

Hired Hand English Is Best Language

By GLENN SHELTON

As a language dilettante, I consider Spanish the most beautiful and euphonious of the many tongues. It is a language easy to learn, regular in verb form and pronunciation. A student can look at a Spanish word he's never seen before and pronounce it confidently, simply because the vowels and consonants in this Romance language almost invariably are pronounced one way. Not so with English. The language of the Americans and the British—and now of much of the world—is ambiguous and complicated. Yet it is the best language of 'em all because it is rich of vocabulary, versatile and adaptable.

With the words of the English language a mason has the tools for building a bridge or a cathedral. He is limited only by his knowledge of the words and his imagination for laying his bricks.

Yet foreigners who attempt to learn our language often are confused. Accustomed to a measure of regularity in language, they often are frustrated by the multifarious uses of a single word. For example, a Frenchman snorted in disgust about the word "crowd." "This means," he said, "a lot of people. That is easily learned."

"But a crowd of ships is termed a fleet, while a flock of sheep is called a flock; on the other hand, a flock of quail is called a bevy, and a bevy of wolves called a pack, while a pack of fish is called a shoal. A shoal of buffaloes is called a herd, a herd of soldiers is called a troop, a troop of partridges is called a covey, a covey of beauties is called a galaxy, and a galaxy of ruffians is called a horde."

"A horde of logs is called a heap, a heap of oxen is called a drove, a drove of blackguards is called a mob, a mob of robbers is called a band, and a band of bees is called a swarm."

"A SWARM OF WORDS MUST," HE ADDED, "BE AN ESSAY"

OFF ON A TANGENT — When I spoke to members of the Sey Vista Community Improvement Association last Monday night the members were all excited about the tornado scare. As a matter of fact, only hours before the dinner many of them had packed all they had in their car and fled. Their community is near the intersection of FM 369 and the Seymour Road. LBJ Declares Demos Must Look To Future

CHICAGO (AP) — President Johnson, in a muted political appeal tailored for a Democratic fund-raising dinner, said Thursday night his party must think "not only of the next election but of the next generation."

Johnson, in remarks prepared for a $100-a-plate party dinner at McCormick Place, said the nation has been "called upon to build a great society of the highest order," adding: "If the Democratic party serves that purpose, we do not have to worry about success at the polls."

Johnson, who said last week that he would try to tone down any partisan utterances before the fall presidential campaign, emphasized national problems—and city problems—without placing particular emphasis on his party's role in dealing with them.

The chief executive got a warm welcome from the Democratic faithful.

The visit is Johnson's first to the Midwest since becoming president.

Several thousand braved chilly weather to hold aloft party-organized banners—"All the Way With LBJ" and "We Support You."

And everywhere that the President saw a sizable crowd, he hopped out for a round of handshaking.

Johnson, who will take off Friday on a four-state tour of economically distressed areas, emphasized the poverty problems of the cities in his text for the Chicago dinner.

Declaring that some Americans say there is nothing we can do about mounting city problems, Johnson said such people "lay the ax of indifference to the strong oaks of hope—to urban renewal—to low rent public housing—to aid for public schools—to relief for our hospitals—to medical care for our aging—to air pollution control—and to mass transportation assistance."

Johnson said, "Every blow of their ax strikes not at the political agenda of a particular party but at the agenda of America's future."

He said this is not the way to build a better America and "it is not the philosophy of the Democratic party."

The President went on to deal, point by point, with the urban aid measures he had cited as coming under attack, saying "we have attacked and we will continue to attack" problems of civil rights, unemployment, education, the needs of the elderly, resource conservation and the multiplying difficulties facing the great cities.

"We have the manpower—we have the means—we have the money to do all that must be done to realize our greatest dreams," he said. "All we need now is the will."

Agreement Expected On Key Amendment To Rights Bill

Johnson Voices Pity For 'Rude' Rights Pickets

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said Thursday he pities "rude" civil rights demonstrators, plans a new cut in defense spending, and wants to discuss foreign policy with potential presidential candidates.

Meeting reporters in the sun-drenched White House rose garden outside his office, Johnson made these pronouncements:

1. Civil rights demonstrators like those "who seemed insistent on being rude" during the President's trip Wednesday to the New York World's Fair "serve no good purpose—either of promoting the cause they profess to support or of disrupting that cause."

Saying, "I pitied them," Johnson declared the civil rights cause will not be stopped "either by fanaticism or rudeness."

2. More military bases will be closed and noncombat activities will be curbed to save an additional $68 million a year. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara will announce the details Friday.

3. The President would like to confer now with presidential aspirants to get suggestions on "the wise course to pursue" in foreign policy.

Johnson said, "I just don't know who speaks for them"—the Republicans—and added, with respect to South Viet Nam, "some of them want more war in that area and some want more appeasement." He said he wants eventually to "talk over the problems of the world" and try to unite on what is "best for our country."

4. In an effort to keep foreign policy from developing into a "partisan, knockdown, drag-out" election issue, intelligence briefings will be offered to Republicans Sen. Barry Goldwater, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, Harold E. Stassen, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith and Democratic Gov. George C. Wallace.

He said Henry Cabot Lodge already gets much of the data in his post as ambassador to South Viet Nam.

5. Johnson will travel to South Bend, Ind., Pittsburgh, Pa., Paintsville and Inez, Ky., and Huntington, W.Va., on Friday to visit areas of economic distress. He will meet governors of the Appalachia states at Huntington and, perhaps, hold another news conference afterward.

Compromise Could Shorten Senate Battle

By JOHN CHADWICK WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate leaders of both parties spoke confidently Thursday of reaching agreement on an across-the-board jury trial amendment to the House civil rights bill.

As the Senate dined through the 38th day of debate on the measure, an air of optimism welled from behind-the-scenes conferences that a key compromise was in the making. It would open the way for the first real break in the steady flow of talk.

While the compromise effort has plenty of hurdles to clear, it seemed to have generated a feeling among leaders that the Senate's marathon civil rights battle might be brought to an end sooner than previously anticipated.

The feeling was perhaps best summed up by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., the assistant majority leader, and floor manager of the bill.

"As a matter of fact, gentlemen," he told reporters, "things are looking great."

Compromise efforts were directed primarily at the issue of jury trials in criminal contempt cases but talks also were under way aimed at reconciling differences over other controversial aspects of the measure.

Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois worked throughout the day at framing a substitute for a jury trial amendment called up for debate Tuesday night by Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga.

Talmadge's amendment, offered in a surprise move by southern foes of the bill, would provide for a jury trial in all criminal contempt-of-court cases—not just civil rights cases—except for contempt committed in the presence of the court.

The substitute drafted by Mansfield and Dirksen reportedly is along the lines of a more limited jury trial amendment written into the 1957 Civil Rights Act. That applied only to contempt in voting discrimination cases.

Former Record News Reporter Is Killed

William B. (Bill) Hunter, 35, former Record News police reporter and well known Long Beach, Calif. newsman, was shot to death at 12:05 a.m. Thursday in the Press Room of the Long Beach Police Station.

Hunter was struck through the heart with a .38 caliber slug and died instantly.

L. W. D. Tubbs, police station commander, said Hunter was sitting in a chair reading a book and talking to two of his detective friends, Errol Greenleaf and Creighton Wiggins Jr. Tubbs said Wiggins removed his coat to sit down and when he did his police revolver fell to the floor. Tubbs said Wiggins reached down, picked up the gun and was replacing it in his holster when the gun caught on his clothing and discharged, striking Hunter in the heart.

The chief of detectives is investigating the shooting and a coroner's jury also is probing the shooting.

Hunter started his newspaper career with the Vernon Daily Record. He came to Wichita Falls and was police reporter for the Record News from 1953 to 1959. Hunter left here in 1959 and went to work as police reporter for the Long Beach Independent Press-Telegram where he became well-known for his writing.

He was awarded first place this year by the California Publishers Association for his special edition, "Three Days in Dallas," events following the assassination of President Kennedy. He also covered the Jack Ruby trial in Dallas.

A native of Kansas City, Mo. he was born Nov. 2, 1928. Hunter was reared in Dallas and attended schools there. He was graduated from North Dallas High School in 1947 where he played football for four years.

He also attended and played football at Kilgore Junior College, Corpus Christi University and Midwestern University. He was an army veteran of 18 months and worked on a newspaper at Fort Lawton, Wash. while in service.

Hunter's body was taken to Dilday Funeral Home in Long Beach. Funeral services have (Continued on Page 4A)

Schools Receive First Check For Federal Aid

U.S. Representative Graham Purcell of Wichita Falls announced Thursday that the Department of Health, Education and Welfare has approved an application of the Wichita Falls Independent School District for Federal assistance under a program which provides aid for schools in so-called impacted areas.

The school system, Purcell said, received a tentative entitlement of $343,814 for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1963.

The Congressman said $275,860 has been certified for immediate payment and a United States Treasury check in that amount has been sent to the school system.

"Further payments will be dependent on availability of funds," Purcell continued.

Ralph Davis, business manager for the school system, said the check tendered represented 75 per cent of the total amount applied for several weeks ago.

Storm Activity Misses City

By HAZEL KOHL

Weather weary Wichitans spent another afternoon and night of watching and waiting Thursday as the city twice was put on severe weather warning status by the U.S. Weather Bureau.

However, Wichita Falls missed all of the turbulence and most of the rain. Only .05 inches of moisture and some light hail was reported by the U.S. Weather Bureau.

The Sunset Lane Fire Station recorded .05 inches of rain, the only substation with measurable amount of moisture.

Traces were recorded at Warford, Jefferson, Kemp and Hampstead stations. No rain was recorded at the Buchanan or Flood street stations.

Storms Bring Rain And Big Hailstones

By DAN COLEMAN

Two separate lines of thunderstorms sputtered across sections of the central North Texas and Southern Oklahoma area Thursday afternoon spreading isolated "tornado scares," heavy hail and much-needed soaking rains in scattered locations.

Within the Wichita Falls city limits light rain and hail fell. Hail and .05 of an inch of rain were recorded at the U.S. Weather Bureau Station here.

Lawton, Okla. received heavy damage from the hail. The eastern half of the city was pounded by hail from one-half inch to three and one-half inches in diameter from 4:43 until 5:20 p.m., Oklahoma Highway Patrolmen there said. Roof, glass and crop damage was thought to be extensive in the Lawton area.

At Sterling, about 25 miles north of Lawton, the roof of a barn was torn off and several utility lines beaten down by the large hail carried on high winds.

The thunderstorm cell which originated west of Wichita Falls blew a mobile home off the highway near Dundee, Tex. and rolled it over two or three times. The occupant of the tow vehicle was not injured.

The storm passed over the Iowa Park area and dropped hail about the size of golf balls and moved on toward Burk Burnett scattering hail and rain. The storm was believed to have caused some crop damage in the Burk Burnett - Iowa Park area but nothing to compare with the storm's ferocity as it hit Lawton.

The second line of intense weather activity originated in the Olney - Newcastle area. High velocity winds and hail there were followed by a good 40-minute rain. The storm bore north-eastward into Montague County by about 6 p.m.

PUBLIC OPINION POLL

Lodge Is First Republican To Better '60 Vote Among Catholics

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute Of Public Opinion
PRINCETON, N.J.—Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge is the first Republican to attract a higher percentage of the Catholic vote than Richard Nixon did in the 1960 presidential election. In that contest, Nixon won 22 per cent of the vote of Catholics, to 78 per cent for Kennedy.

In the latest "trial heat" between Lyndon Johnson and the GOP front-runner—Lodge—the President gets 71 per cent of the vote of Catholics, to 25 per cent for Lodge. Four per cent are undecided between these two possible rivals.

Considering only the vote of those who choose either of the two men, the results are:

	Per Cent

Largest Minority
Catholics represent the largest minority group in the country today. Approximately one voter in four in the nation is of this faith.

Without their strong support in the last presidential election, Kennedy would have lost the big Eastern states, with their high electoral vote, and the election, as well.

A comparison of "test elections" between Johnson and leading GOP possibilities shows Lodge making the best showing among the Catholic voters of the nation.

The following table records the percentage of the Catholic vote given each of the four leading Republicans in "trial heats" against President Johnson:

In Gallup Poll trial heats conducted throughout his period in office, Kennedy never dropped below the 78 per cent level of support he received from Catholics in the 1960 election.

Optimists Hear Park Report

Speaker at the Thursday breakfast meeting of Sunrise Optimist Club was club member Carl Jackson who is a member of the city's Parks and Recreation Department committee. He reported on the progress being made in developing Lucy Park, a 90-acre tract adjacent to the Red River Valley Expressway and the Iowa Park Road. Jackson said the land is being cleared with the help of prisoners from the county jail who get two days credit on their terms for each day worked. He said plans call for building a museum in the park and donations are being solicited. Jackson said the committee meets at 3 p.m. on the second Monday of each month and that the public is welcome to attend. Presiding at the meeting at Wyatt's was Charles B. Johnson, president.

A special guest was Tommy O'Connor, the club's Young Texan nominee for April who won the zone contest. His father, John O'Connor, also attended the breakfast. They were introduced by Glen Atkins, Young Texan program chairman. Another guest was Dudley Lamb. New directors will be elected at the April 30 meeting.

Falls was in for a severe thunderstorm as heavy black clouds descended on the city shortly after 3 p.m.

The first weather alert was issued at 2 p.m. and called for severe thunderstorms with hail and damaging surface winds. Wichita Falls was deep inside this alert area.

At 5:30 p.m. a possible tornado warning was issued, which remained in effect until 10:30 p.m. The alert called for thunderstorms, with possibility of one or two tornados, 60 miles either side of a line from 50 miles southeast of Wichita Falls to 20 miles east of Ponca City, Okla.

Temperatures were generally warm until the cloud cover moved in. The high reading was 92 degrees.

More rain is expected Friday afternoon and skies will be cloudy. The high Friday should reach the upper 80s.

Connally Blasts Magazine Article

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Gov. John Connally Thursday called "childish" and "irresponsible" comments about Texas by a Dartmouth college professor in a recent magazine article concerning President Kennedy's assassination.

Connally, still recovering from critical bullet wounds received when Kennedy was fatally shot, protested the article in a letter to Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

The article by H. Wentworth Eldredge, Dartmouth professor, appeared in the March issue of NATO Letter, a publication of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Connally's criticism was directed at a portion of the article where the author began an evaluation of the effects of the assassination on the American people.

Connally, Wife Back In Texas

DALLAS (AP) — Gov. John Connally returned Thursday from testifying before the Warren Commission and said he does not think the commission is trying to withhold anything from the people.

The governor and Mrs. Connally changed planes here en route home from Washington and New York.

Connally said he thinks the commission realizes what a tremendous task it has in trying to piece together a complete story of the assassination of President Kennedy and subsequent events.

"They realize their reports will be picked to death—not for generations but all time," he said.

The governor said he had a feeling the commission was saving his testimony and that of Mrs. Connally for the last phases of its investigation and thus may be close to completing the task.

Connally said he was questioned about the contact Lee Harvey Oswald had with his office while he was secretary of the Navy and whether he thought it could have provided a motive for Oswald.

Harry Lectures Woman Jaywalker

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman lectured a woman jaywalker Thursday and got a smiling apology in return.

Taking his customary morning walk, Truman saw the woman pedestrian crossing the street against a red light.

"Lady, you're going to get killed if you do that," he said.

"Yes, I was forgetting the light, Mr. President," the woman replied, smiling. "I should know better."

Science Winners To View Program

Four students who received Army Awards during the Oilbelt Regional Science Fair-North at Midwestern University, will go to Fort Sill, Okla., Saturday to attend a demonstration.

They are Tony Quisenberry, sweepstakes winner, of Quanah High School; Carroll Rawn of Wichita Falls High School; Marie Hendrix of Chillicothe High School and Barbara Kulmacz of the Academy of Mary Immaculate in Wichita Falls. A fifth winner, Jim Boddy of Henrietta High School, is unable to attend.

Escorted by Col. Don A. Mason, professor of military science at MU, the group will watch a mechanized infantry company in a simulated attack during the morning. Following a luncheon, they will visit the Pershing and Sergeant missiles for an orientation visit program.

Cummings Resigns Post

J. R. Cummings, chairman of the Volunteer Services Council of the Wichita Falls State Hospital for the past two years, Tuesday night resigned.

Cummings, who is moving to Burkburnett to accept presidency of a bank, suggested that E. L. Kistler, vice chairman, be named to fill out his term.

Members accepted the suggestion.

Kistler is employed by the Phillips Petroleum Co. and is an active worker in the patient Boy Scout troop program sponsored by the Sundown Kiwanis Club.

The council discussed plans for Mental Health Week and the open house at the hospital, set April 27 to May 1.

It was explained that because the hospital is open to the public throughout the year, the staff felt a formal open house was not needed this year.

However, any interested groups or persons, are invited to tour the hospital facilities during the five-day period.

Miss Beulah Ann Johnson, volunteer services coordinator, said tours should be scheduled in advance through the Volunteer Services Department between 9 and 11 a.m. and 1 and 3 p.m.

In addition to the regular tours the group will hear lectures by Dr. Howard Patterson, chief psychologist; and talks from other hospital department heads including the nursing service and social service.

Members of the council were told that 40 cakes are needed each month for patient birthday parties. Anyone wishing to donate a cake should wrap it for freezing and deliver it to the Volunteer Services Building at the hospital.

Other reports given included the State Volunteer Council Meeting in Denton, Miss Johnson; the business school at the hospital, Mrs. Bettye Davis, in-

Dr. Wright will take up "Thought and Doctrine of the Disciples" during his 7 p.m. service Sunday. In addition, the Kirk Bell-Ringers will be giving a recital at the church.

GOP Predicts Big Primary

Republican County Chairman N. A. Steed predicted Thursday that the Republicans will have on May 2 the largest primary voting in the history of Wichita County.

He said that the presidential poll, which is an "added attraction" for the Republican Primary will help draw voters to the polls. Steed reported that the addresses of all the election precincts will be published in the Wichita Falls Record News and the Wichita Falls Times prior to the primary on May 2.

In predicting a record turnout, Steed said:

"The true conservative realizes he can best express his views by voting in the Republican primary. Our candidates oppose Medicare and the Civil Rights Bill. On the other hand, Democratic candidates all down the line are supporting President Johnson and we all know how he is trying to get Congress to pass the Civil Rights Bill and other proposals which conservatives oppose."

Moves To Town
 What made him decide to go back to school? "I felt dissatisfied with life and I wanted to learn to meet people," Dr. Padgett said. He told his mother he wanted to move to town and go to school. He had saved a little money farming, so he purchased a small house on the corner of Fourth and Virginia Streets for $500, moved his mother to town and rented the farm.

Doctor Says Hard Work Needed

By NITA MILLER

GRAHAM, Tex. (Special) — Dr. W. O. Padgett says, "It takes hard work and study to be a successful doctor." He should know, for this self-educated man has been a successful doctor in Young County for half a century.

Many old timers can tell you about the 23-year-old barefoot boy who entered school in Graham in 1906, and in four short years graduated from Graham High School. Dr. Padgett says, "I was one of eight that graduated in the class of 1910."

Born in Norman, Ark., in 1883, Dr. Padgett moved with his mother, two brothers and one sister nine miles east of Graham, after his father died, when he was one year of age. Dr. Padgett attended school three months per year until he was 12, then he took over farming and caring for his mother after his brothers left home.

his first day at school. He said, "I told Superintendent Edgar McLendon (now a resident of Huntsville, Ark.) I was in McGuffey's 4th reader." He was then given one class in the 6th grade and others in the 7th and 8th grades, all at the same time.

Undaunted by the fact he had few clothes, was over six feet tall and all nose, this determined young man soon earned the respect of students, teachers and the entire community.

When asked what prompted his decision to study medicine, he remembers several attacks of appendicitis. In 1907 after his appendix ruptured, the late Dr. William Terrell called Dr. Charles H. Harris of Fort Worth to come to Graham. Dr. Harris performed the surgery at the Padgett home and then Dr. Padgett said, "if I ever get well I am going to be a doctor."

medical school. He interned one year at Baylor Hospital, Dallas. Dr. Padgett said, "I didn't know anything when I graduated, but I thought I did."

