KNAPP DEFENDS TECH IN HEARING ABOUT SCHOOL CHANGES

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 14.—Prohibitionists and anti-prohibitionists will meet tonight before a legislative committee to argue the best method to follow in setting up machinery whereby Texas voters will be permitted to pass on the question of ratification of repeal of the Eighteenth amendment.

Several bills have been offered on the subject on both the house and senate.

Suffer First Reverse

Sponsors of bills involving state oil lands in West Texas suffered their first reverse yesterday. The house debated the first of the bills so long that a vote on engrossment was prevented and then adjourned, forcing the bill out of its place in the order of business.

The bill would give land owners owing bonus and rentals to the state 20 years in which to make the payments. An amendment was added to the bill by representative Sarah Hughes of Dallas which provided that the bill was to apply to owners of surface titles under the state and not to oil companies that held oil and gas development leases.

It was possible the bill would come up later in the week.

Hearings were started last night before a joint meeting of the house and senate education committees on a bill to reorganize the state's system of higher education. They will continue through tonight and tomorrow night.

Would Abolish Boards

Under the bill, the boards of regents of the several institutions would be abolished and all institutions of higher education placed under a "state board of regents."

The University of Texas would be maintained as a first class univer-

QUAKE AREA IS REBUILDING

RESTRICTIONS TO BE REMOVED BY BANKS TO AID VICTIMS

(By The Associated Press)

LONG BEACH, Calif., March 14.—New born business life stirred in this quake-ridden city today with the echo of Friday's devastating earth shocks still in the ears of the populace.

All banks which could complete temporary repairs meeting with the approval of building inspectors planned to open at 10 a. m., 88 hours after the first quake and 11 days after Governor James Rolph, Jr., declared a state bank holiday.

To Remove Restrictions

A few opened yesterday and allowed withdrawals of $15 a person, but all restrictions were to be removed today in an effort to aid the partially paralyzed community.

Bread lines shortened as Monday's bank openings enabled many persons who had funds tied up in the institutions to obtain money to buy food.

The bread lines contain many of the well-to-do residents of the city who can find no means to do their own cooking. The gas supply is off indefinitely and there is no means of cooking other than by electricity and over open fires in yards.

Fear Another Shock

There were two severe tremors yesterday, one at 5:16 a. m., and the other near noon. Many of the more timid residents continued to camp in tents in their yards, fearful of another devastating shock.

A mild tremor, the thirty-ninth shock of the series, was felt at 4:19 a. m., today.

The rehabilitation committee took definite steps to restore business in the belief an immediate resumption will relieve much of the hysteria by giving persons something to do.

The new specialist spent two years as home demonstration agent in Falls county. She was accompanied by Miss Isla Mae Chitwood, home demonstration agent, to the farm where she met with Superintendent Don L. Jones.

SECRETARY OF TREASURY IS OPTIMISTIC

DEPOSITS EXCEEDING WITHDRAWALS AFTER BANKS OPENED

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 14—Secretary Woodin said today bank deposits were exceeding withdrawals generally in the cities where banks were being reopened and that "the era of fear" was completely passed.

He made his statement after reports had come to the Federal Reserve board of progress toward opening hundreds of banks in the country today.

Bill Is Approved

At about the same time, the senate banking committee was approving the Robinson bill to allow state banks to borrow from the Federal Reserve, but with the understanding that the measure was not to be pressed if it were found that present laws met the needs.

Referring in his talk with newspapermen to the fact that the banks had started reopening on March 13, Woodin said:

"The people have been cooperating with us magnificently. I am beginning to believe a superstitution I have long maintained—that is that 13 is my lucky number."

Confidence Shown

"In a little while the stress of the present will have passed. People are using the reopened banks as banks were intended to be used—as a convenience in paying their bills and safeguarding their funds. In other words the country understands what the administration is doing and is showing its confidence—that means everything."

The secretary apologized for being unable to answer some ques-

DEMOCRATS VOTE TO SUPPORT PLAN

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP)—Senate Democrats in caucus voted today to support President Roosevelt's economy program, but left the way open to amend it.

The attempt to bind the 58 Democrats to the bill as drawn failed when many members asserted they wished to be free to vote for changes.

No record vote was had in the caucus, the first held by the Democrats since they adopted the drastic rule under which a majority of the caucus binds the entire Democratic membership to support an executive proposition.

Party leaders expressed confidence the legislation would pass but with the possibility of some amendments being adopted.

The sixteen-year-old girl was burned while helping Yarbrough clean an automobile. Her clothes caught fire from a blow torch after gasoline had been spilled on them.

The state claimed Yarbrough plotted the girl's death to collect $12,000 insurance carried on her life, payable in event of her accidental death. The defense claimed the burns were accidental.

U. S. DECLINES TO BE BOUND

AMERICAN TO ATTEND LEAGUE MEET BUT WILL NOT VOTE

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 14.—A momentous decision of the new Roosevelt administration finds the United States refusing to be bound by any action that is taken but agreeing to join League of Nations members in a discussion of what the world should do about Japanese military inroads in northern China.

The state department disclosed today that Hugh R. Wilson, minister to Switzerland, had been named to sit at the council table with the league's special advisory committee on the undeclared war in the far east and to participate in its acts, with two important reservations:

U. S. Not To Vote

The United States, a non-member of the League, will not vote. It will not agree in advance to bow to the committee's decision which might call for an economic boycott or other coercive measures.

"Presence of the United States in this manner in the meetings of the committee will give an informative contact," said the department in making public its acceptance of the League's invitation to "cooperate."

"It does not in any way impair the right of independence of judgment and freedom of action of the United States. The representative of the United States cannot take any action binding this country.

Calls For Promptness

"We believe that the problem calls for promptness and accuracy in exchange of information and views; and that the procedure thus suggested will contribute toward the service of the United States and of all other countries concerned."

Negro Teacher On Trial For Murder

AUSTIN, March 14 (AP)—Testimony was started in Travis county district court today in the trial of Charles E. Johnson, 61-year-old negro school teacher, charged with murder of Albert A. Allison, jr. of Corsicana, shot to death last July.

Allison, 19, was shot to death while riding in an automobile with several companions. The negro and the boys had a controversy when the automobile occupied by the boys and one driven by Johnson came near colliding.

SPEAKER SAYS HOUSE WILL ACT TODAY

SENATE LEADERS ARE PLANNING TO RUSH LEGISLATION

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 14—Speaker Rainey told newspaper men today the beer bill would be passed by the house before adjournment tonight.

Senate leaders likewise planned to expedite the legislation requested yesterday by President Roosevelt, the capitol expectation appearing to be that the bill would be ready for his signature at least before the week is out.

"Got The Votes"

"We've got the votes," Rainey said, explaining that he meant the Democratic leadership could muster a two-thirds house majority if necessary to pass the bill under a suspension of the rules.

House leaders sought an agreement for three hours debate, with a final vote hoped for around 4 o'clock.

Asked whether the bill before the ways and means committee met the approval of President Roosevelt, Rainey replied:

"It meets with White House approval."

Meanwhile, Chairman Ashurst of the senate judiciary committee said he was ready to listen to arguments for the constitutionality of 3.2 per cent beer.

"I have no doubt whatever that 3.2 per cent beer is permissable under the constitution," Ashurst told reporters.

Senator Ashurst had just conferred with President Roosevelt at the White House, but declined to comment on his conference.

While Ashurst was talking downtown, the house ways and means committee approved the Cullen bill for a 3.2 per cent brew.

That was the alcoholic content of the bill passed by the house but lost in the senate jam last session.

No record vote was taken by the committee today.

It was approved virtually as

Ellis Structure Shell Crumbles

CITY COMMISSION TAKES IMMEDIATE STEPS TO ELIMINATE HAZARD AFTER CRASHING BRICKS LEAVE NICHES ATOP TWO 4-STORY WALLS

Crashing brick and mortar having left deep niches atop two of the four walls of the vibrating shell of the Temple Ellis building, gutted by fire in August, 1930, City commission this morning announced it would meet at 1:30 p. m. to take immediate steps to eliminate the hazard.

