AKIN FAILS TO OUST CITY ATTORNEY

Dan Moody And Former 'Enemies' Unite For Campaign

GOVERNOR AND DAVIDSONS TO WAGE FIGHT

Efforts To Be Made To Keep Party Control For "Regulars"

TOM LOVE OPPOSED

Houston Nominee Gets Support Whether Wet Or Dry

AUSTIN, April 9. (AP)—Governor Dan Moody and Lynch Davidson, who fought each other for the governorship, and T. W. Davidson, who locked horns with Lynch Davidson over the same office, will unite their efforts to keep control of the Texas Democratic party vested in the "regular" members who would not bolt, it was learned definitely and authoritatively late Monday.

Quiet Campaign

The combination, it developed, was effected in Saturday's "harmony" meeting of party leaders in Dallas.

Although their campaign to prevent a split in the ranks may be quiet, it will be militant and directed against State Senator Thomas B. Love, Representative George Purl, Highway Commissioner Cone Johnson, R. H. Kirby and others whom the Moody group declare will bolt the party if some one not agreeable to them is nominated for president.

The two Davidsons and Moody will lead a movement for a "dry" plank and "dry" nominees but, if defeated in that, will pledge their whole support to the man chosen at the Houston convention. Their program might include speaking campaigns.

Governor Moody had not agreed heretofore to lead a campaign against those who declare they will not stick if Al Smith or any person they deem unfriendly to prohibition is nominated.

R. Harper Kirby, whose resignation as chairman of the "constitutional dry" faction was not accepted, issued this statement Monday concerning the Dallas meeting:

"Honor Bound"

"After reviewing the result of the harmony meeting at Dallas Saturday, the constitutional Democrats have concluded that they are in honor bound to go on with their organization and work. We were practically told to stay away because Hon. John Davis, who was helping to get up the meeting, stated in the Dallas papers on the morning of the meeting that Democrats who were set against any candidate, including Governor Smith, were not wanted. I am hoping that the harmony meeting organization which they authorized to battle will not cause divisions or wrangles in the ranks of prohibitionists who do not want to see dry Texas ever cast a vote for Governor Smith or any other man who entertains his views on the liquor question. I intend to issue a statement in a few days giving more at length the position of the constitutional Democrats."

MOODY MAY STUMP STATE IN CAMPAIGN

AUSTIN, April 9. (AP)—Gov. Moody may take the stump soon to plead for a Texas delegation to the national Democratic convention instructed for a "dry" plank but not against any individual, he indicated Monday.

He is believed to have made that decision after the "harmony" meeting of Texas Democrats Saturday in Dallas in which those who would "bolt" the party if the nominee were not their choice were criticized freely.

The governor will not make a definite plan to speak over the state until he has conferred with other persons.

Dumas was removed from the city to a destination rumored to be Austin. He waived examining trial.

GANG VIOLENCE FEARED TODAY

Chicago's Yeggs Rumored Prepared For Trouble

By FRED VAN DEVENDER

CHICAGO, April 9. (US)—Thirty thousand men will guard the polls in Chicago tomorrow against any possible outburst of gang violence.

The vote will decide the most bitterly contested primary election in the history of the state.

It has been a contest in which mud has been flung by both factions of the republican party.

It has been marked by bombings and killings.

Gangs Quiet

As in previous years little has been heard of the gangsters for the two or three weeks preceding election day. What gangland may do tomorrow is a matter of conjecture.

It has been reported that the gang leaders have laid elaborate plans for the robbing of ballot boxes, the stuffing of them, and general intimidation of voters at the polls.

However, County Judge Edmund Jarecki, in charge of elections in Cook county, believes the election will be quiet.

He has stationed 3000 men from various civic clubs, as watchers for his court.

5000 Watchers

Watchers of the different factions will be on hand, totalling perhaps 5000. Three thousand city police will be on duty, ready to quell any riot which might break out.

County highway police and park police, the latter appointed by the state, will also guard the polls.

Other civic agencies, not included in the list prepared by Judge Jarecki, will have their own watchers on duty.

The federal government will not station deputy marshals at the polls, on orders from Attorney General Sargent. United States Marshal Palmer Anderson originally requested the federal authorities on the ground that a presidential election is involved.

Final Epithets

The two factions of the G. O. P. hurled their final epithets at the other, for the benefit of the voters today. Many meetings were held in downtown theaters and in ward halls.

Speakers all were united in only one thing. They agreed that they would be elected.

GRAND JURY TO RESUME PROBE OF SLAYING

Report Expected Today In Death of J. C. Nichols

WOMAN IN JAIL

Bond Refused Wife Of Slain Man Pending Report

Investigation of the grand jury into the fatal shooting Sunday of J. C. Nichols, local contractor, Monday afternoon was continued until Tuesday. It was believed that the investigation into the shooting would be completed Tuesday morning.

Mr. Nichols was shot to death at the Nichols home, 1528 Bland street at 9:30 o'clock Sunday morning. Four bullets, according to Justice of the Peace O. L. Gibbs, who held an inquest, entered the man's body. He was dead when police reached the scene a few minutes after the shots were fired.

Tells of Quarrel.

The shooting, according to Mrs. Clara Nichols, who appeared before the grand jury Monday, grew out of a quarrel over employment by Mr. Nichols of a negro man who often was seen about the Nichols home. Mrs. Nichols asked that the man be kept away from the place. Mr. Nichols, according to a statement made by the woman to Sam B. Spence, assistant district attorney, replied to this request with a remark to which she took exception.

Picking up a gun from a refrigerator in an adjoining room Mrs. Nichols shot her husband as he was said in the statement. Six empty shells were in the pistol when police took it from a neighbor to whom Mrs. Nichols had handed it after the shooting.

Mrs. Nichols Monday night was being held in county jail without bond pending completion of the grand jury investigation.

Seervices Today.

Funeral services for Mr. Nichols will be held from the Merkle Undertaking company chapel at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Burial will be in Riverside.

Mr. Nichols is survived by two children, Lorene, 19, and H. L., 13. Miss Nichols was in the home at the time of the shooting, but did not witness it. H. L. Nichols was away from the house on an errand, according to his mother.

In addition to the two children and his widow, Mr. Nichols is survived by his father, T. H. Nichols, and two brothers, all of Dallas.

Streams of North Texas Found Badly Polluted by State Inspector

Pollution from oil leases and refineries is evident in practically every stream in Wichita and adjoining Texas counties and game, fish and livestock are suffering from existing conditions, S. R. Thrasher, inspector of the game, fish and oyster commission of Texas, declared Monday after he had toured the territory surrounding Wichita Falls.

Mr. Thrasher did not find any evidence of pollution in any of the lakes forming the Wichita valley irrigation system, from which the city of Wichita Falls obtains its water supply, he said.

Issues Warning

A warning, with emphasis placed on the penalty of the law, was issued by Mr. Thrasher before he departed for Austin Monday. He gathered data on stream pollution while here and said that he would return within a short time, when complaints may be filed on parties whom he deems responsible for the conditions found Monday, he said.

Livestock and fish are not only suffering, but many farmers are losing hundreds of dollars owing to salt water and lease waste getting into the soil, making it unfit for cultivation, the inspector declared.

Instances of livestock having been killed by drinking contaminated water in polluted streams of this section were noted in the tour of inspection which was made in company with Lon A. Martin, deputy supervisor of the oil and gas division of the state railroad commission at Electra, who served as a guide for Mr. Thrasher.

Fines Provided

Game fish are not only being made unfit for eating but many of them are being killed, the official declared.

The law designed to prevent stream pollution of the nature discovered near Wichita Falls Monday provides as a penalty a minimum fine of $100 and a maximum fine of $1000.

"I have given fair warning to the parties responsible for these conditions and I hope I will not be forced to file complaints when I return to this section in the near future," Mr. Thrasher told The Record News Monday night.

Indictments against R. K. Mims, president; L. A. Lafon, vice-president; R. A. Martinez, cashier and Serapio Vela included conspiracy to embezzle bank funds, misapplication of bank funds, and embezzlement of bank funds.

JUDGE TAKES NO CHANCES ON BRIBE ATTEMPT

Justice Bailey Decides Of His Own Motion On Separation

SPEED MARKS TRIAL

12 Jurors to Hear Sinclair Case Selected In Short Time

By JOHN A. KENNEDY

WASHINGTON, April 9. (UP)—Justice shook its laden feet and took to wings today as Justice Jennings Bailey, a small but stern Tennessee mountaineer, quickly formed a jury to try Harry F. Sinclair, oil millionaire, for conspiracy to defraud the nation of its naval oil lands.

It took the gray-haired jurist, son of a former United States senator, but three hours and five minutes to pick the 12 men from the 64 persons who had been called to the jury box.

Jury Ordered Locked

Then, after each side had exhausted the 10 challenges allowed it under the law, the justice ordered the jury sworn and locked up.

No chance to have another jury-tampering scandal such as disrupted the first Teapot Dome trial while the Honorable Jennings Bailey is in charge.

"I have decided of my own motion," the court informed the lawyers, after the jurors had withdrawn, "to have the jury kept together. If either side has any objection please make it now. There will be no chance to have the objection made while the jury is present."

The government was anxious that such a course be followed.

Defense Concurs

The defense, through George P. Hoover, Washington counsel for the oil millionaire, announced:

"We have no objection but concur in what you are doing."

The judge seemed to know where he was going and how to get there. His speed in thrusting aside the cumbersome methods of other oil trials projected itself boldly in contrast.

On two or three occasions in the earlier phases of the examination when Mr. Hoover started to argue matters with the bench, he was politely but firmly told:

"I don't care to hear any more argument, Mr. Hoover. You object and your reasons are noted on the record."

There wasn't any more argument.

Government Witnesses

Tomorrow Owen J. Roberts, the government prosecutor, will tell the jury what the prosecution expects to prove. He then will start presenting the government's side.

L. T. Rule, J. S. Booth and M. T. Everhart will be the witnesses at tomorrow's sessions.

Through Everhart, son-in-law of former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall, who also is the prosecution's star witness, the noted lawyer expects to show how Sinclair gave Fall $33,000 in liberty bonds five weeks after Fall leased the Teapot Dome oil reserve to Sinclair's oil company.

Swan Songs

'Good Luck. . . Best Wishes' As They Come and Go In City Posts

Songs of the future, and swan songs of a perilous past were voiced by four speakers at the regular council meeting Monday night when R. E. Shepherd gave way to J. W. Akin, new mayor, w' n P. B. Curd made his farewell speech to the council and citizens, and when Mayor Akin and Alderman J. H. Patton made their introductory addresses.

Greetings From Shep

"I want to be the first man to greet the new mayor," declared Mr. Shepherd, after he had administered the oath of office to the new members.

Introduced to a crowded council hall by Mayor Akin as the "Ex-Mayor of Wichita Falls," Mr. Shepherd made his last official speech before joining the spectators on the other side of the table.

"First," he said, "I want to express appreciation for the loyal support given me by the council and the heads of the various departments during my period of office. The citizens of Wichita Falls have been fine to me, and I am grateful for it. It has been a rich source of pleasure and happiness to work and co-operate with the public and the city employes.

Turning to address Mayor Akin Mr. Shepherd declared, "I wish you every success in the world in your new position. The task the people have given you is a hard one, as I know from my own experience. You are confronted by a new form of government, and while I would not wish to tell you how to run the city, I will offer my services, and if at any time I can be of service either to you or the council, I will be delighted."

Mr. Shepherd briefly outlined some of the outstanding accomplishments of the administration. "When I entered my duties as finance commissioner for the city eight years ago," he said, "the city tax rate amounted to $1.66. When I entered the office of mayor it had been reduced to $1.30, and at present it stands at $1.40. The increase however, was due to improved sewer facilities, construction of 530 blocks of pavement, and many other improvements that have been accomplished during the period in which I have served as mayor."

"I love Wichita Falls," the retiring mayor continued. "It means the world and all to me. And to the new mayor and to the council which will govern it I wish all the luck in the world."

"While recounting the things you have done in office," Mayor Akin responded, "you left out one thing, Mr. Shepherd. You neglected to say you had advertised Wichita Falls more than any other mayor, by your splendid voice. It is known not only around here, but all over the United States."

"In taking over the office of mayor," he continued, "I do so with a feeling of inability. You have entrusted me, and members of the council to choose a city manager, one of the most important problems ever faced in Wichita Falls. If we make a mistake in this choice, it is a fatal blunder."

Mr. Akin closed his brief talk with the statement that "I am going to devote the next two years of my life to the interests of Wichita Falls, and I hope they will be a success."

Patton Feels Good

"I'm very proud to be seated up here with this high-salaried bunch," declared Mr. Patton, new alderman, "and I want you to know that I'll work for co-operation, even if I did vote against the city manager plan."

P. B. Curd, retiring alderman, was presented with a leather portfolio by A. H. Douglass, head of the water department, in behalf of all officials of the department. In a brief presentation speech, Mr. Douglass said the gift was a "token of appreciation from the employes of his department, and a tribute to the consideration you have manifested in them."

Mr. Curd, responding, expressed his appreciation of the "hearty interest the department has taken in the welfare of the department," and wished them a "prolonged career in the service of the public."

MAYOR URGES COLLECTION OF UNPAID TAXES

Council Declines Vote On Naming of W. E. George

SEWER TAX REPEALED

New City Officers Installed Under Manager Plan

An order instructing the city attorney to draw up a repeal ordinance of the sewer rental tax, and a split between the city commission and Mayor J. W. Akin over the naming of a city attorney, marked the installation of the new city officers, and the change to the city manager form of government at the city council meeting Monday night.

Division of the council and its chief executive came after the installation of Mr. Akin as mayor and J. H. Patton and J. W. Hunt as aldermen. The council voted unanimously on the repeal of the city sewer tax.

George Proposed

Mayor Akin, reciting that virtually no delinquent tax suits had been filed during the last year, suggested the naming of W. E. George as city attorney to replace Thelbert Martin, present attorney. Mr. George was previously city attorney, having been succeeded a year ago by Mr. Martin.

Mayor Akin first offered his recommendation in the form of a stated motion, naming Mr. George city attorney. The motion received two negative and no favorable votes, only two of the aldermen answering. It was then suggested by council members who expressed a desire not to consider administrative officers at the meeting, that Mayor Akin's suggestion be spread upon the minutes of the city in the form of a motion from the council. This left Mr. Martin as city attorney.

Declaring that approximately $112,000 in unpaid taxes is being carried over from 1927, and that about $75,000 in similar obligations is due to the city from previous years, Mayor Akin disagreed with Alderman W. A. King in an opinion that the city attorney should at will file tax suits without consulting the city council.

"City Debt $500,000"

"I want a city attorney who will file suits against everybody who owes back taxes, that indebtedness of the city, which amounts to about $500,000 outside of the bonded indebtedness, might be paid," Mr. Akin declared.

Mr. King, maintaining that the city attorney," should act with the advice of the council, explained that in the past the suits had not been filed on account of depressing financial conditions, and that, had the council seen fit to instruct the city attorney the suits would have been instituted. Mr. King related that during the past year people who have hitherto never asked charity appeared for aid in the office of the city physician.

Mr. Akin declared those to be "only isolated cases." It was agreed after a motion to that effect had carried, that the mayor would meet with the council at an early date to examine the delinquent rolls. Those cases requiring a suit will be chosen by both mayor and the council, and recommended to the city attorney.

Ella Cinders, Queen of Hard Luck, Hits Streak of Good Fortune—She Leads Funny Page Candidates

Votes pouring in for Ella Cinders, queen of Hard Luck, placed her well in the lead Monday afternoon in the contest of The Record News and Daily Times to determine the most popular "funny pages" for the Sunday paper. Readers are asked to select the eight most popular comics out of the 16 available in Wichita Falls. All comics are nationally known, and all have many friends in this section.

