YANKS EDGE BUMS, 6-5

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP)—Two home runs by Joe Collins carried the New York Yankees to a 6-5 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers today in the first game of the 54th world series. A crowd of 63,869 saw a slugging match marked by five homers and a Dodger rally that fell just short of tying the score in the eighth inning.

Collins smashed his second homer of the game with Yogi Berra on base in the sixth inning to provide the deciding runs after he had given them the lead in the fourth with a bases-empty circuit blow.

Elston Howard also hit a Yankee homer and Carl Furillo and Duke Snider walloped a pair for the Dodgers as the starting pitchers, Whitey Ford and Don Newcombe, had a rough time.

Ford finally was yanked after Brooklyn had scored twice in the eighth, with the aid of Gil McDougald's two-base error, and Bob Grim finished. Newcombe went out in the sixth, soon after Collins' second homer.

The cannonaiding started in the second inning when Furillo led off the Brooklyn half with his sixth World Series homer — an all-time high for a national leaguer.

Jackie Robinson smashed a triple into left center between Irv Noren and Elston Howard and scored when Don Zimmer looped a basehit over second.

The Yanks tied it up in the last half of the second. Newcombe walked Collins and then Howard, in his first time at bat in a World Series, drove one into the lower right field stands along the foul line for a homer.

Duke Snider put Brooklyn ahead for the second time when he opened the third with a mighty home run belt into the third deck of the tall stadium stands back of right field.

Ike's Progress Described As 'Satisfactory'

DENVER (AP) — President Eisenhower's doctors reported this morning that he had a second comfortable night's sleep with satisfactory progress toward recovery.

A 7 a.m. Denver time medical bulletin from Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, White House physician, and Col. Byron E. Pollock, chief of heart services at Fitzsimons Army Hsopital, said:

"For the second consecutive night the President slept comfortable throughout the night. He went to sleep last night at 8:30 o'clock and awoke refreshed at 6:30 oclock this morning.

"His progress continues to be satisfactory without complications."

In Washington, reports such as this were the basis of confidence within the Eisenhower team that the President will be able to take over the helm of government within 30 days. In the interval, Eisenhower's top aides reportedly were ready to carry on business as usual on the basis of policy decisions he had laid down before Saturday's attack.

Even so, the medical experts attending the President at Fitzsimons still cautiously avoided outright predictions that recovery is absolutely certain and that no complications now need be expected.

The first 10 days or two weeks are the critical time in heart attacks such as the one Eisenhower suffered.

Last night's medical communique, reporting that the Presilent had had "another satisfactory day" devoid of complication brought word from heart specialist Dr. Paul Dudley White in Boston that while Eisenhower was "coming along nicely" he still was "not out of the woods yet."

The Boston physician, who flew here Sunday and left next day, said Eisenhower's progress was in the expected pattern — neither faster nor slower than normal.

Nevertheless, tension over the chief executive's illness continued to ease a bit here. Hopes brightened for the President's recovery before any crisis arises over shifting of his powers to other officials.

Cardinal May Be Released

By TOM REEDY

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski, 54, confined just two years in a secluded monastery, will be released "very soon" — perhaps in several weeks — Polish authorities said today.

The cardinal, arch enemy of the Communist regime since church and state differences boiled over in 1953, has been held in a monastery in Bialystok, Warsaw officials disclosed.

His whereabouts had been concealed even from the usually well-informed Vatican since he was arrested Sept. 26, 1953.

He was reported to be in good health.

Storm Threat Faces Texas

By The Associated Press

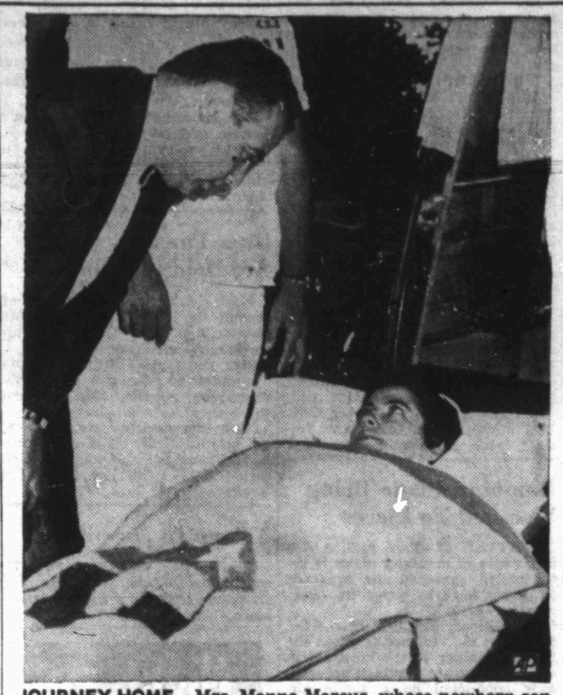

Hurricane Janet tossed a rough weather threat at South Texas Wednesday as the mighty Brazos River started falling after a near-record rise on its upper reaches around Seymour.

A Weather Bureau advisory said the newest storm in the Gulf of Mexico was expected to hit the coast of Mexico between Vera Cruz and Tuxtan early Thursday. It was blowing gale winds 200 miles to the north and 100 miles to the south of the center.

The Weather Bureau warned tides would rise as far north as Port O'Connor, southeast of Victoria, and some low beaches were expected to be awash late Wednesday night.

The backlash of another hurricane Hilda, which followed a pa somewhat similar to the one Janet is taking caused heavy rains and some flooding in South Texas a few weeks ago.

Only scattered showers were forecast for Texas Wednesday.

JOURNEY HOME—Mrs. Manna Marcus, whose newborn son was stolen from the Mt. Zion hospital nursery in San Francisco a week ago, is comforted by her husband, Dr. Sanford Marcus, as she is about to be placed in an ambulance for a journey home. Her sadness turned to happiness when she learned the baby had been surrendered to a Roman Catholic priest. The woman with the child, Mrs. Betty Benedicto, 27, of Stockton, was arrested by FBI agents.

State's Selective Service Chief Quits

AUSTIN (AP)—Brig. Gen. Paul L. Wakefield resigned as state selective service director today, effective Sept. 30. Simultaneously, Gov. Allan Shivers announced recommendation to President Eisenhower that Lt. Col. Morris S. Schwartz, present deputy, succeed Wakefield.

The governor recommended that Schwartz's appointment be effective Oct. 1.

Both Wakefield's resignation and the recommendation for Schwartz's advancement will go through the national director of Selective Service, Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, to the President.

Wakefield, who reached retirement age in the U.S. Army in May of this year, has been connected with state Selective Service in Texas since early in World War II. He had been director for more than six and a half years, receiving his appointment from former President Truman on recommendation of the late Gov. Beauford Jester.

Shivers sent a letter to Wakefield expressing "much regret" over his resignation.

"Our state, and especially its young people, have been fortunate to have this most important activity in the hands of so understanding, considerate and fine a gentleman," said Shivers, adding:

"I think it was a fitting addition to your long career of service to Texas and to the United States that you should have headed the agency which so intimately affected the future of our young men during this important period of history.

"We all have reason to know and appreciate your ability to choose capable administrators, to deal with people in a warm and effective manner, and to enforce official regulations with humanity and understanding."

Wakefield issued a statement of tribute to "all members of the Selective Service family for their valued cooperation in running the state's draft boards."

"They are due most of the credit for whatever I may have accomplished," said Wakefield.

He described members of Texas draft boards as "little groups of big patriots" who are "giving their services free to their country, week in and week out, some of them for the past 15 years."

Top Leaders To Meet In Austin Today

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Three of the Democratic party's biggest wheels meet here today for private talks which could pack strong political significance.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson will both welcome Adlai Stevenson on a visit to Texas for a lecture billed in advance as nonpartisan.

Stevenson as the 1952 Democratic presidential candidate was swept under in the Dwight D. Eisenhower landslide that carried Texas for the GOP for the second time in a century.

Now, since President Eisenhower's heart attack may take him out of the running next year, many political pros in Texas are saying that Stevenson or almost any other Democratic nominee has a good chance to bring the state back into its traditional political position.

Stevenson will lecture on "America the Economic Colossus" at the University of Texas tonight. He will be the overnight guest of Johnson.

Meat Packing Official Shot

CORONA, Calif. (AP)—Suffering from cancer, Louis F. Swift Jr., 60, grandson of the founder of the Chicago meat packing company, killed himself with a shot through the heart at his ranch home yesterday.

The coroner listed it as a suicide after receiving this report from sheriff's deputies:

Swift's wife Libby heard a shot and rushed into the bedroom to find her husband sprawled with a wound in the chest. A 38-caliber revolver lay nearby.

Two servants said they had found Swift with a gun while his wife was shopping, but had persuaded him to put it away. As they left and Mrs. Swift returned, the shot rang out.

Swift had been suffering from throat cancer for several months. Last January part of his vocal cords was removed. He had been unable to speak since the operation.

Royalty Will Visit In Quebec Tomorrow

LONDON (AP)—The Princess Royal, aunt of Queen Elizabeth II and only sister of the Duke of Windsor, is arriving in Quebec tomorrow for a month's tour of Canada. No plans have been announced for her to go to the United States, but she will see Niagara Falls from the Canadian side.

Seldom seen in London, graying 58-year-old Princess Mary prefers to remain in the background of royal and other official hub-bub.

In her quiet way, she has devoted a lifetime to charity, hospital, social service and Red Cross work, the Girl Scout movement—and to a simple, family life. Her husband, Viscount Lascelles, died in 1947.

A cabin in the Westward Ho Apartment Courts on Avenue D in East Snyder was destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon, city firemen reported.

Three pieces of fire fighting equipment were taken to the scene, to fight the fire and to prevent the fire from spreading to other units in the apartment courts.

Kidnaped California Tot Surrendered In Stockton

Police Claim Woman Admits Stealing Child

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP)— A grief-stricken woman who kidnaped a baby because she deceived her husband with a story of motherhood surrendered 11-day-old Robert Marcus to a Roman Catholic priest today.

Officers said she confessed stealing the baby from the nursery of a San Francisco hospital nine days ago.

Police Chief Jack O'Keefe said Mrs. Betty Benedicto, 27, of Stockton delivered the baby to the Rev. Allen McCoy at St. Mary's parish after telephoning Dr. Sanford Marcus, the infant's father in San Francisco, and instructing him to meet her here.

The baby is in excellent condition and police said there is no question he is Robert Marcus.

Dr. Marcus, 34, grinning for the first time since his son was stolen, said "We feel in our hearts he is ours. We are 99 per cent certain. But we will await footprint checks and blood tests."

Marcus and his grief-stricken wife, Hanna, 29, who has been in a state of near collapse since the kidnaping, made the 80-mile trip to Stockton in a San Francisco police car in 75 minutes.

Mrs. Benedicto, sobbing and near hysteria when taken to the Stockton police station, was booked on a technical holding charge. Chief O'Keefe said he understood San Francisco authorities would charge her with kidnaping.

Dr. Marcus, in appeals to the kidnaper for safe delivery of Robert, had promised he would not prosecute. Asked about that today, he said:

"I think the woman is a psychologically disturbed person.

"I myself have no further concern with the woman, other than to offer my thanks for the baby's return."

Chief O'Keefe quoted Mrs. Benedicto, wife of a prosperous publisher of a Filipino weekly newspaper, as saying she took the child because she had convinced friends, including her husband, she was pregnant.