A contract to wreck the shell to a beam at the top of the second story was to be let this afternoon by the commission. After sizeable chunks had fallen inward this morning from tops of the north and west walls, Mayor J. J. Clements and commissioners conferred wth E. L. Klett, City attorney. They announced the owner of the structure, Lubbock Mercantile company, had authorized the commission to order tearing down of the two upper stories of the four-story ruins at Broadway and Texas avenue.

Members of the company, a closed corporation, are Mr. and Mrs. Temple Ellis, and their two daughters, Mrs. Guy L. McAfee of Lubbock, and Mrs. J. W. Gillon of Ralls.

A concrete, reinforced beam between the bottom of the third and the top of the second-story windows insured safety against collapse of the first two stories, Mr. McAfee said.

The first block of brick and concrete to go down fell before 9 a. m. By that hour, police were posted to keep pedestrians and motorists from going alongside the shell. Soon afterward, ropes were strung.

VOTE FOR TAX INSTALMENTS

HOUSE APPROVES BILL FOR EASY PLAN ON DELINQUENT TAXES

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 14.—The Texas house of representatives today repassed by enough votes to place it into effect immediately a bill to provide for the payment of delinquent taxes in ten semi-annual instalments starting July 15.

The bill would remit the penalties and interest that had accrued on delinquent taxes up to July 15.

The bill would remit the penalties and interest that had accrued on delinquent taxes up to July 1, 1933, and would permit their payment on the instalment plan at six per cent interest. The vote was 113 to 12. The bill was passed last week but received 97 votes, three short of the number necessary to make it operative at once if approved by a two thirds vote in the senate and signed by the governor.

Senate Bill Differs

A bill on the same subject had been passed by the senate, but differed from the house proposal. The senate bill would remit interests and penalties on all taxes delinquent prior to February 1, 1931, provided they were paid before September 1. Penalties would be remitted on taxes that became due after February 1, 1931, provided they were paid before December 31, 1933.

SMILE BACK ON LIPS OF UNCLE SAM AS BANKS REOPEN

BY DALE HARRISON

NEW YORK, Mar. 14. (AP)—Call him Uncle Samson now!

A fortnight since, he was a pale and weary Uncle Sam, lunging about in economic delirium, staggering from over-draughts at the flagon of fear and sick from the grog of dissipated confidence.

Today the laugh was back on his lips, his eyes flashed with new hope, the financial snarls were being combed from his sparse chin whiskers, and he faced his destiny with courage in his heart and a song in his soul.

Hair Sprouts Anew

The hair of this Samson, clipped short by Delilah of little faith, already had sprouted anew, and the blood of trade, slowed to faint pulse by bank holidays, pounded again through his veins, positive sign of certain convalescence.

Member banks of the Federal Reserve system located in the twelve cities where the Federal Reserve has district banks, returned gratifying reports for yesterday, the first day of their opening following the national bank holiday. In New York these banks reported more money received in deposits than paid out.

The American dollar displayed a strength on foreign bourses that surprised speculators, the price in some instances rising above that which prevailed before the bank holiday.

Business Improves

Many cities reported a lively business upturn, it being noticed especially in department stores and in an increase in advertising in newspapers by retailers.

Hundreds of banks in more than 250 cities of the land were authorized to open today, in line with the plan of President Roosevelt which called for the progressive opening of "sound banks". Banks permitted to open today were those

AUTHORITY TO OPEN BEING AWAITED

ORDER EXPECTED THIS AFTERNOON FROM THE FEDERAL RESERVE

Although no official word had been received at noon today from the Federal Reserve bank at Dallas, officials of Lubbock's three national banks were making preparations to open their institutions early Wednesday.

Instructions were expected this afternoon or tonight regarding the openings here.

Currency Received

That the banks would open tomorrow appeared a settled fact today after it was revealed each institution had received shipments of currency from the Federal Reserve bank at Dallas. Requests for the additional currency were made after the banks had entered their applications for licenses to reopen. Bankers were of the opinion that they would not have received the currency had they been prohibited from opening tomorrow.

Gov. B. A. McKinney of the eleventh Federal Reserve district had intended to announce a list this morning of 470 banks in the district which would be permitted to open Wednesday but a dispatch from Dallas stated he would delay the announcement "until the last minute tonight".

May Increase List

"His latest decision countermands his earlier expressed intention of listing such banks and was made in the belief that more than those whose names he now has will be given carte blanche to go ahead tomorrow," the dispatch said.

Each bank will be notified individually this afternoon or tonight regarding its opening, the statement said.

Everything was in readiness in each of the three banks and clerical forces were preparing to receive the large number of checks accumulated during the 14-day moratorium. Bankers plan to keep their bookkeeping staffs busy at night until all outstanding checks are cleared.

To Clear Local Checks

Officials said today all checks on local banks would be cleared first and then out-of-town checks sent through for collection. A list of banks in the country not permitted to open is expected from the Federal Reserve bank and checks drawn on them will be turned back.

No difficulty other than the rush

ARGUMENTS CLOSE IN DENISON CASE

AUSTIN, March 14 (AP)—Concluding arguments were made today in the trial of a friendly court suit to determine validity of the claim of Frank L. Denison of Temple to the chairmanship of the state highway commission.

The senate notified Governor Miriam A. Ferguson that it twice refused to confirm Denison's appointment. Governor Ferguson issued Denison a commission, however, on the contention that only a simple majority vote, and not a two-thirds vote, was necessary to confirm him. A suit was filed by the attorney general's department to test validity of this contention.

TREASURY TO HAVE IDEA ON INCOME TAX TOTAL AT MIDNIGHT WEDNESDAY

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 14—The treasury will begin to know at midnight tomorrow how much money the new income taxes are likely to bring in this year.

At that hour, first returns on 1932 income become overdue. A return that is mailed by then is on time.

Nothing has happened to change the rates established by the last congress when it passed the "revenue act of 1932." That act allows exemptions of $1,000 for single and $2,500 for married men, plus $400 for each child.

On the first $4,000 above the exemptions, the federal levy is 4 per cent; on all above that it is 8 per cent—and the additional graduated surtax begins with 1 per cent at $6,000.

The tax, the treasury has ruled, can be paid with a check on a closed bank—of which there aren't supposed to be many by tomorrow night—provided the payer has made an honest effort to find some other means of giving the government its due. And if, after a reasonable time, the treasury cannot cash the check, the tax payer must replace it with something more negotiable.

The tax can be paid in a lump sum or quarterly instalments.

MOVIE ACTIVITY IS RESUMED UNDER NEW PLAN AFTER MONDAY SHUTDOWN

(By The Associated Press)

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., March 14—A new pay adjustment agreement affecting high salaried contract employes and decision to debate a controversy with unions before an arbitration board opened the way for resumption of activities at motion picture studios today after yesterday's shutdown.

The new plan places the brunt of the salary reduction on the highly paid workers and exempts minor employes.

Employes drawing more than $100 a week will take a 50 per cent cut with a minimum of $75. Those drawing between $76 and $100 weekly will be reduced 35 per cent with a $65 minimum. A 25 per cent cut was agreed to for those between $51 and $75. There will be no reduction for workers drawing $50 and under weekly.

The reductions, brought on by the state and national bank holidays, are to prevail eight weeks.

The "high bracket" employes were given the option of accepting the cut or working four weeks without pay.

Satisfaction of the players with the arrangement was expressed at a mass meeting last night at which Wallace Beery, proposing a vote of thanks to Lawrence Grant and oth-

Savory Cheese Souffle Adds Zest To Sunday Night Supper

Sunday suppers can be the most enjoyable meals in the whole week.

They come at a time when everyone is relaxed and feels like having a sociable few hours lingering over the table.

One hot dish is all that is needed to make a Sunday supper a success. You can get your salad all ready in the refrigerator and have fruit or some simple dessert ready too. By adding one savory hot dish, you have the makings of a memorable Sunday night supper.

Cheese souffle is among the nicest things you can choose for this occasion. It is satisfying, without being too filling. It has zest to its flavor, which is pleasing.

Here is the recipe which serves five, when salad accompanies it, or four, if it is about all you have to eat:

3 tablespoonsful of quick tapioca.
1 cup scalded milk
1 cup grated plain American cheese.
3 eggs, with the yolks beaten until thick and lemon colored, the whites beaten separate, until stiff, with one teaspoonful of salt added.

