Only 1 hospital candidate files as deadline nears

Tuesday is the filing deadline for the Mitchell County Hospital District board of directors, and by Friday, only one candidate had filed, according to hospital administrator Ray Mason.

He said that incumbent Jane McCarley has submitted her application. Her term, along with the terms of Bob Reilly and Jack Perkins are expiring this year.

Meanwhile, voters in the Colorado Independent School District will have a variety of candidates to choose from when voters go to the polls on April 5.

CISD board incumbents Dwayne Harris, Ronnie Aston and Floyd Lee Ritchey along with Brenda Aguillon are seeking election to three three-year terms on the board. David Lelak, John Taylor and Eddie Gregory have filed for election for a one-year unexpired term, currently held by Ritchey. Ritchey was appointed to the position to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of S. L. (Mac) Morris.

Board president Eddie Piland chose not to seek re-election.

Three persons, including two incumbents, have filed for election to the three positions open on the Colorado City council. Incumbents Tom Lovell and Robert Hoback had filed for re-election to the two-year terms. Phil Anderson is the other candidate.

Mayor pro-tem Jesse Munoz decided not to seek re-election.

'Farm Crisis Seminar' set

A "Farm Crisis Seminar" will be held at the Taylor Electric Cooperative Inc., at 1610 North First (Old Highway 80) in Merkel, at 6 p.m. Tuesday, March 11 sponsored by the Texas Department of Agriculture, the Texas Farm Crisis Hotline and area attorneys and financial advisors. Texas Agricultural Commissioner Jim Hightower announced.

The seminar is designed to provide farmers with information about the Farmers Home Administration, bankruptcy, foreclosure, taxes, and other pertinent topics.

All farmers are encouraged to attend the free seminar and receive about three hours of legal and financial information. A question and answer session will be included in the seminar.

Nearly 800 farmers attended the first four Farm Crisis seminars held in Lubbock, Amarillo, Houston and Greenville in January. Farmers were able to get firsthand answers to their questions about the options available to them as they suffer through the worst economic crisis since the Great Depression.

The Texas Farm Crisis Hotline, organized by TDA, is a free service for farmers affected by the current economic crisis in rural Texas. It is funded by a grant from Willie Nelson's FarmAid program along with commitments from Milbern Travel Agency of Austin, the Texas Conference of Churches, the Texas Baptist Conference, Texas Rural Legal Aid and other legal service organizations. The Texas Corn Growers Association and private contributions.

Located in Austin, the hotline is staffed 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

At schools' open houses

Sesquicentennial celebrated

The Texas Sesquicentennial, the state's 150th birthday, was focal during the open houses at Kelley and Hutchinson elementary schools Tuesday during Texas Public Schools Week as families and friends visited the classrooms.

Two classrooms at Kelley Elementary caught the eye of many visitors. Mrs. Wilma Reynolds' second grade class made and displayed a Sesquicentennial quilt and Mrs. Janet Mayo's class presented a play about the state's heritage and birthday celebration for parents.

Mrs. Reynolds explains that the study of Texas products and symbols of Texas was used as a basis for making the Sesquicentennial quilt.

"Each child was given a picture and an idea to help him create his own design," explained Mrs. Reynolds. "The final picture was done in crayons on material. The student sewed his square onto the quilt with a sewing machine."

Mrs. Jessie Alvarez, a school aide, assisted the students with the sewing.

Bobby Lemons, school principal, added his artistic piece to the quilt as did Mrs. Reynolds and her student teacher, Kelley Miller.

"Not only did the students learn about the 150th birthday of Texas, they also learned the fundamentals of quilt making," said Mrs. Reynolds.

Mrs. Mayo said her first grade class decided to celebrate the Sesquicentennial with a "birthday party" for Texas.

Students presented historical facts about the six flags that have flown over Texas and explained the state symbols.

The first graders also participated in a choral reading "Stout City, Sue" and as a

Colorado River study to focus on salinity problems

The U.S. Geological Survey and the Colorado River Municipal Water District are joining in a study of salinity problems along the Colorado River and its substantial tributaries from Lake J. B. Thomas to confluence of the Concho River.