The husband, Marcus Benedicto, 52, didn't know of the ruse, the chief said, and didn't become suspicious until last night. Then he went to police, almost at the moment his wife was telephoning Dr. Marcus, about 12:35 a.m. today.

O'Keefe said Mrs. Benedicto sobbed out this story:

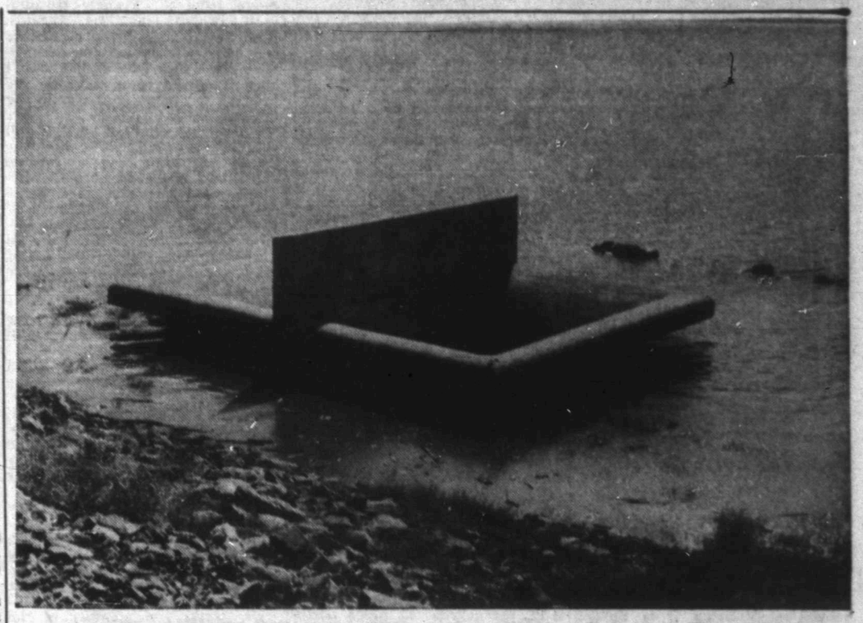

She began gaining weight several months ago and people began teasing her about being pregnant. To stop the kidding, she said she was—and convinced her husband along with others.

When the approximate time came for a baby to arrive, she went to Los Angeles to visit her mother. Her mother put her on a diet. She lost several pounds and returned to Stockton. Her husband asked where the baby was. She told him it was sick but that she could get him in a couple of days.

When "Papa" Benedicto began passing out cigars, she went to San Francisco, looked over the Mt. Zion Hospital nursery and dashed away with the Marcus baby. She said she chose that particular one because Marcus was her husband's first name.

Mrs. Benedicto drove imme-

LAKE THOMAS NEARS SPILLWAY—The service spillway at Lake J. B. Thomas is shown above surrounded by water, the level of which is only about four and one-half feet below the spillway level. Jack Dunn, Snyder pump station operator, said the lake level at 10 o'clock this morning was 2,253.45 feet above sea level, 4.55 feet below the full mark. Dunn said the lake had just about quite rising, with little water running into it now. (Lee Watson photograph)

Snyder's Tax Load Is Light

Compared to the average city of 25,000 population throughout the nation, Snyder has a very favorable per capita city tax load.

The Commerce Departemt of the federal government reports that U. S. Cities collected $64 per person from their residents in taxes last year - $3 per person more than the year before.

This year Snyder citizens will pay about $11.23 each in city taxes.

The report of the commerce department covered 481 cities of more than 25,000 population.

The report further said that city taxes account for about half the total municipal revenues from all sources.

In this respect, Snyderites also are favored, because the $183,000 city tax collections expected this year are less than one-third the total anticipated revenues of more than $600,000.

ANTI-POLIO SHOTS ... SLATED THURSDAY

All school children who participated in the free Salk anti-polio vaccine clinic last spring and who have not yet received their second shots have been asked to go to the Snyder - Scurry County Health Unit at 1 p.m. tomorrow for their shots.

The health unit is located at 911 Twenty-sixth Street. The second-shot clinic was scheduled at the unit by Dr. D. R. Reilley, acting director, when the unit received a small quantity of shots.

SCS Promotes Two Men In Snyder Unit

The U. S. Soil Conservation Service has announced the promotion of two men of the Snyder SCS work unit.

They are Jake D. Hodges, who has been work unit conservationist, or chief, of the Snyder unit, and who is being promoted and transferred to Stanton as work unit conservationist; and Guy Moore, who will succeed Hodges here.

W. S. Goodlett, area conservationist, made the announcement and said the change would take effect within 15 days.

Moore, 38, is a native of San Saba. He and Mrs. Moore have two children, Carole, 12, and Phillip, 7. The family lives on route 3.

Moore attended John Tarleton College and Texas A&M College, where he received his bachelor degree in agriculture in 1941. In the agriculture line, he was farm supervisor at the state hospital at Big Spring for five years, was for two years employed with the U. S. experiment station at Big Spring, and during the year prior to coming to Snyder was foreman of a ranch near Fort Worth.

During his time here, Moore's work as a conservationist has consisted mainly of farm and ranch planning.

Hodges has been unit conservationist here since July, 1952. An employe of the SCS since 1951, he served at Big Spring before coming here. Prior to his SCS employment, he taught vocational agriculture at Temple High School.

A native of Comanche, Hodges completed high school there and, right after serving World War II time as an Infantry captain, completed Texas A&M and received his bachelor degree in 1946.

Mr. and Mrs. Hodges, who live at 3007 Thirty-eighth Street, have three children, John David, 10, Gene and Jane, 5.

Other SCS staff members here are Wilson Bright, engineering aide and Jack Baker, conservation trainee.

Claim Is Made Against Actor

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A pretty movie bit player broke down in sobs in Superior Court as she described her asserted love affair with actor Jess Barker, whom she accuses of fathering her unborn child.

Brunette Yvonne Doughty, 25, testified yesterday that when she informed Barker, 41, of her pregnancy last April 8, he replied, "What do you expect me to do about it?"

Barker is still involved in a divorce contest with screen actress Susan Hayward. Miss Hayward was awarded a interlocutory decree Aug. 17, 1954, which has not been made final because Barker has an appeal on file.

Miss Doughty has asked Judge Elmer Doyle to make a preliminary order requiring Barker to pay $1,000 in medical bills plus reasonable support, pending trial of her suit to have him declared father of the baby expected in November.

Barker took the stand to testify he had only $6 in his pocket and "maybe a few dollars in the bank." Barker's attorneys said the actor will deny the paternity charges.

Miss Doughty said the affair began on their second date. Later she said they shared an apartment.

Tropic Storm Hits In British Honduras

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Janet rammed into British Honduras early today.

The hurricane, the 10th of the season, slammed ashore with 115-mile-an-hour winds.

It was moving about 23 m.p.h. when it hit British Honduras. The newspaper Diario de Yucatan said the storm earlier hit Quintana Roo, the easternmost strip of Mexico, a lonely stretch of coastline.

Between the two strikes, Janet had picked up a little speed: she was moving about 21 m.p.h. when she first lashed at Quintana Roo.

Only a few reports were available from the area, the Weather Bureau at Miami said. The latest advisory last night estimated the storm's highest winds at 135 m.p.h. The Weather Bureau's advisory at 5 a.m. said the highest winds were about 115 m.p.h.

Winds of hurricane force swelled out 60 to 70 miles from the center and gales whipped across land and sea 225 miles to the north and 100 miles to the south.

Janet buffeted the Yucatan Peninsula after completing a destructive course through the Caribbean Sea.

Her course was expected to be somewhat erratic as she swept further inland but there was a good chance, the Weather Bureau said, that any strength she might lose in her journey overland would be regained when she reaches the open waters of the Bay of Campeche.

The worst was yet to come, the Weather Bureau warned.

The hurricane already had claimed about 200 lives in the Caribbean. Perhaps nine U. S. Navy men and two Canadians were among them. They were aboard a hurricane hunter plane that flew into the storm Monday morning and has been missing ever since.

Janet swept over little Swan Island in the western Caribbean yesterday morning and no word has come from the 35 persons stationed there.

"Antennas going down. Abandoning (weather) station," said the final message. "All hands seeking shelter in Navy building."

The Weather Bureau and Civil Aeronautics Administration has 35 persons on the island, where the Navy has a concrete micro-seismograph station. No anxiety was felt for their safety; the installation is well above the high water mark.

Leaders Optimistic On Recovery Of Ike

By FRANK O'BRIEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Nixon said today operations of the government "are going smoothly and we see no serious legal problems involved" in President Eisenhower's illness.

Nixon thus appearcd to be subscribing to the reported decision by other members of Eisenhower's team against delegating to Nixon, or anyone else, any presidential powers.

This decision was said to stem from confidence that within 30 days at the most Eisenhower himself again will be able to guide the nation.

Optimism spread in the wake of increasingly encouraging medical reports from Denver. One presidential aide said that if a matter of transcendental importance should arise, it could be taken to the President even now.

Nixon's comment on the smooth functioning of the government was made to reporters as he left his home early for breakfast at the Capitol with a fellow Californian, Sen. Knowland, the Senate minority leader.

Nixon was asked about reports that it had been decided yesterday, in conferences of top administration government officials here, that no delegation of presidential powers was needed.

Nixon said he would not deny the report, but would not comment specifically on the various meetings he is having with Cabinet officers and other officials. He also said he would not comment on whether he had signed any papers that normally are signed by the President.

Nixon said he could not say now which of his October speaking engagements would be canceled, but that an announcement probably would be ready next week.

He described his breakfast with Knowland as "routine," commenting that he and Knowland often get together.

But the two men are regarded as strong potential rivals for the 1956 Republican presidential nomination, should Eisenhower decide to step aside.

Knowland, who flew here last night from California, said he is confident his party can win in 1956 with Eisenhower as its nominee or "with any other choice of the convention."

He added that he believes, pending a decision by Eisenhower, top party officials should follow the advice of the late Will Hays: "The job of the national committee is not to select the candidate but to elect him."

As for the business of government, Eisenhower's top aides were reported to be settling down to a 30-day "holding operation."

Californians May Pose Threat To Political Hopes Of Nixon

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—California Republican leaders indicated informally today they'll support Gov. Goodwin J. Knight in his declared intention to lead the state's vote-heavy delegation to the party's 1956 national convention.

Their position, as shown by a telephone survey, could offer a serious obstacle to White House hopes of California's Richard M. Nixon in the event President Eisenhower decides not to run again.

The possibility of Eisenhower's stepping out spun the state's Republicans dizily on political merry-go-round—with signs flashing by: Nixon? Knight? Knowland? Warren?

No matter where it stops, party sources acknowledged they're in for an intraparty fight if they can no longer count on Eisenhower's name.

The prize is the second largest delegation to the San Francisco convention, ranked only by New York's.

Gov. Knight, strongly pro-Eisenhower but pointedly cool toward Vice President Nixon, wasted no time in declaring his position after word of Eisenhower's heart attack.

He hopes Ike will recover his health and try for a second term.

If he does, California will swing to him on the first ballot.

If he doesn't Knight intends to head the state delegation, probably as a favorite son candidate. California law rules out uninstructed delegations.

A poll of other top Republicans indicated the state GOP organization, which stuck by Knight in his bitterly waged showdown with pro-Nixon elements last year, appears willing to go along with the governor.