First you scald your milk in the double boiler, add tapioca and cook, stirring constantly, for 15 minutes or until the tapioca is clear. Then add the grated cheese and stir until it is melted. Cool the whole mixture. Then add the egg yolks, mix well and fold in the egg whites.

Bake in a greased baking dish set in a pan of hot water, in a moderately hot oven (350 degrees F). Cook 50 minutes, or 30 minutes if you make it in individual ramekins. It is done when it shrinks a trifle and is brown.

The success of cheese souffle lies in serving it piping hot. But that means that you must time everything so it can be rushed to the table and served immediately, when done.

MORE PERSONS PAY TAXES

WEDNESDAY LAST DAY TO MAKE RETURNS ON INCOME TAX

Wednesday is the last day for making income tax returns for 1932, Sidney Mason, deputy internal revenue collector, said today. He will be in his office in the federal building until Wednesday night.

"There has been an increase this year over other years in the number of returns made here," Mr. Mason said. "However, most of these are from persons with small incomes.

"A good many persons, with small incomes, this year are making returns for the first time. I do not believe the total amount of collections will be any larger."

Many of those who have in previous years made large returns, because of business interests, are not making as large ones this year, the collector added. Four of his largest reports were from farmers with other cotton interests.

Cotton farmers were among the leading groups in the agricultural class who made returns, their 1932 crop having brought in considerable income in spite of the low price. The price average was higher than the year before and the acreage production considerably larger in this county.

AWARDS ARE WON BY TECH ANIMALS

Taking a first and two seconds in the Aberdeen Angus competition at the Fort Worth Fat Stock show this week, ten places were won by animals from the school of agriculture at Texas Tech, it was announced today. There were six placings in the Aberdeen Angus class, two in the Hereford and two in the Shorthorn.

Tech placed second and fifth in the Aberdeen Angus race for steers of all classes as well as first in the junior yearling class.

Prizes Added

"It was the strongest steer show ever held at Fort Worth, W. L. Stangel, head of the department of animal husbandry, said. "The Hereford association added ten prizes on account of the large number of entries."

Mason's Model, a Hereford calf owned by J. D. Jordan, of Art, in Mason county, won the grand and junior championships of the show. Consul, owned by Robert H. Hazlett, El Dorado, Kans., placed as senior champion.

Winnings announced were:

Hereford: fifth in class of 36 as junior calf; 16th in class of 104 for junior steer.

Shorthorn: third in class of ten senior yearlings; sixth in class of 22 junior steer calves.

Aberdeen Angus: first junior yearling; second and fourth summer yearlings and second and fifth in group of three steers.

SCHOOL CHANGES

sity, specializing in the last two years and in graduate work.

Texas A. and M. would be retained as a four year senior college and graduate school while Texas Tech College of Industrial Arts and the North Texas State Teachers college would serve as senior four year colleges.

The remainder of the state colleges, including the junior agricultural colleges and the College of Mines and Metallurgy at El Paso would be reorganized into junior colleges of the first class.

J. O. Guleke, who headed a committee of the state board of education investigating college conditions and requirements, recommended that many reforms be ordered in the system. Guleke said that seven institutions were teaching courses in engineering, although there were facilities at A. and M. to teach virtually all engineering students without additional expense.

Knapp Defends Tech

The place occupied by Texas Tech of Lubbock in the educational system was defended by Dr. Bradford Knapp, president. Knapp said officials at this school were constantly working out economies and adjusting their budget to meet needs. He said that eleven full-time professors recently were discharged and that further economies were planned and would be placed into effect in the immediate future.

Dr. Knapp challenged the accuracy of the report of the legislative committee on efficiency and economy which criticized Texas Tech. The report stated Tech had diverted its attention from the purposes for which it was established—that of a technical school—and had become one of the best teachers colleges in the state. Knapp produced data to show that a high percentage of the students were awarded degrees in technical subjects.

The report of the committee that it cost $2,645 to educate a full time student in engineering at Tech was challenged by Dr. Knapp, who said the cost was $663. The committee reported that it cost $1,500 to educate a music student whereas the cost was only $316, he said.

The teachers colleges were defended by Dr. J. A. Hill of the West Texas State Teachers college. Dr. Hill asserted the teachers colleges trained teachers better than the University of Texas and A. and M. and that their abolition would not promote either the educational standards of the state or prove economical.

JAIL BREAK IS FRUSTRATED

O. H. GHOLSON, JACK FROST CAUGHT; ONE IS WOUNDED

The condition of O. H. ("Hiki") Gholson, 23, shot in both legs when he and Jack Frost, 20, attempted to escape from city jail soon after 1 a. m. today, was not believed to be serious, Lubbock sanitarium attaches said. Gholson was wounded in both thighs.

O. E. Rush, patrolman, was alone in the police station, having relieved Sergeant M. N. Davidson during the midnight lunch hour. Gholson and Frost entered the station from the jail, approached the desk behind which Rush was sitting, and then dashed in front of the desk toward the door. They had pried open the cell door.

Gholson, who was marked "for investigation," on the police docket, ran toward the east entrance; Frost dashed toward the west entrance. Rush, still behind the desk, shot at Gholson and brought him down. Frost surrendered. He was serving a sentence for minor theft. Other prisoners did not attempt to escape.

It was anticipated work of tearing down the two upper stories of the structure would get under way as quickly as possible after letting of the contract.

LUBBOCK BANKS

of checks was anticipated by the banks for Wednesday. Every bank official expressed an opinion that no display of fear on the part of depositors is expected.

Attempts to draw out large sums of cash would be investigated, it was learned, although no official would make comment. Under the emergency banking act passed by congress last week, all such cases are to be referred to officials of the Federal Reserve bank at Dallas.

One bank official said he expected an increase in accounts. Each institution had arranged today to care for new accounts.

SEVENTY-EIGHT BANKS OPENED

DALLAS, March 14 (AP)—Seventy-eight banks in eight cities of the eleventh Federal Reserve district reopened today under federal and state licenses. The district comprises all of Texas and parts of Louisana, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona.

Federal and state authorities last night granted licenses to 75 banks to reopen on an unrestricted basis. Thirty-seven of them were members of the Federal Reserve system and 38 were under supervision of James Shaw, state banking commissioner. They were in cities with recognized clearing house associations.

New List Prepared

Those licenses were in addition to five national and six state banks which opened yesterday in Dallas, the eleventh district Federal Reserve city. Tomorrow all other member banks found to be in a sound condition will be permitted to resume normal activities and Shaw prepared an additional list of state banks granted reopening privileges.

The Federal Reserve member cities with authorized clearing houses were Austin, Beaumont, El Paso, Fort Worth, Galveston, Houston, San Antonio, Texarkana, Waco and Shreveport, La.

By cities the openings were Fort Worth four national and four state, San Antonio seven national and nine state, Galveston four national and two state, Beaumont three national and one state, Houston eight national and seven state, Shreveport three national, Waco three national and three state, El Paso two national, Austin two national and three state and Texarkana two national.

The classified totals gave 43 reserve banks and 35 state banks which were open today.

Checks Accumulate

At all those institutions, tellers were flooded with checks which had accumulated during the 12-day holiday period. Business was conducted normally otherwise and one teller at a Waco state bank jokingly said he would have to go out on the street to get patrons to enter the bank.

Lobbies everywhere were well-crowded with depositors who were anxious to rid themselves of currency and cash and withdrawals did not appear in unusually large volume. At an early hour, three men entered a Waco bank with a clothes basket full of cash. No attempts at hoarding were reported at that city in the first few hours.

Beaumont banks cashed all checks on banks known to be open. The first hour brought an unprecedented number of small depositors.

Business Resumed

The State National bank of Texarkana, Ark., and the Texarkana National bank of Texarkana, Tex., resumed normal business after operating under a 5 percent withdrawal restriction and the full holiday since March 1. No unusually large withdrawal demands were made in the first two hours.

The load of checks was relieved several days ago at Houston. Fort Worth and San Antonio when the secretary of the treasury granted intra-bank clearing privileges but a tremendous amount of work remained to be done.

As at Dallas, where the first banks in the state opened yesterday, officials at Houston were quick to acknowledge the spirit of the people.

"The spirit in which this crisis has been accepted and conquered is an inspiration to all of us," F. M. Law, president of the First National at Houston said. "All of us are ready for full resumption of business and are in a position to serve our customers on a normal basis."