In May, 1915 Dr. Padgett came back to Graham to start his practice. There was no hospital or office calls, "if you got sick enough to call a doctor he went to your house and stayed until you got better or worse," Dr. Padgett said. He did whatever was necessary right there at the house, from surgery to delivering babies.

The price of delivering a baby was a flat $20, regardless of where you lived. Dr. Padgett said he has delivered at least 4,000 babies. In one family he delivered 10 children, and never received any pay. Before his recent retirement, he had delivered grandchildren of the children he delivered years ago.

In the early days Dr. Padgett owned a Model T roadster, but if the roads got too bad, he used a horse and buggy. He married an attractive nurse while in Baylor Medical School, and she was often on these trips of mercy.

Builds Own Clinic
 During the early years of his practice, Dr. Padgett maintained offices in several downtown upstairs buildings, but in 1932 he built his own clinic. This clinic is still in use today.

Speaking in terms of medical progress, Dr. Padgett recalls that pneumonia and typhoid fever were considered fatal before the discovery of penicillin, and inoculations. A tonsillectomy was the most common operation. He never stopped studying and said he is constantly amazed at the new strides in medicine.

He still has former patients who call him for advice, but he said, "I refer them to a younger doctor." He enjoys keeping his yard and "I go to town every day and visit friends."

Following in the footsteps of his father is Dr. Harold "Hop" Padgett of Marshall, Tex. Dr. Harold is a specialist instead of a general practitioner. Dr. and Mrs. Padgett have four grandchildren.

A Warm, Intimate Biography of the Remarkable Woman In The White House

The President and First Lady At the Ranch

You'll read about the romantic whirlwind courtship of Lyndon Johnson and Claudia Taylor; the extraordinary demands, always met with grace and charm, made upon the wife of a brilliant, restless, complex man who also happens to be President of the United States; many personal anecdotes and stories of Lady Bird Johnson's childhood, education and emergence as the most effective political wife in the Democratic Party; how her own motherless childhood led her to lavish affection and wisdom on her two lively daughters. You'll read all this — and much more — in the most authoritative biography of the remarkable Lady Bird Johnson — by Ruth Montgomery.

FIGURES IN EAST-WEST SWAP — Britain exchanged Soviet spy Gordon Lonsdale, right, Wednesday, for British businessman Maynard Greville Wynne, left, jailed by the Soviets as a courier of espionage information. The British Foreign Office said it agreed to the exchange because Wynne was ill. The exchange was made at a Berlin crossing point. (AP Wirephoto)

Wichitan Named To Building Group

J. L. Hair Jr., vice president of the building construction firm of J. L. Hair & Sons, Wichita Falls, will be installed as a director of the West Texas Chapter, Associated General Contractors of America, at its annual meeting at Abilene on Friday.

A veteran of 24 years in the construction business, Hair joined his father's firm after graduation from high school, learning the various aspects of the business from the roots upward. His career was interrupted during World War II when he served with the Marine Corps' 5th Division. He was wounded in action in Iwo Jima in 1944, and later returned to civilian life and the construction business.

Hair lives at 4710 Neta-Lane with his wife, Delores, and two children, Joe, 21, and Gloria, 16. The family attends Floral Heights Methodist Church.

Hair is active in the affairs of the Texas Employers' Association, the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce, Northwest Texas Field and Stream Assn. and the North Texas Construction Employers' Assn.

CROWELL, Tex. (Special) — An old-fashioned trail ride, with modern twinges, left here at 8:20 a.m. Thursday enroute to Paducah.

Participating in the old west ride were 36 persons ranging in age from 8 to 85. Six young women also turned out to participate in the ride.

Unlike the olden days, feed and gear accompanied the riders in a pickup rather than on pack horses or in wagons. Even water for the ride is being hauled in a 300

J. A. Marr, Woodrow Lemons and Jim Hill Erwin; two marshals not in the line up are Milton Hunter and Warren Haynie. Around 30 riders from 8 to 85 will follow the trail.

gallon tank with a "new fangled" spigot.

Glen Shool, Foard County farmer, who will be serving as roundup cook will have a modernized chuckwagon to work from. The menu will include pin-to beans and sourdough biscuits.

Seven marshals, including all officers of the Crowell Cutting Horse Club, who are sponsoring the journey went along on the ride. They were Walter Ramsey, W. W. Lemons, Jim Hill Erwin, J. A. Marr, Ernest Boren, George Fox and Claude Ray Condon.

Ramsey said the group would camp on the Old Norman Ranch Thursday night. This ranch is located 22 miles from Crowell and is owned by the Arlie Brothers of Paducah.

The riders plan to complete the additional 16 miles to Paducah by 2 p.m. Friday.

A welcoming party of city officials are expected to be on hand to meet the group. Members of the club will join in a rodeo parade that will precede the Cattle-King Horse and Colt Show and Rodeo.

Leading the parade will be Texas' Attorney General Waggoner Carr.

At departure time Thursday morning, one old-timer watching the riders mount up and leave, summed it up by saying: "I bet them fancy dressed, drug-store cowboys will be sleeping on feather beds tomorrow night. They ain't used to riding that long. Of course, the horses could be ridden back, but those city boys can't, so they are trucking riders and horses back. That beats all!"

AMARILLO AFB, Tex. — Airman Third Class Danny E. Spargur, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Spargur of 516 Honeysuckle, Altus, Okla., is being reassigned to Nellis AFB, Nev., following his graduation from the technical training course for United States Air Force jet aircraft mechanics here.

Airman Spargur was trained in the maintenance and inspection of jet fighter planes currently in use by the Air Force. The airman attended Altus High School and Oklahoma Military Academy.

LBJ Offers Secret Files To Opponents

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson opened the administration's intelligence files Thursday to Republicans who might be nominated to challenge him for the White House. And he said he wants to talk with them personally to help chart "the wise course" in foreign affairs.

"I do want all the men in the opposition party to know all the facts that dictate the decisions that involve national interests," the President told a news conference.

His offer of intelligence briefings for major Republican presidential contenders was quickly rejected by Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater.

Goldwater called it a "basically unwise, offhand political gesture" that could be used to muzzle Republicans who want to challenge administration foreign policy.

Through a spokesman, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine accepted the invitation and added she would be "delighted to confer with the President any time he calls, on anything."

At Johnson's behest, Secretary of State Dean Rusk sent invitations to six Republicans and a dissident Democrat to hear intelligence briefings from him, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Director John A. McCone of the Central Intelligence Agency.

The Democrat is Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace who has campaigned against Johnson slates in a handful of presidential primary states. In Indianapolis, Wallace declined comment on the offer.

"I didn't know anything about it," he said.

"Naturally, it doesn't apply to me — I'm not a presidential aspirant," said Scranton. But the Pennsylvania governor said he would accept an invitation because "I like to be informed about everything in our government."

Johnson said Henry Cabot Lodge, another Republican presidential possibility, "has access to all the information which he needs" as ambassador to South Viet Nam.

Rusk's letters put into writing an offer the President first announced before the annual meeting of The Associated Press in New York on Monday.

"I don't want foreign policy to develop into a partisan, knockdown, dragout, and I am going to do all I can to avoid it," Johnson said Thursday.

Johnson said the briefings would provide some general information Republican candidates could use on campaign platforms — and some secret data as well.

"Top secret will not be used by anyone," the President said. "The President will be very careful to take no advantage of any other candidate in this matter."

Quannah Resident's Grandson Is Guest Of King Hussein

QUANAH (Special) — Tommy Miles, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Norton, flew to Washington last week to be a special guest at a reception in honor of President and Mrs. Lyndon Johnson hosted by King Hussein of Jordan, a visitor in this country.

Miles became an intimate friend of King Hussein while in Jordan with the State Department. Miles was a special guest at Hussein's first wedding and the two have continued their friendship since Miles returned to the States. He is now assistant administrator of St. David's Hospital in Austin.

Hussein invited a number of friends in this country who had served with the State Department on foreign duty in Jordan.

Campaign Reports Are Due By Friday

Campaign expenses accounting for gifts, loans and other aid to candidates in the May 2 county primary must be filed with County Clerk Dora Davis by Friday.

Texas election laws order each candidate to list such accounts with the county clerk not less than seven nor more than ten days prior to the first primary.

PROFUMO TRIES HAND AS A SOCIAL WORKER

LONDON (AP) — John Profumo, his political career ended by scandal, has taken a new job as a social worker.

Five days a week the wealthy former war minister leaves his elegant West End home, and travels by subway to help the poor in the East End slums.

Friends say Profumo, 49, has had the job a month and is unpaid.

He works an eight-hour day at Toybee Hall, a soup-and-citizenship settlement named after the 19th century social reformer Arnold Toybee.

The settlement's warden, Walter Birmingham, told newsmen:

Profumo refused to talk about his work.

His secretary said: "He just wants to be left alone to get on with his new work. He is trying to build up his life again."

Profumo resigned as war minister last June after admitting he lied to the House of Commons to cover up his affair with Christine Keeler, 21, a prostitute who also for a time had been having an affair with a Soviet intelligence officer.

Christine is in London's Holloway Jail. She has served four months of a nine-month sentence for perjured testimony in an attempt to frame a former lover, Negro jazz singer Lucky Gordon.

Home And Garden Show To Be Held Saturday

With Nature cooperating in producing beautiful flowers, and Garden Club members cooperating in displaying them, an outstanding Home and Garden Show has been planned for Saturday by the Wichita Falls Garden Club of the Woman's Forum.

Beginning at 2 p.m. and lasting until 7 p.m., three gardens and two homes and the Woman's Forum will be on display for Wichitans to see exhibits of horticulture, and flowers of all kinds artistically arranged.

Mrs. Joe Bashara, 2201 Ellingham, will have her garden and her home open for the show and Mrs. Langdon H. Cullum Jr., 2306 Kirk, will have her home open. Arrangements and displays made by members of the club will be shown.

Gardens to be included on the tour will be Mrs. Jerry Vinson's, 2209 Clarinda, Mrs. Orison McDonald's, 2507 Juniper and Mrs. Bashara's.

In Mrs. Bashara's spacious home arrangements will be on view in the entrance hall, living room, dining room, family room, pink bedroom and dressing area.

In the Cullum home arrangements will be displayed in the entrance hall, living room, kitchen, family room and bathroom.

Table settings in the Woman's Forum will include a four place setting for dessert-bridge in the travel room; a luncheon setting in the gold room; terrace tables with barbecue buffet for four; snack table at the fireside lounge and a formal dinner in the director's room.

Junior Gardeners will display arrangements in the home of HARD AT WORK—Mrs. Jess H. Campbell, left, and Mrs. Harold R. Knotts will be in charge of judges and clerks for the Wichita Falls Garden Club of the Woman's Forum Saturday at the Home and Garden Show. A luncheon will be held in the Art Room of the Woman's Forum at 1:30 p.m. Saturday honoring all judges. The show hours are 2 to 7 p.m.

Mrs. Cullum, with flowers in the nursery and master bedroom. High School Gardeners will have flowers in the Bashara home on a highboy, walnut desk, record player table, bathroom and snack tables.

Potted plants, annuals, perennials, iris and roses will make up the horticulture exhibit at the Forum.

This first home and garden show, called "A Flowering Path," replaces the individual flower shows held each year by the study groups affiliated with the club. Mrs. Mack McDonald is chairman of the entire show.

Ann Landers Says

Strange Behavior Is Not Proof Dog Knows When Friday Comes

Dear Ann Landers: This is a true story so help me.

Our next door neighbors, the Kellys, went to Europe for three weeks. They left their cocker spaniel, "Lucky" with us. The first week Lucky didn't eat much. He was lonesome for the Kellys. The second week his appetite perked up but then on Friday he wouldn't eat the pieces of left-over roast. He just drank his water.

The next day Lucky ate fine and continued to eat well all through the week. When Friday came around he turned his nose up at the hamburger and refused to touch it.

Jokingly, my husband said, "You know, that darned dog eats like the Kellys — no meat on Friday." We all laughed. Just for the heck of it I opened a can of sardines and put it down for Lucky. He cleaned up the tin.

Now, I ask you, Ann Landers can a dog know when it is Friday? I wouldn't have believed it was possible, but I'm not so sure now. Comment, please.—ASTONISHED

Dear Astonished: Dogs do NOT know when it is Friday. Perhaps there is a logical explanation for this fascinating story but I don't know what it is. Maybe the Kellys will be able to come up with the answer when they get home.

Dear Ann Landers: Our teenage daughter just told us she is pregnant. She says the boy will not marry her. I don't believe she knows who the father of the child is. She wants to go to a home for unwed mothers and put the child up for adoption.

My husband and I want her to stay home and have the baby. If she doesn't want the baby after it is born, we would like to adopt it. The only thing that worries me is that I am in my middle fifties and not in the best of health. This daughter has made me terribly nervous. I'm not sure I have the patience and strength to take on the responsibilities of a newborn baby.

You seem to be able to see things so clearly, Ann. Will you kindly tell me what to do?—JUST HEARTSICK

Dear Just Heartsick: Please, for the sake of everyone involved (particularly the unborn child) let your daughter make this decision.

In my opinion, it would be far better if the girl followed her plan. Your proposal could mean disaster for all of you.

Dear Ann Landers: My daughter was asked to be a bridesmaid at the wedding of a girl she does not know very well. If my daughter says "yes" this will be the seventh wedding in the past three years in which she was asked to take part.

I know it is an honor, but it is also a heavy financial burden for middle-income people. Gwendolyn is in college, not a working girl, so you can see what the problems are.

Bridesmaids gowns, as you know, are selected by the bride and her mother. The girls have to pay for them whether they like them or not. Then there are shoes, head-pieces, and gloves to buy. Only one out of the six gowns Gwendolyn has bought looked good enough to wear elsewhere.

I am writing to ask if you feel it would be a slap in the face to the girl if Gwendolyn refused to serve unless she has a voice in the selection of the dresses. May we hear from you?—IRRITATED MOTHER

Dear Mother: Better Gwendolyn should say she is unable to serve — and be honest about the reason.

The bride and her mother do indeed (and should) select the bridesmaids' gowns. Gwendolyn would be way out of line if she asked for a voice in the selection.

Ann Landers' frank and informative new book, "Teen-Agers and Sex" ($2.95), is now available at your book store.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of Wichita Falls Record News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Women In The News

NOT ALL FOODS SHOULD BE WASHED BEFORE STORING

To wash or not to wash foods before putting them in the refrigerator is a frequent homemaking question. Knowing the right answer for the right item will help you keep food at top quality during its stay in the fresh food compartment.

Citrus fruits should be washed before storing. Rinse and drain oranges, grapefruit, lemons and limes thoroughly. Home economists also advise a cold water rinse for other fruits such as apples, peaches and pears.

Poultry also should be washed before refrigerating. Chicken, turkey and duckling should be cleaned for cooking, then drained and loosely wrapped. If you plan to keep it longer than a day or two before cooking, wrap the poultry in a moisture-proof, vapor-proof covering and place it in the freezer compartment.

Eggs, however, should not go near the water before being put in the refrigerator. Also on the "don't wash" list are berries. They should be spread out in a shallow container and stored in the fresh food compartment.

Further suggestions from home economists for most effective use of your refrigerator are these:

Be sure that food containers are clean. In addition, always air re-usable containers which have held "strong" foods such as onions and certain cheeses before using again. This is important to avoid the transfers of odors inside the refrigerator.

To save space in your crisper compartment, remove all unusable portions of vegetables before storing. There's no point in storing celery and radish leaves if you're only going to cut them off and throw them away later.

Thin People Aren't Relaxed

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—Isn't it true that underweight people are usually more energetic and ambitious than people of normal weight?

A—No. Dr. Ruth M. Leverton, noted American nutritionist, states in her book, "Food Becomes You": The energy and ambition of underweight people usually comes from nervousness and are short-lived. Such people tire more easily and are likely to have less stamina than people of normal weight. Extreme thinness makes them jumpy, jittery and tense instead of relaxed and poised.

Q—I'm thin but don't seem to want to eat more. Can you tell me why I don't eat more?

A—Quoting again from Dr. Leverton's "Food Becomes You," here is a sound answer to your question: This is probably a matter of habit. You think you "get full" with very little food. Your stomach is not in the habit of holding, as much food as you need because you have let it get out of the practice. Every time you sit down to a meal or to a snack try to eat three more bites than you think you want. These will not make you uncomfortable but will gradually get you into the habit of eating more.

Polly's Pointers Give Frames Pro Look

By POLLY CRAMER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DEAR POLLY — My hint will give a more professional look to the job if you ever mat and frame pictures yourself. After cutting out the inner square of the mat with a razor blade, use an emery board to smooth down the edges and corners.—BILLIE

DEAR POLLY — My darling 10-month-old boy's favorite pastime was to throw all of his toys out of the playpen. A sure cure was to put a large cardboard box in the playpen, put all of his toys in the box and he has a ball. Yes, he still throws all of the toys out of the box but they stay in the pen. Hope this saves other backs as it has saved me.—MRS. E.E.M.

DEAR POLLY — Like many other housewives, I have too little storage space and have to keep my good china packed away upstairs. When it was needed, I had to rummage through several boxes to assemble the various pieces needed to make the required number of place settings. I solved the problem by dividing my china into place settings and packing two, four or six settings together in smaller boxes and marking them. In one box I put all the extra serving pieces such as cream and sugar, gravy boat, meat platter and so on. Now when I need service for two, four or six, all I need do is to select the proper boxes and the needed pieces are all together.

To clean dust out of the ridges in furniture that are too narrow for using a dustcloth, I use a cotton-tipped stick. Moisten the cotton tip just enough so that it will pick up the dirt and then run down the ridge from end to end. Follow with a dry cotton tip, being sure to dry the wood. Unless the tip is unusual wet, there should be no water spots left on the furniture.—BOBBY

GIRLS—This last idea of Bobby's is basically good and would start us off in good fashion, but I would moisten the cotton tip with furniture polish rather than water so there would be no danger of spotting the furniture.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY — When teaching a baby the art of drinking from a glass, hold a sponge under his chin. This is real help for new mothers like me and encourages one to keep on pursuing what could be a messy task. The baby comes out without a drip. It is really great!—JANET

DEAR POLLY — Recently a hint was given for defrosting the refrigerator but I think I have a better solution to help with that unpleasant job. I simply place a few layers of newspaper in the cold oven and then place all the frozen foods on the papers and then put more newspapers on top of the food. As the oven is insulated, there is no trouble with anything thawing out before you are ready to return it to the freezer section.

When making a lot of hors d'oeuvres for a party, make a tray out of two thicknesses of cardboard and cover with aluminum foil. So they can be stacked in the refrigerator, cut paper towel cardboard rollers into pieces that can stand up as supports for trays on top. Cover with plastic wrap and they will stay fresh until time for serving.—MRS. M.V.O.

ROSES BLOOM in everlasting freshness of a dress with party airs by Sabina Frocks. Styled with tiny gathered sleeves and feminine bouffant skirt, this charming dress has a nipped in waistline accented with a green velvet sash. Though the fabric of Eastman Kodol polyester, nylon and cotton has a silky "party look"

it's deceptively practical, because it resists wrinkles, washes easily, and requires little or no ironing. "Peace Through Understanding" is the message of the Unisphere built by United States Steel for the New York World's Fair (seen here in the background).

350 Expected For P-TA Women In District Meeting Friday

About 350 delegates from Parent-Teacher Associations in District 13 are expected to attend the one-day conference Friday to be held at the First Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Red Lambeth of Vernon, president, will be in charge.

"We, the P-TA, cooperate in the school story" is the theme of the conference. Fifth grade students from Ben Franklin School, directed by Mmes. Bonnie Jefferies and Margaret Parham, will emphasize the theme with a program to be given during the morning session.

Mrs. John Toombs of Irving, state vice president, will be principal speaker for the morning program, and Mrs. Vernon Jackson of Grand Prairie will be a special guest speaker.