The three-year evaluation will cost approximately $300,000, which will be shared equally by the agencies. Field work will be done by the USGS through its San Angelo office, and reports will be available.

Water gain and loss investigations will be made on the Colorado, also on major tributaries such as Beals Creek, Elm Creek and the Concho River. Salinity levels will be determined during several specified three-day intervals during summer low-flow stages and winter medium-flow periods.

Water wells within a few miles of the river will be investigated and tested for water levels and salinity. All possible sources of saline intrusion will be explored, including natural salt seeps, discharges from improperly plugged oil wells, disposals, etc.

All field data collection will be directed by Raymond Slade, hydrologist with the USGS in San Angelo. Field personnel will be contacting land and well owners to take advantage of their knowledge. Anyone desiring additional information may inquire of the USGS at 1409 Knickerbocker Road, San Angelo, Texas 76904, or telephone 915-655-9616.

'Western Tour' set

The Wallace Center senior citizens and friends are invited to sign up for a "Western Tour" including Las Vegas and the Grand Canyon.

The tour, April 14-18, will cost $210 per person which includes bus fare and hotel rooms. A deposit of $40 must be paid by Thursday, March 13 at the Wallace Center. Reservations will be taken on a first-come, first-served basis, with persons 60 years and over given first preference. The trip is limited to 39 persons.

Points of interest on the trip will include Albuquerque, N.M., the Painted Desert and Petrified Forest of Arizona; Hoover Dam, Lake Mead and the Grand Canyon; Las Vegas; Phoenix; White Sands National Monument; and Cloudcroft, N.M.

Other information will be given upon registration. The deposit can be transferred to another if reservations must be canceled.

BOREDOM

Rev. Julius Early - Pastor

First United Methodist Church

Once I saw The Covenant Players do a short, one-act play in which there were only two characters. The play opened with a man sitting in an easy-chair under a spot-light--apparently watching T.V. He wore several watches on his wrists and arms, and he fidgeted as he watched T.V. Suddenly he called out, "OH, Miss...." and immediately a young woman dressed in white appeared in the light with him. She asked what she could do for him and he replied, "Well, I have thirteen Roll Royces, 23 Mercedes, 18 Rolex watches--but I'm Bored! I've decided that I want to go to that other place--yes, send me to hell!" To which the young lady replied, "But, Sir, I thought you understood--you ARE IN HELL!"

Lots of folks today are BORED! and we need to ask why. Most people have more time and money at their disposal than in any other period of history. Time and money that we can choose to use any way we want. The Prophet Isaiah speaks to our condition:

"Why do you spend your money for that which is not bread, and your labor for that which does not satisfy? Seek the Lord while he maybe found, call upon him while he is near; let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts; let him return to the Lord, that he may have mercy on him, and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon." (Isaiah 55:6-7)

The Prophet lays out a solution for us--find a person! Find a purpose! Find the Lord! Boredom is a deadly enemy of God--it is a virtual denial of God's goodness, grace and animation of this life and this world! Life was not meant to be hum-drum, and we were not created to be bored! Find God and find out why He created You!

If there's one thing you can count on in this part of Texas, it's a steady flow of electricity. Every time you flip a switch or plug in an appliance, you depend on power being there instantly. This reliable supply of electricity would not be readily available to homes, businesses and industries without the efforts of our hard-working employees. Because of their firm dedication, we've been able to hold down electricity costs while meeting the needs of one of the nation's fastest-growing areas.

At Texas Utilities Electric Company, planning for your energy future is just as important as helping you use your electricity wisely today. Part of the effort is pursuit of strict cost controls, options such as our Energy Action Program, cogeneration arrangements with industry and the use of lower-cost Texas lignite coal for generating fuel.

The right amount of electricity for our area, at the right price. We're working to make sure that your supply of electricity stays as dependable as ever.

Older Worker Week proclaimed

Mitchell County Judge Bill Carter has signed a proclamation declaring March 9-15 as Older Worker Week in Mitchell County.