Steering Committee Outlines Meat Show

The steering committee of a Quality Meat show, to be given here March 23 and 24, in the chamber of commerce this morning was informed 250 to 300 calves, and 125 to 150 pigs, would be exhibited and offered for sale. A sale will be conducted the second day of the show.

Ways of stimulating interest in the sale, and of procuring buyers for the calves and pigs, were discussed. The committee, of which George A. Simmons is chairman, decided to meet at 9 o'clock Friday morning in the chamber, and to ask others to meet there with the committee to help in solving sales problems.

Rabbit Show Slated To Open Here Today

A first annual spring rabbit show was to begin today under auspices of the South Plains Rabbit Breeders association in the George Pickle building in the 1200-block of Broadway. Noon was to be the deadline for entries.

The show will continue through Thursday. J. B. Rhodes, secretary, said entries from over the South Plains and North Texas were anticipated.

M. E. Lawrence, 2021 Ninth street, is superintendent of the show.

Revival Planned—The Pre-Millenium Baptist congregation has been formed here with 22 members and a revival is planned, beginning next week, with the Rev. Ben D. Johnson of Littlefield, preaching. A tabernacle is to be built.

tions saying too many things were in the formative stage.

Secretary Woodin said in a statement that the appointment of conservators for banks of high repute did not mean necessarily that they were in difficulties.

"Lot Of Complications"

"There are a lot of complications, some of them concerning affiliate enterprises which make it impractical for banks to open to the full extent," he said.

"It is for the purpose of insuring that the banks will be put in apple pie order, pending reorganization or other necessary processes that conservators in many cases are named."

AT LEAST 1,000 BANKS OPEN TODAY

(By The Associated Press)

At least 1,000 banking institutions throughout the United States reopened for normal business today under federal and state licenses. No less than 340 reopened yesterday. Many more will resume business tomorrow.

Today's total included Federal Reserve members; state and commercial institutions not members of the reserve; savings banks and private banks. The figure for one federal reserve district—San Francisco—was not available.

In addition to this number resuming normal operation, many other banks were operating under restrictions pending official approval by state and federal agencies.

ROOSEVELT HAPPY AT RECEPTION

WASHINGTON, March 14. (AP)—Permanent legislation to reorganize the banking structure and vigorous prosecution of law violators turned up by the senate stock market investigation were uppermost in administration minds today as banks in 250 cities reopened.

Happy at the public reception of his plan for the progressive resumption of normal banking operations, President Roosevelt saw introduced in the senate a bill to do some of the things he suggests.

To Prosecute Violators

He let it be known, too, that he had instructed the justice department to follow evidence taken by the senate committee when it resumes its investigation and to prosecute law violators.

And today, with banks in cities having recognized clearing houses authorized to resume business, Mr. Roosevelt was said to be working on a message to congress on a banking program designed to prevent situations similar to that which has kept him so busy in the 10 days since his inauguration.

Thus, the president was preparing in two directions to carry out his inaugural address statement that "there must be a strict supervision of all banking and credit and investments; there must be an end to speculation with other people's money." He believed he already had made good on the pledge in the located in cities having recognized clearing houses, an exception being the banks of the 12 Federal Reserve bank cities where openings were authorized yesterday.

In addition to banks in clearing house cities, institutions in smaller cities were in some instances permitted to open today, provided their applications for reopening had had time to receive the attention of designated officials.

Others Open Tomorrow

Additional banks will open tomorrow, and progressively throughout the week. In all cases certain treasury department restrictions prevail. The one repeatedly emphasized is that no gold or gold certificates are to be paid out.

The new currency, issued under the emergency banking legislation initiated by President Roosevelt last week, already is circulating, adding its impetus to business revival. They are in appearance almost identical with Federal Reserve banknotes which have been a main source of the nation's currency for years.

The clearing of checks—a vital banking service to the nation's business—will probably be on a countrywide basis before the end of the week. Approximately 90 per cent of American business is done by check.

Checks Being Cleared

In New York City, through which much of the country's commercial credits pass, the clearing of checks between banks in the Federal Reserve cities was resumed yesterday. Checks on banks in 250 clearing house cities were being cleared today, and tomorrow the clearing of checks will be on a nationwide basis.

The reopening date of the stock exchange and of various commodity exchanges which take their cue from it, has not been set, but it is expected to be soon.

same speech "for an adequate but sound currency," for it was new currency that enabled many of the licensed banks to reopen.

Ideas Not Known

Exactly what his banking message would recommend remained to be seen. He has, however, taken considerable advice on monetary and banking matters from Senator Glass (D., Va.) so interest centered on the bill Glass introduced.

It would, so its sponsor contends, block speculation with deposits and bolster national banks by requiring closer supervision. This bill was referred yesterday to a senate banking sub-committee, headed by Glass, which approved it last congress.

DEPOSITS INCREASE

CHICAGO, March 14 (AP)—A net increase of more than $75,000,000 in deposits in Chicago banks yesterday, the first day of business, was estimated unofficially by bank executives today.

Some placed the deposits as high as $100,000,000 while withdrawals probably did not exceed $10,000,000.

No official figures were available.

DODGERS LOSE STANDBYS AND SHOW IMPROVEMENT

SPYING ON SPORTS

BY COLLIER PARRIS

Clint Bussey has returned to the golfing wars after an absence of about two years. That's the intimation given out at the Meadowbrook where he qualified with a 68 for medal honors in the ladder tournament Sunday.

Formerly a Country club golfer when he won the club title and the West Texas Golf association tournament, Bussey has been hiding out for a couple of seasons. For a time it was feared that he had thrown up golf for croquet, one of his haunts being the croquet courts on Texas Avenue. Evidently the call of the brassie and putter was too great when the season opened, and the Meadowbrook has a fine golfer. Bussey was not in Lubbock much year before last.

Although some of the Meadowbrook hot shots have transferred their allegiance to the Country club, there remains among Meadowbrook ranks some who will make Country club and South Plains league golfers hump for honors here this season. Meadowbrook gets most of the college trade, and there are almost any number of good golfers out there. There's Billy Holmes, for instance, due to make a comeback this year after fooling around last year. He's Green Belt Golf association champion, and due to do things here this summer.

Country club will start its "hook and ladder" tournament next Sunday. Gold, silver and bronze golf balls have arrived and are on display at the caddy house. There are eighteen of them, six for each of three flights. The tournament will be perpetual through the season, low scorers winning the gold, silver and bronze trophies through match play after the 27-hole medal or qualifying play is finished. Meadowbrook has a similar idea, although the number of trophies is not so great.

We are in receipt, as sports editor and not as baseball club secretary, of the first batch of publicity mailed out regularly by the press bureau of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues, of which Lubbock will be a member in the West Texas-New Mexico league. L. H. Addington is the director of publicity. There's a story which deals particularly with Manager Del Pratt and the Lubbock club. It comes from the press bureau, Durham, N. C.:

"Lubbock in particular and the West Texas-New Mexico league in general are fortunate in having, a man of the caliber of Del Pratt in the loop. The Lubbock manager, a major star of the first rank in his day, has that happy faculty of imparting his knowledge of the game to youngsters under him, and his record as a pilot in the Texas league since 1925 will speak for itself.

"During that time he developed and sold some $300,000 worth of baseball talent to the major leagues. The list includes such stars as Willis Hudlin of the Cleveland Indians, Art Shires of the Boston Braves, Tony Piet of the Pirates and Ray Benge of the Brooklyn Dodgers. Andy Cohen and George Blackerby also got their early schooling under Pratt, who led teams at Waco and Galveston in the Lone Star circuit.

"Pratt has put in a quarter of a century in baseball, starting in the Cotton States league in 1909, after he had finished a brilliant career as baseball and football star at the University of Alabama.

"He went to the big leagues in 1911 as a member of the St. Louis Browns, and remained there until 1917. He was one of the outstanding stars of the American League, and only recently was honored by Sid Keener, veteran sports editor of the St. Louis Star, who selected Pratt as the second baseman on his all-time, all-star team of the Browns.

"That's quite a boost when it is considered the Browns boasted of such second sackers as Jimmy Williams, Frank LaPorte, Joe Gedeon and Oscar Melillo.

