LINDBERGH CASE REPORTED 'BREAKING'

3 Injured When Tourist Car Wrecks Near Here at Noon

ALL VICTIMS OF ACCIDENT WERE WOMEN

Two women and a girl, members of a tourist party of four, were in Graham sanitarium this afternoon for treatment for injuries sustained when their machine, a 1928 model Pontiac sedan, wrecked about four miles west of Cisco on Highway No. One at noon today.

Worst injured of the three was Mrs. A. B. Culp, 36, of San Diego, Cal., who received a severe cut across the forehead, extensive cuts under the chin and on the right knee as well as numerous body bruises and a possible fractured arm.

Hospital attaches said that no X-ray examination had been made of the victims early in the afternoon, but that physicians were of the opinion that no internal injuries nor skull fractures were present. All victims were under observation for possible development of more serious hurts, however.

Mother and Girl

A mother, Mrs. L. Z. Barrows, 39, of San Francisco, Cal., and her 14-year-old daughter, Mariellen, were the other two victims. Each had cuts about the face and body bruises of extensive character.

All of the victims were expected to recover, however.

The fourth and practically uninjured member of the party, Leon Vance Barrow, San Diego, Cal., driver of the car, expressed the opinion that failure of the steering gear caused the machine to plunge off the road and into a deep ditch beside the highway at a point about 100 yards west of the McCanlies service station. The car was said to be almost a total wreck. The driver said his address was 3764 Arnold street, San Diego. He was not registered at the hospital for treatment.

The party was traveling west, reported to have been returning from the World's fair at Chicago to their homes.

Green's ambulance responded to a call but found that passing motorist had loaded the injured into cars and brought them to Cisco.

Canning Plant at Ft. Worth to Close

FORT WORTH, Sept. 20 — The government's beef canning plant here, employing 1,555 men and women, will be closed down in about tow weeks, H. H. Hester, local projects engineer, announced today.

The plant was ordered closed by Jesse Crain, federal commodities director, at Austin. Crain said that the cattle-buying program for Texas had been completed.

20,000 OTHER WORKERS ARE ORDERED OUT

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 20— The nationwide textile strike was extended into another branch of the industry today when union leaders ordered 20,000 dyers to leave their jobs Monday.

The call was issued by Francis J. Gorman, national strike leader, as Sec'y of Labor Frances Perkins and Chairman John Winant of the mediation board conferred with President Roosevelt at Hyde Park, N. Y., on means of settling the dispute.

An approaching climax in the general textile strike was indicated.

Massachusetts guardsmen were mobilized at Easthampton. A new outburst of sabotage and violence was reported in Rhode Island. Mill workers' homes in Providence were stoned.

Picketing regulations were modified in Georgia, but state troops continued to guard reopening mills.

WEATHER

West Texas — Partly cloudy tonight. Thundershowers and cooler in the north portion. Friday unsettled.

East Texas — Partly cloudy; Friday mostly cloudy.

Oh Doctor

It would be a hard-hearted patient indeed who wouldn't pay a bill to such a pretty doctor. But Berthella Jarvis of Los Angeles, 24 and blond, above isn't worrying over that—yet. She's too proud of the license that made her a full-fledged M. D. under strict California laws one of the youngest in the state so honored.

BEWILDERMENT ON LINER TOLD BEFORE BOARD

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 — A bitter, harshly drawn picture of a bewildered master and officers on the bridge of the flaming steamship Morro Castle was given today in testimony before a federal board inquiring into the disaster.

George Alagna, assistant radio operator, told the inquiry that Acting Capt. W. F. Warms stumbled back and forth through a dense fog of smoke on the bridge.

He repeatedly refused to give Alagna orders to send out the SOS radio call at a time when the ship was in flames, Alagna said. Alagan believed it had been burning more than an hour.

The captain appeared not to know "what it was all about," Alagna said, and didn't recognize Alagna despite the fact the operator wore his officer's cap. He also gave a meaningless reply of "All right," to Alagna's request for orders, Alagna testified.

"QUINTUPLET" CABBAGE

ASHTABULA, O., Sept. 20 — Five heads of cabbage, grown from a single stalk, were produced in the garden of Foster Thompson.

ALLRED FILES ATTACK UPON EXPENSE CURB

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 20.—James V. Allred today attacked the constitutionality of the Texas statute limiting campaign expenditures of a candidate for governor to $10,000.

Attorneys for the attorney-general filed a brief in district court here in the suit brought to prevent Allred's certification as democratic candidate for governor on the grounds that his expenditures in the primaries exceeded statutory limits.

The brief contended the statute was unconstitutional because it commits to courts the power to determine whether a candidate is eligible to have his name on a ballot and because it invades the right of the legislature by seeking to limit the right of a citizen to hold office.

Allred asserted that a private citizen cannot be deprived of public office by civil action.

Meanwhile a hearing on appeal from a temporary order holding up Allred's certification as his party's nominee was started in the fourth court of civil appeals. Contending counsel presented arguments with no time limit set.

EASTLAND FAIR INITIATED BY CISCO PROGRAM

A large number of Cisco people attended the opening program at the Eastland county fair last night when the Cisco chamber of commerce provided the entertainment.

The Lobo band, directed by G. W. Collum and introduced by Sec'y J. E. Spencer of the chamber in a brief speech in which he expressed the pleasure of Cisco at being able to cooperate with its sister county towns in such a program, started off the eighth annual exposition with a 30-minute concert.

The platform was in its usual place, at the rear of the Texas State bank building on Commerce street.

After the band concert there were three numbers—a reading, a song and a tap-dance—by Miss Margie Linder.

Harry Schaefer, Ernest Hittson and Spurgeon Parks, playing violins and a guitar, entertained the crowd with several "hokum" numbers as the concluding feature.

Attendance upon the opening night feature was gratifying.

Legislature Taxes Foreign Margarines

AUSTIN, Sept. 20 — Authorization of a ten cent per pound tax on Oriental oleomargarines was made by the Texas legislature today in a bill finally passed and sent to the governor.

Rep. A. B. Tarwater of Plainview, the author, said similar movements were to be instituted in other states in an effort to bar foreign margarines from competition with American farm products. The governor submitted the topic to the special session.

SEN. CLARK SEES MUNITIONS INQUIRY AS MEANS TO PEACE

By SENATOR BENNETT CHAMP CLARK

(Copyright, 1934, by United Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—The inquiry ordered by the United States senate into the activities of private manufacturers of munitions in the United States has barely scratched the surface, but already there have been discloures which have shocked the conscience of the nation.

It has been shown that the international armament ring which we have been accustomed to regarding with holy terror as existing entirely in foreign lands has ramifications in this country among some of the most powerful corporations in the nation.

It has appeared that American munitions manufacturers have conspired with European and Asiatic concerns for the purpose of controlling the munitions market throughout the world, creating armament races and formenting wars.

We have learned that bribery is a customary incident of the munitions traffic and that names of men in the highest positions are commonly banded about in their selling campaigns.

We have ascertained that governments of the world, including the government of the United States, are commonly employed as agencies in the sale of instruments of death and devastation for private profit.

Striker Down; Captor on Alert

Clubs, bullets, and gas hurled back strikers and their sympathizers in the textile strike riot in Saylesville, R. I., and a national guardsman here is shown with club poised over one attacker who has been felled in the rush. Martial law was declared as more than 3000 mill workers and their supporters waged a savage conflict with the troopers.

Loboes Ring Up 1934 Curtain Friday Night

The Cisco Loboes tomorrow night will ring up the curtain on their 1934 football season with their traditional first-game rivals, the Gorman Panthers, furnishing the opposition at Chesley field. Coaches Shelley and Hodges will present a team built around a nucleus of seven lettermen and weighing a fair average of the heft high chool teams over the state under the eight-semester rule.

P.-T.A. HAS CONCESSION

The West Ward Parent-Teacher association will have the concession for drinks and confections at the football field Friday evening, it was announced by Mrs. H. L. Dyer, chairman of the P.-T.A. ways and means committee. Proceeds will be used to buy milk for needy children.

The center of the line will give some resemblance to a valley between bluffs, but a veteran center in Littlepage, who tips the beam at 160, and a believed "find" in 140-pound Reuben Wende at one guard are expected to offset the apparent disadvantage of this lack of weight. Wende is acquitting himself with honors, in both the matters of headwork and fight, on the practice field and the coaches have him down for a starter tomorrow night. How long he stays in the game will depend upon his playing fulfills its promise.

Other Starters

Next to him at left tackle is Theron Graves, letterman of last year's team who weighs 160 pounds. Merkett, 155, also a last year letterman, will start at right guard. Littlepage at center and Wende at right guard have been noted. Thomas Graves 160, gets the starting assignment at right tackle an dat right end George Sledge, another 160-pounder, will have opportunityto prove whether or not he should be a regular in that position.

The backfield starting nominations list an assignment of lettertive Stansbury, whose 125-pounds men with the exception of dimuniare laden with the responsibility for generalling the squad. Flanking him will be Beasley errastic speedster of last year's ill-fated eleven whose added year and experience are expected to have seasoned him into an effective ball-carrier, and Shackelford, who carried the 1933 team's most effecitve goal line punch. Beasley will perform at right half and Shackelford at left.

BETTING LAW REPEAL RACES WITH SESSION

AUSTIN, Sept. 20.—Repeal of the pari mutuel race track betting law in Texas was off today in a race with time.

The Texas house of representatives by vote of 63 to 47 ordered the bill mimeographed. It must wait 24 hours after mimeographed copies are placed on members' desks before it can be acted upon.

Then it must be acted upon twice on separate days unless the author can get a two-thirds vote to suspend the rules.

It it finally passes the house this week, it still has to go down the home stretch of the senate. The session expires automatically at Tuesday midnight, unless clocks are turned back.

SENATE DECLARES NO NEED FOR NE WSESSION

AUSTIN, Sept. 20. — The Texas senate today adopted a resolution advising Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson that in its opinion no need exists for a fourth special session of the legislature.

The vote was 21 to 2. The same vote indirectly indexed the senate opposition to any bills proposing the creation of a new oil and gas commission. An extra session had been proposed to study the need for a new commission.

The Pope bill remitting interest and penalties on delinquent taxes was shunted to a sub-committee of the senate for revision and amendment.

Pollard Testifies In Own Defense

AUSTIN, Sept. 20 — Claude Pollard, former attorney-general of Texas and former president of the Texas Bar association testified in his own defense today in 126th district court, denying consent to use of counterfeit cigaret stamps.

Pollard took the stand after a long list of judges, lawyers, a congresman, and business men had told the jury of his reputation, first assailed in the indictment against him here.

As they left the stand, many witnesses passed for a handclasp as they passed Pollard.

PUSH SEARCH FOR KILLER OF AGED FARMER

POOLVILLE, Parker County, Texas, Sept. 20.—Officers of Wise and Parker counties rounded up suspicious characters today as the search for the slayer of Joe Pickens, 76, wealthy farmer, increased in intensity.

Two suspects were taken into custody at Bridgeport for questioning and another was held by authorities at Booneville.

Officers of Decatur, Rhome, Springtown and surrounding communities deployed over the countryside in an effort to develop something from the meager clues concerning the burglar who shot Pickens as he lay in bed at his home last midnight.

Mrs. Pickens and two daughters gave possemen the only clues they had. They said the burglar entered the bedroom where all were sleeping, demanded money and then shot the elderly farmer.

Apparently frightened by what he had done, the killer, masked in a red handkerchief, fled on foot in the direction of Bridgeport.

H. Brandon Rotary Club Speaker Today

Principal H. Brandon of the Cisco nigh school was the speaker today for the Cisco Rotary club luncheon in a program which observed Constitution Week.

The origin of the organic law of the land, the serious questions that beset the fathers as they deliberated upon its framing and the remarkable success that the document proved as the basis for the American national development were pointed out by the speaker. He drew particular attention to the fact that over a period of almost 150 years only 11 amendments have been added to the document. Ten of the 21, he explained—the so-called "bill of rights" of the American people — were added upon its adoption in 1789.

He declared that the constitution as it exists today, consists not merely of the document itself, but incoporates all the body of national lawthat has been legally erected upon it, as well as the interpretations of the supreme court and the treaties entered into between the United States and other nations, all of which is just as binding as the constitution itself.

Visitors were Charles Kleiner, a guest of H. D. Gorham, and Lonnie Shockley, a guest of J. B. Cate.

Pretty Boy Floyd Is Still In Papers

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 20 — Charles "Pretty Boy" Floyd, who apparently retired from active competition a year or so ago and permitted his title of No. 1 bad man of the Southwest to go to others by default, still breaks into the news now and then when persons report seeing him.

His wife, Ruby, who is making crime pay by appearing at theaters and telling folks that it doesn't pay, refuses to discuss her husband and say she hasn't heard from him in a year. Police place little credence in reports that he is dead.

One recent story, told by a Pawhuska, Okla., woman, was that she and a companion picked up a bent old lady along an Oklahoma highway and gave her a ride to the outskirts of Oklahoma City. As the woman alighted she asked the name and address of the driver. A few days later the woman received a postcard. The note said:

"Thanks for the ride Pretty Boy Floyd."

Sending post cards is an old custom with Floyd. When he was named in connection with the Union Station massacre here he wrote a note to police assuring them he had no part in the machine gunning of the five men. He frequently, in his active days, sent cards to Oklahoma police.

A missing heiress who says she has learned a lot about hamburgers, Miss Janet Bowen White, 21 above, was found working in a roadside restaurant near Coldwater, Mich., ending several days' hunt for her after she left Michigan University summer school on the eve of tests. Daughter of a wealthy Detroiter, she said she wanted to earn her own way.

TAX REMISSION IS GOOD FAITH FEATURE, SAYS

Approval yesterday by a house committee at Austin of the Brazos valley conservation bill, which the senate passed 13 to 12, drew an explanation today from F. E. Harrell, Brazos valley conservation board member, that the tax remission feature of the bill so contested in the senate, does not provide for remitting the taxes unles at least a $30,000,000 loan is obtained from the federal government.

The bill, Harrell explained, is an evidence of state good faith as a basis on which to ask the federal government for the loan which will be used in building 12 big dams and about 50 smaller ones on the Brazos watershed and carrying out a flood control, agricultural, municipal, industrial and power development project covering one-sixth the state's area.

One Per Cent

The state taxes to be paid into the Brazos Valley reclamation district fund from the counties affected as security for the repayment of a federal loan, would amount to only about one per cent of the entire loan, said Harrell. The law would not become operative unless the loan is obtained, and the provision is limited to a period of 20 years.

In ten counties all state advalorem taxes will be remitted or impounded while in other affected counties stated percentages of such taxes will be remitted or impounded, the percentages being based on the extent to which the conservation program affects those counties. All are located along the lower course of the Brazos.

Governs Disposition

Section 7. None of the money hereby donated and granted to teh said Brazos River Conservation and Reclamation district shall be paid over to said district as herein provided for unless and until said district shall have first received from the United States of America a grant and-or a loan aggregating not less than thirty million dollars; provided, however, that a legal commitment from the United States of America for cuh a grant and-or loan shall be construed as the receiving thereof, such a grant and-or loan to be used for the purposes for which said district was created, and in accordance with the provisions of this act, and the granted may be used in connecfunds hereby donated and ed with the funds so obtained from the United States of America for the purposes herein set out, or may be used to repay the principal and or interest

3 SUSPECTS IN KIDNAPING ARE UNDER ARREST

BULLETIN

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 —Police announced today that the Lindbergh kidnaping mystery was "cracked" with the arrest of Bruno Richard Hauptmann on charges of being the recipient of the $50,000 that was tossed over a cemetery wall in the Bronx in an effort to recover the Lindbergh baby.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 — The Lindbergh kidnaping mystery appeared to be "breaking" late today with the arrest of three suspects and the reported recovery of $35,000 ransom money.

The most famous federal and state investigators assigned to the Lindbergh case gathered hurriedly in the Greenwich police station and questioned suspects.

Reports were that the case was broken through identification of a $10 bill tendered by an autoist for payment of gasoline.

Police said that one man had been linked to the ransom money, which they alleged was found under a concrete floor in his home. It was said that a man who had been questioned all last night "broke" this morning and gave the police important leads on the case.

Viewed by "Jafsie"

The police report was that a taxicab driver who drove the man to a Bronx cemetery on the night he received the Lindbergh money for Dr. J. F. (Jafsie) Condon, intermediary in the case, had identified the suspect. Condon paid over $50,000 while Lindbergh waited in an automobile nearby. The body at that time was already dead and it was not known whether the man who got the money had anything to do with the abduction.

The arrests climaxed a series of mysterious maneuvers of police which began with the arrival at the Greenwich street police station of J. Edgar Hoover, of the United States department of justice; H. Norman Schwartzkopf, of the New Jersey state police, and Lieut. James Finn, undercover operative assigned to the Lindbergh case exclusively.

New York Police Comm'r John O'Ryan also came to the Greenwich street station, lending further support to reports than an "important break" in the case was imminent.

SEASICK FISH IS PROBLEM IN YOSEMITE LAKE

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK, Cal., Sept. 20—Preventing a million fish from getting seasick on dry land is the problem with which Ranger Bill Reymann must cope periodically.

Reymanns job is to supervise planting of young fry in Yosemite's lake streams.

The swaying motion of the conveyances causes the fish to become violently ill, polluting the water. The polluted water results in heavy mortality.

Minimize Danger

To minimize this danger, Reymann places the fish on a 36 to 40 hour fast, prior to moving time. If, in spite of the fast, they still become ill, the water must be changed immediately.

Temperature

Temperature, too, has much to do with successful movement of the fish. They die if the temperature of the water rises more than 15 degrees. So Reymann tests the water constantly with thermometers, and if it starts to heat, ice is used to restore the original temperature.

If the melting ice fills the tanks above a prescribed level, the trout smother from lack of air.

Then, with transportation difficuls surmounted, Reymann's technical knowledge is necessary to select proper planting sites. Certain species of trout survive only at certain altitudes. Eastern Brook trout flourish at altitudes over 7,000 feet and golden trout thrive in rarified atmosphere above 8,000 feet elevation.

In spite of the difficulties, Reymann planted more than 800,000 fish in the waters of Yosemite this year.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — The recovery program, in the case of its very first big NRA code—cotton textiles—finds itself back in what look suspiciously like those good old depression days of rugged individualism when employers were being exhorted to "share the work" at the worker's expense.

Hundreds of thousands of mill workers are set to strike. The industry itself is sore. Consumers, indignant at high prices, refuse to buy. The New Deal's brave attempt to make everybody happy seems to be, in this important and embarrassing instance, at least a temporary flop.

The NRA consequently is doing some heavy thinking. What do you do when an industry can't sell its goods? And when the textile worker's average weekly wage drops below $11 as a result of an officially approved curtailment program reducing the maximum work week from 40 to 30 hours?

(In the cotton garment industry, President Roosevelt ordered a reduction to 36 hours with a compensatory 10 per cent wage increase—and the industry is defying him. But the NRA Research and Planning Division reported the cotton textile industry couldn't stand a boost in hourly wages. It even decided the union's demand for a permanent 30-hour week mustn't be granted.)

NRA gets little credit for heavy thinking, as General Johnson has had a way of suppressing its "brain trusters." Economists and statisticians frequently produce figures and facts which NRA is not prepared to admit, because they don't sound nice.

The only way I can prove that this high-powered brain work and fact-facing actually do go on within NRA is to cite a couple of very confidential studies and reports by Victor S. von Szeliski, assistant to Director Leon Henderson of Research and Planning. He helped Dr. Alexander Sachs organize that division in early NRA days, prior to which he was a research economist for the New York Federal Reserve Bank.

"This share the work movement, by which roughly 100,000 additional textile workers were taken on, has become a share-the-unemployment movement," he reports to the NRA hierarchy. "What does it avail the cotton textile worker that his hourly rate is 15 per cent above 1929—on the average—if he only gets 30 hours—or less—of work each week? Workmen have to live on their pay checks, not hourly rates."

UNDER the codes, Von Szeliski continues, manufacturers of cotton, silk and wool now find that consumption has dropped below the levels of March, 1933. Where total cash income has risen but 12.5 per cent, textile prices are up from 30 to 40 per cent.

"Preservation of these high cost mills," he says, "is really the sole achievement of the cotton textile industry."

Low cost manufacturers, he explains, are prevented from manufacturing in quantities at low prices and thus high cost producers can hobble along at the expense of labor and consumers.