In the deluge of votes for Ella, Mr. and Mrs. slipped to fifth place, after a brief lead early Monday morning. Mr. and Mrs. still led on the number of first place selections, however. On total votes Major A. Hoopel of Our Boarding House fame pulled up into second position, while Toots and Casper and Pa's Son-In-Law tied for third, with Mr. and Mrs. Fourth. The Nebbs, Tillie the Toiler, Dumb Dora and Elmer were deadlocked for fifth place, while the Katzenjammer Kids and Polly and Her Pals were showing strength, with a large number of first choices. Barney Google, apparently deserted by his friends of the Billy Goat fraternity, seemed likely to slip out of the "charmed eight" circle.

Readers of the two Wichita Falls papers are asked to help select the eight best comics for the Sunday paper by voting in the contest. Balloting will continue through this week. Number your selections from one to eight.

STRICKEN SUDDENLY

Almost daily we hear of it—the story of some man, probably a friend, suddenly cut off in the midst of his usefulness, in the very prime of life. That's what high blood pressure and heart trouble will do—snap off life without warning. All due to our abnormal living habits which put too great a strain upon the vital organs, especially the liver.

The liver becoming weak and sluggish fails to cleanse the blood of the poisons formed in food waste. The whole system then becomes toxic, with stomach, kidneys, heart and blood vessels affected.

The liver, especially at middle life, needs a little help, and there's nothing better for this, as physicians today know, than a little ox gall. Ox gall is a great natural stimulant for the human liver, promoting its normal active functioning, so essential to health and vitality. Dioxol tablets are genuine ox gall in dainty and tasteless form, each tablet representing ten drops of pure ox gall. They cost less than 2c each at good druggists, and one or two days' use will prove a revelation. To be sure of getting the genuine ox gall, ask for Dioxol.

Free Test Take this ad to the druggist named below and he will give you a free sample of Dioxol tablets. Try them yourself. See the splendid, quick results. One trial of Dioxol and you will want a full package!

The D. A. R. is all right; just foolish leadership and a taste for idle, apoplectic old gentlemen in red flannels who escape the boredom of their rich wives by sitting in club windows in Washington, bemoaning the decadence of a growing world . . . Retroactive Feature Of Gift Tax Held Invalid

'ABE LINCOLN' HERE TONIGHT

Noted Cast Here For Famous Drama

John Drinkwater's famous drama, "Abraham Lincoln," produced in New York by William Keighley, is to be presented at the Memorial auditorium Tuesday evening at 8 p. m. under the auspices of Charles F. Horner, representative of the Redpath-Horner bureau, and Mrs. Luella B. Thompson of Wichita Falls.

Eustace Wyatt, reputed to be an actor of more than ordinary ability, has been selected to take the leading role as "Old Abe." Assisting him is a cast of wide repute, including Augustus Collette, Wendell Curtis, Charles Fleming, and Henry Buckler, the latter of whom will play the part of John Wilkes Booth.

The play appeared in the same period that produced notable books on Lincoln, including Carl Sandburg's biography of the president, and both dramatic and literary critics have indorsed the work.

Possible Visit to Texas By Al Capone Causes Worry Among State Officers

AUSTIN, April 9. (INS)—Is Al "Scarface" Capone, Cicero, Ill., gangster, and alleged dispenser de luxe of "moon," contemplating extending his "business" into Texas?

That was the question worrying local officers today when it became known that Umberto Uglietti, said to be a henchman of Capone's, spent 48 hours here last week. Police and Texas rangers, who were unaware of the presence of Uglietti, learned from an ex-convict that the Italian was "scouting" Texas on a liquor mission. He spent two days here and then, quietly as he arrived, left for Chicago, police stated today.

In the meantime, Texas rangers and local officers are oiling up the the old six-guns, determined to make it hot for Capone and his adherents if they should decide to do any more "missionary" work in this state.

They are buying at one-half price, wallpaper at Chas. E. Watson Paint Co.—Adv.

Convention Hears Tales Of Royalty

Miss Maude Norred of the Nossett studio, who has just returned from Louisville, Ky., where she attended the 46th annual convention of National Photographers' association, reports many interesting features of her trip.

Among the most interesting of these accounts is the address given by Richard Speight, former president of the Professional Photographers' association of Great Britain and Ireland and now photographer by appointment to His Majesty, the Prince of Wales, who gave an illustrated lecture on his methods of of photographing the most popular bachelor of Europe.

Mr. Speight is author of "Memoirs of a Court Photographer" and has taken pictures of practically all the crowned heads of Europe. He had conferred on him by King Albert of Belgium the cross of the Chevalier of the Orde rof Leopold II. The court photograph showed slides of the photographs he had made of several of the royal families of the continent and of Great Britain and told interesting anecdotes of court life.

Leading photographers of America gave practical demonstrations in posing and in lighting effects in photography which Miss Norred finds of popular interest.

Charles Rosher and Joseph A. Dubarry, representatives of the American Society of Cinematographers gave a demonstration of motion picture photography as one of the novel numbers on the program of the convention, according to Miss Norred. They demonstrated the beautiful lighting effects used in that type of picture making.

Mr. Rosher has been the head photographer for Mary Pickford for more than 10 years. He is also employed by other motion picture stars as special photographer.

Miss Norred returned Saturday night from Kentucky.

Buying Clothes For Children Beyond Means of Parents Silly

The Unwise Wife Who Dresses Her Children Above Her Income

Dear Dorothy Dix—I have a wife and three fine children. The children are in primary public school. My income is about $1800 a year and I work seven days a week to earn it. I am awfully discouraged, because my wife has a mania for buying fine clothes for the children. If the children of other families who have three times our income get new frocks she will take the grocery money and any other she can lay her hands on to try to get equally fine clothes for our children. I have a pride in the appearance of my family and wish my children to appear as well as we can afford, but do not believe in running in debt for it. What can I do about it? J. B.

Answer:

Your wife is a very silly woman to try to compete in dress with people who are better off than she is, and it is strange that any woman with a grain of sense in her head does not recognize that in buying clothes she cannot afford for her children she is taking the quickest and surest way to bring disaster upon them.

For in the end the pretty frocks, the expensive hats, the fine shoes and stockings must be paid for and that means the money must come from skimping on food or cutting down on rent or otherwise lowering the family standard of living. And when children are small, what goes into their stomachs is of infinitely more importance than what goes on their backs, and it is far better for them to have comfortable surroundings at home than it is for them to have handmade smocks and patent-leather slippers.

The vital thing for growing children is for them to be well fed and well housed, and so long as they are clean and neatly dressed, their clothes do not matter. Indeed, the simpler they are, the better. And it may comfort your wife to know that the children of the rich are generally dressed far more plainly than are the children of many a clerk drawing a small salary.

Perhaps you can make your wife see that if she persists in spending the grocery money on the children's clothes that she will ruin their health and sap their bodily and mental vigor and turn them into poor little neurotic, undernourished creatures, sickly and dull. Also, that if by her extravagance she plunges you into debt, you will have to move into a poorer neighborhood, and perhaps not be able to keep your children in school at all, and thus deprive them of advantages far greater than that of wearing the latest kiddy toggery.

Doubtless it is natural for a mother who thinks her children far more beautiful than other children to want to deck them out in royal raiment. So far as that goes, we would all like to have the luxuries of millionaires, but we are bound by the limits of our purse and both good taste and good sense bid us respect it.

More families have been ruined through trying to keep up with their neighbors than by any other cause in the world.

Because the people with whom they associate live in a certain style they think they must do so. They buy the cars they can't afford because the oneses have a new automobile. They go in debt for furniture they don't need because the Smiths have done over their drawing room. They get fine clothes they have no money to pay for because the Thompsons are arrayed like Solomon in all his glory. And then they buy gasoline by the gallon and have heart failure every time they pass the furniture store and are dunned by bill collectors and lie awake at night wondering how they are going to pay the installments on things they didn't want and don't need.

Of course, these misguided people like your wife, think that when they put up a bluff and dress and live in a style which they cannot afford, they deceive people into thinking that they are better off than they are, and that they are more esteemed for it. Never was there a greater mistake. Every one respects those who have the courage to live according to their means and who pay their way as they go.

Tell your wife if she wants to help her children not to go in debt to buy them fine clothes, but to put the money in bank so that she will be able to help them get a start in life when they are a little older.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I married a widow with two small children. I have cared for them and done for them as I would for my own. I have sacrificed myself to give them an education. I did without things I needed to send the boy to college, and now at 19 he has got married and is quitting college after two and a half years of it, and he and his wife have come to our house and settled down on me to support them. After all of my kindness to them the children do everything they can to displease me, and if I try to advise them they and their mother get very mad at me. My wife seems to have no affection for me now that the children are grown and takes their side against me all the time. I love my wife very much and am not going to quarrel with them, but what am I to do?

H. R. B.

Answer:

In my opinion, the time has come for you to quarrel good and hard. Make the boy who has married at 19 get out and support himself and his wife. That is the only way to make a man of him.

Evidently you have permitted your family to make a doormat of you and they have the contempt for you that we all have for anything we walk over and kick around. You will have to brace up and show a little backbone in order to force your wife to respect you, as well as to win the children's respect.

It seems to me that your wife is a pretty poor sort of a woman anyhow or else she would have taught her children to appreciate all that you have done for them. They owe you far more love and gratitude than their own father, because it would have been his duty to take care of them, while you were under no such obligations, but did it out of the goodness and generosity of your soul.

There is no finer man in the world than the one who spends his life toiling to support some other man's children, who denies himself the gratifications of his personal tastes and desires to educate them and give them a position in life and who gives them a love and guidance and tenderness that keep them from ever knowing that they are fatherless.

I should think that the children who had got that sort of stepfather would feel that nothing they could do could ever repay him. I should think that a woman who got a husband who was willing to do that for her children would spend her life in adoration of him and in telling him how she loved him and appreciated him.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—Last summer when I was visiting friends in the southern part of the state I stumbled on the street and a young man saved me from a bad fall. He was so attractive that I fell in love with him and we were secretly married. I came home and nobody knew about it. But a terrible thing has happened. The other dav I picked up a paper and was horrified to find his picture in it. He had been arrested for a horrible crime, though the name there was different from the one he gave me. I am afraid to tell my mother. I am only 18 and don't know what to do. BILLIE.

Answer:

Tell your mother at once and let her see if she cannot have the marriage annulled. But any girl who would marry a man that she didn't know anything on earth about, and without making any inquiries about him, is such an idiot that she should be put into the home for the feeble-minded.

Mill Workers' Strike May Follow Wage Cut

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., April 9. (UP).—A general strike of 30,000 New Bedford mill workers was predicted by union leaders here today immediately after the New Bedford Cotton Manufacturers' announcement of a 10 per cent wage reduction.

William E. C. Batty, secretary of the loom-fixers' union, and Abraham Bimms, secretary of the weavers' union, described the prpooesd wage cut as an "outrage," and said that a strike vote would be "merely a formality."

Sen. Moses Sees Little Chance For Postal Cut

WASHINGTON, April 9. (UP)—Senator Moses, Republican, New Hampshire, told President Coolidge today Congress probably would not pass postal rate reduction legislation this session. Moses said he foresaw a deadlock between proponents of the House and Senate measures, with no likelihood of reconciling the differences. The president was represented by Moses as still holding to his views opposing drastic postal revenue reduction.

MODISH MITZI — THE CLOTHES CHANEL CREATED — By Jay V. Jay

Mitzi took Dad with her for reasons best known to herself, but not unconnected with next month's bills, perhaps. Mitzi chose Chanel for her report to the other interested ladies. These two coats show one striking characteristic of Chanel's designs for the season—the use of tucks or seam lines in clusters. The coat to the left has two groups of rectangular tucks, the coat to the right has lines of tucks radiating from a center where a flat knot of fabric is fastened. Other Chanel designs have many more of these knots. One coat carries them all down its back. Chanel's waistline seems to be just at the top of the hips and Mitzi sighs with satisfaction—it's so becoming there!

The coat to the left is slim and black, and lined with black and white printed crepe. The lines of trimming are also of the print and the fitted lines are new. Next is a sketch of one of Chanel's sport ensembles. The short jacket is loose and swinging and is closed at the throat only by a scarf cut in one with the jacket. The third coat has pointed flares on one side, a double cuff and a double collar. The evening gown has ever so many new points about it—it is made of cire lace, it has a scarf neckline, it has stiffened circular tiers. That ought to be distinction enough for a single evening dress. Mitzi has spent such a satisfying day. Dad? He passed out long ago! Tomorrow—Designs by Patou.

LINDA -:- A Love Mystery of Collegiate Life

By Virginia Swain.

Tom pronounced the word dully, with no change of inflection. But Linda started as though he had hissed it at her.

They stood silent in the dim alcove, facing each other, until Linda moved a step or two away, to break the intolerable spell of inertia. Tom turned and caught at her hand, but she drew it away from him.

"It's no use," she said. "We've got to fight free of this thing before—"

She broke off vaguely and stood staring out of the turret windows at the desolate snow scene outside. The boy gazed at her miserably.

"Tell me exactly what Doyle said tonight. I've heard hints from Leonard and Dulcy, but from you I want—the truth."

He spoke in a rush of feeling.

"Linda, darling, I'll tell you. It doesn't matter—really. Everybody knew he was lying."

She faced him grimly and cold.

"What did he say?"

Tom's mouth worked for an instant, and then he plunged into history as though by rushing it he could leave the whole sorry affair behind, out of memory.

"He simply sai dthe village of Redhill gossipped when Simon sent you here—said some spiteful things about hotel waitresses and so forth—spoke of Simon's calmness when his daughter died—as though that proved he was almost glad to get rid of her, so that he could take up with you and give you her clothes and things."

"Simon's daughter was a beast," said Linda with a toss of her head. He WAS glad when she died—anybody would have been. Go on."

"Oh, there isn't any more—that matters. You know how that rotten gossip goes—all lies and innuendoes and slippery half-truths that nobody can put his finger on. You've got to forget it, Linda, dear, close this chapter and never think of it again."

"Go on," said Linda with lips that scarcel ymoved. "Tell me the rest."

"Well," he answered, "there is more. That's really what brought me here tonight.

"This move of the county attorney's releasing you 'for lack of evidence,' has stirred up a lot of curiosity in town. Word has gone around that a mysterious stranger appeared at the courthouse and caused your release. Some imbecile reporter started the story.

"Doyle advanced the theory tonight that Simon Whitlock bought off for you. The town wants blood—anybody's blood; it's sore because you got off free and spoiled one of the nicest little scandals Marbury has seen in years. I'm told Dean Ella Eteuer is one of the loudest orators for 'an investigation' of the case. She would be, of course.

"Anyhow, from the journalism men at the house, I've gathered that you aren't clear of this thing yet—so long as the town believes some mysterious person wielded money and power to get you out of it. That damn Oscar Johnson flatly refused to give any accounting of his decision to release you; but he's up for re-election and if it chooses the town can make him act.

"With this propaganda about Simon floating around, you're in for a bad time, Linda, unless we make a move to upset Doyle's attack. I wish I had killed him with that cruet, ut I'm willing to conceds now n cool blood that killing him might mess things up worse. I wouldn't be much good to you—in jail." Then, fiercely, "Aand I'm going to get you out of this, Linda—without a scratch."

She looked at him wearily. "How?"

Tom frowned. "Well, I'm going to find out all about Pete Damora's murder first. The police here have not scratched the surface of that mystery. And when I've cleared up that, I'm going to marry you."

The girl shot him a quick, shrewd glance.

He smiled at her. "Yes, I am, Beautiful. You'd be very foolish to refuse. We could step right out of this mess and leave the whole damn meddlesome town holding the sack. I guess that would scotch the scandal, wouldn't it?"

Linda's eyes burned. She stood up. "So you think you'd like to make an honest woman of me, Tom? Oh dear, oh dear." Then she began to laugh, too shrilly for the time and place.

"Hush, Linda!" Tom caught her arm and tried to draw her back to the window seat.

But she wrenched away from him as though his touch revolted her, and went on laughing. "I'm to be married to reform me—saved from Mrs. Grundy by the first young Galahad who's willing to exchange his spotless name for my tarnished one. Oh dear!"

