefiest Steer back at 195.

Gibbs completed 8 of 11 passes last week against Brownwood for 144 yards and two touchdowns.

The Graham probable starting lineup runs something like this:

Ends—Jim Willis, 165, and Mike Rice, 190.

Tackles—Freddy Thigpen, 235, and Ted Ratcliffe, 190.

Guards—Ronnie Butler, 186, and Danny Russell, 160.

Center—Bob Robbins, 175.

Quarterback—Guy Gibbs, 195.

155, and Donnie Mac Miller, 165.

Fullback—James Littlepage.

The Tigers, meanwhile, are hampered by injuries. James Vincent, who turned in a bangup performance against Lamesa, is definitely out of the Graham game with a torn hip muscle.

Fullback Bill Fowler has a separated shoulder and will be available for only limited duty and that on offense. Fowler is one of the Tiger defensive stalwarts but probably will be in no condition to play defense.

Another defensive cog, Bobby Pollard, is still nursing a twisted knee. Pollard hasn't worked out since the Colorado City game two weeks ago.

Wiley Denson, with a badly bruised hand, will probably be able to play Saturday as will halfback Bobby Joines who has a cracked nose.

Cadillac

Surpasses its Own Great Reputation!

You're looking at a mighty surprised man.

Almost all of his adult life he has owned and driven Cadillac cars. And so, when he decided to take an hour out from his busy schedule to see and drive the new 1957 Cadillac, he thought he knew about what to expect.

Well, here he is—barely under way in the city—and already he is learning the startling truth.

He is learning that nothing could adequately prepare a man for the new "car of cars"—not even Cadillac ownership itself!

He suspected it, in fact, the instant he stepped into the showroom and caught his first glimpse of this newest Cadillac creation. This was an entirely new kind of Cadillac beauty—brilliantly fresh in line and in contour.

And then he opened the door and swung into the driver's seat—and found added evidence all around him. On every side were new miracles of interior beauty and comfort and convenience.

And when he turned the key and put his foot on the accelerator, his sentiment grew to conviction. The car was incredibly nimble and quiet and smooth of ride.

Surprised, did we say? Just wait until he hits the open highway and receives the final verdict.

No question about it—this is the Cadillac that literally surpasses its own great reputation!

* * * *

We suggest that you come in soon to see and drive this most surprising new Cadillac in fifty-four years. It's an experience you shouldn't postpone—and one you'll not soon forget.

Cleveland Papers Are Rolling Again

CLEVELAND (AP)—The presses of Cleveland's three major daily newspapers begin rolling today for the first time in 26 days. By afternoon, two of the papers will be landing with familiar plops on steps and porches.

The newspaper famine started when one union struck one of the newspapers. It ended last night as the Photoengravers Union became the last of eight unions to ratify new two-year contracts with all three newspapers.

Upon the agreement with the photoengravers, all three newspapers immediately began phoning their employes with instructions to return to their jobs.

The Cleveland News and the Cleveland Press, both afternoon papers, said they would publish today. The Cleveland Plain Dealer, a morning paper, plans to publish its Wednesday morning edition.

A strike by the Cleveland Newspaper Guild against the Cleveland Press, a Scripps-Howard paper, started the situation that left Clevelanders without their accustomed sources of printed news for nearly four weeks. Publication at the Plain Dealer and the News subsequently stopped when union truck drivers refused to haul copies which included the nameplate of the struck Press.

On Nov. 15, the Guild ratified two-year contracts with the three papers calling for a weekly increase of from $4 to $6.50 weekly the first year and $2.50 the second year, thereby ending its strike against the Press. The old minimum for newsmen with five years' experience was $122.50.

But the papers did not resume production. A spokesman for the publishers said they would not begin operation until all right unions came to terms.

One by one, the other unions approved new contracts until only the photoengravers were left.

Last Friday night, the photoengravers voted 89 to 50 against an offer by the publishers. Negotiations continued and last night the union voted 141 to 39 to accept a contract calling for a $4.50 weekly pay raise the first year and $3.50 the second year, the same wage provisions approved by other craft unions.

The base scale for photoengravers under their old contract, which expires Nov. 30, is $122.85.

Faith Healer Is Critical

DALLAS (AP)—Faith healer and evangelist Jack Coe was in critical condition today with bulbar polio.

Coe, a native of Waxahachie, underwent a throat operation yesterday to help his breathing. Doctors said his muscles were paralyzed.

Last month Coe moved for dismissal of a federal court suit at Miami brought against him by parents of Georgia Clark, 3, a polio sufferer.

The suit alleged Coe declared the boy cured at a revival meeting in Miami a year ago and ordered his leg braces removed and told him to walk.

Mr. and Mrs. George Clark charged the boy suffered great pain and sought $150,000 damages. Coe said he acted from his religious beliefs. He said the suit was filed to oppress and hamper him.

Boy Gets Big Return On $75 Investment

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A little over a year ago a 13-year-old Elko, Nev., ranch boy bought a calf from his dad for $75.