The only cure, he insists, lies in big volume movement to consumers, abundant employment and large weekly pay envelopes.

Development of Television Is Complete, Luxury Market Awaited, Engineers Told

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Sept. 20.—Whenever capital decides the luxury market is in for a big upward surge, you'll be able to sit at home and see your favorite musical comedy, A. H. Brolly, San Francisco, Cal., electrical engineer, predicted here recently.

He told the 25th annual convention of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers that the scientist's task of developing television was completed.

Only reluctance of manufacturers to launch a new product is holding up commercial production of television sets, he declared.

The apparatus developed by the institute with which Brolly is associated operates on the same principle as radio. The light, or picture, is changed into electrical impulses, broadcast by short waves, picked up by the receiving set, changed back to light and shown on a screen about a foot square.

The receiving "magic box" appears to be an ordinary cabinet radio. It contains both sound and sight receiving equipment, loud-speaker and screen.

Program selection is accomplished in the same manner a radio progra is chosen—a dial is twisted. The gadgets thus controlled synchronize the light carrying waves and focus the picture on the screen.

Distance of the original broadcast is limited with present equipment, Brolly stated. He explained that etheral carriers of pictures, the extremely short radio wave, go only a short distance beyond the originating point's horizon.

WEST UNION, Ia., Sept. 20 — A peat bed on the farm of Mrs. Laura Darling, three miles west of here, has been burning for five months. The fire now covers more than two acre of farm land. Fall rains are expected to extinguish the fire.

91 Students to Get FERA Aid at Canyon

CANYON, Tex., Sept. 20 — Under the plan of the Federal Educational Relief administration, 91 students of the West Texas State Teachers college here will be given employment enabling thm to work their way through college when teh fall term opens September 18th.

Students to be employed under the FERA plan will be from 41 towns and cities representing practically every county in the Panhandle section of the state. A majority of the students will be entering college for the first time. President J. A. Hill states.

NEA Service Staff Writer

HERE we are, summer gone, the children in school again, winter coming on—and the usual three square meals a day to plan! The season may change the items on the menu—it never gives the housewife a let-up in her daily planning chore.

Well, since we must, let's think about breakfast, dinner and supper. First of all, don't make the mistake of letting your meals grow winterish before they need. Keep fresh fruit and vegetables in star roles as long as possible.

As long as possible, let fresh fruits and vegetables hold first place in the daily fare. Substitute canned vegetables for fresh, if necessary, but see that your children have them to keep their diet well-balanced.

Add Courses for Adults

Menus planned for growing children should be simple. Then for adults, add one or two courses. A soup, canned or home-made, or a salad of fresh fruits or vegetables, will do wonders to dress up a plain meal. Or the addition of home-made relishes or conserves, garnishes or hot baking powder biscuits will furbish up an everyday menu.

There's an advantage to planning a week's menus in advance. The method saves money, time and labor—checks a tendency toward extravagant marketing and does away with that frantic daily worrying about what to have.

And, of course, it makes using up leftovers into a game. A meat pie, timbales, hash or croquettes are planned to take care of the left-overs from a roast. Bread pudding, bread crumb pancakes or a "mockduck" take care of the week's accumulation of stale bread and crumbs. A jellied salad in the middle of the week makes use of the odds and ends of fruits and vegetables.

Monday's Menu

BREAKFAST: Grape, cereal, cream, bread crumb pancakes, honey, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Baked vegetable hash, lettuce and egg sandwiches, peach cottage pudding, milk, tea.

DINNER: Rolled flank of beef, ten-minute cabbage, banana and peanut salad, baking powder biscuit with fresh grape conserve, apple tapioca pudding, milk, coffee.

Cool Weather Helps

Many of the commodities that were purchased in small quantities during warm weather now can be bought in larger amounts without danger of spoilage and waste, and a saving is effected in this way. Watch the markets for bargains to take advantage of special prices made possible by quantity buying.

Study the brands of all the various foodstuffs on the market and find the one that meets your needs and tastes.

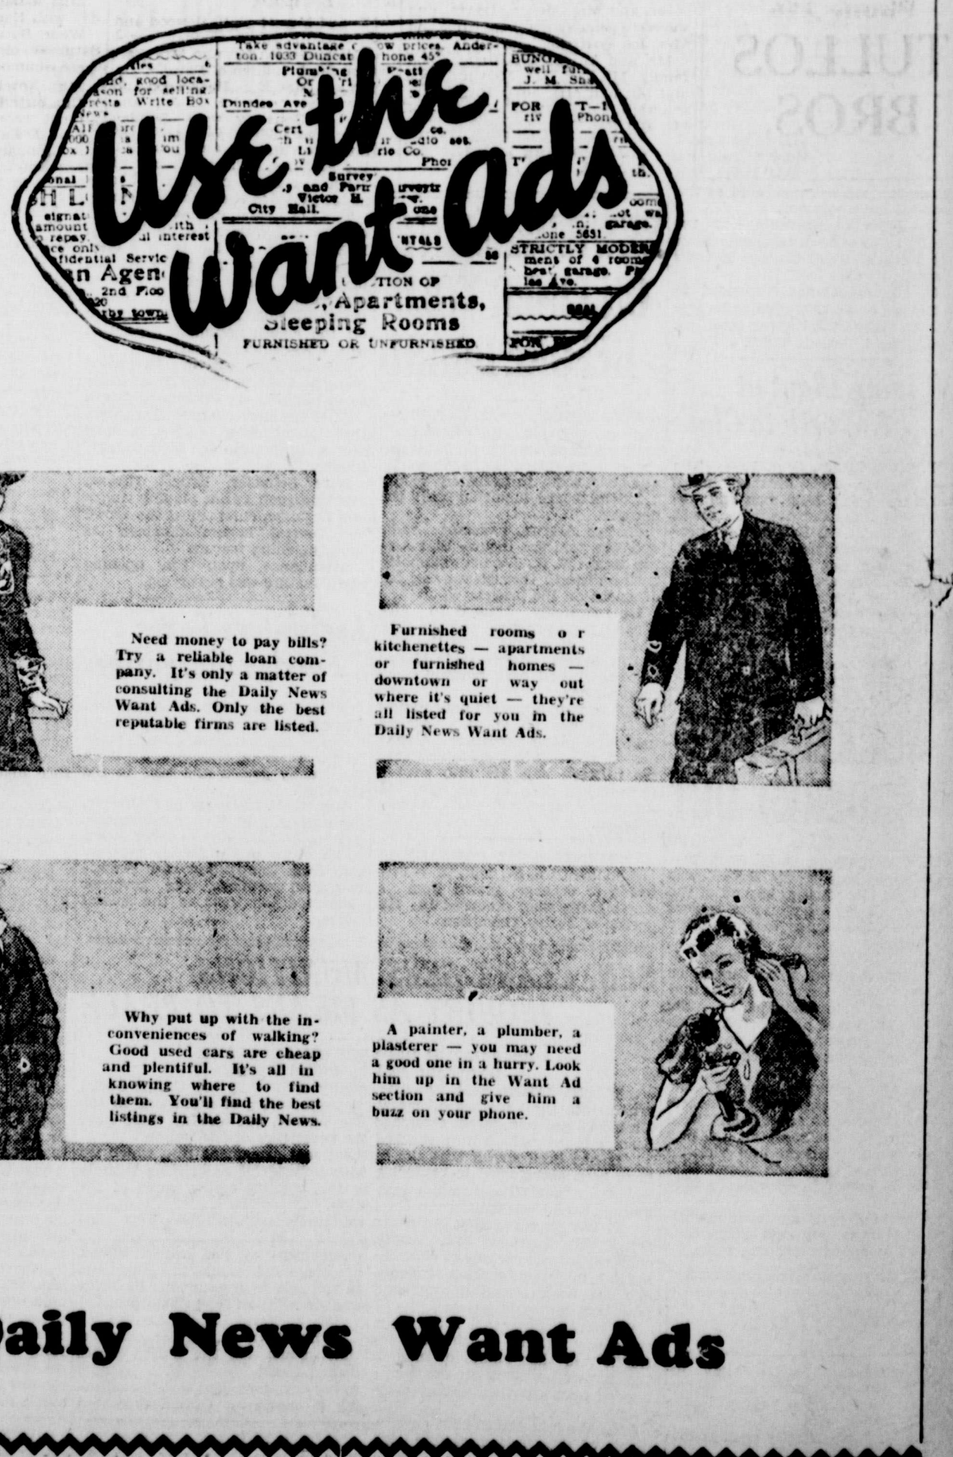

Make the most of every food you serve by attractive garnishing and serving. Simple foods perfectly prepared and served are far more appetizing than elaborate, out-of-season foods haphazardly cooked and put on the table.

Al- though believed to be moderately intelligent, they have had little or no schooling, as most of them lead a hand-to-mouth existence by reindeer herding hunting and fishing.

Of Mongolian origin, they possess straight black hair, oblique eyes, and yellow-brown skin. However, it was said their skin often appears darker, as they reputedly never wash. Men and women are hard to distinguish, as both wear reindeer skin tunics and trousers.

Some Samoyeds have become nominal Christians, but their veneer of Christianity isthin. Many of the natives worship the bear as a divine being in disguise and wear his teeth as amulets.

HOOKS AND SLIDES

BELMONT PARK, L. I.—The $100,000 Belmont Futurity of Sept. 1 will be run down the Widener chute, the $2,000,000 mistake that cuts the infield of this gorgeous track diagonally, like Cupid's arrow through a valentine.

Despite its cost, swelled by the purchase of additional property to make it possible, races run on this seven-furlong straightaway are unsatisfactory to everybody connected with the sport, and are not truly run.

Joseph E. Widener's idea was to accommodate large fields with a minimum of interference. The theory was that crowding would be eliminated with no turns. There would, it was believed, be no reason for it, with jockeys no longer having to contend with that desperate swing for the stretch.

It was thought that the straightaway would permit a view of the race to every spectator in any part of the park. It was pointed out that races around curves permitted the customer to watch only a small part of the running of a number.

Rough Going Shooting the Chute

BUT things on the Widener shoot have worked just the other way.

American-trained thoroughbreds, instructed to run to the left, are at sea on the expansive straightaway. They swerve all over it.

Possibly 20 will start in the Futurity. Each is allowed five feet. That would put the 20th post position 100 feet out on the track.

Imagine the juvenile in that position bearing over to the rail, which he has been taught to do. If the jockey attempts to keep his mount in his lane by pulling on the right rein, he retards the horse. If he doesn't, the budding star barges into flying rivals, causing trouble for himself and others.

The nags sprint at the spectators, who can't tell anything at all about the first half of a race. Every close decision is booed. No matter what the judges, who are in the best position to see, rule, some portion of the crowd objects. It depends on the location.

In order to be any way near accurate, extremely capable chart makers have to view events from widely separated points. One catches the start. Another plants himself at the extreme right end of the enormous grandstand to describe the center of the contention. The third catches the finish from the extreme left end of the stand.

The expensive Widener chute would be discarded had spectators, officials, owners, trainers and jockeys their way.

Costs Money to Start in This One

THE Futurity, the richest race in the world, is at 6½ furlongs, making it the longest 2-year-old event on a New York track this season, as well as the longest down the chute.

All of the purse, save for the $25,000 added by the association, is made up of nominating, starting, and other fees. Babies are nominated before they are born—named through their dams. No fewer than 2000 were nominated at $10 apiece. From then on, there were additional fees, unless owners declared out, with a $1000 starting fee.

Off their brief records, Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane's Psychic Bid and Col. Edward Riley Bradley's Balladier figure to be very much in the scramble in the last pulse-quickening strides; but there are plenty of others, each of which may take the long end. There are the Belair Stud's Omaha, Pitter Pat and Vicaress; Warren Wright's Nellie Flag; Colonel Bradley's Boxthorn; Mrs. Payne Whitney's Plat Eye; Esposa, Rosemont, and some more.

The result of the Futurity has an important bearing on winter books, although corking 2-year-olds don't always maintain the pace at three. Cavalcade and many other brilliant 3-year-olds were only fair at two.

NEBRASKA WILL HAVE ANOTHER STRONG ELEVEN

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 20 — Nebraska, the hardy perennial of football in the Missouri Valley section, apparently is going to bloom again this fall, bear stories from Lincoln and Coach Dana R. Bible notwithstanding.

The Cornhuskers lost 16 seniors last year including the very good George Henry Sauer, and while they will have but one member of last year's powerhouse on hand for the opening game against Wyoming, Sept. 29, there is every indication Bible again will be headman in the Big Six football conference.

Strength in Sophomores

Nebraska's strength lies in last year's team of sophomores. Because the first team usually ran up a sizeable score Bible was able to insert his sophomores. They averaged about half a game each Saturday. Thus, they will start this year with more experience in actual competition than the average second year team.

Bible says he still is looking for someone who can punt like Sauer and John Roby, and rival coaches are hoping he looks in vain.

If Nebraska is upset in the conference, Oklahoma probably will be the team to turn the trick. Coach Lewis Hardage has a team of juniors who learned their football well as sophomores.

Sophs Aided Sooners

Despite their "greeness" last year the sophomore team landed the Sooners near the top of the conference heap, and plenty is expected from them this fall.

Like Nebraska, the Sooners will be a Big Six's exponent in inter-sectional play. Nebraska, in addition to the Wyoming opener will play Minnesota and Iowa in the Big Ten and Pittsburgh of the east. Oklahoma will tackle Centenary, Texas and George Washington.

The Kansas Aggies have a good squad but Lynn Waldorf, formerly of Oklahoma A. and M., will be in his first season. He succeeded Bo McMillin, now at Indiana. Waldorf made a good record in Oklahoma, however, and may get the Wildcats away to a fast start.

Jayhawks Have Fight

Ad Lindsey at Kansas will have a small squad, and while the outlook is not overly bright, many figure the Jayhawkers to make a fight for the third-place berth in the conference standings.

George Veenker at Iowa State will have 12 lettermen and six minor letter winners back and he is expected to produce a capable team. At Missouri Frank Carideo of Notre Dame fame is making a "win or else" stand. Tiger football sank so low the last few years it became a nightmare to the alumni, and Carideo's head was demanded. He finally was given this year to vindicate himself. He has a big squad and probably will rely on his sophomores, his lettermen of the past having done little to bring him great happiness.

WOMAN TEACHER WAS FIRST MANAGER OF "SCHOOLBOY" ROWE

KIRKSVILLE, Mo., Sept. 20—One of Mickey Cochrane's predecessors has arisen to make that grand old gesture traditionally restricted to politics—to point with pride.

And, incidentally, to claim an humble bit of credit for development of that phenomenal young baseball pitcher, Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe.

Its a woman. But that was in the days of way-back-when.

Living the complacent life of a housewife here is Rowe's first baseball manager. She says she helped start Rowe on the path to baseball glory. The woman, Mrs. W. A. Swearengen, piloted the schoolboy baseball team upon which Rowe was the mound ace.

Aside from her managerial duties, Mrs. Swearengen says she lent a sympathetic ear to his troubles when he was in a confiding mood. She helped curb the youthful inclination to "swelled head," when he won so steadily he was singled out for home town acclaim.

It was back in 1925 when Mrs. Swearengen, fresh out of the University of Arkansas, had opportunity to observe Lynwood's potentialities as a baseball player. She became a teacher in the Eldorado, Ark., Junior high school. Rowe was a student.

"And he was a good student," she said. 'I remember that he certainly could write a beautiful hand."

As supervisor of one of the Eldorado playgrounds that summer Mrs. Swearengen was Schoolboy Rowe's first manager. Rowe, tall, freckle-faced, pitched for one of the playground teams. As his ex-manager tells it, he 'burned up the circuit." His team went to the finals for the city championship.

There the "Schoolboy' got his primary lesson in defeat. He lost the title by a close margin. It nearly broke his heart, according to Mrs. Swearengen.

The next Mrs. Swearengen heard of Rowe he was setting the Texas league afire as Beaumont's star pitcher.

COME ALL THE WORLD: Come, and hear, all ye that fear God, And I will declare what he hath done for my soul.—Psalm 66: 16.

Pennywise and Pound Foolish

The Brazos valley conservation bill passed the Texas senate by the unimpressive majority of a single vote. The measure lays a predicate of state cooperativeness upon which to seek a loan from the PWA for a program of flood control, soil and water conservation and power development that will directly affect one-sixth of the area of the state and indirectly the entire southwest. Opposition to the measure revealed a shortsightedness that too often obstructs beneficial programs. It centered about the provision that allows state advalorem taxes in ten of the affected counties to be impounded by these counties as security to help pay off the federal loan. "What Galveston started has spread," exclaimed Sen. Ben Oneal, Wichita Falls, aiming at Galveston Sen. T. J. Holbrook and referring to the remission of state taxes that the legislature voted Galveston county to help it recuperate from the devastation of the great flood in 1901. Oneal should be reminded that it was the legislature that started it, not Galveston. But that is neither here nor there so far as the important issue here is concerned. What is pertinent is the fact that the distinguished and sincere gentlemen from districts outside the Brazos valley area are opposing a program that has for immediate effect the spending of $50,000,000 in Texas and its ultimate purpose the conservation of a great neglected resource and the turning of this resource to a vast project of agricultural, municipal, industrial and power development that will increase the taxable values of the state to a great extent, and that they are opposing such a program on the ground that a few thousands of dollars in advalorem taxes may be diverted temporarily from the state treasury, causing an increase in the taxes paid by other sections.

The prevention of floods on the Brazos watershed is alone sufficient to justify the program. Annually the toll of soil wealth and the waste of latent water power and water resources grows in magnitude. The influence of that program in providing adequate water supplies for municipalities and in building up depleted soil and in the irrigation of crops through dry seasons will mean multiplied values and consequently multiplied taxes to replace the comparatively small amount that is asked to be earmarked in prospect. The benefits of cheaper power and the innumerable other healthful influences arising out of such a development—speaking of the attraction of industrial plants and the increase in population and, hence, in wealth—multiply the reasons why the legislature should do all in its power to secure the federal money that is needed to finance the project. Power revenues are alone calculated to be sufficient to defray the amortization costs.

It is not an inspiring sight to see the sokesmen of one area of the state arraying themselves against the representatives of another on a matter of conservation and development that will increase the wealth and prosperity of the whole state, on the reason solely that the means toward that project involve the disposition of a small amount of taxes and the prospect that this disposition may cause a slight increase in the tax burdens borne by other sections. If the project in mind was not assured of increasing the values of the affected district to a point that would more than offset the remitted levies there would be sound reason for the attitude. It can also be appreciated to some extent why certain of these gentlemen are cautious of precedent. But neither precedent nor lack of it is valuable except some worthy end is involved, and in this case the end is certainly worthy. What helps one part of Texas, helps all. Moreover, the legislature is not surrendering its prerogatives in the matter of taxation, but is merely asked to exert them to a fruitful end. It is hoped that the house will show a larger percentage of regard for the real issue involved. It should be remembered that the taxes in the 10 counties will not be diverted unless a federal loan is obtained, and, also, that they may not be used at all by the Brazos district. The act is primarily one of good faith.

It Can't Be Changed Now

Another reaction against the effects of the Bankhead bill arrives from a rural community south of Cisco. It takes the form of a resolution urging that the bill be amended to provide that the grower planting only one-third his tillable acreage to cotton be exempted from its provisions, while those planting larger percentages be taxed equal to the percentage of their land so planted. The resolution serves to show that the farmers, in the actual process of gathering their crops and while they are enduring the disadvantages of the measure, recognize the need of some sort of control. But the suggestion comes too late. Congress is not in session and, hence, cannot amend the bill. Furthermore, even if it were possible to amend it tomorrow, it is doubtful that the present machinery could be reorganized and the administrative details worked out before the end of the year. Moreover, to change the Bankhead bill at this stage would promote a disgusting confusion. The farmer asked it; he'd best now go along on the horse of his own choosing and decide whether or not to change after he has crossed the stream.

UNDER THE DOME AT AUSTIN

By GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN, Sept. 20.—Dispute of attorney-general James V. Allred's legal right to appear on the Nov. 6 ballot as a candidate for governor, is likely to add more wrinkles and, perhaps, bring a few gray hairs to Henry Owsley, brother of the U. S. ambassador to Rumania.