He caught her again, almost roughly. "Linda, for God's sake! Mrs. Morris will hear you and throw us both out. You're — why Linda, you're hysterical, crazy. Stop laughing like that."

Her laughter climbed still higher up the treble scale.

There was the sound of hurrying feet in the depths of the house. Tom held her still, appealed once more. "Linda, Linda, won't you listen to me?" The steps downstairs were louder. "Oh, Linda, I've got to go. I can't let you be caught like this with me. But I'll come back, Linda. I'll come back tomorrow."

He turned, leaped from the alcove and ran down the stairs. Linda paid no attention to his going. She had sunk down on the window seat the moment he released her, and was still sitting there, laughing in crescendos and diminuendos of shocking mirth.

She did not even hear the front door slam, or the heavy steps that labored across the hall a moment after.

The lights flashed on downstairs, filling the upper hall with a dimmer radiance. Then the heavy steps crossed to the staircase and began to ascend with surprising speed.

Linda did not lift her head until rMs. Morris stood in the entrance to the alcove, kimono-clad, gaping at her. The sight stopped her laughter. She sat, heavy and cold, scarcecurious as to what would happen next.

Mrs. Morris took a step toward her. "What's all this?" her voice was sharp with annoyance and suspicion. "Who went out of that front door just now?" She stood, arms akimbo, glaring down at Linda. When the girl did not answer she burst out, still more angrily: "I tell you I want to know who went out of that front door? Who've you been having in your room at this hour of the night? Answer me!"

The meeting was opened with the chairman, Joe Head, as toastmaster. Superintendent G. S. Dowell introduced the principal speaker of the occasion, Professor G. W. McDonnold, president of Wayland college at Plainview. Professor McDonnold delivered a very interesting address outlining the way in which the college was conducted.

He also stated that with the South Plains railway into our town, and the building activity there is no reason why Quitaque will not make one of the best towns in the west.

O. C. Arthur was the next speaker, who, after a few brief remarks, introduced Hon. J. Rose Bell of Paducah, also a candidate for congress.

CREDIT RECORD--

What It Tells

About You!

How do you stand in the world of business—is your credit all that it ought to be? Whatever its status, you alone are responsible Everyone intends to pay his bills promptly. Most people carry out the intention. Some, however, "put off" and become slow pay . . . some experience temporary financial difficulty and frankly talk it over with the merchant who extended credit, promising payment.

The fact that you "promise to pay" is sufficient assurance to your merchant that you at least want to pay your bills when they become due.

There is a great deal of satisfaction in knowing that your credit standing rates high. When your bills are paid, your mind is at rest . . . you can look the world in the eye and smile all the while.

If you're in arrears, catch up as soon as you can . . . and from then on pay up promptly.

Ramblin'
with
Marie Theresa

THOUGHTS and activities of three large conventions are keeping the club women of the city occupied. Although the conventions are yet some distance away, plans are well under way and the women of Wichita Falls are finding each day full to brimming with details.

The three conventions that are attracting the major part of the attention of the feminine world include the district Parent-Teachers' convention which will occupy the stage at the First Christian church here, April 18 and 19.

Mrs. Claude Woods will be chairman of arrangements for that event and has already appointed her committees who are diligently at work to make the delegates feel at home and to make the convention the success worthy of an enterprise in school work.

FURTHER in the distance but, of course, overshadowing all other conventions of the year in point of magnitude, is the Biennial of International Women's Federated clubs which will be held in San Antonio, May 28 to June 7 inclusive.

It is not possible yet to obtain an accurate list of the club women of the city who plan to attend, but it is certain that the group will be large.

Few women are willing to miss the opportunity of attending a convention at which will be represented among delegates and in the speakers on the program, prominent club workers of 14 different nations.

MRS. HENRY S. GODFREY, Minneapolis, Minn., chairman of the program committee, has announced a program that will take in not only an interesting group of departmental and general meetings but also an appetizing schedule for the Texas club women preliminary to the opening of the convention.

The preliminaries leading up to the working program include the entertainments to be provided by the club women of Dallas, Houston, Austin, El Paso and other Texas towns and cities along the incoming lines of travel, or those cities like Galveston and Corpus Christi and the towns in the Rio Grande Valley to which excursions are offered, have planned elaborate programs of welcome. Meanwhile, the women of San Antonio will be busy greeting the incoming Texas club women with whose assistance they will welcome the Biennial delegates and visitors.

The preeliminary social affair in San Antonio for Texas club women will be the reception on the evening of Saturday, May 26, at the Menger hotel. The management of the hotel is giving their parlors, the two patios and the lobbies. The dining room will be opened for small dinner parties with perhaps tables arranged on the mezzanine floor.

The delegates and visitors will begin to arrive in San Antonio Monday, May 28, to be ready for the Texas welcome Monday evening. This will be in the form of a dinner for the General Federation executive board with Mrs. Harry Drought, Texas Biennial chairman, in charge. One thousand guests are expected to attend this dinner which will be in the Crystal ballroom of the Gunter hotel.

THE THIRD concention to interest the women of the city and more especially the younger women and girls, is the convention of the Trans-Mississippi division of the Sons of the Confederacy which will meet in Little Rock, Ark., May 8 to 11, in annual reunion.

Among those who will attend the convention are a group of Wichita Falls girls who have been named sponsors and ladies-in-waiting to the veterans. In this group will be Misses Reva Rae Brown, Miss Mary Jane Nelson, Betty Love Rugeley, Camille Avis, Mary Louise Clark, Joline Woods and Elizabeth Langford.

The young ladies will be accompanied by an aggregation of the ladies who are members of the W. R. Scurry chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

◇ ◇ ◇

Junior Forum Will Present Dramatist Thursday Evening

Miss Iris Armstrong, dramatic instructor at Joyzelle Camp for Girls at Monte Ne., Ark., and director of the Iris Armstrong school of dramatic art at Little Rock, Ark., will be presented in recital by members of the Junior Forum as a benefit attraction at 8 o'clock Thursday evening at the Womans Forum.

Miss Armstrong is a graduate of the Curry School of Expression at Boston and has done special work in New York City and in Melbourne, Australia. She will present a comedy program. Prices will be $1 and students will be admitted for 50 cents.

◇ ◇ ◇

Mr. and Mrs. Cavanaugh Entertain at Easter Party

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Cavanaugh, assisted by Mrs. Cavanaugh's sister, Mrs. F. H. Kerr of Fort Worth, entertained a group of guests at bridge Saturday evening at their home at 1605 Garfield.

The house was attractively decorated in orchid and yellow with baskets of orchid and yellow sweet peas forming the table decorations. Refreshments also carried out the orchid and yellow colors.

In the games Mrs. Archie Knautz won high score prize for the ladies and Mrs. U. B. Hughes, low. Cress V. Millican won high for men, with low score prize being presented to H. B. Kane.

Guests were: Messrs. and Mesdames Archie Knauts, W. C. Bean, C. L. Apple, James P. Bowen, W. J. Nolte, R. Powell, S. C. McIntosh, Dr. and Mrs. Wells, Mrs. H. G. Priest, and Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Kane of Fort Worth, who were guests for the week-end.

Fannin P.-T. A. Will Meet Tuesday Afternoon

To avoid conflicting with the general council meeting to be held Wednesday, the Fannin school Parent-Teacher association will meet at the school at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Week Following Lenten Season Crowded With Many Activities

The first week following the lenten season is filled with a variety of interesting social events for Wichita Falls. Probably the most interesting of these events to the greatest number of persons will be the lecture to be given at the forum club house at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon by Edmund Vance Cooke, noted American poet and lecturer.

This number will be the sixth of fine arts numbers brought to the city by the Womans Forum, and is reputed to be one of the most interesting of the entertainments for the season.

He will lecture on "The Laughter of Living," and will dispel some of his homely philosophy of living and of humorous and cheerful kindliness that is said to permeate all his poetry.

Members of the Womans Forum will be presented on their membership tickets while guests may purchase tickets for $1.50. Mrs. W. W. Silk is chairman of arrangements and hostesses will be as follows: Mesdames Newton Maer, O. L. Dale, A. C. Walker, Sam Kruger, Abe Marks, Dan Hardy, M. H. Glover, Roy I. Carter, C. C. Cabiness, J. L. Elliott, Dave Paul, E. H. Eddleman, D. H. Whitehill and Frank White.

Among the interesting weddings scheduled for the week is that of Miss Elizabeth Wood, who will become the bride of Evan Harris at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. A. W. Burnside, on Polk street, Thursday evening.

The Junior Forum department will present Miss Iris Armstrong in a recital of comedy readings at the club house at 8 o'clock Thursday evening. Miss Armstrong is leader of the Girls Summer Camp at Monte Re, Ark., and is director of the Iris Armstrong Dramatic school at Little Rock, Ark.

The Literature department of the Womans Forum will give one of the feature attractions of the year Thursday noon at the club house when an interesting program will be presented under the direction of a native Russian. The entire event is being planned by natives of Russia.

As a climax to a week of activity, the Junior Forum will give a luncheon at the club house Saturday when members of the department will give a program of music and readings.

Young Wichita Falls

What do you think of John Dee as a name for a man who is destined to grow up to be a lawyer? John Dee is not even distantly related to John D., the original, but there are still hopes prevalent that he will be a gigantic financial success.

John Dee is the younger son of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Hammond, 2203 Marimar, and celebrated his second birthday March 14, the day when the photo shown above was made.

The youngster likes the out-of-doors and calls the Hammond ranch in New Mexico, "home." He was missed from the Hammond home the other day and was located later in the day, riding around and around one of the small parks in the Country club estates, his faithful German police dog keeping watch over the child.

John Dee's mother is a Wichita Falls girl. She was Miss Cora Belle Miller and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Miller.

Death Claims Chauncey Depew

CHAUNCEY DEPEW has passed on. He was 93. His face had been in the picture, nationally speaking, for almost 70 years. He was born a New Yorker and he died a New Yorker. He had known every republican president from Lincoln to Coolidge. He had been a railway executive for almost 60 years. He had attended nearly every national convention in the history of the republican party. He held a seat in the U. S. Senate 12 years.

He had traveled in many countries. He had broken bread with the foremost men and women of the world from the early 60's to the late 20's of a new century. He had an international reputation as an after dinner speaker, a witty teller of the richest of stories and a mind that was a perfect encyclopedia of modern history, ancient history and profane history.

As a speaker he was known as a top-noticher, as a writer his creations had an indescribable charm, as a conversationalist he was Chesterfieldian and captivating and as a man of affairs his name was a household word away back in the days when the grandfathers lived and toiled and builded the America of today.

A remarkable man was Chauncey Depew. A most outstanding American who believed in the fundamentals of constitutional government and the traditions of the fathers was Chauncey Depew.

He was plastic. He was adaptable. He was courtly. He was an intense American and never afflicted with the disease known as political insanity nor the age-old malady diagnosed as creed intolerance.

Those who believe in flowers for the living handed them to Chauncey Depew in his life time. Now that he is coffined clay he does not need their fragrance. He had won his niche in the temple of fame and his place in the pages of American history.

Hoover and Smith the Leaders

HERBERT HOOVER of California and Alfred E. Smith of New York are the delegate prize winners to date. Smith has 244 delegates, Reed 36 and George 28. Necessary to nominate, 734. Hoover has 118, Lowden 86, Curtis 23. Necessary to nominate, 545.

Smith walked off with the delegates from Michigan, Maine and Wisconsin.

His followers in Wisconsin made a clean sweep as his Maine followers had made a clean sweep. In Maine the Smith men controlled the state convention by a majority of more than 200 of the delegates.

Delegates from Texas who attended the San Francisco convention and four years later the Madison Square Garden convention, will recall the Patangalls. Mr. and Mrs. Patangall crowded the others from Maine out of the picture. Patangall was the national committeeman. Mrs. Pattangall the national committeewoman.

Their faces will not be in the Houston picture. Patangall, a great lawyer and orator, is a supreme court justice and out of politics. Mrs. Patangall, after seven years of service, has been retired from the national committee. A daughter of Maine who followed the fortunes of the New York governor, will take her place.

Senator Thomas J. Walsh, the democratic lion of the senate, is a native of Wisconsin. There he was born on a farm sixty-eight years ago. There he worked on a farm and burned midnight oil. He went forth from the farm to become one of the historic leaders of the party of Jefferson and to make for himself a proud place in the political history of America.

Not a delegate was given Walsh by the democratic voters of his native state. National Committeeman John Callahan led the Smith forces and the Smith leaders captured all the district delegates and the delegates-at-large.

Maine democrats voted for a dry plank in the platform. Michigan democrats, at their coming state convention, will vote for a dry plank. There will be few faces in the Smith picture at Houston. Michigan, Wisconsin and North and South Dakota will send delegates as marchers in the Smith parade.

It was vastly different four years ago. It was vastly different eight years ago. William Gibbs McAdoo had many of the delegates from these great agricultural and manufacturing states of the west and the northwest.

Thus it remains Hoover against the field in the battle for the republican nomination; Smith against the field in the contest for the democratic prize.

Butler Made the Landing

DR. NICHOLAS MURRAY BUTLER, president of Columbia university, is a district delegate from New York City to the Kansas City convention. In an aristocratic district he overwhelmed his enemies.

The Day Book of a New Yorker

By BURTON RASCOE

NEW YORK, April 9.—Did you ever hear of Mgr. Formica? Not many people outside of the radius of his own benevolent activities know of him, perhaps, and yet thousands bless his name and think of him gratefully all over the United States in probably every state of the union.

For Mgr. Formica is the little father of arriving immigrants of his Italian race—their guide and protector and adviser. To strangers in a strange land he appears as something solid and familiar and trustworthy, and through him the soreness of many a homesick heart has been alleviated.

The little monsignor has made a study of the needs of the citizens-to-be, of all these throngs of new people who still, even under the laws of restricted immigration, come thronging to America.

"Imagine what a thousand poor Americans would do if suddenly landed, friendless and probably without much money, in the streets of Naples or Genoa!"

So the monsignor and his assistants, working through an immigrants' association established by no less a person than Cardinal Hayes, meet the immigrants aboard ship after quarantine, and help them through the difficulties of the immigration bureau and through customs. If they are booked for the West, they are assisted with tickets and even put aboard the right trains, with a word or two to the conductor. Board and lodging are secured for them here until they can get started and make homes for themselves. Wherever possible employment is found for the newcomers to start them right.

One of the jobs that most delights Mgr. Formica is to reunite families. He has done this on numerous occasions by applying to Washington and by making special pleas based upon careful study of the immigration laws. At the request of relatives in Italy Mgr. Formica and his association have located kinfolk in the United States that had not been heard from for years.

A semi-humorous news story, published in a humorous magazine a few months ago, has just about spoiled the career of one who was the most prosperous and perhaps the most unusual of all the city's beggars.

His game was to approach a prospect and address him, or her, in easily understood French, carrying on a one-sided conversation in that language and interspersing it with just enough English to convey his thoughts, until the moment arrived for calling attention to his financial affairs.

Greenchwich Village was his territory. Villagers usually were flattered by this easy-going Frenchman as being able to speak French, and frequently contributed a coin or two. The printed story spilled the panhandler's precious beans, and he has wandered to other less productive parts of the city.

The typewriter repair man at work on the machine in the stuffy office glanced over at the stern executive seated at the big desk dictating very slowly that he might not run out of ammunition before the stenographer could get back to the machine.

The stern executive frowned. This had happened often before to the repair man while he was performing his professional services in stuffy offices.

"Beg your pardon, sir," said the repair man, smiling, "but does this alcohol I have been using on the platen bother you? It does bother some people, and a great many think it is from our breaths. Personally, I take a drink occasionally, but haven't had one today.

"We have one young fellow—fine chap—who was ordered out of an office for being drunk, when as a matter of fact he never drinks, smokes, chews or uses profane language."