Yesterday the now 920-pound brown and white Hereford won the grand champion steer award at the Great Western Livestock Show. His young owner, Jay Peterson, hopes to get around $3 a pound — which would total $2,760 — for the steer at auction.

"I intend to use the money towards buying a ranch some day," said the son of Louis E. Peterson, owner of ranches in Nevada and Ogden, Utah.

Bogart Hospitalized For Nerve Condition

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Humphrey Bogart is in St. John's Hospital for treatment of a nerve pressure condition which followed a cancer operation.

The 55-year-old actor underwent surgery last March for removal of a growth on his esophagus — the gullet, a tube from throat to stomach.

Bogart said later in an interview that the operation was "highly successful."

A statement from his doctor said Bogart was admitted yesterday "for treatment of nerve root pressure due to excessive scar formation following previous surgery." The physician said he didn't know how long Bogart would be in the hospital.

Arthur Miller's Car Is Hit By Streetcar

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — There was Arthur Miller waiting in his car for the light to turn green when — wham! — a streetcar banged him from behind.

Miller, 39, told police the car then backed up, not once, but twice to hit him "like a battering ram."

Police booked 48-year-old George Latta on charges of operating a streetcar while intoxicated.

Newsman Killed

FORT WORTH (AP)—A WBAP-TV newsman, Bob Chappelear, 26, died yesterday in a car-truck crash.

Strike Vote Is Scheduled

NEW YORK (AP)—Union locals representing 27,000 long distance telephone operators and plant workers throughout the nation take a strike authorization vote today in a contract dispute with the American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

The present contract between the Communications Workers of America and the AT&T expires tomorrow at midnight.

A company spokesman said negotiations were "making very good progress." Issues had been "narrowed considerably."

Edward Maher, president of the union's large New York local, said the talks were "getting nowhere." He said the company was rejecting union demands and submitting counterproposals of a "retrogressive" nature.

Maher said the union is seeking "substantial" wage increases, a 35-hour week and company-paid health insurance. Current wages range from $40 to $67.50 a week for operators and up to 114 per week for plant workers.

Bunker Is In Line For Ambassadorship

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ellsworth Bunker, retiring president of the American Red Cross, was reported to be in line today for appointment as ambassador to India replacing Sen.-elect John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky.

Bunker, a Democrat, served as ambassador to Italy and to Argentina during the Truman administration. he formerly headed the National Sugar Refining Co.

Informed officials said they expect President Eisenhower to announce Bunker's appointment before Prime Minister Nehru of India arrives here Dec. 16 for a four-day round of conferences.

Cooper, a Republican, plans to fly to India starting tomorrow to lay the groundwork for the Eisenhower-Nehru talks. He has been away from New Delhi since May.

East Texas Forest Fires Are Reduced

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Forest fires have been sharply reduced by rainfall in east Texas. J. O. Burnside, head of the Texas Forest Service fire control department, however, renewed his request today for care by hunters and others.

Unofficial figures for the pineywood area from Nov. 1-23 show 96 fires have burned 679 acres.

October fires totaled 441 burned 4,563 acres of forest land.

Hardest hit was dist. 1 in northeast Texas, where 101 fires burned 1,178 acres. Dist. 5 in Southeast Texas had 92 fires on 1,267 acres.

Demonstration Given By AF Flying Team

SAN ANGELO (AP)—An Air Force flying team, the Thunderbirds, gave a demonstration today at the Texas Jet Age Conference.

Discussions of community relations, noise suppression and electronics also were on tap.

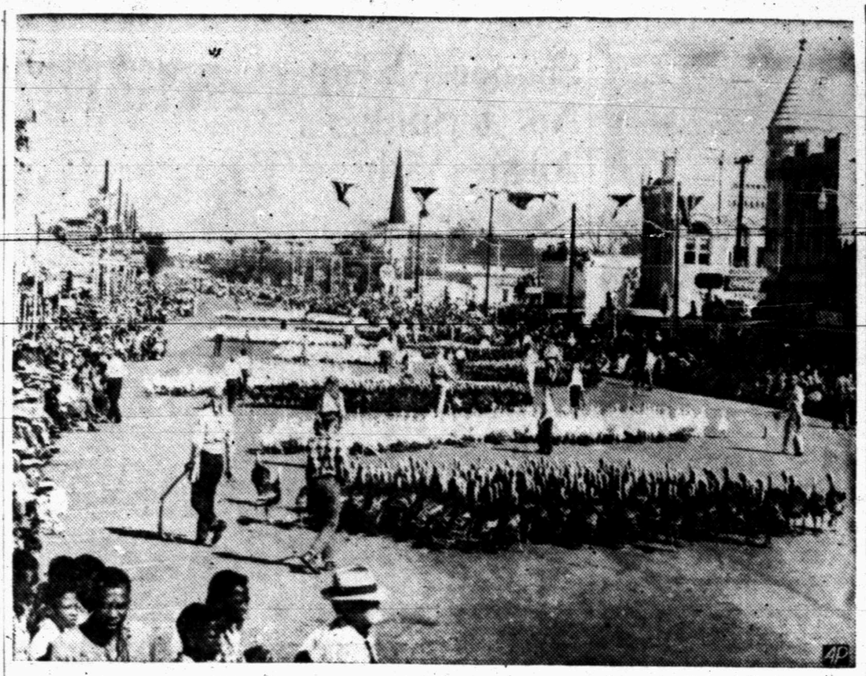

Gen. Ira Eaker said at a dinner last night opening the conference that competition among the services has slowed U.S. developments of long range guided missiles.