Assemblyman Thomas W. Caldecott of Berkeley, state Republican chairman, said California unquestionably would have a favorite son candidate if Eisenhower drops out of the race.

Knight has a powerful ally in Sen. William F. Knowland, himself another California potential for president and strongly entrenched in the state party organization, as well as the successful campaign setup of Chief Justice Earl Warren. Warren's friends have never forgiven Nixon for lining up second-choice support for Eisenhower in the 1952 California delegation pledged to the then governor.

AREA OIL ROUNDUP

Garza Well Tests In Glorieta Lime

Seaboard Oil Co. and Republic Natural Gas Co. No. 2-A OS Ranch, East Garza County wildcat, has set 5½-inch casing at the plugged back total depth of 2,720 feet.

The project will perforate the casing and test a section in the Glorieta lime which developed a show of oil and gas in a drillstem test.

This prospector drilled to a bottom of 8,170 feet in barren Ellenburger. The show in the Glorieta was the only indication of possible production it logged. The operation is 12 miles east of Post and 2,600 feet from north and 3,750 feet from east lines of section 3, block A-529, J. Holmes, F. Devarn and A.J. and F. Long survey.

Hanley Co., Midland, No. 2 J. W. Gray is a new 8,000-foot project in the Spraberry Trend Area field of Southwest Glasscock County, 13½ miles southwest of Garden City.

Drilling will start at once.

Phillips Petroleum Co. No. 1-A J. W. Whatley, wildcat in Northwest Scurry County, three miles southeast of Fluvanna, has been plugged at 8,495 feet in Ellenburger, which showed water.

Drillsite was 1,981 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 405, block 97, H&TC survey.

W. H. Black Drilling Co., Midland, No. 1 McCabe, Central Coke County wildcat, has indicated discovery production in the Palo Pinto zone.

Pumping test through perforations from 5,462 to 5,470 feet recovered 84 barrels of oil in 21¼ hours. Testing continued. No water was made with the oil.

Pay section had been treated with 1,000 gallons.

Location is at the center of the northeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section 311, block 2, H&TC survey, six miles southwest of Robert Lee.

Clem George, H. D. Lindsley and F. W. Holbrook, Midland, No. 1 Argo is to be drilled at a 4,700-foot wildcat in Southwest Andrews County.

Operators staked location 2,310 feet from south and 330 feet from west lines of section 22, block A-41, psl survey, 12 miles southwest of Andrews.

Flowing Devonian oil has been reported in South Gaines County at Quintana Oil, Co. Houston, No. 1 Butler. ½-mile northeast outpost to the Glasco (Devonian) field across the line in Andrews County.

Drillstem test in the Devonian, from 12,619 to 12,634 feet, surfaced oil in an unreported time, and was flowing at unestimated rate early Tuesday.

KIDNAPED

diately back to Stockton with the baby and kept him in her three-room apartment—while possibly the greatest manhunt in the history of the San Francisco bay area was getting underway.

Then mental anguish set in. She said she loved the baby and wanted to keep him. But all the time her radio and television sets were blaring pleas from the grief-stricken parents for the return of their child.

To calm her nerves, she went to a boxing match last night, taking the baby along. A suspicious sheriff's deputy queried her about the infant. She produced a birth certificate from St. Francis Hospital in Lynwood, near Los Angeles. Mrs. Benedicto said the certificate originally was issued for her sister's child, now aged 4, but hadn't been filled out completely. So she inserted the name of the child she kidnaped.

The deputy released her but still was not satisfied. He called the Lynwood Hospital and was told no such child had been born there.

But in the meantime, Mrs. Benedicto had telephoned Dr. Marcus. Before Marcus and his wife arrived, she delivered the baby to Father McCoy. FBI agents, tipped off by San Francisco police, were waiting there and arrested her.

Dr. Marcus said his wife was under sedatives but she stood the trip "wonderfully and although still groggy she feels fine."

The Marcus baby was stolen when a nurse in charge left the hospital nursery for a few minutes.

Student nurse Lettie Clement, 21, said she saw a buxom blonde woman at the viewing window. Asked for her pass, the woman said she already turned it into another nurse.

The Marcus baby's crib was nearest the nursery door.

Nursing supervisor Eleanor Lorenz saw a woman of the same general description walking from the hospital with a baby in her arms.

Dr. Marcus, a member of the Mt. Zion staff, agreed with police that the kidnaper must have had a mother complex.

"We have no enemies and certainly we're poor prospects for ransom," Dr. Marcus said.

Mrs. Marcus was kept under sedatives five days. She refused to eat, was fed intravenously, and said little except "All I want is my baby."

Mrs. Marcus had a tragic past. Both her parents and her younger brother died in Hitler's gas chambers. She was smuggled into Holland when she was 13. She met Dr. Marcus in Philadelphia while he was interning there.

Mrs. Marcus improved Saturday when her other two children, Susan 2, and Richard 3, were taken to her bedside. She was taken to her San Francisco home Monday.

Police had conducted possibly the most intense search in the history of San Francisco trying to find the child quickly. Doctors feared for his health. He had been circumsised only three hours before being taken, and he was accustomed to breast-feeding.

A formula was issued by the hospital, published in newspapers and broadcast on radio and TV in the hope it would reach the kidnaper. Dr. Marcus made a dramatic personal appeal by radio, urging the child's return and promising he would not prosecute the kidnaper.

More than 600 policemen searched a 30-block area around the hospital, questioning residents house by house.

For a time the search centered at San Jose, 50 miles south of San Francisco after a woman who answered the description of the buxom blonde asked to heat milk for her crying baby. Later a baby blanket was found there.

Bombing Plane Being Smashed To Pieces

SEATTLE (AP)—Five million dollars worth of bombing plane is being pulled, squeezed and squashed to pieces here to prove its structural strength.

The builder, Boeing Airplane Co. described the "torture test" on the B52 jet bomber as the most extensive structural proving program ever conducted on a single airplane.

The tests involve use of 60 miles of wiring and 3,000 strain gauge circuits and an intricate system of cables and pulleys.

Boeing said the tests saved time and money and provided precise information on the strain each plane part would stand under fight conditions.

COORDINATES—This is the new costume look for sweater girls. The yellow cashmere sweater, designed by Hadley, has ribbed turtle neck and new wide-ribbed midriff, for a new look. The slim charcoal tweed skirt, designed by Evan-Picone, picks up the yellow of the sweater in the nubbed broken check.

Glorified Sweaters Are Now Used For Many Occasions

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Time was when a girl put on a sweater and skirt mainly to keep warm, be comfortable and relax. But those days have gone forever.

Today's glamor sweaters are dressy enough for the most important occasions. There are bejewelled and fur-trimmed sweaters for evening wear, low - cut sweaters for cocktail time and carefully coordinated skirt and sweater sets for every hour.

The sweater wardrobe of the modern girl is almost limitless, and no girl ever had too many. From toddlers to grandmothers, American women are confirmed sweater girls who work on the theory of "the more the merrier."

This year the variety of sweaters available in most shops is wider than ever before. In the luxury class are the cashmeres and the silk knits, which may be trimmed with anything from sequins to mink. Within reach of the budgeteer are the new orlons and miracle blends which look like cashmere, are moth - proof, can be washed in the washing machine and are availalbe dressed up or down, for party, school or sports wear.

Wool knits also are strongly in the picture, both in fine lamb's wool dressy sweaters and in the currently popular bulky knits.

The sweater with skirt dyed to match, a hit fashion of recent seasons, now is joined by the coordinated cashmere sweater and tweed skirt which picks up the sweater color as an accent — a color fleck or a part of a plaid in the fabric.

One designer uses rare Chinese embroidered ribbon trim on cashmere sweaters for party wear. Another uses pale blue and white mink in checked design for a sweater collar.

Bridal Shower Held In Mrs. Tate's Home

A miscellaneous bridal shower was held in the home of Mrs. Curtis Tate, 3781 Highland Drive, honoring Peggy Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Brown, 3801 Muriel Drive, and bride-elect of Billy Don Harris, son of Mrs. Virgie Harris.

The colors used were blue and white and were carried through out the table decorations, which was a bridal doll dressed in blue and white. The cake was decorated with the words "Peggy and Billy Don."

Cake and punch were served to 40 guests, with Mrs. Tate serving the cake and Mrs. Milly Wright serving the punch. Mrs. Milly Wright gave a reading and Elnora Hamilton was in charge of the guest register.

Corsages were presented to Peggy, her mother, Mrs. O. C. Brown, and to Mrs. Virgie Harris, mother of the groom.

The wedding is to be Oct. 1 in the Calvary Baptist Church.

One of the difficult jobs of housekeeping is to wax linoleum and asphalt the floors. Now, thanks to Glaxo, it's no longer necessary to wax and scrub: just apply Glaxo about twice a year. It maintains a high lustre non slip coating that seals out dirt. Glaxo dries in one hour and is water clear. It's cheaper than wax in the long run, besides saving a terrific amount of work, plus truly a beautiful floor.

Trouble In Cyprus

In recognition of the gravity of the turmoil in, around and over the island of Cyprus Great Britain has named its top military figure as governor and commander in chief. It picked a tough soldier, Field Marshall Sir John Harding, and the choice might have been regarded as a demotion except for one thing—only a man of the stature of Sir John could handle the delicate Cyprus situation — a demotion because he stepped down as chief of the imperial general staff to take the new post.

Another great soldier, Gen. Sir Gerald Templer, former high commissioner and commander in chief in Malaya, was named as general staff chief in succession to Harding.

The dangerous situation in Cyprus is illustrative of the ease with which the nations can get all snarled up in trouble. Cyprus was held by Turkey for hundreds of years. From 1878 Britain administered the island for Turkey, but in 1914 she annexed it. With her forced abandonment of bases in Egypt last year, Britain moved into Cyprus in great force, and in now constitutes her principal Mediterranean base, what Gibraltar is at the other end of these castly strategic waters.

The Greek claim on Cyprus is both historical and racial, though after some hundreds of years her historical claims would seem rather tenuous to anyone but a Greed patriot. Her claim is strong under the Woodrow Wilson formula of self-determination of peoples, for the population is 400,000 Greek and 100,000 Turk, and it is on this theme the Greeks on the island and in the homeland pitch their current campaign. As usual, the Communists are playing both sides of the street—egging the Cypriots on, and doing what they can to agitate the Turks against the Greeks.

Regardles of the rightness and wrongness of any claim, Cyprus isn't likely to be given up by Britain, cost what it may. That country has retreated about as far as it can. The Turks would be satisfied to leave Britian in control, but would almost certainly go to war if the Greeks should seize the island. There is a simple question the Greek rebels might ask themselves. How long could Greece hold out against Turkey without British backing?

Political Consequences

While all the world prayed for the rest and recovery of President Eisenhower, with a sincerity of feeling a world leader seldom commands, speculation over what his stroke means to the country, the world, the nation and particularly the Republican Party raged on all sides. One's first feeling is to resent this obsession with the mechanics of politics, but the feeling soon passes when one reflects that, after all, government must go on, and it just so happens that the President's heart attack has an overwhelming impact on the domestic situation.

There are degrees of a heart attack. Mr. Eisenhower's was by turns called mild, uncertain and moderate. Obviously the doctors—even the best of them—could not reach a definite conclusion right off, for the simple fact that it takes time to watch and weigh the reaction.