"Older Texans are among our most important resources. Today, older men and women are valued members of our work force and we are committed to giving them every opportunity to lead full and productive lives," the proclamation reads.

"Older workers possess unique skills, capabilities and talents, all gained through years of experience, hard work and dedication.

"For more than two decades, the Texas Farmers Union Green Thumb Program has provided training and employment opportunities for our older rural Texans and, in coordination with the Job Training and Partnership Act Programs, even greater numbers of seniors will enter the job market."

Older Worker Week is an annual event designed to spotlight the valuable contributions of older Texans as productive members of the state's work force. Representatives of the Senior Community Service Employment Programs, Texas Department on Aging and the Department of Labor joined the Governor Mark White in acknowledging that senior workers are among our most important resources.

Senior Community Service Employment Programs employ over 3,000 seniors, 55 years of age or older, who provide needed services to non-profit organizations; such as senior centers, local school districts, public libraries and municipalities.

"Older workers possess unique skills and capabilities acquired through years of experience and hard work," said Joe Rankin, president, Texas Farmers Union, "and we support both private and public efforts to provide older Texans with gainful employment opportunities." Texas Farmers Union sponsors the state's two largest older worker programs, Green Thumb and the Senior Texans Employment Program.

Diet questions need to be asked

By Debbie Christian County Extension Agent

Are you thinking about going on a diet? Before you spend your money for a particular diet book, class, or plan, here are some questions to ask:

Is the effectiveness of the program well documented or is it based on testimonials by "successful" clients?

Does the program make sen-

"eat all you want" or "lose ten pounds over night?" If so, what's the scientific evidence for these claims?

Is the program supervised by qualified personnel, such as a medical doctor or registered dietitian?

Does the program focus on diet alone, or does it include behavior and lifestyle modifications? Does the staff have any expertise in these areas?

Are the diets nutritionally balanced to include foods from the major food groups of protein foods like meat, poultry and fish; fruits and vegetables, dairy products, grains and cereals?

Does the program suggest unreasonably rapid weight loss over a short period of time?

Does the program require the purchase of special foods, devices, supplements, books or other extra items and can the purchase be justified?

TRIVIA

Do you like trivia? Not me! I hate trivia questions. I never know the answers to questions I am asked and I'm never asked the questions that I can answer. So you can imagine how delighted I was the other day when I finally got a question I could answer. I was the only one the group, ha-ha, who knew that nearsightedness was technically called myopia. Seems people are always getting those "opias" mixed up. Well here is a mini-lesson for all you people who know the name of Tom Mix's horse but can't remember your "opias."

MYOPIA (or nearsightedness) is a common vision condition in which a person sees close objects clearly but cannot see distant objects with the same clarity.

HYPEROPIA (or farsightedness) is a vision condition in which distant objects are usually seen closely but close objects are not brought into proper focus.

PRESBYOPIA is a vision condition that occurs when the crystalline lens of the eye gradually loses its ability to bring close objects into clear focus. It usually becomes noticeable when people reach their early-to-mid forties and is a natural part of the aging process.

AMBLYOPIA is the unexplained loss or lack of full development of vision in one eye which is not fully correctable with lenses and is not the result of any identifiable eye health problem. The cause of amblyopia is usually due to conditions such as crossed-eyes or a large difference in refraction error between the two eyes...now if I could just get a question on fishing...

B&PW style show set for March 16

In celebration of the Texas Sesquicentennial, the Colorado City Business and Professional Women's Club, Inc. is sponsoring a style show called "150 Years of Fashion" at 2 p.m. Sunday, March 16 in the lobby of First Western Savings and Loan.

"We're really excited about it," said Shirley DeLaney, chairman of the event. "Along with local merchants showing this year's fashions, the museum, playhouse and some individuals are loaning us clothing from the last century up through the middle part of this century so we can show how styles have changed over the years."

Merchants participating in the style show include Anthony's, Aston's, C-C Athletics, Eddie's Pharmacy, Free's Friendly Shop, Landau's, Perkin's Apothecary and Mercantile, Perry's and Wood's Boots.