The ROTC unit from Rider High School will present the flags to open the program officially, and Supt. Keith Swim, district chairman of citizenship and legislation, will lead in pledge to the flag. Mrs. Johnny Martin of Seymour, cultural arts chairman, will lead in singing the national anthem.

The Rev. Earle Crawford, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, will give the invocation and Joe B. McNeil, superintendent of schools, will welcome delegates. Robert Cathren of the Chamber of Commerce also will give a welcome. Mrs. Peter Kizis, president of Fain School P-TA, will respond.

Presidents' reports and other business will be disposed of during the morning.

Friday afternoon yearbooks and publicity books will be displayed and awards will be made. Mrs. R. E. Lovett will give awards for the Family Living series; Mrs. H. G. Blanton will announce life memberships and Mrs. J. I. Caswell will give awards for leadership and parliamentary courses.

Local presidents will be announced by Mrs. W. T. Zimmerman. A panel composed of Mrs. Leon C. Price of Dallas; Supt. Keith Swim, E. B. Fincher, Mrs. Vernon Jackson of Grand Prairie, Supt. Joe B. McNeil, Warren Silver, new member of the Wichita Falls school board; Dr. Lois Martin, counselor at Zundelwitz Junior High and Mrs. Valda Jones, will be presented. New officers will be installed and plans for the 1966 conference will be announced.

JUNIOR TRAVEL CLUB ENDS YEAR WITH TWO REVIEWS

The Junior Travel Club completed its year's study, "Literary Orbit" at a luncheon meeting Wednesday at the Woman's Forum. Mrs. E. S. Spragins and Mrs. J. Will Gray appeared on the program.

Mrs. John W. Loden was introduced as a new member and yearbooks for 1964-65 were distributed. The study theme will be "Today's World."

Mrs. Gray reviewed "Israeli Stories: A Selection of the Best Contemporary Hebrew Writing."

She explained the stories reflected both the European-nurtured tradition and the point of view of writers who either were born in Israel or were childhood immigrants. Joel Blacker edited the collection of stories.

Mrs. Spragins' review was "The Fine Art of Literary Mayhem," which she termed an informative, entertaining and gossipy book outlining famous literary feuds. Myrick Land, the author, described the verbal beatings which Dr. Samuel Johnson gave and received from Lord Chesterfield; the quarrels between William Thackeray and Charles Dickens and feuds between other early and modern writers.

Tables for the luncheon were centered with arrangements of spring flowers. Mrs. Frank Wolf, president, heard reports from Mrs. Grover C. Johnson and Mrs. Clyde Brannan.

Fort Worth Pianist Entertains Club

KNOX CITY, Tex. (Special)—A fine arts program was presented to members of the Knox City 1946 Study Club Tuesday at the First Baptist Church.

Mrs. Curtis Hines presented Don Norris of Fort Worth who gave the program of piano selections from Chopin, Handel and Brahms. Norris is a former music director of the Baptist church here and is now completing work on his degree at the Southwestern Baptist Seminary.

Hostesses were Mmes. Jerry Odom, Don Railsback, John Egenbacher and A. J. Keathley.

The last meeting of the year will be a supper May 5 at the Woman's Club. Officers to serve for the next year will be installed.

Choose Proper Container For Freezing All Foods

Proper packaging is one of the keys to successful food freezing at home. So if you plan to freeze and store fresh fruits and vegetables now coming on the market, make sure you have enough of the right kind of food containers on hand.

While freezing foods is a fairly simple procedure, the results can be ruined by packaging that isn't air-tight, or that splits and cracks in the freezer. The deterioration of foods under these conditions is commonly known as "freezer burn."

The right packaging also makes it more convenient to store foods neatly in the freezer, thus conserving space and making it easier to remove the foods for use.

Here are some tips home economists give for selecting and using food containers:

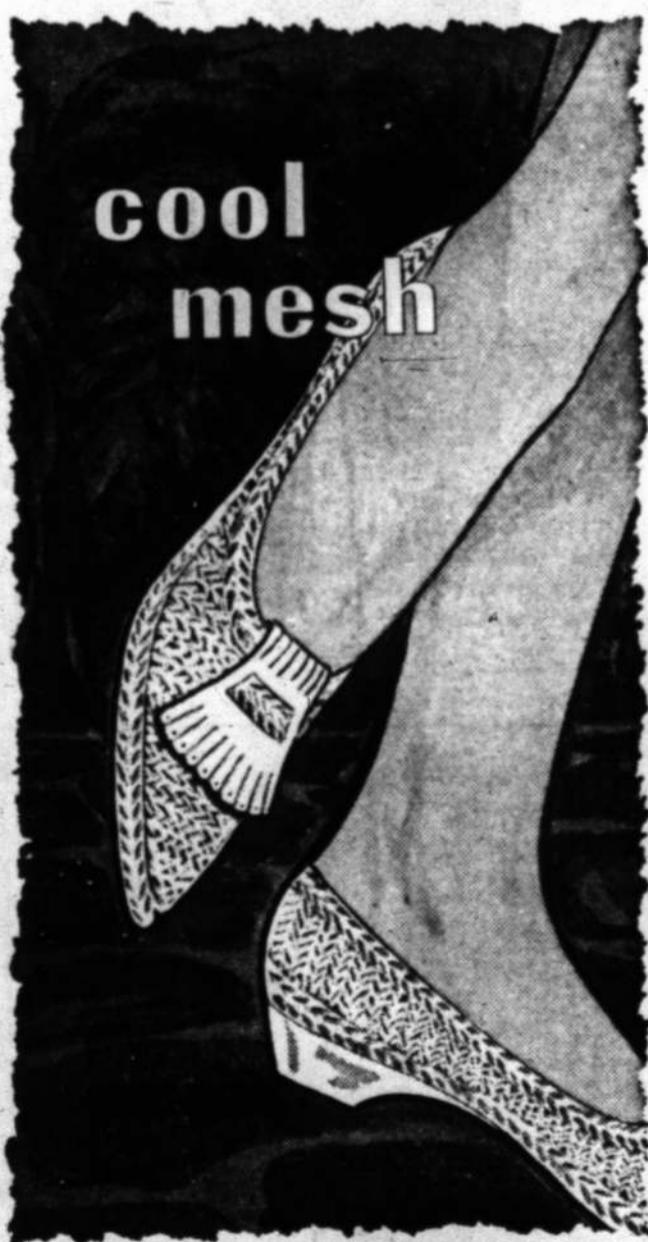

1. Choose containers with walls flexible enough to "give" under the expansion that takes place when food is frozen, yet thick enough to resist cracking or bursting under very low temperatures. Flexible walls also make it easy to pop out the food for use.
2. Self-sealing tops are a major convenience; they need no additional taping or heat sealing.
3. The container should have markings to indicate how high the contents should be before freezing. If you fill to this marking, the expansion that takes place as the food freezes will fill the remaining space, thus forming an air-tight seal. Never over-fill the container.
4. Square or rectangular containers make the best use of space and can be stacked easily during freezer storage. Make sure you choose containers that don't stick together or freeze to metal surfaces.
5. Containers with "see-through" walls that let you see the contents speed the job of identifying the foods you want when you're searching through the freezer.
6. Have a variety of sizes on hand, in keeping with the size of your family. Freezettes, for example, are available in 12 oz., pint, 1 1/2 pint, quart, 1/2 gallon, and gallon sizes. If in doubt—between putting up pints, quarts, or gallons, for example—remember it's easier to thaw contents of two small containers than one big one.
7. Choose containers that are easy to clean and can be re-used over and over again; you'll save money in the long run.

Frierson-Belcher Marriage Announced

HASKELL, Tex. (Special)—Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Smith of Fort Worth are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Gwen Belcher, to Ronald Frierson, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Frierson.

The couple were married in Waurika, Okla., March 15.

The newlyweds are living in Cisco where both are students at Cisco Junior College. The bride, a freshman, is a member of the college choir; Frierson is a sophomore and is in the college band, the stage band and the college combo. He was graduated from Haskell High School.

Medications Are Usually Timed For Certain Specified Ailments

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: What factors determine whether medications should be taken before, during or after meals? — T.C.M.

A sane, sensible question! It depends on the purpose of the medicine, sometimes on its irritating qualities (or "side effects"), and others.

Aspirin, for example, taken on an empty stomach can irritate the membranes of that organ to the point of bleeding. Not much, but a little. Taken with or after meals, it is less likely to do this. Aspirin is a good drug but it can have its bad points, so we guard against them. That's true of nearly any medicine.

Preparations designed to stimulate the appetite are taken before a meal. Those intended to aid digestion (such as dilute hydrochloric acid for some people, or digestive enzymes) are taken with a meal.

In cases of hyperacidity (excess acid in the stomach; a common problem with ulcers) a drug to neutralize acid is most effective when taken one or two hours after a meal, because the acidity is high then, but the stomach is nearly empty.

Drugs to reduce spasm in relation to eating are taken either before or after eating, and the choice depends on when the patient gets the best results.

In some forms, penicillin, when taken by mouth, is more effectively absorbed on an empty stomach or before a meal.

Meals are used for the timing of medicines which should be spaced four to six hours apart. Thus "taken at mealtimes" or "three times a day" is no more than a convenient way of remembering when to take them.

When a medication is prescribed daily and continuously, breakfast is a good time to take it. Digitalis is an example. Also the diuretic (water releasing drugs) are best taken in the morning so the patient is not inconvenienced by excessive urination at night.

These are the main considerations but obviously there can be other special cases. So follow the doctor's directions, even if, on occasion, the purpose is just to help you build a habit of taking the medication at a certain time.

Dear Dr. Molner: Does sinus trouble cause distress in back of the eyes and at the temple? I enclose 20 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope for a copy of your booklet, "You Can Stop Sinus Trouble."—MRS. I. H.

Yes, those areas, particularly around the eyes, can ache because of congested sinuses. The booklet explains all about sinus trouble.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is there something wrong when the stool is black? Or greenish-black? I am 64 and have not felt up to par in recent months. I have pains in the upper part of my stomach, chest and back. I am not fat, but I went on a diet of greens to see if I could get rid of stomach bloating. I lost five pounds but it didn't do much for my stomach. I am 5 feet 7 and weigh 155. — MRS. W. F.

Some foods, especially those containing iron, can cause the stool to be black, so the diet of greens might (or might not) be the cause in your case. If the blackish color is present when you eat an ordinary diet, report this fact to your doctor at once. Bleeding in the upper intestinal tract can cause this color. The symptom should not be ignored. (Incidentally, a "diet of greens" is not well-balanced, hence not the best way to lose weight safely.)

Are you bothered with ringing in the ears? If so, write to Dr. Molner in care of the Wichita Falls Record News for the booklet, "Ear Noises — Their Causes and Cures," enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Select Type Permanent To Suit You

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS
Tried and tested to the hilt, home permanents are practically foolproof these days—IF you select the right type for your kind of hair, and if you follow all instructions to the letter. You mustn't expect any more of a wave kit than it will claim. If you've been disappointed in previous waves, it's more than probable that you should shop around for another type.

After you've found one better suited to your needs and wants, study the directions scrupulously — remember, manufacturers keep on testing and making changes. Then, for even more assurance of near-professional results, you might incorporate these special "tricks" into the technique the wave-maker recommends:

1. Use only lukewarm (not hot) water for the shampoo before the permanent.
2. Make a special effort to have soft water for the entire permanenting process... even for the shampoo, if possible. You can collect rainwater in advance or treat the hard water with one of the water-softening products.
3. Cream your forehead and around your hairline before applying wave lotion. Use a heavy cold cream or a thick layer of petroleum jelly; you'll save your eyes and complexion.
4. Of course, you've already prepared your hair for the permanent by trimming away any split and broken ends and traces of the last permanent (because the directions are explicit on this). But, if you're left with locks that still retain some old permanent but are too short to cut further, use water instead of wave lotion while winding. After all curls are wound, you can leave on all the lotion.
5. Experiment with rod-sizes, if you'd like to make some adjustment in the elasticity of your wave without changing formula. Large rods will give softer, wider waves. Use regular rods where you want tight curls... but save the midgets only for the nape.
6. If you suspect that your last failure was due to too much hair and too little lotion, invest in two kits for your next attempt. This is the price you must pay for that much-envied heavy crop or for that crowning glory more than 8 inches long.
7. When neutralizing is complete, add cream-rinse to that pre-softened water for your last rinse. This will prevent tangling and tearing your fresh-curled hair during that all-important first combing and setting.

Jacoby On Bridge

By OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Virginia Floehm of Wilmette, Ill., uses several hands in teaching the use of the takeout double. They are designed to illustrate points in both bidding and play.

North has a very strong takeout double of West's opening diamond bid. East attempts to interrupt his opponents' line of communication by jumping to three diamonds and South is rather happy about the whole thing. He has no desire to bid with his piece of cheese.

So North doubles a second time and it is up to South to respond. He has a blank hand, but Virginia points out that the fact that your hand is almost worthless does not excuse you from the responsibility of responding to a takeout double, thus South bids three spades.

Probably that three spade call will be made in the voice of a man being slowly strangled, but that should not hold North back. He will bid four spades anyway and it will be up to South to play the game contract.

He will win the opening club lead in dummy and will note that he cannot afford to play trumps right away.

He sees one loser in each suit, but can get rid of his club loser if he can get a discard on a heart. Therefore, it is up to him to knock out the ace of hearts immediately. He does that. Clubs are continued, but he is able to take his club discard in time.

Flower Arranging Program Given For BSP Chapter

A program on flower arranging was presented by Mrs. Paul Urban and Mrs. John Carson for members of Lambda Gamma chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Tuesday evening. The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Phil Heacock, 3230 Seymour Road with Mrs. Billy Thom as co-hostess.

Mrs. Heacock and Mrs. Don Drake discussed travel.

During the business session it was announced that Mrs. Jerry Thomason and Mrs. Drake of Lambda Gamma chapter have been elected as first vice president and recording secretary, respectively, of Faith City Council.

The group presented a gift to Mrs. Gary Lindberg who is moving to Alaska. Refreshments were served to 18 members and four guests.

The next meeting will be the installation banquet May 5 in the River Oaks Motel.

Double Living Room Is Back In Style

Double living rooms are coming back in style. One outstanding setting at the New York Decoration and Design Show featured twin-tufted latex foam rubber sofas at opposite ends of a long narrow room. Octagonal rug-shaped designs in the white vinyl floor defined the two main conversation areas. The room was ingeniously divided for separate activities by a centrally placed game table that could also be used for serving or dining.

A Unloved Basement

A dreary basement is the most useless space in the house. A modern gas heating system can change that, says the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association. The 1964 systems are compact, streamlined in design and can be confined to a very small area. Space-hogging fuel tanks or coal bins can be eliminated, too. In addition to freeing new space for living and hobbies, gas heat creates a healthful climate, too.

Mangum Brick Plant To Double Production

MANGUM, Okla. (Special) — Small Business Administration has approved a 20-year loan for

Christian Science Topic Is Probation

A Bible Lesson on "Probation After Death" will be heard at Christian Science churches next Sunday. A major theme of the Lesson will be brought out in these readings: "Work out your own salvation with fear and trembling. For it is God which worketh in you both to will and to do of his good pleasure... That you may be blameless and harmless, the sons of God" (Phil. 2). "This task God demands us to accept lovingly to-day, and to abandon so fast as practical the material, and to work out the spiritual which determines the outward and actual" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 254).

$288,000 to the Mangum Development Corporation.

Dr. Fred W. Sellers, president of the corporation, said the money in turn will be loaned to Mangum Brick and Tile for construction of a new plant and modernization of manufacturing methods.

Roy Doyle, president of Mangum Brick and Tile, said the new plant will be located on a 60-acre tract of land on Highway 283 north of Mangum. Total cost of the new plant will be about $500,000. The new equipment will be able to produce one million bricks per month, more than twice the current output of 450,000. Existing clay pits near the city will continue to be used. The city brick plant has been operating in Mangum since 1909.

The Mangum Development Corporation includes a group of business and professional men organized to attract new industry and promote existing industry. Directors are Dr. Sellers, James P. Garrett, Warren Broome, Ben Langdon, Doyle and Vernon Sparkman.

Dr. H. H. Hollowell Announces Sermons

Dr. Howard H. Hollowell will preach at both the morning and evening hours of worship at First Methodist on April 26. His topic for the 10:30 a.m. worship will be "What Shall We Do?" The Bethlehem Choir will sing the anthem "I Would We Lived as Angels Do," and the Chancel Choir will sing "Mighty Spirit," "All transcending."

At the 7:30 evening worship, Dr. Hollowell's topic will be "Faithfulness in Little Things." The Epworth and Aldersgate Choirs will sing "Show me Thy ways, O Lord."

All new members who have united with First Methodist Church since November 1, 1963, will be honored guests at dinner in Fellowship Hall on Wednesday, April 29. They will be sponsored by members of longer standing. This occasion is under the direction of the Commission on Membership and Evangelism, Warren Silver, chairman, and Rev. J. W. Polk, minister of visitation. Dr. Hollowell will be the featured speaker of the evening.

"Whirling dervish" refers to a worldwide Moslem religious order of mystics devoted to religious music and song.

taking session that formally wrapped up settlement of the railroad work rules dispute, Johnson told negotiators for both sides: "Well, fellows, you did a great job. I'm mighty proud of you and the nation is mighty proud of you." (AP Wirephoto)

Scholar Claims Mystery Solved

By DORMAN CORDELL

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—A literary scholar who claims to have solved the greatest mystery of William Shakespeare's sonnets — the identity of "Mr. W. H." to whom they were dedicated — says he even knows where to find a picture of the man.

Several scholars have maintained the sonnets were written to the Earl of Southampton or the Earl of Pembroke, but their evidence generally was considered flimsy.

Dr. Leslie Hotson said in an interview and in a lecture Thursday, the Bard's 400th birthday, that he has conclusive proof that "Mr. W. H." was William Hatcliffe of Lincolnshire.

House Of Jacob To Honor Seniors

A special program has been arranged for the Friday evening service at the Congregation House of Jacob, 3414 Kemp.

Recognition will be given the following high school seniors: Gary Bergelofsky, son of Dr. and Mrs. Dan Bergelofsky; Preston Ribnick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ribnick; Mark Satin, son of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Satin; Alan Stanton, son of Dr. and Mrs. Bernard Stanton; Pamela Wolfson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isadore J. Wolfson and Robert Zinn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Zinn.

Rabbi Morris Goodman will speak on "The Student of the Future." The graduating students will participate. The program is to start at 8 p.m.

Following the service parents of the students will be hosts to the congregation in honor of their children in the Jacob Winer Community Center.

Hotson is a research associate in English at Yale.

Attempts Mistaken About the sonnets, he said: "My evidence shows that all the previous attempts at identifying the friend are mistaken. No one has ever made any proof which is from evidence in the sonnets themselves. But I go at it right from the sonnets." But who was William Hatcliffe?

"He is previously unknown to scholarship," said Hotson, "but Shakespeare's London knew him."

Hotson said he has evidence that Nicholas Hilliard's "Youth Leaning Against a Tree Among Roses"—famous English miniature—is a portrait of Hatcliffe. Hotson has written a book, "Mr. W. H.," published this week in London, that describes his research.

Many Allusions It reports he concluded from the many references or allusions to a king or sovereign, Shakespeare must have been writing to some royal male, although England then had a queen.

He finally decided the subject had been a Winter Prince from one of the Inns of Court, roughly the equivalent of college of law.

Next, Hotson concluded they dated from the period 1587-90. Hotson came across a book listing the cast of a comedy presented before an Inn of the Court—in 1588. It noted that the play was presented by a Winter Prince—William Hatcliffe.

Hotson was convinced he had his man when he found that the Hatcliffe coat of arms contained four-leaved figures known among heraldry experts as true-loves. The theme of the sonnets is true love.

Hotson said he also found some 40 hidden interweaving of variations of Hatcliffe's name in the sonnets.

Roberts Helps Orioles Split

BALTIMORE (AP) — Norm Siebern's eighth-inning single drove home the only run in the second game as Baltimore's veteran Robin Roberts edged young Dave Morehead of Boston 1-0 in a pitching duel Thursday night.

Steve Barber, ace of the Baltimore pitching staff, was removed after one inning of the opener when he injured a back muscle.