CHAPTER LIII

At sight of Jack Stuart and Tony Justin, the ruddy countenance of Francois Le Tarte went a dirty yellow, while his eyes took on a panicky look like the eyes of a cornered animal. Face to face with the man, Jack Stuart's pent-up feelings overcame him for the moment.

"You dirty cur!" he gritted, holding himself with difficulty. "What have you to say for yourself?"

But the professor had noticed the federal men, evidently recognized them as officers, and knew himself to be in no immediate danger of a personal attack. He assumed at once an air of injured dignity.

"I don't know what you mean, Jack Stuart," he asserted, with a fine showing of righteous anger, "speaking to me in that manner!"

"Where's th' woman you brought here?" asked Detective Burke, point-blank.

"I don't admit your right, sir, in asking me such a question!" replied the professor, haughtily.

At this display of bravado Jack Stuart felt himself slipping. What a pretentious fool the fellow was. Could he be such a fool as to think he had any chance of bluffing his way out of this? Before Burke had a chance to show the professor his authority, Jack again spoke.

"Where's my wife, Le Tarte?" He shot the question direct. There was no sense in beating about the bush, he told himself.

But the professor was prepared, evidently, to meet all queries with straight denial.

"I don't know what you're talking about, Stuart," he said, insolently. "If you've lost your wife it's not my fault!"

"It seems to me a waste of time talking to this fellow!" spoke up the other federal man at this juncture. "I suggest we see the woman and get her statement!"

He placed a hand on Professor Le Tarte's shoulder.

"Bear in mind, young fellow, that we have a warrant for your arrest on a federal charge."

A quick red leaped into the dancing master's cheeks, and then faded, leaving them sallow again. He kept close to the officer's side as the five started toward the elevator. Suddenly he halted.

"I'd like to telephone my attorney, if I may," he said, appealing to the government man. "I can use this phone here," indicating a nearby booth. The officer nodded, and Le Tarte stepped inside the inclosure.

Jack Stuart, suspicious of the professor's every move, stepped over close to the booth. He heard Le Tarte call room 330. Then:

"Beat it, girl," he heard him say, in a low, distinct tone. Jack Staurt's here. Also Tony Justin. They've got two dicks f'm federal office. On way up now. Duck quick down the fire escape! Hurry!"

Jack had started at the first words of Le Tarte to call out to Burke. Then it occurred to him to wait. The wait was fortunate, as it transpired. As Le Tarte hung up the receiver Jack moved quickly over to Burke's side.

"He was talking to her in room 330," he swiftly informed the federal man. "Told her I was here with officers and for her to get away down th' fire escape. How'd it be if you three went up with him to th' room, while I intercept her at the bottom of the fire escape?"

Burke nodded. "Go ahead," he said.

Stuart strode across to the desk and spoke to the clerk.

"Where is th' fire escape connecting room 330 located—on what side of the building?" he asked.

"On Fifth street, near th' alley," the clerk told him.

At that moment the professor emerged from the booth, noted the distance between himself and the two officers, and made a sudden dash for the stairway. Stuart saw the man's plan and ran to intercept him. He reached the foot of the stairs first, by a spit second, saw Le Tarte's right hand reach for his hip pocket, and leaped toward him, with a jaw-breaking right uppercut. His fist caught the professor on the chin. Le Tarte pitched forward on his face.

There was no time to be lost. Jack knew, if he was going to do any good at that fire escape. To reach the spot by way of the street he would have to travel half a block on the main street, and the same distance on Fifth. He knew there must be a rear exit, and started to locate it.

Luck favored him. He found the door opening into the alley. As he stepped out into the dimly lighted place, and looked toward Fifth street, he could just distinguish the skeleton-like structure of the fire escape.

Scarcely 30 yards divided him from where the fire escape's first story frame work hung suspended some eight feet in the air. He covered the distance with a cautious movement, and again looked up. Suddenly a form was outlined in the window opening from the third story. He saw it for an instant, and then it vanished in the darkness enveloping the structure.

Only the creaking of the iron staires told him someone was descending. Just the thought of who that someone was sent the blood pounding through the veins in Jack Stuart's brain.

"God!" he whispered, as he waited in the dread suspense of the intervening seconds before he must disclose himself to her. What an experience for a man! Oh, it couldn't be possible! This must be a horrible nightmare from which he'd awake.

But it wasn't any nightmare. It was real, too real, as he was to realize very shortly. Then he heard the clank of the frame work as it was released and dropped down within a foot of the ground. A moment later he saw the silhouetted form against the lights in the streets as it gained the bottom of the structure. He reached up and caught her in his arms.

A stifled scream, a twisting attempt to escape, and then the form grew suddenly limp.

"Poor girl," gasped Jack Stuart, a great pity surging up within him. "She's fainted. I must get help!"

Clasped tight in his arms, he carried the inert form up the alley to the hotel's side entrance. As he stepped inside he caught the sound of excited voices. The next moment he saw Tony rushing toward him, followed by the two federal men and the hotel manager.

"My God, Jack!" cried the boy, rather wildly. "You've made an awful—"

At that instant Frank Stuart felt the form in his arms stiffen, and then straighten up to a position enabling her to gain her feet. He looked at her—and gasped! The face into which he was staring was that of Nita Ravelle!

The face into which he was staring was that of Nita Ravelle.

"Will you please let go of me!" she said, calmly, contemptuously. He let go, still staring at her.

Oh, Jack!" broke out Tony again. "You almost killed Le Tarte!"

At that Nita Ravelle turned on him like a tigress.

"What have you done to Frank?" she cried. "Where is he?"

Then Burke spoke.

"Are you this man's wife?" He indicated Jack.

She flashed an indignant glance at the man who had carried her from the fire escape.

"I certainly am not!" she replied, with haughty contempt. "I'm the wife of Professor Francois Le Tarte. Where is he?"

It was the hotel manager who answered.

"The professor has been—well, he was injured, madam. The house doctor is attending him now." He turned to the federal officer.

"What reason, Mr. Burke, have you people for assaulting my guests in this manner?" he asked coldly. "We don't permit things like this to occur!"

The detectives were looking at Jack Stuart in a manner that demanded explanation.

"What about it, Mr. Stuart?" asked Burke, whose keen eyes had noted the puzzled expression on the other's face. "This woman says she is not your wife. What have you to say?"

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy, who can be addressed in care of this paper.

FOOD POISONS

The largest amount of food poisoning comes from wholesome food being used at a time when the body is enervated—when the body cannot properly take care of the digestion of this food. Lying undigested in the stomache or intestines, even the best food will rapidly putrefy, and toxins will be developed, which will be poisonous to the system.

If a meal is eaten when you are angry, poison is sure to develop. It is likewise true that similar poisons will be produced under any mental strain. If you are tired, you are inviting disaster if you cannot go to the table and eat a hearty meal. The digestive juices cannot flow properly and the food will, therefore, not be digested and assimilated. It is not possible for food to remain lying in the stomach or intestines in an inert condition; it must either nourish you or poison you.

Of course, combinations of food which are antagonistic to each other will not digest properly and often one kind of food is not digested at all and, therefore, it turns into a poisonous substance which is harmful to the body.

With our modern systems of refrigeration, it is not necessary to use foods which have spoiled or become tainted. If one is really hungry and the digestive juices are flowing freely, it is almost impossible to be poisoned by food which is only slightly tainted, but there are some insidious poisons, such as the poisoning produced by the bacillus botulinus, which are very hard to detect, the action of which is very positive and dangerous. This poison is found mostly in canned goods, especially in canned string beans if the can has rusted and air has been let into an opening. This poisoning however, occurs very rarely in canned string beans put up by canning companies, but is more often found in the home-canned string beans, where they are put up in glass jars and not sealed properly.

Oysters and clams which seem to be perfectly healthy are often infected with the germs of typhoid fever and, used in their raw state, these kinds of shellfish are generally dangerous.

If any kind of protein food is used, where there is a slight taint to any part of it, it is liable to cause ptomain poisoning if one is not in good health and is not really hungry for the meal.

If you are foolish enough to eat when the digestive juices are not flowing freely, the best thing to do, when you find you have been poisoned, is to vomit as soon as possible. This can be accomplished by drinking a glass of water in which a teaspoonful of baking soda has been dissolved, and tickling the throat with the finger. This will usually bring up the stomach contents and, of course, the poison will come along with it.

After you have vomited all that it is possible for you to vomit, it is a good plan then to take a dose of caster oil, using about four ounches at a time. Copious enemas should be used every hour for several hours in order to get all of the poisonous material which might lodge in the colon.

You should, of course, get rid of these acute poisonings as soon as possible. But beware of the slow poisoning which comes from using the wrong kind of food and not digesting it, and having these poisons thrown into your system day after day in such a manner that they produce the chronic state of toxemia which leads to so many diseases.

Question: A Young Mother writes: "I use glycerin suppositories on my three-months-old baby regularly every morning. Do you think this is harmful? Would orange juice given properly be sufficient to move his bowels?"

Answer: Any kind of rectal suppositories should be used only in emergencies, and should not be made a regular habit. Your three-months-old boby should be living on nothing but milk and orange juice. Write for my special article on feeding the baby.

Question: A. R. asks: "Is it good for a person to live on freshly picked raspberries during the whole time they are in season?"

Answer: I often advise patients to take a few days' fast on raspberries or other berries in season, but would not advise anyone to try to live on them exclusively for any length of time, such as the whole time they are in season.

Question: A Reader asks: "If one by mistake should drink a small quantity of rubbing alcohol instead of water, what would be the result, and how much really of this article would have to be consumed to prove fatal? This article I refer to is bought from any drugstore for external use, and is claimed to be 70 per cent alcohol."

Answer: Various substances are added to the rubbing alcohol sold in the drugstores. This is done to make the alcohol unfit for use as a beverage. It is a very dangerous thing to drink rubbing alcohol which is prepared in this manner even though there may be no immediate violent illness produced.

Proposed New Prayerbook Draws Heavy Opposition

LONDON, April 9. (US)—A broadside of criticism was fired against the amended version of the proposed new prayer book of the Church of England recently by the League of Loyal Churchmen and Protestant Alliance.

The attack indicated that lines are being drawn up by protestant opponents of the new prayer book measure to bring about its defeat when it is again presented the houses of parliament. The prayer book measure as originally drafted was defeated by the house of commons some time ago and sent back to the church authorities for amendments.

LANDS FISHES

LOS ANGELES, April 9 (US) Fish that climb over rocks, spend hours in trees and do other unpiscatorial things exist in Hawaiian waters. At least, that's what Stephen Haweis, artist and author, said today on his arrival here from Hawaii.

Haweis makes his home at the National Zoological Park, Washington. Like his fish friends, he also does unusual things. He is an artist, writer, lecturer and photographer. His most recent activity was the painting of the colorful fishes, whose strange habits he described today. These fish are in the amphibian stage of evolution, he said, and will become land denizens in a few million ears.

Jeanne Eagels Plans Long Vaudeville Tour

NEW YORK, April 9. (UP)—Jeanne Eagels, actress, who was suspended recently from the Actors' Equity association, will go on a vaudeville tour of the country, it was announded today at the offices of Mary Weber. Miss Eagels will probably start in two weeks on a 25-week tour which will carry her to California.

Miss Eagels refused to comment upon the contract or even admit that one had been signed. Her suspension by the council of Equity followed the closing of her stellar vehicle "Her Cardboard Lover" in St. Louis, where the actress failed to appear for performances.

She was fined two weeks' salary and suspended until September 1, 1929.

Bill For Vocational Training Aid Passes

WASHINGTON, April 9. (UP).—The George bill, appropriating $6,000,000 for federal aid to states in development of vocational education in rural communities was passed today by the Senate. It now goes to the House. The bill specifies that $5,000,000 annually will be made available when states appropriate a like amount.

Actress Seeks $70,000 Cash Salve When Burley Cop Hurts Her Feelings

LOS ANGELES, April 9. (INS)—"Imagine her embarrassment" when blue-eyed, blond, Jean Gilbert, motion picture player, was dragged handcuffed and screaming through a downtown street by a burly detective.

In fact, Miss Gilbert is going to ask the superior court here to imagine her embarrassment, and to order a downtown department store and various other persons to pay her more than $70,000 damages for it.

She has retained Attorney C. Ray Noll to file suit against the store and a group of individuals, including the burly detective, she said today.

Miss Gilbert was buying an outfit of clothing for her next feature role, she explained today, when it all happened. It seems she has a bank account against which she can write checks both in her professional name of Gilbert or her true name of Devos.

She paid for her purchase with checks. But as she was about to leave the store, she was met by a floorwalker who took her to the cashier's cage.

"Are these your checks?" she was asked.

"Yes," she admitted.

"Well, the bank tells us you have no account there."

There followed an interval during which, she says, she was mistreated by a store detective. He cursed at her, handcuffed her, took her by force through the crowded store and out into the street, where she attracted a crowd by screaming, she claims.

And finally, she charges, the police were called and she was arrested and taken to the detective headquarters. And not until she arrived there, she says, was she released when the bank was again called and proof established that she had a checking account and that her checks were good. Attorney today stated that he will soon file suit for $71,675 in behalf of Miss Gilbert.

Police Spoil Girl's Great Happiness When They Arrest Husband as Thief

NEW YORK, April 9.—Ever since as school children they pledged each other to marriage, Gladys Carroll Mitchell had felt that Harold Valentine would become a great man. He was her hero and his promise to conquer the world when they became man and wife, sped her into marriage six months ago.

Harold made good. Within a month the girl was being lavished with diamonds and fine raiment. In another month she was putting large amounts in the bank.

But today came the anguish of disillusion and the plunge into the abyss. Police thrust aside the theatrical curtain with which Valentine had fronted his prosperity and revealed him as a burglar.

They disclosed to the bride that the source of her luxuries was a series of burglaries in which loot exceeding $50,000 was taken by Valentine from at least 25 homes. Unaware of the origin of her husband's wealth, she was held, nevertheless, to be arraigned with him.

Valentine is 18. He is 6 feet 3, and handsome. The bride is a year older. She has chestnut bobbed hair, brown eyes.

The couple married six months ago and the bride gave up her work as a stenographer to live in their tiny apartment. A few weeks after their marriage in Rye, N. Y., Valentine's illness compelled him to quit his work as a house painter.

Down to his last dollar, he yielded, he told the police, to the temptation of an open window and found burglary so easy he decided to continue.

He told his bride, as he loaded the table with booty, he had obtained a commission job in Manhattan, buying and selling second hand goods.

Giant Telescopes Search Dim Spaces Hoping to Locate New Planet in Skies

CHICAGO, April 9. (AP)—If old Father Sol is caught in the near future beaming with extra benignancy, it may be because there has been an addition to his family.

This life giving center of the solar system now is fathering a menage of eight known planets, including the one we live on, in addition to a score of moons and several hundred baby planets, or planetoids, but astronomers, peering into the mystery and wonder of the skies, are seeking a ninth full grown planet.

Back in 1846, a mathematical genius, pondering upon the deviations of the planet Uranus from its natural pathway, covered a paper with calculations and then told astronomers where to direct their telescopes to find the unknown world which was exerting the disturbing influence.

Thus the planet Neptune was discovered.

Today, scientists, impressed by the small deviation of Neptune, Saturn and Uranus from their orbits, are looking for the cause in the void beyond Neptune. That cause may be a planet, or may be more than one, so far away as to be invisible to the naked eye and probably only a dot in the strongest telescope or a hazy thread on a photographic plate, but important enough to perturb heavenly neighbors.

Pennsylvania Road Against Fifth Line

NEW YORK, April 9. (UP)—The Pennsylvania railroad has formally aligned itself against the fifth trunk line proposal of L. F. Loree, it was reliably reported today, making it almost certain that the eastern roads would be consolidated into four great systems built around the Pennsylvania, Baltimore and Ohio, New York Central and Nickel Plate.

At a recent meeting of railroad executives in the office of W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania, Loree was understood to have been invited to make suggestions for the disposition of the Delaware and Hudson and other railroad properties in which he has an interest.