Large Force Trying To Clear Ports

NEW YORK (AP)—A full force of longshoremen toiled to clear cargo-choked East and Gulf Coast ports today. But legal tangles blocked an immediate renewal of contract talks with shippers and stevedore firms.

A federal court order ended a nine-day strike by 60,000 members of the International Longshoremen's Assn. Saturday. The dockers had walked out in a contract dispute with the New York Shipping Assn., more than 200 ships were tied up in ports from Maine to Texas.

Federal mediators prodded both sides yesterday to resume negotiations at once. But the union said it can't sit down for more talks until after next Monday.

The delay is necessary, the union said, because it must make two court appearances on injunction actions this week.

In preparation for one appearance, the ILA asked yesterday for dismissal of a court order barring it from bargaining for a single master contract covering all East and Gulf Coast ports.

The union demand for a single contract was the main issue in the pre-strike talks with the shipping association. In previous years the union had individual port-by-port contracts with the employers.

The association, which represents 170 shipping and stevedoring firms, insisted it was not authorized to bargain for any port outside New York. The organization complained to the National Labor Relations Board.

The NLRB got a federal court order temporarily restraining the union from "national bargaining."

A hearing on a government bid to extend that restraining order will be held tomorrow.

Friday Federal Court Judge Frederick van Pelt Byran will consider extending last Saturday's 10-day nostrike injunction to the full 80 days allowed under the Taft-Hartley law.

Handwriting Expert Is Called In Trial

HOUSTON (AP) — A government handwriting expert was called today in the trial of George Parr and eight others charged with using the mails to defraud the Benavides Schoool District of Duval County.

The expert examined signatures on checks signed by a former Benavides School District deputy tax collector and purportedly counter-signed by Parr.

The government alleges the checks were made out to fictitious persons or were for work which was never done for the school district.

Testimony started Nov. 8. The government claims the defendants used money intended for the school for their own purposes.

Hearing For Three Suspects Delayed

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—A hearing on a writ of habeas corpus for three men free on bond has been delayed until next Monday by Judge Clarence Mills.

The three are Grady King, Jay Wilson and F. W. Wilson. Officers have identified King as the head of an Oklahoma County bootlegging syndicate which they say was involved in a "fantastic" plot to slay four competing bootleggers.

The delay in the hearing was asked by County Attorney Granville Scanland who said he needed more time to question witnesses and "check wire recordings covering the plot."

The three men were freed on bond.

SCIENTISTS DISAGREE

'Grow Young' Idea Smashed

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

NEW YORK (AP) — Harvard University scientists today blasted the idea that you would stay younger aboard a spaceship than by staying home.

Such an idea is based on a misunderstanding of Einstein's special theory of relativity, they told the American Rocket Society.

Science fiction writers, some college teachers and others have proposed that space travel could give you a drink at an Einsteinian fountain of youth.

The suggestion has been that anyone traveling away from earth at high speed relative to the earth's speed would undergo slowing of his life processes.

So astronauts might return from a long trip actually younger than they would be if they had stayed home all that time. A man could return younger than his identical twin who had stayed home.

But this is a fallacy, Wiliam R. Brewster Jr., Harriet B. Brewster, Majic S. Potsaid and James P. Isaacs said in a formal report at the opening of the Rocket Society's 11th annual meeting.

Uniform motion relative to the earth would have no effect whatso ever on the rate of life processes, they declared.

An example cited for thinking space travel could slow down ageing is this:

If a clock is moving at a certain speed relative to a clock at rest, it loses time, slows down. A human is a kind of clock. If one twin is at rest and the other is moving at high speed relative to him, the traveling twin would experience fewer heartbeats. He could return younger than the twin at rest.

The Harvard twin might see his brother whiz by in a space ship and observe that his brother's clock is running slow and that his heartbeats also are slow.

But this velocity is relative, not absolute, "and Einstein says the two frames of reference may be interchanged, and the calculation that was true for one system of reference will hold true for the other."

So the brother in the space ship, since he is moving uniformly and therefore cannot detect his own motion, may assume his ship to be at rest. He sees the earth whiz by and observes that the earth-bound brother's clock and heartbeat are slow.

When the twins get together again, they can have a nice discussion over who is older, Brewster said.

Supersonic Jet Trainer Is Planned

WACO (AP)—The Air Force expects to get its first supersonic jet trainer—the Northrop TZ—in June of 195.