Barber, the only 20-game winner in Baltimore's modern major league history, was treated in the club house. It was not known immediately when he will return to action.

Morehead, 20, duelled the 37-year-old Roberts for seven innings on even terms. But with one out in the eighth, consecutive singles by Jack Brandt, Luis Aparicio and Siebern produced the only run.

Colt Errors Open Door For Redlegs

Johnson's No-Hitter Wasted

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston's Ken Johnson pitched the first no-hitter of the season Thursday night, but was beaten by his former Cincinnati teammates 1-0 when the Reds scored in the ninth on two errors.

It was the first time in major league history that a pitcher had hurled nine no-hit innings and lost.

Cincinnati played the game under protest because of a disputed play in the bottom half of the ninth inning.

The last pitcher to lose a no-hitter was Pittsburgh's Harvey Haddix, who went 12 innings against Milwaukee in 1959 before the Braves won 1-0 in the 13th inning.

Johnson, a 30-year-old knuckleball specialist drafted from the Reds in the 1961 National League expansion draft, placed himself in jeopardy by one out in the ninth when he fielded a bunt by Pete Rose and threw wild to first base.

Johnson then got Chico Ruiz to hit a grounder to third baseman Bob Aspromonte, who threw out the runner as Rose reached third.

Vada Pinson then sent a grounder to veteran second baseman Nellie Fox, who booted the ball. Rose raced across the plate with the only run of the game.

The Colts thus went to the bottom of the ninth trailing 1-0 with Cincinnati starter Joe Nuxhall working on a five-hitter.

Before the inning got underway, umpire Stan Landes ejected Houston Coach Jim Adair. There was no immediate report why Adair had been thrown out.

Eddie Kasko, the first Houston batter, struck out. Fox then grounded to shortstop Lee Cardenas and was thrown out.

Pete Runnels, a former American League batting champion, was the third batter for the Colts. He rapped a grounder to first baseman Deron Johnson, who threw to Nuxhall covering at first base.

Landes called Runnels out, but was reversed by home plate umpire Augie Donatelli.

Runnels was awarded first base, and after the Reds announced the game was being played under protest, play resumed.

Nuxhall now faced Johnny Weekly, and proceeded to strike him out.

Johnson had pitched a spectacular game until he began his own downfall. He had walked only two men, both on 3-2 pitches — Pinson in the first inning and Bob Skinner in the fifth.

Only three balls were hit out of the infield.

Ruiz lofted an easy fly to right field in the first, and Johnny Edwards flew out to center in the fifth.

Robinson's fly in the ninth was the third one.

There also had been only one tough fielding play. In the sixth, Nuxhall laid down a bunt. Johnson came off the mound quickly, fielded the ball cleanly and fired to first, the peg just nipping the Cincinnati pitcher.

The Colts got their first batter on base in both the seventh and eighth innings but were unable to get a run for Johnson.

Fox singled to center leading off the seventh, and went to third when Cardenas let Runnels' grounder go through his legs. Then came an unusual play that pulled Nuxhall out of difficulty.

Weekly grounded to Cardenas, who fired to third base, catching Fox off the bag. Runnels, running on the play, tried to reach third as Fox was run down but was thrown out.

Aspromonte fired to left fielder Skinner for the final out of the inning.

Wynn doubled to center to lead off the eighth, but Jim Beauchamp struck out, and Jerry Grote fouled out. At this point, Johnson came to bat but was unable to win his ball game, raising a soft fly to Skinner.

Johnson's no-hitter was the first for a Houston pitcher since Don Nottebart no-hit Philadelphia 4-1 on May 17 last year. There were three no-hitters pitched in the majors last season, all in the National League.

It was the first no-hitter pitched against Cincinnati since 1941.

Hirschi Trio Steps Mineral Wells, 5-2

MINERAL WELLS — Three Hirschi pitchers limited Mineral Wells to four hits and the Huskies chalked up their fifth victory of the season without loss, 5-2, here Thursday afternoon.

Billy Tanner was credited with the win, his third of the season, although he needed help from Mike Willis and Kenny Reynolds in the late stanzas.

David Barker, pinch hitter Doug Tanner and Pete Padron provided the muscle at the plate for the Wichita Falls school.

Barker was two for four with an RBI while Tanner and Padron collected two run singles in the seven-hit Hirschi attack.

The visitors jumped to an early lead with a pair of tallies in the first. David Brasier walked and Fred Berry singled, taking second on a late throw to third base.

Padron cracked a grounder to second and the throw to the plate resulted in an error allowing Brasier to score. Barker singled and Berry scored to make it 2-0.

In the third, Padron walked, Barker singled and took second on another late throw to third. Tanner, hitting for Danny Daugherty, lined a double down the right field line and it was 4-0 Hirschi before Mineral Wells scratched.

The Mountaineers got a run in the fifth on two hits and a walk, then tightened the gap on a walk, stolen base and a single in the sixth.

Hirschi wrapped up the scoring in the top of the seventh when Berry walked, took second on a passed ball and came around on Padron's safety.

Hirschi plays the Mountaineers again Saturday at Wichita Falls. Game time is 1 p.m. at Spudder Park.

Dodgers Halt Overtime Goal Squares Series In Stanley Cup Slide, 7 To 5

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A two-run single by rookie John Werhas in the eighth inning gave Los Angeles a 7-5 victory over St. Louis Thursday night and ended the Dodgers' losing streak at seven games.

The third baseman's tie-breaking hit off Bobby Shantz followed two walks by losing reliever Ron Taylor and a safe bunt on an attempted sacrifice.

Shantz struck out Lee Walls before Werhas delivered.

The Cardinals kayped Dodgers starter Don Drysdale and tied the score in the seventh. Curt Flood's double off reliever Ron Perranoski sent across the run that made it 5-5.

Flood earlier had singled home one run and cracked a two-run homer.

Perranoski blanked the Cardinals in the last two innings for the victory that was the Dodgers' first since Sandy Koufax shut out St. Louis in the opener.

Frank Howard hit a solo home run, his fourth, for the Dodgers in the fifth. Flood hit his homer in the fifth after Doug Clemens smashed a pinch-hit double.

The Red Wings had only one shot on the Toronto net in the overtime but Johnny Bower easily flipped it aside.

The goal was Baun's second of the playoff. He had scored only four in the entire National Hockey League season.

Baum was taken off the ice on a stretcher in the third period with an apparent ankle injury.

He returned to the bench in less than two minutes and continued to take his regular skating turns.

Bob Pulford put the Maple Leafs ahead with the only goal of the first period, scoring while Toronto had a man in the penalty box.

The five other markers came in a fast-skating second period with Paul Henderson, Pit Martin, and Gordie Howe scoring for Detroit and Pulford and Billy Harris for the Maple Leafs.

Detroit twice took the lead in that second period but could not keep its advantage.

Speedrome Races Slated Saturday

More than 40 stock cars are expected for the race program Saturday night at Red River Speedrome when a highlight of the program will be the return of Leon Cotton, last season's high point driver.

Claude Tanner, Wichita Falls racing promoter, said Cotton was due back to the lineup after living briefly in the Houston area.

A mechanic's race will be an extra for the program of eight regular race events in more than 100 laps of racing including three heats, a trophy dash, two semi-finals, an oval-track feature and a figure-eight feature.

MU Golfers 13 Off Pace

ABILENE — Midwestern took over fifth place at the end of the first round in the Abilene Invitational College Golf Tournament Thursday. The Indians are 13 strokes off the 286 pace set by Eastern New Mexico and Stephen F. Austin of Nacogdoches.

Jack Kinley of Eastern New Mexico, Mickey Bruce of East Texas State and Eddie Chapman of Stephen F. Austin fired three under par 69s to move into the lead for medalist honors.

Midwestern's John Barnett fired an even par 72 and is tied for eighth place.

The Indians had a team total of 286, which is 10 strokes over par. Five players compete for each team with the highest score cut out of the team total.

Barnett set the pace with Ted Norwood a stroke behind. Jimmy Castledine had a 76 and Tommy Beck a 77. The fifth member, Larry Hanvey, skied to an 83.

Three Day Electra Golf Tourney Set

ELECTRA, Tex. (Special) — Bill Randall of Wichita Falls will defend his title to the championship in the 13th Annual Jaycee Golf Tournament to be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday on the Electra Country Club links.

Jack Hesse, Jaycee president, received news Tuesday that Randall who won the championship in the 1963 Jaycee tourney and two weeks ago won the crown in the Weeks Park Tournament in Wichita Falls, will be on hand for the meet.

R. J. Thompson and Woody Bryant are co-chairmen of the tourney committee and they report the course in excellent condition.

Qualification rounds for all except the championship flight will begin Friday morning.

First round match play will begin Saturday morning. It is hoped to have second round pairings completed Saturday afternoon. With fair weather the tourney will wind up Sunday afternoon.

First, second and consolation winners in all flights will be awarded trophies and gift certificates.

Weinert Footballer Signs With ACC

HASKELL, Tex. (Special) — Johnny Cunningham, Weinert High School's football and track star for the past four years, has signed a pre-enrollment application to attend Abilene Christian College.

Cunningham, six feet and 165, has been Weinert's tailback and top running back for the past three years. He made the all-district team three successive seasons, and was one of the contributing factors to Weinert's regional football championship in 1963.

Cunningham, the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Cunningham, of Route 1, Goree, won four football letters at Weinert.

Spokane Rookie Hurts No-Hitter At Rangers

DALLAS (AP) — Rookie Bill Singer, a 19-year-old right-hander, pitched the first no-hitter in Dallas in 10 years Thursday night as Spokane blanked the Dallas Rangers 3-0 in the seven-inning opener of a Pacific Coast League doubleheader.

Singer, property of the Los Angeles Dodgers, walked two and struck out three. Jim Hughes' smash to left field leading off the first and Ricardo Joseph's hard hit to the mound in the seventh were the only tough plays.

Wheat Futures Strengthened

CHICAGO (AP)—Brisk speculative short covering at times strengthened the May wheat future on the Board of Trade but May soybeans came under active liquidation and turned weak.

Other contracts generally showed minor changes most of the time in rather quiet dealings. Brokers said the support for May wheat was linked with growing belief that stocks in Chicago commercial positions might become tight within the next few weeks.

The pressure in soybeans appeared to reflect a belief that the Government's coming report on stocks in all positions April 1 will be bearish. Wheat was 1/2 to 2/3 cents a bushel higher at the close, May 2.03 1/4; soybeans 1/4 to 2/3 cents lower, May $2.54 1/4; corn unchanged to 1/2 cent lower, May $1.23 1/2; oats 1/2 to 1 cent lower, May 64 1/2 cents; rye 1/2 to 1 1/2 higher, May $1.29 1/4.

20 DAYS AFTER TORNADO'S VISIT

Red Cross Disaster Operation Ends

A total of 800 inquiries were received, with answers accounting for $1,000 of the total spent. Wagner said, concerning his experience here, "I have been engaged in this type of work for some 30 years and never before have I experienced the same degree of cooperation."

Tom Wagner, disaster director, said, in announcing the cost: "That's considerable less than I thought we would have to spend when I first inspected the disaster areas."

He said most victims carried insurance on their property, resulting in the Red Cross having to spend less than anticipated. Temporary disaster office at the former location of Times Publishing Co. at Seventh and Scott will remain open, at least for the present, to serve as headquarters of the Small Business Administration.

A summary of storm damage listed by Wagner included: Seven persons killed; A total of 128 injured; Seventeen requiring hospital treatment lasting more than 24 hours with two remaining in the hospital Thursday.

A total of 205 homes destroyed; 85 with major damage; 235 with minor damage; 20 mobile homes destroyed; 10 with major damage and 10 with minor damage.

Madge Francis, chairman of the Wichita County Red Cross Chapter's public information committee, listed the following post-tornado activity: Applications for assistance received, 105. Action was taken on 95 of the requests. She said the 10 requests not acted upon all resulted when persons who rendered initial applications failed to return to follow up on their applications.

MU Student Government Vote Held

Heading Midwestern University's Student Government during the 1964-65 school year will be Harvey Martz, president; Jerry Thoele, vice president; and Paula Connolly, secretary.

In a runoff election, Martz defeated Garth Lewis by 135 votes. Martz is currently serving as vice president of the Student Government.

Thoele received 414 votes to edge out his opponent Larry Janes with 304. Miss Connolly, with 380 ballots, defeated Linda Thompson, who had 331.

New senators-at-large include Dean Crone, place three, and Terry Brand, place four. Place one is held by Andy Kiryakakis and place two by Judy Harsard.

Heading the junior class will be Larry Janes, president; Donna Graham, vice president; Ann Moorehouse, secretary; and Margaret Bradley, SG representative.

Keith Swanson will serve as president of the sophomore class. Vice president is Mary Ellen DeVan and Ouida Brown, secretary. Student Government representative is Cindy Underwood.

Larry Murlette and Larry Don Davis Thursday were cited by the Wichita Falls Record News and Times for unselfish service through regular blood donations at the Red River Regional Blood Center.

In addition both were membership in the "Gallon Club" and received a lapel pin from Red Cross officials at the center. Murllette, who has rare AB positive blood found only in four out of 100 persons, is a teller at the First Wichita National Bank.

5 Youths Admit 45 Burglaries

Five youths, arrested Wednesday at the scene of two separate burglaries, cleared 45 previously unsolved burglaries, police reports said.

Two of the youths had committed 30 offenses and the other 15 had been committed by three brothers.

The boys responsible for the 30 offenses, 15 and 12, said they had burglarized service stations, railroad boxcars and residences. They were apprehended by the occupant of a residence they broke into Wednesday night. The burglaries had been committed over the past nine months.

The three brothers, 11, 12 and 15, were arrested as the result of a burglary of a western wear store.

They said they had burglarized 15 different premises during the past four months. Property admittedly stolen amounted to about $600. About two thirds, including a new television set, was recovered by police.

Two Named To Gallon Club

Larry Murlette and Larry Don Davis Thursday were cited by the Wichita Falls Record News and Times for unselfish service through regular blood donations at the Red River Regional Blood Center.

In addition both were membership in the "Gallon Club" and received a lapel pin from Red Cross officials at the center. Murllette, who has rare AB positive blood found only in four out of 100 persons, is a teller at the First Wichita National Bank.

He is also a member of the Civitan Club, the Air Force Reserve and the Lamar Baptist Church. Murllette, his wife and one son reside at 3006 Cunningham in Wichita Falls.

Davis, who is also a regular donor at the blood center, resides at 2813 Pennsylvania. He is a member of the First Baptist Church.

Blood donors are welcome at the center each Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. On Thursdays and Fridays the bloodmobile travels to counties in the 18-county region in North Texas and Southern Oklahoma, which participate in the regional blood program.

The meeting will be held in the council chambers on the third floor of Memorial Auditorium.

As previously announced, councilmen are expected to pass an ordinance providing for the issuance and sale of $375,000 worth of airport revenue bonds and approve final wording on a proposed contract for a fixed-base operator at the airport.

C-C Membership Drive Will Begin

A membership drive scheduled by Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce workers in conjunction with Chamber of Commerce Week May 4-9, will begin Tuesday, Glen Atkins, general chairman, said.

Some 130 chamber members will be working on the program to attract new members to the organization. The group will be divided into five teams with a team captain and 25 members on each.

The drive will end at the general membership rally May 7 at Rider High School. All prospective members will be issued invitations to the downtown stew feed, May 4, and the membership rally, May 7.

The Latin American Assembly of God Church, 203 Patterson, will hold a revival beginning Sunday and ending May 3. Rev. John Valenzuela of Lamesa will be the speaker.

Council Will Discuss Capital Improvements

Several items face members of the Wichita Falls City Council at their regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Aldermen are expected to discuss advertisement of bids on the new Central Fire Station, authorized in last June's $6.9 million capital improvements bond election. It is to be constructed at the former site of the First Presbyterian Church.

Bids will be awarded for lighting equipment for four baseball fields in city parks, and authorization to advertise for bids will be asked on the new animal control center. Engineers estimate that the control center will cost about $100,000.

As previously announced, councilmen are expected to pass an ordinance providing for the issuance and sale of $375,000 worth of airport revenue bonds and approve final wording on a proposed contract for a fixed-base operator at the airport.

Science Fair Tour Given Teacher Here

Mrs. D. C. Copelin, science teacher at Zundelwitz Junior High School here, has been awarded an expense-paid trip to the International Science Fair May 4-9 in Baltimore, Md., for her efforts in encouraging and producing winners in the Oilbelt Regional Science Fair-North.

The "surprise" trip is being provided by sponsors of the fair, held annually on the Midwestern University campus.

For the past two years, Mrs. Copelin's representative from Zundelwitz, John Boland, has taken first-place honors in the junior high school division. Since the winner in this division nor his teacher can go no farther, sponsors of the fair decided to reward the devoted teacher with a trip to the international fair.

Mrs. Copelin has stirred scientific interest in many students at the junior high level who went on to capture top awards in the regional fair at the high school level. Included in this group are 1962 sweepstakes winner Caroline Allen of Wichita Falls, now a student at Southern Methodist University, and Jimmy Worley, also of Wichita Falls, a junior at Midwestern University.

In addition to having the junior high winner in the 1964 fair, Mrs. Copelin's 15 students won 13 blue ribbons and five savings bonds.

Mrs. Copelin will leave at 7 a.m. Tuesday, May 5, for Baltimore and will arrive there shortly before noon. While in Baltimore, she will be in the Wichita Falls science fair party, which includes Dr. Arthur Beyer, regional fair director; James Boddy, Henrietta, and Tony Quisenberry, Quanah, sweepstakes winners; and their teachers, Jim Blasingame and John Greening.

In Baltimore, the group will visit many points of scientific interest, and Mrs. Copelin mentioned a side trip to Washington following the fair. The group will return to Wichita Falls Sunday, May 10.

A teacher at Zundelwitz for some 15 years, Mrs. Copelin received her B.A. degree from Oklahoma City University and her master's degree from Midwestern University in 1953, the first M.A. degree conferred by MU.

She is a member of Beta Beta Beta, honorary biology fraternity, Wichita Falls City Teachers' Association, Texas State Teachers Association, National Science Teachers Association, Woman's Forum and the Wichita Falls Coin Club.

Mrs. Copelin resides with her husband at 2005 Jones.

Dr. W. E. Wright Elected To Office

Dr. William E. Wright, pastor of the First Christian Church, will serve as the second vice president of the Texas Association of Christian Churches. He was elected during the 77th Annual Assembly of Texas Association of Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ) conference in Houston. The conference also voted Wichita Falls as their 1966 convention site.

Other officers include Dr. Dean Harrison, president; Mrs. Charles Bailey, first vice president; Mrs. Edith V. Richardson, secretary; and Kenneth F. Smith, treasurer.

Some 1,250 delegates voted to undertake the largest fund-raising program in the history of Texas Christian Churches.

Voting unanimously, the disciples delegates set in motion procedures to raise, in the next six years, $5,365,000 in capital fund gifts. Directing the campaign will be David V. Price of Fort Worth. Initial action of the campaign, ratified by the delegates from 500 Christian churches, was approved in February by the Association board of directors. To reach the goal an average gift of $10 per year will be needed from each of 100,000 Christian Church members. About one-half — $2,700,000 — will be used to establish 50 to 60 new churches.

Texas Christian University in Fort Worth will receive $600,000 to expand its seminary — Brite Divinity School.

Jarvis Christian College at Hawkins, a Disciples' Negro College, which will become the ninth academic unit of T. C. U., will receive $300,000.

The Disciples' Christian Campus Life program will get $300,000 to assist in constructing student centers at 17 colleges and universities in Texas. The first $17,000 of this amount is committed to campus work being done jointly by Disciples, Methodists and Presbyterians at Southwest Texas State College in San Marcos.

The sum of $300,000 will be used to construct a Christian Church headquarters building in Fort Worth. The remainder of the funds will be allocated to various national Disciples agencies.

Heart Attack Deaths

Each year, approximately 60,000 men die prematurely in the United States of heart attacks associated with cigarette smoking. The death rate from this cause is approximately equal to the estimated number of men who die prematurely of all other diseases associated with smoking, including lung cancer, according to the American Heart Association.