JOHNNY HINES

By JOHNNY HINES

First name, Johnny; business, comedy star; eyes brown; hair, dark, and he doesn't have any alimony to pay. Has no mother to guide him through the pitfalls of Hollywood. Owns his own home and the homes of several prominent citizens.

Johnny Hines was born in Colorado and lost for a time in Pittsburgh, where he received his education, but not even that smoky city could keep Johnny out of sight. Finishing his education in Pittsburgh university and the College of the City of New York, Hines received his diploma, turned his attention to the automobile racing game.

But in spite of his envy of Barney Oldfield, Bob Burman, Louis Chevrolet and other speed demons of a few years back, he found the speaking stage more fascinating and less dangerous, so he made his debut supporting William Gillett in "Sherlock Holmes."

Hines' dynamic personality registered immediately. He followed one success with another, playing with George M. Cohan in "The Little Millionaire," with Trentini in "The Fire Fly," and in other Broadway hits.

Although making his biggest hit on the speaking stage as a comedian and eccentric dancer, Hines made his way into pictures via a different route and his first screen appearance was with Robert Warwick in the picture version of "The Man of the Hour."

After appearing in a series of two-reel "Torchy" comedies which firmly established him with the motion-picture public, he went into feature comedy dramas. At present he is planning on going to England where he will make a series of pictures.

"I believe I got the bigger laugh out of a story about Gilda Grey than I have out of any other story I've ever heard," Johnny told me.

"Success, you know, always brings out a lot of leeches, and one approached Gilda with the avowed idea of making a touch.

"'Would you care to join us in a new reform movement,' he asked her.

"'Oh, yes, I'm crazy to try it,' gurgled Gilda, without cracking a smile. 'Is it anything like the Black Bottom?'"

Johnny Hines.

RECORD THRONG OF 10,000 FORECAST FOR SPUDDER OPENER

PRIZES GIVEN TO CHAMPIONS

Business Concerns Donate Awards for "Firsts"

By LARRY DAILY.
Record News Sports Editor.

A few hours from the time this piece is perused the ball season will be under way out at the lot. Hoover, Al Smith, the farm relief, and other such problems that have occupied page one of newspapers since last October will be relegated to their rightful place by the fan—second to baseball.

The grand old pastime, which, after all, is the great National game, comes into its own. And in every city, town and hamlet they will pay homage tomorrow to King Baseball.

From President Coolidge, for whom special opening will be observed today at Washington that he may be present to throw the first ball, down to your butcher and baker and candlestick maker, opening day is THE day.

Greatest Throng Expected.

So it is that opening day tomorrow is to be a gala occasion in Wichita Falls. We have had memorable opening days. But when the lid is pried off the Texas league championship race with the Shreveport Sports at Athletic park, the largest gathering to ever see a wild pitch by a Wichita Falls mayor is expected to be present.

The goal for attendance is 10,000. This number, it is believed, is necessary to again win the attendance trophy. Wichita Falls captured that honor among the smaller cities of the loop last year, which includes Shreveport, Waco, Beaumont and our town, with an attendance of 8727.

Aided by the chamber of commerce, the Optimists, Lions, Kiwanis and Rotary clubs and many other organizations and individuals are working hard to attain the coveted 10,000 paid admissions. The Retail association has called upon its members to observe a 3 o'clock closing hour. School children will be dismissed from classes in ample time to see the game, which starts at 4 o'clock. A committee headed by Fred Weeks is selling tickets for children at 35 cents each.

Mayor Hurls First Ball.

Usual opening day ceremonies will be observed. A parade, led by the Wichita Falls municipal and Lions club bands will have a line of march through the business district. The first ball will be pitched by Mayor Akin.

Adding to interest in the game is the donation by several business concerns to Spudders who achieve first honors for the season in various lines. The following prizes are to be given:

First home run over center field fence, hat, by Montgomery company; first home run, N. and B. shoes, by Saul's; first home run, box of candy, Fell's confestionery; first run scored, Bill Doak glove, by London-Hill Sporting Goods company; first two-base hit, C. and K. straw hat, by P. B. M. company.

First three-base hit, hat, by Loeb Liephold company; first stolen base, six pair hose, by Perkins Timberlake company; first hit, silk shirt, by McClurkin company; first winning pitcher, to go full route, box candy, Fell's.

Spudders Look Great.

The Spudders took a spirited and lengthy workout yesterday, consisting of batting and fielding practice. The squad is in excellent condition and their snappy drill yesterday indicated that after a tapering off today they will be ready for the bell tomorrow that sends them off on the long grind.

Sale of box seats not reserved for the season opened yesterday morning at Miller's drug store and the Renfro Drug company. The sale of box and reserved seats, the latter of which may be obtained at Renfro Drug company, is brisk and indications are that a near sellout will prevail when the game is under way.

PHILADELPHIA, April 9. (UP) The Athletics again triumphed over the Phillies in the city series here today, 8 to 7, giving the A's four out of five games.

Philadelphia (AL)	000 010 430	8	11 1
Philadelphia (NL)	003 201 100	7	12 1

Joe Brown To Pitch Opener Wednesday For Shreveport Against Champions

Nine Hopes of Boston Red Sox

DAILY DOPE

By LARRY DAILEY

SELECTION OF the Yankees and Pirates to repeat being practically unanimous, this writer is tempted to forecast an overthrow of the dope and name the other contenders as major league pennant winners this season. But the facts are there, make the best or worst of them, and one can do nothing but pick the same teams to battle in the world series this fall that were in the diamond classic last October.

◇ ◇ ◇

The Yankees faltered and floundered this spring. But I recall two years ago, when I was in Florida for a press association, covering the big league camps, that the men of Huggins looked anything like a championship ball club. They took their beatings down at St. Petersburg with regularity. But that autumn they were champions of the American league.

◇ ◇ ◇

NEW YORK HAS RUTH and Gehrig; it has a brilliant youthful infield; a stellar outfield and excellent pitching and catching. The Yanks will not have the runaway race of last year. But they still look strong enough to win.

◇ ◇ ◇

PITTSBURGH LOOMS more powerful than its other National league rivals, but another thrilling race is forecast in the senior loop. The Pirate pitchers are aging, but they gained defensive strength by the acquisition of Adams for second base. Offensively, they should be as dangerous as in 1927.

◇ ◇ ◇

Here is how I pick the big league races this campaign:

AMERICAN	NATIONAL
New York.	Pittsburgh.
Philadelphia.	Chicago.
Detroit.	New York.
Washington.	St. Louis.
Cleveland.	Boston.
Chicago.	Cincinnati.
St. Louis.	Brooklyn.
Boston.	Philadelphia.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE ATHLETICS appear as the greatest threat to the Yankees. A flock of "ifs" enter into the calculations of the Mackmen. If the pitchers deliver as they should and didn't last year; if Houser regains his form of three years ago; if the veteran outfielders' legs will carry them through another strenuous campaign, they MIGHT beat out the Yankees.

◇ ◇ ◇

I LOOK for an improved Detroit club to be the sensation of the race. The Tigers, perennial mighty clouters, have added speed afield and on the bases. With better pitching than enjoyed for several seasons, and with George Moriarty have proved his fitness as leader in his first season, the Jungaleers look formidable.

◇ ◇ ◇

Washington is uncertain. They do not look the same without Walter Johnson, and they will not be the same with old Barney gone. Maybe the youthful chuckers and the numerous veterans in other positions will deliver. But nothing better than third and probably fourth is forecast for the Senators.

◇ ◇ ◇

THERE IS LITTLE to choose between the other four clubs of the Barnard loop. Each has such glaring weaknesses as to prohibit a rise above the second division, barring the remote possibility of an upset; remote, it is reiterated; but always to be considered in this game of baseball, in which "you never can tell."

◇ ◇ ◇

ANOTHER RACE in the National, similar to that of last year when four clubs battled neck-and-neck to the final wire, will be fought this season. The Cubs, with an attack second only to the Pirates and the greatest hurling corps in the circuit, have a young, uncertain infield. Otherwise, they would be rated above the Corsairs. Joe McCarthy's collegiate-playing club, however, might arise like the Braves of 1914. They play the game with a dashing spirit reminiscent of the 1914 Braves.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE GIANTS will miss Hornsby. However, the men of McGraw look fine and with the Cubs have shown the best form this spring. But they do not appear to have the strength to carry them through a long campaign.

◇ ◇ ◇

A majority of critics place the Cardinals second. I doubt such ranking. Superb pitching by veterans carried the Cards high last year. That such men the age of Alexander will carry on is doubtful. Thevenow at shortstop may recover his speed and all-around ability. And there is the possibility that the injury that laid him low last mid-season, will still slow him up. High at third base is erratic and the Red Bird outfield, while satisfactory when all regulars are playing, is made up of too many brittle athletes.

◇ ◇ ◇

BOSTON IS an outside choice to slip into the first division. The punch and inspiration of Hornsby, plus some other real ball players, will make the Braves at least hard to beat. Cincinnati and Brooklyn will do no worse than last year; both should be better. Thus here are seven excellent ball teams in the league to justify the belief that the National will have the most thrilling, hardest-fought campaign in its history.

◇ ◇ ◇

THERE ARE EIGHT clubs in the league. Oh yes! Philadelphia still has a National loop franchise. But as for the Phils going any place—aw, what's the use?

◇ ◇ ◇

The attendance goal for the Spudder opener Wednesday is 10,000.

Jake Freeze Will Open For Waco Against Buffs

WACO, April 9. (AP)—Despite the drizzling rain and cold winds, Manager Del Pratt this afternoon sent the Waco Cubs through a light workout. Jake Freeze, who will start against Houston in the opener Wednesday, was watched closely by Pratt while warming up.

The Waco manager expressed himself well pleased with the work of Jimmy Adair at shortstop and believes that hole well fortified. Shortstop position was expected to prove the weakness of the Cubs when it was learned that Wayne Windle would not return to guard that position.

Dallas Ballyhoos To Win Attendance Trophy

DALLAS, Texas, April 9. (AP)—Wet grounds and a drizzle prevented activity of the Dallas Steers Monday, but a chamber of commerce committee was able to get in some good licks toward raising a crowd for attendance day in the hope of winning the trophy. Music, parades and other ballyhoo will be used freely, it is announced.

Sisler's Home Run Saves Nats Shutout by Orioles

BALTIMORE, April 9. (UP)—The Senators made only four hits off Bolen and Cates here today and the Baltimore International league club beat Washington, 10 to 1. The Orioles touched Hadley and Brown for 11 hits. The Senators only run was a home run by George Sisler in the seventh. Score:

Washington (AL)	000 000 100	1	4 4
Baltimore (IL)	202 032 10x	10	11 2

Hadley, Brown and Tate, McMillen; Bolen, Cates and Dixon, Freitag.

French Fliers Land Safely at Hanoi, China

PARIS, April 9. (UP)—Newspaper dispatches received here tonight announced the safe arrival of the French flyers, Costes and Lebrix, at Hanoi. They had been delayed by being forced down to refuel at Sick Tchang, the dispatches said.

Costes and Lebrix, who visited the United States during the winter, are flying from Tokio to Paris to complete a trip around the world, most of which has been by air.

Autoist Held in Jail After Woman's Injury

FORT WORTH, April 9. (INS)—Oscar Tarrent, Dallas, was being held in jail here today charged with failure to render aid to Mrs. B. F. Walker, who was struck by an automobile and seriously injured last Friday night. The accident occurred on the Fort Worth-Dallas pike, near Arlington. Mrs. Walker's 15-months-old daughter also was slightly injured at the time.

SPORTS WILL ARRIVE TODAY

Phelan's Crew to Workout At Athletic Park

SHREVEPORT, La., April 9.—Definite announcement was made Monday by Manager Art Phelan of Shreveport that Joe Brown, the big right-hander, would be on the parapet when the Sports open the 1928 championship season Wednesday afternoon at Wichita Falls.

The team left here at midnight Monday for Wichita Falls. All are in good condition.

Brown had his final test Sunday afternoon on the New Orleans proving ground and responded nobly to the task after pitching part of Saturday's game against New Orleans. As a matter of fact, Brown received credit for both victories that were accomplished at New Orleans. He did not finish either game, but was ahead when he left box.

Old Stuff to Joe

Pitching opening games is old stuff to Brown. When he was informed by the club boss that he had been chosen for the task, he did not interpose the slightest objection.

Brown declared that during his baseball career he has pitched four or five opening games and has never been beaten. Perhaps that's a good omen, and in any event the Sports do not anticipate a repitition of the rough treatment they received in the opener last season when the Spudders streaked off to a nine-run lead in the first inning.

The foul weather that greeted the Sports on their return home Monday precluded the possibility of any attempt to work out today. But the boys were ordered nevertheless, to report to the park to assemble their equipment.

Sports Workout Today

The team will arrive in Wichita Falls in time for a workout in the Spudville park Tuesday afternoon. Catchers will be Frank Tobin and Raymond Hayworth; pitchers will be Joe Brown, Homer Blankenship, Chief Wilkin, Francis Karpp, Harry Thompson, Oscar Estrabs, Andy Price; infielders, Gus Whelan, Pete Kilduff, Andy Woehrs, Danny Bloxsom and Ernie Holman, and the outfield force will consist of Zieggy Sears, Frank Wilson and Dick Cox.

Yanks Score 2 in 8th To Trim Robins, 3 to 2

BROOKLYN, April 9.(UP)—Joe Dugan's sacrifice fly to Hendrick scored Robertson with the run which gave the New York Yankees a 3-to-2 victory over the Brooklyn Robins at Ebbets field today.

With Brooklyn leading 2 to 1, at the start of the eighth, Combs and Robertson singled and Ruth walked, filling the bases. Gehrigs's sacrifice fly scored Combs with the tying run and Dugan's sacrifice fly scored Robertson with the winning tally. Score:

New York (A. L.)	100 000 020	3	8 1
Brooklyn (N. L.)	010 001 000	2	8 2

Johnson, Shealy and Grabowski, Dickey; Elliott, McWeeny and Hargreavys.

Cuyler Leads Cubs, 14-4 Win Over Terre Haute

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., April 9. (UP)—Led by "Kiki" Cuyler, the Chicago Cubs gathered 19 hits in a batting spree to win their 13th straight victory today, downing Terre Haute 12 to 4. Cuyler made three singles and a double in four trips to the plate.

The Cubs left tonight for Cincinnati, where they will open the season Wednesday. Score:

Chicago (NL)	101 103 042	12	19 4
Terre Haute (3-I)	000 000 004	4	8 3

Bush, Welch and Legett, Hartnett; Thompson, Holmes, Shilling and Wilson, Frank.

Atz Picks Panthers To Win Close Race

FORT WORTH, April 9. (AP)—It looks like a great race. Almost everybody stronger this year than last.

This is the prediction of Jake Atz, veteran leader of the Fort Worth Panthers. Who'll win the pennant? "The Cats," says he, "but maybe I'm a bit prejudiced."

The Panther pitchers and catchers took an hour's workout Monday.

Lebouef-Dreher Case Affirmed by Court

NEW ORLEANS, La., April 9. (UP)—The state supreme court affirmed the verdict of a lower court today sentencing Mrs. Ada Leboeuf and Dr. Thomas Dreher, of Morgan City, La., to the gallows for the murder of James Leboeuf, Mrs. Leboeuf's husband, last July.

Dental Society Holds Wichita Club Banquet

Dr. C. L. Bailey acted as toastmaster.

Dr. C. R. Lamphere gave a discussion of a paper and lantern slides on all surgery and past operative pain that has been given to the society by Dr. I. J. Thornton of Dallas.

The banquet was well attended by out-of-town dentists, including Drs. Thurman and Watts of Quanah, Dr. Robinson of Olney and Drs. Hoover and Harrison of Vernon.

Attack On Sec'y Work Renewed by Caraway

WASHINGTON, April 9. (AP)—Renewing his attack on Secretary Work, growing out of recent visit of Colonel Carl L. Estes of Texas to the interior department, Senator Caraway, democrat, Arkansas, today presented for the Congressional Record letters from Governor Moody and residents of Estes' home town of Tyler bearing testimony to the war veteran's character and integrity. Estes has claimed and Work has denied that the secretary called the Texan a liar.