"From the Browns, Pratt moved to the New York Yankees, Boston Red Sox and Detroit Tigers. When he was offered the management of the Waco club in 1925, he secured his release from the Tigers in order to accept, and was an outstanding figure in the Texas League for years."

CAREY CLAIMS CLUB FOURTH STRONGER

BABE HERMAN, DAZZY VANCE ARE MISSING FROM OLD LINEUP

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

In the process of reconstruction under Maximilian Carey, the Brooklyn Dodgers disposed of one of their novel institutions, Babe Herman, and subsequently advanced a notch in the National league standing to third place. They have now discarded the most famous of all their player landmarks, Arthur (Dazzy) Vance, and already won the claim of their leader to being 25 per cent stronger for the 1933 pennant hunt.

For the first time in ten seasons the Brooklyn pitching staff is not being built around Vance, the burly redhead who ruled for years as the fireball king of the National league. Now past 40, Vance's holdout demands have been turned over to the Cardinals while Manager Carey devotes much of his attention to a trio of pitching additions, Ray Benge from the Phillies, Walter Beck, who won 27 games for Memphis last year, and Owen Carroll, one-time ace of the college hurlers at Holy Cross.

Should Be Effective

None of this trio will make the fans of Flatbush forget the great dazzler but they should combine to give give the club more effectiveness in the box than it had last season.

Benge, who won 13 and lost 12 with the fourth place Phillies, posted as good a record as Vance and has the advantage of being 12 years younger. Dazzy won 12 and lost 11 in 1932 but he was out of commission with a sore arm the latter part of the campaign, just when the Dodgers needed him most. This was one of the big reasons why the team finished nine games behind the champion Cubs.

Beck, a 200-pounder, has impressed camp followers at Miami as being ripe for a regular job. He has speed, a good curve, change of pace and consistent control. He will be 27 years old in April and is well beyond the ordinary recruit stage. He looked good in his first test against the Athletics.

Others To Start

Van Mungo, the young fastball star who won 13 games last year, Watson (Lefty) Clark, Hollis Thurston and Freddy Heimach will round out the starting staff. The dady of all the big league pitchers, 47-year-old John Picus Quinn, will again shoulder the principal relief burden.

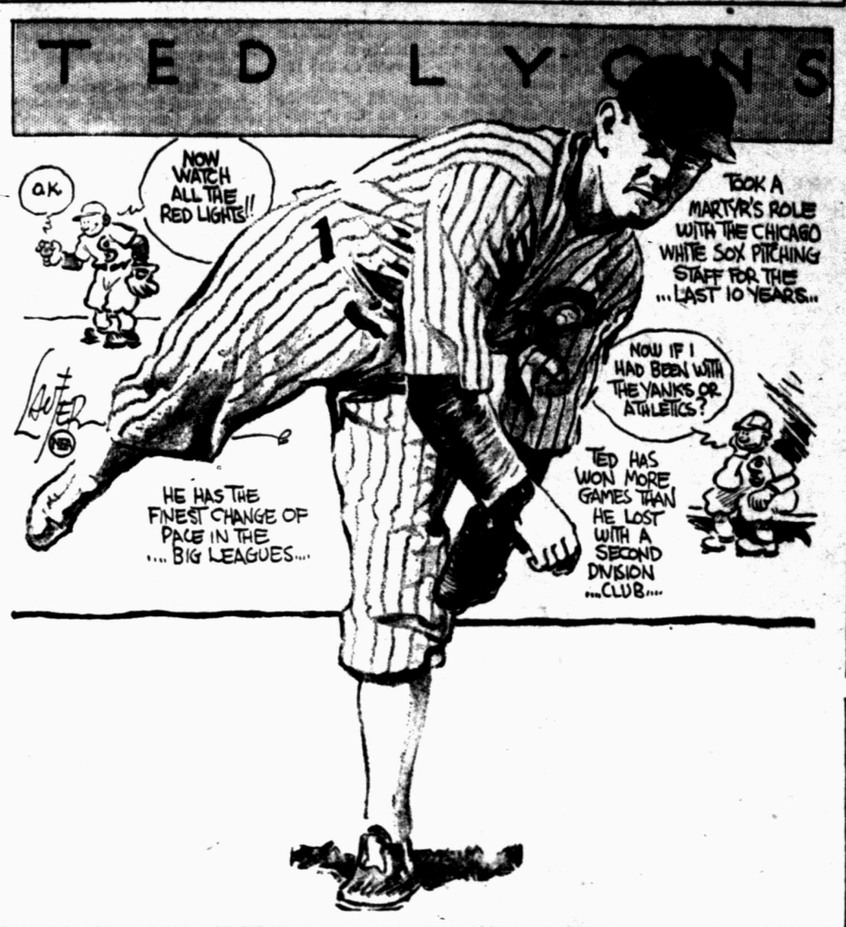

Outside the box, speed is not among the Dodger assets, but Carey has finally obtained the insurance he needed by acquiring the veteran Joe Judge from Washington to play first base, if Del Bissonette fails to recover completely from the leg injury that kept him out all last season. Bissonette's batting eye appears as keen as ever but it is doubtful if his under-pinning can stand the strain of a full season. This should give Judge a good chance to see what he can do with National league pitching after 18 years in the American league.

Of the two principal holdouts, Third Baseman Joe tripp seems more essential to the success of Dodger operations than the rotund slugger, Hack Wilson. Stripp is needed to round out an infield including Captain Glenn Wright at short and Tony Cuccinello at second base. If and when he signs, Wilson will have to tangle with Johnny Frederick for the job in right field, flanking Danny Taylor in center and Frank O'Doul, the league's champion, in left.

For reserve duty, there is "Jake" Flowers, as an understudy for either Wright or Stripp, with Clyde Sukeforth and the veteran Val Picinich assisting Tampa Al Lopez behind the bat.

"After watching the players in training I am sure I have made a 25 per cent improvement," Carey told the Associated Press. "Beck and Benge are going to help us a whole lot and Carroll may win as many games as Vance did last season. I'm entirely satisfied the way we're shaping up and particularly pleased with Bissonette's condition. I would say he is going to be able to play again, perhaps not every day, but in any event I have a great substitute in Joe Judge. I predict the Dodgers will have better pitching this year and I do not look for any decline in batting punch."

WILD WATERFOWL FIND A PROTECTING FRIEND IN PANHANDLE RANCH WOMAN

DALHART, March 14.—(AP)—Wild waterfowl have found a protecting friend in the Texas Panhandle where most persons give thought only to training their guns on the thousands of ducks and geese which literally cover this region's shallow lakes during the fall hunting season.

The friend is Mrs. R. L. Duke wife of a Dallam county rancher who has established a sort of private preserve on 300 or 400 acres of the ranch on which the Dukes live.

A small stream follows a circuitous route across one corner of the ranch, and here Mrs. Duke permits the birds to congregate under her protection.

It has been several years since hunting was permitted on the refuge, and thousands of mallards have taken refuge there. These birds usually go north for the breeding season, but they have begun to remain in the Panhandle throughout the year.

John L. McCarty, Dalhart publisher and amateur photographer who has made numerous waterfowl pictures, estimated the number on the ranch to be between 50,000 and 75,000.

"They are so numerous," McCarty said, "that they have to take turns swimming in the small stream. The ground is covered with them on both sides of the creek."

Mrs. Duke, up before daybreak each morning, gives the birds her personal protection until after dark. She seldom leaves the ranch in winter, for fear hunters will slip in during her absence.

"I love those wild birds," she said. "They are my children, and my greatest pleasure is in protecting them."

The birds have come to recognize Mrs. Duke as their friend. When alone, she can go onto the preserve and walk within a few feet of hundreds of the ducks, and none will take flight.

BABE RUTH NOT YET SIGNED

RUPPERT AND KING OF SWAT STILL $10,000 APART ON SALARY

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Mar. 14. (AP)—Babe Ruth and Col. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the New York Yankees, are still $10,000 apart on the salary question, but baseball observers believe a compromise yet will be effected.

The home run slugger wants $60,000 for the season and Ruppert wants to pay only $50,000. Those watching the situation figure they may compromise at $55,000 which would be a $20,000 reduction from the Babe's 1932 salary.