Patients At State Hospital Offered Business Training

By HAZEL KOHL

Thirty patients at the Wichita Falls State Hospital are enrolled in a business course taught by Mrs. Bettye Davis, part-time business teacher.

Mrs. Davis said the class is divided into two sections, advanced and beginning typing. This is one of the many programs at the hospital to help patients develop confidence in themselves and their ability and to prepare them for professional positions upon their release from the hospital.

Fifteen advanced students in the class are assigned through the nursing service to work in hospital departments, where they are able to gain experience through actual work routines.

Several students are interested in shorthand and are taking the dictation course in addition to the regular typing course. Mrs. Davis has three students taking advanced shorthand instruction.

In addition Mrs. Davis has several students working in Wichita Falls in part-time positions. The instructor said confidence gained by these patients from working outside the hospital has not only been beneficial to them, but to other patients who now hope for the same opportunity.

The biggest problem in placing patients in part-time positions is transportation.

Mrs. Davis also said a need exists for part-time positions for advanced patient-students. Anyone interested in assisting should contact the hospital's rehabilitation office or the Volunteer Service Department.

Speaker Predicts Boom In Tourism

Texas can look forward to a booming tourist industry, said Tom H. Taylor, director of the Travel and Information Bureau of the Texas Highway Department before members of the North Texas Restaurant Association Thursday night.

"But we have most to fear from complacency in developing an energetic travel promotion program," he added.

Taylor spoke at a dinner meeting of the Association in the El Toro Restaurant. His subject was "A Million More in '64." He pointed out that Texas entertained more out-of-state visitors last year than ever before.

"Some 11.7 million visitors spent about $52 million in the state last year," Taylor said. He pointed out that this had a terrific impact on the Texas economy — as it all represented new capital flowing into the state.

Some 10,000 non-resident vehicles bring 30,000 tourists to Wichita Falls each day, he said. If we apply the basic formula for travel spending, a program that would induce these visitors to stay over a day in Wichita Falls would boost the city's economy by more than $230,000 a day.

He pointed out that the city is served by both east-west and north-south arterial highways. U.S. Highway 281 connects the Central Plains with South Texas and the Rio Grande Valley. U.S. 287 is a major tourist route from the Gulf Coast to Fort Arthur to Yellowstone National Park, and a feeder to Glacier National Park in Montana and Canada.

U.S. Highway 82 links the east coast and the Southwest, spanning the mid-South from near Georgia to Las Cruces, N.M.

Taylor also cited the newly-announced H. E. Bailey Turnpike from Oklahoma City south to the Red River and Wichita Falls, a major leg of the proposed Trans-America Expressway.

Wichitan Charged In Swindling Case

Charges of swindling by worthless check over $50 were filed Thursday against Gerald P. Hodgkins, 23, a Wichita Falls oil field worker.

Hodgkins is charged with writing a $100 check in payment for a 1946 Dodge automobile.

Charged with the burglary of the East Side Junior High School at 700 Flood was Ike Williams Jr., 28-year-old Wichita Falls Negro.

Williams allegedly took a typewriter, microscope and adding machine after entering the building through a second-story window. The burglary reportedly took place March 22.

FAMOUS SIGNATURES—Frederick, Okla. (Special) — Mrs. Clyde Hudson shows some of the famous names she has added to her collection of autographs, begun in 1952.

Autograph Collector Adds Signature Of Mrs. Kennedy

FREDERICK, Okla. (Special)—Mrs. Clyde Hudson, collector since 1952, added another important autograph to her collection this month—Jacqueline Kennedy—sent in appreciation for a letter following the death of John F. Kennedy.

Mrs. Hudson started her collection when she was visiting her daughter Mary (Mrs. Wallace Reid) in Palm Beach, Florida.

The first autograph, the one that started her on the hobby, was from the Duke of Windsor. It wasn't long till she had one from Dizzy Dean, Connie Mack, Judy Garland, and the late Peter Lorre.

Today she has a book full of outstanding autographs. Other names in her collection include Bud Wilkinson and Harry-Al-Jimmy Team.

C-C Group Sets
Political Meet

A political forum will be presented during the Friday meeting of the legislative affairs group of the chamber of commerce aspirants to two places in the state legislature will be on hand to make statements and answer questions.

The meeting is open to the general public as well as members of the legislative affairs of group, James Thomas, chairman, said.

Participating in the forum will be Vernon Stewart, Maurice Doke and Harry Joiner. Lee Page also was scheduled to be on the program, but Thursday announced that he would be unable to attend.

Each candidate will be given 10 minutes of speaking time and afterward will participate in a question and answer session with Thomas acting as moderator.

3—LEGAL NOTICES

THE STATE OF TEXAS
TO: JOHN MELVIN MOORE, Defendant, Greasing:
YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED to appear before the Honorable 8th District Court of Wichita Falls, Texas, on the 24th day of May, 1964, at 10:00 a.m., to answer the petition of the Court filed in this cause on the 17th day of April, 1964, and to show cause why you should not be held liable for the debt of said court and styled ETHEL
JEAN MOORE, Plaintiff, vs. JOHN MELVIN MOORE, Defendant.

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to-wit: After alleging jurisdiction, plaintiff further alleges that she and defendant were married on or about September 4, 1962 and continued to live together as husband and wife until on or about May 6, 1963, when by reason of cruel, harsh and tyrannical treatment on the part of the defendant plaintiff without cause or provocation, was such a nature as to render their living together insupportable; that there were no children born of this marriage and that there is no community property.

Wherefore, plaintiff prays that defendant be cited to appear and answer herein, and that upon trial hereof, she have judgment for divorce, restoration of her former name and for such other and further relief as the law may entitle her to,
and she prays that she be appointed guardian of her person and estate.
The Officer executing this process shall promptly execute the same according to law and make due return to the law directs.

Issued and given under my hand and the seal of said Court, at office in Wichita Falls, Texas, this 8th day of April A.D. 1964.

ALICE WYNNE WIGGINS, Clerk
District Court, Wichita Falls, Texas.

Gainesville Firm Completes Wildcat In Callisburg Area

By FRANK O. HALL
Record News Oil Editor
Couch Oil Co., Gainesville, has staked its No. 1 J. R. Dick as a 6500-foot Cooke County wildcat eight miles north of Callisburg. Drill site is 467 feet from west and north lines of block 106, Fannin CSL survey.

Another Cooke County exploratory test was spotted six miles southwest of Myra by Brannan & Kalser, Gainesville. It is No. 2 Mabel Sears, a 1990-foot venture, 3510 feet from west and 1560 from south lines of J. Lewis survey A-567.

3,500-FOOT WILDCAT SOUTH OF BRYSON
Smith & Leonard will drill No. 4 S. V. Van Hoosier as a 3500-foot Jack County wildcat 1 1/2 miles south of Bryson. Location is 500 feet from east and 1350 from south lines of northwest quarter of J. Veal survey A-869. The venture is 100 feet east of Smith & Leonard's No. 2 Van Hoosier, recently completed as an Ellenburger discovery. The discovery well flowed 297.27 barrels of 40 gravity oil per day through 12-64-inch choke from 36 perforations at 5082-88 feet.

EXPLORATORY TEST NEAR KNOX CITY
J. W. Akin No. 1 C. H. Potter is a 2400-foot Knox County wildcat location 1 1/2 miles northwest of Knox City. The venture spots 990 feet from west and north lines of northeast quarter of section 52, block 2, D&W survey. Tex-Star Oil & Gas Corp. completed No. B-15 F. Fetsch in Knox County's Plumlee (2nd Tannehill) Field, three miles north of Munday, D. G. Burnett survey A-9.

Daily pumping potential was 16.73 barrels of 34.6 gravity oil, plus 60 per cent water, from 64 perforations at 2022-38 feet. The 4 1/2-inch casing was cemented at 2032 1/2 feet. Hole was bottomed at 2055 feet. Pay was fractured.

PLUG-BACK VENTURE NEAR PARK SPRINGS
LeClair Operating Co. Inc., Abilene, will re-enter and plug back to wildcat depth of 5610 feet a previously drilled venture in Wise County. It is the No. 1 W. F. Huddleston, 1 1/2 miles west of Park Springs, 467 feet from east and 750 from south lines of block 9, Falls CSL survey A-923.

No. 1 Huddleston was originally completed last February by E. B. Fletcher and at that time flowed 143 barrels of 41 gravity oil per day through 12-64-inch choke from 15 perforations at 5727-39 feet.

TWO MORE WELLS COMPLETED IN WISE
A daily potential of 169.06 barrels of 42.9 gravity oil has been reported by George Mitchell & Associates Inc., Houston, for No. E-15 Tarrant County Water Board in Wise County's Ashe Ranch (5920 Marble Falls) Field. Flow was through 16-64-inch choke from perforations at 5863-5935 feet with packer on casing and 420 pounds pressure on tubing. Gas-oil ratio was 1148-1. Completion was on natural flow. Hole was bottomed at 5959 feet. Producer is four miles southwest of Chico, Nicholas C. Butler survey A-50.

Mitchell & Associates also finished No. 1 Otis Buchanan in the Alford (Caddo Conglomerate) Field of Wise County, four miles east of Alford, W. R. Gose survey A-997.

During 24-hour test the well flowed 168.99 barrels of 43.7 gravity crude through 14-64-inch choke from pay perforated at 5927-5961 feet. Casing pressure was 380 pounds. Completion was on natural flow. Gas-oil ratio was 1106-1.

The 2-7-inch production string was landed at 6373 feet after hole was bottomed at 660 feet.

Oklahoma Oil Report

ARDMORE, Okla.—C. W. Barbour and Kirkpatrick Oil Co. have applied to the Corporation Commission for a discovery allowable at their No. 1-S Gray-A, in NW SW SE of 9-1s-3w, the Tatum sector of the Sho-Vel-Tum District, claiming a new pay zone.

From the Middle Goodwin sand at 5727-42 feet, the well tested 259 barrels of oil a day on a 20-64-inch choke, then did 135 barrels a day on an 18-64-inch choke. Total depth was 6770 feet.

In the Haldon sector, E. Dunlap Jr., Ardmore, is starting a 3700-foot test at the No. 4 Gibson, in NW SE NW of 1-4s-3w.

At 1 1/2 miles west of the old Caddo Pool, Van-Grisso Oil Co. et al have temporarily abandoned the No. 1 Berry, in NW NW SW of 28-3-s-1e, at 3239 feet. In Sholem Alechem, Pan American Petroleum has completed its No. A-2 Jones, in NW SW NE of 10-2s-3w, for 79 barrels of 24 gravity oil and 14 barrels of load water a day from the Deese zone at 4310-12 feet. Total depth was 4388 feet.

TWO McCLAIN WELLS CALLED DISCOVERIES
Corporation Commission has granted discovery allowables to a pair of deep oilers in McClain County, both being zone discoveries.

Sunray DX Oil Co. was granted 110 barrels daily for 1024 days at the No. 1 Hastings Unit, in section 29-7n-3w, which had pay in the Viola Lime at 10,580-612 feet.

Tenneco Oil Co.'s No. 1 Ella Holland Unit, in section 19-6n-3w, was granted 77 barrels daily for 880 days, with production from the First Bromide sand at 884-85 feet.

Tidewater Oil Co. Reorganization Set

LOS ANGELES — Tidewater Oil Co. is reorganizing its operations in the seven western states into two new divisions effective May 1, Tidewater President George F. Getty II announced Thursday. Previously all of Tidewater's activities in the western United States were conducted by one western division.

Marketing and refining activities will be grouped in a western marketing and manufacturing division with Vice President Charles R. Brown as division general manager, Getty said. The division will include Tidewater's 135,000 barrel-per-day Avon refinery and 3,900 retail outlets. Brown has been in charge of all of Tidewater's western operations.

Exploration and production activities will be conducted by a western exploration and production division. J. Earle Gray, formerly Tidewater's production manager, has been appointed a Tidewater vice president and general manager of this new unit, Getty stated.

Both new divisions will be located in Los Angeles as well as Tidewater's world headquarters.

The new organization permits arrangement of functions in Tidewater's western region to parallel those of the company's New York headquartered eastern division, which is a marketing and manufacturing operation, and its Houston-based southern division, which is an exploration and production operation.

Gray, a graduate of Texas A&M, is a former resident of Wichita Falls and Olney, Tex. His wife, Cynthia Fryer Gray, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Fryer of Wichita Falls.

week during a visit by Charlie Hipp of Graham, veteran Texas showman.

Hipp announced plans to bring the carriage to Quanah early in May and park it at Dutch's Cafe parking lot until the Pioneer Days celebration.

The surrey will be brought to Quanah and put on display downtown.

The Quanah couple to be wed in the colorful ceremonies, Charlotte Cook and Don Lane, represented Quanah and the Quanah Chamber of Commerce in Spearman Saturday during the 75th anniversary celebration.

They were guests of a pioneer ranch family in Spearman and appeared in the parade in downtown Spearman Saturday riding in the wedding carriage. The Quanah couple were also guests at a barbecue in the afternoon and met with the Spearman group to plan details of the pioneer wedding.

The wedding will take place Saturday evening, May 23, in the Quanah football stadium. Taking part will be a 38-member girls riding corps in colorful uniforms. Wagons from the wagon train will be part of the scenery for the wedding.

The three-day celebration is being sponsored by the Quanah Riding Club and the chamber of commerce. Plans for the weekend include a Frontier Day program with fiddle contests, quick-draw contests, frontier parade and an old-fashioned Hootenanny, and a sunrise brush-arbor church service.

Cause Of Lawlessness?

Why do people laugh when something unpleasant happens to a policeman or any other law enforcement agent? The movie industry learned early in its history, it could always get laughter from any audience by showing a cop being tripped or otherwise discomforted.

Does this mean we are rebels or Robin-hoods at heart? Many of us remember that during the late and unlamented days of national prohibition, most people were amused rather than offended when they saw or heard of violations of the law.

All of us know the need of restrictions on driving. However, hardly any of us pass a day without ignoring at least the speed laws in our driving and many of us obey the stop signs and lights only when an officer is in the neighborhood.

One of the most important utterances along this line was made recently by the president-elect of the American Bar Association. Lewis

F. Powell Jr. spoke words which should be carefully studied by every American.

He said: "One of the root causes of lawlessness in this country is the excessive tolerance by the public in accepting substandard, marginal, immoral and unlawful conduct.

He added "This tolerance has reached the point of moral sickness."

Among the things Powell believes are excessively tolerated are juvenile drinking, flagrant violations of traffic laws, flouting of obscenity and pornography laws, illegal gambling, cheating on claims against insurance company, circumvention of divorce laws, condoning of violence and disregard of laws in general.

There is no place in our society for this tolerance of wrong doing. We should check our attitudes. Maybe our indifference is the start of lawlessness.

Candidate Lodge Defended

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Now comes a man to say that the picture of Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge as a vice presidential nominee who afternoon-napped his way through the 1960 campaign is completely false.

He is Vincent O'Brien, presently news editor of the Lynn (Mass.) Item, who was Lodge's press secretary in that campaign. He traveled with the candidate for 40,000 miles through 30 states.

Reading constant comment from politicians and others on Lodge's reported midday snoozing, O'Brien, his patience evaporated, speaks up:

"I hate to see the history of the 1960 campaign distorted... The fact of the matter is that Lodge did not sleep in the afternoons."

Yet it is true, he says, that the ambassador did not pursue an endless round of campaign stops from dawn to midnight. He was, in fact, unavailable during part of every working day.

"He thought it was a lot of nonsense to spend every waking hour shaking hands. To him, Nixon and Kennedy and Johnson were frenetic in their campaigning.

"He decided at the beginning that he would campaign mornings and afternoons, mornings and evenings, afternoons and evenings, but never all three on a given day."

How did Lodge spend his "free time" during the day? According to O'Brien, he used it steadily for talks with his staff, for strategy planning, for preparation of major speeches. Adds his former press aide:

"He took very little time off. I still have in hand his daily campaign schedules hour by hour. Anybody who would read them over could see he did not have much time for napping."

Lodge's defender does not say that the candidate never stretched out on a bed in working hours.

"Sure, there were times when he would hit a town at 5:30, take a shower, lie down for a bit, have a steak and then be ready to go for the evening rally.

"But the two-hour nap in the middle of the afternoon is a myth."

O'Brien says most of the "specific cases" which purport to document Lodge's leisurely campaigning never occurred as now reported.

There is one about his supposedly ducking out on five speaking engagements to take his wife, Emily, for a look at Niagara Falls.

O'Brien's version: The ambassador arrived in Niagara Falls at 4:30 p.m. after a long swing that began in Atlantic City and took him through several upstate New York towns. He showered and dined, had some photographs taken, then went to the evening meeting. Only after that, late in the evening, did Lodge say:

"Let's unwind a bit. Let's take a look at the falls."

The 1960 nominee is also supposed to have canceled five of seven appearances in Kansas City. A visitor claims he barged into his hotel suite to find Lodge "rolling in a chair in his bathrobe, watching a movie on television." Says O'Brien:

"Frankly, I don't think he has ever seen a movie on television. I don't think he ever watched anything but the news and the big debates of 1960. As for canceling out, the fact is we had only one scheduled stop in Kansas City and we kept it."

O'Brien thinks most of the "nap stories" arise from the irritation of local leaders who were frustrated in their attempts to "over-schedule" Lodge when he hit their territory. He believes, too, that the "myth of the afternoon nap" has now spread like a contagion to politicians who had not the slightest evidence of how Henry Cabot Lodge spent his afternoons when he was not with them.

Congressional Quarterly

Panel Secrecy Decreasing

WASHINGTON, April — (CQ) — Secrecy in Congressional committee hearings decreased substantially in the first quarter of 1964.

A Congressional Quarterly study of open and closed committee hearings between Jan. 3 and March 31 showed that 31 per cent of these meetings were closed. This figure was the lowest first-three-months secrecy rate for a Congress since the 1960 session, when 30 per cent of the first quarter meetings were closed.

During the same periods in 1961 and 1962, about 40 per cent of the hearings were held in secret sessions.

The CQ study was based on a day-to-day tally during the three-month period as reported in the Congressional Record. These reports are required by the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1946. In practice, they are sometimes neglected so that an accurate count of all the open and closed meetings for each committee is nearly impossible.

Open committee sessions, to which the public is admitted, generally are hearings on proposed legislation.

Executive sessions, from which the public is barred, include hearings at which witnesses testify (often on security information) and work periods in which the committee "marks up" legislation or carries on administrative business.

The Senate had a higher score for closed hearings than the House — 33 per cent as opposed to 29 per cent.

During the three-month period, Senate committees held 334 meetings — 223 of which were open to the public, 111 closed.

The House during the same period held 486 meetings, with 345 open to the public, 141 closed.

Joint committees held 33 meetings, 23 open and 10 in executive session.

The committees with the highest secrecy rate were the Senate and House Armed Services Committees — 94 per cent and 75 per cent respectively — and the House Foreign Affairs Committee — 51 per cent closed. These committees frequently consider information affecting national security.

The Senate Rules and Administration Committee, investigating the activities of former secretary to the Senate Majority, Robert G. (Bobby) Baker, held 34 meetings in the first three months — half of which were closed.

The House Appropriations Committee traditionally holds all its meetings in executive session because its chairman, Rep. Clarence Cannon (D-Mo.), believes they get more work done and make better use of limited office space.

Cannon's counterpart in the Senate, Sen. Carl Hayden (D-Ariz.), apparently does not share this view. The Senate Appropriations Committee, under Hayden's chairmanship, held 56 meetings in the first quarter (more than any other committee in House or Senate), of which only 12 were closed.

LBJ Leads In Probe For Road To Peace

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — This is a column which may make LBJ sore. Because he has given instructions that nothing is to leak out regarding his delicate negotiations with Nikita Khrushchev concerning the joint cutback of nuclear production; also, he wants no credit for this milestone on the road to peace. Give the credit to the State Department Disarmament staff and Mr. Khrushchev, he has told White House aides.