Yaqui Joe Wins Thrilling Match

Indian Beats Ted Waters In Three Falls

Crafty Yaqui Joe snatched victory from near-defeat last night. Apparently groggy from numerous headlocks applied by Teddy Waters, the Indian clamped on a dazzling flying toehold that caused his foe to concede the third and last fall. The time of the fall was 27 minutes.

It was a corking match, one of the best staged by Alec Ross at the Gym for many a moon. They grappled in a clean, excellent display of wrestling for the first two falls, but were rough in fighting for the decisive fall.

Waters won the first fall in 20 minutes, with a headlock. Joe took the second fall in 18 minutes with a flying body scissors after weakening Teddy with headlocks.

Referee Blondy Lusk called the prelim match between Bulldog Turner and Paul Rex a draw, when Turner was thrown out of the ring when they were grappling in the second fall.

Turner won the first fall in 15 minutes with a stepover toehold.

COOLIDGE WILL START SEASON

Cal Tosses First Ball Today At Washington

WASHINGTON, April 9. (UP)—President Coolidge tomorrow throws out the first ball that will open the American league baseball season with a game between the Washington Senators and the Boston Red Sox.

Topcoats may be the vogue for baseball fans instead of new Easter finery, for the weather bureau has predicted cloudy and colder weather, with possibly rain.

But, hot or cold, high government officials, including cabinet members and representatives of the foreign diplomatic corps will brush elbows with Mr. Average Man as the two teams take the field in their spotless new uniforms for the beginning of the pennant race.

Should rain prevent the game Tuesday, the official opening ceremonies will be held here April 20, although Washington and Boston are scheduled to play here again beginning Sunday, April 15. No other American league game is to be played Tuesday.

Cal Can Crash Gate.

President Coolidge has been presented with a gold engraved season pass by President Clark Griffith to insure him getting past the gatekeepers.

Elaborate ceremonies for the opening have been prepared. The army band will march around the field to the flagpole and the players of both teams will follow behind. The flag will be raised, a cheer will be heard, President Coolidge will throw out the ball, the umpire will shout "play ball" and the major league season will be officially under way.

Other major league games are to start Wednesday, but Washington was permitted to begin its schedule a day earlier so that the president might be present. Wednesday Washington is to play at Boston.

Walt Johnson Missed.

It will be a gala day for the capital, but baseball fans will note the absence of one figure in particular in the Washington lineup—Walter Johnson, the "Old Master"—who will be tossing on a bed in emergency hospital a mile away from Griffith stadium, out of the Senator's opening lineup for the first time in 20 years. He is recovering from the after effects of influenza contracted during his spring training campaign with the Newark International league club in Florida, of which he now is manager.

Bucky Harris brings his team to the opening game of the American league race after a disheartening training period. He lost five out of seven exhibition games played with the New York Giants

Fans Optimistic.

Baseball fans here, however, are optimistic and indications are that a record crowd will be out to Griffith stadium in the hope of witnessing an opening victory for Washington.

Gaston probably will pitch for the Senators and Tate probably will catch.

Hornsby Gets Homer and 3 Other Hits in Brave Win

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., April 9. (AP)—The Boston Nationals sharpened their batting eyes at the expense of Wilkes-Barre, New York-Pennsylvania league, today, winning by 22 to 3.

Hornsby was the hitting luminary for Boston, getting four hits out of six times up, one a home run with two on base in the third, when nine runners scored.

Exporters to Stay Home For Final Drill Today

BEAUMONT, April 9. (AP)—Cold rain and winds kept the Exporters indoors today and postponed the take-off for San Antonio originally scheduled for tonight, which had been designed to give the Athletes a workout in San Antonio Tuesday. The squad will endeavor to limber up here tomorrow, leaving for the league opener tomorrow night.

Manager Robertson announced the release of First Baseman Wagner, obtained last week from the White Sox, and of Pitcher Ludwig, signed as a free agent a week ago.

FROGS-STEERS RAINED OUT

FORT WORTH, April 9. (AP)—The game scheduled here today between Texas Christian university and the University of Texas was postponed because of rain and wet grounds.

MIDGET CHAMP RETAINS TITLE

Izzy Schwartz Beats Chilean Titleholder

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, April 9. (UP)—Corporal Izzy Schwartz of New York, recognized as the world's flyweight boxing champion by the New York Athletic commission, successfully defended his title tonight in a 15-round bout with Routier Parra, of Chile, flyweight champion of South America.

Schwartz easily outpointed Parra and won nearly every round.

At several points in the bout Schwartz seemed to be within reach of a knockout, but the game little Chilean stood up under a withering drum fire from Izzy's flying first and managed to keep going.

A hard right opened a gash over Parra's eye in the second round and Schwartz had the Chilean's entire left side of the face puffed and swollen from hard lefts and rights.

Parra had no defense for Schrawtz's right hooks and uppercuts which jarred and staggered him repeatedly. Schwartz opened up with everything he had several times but could not bring the South American down.

Parra started like a whirlwind in the first round, rushing Schwartz around the ring with a swift attack that apparently presaged trouble for the champion, but the South American played out in this early burst of speed and never had a chance the rest of the way.

Schwartz won the other fourteen rounds by a wide margin. He was never in trouble at any stage of the battle.

Parra was willing to fight, but he could not touch the clever Hebrew titleholder who ducked and danced out of the range of Routier's wild swings. Several times Parra missed so badly he almost toppled over.

Schwartz weighed 111; Parra 108.

INDIAN AND COYOTE ATHLETES TO COMPETE IN SOONER MEET

HODGES AND 4 PREPS ON TRIP

Meredith, Dickey, Say, Allred Will Make Trek

J. N. Hall, Wichita Falls Junior college and high school track coach, will take five men with him to participate in the Oklahoma relays at Norman, Okla., Saturday.

Due to the fact that there is no junior college division in the Oklahoma relays only one man from the Junior college team will make the trip. The lanky Jot Hodges, dash man and weight heaver, will represent Junior college.

Jot Won at Fort Worth

Hodges won first place in the 100-yard dash at the Fat Stock Show meet at Fort Worth this year, over men from the leading southwestern colleges and should stand a good chance of placing in the Sooner meet Saturday.

Captain Filmore Meredith, Olan Dickey, Ross Saye and Maurice Allred from the Coyote squad will participate in the high school division at Norman Saturday.

Captain Meredith specializes in the dashes and broad jump. Allred throws the javelin, while Dickey pole vaults and high jumps.

Preps in Relays

Coach Hall's mile and medlay relay teams composed of Saye, Meredith, Allred and Dickey have shown up well in practice this season and will be entered in these events.

The high school squad is somewhat handicapped by the absence of Henry Anderson, hurdler and relay man from the team. Anderson has been ill for the last week and will not be able to make the trip.

Barnard Looks For Close Race

A. L. Head Also Sees Improved Sportsmanship

CHICAGO, April 9. (UP)—Predicting a close race for the American league pennant President E. S. Barnard tonight said he looked for the 1928 baseball season to show the highest and cleanest standard of sportsmanship in the history of the game.

Barnard made a tour of the training camps this spring and said he was impressed with the evidence of "appreciation of the league's responsibility to the public."

"In numerous conversations with veterans and recruits," Barnard said, "I was particularly gratified to find the players have a well defined conception of their obligations to their respective clubs and to the public. At no time in the history of the game has there ever been a higher standard of sportsmanship in the ranks of the players than exists among the players of the American league today."

Barnard said he noticed a marked improvement in the playing strength of some of last season's weaker clubs and looked for a more closely contested race than that of last summer when the Yankees romped away with the pennant.

JACK INSISTS HE'S RETIRED

At Houston En Route East To Fight Kearns Suit

HOUSTON, April 9. (AP).—Reaffirming his ultimatum that he "would never enter the ring again," Jack Dempsey, former world heavyweight champion, greeted a throng at the Southern Pacific station Monday, enroute east to fight the suit pressed by his former manager, Jack Kearns.

"I will never fight again," declared Dempsey when questioned regarding his previous stand to quit the ring. "I wasn't good enough to stop Tunney last year and I have made my pile in the ring. No offer could draw me back into the game now."

Dempsey appeared on the platform of his car wreathed in smiles.

Yankees Odds-On Favorites But Race In National League Will Be Scramble

McCarthy Has Worries But Not Over Catching

Mr. McCarthy may have his few little worries, but they are not located behind the plate. The Cub mentor has in the person of Gabby Hartnett, the best catcher in the National league.

In addition to his great defensive ability, Hartnett is a dangerous hitter and two years ago he threatened to enter the circuit clout race. Not that the talkative catcher has lost his batting eye, but he has come to the conclusion that a single in time saves a lot of ball games.

A great reserve man who can jump into the game in case of Hartnett's indisposition is Miguel Gonzales, the great Cuban warhorse who is a veteran of several major league clubs. The Don is a fine man with the mit but his weak hitting has kept him from being a star. Gonzales is one of those valuable players who never shine in the baseball heavens but keep plugging in much the same way as the downtrodden scrub on the college elevens.

McCarthy depends a lot on these two men to handle his fine pitching staff. "Give me some hitting and I'll bring home the flag," says Joe.

5 CONTENDERS IN SENIOR LOOP

Pirates and Cards Favored But Cubs Formidable

By ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press)

The New York Yankees are the odds-on-favorite in the American league race that has an advance and solitary showing today in the nation's capital but it is a great season for long shots in the National league derby.

Seven of the eight clubs in the older circuit will have at least a voice in the debate if all are not actually able to carry the argument into the final stages of the compaign. Only the Phillies are dismissed from calculations that promise the biggest and most exciting National league scramble in years.

The National's policy seems to be for more and louder penant arguments in contrast to the Yankee notion of making it a private fight. There were four outstanding pennant contenders in the National league race last year and a fifth club, Cincinnati having a lot to say about the order of finish.

Clubs Ambitious.

In such a free-for-all as the one that gets under way tomorrow it is only natural to find in blossom if not full bloom, hopes and aspirations that have not been so conspicuous through the last few years. The Chicago Cubs, for instance, haven't won a pennant since 1918. They threatened last year, but didn't have enough experience to stand the gaff. Right now Joe McCarthy's ambitious young men are perhaps the best long shot of the National league campaign.

Only five out of 52 experts have picked the Cubs to win but if the Bruins continue to hit the pace they have displayed so far in spring training a lot of the boys will make a belated rush to get on the Chicago band-wagon.

The Cubs are not the only worry in sight for the twin-favorites of the race, the Pirates and Cardinals. These two are generally picked to be the main contenders. They were only a game and a half apart at the close of last season and they may be just as close again, but in addition to watching each other they will need to keep an eye on the Giants, Braves, Robins and Reds.

Reds Look Good.

It was the head-ache they acquired trying to win the pennant-deciding game from Cincinnati last season that affected the Pirates in the world's series. The Bucs were exhausted from the strain of battling a club which was only fifth in the final standing, but which was playing as good ball as any outfit in the league at the close. These Reds are starting the race with the same outfit that was so troublesome late last season, plus the benefit of having their Cuban star, Adolfo Luque, in the best shape of his career.

The guiding hand of Rogers Hornsby is already apparent in the progress of the Boston Braves. Rogers has displayed a genius for leadership. He brought the Cadinal up in the first division after a hard fight in 1926, led them to the pennant in 1926 and had a big part in the great drive of the Giants last season. He has different material to work with this season but his dynamic presence on the field will make the Braves a tough team to beat.

Meanwhile the Giants, under the indomitable guidance of McGraw, seem to have overcome much of the handicap of Hornsby's sudden departure. If Cohen can plug the second base gap the club will be a contender.

Robins Have Pitching.

Brooklyn, with as great a pitching staff as any club in either league and new strength elsewhere, may be an important factor in the race. The Robbins have a habit of making themselves conspicuous every four years and this is the year they are due. But like most of the other clubs, even among the favorites, Brooklyn has some weak spots. The Cubs have infield uncertainties and the Pirates a pitching worry or two. The Cardinals could use another outfield star.

As in the National, seven American league clubs are shooting at the same mark. The difference is that one group is aiming at the pennant, while the other is shooting at the Yankees. The Athletics seem well equipped to do the most consistent firing. Connie Mack has plenty of reserves on hand to replace any of his veterans who show signs of weakening.

Jones and Gunn to Golf For U. S. Olympic Fund

ATLANTA, Ga., April 9. (UP)—Bobby Jones, British open golf champion, and Watts Gunn, Atlanta amateur, plan to begin a golfing tour of southern cities April 17 to raise funds for American Olympic teams.

The tour will open in Augusta, Ga., and will end May 27 in Chattanooga, Tenn. Washington and Baltimore will be visited.

Jones and Gunn will play leading amateurs and professionals in the cities they visit.

Sandlotters Hold Own Title Series

CHARLESTON, S. C., April 9. (AP) The National Baseball federation decided today to hold a world's amateur baseball championship at Cincinnati this year and a semi-professional championship at Detroit. The amateur event is to take place in September. The site for the industrial team championship was left to be determined at the summer session of the federation in July at Akron, O.

With Judge Arthur M. Spiegel of Cincinnati presiding, the federation devoted most of its time today to a discussion of the attitude of K. M. Landis, high commissioner of baseball, and the major leagues toward the federation. The federation was organized to foster amateur, semi-professional and industrial baseball and with a view of developing players.

Clayton C. Townes of Cleveland, Ohio, chairman of the committee on finance of the organization, said that Judge Landis, although reported as favoring the federation, had taken no steps to aid it.

Dundee Meets Simonich For Title at Chicago

NEW YORK, April 9. (UP)—Articles were signed here today for a 10-round match between Joe Dundee, welterweight champion, and Joe Simonich, a promising contender in the welter division. They will clash at White City Park, Chicago, under the promotion of Mique Malloy, Monday, April 16.

CUBS WILL WIN IF SIGNS RIGHT

Bears Copped in '08 and '18 And are Due Again

By FRANK GETTY
United Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, April 9. (UP)—Every 10 years, at least, the Chicago Cubs win a national league pennant.

They won for Frank Chance in 1908, for Fred Mitchell in 1918, and they may win for Joe McCarthy in 1928. Certainly this is their lucky year.

During each decade, there has been a complete new deal at Chicago, and no two of the teams contained the same player in any position.

The Cubs of 1908 were at the height of their glory under the "Peerless Leader." They won again two seasons later, but they were slipping then and were easy prey for the Athletics in the world series.

Win in 1908

It was in 1908 that the "Tinker-to-Evers-to-Chance" double play wrecked the penant aspirations of all Chicago's rivals.

Ten years later, when the Cubs, under Fred Mitchell, won in the war year, the makeup of the team had changed entirely, and today none of the Cubs of 1918 is left to take part in what may prove another successful season. Here is how the team lined up one and two decades ago, compared with today:

1908		1918		1928
Sheckard	lf	Flack	rf	Maguire	2b
Evers	2b	Hollocher	ss	English	ss
Schulte	rf	Mann	lf	Cuyler	cf
Chance	1b	Paskert	cf	Wilson	rf
Stl'nf'l'd's	3b	Merkle	1b	Stephenson	lf
Hoffman	cf	Pick	2b	Grimm	1b
Tinker	ss	Deal	3b	Hartnett	c
Kling	c	Killefer	c	Butler	3b
Brown	p	Vaughn	p	Root	p
Overall	p	Tyler	p	Blake	p

Joe McCarthy's club looks stronger than that managed by Fred Mitchell 10 years ago, when the Cubs last led the league, but it hardly is comparable to the mighty team of 1908 which ruled the circuit four seasons out of five under Frank Chance.

Cubs Formidable

The Cubs cannot be called the dark horse of the forthcoming pennant race. They are quite obviously one of the three strongest contenders, with less to worry them than their opponents.