SHEARER

Owsley's desk in the secretary of state's office, has the duty of certifying ballots. The injunction against certification of a ballot with Allred as the nominee, came just while he was in the midst of other ballot problems. The legal right of the entire republican state ticket to go on the ballot can also be contested. There are two questions that can be raised. One is if there was sufficient compliance with the statute requiring a party that has polled 100,000 votes in the last preceding general election to nominate by primary. The other is if the primary returns were canvassed at the right time and place. The canvass was made in Dallas on Aug. 13. An amendment to the election law directed that the canvass be held at Austin and on August 11.

Communist and socialist tickets for state offices have been filed. The communist party of Texas reported that its ticket, headed by Enock Hardaway, Breckenridge, for governor was nominated at Houston. The socialists reported that at San Antonio they nominated W. B. Starr, Cisco, for governor, and others for statewide offices.

The business of campaign expenditures, raised in the Allred contest, is complicated. How many times the law was violated will never be known. How many know the fact that every person who made any contribution to any campaign is a law violator, if he failed to file a report of it within ten days after the election? The provision is in the law—article 3145. Another article limits expenditure by assistant or county campaign managers to $10 for each 100 voters on the poll limit of the county. Citizen groups are limited to $50 in defraying the expense of local political meetings. Individuals may expend $10 and they may contribute their servces and their traveling expenses.

A letter sent to each of the more than 1,000,000 qualified voters in the state would cost three times the allowable total campaign expense of a candidate.

State Treasurer Charley Lockhart admits he cannot spell the kind of cigaret stamps the state sells through his office for payment of the state tax. When asked to do so, he answered:

"It took me two weeks to learn how to pronounce it. I would not attempt to spell it." The dictionary spells it "decalcomania."

Capitol economy has reached such a stage that Mrs. Coke R. Stevenson, wife of Speaker Stevenson, has had to buy an electric hot plate to heat her husband's shaving water, or make a cup of coffee. Hot water has been cut off the west wing of the building. Lieut. Gov. Edgar E. Witt and the senators still are in the hot water zone.

Ben Allred, brother of the next governor, is stenographer of 126th district court here. In taking notes he uses two pens, alternately. He doesn't wipe one when he finishes with it. He dries it with a lighted match.

In addition to his duties as a member of the house of representatives, Henry C. Kyle, San Marcos, furnishes his home town paper with a signed legislative story.

Former Gov. Dan Moody was overruled by his uncle Judge W. F. Robertson on the admissibility of testimony in a case here. Opposing counsel promised that the relevancy and admissibility of the testimony would be shown by subsequent testimony. If it should not be, he said, the court could instruct the jury to disregard it.

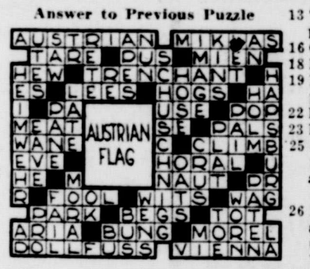

"You might as well throw a skunk into the jury box and tell the jurors to disregard the smell," said Moody.

T. V. A. EXPERTS STUDY BRITISH ELECTRIC PLAN

LONDON, Sept. 20 — David E. Lilienthal, director of the Tennessee Valley Authority, and Llewellyn Evans, chief electrical engineer, have arrived here to study the big British "electricity grid," which is to harness and drive, as a team of nine, all the generating stations in England, Scotland and Wales.

This $135,000,000 "grid" was begun in 1926 and has just been completed though the nine districts will not be physically harnessed together until 1936 when, it is anticipated, all the generating stations and consumers will be converted to the same "standard of frequency," and every corner of the United Kingdom will be able to tap abundant and cheap electric current.

Opportune Arrival

And the Americans arrive at an opportune moment, for the "grid" as a transmission system is now complete, has solved all its numerous problems, and has had its first big breakdown. All of which will prove extremely interesting to Lilienthal.

According to the latter, one of the problems facing the T. V. A. is that of linking together both public and private companies in a mutually harmonious system beneficial to the public.

He will find that the British have achieved something far more complicated than that.

Two Big Groups

Private companies engaged in the production and sale of electric power in Great Britain are divided into two big groups —one consisting of 13 big wholesalers enjoying, for the most part, perpetual franchises, and teh other consisting of a lot of small companies doing a local retail business. Despite an immense amount of complaint from company solicitors, these two groups with very diverse interests have been firmly combined and told to behave themselves.

The aim of the "grid" is to reduce the number of generating stations from 584 (in 1926) to, eventually, about 60 all of which will be top-notch low-cost stations so interconnected that when one gives out, the current flows without interruption from another. These stations are to be connected by 4,000 miles of main transmisison lines. About 2,894 miles carry 132,000 volts, the others 66,000 and 33,000 volts.

By 1935 the "grid" will be loaded to 70 per cent of its capacity, and by 1940 it will reach 100 per cent when the output of electricity, it is estimated, will be 25,000,000,000 units. By that time the system will have cost about $1,250,000,000, the greater part of which will have been raised by the comapnies.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

BOOTS RAEBURN, 18 and pretty, elopes with RUSS LUND, handsome swimming instructor. Russ goes to Miami, promising to send for her later, and Boots gets a job in a New York department store.

Russ does not write. Months pass and then word comes that he has been killed in a motorboat accident.

Too proud to ask her parents for help, Boots struggles on alone. She meets DENIS FENWAY, young author, who introduces her to EDWARD VAN SCIVER and beautiful KAY CHILLINGFORD.

Denis helps Boots get a job in a book shop. She goes to live with FRANCES GAWTRYE, in charge of the shop. Boots' mother comes to see her and begs her to visit her father who has had a stroke. Boots realizes her parents need financial aid.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXVII

BOOTS was curled in one corner of the big couch. In this room with its studio window, its marble mantel and grate in which a red fire glowed comfortably, there were expert touches. Frances had made the linen slip covers with calla lilies on a terra cotta ground. The books that lined the shelves were many and various—poetry and fiction and biography. Frances was interested in child training and "mental health" and there was a full shelf of books on the latter subject. There were chrysanthemums in a deep-mouthed amber vase and the wet wind, stirring the curtains, mingled with the scent of the fire and the tangy, bitter odor of the flowers.

Boots, glancing up from her book and yawning, liked all of it. This was a step up, indeed, from Mrs. Mooney's narrow room with its humpy bed and sagging dresser. Boots liked sharing quarters with Frances, who was equable, amusing and honorable. She liked the long Sundays in the empty apartment when Frances went to spend the day with her married sister in East Orange or with any one of a number of classmates. Frances also had a beau—a tall, serious young man who taught economics at one of the nearby universities and frequently came up for a "binge" of dinner and the theater. It was one of those occasions which Boots was celebrating now with a re-reading of "Jane Eyre" and a supper of bread and milk. Edward was out of town; he had been invited to one of the myriad house parties he was always being bidden to. But presently his voice would be heard on the telephone and Frances would come dashing in. It was good to be alone, to savor all this. . . .

The bell rang shrilly in the stillness and Boots scrambled to her feet, glancing at the clock. Half past 10! Too early for Frances to return from her theater, much too early for Edward to call. His note had said he would be arriving at 11, and that he would telephone her the instant the train got in just to see how she was. That was Edward!

She pressed the buzzer which opened the downstairs door. It might be a telegram or a special delivery letter from Frances' young man. It might be. . . .

Running steps on the single flight of stairs leading to their apartment. A dark, smooth head appearing in the stairwell as the girl, bent double in her lounging pajamas of amber silk, hung over to see who the late caller might be.

SHE drew back, very pale. "Denis!"

It was he. Denis in full evening kit, very handsome and debonair, a stick held in the crook of his arm. Denis with his opera hat crushed in his hand, his white muffler showing.

Their eyes met. He was breathing hard. He had been running but he said easily, "Hello! May I come in?"

The insolence of him, the unqualified impudence of the man! She had not seen him for months—two, three months, at least. Not since he had seen her, unsmiling, to that Easthampton train and had gone back to his Kay. . . .

But politeness triumphed over pride. She said, "Of course, come in."

She was conscious of her tumbled curls, of the empty blue bowl and the ringed tumbler on the teakwood tray, conscious of the dent she had left in the deep tumbled pillows of the couch. For the rest it was all mystery, all enchantment, to have this slim, dark young man here in this autumn room, full of the scent of dying chrysanthemums and crackling fire.

She sat down in the barrel chair, her back braced against its back, and looked up at him. Very deliberately he laid his hat and stick down upon the priceless walnut of Frances' old kneehole desk. Very deliberately he removed his topcoat.

"Nice room!" he approved. Her blood rose. The impudence of the man! Into your life he strode without a by-your-leave!

"I'm glad you like it."

"Cigaret?" He snapped open a wafer thin case of silver and she shook her head in refusal. All this was preliminary to—exactly what?

"I was up this way," Denis said conversationally. "Ed told me the other day where you lived. I've been wanting to see you. . . ."

He'd been wanting to see her! All the air was full of music now, faint and far away, and there was a leaping in her pulses as though rivers of ice had been released. Oh, he had said that; she hadn't dreamed it.

"Well, I've been around," she offered vaguely in the silence. She had resumed her place on the couch now and was curled up, a small Tanagra-like figure in amber silk, her hair a ruffly cloud about her heart-shaped face. The room was a warm, enclosed place, holding a man and a girl with so much unspoken between them. Funny thing, life. One minute you were half asleep, droning over a book, not really caring what happened; the next instant you came alive suddenly at the sound of a voice, the touch of a hand. . . .

DENIS, in the wing chair, scrutinized her coolly. She wasn't dreaming. It was Denis himself, critical as always, assured, faintly mocking. She had dreamed of him often and often in some such attitude, in this very room; she had not expected the dream ever to come true.

"So you're going to marry again?"

She sat up, straight as a ramrod, disdaining the pillows. "Who says so?"

He shrugged. "I heard it."

"And if I am?" There was challenge in her gaze, in the smile she lifted to him. It was, she re-minded him wordlessly, none of his affair.

Denis got to his feet, extinguishing the cigaret in a brass tray at his elbow.

"Oh, nothing," he said moodily. "I always had a sort of feeling I might have steered you into safer waters the other time. Just a sort of grandfather complex, I guess. That's all."

"I can take care of myself," Boots told him airily. He bent a baffled gaze upon her and she felt ashamed. He had taken care of her when she was ill, helpless as a kitten. Why was it that she said these stupid, tactless things to him? She flushed.

"Guess you can," brooded Denis, thrusting his hands deep in his pockets. Silence fell upon the pleasant room, a silence broken only by the fall of a coal in the grate and the hoot of a late-going ship in the nearby river.

"Sorry I was cross," the girl said quickly. "It's nice to see you. Sit down and tell me what you've been doing." She hated herself for wasting these minutes. Presently he would go away and she would bury herself in the pillows and weep her heart out because she had wasted the precious moments in such idiocies.

"Tell me just this," the man pursued, sitting down beside her. "Are you going to marry Edward? He's one of the best, you know—but be sure of yourself this time. You're really such a baby. I feel sort of responsible for you. . . ."

HER hand, slim, long-fingered, the nails rosy as little shells, lay curled on the cushion beside him. Denis picked it up almost aloofly as he might have done to the hand of a child. The warm current of her being flowed into the very center of that rosy palm. Something electric flashed between them. Boots never knew how it happened but suddenly she was in his arms, her bright head crushed against his black-coated shoulder.

It was only for an instant. Stars zig-zagged in their courses and then righted themselves; a gilt-haired girl in amber silk swayed to her feet, facing a tall, very pale young man in evening clothes.

"I don't—don't know what's the matter with me," she said dizzily. "I think we must both be a little mad."

"My fault," he said unsteadily.

The telephone rang stridently in the pause and she flew to answer it. Edward's honest, hearty voice.

"Hello, beautiful."

"Hello!"

"Been a good girl while I've been away?"

"Oh, terribly good." Her eyes sought Denis. He was staring at her moodily and he was frowning.

"What's the matter?" Edward was concerned. "You sound as though you'd been crying or something. Didn't wake you up, did I? I thought I'd drop by for a minute if it isn't too late—"

In panic she interrupted. "Oh, but it is—honestly. Not tonight!"

When she put the instrument back on its cradle Denis had his topcoat on his arm. "That was Ed?"

She nodded.

"I feel like a hound. I'm sorry."

Her eyes fell. "Don't be."

His tone was infinitely gentle. "You and I are set on different paths, child. You go with Edward, I with Kay."

A most delightful re-union of old friends occurred Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Bedford who had for their guests for non dinner, Mrs. J. W. Mancill of Cisco and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rose of Fort Stockton. These five had been friends for years when they all lived in Cisco, Mrs. Bedford having roomed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rose for five years when a Cisco teacher as was also Mrs. Rose. In 1916 Mr. and Mrs. Bedford were marrie dat the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rose at Fort Stockton. A limited railroad ticket to the World's fair at Chicago made it necessary for Mr. and Mrs. Rose to make their visits at Cisco and Desdemona quite short.

Thomas Browning and Curly Lehman who have been at a Conservation camp near Meridian the past month, spent the week-end here with their families.

Dick Hodges of Ranger was here on business Friday.

Friday night at the high school a good crowd gathered to hear a Seth Parker program which was presented under the auspices of the Christian Education board of the Desdemona Methodist church. Those assisting the man who impersonated Seth were: Mrs. D. E. Hoover as Ma Parker and the following who were the neighbors who gathered at Seth's home — Mmes. Bill Parks, Ed Hanson, W. E. Barron, Misses Edra Parks and Ruth Renshaw and Miss Creighton our new primary teacher and T. L. Acrea, Ed Parks, Elmer Abernathy, William Howell, W. E. Barron, Whit Richards. Costumes were quite unique and the singing and acting were good.

The first meeting of the "21" Study club for this club year was held Tuesday, Sept. 11th at the club house which had been beautifully decorated with cut flowers in baskets and vases. Hostesses for the day were Mmes. W. H. Davis, Dave Parks, John Mendenhall and Mattie Henry, who received the members and guests very graciouly. The business meeting was presided over by the 1st vice president, Mrs. A. B. Henslee who was later installed as president. The program was led by Mrs. A. C. Robert. The first number was the introduction of the new officers as follows:

President, Mrs. A. B. Henslee; 1st vice president, Mrs. Mattie Henry; second vice president, Mrs. W. H Davis; recording secretary, Mrs. W. E. Barron; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. F. Heeter, absent on account of illness; treasurer, Mrs. Arnold Anderson; press reporter, Mrs. Dave Parks; parliamentarian and critic, Mrs. C. W. Maltby; fire marshal, Mrs. Plummer Ashburn; federation counsellor, Mrs. W. C. Bedford.

The retiring president, Mrs. Roy Ashburn was absent, she was at the Chicago World's fair but she had left her written mesage which was read by Mrs. Bedford. The incoming president's message was then given by Mrs. A. B. Henslee. The course of study for this year is the "Art of Living" and as a keynote to the course, Mrs. Barron gave a splendid paper on "The Art of Living Beautifully and Happily." The closing number was "Home Sweet Home," variation, played by Mr. Barron on his violin and Miss Nell Robert on the piano. The hostesses then served delicious homemade ice cream and white cake squares decorated in pink. Plate favors were marigolds tied with ribbon of the club colors, green and white. Guests present were Mmes. Claud Lee, Andy Huffman, Hugh Abel, C. A. Skipping, and Z. L. Howell and Miss Nell Roberland Mr. Barron. Members present were Mmes. Arnold Anderson, W. E. Barron, W. C. Bedford, W. H. Davis, A. B. Henslee, A. C. Robert, Dave Parks, Mattie Henry, John Mendenhall, A. C. Moore, Fred Welder, C. W. Maltby, S. E. Snodgrass and Plummer Ashburn.

Miss Latrelle McGuire spent Sunday at Olden with Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Stark.

William Howell and Robert Howell left Tuesday for Dallas to re-enter S. M. U. William will also assume his duties as assistant pastor of Munger Place Methodist church.

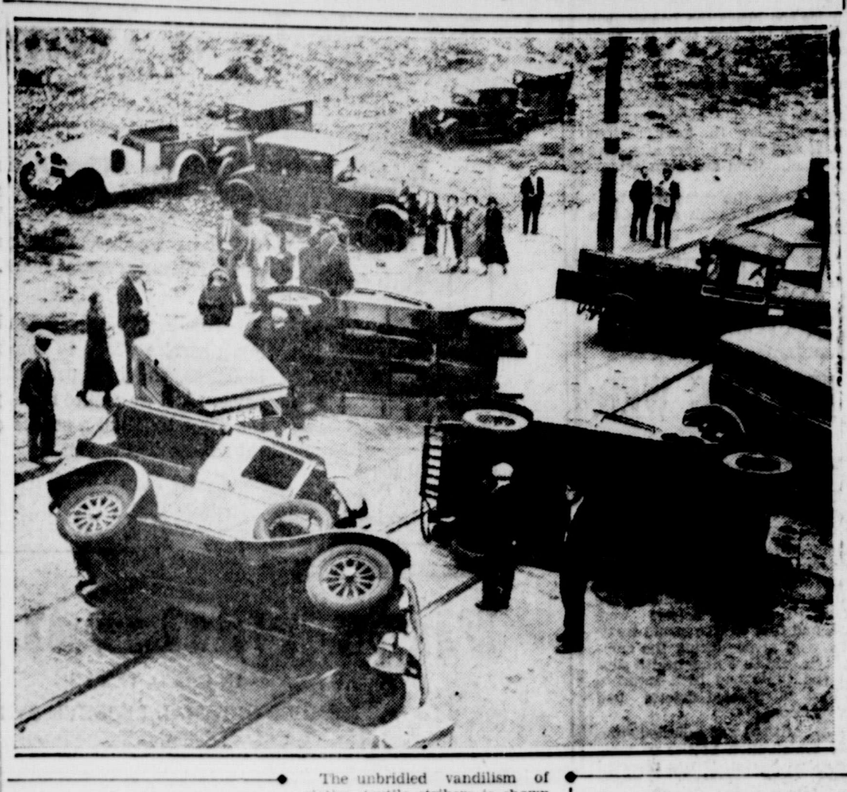

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gallagher of Albany were the week-end guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Nabers.

Desdemona will be well represented at John Tarleton college at Stephenville this year as the following girls left Tuesday to begin their study there: Misses Latrille McGuire Nell Robert, Romalee Wright, Ruth Crenshaw and Ruth L. Riley. A going away party was given for them and others who were leaving at the Methodist church Monday night.

Fred Stover, who has a good office job with the Humble Co., at Houston came in Wednesday to spend his vacation here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Stover. On Friday Rev. Sherrod Stover came in from Fort Worth and on Saturday Carroll Stover who works for the Humble company at Holliday came in so all the brothers except Elmer who lives in Dallas were together Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Snead visited Mr. Snead's parents at DeLeon Friday.

Rhode Island Rioters Vent Fury on Parked Cars

The unbridled vandilism of rioting textile strikers is shown in this scene in Woonsocket, R. I., after the most serious fighting and disorder that has yet developed in the New England textile centers. Automobiles and trucks were overturned, stores and houses wrecked and looted as the rioters stormed through the streets all night. Only the arrival of troops who fired on the crowd, causing the death of one rioter and the wounding of many others, brought an end to mob sway.

CARBON

Our school has been in progress for a week. It opened with an enthusiastic, cooperative spirit and an enrollment of over 300, the largest in the history of the school. Two new teachers have been added, making twelve. Those who talked at the opening were: Rev. Walker, C. S. Eldridge and Mr. Pierce, the superintendent who called attention to some of the improvements that have been made through the summer. The gybnasium has been painted, the cottage painted and papered and the main building has had the inside walls gone over. A new underground cistern is ready for water when it rains and it is planned to put an electric pump to the cistern in the near future.

Rev. Davis and family returned Thursday from Elgin where they were called to the bed side of his mother. She is much improved.

Margaret Wilson, Oleta Martin, Lucile Clark and Red Trailer drove over to Dallas Sunday. Oleta went on to Longview where she will have work. The others returned home Sunday night but had the misfortune of running into another car and damaging their machine.

Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Rogers and daughter, Loyce of DeLeon spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. A. Harrison.

Mr. Adams and children of near Georgetown visited relatives here Saturday night and Sunday.

Grandma O'Brien has been sick for the past few days but is improving.

Arthur Jackson of west Texas is visiting his brother, Dr. T. G. Jackson, and family here.