Colonel Ruppert is insistent he will not pay Ruth more than $50,000 and Ruth says he'll quit baseball before he accepts that figure. Meanwhile, conferences have been abandoned temporarily and the Babe will not take part in exhibition games until he is signed.

..."the only thing we have to fear is fear itself"

—PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, MARCH 4, 1933.

A STATEMENT FROM A CITIZEN OF THE UNITED STATES TO HIS FELLOW CITIZENS:

ON Saturday I saw Franklin Roosevelt inaugurated as 32d President of the United States.

I heard his inaugural address.

Nine hours before he spoke, the Governor of the State of New York came out of a meeting with the banking authorities and declared a bank holiday.

Why?

Solely because he knew that a public fear, by reason of its unthinking demands, was threatening to put our banks in a position where they could no longer properly serve our public. Governor Lehman wisely declared a bank holiday to give us—the public—time to realize that.

He gave us time to remember that:

1. We, the public, put our money into banks for safekeeping.

2. Banks must be reasonably paid for that service.

3. Banks must therefore put part of our money to work, to earn interest for us, and to pay the bank for protecting us.

4. The law says clearly that part of our money can be so put to work.

5. The banks, by law, put that money to work; they make legal investments to pay our interest and the bank's expenses.

6. At no time—even peak-prosperity—could the bank sell all these securities to pay each of us every dollar—without causing us and our banks great losses.

7. For all of us to ask our banks to pay each of us every dollar at one and the same time, is to force heavy loss upon ourselves as well as our banks. Governor Lehman declared the holiday to make us soberly realize all that.

• • • •

He gave us a chance too, to realize that we live in the soundest country in the world . . .

. . . that it has the safest and sanest form of government.

. . . that since the adoption of its Constitution in 1789 we and our forbears have been through five wars, ten panics — and have come out of each stronger, healthier, richer, saner.

Our country is sick.

But our country has every means of cure that it ever had: in ability, in natural resources, in energy, in inventiveness, in patriotic leaders—and in citizen-courage.

We are the envy of the world for that strength. So now—just as we would stand by a sick relative, would do nothing rash, would trust the doctors we have chosen—so let us trust the leaders we have chosen.

We elected President Roosevelt because we trust him. His pledge on Saturday:

"There must be provision for an adequate but sound currency . . ."

—moved every citizen who heard it. That man, our President, knows our ailment. He knows our distress. He knows our unemployment. He will leave no step untaken which will put men back in jobs, and food back on tables.

As a citizen, the bank holiday has given me time and cause to set down a code which I am following:

"I trust my government.

"I trust our banks.

"I do not expect the impossible.

"I shall do nothing hysterical. I shall act as nearly as I can to normal. If it is normal to carry little cash in my pocket when there is plenty to go round, I shall carry little now. There never was a time when every one on earth could possess all his cash in his pockets, his stocking, his safe-deposit box, or anywhere else.

"I know that if I try now to get all my cash, I shall certainly make matters worse.

"I will not stampede. I will not lose nerve. I will keep my head."

Meanwhile — in the event that occasion requires it—it will be found that the New York Clearing House banks have prepared themselves, with the approval of the Government, to furnish such need of currency as will enable every householder and storekeeper to carry on his normal affairs uninterruptedly.

People who have jobs will probably be paid in full in cash. At Macy's, for instance, its 8,000 people will be paid in cash Tuesday morning.

Every day, every hour, can make a turn for the better. This day can be the turning point of our country's future.

It is up to every citizen.

JESSIE ISIDOR STRAUS,

President R. H. Macy, & Co., Inc., New York.

Thought For Today

I know that, whatsoever God doeth, it shall be forever: nothing can be put to it, nor anything taken from it: and God doeth it, that men should fear before him.—Ecclesiastes 3:14.

* * *

To live beneath sorrow, one must yield to it.—Mme. de Stael.

Recovering Vision

Even if President Roosevelt's inaugural address did nothing else, it did us all a vast service by focusing our eyes again on that very old and very true quotation. "Where there is no vision the people perish."

In fact, you could very easily argue the proposition that most of our troubles today have descended on us because for so long a time we completely ignored that old warning.

The years that stretched between the end of the war and the collapse of the stock market boom were marked by a great many striking phenomena, but none of them was much more striking than the resolute way in which we refused to look at any proposition or consider any course of action that did not have a direct, easily-assessed value in dollars and cents.

We saw ourselves as the world's great workshop and the world's great bank; we saw our cities thrusting at the sky with glittering new towers, we saw our highways clogged with an ever-mounting tide of traffic, we looked out from a mountain top and saw the kingdoms of the earth at our feet—but we had no vision, and because we were blind we took a prodigious header.

We had no vision, in short, to see the consequences of the things we were doing. We remained complacent in the face of great scandals in the federal government. We let stock jugglers and financial "wizards" do as they wished with us, perfectly content because their doings seemed to promote material prosperity. If our old ideals about freedom, democracy and public morality got in our way we discarded them because they were "bad for business." Our one slogan was "don't rock the boat."

All of that is over now; and it is very good that we be reminded by no less a person than our president that without vision we perish. Our great task now is to regain the vision that all Americans once had; the vision of a land in which inequalities and injustices shall be abolished, the vision of realities which cannot be reached by a profit-and-loss balance sheet. With such a vision, we can go ahead to acclaim our old heritage.

The Financial Crisis at Home

Woodin And Hull Blend Informality With Power; Start Work Unworried By Problems They Face; New Candor Seen

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

(Copyright, 1933, NEA Service, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, March 14—Two men virtually unknown to the masses of their fellow countrymen suddenly have been called to stand with President Roosevelt and work out our financial destiny.

Dutcher

Cordell Hull and William H. Woodin, two white-haired men in their sixties, whose lives and interests have had little in common with those of most of us, have been planning and promulgating emergency decrees that are making a startling chapter of history.

Cordell Hull of Tennessee has been studying fiscal and economic problems daily for decades. He is one of our few major statesmen, though he never roused a gallery. No orator, his last conspicuous public appearance was in a poorly delivered speech at the Democratic convention against "naked repeal," when Chicago crowds booed him unmercifully. But Hull was closest to Roosevelt all thrcugh the famous day which brought forth the national bank holiday and the gold embargo. He had just left the Senate to become secretary of state, but foreign affairs and his new job went by the boards as he was summoned to the White House.

The jolly, baby-faced, small William H. Woodin became secretary of the treasury, and millions of savings depositors laughed when they learned he composed music and as they read some of his happy little songs for children. But Woodin now has unlimited power over all the banks in the United States—and jurisdiction over about $41,000,000,000 of our tied-up funds.

Bankers' New Bosses

Neither is a banker. They became the bosses of the bankers, who had been ther own bosses for a very long time. Both, in their first press conferences, indicated a new policy of frankness with the newspapers—which means frankness with the country.

The aesthetic Mr. Woodin neither perches in an ivory tower as did Mr. Mellon nor adopts the aristocratic air of Mr. Mills. Since the public can't get into Woodin's office, let me give you a look behind those massive walls and observe Woodin at press conferences.

A little man with twinkling eyes mustache, large ears, hair that is sparse but still manages to cover the ground, and tortoise shell glasses with silver bridge attached to a cord, he sits at a huge desk bearing three hand-set telephones and a pile of letters and telegrams which he later explains are all suggestions for saving the United States. He wears a gray suit of inoffensive plaid, gray collar and shirt and blue-figured tie. (At a later conference, hedged in from all sides by a hundred newspapermen, he will be sitting on the desk.) He begins to talk in a soft, easy voice, often broken by his chuckles or loud laughs:

"Sit down, as many of you as can find chairs. There ought to be more chairs here. You have a room of your own downstairs, haven't you? I'd like to come down and see it some time."

You Can Understand Him

Someone, remembering the 10-cent card games in the press room, says he had better give warning.

"Well," says the millionaire who has charge of 41 billions, "maybe I might join you."

Then he gives amiable, intelligent answers to questions. He will be his own spokesman and will have two press conferences a day during the emergencies. He wants suggestions from newspapermen and everyone else, promising to consider them—"some gink out in the wild woods might have a wild thought," says he, and continues to speak colloquially: "We've got to run a campaign of hope. . . We want to fix this situation immediately so a man can go to his grocery store. . . When's that effective? Bang! Right off the reel!"