But with this beloved man, and under the cirumstances, the matter of degree does not determine the political effects—except, of course, in the case of permanent impairment of mobility, or complete dissolution. At his age even a slight heart attack inevitably puts a question mark after the President's ability to undertake another campaign, and millions of his devoted followers might, out of concern for his well-being, decline to impose another term upon him. In any event, should he make a complete and spectacular recovery, and yield to the powerful demands of party leaders to run again, it would be necessary to find a runningmate whom the people would trust and follow in case worst came to worst. That automatically excludes Richard Nixon, and points unerringly to Chief Justice Earl Warren, who has already said he did not intend to seek elective office again.

Many times since he took office the President has more than hinted that he wished to retire at the end of the term to the piece and quite of Gettysburg. One could call his numerous references to the subject prophetic. One could almost say he had had intimations of impending heart trouble before, but for one thing: he has led a rather strenuous life for a man his age, and it is inconceivable his personal physicians would let him pursue such a course if there had been any question of his basically sound physical condition.

Americans of all sorts and conditions, and without thought of politics, unite in praying for the recovery of President Eisenhower.

Pollution Of Nation's Rivers, Harbors Spreading Blight Upon American Scene

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pollution of U.S. rivers, lakes and harbors is spreading an evil and potentially dangerous blight upon the American scene.

Countless cities and towns flush their raw, untreated sewage into once beautiful streams. Nearly 11,000 industrial plants spew millions of tons of poisonous, corrosive chemicals into the water we drink and brush our teeth with.

Many cities, such as Los Angeles, have closed down their bathing beaches at times because of pollution. In some areas pollution-tainted waters have brought industrial expansion to a virtual halt.

Here, as seen by a panel of sanitation experts who insisted on anonymity, are the nation's "10 most polluted cities"—that is, metropolitan areas where pollution is a major problem:

1. Pittsburgh—Has voted bond issue for treatment works.
2. St. Louis — No sewage treatment.
3. Miami—Putting in big sewage treatment and ocean outfall plant.
4. Kansas City.
5. Omaha—Making progress toward cleanup.
6. Seattle.
7. New York-New Jersey area.
8. Washington, D.C.
9. Charleston, W.Va. (Kanawha Valley area).
10. Youngstown, Ohio (Mahoning River area).

Scientists say even our "second-hand" water—fouled by sewage and recaptured to be used again—is generally safe to drink after going through modern water purification plants. But 31 million Americans live in cities with no water treatment facilities at all.

In the Ohio River watershed alone, 24 cities have no sewage treatment. And in 32 states, appropriations for water pollution control are less than $50,000 a year.

Federal health authorities today are gravely concerned about long-range effects on human health stemming from the vast influx of noxious industrial wastes into the nation's waterways.

Says Mark D. Hollis, chief sanitary engineer of the Health, Education and Welfare Department:

"The whole problem in sewage treatment in the past was to break down organic waste. Now in the last 15 years we've got 700,000 new synthetic chemicals—plastics and so on—and they have changed the nature of waste.

"What is the effect on human health? We just don't know. We don't get any immediate acute effects, but we must look to the potential long-range dangers.

"What happens is that you put a lot of these chemicals in streams and they react on one another. The result, in effect, is that our streams have become a giant test tube for what is taking place."

As an example, Hollis said that an influx of two tenths parts per million (PPM) of copper into a stream doesn't affect the fish. Nor does 8 PPM of zinc.

"But if you combine as little as one tenth of that amount of copper and zinc in the stream, you kill all the fish," he said.

Right now a red-hot controvery is brewing over detergents. What is happening to our lakes and streams as a result of waste water steeped with the 2½ billion pounds of household synthetic detergents sold to American housewives annually?

Some health authorities contend that chemicals found in common synthetic household detergents cause frothing and otherwise gum up the works at water treatment and sewage plants, thereby impeding the purification process.

To which the industry replies: "Nonsense!" or, "Prove it."

F. J. Coughlin, manager of Procter and Gamble Co.'s research services and chairman of the research advisory subcommittee of the Association of American Soap and Glycerine Producers, said in an interview:

"Household synthetic detergents are no more toxic than ordinary salt. Some feed manufacturers are actually mixing detergents into feed for chickens, cows, pigs and other livestock, and there is some evidence it speeds their growth. At least, there's no harmful effect."

As for assertions that detergents are clogging up water treatment plants, Coughlin said that in a recent test 2,000 pounds of a top-selling household detergent were dumped into the sewage treatment plant at San Antonio, Tex., without causing any marked degree of foaming.

Nevertheless, there have been frequent though scattered reports of interference with normal treatment processes in which detergents were named as the suspect.

The American Water Works Assn. Journal says a blanket of detergent foam from 12 to 24 inches thick covered the 200-foot-wide Ohio River from shore to shore at Wheeling, W.Va., in December 1953 when heavy rains followed a prolonged dry spell. A sample of the foam, submitted to the Pennsylvania Health Department, was found to contain 3,500 parts per million of synthetic detergent.

Tests have shown that as little as 14 PPM of detergents in a stream killed fish. And rats given an 8 per cent mixture of detergents in their diet all died in a week.

Slowly awakening to the menace of foul water, more than 32 states have now enacted antipollution legislation, and many towns and industries have been ordered to clean up. They are beginning to them of badly needed water in recurring times of drought.

Couples Often Evade Adoption Safeguards

BY JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — Specialists studying adoption practices say that as the drive to adopt children intensifies, couples seem more determined to evade safeguards set up to protect the youngsters.

The determination becomes more important than finding the right home for the child," Margaret Thorshill, Children's Bureau consultant, points out. "Chances for the child having the right home selected for him are much greater if he is the starting point, and available homes are reviewed in relation to what he needs than if the desires of the adoptive couple are the starting point and they take the first child that comes along."

It's very natural for those who can't have children to have the same desires as those who can, and it's all very healthy. But, Miss Thornhill warns that some recognition should be given to other not necessarily healthy factors.

With the building of large families on the increase, in some instances couples are adopting children in a "keeping up with the Joneses" sort of way. Some childless women feel left out of their friends' conversation, or neighborhood activities. Sometimes, it is not the child itself, it is a "tool to enter into the group," that's desired.

The experience of most agencies, according to Miss Thornhill, has shown them that considerations regarding the placement of children must involve (a) the natural age range of adoptive parents, (b) their adjustability, flexibility and general love of living, their ability to cope with constant changes.

"Agencies do not say a woman over a certain age is incapable to giving proper love and attention," Miss Thornhill explains, "but what they are saying is that younger women or couples—other things being equal — are more adaptable at the time when the child is young, in coping with all the demands."

"HOW LONG WILL IT TAKE?"

Bermuda-Cut Shorts, Some Even Shorter, Are Regular Summer Attire For Italians

BY HOUSTON HARTE

GENEVA (By Mail) — Sept. 1 was the hottest day of the year for Genoa.

As the SS Independence slid into the harbor it was obvious to a Texan that he was back in Corpus Christi or Houston. It was apparent the second day out of New York, when the Independence got into the Gulf Stream, that Bermuda shorts were a regular part of men's summer apparel.

In Genoa when the port officials piled out of the pilot boat in their white uniforms with Bermuda-cut pants, West Texans in fall clothes realized again just how wrong one can be.

As you ride through France, Switzerland, and Italy in September it appears the shorts are shorter here than in Bermuda and that the men who have them cut half way to their knees wear them long compared with the women—particularly young women or women who imagine they are young.

Bicycles and motor scooters are the only mode of private travel within reach of the average European. Gasoline taxes, automobile sales taxes and taxes on tires make an automobile too expensive. Consequently there are thousands of people on bicycles.

The Italians have two popular motor scooters — the Lambretta firms in the world, and these motor scooters than any other and the Vespa. They make more Italian motorcycles can compete anywhere in the world on quality or price.

Cities with the most bicycles registered per thousand population are Amsterdam, Hamburg and Geneva. Women seem to ride them as readily as men.

It was amazing to see the nylon wire petticoat craze in Genoa. Such an impractical costume was unexpected in Italy. It can be said without fear of contradiction that the genius who put over this shorter-skirted style did not realize what he was doing for a woman riding a bicycle into the wind.

The crops are almost perfect in southern Europe this year. There has been plenty of rain to grow wheat, corn, vegetables, hay and grapes. Vegetables are in abundance. The fig trees are laden and the apple, peach and pear branches could not bear up with more fruit.

A traveler will be amazed at the number of acres of Indian corn now being grown in Italy and Switzerland. It appears that a third of the total acreage not in pasture or hay is now in corn. This is something new in southern Europe. There is no cornbread and little use made of corn meal. There is no cornbread in the hotels. The corn looks exactly like ours in the fields.

The tops are cut off the stalk after the tassel has fertilized the ear and are laid out on the grass to dry so they can be used to stuff mattresses. The ear is smaller than ours both in length and in diameter. It looks like popcorn. The shucks are saved when the corn matures. Italians and Swiss are preparing for real prewar harvest festivals within the next few weeks.

Bean and pea vine stakes, grape trestles and a hundred other garden needs make a straight stick something to be cherished in these lands where it takes a government permit to cut down a tree. In the last few years railroad right of ways, where garden stuff could not be grown, highway banks and gullies have been planted with locust trees. Set out close together they produce a quick growth of trees an inch in diameter and 10 to 12 feet high. These are cut in the winter, bound into convenient bundles and stored under the eaves of the barn.

In Geneva every tourist is impressed with the statue of water near the center of the city where the Rhone flows out of Lake Geneva. The statue is a column of thrown 125 meters (about 360 feet) water pumped out of the lake and into the air. This gigantic fountain goes on each day at 10:30 in the morning and operates continuously until 11 o'clock at night. It can be seen from almost any point in Geneva and is an effective landmark of the city.

Women Not Content To Rule By Rocking The Cradle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Who said women's place was in the home?

That old saying is less true every year. And there is no better time to point it out than now—during National Business Women's Week.

The ladies are no longer content to rule the world by rocking a cradle. Their hands are reaching for the cash register.

The influx of the petticoat crowd into industry is truly startling. Nearly one out of three of America's 65 million employed now powder their noses on the job.

Women first began punching time clocks in large numbers during the first world war. The trend mushroomed during the second world war, and then, after a brief abatement, picked up again.

The most significant development: More married as well as single women now seek steady work outside the home.

Why? Some hold that the invention of labor saving devices has made housekeeping so simple wives are no longer content to spend their extra leisure loafing at home.

A more likely answer: Papa's paycheck no longer will pay the instalments on all the bright new gadgets that modern couples now feel are necessary for a rich full life—a new car, television set, automatic dishwasher, and the like. The only practical solution—mama has to go out and get on a payroll too.

Certainly the old-fashioned husband who once melodramatically proclaimed, "I'd starve before I'd let my wife go to work," is getting scarcer. Some wives even complain, "I'd like to stay home, but that husband of mine — he keeps pushing me out into the labor market." More and more wives are finding that the best way to keep a husband is, first, to keep a job, so the poor tense fellow won't have the entire burden of bringing home the bacon.

Each year women go into new fields once ruled only by men. There are lady steeplejacks, lady stockbrokers, lady riveters, lady building contractors, lady channel swimmers, lady wrestlers. So far there have been no major league lady baseball players—although this possibility is mulled over from time to time—or a really promising lady heavyweight fighter. Women still prefer to do their infighting at home.