A. N. Mayhand has been on the sick list but is able to be down town the past few days.

Looks like busines is getting back to normal here again. The cotton gin is running at full blast and the peanut mill has started on full time. Carbon has one of the largest cotton gins in the country and a peanut plant capitalized at $50,000, which is equipped to shell and seperate 30,000 pounds of peanuts per hour.

T. C. Blacklock his son, Claude and family of Fanger were visiting friends and relatives here Sunday.

Mrs. M. M. Carter and son, Truley, visited their son and brother, Truley, Carter, in the Long Branch community Sunday.

Berta Mae Bisbee spent Sunday with Mozelle Howard.

Mrs. W. B. Benett and daughter, Lottie Mae, of Eastland visited Grandma O'Brien here Monday evening.

Bernice Clark of Eastland visited Neoma Woodards here Sunday.

Gwen Clark of west Texas visited Max Jackson Sunday afternoon.

COOK

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Jackson of Ranger spent Sunday with Mrs. Jackson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Porter.

Misses Blanch Walker, Doris Williams, Roy Williams and J. A. Munn were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs Roy Townsend.

Mr. and Mrs. Tillie Gardner and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Davis visited Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gardner Saturday afternoon.

Misses Martha Fay and Melba Gene Kent spent Sunday with Miss Iva and Helen Townsend.

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Allen visited relatives in Nimrod Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Carmichael attended church at Cisco Sunday.

Miss Beulah Walker visited Mrs A. N. Simpson of Nimrod Sunday.

J. E. Walker of Cross Plains visited his brother, A. S. Walker, Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hunt visited Mrs. Hunt's father, Mr. Weathersby, who has been ill, Sunday.

Several from other communities attended the singing at the Baptist church Sunday night. Among the visitors were Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Simpson of Nimrod and Miss Ida Mae Leske.

Mr. and Mrs. Beauford Cozart visited Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Townsend Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Simpson and family and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wagley of Nimrod and Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Carmichael and G. W. Hunt and son, Elbert, visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Walker Tuesday night.

Misses Juanita Townsend, Georgie May Hunt and W. L. Townsend are attending school in Rising Star this term.

WASH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Win Back Pep . . . Vigor . . . Vitality

Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy.

If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount causing burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES of kidney tubes need washing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and vitality, getting up nights, lumbago, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

If kidneys don't empty 3 pints every day and get rid of 4 pounds of waste matter, your body will take up these poisons causing serious trouble. It may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS . . . a doctor's prescription . . . which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief and will help to wash out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes.

But don't take chances with strong drugs or so-called "kidney cures" that claim to fix you up in 15 minutes, for they may seriously injure and irritate delicate tissues. Insist on DOAN'S PILLS . . . the old reliable relief that contain no "dope" or habit-forming drugs. Be sure you get DOAN'S PILLS at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

About Cisco Today

Tea Compliments Bride-To-Be

Cisco friends of Miss Prudence Roberts will be interested in the following news from the Breckenridge American:

"In a lovely tea from 3:30 to 6:30 Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Jennie Roberts announced the coming marriage of her daughter, Prudence, to Mr. Wilson Hart of Eastland. The wedding will take place Oct. 14.

"The guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Pete Jones and were presented to the receiving line which included, Mrs. Roberts, Prudence Roberts, Miss Marjorie Brittain, Mrs. W. A. Hart and Mrs. V. W. Hart of Eastland. Little Barbara Jeanne Sublett attired in green and yellow which carried out the color scheme, presented each guest with a card from a silver tray bearing the inscription, "Prudence-Wilson, Oct. 14."

"The living room was ornamented with huge bouquets of yellow daisies and fern. In the dining room the table was covered with a lace spread with a lighted flower bowl of crysanthemums and ferns for a centerpiece. Mrs. Marshall Spradling and Miss Sue Clark of Cisco presided over the silver coffee services. Miss Rudine Branch served attractive plates which carried out the color scheme of yellow and green. Corsages of crysanthemums and fern tied with yellow and green ribbon were used for favors. Little Barbara Jean Sublett sang, "Old Spinning Wheel", and "Let Me Call You Sweetheart". Piano selections were played throughout the afternoon by Miss Rachel B. McDonald. Before leaving each guest signed her name in a green and yellow brides book. There weer sixty guests called during the afternoon."

due the United States of America by reason of any loan obtained in accordance with the provisons of this act, and in the event no loan and-or grant has been received by said district, as herein contemplated, by January January 1, 1940, then the grand and donation to said district herein provided for shall be null and void. If the grand and-or loan from the United States, herein contemplated has not been received by the said Brazos River Conservation and Reclamation district by September 1, 1935, then the funds and moneys hereby donated to said district shall be paid monthly as collected by the tax collectors of said respective counties to the state treasurer of Texas instead of the treasurer of said district, which funds and moneys shall be impounded by the state treasurer in a special fund until such loan and-or grant is received from the United States, whereupon such funds and moneys shall be delivered by the state treasurer to the treaurer of the said Brazos Valley Conservation and Reclamation district, together with any interest accumulated thereon, in the manner provided, and thereafter in the manner provided, and thereafter the collectors of said respective counties shall begin making monthly remittances, as herein directed, to the treasurer of said Brazos River Conservation and Reclamation district; provided, however, that in the event the grant and-or loan from the United States is not received by January 1, 1940, all of such funds and moneys together with any accrued interest thereon, shall be turned over to the state treasurer and by him placed in the general fund. Etc."

50 Million Asked

The district, Mr. Harrell explained, will ask for a loan of $50,000,000. The $30,000,000 portion will be sought for the construction of 12 major dams and the power plant and the $20,000,000 portion for building the series of smaller dams and projects and conducting the general conservaiton and anti-soil erosion program.

The bill was drawn by the district board at the instance of Congressman Mansfield, who is chairman of the powerful house appropriations committee, who explained that this evidence of state good faith and cooperation is a requisite to federal interest in the project.

Power revenues are expected to pay off the entire loan, Mr. Harrell explained.

by an American munitions firm, and then loaned another naval officer to that power's prospective adversary to plan harbor defenses against those same submarines with guns furnished by another American munitions maker.

We have heard the heads of one of our greatest munitions firms, one which amassed profits of hundreds of millions of dollars in the last war, smugly prate of their patriotism and give utterance to the same old propaganda of hate which led us into that war in which we were involved largely for the protection of munitions makers' profits.

Inquiry Not Limited

The business of this committee is to get at the facts and present them to the senate and the American people. This duty the committee intends to carry out without fear or favor.

Current stories that the committee's activities are to be limited or circumscribed by anyone whomsoever are utterly without foundation in fact.

There is no authority which can limit the scope of the investigation except the body which authorized it—the United States senate itself.

The very great interest which is being manifested throughout the nation and indeed throughout the world in the progress of the investigation and the rising demands of liberal forces for similar examinations of the skeletons in their own closets afford very solid grounds for the hope that this investigation may contribute greatly to exposing this whole sordid picture and help in the prevention of war by contributing to the removal of one of its fundamental causes—the opportunity for private profit.

PATENTS OFFERED JAPANESE NAVY

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 20.—John E. Young, president of the Federal Laboratories, Inc., Pittsburgh, testified today before the senate munitions committee that he offered in 1932 to sell tear gas patents, manufacturing processes and formulae to the Japanese navy.

Evidence that U. S. munitions salesmen offered to train an entire South American army in chemical warfare tactics also was obtained by the senate investigators.

Agents for an Ohio gas and bomb factory, it was learned, sought to equip one South American nation with modern poison gases, and agreed to include in the contract a provision for instruction of officers and troops.

The American salesmen also offered to build factories in the country to manufacture gas and bombs. Meanwhile, investigators said, a rival American firm traded extensively in other South American nations.

Loboes---

Powerhouse

Behind them at full-back will be Caffrey, powerful 175-pound veteran, and one of the best blockers ever to have been seen in the oil belt. Caffrey's talents are not confined to that department but embrace almost every phase of the game. He runs, plunges and passes with a power that will greatly re-enforce what is otherwise an average team.

The game, originally scheduled for the afternoon, has been transferred to the night to allow for the larger attendance that will be possible at that time. Admission is 25 and 15 cents.

Under the kleigs the Loboes will appear for the first time in their revolutionary 1934 garb, in which a practically solid black has been substituted for the former practically solid gold of the school's colors. Gold numerals and gold strips on the pants will relieve the black, so that what is said to be a very attractive color combination has been achieved.

Officials for the game will be J. D. Vernon, Bill Smith and Clyde Wilkins.

The Parent-Teacher association held its first meeting of the new schol year at the west ward school Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. D. Ball, president, presided.

Mrs. Charles Yates, named health chairman to succeed Mrs. A. L. Myrick, reported that 40 children were examined b ythe clinic at the summer roundup, 88 defects were found, and that 55 free serum treatments were given during the summer. She said that nine health slips from the clinic had been returned and that 16 detected defects had been corrected.

A total of $9.50 was collected from penny contribution bottles in various business houses, it was reported by Mrs. Alsup, treasurer. These bottles collect pennies which are placed in the free milk fund of the P.-T. A. They will be replaced Saturday, Mrs. Alsup said.

Mrs. H. L. Dyer was named chairman of the ways and means committee.

Program

Program for the meeting included a violin solo by Marion Bruce, and a talk by Supt. R. N. Cluck on "What Is Best for the Child."

A 100 per cent attendance of west ward teachers was reported. Four mothers were present from the grammar school and three from the high school.

Dues of the members were reduced from 50 to 35 cents.

Following was the record of collection by penny bottles in the various business houses as reported by the treasurer:

Manhattan cafe, 18; Edwards cafe, 43c; Buckhorn cafe, 58c; Magnolia service station, 21c; Red Front Drug, 21c; Savoy cafe, 82c; Dean Drug, $1.945 J. C. Penney, 99c; Uu-Way Beauty shop, 9c; Coper cafe, 26c; Osborns bakery, 59c; Laguna Coffee shop, $1.47; Ideal Sandwich shop, 15c; Miller-Lauderdale, 60c; Moore Drug, 21c and Leaches, 81c.

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., Sept. 20—Remembering the advice of a friend that by using a putter the ball will hold the green better on a short hole Charles Haddock Jr., drove with the unorthodox club and scored an ace on the 147 yard 16th at Stanley course.

THREE INJURED WHEN TOURIST AUTO WRECKS

Two women and a girl, members of a tourist party of four, were in Graham sanitarium this afternoon for treatment for injuries sustained when their machine, a 1928 model Buick sedan, wrecked about four miles west of Cisco on Highway No. 80 at noon today.

Worst injured of the three was Mrs. A. B. Culp, 36, of San Diego, Cal., who received a severe cut across the forehead, extensive cuts under the chin and on the right knee as well as numerous body bruises and a possible fractured arm.

Hospital attaches said that no X-ray examination had been made of the victims early in the afternoon, but that physicians were of the opinion that no internal injuries nor skull fractures were present. All victims were under observation for possible development of more serious hurts, however.

Mother and Girl

A mother, Mrs. L. Z. Barrows, 39, of San Francisco, Cal., and her 14-year-old daughter, Mariellen, were the other two victims. Each had cuts about the face and body bruises of extensive character.

All of the victims were expected to recover, however.

The fourth and practically uninjured member of the party, Leon Vance Barrow, San Diego, Cal., driver of the car, expressed the opinion that failure of the steering gear caused the machine to plunge off the road and into a deep ditch beside the highway at a point about 100 yards west of the McCanlies service station. The car was said to be almost a total wreck. The driver said his address was 3764 Arnold street, San Diego. He was not registered at the hospital for treatment.

The party was traveling west, reported to have been returning from the World's fair at Chicago to their homes.

Green's ambulance responded to a call but found that passing motorist had loaded the injured into cars and brought them to Cisco.

Canning Plant at Ft. Worth to Close

FORT WORTH, Sept. 20 — The government's beef canning plant here, employing 1,555 men and women, will be closed down in about tow weeks, H. H. Hester, local projects engineer, announced today.

The plant was ordered closed by C. Z Crain, federal commodities distributor, at Austin. Crain said that the cattle-buying program for Texas had been completed.

20,000 OTHER WORKERS ARE ORDERED OUT

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 20—The nationwide textile strike was extended into another branch of the industry today when union leaders ordered 20,000 dyers to leave their jobs Monday.

The call was issued by Francis J. Gorman, national strike leader, as Sec'y of Labor Frances Perkins and Chairman John Winant of the mediation board conferred with President Roosevelt at Hyde Park, N. Y., on means of settling the dispute.

An approaching climax in the general textile strike was indicated.

Massachusetts guardsmen were mobilized at Easthampton. A new outburst of sabotage and violence was reported in Rhode Island. Mill workers' homes in Providence were stoned.

Picketing regulations were modified in Georgia, but state troops continued to guard reopening mills.

Austria Prepares For Nazi Outbreak

VIENNA, Austria, Sept. 20—Reports that another nazi outbreak impends, which might result in Austria's third civil war this year, caused the government to take extraordinary arms precautions Saturday.

Heavy concentration of Austrian military forces were massed on the Jugo Slavian frontier as a precaution against a putsch from more than 2,000 Austrian nazi refugees interned in the neighboring country, the United Press learned.

BEWILDERMENT ON LINER TOLD BEFORE BOARD

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 — A bitter, harshly drawn picture of a bewildered master and officers on the bridge of the flaming steamship Morro Castle was given today in testimony before a federal board inquiring into the disaster.

George Alagna, assistant radio operator, told the inquiry that Acting Capt. W. F. Warms stumbled back and forth through a dense fog of smoke on the bridge.

He repeatedly refused to give Alagna orders to send out the SOS radio call at a time when the ship was in flames, Alagna said. Alagan believed it had been burning more than an hour.

The captain appeared not to know "what it was all about," Alagna said, and didn't recognize Alagna despite the fact the operator wore his officer's cap. He also gave a meaningless reply of "All right," to Alagna's request for orders, Alagna testified.

Bands Raid Three Towns in Mexico

MONTERREY, Mexico, Sept. 20 — Federal soldiers pursued two bands of men, who, it was believed, failed only because of a miscarriage of plans to start a revolution in Coahuila, Nuevo Leon and Tamaulipas, states bordering on Texas.

In a sudden dash the bands caputred the towns of Hualahises, Linares, and Montemorelos, killing seven persons, wounding more than 20, liberating all persons in one jail and, it was reported, robbing banks and levying contributions from merchants.

The bands fled to the mountains.

ALLRED FILES ATTACK UPON EXPENSE CURB

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 20.—James V. Allred today attacked the constitutionality of the Texas statute limiting campaign expenditures of a candidate for governor to $10,000.

Attorneys for the attorney-general filed a brief in district court here in the suit brought to prevent Allred's certification as democratic candidate for governor on the grounds that his expenditures in the primaries exceeded statutory limits.

The brief contended the statute was unconstitutional because it commits to courts the power to determine whether a candidate is eligible to have his name on a ballot and because it invades the right of the legislature by seeking to limit the right of a citizen to hold office.

Allred asserted that a private citizen cannot be deprived of public office by civil action.

Meanwhile a hearing on appeal from a temporary order holding up Allred's certification as his party's nominee was started in the fourth court of civil appeals. Contending counsel presented arguments with no time limit set.

EASTLAND FAIR INITIATED BY CISCO PROGRAM

A large number of Cisco people attended the opening program at the Eastland county fair last night when the Cisco chamber of commerce provided the entertainment.

The Lobo band, directed by G. W. Collum and introduced by Sec'y J. E. Spencer of the chamber in a brief speech in which he expressed the pleasure of Cisco at being able to cooperate with its sister county towns in such a program, started off the eighth annual exposition with a 30-minute concert.

The platform was in its usual place, at the rear of the Texas State bank building on Commerce street.

After the band concert there were three numbers—a reading, a song and a tap-dance—by Miss Margie Linder.

Harry Schaefer, Ernest Hittson and Spurgeon Parks, playing violins and a guitar, entertained the crowd with several "hokum" numbers as the concluding feature.

Attendance upon the opening night feature was gratifying.

Legislature Taxes Foreign Margarines

AUSTIN, Sept. 20 — Authorization of a ten cent per pound tax on Oriental oleomargarines was made by the Texas legislature today in a bill finally passed and sent to the governor.

Rep. A. B. Tarwater of Plainview, the author, said similar movements were to be instituted in other states in an effort to bar foreign margarines from competition with American farm products. The governor submitted the topic to the special session.

Appeal For Raymond Hamilton Is Filed

AUSTIN, Sept. 20—An appeal for Raymond Hamilton, desperado now at large, from a death penalty assessed him in Walker county for the slaying of Prison Guard Major Crowson, was filed Tuesday in the court of criminal appeals here.

Crowson was slain during Hamilton's escape from the Eastham state prison far in January. Hamilton was recaptured but escaped from a death cell in July.

SEN. CLARK SEES MUNITIONS INQUIRY AS MEANS TO PEACE

By SENATOR BENNETT CHAMP CLARK

(Copyright, 1934, by United Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—The inquiry ordered by the United States senate into the activities of private manufacturers of munitions in the United States has barely scratched the surface, but already there have been discloures which have shocked the conscience of the nation.

It has been shown that the international armament ring which we have been accustomed to regarding with holy terror as existing entirely in foreign lands has ramifications in this country among some of the most powerful corporations in the nation.

It has appeared that American munitions manufacturers have conspired with European and Asiatic concerns for the purpose of controlling the munitions market throughout the world, creating armament races and formenting wars.

We have learned that bribery is a customary incident of the munitions traffic and that names of men in the highest positions are commonly bandied about in their selling campaigns.

We have ascertained that governments of the world, including the government of the United States, are commonly employed as agencies in the sale of instruments of death and devastation for private profit.

Striker Down; Captor on Alert

Clubs, bullets, and gas hurled back strikers and their sympathizers in the textile strike riot in Saylesville, R. I., and a national guardsman here is shown with club poised over one attacker who has been felled in the rush. Martial law was declared as more than 3000 mill workers and their supporters waged a savage conflict with the troopers.

Loboes Ring Up 1934 Curtain Friday Night

The Cisco Loboes tomorrow night will ring up the curtain on their 1934 football season with their traditional first-game rivals, the Gorman Panthers, furnishing the opposition at Chesley field. Coaches Shelley and Hodges will present a team built around a nucleus of seven lettermen and weighing a fair average of the heft high chool teams over the state under the eight-semester rule.

P.-T.A. HAS CONCESSION

The West Ward Parent-Teacher association will have the concession for drinks and confections at the football field Friday evening, it was announced by Mrs. H. L. Dyer, chairman of the P.-T.A. ways and means committee. Proceeds will be used to buy milk for needy children.

The center of the line will give some resemblance to a valley between bluffs, but a veteran center in Littlepage, who tips the beam at 160, and a believed "find" in 140-pound Reuben Wende at one guard are expected to offset the apparent disadvantage of this lack of weight. Wende is acquitting himself with honors, in both the matters of headwork and fight, on the practice field and the coaches have him down for a starter tomorrow night. How long he stays in the game will depend upon his playing fulfills its promise.

Other Starters

Next to him at left tackle is Theron Graves, letterman of last year's team who weighs 160 pounds. Merkett, 155, also a last year letterman, will start at right guard. Littlepage at center and Wende at right guard have been noted. Thomas Graves 160, gets the starting assignment at right tackle an dat right end George Sledge, another 160-pounder, will have opportunityto prove whether or not he should be a regular in that position.

The backfield starting nominations list an assignment of letterive Stansbury, whose 125-pounds men with the exception of dimuniare laden with the responsibility for generalling the squad. Flanking him will be Beasley errastic speedster of last year's ill-fated eleven whose added year and experience are expected to have seasoned him into an effective ball-carrier, and Shackelford, who carried the 1933 team's most effecitve goal line punch. Beasley will perform at right half and Shackelford at left.

Leaves Growing On Tree Army Flagpole

FORT WORTH, Sept. 20 — A 70-foot cottonwood tree which was cut down and set up as a flagpole at the camp headquarters of the Lake Worth C. C. C. camp refuses to die. The stub of the tree is leafing out.

Not to be outdone by its bigger brother, one post for the volleyball net also has started branching out.

BETTING LAW REPEAL RACES WITH SESSION

AUSTIN, Sept. 20.—Repeal of the pari mutuel race track betting law in Texas was off today in a race with time.

The Texas house of representatives by vote of 63 to 47 ordered the bill mimeographed. It must wait 24 hours after mimeographed copies are placed on members' desks before it can be acted upon.