Commentators for the show will be Marian Craddock and Marie Jackson and entertainment will include a presentation of manners of bygone days.

Music will be provided by Ann Gregory and door prizes will be awarded.

Tickets are already on sale at $2 each and are available at City National Bank and Free's Friendly Shop, as well as from BPW members.

Chairmen of the style show committees are: Mildred Free and Judy Winkle, merchant contacts; Glenna Garrett and Dee Hearn, program; Gene Rowe and Barbara Gray, decorations and displays; Margaret Ann Conaway and Molly Bruce, refreshments; LaRue Powell and Ernestine Stubblefield, model coordination; Joy Culwell and Glenna Garrett, publicity; Virginia Dearen, door rizes; and Anna Staats, tickets.

"We urge everyone to come see '150 Years of Fashion,'" said Mrs. DeLaney. "It will be a lot of fun."

A Sesquicentennial Series

Settling in on the frontier

As colonists streamed into Texas from the United States, young settlements began to resemble the homelands. Townfolks gathered near San Felipe, Brazoria, and Harrisburg, for instance, recreating the villages they knew back home. Frontier families, not wanting to see smoke from their neighbors' chimneys in Texas any more than they had in Kentucky, sought isolated homesteads.

By the late 1820s, sailing vessels made regular visits to the Brazos River and Galveston Bay from New Orleans, bringing essential supplies in exchange for agricultural and forest products. Historian Margaret Henson points out that money was even scarcer in Texas than in the United States, and a barter economy soon evolved with the establishment of standard values—a cow and calf equaled ten dollars, for example.

As soon as sawmills were established on the Brazos and Buffalo Bayou, villagers boarded over their log cabins. Glass windows, paint, and attractive interiors became common by 1830. Families that could afford them brought Dearborn spring wagons for more comfortable travel.

Tree stumps lay rotting in some village streets, leading several visitors to assume incorrectly that the towns had no land-use plans. Actually, each village was laid out on a plat system. In San Felipe, colonists divided each block into six lots 120 ft. by 180 ft., with 10-acre suburban garden plots available to the elite seeking privacy from noise and filth in the town squares.

Village stores carried imported staples such as flour, sugar, pickled meat, tea, coffee, kitchenware, farming tools, medicine, and fabrics. Merchants offered local items as well—eggs, butter, fruit, nuts, and corn. A butcher at San Felipe sold portions of beef in 1828 for four cents per pound.

Contrary to some travel accounts, Henson says, most Texans had a variety of food in season. Critical visitors complaining about "coffee, cornbread and pork" most likely stopped only at destitute homes, where the weather or insects may have demolished food supplies.

Texas villages boasted professional services, according to Henson. Lawyers abounded, many of the "corn-stalk" variety without much training. At least three doctors had practices in San Felipe. These and other doctors made housecalls to treat both white and slave families. Schools met irregularly, depending on whether teachers were available. One merchant maintained a lending library stocked with the popular writers of the day, including Sir Walter Scott.

The Texas frontier could be rugged and harsh, challenging pioneer women in particular. They spun their own thread and wove their own cloth, and some made clothing from buckskin. Rural women had cows to milk, hogs to feed, turkeys and geese to tend, and vegetable gardens to manage, besides the household chores. Frontier life required stamina.

Decorating course set

A two week "You Can Make It" program featuring low cost, do-it-yourself home decorating ideas will be taught by County Extension Agent, Debbie Christian. Classes are March 13 and 20, 6:30 p.m. at the Wallace Center.

The first class will focus on window fashions—shades, cornices, and valances and techniques for creative window treatment. Demonstrations will also be given for padded headboards and fabric covered walls.

Table fashions will be demonstrated the second week—tablecloths, runners, placemats, and napkins. Both classes will be demonstrated with handouts and instructions given for each project.

This program is conducted jointly with Wallace Center Community Education and the Texas Agricultural Service. To register, please contact the Mitchell County Extension Office, 728-3111. You may attend one or both classes.