A look at the 1950 census figures—The latest I have at hand—shows, however, the significant inroads women have made in America's working world.

In that year there were 18,604,000 women in an employed population of 60,598,000.

The statistics show that women prefer indoor jobs to those that offer them the benefits of fresh air and exercise. There were 5,122,000 women clerks and office workers compared to 2,172,000 men, but women common laborers were outnumbered by men 107,000 to 3,319,000. This does seem a pity, considering science's discovery that women are actually stronger than men.

In the art of selling—where the big money lies—the girls are steadily creeping up on the weaker sex. The figures: 1,475,000 women salespeople, 2,452,000 men.

Aside from the irksome chores of common labor, what other field offers the greatest possibilities for a career-minded young woman? It would seem to be a life down on the farm. There were only 105,000 lady farmers and farm managers compared to 3,800,000 men.

But what about a young man just getting started in life? Is there no vocation where he can feel safe from the increasing feminine competition?

Yes. In the area of private household employment. There are still 1,770,000 women in this line of work compared to only 58,000 men. But women are abandoning it by the tens of thousands every year. They'd rather work in an office or factory than clean other people's houses.

The best bet for an ambitious young man who wants a quiet indoor existence is to—get a job as a maid. In addition to good pay, good meals and short hours it has another advantage: It is a wonderful training for a lad who later wants to get married and have a home.

LITERARY GUIDEPOST

TOM BARBER. By Forrest Reid Introduction by E. M. Forster. Pantheon.

In nearly 600 pages we get here the three novels which Reid wrote about his Tom Barber and his childhood — their titles were "Uncle Stephen." Reid, a North "Young Tom," "The Retreat" and of Ireland Irishman who died in 1947, is little known in this country, and was pretty slow, too, about making his way among the English. But now that he's here, you can be absolutely sure he's here to stay.

Tom, as far as facts go, is shown to us around 10, for a period of several years; before the story ends, his mother has died, his father has remarried, his father has died, and Tom has run off to live with Uncle Stephen. The boy has a tutor and teachers; he has friends, enemies, dogs, cats, squirrels, hedgehogs.

But it's not this obvious ground plan which matters to author or reader, but what floats and soars marvelously above it. For this is a story about a sort of free-wheeling imagination. The boy has certain psychic requirements, to use words at which Reid would have shuddered; he has, that is, an irrepressible need for a world of his own, and out of his own wonderful longing he conjures up the companionship he must have, the dumb animals that cease to be dumb, even the dead past that becomes a living present. While Daddy and Mother may argue delightfully after water sprites, Tom wouldn't argue about them, he believes.

Reid narrows the line between real and unreal, possible and impossible almost to nothing, and carries us over happily into an utterly charming land of fantasy and dream. There are precious few books in our harsh world so sweet, so lovable, so brimming over with a fine, strong, masculine kind of goodness.

Copenhagen, Paris Of North, Is Enchanting Metropolis

BY INEZ ROBB

COPENHAGEN, Denmark — This enchanting metropolis is always called "The Paris of the North." The only puzzling aspect is why Paris, instead, isn't called "The Copenhagen of the South."

This city is toujours gai, Archie. It has everything Paris has, including more bicycles. In re vital statistics, there are 4,200,000 Danes (1,000,000 live in Copenhagen), and 2,100,000 bicycles. The only tourist problem is to avoid being assaulted by a hit-and-run cyclist.

This is the capital of a kingdom where the king's children attend public school in the center of town, the king himself conducts the symphony orchestra (and real good, too) from time to time, and the royal residence or palace sets flush on a busy street like a New York brownstone front. By contrast, the White House seems as remote and guarded as Fort Knox.

This is the city in which the brewers' big horses — and there are lots of both, brewers and big horses — wear gay corsages on their blinders. This is also the community in which you drink beer for art's sake, and science's, too.

Two of Denmark's biggest breweries have been left in trust by their former owners to support the arts and sciences. So when one orders a tub of suds here he is simply supporting a noble cause and not his baser nature. It is a situation to drive the worthy ladies of the W.C.T.U. completely daffy.

Copenhagen is a metropolis whose citizens specialize in joie de vivre, neons and good food and where one never has to go to bed unless he really wants to. But if one does retire, he has to sleep UNDER a feather bed, and I think this is the reason most tourists prefer to stay out all night.

Danes, otherwise the most urbane people in Europe, sleep under a feather bed summer and winter. I grappled with one for two nights and lost. Now I just sleep in my clothes, a fate heretofore regarded as on a par with death.

This is the town strewn with signs: "America is Bad." Indignant tourists, accrediting this to Communist propaganda, are always amazed to find that it means "American ice boats," or a kingsize ice-cream cone into which the ingenious Dane can get either a banana split or a belly buster.

Copenhagen is a town of beautiful parks, enchanting palaces, handsome public buildings and enough cathedrals to ruin the arches. But over and above all, it is the home of the one and only Tivoli, surely the most-enchanting play-park in all the world.

All my life I have heard Tivoli spoken of in superlatives but even so, they do not do justice to this wonderful institution that is the center of Copenhagen life. It is crowded with Danes from 9 A.M. until midnight from May through September.

For 112 years, this park of 20 acres has given Danes the best in free entertainment, including symphonic, band and popular music; the only classic Commedia dell' Arte, or pantomime theatre, left in Europe (it delights the kids and enchants grownups) and excellent variety entertainment.

Perhaps this park is one reason why the Copenhageners scarcely know what juvenile delinquency is! (When the Germans during World War II wanted to punish the Danes for their resistance to the occupation, they destroyed most of Tivoli—now rebuilt—and it was like a knife in the national heart.)

If the good fairies would grant me a wish, I would endow every city in the United States with a Tivoli.

Hollywood Today

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — How many girls in your town will admit they're ugly?

It's the same in Hollywood. Allied Artists Pictures is going slightly berserk trying to cast an ugly girl in Gary Cooper's new movie.

Casting director Virginia Higgins got so many turndowns from the usual talent sources that she, in desperation, inserted this ad in tradepapers:

"WANTED: An Ugly Girl
For an Attractive Role in William Wyler's
"The Friendly Persuasion."

"The girl we are seeking is husky, rawboned and stands at least six feet in her stocking feet. She is solid, well muscled and looks as if she could lift a piano. etc."

Surprisingly, six applicants showed up yesterday in answer to the ad. One, however, hadn't read the ad but her agent had. She left in a hurry, muttering something like "Wait till I get my hands on that guy."

First applicant was Frances Farwell, a six-foot singer. She was dressed like a hillbilly on the prowl for revenooers with gun and all.

"I came in with an ugly face and in an ugly mood," she announced. Miss Farwell wore no makeup but even in her outlandish get-up, it was obvious that she is an attractive girl.

Clarence Marks, Wyler's dialogue coach, commented:

"We'd have an awful time making that girl look unattractive, especially in color."

It's essential that the girls be big and ugly—it's part of the script of "The Friendly Persuasion," locale of which is in the Civil War era.

The girls play Marjorie Main's daughters—all farm girls living in a Quaker community. When Morgan's Raiders hit town, the Quakers refuse to take up arms so Miss Main and her daughters drive off the Confederate raiders.

The rest of the applicants were either too attractive, too short or too inexperienced. None were ugly.

District Scout Meeting To Be Held Thursday

The monthly "10 in 1" meeting of scouters will be held at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the junior high in Colorado City, according to W. W. Park, chairman of the Lone Buffalo Scout District.

The meeting, Park said, will adjourn at 9 p.m.

Included on the program, announced by Park and Joe Bohannan, district scout executive, will be the opening ceremony, a talk on "For God And My Country," by Frank Cabiness, cubmaster of Snyder pack 35. Following that will be a film strip, "The Boy Comes, The Boy Joins," singing led by Royce Burrows, and meetings of various committees. Those include camping and activities, led by W. A. Vestal; health and safety, Dr. Thomas Hartley, advancement, Roy Lashaway; leadership training, T. D. Wiman, Jr.; organization and extension, Dan Warren, Jr.; finance, Lyman Wren; and public relations, Lyle Deffebach.

Cub Scout and Boy Scout roundtables will also be held. Burrows will lead the cub leaders roundtable, in which the October theme, "Bee Keepers," will be discussed. Jeff Taylor of Colorado City will discuss handicraft, and Mrs. Joe Salter, Colorado City den mother, will lead the adults attending in cub games. Stanley Noah, district commissioner, will discuss the roundup, and Bob Crowell will be in charge of the closing ceremony.

Leaders in the scoutmaster roundtable, in which the October theme, "Weather-Wise," will be discussed, will include W. A. Smallwood, assistant district commissioner; Bernard Bartels, E. L. Patrick, D. V. Merritt, Jr., A. J. White, Clyde Byrd, and George Elliott.

Shoots Self, Misses Fly

SALEM, N.Y. (AP)—After a hard day in the fields, farmer Herbert Dillon wanted to enjoy a book and an after-dinner cigar on his porch last night.

But a fly kept buzzin' and buzzin' around.

Dillon got mad. He grabbed a .32 caliber revolver from a stand nearby and took a swat at the fly. The gun went off and the bullet struck the 40-year-old farmer in the left thigh.

Dillon was reported in good condition at his home in this eastern New York community.

The fly escaped without a scratch.

Former Circus Man Gets Role In Movie

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Mike Lane, a big former circus strongman, has been signed to costar with Humphrey Bogart as the heavyweight champ in the movie "The Harder They Fall."

Based on the Budd Schulberg novel, Lane's part is reminiscent of the buildup and fall of Primo Carnera. The novel took a critical view of racketeering in the fight game.

The 24-year-old Lane wears a size 18 shoe, a size 20 shirt and a 58 suit. He stands 6 feet 10 inches and weighs 275. Discovered after an extensive search, he has no acting experience.

Man's Bright Beagle Is Just Too Smart

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich. (AP) — Herman Burgess' beagle pup is a bright one.

When he came back the pup was in the front seat, had turned on the radio and was listening quietly. Burgess beamed at the dog's intelligence—until he tried to get in the car.

The dog had pushed down both inside door buttons, locking Burgess out.

Scout Fund-Raising Drive Off With Bang

NAMPA, Idaho (AP) — The Boy Scout fund-raising campaign started off with a bang yesterday.

An old-fashioned coal range blew up during a "kickoff" breakfast, scattering coal and cast iron all over the Eagles Hall.

No one was injured.

Science Whips Heart Disease

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK (AP) — In backstage drama, medical science has achieved practical victory over a heart disease that probably cripples more children each year than polio.

The disease is rheumatic fever, a silent saboteur of heart valves.

Wonder drugs have brought this victory in one of the brightest successes in heart research.

Other drugs are scoring successes too against another major killer—high blood pressure, often a contributing factor in heart attacks such as that President Eisenhower suffered.

Rheumatic fever is a disease of aches and pains and fever that involves the heart, often scarring vital valves, making them leaky and making the victim a heart cripple.

Doctors sought and finally found the answer.

Rheumatic fever, they found, followed infections with a vicious type of germ, one type of "strep" or streptococcus. In a small percentage of humans, a curious kind of reaction explodes after a strep sore throat or scarlet fever. The victims of this achy rheumatic disease are most often children between the ages 5 and 9.

They often recover without ill effects. But too often the inflammatory disease hits the heart valves or the heart muscle, creating scars, interfering with the heart. Rheumatic fever can kill or cripple. It is estimated half a million children now suffer from it, and as many adults are its victims.