Then it must be acted upon twice on separate days unless the author can get a two-thirds vote to suspend the rules.

It it finally passes the house this week, it still has to go down the home stretch of the senate. The session expires automatically at Tuesday midnight, unless clocks are turned back.

SENATE DECLARES NO NEED FOR NE WSESSION

AUSTIN, Sept. 20. — The Texas senate today adopted a resolution advising Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson that in its opinion no need exists for a fourth special session of the legislature.

The vote was 21 to 2. The same vote indirectly indexed the senate opposition to any bills proposing the creation of a new oil and gas commission. An extra session had been proposed to study the need for a new commission.

The Pope bill remitting interest and penalties on delinquent taxes was shunted to a sub-committee of the senate for revision and amendment.

Pollard Testifies In Own Defense

AUSTIN, Sept. 20 — Claude Pollard, former attorney-general of Texas and former president of the Texas Bar association testified in his own defense today in 126th district court, denying consent to use of counterfeit cigaret stamps.

Pollard took the stand after a long list of judges, lawyers, a congresman, and business men had told the jury of his reputation, first assailed in the indictment against him here.

As they left the stand, many witnesses passed for a handclasp as they passed Pollard.

Russia Voted Seat Upon League Council

BENEVA, Switz., Sept. 20 — Admission of Soviet Russia to the League of Nations was voted formally Tuesday by the assembly. The assembly also voted Russia a permanent seat on the council. The vote on admission was 30 to 3, those voting not including Portugal. Seven nations abstained from voting., including Switserland and Argentina.

PUSH SEARCH FOR KILLER OF AGED FARMER

POOLVILLE, Parker County, Texas, Sept. 20.—Officers of Wise and Parker counties rounded up suspicious characters today as the search for the slayer of Joe Pickens, 76, wealthy farmer, increased in intensity.

Two suspects were taken into custody at Bridgeport for questioning and another was held by authorities at Booneville.

Officers of Decatur, Rhome, Springtown and surrounding communities deployed over the countryside in an effort to develop something from the meager clues concerning the burglar who shot Pickens as he lay in bed at his home last midnight.

Mrs. Pickens and two daughters gave possemen the only clues they had. They said the burglar entered the bedroom where all were sleeping, demanded money and then shot the elderly farmer.

Apparently frightened by what he had done, the killer, masked in a red handkerchief, fled on foot in the direction of Bridgeport.

H. Brandon Rotary Club Speaker Today

Principal H. Brandon of the Cisco high school was the speaker today for the Cisco Rotary club luncheon in a program which observed Constitution Week.

The origin of the organic law of the land, the serious questions that beset the fathers as they deliberated upon its framing and the remarkable success that the document proved as the basis for the American national development were pointed out by the speaker. He drew particular attention to the fact that over a period of almost 150 years only 11 amendments have been added to the document. Ten of the 21, he explained—the so-called "bill of rights" of the American people — were added upon its adoption in 1789.

He declared that the constitution as it exists today, consists not merely of the document itself, but incoporates all the body of national lawthat has been legally erected upon it, as well as the interpretations of the supreme court and the treaties entered into between the United States and other nations, all of which is just as binding as the constitution itself.

Visitors were Charles Kleiner, a guest of H. D. Gorham, and Lonnie Shockley, a guest of J. B. Cate.

Pretty Boy Floyd Is Still In Papers

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 20 — Charles "Pretty Boy" Floyd, who apparently retired from active competition a year or so ago and permitted his title of No. 1 bad man of the Southwest to go to others by default, still breaks into the news now and then when persons report seeing him.

His wife, Ruby, who is making crime pay by appearing at theaters and telling folks that it doesn't pay, refuses to discuss her husband and say she hasn't heard from him in a year. Police place little credence in reports that he is dead.

One recent story, told by a Pawhuska, Okla., woman, was that she and a companion picked up a bent old lady along an Oklahoma highway and gave her a ride to the outskirts of Oklahoma City. As the woman alighted she asked the name and address of the driver. A few days later the woman received a postcard. The note said:

"Thanks for the ride Pretty Boy Floyd."

Sending post cards is an old custom with Floyd. When he was named in connection with the Union Station massacre here he wrote a note to police assuring them he had no part in the machine gunning of the five men. He frequently, in his active days, sent cards to Oklahoma police.

Production of Fords Doubles During '34

DETROIT, Sept. 20 — Ford Motor company world production for the first eight months of 1934 was about double that of the same period last year, it was revealed Monday.

From Jan. 1 to Sept. 1 of this year all Ford plants, foreign and domestic, built 696,070 cars, against 352,405 in the same period of 1933, a gain of 97 1-2 per cent.

Production of Ford plants outside the United States gained 68 per cent.

FROG IMITATED JONAH

SALEM, Ore., Sept. 20 — A living frog was found in the stomach of a snake killed here. When liberated the frog at first appeared to be dead. In a few minutes, it opened its eyes, jumped into a nearby pond and swam away.

Heiress Is Found On Waitress Job

A missing heiress who says she has learned a lot about hamburgers, Miss Janet Bowen White, 21, above, was found working in a roadside restaurant near Coldwater, Mich., ending several days' hunt for her after she left Michigan University summer school on the eve of tests. Daughter of a wealthy Detroiter, she said she wanted to earn her own way.

TAX REMISSION IS GOOD FAITH FEATURE, SAYS

Approval yesterday by a house committee at Austin of the Brazos valley conservation bill, which the senate passed 13 to 12, drew an explanation today from F. E. Harrell, Brazos valley conservation board member, that the tax remission feature of the bill so contested in the senate, does not provide for remitting the taxes unles at least a $30,000,000 loan is obtained from the federal government.

The bill, Harrell explained, is an evidence of state good faith as a basis on which to ask the federal government for the loan which will be used in building 12 big dams and about 50 smaller ones on the Brazos watershed and carrying out a flood control, agricultural, municipal, industrial and power development project covering one-sixth the state's area.

One Per Cent

The state taxes to be paid into the Brazos Valley reclamation district fund from the counties affected as security for the repayment of a federal loan, would amount to only about one per cent of the entire loan, said Harrell. The law would not become operative unless the loan is obtained, and the provision is limited to a period of 20 years.

In ten counties all state advalorem taxes will be remitted or impounded while in other affected counties stated percentages of such taxes will be remitted or impounded, the percentages being based on the extent to which the conservation program affects those counties. All are located along the lower course of the Brazos.

Governs Disposition

Section 7. None of the money hereby donated and granted to teh said Brazos River Conservation and Reclamation district shall be paid over to said district as herein provided for unless and until said district shall have first received from the United States of America a grant and-or a loan aggregating not less than thirty million dollars; provided, however, that a legal commitment from the United States of America for cuh a grant and-or loan shall be construed as the receiving thereof, such a grant and-or loan to be used for the purposes for which said district was created, and in accordance with the provisions of this act, and the granted may be used in connecfunds hereby donated and ed with the funds so obtained from the United States of America for the purposes herein set out, or may be used to repay the principal and or interest

LINDY CASE IS REPORTED TO BE "BREAKING"

BULLETIN

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 —Police announced today that the Lindbergh kidnaping mystery was "cracked" with the arrest of Bruno Richard Hauptmann on charges of being the recipient of the $50,000 that was tossed over a cemetery wall in the Bronx in an effort to recover the Lindbergh baby.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 — The Lindbergh kidnaping mystery appeared to be "breaking" late today with the arrest of three suspects and the reported recovery of $35,000 ransom money.

The most famous federal and state investigators assigned to the Lindbergh case gathered hurriedly in the Greenwich police station and questioned suspects.

Reports were that the case was broken through identification of a $10 bill tendered by an autoist for payment of gasoline.

Police said that one man had been linked to the ransom money, which they alleged was found under a concrete floor in his home. It was said that a man who had been questioned all last night "broke" this morning and gave the police important leads on the case.

Viewed by "Jafsie"

The police report was that a taxicab driver who drove the man to a Bronx cemetery on the night he received the Lindbergh money for Dr. J. F. (Jafsie) Condon, intermediary in the case, had identified the suspect. Condon paid over $50,000 while Lindbergh waited in an automobile nearby. The body at that time was already dead and it was not known whether the man who got the money had anything to do with the abduction.

The arrests climaxed a series of mysterious maneuvers of police which began with the arrival at the Greenwich street police station of J. Edgar Hoover, of the United States department of justice; H. Norman Schwartzkopf, of the New Jersey state police, and Lieut. James Finn, undercover operative assigned to the Lindbergh case exclusively.

New York Police Comm'r John O'Ryan also came to the Greenwich street station, lending further support to reports than an "important break" in the case was imminent.

Midgets Will Play Boy Scout Eleven

The Midgets of the grammar school, football team, will play a team from Troop No. 4 of the Cisco Boy Scouts tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, it was announced today. The game will be at Chesley field.

Committee Demands Basic Bank Reform

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 20—The senate banking committee Monday demanded basic reform of America's "arachaic" banking system in a report that condemned group banking practices.

The report was based on the committee's investigation into banking in Cleveland, O., and Detroit, an analysis of which was published several months ago.

Inquiry into the Union Trust company of Detroit and the Guardian Trust company of Cleveland was declared to show the weakness of the whole commercial banking structure.

33 CANDIDATES DRILLING FOR MIDGET TEAM

Practice sessions for the Grammar Schol Midgets will be held each afternoon in an effort to get the team into shape for the season's campaign as early as possible, it has been announced. Thirty-three grid candidates answered the first call for training last Tuesday and have ben working out daily since then.

Most of the boys are inexperienced, according to Frank Langston, grammar school coach, and it will be necessary to rebuild the entire team. The team was hard hit by graduation, last year's entire starting lineup going to high school.

A reserve backfield, held over from last season, was considered as a likely set of ball toters for this year, but the quartet has failed to materialize, only one of them, Gray, having returned to the present squad. He may likely be used along with Warren, Qualls and several others promising candidates.

The team will necessarily be light and may use a passing attack a its chief offensive weapon. Preston, husky end and center of last season may be shifted to the backfield to help with the passing and kicking.

At the ends Fleming, a letterman, and Holder have been showing up well. Cone, Vick, and Coffee have handled the work at the tackles, and Stewart, McCanlies, and Donovan have been in good early-season form at the guards. Latch and Boyd have been battling it out for the pivot position, the former showing up well on offense and the latter on defense. Most of the work so far has been drills in fundamentals, but by next wek the squad will probably be ready for harder work of a more detailed nature. Kicking and passing are due to get a lot of practice.

Football was given an enthusiastic welcome last fall when it was returned to the grammar school as a part of the physical education program. Its aim has been to develop the physique, cooperation, courage and ideals of the boys themselves rather than strong contenders among junior high school team of the state.

CHEVIGNY WILL SHOW VALUE OF ROCKNE STYLE

By RICHARD M. MOREHEAD
United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN, Sept. 20 — Coach Jack Chevigny, protegee of Notre Dame's famed Knute Rockne, started at the University of Texas this month to show the sports world that Rockne style football is not a dead issue.

Texas' new coach has answered criticism that the Rockne defense is helpless before forward passes with the announcement that the regulation seven-man line, four-man zone secondary, would be used to stop the passes and charges of opposing teams.

This year marks Chevigny's debut in the Southwest conference. He came to this section last year to coach St. Edwards university of Austin to their first Texas conference championship. A forward pass was responsible for the only touchdown scored against St .Eds in the conference last season.

Many believe Chevigny will be forced to change his defense against Coach Ray Morrison's air-minded Southern Methodist university Mustangs. Morrison's teams have been notably successful against Rockne style defense, even at Notre Dame when the nation's late No. One coach was at his height.

Depend on Offense

Texas will depend on offense rather than defense to win its games. Under the revised rules of forward passing, permitting successive incomplete passes without penalty and allowing incomplete passes to fall over the goal line without losing the ball, Chevigny expects to provide an attack that will be both colorful and effective.

The new rules make possible a wider range of ground plays by presenting a greater puzzle for the defending team. The Texas coach further insists on versatility in his backfield, and insofar as possible will further befuddle the opposition with four triple-threat backs, all of whom must be able to lead interference and block.

Whether Rockne football at Texas is successful or not, it is certain the Longhorns will see plenty of that style this year. Their opening game is with Texas Tech at Lubbock, where Pete Cawthon teaches this system. The following week-end, Chevigny will introduce a new custom in this section when the Texas varsity and freshmen play a regulation game.

The climax of Texas' non-conference season will come Oct. 6, when Texas meets Notre Dame at South Bend, in the nation's featured game of the week.

Holley Bound Over In Brother's Slaying

FORT WORTH, Sept. 20 — Lee Holley, 36, Monday was bound over to county grand jury after a justice of peace hearing into charges he fatally stabbed his brother, H. M. Holley, 40.

HAD RECORD APPENDIX

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Sept. 20—Robert Freese, 12, does have an operation worth talking about. When he went under an operation for appendicitis at the hospital here, physicians found his appendix to be 12 inches long — a new record for appendixes at the local hospital.

COLLIE CASTS ONLY NEGATIVE VOTE ON C. R. A.

AUSTIN, Sept. 20 — Texas legislatures began the third week of their special session Monday with a fast-moving program that carried the Colorado river authority bill to final passage in the senate.

Sen. W. B. Collie of Eastland cast the only vote against the bill to create a public authority to vitalize a $4,500,000 PWA loan for completion of the Buchanan dam on the Colorado river.

The legislature confidently expected to complete the special relief bill and provide at least $5,000,000 for winter aid this week.

House leader thought that the house would finally accept the million-dollar cut by the senate but they were less hopeful that the senate budgeting of expenditure to last through February would be acceptable.

It was generally expected that the amendments would be rejected with a request for a conference committee to harmonize the difference.

40 Million Barrels Wanted for Export

AUSTIN, Sept. 20—Formal notice was given the state railroad commision Monday that 40,000,000 barrels of oil is wanted for the east Texas field for export to Japan, China, England and Germany.

Pa. Bank Robbed of $35,000 by Four Men

HAWLEY, Pa., Sept. 20 — Four bandits robbed the Hawley bank of $35,000 Tuesday.

They held Charles Houck, cashier, and Thomas Oldfield, teller, at bay while they took the money.

The bandits sauntered up to the teller's window. Then one whipped out a pistol and covered Oldfield. The others drew guns and lined the two bank officers against a wall.

No shots were fired.

"ALL-BRAN WILL ALWAYS BE A PART OF MY DIET"

Delicious Cereal Corrected His Constipation

If you suffer from constipation, read this fine letter:

"I have been troubled for years with constipation. During this time, I have tried almost every known remedy. Then some one recommended eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, and the proper results followed immediately.

"Since eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN each morning, there has been a general improvement in my health without the ill effects that I formerly experienced when taking laxatives. Hereafter, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN will always be a part of my diet."—Mr. E. G. Himes, 1201 E. 7th St., Los Angeles, Calif.

Research shows Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to aid elimination. ALL-BRAN also supplies iron for the blood.

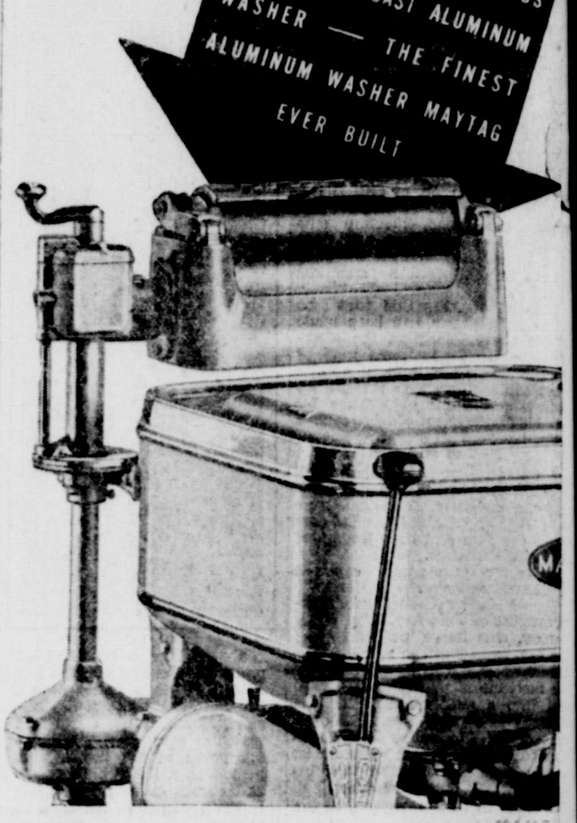

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Isn't this "cereal way" safer than risking patent medicines?

Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient to relieve ordinary constipation. With each meal, in serious cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Be sure to ask for Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. It contains much more needed "bulk" than part-bran products. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

STAR PITCHER. Guy Bush, pitching ace of the Chicago Cubs, says: "When I come out of a game after nine hard innings, there's nothing that lifts up my energy the way a Camel does. I feel freshened up in no time at all."

DEEP-SEA DIVER. Frank Crilley says: "I smoke Camels and have smoked them for years. Camels taste better and never upset my nerves."

OLYMPIC CHAMPION DIVER. Miss Georgia Coleman: "When I'm tired and need a 'lift' I smoke a Camel. Soon I feel like my real self again."

GOLFER. Miss Helen Hicks, U. S. Champion: "I can always quickly restore my energy with a Camel —you do get a 'lift' with a Camel."

SPEED DEMON. "After a championship speed-boat race," says Bill Horn, Gold Cup winner, "I 'break out' my pack of Camels quickly, and in no time at all I get a 'lift' in energy. It's a swell feeling, any time when tired or low."

SCHOOL BELLS WILL RING FOR SAMOYED TRIBE

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 20—Samoyed nomads are going to get their first taste of school life — and the National Geographic society fears truant officers are in for a lively existence.

Seven little red tents have been pitched on the bleak tundra near Arkhangelsk, northern Russia, marking the first Samoyed schoolhouses.

Although most numerous in the vicinity of Arkhangelsk, about 20,000 Samoyedes live in a primitive state of culture from the eastern shores of the White Sea along Arctic shores east to the Gulf of Khatanga, Siberia. They extend southward between the basins of the Ob and the Yenisei.

However, the Geographic Society believes difficulties of American school teachers will seem small compared with problems to be faced by Samoyed instructors.

Illiterate and preserving their traditions solely in songs, the Samoyeds boast a sonorous language, resembling Finnish, which has three dialects and twelve subdialect. Although believed to be moderately intelligent, they have had little or no schooling, as most of them lead a hand-to-mouth existence by reindeer herding hunting and fishing.

Of Mongolian origin, they possess straight black hair, oblique eyes, and yellow-brown skin. However, it was said their skin often appears darker, as they reputedly never wash. Men and women are hard to distinguish, as both wear reindeer skin tunics and trousers.

Some Samoyeds have become nominal Christians, but their veneer of Christianity isthin. Many of the natives worship the bear as a divine being in disguise and wear his teeth as amulets.

HOOKS AND SLIDES

BELMONT PARK, L. I.—The $100,000 Belmont Futurity of Sept. 1[illegible] will be run down the Widener chute, the $2,000,000 mistake that cuts the infield of this gorgeous track diagonally, like Cupid's arrow through a valentine.

Despite its cost, swelled by the purchase of additional property to make it possible, races run on this seven-furlong straightaway are unsatisfactory to everybody connected with the sport, and are not truly run.

Joseph E. Widener's idea was to accommodate large fields with a minimum of interference. The theory was that crowding would be eliminated with no turns. There would, it was believed, be no reason for it, with jockeys no longer having to contend with that desperate swing for the stretch.

It was thought that the straightaway would permit a view of the race to every spectator in any part of the park. It was pointed out that races around curves permitted the customer to watch only a small part of the running of a number

Rough Going Shooting the Chute

BUT things on the Widener shoot have worked just the other way.

American-trained thoroughbreds, instructed to run to the left, are at sea on the expansive straightaway They swerve all over it.

Possibly 20 will start in the Futurity. Each is allowed five feet. That would put the 20th post position 100 feet out on the track.

Imagine the juvenile in that position bearing over to the rail, which he has been taught to do If the jockey attempts to keep his mount in his lane by pulling on the right rein, he retards the horse. If he doesn't, the budding star barges into flying rivals, causing trouble for himself and others.

The nags sprint at the spectators, who can't tell anything at all about the first half of a race Every close decision is booed. No matter what the judges, who are in the best position to see, rule, some portion of the crowd objects. It depends on the location.