The light trainer wil use tiny jet engines developed from power plants used for guided missiles, but will have exhaust afterburners for added thrust on takeoff. The combination will be mighty enough to take the plane upward at a climbing rate of more than 30,000 feet a minute.

These disclosures about the newest development in Air Force training craft were made at the Flying Training Air Force to aviation writers visiting its headquarters Monday.

Col. Edward Rector, FTAF deputy director of operations, told the group the supersonic trainer will be a "little gem." It will have two jet engines of "terrific thrust" and will use either the General Electric J85 or the Fairchild J83 engine, he said.

He added that the General Electric engine is on its 50-hour test program, while Fairchild plans to have its J83 running early next year.

Water Question Will Be Studied

AUSTIN (AP)—Water Board Chairman R. M. Dixon said today he will meet with Dallas officials next week to settle legal questions on selling Elm Fork water.

The board postponed action yesterday on a request from the Dallas Power and Light Co., which wants to buy a maximum of 9,550 acre feet of water for industrial use from Dallas. The water would come from Elm Fork of the Trinity River.

Dixon said the questions involved are:

The city's permits for the water do not include the right to sell it for industrial use. Dallas appropriated the water for city purposes.

Whether the city is entitled to all the water developed from its watersheds, and does the city own water which would flow over spillways during a flood season.

He said the questions do not involve the city's right to contract, nor the Dallas power company. Dixon said a protest filed by Denton did not enter into the conflict.

Mayor Jack Bryson of Denton wired the board protesting that granting the power company's request would endanger Denton's permits. He said the action may give the power company's permit a priority over Denton's right to the water.

Bryson said he believed Dallas permits do not allow the type of sale planned.

"We do not believe the water held under Dallas permits has been previously authorized for diversion as requested" by the power company, the mayor said.

Board attorney Joe Carter said Dallas may have to amend one of its water permits before it can sell water to the Dallas power company.

Dixon said the power company could "go ahead with its present plans" to build a reservoir and pumping station.

L. J. Blaize, vice president for DP&L, said the company would build a reservoir on the south fork of the Grapevine Creek and pipe the water from Elm Fork. The reservoir would serve primarily as a circulation system for cooling the new plant's turbines, he said.

Blaize said the contract stated the city could not sell the water until it had a 2-year supply. Dallas now is in one of its worst water shortages and is buying water from the Red River.

The engineer explained the power company would pay Dallas $60,000 a year for storing the water when it becomes available and 2 cents for each 1,000 gallons it pumps to the reservoir. After the plan is in operation, the company would pay 4½ cents for 1,000 gallons but not the annual storage fee.

Couple Wed, Groom Goes Back To Jail

CLEBURNE (AP)—A young couple got married yesterday and minutes later the groom returned to his cell in the city jail.

The groom was Robert White, 30. The bride was Mary Price, 26, of Cleburne. They were married in the office of Police Chief Carroll Cooke.

White will take a trip to Phoenix, Ariz., alone. He will stand trial there for theft.

Tot Is Strangled On Walnut Kernel

EDWARDSVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Deputy coroner B. H. Weber said the death of 2-year-old Theresa Ann McConnell was due to strangulation after a walnut kernel lodged in her throat.

Efforts failed to dislodge the kernel when the child began choking at her home Sunday.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest T. McConnell Jr. of Edwardsville.

FOUND DEAD AT HOME—Bandleader Tommy Dorsey, shown here in 1950 with his wife, Janie, and 5-week-old daughter, Susan, was found dead in bed in his Greenwich, Conn., home. Mrs. Dorsey, who sued for divorce Oct. 24 charging cruelty, was reported to have been in the home at the time of death. Another child, Steve, 4, survives.

Bandleader Chokes To Death

GREENWICH, Conn. (AP) —Band leader Tommy Dorsey choked to death in his sleep, a medical examiner says.

Dr. C. Stanley Knapp said the 51-year-old bespectacled "sentimental gentleman of swing" vomited in his sleep and choked to death on food particles. Dr. Knapp fixed the time of Dorsey's death at about 2 a.m. yesterday.

Dorsey's third wife, Janie, who was suing him for divorce, was in the house when he died, as were their two children, but it was 12 hours before the death was discovered.

His booking agent, Vincent Carbone, got no answer to a knock on the bedroom door at Dorsey's sprawling, $130,000 home, and went in through a window. Both Dorsey and his wife slept behind locked doors, on advice of lawyers, so they would not jeopardize the divorce proceedings.

Carbone found the body of the famed trombonist sprawled over the bed. The rest of the family had thought he was sleeping late, as he often did.

Dorsey's saxophonist brother Jimmy, two years younger, was in New York at the time. So was their mother.

What made Dorsey ill was not known. He ate a heavy Italian meal with his wife and mother-in-law, Mrs. Ruth New of Atlanta, in his home the night before. Tino Barzie, his personal manager, said Dorsey was told recently at Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore that he was developing an ulcer.

A note Dorsey left added to the mystery when police refused to comment on the case. Finally the text of the note was disclosed by Barzie.