Inside fact, however, is that Lyndon Johnson began as early as last December probing new avenues for peace. He was just as restless and relentless in this probing as when he invited congressmen to swim in the White House pool and between strokes told them to get busy and pass Tax and Civil Rights Bills.

He began this probing last December when at the LBJ Ranch

he told Chancellor Erhard of West Germany: "Ask yourselves what you can do to improve relations with Russia. I'm not trying to advise you. I can't be in the position of advising the German Government. But remember, the Russian people suffered terrible casualties at the hands of Germany. They were invaded by Germany in two world wars. You can understand why they are jittery. We want to examine every avenue toward peace and we want you to help us. We cannot keep our feet in concrete."

This was unique and different advice to give West Germany which frequently has been accused of setting U.S. Foreign Policy, not having us set policy for them.

LBJ Gets Busy

A few days after that conversation — early in January — the President himself began examining avenues of peace. He was just as energetic on the telephone to the cabinet regarding disarmament as he was to the Congress regarding taxes and Civil Rights.

He would call up Secretary of Defense McNamara and tell him: "Let's find something to offer. We can't get anywhere if we don't offer anything ourselves."

It was from this restless LBJ probing that the January proposal to freeze the strategic delivery of nuclear weapons was born; also the 20 per cent reduction of fissionable production announced in the State of the Union Message.

The U.S. offer at Geneva to destroy all B-47's did not get Soviet acquiescence. Nevertheless there are definite indications that Russia will follow the American lead in not permitting its bombers when outmoded to fall into the hands of Arabs, Africans, Indonesians, or others with irresponsible ideas about disrupting the peace.

It was about six weeks ago that the President started working on his current plan to reduce nuclear production by independent, unilateral statements.

At that time he knew Khrushchev had made a statement to me in an interview, August 17, that he would reduce the Russian military budget unilaterally regardless of the Geneva arms talks and regardless of the United States. Later, Khrushchev did reduce by 4.7 per cent. That same month, December, Johnson reduced U.S. military expenditure about the same amount. The effect was healthy.

So Johnson decided to try the same technique of building better trust and understanding by extending the principle of mutual example. He decided to appeal to good sense on both sides.

No Leaks Allowed

Johnson was very secret about his negotiations, gave tough instructions to his staff there should be no leaks. This was one reason for the President's brisk denial of Murray Marder's clean scoop in the Washington Post last week that LBJ would announce a nuclear moratorium at the AP luncheon.

That denial was just as much a fib by the President as anything Harry Truman ever accused me of telling about the President. But there were reasons for Johnson's denial: chiefly that he didn't want to get Mr. Khrushchev off balance, didn't want him to think the White House was talking out of both sides of its mouth. Also, various congressmen began calling up to ask whether Lyndon was giving away the family jewels.

When Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin called on Johnson last Friday, the delicate understanding was just about buttoned up — but not quite. So the President was afraid any premature story would upset a negotiation he had carefully nursed to the brink of success.

All this was how the energetic salesman in the White House sold his own staff, then the Soviet world, on gradual, highly important steps away from the brink of war. It's what foreign diplomats in Washington call the opposite of onetime "Brinkmanship."

Allen-Scott Report

McNamara Defends Missiles

By ROBERT S. ALLEN

And PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Defense Secretary McNamara is now talking out of both sides of his mouth on Senator Goldwater's brawling challenge of the reliability of U.S. intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Publicly, McNamara is firmly denying this jarring charge. But privately, he is worriedly endeavoring to soft-pedal a sweeping Senate investigation.

Through intermediaries, the high-powered Pentagon boss, who is acting more and more like a vice-presidential aspirant, is appealing to influential senators to "mediate" his dynamite-loaded differences with Goldwater.

A significant instance of this backstage effort is the attempt made to persuade Senator Margaret Chase Smith, R-Me., to act as peacemaker.

Mrs. Smith, like Goldwater, is a member of the Senate Armed Services Preparedness Subcommittee that has launched a full-scale investigation of the hard-hitting Arizonan's sensational accusations. Senator John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman, is including in the probe not only the reliability of missiles but McNamara's equally controversial strategic concepts, particularly regarding the obsolescence of bombers.

David McGiffert, assistant to McNamara (for legislative affairs), made the pitch to Mrs. Smith in his behalf.

Obtaining an appointment without indicating its purpose, McGiffert fervently besought her advice and help on resolving the stormy wrangle between Goldwater and McNamara. McGiffert argued the controversy was "getting out of hand," and was not in the best interest of national security because "highly sensitive information" was involved.

"Will you please help us settle this dispute," pleaded McGiffert. "No one but our enemies can benefit from its continuance."

High-Handed As Usual

Although Senator Smith has no particular reason to do favors for Secretary McNamara, she listened sympathetically to McGiffert.

She pointed out she was just as concerned about national security as McNamara, even though he had repeatedly failed to keep her informed about important defense matters and policies affecting her state. She also stressed that she is a member of the investigating committee, and such has a special interest in getting at the bottom of the explosively conflicting views.

"I'll take what you say under advisement," Mrs. Smith told McGiffert, "and after a thorough study, I'll decide what to do."

It's very possible McNamara may have made up her mind for her by his characteristically inconsiderate and discourteous action the very day his legislative assistant was ardently pleading for help for him.

Without any word to Mrs. Smith, that very afternoon McNamara arrived in Maine to look over the Kittery Shipyards, which he is proposing to shut down.

It is Mrs. Smith's vigorous contention that this famous shipyard, with its hundreds of skilled craftsmen, should be kept in operation. As a simple matter of courtesy, she should have been notified of McNamara's visit and invited to be present.

Instead, she was blandly ignored despite the fact that she is a much-respected ranking member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, of the Preparedness Investigating Subcommittee; and at the very time McGiffert was beseeching her help for McNamara, he was disregarding her on a thorny problem of utmost moment to her state.

The domineering Defense boss has good reason to be uneasy about a Senate probe.

Chairman Stennis is not accepting the word of Pentagon officials on the reliability of missiles and other issues. He is sending his own experts to missile sites for first-hand scrutiny. Particularly, they are looking into one missile site in the Southwest where there have been four accidents involving ICBMs.

These probes are checking on whether additional safety and operational procedures are called for; also, whether the missiles themselves need improving.

Under Stennis' unannounced plans, a number of top authorities are slated for personal interrogation, among them Central Intelligence Director John McConne, Secretary McNamara, General Curtis LeMay, Air Chief of Staff, and Senator Goldwater. The investigation also will explore the steadily expanding anti-aircraft missile network that Russia is developing throughout the world.

These deadly Soviet missiles are now installed in Cuba, Indonesia, the United Arab Republic, Red China and, on the basis of late intelligence, in Zanzibar. Cyprus is also reputed to be on Moscow's list for these weapons.

Another factor behind McNamara's growing apprehensions, as well as those of the White House, is inside word that Senator Stennis is contemplating holding his potentially explosive hearings in June — one month before the Republican national convention in San Francisco.

Mrs. Smith, whose 26 per cent vote in last week's presidential primary in Illinois enhanced her stature in the GOP race, is in a key position to play a crucial role in these hearings.

Prayer For Today

Gracious Lord and Father of us all, we know that we cannot wear a mask in Thy presence, for Thou dost know us just as we are. We confess that we often fall far short of the high goal Thou hast set for us. Forgive our many faults and follies. Help us to strive continually to reach the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ. Amen. — Alfred N. Sayres, Lancaster, Pa., professor-emeritus, The Lancaster Theological Seminary.

Barry Is Strong

By ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON — Anxious liberals among the journalistic experts are counting Goldwater out of the Presidential race again because he didn't win big enough in the Illinois primary, but as usual they are premature.

Goldwater polled some 64 per cent of the Republican votes in this "heartland of conservatism," and the Barry — Can't — Win boys claim this wasn't enough. They point out that Charles Percy, the winning candidate for the gubernatorial nomination, topped Goldwater's total vote by more than 100,000, as if this represented total rejection of the Arizona Senator.

Such thinking is neither fair nor realistic. Percy is a local boy with considerable boyish charm, who might be described as a Big Business John Kennedy. He staged an all-out campaign, seven days a week, while Goldwater, whose opposition on the ballot consisted only of Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, merely went through the motions in a State he knew was in the bag for him.

Women For Women

In this house, too, there is a tendency to view with suspicion the claim that Senator Smith's 200,000-odd votes was a massive protest against Goldwater. Barry beat her, 5-3, which is big enough for most politicians, but the important point is that the country is full of women who have been dying to vote female. Sure some folks voted for Maggie because they didn't like Barry, but there were Republicans who voted against a hero named Ike Eisenhower, too.

Percy played it cool by refusing to endorse Goldwater, but it is significant he didn't dare disown the Arizona. His oft-repeated statement that he preferred "no one above" Goldwater hardly stamped him as being all out for Nixon or Lodge or Scranton or Rockefeller. It was Percy acknowledging that Barry was hot stuff in the state.

Glamour Boy

To be sure, Percy won by more than 200,000 votes over State Treasurer William J. Scott, who ran as a Goldwater man, but those who see a slight to Barry in this are downrating Percy's personal appeal. To most Republicans, Percy not only represented success in business but he spelled glamour, a commodity that has been in short supply within the Illinois GOP. Percy looked like a winner next November, which always impresses the folks.

As the campaign points to the Republican convention in July, Barry Goldwater in a sense remains his own worst enemy. Voters who admire his candor and energy, including this one, are appalled by the impression that Barry sometimes seems to be running for Prime Minister in Queen Victoria's government. Yet he retains a hold, not only on the hard-core conservatives but on those who are intimidated by what they feel is an unruly liberalism among the Democrats on the civil rights issue.

"Moderation"

That surly demagogue, Alabama's Gov. George Wallace, polled a quarter of a million votes in Wisconsin, whose population is only 2 1/2 per cent Negro. In Kansas City, a city ordinance forbidding racial discrimination in public accommodations establishments barely squeaked through by roughly 45,000-plus to 43,000 — plus votes.

Goldwater is calling for "moderation" in civil rights legislation, which means he is opposed to most of it. Clearly, there is sentiment building up in the North which could mean votes for Barry Goldwater he could never get as a mere conservative.

AWARD SPEAKER — Iowa Park — Jack Hightower, left, and Bob Jacobs, both of Vernon, are seen with Linda Mitchell Thursday night during the Iowa Park FFA Banquet. Hightower was featured speaker. Jacobs was given the Honorary Chapter Farmer degree and Miss Mitchell was honored as the FFA Chapter's sweetheart. Miss Mitchell's high school activities include being a member of the band.

Iowa Park FFA Members Honored During Banquet

By NEAL JOHNSON
Farm Editor

IOWA PARK — "The future farmer is to be a professional man, well trained and well equipped," commented Jack Hightower of Vernon, Tex. featured speaker Thursday night during the Iowa Park FFA 12th annual Parent-Son banquet.

As the program started at 7:30 p.m., Gordon Parkey, FFA chapter president and master of ceremonies, called on Roy Childers to deliver the invocation. Following the official opening ceremony conducted by the chapter officers, Jimmy Farr, vice president, recognized special guests.

Special attention was given to the E. C. Holder Grain and Fertilizer Co. and Johnson - Rusk Elevator and Mollasses Co. for sponsoring the banquet.

Special awards were presented by Charles Woodfin. Those receiving the awards were, Parkey, farm mechanics; Denny McCarthy, farm safety; Roy Childers, farm electrification; Pat Pruett, poultry farming; David Martin, livestock farming; Farr, crop farming and the outstanding chapter farmer award went to Mike Crouch, sentinel.

Continuing with the awards program Parkey presented Woodfin with the public speaking and the outstanding Greenhand awards.

Linda Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Mitchell of Iowa Park, was presented a special gift from the FFA chapter members by Parkey. Miss Mitchell is the chapter's sweetheart for 1964 and has represented the boys in district contests.

The Honorary Chapter Farmer degree was presented to Bob Jacobs, manager of the Paradise Swine Farm of Vernon. Earlier this year Jacobs resigned as vocational agriculture teacher and advisor of the Iowa Park FFA Chapter to take the Vernon position. Harold Cowley replaced Jacobs at Iowa Park.

During the featured address, Hightower, who is seeking the Texas Senate seat being vacated by George Moffett of Chillicothe, stated, "Since World War II the agricultural production in the United States has increased by 45 per cent, while the population has increased 43 per cent." He continued, "We're doing a better job but not good enough."

Entertainment for the evening was furnished by the Iowa Park Stage Band.

EMERGENCY REPORTS

Traffic Calls
Five traffic accidents, one of which injured a six-year-old girl, were reported to the Wichita Falls Police Department Thursday.

At 300 Lamar, a vehicle driven by Donald Gene Crowley of 2223 Alice reportedly struck Martha Gutierrez, 6, of 312 Lamar. The child was not believed to be seriously injured and was not taken to a hospital.

Other accidents were:
At Ninth and Holliday, involving vehicles driven by William Thomas Leeper of 2007 Eighth and Thelma H. Biskup of 1314 North Sixth;

Scott and Indiana, Alvia H. McCall of 1214 North Sixth and Evelyn Dodd Soseid of 1209 Monroe;

West alley of 500 Ohio, a sanitation department truck and a vehicle whose driver left the scene;

And at 1416 Phoenix, a parked car owned by Jack F. Schelink of 1416 Phoenix and a vehicle whose driver left the scene.

Fire Calls
Six fires were reported to the Wichita Falls Fire Department Thursday.

Included were two trash fires, two grass fires, a false alarm and a fire under the floor of the Sportsman Club at 105 Lake which caused about $50 damage.

Snatcher Escapes After Taking $195

A Negro man, said to be about 28, walked into a liquor store on Ohio about 6 p.m. Thursday and after distracting the store manager snatched $195 in large bills from the cash register and sprinted from the store.

Charles Kollman of 2231 Piedmont, store manager, told police the man was about to purchase a bottle of wine and reached into his pocket for the money. He feigned being cut by a knife in his pocket and grabbed his hand spilling a handful of coins behind the counter.

Kollman was picking up the coins when the young Negro grabbed the money, ran to the door, said, "That's okay!" and raced down the street.

The store manager said he could identify the man if he saw him again but police had made no arrests late Thursday.

Cop Says He Saw Cash Change Hands

AMARILLO (AP)—The Amarillo Daily News Thursday quoted a Midland police officer as saying he saw Billie Sol Estes give Sen. Ralph Yarborough $50,000 in cash in 1960.

The newspaper said the officer offered to take a lie detector test if the senator would join him.

Yarborough has branded the report, previously carried in the Dallas Morning News, as "an infamous lie." He took cognizance of the report at a news conference in the Fort Worth Press Club and in various public appearances, repeatedly calling the story an "infamous lie fabricated out of the whole cloth."

James Fonville, a Midland patrolman and former Dallas policeman, said he would meet the senator "the sooner the better" at the Department of Public Safety in Austin for the examination.

Danny L. Boone Becomes Pastor

HASKELL, Tex. (Special) — Danny L. Boone, popular young director of music and youth activities at the First Baptist Church of Haskell for two years until he left to enter seminary last fall, has been called to the pastorate of the Cates Street Baptist Church in Bridgeport, Texas.

The Boones, and their five-month-old daughter, Carole Ruth, moved to Bridgeport on April 8, and the young pastor still commutes weekly to his classes at the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Ft. Worth.

Bridgeport's new Baptist pastor and his family have established residence at 1404 Eleventh Street there.

OUT OF WORK — Milwaukee, Wis. — Sandra Kennedy, 16, was chosen as a ball boy for the Milwaukee Braves in a contest. She signed her entry "Sandy." But judges had to reverse their decision when they learned she was a girl. (AP Wirephoto)

Two Former Colonies Of Britain To Merge

By DENNIS NEEDLE

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanganyika (AP) — President Julius Nyerere of Tanganyika announced Thursday he has signed an agreement with President Abeid Karume of Zanzibar to merge the two former British colonies as one sovereign nation.

Such a political marriage might nip Communist influences that Westerners feared would infiltrate East Africa via Zanzibar, a spice island which has looked as if it might go the way of Cuba since a revolt Jan. 12 deposed its Sultan.

Informed sources in Dar es Salaam hailed the presidential agreement as a triumph for the supporters of a nonalignment policy. They said affairs of the merged countries will be run from this city, Tanganyika's capital.

Closed Meeting
The two presidents, both regarded as moderates, were reported to have signed the agreement at a closed-door meeting Wednesday in Zanzibar.

They acted in the absence of Abdul Rahman Mohammed Babu, 39, the foreign minister and trade minister who is regarded as the real strong man of Zanzibar. A left-winger who tagged Zanzibar with the Red term "People's Republic," he is currently on a visit to Asia.

Karume heads Zanzibar's Afro Shirazi party. He is the idol of Africans who make up much of Zanzibar's population, but there have been indications he gradually was being pushed into the background by Babu and other extremists.

Subject To Ratification
The merger plan is subject to ratification by the two parliaments. Effected, it would be a union of pygmy and giant somewhat as if the state of Rhode Island were attached to the combined territory of Texas and New Mexico.

Tanganyika has an area of 361,800 square miles and a population of about nine million. Twenty-two miles out in the Indian Ocean, Zanzibar and its dependent island of Pemba have an area of 1,020 square miles and about 300,000 people.

Zanzibar supplies about 80 per cent of the world's cloves. Tanganyika produces nearly half the world's sisal, a fiber used in making twine.

At the airport to see the Tanganyika party leave were several members of the Revolutionary Council who previously were regarded as Communist-leaning followers of Babu.

Sausage Links, Pancakes Make Breakfast Casserole

Breakfast time is oven - easy when brown 'n' serve sausage links and apple pancakes are baked together. A baking dish replaces the griddle and rescues mom from flipping flapjacks. The hearty sausage topped squares served piping hot with syrup are great for company brunch or family suppers too. The trick to preparing this easy-to-dish is to use brown 'n' serve sausages. These links or patties are fully cooked so there is no need to get out the skillet to precook the sausage before it is placed atop the pancake mixture. Likewise, there is no problem with the sausage drippings soaking into the batter. Brown 'n' serve sausages are easily identified in the meat case by the trusted brand name they carry. Folks who favor potato pancakes will find that this oven-baked version with sausage links is a main dish to serve with pride. The well-seasoned sausages peek out between mounds of the fluffy egg and potato mixture to tempt the eye as well as the appetite.

PANCAKE, SAUSAGE COMBO

Golden Kisses Are Tasty, Economical

Whether it be guests for dessert and coffee or your favorite princess' Maypole party, take advantage of the season's plentiful and serve fresh strawberry sundaes and fairy light Golden Kisses. What are they? Golden Kisses are old-fashioned meringue cookies that have been given a little sustenance and added flavor with crumbs of bite size shredded rice biscuits and butterscotch chips. It's only a matter of about 15 minutes to get them onto the cookie sheet and 20 - 25 minutes to bake them a delicate brown. That's just about three times as long as it takes for the crowd to eat them.

This isn't a new recipe but merely an adaptation of one that was popular in the time of Queen Elizabeth I. It didn't have a name then but her lady-in-waiting always kissed the "faire clothe" before offering the cookies to the Queen. Thus did the delightful meringue cookies of the 16th century become known as the Meringue Kisses that we all love in the 20th century.

You'll have three egg yolks left after you make the kisses. Use them to make a green goddess-type salad dressing. This is nothing more than a mayonnaise with cream or sour cream and flavored with anchovies, garlic, parsley, chives and mustard. Serve this on crisp salad greens. Don't forget that bite size cereal-rice, corn and wheat—when toasted in a little butter and garlic salt, makes delicious salad croutons.

Golden Kisses
3 egg whites
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon vanilla
1 cup bite size shredded rice biscuits crushed to 1/3 cup
1/3 cup butterscotch chips, chopped
Heat oven to slow (300 degrees). Butter cookie sheet. Beat together egg whites, salt and cream of tartar until foamy. Add sugar slowly, beating constantly. Fold in cereal crumbs and butterscotch chips. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto cookie sheet. Bake 20-25 minutes or until very slightly brown. Remove immediately from cookie sheet.
Yield: 3-3½ dozen.