In order to be any way near accurate, extremely capable chart makers have to view events from widely separated points. One catches the start. Another plants himself at the extreme right end of the enormous grandstand to describe the center of the contention. The third catches the finish from the extreme left end of the stand.

The expensive Widener chute would be discarded had spectators, officials, owners, trainers and jockeys their way.

Costs Money to Start in This One

THE Futurity, the richest race in the world, is at 6½ furlongs, making it the longest 2-year-old event on a New York track this season, as well as the longest down the chute.

All of the purse, save for the $25,000 added by the association, is made up of nominating, starting, and other fees. Babies are nominated before they are born—named through their dams. No fewer than 2000 were nominated at $10 apiece. From then on, there were additional fees, unless owners declared out, with a $1000 starting fee.

Off their brief records, Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane's Psychic Bid and Col. Edward Riley Bradley's Balladier figure to be very much in the scramble in the last pulse-quickening strides; but there are plenty of others, each of which may take the long end. There are the Belair Stud's Omaha, Pitter Pat and Vicaress; Warren Wright's Nellie Flag; Colonel Bradley's Boxthorn; Mrs. Payne Whitney's Plat Eye; Esposa, Rosemont, and some more.

The result of the Futurity has an important bearing on winter books, although corking 2-year-olds don't always maintain the pace at three. Cavalcade and many other brilliant 3-year-olds were only fair at two.

NEBRASKA WILL HAVE ANOTHER STRONG ELEVEN

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 20 — Nebraska, the hardy perennial of football in the Missouri Valley section, apparently is going to bloom again this fall, bear stories from Lincoln and Coach Dana R. Bible notwithstanding.

The Cornhuskers lost 16 seniors last year, including the very good George Henry Sauer, and while they will have but one member of last year's powerhouse on hand for the opening game against Wyoming, Sept. 29, there is every indication Bible again will be headman in the Big Six football conference.

Strength in Sophomores

Nebraska's strength lies in last year's team of sophomores. Because the first team usually ran up a sizeable score Bible was able to insert his sophomores. They averaged about half a game each Saturday. Thus, they will start this year with more experience in actual competition than the average second year team.

Bible says he still is looking for someone who can punt like Sauer and John Roby, and rival coaches are hoping he looks in vain.

If Nebraska is upset in the conference, Oklahoma probably will be the team to turn the trick. Coach Lewis Hardage has a team of juniors who learned their football well as sophomores.

Sophs Aided Sooners

Despite their "greeness" last year the sophomore team landed the Sooners near the top of the conference heap, and plenty is expected from them this fall.

Like Nebraska, the Sooners will be a Big Six's exponent in inter-sectional play. Nebraska, in addition to the Wyoming opener will play Minnesota and Iowa in the Big Ten and Pittsburgh of the east. Oklahoma will tackle Centenary, Texas and George Washington.

The Kansas Aggies have a good squad, but Lynn Waldorf, formerly of Oklahoma A. and M., will be in his first season. He succeeded Bo McMillin, now at Indiana. Waldorf made a good record in Oklahoma, however, and may get the Wildcats away to a fast start.

Jayhawks Have Fight

Ad Lindsey at Kansas will have a small squad, and while the outlook is not overly bright, many figure the Jayhawkers to make a fight for the third-place berth in the conference standings.

George Veenker at Iowa State will have 12 lettermen and six minor letter winners back and he is expected to produce a capable team. At Missouri Frank Carideo of Notre Dame fame is making a "win or else" stand. Tiger football sank so low the last few years it became a nightmare to the alumni, and Carideo's head was demanded. He finally was given this year to vindicate himself. He has a big squad and probably will rely on his sophomores, his lettermen of the past having done little to bring him great happiness.

WOMAN TEACHER WAS FIRST MANAGER OF "SCHOOLBOY" ROWE

KIRKSVILLE, Mo., Sept. 20—One of Mickey Cochrane's predecessors has arisen to make that grand old gesture traditionally restricted to politics—to point with pride.

And, incidentally, to claim an humble bit of credit for development of that phenomenal young baseball pitcher, Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe.

Its a woman. But that was in the days of way-back-when.

Living the complacent life of a housewife here is Rowe's first baseball manager. She says she helped start Rowe on the path to baseball glory. The woman, Mrs. W. A. Swearengen, piloted the schoolboy baseball team upon which Rowe was the mound ace.

Aside from her managerial duties, Mrs. Swearengen says she lent a sympathetic ear to his troubles when he was in a confiding mood. She helped curb the youthful inclination to "swelled head," when he won so steadily he was singled out for home town acclaim.

It was back in 1925 when Mrs. Swearengen, fresh out of the University of Arkansas, had opportunity to observe Lynwood's potentialities as a baseball player. She became a teacher in the Eldorado, Ark., Junior high school. Rowe was a student.

"And he was a good student," she said. 'I remember that he certainly could write a beautiful hand."

As supervisor of one of the Eldorado playgrounds that summer Mrs. Swearengen was Schoolboy Rowe's first manager. Rowe, tall, freckle-faced, pitched for one of the playground teams. As his ex-manager tells it, he 'burned up the circuit." His team went to the finals for the city championship.

There the "Schoolboy' got his primary lesson in defeat. He lost the title by a close margin. It nearly broke his heart, according to Mrs. Swearengen.

The next Mrs. Swearengen heard of Rowe he was setting the Texas league afire as Beaumont's star pitcher.

MALARIA

Speedy Relief of Chills and Fever

Don't let Malaria tear you apart with its racking hills and burning fever. Trust to no home-made or mere makeshift remedies. Take the medicine prepared especially for Malaria—Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic gives real relief from Malaria because it's a scientific combination of tasteless quinine and tonic iron. The quinine kills the Malarial infection in the blood. The iron builds up the system and helps fortify against further attack. At the first sign of any attack of Malaria take Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic. Better still take it regularly during the Malaria season to ward off the disease. Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic is absolutely harmless and tastes good.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic now comes in two sizes, 50c and $1. The $1 size contains 2½ times as much as the 50c size and gives you 25 per cent more for your money. Get a bottle today at any store.—Adv.

Community Natural's Home Service Department . . . Call it for a Proper Adjustment of Gas Appliances

The production and distribution of natural gas by no means ends the responsibility of Community Natural Gas Company.

Complete and satisfactory service to the public includes also the important task of helping you and all other customers to get the maximum value and use out of every cubic foot of gas operating through your appliances.

For example, our HOME SERVICE department is ready to answer your calls with an inspection of your appliances. You'll want them functioning properly for winter warmth, cooking and hot water, so telephone 21 for an engineer to inspect and adjust your appliances and assure their efficient operation through winter months.

This is but one of many ways by which Community Natural is working to increase the present value of your natural gas service and to help you obtain the utmost economy in its use. There is no charge for this service. It is an essential part of the obligation of your gas company in rendering the type and quality of service which Cisco housewives generally have learned to expect.

HOMEMADE CEREAL—USING HOME GROWN WHEAT

Miss Willie Word, farm food supply demonstrator of the Word home Demonstration club recommends the following recipe for canning wheat to be used for cereals.

Clean and wash the wheat thoroughly, soak over night in twice the amount of water as wheat used. Next morning drain and wash wheat again to remove some of the dark brown color. Cover with hot water and boil for five minutes, stirring constantly.

Fill No. 2 cans with seventeen ounces or within one half inch of the top, add 1 teaspoon of salt, cover with water in which wheat was boiled. Seal and process fifty minutes at fifteen pounds pressure. Remove from the cooker and place in cold water. When cool, dry, clean and label.

This can be canned as cracked wheat and is better when there are children in the family. The whole grains can be used in cakes bread, etc., as substitute for nuts. It can be used in soups as substitute for rice.

It is much easier to work with if it is cleaned at the mill.

PEACH SWEET PICKLES

Peach sweet pickles served with meats in the winter months adds much to the meal. Mrs. H. A. Bowers of the North Star home demonstration club uses the following recipe when putting up her sweet pickles:

Two gallons peaches, one pint vinegar, 1 ounce stick cinnamon, 3 cloves for each peach and 4 cups brown sugar. The brown sugar give a darker syrup than that using the granulated sugar, but a better flavor.

Select firm sound fruit, not too ripe. Peel peaches. Make a syrup by boiling vinegar, sugar and seasonings tied in a cheesecloth. Put peaches into boiling syrup and cook until soft (take very little time and should be watched in order not to overcook the peaches and have a soft product.) Arrange peaches in sterilized jars, adjust sterilized rubbers and covers and seal. Pears may be pickled in the same way.

SELETION OF CORN FOR HOMINY AND CANNING

Select a sweet white corn with flat grain shell, wash thoroughly and soak in lukewarm water for an hour. Dissolve two tablespoons lye in one gallon of boiling water (use enamel kettle or bucket). Add the soaked corn and boil for thirty minutes, or long enough to loosen the hulls. Remove and rinse thoroughly rub to losen the hulls and kernels near the germ, or use a barrel churn for several minutes for this purpose. Let stand in fresh water for two or three hours changing the water six or seven times to be sure all lye is removed, over with water and boil until tender. Pack hot into pint jars or No. 2 plain tin cans. Process for fifty minutes at fifteen pounds pressure. Cool in cold water when removed from the cooker. This method of preparing and canning hominy gives a good product, said Mrs. J. R. Morrow, member of the North Star home demonstration club. Mrs. Morrow makes hominy by this method each year and has no trouble with the husks and the dark parts remaining on the grains of corn.

PICKLES

The dry weather ruined the cucumber crop for the year, but small green tomatoes or gherkins may be substituted for the cucumber pickles. Use the recipes for the other pickles. The gherkins should be used when they are about the size of a small egg, but this year due to the dry weather, the small ones are better and are tendered. Some complaints have come to the club members that the larger ones shrivel. This may be due to the following: Shriveling of pickles often occur when they have been placed at once in every strong salt or sugar solutions, or even in very strong vinegar. For this reason avoid such solutions as far as possible. When a strong solution is desirable the pickles should first be given a preliminary treatment in a weaker solution. This difficulty is most often encountered in making sweet pickles. The presence of sugar in high concentrations is certain to cause shriveling unless precautions are taken. Mrs. Gil Walker, Romney home demonstration club member gave this information to the women who were at the Romney community fair and such pickles were shown and the reason asked for the shriveling.

BANKRUPTCY BY DROUTH DENIED IN MIDDLEWEST

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 20 —Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska newspaper publishers want it known that the recent drouth did not bankrupt the middlewest.

Associated dailies of those three states, and possibly Iowa, are launching an advertising and publicity campaign in Eastern publications, newspapers and trade journals,, to offset reports that searing heat during July and August left farmers with no income.

The Missouri publisher are putting up $2,000, to be matched with like sums from the other state organizations. Advertising space will be purchased inthe publications.

The advertisements will make statistical facts gathered from the federal government and individual states, showing that farm purchaspower this year actually has increased over last year.

In Missouri, for example, while the drouth was figured as doing some $500,000,000 in damage, farmers' purchasing power in 1934 is estimated at $5,000,000 more than it was in 1933. They are receiving higher prices for their crops and hogs, in addition to the millions of dollars distributed in the state by federal relief agencies.

The newspaper stories will relate activties of midwestern farm sections to "beat back" to normal after the drouth.

Recent rains salvaged some of the late corn, made possible planting of new forage crops, prepared the ground for next year and refilled streams and creeks to furnish water to thousands of heads of live stock.

Attorneys Allowed To Keep Statements

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 — Federal Judge A. C. Coxe Saturday quashed the subpoena under which Ward line attorneys would have been required to surrender to a federal grand jury the statements which they obtained from members of the crew and passengers of the burned liner, Morro Castle.

Judge Coxe held that these statements, obtained by Ward line lawyers, were private memoranda and should be regarded as the work papers of the lawyers.

COMMUNIST ACTVITIES LINKED WITH TRRAGEDY

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 20— Information purporting to link the burning of the liner, Morro Castle with alleged communistic activities has been given the department of justice for investigation, the United Press learned.

Safety Meet Speaker Sees Peril in Gov't Invasion of Domain of Private Business

The Rev. Frank L. Turner, speaking on "Government in Business," delivered the principal address at the quarterly safety meeting of West Texas Utilities Co., District B, held here Friday afternoon in the storeroom of the local plant. Company representatives from Rising Star, Albany, Moran, Abilene, and Cisco attended the session.

"The acts of the national administration within the last few months in trying to enter the domain of private enterprise is the most serious peril that recovery has at this time," Rev. Turner declared. "The national power policy, newest of Roosevelt's bureaus, is directed right at the utilities, and its sole purpose is to cover America with a network of municipal plants that will render the efforts of private utilities useless. Eastern capital has been invested in this state and as a consequence we now have remarkable electrification. This same capital should not be confiscated and should be allowed to make a just return on its investment."

Jack Embry of Rising Star spoke briefly on the matter of pulbic safety. He emphasized that the company should sponsor lectures periodically in the schools to emphasize the importance of precaution and safety to children.

L. L. Walker, Moran, gave a demonstration of the prone pressure method of resuscitation. With the aid of a physiological chart of the human body he showed the location of the proper respiratory organs that should be dealt with when a person has been drowned, or "knocked" by a strong electric current. P. P. Shepard, head of the Cisco division, read a letter from the Humble Oil and Refining Co., praising the work of M. F. Byrd, local electrician for his rescue work in saving one of the Humble employees who had been severely shocked.

O. J. Russell head of the ice division for the local unit of the West Texas Utilities, spoke briefly on the company's efforts to pay all their due assessment in taxes to the state. "We have never rescinded one particle in paying all of our taxes, and although they at times seem a bit unfair in lieu of the amount other private concerns pay, we have always responded to our obligations in full," Russell added.

J. E. Proctor, local engineer for the Cisco plant, presided over the meeting.

BEACON GUIDES BIRDS

STERLING, Mass., Sept. 20 — There's an eight-story building here with an electric beacon atop it but the light is not for the benefit of aviators. It's to guide birds to the comfortable home which Mrs. Fred Durling, known as "Sterling's Bird Lady," has provided for them. The eight-story building is an elaborate miniature offering excellent accommodations and cuisine to winged guests.

'Read it Again' Says Negro Bridegroom

SILVERTON, Sept. 20 — As County Judge W. Coffee, Jr., read the words, "love, honor and obey" into the ceremony which united a Quitanque colored couple, a husky voice interrupted the reading of the marriage rites.

"Read that again, suh," said the colored groom. "Read it once mo' so's de lady kin getch de full solemity of de meanin'. I'se been married befo'."

Baptists Will Meet At Lueders Sept. 25

Baptists in the following 11 counties will meet at the Lueders Baptist camp ground near Leuders, Texas, Sept. 25: Fisher, Jones, Shackelford, Stephens, Nolan, Taylor, Callahan, Eastland, Kent, Stonewall, and Haskell. Fifteen hundred Baptists from these counties are expected to attend this meeting. Rev. J. D. Brannon, Abilene, the missionary for district 17, will preside.

There are 174 Baptist churches within the district with a combined membership of 30,672. It will be recommended at the Lueders meeting that the Baptist churches within the district undertake to raise $8,900 for state missions by Dec 1. It will also be recommended that the same churches undertake to raise $22,250 for missions of all types, Baptist schools, hospitals and orphanages during the next convention year.

The ones who will appear on the program at the Lueders camp ground Sept. 25 are as follows: Dr. L. R. Scarborough, president, Southwestern Baptist Theological seminary, Fort Worth; Dr. H. E. Fowler, pastor of East Grand Baptist church Dallas, and T. C. Gardner, State B. T. S. director, Dallas. The meeting will begin at 10 a. m. with a welcome address by Rev. Henry Littleton of Hamlin.

MEETS AFTER 45 YEARS

PHILADELPHIA, Sept 20 — Two brothers, William J. Gorman, of Winnetka, Ill., and oseph G. Gorman, of Philadelphia, met for the first time since their parents died 45 years ago. Joseph, who is totally blind, recognized William's voice, remembering the sound of it since childhood.

BOSTON, Sept. 20— Richard F. Barker of Dorchester still has in his possession a pass that was issued to his grandfather, Lieutenant Charles F. Morse, during the Civil war by Abraham Lincoln.

16-MONTH-OLD CHILD IS DEAD OF ACID BURNS

Funeral services for Winifred W. Stephenson, 16-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Z. Stephenson, who died Monday night of carbolic acid burns, were held at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon with burial in Oakwood cemetery. Green Funeral home was in charge of arrangements. The child was born May 17, 1933.

The infant overturned a bottle of the acid down its back Monday as it stood beside a table. The family had just moved into a residence at D avenue and Sixteenth street from a home seven miles south of Cisco.

Mrs. Stephenson told physicians that when she first noticed the child with the acid it was standing at the table, with the bottle tilted over its head the contents streaming down the back of its neck.

75 Parties Counted In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 20 — Five-Cent-Carfare, Honest Elections, Anti-Wall street and unemployed are only a few of the 75 new political parties pre-empted in Pennsylvania in anticipation of success in the Nov. 6 general election.

This unprecedented congestion in the Keystone state's political arena will send a bewildered electorate, resembling a hand-bill distributor, into the voting booth. Mechanical limitations of voting machines, used in some precincts, are likely to be taxed.

Confusion will be specially acute in the Wilkes Barre area, 17 new parties having been organized in Luzerne county.

"Roosevelt" is a component in the titles of four new parties: Roosevelt Independent, Roosevelt Progressive, Roosevelt New Deal, and Plain Roosevelt. In this category are the New Deal Progressives and the plain New Deal parties. There's a Square Deal party, too.

The remainder includes several variations of Independents, Taxpayers,, Citizens and Liberals parties; Prosperity, Keystone, Couglins, Peoples Choice, Equal Rights, and All-American. Many feature a full line of local and state-wide candidates; others are purely local in influence.

HUGE RADISH GROWN

PENN VAN N, Y., Sept. 20 — A giant radish, measuring four inches in diameter and 13 inches in circumference, was dug up recently in a garden here. The radish, believed to have been one of the largest ever grown was raised by Charles Sprague.

Trees Bear Twice Because of Drouth

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 20 — The drouth has the fruit orchards all haywire.

L. C. Tusler, Wichita, Kan., is exhibiting blossoms and buds on sprigs taken from his apple tree. They are the second produced this year.

His apple tree blossomed and bore two bushels of apples early this summer. During the drouth they struggled for life. August 1 the tree revived and began pushing forth buds.

The same phenomenon was noticed near Jefferson City, Mo., where Joseph Triber hopes to harvest two crops of apples this year. His trees bloomed early this spring and produced fruit in June. They are in bloom now and promise another crop before frost.

Roy H. Stauber, of St. Joseph, Mo., likewise, is hoping to climb his fruit ladders for the second time this year. Deluded by lower temperatures and rains, his backyard apple orchard is in full bloom. The blossoms, however, are white instead of the customary pink.

Alfred McDonald, Wichita director of parks, has stepped forward with an explanation:

"Fruit trees have been known," he said, "in times of drouth, to protect themselves by becoming dormant during the dry periods. Then when cooler weather returns and there is some moisture the tree might start to grow, with little green leaves on the ends of the limbs and by blossoming a second time."

Ancient Sea Giants Found in Alabama

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 — Two 60,000,000-year-old sea giants — a sea turtle and a sea lizard, called a mosasaur, have been unearthed from the chalk beds of Alabama.

These latest contributions to historical geology reveal that the present state of Alabama once was the bottom of a prehistoric ocean. Taken from the chalk beds which are associated with the cretaveous period, they are objects of unusual interest to paleontologists, according to J. J. Renger, who reported his discovery of them in "Rocks and Minerals."

The turtle measures ten feet from stem to stern and has a width of 11 feet, between the two forward flippers. From the joint in the shoulder girle to the tip of the flipper is four feet, four inches. With a prow in the form of a six-inch, pointed beak, its head is twenty inches long. Despite the turtle's weight which was about two and a half tons, and although it apepars to have been cumbersome it was an able and powerful swimmer.

Compared to the recently acquired ancestor of present-day turtles, the lizard, which once undulated through the shallow seas above Alabama, is not without certain points of interest to those who demand the unusual in prehistoric animals. The lizard's head is five feet long the jaws of which are about four feet in length, with harp, curved teeth.