In the note Barzie said Dorsey had a habit of leaving notes, often by the dozen, Dorsey thanked his wife for the dinner and added: "I am leaving early in the morning. Kiss Susie for me before she leaves for school." Susie was his six-year-old daughter.

Barzie said he planned to meet Dorsey in New York today.

Besides Susie, Dorsey leaves a four-year-old son, Steve, by his present wife, and two grown children by his first wife, the former Mildred Kraft. Their children are Mrs. Lester Hooker of Richmond, Va., and Thomas F. Dorsey 3rd., in the Navy stationed at Hawaii.

His second marriage was to actress Pat Dane. His third wife, Janie, sued for divorce last month, charging intolerable cruelty.

Dorsey was an Irish Catholic, but as a twice divorced person he cannot be buried in the church. Services will be held Thursday in the Walter Cook E. 72nd St. Funeral Home, New York City. Tommy will be buried beside his father in the hills of Shenandoah, Pa.

Some people will remember Dorsey for playing with his brother Jimmy in Paul Whiteman's band, later with Vincent Lopez, and in recent years again in a joint orchestra with Jimmy.

Some will remember the unknowns he made stars — Like Frank Sinatra, Jo Stafford and Connie Haines.

And some will remember how that sweet trombone used to sound wrapped around Tommy Dorsey's theme song, "I'm Getting Sentimental Over You."

Farm Production Outlook Is Good

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Agriculture Department economist said today the volume of farm output needed in 1975 can be produced without substantial new acreage despite the population increase.

Carl Heisig, chief of the production economics research branch, told the Agricultural Outlook Conference that the output of food, feed and fiber needed 20 years from now may be about a third larger than today.

He said a shift in the use of today's farmland, plus technological advances to increase yields, should do the job without bringing large new areas under the plow.

He gave this forecast of possible changes in land use by 1975:

About four million fewer acres of harvested corn will be needed than in 1956.

Several million fewer acres of other feed grains will be needed. About three million fewer acres of soybeans will be required.

Wheat and cotton will require about the same acreage as is being used now.

An increase of about 13 million acres for hay will be needed.

American farms during recent years have been producing far more corn, wheat, cotton, soybeans and such than is consumed. large stocks of surplus stores This has resulted in piling up of which the government has acquired in its price support programs.

The main increase needed, Heisig said, will be in livestock production. He said the projected needs for all livestock production in 1975 may be about a third above the expected production this year.

Heisig said production needs for crops and livestock would require large additional acreage of cropland if this were the only way to meet them. But most needs, he said, will be met by further adoption of new technologies.

He said farm output in 1956 is running more than a third greater than that in 1940, produced on about the same cropland area and with fewer farm workers and on fewer, but larger, farms.

Lady Rous Will Leave State Today

MISSION, Tex. (AP)—Lady Mayre Rous, tired but happy daughter of a British earl, will leave the Lower Rio Grande Valley today after three days of luncheons, interviews and tours.

She is heading to New York where she said, "I'm supposed to meet someone." She added, "It won't kill me or him if I don't make it on time."

Lady Rous arrived in the Valley Saturday after it was reported she was broke and stranded in Houston. She said she had been visiting friends in different parts of the country and working in each city she visited to earn money for food and transportation. But she denied that she arrived in the Valley without enough money to live.

Lady Rous has been the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Hall of Mission. Hall said her charm and smile have made friends for her throughout the area.

He said she had been offered several good jobs but refused them because she wanted to go to New York.

While in the Valley she was honored at luncheons and dinners, interviewed on television and radio and followed by newsmen. She was given special tours of Padre Island, Mexico and other spots.

Slavs Give Out Warning

BELGRADE, Nov. 26 (AP) — The Yugoslav Communist party warned Russia today it has only two alternatives in its relations with Eastern Europe — "to return to Stalinism or to secure democratic relations based on equality among Socialistic (Communist) countries."

This was the answer of Borba, organ of the Yugoslav party, to the recent attack by Pravda, the Soviet Communist party organ, on President Tito's criticism of the Soviet military action in Hungary.

Borba's reply was couched in generally conciliatory tones, making no mention of the reported Russian seizure of former Hungarian Premier Imre Nagy and some other current issues between Moscow and Belgrade.

The Yugoslav party organ said Russia was basing its relations with Yugoslav on equality but it asserted Stalinist conceptions in the Kremlin were hampering Soviet relations with other East European Communist countries.

UN Police Force Has Variety Of Food Preferences

ABU SUWEIR, Egypt, Nov. 27 (AP)—Morale and unity in the U.N. police force in Egypt are high, but internationalism does not extend to food. The troops' menus range from smorgasbord to curry.

Seven countries now have soldiers in the police force, and others will be added. On hand are Indians, Yugoslavs, Colombians, Danes, Swedes, Norwegians and Canadians.

Most of the troops brought in enough rations from their own armies to last a week or two. The Scandinavians go for their famed smorgasbord, the Indians for their strongly flavored curry dishes.