The weakness of the Cubs of 1928 is theoretically in the infield. Joe McCarthy says his infield suits him. In addition to Grimm, a hard hitting first baseman, Maguire, Butler and English, there are Norman McMillan, a second baseman, Elmer Voter, third baseman, and Jacobs from Los Angeles, at present suffering from an injured leg.

This infield is weaker, on paper, than many in the National league, but after one has discounted the infield, the Chicago Cubs of 1928 have the best ball club in the circuit.

Outfield Powerful

The outfield, with "Kiki" Cuyler, Hack Wilson and Stephenson, should blaze a trail of base hits through all opposition. "Gabby" Hartnett is the best backstop in the game and the pitching staff, strong in 1927, has been materially strengthened.

The Cubs went to pieces late in 1927, the pitching staff cracked, and the club fell out of the race. This year, its chances are much better. In addition to Charley Root and Percy Jones, there are Sheriff Blake, Guy Bush and Hal Carlson. The latter has just rejoined the club after an illness which threatened for a time to keep him from the game at the start of the season, which means another good break for Joe McCarthy.

This was the nucleus of last year's pitching staff, to which the manager of the Cubs has added Pat Malone, Phil Weinert, Jack Welch and Art Nehf. The last named, for years the greatest of southpaws and mainstay of the New York Giants, has unexpectedly regained his old-time effectiveness this year. His pitching during the recent exhibition games has been sensational.

BRAVES SEEK REDLEG DEAL

Donohue Among 5 Players In Proposed Swap

BOSTON, April 9. (AP)—A hint of several last minutes trades designed to strengthen further both Boston teams, featured final preparations of the Braves and Red Sox for the season's curtain raisers this week.

The Sox open against the Washington Senators at the capital on Tuesday and the Braves meet the Giants in New York on Wednesday.

At least one more sensational deal appears to be in the making for the Braves, this time with the Cincinnati Reds. It is rumored that the line is out for Joe Genewich, Brave pitcher, and Doc Gautreau, infielder, to go to the Reds in exchange for George Kelly, first baseman; Pete Donohue, boldout Red pitcher, and Bubbles Hargrave, catcher.

Such a shift would seem to cap even the famous deal which sent the Braves mainstay behind the plate and two others to New York for Rogers Hornsby, new Tribe captain.

Myrick, as chairman, and as a member of the committee in the years that have passed, and extend to him this expression of the affectionate regard in which he is held by the members of that committee as an association and as a friend."

Sooner Maintains Lead to Sayre In Los Angeles to New York Run

BY JAMES POWERS
United Press Staff Correspondent

SAYRE, Okla., April 9. UP.—Slowly crawling up on Andrew Payne, Oklahoma youth, for leadership in elapsed time, Peter Guvuzzi, Anglo-Italian runner from Southampton, England, led the way to the 37th control today in the transcontinental "bunion derby," covering the 32.2 miles from Texola in three hours, 53 minutes and 30 seconds.

Gavuzzi slipped into the lead at the start of the lap and was never in danger of being overtaken.

Payne was ninth today in 5:03:30. He crossed the finish line an hour and ten seconds behind Gavuzzi. Hoewver, the Oklahoman still retains his elapsed lead for 1,335.6 miles traveled to this point by "Cross-Country" Pyle's derbyists. Payne's advantage of Gavuzzi is nearly one hour and a half. Today's reception of Payne was a repitition of Sunday's acclaim in Texola.

One-armed Man Next

Roy Mcurty, onMe-armed athlete, registered from Newhall, Cal., but a native of Indianapolis, proved a surprise by finishing on the heels of Gavuzzi for second place in four hours, 36 minutes, 32 seconds. His elapsed time is 310:26:05.

Tomorrow night's control is Clinton, 51 miles due east of Sayre.

Eighty-two runners and walkers left Texola this morning with the leaders all in excellent physical condition. The weak sisters that are bringing up the rear will soon be out of the race.

After reaching Tulsa no runners will be taken back by patrols to make up the mileage when they fail to make the night control.

Harry Rea, Long Beach, Cal., was third today in four, thirty-seven flat. Rea is a veteran distance racer who got off to a bad start across the Majave desert.

Pat DeMarr Next

Pat DeMarr, Olli Wanttinen, John Salo, Guisto Umek, were the next finishers in the order named.

Wanttinen has a bad foot that is causing some trouble. Hugo Quist, physical director of the party, is bringing it around slowly.

Controls after Clinton are Bridgeport, El Reno and Oklahoma City.

Wanttinen, who was down to 53rd place in elapsed time is now back in fifth position, supplanting Eddie Gardner, Seattle negro, who is sixth. Umek, the temperamental Italian, is now also enrolled with the ten leaders, being tenth in standing.

MURDER RING PROBE ENDS

Upton Indictments Close Investigation

AUSTIN, April 9. (AP)—Barring unforseen developments, the Upton county grand jury's action in returning murder indictments against two men in connection with the killing of two others at Rankin as alleged bank robbers, will complete investigation of the "murder ring" Ranger Captain Frank Hamer charged had existed, he said late Monday.

Hamer was informed Monday that J. H. Dumas, indicted on a charge of murder and conspiracy to commit murder, will be brought to Austin for safe keeping.

The other man billed by the grand jury as far as the captain knew had not been arrested.

Reports that the inquiry had "just started" were incorrect, Captain Hamer said.

MEMPHIS, Texas, April 9.—The Memphis Gold Medal band, prize winner at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention in Wichita Falls last year, has been designated the official band for the Texas delegation at the national democratic convention at Houston, according to a letter received this morning from Jacob F. Wolters, chairman of the convention music committee.

The band will attend the annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at Fort Worth in June, and will proceed from that city to Houston. A total of 32 members will make the trip, led by their director, Paul Jones.

Man Jailed For Smooth Society Hoax Promises New Sensations

WASHINGTON, April 9. (UP)—Joseph Rheinstrom, 65, accused of perpetrating a hoax on Washington society folk, assumed a "try to prove it" attitude today.

He was held in jail, in lieu of $10,000 bail, for grand jury action Thursday. He said he was willing to confront any of his alleged victims if permitted to ask them four questions. He deeclined to reveal the questions, but said they would lead to more spectacular revelations than did his arrest here Friday.

Rheinstrom was seized in a palatial hotel suite and charged with getting from $200 to $300 from each of numerous Washingtonians on his promise to list them in the Washington social register.

He maintained, however, they had nothing to show in writing except that he would print their pictures and biographies in a book to be called "Society Women of America."

J. V. Morgan, attorney for the Social Register association, of New York, said today he had sworn to a complaint against Rheinstrom because none of his victims seemed willing to prosecute.

At least two of the "victims" cancelled Easter "at homes" supposedly preferring not to meet their friends in the face of the disclosures.

Death Penalty To Be Asked For Kidnapers

CHICAGO, April 9. (UP) — Charges of abduction for ransom on which the state announced it would ask the death penalty were made in indictments returned today against eight men involved in the kidnaping of Thomas Gaynor, wealthy automobile dealers and hotel owner.

CITY HEADS TAKE OFFICE

Repeal of Sewer Tax Ordered by Council

provide that the tax will be discontinued June 30. The motion also provides the addition of the sewer system to the city water department, the amalgamation to take place also on June 30. Discontinuance of the tax was set for June 30 in order to avoid necessity of refunding those taxes already paid, Mr. Akin explained. Nonpayment of the taxes up until that date will result in cutting off of water service, it was pointed out.

Launching into a whirl of business immediately after the installation ceremonies, the council voted on the motion of Mr. King, that the "holdover" members be paid the same salary as the new aldermen, whose yearly income is smaller than that provided by the original charter.

Audit Ordered

On recommendation of Mayor Akin, the council voted to advertise for bids from certified public accountants on an audit of the city's accounts and affairs. The bids are to be in the hands of the council by next Monday night, it was provided.

J. W. Hunt, A. W. King, and Oral Jones were named on a committee to make recommendations on a copy of rules pertaining to operation of busses, sent to the council by the state highway commission.

Manager Selection

The keynote of the discussion of the selection of the city manager was voiced by Mayor Akin, in advising the council to "examine the qualifications of several men before a choice is made." Mayor Akin stated that two applications for the position had been submitted, one from J. Bryan Miller, at present city manager of Bryan, Texas, who was present at the council meeting; the other from George Fairtrace, present city manager of Highland Park, near Dallas. By an official act of the body, it was decided that each councilman investigate possibilities, and that, in the "near future," the council would meet for the sole purpose of selecting a city manager. Applicants should file their applications with the council immediately, Mayor Akin said.

Avoid Hasty Action

Mr. Miller of Bryan, introduced by Mayor Akin, vouched for the efficiency of the city manager plan of government, and emphasized the statement that the new system "stretches a tax dollar over a wider area."

A. H. Britain, also introduced by Mr. Akin, repeated advice given by Mr. Akin and Mr. Patton, that no haste be shown in the selection of the manager. Mr. Britain said he represented the committee which presented the amendments to the attention of the council in making the suggestion.

The last act of the council under the guidance of Mayor R. E. Shepherd was the refusal to grant a permit for the erection of a business establishment in the Scotland addition by Mrs. E. H. Breaux. Several residents in the addition, represented by Mrs. J. A. Jackson, protested the erection of the structure.

Court Delays Hearing On Graham Man's Habeas Corpus Plea Here

Habeas corpus application asking that bond be allowed B. A. Gatlin, charged with the murder of Oscar N. Miles, his son-in-law, filed before Judge E. G. Thornton in 30th district court Monday morning was passed until next Friday, for hearing at Graham before Judge Thornton.

Ben Allred, district attorney, will represent the state at Graham and will seek to secure denial of bond to Gatlin, he said Monday.

The charge against Gatlin grows out of the slaying on the morning of April 6 at Graham. In a preliminary hearing at Graham, Gatlin was denied bond.

The hearing on the habeas corpus was delayed when the state's request for additional time to secure witnesses wanted from Breckenridge, Gatlin's home, was granted by the court.

Gatlin was brought to Wichita Falls for the hearing today by Gentry Williamson, deputy sheriff. Will R. Saunders of Breckenridge and Thomas G. Binkley of Graham, attorneys for Gatlin, presented the application.

Davis Starts Move To Combine Factions For Senator

SAN ANTONIO, April 9. (AP)—Frank C. The meeting, he said, would be held in Fort Worth or Houston, the date to be announced later.

Davis said that he found a statewide and growing sentiment in favor of Walsh and that Texas democrats are becoming convinced that the Montana senator is "destined to lead us in 1928, just as Wilson was destined to lead us in 1912."

The old Story

The girl whose menstrual periods ever cause a broken date, simply hasn't heard about Midol. Menstruation is natural. But the pain is not!

Midol will end menstrual pains in five to seven minutes.

This merciful discovery of the specialists is not a narcotic. It does nothing to hinder or hasten the process of menstruation. But it does end the painful part; if you anticipate your time the expected pain will not appear at all. Tiny tablets, in convenient little aluminum case, fifty cents at any drugstore. "I am so happy that the last pimple is gone—"

WITHOUT this handicap, there returns the very natural confidence, joy and cherished pride of possessing a clear skin.

Men and women both justly covet admiration, and you can expect such satisfaction only if you are happy in a clear, unblemished skin.

The sure way to reach this state is through the blood.

Red blood cells are Nature's elements for building and sustaining the body.

Without plenty of rich, red blood, there can be no strong, sturdy, powerful men, or beautiful, healthy women.

You know a clear skin comes from within. Correct the cause—through the blood—and pimples, boils, eczema and that sallow complexion will disappear.

Thousands have regained their strength and charm by taking a few bottles of S.S.S.—Nature's own tonic for restoring the appetite—building strength—and clearing the body of so-called skin troubles.

All drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Get the larger size. It is more economical.

GASOLINE OF ALL GRADES IN MOST ACTIVE WEEK OF YEAR

PRICES SHOW IMPROVEMENT

Export Buying Help To Refined Market

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, Okla., April 9.—The past week in the Mid-Continent refinery markets has been the most active in gasoline of all grades than it has been this year. Prices are considerably stronger, and export buying of the lighter grades has materially strengthened the market.

U. S. Motor grade of gasoline is moving in increasing volume as the season advances. Napthas have advanced 3-8 to ½ cent in the past ten days, and are being eagerly sought for blending purposes.

Absorption gasoline of all grades, which has been the weak spot of the market for the past month, has suddenly shown material strength, due to heavy buying the past day or two, and indications are for more advances in this product.

Kerosene is extremely scarce, due to seasonal demands and limited supply and the price is suddenly advancing. The 41-43 grade, which was inactive a few weeks ago at 4½c is now moving readily at 5c spot shipment, and higher prices are anticipated. The 42-44 grade is bringing 5 2-8c for spot shipment and further advances are lekely.

Fuel oils and gas oils are not quoted as strong as recently, owing to the late season and buyers having well covered their requirements for the month. It is probable that fuel oil will show some slight recession in price through the spring.

Gas oil, which has been moving readily at 2½c to 2 5-8c, seems to be showing up perceptibly, and no particular activity is anticipated in this product for the time being.

Road oils are beginning to command interest from the buyers, and prices are not as yet well established for the season.

Summing it up, the refined oil market is in better shape, and more active than it has been in nearly a year, and owing to the increasing demand for gasoline and kerosene, continued strength and advancing prices are anticipated.

CONSERVATION PLAN OUTLINED

Barnsdall Corp. Head In Oil Discussion

TULSA, Okla., April 9.—The plan to be followed by the advisory committee on conservation of oil in Oklahoma and Kansas was outlined by E. B. Reeser, president of the Barnsdall corporation, and chairman of the committee meeting today. The plan will be submitted Wednesday to a meeting of the Kansas-Oklahoma division of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association for approval.

Mr. Reeser's plan follows:

"This committee recommends that every prospective unnecessary well be postponed; that in those cases where lease conditions or offset requirements make drilling imperative and where there is no local co-operative organization or pooling arrangement, such facts be reported to this committee in order that it may lend assistance toward the organization of local co-operative committees to utilize or restrict the production from new pools thus opened.

Stop Assistance

"In order to postpone the opening of new producing areas until the oil is needed, it is further recommended that those units in the industry which have pursued the practice of assisting the testing of new structures by purchase of acreage or contribution of dry holes may now announce a policy of refraining from so doing; that they will in no way encourage the drilling of such exploratory wells except where the prospective area has been unitized and a pooling arrangement made by this committee's approval obtained.

"The committee understands its jurisdiction is to extend to wildcat wells and that it is not to function in regard to development wells in established pools nor to areas such as Seminole where local committees are or may hereafter be functioning in order to keep in touch with wildcat drilling, and to facilitate the handling of application for approval of contemplated wells, an umpire is to be appointed as a representative of committee and all applicants and all applications or communications should be addressed to such umpire.

Notice Required

"Whenever an operator desires to drill a wildcat well he is requested to notify this committee through its umpire and secure its approval before beginning operations. Notice of the action of the committee on such application will be sent the applicant by mail and in case he is dissatisfied with the ruling of the committee he will be accorded a full and complete hearing. Where such a well is drilled without the approval of the committee, and is not a part of a pooling arrangement, it will be the duty of the umpire to report such operator and the location of well to the corporation commission if located in Oklahoma and to the other operators if located in Kansas."

Ability of Seminole to Come Back Continues to Puzzle Operators

TULSA, Okla., April 9.— The Greater Seminole field continues to be the enigma of Mid-Continent oil men.

Its ability to halt periods of steady declines and to develop increases has intrigued the oil men for months, and apparently it will keep on doing so, through the "reworking" of a number of temporarily dead wells and satisfactory results from installation of gas lift on other wells which had previously been making but a little oil.

Most of the increased production was on wells in th eEarlsboro pool, and this area registered a 4291 barrel gain Saturday morning, and helped to swell the Seminole total output to 284,509 barrels, an increase of 6294 barels fo rthe greater field.