All day Sunday and late at night Woodin had sat at the Treasury with the government's best financial experts and a carefully selected group of New York and Chicago bankers. At frequent intervals he was telephoning Roosevelt. After midnight Roosevelt ordered him home for some sleep. At 64, Woodin is active and doesn't tire easily.

He has been president of the American Car & Foundry Co., is Roosevelt's close frend, used to be a Republican until Al Smith ran for president in 1924, collects rare etchings, ranks satisfactorily as a composer, picks out new melodies on a guitar and constructed the "Franklin Delano Roosevelt March" for the inaugural. About 10 years ago he was fuel administrator of New York.

Hull Is Contrast

Hull is a man long in public life—a judge, a congressman for 25 years and recently a senator.

He is serious-minded. He rarely smiles and then not much, though he has great kindness and charm.

He is tall, spare and acquiline—a distinguished figure.

His piercing eyes lighted pleasantly beneath brown brows for the correspondents as he spoke in his rich, rather different southern accent and told them that he hadn't any news about the State Department because he had been so busy with domestic problems. So he could only say a few nice things by way of greeting. But the freedom with which he answered questions appeared to mean that he would speak honestly in the future.

Hull had sat through that fateful Sunday and Sunday night by Roosevelt's side. It's the secretary of state's job to issue proclamations but men who were in the White House that day paid high tribute to Hull's splendid financial mind and his deep economic wisdom.

Studious and Able

His mentality is one of the best in Washington. His good sense and his personal integrity has made him an idol in the more savory section of the Democratic party. The best of the Democratic tariff experts, he was the ablest foe of the Payne-Aldrich, Fordney-McCumber and Hawley-Smoot acts. Last year he was one of the most influential of the Roosevelt pre-convention leaders.

He wrote the first federal income tax law in 1913 and the first federal inheritance tax law in 1916. His mental power was invaluable while great fiscal and economic measures were being framed during the World war. No more studious man ever held public office.

From domestic problems this man—until recently an obscure figure in the average American mind—will turn to tackle the vital issues of the war debts and the world economic conference, worrying about Far Eastern war clouds the while.

Aside from Roosevelt, no man has entered this administration with problems so enormous as has Cordell Hull.

As Brought Over Associated Press Wires Today

Becomes Heroine

STOCKHOLM— In far Lapland, little Inga Kuoljokk, quaint Lapp maiden, whose father is a mighty bear hunter, can now sit before and open fire and make him listen while she tells of adventures of her own.

For a week Inga stood in Stockholm's largest department store, resplendent in her dress with silver buckles, moccasins and red woolen stockings, and taught housewives how to cook reindeer meat.

To Inga it was romance. She was summoned to Stockholm by the king's lord-lieutenant to assist in a "reindeer week" campaign. The herds of the Lapps had grown too fast and large number had to be killed. Stockholmers were asked to eat more reindeer meat and Inga helped in the propaganda.

The result was that more reindeer meat was consumed here in a week than is normally sold in a half a year, with much profit to the nomad Lapps. Inga, with pink ribbons flowing from her jet-black hair, has returned to her people a heroine.

Plenty Of Money

CHICAGO —There seems to be plenty of money in the land. One individual paid his first quarterly income tax installment by handing over $102,000, indicating his total tax in 1932 as $408,000.

Also, Chicago pastors reported their Sunday offerings increased despite the bank holiday.

A Bit Late

RIPON, Wis.—A check signed by "J. Q. Adams," sixth president, was found the other day in a box of old papers in the home of the late Elizabeth B. Bintliff. It was dated May 14, 1835 and bore a notation on the back that it was for payment of $131 taxes to the city of Washington for 1833. The president apparently was a bit late.

Iowa Town Barters Scrip for Corn

Piled high in temporary crios, corn literally filled the streets of Clear Lake, Ia. Farmers brought it in, 8668 bushels of it in one day, receiving 25 cents a bushel in scrip certificates, which are exchangeable for goods in the local stores. The merchants hope later to auction off the corn for money.

Around the RADIO Clock

BY C. E. BUTTERFIELD

Time Is Central Standard

NEW YORK, March 14. —(AP)— When Ed Wynn opens that new network of his, as he plans to do within ten days, he himself won't be able to participate in the air ceremonies. His present contract on WEAF-NBC doesn't permit such a procedure.

To start the comedian turned president of the Amalgamated Broadcasting system will have six stations stretching from New York to Washington, the chain ultimately to be extended into the west and to include the nine-station group now operating in Michigan.

Wynn said several Detroit business men, who, he insisted, did not include Henry Ford, were associated with him in the enterprise. It amounts to the chaining of stations in a low-powered category giving them type of program they have been able to obtain heretofore.

Try These Tonight:

WEAF-NBC: 5:30—Hymn Sing; 8—Bernie; 8:30—Ed Wynn; 10—Jay Dias and Ted Reese.

WABC-CBS: 7:15—Magic Voice; 8—Jane Froman; 9:30—California Melodies—John Charles Thomas, baritone.

WJZ-NBC: 6:15—Radio in Education; Crime Clues; 8:30—Robison's De River orchestra; 10:30—Dance hits of the Sixties.

Your Power Supply

As much electricity as you can use—or as little as you may require; at the place where you want it, at the time when you want it—reliable and continuous, always ready, instantly delivered.

These standards of electric service have resulted from years of building.

Large, efficient power plants — and widespread networks of transmission lines to serve groups of towns — have resulted in the ample, inexpensive power supply available everywhere today.

"We Are Sure The Avalanche-Journal Has Been An Important Factor In This Success"

—— W. K. Kellogg Co.

Intelligent, aggressive action has not only consolidated for Kellogg's the gains of past years but has also opened new markets in Lubbock and the South Plains.

The increasing number of Kellogg schedules and progressive amounts of linage used by this concern in the Avalanche-Journal is a recognition of the household influence and reader confidence of the South Plain's greatest newspapers.

Like Kellogg, the Avalanche-Journal has not been content to rest on the laurels of past achievements but is ever pressing forward with improved methods and products to anticipate the popular tastes of tomorrow.

Since 1929, in the era when every dollar in the advertising budget is twice weighed and double checked, this great national advertiser HAS INCREASED HIS ANNUAL SCHEDULES IN THE AVALANCHE-JOURNAL.

KELLOGG'S HAS DONE THIS FOR ONE REASON ONLY—IT PAYS.

This and many other concerns, local as well as national, in times when the going is hardest are more than ever prone to intrust the burden of uphill advance to a medium of POWER. And the consistent power of a medium like the Avalanche-Journal is based on a record of consistent service to its readers and its community.

The Avalanche-Journal is a pioneer as well as the present-day leader of the South Plains in its thorough coverage of its market—in its knowledge of service to its market—and in its service to the advertiser.

Lynn County Farmer Relies On Poultry, Stock For Revenue

TAHOKA, March 13. (Special)—Chickens, milk cows and hogs are the methods of E. E. McManis, well known farmer near here, is using these days. McManis does not sell his cotton seed, but grinds it up and feeds it to his livestock.

On the farm there are about 275 hens that are laying between 75 and 100 dozen eggs a week. Four cows are being milked, averaging 10 gallons of cream a week and three more cows will be fresh soon. There are 17 hogs ready for the market, all fed on corn.

"Last year I made my maize pay $12 to $14 a ton by feeding it to livestock, ground up with cotton seed," McManis said. "It would not have brought over $4 or $5 a ton otherwise. My produce brings me a little money in every day or so. I do not have to depend on cotton for ready cash."

Thirty-eight states have Democratic governors as a result of the last election.

RAPS REPORTS OVER RADIO

HEALTH OFFICER SAYS QUAKE SITUATION IS EXAGGERATED

LONG BEACH, Calif., Mar. 14. (AP)—Colonel Charles W. Decker, city health officer of Los Angeles and medical coordinator for the quake stricken area, has issued an announcement condemning false radio reports.

The statement said:

"The general situation as regards safety of the civilian population is such that relatives and friends throughout the world of those in the strick earthquake areas should have no fears.

No Epidemic Danger

"There is no epidemic. There is no danger of such a thing.

"Water, sanitation, hospitalization and all forms of relief are safely provided, and adequately administered under orderly control.