The U.N. Command is just beginning to face up to an over-all plan for feeding its men. Not only food but the meal hours and systems of rationing vary with the different nationalities.

There is another problem in morale—entertainment and recreation.

The command hopes the troops will develop some entertainment programs of their own. These also would promote mutual understanding.

Some of the troops have played a little soccer under the hot Egyptian sun. The energetic Scandinavians pass the dull hours with calisthenics and gymnastics.

"But this can go only so far," one realistic Norwegian remarked.

The heat gets consideration all by itself. Sunburn was the first problem for the blond Scandinavians, Yugoslavs and Canadians. Many of them left snowstorms in their own countries when they flew to sunbaked Abu Suweir.

While the men are being acclimated, they are quartered in one-story barracks. After a few days, they are moved to a big tent camp inside a compound surrounded by barbed wire.

The troops have heard of Egypt's pyramids and sphinxes and the fabulous palaces of ex-King Farouk. But so far most have seen only the barracks and tents.

They are confined to the camp. The only Egyptians with whom they have contact are about 200 military police and guards stationed in Abu Suweir. Despite a report by U.N. observers that these Egyptians were showing favoritism to the Yugoslavs, there is no complaint here that the Egyptians are playing favorites.

The only members of the U.N. force who have left Abu Suweir, about 12 miles southwest of Ismailia, are 190 Norwegians. They were sent north into battered Port Said to ease tension there between the British-French task force and the Egyptian population.

Abu Suweir itself is on an isolated artificial oasis watered by the sweetwater canal connecting the Nile River with Ismailia. A road along a narrow ribbon of green vegetation at the edge of the canal also connects Abu Suweir with Cairo, 70 miles away.

Boys, Baby Sitter Die

MOUNDSVILLE, W.Va. Two young brothers and a baby sitter died last night in a home at McKeefrey, four miles south of here, when an old fashioned seven-burner gas stove apparently consumed all the oxygen in the room.

Marshall County Sheriff Lawrence J. Burley said death was apparently due to asphyxiation, but Coroner Ernest D. Conner has not yet given an official verdict.

The youngsters, Dennis Lee Conner, 6, and Timothy Lin Conner, 10, were found near the door of the room. The baby sitter, Howard Phillips, about 52, of Phillippi, was found sitting in a chair in front of the stove. Burley said there was no ventilation in the room.

Mrs. Mildred Conner, mother of the boys, was entertaining a church group in her home at the time. Phillips was watching the boys in a foundation-type house which Mrs. Conner had had built nearby.

DeFore Does His Shopping Too Early

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — If George DeFore's relatives don't get Christmas presents from him this year, they probably won't bear a grudge, police said today.

DeFore told officers theives broke into his home last week and stole the yule presents he had purchased. He bought some more.

Saturday they did it again, taking six shirts valued at $16, two $1 bracelets, other clothing and $6 in cash.

DeFore said he isn't going to buy any more presents.

Fire In O. Henry Home

AUSTIN (AP)—Fire flared briefly last night in the O. Henry house and Marshal W. L. Heaton said "it looks like arson."

The blaze was confined to loose wallpaper and did little damage.

A suit was filed yesterday by Austin attorney Wright Stubbs for an injunction to prevent placing the building on a controversial memorial site.

Policeman Ralph Miller said an unidentified witness told of seeing a man with a candle and another with a flashlight enter the house before the blaze.

Local historians say the house is one of several where William Porter, who adopted the literary name of O. Henry, lived while an Austin resident from 1884 to 1889.

A controversy has arisen over moving the house to a park area.

Stubbs' petition described the frame house as an "attractive nuisance" and said children might be injured playing in the "dilapidated structure."

Writer Has Another Hit From His Wife

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A big year for writer Robert E. Lee has reached a climax.

Lee, who with Jerome Lawrence dramatized "Inherit the Wind," longest running play on Broadway, and "Auntie Mame," already a hit with Rosland Russell starred, became a father yesterday. His wife, Janet Waldo, who plays Corliss Archer on television, gave birth to a daughter, Lucy.

The couple has another child, Jonathan, 4.

Youths Test Water Pistols On Blaze

GARDEN GROVE, Calif. (AP) — Two young boys decided to see how their new water pistols would do as fire extinguishers.

The lads, 7 and 8, set a vacant house on fire, authorities said, and were squirting away manfully but unavailingly when firemen arrived with more powerful equipment.

Firemen estimated damage at $500. The boys were turned over to their parents.

Atomic Weapons Use Favored By General

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Lauris Norstad says the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) forces he heads could not defend western Europe without using atomic weapons.

"Our plans are based on the full and prompt use of atomic weapons in the event of a general war," Norstad said in a copyrighted interview published today by the magazine U.S. News and World Report.

"From a military standpoint, the use of these weapons is considered essential in the event of a major attack or a general war. I am convinced that they should and would be used should it become necessary to defend Western Europe and that they would be used to the extent necessary to accomplish that vital purpose."