Usually, damage does not occur with the first attack. But the child becomes sensitized to recurrent and damaging attacks.

While there still are mysteries as to exactly what happens, medicine has found the method of prevention. It is to treat any strep infections promptly with penicillin, and to give one of the wonder drugs continuously to the past victim of rheumatic fever, to prevent future attacks.

The American Heart Assn. has launched a campaign for prevention of this unnecessary crippler. Daily tablets of penicillin or sulfa drugs, or once-a-month shots of a long-lasting form of penicillin, now make it possible practically to eradicate rheumatic fever.

In the last five years have come new drugs that help control many cases of high blood pressure hypertension in medical terms, blamed as directly the killer of 93,000 Americans annually, and a handmaiden of death directly or indirectly in another 150,000 fatalities. More than eight million Americans have some degree of it.

Only in a small percentage of cases, such as certain kidney diseases and adrenal tumors, is the cause of hypertension known. In the rest, the exact cause is unknown. Nerves and emotions can play a role. So perhaps can peculiar chemicals in the kidneys and urain, according to recent research.

And any diseases producing a narrowing of arteries can bring increased pressure. Deposits of fatty material on the inner linings of arteries, the condition that brought on President Eisenhower's heart attack, can force the heart to work harder, to build up more pressure in order to push blood through the vast arterial highway of the body.

High blood pressure puts an overload on the heart, often making it increase in size. The greater pressure can damage blood vessels, leading to hemorrhages. In the brain, such bleeding from damaged arteries brings strokes that can paralyze or kill.

In most cases, hypertension is believed to result from constriction of the smaller arteries, thus creating more resistance to blood flow.

Many of the new drugs bring good effects by acting upon the nervous system to bring relaxation of nervous or muscular control of these arteries. Some affect the central nervous system, others the sympathetic nervous system.

Only about five years ago, physicians had little in the way of drug armaments to combat hypertension. The sedative phenobarbital to calm the tense, keyed-up individual was a main standby.

Now there is an amazing array of drugs, which help bring hypertension under control for long periods in at least one third of patients.

The list includes extracts from the Indian snakewood plant, rauwolfia serpentina; veratrum from the green hellebore; synthetics such as hydralazine and hexamethonium and pentapyrrolidinium.

They are not the last word, said one heart specialist, but "they are a big step in the right direction." Improved drugs may be expected.

Special diets are credited with reducing hypertension in some cases. Researchers are seeking basic understandings of the cause of this disease, even exploring the possibility of a vaccine against it.

One of the best treatments is to cultivate serenity, or imperturbability.

Ike To Golf Again, Maybe, Says Doctor

By MAVIN L. ARROWSMITH

DENVER (AP)—"It is quite possible."

That remark by a foremost heart specialist who examined President Eisenhower would surely have put a wide grin on the chief executive's face if he had been there to hear it.

For Dr. Paul Dudley White of Boston, was saying "it is quite possible" Eisenhower will be able play golf again—provided of course, he has a normal recovery from the heart attack which hospitalized him Saturday.

The doctor also said that all the golf the President has played possibly "helped to delay" the attack.

To Eisenhower, golf is one of life's joy. He loves it. And his friends have been saying they can't think of anything he would miss more.

From the time the President came to Colorado Aug. 14 for a work-and-play vacation until he was stricken four days ago he played hundreds of holes of golf at Denver's Cherry Hills Country Club.

In Washington it was more difficult to get away, but he played whenever he could. And in the spring, at Thanksgiving time and at Christmas he has relaxed at the Augusta National Golf Club in Georgia.

Dr. White said at a news conference:

"Now I know there is a likelihood of some people thinking the golf he played the day before his illness might have been instrumental in the production of this attack, or the high altitude at which he has been lately.

"I believe they have no influence in having precipitated this attack.

"We see these attacks come frequently at sea level, and in people who never play golf. My own feeling is that golf has been wrongly blamed, that those who play golf and have an attack at the age of 65 might have had an attack at 45 if they hadn't played golf. . . .

"We just don't know, but we don't think exercise itself is responsible.

"In fact, I am of the impression that it really helped to delay the onset of this (rather) than to cause it."

White said he had had "many patients who have resumed golf, even who have started golf for the first time" after recovery from a heart attack.

Hermleigh Hosts Rochester In Top Area Game Friday

Before the Snyder Tigers journey to Lubbock Saturday night for their first District 1-AAA start against Monterey, all other local and surrounding area teams are slated for action in the meantime.

Rochester Steers to Hermleigh Friday night. The game will be a non-district affair but it will match the two teams who last year met each other in the Regional finals, Hermleigh winning the 1954 title game, 26-25.

Both Rochester and Hermleigh are rated high in their respective districts and Friday's game could very well be the first of two games between the two clubs this season.

Should both teams sweep through their district and bi-district slates, the Cardinals and Steers would meet again for the title in late November.

In other area games, Hobbs will go to Blackwell Thursday night while Gail will host Ackerly the following night, both conference 6-Man games. Ira has an open date this week.

Hobbs will carry a 2-1 record into the game at Blackwell Thursday night. Hobbs holds wins over Ira, 52-13, and Divide, 59-18. The lone Hobbs loss to date came at the hands of Weinert, 44-18.

Gail will put an unbeaten mark on the line Friday when it hosts Ackerly. Coach Eddie James' Gail lads have defeated Imperial, 72-36, and Garden City, 26-24, in its only two starts thus far.

Ont the local scene, three games are scheduled Thursday and two Saturday.

The Junior High lads will get the local slate underway Thursday when both the eighth and seventh grade teams go against Lamesa at Lamesa.

The eighth graders, sporting a 2-0 record, will meet the Lamesa eighth graders at 2:30 p.m., with the seventh graders, owners of a 1-1 record, will meet Lamesa's seventh grade team immediatly following the eighth grade game.

Coach Ace Amos' eighth grade team has recorded victories over Sweetwater, 20-6, and Colorado ity, 34-6.

The seventh graders, coached by Bill Hartsfield, has defeated Colorado City, 28-0, but has lost to Sweetwater, 14-6.

J. P. Ward's undefeated Freshman team will host Lamesa Thursday night at Tiger Stadium, starting at 7:30 p.m.

The Snyder Frosh has won over Sweetwater, 13-6, and Colorado City, 19-0, in their two starts to date.

Final game on the local scene before the big game at Lubbock that pits the Tigers against Monterey, will send the B team against Sweetwater Saturday afternoon.

The B game was originally scheduled for Saturday night but was switched to Saturday afternoon to avoid conflict with the Tiger-Monterey game.

Kickoff time for the B game will be 2:30 p.m.

The B teamers of Jack Dillon has played only one game to date and they won it, 18-6 over the Lorraine A team.

War Costs Increase

DETROIT (AP)—A staff member of the Industrial College of the Armed Forces says a third world war would cost some four trillion dollars — 10 times as much as the last world war. Cmdr. Eugene R. U.S. Smoking More Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reported today that Americans are smoking more cigarettes now that, in its view, the "main impact" of the cigarettes-health controv.rsy apparently has passed.

Reporting on "the tobacco situation," the department said Americans 15 years of age and over will smoke an average of nearly 10 pounds of tobacco in cigarettes during 1955.

That would represent a 1.2 per cent increase over last year but fall 4.8 per cent shy of the 1953 figure—a record.

Without elaborating, the report said:

"The main impact of the publicity concerning cigarettes and health on cigarette consumption appears to have occurred during 1954."

Medical authorities have made numerous studies, some of them with conflicting conclusions, on a possible relationship between cigarette smoking and lung cancer.

The department said it expected cigarette smoking to continue on an upward trend next year.

Over-all tobacco consumption, the department reported, has increased slightly this year but is 4½ per cent below 1952 and 1953.

Longhorns In First California Trip

LOS ANGELES (AP) — There is nothing like an old grc..ch trying to rekindle an old grudge, but this is a frank attempt.

The Texas Longhorns play Southern California here Friday night, their first appearance in California and first engagement with the mighty Trojans of USC.

Now for the benefit of the young Texans—

Longhorn backers who live out here still believe that Texas was snubbed and practically insulted when its great 1941 football team was not invited to the Rose Bowl.

That was the year when the Pacific Coast Conference champion, Oregon State, passed up Pete Lwyden, Jack Crain, Mal Kutner and other members of the Longhorn team, and invited Duke to the Bowl classic.

Understand, Southern Cal had nothing to do with this. But USC is a member in good standing in the Coast Conference, and as a matter of fact, passed up Texas Christian one year to play this same Duke University.

As things turned out in 1941, the war came on and the Rose Bowl game was shifted to Durham, N.C.

Thus, for further firewood in this feud refueling, Austin, home of the Longhorns, was deprived of staging its only Rose Bowl spectacle.

Texas did get a mild measure of consolation in the late season of 1941. If Southern California's young Trojans want to make something of it, the revenge motive works both ways.

After the Oregon State invitation went to Duke, Oregon had the illfortune to invade Texas and play the Longhorns.

The score: Texas 71, Oregon 7. Worst score in Oregon history.

Friends will never forget the next day when the Oregon coach, Tex Oliver, flew back to California to attend a conference meeting. He was a visibly shaken man from the experience.

Sometime later Dana . Bible, then coaching Texas and now its esteemed director of athletics, was asked if he had poured it on Oregon.

"No," replied Bible, and he added: "You know, if I see my players lounging back on the bench during a game, I worry.

"But when they all are leaning forward, dying to get into the game, I don't worry. The boys were leaning forward that afternoon, every one of them."

Boston Reports Light Voting

BOSTON (AP) — Mayor John B. Hynes and State Sen. John E. Powers were nominated for mayor of Boston yesterday in a nonpartisan preliminary election in which fewer than 38 per cent of the eligible voters participated.

Hynes and Powers defeated the old political warrior James M. Curley and State Supreme Court Clerk Chester A. Dolan.

The election will be Nov. 8.

The vote was: Hynes, 50,934; Powers, 36,417; Curley, 24,185; Dolan, 18,528.

It was one of the most crushing political blows suffered by the 808-year-old Curley, who has served four terms as mayor as well as governor and congressman.

Hynes carried 16 of the city's 22 wards. Powers carried four and Dolan two.

Soviet Union Mum On Egypt Arms Request

By HARRIS JACKSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The Soviet Union kept silent today toward an American-British request that the Communists help in limiting the sale of heavy armys to Egypt and the Middle East.

U.S. Secretary of State Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan broached the issue to Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov at dinner here alst night following Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser's announcement that Red Czechoslovakia had agreed to swap such arms for Egyptian rice and cotton.

Dulles and Macmillan repeated to Molotov their desire, expressed in a statement earlier yesterday, "to avoid an arms race which would inevitably increase the tensions" in the Middle East. In their statement they added the hope that other governments would be guided by the same aim.

The Soviet foreign minister did not comment, other than to say he would communicate the U.S.-British view to Moscow.

Pointing up the specter of an arms race, Israel's ambassador to Washington, Abba Eban, hinted to newsmen there that his government might ask for U.S. weapons if Egypt gets the Red arms.

In their statement Dulles and Macmillan in essence said they want Middle Eastern countries to have sufficient arms to keep order at home and repel aggression from abroad — but not enough to disturb the Arab-Israeli balance of power.