"The ugly unfounded rumors spread by quavering radio announcers starting soon after the first earthquake shock Friday night in the broadcast of terrorizing messages of tidal waves, vast death lists, famine, pestilence and horrors that could be conjured only in a terror-stricken and uniformed mind, all were without foundation.

"There is no cause for alarm.

"Any alarmist reports should be discounted.

"My sanitary engineers, through the entire district, report that the domestic water supply has been chlorinated and is safe."

KANSAS TIGHTENS PRORATION LAWS

TOPEKA, Kas., March 14 (AP)—After a lengthy consideration of the measure, the senate approved last night, 30 to 5, a house bill designed to enlarge and strengthen enforcement of the oil proration law enacted in 1931.

The bill would enlarge the term "waste" in the law to include economic waste and production of oil in excess of transportation or marketing facilities or reasonable market demand. Under present law the public service commission has authority to make rules and regulations for prevention of waste.

Another section of the bill would give the commission the right to maintain in any court actions to enforce its rule and orders.

The bill is subject to third reading.

Opponents of the measure termed it a price fixing proposal and one to give the public service commission autocratic power in regulation of the industry. Those favoring the measure contended it would further aid in conserving the state's oil resources.

Customs Personnel Not To Be Slashed

WASHINGTON, March 14.—(AP)—Officials of the customs service and the immigration bureau said today there was no intention at the present time of curtailing the personnel along the Texas border.

They pointed out that employes would take the salary cut which President Roosevelt expects to apply if he receives authorization from congress. However, W. W. Husband, assistant secretary of labor, and Frank Dow, acting customs commissioner, expressed a belief their appropriations for the next fiscal year would permit keeping their services on the same level as at present.

On Edge!

An uninvited guest was this airplane which dropped in on a Brooklyn apartment house. Jerry Longobardi, a student pilot, was aloft at 2,000 feet when his motor failed and he had to make a landing some place. He chose this nice flat roof, pancaked down ripped a few shingles and bricks and made a safe landing coming out unscratched although the airplane was damaged some.

Charge Thirty-One In Sabotage Plot

MOSCOW, March 14.— (AP) —An official communique last night said six Englishmen and 25 Russians, include eight officers and employes of the Metropolitan-Vickers company, a British electrical firm, were arrested on charges of participating in a conspiracy to damage electric power stations.

This was the first explanation given by the government for the arrests Saturday and Sunday by the Soviet secret police, who took four British subjects and four other employes of the firm into custody after raids on its offices.

The alleged sabotage plot resulted in damage to areas served by electric power stations, the communique said.

Allan Monkhouse, the company director here, and Charles Nordwell who were among the Englishmen arrested, were released after a preliminary investigation. Four British subjects remained in custody.

REALLY HOT MUSIC

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — W. F. Sparks and his orchestra must produce very "hot" music. While presenting their act in a local theatre the other night smoke began to billow from beneath the stage. Neither Sparks nor the music was responsible, however, for it was discovered that spontaneous combustion in some trash beneath the stage caused the fire.

TECH JUDGING TEAM WINS

COLLEGE GROUP TAKES CLEAN SWEEP IN SHOW CONTESTS

A clean sweep of contests was credited to the Texas Technological college dairy judging team Monday at the Southwestern exposition and Fat Stock show in Fort Worth. Dr. F. G. Harbrough coached the Matador team.

With a total of 3,149 points, the local team, composed of J. D. Strickland, Harland Howell, and Odis Holly, won first in the team contests, and first in both the Holstein and Jersey contests.

Holly Individual Winners

Holly, with 1,084 points, topped individual contests, and Howell was second with 1,080 points. In individual scoring in the Jersey division, Howell was first and Holly second. Strickland was second in the Holstein division.

Oklahoma A. & M. college's team was second with 3,078 points; Texas A. & M. college was third with 2,975; and Louisiana State college was fourth with 2,914.

Holly came to Tech from Spur, Howell from Brownfield, and Strickland from Silverton. Information on the team rankings was telephoned here last night by Dr. Harbaugh.

WATSON WILL RUN AS INDEPENDENT

BROWNSVILLE, March 14 (AP)—Carlos G. Watson, Republican, who will oppose the winner of the Democratic runoff election for John N. Garner's seat in congress, has filed application with election boards in 23 counties in the fifteenth district for a place on the election ticket as an independent.

The attorney general of Texas has ruled that to be placed on the ticket as a Republican candidate, a primary election of that party would be necessary, Watson said.

Milton West of Brownsville and Gordon Griffin of McAllen led a field of nine candidates three weeks ago in the first Democratic primary and will meet in the runoff March 15.

Shallowater Teams Win Debate Events

Upper class B debate champions of Lubbock county are Shallowater boys and girls debate teams, which won Monday in the junior high school here, H. D. Bentley, director of debate in the county interscholastic league, said.

The girls won by default, and the boys defeated the Acuff team. Hardy boys and girls won the rural division tournament. Idalou and Slaton teams will meet Friday at junior high school for the class A championship. All division winners will meet March 24 for the county championship.

A 100 year-old tree, sentenced to "death" at Bournemouth, England, has been reprieved owing to an outcry from residents.

A Marathoner in Dance of Life

There are not many things that Pasquale Camerata has missed in his 100 years of life, but he never did quite have time enough to get into a dance marathon until the other day. But he has managed that now and is shown with his partner, Kitty Ross, in a New York dance marathon.

Rooster With Six Wings Is Drowned

A pet bantam rooster which sported three sets of wings drowned in a tank Monday afternoon at the McDonald mule barn. Kirby McDonald, local mule buyer, owned the freak rooster.

"I had had the rooster for nearly a year," Mr. McDonald said as he displayed the dead bird. "He was a brown Leghorn bantam and was a favorite with all of us. He was drowned in one of the big tanks."

Besides the two regular wings, there were two others, one on the upper leg and the other on the lower. The one higher up was about half the size of an ordinary wing, while the lower one, with eight or ten feathers, was not so large as it dragged on the ground and the ends were constantly being worn off.

McDonald said he hoped to have the bird mounted and to preserve it.

KEEP YOUR SHIRT ON

EL PASO, Tex.—"Keep your shirt on," would have been good advice to Juan Medina, had he been able to follow the advice. Juan was stopped by a man who demanded his sweater. "Don't be funny, if I give you my sweater I would be cold myself," Juan answered. But the man would have the sweater, so he beat Juan and took it. And it was only by furious struggling that Juan escaped with his trousers and shoes.

MRS. ROOSEVELT PLANS ON SIMPLE SOCIAL PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP)—In a sitting room in the White House Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, knitting as she chatted, announced a simpler social program, outcome of a conference with "cabinet wives." Queries brought out a plan for a children's playground; and for a nursery where the four months' old son of Elliott Roosevelt will be installed Friday to stay until his parents get established in the west.

Mrs. Roosevelt said with the cooperation of the "cabinet wives group," which includes the vice-president's wife, Mrs. Garner, she was ruling out formal social affairs until fall.

Exceptions to this rule would be the Easter egg rolling for the children and the garden party for disabled veterans.

"Because of the conditions at the present time, we decided none of us cared to have any more formal social things than were absolutely necessary," said Mrs. Roosevelt.

AIRPORT GETS LIGHTS

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—Allegheny County Airport here is being floodlighted to make landing as safe at night as at noon. The airport with its length of 3600 feet, covers more than 148 acres. These will be illuminated with five 16-inch and twelve 24-inch floodlights. Twenty-five items are included in the contract for lighting the field.

PIONEER DIES LATE MONDAY

JOE LEE PENRY, WHO HELPED ESTABLISH AMARILLO, DEAD

FORT WORTH, March 14 (AP)—Joe Lee Penry, sr., 60, pioneer of the Panhandle and resident here since 1914, died late Monday at his home after a brief illness.

Barbers Opposing Any Change In Law

Lubbock barbers are asking their patrons to protest a measure in the state legislature to abolish the present barber law.

C. D. Shaw, local shop owner, and others, have been circulating petitions asking friends and acquaintances to sign the protest against the change. According to reports the papers has been widely signed by representative men of the city.

Virtually every barber shop owner and employe in Lubbock is opposed to any change in the law that would weaken its provisions, Shaw explained.