Guests Will Like Caramel Date Pie

Worthy of your most lavish party dinner, "Caramel Date Pie" is made well ahead of time and chilled, thus relieving you of any last-minute dessert duties. Sun-mellowed fresh California dates provide handsome color and unbeatable flavor in this sure-to-please the guests' creation.

Caramel Date Pie
1 cup fresh California dates
1 envelope plain gelatin
¾ cup cold water
½ pound vanilla caramels (about 28 pieces)
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup whipping cream
1 baked, cooled 9-inch pastry shell
Coarsely cut dates with scissors. Soften gelatin in cold water. Place caramels and milk in top of double-boiler over hot water and heat, stirring occasionally until caramels are melted. Add softened gelatin; stir until gelatin is dissolved. Remove from heat and blend in vanilla; cool until slightly thickened. Whip cream. Fold dates and whipped cream into gelatin. Turn into pastry shell; chill until firm.
Makes 1 (9-inch) pie.

Cool Cherry Souffle Is Festive Dessert To Serve

Cool, cool elegance shimmers in a dreamy pink adaptation of the classic souffle. Ideal for festive spring and summer spooning, this Cold Cherry Souffle creates a dazzling dessert with little effort.

All it takes to make the pink delight is a mixture of beaten egg whites, whipped cream, gelatin, pureed maraschino cherries — and a refrigerator. Although souffles conjure Cordon Bleu chefmanship, any amateur can negotiate this culinary sport of haute cuisine. For, unlike its baked ancestor, the chilled version cannot fall. To get added height, put a one-inch collar of aluminum foil around the top of the souffle dish before the pour. Chill until firm. When ready to serve remove the foil collar.

Cold Cherry Souffle
(Makes 10 To 12 Servings)
2-3 cup chopped red maraschino cherries (about 28 cherries)
¼ cup orange juice
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
2-3 cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
8 eggs, separated

1 cup milk
½ cup water
½ cup sugar
2 cups heavy cream, whipped
Red maraschino cherries for garnish

Blend cherries with orange juice in electric blender; or food mill, set aside. Mix gelatin, 2-3 cup sugar and salt in top of double boiler. Beat in egg yolks until light. Gradually stir in milk and water. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly until slightly thickened and gelatin dissolves, about 10 minutes. Add cherry mixture. Chill until slightly thickened. Beat egg whites until foamy. Gradually add ½ cup sugar, beating until stiff. Fold with whipped cream into gelatin mixture. Turn into 1½ quart souffle dish with aluminum foil collar. Chill until firm. Remove collar and garnish with maraschino cherries. Decorate with whipped cream and additional cherries.
Yield: 3-3½ dozen.

Bake Kolachky Cookies Easily

Kolachky are Bohemian filled cookies that literally melt in your mouth. Many ardent fans of these cookies have made a hobby of collecting recipes for Kolachky.

Here are two recipes for Kolachky. One calls for smooth vanilla ice cream. The other uses rich dairy sour cream. Food hobbyists are sure to want to clip these variations of Kolachky. Novices in the Kolachky field will enjoy trying these easy-to-make cookies.

Ice Cream Kolachky
(About 5 dozen)
4 cups flour
2 tablespoons sugar
1 pound butter
1 pint vanilla ice cream, partially thawed
Any filling (cottage cheese, prune, apricot, poppyseed)
Combine flour and sugar. Cut in butter until mixture resembles fine meal. Add partly softened ice cream and blend. Wrap in foil and chill overnight. Roll out ¼ inch thick, on lightly floured surface. Cut into rounds or squares, fill center with filling and pinch corners together. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes.

Sour Cream Kolachky
(About 3 dozen)
1½ cups sifted flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
½ cup butter
1 cup rolled oats
½ cup sour cream
Any filling — prune, apricot, peach
Combine flour, salt and sugar. Cut in butter until mixture resembles fine meal. Add rolled oats and sour cream and blend. Dough will be stiff. Chill until dough can be rolled ¼ inch thick on a lightly floured board. Cut in 2-inch squares and place on ungreased baking sheet. Spread with filling, roll from one corner and shape into crescents. Bake at 350 degrees about 15 to 20 minutes.

Fix Sauerbraten To Enjoy Visit With Company

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Cooks who like to have their main course ready well in advance of serving should take note of sauerbraten. This savory combination of beef and sweet-sour gravy may be cooked ahead and the meat and sauce refrigerated separately. Just before serving, the meat is sliced and heated in the gravy.

Potato dumplings are perfect with sauerbraten for do-ahead serving style, boil the dumplings and refrigerate them. While the meat and gravy are heating, the dumplings are sliced and fried in butter — an orthodox treatment that is worthwhile.

Sauerbraten
1 cup red wine vinegar
¼ cup cider vinegar
1 cup beef bouillon
2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons pickling spice
1 cup sliced onion
¼ cup sliced celery
¼ cup sliced carrot
3 teaspoons salt

A 4-pound roast of boned rump, round or chuck beef
6 tablespoons flour
6 small gingersnaps, crushed
2 cups water

Choose a non-metallic bowl into which the roast just fits and in it mix together the vinegars, bouillon, sugar, pickling spice, onion, celery, carrot and 2 teaspoons of the salt. Add the meat. Cover tightly and refrigerate for 3-days; turn meat each day.

Remove meat and reserve marinade. Wipe meat dry; coat with the remaining 1 teaspoon salt mixed with 2 tablespoons of the flour. Brown meat in a large heavy kettle. Strain marinade, discarding spices and vegetables, and add it to meat. Cover and simmer until meat is tender — about 2½ hours; remove meat and keep warm.

ing 4 tablespoons flour and crushed gingersnaps; stir into pan liquid—there should be about 6 cups. Add water; cook and stir constantly until boiling and slightly thickened. Serve hot with warm sliced meat. Or chill meat and gravy separately; slice meat and reheat in gravy. Makes 6 servings. Good with potato dumplings.

The milk fed spring lamb now in your markets is a versatile meat... it has many cuts suitable for a variety of occasions. Special meals require unusual dishes.

Surprise your family with a lamb dish featuring cuts that are both low in cost and high in appeal. The breast, for example, can be stuffed with your favorite bread mixture and braised slowly to bring out the delicate flavor.

The shoulder of lamb, boned and rolled, is attractive to serve. Surround it with colorful garnishes... such as orange slices with parsley.

Onion Soup Mix Puts Life Into Dips, Spreads

Canned onion dry soup mix is not only great for main dishes, but spectacular in dips, spreads, dressings, salads... or whenever you want outstanding flavor and ease of preparation. For even more convenience, now each can of onion dry soup mix has an easy-open-pull-tab can. Zip the tab... the top is off! Try these flavorful variations on the "before-or-after-dinner" nibbles.

Horseradish And Onion Popcorn
1 can (1 1/2 ounces) onion dry soup mix
1/2 cup melted butter or margarine
2 teaspoons horseradish
12 cups popcorn
Combine soup mix, butter, and horseradish. Pour over popcorn. Mix well.

Pretzel Party Mix
1 can (1 1/2 ounces) onion dry soup mix
1/2 cup melted butter or margarine
2 cups bite-size shredded rice cereal
2 cups pretzel nuggets
Combine soup mix with melted butter. Thoroughly mix with cereal and pretzels. Place in shallow baking pan. Bake at 250 degrees F. for 15 minutes. Stir; bake additional 15 minutes. Makes 4 cups.

Even French bread gets sophisticated airs when onion soup mix is the secret ingredient... and a bit of sharp cheese.

Cheese Onion Bread
1/2 can (1/2 cup) onion dry soup mix
1/2 cup softened butter or margarine
1/2 cup sharp cheese spread
2 loaves French bread
Combine soup mix and butter. Slice bread almost through to bottom. Spread butter on one side of each slice and cheese spread on the other side. Wrap loaves in aluminum foil. Heat at 400 degrees F. for 20 minutes. Mix contents of can well before using.

Beans Satisfy Hearty Appetites

The whole family looks forward to a beautiful spring weekend. The children head for the neighborhood baseball field... mother and dad take to the garden with rake, hoe, and shovel.

After a busy day outside, everyone is bound to be starved around suppertime. This calls for a hearty meal, but, one that's also quick to prepare and serve.

The ideal dish is a savory hot bean salad. Canned barbecue beans... 4 kinds in a tempting sauce... are just the thing. Naturally so spicy and good, they combine with fresh vegetables for a real flavor treat... celery, cabbage, cucumber, and radishes add a spring-like touch.

Put out a loaf of bread and your family's favorite sandwich makings... everyone makes his own. Fresh fruit and cookies make a nice dessert.

Hot Barbecue Bean Salad
1/4 cup sliced celery
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (1 pound) barbecue beans
1/4 cup shredded cabbage
1/4 cup chopped cucumber
2 tablespoons thinly sliced radishes

In saucepan, cook celery in butter until tender. Add beans, cabbage, cucumber, and radishes. Heat, stirring now and then. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

For an easy spring lunch idea, add ham and cucumber to favorite canned pork & beans with tomato sauce... season with fresh dill.

Spring Bean Skillet
1 cup ham, cut in thin 1-inch strips
1/4 cup sliced onion
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (1 pound) pork & beans with tomato sauce
1/4 cup chopped cucumber
2 teaspoons chopped fresh dill

In saucepan, brown ham and cook onion in butter until tender. Add remaining ingredients. Heat, stirring now and then. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Bread Of Lamb With Onion Stuffing (Makes 4 servings)

2 cups slightly crushed thin onion crackers
1 medium-sized onion, chopped
1/4 cup chopped celery
2 eggs, slightly beaten
2 pounds breast of lamb, cut for stuffing
2 tablespoons salad oil
1 1/2 cups beef stock or bouillon
2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
1/4 cup water
Combine crackers, onion, celery and eggs; mix well. Fill lamb with stuffing mixture. Secure openings with skewers. Heat oil; add lamb and cook over low heat until browned on all sides. Drain off drippings. Add stock or bouillon to lamb and cover and cook over low heat 1 1/2 hours.

Remove lamb to heated serving platter. Combine flour and water; blend. Add flour mixture to stock or bouillon; blend. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Serve stock or bouillon mixture with lamb. Orange Glazed Shoulder of Lamb (Makes 6-8 servings)

1 5-pound boned shoulder of lamb, rolled and tied Salt to taste
1/2 cup orange marmalade
2 tablespoons grated onion
Sprinkle lamb with salt. Place lamb on rack in roasting pan. Bake in slow oven (325 degrees) 3 hours. Drain off drippings. Combine marmalade and onion; mix well. Spread orange mixture over lamb. Bake 30 minutes, or until meat thermometer registers 175-180 degrees (depending upon desired degree of doneness).

Almonds Make An Easy Fudge

A most unusual fudge that practically makes itself, "Refrigerator Almond Fudge" is crunchy with always-ready to use roasted diced almonds.

Refrigerator Almond Fudge
2 squares (1 ounce each) unsweetened chocolate
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon instant coffee powder
1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese, softened
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
2 1/4 cups sifted powdered sugar
1/2 cup roasted diced almonds

Melt chocolate with butter, cinnamon and coffee powder over hot water. Whip cheese; blend in chocolate mixture, vanilla and powdered sugar. Stir in almonds. Spread in greased loaf pan or shallow dish. Chill at least 1 hour. Cut into pieces to serve. Store in refrigerator. Makes about 1 lb. fudge.

Lemon Cream Pie Is A Favorite

Here's a good, solid recipe for lemon cream pie.

Lemon Cream Pie
1 baked 9-inch pie shell
2 cups milk
1/2 cup cornstarch
1 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
3 egg yolks
1-3 cup lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
2 tablespoons butter
1 egg white

Scald milk in top part of double boiler. Combine cornstarch, sugar and salt, and blend thoroughly. Pour part of the milk over the dry ingredients, stirring constantly. Gradually add all the milk. Return to double boiler and cook, stirring until thickened. Beat egg yolks, add a little of the hot mixture. Add to remaining hot mixture in double boiler. Cook 2 minutes longer. Remove from heat, add lemon juice, rind and butter, and stir until smooth. Cool. Fold in the egg white which has been beaten until stiff. Pour into baked 9-inch pie shell. Top with meringue and bake in a slow oven, 325 degrees, for 15 minutes or until browned.

Meringue
2 egg whites
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1/4 cup sugar
Beat egg whites with lemon juice until frothy. Gradually beat in sugar, a little at a time. Continue beating until stiff and glossy. Pile on Lemon Cream Pie and bake as directed.

Tuna Is High In Protein, Provides Low Cost Meals

Fishermen have many singular superstitions and customs which originated centuries back. Among Baltic fishermen, if someone sneezed on the first day of the year, it signified good fishing for that season. In Dieppe, the mariners never referred to rabbits when on their ships, and seafarers of many nationalities still believe to this day that whistling on board brings bad luck.

Whatever the beliefs, it is these stalwart men, sailing all the seas, who face the often dangerous task of bringing in the fish . . . such as the mighty and popular tuna . . . for our enjoyment and nourishment. The hardy Japanese fishermen, for example, supply about 45 per cent of the tuna which is canned in this country.

Tuna is indeed a top-favorite with meal-planners, for it's an excellent high protein source at low cost. And whatever the season, it's always available, easy to turn into an interesting, tempting dish. With its fine blend of seasonings and tender vegetables, this satisfying tuna stew is perfect deliciousness to come home to . . . anytime, anywhere!

Fisherman's Favorite Tuna Stew (Makes 6 Servings)
4 potatoes, pared and cut in large cubes
3 carrots, cut in 1-inch pieces
1 cup sliced celery (1-inch pieces)
1/4 cup water
1 bay leaf
1 teaspoon garlic salt
1/4 teaspoon oregano
1/4 teaspoon monosodium glutamate

Dash pepper
1 large onion, cut in wedges
1 medium green pepper, cut in 1-inch pieces
1-3 cup sliced pimiento-stuffed olives

1 tablespoon capers
3 cans (6 1/2 to 7 ounces each) tuna, drained and flaked

Combine potatoes, carrots, celery, tomato juice, water and seasonings in Dutch oven or large sauce pot. Bring to boil; reduce heat. Simmer covered 10 to 15 minutes or until vegetables are almost tender. Add onion, green pepper, olives and capers. Cook 10 minutes longer or until all vegetables are tender. Add tuna; heat to serving temperature.

Tuna With Chinese Vegetables (Makes 6 To 8 Servings)

1 large green pepper, sliced
2 small onions, sliced
1/4 cup soy sauce
1/4 cup water
3 tablespoons salad oil
1 can (1-pound) Chinese vegetables, drained
1 can (5-ounces) water chestnuts, drained
2 cans (6-1/2 to 7 ounces each) tuna, drained and flaked
2 medium tomatoes, cut in wedges
1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
1 teaspoon cornstarch
2 cans (3-ounces each) Chinese noodles
Combine green pepper, onions, soy sauce and water. Let stand 1 hour, stirring occasionally. Drain green pepper and onions; reserve soy sauce mixture. Heat oil, add green pepper and onions. Cover and cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, 10 minutes.

Add Chinese vegetables, water chestnuts and tuna. Cover and cook 5 minutes. Combine garlic powder and cornstarch. Stir in reserved soy mixture. Stir soy mixture into tuna mixture. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Arrange over Chinese noodles.

Keep Spices From Going Stale, Dry

The homemaker visiting her favorite supermarket finds that never before have there been so many spices—attractive in flavor and in appearance—to choose from.

Of all cooking ingredients spices have the most romantic history, dating back to the very beginnings of time. Today, when everyone can savor the nip of black pepper, or the delicious aroma of nutmeg, cloves or ginger, it is difficult to realize that they were once regarded as treasure, hard to discover and transport.

(Yet we do all remember, don't we, that it was the quest of a "shorter" route to the Far East, where the spices came from, that caused Christopher Columbus to set out on his famous "wrong way" voyage that discovered America?)

Most homemakers have a wide variety of spices stored away in kitchen cabinets or on spice shelves and this exotic collection can become a rather expensive investment. Because spices usually are used in very small amounts they last for long periods of time. It is, therefore, important to keep spices from going stale, from drying out, and losing their flavor.

Glass containers have proved to be the answer to this problem. For one thing, spices require protection from moisture as well as mildew, and glass provides it due to the fact that the bottles and jars can be tightly resealed. (This is one of the reasons why celery, garlic and onion salts usually have been packaged in glass.) And now all spices and herbs can be bought in glass containers.

The simplest dish can be turned into a gourmet delight with the many spices available and it's fun to experiment. However, culinary experts warn that the spices must be used sparingly. If you can taste the seasonings, you have used too much they say. Spices must blend with the food in order to bring out its best flavor. Try adding mace to chicken casseroles, caraway to lamb stew, or coriander to pea soup.

If you would like to know more about what spice is best with what food, spice charts easily can be obtained from spice companies. You might keep a spice chart handy along with your cookbooks. Or, frame an attractive spice chart and hang it on your kitchen wall.

The many hues among your spices contained in glass bottles will sparkle on the home spice rack and dining room table, creating an attractive picture, while providing the protection necessary for these exotic seasonings.

Vegetables Have Party Flare Too

When guests are invited for dinner give your vegetables the glamour treatment and serve a distinctive vegetable platter. Cheesy green and lima beans with saucy sweet potatoes are the colorful and complementary partners — a perfect choice for the hostess who wishes to entertain with fancier, hearty fare. A parsley or watercress garnish is the "just right" final touch for this vegetable platter.

When served together on a chop plate the vegetables look more attractive, they stay warm longer, and what's more there's just one dish to wash.

Cheesy Green and Lima Beans
1 can (1 pound) small green lima beans
1 can (1 pound) cut green beans
2 tablespoons light cream
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

1 cup grated American cheese
Put drained lima and green beans in skillet with light cream and Worcestershire sauce. Cover and heat. Add cheese; heat until cheese is melted, stirring lightly with a fork. Six to eight servings.

Saucy Sweetpotatoes
1 can (1 pound, 2 ounce) vacuum pack sweetpotatoes
1 can or jar baby's strained apple sauce
1/4 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Arrange sweetpotatoes in a shallow baking dish. Spoon the apple sauce over them. Sprinkle with brown sugar and nutmeg; dot with butter. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) about 30 minutes. Five to six servings.

Scramble Ham, Eggs, Cheese

Good way to use leftover ham. Scrambled Ham and Eggs
6 eggs, lightly beaten with 1/4 teaspoon salt
1-3 cup diced cooked ham
2 tablespoons butter
1-3 cup finely grated cheddar cheese
Add ham to eggs. Heat butter in a 10-inch skillet; add egg mixture and cook over low heat stirring occasionally. Just before eggs are set as much as desired, fold in cheese. Makes 4 servings.

Cupcakes Have Many Uses, Are Always Welcome Treat

A supply of cupcakes is often a homemaker's best dessert friend. These little cakes are special favorites with youngsters—an individual "whole" cake to a child is fun and "just enough for a treat." Cupcakes are a blessing, too, for the busy mother who packs lunches daily for her family.

Many Variations Possible
For most any need there's an infinite number of cupcake variations you might prepare. Bake a batch of cupcakes today using one of the delicious recipes below. Or, prepare your own favorite recipe and give the cupcakes a new twist with some of these interesting tricks.

Just for the kids are little Clown Cupcakes. Frost the tops of cupcakes with a plain butter frosting, then add eyes and other facial features from cut-up gumdrops or candied cherries. Turn each cupcake on its side and top with a "hat" fashioned from a paper baking cup.

Here's a cupcake variation made to order for packed lunches. Prepare a batch each of chocolate and white cupcakes. Slice the baked, cooled cupcakes in half vertically and spread frosting on the cut sides. Reassemble the cupcakes pressing together a chocolate half and a white half for each whole cupcake. If you wish, press chopped nuts or flaked coconut into the frosting "seams."

Your family will feel in a party mood when dessert for dinner is one of these special cupcakes. For instance, swirl whole cupcakes in fluffy 7-minute frosting then in flaked coconut for Snowballs. Prepare Upside-down Cupcakes by spooning 1/2 teaspoon butter, 1 tablespoon brown sugar and 1 tablespoon well-drained, thinly sliced or crushed fruit into each cup before adding the cupcake batter.