An analysis of Saturday morning's production also shows a 1115 barrel gain for Bowlegs pool and 1646 barrel gain for Seminole City pool, while Searight fell off 13 barrels. Little River pool declined 643 barrels.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, April 9. (AP)—Increasing fear of boll weevil damage to the coming crop and unfavorable weather reports from the south seemed responsible for advances of about $2.50 a bale in the cotton market today. May contracts sold up to 19.82, or 46 points net higher and closed at 19.78. October advanced to 19.52 and closed at 19.49. The general market closed steady, at net advances of 37 to 51 points.

The opening was firm at an advance of 24 to 36 points on a bullish interpretation of the government's boll weevil report which was published after the close of the market last Thursday, and reports of low temperatures with rains in the western belt over the Easter holidays.

This initial advance met considerable realizing but it was absorbed on moderate reactions, and the market soon firmed up again. The precipitation reported in West Texas was thought likely to improve soil conditions in that section, but the rains elsewhere in the western belt were considered excessive.

Further realizing was encountered as prices worked upward, but it was absorbed on comparatively moderate setbacks, active months at the best showing net advances of 45 to 53 points. Closing quotations were 3 to 8 points off from the top under realizing.

A dispositon to take profits around the 19½ cent level for October probably was promoted by uncertainty as to whether the Liverpool market which reopens for business tomorrow, would fully respond to the advances here. The south is now supposed to be in need of generally dry warm weather.

Figures on fertilizer sales pointed to increased use in the south, but appeared to attract comparatively little attention.

Exports today 39,142, making 6,074,213 so far this season. Port receipts 21,501. U. S. port stocks 1,631,695.

DALLAS, April 9. (AP)—Spot cotton closed steady, 45 up. Middling 19.20; sales 3519 bales.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, April 9. (AP)—Belated influence of the bullish boll weevil report issued last Thursday, was mainly responsible for an advance of over $2.50 a bale in the cotton market today. Unfavorable weather over the belt during the three-day holiday, prospects for rain in the eastern portion and two warnings of a gulf disturbance were contributing factors to the advance.

May contracts opened 44 points up at 19.55 and after easing 18 points rallied to 19.62 and closed at 19.56, compared with 19.11, Thursday's closing quotation. The general market closed steady at net advances of 45 to 52 points.

The opening was firm due to buying on the boll weevil report and first trades showed gains of 34 to 44 points. Soon after the opening July sold up to 19.32 and October 19.02, 39 points net up. Prices receded 12 to 18 points from these levels on realizing and selling promoted by Secretary Hester's bearish fertilizer sales report. July trading off to 19.20 and October 18.90.

Trading increased in volume later in the session when the issuance of two storm warnings for the gulf brought out trade buying. All positions made new highs for the day with July at 19.47, and October 19.22, 54 to 59 points above Thursday's close. Prices eased off a few points in the final trading on profit-taking and July closed at 19.39 and October 19.15, 46 to 52 points net higher.

Exports for the day totaled 39,467 bales.

Bonds

Leading Issues on New York Market

NEW YORK, April 9. (AP)—The bond market was rather inactive today, but the tone was firm.

New York Traction obligations again were in demand, improved prices reflecting belief the federal court will authorize increased fares. Interborough Rapid Transit convertible 7's touched a new peak at 99¾, and the other issues were at their tops. Brooklyn Manhattan Transit 6's and Third Avenue Adjustment 5's also reached their previous high levels.

Among the industrials, coppers were outstanding. Anaconda 7's moved 2½ points to a new high at 125, reflecting improved trade conditions in the strength of copper stocks. Andes 7's made a slight gain. California Petroleum 5½'s and Sinclair Crude 5¼'s showed small advances. Utilities were inactive.

Foreign bonds generally were firm, but Danish issues were inclined toward softness. Copenhagen City 5's and Kingdom of Denmark 6's sagged. Belgium 7's and Saxon Public Works 7's improved under demand.

MARKET COMMENT

WICHITA FALLS, Texas, April 9.—R. O. Harvey and company, rooms 630-37 Harvey-Snider building, received the following, Monday, on cotton and grain from their New York and Chicago correspondents:

Cotton

The marked has a strong tone with evidence of some broadening in the general demand. Southern pressure is lacking and contracts are far from plentiful. Should the belt experience further unfavorable weather, with possibilities for heavy boll weevil emergence, higher prices would undoubtedly result.—E. A. Pierce and company.

Grain

CHICAGO, Ill., April 9.—Wheat had a strong undertone but trade was not so excited. Important feature was the lack of pressure, with commission houses absorbing the offerings on the dip. Winnipeg failed to follow and was about unchanged. Locals did most of the buying.

No activity was noted in export circles due largely to a holiday at Liverpool. Buenos Aires was unchanged at mid-day. Kansas and Nebraska got insufficient precipitation during recent period of rain and snow, while crop advices from Missouri to Ohio continued bullish, which tended to restrict trading. Feel very friendly to wheat and that purchases on minor dips are in order.

Corn was bought by commission houses and locals and offerings were less important after prices got into the cost of privileges and held their ground. The decrease of 2,536,000 bushels in the visible served to stimulate buying. Receipts estimated at 356 cars. Cash basis was ½c to 1c higher for choice and steady to 1½c lower for poor grades. Weather favorable. Market has been thoroughly liquidated and a little more rally would not be surprising, but we believe new developments will be necessary in order to stimulate an advance.

Oats—Cash interests were good buyers and there was commission house support early. Later some of the bigger local floor traders bid up prices. Selling was mostly by longs. Market had a strong undertone.

Rye—Northwest houses were moderate sellers and market had an easy tone with prices holding within a narrow range.—E. A. Pierce and company.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, April 9. (AP)—The cottonseed oil market was moderately active and firm today, closing generally 15 to 24 points higher on local short covering, along with commission and cotton house buying in response to the firmness of surrounding markets, especially cotton, corn and crude oil. Refiners readily absorbed scattered liquidation of March. Sales 13,800 barrels; prime crude 8.75; prime summer yellow spot 9.70; April closed 9.70; May 9.91; July 10.02; September 10.53; October 10.54.

COTTON GOODS MARKET.

NEW YORK, April 9. (AP)—Cotton goods were firm today after a sharp rise in cotton. Printed goods continued in active demand. Buyers of coats for fall were in the market and good sized orders were placed on low priced goods. An auction sale of carpets and rugs opened with a record attendance and with prices higher than at the sale six months ago. Burlaps were quiet, a holiday being observed in the Calcutta market. Wide interest was shown in the raw silk market in preparations now under way for the establishment of a raw silk futures market in New York.

CALL MONEY

NEW YORK, April 9. (AP)—Call money, stronger; high 5½; low 5¼; ruling rate 5¼; closing bid 5¼; time loans, firm; mixed collateral 60-90 days 4¾@4⅞; 4-6 months 4¾@4⅞; prime mercantile paper 4@4¼. Bank acceptances (bid and ask).

Oils Show Much Improved Demand On Stock Market With Sinclair Shares In First Position

BY BROADAN WALL

Universal Service Financial Expert

NEW YORK, April 9.—Specialties featured another 4,000,000 share stock market today, in which the increase of $150,000,000 in brokers' loans to a new high record, reported after Thursday's close, was entirely ignored. General Motors was turned over in greatest volume but Chrysler was the feature of strength in the motor group, coincident with further capitalization rumors. Anaconda continued to soar ahead under guidance of the most powerful bullish group, while the shorts in Cast Iron Pipe were forced to cover as that stock soared more than 18 points to a new high price above 300.

There were 49 new high prices registered for the move, among which was Interborough, which jumped over 4 points on expectation of favorable decision from the district court. Railroads were subjected to realizing but held fairly firm, while the oils moved fractionally higher with Sinclair in the lead.

Advance in the call rate to 5¼ from a renewal of 5¼ per cent, as the banks called $20,000,000 more loans dampened enthusiasm a little, but failed to influence material reaction. Foreign exchange remained dull and fairly steady due to holidays abroad. Cotton moved ahead rather rapidly on bullish weather reports with the same influence holding the grain market strong.

There was an inclination to sell Sinclair coincident with the trial, but it was offset by the buying from those who know what is going on behind the scenes. While nothing definite has been arranged, conversations held to date indicate that the name of the company, as well as its official lineup, will be changed. Indications at the moment point to it being known as the "Marland Oil company." For while the deal as now talked of would be on the basis of Sinclair taking in Marland, the latter name being of so much greater pulling power on gas stations, etc., it would be used for the combined organizations. If those behind the consolidation plans can get the properties at a reasonable figure, it is further indicated, other independents will be taken in the merger.

There is better demand for other oil stocks, also, largely under the influence of seasonal developments. The next report as to gasoline sales, it is claimed, will show even bigger gains throughout the country than realized as a result of open weather recently. The one bad feature is that the seasonal improvement in the business has influenced less desire on the part of producers to hold down the output of of crude and if production increases, as indicated, it will prove embarrassing again toward the end of summer. Copper stocks continued to benefit from the improved technical position of the industry with Anaconda in the lead as a result of merger expectations, and belief that a higher dividend will be declared soon.

Curb

Leading Issues on New York Market

NEW YORK, April 9. (AP)—Trading on the curb market was heavy and broad today, with scores of issues reaching new high levels. Total sales exceeded 800,000 shares and nearly $5,000,000 worth of bonds changed hands. Trading was so heavy that the ticker was nearly 15 minutes behind the market at the close. Industrial issues led the advance. Utilities were strong and oils turned buoyant on announcement of decreased production.

Deere and company recorded the widest gain, advancing 32½ points net to a new high at 359½. Nichol & Shepard also touched a new high at 49⅞, with a net gain of about 5 points. Niles Bement Pond was under pressure.

Railroad issues reflected the strength of rails on the "big board." Pittsburgh & Lake Erie and New Orleans & Great Northern reaching new peaks and Alabama Great Southern gaining a full point. Columbia Graphaphone advanced 7 more points to another new peak. Mengel company, International Shoe, Bohn-Aluminum, Celotex, Debenhams Securities, Sparks Withington, United Shoe Machinery and Western Auto Supply also were among issues to reach new tops for the year.

The utilities advanced as a group, many to new peaks. There were a few weak spots, such as Lone Star Gas, which sagged 5 points, National Public Service and Southeastern Power and Light.

Vacuum Oil moved up nearly 3 points to a new top at 152, and Lion Oil to a new high at 25⅞ on buying by western interests. Penn Mex Fuel extended its gain 8 more points, while Gulf advanced more than 2 points and Humble about half as much. The pipe lines were affected adversely by announcement of decreased production, Northern selling off 3½ points and Illinois 1½. Prairie, however, recovered from its recent slump and gained a full point.

BOSTON WOOL MARKET.

BOSTON, April 9 (AP)—Prices remain firm on all grades of wool, although trading is slow. A slight advance has been realized on some 56s and 48-50s combing fleece wools as a result of immediate needs of a few mills and because of the supply available being limited. The total amount of combing greasy wool imports at Boston and Philadelphia last week was less than the amount imported at the three major ports for the previous week. No combing greasy wool was imported last week at New York.

Grain

GRAIN REVIEW

By THOMAS TEMPLE HOYNE

CHICAGO, April 9. (US)—Cold weather made the grain markets more energetic today and stimulated enough buying to liven up prices somewhat. Wheat gained ⅛c to ⅛c over the close of Saturday; corn finished ⅜c to ⅞c better; oats were up ⅛c to ⅛c, and rye was ⅛c off to ⅜c higher.

The visible supply figures showed a decrease of over a million bushels for wheat and more than two and a half millions for corn. Receipts of the latter grain here were large—451 cars—but these were taken to be mainly a shift of grain from other markets to this one.

The market opened higher and right at the start prices were better than they were at the close. Wheat was for sale on hard spots, but buying came into the pit on recessions. The result was that prices held within a narrow range of less than a cent throughout the session.

The corn market showed considerable underlying strength. It made a more impressive showing than wheat, in fact. The market has been well liquidated, and once the trade comes to the conclusion that longs in the May future who have corn bought at a cheap price intend to hang on to their purchases, the price is likely to get back over a dollar again and stay there.

FARM SHORT COURSES OPEN

Experts Give Views In Electra Meeting

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, April 9.—The first session of the farmers' short course under the supervision of County Agent G. C. McGown and Miss Louise Webb, home demonstration agent, was held Monday at the farm home of Tom Haynes, northwest of Electra. About 60 persons were present.

At the morning session, M. B. Oates, agricultural agent for the Denver railroad, discussed poultry from a production standpoint, emphasizing the need for a better grade of chickens and for more care in feeding for egg production. He called attention to the fact that on most farms, chickens rustled a good part of their feed and no effort was made to give them a balanced ration and without that it was impossible to get profitable production. From his own experience he told them that his profit made from the feed that he could make hens eat rather than from the feed saved from the hens. Heavy egg production requires heavy feeding.

Barnes Gives Talk

O. K. Barnes in talking of community co-operation, urged that the farmers take more interest in solving their own problems through co-operation in selling their products.

There are something like 30,000 different insects that have been named, classified and the life history of many of them studied, stated R. R. Reppert, state entomologist, who spoke in the afternoon. The total loss from these insect pests is about two billion dollars annually. These insects he divided into two general classes—the biting kind and those that suck the sap from the leaves and stems. The various ways of controlling each was given in considerable detail.

E. R. Eudaly of the swine husbandry department of the A. & M. college, spoke on the "Feeding and Breeding of Hogs." Mr. Eudaly is the man that "invented" the "foolproof" ration for hogs that is being used generally all over Texas and is now being mixed and introduced throughout Oklahoma. Good hogs, proper feed and the right kind of management are the three essentials to profitable hog raising. With these three requisites in proper proportion a profit can be made on hogs every year, for it is easily possible to keep the cost of production of pork to a six cent figure.

Milk Inspector Talks

Guy Powell, city milk inspector of Wichita Falls, urged the necessity of greater attention to breeding for milk production in order that the milk producers may receive a reasonable profit for their labor. In addition to securing greater production, there is the possibility of lowering the cost of milk to a very considerable production and he brought the message to the people in plain language.

The ladies of the community served a bountiful dinner and in the afternoon they held a very entertaining and instructive meeting in which Minnie Mae Grubbs demonstrated home beautification and Miss Lois Blair instructed them in the art of making pies and pastry. From the samples served at the dinner the ladies in this community are "masters" in this line of endeavor.

Today's session will be held at the farm of H. C. Obenhaus near the Barwise school

Republican Graft Real Issue, Jesse Jones Says

DALLAS, April 9.(AP)—Jesse H. Jones, who brought the democratic national convention to Texas, believes that it was Will H. Texas Girl in Mother's Steps

"Out of sight, out of mind" is a true saying. The fact that we can't see what's happening inside our children's bodies is the reason so many of us allow them to go on suffering from constipation until they are full of the poisons from decaying waste and they're bilious, headachy, sallow and weak, with no appetite or energy. Watch your baby or child, mother, and at the first sign of coated tongue, bad breath or feverishness, give him a little California Fig Syrup. This rich, fruity product gently expels all the souring waste; gives tone and strength to the stomach and bowels, so they continue to act normally; stimulates the circulation; tones and nourishes the entire system.

Its sales record of over five million bottles a year and the enthusiastic praise of women everywhere, prove mothers depend on it today as they have done for more than fifty years. A Texas mother, Mrs. M. H. Goodrich, 1530 So. Olive St., San Antonio, says: "I used to take California Fig Syrup as a child, so when my little girl began to suffer with constipation I started her on it. It stopped her trouble quickly and made her look even so much better. I kept using it with her for a few weeks and it made a different girl out of her. She has grown so well and strong and is never sick any more."

See that the Fig Syrup you buy bears the name "California," so you won't be imposed on by imitations. Adv.

Flexible Tariff Upheld By U. S. Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, April 9. (US)—In an opinion read by Chief Justice Taft, the United States supreme court today upheld the constitutionality of the "flexible tariff" provision in the tariff law, under which the president is authorized to raise or lower rates.

The decision was on an appeal of J. W. Hampton, Jr., & Co., a New York importing concern, from a ruling of the United States court of customs, which also held section 315, the "flexible" provision, valid.