The United States offered more than a year ago to provide arms to Egypt under a grant program. However, the Americans were unwilling to supply the jet bombers, heavy tanks, heavy artillery and naval ships the Egyptians wanted.

Nasser in a speech to a Cairo meeting said Egypt wanted arms only for self-defense and security, but only Czechoslovakia — a major Communist arsenal — had agreed to supply them without attaching conditions.

They are pictured together as they worked out at Ebbets Field in Brooklyn.

Brooklyn Bums Confident Despite Underdog Role

NEW YORK (AP) — The World Series starts today and the Brooklyn Dodgers, although underdogs, are confident this is the one they're going to win.

The oddsmakers think otherwise. They've installed the New York Yankees as 13-10 favorites.

Since the Dodgers won their first penhant in 1916, they've lost all seven series they've played. The Yanks, on the other hand, have won 16 in 20 attempts since 1921, including their last seven.

Brooklyn Manager Walter alston said yesterday after the Dodger working in Yankee Stadium:

"Listening to the way the boys talk, it is evident they are confident about this thing. That naturally makes me confident."

Alston picked Don Newcombe, his 20-game-winning righthander, to start on the mound against Whitey Ford, a left-hander who has won 18.

Despite rain in the early morning hours, a near-capacity crowd of 67,000 was on hand for the opener.

The Weather Bureau forecast that the rain would end an hour or so before game time.

The game will be broadcast and telecast, starting at 1 p.m., EST.

There was continued doubt that Mickey Mantle, the Yanks' top hitter, would be able to play more than part of the series. He had a torn muscle in his right leg.

He worked out along with the team at Ebbets Field yesterday and managed to clout a couple of balls into the outfield seats but he couldn't run without pain.

"I'm not hopeful of playing—at least not in the first two games at the Stadium," he said dejectedly. "It doesn't affect my hitting but I know I can't run on it."

Mantle said however that the leg was improving a bit each day since he injured it while beating out a bunt Sept. 16. He has been on the sidelines since except for two futile pinch-hitting appearances in Boston Sunday.

Mickey's reduction to the status of pinch hitter would deprive the Yankees of their leading hitter (.306) and league's leading home run hitter (37). Manager Casey Stengle, who said he would not make up his mind about mantle until game time, indicated he would use Bob Cerv in Mantle's spot in center field and play the left-handed Irv Noren in left against right-handers. Against a left-hander, he will use Elston Howard in left.

Stengel was set in all other positions including shortstop, where he finally decided on Phil Riuto, the grand little veteran of eight World Series. Alston had no reservations about his lineup. He struck to the same one he announced Sunday.

The Brooks had seven right-handed hitters to fire at Ford who, in his only previous World Series start against the Dodgers, was kayoed early. In fact, there isn't a pitcher on the Yankee staff who owns a World Series triumph over Brooklyn. The three big Dodger killers—Allie Reynolds, Vic Raschi and Eddie Lopat—are all gone. On the other hand. Carl Erskine has beaten the Yankees twice and Billy Loes once in World Series competition.

NG Prepares For Inspection

The Snyder National Guard unit is now making preparations for its annual federal inspection by the Inspector General's Department.

The unit, Co. D, 112th Armored Cavalry Regiment, commanded by Capt. Weldon Kincaid, will have the formal inspection Oct. 4 at 7:30 p.m. Lt. Johnny Greenfield, the unit's public information officer, said the public is invited to the two-hour inspection, especially men 17 or above who are interested in joining the National Guard.

A Lt. Col. Hutchinson from the Fourth Army IG office at San Antonio will be the inspector.

The inspection will be a major part of guard units' competition for the annual Jack Knight trophy award, which goes each year to the outstanding unit of the regiment. The Snyder unit now holds the trophy. The inspector will check personnel, records, equipment, training procedures, and various other phases of National Guard training.

Youth Hops Revival Truck, Just For Ride

KENEDY, Tex. (AP)—Jim Chaney, 5, watched a touring revival truck being loaded and after awhile he disappeared.

An hour and 30 minutes later, a motorist noticed a boy hanging underneath the fast-moving revival truck, just inches above the pavement.

Swink Nation's Top Ground Gainer

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Texas Christian goes up to Fayetteville Saturday to open the Southwest Conference football race against Arkansas boasting the nation's leading ground-gainer—Jim Swink, who's averaging 135.5 yards per game.

Swink is the greatest ball-carrier at TCU in 25 years and if he maintains his present pace will be not only the best at TCU but the top man of Southwest Conference history.

The conference record is 1,302 yards per season, set by Bob Smith at Texas A&M in 1950.

Swink came to TCU primarily because of his basketball ability. He was an outstanding player in Texas high schools and Coach Buster Brannon of the basketball team wanted him. So did Coach Abe Martin of the football team because Swink wanted to play football, too. It finally was agreed that he would play on the grid team and let basketball go.

But Swink, a star ball-carrier in his sophomore season, decided to have some basketball so he went out for the sport in spring training, and made the team in two days.

Right now, however, Swink is busy trying to help the team to the conference football championship. If he does as well against Arkansas as he has against Kansas and Texas Tech, the horned Frogs will be off and running toward that title.

Swink has made 31 points in the two games and if he keeps thatup also will crack the conference scoring record—a matter of 128 points, set by Joe Hunt of Texas A&M in 1927.

Jim has gotten off at least one long touchdown run per game. It was for 80 yards against Kansas and 59 against Texas Tech. His average has been 12.3 yards each time he carried the ball.

QB CLUB IS CHECKING ON SPECIAL TRAIN

Quarterback Club members are interested in determining whether there is enough interest here in chartering a special train to Amarillo for the Snyder-Palo Duro game on Nov. 4.

The club, in checking on the possibility of a special train, found that there must be 400 tickets bought before such a special train can be secured. The tickets will cost $5.67 for all persons 12 or above and $2.85 for all children below 12.

Many club members were urging football fans, including high school students and adults, to consider the special train. Such a trip to Amarillo, they said, costs less than the trip by car and is much safer. The train would leave here during the afternoon of Nov. 4 and would return here following the game that night.

In order that the club can begin to determine whether to continue work toward securing the train, a special committee has asked that those interested and who will indicate that they would probably purchase train tickets call R. L. Blakely at 3-3232 during the day or Bill Morgan at 3-6229 after 5 p.m.

Fullmer Favored To Whip Bob Boyd

CHICAGO, (AP)—Gene Fullmer, a 23 - year - old from West Jordan, Utah, was a solid favorite to knock off Chicago's Bobby Boyd in a 10-round bout of middleweights at the Stadium tonight.

Boyd, 20, is a 2½-1 underdog and goes into the natiionally televised battle (ABC, 9 p.m. EST) with 34 victories, 6 losses and 2 draws. Twenty of his triumphs were by knockouts.

Fullmer has lost only one of 33 fights and has scored 19 knockouts. He is ranked fourth in his division.

Boyd was last beaten by Milo Savage in New York but has since won three.

Officer Stops Escape With Flying Tackle

JACKSON, Mich. (AP)—In football fashion, State Police Detective Charles Southworth prevented a Southern Michigan Prison inmate from escaping from the Jackson County courtroom yesterday.

Edwin P. Robinson, 29, serving 15-25 years for armed robbery, was hit with a flying tackle when he made a break for freedom just after he had been sentenced to an additional five to six years for attempted escape.

Mobile Sweeps Dixie Series

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Mobile, a Southern Assn. weak sister for much of the season, is Dixie Series champion.

The Bears completed a sweep through Shreveport of the Texas League by defeating the Sports 9-2 last night, taking the series in four straight.

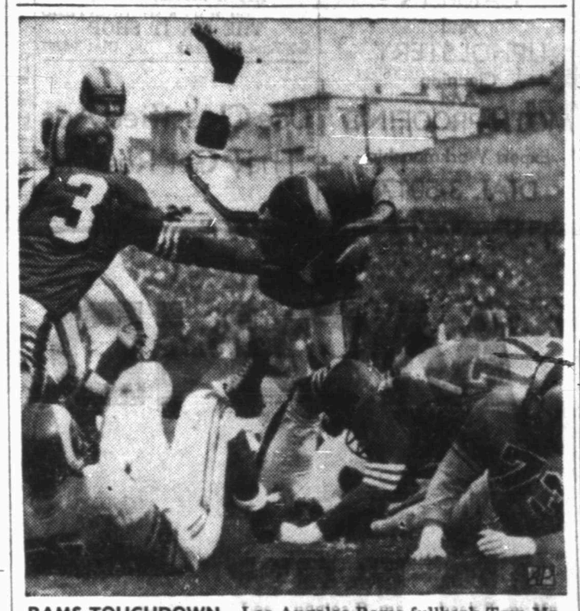

Righthander Bob Hoffman allowed Shreveport only four hits. Three came in the sixth when Pridge Brown hit a home run over the right centerfield fence for the Sports' two runs.

The Bears scored their first five runs on three hits, a three-run double in the first by Herb Olson after Ray Knoblauch had walked the bases full, and a single followed the Ted Williams shift on him.

Mobile added four in the sixth. Gentile drove in one with a single through short when the Sports pulled the Ted Williams shift on him.

The club languished in seventh place for the first third of the season and then gradually started climbing, stepping into fourth place the last day of play, to reach the playoffs.

Shreveport finished third in the Texas League.

RAMS TOUCHDOWN—Los Angeles Rams fullback Tom McCormick, leg high in the air, dives headfirst over the line to score early in the first quarter of the season opener in San Francisco against the Forty Niners before a capacity crowd of over 60,000. The Rams had already made two points with a safety, and went on to win the game, 23 to 14. Others, from left, are: 49er Tackle Leo Nomellini (73) and Rams linesmen Duane Putnam (61), Frank Fuller (71) and Bobby Cross (73).

Cards Hire Lane; Fire Harry Walker

NEW YORK (AP)—Frank Lane is in as general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals and Harry Walker is out as field manager of the Redbirds.

Eddie Stanky, who Walker succeeded as St. Louis manager last May, may be back in baseball as manager of the Minneapolis Millers, farm club of the New York Giants in the American Assn.

These choice items were learned last night as the baseball folks gathered at World Series headquarters on the eve of the opening game at Yankee Stadium.

At least one proposed deal fell through. Paul Richards' plan to step down as manager of the Baltimore Orioles and name George Kell of the Chicago White Sox as his successor was vetoed by the Baltimore board of directors. The board insisted that Richards living for the dual role as field and up to his three-year contract eall-general manager.

Lane, who resigned as White Sox general manager last week, already has conferred with Dick Meyer, executive vice president of the Cardinals. They were to meet again either today or tomorrow when the signing is to take place and an official announcement wl be made. Lane's salary is to be $50,000 a year for three years with the understanding that he is to have a free hand in running the club.

The informant said that Lane already has a successor to Walker in mind but would not identify him other than to say that he is "class guy."

Stanky was offered the Minneapolis job during a conference with Giant officials. He's thinking it over.

Archie, Turpin To Meet In January

LONDON (AP) —Archie Moore, whose bid for the heavyweight title was thwarted last week by champion Rocky Marciano, agreed today to defend his world light-heavyweight title against Randolph Turpin in London on Jan. 10, 1956.

Promoter Jack Solomons, who made the announcement, said he arranged the bout in transatlantic telephone negotiations with Charlie Johnston, Moore's manager.