Toppings Vary Cupcakes
Think of all the toppings you could use to give cupcakes glamour. Here are a few ideas to set your thinking cap awirl. Top cupcakes with honey, chopped nuts and grated orange rind. Embellish frosted cupcakes with walnut halves, tiny gumdrops, semisweet. Spread jam or jelly over the tops of cupcakes and sprinkle with flaked coconut.

Here's an easy way to frost cupcakes. Immediately after removing the cupcakes from the oven top with a chocolate mint pattie. When the pattie melts, spread lightly for an elegant marbled mint frosting.

For tea party prettiness prepare tiny cupcakes and frost with plain or pastel colored butter frosting. Tint additional frosting various "flower" colors and with a cake decorator make floral designs on the top of each cake. Arrange your cupcake "posies" on a tiered cake plate.

Store In Freezer
For dessert in a hurry save out a few cupcakes from each batch and wrap the unfrosted ones individually in plastic food wrap. Store in the freezer for as long as two months. Thaw the still wrapped cupcakes at room temperature for about 1/2 hour.

Freeze frosted cupcakes unwrapped till the frosting is frozen, then wrap quickly as directed for unfrosted cakes. The frosted cupcakes will also stay just-baked fresh for 2 months in the freezer. Thaw frosted cupcakes unwrapped for 1/2 hour. Cupcakes put into the lunch bag right from the freezer in the morning will be thawed by the time lunch hour arrives, too.

Baking Hints
When you prepare your own cupcake recipes, grease only the bottoms of the pans to help the cakes rise nicely without running over. An easier way is to use paper baking cups as liners in the muffin pans. The paper baking cups also eliminate clean-up-fuss, too. (If you use paper baking cups, allow the cupcakes to cool before peeling off the paper.)

Follow recipe directions exactly—you'll notice some cupcake recipes are prepared like muffin batter, others more like conventional cake batters. For nicely shaped cupcakes fill pans only 1/2 to 2/3 full unless the recipe specifies otherwise.

Family Pleasers
Spicy Apple Cupcakes are made to order for the lunch box set and are as easy to prepare as muffins. The cupcakes satisfy a child's sweet tooth and give him a nutritional bonus, too.

To make the cupcakes party special, cut out small designs (stars, hearts, shamrocks, etc.) from paper. Place the design or a paper doily on top of the cupcake and sift confectioners' sugar over all. Carefully lift off the paper design, leaving a sugar-edged silhouette. For a family lunch or supper treat brush the still warm cupcakes with melted butter or margarine and sprinkle with chopped nuts.

Spicy Apple Cakes
1 1/2 cups sifted enriched flour
1/2 cup light brown sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon ground cloves
1-3 cup shortening
1 egg, beaten
1/2 cup applesauce
1/4 cup milk
Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder, salt, cinnamon, nutmeg, and cloves. Cut or rub in shortening until mixture is crumbly. Combine egg, applesauce and milk. Add to dry ingredients and mix until blended.

Fill greased or paper-lined small muffin cups 2-3 full. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 25 to 30 minutes or until golden brown. Remove immediately from pans and cool. Makes 1 1/2 dozen 2-inch cupcakes.

Total preparation time: 45 minutes
Banana Cupcakes have rich banana flavor sparked by a touch of orange and lemon. Serve fresh from the oven with glasses of milk or cups of cocoa to your youngsters when they arrive home from school.

For a family dessert top the cooled cupcakes with a spoonful of whipped cream and two or three banana slices. Dip the banana slices in orange or lemon juice first to prevent darkening and add a bit more flavor.

Banana Cupcakes
2 cups sifted enriched flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon soda
1/2 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
2 eggs
1 cup mashed ripe banana (2 medium bananas)
2 tablespoons milk
1 cup chopped nuts
Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and soda. Cream together shortening and sugar until light and fluffy. Stir in vanilla extract and orange- and lemon rinds. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Add flour mixture to creamed mixture alternately with banana and milk. Beat well after each addition. Fold in nuts.

Fill greased or paper-lined muffin cups 2-3 full. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Makes about 18 cupcakes.
Total preparation time: 1 hour
Cherry Surprise Cupcakes feature an easy filling of canned cherry pie filling and a topping of dairy sour cream. You'll see dozens of possible cupcake variations with this recipe. You might fill them with lemon pudding and top with a spoonful of meringue (brown the meringue for 2 or 3 minutes in a hot oven). Try chocolate pudding and whipped cream or a filling of halved green grapes, sweetened with brown sugar, and a topping of dairy sour cream. For easy sophistication fill with orange marmalade and top with chocolate sauce.

Save the leftover cake cut-outs for an extra-special "bread" pudding. Or, toast the cake, fold into whipped cream and spoon into sherbet glasses for another dessert.

Cherry Surprise Cupcakes
2 cups sifted enriched flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
2 eggs
1/4 cup milk
2 cups cherry pie filling (1-pound can)
1 cup dairy sour cream
Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cream together shortening and sugar until light and fluffy. Blend in vanilla extract. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Add flour mixture to creamed mixture alternately with milk, beginning and ending with flour. Beat well after each addition.

Fill greased or paper-lined medium muffin cups 1/2 full. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 25 to 30 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Cool 10 minutes before removing from pans. Cool completely before decorating.

With sharp knife, cut out a 2-inch square, 1 1/4-inch deep, from top of each cupcake. Fill cavities with cherry pie filling. Cover cherries with spoonful of sour cream. Refrigerate until serving time. Makes 1 1/2 dozen cupcakes.

Total preparation time: 1 1/2 hours
If you don't sift and in the absence of other directions, spoon flour directly from container into a one cup dry measure, level off, then remove two level table-spoonfuls, according to USDA recommendations.

NOTE: Self-rising flour may be used in all recipes if leavening and salt are omitted.

Sea Food Medley Combines With Macaroni, Spaghetti

Folks who live by the sea know how to enjoy sea food. And, thanks to modern methods and transportation, folks who live inland can share in the pleasure.

For a special treat try this casserole, a luscious blend of lobster, shrimp, crab meat and clams with sour cream and elbow macaroni. All the major ingredients can be taken right from the pantry shelf; such are the wonders of modern canned and packaged products.

Another sea food supper you'll enjoy starts with Spaghetti St. Jacques, teaming popular spaghetti with a classic way of cooking scallops.

Macaroni Sea Food Medley (Makes 4 to 6 servings)
1 tablespoon salt
3 quarts boiling water
2 cups elbow macaroni (8 ounces)
2 cups dairy sour cream
1 can (5 ounces) lobster, drained
1 can (5 ounces) shrimp, drained
1 can (7 1/2 ounces) crab meat, drained and boned
1 can (7 1/2 ounces) minced clams, undrained
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
Add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add macaroni so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander.

Combine macaroni and sour cream; mix well. Add lobster, shrimp, crab meat, clams, 1/2 teaspoon salt and pepper; mix well. Turn into 2 1/2-quart casserole. Bake in 350 degree (moderate) oven 30 minutes.

Spaghetti St. Jacques (Makes 4 to 6 servings)
1 tablespoon salt
3 quarts boiling water
8 ounces spaghetti
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 clove garlic, finely chopped
1 medium onion, thinly sliced
1 pound scallops
1 can (4 ounces) sliced mushrooms, drained
2 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
Salt and pepper to taste
1/2 cup grated Cheddar cheese
Add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add spaghetti so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander.

Meanwhile, melt butter and add garlic, onion, scallops, and mushrooms. Cook over medium heat until scallops are lightly browned. Blend in flour. Gradually add milk and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened.

Add parsley and season with salt and pepper. Turn spaghetti into shallow oven-proof platter. Pour sauce over spaghetti. Sprinkle with cheese. Broil 6 to

ECONOMY OVEN DISH USES CHICKEN WINGS

Any leftover chicken wings will make good snacking.

Baked Chicken Wings
1 pound (about 10) chicken wings
1/4 cup butter
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1 1/2 teaspoons paprika
Snip tips from wings with a kitchen scissor; wash and dry. Melt butter in a heatproof glass baking dish (10 by 6 by 1 1/4 inches) in a moderate (375 degrees) oven. Stir salt, mustard and paprika into the butter using the flat surface of a small spatula to make smooth. Dip wings in seasoned butter and fit into the same dish in one layer. Bake in the 375-degree oven, turning wings over halfway through baking period, until tender—about 45 minutes. Drain on paper-towel. Makes 3 servings.

Note: Wing tips may be used in making chicken stock.

Who in the world would write a fan letter to a loaf of bread?

Frankly, we are amazed at all the wonderful letters we have received about our new Golden Circles Bread. We knew Golden Circles was special. Actually, it is the richest white bread we have ever baked, but never in all our years of baking have we received so many warm and wonderful letters from women about a loaf of bread. We knew when we made Golden Circles that it was not just another round bread—we planned it that way. We made it with more milk solids, more shortening, and more spring wheat flour. This gives it that honest-to-goodness flavor, the kind only rich ingredients can give, and the kind of texture that is tender but good. We added pure cane sugar because this helps to make for tenderer crusts and better toast. Next time you shop pick up a loaf of Golden Circles and see if you don't feel like writing us a letter about it.

League Hears MU Professor

"A strong political system would limit pork-barrel politics," George Hoffman, associate professor of government at Midwestern University, said at an open meeting of the League of Women Voters Wednesday night.

"What we need is a stronger, more responsible party system," Hoffman said. "This way, congressmen could vote their party line. Liberals would all be in one party, and conservatives, all would be in the other."

He added, "Then people could vote their party and could be fairly sure that if the President had a majority in both houses of Congress that he would be able to carry out his platform."

He pointed out, however, that the stronger party system will probably never go over in the United States because Americans don't like to be told how to vote.

"There are two trends which have a strengthening effect," Hoffman pointed out. "States are becoming more alike economically and the mass communications media are tending to emphasize national and international issues, and the people are forming definite ideas about how they want their congressmen to vote on these issues."

Asked how to evaluate a political candidate, Hoffman said, "All we can do is find out what we can about the candidate, particularly impartial information on him, and to compare his qualifications with those you think necessary for the job."

KEY LIME PIE

Florida Dessert Is Key Lime Pie

A modern version of Florida's major dessert triumph — the Key Lime Pie — can now be made the easy way with the aid of a brand-new product, key lime pie filling. This famous pie has a fascinating history that began centuries ago in the Florida Keys, the tiny coral rock islands strung out at the tip of the Florida Coast.

The early settlers who had come from Southern states and nearby Spanish and English-speaking islands were hardy, thrifty people who took advantage of the food supply around them. They not only became experts at seafood cookery, but they utilized the fruit of the native Key lime tree in many ways.

Most famous of all their lime specialties is the Key Lime Pie that today not only is regarded as the State's most outstanding dessert specialty, but also as one of its most remembered tourist attractions. The pie has countless variations and the new product is equally versatile.

It can be converted into a meringue, a chiffon or a frozen pie. Or, it can be used to make a tart sauce for fresh fruit, cake or ice cream — or a filling for eclairs shells or cake layers — to name just a few.

In the recipe that follows it is featured in one of its more conventional uses — as a frozen pie in a baked pastry shell.

Key Lime Frozen Pie
1 package key lime pie filling
1/2 cup sugar
2 1/2 cups cold water
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
2 egg whites
1/4 cup sugar
1 9-inch baked and cooled pie shell

Combine key lime pie filling and 1/2 cup sugar in a saucepan. Gradually add water and egg yolks, stirring to keep mixture smooth. Cook over medium high heat, stirring steadily until mixture just starts to boil. Break flavor capsule if undissolved; stir into filling. Cool slightly.

Beat egg whites until foamy. Gradually add and beat in remaining 1/2 cup sugar. Beat until peaks hold. Fold into slightly cooled filling. Pour into pie shell. Freeze until firm.
Makes 1 9-inch pie.

Leftovers Make Unique Casserole

Leftover ham makes great sandwiches — but it also lends a world of flavor to this unique Italian-style casserole. It's an easy dish to prepare when the goodness of your heart prompts you to invite unexpected guests to stay for dinner... especially if you have a pound of ground beef on hand.

The noodles, packed in the bottom of the casserole capture the good flavors of the other ingredients as they simmer away in tomato sauce. Put small chunks of the ham and pitted olives on top for extra eye appeal.

Serve with hot or cold artichokes and mugs of steaming coffee. A freshly baked chocolate cake makes a grand finale.

Ham 'N Beef Casserole
(Servings — 6)

1 (8-ounce) package medium noodles
2 tablespoons cooking oil
1 large onion, chopped
1 pound ground beef
1 1/2 cups diced leftover ham
1 (3-ounce) bottle stuffed olives, halved (optional)
2 (8-ounce) cans tomato sauce
1/2 teaspoon oregano
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon thyme
1/2 cup water

Cook noodles as directed on package, drain. Brown onion and beef in oil. Remove excess fat. Add ham, olives, tomato sauce, water and seasonings. Heat. Arrange noodles in bottom of 2 1/2 quart casserole. Pour meat mixture over noodles. If desired, put chunks of the ham and pitted olives on top for eye appeal. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 45 minutes.

Swedish Meat Balls
2 cups corn flakes or 1/2 cup packaged corn flake crumbs
1 pound ground beef
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons drippings or shortening
2 tablespoons flour
Dash pepper
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon allspice
Dash ground cloves
1/2 cup milk
1 cup beef bouillon
1/2 cup hot milk
1 tablespoon chopped parsley

If using corn flakes, crush into fine crumbs. Combine corn flake crumbs with meat, egg, seasonings and milk. Shape into balls about 1 inch in diameter. Heat small amount of shortening in heavy fry pan. Brown meat balls on all sides, shaking pan gently to turn meat balls; remove from fry pan.

Pour off drippings and measure back into fry pan; blend in flour. Add bouillon and milk gradually, stirring constantly. Add meat balls to sauce. Cover and simmer about 20 minutes or until meat balls are thoroughly cooked, stirring occasionally. Just before serving, sprinkle with parsley.
Yield: 6 servings, 4-5 meat balls each.

Continental Food Lets You Travel

This is the time of year when travel folders beckon one to every corner of the world, and travel advertising is at its peak. But if this isn't your year for globe-trotting, at least you can enjoy one of the pleasures of travel—interesting new foods—right at home. Here are some recipes for main dish specialties of Europe.

Chicken Italiane is seasoned with a savory tomato sauce incorporating garlic, basil and oregano. Then the chicken is coated with convenient packaged corn flake crumbs for a crusty coating. Serve this entree with such Italian accompaniments as fettucine (buttered noodles tossed with freshly grated cheese), a crisp spinach salad and bread sticks.

From Scandinavia comes an appetizer many prefer as a main dish, Swedish Meat Balls. Packaged corn flake crumbs are used in the ground meat mixture to make the meat balls moist and tender. If you wish, serve them over buttered rice or noodles.

Chicken Italiane
1 2 1/2-3 pound broiler-fryer chicken, cut in serving pieces
6 cups corn flakes or 1 1/4 cups packaged corn flake crumbs
1 cup (8-oz. can) tomato sauce
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon garlic salt
1/2 teaspoon sweet basil
1/4 teaspoon oregano

Wash chicken pieces and dry thoroughly. If using corn flakes crush into fine crumbs. Combine tomato sauce, then roll in corn flake crumbs.

Line shallow baking pan with aluminum foil. Place chicken pieces, skin side up, in foil-lined pan; do not crowd. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 1 hour, or until tender. No need to turn chicken while cooking. For less crisp crust, cover lightly with foil during first 45 minutes of baking.
Yield: 4-5 servings.

Swedish Meat Balls
2 cups corn flakes or 1/2 cup packaged corn flake crumbs
1 pound ground beef
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons drippings or shortening
2 tablespoons flour
Dash pepper
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon allspice
Dash ground cloves
1/2 cup milk
1 cup beef bouillon
1/2 cup hot milk
1 tablespoon chopped parsley

If using corn flakes, crush into fine crumbs. Combine corn flake crumbs with meat, egg, seasonings and milk. Shape into balls about 1 inch in diameter. Heat small amount of shortening in heavy fry pan. Brown meat balls on all sides, shaking pan gently to turn meat balls; remove from fry pan.

Pour off drippings and measure back into fry pan; blend in flour. Add bouillon and milk gradually, stirring constantly. Add meat balls to sauce. Cover and simmer about 20 minutes or until meat balls are thoroughly cooked, stirring occasionally. Just before serving, sprinkle with parsley.
Yield: 6 servings, 4-5 meat balls each.

Festive Salad Is Green And White

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Have you ever tried this salad made of fresh cooked snap beans and sweet onion rings served with a vinaigrette sauce? Really exciting, full of flavor to embellish a spring festive dinner.

Fresh Snap Beans And Onion Rings With Vinaigrette Sauce
(2 servings)
1/2 pound fresh snap beans
1 inch boiling water in saucepan
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup sliced small white onions
Vinaigrette Sauce
Wash beans, cut off tips and leave whole. Place in a saucepan with 1-inch boiling water and salt. Bring to boiling point, uncovered, and boil 5 minutes. Add sliced onions, cover and cook 7 to 8 minutes or only until crisp-tender. Drain if necessary and serve with Vinaigrette Sauce. This dish may be served hot or chilled.

This sauce may be made in advance and stored in the refrigerator to use over cooked or raw fresh vegetables.

Vinaigrette Sauce
(2-3 cup)
1/2 cup oil and vinegar type French dressing
1 tablespoon chopped fresh parsley
1 tablespoon finely chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons finely chopped cucumber pickle
1 teaspoon chopped fresh chives or onion
Combine all ingredients and beat well. Serve over cooked fresh vegetables.

Texas uses more natural gas than any other state and more than the rest of the world outside the United States.

A&P GUARANTEES THE MEAT AS WELL AS THE MEAT

PRICES IN THIS AD GOOD THRU APRIL 25th AT YOUR FRIENDLY A&P SUPERMARKET

This Can Well Mean Getting The Most For Your Meat Dollar!

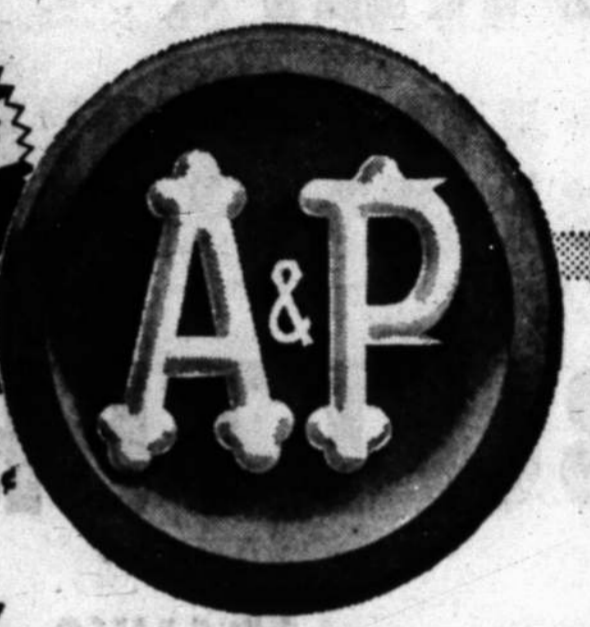

The EAT in the MEAT means plenty to you because nearly every week 25% of your food money is spent for meat. Unless your family gets the EAT in the MEAT, what you spend isn't delivering what it's supposed to. That's why A&P guarantees every chop, roast, steak or any other "Super-Right" meat you buy. Either your family agrees they're getting the EAT in the MEAT or you get your money back. Fair enough?

The EAT in the MEAT is further protected by A&P experts. They have an "eagle eye" for the slightest defect and when they pass beef to go to your A&P — we know it's meat with plenty of eat — and we guarantee it! The same goes for "Super-Right" pork... milk-fed veal... tender lamb and poultry. How about changing to "Super-Right" meats? You'll get the EAT in the MEAT your family wants — and good, sound value, too.

The EAT in the MEAT starts with A&P's selections from the nation's top packers. Let's take beef for example. "Super-Right" beef can't be anything but top quality grain-fed meat. And we never deviate from these quality standards — that you can depend on.