Reconstructing the probable habit of the ancient reptile, Renger explained that because of its lack of prehensile limbs, and without teeth which could tear its food apart, the lizard had to swallow its food whole.

OBSERVANCE OF CONSTITUTION WEEK IS URGED

The Cisco chapter of the Daughters of the Aemrican Revolution Monday, through Mrs. Philip Pettit, called attention to the observance of Constitution Week over the United States beginning Monday and concluding Sunday. The American constitution or organic law, was adopted by the 13 colonies 147 years ago Monday.

Civic, social and religious organizations are asked to give recognition to the constitution in progress this week and to insist that members read the document at least once.

Maytag Men Attend District Meeting

Ciscoans attending a district Maytag sale meeting in Abilene Friday evening included S. B. Parks, C. M. Campbell and C. A. Farquhar, salesmen, and S. R. Wood of the Hyatt and Wood dealership here.

Hyatt and Woods has the agency for all of Eastland county except the city of Ranger, and the southern part of Callahan county.

The trend of the meeting was one of optimism. It was explained that the farmers of this district will have as much income this year as during last year, and that they will receive from the government practically half the income from a normal crop even if they do not plow a single furrow.

Killers in Houston "Ride" Are Sought

HOUSTON, Sept. 20 —Authorities today sought the killers of Houston's latest "ride" victim, Frank Maiorana, 47, master plumber for the Southern Pacific lines, whose body was found in a clump of weeds 3 miles south of here Monday night.

A bullet wound was found in the back of the head. Police believed the victim fell into the hands of enemies who "took him for a ride" and killed for vengeance.

FARMERS WILL HOLD MEETING IN DECEMBER

DALAS, Sept. 20 — Dallas will welcome approximately 2,000 farmers, representing 225 agricultural organizations in 200 counties, when the annual meeting of the Texas Agricultural association and Texas Co-operatives, Inc., convenes Dec. 3 to 6, inclusive.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace and Dr I. Meyers and Francis W. Peck of the Farm Credit administration will be invited to address the convention. Other invited speakers will include State Commissioner of Agriculture J. E. McDonald, Mrs. Maggie W. Barry, extension sociologist in rural women's organization of the Texas A.&M. extension divison; R. H. Bush, organization specialist of the A.&M. extension division; Sterling Evans, president of the Houston banks for co-operatives at Houston, and A. C. Williams of the agricultural banks of Houston.

The relation of the railroads to agriculture will be discussed by J. C. Carter, executive secretary of the president of the Southern Pacific lines.

Two Exhibitions

Two exhibitions will be held in connection with the meeting. One will be a showing of products manfactured by factories handling supplies through the co-operative organization. The other will be an exposition of home industries, canned goods, clothes and other commodities produced in the homes of the members. Miss Zeth McInnis and Miss Maurine Hearne, specialists in the home industry division of the A. & M. extension branch, will be in charge of this division.

The program being arranged includes an evening set aside for the annual farmers' supper, another for public speaking contests in which men and women will discourse on farm organization and co-operation. The outstanding farm woman, the outstanding farm leader, the outstanding boy and the outstanding girl in farm club work will be presented prizes at a special session.

One evening will be set aside for entertainment to be furnished by members of the association.

Jones Swamped By P. O. Applications

AMARILLO, Sept. 20 — Marvin Jones, congressman of the 18th Texas district, has received a total of 30,000 letters from applicants seeking 240 post office appointments in his district.

Number of applications for each appointment as postmaster ranged from 6 to 42. Besides correspondence from individual applicants for the offices, friends have written thousands of letters. Jones received more than 600 letters from the friends of one applicant.

Approximately one-third of the 240 post office appointments have been filled, Jones said.

ELECTROCUTED WORMS

NEW HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 20—Garden hint: Mr. Catherine Alling's lawn was being destroyed by worms, so she instructed here chauffeur to drive two metal stakes into the ground and wire them to the house current. Within a half hour more than 150 worms crawled to the surface and died.

House Would Make Highways Memorial

AUSTIN, Sept. 20 — State Highways One and Six will be designated as Gold Star World war memorial highways under a resolution passed by the Texas house of representatives Tuesday. There will be a memorial light at the intersection of the highways in Dallas. Along their routes will be bronze tablets for each of 5,167 World war participants from Texas who were killed. With the name of the soldier will be that of his mother.

A most delightful re-union of old friends occurred Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Bedford who had for their guests for non dinner, Mrs. J. W. Mancill of Cisco and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rose of Fort Stockton. These five had been friends for years when they all lived in Cisco, Mrs. Bedford having roomed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rose for five years when a Cisco teacher as was also Mrs. Rose. In 1916 Mr. and Mrs. Bedford were marrie dat the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rose at Fort Stockton. A limited railroad ticket to the World's fair at Chicago made it necessary for Mr. and Mrs. Rose to make their visits at Cisco and Desdemona quite short.

Thomas Browning and Curly Lehman who have been at a Conservation camp near Meridian the past month, spent the week-end here with their families.

Dick Hodges of Ranger was here on business Friday.

Friday night at the high school a good crowd gathered to hear a Seth Parker program which was presented under the auspices of the Christian Education board of the Desdemona Methodist church. Those assisting the man who impersonated Seth were: Mrs. D. E. Hoover as Ma Parker and the following who were the neighbors who gathered at Seth's home — Mmes. Bill Parks, Ed Hansen, W. E. Barron, Misses Edra Parks and Ruth Renshaw and Miss Creighton our new primary teacher and T. L. Acrea, Ed Parks, Elmer Abernathy, William Howell, W. E. Barron, Whit Richards. Costumes were quite unique and the singing and acting were good.

The first meeting of the "21" Study club for this club year was held Tuesday, Sept. 11th at the club house which had been beautifully decorated with cut flowers in baskets and vases. Hostesses for the day were Mmes. W. H. Davis, Dave Parks, John Mendenhall and Mattie Henry, who received the members and guests very graciouly. The business meeting was presided over by the 1st vice president, Mrs. A. B. Henslee who was later installed as president. The program was led by Mrs. A. C. Robert. The first number was the introduction of the new officers as follows:

President, Mrs. A. B. Henslee; 1st vice president, Mrs. Mattie Henry; second vice president, Mrs. W. H. Davis; recording secretary, Mrs. W. E. Barron; corresponding secretary Mrs. J. E. Heeter, absent on account of illness; treasurer, Mrs. Arnold Anderson; press reporter, Mrs. Dave Parks; parliamentarian and critic, Mrs. C. W. Maltby; fire marshal, Mrs. Plummer Ashburn; federation counsellor, Mrs. W. C. Bedford.

The retiring president, Mrs. Roy Ashburn was absent, she was at the Chicago World's fair but she had left her written mesage which was read by Mrs. Bedford. The incoming president's message was then given by Mrs. A. B. Henslee .The course of study for this year is the "Art of Living" and as a keynote to the course, Mrs. Barron gave a splendid paper on "The Art of Living Beautifully and Happily." The closing number was "Home Sweet Home," variation, played by Mr. Barron on his violin and Miss Nell Robert on the piano. The hostesses then served delicous homemade ice cream and white cake squares decorated in pink. Plate favors were marigolds tied with ribbon of the club colors, green and white. Guests present were Mmes. Claud Lee., Andy Huffman, Hugh Abel, C. A. Skipping, and Z. L. Howell and Miss Nell Roberand Mr. Barron. Members present were Mmes. Arnold Anderson, W. E. Barron, W. C. Bedford, W. H. Davis, A. B. Henslee, A. C. Robert, Dave Parks, Mattie Henry, John Mendenhall, A. C. Moore, Fred Welder, C. W. Maltby, S. E. Snodgrass and Plummer Ashburn.

Miss Latrelle McGuire spent Sunday at Olden with Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Stark.

William Howell and Robert Howell left Tuesday for Dallas to re-enter S. M. U. William will also assume his duties as assistant pastor of Munger Place Methodist church.

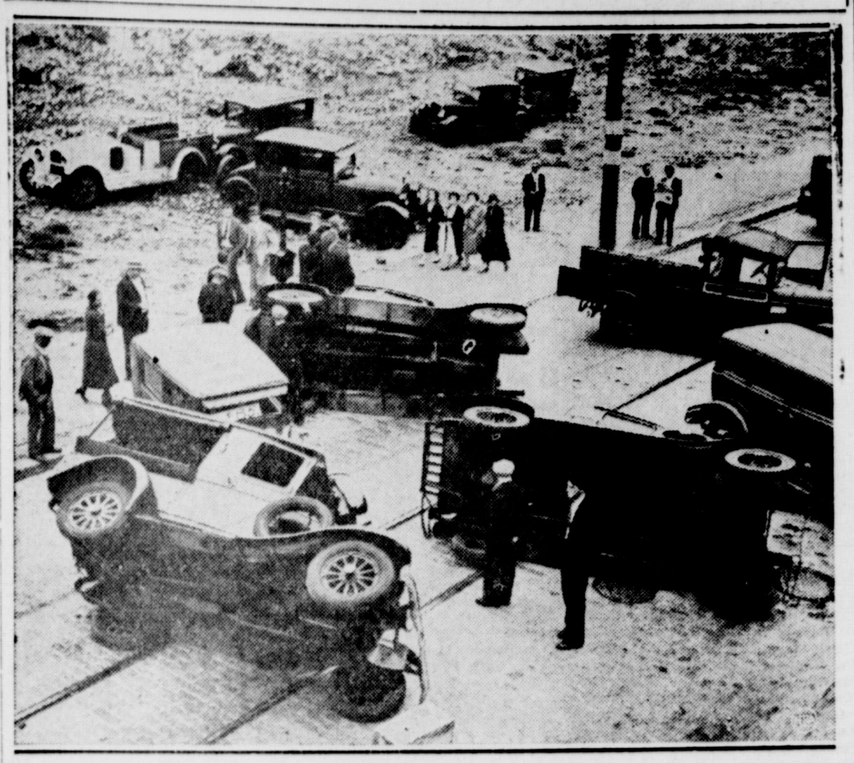

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gallagher of Albany were the week-end guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Nabers.

Desdemona will be well represented at John Tarleton college at Stephenville this year as the following girls left Tuesday to begin their study there: Misses Latrille McGuire, Nell Robert, Romalee Wright, Ruth Crenshaw and Ruth L. Riley. A going away party was given for them and others who were leaving at the Methodist church Monday night.

Fred Stover, who has a good office job with the Humble Co., at Houston came in Wednesday to spend his vacation here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Stover. On Friday Rev. Sherrod Stover came in from Fort Worth and on Saturday Carroll Stover who works for the Humble company at Holliday came in so all the brothers except Elmer who lives in Dallas were together Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Snead visited Mr. Snead's parents at DeLeon Friday.

Rhode Island Rioters Vent Fury on Parked Cars

The unbridled vandilism of rioting textile strikers is shown in this scene in Woonsocket, R. I., after the most serious fighting and disorder that has yet developed in the New England textile centers. Automobiles and trucks were overturned, stores and houses wrecked and looted as the rioters stormed through the streets all night. Only the arrival of troops who fired on the crowd, causing the death of one rioter and the wounding of many others, brought an end to mob sway.

CARBON

Our school has been in progress for a week. It opened with an enthusiastic, cooperative spirit and an enrollment of over 300, the largest in the history of the school. Two new teachers have been added, making twelve. Those who talked at the opening were: Rev. Walker, C. S. Eldridge and Mr. Pierce, the superintendent who called attention to some of the improvements that have been made through the summer. The gybnasium has been painted, the cottage painted and papered and the main building has had the inside walls gone over. A new underground cistern is ready for water when it rains and it is planned to put an electric pump to the cistern in the near future.

Rev. Davis and family returned Thursday from Elgin where they were called to the bed side of his mother. She is much improved.

Margaret Wilson, Oleta Martin, Lucile Clark and Red Trailer drove over to Dallas Sunday. Oleta went on to Longview where she will have work. The others returned home Sunday night but had the misfortune of running into another car and damaging their machine.

Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Rogers and daughter, Loyce of DeLeon spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. A. Harrison.

Mr. Adams and children of near Georgetown visited relatives here Saturday night and Sunday.

Grandma O'Brien has been sick for the past few days but is improving.

Arthur Jackson of west Texas is viiting his brother, Dr. T. G. Jackson, and family here.

A. N. Mayhand has been on the sick list but is able to be down town the past few days.

Looks like busines is getting back to normal here again. The cotton gin is running at full blast and the peanut mill has started on full time. Carbon has one of the largest cotton gins in the country and a peanut plant capitalized at $50,000, which is equipped to shell and seperate 30,000 pounds of peanuts per hour.

T. C. Blacklock his son, Claude and family of Ranger were visiting friends and relatives here Sunday.

Mrs. M. M. Carter and son, Truley visited their son and brother, Truley, Carter, in the Long Branch community Sunday.

THEY crackle IN CREAM

THERE'S no other cereal like Kellogg's Rice Krispies. Bubbles of rice so crisp they crackle and pop in milk or cream.

Children, especially, like this fascinating cereal. Wholesome, too — let them eat all they want. Fine for breakfast, lunch, or the kiddies' supper. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

WASH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

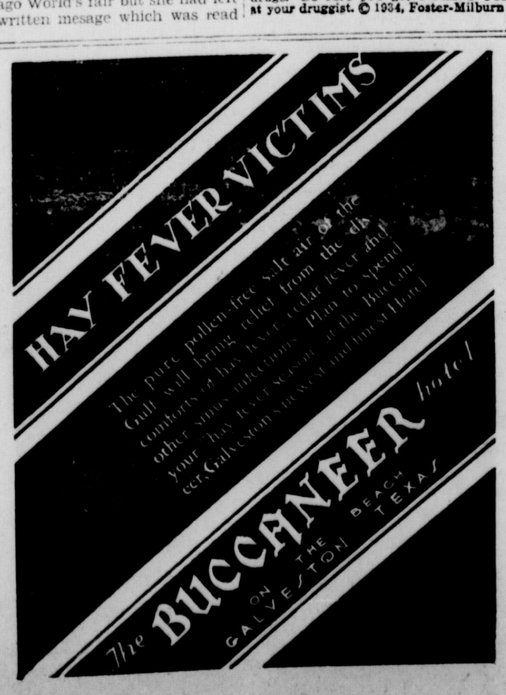

Win Back Pep . . . Vigor . . . Vitality

Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy.

If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount causing burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES of kidney tubes need washing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and vitality, getting up nights, lumbago, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

If kidneys don't empty 3 pints every day and get rid of 4 pounds of waste matter, your body will take up these poisons causing serious trouble. It may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS . . . a doctor's prescription . . . which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief and will help to wash out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes.

But don't take chances with strong drugs or so-called "kidney cures" that claim to fix you up in 15 minutes, for they may seriously injure and irritate delicate tissues. Insist on DOAN'S PILLS . . . the old reliable relief that contain no "dope" or habit-forming drugs. Be sure you get DOAN'S PILLS at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

CARBON BLACK HEARING HELD HERE SATURDAY

Hearing here Saturday on the application of the Consolidated Gasoline company for permit to burn carbon black in Eastland county resolved itself into a new phase of a contest between the Lone Star Gas company and the Hickok interests, which have been brought into active competition in the gas utilities field in Cisco with the construction of a rival distribution plant under a city franchise by a Hickok company.

The hearing which began at 10 a. m. Saturday bogged itself down in a mass of distantly related and largely technical evidence after a general definition of the main issues of the controversy in the early part. Chief Supervisor Laten Stanberry of the oil and gas division of the railroad commission, presiding at the hearing, was frankly puzzled over admissibility of much of the evidence, but allowed most of it on the ground that to omit would exclude it from commission view altogether, whereas that body could of its own judgment determine its relevancy. In one instance he did rule adversely, but in order to permit counsel for the Consolidated to develop their bill of exception allowed the evidence to be taken and written into the record over the protest of Lone Star Att'y Marshall Newcomb who demanded it be developed outside the record. Much evidence was admitted under the so-called "public welfare" clause, relating to the development of oil and gas properties in the public interest.

Expects Curtailed Market

Consolidated Gasoline company, through its superintendent, R. L. Ponsler, told the hearing it operated a natural gasoline extraction plant at Eastland from which it was selling under contract to the Lone Star 2,000,000 cubic feet of residue gas daily. This represented 25 per cent of the plant capacity, its testimony said, and it anticipated with the expiration of a contract with the Lone Star on June 1, 1935, that the market would be further curtailed. Ponsler said he had been informed by the Lone Star that the Lone Star would not give the Consolidated another contract under which it would agree to accept a minimum amount of gas daily.

He said that operation of a Hickok gasoline plant at Breckenridge which has no "minimum" contract for its residue, was not profitable.

The Eastland plant of the Consolidated, Ponsler said, is connected to 35 gas producing wells, seven of which it owns outright, and from all of which it has an open flow reserve potential of 18 million cubic feet daily.

6,000,000 Ft. Plant.

The company seeks permit for a carbon black plant of 6,000,000 cubic feet daily through which to dispose of excess gas during low consumption periods in the municipal market into which it is entering, Ponsler explained. He said that the Hickok interests are already constructing a plant in Cisco, which is 80 per cent complete, and that it "has in mind" furnishing gas to Abilene, Eastland and Fort Worth.

Phases of the rate controversy entered into the hearing over the protests of the Lone Star counsel as the Consolidated attorneys developed testimony in an effort to show that alleged excessive rates caused constriction of the available market. Under questioning, Ponsler said his company is prepared to offer Cisco, Eastland, Abilene and Fort Worth a gate rate of 25 cents per 1,000 feet.

Stanberry asked him if he thought it justifiable to develop for burning in a carbon plant during the summer a reserve of 6,000,000 cubic feet so that the company could operate a gasoline plant.

"We would not contract to supply the city of Abilene with any less reserve," Ponsler said.

"Reasonable" Development

The Consolidated also endeavored to show through compilation of gas production in the county over the past year and the testimony of Noyes B. Livingston, geologist, that this gas territory was not being reasonably developed and that for the best development of the territory the permit should be granted the Consolidated and an independent market encouraged. It also sought to establish that, outside the Consolidated, the Lone Star is the only present market of any consequence in the territory.

The Lone Star's cross examination and later its direct examination, attacked the Consolidated statements that it now has a surplus of gas and also contended that an adequate market is provided for gas in the area through its own system and by other outlets. It contended that the Consolidated is seeking to develop a gas reserve beyond the reasonable expectation of a market, and also attacked the contention that the gas resources of the area are not being reasonably developed.

Cabot Hearing Short

The introduction of witnesses by the Consolidated and their cross-examination by the Lone Star occupied the morning and afternoon sessions. The Lone Star presented its direct testimony Saturday night.

In contrast with the tediousness of the hearing on the Consolidated application, hearing on application of the Cabot Carbon company, Pampa, for extension of permits for operating four plants in the Panhandle took up probably 10 minutes of the morning period. R. G. Allen, vice president and counsel, and J. B. Massa, witness, appeared for the Cabot interests. E. L. Green, deputy oil and gas supervisor for the Panhandle area, was a brief witness.

A number of other parties, including representatives of the Arab Gasoline Corp., Eastland; V. R. Bahan, appearing for himself and the Hickory Oil and Gas Corp.; Jack Rankin for the Prairie Sinclair; I. L. Foley for the Marathon Oil Co.; T. F. Petty for the Humble, and Luther McCrea, J. A. Bearman, and George P. Fee as land or royalty owners, appeared for possible hearing.

F. D. Wright, Cisco, and J. Frank Sparks, Eastland, were Consolidated attorneys.

COMINTERN CONGRESS MAY PROVE TO BE HEADACHE FOR SOVIETS

By JOSEPH H. BAIRD
United Press Staff Correspondent

MOSCOW, Sept. 20 —While the government of Soviet Russia has no official relation to the Comintern, or international revolutionary movement the forthcoming session of that body here is expected by observers to cause some embarrassment to Russian officials.

Comintern a Worry

Although most high Soviet officials are ardent communists, they have found the comintern to be a veritable "Old Man of the Sea" in troubling and impending their conduct of foreign affairs.

And although the Comintern has not the slightest connection with the soviet foreign office, nevertheless, if one may judge by the past, shouts for world revolution emanating from the conference hall of the Seventh World congress of the Comintern just under the Kremlin walls are likely the re-emphasize the communist basis of the soviet government. This is well recognized here.