Lights From Airport Kill Migratory Birds

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—A Charlotte naturalist says the lights of the city's airport may have brought death to hundreds of migrating birds.

Birds of 15 different species have fallen to earth in the Charlotte vicinity this week.

Mrs. Edwin O. Clarkson says birds, attracted by lights, fly around the beams until exhausted, then fold their wings and plunge to their deaths.

SOLDIER ON THE HOOK

Prisoners Begin March In Show

In this article, the third in a series of twelve, Sgt. Lloyd W. Pate, who organized resistance to Communist brainwashing and indoctrination in his prisoner camp in North Korea, tells of the forced march of American soldiers from the 38th Parallel to Camp 5 on the Yalu River.

In yesterday's installment, Sgt. Pate told how the prisoners kept up their morale and harassed the enemy on night marches during sub-zero weather on narrow mountain trails.

Here is his story, in his own words, as told to Herald Tribune writer B. J. Cutler:

By Sgt. Lloyd W. Pate

We started the 500-mile march north to the Yalu River on Jan. 25, 1950——about three weeks after we'd been captured. The Chinks said we would soon hit the railroad and ride the rest of the way. It was as good as any Communist promise——we didn't see a train for more than two years.

We marched at night and slept in Korean houses during the day. By this time our clothes were loaded with lice. Since our capture we hadn't been allowed to wash, not even our hands. But it was our feet that gave us the most trouble.

Walking all night, our feet would sweat. Then when we got to the village where we were going to bed down, they'd stand us in the snow anywhere up to two and a half hours until they found a place for us. That was the most miserable part of the whole damn march.

Then we'd go into our room and try to take off our shoes——if there was room to sit down. Most of the time our socks were frozen to our shoes and our feet frozen to the socks. When we'd pull the socks off, the soles of the feet would come off with them. We had to get our socks off to massage our feet. If we didn't they'd freeze.

After a few days our feet looked like a bloody piece of meat that had just been butchered. But no man ever dropped out of our column because of his feet. We carried them when they couldn't walk and we never left a man behind as long as he was living.

Our morale was still good. We knew the sick men back below Seoul knew where we were going and would tell the Army when they were freed. We felt deep down inside that once the American forces started pushing north again, nothing in hell could stop them.

When we slept in the South Korean villages, the Koreans would have one part of a house and the G. I.s another part. What we ate would be left up to the family. They could feed us anything they wanted, but they had to feed us. If they wanted to give us water it was okay. If not it was also okay.

Some of the families fed us rice, some millet, others cracked corn and others sorghum, never more than a cup of food a day. When you boil sorghum it's real slimy and it tastes like hell. Occasionally we would be given sauce to go with the food and help get it down, but it didn't help too much.

Several times we went into houses and the next day the people would run to the Chinese and tell them we had damaged their furniture or their paper doors or something. This was a lie. The Chinese would fall out the accused man, stand him at attention in the cold, and the Chinese would curse him and kick him and call him a warmonger and American imperialist. The Koreans would stand there and laugh.

One time one of our men fell into a river and got soaked. The weather was a good 25 to 30 degrees below zero. In the next village, a Lt. Tommy Trexler, from North Carolina, put a cotton comforter around the man to keep him from freezing to death. The Koreans accused the lieutenant of trying to steal the comforter and the Chinese were going to shoot him. Finally they changed their minds.

A few nights later, we went through our old positions on the 38th Parallel. We looked down into a valley by moonlight and it looked like a new village had been built. As we got closer we saw it wasn't a village but one of the most ghastly sights we had ever seen. What we though were buildings were bodies of the Chinese and American dead from the battle of Dec. 31 and Jan. 1.

They were stacked up in neat piles, about thirty feet long, twelve feet wide and six to seven feet high. I don't know how many stacks there were. The G. I.s were barefooted because the Chinks had taken their boots. The Chinks still had their tennis shoes on because nobody wanted them.

I looked at the piles carefully. For each pair of barefooted G. I. feet, I counted from fifteen to twenty pairs of Chinese tennis shoes. It gave me a certain feeling of satisfaction to know that their casualties were so much higher than ours.

From this point on we were in North Korea. The morale of the men started sinking. The ordeal was beginning to show. Their faces were getting drawn and their eyes had that hollow look to them. We were dirty, hungry, cold, sometimes just praying for death. Every day it was the same damn thing, marching all night, being crowded forty to fifty men in a room twelve by ten, being fed just about half a cup of chow.

In North Korea the civilians treated us better. I remember one village where a woman came right in the middle of us and began handing out sweet potatoes. The guards ran her off, but she ducked around a building and came back and gave out the rest of the potatoes. That was the first act of kindness I saw in a Korean.

A few times after this, we would be moving through a village and the North Koreans would run out, get next to us and start hitting. Not hard, but just enough to make it look good. At the same time they would be stuffing food and tobacco in our pockets.

They would hold up their little fingers at the Chinks. This means you're no damn good. They'd hold up their thumbs at us, meaning you're number one. In my opinion, they'd had enough of Communist rule and when our forces were in North Korea, they liked their little taste of freedom.

Another time we stayed in a house where the Korean fed us all we wanted to eat of a delicious sauce and meat. He also gave us rice. It was the best meal we had on the march. When we were all done he told us it was dog meat. Nobody minded and we wished we had more.

About this time we entered the Pyongyang area and came to a P. W. camp known as the Bean Camp. Its name came from the only food we got there—ground up soybeans, corn, millet and rice all compressed into a ball. It was here that we lost our first men. When we pulled out of the Bean Camp wounds had got the best of fifteen men and we had to leave them. We heard later that most of them died.

We picked up some more American prisoners at the Bean Camp and some Englishmen and started north again. A few nights later the road wound around a mountain. Instead of following the road, the guards made us go straight up. It was like climbing a ladder 500 to 600 feet high. About three-fourths of the way up I completely gave out. Two men grabbed me under the armpits and pushed and carried me to the top. To these men I owe my life; if they hadn't helped me, I'd still be tying there.

Around the 3d of March we began marching in the day time and we knew we were close to the camp. Three days later we came to a frozen river and on the other side was Pyoktong, the end of our journey.

We had one kid with us——all I remember him by is the name Tex——who hadn't eaten a bit in two weeks. Nobody knew why. In the last village we stayed at, a Korean woman noticed that Tex hadn't eaten and made him a special noodle broth. He refused to eat it. As we were crossing the river, Tex fell dead on the ice. A few feet farther on a Spanish kid died.

After crossing the river, we climbed up the bank and walked into Pyoktong. We had been marching forty-one days. Our B-29s had paid Pyoktong a social call a couple of months before and there wasn't too much left to see. As we marched through town to the camp, I didn't know I was still to meet my worst enemy——my fellow prisoners plus hunger.

Copyright, 1955, N.Y. Herald Tribune Inc.

In a fourth article, to appear tomorrow, Sgt. Pate tells of the despair which settled over the P. W.'s as they were brought into disease-ridden Camp 5. He also tells of his first meeting with Sgt. James C. Callagher, who was convicted Aug. 19 of murder of two fellow prisoners and of informing and collaborating with the Chinese Communists.

Less Murders Reported In Texas Cities

By TOM EASLEY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Texas cities had fewer murder, non-negligent manslaughter, robbery and auto theft cases in the first six months of this year than in the first half of 1954.

This is shown in the semi-annual report of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), just made public. On the other hand, there was a slight increase in the Texas rates of aggravated assaults, burglaries and larcenies.

The report gives this comparison for the January - June periods of 1954 and 1955, for offenses known in Texas per 100,000 inhabitants 1954 figures first):

Murder and non-negligent manslaughter — 5.3 and 4.3; robbery — 22.9 and 18.9; auto theft — 125.4 and 116.4; aggravated assault — 45 and 62.3; burglary —291.1 and 309.7; larceny — 703.4 and 740.1.

For the nation as a whole the FBI says estimated urban crimes decreased .7 per cent.

Around the capital:

Texas contributions to the democratic and Republican parties during the quarter ended Aug. 31 are shown in reports just filed with the clerk of the House, as required by law.

Larger contributions from Texas listed by the Democratic National Committee included:

Democratic Advisory Council, San Antonio, $18,362; East Texas Democrats, Tyler, $562; Texas Senatorial District No. 28, Lubbock, $2,650; G. H. Nelson, Lubbock, $1,350; Harris County Democrats, $5,112; J. J. Victor, Harlingen, $100. Total, $28,136.

Contributions listed by the Republican National Committe included $9,000 from the Texas Finance Committee, Houston, and $500 from Henry C. Adams, Houston.

The National Republican Con helps Republican candidates in House races reported receipt of $9,500 from the Texas Republican Fainance Committee, which also was listed as giving $3,500 to a similar committee to aid in election campaigning of Republican senatorial candidates. Total, $27,500.

Former Rep. Ben Guill of Pampa, a Republican, now a member of the Maritime Commission, has just returned from an official inspection tour of Europe.

Accompanying him on the trip was his father-in-law, C. P. Buckler, 70, of Pampa. Fifth years ago Buckler came to this country from England and went to work with the White Deer Land Co. on the Panhandle prairies. The company, then British owned, sold tracts to those wanting to settle there. Buckler is still with the company.

The world cattle population is going up. Latest figures show there are about 877 million head of cattle in the world. This is one per cent more than last year and 18 per cent above pre-war.

Anything less is an old-fashioned truck!

New Chevrolet Task-Force Trucks

Chevrolet Truck Work Styling is well illustrated in these four models ranging from the Low Cab Forward and Cameo Carrier at left to the pickup and tractor-trailer unit at right.

They're the most modern trucks on the road. If you don't get all the advantages they offer, you stand to lose money on the job today . . . and again at trade-in-time!

It stands to reason, when you think about it, that the most modern trucks are the trucks that'll save you the most. They're the trucks that'll move your loads most efficiently and quickly. They're the trucks that offer the most comfort and convenience for the driver so that his efficiency goes up, too. They're the trucks that have the most modern and efficient engines—and you know what that means in terms of lower ton-mile costs!

Naturally, we're talking about new Chevrolet trucks. They're so modern that anything less is old fashioned!

Most modern power—V8 or 6

In most new Chevrolet truck models, you have your choice of V8* or 6. And you're way ahead whichever you choose. Chevrolet's new truck V8's have the shortest stroke of any V8 in any leading truck! That means less friction and wear per mile. The valve-in-head sixes are new editions of the engines that have long been famous as the "work horses" of the truck world! And all Chevrolet truck engines have a modern 12-volt electrical system for quicker starting, better ignition and a greater electrical reserve.

The truck driver's "dream cab"

That's the closest we can come to describing the new Flite-Ride De Luxe cab. What truck driver wouldn't go for features like these: panoramic windshield for wider, safer vision; concealed Safety Step that stays clear of snow, mud and ice; High-Level ventilation that provides a more constant supply of outside air in all kinds of weather.

Most modern truck styling

We call it Work Styling—and you get it only in new Chevrolet trucks! Two fresh, functional styling treatments are offered—one for light- and medium-duty models, another for heavy-duty models. Your Chevrolet truck will do your job better—and look better doing it!

Most modern features throughout

Advanced suspensions, engineered for a smoother, load-steady ride! More rigid, ladder-type frames! Tubeless tires standard on ½-ton models! Come in and see all the ways you're way ahead with new Chevrolet trucks!

*V8 standard in L.C.F. models, an extra-cost option in all others except Forward Control models.