Corals, which become stones, were animals — like sea anemones. Their stony skeletons build reefs and islands.

Easy Carpet Cleaning Discovery Hailed

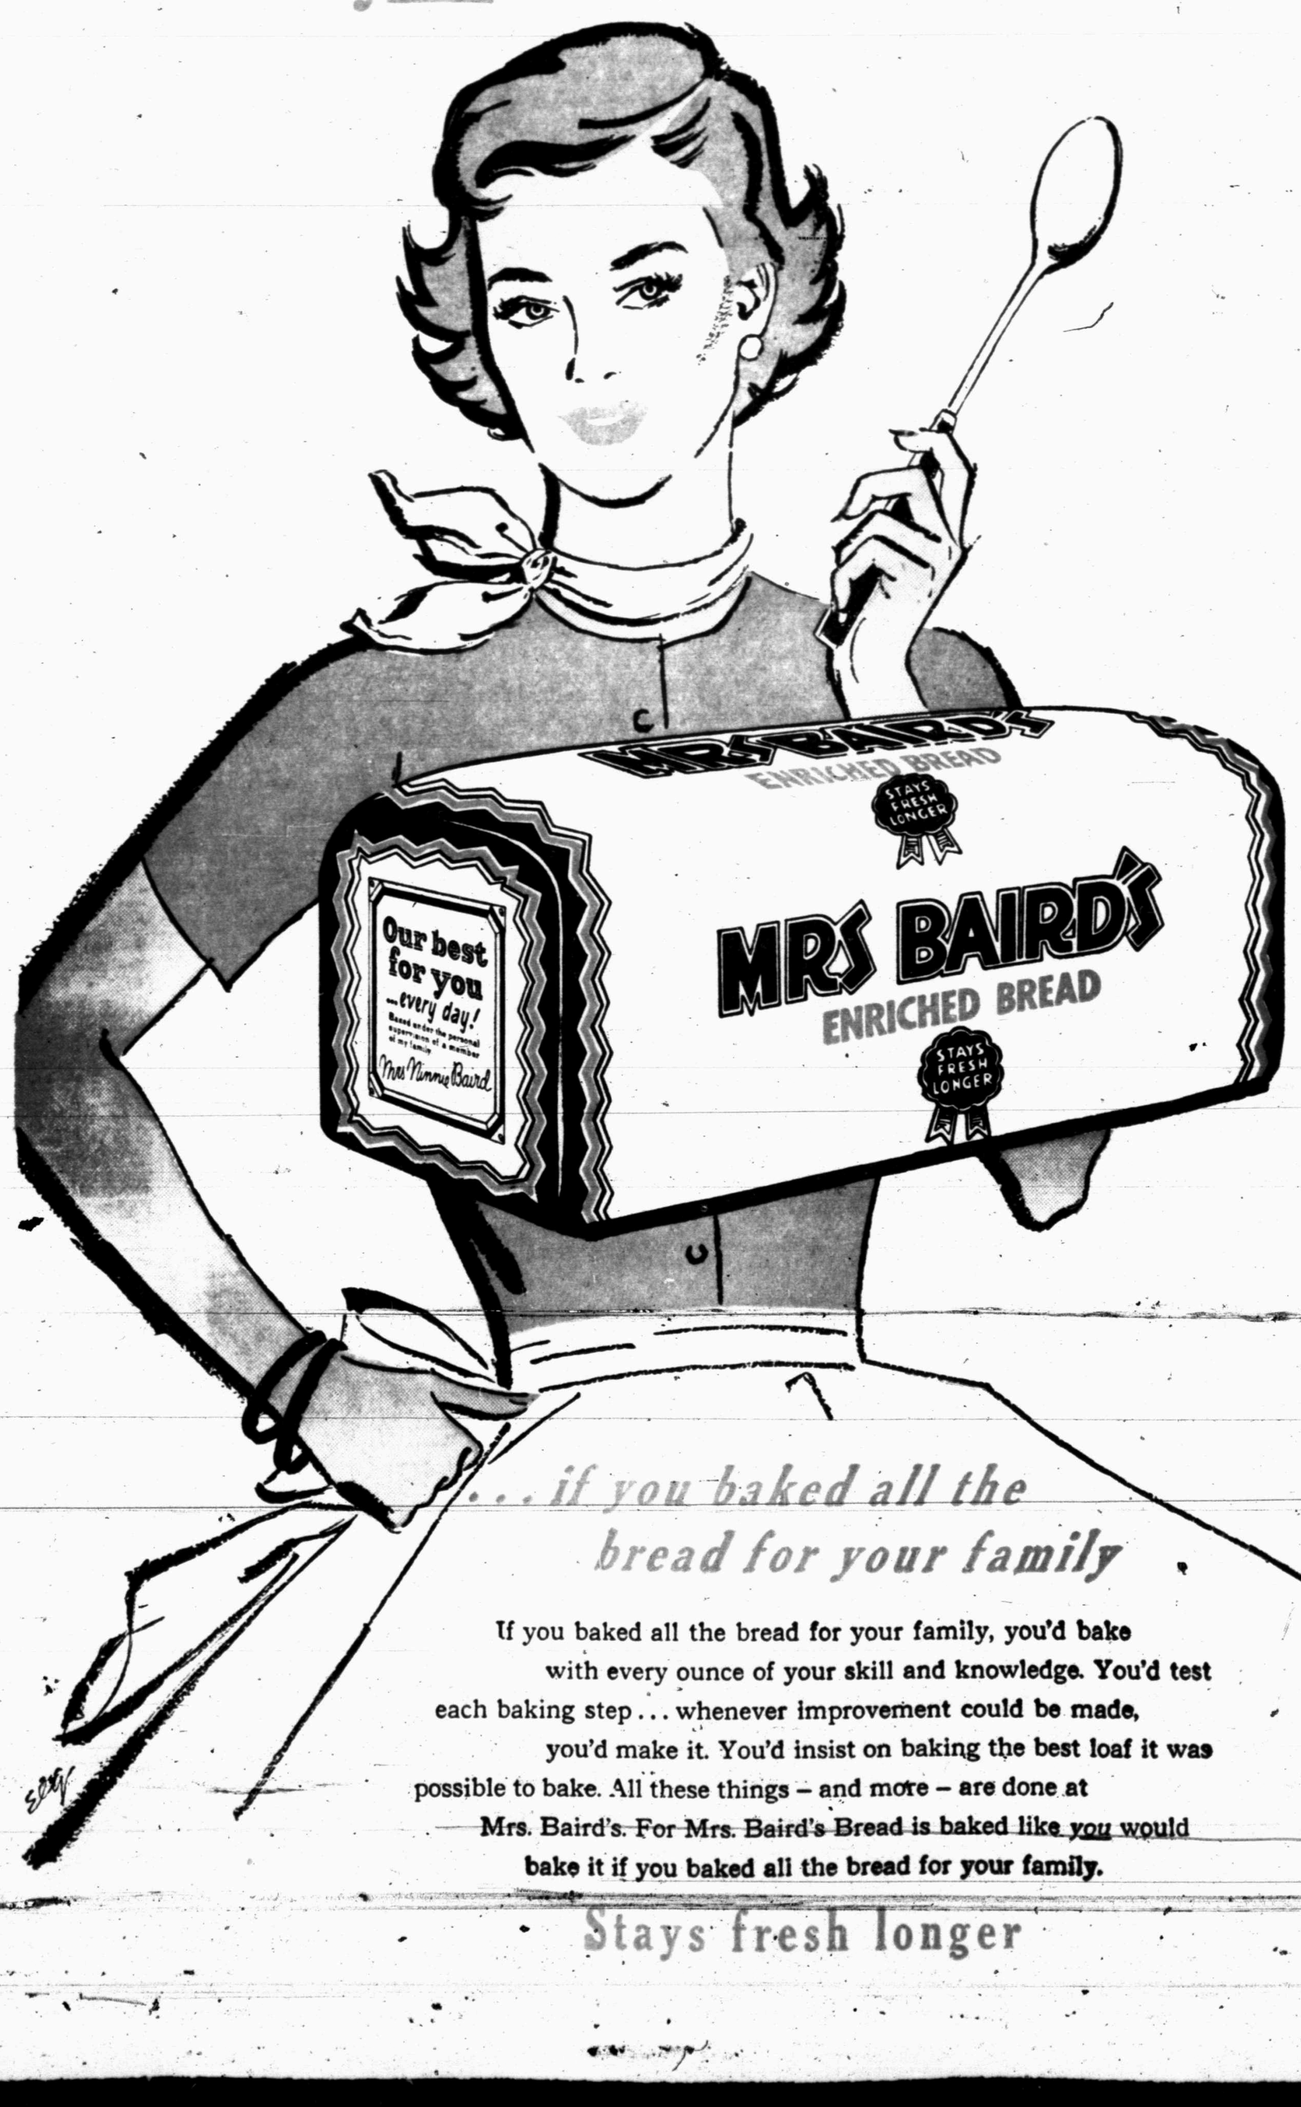

What is said to be the easiest and most "cleaningest" home rug cleaner, known as Blue Lustre, is now available after years of research.

Blue Lustre leaves no foreign residue to cause rapid resoiling. The pile is left open and fluffy as the colors spring out like magic. So easy to apply with a long handle brush (like playing shuffle board) and is safe for all types of carpets.

Use Blue Lustre to clean the entire carpet or remove spots and traffic lanes. It's economical to use as ½ gallon of concentrate cleans three 9 x 12 rugs.

Like you would bake it...

...if you baked all the bread for your family

If you baked all the bread for your family, you'd bake with every ounce of your skill and knowledge. You'd test each baking step... whenever improvement could be made, you'd make it. You'd insist on baking the best loaf it was possible to bake. All these things – and more – are done at Mrs. Baird's. For Mrs. Baird's Bread is baked like you would bake it if you baked all the bread for your family.