Hence, it may be assumed that the soviet government will do everything possible to emphasize the fact that although the Comintern is meeting here, it is not the guest of the government. In this connection it is significant to note that although the world headquarters of the Comintern are only a block from the Kremlin, the announcement of the forthcoming session was not made here, but in the communist newspaper "Humanite," published in Paris.

Quoted "Humanite'

Soviet newspapers, in printing the announcement, did not attribute it to Comintern headquarters here, but quoted it from "Humanite."

In view of the confusion that exists in some quarters abroad regarding the connection of Soviet Russia with the movement for world revolution, it may be timely to review the relationship, or lack of relationship.

The All-Union (Russian) Communist party, although by far the strongest unit of the Comintern, nevertheless is only one of the 58 parties composing this agency of world revolution. The Russian communist party, as such, contributes heavily to the maintenance of the Comintern. But, so far as any investigator ever has found, not one cent goes from the Russian state treasury to the Comintern. The Russian government, as such, always has maintained that it had no connection with the campaign for world revolution.

Probably the outstanding reason why many persons abroad have identified the soviet government with the Comintern is that some of its leaders are prominent in Comintern work.

But soviet officials have always maintained that in their Comintern work they were acting as individuals, not as representatives of the Russian government.

EASTLAND CO. BENEFITS BY COTTON CURB

J. C. Patterson county agent for Eastland county here yesterday to deliver checks to farmers who cooperated in the government's corn-hog program, said that the Bankhead cotton bill, object of criticism in south Texas and some other sections, had materially helped the farmers of this county. Income from the cotton crop this year will be considerably in excess of the income from last year's crop, although the effect of the measure and the dry weather has been to reduce the production.

Last season the cotton growers of the county received an estimated $148,500 for 3,300 bales which sold for an averaged of about $45 per bale Cotton seed sold for around $12 per bale. This income was considerably in excess of the 1932 cotton revenue, the agent pointed out, incidentally.

This year, based on an average of about $65 per bale, plus parity and rental payment, the Eastland county cotton growers will receive approximately $162,000 for 2,000 bales. Cotton seed is now selling for from $36 to $40 per ton, or $18 to $20 per bale.

Delay Criticized

The only criticism on the Bankhead bill in this section, said Patterson, is the delay in issuing tax exemption certificates. It is now evident, he said, that thsee certificates will not be available until about the first of October, so much time being required by the state committee to approve the allotments.

The effects of this delay have been overcome to a certain extent by the regulation permitting the county agent's office to issue "interim" certificates covering 50 per cent of the county committee's estimate of the farmer's allotment. These "interim" certificates are issued the growers and retained by the ginner for the amount of cotton released through the gin for sale without payment of the tax. When the regular certificate arrived, the interim certificates will be used to cancel an equal amount of the regular certificates while the remainder of the cotton allotted the grower will then be freed to him for sale without taxation.

Only farmers upon land that produced cotton in the base years prior to 1933 are eligible to receive "interim" certificates.

Only Part

Allocations to land that has been put in cotton since 1933 will be made by the state committee after all other allotments are made through the county committees and approved by the state committee. A percentage of the state allocation is retained to take care of these cases.

The return from the 1934 cotton crop, Patterson pointed out, represent only a part of the county's agricultural income from federal reduction programs. At the moment there are cattle payment vouchers to the amount of approximately $48,000 in circulation in the county. The cattle buying program has been suspended He estimated that it will be two weeks before this buying is resumed It has been indicated that a move to withdraw from this program due to improved ranges and other acuses is under way.

Patterson also received this week for distribution to participants in the corn-hog program, all but 26 of the 378 checks due growers. These represent in total $11,000. He delivered a number of the vouchers here this morning at the chamber of commerce.

Another large consignment of government bonus money for cotton growers is due late in October when the second rental payment and the parity payment will be combined for distribution, the county agent said.

RESOLUTIONS SEEK BANKHEAD BILL CHANGE

A petition signed by 44 farmers of the Williams community near May, Texas, last Friday, copies of which have been distributed to the press of this area, calls upon congress to amend the Bankhead bill so as to exempt from the operation of the bill growers who plant only 33 and one-third per cent of their tillable soil to cotton and to subject all who plant above that amount to percentage taxation equal to the eprcentage of tillable land in cultivation.

The resolution reads:

William Agricultural association,
Sept. 14, 1934

Mr. Chairman:

We, your comimttee, beg leave to make the following report: Be it resolved that the Bankhead bill be amended so that any cotton grower who does not plant more than thirty-three and one third per cent (33 1-3)) of the tillable land to the growing of cotton shall be exempt from the operation of the Bankhead bill. Be it resolved further, that those who plant more than thrity-three and one third per cent cetn of their tillable land in cototn shall pay the government of the United States a tax equal to the amount of increase. That is, if a grower should plant fifty per cent, he would pay the government fifty per cent, sixty per cent, sixty per cent, and so on. If a man plants all his tillable land in cotton, he shall pay all to the government. Be it resolved further, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Brownwood Banner, Rising Star Record, the Cisco , the Brownwood Bulletin, the Coleman Voice, Judge C. L. South, Senators Tom Connally, Morris Shepherd.

Signed by the committee on resolutions:

B. R. Chambers, chairman; J. M. Moore, J. R. Dill, W. H. Haynes.

The above resolutions were adopted and signed by the following farmers:

C. C. ENDORSES BUS PERMIT APPLICATION

Endorsement of the application of A. L. Barton to establish a daily bus service between Cisco and Coleman via Rising Star, Cross Plains and Burkett, was voted by the chamber of commerce board of directors in regular session Tuesday night. Sec'y Spencer of the chamber will appear at the railroad commission hearing here Monday on the subject to represent the chamber.

The board also took steps to promote a rehousing and home improvement and repair campaign here in line with the Federal Housing administration program. An executive committee to survey the city and develop the campaign was appointed to consist of Charles Sandler, J. T. Berry, Connie Davis and T. Hunter Foley. Named to act as an advisory committee were Joe Clements, J. G. Rupe, and H. T. Johnson, all contractors.

Spencer read a letter to the board from the U. S. department of agriculture in which the department pointed out that it was endeavoring through an agency in active operation for some time to meet such condition as the Cisco chamber recently complained of with reference to the high cost of cottontseed meal cake.

Cattlemen's Protest

The secretary said he had prepared a brief upon the complaint of local cattlemen which showed that cake made from last yearr's cottonseed, bought at $12 per ton, was selling at $40 to $45 a ton, a price that was felt inconsistent with a just profit and prohibitive for feeding purpcses. The board endorsed the secretary's action in the case.

The board, taking cognizance of a complaint from Scranton that unless the road to Cisco was bettered cotton growers there would be forced to take their cotton to gins elsewhere, directed that representation be made the county commissioner's court on the subject.

Spencer announced that T. H. Elliston of the Palo Duro State park and representing State Park board Chairman D. E. Colp, would come to Cisco today to supervise the showing of educational films relating to park development.

"This," said Mr. Spencer, "is preparatory to an effort to secure a CCC camp for Cisco for the purpose of developing recreational grounds and facilities here."

In the absence of President Charles Hale, now on vacation in Arkansas, Vice President J. J. Colin presided. Other directors present were Cole, Crawford, Jones, LaRoque, Nance and Shepard.

Feed Loans to Be Available Nov. 1

Beginning November 1, 1934, farmers and stockmen in the primary drouth areas may get feed loan allowance for this year's heifer calves, ewe lambs, and female kids in addition to the allowances being made for mature stock, according to Charles W. Sherrill, regional manager of the emergency crop and feed loan office at Dallas.

Mr. Sherrill said that feed loan allowances will be made only on such stock which are retained primarily for breeding purposes; and in no event will allowances be made to feed a larger number of young and mature stock in their respective classes than the number of mature breeding stock which were owne possessed by the borrower on 1, 1934, or on sheep owned with months prior to that date.

The emergency feed loans are being advanced in the pr drouth areas are disbursed fro drouth relief apropriation ap June 10, 1934, and made in mo allowances. Applications are ceived by the local crop and loan committees operating in ties throughout the drouth area gun early in July, to date more $2,000 of such loans and su mental advances have been for over $2,000,000.

FARMERS GET 27 MILLION IN OCT. PAYMENTS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 20—Cotton planters will receive approximately $72,500,000 in benefit payments next month, the agricultural adjustment administration announced Saturday.

The administration decided to combine the third payment in the 1934 cotton adjustment program — the parity due in December —with the second installment of the rental payment.

The parity payment to contracting cotton producers totals $28,000,000 and the second installment of the rental payment is approximately $44,500,000.

C. A. Cobb, chief of the cotton production section, said that tenants and share croppers had an interest in the parity payment and that to delay the payment until December, the usual season for many tenants and renters to move to other farms, would cause unnecessary complications.

Methvin Is Awaiting Trial in Oklahoma

MIAMI, Okla., Sept. 20 — Henry Methvin, pardoned from a Texas prison term because he supplied information which led to the killing of Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker, was under heavy guard here Tuesday awaiting trial on a charge of murdering Constable Cal Campbell. Methvin, brought here from Shreveport, was quoted as admitting he was present when Campbell was shot last April 6, but that he had nothing to do with the killing.

Officers said he contended he was helping push a car and did not fire the fatal shot.

"Full Feeling" After Meals

Here is how Thedford's Black-Draught proved helpful to Mr. Archie W. Brown, of Fort Green, Fla.: "I have taken Black-Draught when I have felt dull from overeating or eating too hurriedly," he writes. "Small doses right after meals rid me of gases and heavy feeling. I am a great believer in Black-Draught."

Mobilubrication Certified Lubrication
SOCONY VACUUM

WEAR goes on but you don't see it. Fast driving on the highway . . . repeated stopping and starting in traffic . . . all take their toll in wear. Vital parts worn dangerously thin through lack of lubrication are apt to fail at a crucial moment.

A car that is lubricated properly will last longer. When life hangs in balance it will repay you a thousand times with lightning acceleration..brakes that hold..instant response in an emergency.

Mobilubrication was created in answer to the need for safe, accurate and dependable lubrication. The Magnolia Man who Mobilubricates your car is a trained lubrication specialist. He works from a chart showing every grease fitting on your particular model and applies the right amount of the special Mobilgrease as recommended by your automobile manufacturer. Your car is lubricated as it should be.

Mobilubrication is strictly a Socony-Vacuum Service, available only at Magnolia Stations and Dealers in the Southwest.

Be Sure You Get ALL 4 SAFETY FACTORS

1—PROPER TRAINING Magnolia Men are thoroughly schooled in the responsibility and application of correct lubrication. They know their business!

2—ACCURATE CHARTS . . The Charts used in Magnolia Stations are prepared in cooperation with the engineers who built your automobile.

3—CORRECT EQUIPMENT . . . Every Station has complete modern equipment, selected after extensive research by Magnolia Engineers.

4—RIGHT GREASES . . Several different Mobilgreases are used to resist heat—water—pressure. Mobilgrease stays on the job!

FORD offers this NEW SERVICE

. . . Instead of an "Overhaul" a factory reconditioned engine

Every mechanism, no matter how finely made, eventually wears and must be reconditioned. Automobile engines are no exception.

The Ford V-8 is the finest, most dependable and most rugged engine Ford has ever built. But there comes a time when any piece of machinery should be reconditioned to renew the efficiency originally built into it.

The Factory that built this engine is best equipped to recondition it. Here are the men, the precision equipment and the inspection methods which insured the excellence of the engine in the first place. Therefore the Ford Motor Company has instituted this exclusive new service to owners of Ford cars and trucks. When the owner of any Ford built since 1927 finds that his engine needs an "overhaul", he can have a factory reconditioned engine—at approximately half the cost of an old-fashioned "overhaul".

The Ford owner not only gets a much better job at far less cost—but only a few hours are required to make the exchange.

This "Exchange Plan", which also includes many other units of Ford cars and trucks is an important forward step in automotive practice.

HOW THIS NEW SERVICE WORKS

If you need an engine "overhaul" simply drive your Ford into the nearest Ford dealer's. The engine will be lifted from the car. Carburetor, distributor and other units will be removed and placed on a cylinder assembly that has been completely reconditioned at the Rouge Plant of the Ford Motor Company, Dearborn, Michigan.

You get a complete assembly consisting of cylinder block with mirror-finish cylinder bores, new main bearings, a crankshaft with all bearing surfaces just like new. Also new pistons, piston pins, piston rings and a set of connecting rods equal to new. Included in the assembly, of course, are the camshaft, push rods, valves, valve springs and retainers. Cylinder head with new cylinder head gasket is bolted on. The timing gears and front cover are in place and the oil pump is included. It is a complete cylinder block assembly—carefully inspected and block-tested—ready to give you new engine performance.

With no waste of time the reconditioned engine is put back into your car or truck. Only a few hours are required for the entire job. And you have an engine that's as good as new.

Many Other Units Included In This Exchange Service

If your carburetor, generator, or any of several other important units need major repairs it can be replaced with a factory-reconditioned unit—at much less than the usual cost of repairs. Note the low charges for factory-reconditioned parts:

Engine	V-8	"4"
Cyl. Assembly	$49.50*	$46.50*
Distributor	1.90	—
Carburetor	1.85	—
Shock Absorber	2.00	2.00
Fuel Pump	1.65	1.65
Clutch Disc Assembly	2.75	2.75

Tea Compliments Bride-To-Be

Cisco friends of Miss Prudence Roberts will be interested in the following news from the Breckenridge American:

"In a lovely tea from 3:30 to 6:30 Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Jennie Roberts announced the coming marriage of her daughter, Prudence, to Mr. Wilson Hart of Eastland. The wedding will take place Oct. 14.

"The guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Pete Jones and were presented to the receiving line which included, Mrs. Roberts, Prudence Roberts, Miss Marjorie Brittain, Mrs. W. A. Hart and Mrs. V. W. Hart of Eastland. Little Barbara Jeanne Sublett attired in green and yellow which carried out the color scheme, presented each guest with a card from a silver tray bearing the inscription, "Prudence-Wilson, Oct. 14."

"The living room was ornamented with huge bouquets of yellow daisies and fern. In the dining room the table was covered with a lace spread with a lighted flower bowl of crysanthemums and ferns for a centerpiece. Mrs. Marshall Spradling and Miss Sue Clark of Cisco presided over the silver coffee services. Miss Rudine Branch served attractive plates which carried out the color scheme of yellow and green. Corsages of crysanthemums and fern tied with yellow and green ribbon were used for favors. Little Barbara Jean Sublett sang, "Old Spinning Wheel", and "Let Me Call You Sweetheart". Piano selections were played throughout the afternoon by Miss Rachel B. McDonald. Before leaving each guest signed her name in a green and yellow brides book. There weer sixty guests called during the afternoon."

due the United States of America by reason of any loan obtained in accordance with the provisons of this act, and in the event no loan and-or grant has been received by said district, as herein contemplated, by January January 1, 1940, then the grand and donation to said district herein provided for shall be null and void. If the grand and-or loan from the United States, herein contemplated has not been received by the said Brazos River Conservation and Reclamation district by September 1, 1935, then the funds and moneys hereby donated to said district shall be paid monthly as collected by the tax collectors of said respective counties to the state treasurer of Texas instead of the treasurer of said district, which funds and moneys shall be impounded by the state treasurer in a special fund until such loan and-or grant is received from the United States, whereupon such funds and moneys shall be delivered by the state treasurer to the treaurer of the said Brazos Valley Conservation and Reclamation district, together with any interest accumulated thereon, in the manner provided, and thereafter in the manner provided, and thereafter the collectors of said respective counties shall begin making monthly remittances, as herein directed, to the treasurer of said Brazos River Conservation and Reclamation district; provided, however, that in the event the grant and-or loan from the United States is not received by January 1, 1940, all of such funds and moneys together with any accrued interest thereon, shall be turned over to the state treasurer and by him placed in the general fund. Etc"

50 Million Asked

The district, Mr. Harrell explained, will ask for a loan of $50,000,000. The $30,000,000 portion will be sought for the construction of 12 major dams and the power plant and the $20,000,000 portion for building the series of smaller dams and projects and conducting the general conservaiton and anti-soil erosion program.

The bill was drawn by the district board at the instance of Congressman Mansfield, who is chairman of the powerful house appropriations committee, who explained that this evidence of state good faith and cooperation is a requisite to federal interest in the project.

Power revenues are expected to pay off the entire loan, Mr. Harrell explained.

by an American munitions firm, and then loaned another naval officer to that power's prospective adversary to plan harbor defenses against those same submarines with guns furnished by another American munitions maker.

We have heard the heads of one of our greatest munitions firms, one which amassed profits of hundreds of millions of dollars in the last war, smugly prate of their patriotism and give utterance to the same old propaganda of hate which led us into that war in which we were involved largely for the protection of munitions makers' profits.

Inquiry Not Limited

The business of this committee is to get at the facts and present them to the senate and the American people. This duty the committee intends to carry out without fear or favor.

Current stories that the committee's activities are to be limited or circumscribed by anyone whomsoever are utterly without foundation in fact.

There is no authority which can limit the scope of the investigation except the body which authorized it—the United States senate itself.

The very great interest which is being manifested throughout the nation and indeed throughout the world in the progress of the investigation and the rising demands of liberal forces for similar examinations of the skeletons in their own closets afford very solid grounds for the hope that this investigation may contribute greatly to exposing this whole sordid picture and help in the prevention of war by contributing to the removal of one of its fundamental causes—the opportunity for private profit.

PATENTS OFFERED JAPANESE NAVY

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 20—John E. Young, president of the Federal Laboratories, Inc., Pittsburgh, testified today before the senate munitions committee that he offered in 1932 to sell tear gas patents, manufacturing processes and formulae to the Japanese navy.

Evidence that U. S. munitions salesmen offered to train an entire South American army in chemical warfare tactics also was obtained by the senate investigators.

Agents for an Ohio gas and bomb factory, it was learned, sought to equip one South American nation with modern poison gases, and agreed to include in the contract a provision for instruction of officers and troops.

The American salesmen also offered to build factories in the country to manufacture gas and bombs. Meanwhile, investigators said, a rival American firm traded extensively in other South American nations.

Loboes---

Powerhouse

Behind them at full-back will be Caffrey, powerful 175-pound veteran, and one of the best blockers ever to have been seen in the oil belt. Caffrey's talents are not confined to that department but embrace almost every phase of the game. He runs, plunges and passes with a power that will greatly re-enforce what is otherwise an average team.

The game, originally scheduled for the afternoon, has been transferred to the night to allow for the larger attendance that will be possible at that time. Admission is 25 and 15 cents.

Under the kleigs the Loboes will appear for the first time in their revolutionary 1934 garb, in which a practically solid black has been substituted for the former practically solid gold of the school's colors. Gold numerals and gold strips on the pants will relieve the black, so that what is said to be a very attractive color combination has been achieved.

Officials for the game will be J. D. Vernon, Bill Smith and Clyde Wilkins.

The Parent-Teacher association held its first meeting of the new schol year at the west ward school Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. D. Ball, president, presided.

Mrs. Charles Yates, named health chairman to succeed Mrs. A. L. Myrick, reported that 40 children were examined b ythe clinic at the summer roundup, 88 defects were found, and that 55 free serum treatments were given during the summer. She said that nine health slips from the clinic had been returned and that 16 detected defects had been corrected.

A total of $9.50 was collected from penny contribution bottles in various business houses, it was reported by Mrs. Alsup, treasurer. These bottles collect pennies which are placed in the free milk fund of the P.-T. A. They will be replaced Saturday, Mrs. Alsup said.

Mrs. H. L. Dyer was named chairman of the ways and means committee.

Program

Program for the meeting included a violin solo by Marion Bruce, and a talk by Supt. R. N. Cluck on "What Is Best for the Child."

A 100 per cent attendance of west ward teachers was reported. Four mothers were present from the grammar school and three from the high school.

Dues of the members were reduced from 50 to 35 cents.

Following was the record of collection by penny bottles in the various business houses as reported by the treasurer:

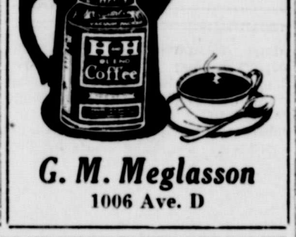

Manhattan cafe, 18; Edwards cafe, 43c; Buckhorn cafe, 58c; Magnolia service station, 21c; Red Front Drug, 21c; Savoy cafe, 82c; Dean Drug, $1.945 J. C.
